

FDR To Take No Strike Action Until He Hears From Lewis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt indicated today that no federal action might be expected in the captive coal mine dispute before he received a reply tomorrow from John L. Lewis stating the position of the United Mine Workers policy committee on the chief executive's latest appeal for a settlement.

While Lewis gave a clear cut indication that the appeal would be rejected by the United Mine Workers, Mr. Roosevelt said he did not think there would be any developments in the coal situation until tomorrow.

Ten men, three of them saying they were pickets, were shot and wounded in a new clash between pickets and non-striking miners in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, center of the captive mine industry in that state. Three men were wounded there yesterday.

The shortage of fuel due to the strike, Carnegie Steel Corporation said, has caused the shutdown of five additional blast furnaces, making 11 closed in the steel industry since the strike became effective Monday. It was figured the production of steel ingots, vital for defense use, would be reduced 20 per cent in the Pittsburgh district.

The President's statement was made at his press conference, as sympathy walkouts in commercial mines spread to three in Ohio. He was asked whether he meant "developments on your own initiative," when he said he expected none until tomorrow, and said he, he expected to hear from Lewis and the policy committee tomorrow.

He said at his press conference whether he meant "developments on your initiative," Mr. Roosevelt said no, he expected to hear from Lewis and his policy committee tomorrow and that was what he had meant. "Have you decided what to do on labor legislation?" a reporter inquired.

There is no news on that, the chief executive responded. The new Pennsylvania disorders came after 50 or 75 carloads of United Mine Workers pickets had driven from nearby Washington county to the vicinity of the H. C. Frick company's Edenborn mine. Valley after valley of shots could be heard.

The Frick company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, operates nearly a score of mines in Fayette county and has claimed 25 per cent of normal production since the UMW called the strike Monday to enforce its demands for a union shop in the captive coal mines in six states. Union officials say about 300 miners are working at Frick mines.

Sympathy strikes in commercial mines, not covered by the strike call, had spread to 70 Pennsylvania pits, employing 40,000 men, while between 25,000 and 28,000 miners were involved in the captive mine walkout. Steel companies own the captive mines and use their output while the product of commercial mines is sold on the open market.

Budget Menus Welcome Harvest Vegetables And Fruits At Reasonable Cost; British Recipes Novelty

By JOHNNIE DAVIS.

Harvest vegetables are a blessing to budget menus. Harvest fruits bring health and pleasure to tables at reasonable cost.

Try to use as many local fruits and vegetables as possible. They cost less.

VEGETABLE PLATE WITH CHEESE SAUCE
(Six servings)

One head of cauliflower, 6 tomatoes, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter, melted; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 cups whole kernel corn, 1 egg, beaten; 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, one No. 2 can whole green string beans, 1 tablespoon butter.

Place cauliflower in a 2-quart glass saucepan, partly cover with boiling water. Cook uncovered for 15 to 18 minutes or until tender. Add salt. Remove center from each tomato; thoroughly mix together onion, butter, pepper, corn, egg, and seasonings. Fill the centers of each tomato with this mixture. Place in layer cake pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Heat string beans in their own juices. Add one tablespoon butter. Drain cauliflower in resistant platter. Arrange tomatoes around the outside of platter with string beans between each tomato, and serve with cheese sauce.

CHEESE SAUCE
(Serves 4)

Two tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 2 cups grated cheese, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon salt.

Melt butter, remove from heat, blend in flour. Return to the range and add milk a small amount at a time, stirring constantly until thickened. Cook about 5 minutes longer until no starchy taste remains. Stir in grated cheese, parsley, and salt. Serve at once.

An excellent way to get whole grain food, rich in B1 and thiamin, is to serve bran dumplings with inexpensive lamb stew made with breast and shoulder cuts.

BRAN DUMPLINGS
(Six servings)

One cup sifted flour, 1 cup bran, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1 cup milk. Mix together well the dry ingredients. Cut in fat, add milk stirring quickly to make a soft dough. Drop by spoonful on top of stew, making sure dough rests on pieces of meat or vegetables. Cover and cook 15 to 18 minutes.

PARTIES FOR MORALE
Food prices are high. Budgets must be watched. Extravagance is a blow to national defense. Nevertheless, it's our duty to keep our morale high, and entertaining friends helps with that job. Simple parties take our minds off our national and personal problems for a few refreshing hours, making us better workers and better potential defenders of our homes.

Why not put parties on a community basis? Plan with your friends a dinner to which each brings one cooked dish.

Always important to such a meal is a tangy salad, for example:

WILSON DRUG HARVESTER DRUG

Vegetable plate with cheese sauce is balanced, low-cost main dish.

AVOCADO SALAD
(Serves 4)

One avocado, 2 1/2 cups chopped apples (with skin), French dressing, 2 tablespoons catsup, lettuce, 1/2 cup chopped celery.

Marinate avocado in French dressing one hour. Combine small pieces avocado, apples and celery with one cup French dressing to which you have added the two tablespoons of catsup, beaten well. Place on salad plates—garnish with lettuce and large slices of avocado.

CRABMEAT CHESTER
Selected crabmeat, chopped chives, chervil, tarragon and parsley, finely shredded lettuce, romaine or escarole, 1/2 greens to 3/4 crabmeat, French dressing, catsup (equal amount to French dressing), chopped chives or scallion tops, pepper and salt.

Mix crabmeat with chopped herbs. In a separate bowl combine shredded greens, chives or scallion tops, salt, pepper with equal parts of French dressing and catsup. Mix well and use as bed for crabmeat. Serve.

For a special party try this grand dessert:

STEAMED CRANBERRY PUDDING
(Serves 4 to 6)

Two cups fresh cranberries, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1/4 teaspoon mace, 2 teaspoons soda, 1/2 cup hot water, 1/2 cup molasses.

Half cranberries; add to flour, salt, spices and soda. Combine hot water and molasses and add to first mixture. Blend well. Transfer to well-greased pudding mold; cover and steam for 2 1/2 hours. Unmold and serve with toffee sauce.

TOFFEE SAUCE
(Makes 2 Cups)

One cup sugar, 1 cup cream, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine sugar, cream and butter in top of double boiler. Heat until blended. Add vanilla. Serve warm.

BREAD RECIPES
Good bread is a valuable source of nutrients in the diet. Particularly if it is made of flour from which vitamin B1 has not been lost by over-refining. White bread can be a wholesome food if properly made.

Did you ever coddle an apple the KARO way?

It's the simplest sort of dessert to make—but so colorful, so flavorful! Come—make a hit with your family tonight! Serve apples "coddled" to melting tenderness, and flavored to the Queen's taste with Karo Syrup and spices! Here's the recipe:

KARO CODDLED APPLES
8 medium sized apples
8 whole cloves
1 piece stick cinnamon
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup Karo (red label)

Wash and core apples. Do not peel. Place in a saucepan; add spices, water and Karo. Cover, and cook very slowly about 1 hour or until tender. Makes 8 servings.

Remember—Karo Syrup adds food value as well as delicious flavor to meals.

First Line FOOD FOR DEFENSE Against Fatigue

Eight slices bread, 2 cups veal stock, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon curry powder (optional), 2 teaspoons vinegar, 1 pound veal or lamb shoulder, 1 cup canned or fresh cooked peas, drained, butter, softened, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, parsley, chopped.

Place veal or lamb shoulder in large pot. Add seasoning and ends of raw celery, parsley, carrot shreds and outside leaves of lettuce. Also 1 onion. Cover with cold water. Simmer until tender. Strain broth and save. Shred meat.

With a small round cookie cutter, cut a round of bread from the center of each slice. Put rounds aside. Cut remaining bread into small cubes with a sharp bread knife. Scald the milk, add the bread cubes and stir with a fork over a low flame, until mixture is thick and smooth. Remove from fire. Beat in pepper, curry powder if desired, and "vinegar stir" in flaked meat and peas, and transfer to casserole dish. Spread rounds of bread generously with softened butter; arrange, butter-side up, to cover meat mixture. Sprinkle top all over with grated cheese (Parmesan type preferably). Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 10 minutes. Before serving, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

DEEP DISH BETTY
(Serves 4 to 6)

Four tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 5 slices bread, 2 cups drained, stewed apricots (or fresh strawberries, stewed and drained), grated rind 1/2 lemon, 1/4 cup apricot juice (or strawberry juice).

Cream together the butter, brown sugar and cinnamon. Remove crusts from bread and spread thickly with butter mixture. Cut each slice into 8 finger-length strips. Arrange 12 strips clockwise in bottom of buttered baking dish of the deep layer-cake style. Cover with half the apricots and lemon rind. Repeat. Arrange remaining 16 bread strips on top as follows—8 strips radiating from the center, clock fashion, with the 8 remaining strips twisted to form a "U" at the outer end of each. Pour over apricot juice. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes, or until top is lightly browned. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

PORK FOR VITAMIN B1
Pork is important as a protein food because of its high vitamin B1 content and its relatively low cost.

"A good diet contains liberal amounts of salads, green vegetables, fresh fruit, milk and meat provides daily about 500 International Units of thiamine" (vitamin B1), writes Dr. Henry Borsok, professor of biochemistry, California Institute of Technology, in his informative book, "Vitamins—What They Are and How They Can Benefit You."

Dr. Borsok observes also, "Fresh meat is a time-honored, somewhat over-rated standby. One quarter-pound of fresh lean beef contains about 50 International Units of thiamine. Pork and pork are much richer in this respect than beef."

PORK LOAF
(Serves 4 to 6)

One pound chopped pork, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 egg, beaten, 1 small onion, chopped, pinch thyme or savory seasoning, salt, pepper, fine dry crumbs, bacon or salt pork, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk.

Mix the pork, bread crumbs, egg, onion and seasoning. Shape into a roll, coat with fine, dry crumbs, place in a baking pan, and lay a few thin strips of bacon or salt pork over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for an hour. A few minutes before the meat is to be served, stir the fat into the fat in the pan and add the evaporated milk. Stir until the gravy is smooth and season with salt and pepper.

PORK AND NOODLE STEW
(Serves 4 to 6)

One-half pound ground lean pork, 1/2 cup diced celery, 2 medium-sized onions, chopped, 1 cup canned tomatoes, salt, pepper, 1/2 package noodles, 1/2 green pepper, chopped. Brown the meat in its own fat. Add the celery, onions and green pepper and cook for a few minutes. The celery may be omitted. Add the tomatoes, season with salt and pepper. Add the noodles which have been cooked until tender in boiling salted water and drained.

PORK DIABLE
(Serves 4 to 6)

Two cups cooked pork, sliced, 2 tablespoons pork drippings, olive oil or butter, 1/4 cup catsup, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon prepared horse-radish, 1/2 cup boiling water, salt, pepper.

Mix hot fat with catsup, mustard, horse-radish, boiling water and seasoning. When well blended, add sliced pork and simmer very slowly until meat is hot.

BRITISH RECIPES
Here's some food with an "all aid to Britain" flavor. The British War Relief society is distributing "Old and New British Recipes" ($1), a sturdy little volume packed with practical yet traditional recipes. Let's take a look:

YORKSHIRE BUTTERMILK BREAD
Three and one-half lbs. flour, 1 1/2 lbs. moist sugar, 1/2 lb. lard, 1 lb. raisins, 1 1/2 lbs. currants, 1/4 lb. mixed peel, 1 tablespoon carbonate of soda, buttermilk. Mix all ingredients, dissolving soda in a little buttermilk to a stiff paste; then loosen it with more buttermilk, and bake in a moderate oven from 2 to 3 hours in four loaves.

FRUIT JUMBLES
One and one-half cups white sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 3 eggs, 1 lb. dates, stoned and cut small, 1/4 cup walnut meats, chopped, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 cup boiling water.

Dissolve baking soda in boiling water. Beat butter and sugar; add beaten eggs and mix in fruit and nuts. Add flour, dissolve soda and add last. Drop on buttered tins and bake in a fairly hot oven.

Airplane engines shipped to Great Britain are ready for action as soon as they arrive since the practice of packing them with silica gel was begun. This dehydrating chemical protects the engines from corrosion and rust.

Almost 77 per cent of fatal accidents happen on dry roads.

Soul And Body To Be Sermon Subject
"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 23.

The Golden Text is: "Rejoice the soul of thy servant: for unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul" (Psalms 86:4).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore" (Psalms 16:11).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul" (page 60).

Garrison Forecasts 195 Traffic Deaths In Texas Next Month
Special To The NEWS
AUSTIN, Nov. 21—The grave diggers won't get much rest this Christmas season. Throughout December, State Police Director Homer Garrison predicted today, they'll dig an average of more than six graves a day for the torn and crushed bodies of persons killed in traffic collisions.

With traffic deaths for 1941 skyrocketing to an all-time high, Garrison foresees a toll of 195 in Texas for December.

"Tragedy will strike most frequently when people are having fun. Two out of every three of these 195 deaths will occur between 5 p. m. and 2 a. m. The peak will be reached from 6 to 9 p. m., when 54 will die in the rush of getting home from work and rushing to meet engagements on time.

As the month grows older and the Christmas spirit flames higher, the grave diggers will work faster and faster. In the first 10 days of December they'll dig 43 graves. In the next 10 days it will be 53. And in the last 11 days, which includes Christmas and New Year's Eve, the number will be 99.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Prime Minister Churchill's assertion that the Allied offensive in Libya "will affect the whole course of the war" is a rather typical British understatement, since an Allied victory would be likely to shorten the war immeasurably whereas a sweeping defeat might be absolutely catastrophic.

At the risk of seeming unduly repetitive I call the reader's attention again to the fact that preservation of Britain's control of the Mediterranean theater is, next to the defense of England itself, the issue of greatest importance to the Allied cause.

Should the British lose that vital domination, it is difficult to see how they could hope to win the war.

The greatest threat to England's control is the possession of Libya by the Axis forces. If the Axis, and particularly the Nazis, can knock out of northern Africa altogether, the threat to the Mediterranean will be reduced to a minimum, and the Allies will have taken their mighty stride toward final victory.

Thus tremendous importance attaches to this long-delayed desert offensive across the front, against the Axis defenses along the Italian military highway which skirts the southwest corner of the sea between Egypt and French Tunisia. America of course has a very considerable stake in this operation, for it has been made possible through the equipment which we have been pouring into Africa.

While the basic idea of this offensive is preparation of Britain's control in the Mediterranean area, there are numerous important objectives which are involved. These include:

1. To try to relieve the German pressure against the Russians by causing Hitler to withdraw warplanes and other equipment in order to support the Axis in Libya.

This is especially important in the drive for the Caucasus. A German break-through into the Caucasus not only would give Hitler the oil he needs but would menace the Allied position in the Middle East.

It may prove to be fortunate for the Russians that the Anglo-Allied forces have struck in Africa at this precise moment when the Hitlerian legions have inaugurated another fierce offensive against the Reds in the northern, central and southern sectors of the fighting line. Thus far the Bolsheviks claim to have flung the invaders back.

2. To make a quick conquest of Libya to prevent Hitler from gaining control of France's colonies in adjoining North Africa—a danger which seems to be increased through the reported enforced retirement of General Weygand as commander in chief of the French colonial armies. Weygand is credited with having stood between Hitler and these African bases which are important to the Germans both in the battle of the Atlantic and for land operations against the British in Egypt.

3. To render the Germans impotent in North Africa so that if Hitler succeeds in breaking into the Caucasus and on into the Middle East, he won't be able to work his famous squeeze-play by attacking Egypt simultaneously from Libya.

As already indicated, if the Axis can be knocked out of Africa, the British and their allies will have made Egypt and the Suez canal reasonably safe, and at the same position in the Middle East against Hitler's drive from the north.

The effects of such a victory would be felt even further afield. With the Axis cut off from the shores of northern Africa the movement of Allied transports and supply ships would become much safer. By the same token, the work of the British fleet in the Mediterranean would be eased—an item not to be overlooked in event Japan precipitates war with Britain and America.

Congressman Urges 40 Armored And Motorized Divisions
By RICE YAHNER
WITH ARMY IN THE FIELD, Nov. 21. (AP)—The United States needs 40 armored and motorized divisions "if we are going to participate in affairs overseas" a congressman-colonel serving in the Carolina maneuvers said today.

Col. Charles I. Paddis, U. S. representative from Pennsylvania and a member of the house military affairs committee, made the statement in an interview as orders went out for three such divisions to rip again into the advancing first army.

It was the sixth—and scheduled to be the last—day of a field exercise pitting the IV army corps against the first army. There will be another training battle next week.

"Eighteen months ago I proposed that we create 10 armored divisions like the first and second in these maneuvers," said Col. Paddis, temporarily on the staff of Maj. Gen. Charles L. Scott, commander of the first armored corps.

Pitching In for Finland

Sally Salminen thinks her pitchfork mightier than her pen. The former housemaid who wrote a prize novel in New York helps harvest Finland's crops while the men fight Russia.

When it takes to its wings, the navy's 140,000-pound flying boat will be the largest flying ship in the world. It has a wing-spread of 200 feet, its 117-foot hull has two decks, and it can carry enough fuel to fly it non-stop across the Atlantic and back.

Torrance Case To Be In Judge's Hands By Week-End

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 21. (AP)—Arthur Torrance, accused of murdering his wealthy bride, the former Mrs. Ada Loveland of Kalamazoo, Mich., today waived his right to bring the case before a judge immediately.

Under Mexican procedure, the first phase of the investigation is questioning of witnesses by the police. The second is the inquiry by the district attorney and the final step is turning all evidence over to the judge for his decision.

Today at 11 a. m. would have been the deadline for presenting the case to the judge but Torrance's waiver will allow District Attorney Juan Jose Vallejo time to continue his inquiry.

No one in the waiver was set but officials believed the case would be in the judge's hands by the weekend.

Mrs. Torrance died Nov. 8 of shock due to a fractured skull, an autopsy report said. The state is seeking to establish that Torrance beat his bride with a vacuum bottle but this he denies, contending she suffered her fatal injuries in an automobile accident.

The accused man's defense staff was bolstered yesterday by the arrival from Los Angeles of his brother, Victor, who identified himself as a private detective.

The chief of police said a man who cleaned Torrance's suit testified the hotel where Torrance was staying kept calling him Sunday

Huge Resettlement Project In Rio Grande Valley Studied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—A huge resettlement project in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, to provide farms for 350 Mexican families in an area about 25 miles north-east of McAllen, is under consideration by the Farm Security Administration.

The government has option on 25,950 acres in Hidalgo and Willacy counties now upheld by receivers of the American-United Life Insurance company of Michigan. The purchase price agreed upon is $959,000, or approximately $38 per acre.

The option expires Dec. 10. Final decision by Farm Security officials as to whether to carry out the project hinges on receipt of additional data from C. M. Evans, regional administrator for the FSA, with headquarters in Dallas. If he submits figures showing the project would be sound economically, and recommends its execution, the FSA administrator, C. B. Baldwin, then and Monday after the death, demanding that the suit be rushed because Torrance wanted to leave immediately. The name of the witness was not disclosed.

IT WAS WORTH WAITING 10 YEARS FOR! PAMPANS EXULT

Pampa Sticks To Straight Power, Sandies Take To Air As Harvester Line Shines

Sandies Play Hard

In defeat, the Sandies played a brilliant football game in many ways and their performance was noted over which to hang their heads in shame. They just met a better team in the fighting Pampa Harvesters. The Sandies had run their string of victories to 22 and they were after 23 but it was skidoo to their dream of another state championship.

The Sandies played hard—maybe too hard. In Boyer and Hoskins the Sandies have a couple of backs that are natural while in the line it was Collins, playing although injured, Watson and Tigert who time and again kayoed the Harvesters.

It was no inspired Pampa team that beat the Sandies. It was a team that had made his mind up to end the reign of the Sandies and eleven boys went out on the field and did their job and did it well. There wasn't a shining light in the lineup.

The Harvesters had the defensive strength to stall all but two Amarillo threats and they had the offensive power to march right through the vaunted Sandie forward wall for two touchdowns. The Harvesters also had the educated toes of Halter, Edmondson and Edson.

Although the day was made to order for passing, and Amarillo was expecting the Harvesters to let the air with footballs, Coaches Frejan and Best fooled the champions and hurled only four passes, three completed, one for a touchdown. Amarillo, on the other hand, was scheduled to stick with straight power but instead heaved 13 passes, six complete and one intercepted.

Harvester Strategy Hit

Now that the game is over, the strategy planned by the Harvester coaches and wrecked by the dropping of three boys from the squad, can be revealed. For three weeks prior to the game coaches were grooming Bobby Joe Dunham to play side with the fullback and to do all of the passing. But when Dunham, Jack Waters, fullback, and Bill Abernathy, reserve guard, were dropped because of breaking training rules, the Harvester offense had to be changed.

Cannily the Harvester quarterbacks picked out flaws in the Sandie line and they worked on those weaknesses with the finesse of college signal callers. Into the line would plunge Boyles. Then he'd slip around end. Arthur would cut one way and Meador would go another. Halter and Edmondson would spin, plow or fill the end of the line, and the Sandies' dizzy end the day that great Pampa line that really outshone itself. From end to end there wasn't a weakness and reserves fitted in long enough to give the starters well-earned breathers.

The two Harvester tackles, Phillips and Chesser, Burnett, a guard, and Burge, center, played the entire game without relief. Boyles was on the sidelines only three minutes, after being injured, and Meador spent only a few minutes on the bench.

Harvesters In Condition

A tribute must be paid the condition of the Harvesters. Maybe fans haven't noticed but only twice in nine games this season have the Harvesters asked for water during a game. Once they called for water in Lubbock and once in Plainview. On both occasions the thermometer stood in the seventies.

When a team, playing the hard brand of football dished up by the Harvesters can get the full distance without water, they're in condition.

Amarillo started as usual with a display of offensive power, but a penalty set them back. An Amarillo drive went into action. Quattlebaum roamed to the middle in three tries but there the Harvesters held.

Amarillo elected to punt and that was when the Sandies got the break that gave them their first touchdown. Edmondson, passing to Quattlebaum's punt on his 35-yard line instead of letting it roll across the goal line. He fumbled and recovered on his 4-yard line and had to boot out, Amarillo taking over on the Pampa 39.

Sandies Score First

Halter relieved Edmondson and he and Arnold stopped two line plunges. Amarillo drew a 15-yard holding penalty but got it all back and some to spare on a 31-yard pass from Quattlebaum to Jolly. Boyer, on three straight plunges went to the Pampa 2-yard line at the end of the quarter. Pampa held on two downs but on the third try Boyer soared over the Pampa line for a touchdown. Collins missed the try for extra point.

Watson kicked off to Halter on the Pampa 45 and the fleet back flashed to the Amarillo 45-yard line before being trapped. Boyles then slipped around end to the Sandie 22. Halter passed to Meador on the Amarillo 31. Pampa drew a five-yard penalty but on the next play Halter passed to Cox standing on the goal stripe to tie the score. Edson failed to make the extra point and the score was tied.

Lady luck played with the Harvesters with less than a minute to go at the half. Sutton tied the Pampa line but fumbled and Meador jumped on the ball like a cowboy

CHICAGO, Nov. 14—Football talent, like time, the river and income tax, keeps rolling along.

Alarmists who mourn the loss of a Grange or Harmon and who foresee chaos when the Alberts, Crains, Sinkwicks, and Smiths clutch diplomas in June, can put away their crying towels.

Harvested, bundled and already sold is a bumper crop of sophomore backfield artists whose brilliant first year performances assure staid bondholders a fine return on their investments.

Rarely has a single football grid reaped such a wealth of first-year backfield material. Passers, runners, kickers, blockers—this sophomore contingent has them in abundance.

GARNAAS, BUD HIGGINS, FRICKY BOLSTER GOPHERS

Minnesota, crumpling away to another undefeated season, can thank three sophomore shavetails who stepped into the breach.

Midget Bud Higgins and Herman Fricky filled in brilliantly when an injury cut down Capt. Bruce Smith.

The third, Bill Garnaaas, moved his 5 foot 10 inch, 170-pound frame from halfback to the regular quarterback slot, ousting veteran Warren Penick. He has the type of football acumen Bernie Bierman wants, is fiercely ambitious, a great blocker and an inspirational leader.

Out at Notre Dame, they're comparing a fair-haired, blue-eyed, 175-pound Italian to the great passer, Lank Angelo Bertelli—"Big passer, college or pro, in the country," say the coaches—has completed 52 of 89 for 713 yards in seven games.

Today's Guest Star

Walter Stewart, Memphis Commercial Appeal: "The Professional Golfers association issued a thrilling bulletin the other day—admitted that Walter Hagen has walked 100,000 miles in 30 years of tournament golf. Shucks, we've played a lot less than 30 years and hoofed a lot further. You see, the Haig walked straight down the fairway—not zigzag."

Hardwood Highlights

Chuck Hyatt, who always was this corner's idea of tops among basketball players, says Hank Luisetti is the greatest that ever lived. "You hate to admit a fellow is that much better than you are, but he is," says Chuck, who explains that Luisetti is just "one of those naturals that come along" like Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones or Jack Dempsey. . . . Hyatt is plumb scared that his basketballers and the folks back home in Bartlesville, Okla., will find out that he has been spending his spare time in New York taking rumba lessons—and not to learn any fancy steps to use on the court.

Pampa Penalized

Amarillo's Sandies, not daunted, took new life in the fourth quarter when Edson Edmondson had set the Harvesters back. Halter's fumble and Amarillo's recovery on the Pampa 40 gave Amarillo their first offensive advantage of the half. During the third quarter Amarillo gained only one yard from scrimmage.

Quattlebaum and Boyer blitzed the Pampa line to the 14 where Boyer fumbled and the alert Leslie Burge fell on the ball. Pampa was then penalized 13 yards, to the 1-yard line, for holding. Under pressure, Halter kicked out, Amarillo returning to the 25. Boyer, working the right foot line and then the wrong side, kicked a 35-yard, one-man drive to the Pampa 3-yard line where a bad pass from center set the Sandies back to the 12. A pass was completed on the 2-yard line, on a fourth down, and the Harvesters took over.

They Weren't Fishing

Bill Dean of Lanagan, Mo., relays this hunting yarn: Glenn D. Elliff of Anderson, Mo., went bird hunting in the middle of a covey. One bird rose so close that Glenn swung his gun like Joe DiMaggio's bat and dropped it, then wheeled and fired to get another. . . . And to prove it wasn't one of those hunt-writer's dreams, Bill reports a witness was R. C. Eddings, a minister.

Groom To Close Up For Saturday Game

GROOM, Nov. 21—When a small town closes its business for the Saturday afternoon, something important is happening. That is the way things will be Saturday afternoon at Groom. Something important is happening—the Groom Tigers are preparing for district honors again.

They meet the Darrowzett team at 2:30 on Fireman's Field and the town will be locked up from 2:30 until 4:30.

The Groom fans began supporting the Tigers early in the season because they didn't want to see the boys lose the games and not have any support either. After the Tigers failed to lose the fans kept supporting them to see how far they would go. The boys' fight, and good sportsmanship, have won the fans to such an extent that, win or lose Saturday, the local people are for them.

The Tigers are in deep earnest as they prepare to step to the field and run of Vernon Roper, big back of Darrowzett. Coach Clark will probably start Johnson, Wilkerson and Brown on the line with Whately, Burns, and Andrews in the backfield for Groom. Coach Ed Winette of Darrowzett will start Roper, Beck, and Hood in the backfield with Peil, Hudson, and Rush on the line.

In Iowa, three truck-borne libraries (known as "book-mobiles") brought 104,378 books to 13,194 rural readers during 1940.

Armed forces reports from the United States in 1940 were valued at $11,707,326.

SOPHOMORE LEADS BIG TEN SCORERS

When Michigan handed its All-America must-order, Tom Harmon, his diploma, they kissed him on both cheeks and stealed themselves for some of the wintry blasts of the late Kipke era.

But why Fritz Crisler uncovered a fellow Gary burger in sophomore Tom Harmon, who hits harder than Harmon, kicks better and passes acceptably.

As a sophomore wingback, Harmon scored three touchdowns and passed for three others. Kuzma, in his first six games, scored six touchdowns and tossed two touchdown passes.

Midwestern observers are singing rave notices over Wisconsin's Pat Harder, a 191-pound fullback buster who leads the Western conference in scoring with 45 points in four games.

YOUNG GRAHAM KEEPS DECORRENT ON BENCH

A couple of other sophomore darlings are 19-year-old Billy Hillenbrand of Indiana and Otto Graham of Northwestern. Both are speed-revellers. The publicized Bill decor-revnt has wiled away much of his senior year on the bench watching talented Otto perform.

Dan Griffin has been buried on a mediocre Illinois team, but his play at times has been spectacular. He has 10 touchdowns passes in his first seven games.

Red Wade is an outstanding running back at Missouri.

Two of Colgate's starting backs, Mike Micka and Jules Yakopovich, are first-year men.

Pennsylvania has a fleet sophomore halfback in Joe Kane.

Fordham is proud of Steve Andreggio's play.

Brown opponents say Bob Mar-

Schwenk Breaks National Passing Record In Win

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—College football, coming in double doses this week because of the first of the Thanksgiving holidays, got through the appetizers yesterday but the main course comes tomorrow.

Two individual performances yesterday overshadowed anything presented in the way of team achievements on the slim holiday card for the states which called it Turkey Day.

At Chapel Hill, N. C., Bullet Bill Dudley slammed the door on a brilliant collegiate career by leading Virginia to a 28-7 victory over Carolina.

Dudley, backfield ace of the Cavaliers, made his final appearance his best. He scored three touchdowns—two on long runs—passed to the fourth and kicked all four extra points.

When Bill left the game with two minutes to play, his mates rushed off the bench and carried him on their shoulders to the sidelines while 22,000 fans, most of them backing the other team, shook the stadium with their applause.

The other sole stunt was engineered by Wilson (Bud) Schwenk, the passing star from Washington University at St. Louis, who pitched his team to a 28-7 triumph over Missouri Mines and himself into football's hall of fame.

Schwenk went into the game needing only three completions to break the national record of 93 successful passes in one season, set in 1938 by Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian.

The husky halfback cocked his right arm 23 times, and 12 times hit their mark for a total of 186 yards, setting a new record of 103 completions for a single year. Two of Schwenk's passes went for touchdowns and he scored the other two touchdowns himself.

The rest of yesterday's outings furnished few surprises, although Western Reserve knocked Case out of the ranks of the unbeaten and untied teams, 26-6, and Rutgers

Luster Forces Orv Mathews To Call Own Signal

By SCHUYLER ALLMAN

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 21 (AP)—Ever hear of a fast, deceptive quarterback so laden with modesty his coach threatens to bench him unless he calls his own signal and runs with the ball?

Then shake hands with Mr. Orville Mathews, who sends the heavy brain-work for the University of Oklahoma Sooners.

Mr. Mathews sought out anonymity feverishly this year after Coach Dewey Luster installed the "A" as his formation and Mr. Mathews—as he has been blessed with football savvy—as his quarterback.

With some pride, Luster earlier had pointed out the "A" was built somewhat for Mr. Mathews—quick-opening plays, fakes, etc.

"For," said he, "I don't think there is a faster man than Orville in these parts. He runs the 100 in around 10.6 in football equipment, and regardless of what you hear, they don't get much faster than that."

But Mr. Mathews early showed a stout disinclination to call his own numbers and amused himself by light-heartedly throwing blocks, slipping the ball to his pals, and making the leather pop with bone-cracking tackles.

Now this was all very fine as long as Oklahoma was winning without his darting runs, his long, broken-field gallops on punt returns—for you see he even gave up his old safety job because his speed and smartness made him a great pass defender.

But come last Saturday, and if ever Oklahoma needed a runner, it was then, with Missouri's Tigers chewing up the Sooners, 28 to 0.

On the fourth play, Orville showed Mr. Mathews thoughtlessly called to himself twice and promptly chewed off 23 yards of Tiger.

That was enough for Luster. Coming back on the train he fell to talking to Mathews and this week's game here with Maryland.

"He's got to call himself at least one-third of the time," the little coach said fondly but firmly, "or out he comes to the bench so we can watch the game together."

Derace Moser Boosted As All-America

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 21 (AP)—In discussing All-America prospects lend an ear to backers of husky Derace Moser, ace of unbeaten Texas A. and M. backfield.

Moser's value is measured in miles—well, almost. You see, he's accounted personally for 1,541 yards advancing the ball and has punted 1,401, which all adds to more than a mile and a half.

As the Aggies roll on toward the Southwest conference championship they have already clinched a tie to give them one outright tie and two shares in three seasons—Moser has accounted for 78 points.

In addition he has set up many more and his mighty punting has been a major factor in a defense holding eight opponents to 23 points.

Here's a breakdown of his work to date:

Ball-carrying—293 yards on 83 runs.
Punting—811 yards on 57 completions.
Passing—1,407 yards on 37 spots, many of his kicks being to the coffin corner with the yardage held down. Incidentally, he's an artist at this.
Pass interception returns—three for 96 yards.
Punt returns—24 for 303 yards. (This is where he breaks the opposition's heart.)
Kick-off returns—Two for 38 yards.
Scoring—Five touchdowns.
Touchdown passes—Eight.
Playing time—340 out of a possible 480 minutes.

He might have materially added to his yardage had he been a passer, but he hasn't had time to catch them since he does the throwing.

Moser has two more games to play, so there will be another recapitulation later. By then he ought to be well over two miles.

Because metals expand when heated, adjustments to the various engine parts should be made when the motor is warm.

Amarillo's Defeat 'Big News' Over Entire State

(By The Associated Press)

Five district titles have been determined in four more go on the line today but the big news along the Texas schoolboy football front is the defeat of Amarillo after 22 straight victories.

The defending state champion Sandies went down before Pampa 15-12 yesterday but fell into a tie for the District 1 leadership with Pampa and Lubbock.

Paris and Highland Park (Dallas) won district championships yesterday, the Wildcats beating Gainesville 28-14 while Denison, the lone remaining District 5 contender, was being upstaged through a 7-7 tie with Sherman.

Highland Park clinched honors in District 6 by crushing Denton 33-7. Today and tonight the following championships will be definitely in the balance:

District 8—Sunset (Dallas) vs. Woodrow Wilson (Dallas).
District 10—Waco at Temple.
District 14—Conroe at Goose Creek.
District 15—Kerrville at Austin.
In District 10 Temple needs only a tie and it is the same with Goose Creek in District 14 and Austin in District 15.

Three championships had been decided prior to yesterday—Wichita Falls in District 2, Yeteta in District 4 and Amon Carter Riverside (Port Worth) in District 7.

Odesa has virtually clinched honors in District 3, Breckenridge in District 9, Naacodoches in District 12, and Lamar (Houston) in District 13.

The triple tie in District 1 appears to be the way it will end. Amarillo has to play Plainview, knocked out yesterday by Lubbock, 33-0, and Pampa makes good with Amarillo and Pampa favored to come through. Lubbock has finished its conference schedule.

In event of a tie for the leadership the district committee will decide the champion on the basis of record and merit.

Manhattan Opens Hard Heart To Girl And Texas Sailor

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Sailor Bill Langford and his young girl in every port, except the one he had breakfast with this morning in a hotel suite 38 floors above Manhattan's streets—his 19-year-old bride, Josephine Phillips, whom he met two months ago in Central Park.

They had walked up Fifth Avenue last night, just as they had walked the night they met, when Bill found her crying on a park bench. They went to a night club offering Hawaiian music, because Bill had fond memories of Hawaii.

At the Hotel New Yorker, where the management had given them a suite in tribute to romance, they danced to the music of Benny Goodman and Benny dedicated a tune to Bill—"You and I."

Bill carried Josephine across the threshold of her rooms and they walked out on the terrace and looked past the million lights of the skyscrapers at the black-and-white pattern of Central Park. They drank champagne and laughed, and sucked lollypops they had bought on Forty-Second street.

"He's my dream boy," Josephine whispered. "There never was a better."

SERIAL STORY

LADY BY REQUEST

BY HELEN R. WOODWARD

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: In handsome Stephen Curt, famous writer and commentator, about to offer her a job, Diana Tucker cannot understand why he followed her when she left the office of his lawyer, after telling her former employer, Richard Thorpe, in Curt's presence, to go to the devil; why he asked her to dinner; Curt's interest has been attracted by the beautiful, fiery, red-headed girl. Naturally she is interested in him, even aside from her reluctance to return to her dowdy farm home, her hope that she can find another job in the city. Does Curt know, she wonders, that her dismissal from Thorpe had resulted from her resistance to alterations Richard Thorpe's advances?

STRANGE PROPOSAL

DIANA sat up straight. Stephen Curt was going to offer her a job as she had hoped, but he was going about it oddly. As her eyes searched his face she began to speak very slowly as if choosing his words carefully so as to not be misunderstood.

"My father died several years ago, leaving me a very respectable though eccentric stepmother who loves me and whom I love very much. My own mother couldn't have taken more tender care of my sister, Adela, and me. But she's willful and domineering—a regular termanter—she grows worse as she grows older—and unhappily my father left his entire fortune for her to administer. My father's will had several extraordinary clauses."

"But what," Diana was thinking, "as all this to do with me? I'm the one who's seeking a job—I should be giving the references. How strange that Stephen Curt should think I ought to know this!"

Stephen Curt went on. "Knowing my proximity to bachelorhood my father made his will to read that if I have not married by the time I am 35, his entire fortune, except for a bequest to Adela, will go to certain charities instead of to me. My stepmother's one purpose in life is to see that I don't try to break that clause. She has the devil's own stubbornness and—she drew a deep breath—"my dear child, she is approaching rapidly. In fact by this time next month, it will have come and gone."

Diana's gray eyes were wide open with astonishment. She was staring at Stephen Curt.

"I mean to give the references at the moment no one whom I care to make my wife—literally. Neither do I relish the idea of losing approximately two million dollars—though I shall certainly earn enough during my lifetime."

He paused and Diana waited, unable to speak.

"I was impressed by you as a girl of spirit," he went on. "When I came down in the elevator, I was hoping I might overtake you."

He reached in his pocket and drew out a small jeweler's box, toying with it for a moment.

"I've been carrying this about, hoping I might find a solution to my problem," he continued. "Since you need employment, I am offering you a job as my wife for a reasonable length of time—until all conditions of the will have been complied with, and a divorce shall be arranged—say six months at the most. He smiled briefly. "You see, my father failed to stipulate that there should not be a divorce. I assure you it is a job which will place no requirements on you in any way, except your presence in my house with me and my sister, Adela. And of course you'll be free to come and go as you like."

"Oh!" So that was it! He had not used the past tense, either. He had said "the woman I love." He was carrying a torch for someone—someone who had loved another more than he.

"I can be safe with a man like that," Diana was thinking, "until I get my bearings. Really establish myself here. It's not selfish to think of my future—he's making all the suggestions. Then—after a few months—10 thousand dollars—a little dress shop of my own perhaps. Security—I could always live here—be independent. It's honorable, too—his loving someone makes it all very safe and sure."

"Well, what do you say?"

"I don't know. What would it have to be?"

"Within the month, naturally. Come, my dear, I'll see that you have a very pleasant time."

"Yes, I can see that," she faced him squarely. "When would you want your stepmother to—pass judgment on me?"

"Why not now—tonight?"

"Tonight!" Again she had that breathless feeling of running to keep up with him. Life was certainly rushing her today. To lose one job and one's temper, to meet a fascinatingly brilliant man and have him propose marriage—to be offered a contract calling for payment of $10,000—any one of these events would have made an exciting day. But to have them all crowded into one! Having the eccentric old woman who controlled the Curt fortune pass judgment on her would perhaps provide the climax of the series.

"Very well," she said.

"Yes, yes," she said.

"I've got to go."

He looked ruefully at her untouched food. "You were so anxious to dine at the Savola and here I've made you lose your appetite. I was a chump not to wait until you'd finished. Never mind, we'll come again."

They waited in the foyer while Stephen's car was brought around. Then they were on their way to Ellen Curt's apartment.

WITH a quick twitch of his finger, he opened the lid of the box and thrust it into Diana's hand. Her amazed eyes beheld two rings—one a large, square-cut diamond, and the other a stone-encrusted wedding ring.

"I hope you won't think I'm utterly out of my mind," he said with a rueful smile, "but if you will wear those rings for a short time and help me out of this difficulty—I will pay you $10,000 at the conclusion of our contract. Ten thousand dollars! It was the most amazing thing she had ever heard.

"But surely—you're joking!"

"I was never more serious in my life," he said. "Take a moment—get used to the idea. There's really nothing alarming about it. A purely business proposition. We're both civilized products of the 20th century—liked each other on sight." He smiled.

"Or didn't you?"

"Oh, yes."

"If I had offered you a job as my secretary, you'd have accepted eagerly, wouldn't you?"

"Yes, of course."

"This will be nothing more, really. If it will make you feel better, I'll even let you type notes for me."

"Please," said Diana, trembling. "Stop talking!"

He sat quietly then, looking at her, while the dinner cooked between them.

Finally Diana said slowly, "But

TCU Writes Open Letter To Longhorns

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dear Texas:

About that game we won from you last week.

We hope you won't feel hurt because it knocked you out of the Southwest conference race and that you will understand it was just one of those things. Just good, clean fun, you know. You know we've been pals and enjoy playing each other.

Because we are pals, we feel you have our interest at heart and that you are going to do a lot to help us win part of the championship. So if you'll plan to take care of Texas A. and M. next week it's certainly be thankful on that Thanksgiving Day and be your pal for life.

With kindest personal regards,

The T. C. U. Horned Frogs.

Now if the Frogs had assurances along the lines mentioned in this mythical letter, there's no telling what kind of football game Texas Christian might play tomorrow against Rice.

T. C. U. has enough trouble of its own with two tough opponents coming up because the Frogs couldn't even slip to the point of allowing Rice or Southern Methodist to tie them in the event Texas beat A. and M.

New Airplane Plant Graces Front Office

Have you noticed the long, drooping airplane plant in the office of Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar?

Warner Overall, high school student loaned this plant to Mrs. Roberts to use toward further beautification of her office.

The plant grows upward approximately ten inches and then its long, slender, reed-like stems droop downward two feet, until it forms a structure, which if placed in a flower pot beside the plant will reproduce, forming a new plant.

After the new plant has taken root, it may be broken away from the original plant.

Mrs. Roberts stated that the airplane plant requires a great deal of water.

Select College Now, Advises Jay Gerber

High school seniors should decide this fall what college they intend to enter next year, according to Jay Gerber, new student secretary at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

"High school students today have at their disposal a wealth of material on the basis of which to select their college," Gerber said.

Among these advantages he listed the chance to make sure, in the senior year, that all entrance requirements have been met.

Gerber advised students to consult "American Universities and Colleges," the "College Blue Book," and the annual directory of colleges and universities published by the U. S. Office of Education.

Victory Is First In Ten Years Over Sandstorm

Brain versus brawn was the order of the day at Harvester park yesterday afternoon when the Pampa Harvesters set the huge Amarillo Sandies back on their heels to the tune of 16-12.

With this victory the Harvesters accomplished the following things: they beat the Sandstorm for the first time in 10 years; they preserved the unbeaten at Harvester park record which they possess; and last but not least, they scored one of the "upsets of the year" in the Texas schoolboy race.

The Sandies drew first blood, when they pushed across a touchdown at conversion was no good. They came the all-important field goal off the toe of Bobby Edson, who replaced Roland Phillips for that purpose.

The third quarter was scoreless but the crowd of 10,000 was kept on it's feet by the fine kicking of L. J. Halter, quarterback, of Pampa, and Glenn Quattlebaum, fullback, of the Sandies.

Early in the fourth period the Harvesters again scored when Charles Boyles, fullback, kicked through the center of the line, making the score 15-6.
