Pampa School Superintendent Pleads Innocence On Moral Charge In Lubbock

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

School Supt. Dr. James F. Malone, 44, and his wife are in Lubbock today conferring with legal counsel seeking to re-open the morals case and pleading innocent to a charge of lewd vagrancy lodged against him by a Texas Tech security officer Wednesday.

In an exclusive interview late Thursday night in his home, Dr. Malone said, "I am innocent of any wrong doing. I was not familiar with the implication of the 'no contest' plea. All I could think of at the time was paying the fine, getting out of there and coming home. It was a nightmare."

He was arrested singly. And was one of 14 similar arrests made during the past week by campus security officers, who had two administration buildings under surveillance for the past few weeks.

Dr. Malone was arrested mid-afternoon Wednesday on the third floor of Texas Tech University's administration building as he waited outside a classroom to visit with a long-

12 Separate Arrests Made On Morals Charge

LUBBOCK (UPI)—The superintendent of the Pampa school system, nine Texas Tech University students and 11 others were arrested on morals charges during the past week, Lubbock police officers said Thursday.

The arrests were made by Texas Tech security police in two of the university buildings. Arrests followed several weeks of surveillance on the campus by an undercover agent.

Three of the men pleaded guilty or no contest and were fined from $100 to $200. The other nine men pleaded innocent and were released on bonds. All nine Tech students were referred to university officials for punishment.

The men arrested included Dr. James Franklin Malone, 44, superintendent of schools in Pampa. Malone pleaded no contest and was fined $100 plus court costs.

Others arrested included Dr. Richard Davis Cole, 42, a Lubbock physician; David C. Ince, 28, son of a Lubbock oil official and William Douglas Parker, 30, a Lubbock stockbroker. Those three pleaded innocent.

Nixon Takes Aim At Draft Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, turning from the problems of international relations, took aim on a series of legislative targets today, including draft reform.

Nixon invited the Republican congressional leadership to breakfast in the White House to discuss the pattern of legislative priorities they will set for his administration.

As if to underscore an emphasis on reforming the controversial military draft system, the President invited Melvin R. Laird, secretary of defense, to use the White House as a forum today to announce the administration's recommendations on draft reform.

Laird had planned to reveal the recommendations at a news conference at the Pentagon.

Congressional sources already have said the President was considering a lottery draft system, calling 19-year-olds first. He can bypass Congress with the change by issuing an executive order.

Green Berets Freed On Murder Charge To Testify For Defense

SAIGON (UPI)—A spokesman for the defense said today six men facing a court martial in the Green Beret murder case would plead innocent. He predicted two other Green Berets released pending the trial would become witnesses for the prosecution.

Capt. Tom Young, a husky Hawaiian from Honolulu, is defending Capt. Robert F. Marasco of Bloomfield, N.J., one of the three men scheduled to be tried first on charges of murder and conspiracy to murder a shadowy Vietnamese man described as both a Communist spy and a double agent.

"Why should they do anything else than plead not guilty?" Young asked. "These men are innocent."

"These men" include the former commander of U.S. Special Forces in Vietnam. They are accused of murdering a Vietnamese national in the Nha Trang area 188 miles northeast of Saigon on June 20.

Defense attorneys have called the man a double agent employed by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

A military spokesman today, for the first time, identified the alleged victim as Thai Khaca Chuyen but would not give any details on his death. Unofficial reports have circulated for two months that Chuy was the victim.

Young, acting as an informal spokesman for the defense, said he and his fellow attorneys were convinced they would win an acquittal in the case.

Although six men are faced with court martial, Young said he believed only the first group in the two three-man trials would ever be heard.

The first three to be court-martialed are Capt. Leland J. Brumley, 26, of Duncan, Okla., Capt. Eudge E. Williams, 27, of Athens, Ga., and Marasco, 27.

The other three to be tried later are Col. Robert V. Rheault, 43, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former Green Beret commander, Maj. David E. Crew, 33, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa and Maj. Thomas C. Middleton, Jr., 29, of Jefferson, S.C.

U.S. Ag Secretary Listens To Problems Of Farmers In State

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—U.S. Agriculture Secretary Clifford G. Hardin listened to the problems of farming Thursday, the most vocal one being payment limitations to farmers raising price supported crops.

Hardin was at Texas A&M University for a "listening conference" with about 2,000 agriculture leaders from Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Payment limitations would put a limit on the amount any one farmer could receive under the price support system. The proposed limitations would apply mostly to large farmers.

Joe Pate of Lubbock, Tex., chairman of the Texas Association of Cotton Producing Organizations, said the limitations were "foreign to the American economic system."

He said the limitations would cause larger farmers to break up their operations and either sell or lease their lands.

"Such a limitation," he said, would "penalize a farmer because of the size of his organization—a size achieved through hard work, management ability and enterprise."

Pat Northcutt of Silverton, Tex., secretary-treasurer of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, said his group opposed the limitations "at any level and believes it would seriously hamper and kill the farm program."

Three Israeli Planes Downed Along Suez

By United Press International Cairo radio reported that Egyptian air defenses drove off waves of attacking Israeli planes today and shot down three of them as they tried to hit Egyptian targets along the coast of the Gulf of Suez. The broadcast did not say whether the Egyptian air force or anti-aircraft guns were involved, but the victory claim followed another military shakeup by President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Another victory claim came from Arab guerrillas who said they carried out a widespread attack in the South Jordan Valley Thursday night along a 25-mile front. Israeli spokesmen dismissed the claims as ridiculous.

A Cairo radio broadcast monitored in Beirut quoted an Egyptian military spokesman as saying the Israeli planes tried to attack Egyptian posts at Al-Zaafaran and that they were driven off by "our air defenses."

The broadcast said another attack came at noon on posts in the Ain Al-Sukhneh and Atakah areas and that the "air defenses" shot down three American-made Skyhawk planes. It said the Egyptians suffered no losses.

Guerrilla officers in Amman, Jordan, today issued more details of their raid which they said wrought heavy casualties and was the biggest of its kind ever carried out against Israel.

A spokesman said the attack was carried out by 400 picked men of Al-Assifa, the military wing of the Al-Fatah group. Jordanian newsmen who saw part of the attack said it started at 9 p.m. and lasted two hours with mortar, rocket and machinegun fire clearly visible in the darkness.

The Jordan report said the camouflage-clad guerrillas carrying weapons returned to the east bank of the Jordan today and were acclaimed by waiting civilians.

Israeli spokesmen in Tel Aviv dismissed the invasion report, saying the Arabs "are deluding themselves again," but acknowledged overnight fighting along the Jordan River front which killed four Arabs and wounded one Israeli.

Tel Aviv said the nighttime skirmishing flared near the Allenby Bridge and the Damiah Bridge. "If that was the heaviest raid ever, we have very little to worry about," an Israeli spokesman said.

Catholics Tear Down Last Of Barricades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Roman Catholics today agreed to tear down the last street barricades in Northern Ireland, leaving only a barbed wire "peace wall" separating them from militant Protestants in Belfast.

Catholic leaders emerged from talks with British Army officers in Londonderry and agreed to start pulling down the barricades in the city's Bogside district Monday. The last of the Belfast barricades already were under demolition.

Catholics agreed in both trouble spots to let the 7,000 British peacekeeping troops in Northern Ireland serve as the boundary between them and the Protestants.

The removal of barricades did not mean an end of the violent sectarian disputes that began with a Catholic drive for equal job, housing and voting rights and brought eight deaths and hundreds of injured in Belfast alone.

This is provided by Texas law if the vote is heavy. Chittenden said, but the only information coming from the

Wives Promised Word On Mates From Hanoi

PARIS (UPI)—The wives of four American airmen downed over North Vietnam flew home to Texas today with a promise of word from Hanoi on their missing husbands and a message for their children that "daddy cannot come home yet."

Their plane took off about 20 minutes behind schedule. They were scheduled to arrive in Dallas at 8:19 p.m. CDT after a change of planes and a two-hour layover in New York.

"My little boy understands an awful lot about the war from television, even though he's only 4½," said Mrs. Joy Jeffrey, wife of Capt. Robert Jeffrey, before boarding the aircraft.

"I told him I was coming to Paris to try and help daddy get home," she said. "I will just have to tell him that daddy cannot come home yet."

Mrs. Jeffrey's husband has been missing since their boy, Billy, was six months old. She and the other three women were promised by Hanoi representatives to the Vietnam peace talks Wednesday that they would receive word by mail at home about their husbands' fate.

North Vietnam repeatedly has refused to supply U.S. authorities with the names of American servicemen being held prisoner. The four Texas women went to Paris Sunday to find out from the Hanoi delegation whether they were "wives or widows."

Former Secretary Of State Joins 'War Between Sexes'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson Thursday joined what he described as a "war between the sexes" over the bra and says as far as men are concerned, women can go topless if they desire.

In a letter to the Washington Post, Thursday, Acheson asked "what traitor of fifth columnist on your staff embittered the war between the sexes by blaming men for the bra?"

The Post, in an editorial Sept. 11, had commented on the "anti-bra movement" in various parts of the country over recent months and said that "although the protest can be laughed off, essentially it is a protest that the grievance that gives rise to it makes sense."

PTA Urges Clubs To Participate In Safety Effort

Letters to Pampa luncheon clubs were sent out today urging participation in the Pampa PTA Traffic Safety Campaign.

Aubrey L. Jones, campaign coordinator, said interested club and organization officials were asked in the letter to contact Mrs. Melvin Watkins, PTA steering committee member, phone 669-7907.

Jones again stated the purpose of the campaign—"to create safety-consciousness on the part of all Pampans; young and old; who travel the streets and highways by automobile, motorcycle, motor scooter or bicycle."

L. C. Davis, principal of Sam Houston school and chairman of the PTA Council's Safety and Civil Defense Committee, also issued a statement today in support of the Traffic Safety Campaign. Davis' statement follows:

"Automobiles are here to stay, but are all of our children? Part of this question can be answered only by the decisions and the actions of motorists and pedestrians."

"Speaking as a teacher and as a parent I think that life and good health are two of the more important things for any individual or society; either may have an immediate priority over a formal education. It is imperative that we become aware that tragedy may be the unfortunate result of careless driving. We must continuously take advantage of opportunities to teach our children the necessity for practicing proper safety habits on or near streets, roads, driveways, and highways."

"Please drive carefully and help prevent our children from being the victims of needless accidents. Careless driving could result in becoming an accidental killer of an innocent child. Remember all traffic problems are compounded when children are traveling to or from school. All motorists must realize that children may respond to immature thinking; therefore, we must be prepared to prevent an accident if they should do the unexpected—such as dashing in front of a moving automobile."

Senator Kennedy Criticizes Nixon's Vietnam Policy

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., sharply criticized the Nixon administration's Vietnam policy Thursday night, saying the President has repeated the mistakes of the past in a war "impossible to win."

The speech was Kennedy's first major statement on the Vietnam War since a series of commencement addresses in June.

"We have made only token troop withdrawals on the battlefield, more an exercise in politics and improvisation, while the level of fighting and casualties continues," Kennedy said at an American Cancer Society dinner.

"This is the road to war, and war, and more war. The harsh fact of the matter is that despite the election of 1968, despite the promises of a new President and some new officials, despite new rhetoric, the war in Vietnam is virtually unchanged."

Kennedy called Nixon's Vietnam policy "the discredited policy of the past."

"Our leaders heed the military advisers who say that in six months or a year we will have gained an overwhelming advantage on the battlefield," he said.

guilty of the charge and would not enter that plea.

He was given the alternative of pleading innocent, posting bond and standing trial.

Or, he was told, he could enter a "no contest" plea pay a fine and be released.

"At that point I was so bewildered all I could think of was paying the fine and getting out of there and coming home. I had a speaking engagement before the District 17 Texas State Teachers' Association in Coronado High School at 5 p.m. and it was nearing that time then."

Dr. Malone paid his fine of $150, which included court costs, to Judge Denzil Beaver in Lubbock County Court At-Law No. 2.

"I do plead guilty to not realizing the full implication of my plea," Dr. Malone said.

He left the courthouse and went immediately to the school, where he fulfilled his speaking engagement and returned to Pampa later Wednesday evening.

Dr. Malone, a Texas Tech graduate 20 years ago, is one of three state directors on the national board of the National Education Agency.

He was on a speaking tour for the NEA explaining its goals and aims to TSTA meetings in the South Plains and Panhandle area.

He had left Pampa Tuesday afternoon around 2 p.m. to give a talk at the District 14 TSTA meeting in Abilene's Cooper High School Tuesday night.

He left Abilene for Lubbock around 9 p.m. Tuesday night, arriving in Lubbock around 11 p.m. and checked into the In-Town Inn and placed a call to his wife and daughter, who usually accompany him on out-of-town trips.

Dr. Malone said he had other scheduled talks that were to be given Friday and Saturday nights in other area towns, but had cancelled them.

Dr. Malone said when he returned home Wednesday night, he informed his wife and daughter of the events in Lubbock.

The Pampa Independent School Board went into an executive session late Thursday afternoon in School Board Trustee Jimmy Thompson's office on the second floor of the Hughes Bldg.

Board president John R. Spearman said today no action was taken and none would be until all the facts are determined.

Malone Denies Guilt

He said the board would make no further comment on the episode.

Dr. Malone assumed the superintendency of the Pampa Independent School District in May, 1968, signing a three year contract with the board. He came to Pampa from Kilgore, where he had been superintendent of schools for nine years.

Sitting in the living room of his home late Thursday evening with his wife and several friends, Dr. Malone said, "I am deeply concerned about the effect of this upon the Pampa schools, my wife and my daughter, my own good name and my professional career."

"I am not guilty of any kind of immoral behavior," he said quietly.

Factions for and against the sales tax were busy today with last-minute appeals to voters.

These included radio and television appearances and telephone calls. A football schedule folder with salient facts about the sales tax proposal was distributed to City Hall workers today. A marked sample ballot showed how to vote for the sales tax.

Presidential Elections May Be By Direct Vote Of People

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In its first such action since 1803, the House has passed a proposed constitutional amendment to allow presidential elections by a direct vote of the people.

Although the proposal's future in the Senate is uncertain, the unexpectedly large margin by which it passed the House Thursday—339 to 70—gave it a new momentum. Even if it clears the Senate it would still require approval by 38 states before it could become the 28th amendment to the Constitution.

The amendment proposal would scrap the 180-year-old electoral college in favor of a direct vote and provide for a runoff between the two top tickets if none polled 40 percent of the vote on the first balloting.

The last amendment proposal dealing with the election machinery, the 12th amendment, cleared Congress 166 years ago. It dealt with only a slight revision of the Electoral College, affecting the way the electors vote for president and vice president.

The senate judiciary committee still must decide from among several plans for overhauling presidential elections.

SSIC Urges Senate Finance Group To End Tax Exemptions For Unions

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The Southern States Industrial Council is calling on the Senate Finance Committee to amend the House-passed tax reform bill to eliminate one of its worst loopholes — the tax exemption on income of labor unions.

In a letter to the chairman and all members of the Senate committee which currently is considering the tax reform bill, H.R. 13270, the SSIC points out that unions have been the most vociferous of all organizations in demanding tax reform.

However, the changes which the unions demand, and were partly successful in getting in the House-passed bill, are those which would increase the tax burden on business and industry. The unions have been conspicuously silent on the unjustifiable tax exemptions they enjoy.

SSIC is asking that the tax exemption presently given to the estimated $1,500,000,000 annual income of unions from investment in property and business enterprises of all types be eliminated. SSIC also is asking for removal of the tax exemption from 100 percent of income from both dues and investments of unions which engage in political activity which, SSIC says, includes just about all of them.

The Senate Finance Committee, of which Senator Russell B. Long (D. La.) is chairman, began hearings on the tax reform bill on Sept. 4 which are scheduled to continue through Oct. 3 and may go on until the first part of November. Senators Paul Fannin (R. Ariz.) and Harry F. Byrd (D. Va.) are expected to lead the fight within the committee to end union exemptions. SSIC's letter to the committee is as follows:

"Hon. Russell B. Long, chairman
Senate Finance Committee
Dear Senator Long:

"The most glaring loophole in the federal income tax law is the exemption given to the income of labor unions. Nothing was done to close this loophole in H.R. 13270, the House-passed tax reform bill which is now being considered by the Senate Finance Committee.

"Labor unions have been the most vociferous of all organizations in demanding tax reform and the closing of tax loopholes. The reforms unions demand are aimed at further increasing the heavy tax burden borne by American business, and the so-called loopholes on which unions have concentrated their attacks are those applying to business, such as the investment tax credit, real estate depreciation write-offs, and the oil depletion allowance. Such tax provisions were placed in the law to stimulate investment by private enterprise so as to strengthen the national economy and provide more jobs and more goods and services for the American people.

"Unions, through dues extracted from working men and women — frequently against their will, have amassed billions of dollars which they have invested in all types of income-producing property and enterprises — income that is tax exempt under present law. It has been estimated that the tax exempt income of unions amounts to about $3,000,000,000 per year, about half of it from the dues and fees paid by working people, and about half from unions' investments.

"There is no justification for tax exemption of union investment income. H.R. 13270 would make the investment income of churches and foundations and other exempt groups subject to taxation for the first time. Why churches, but not unions?

"Furthermore, the House bill makes 100 percent of the income of foundations which engage in political activities subject to federal income taxes. The same standard should be applied to labor unions which engage in political activities, which includes almost every union without exception. The use by unions of their tax exempt income from both dues and investments for direct contributions to favored political candidates and to maintain elaborate and expensive lobbying apparatus in Washington is highly improper.

"Union officials and lobbyists have been completely silent on the inequitable tax advantages enjoyed by their organizations, while leveling their criticism at the tax structure for non-union businesses. The House Ways and Means Committee, unfortunately, let them get by with it.

"The Southern States Industrial Council, representing approximately 3,000 business and industrial firms, urges the Senate Finance Committee to amend H.R. 13270 to eliminate the tax exemption presently given to the investment income of labor unions and remove the tax exemption from unions which make political contributions, attempt to influence legislation, or engage in any form of political activity.

President"

Education Today

United Press International

Trees, ponds, plants, animals. What education value have these things that America has in such abundance outside its urban centers?

Holding power, according to school officials in Traverse City, Mich. The school system in that northern Michigan community credits its pioneering outdoor education program with keeping many boys from dropping out before they get their high school diplomas.

Since 1966, about 50 teen-age students have spent half of every school day working and learning at the Traverse City schools' field laboratory, a 212-acre wooded tract 20 minutes by bus from the high school.

These boys — about 5 percent of the school system — are convinced otherwise would drop out — spend their mornings at the field laboratory, cutting timber, constructing nature trails, building bridges and small buildings and learning to operate the tools and equipment at the school's own sawmill. In the afternoon, the youths return to the classroom for academic subjects.

"This kind of outdoor work provides a favorable experience for the boys and gives them a better outlook toward school," says Allen Lockman, a veteran teacher who directs the outdoor education program.

Lockman says that in addition to learning vocational skills that will serve them well after graduation the boys often profit by gaining confidence and self-esteem.

"When the kids give speeches on how to run the sawmill the other students find them as interesting as the boy who scored the winning touchdown in Friday night's football game and this gives them great confidence," Lockman said.

In 1926 Jack Dempsey lost the heavyweight boxing championship to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia.

Wives Promised Word On Mates From Hanoi

PARIS (UPI)—The wives of four American airmen downed over North Vietnam flew home to Texas today with a promise of word from Hanoi on their missing husbands and a message for their children that "daddy cannot come home yet."

Their plane took off about 20 minutes behind schedule. They were scheduled to arrive in Dallas at 8:19 p.m. CDT after a change of planes and a two-hour layover in New York.

"My little boy understands an awful lot about the war from television, even though he's only 4 1/2," said Mrs. Joy Jeffrey, wife of Capt. Robert Jeffrey, before boarding the aircraft.

"I told him I was coming to Paris to try and help daddy get home," she said. "I will just have to tell him that daddy cannot come home yet."

Mrs. Jeffrey's husband has been missing since their boy, Billy, was six months old. She and the other three women were promised by Hanoi representatives to the Vietnam peace talks Wednesday that they would receive word by mail at home about their husbands' fate.

North Vietnam repeatedly has refused to supply U.S. authorities with the names of American servicemen being held prisoner. The four Texas women went to Paris Sunday to find out from the Hanoi delegation whether they were "wives or widows."

Former Secretary Of State Joins 'War Between Sexes'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson Thursday joined what he described as a "war between the sexes" over the bra and says as far as men are concerned, women can go topless if they desire.

In a letter to the Washington Post, Thursday, Acheson asked, "what traitor or fifth columnist on your staff embittered the war between the sexes by blaming men for the bra?" The Post, in an editorial Sept. 11, had commented on the "anti-bra movement" in various parts of the country over recent months and said that "although the protest can be laughed off, essentially it is a protest that the grievance that gives rise to it makes sense."

PTA Urges Clubs To Participate In Safety Effort

Letters to Pampa luncheon clubs were sent out today urging participation in the Pampa PTA Traffic Safety Campaign.

Aubrey L. Jones, campaign coordinator, said interested club and organization officials were asked in the letter to contact Mrs. Melvin Watkins, PTA steering committee member, phone 669-7907.

Jones again stated the purpose of the campaign—"to create safety consciousness on the part of all Pampans, young and old, who travel the streets and highways by automobile, motorcycle, motor scooter or bicycle."

L. C. Davis, principal of Sam Houston school and chairman of the PTA Council's Safety and Civil Defense Committee, also issued a statement today in support of the Traffic Safety Campaign. Davis' statement follows:

"Automobiles are here to stay, but are all of our children? Part of this question can be answered only by the decisions and the actions of motorists and pedestrians.

"Speaking as a teacher and as a parent I think that life and good health are two of the more important things for any individual or society; either may have an immediate priority over a formal education. It is imperative that we become aware that tragedy may be the unfortunate result of careless driving. We must continuously take advantage of opportunities to teach our children the necessity for practicing proper safety habits on or near streets, roads, driveways, and highways.

"Please drive carefully and help prevent our children from being the victims of needless accidents. Careless driving could result in becoming an accidental killer of an innocent child. Remember all traffic problems are compounded when children are traveling to or from school. All motorists must realize that children may respond to immature thinking; therefore, we must be prepared to prevent an accident if they should do the un-expected—such as dashing in front of a moving automobile."

Dr. Malone paid his fine of $150, which included court costs, to Judge Denzil Bever in Lubbock County Court at Law No. 2.

"I do plead guilty to not realizing the full implication of my plea," Dr. Malone said. He left the courthouse and went immediately to the school, where he fulfilled his speaking engagement and returned to Pampa later Wednesday evening.

Dr. Malone, a Texas Tech graduate 20 years ago, is one of three state directors on the national board of the National Education Agency.

He was on a speaking tour for the NEA explaining its goals and aims to TSTA meetings in the South Plains and Panhandle area.

He had left Pampa Tuesday afternoon around 2 p.m. to give a talk at the District 14 TSTA meeting in Abilene's Cooper High School Tuesday night.

He left Abilene for Lubbock around 9 p.m. Tuesday night, arriving in Lubbock around 11 p.m. and checked into the In-Town Inn and placed a call to his wife and daughter, who usually accompany him on out-of-town trips.

Dr. Malone said he had other scheduled talks that were to be given Friday and Saturday nights in other area towns, but had cancelled them.

Dr. Malone said when he returned home Wednesday night, he informed his wife and daughter of the events in Lubbock.

The Pampa Independent School Board went into an executive session Thursday afternoon in School Board Trustee Jimmy Thompson's office on the second floor of the Hughes Bldg.

Board president John R. Spearman said today no action was taken and none would be until all the facts are determined.

THE WINNER of the Pampa Fine Art Association's musical summer happening Thursday night in the County Bull Barns was 17-year-old Jay Loshier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Loshier, 1821 Fir, pictured here receiving a $50 cash award from PFA president, Jimmy Thompson. The 17-year-old Pampa High School senior played and sang a medley of songs composed by him. A less-than-anticipated crowd of 150 persons heard five local musical groups compete for the cash award. He was given the alternative of pleading innocent, posting bond and standing trial.

Or, he was told, he could enter a "no contest" plea, pay a fine and be released.

"At that point I was so bewildered all I could think of was paying the fine and getting out of there and coming home. I had a speaking engagement before the District 17 Texas State Teachers' Association in Coronado High School at 5 p.m. And it was nearing that time then."

Dr. Malone said he had no further comment on the episode.

These included radio and television appearances and telephone calls. A football schedule folder with salient facts about the sales tax proposal was distributed to City Hall workers today. A marked sample ballot showed how to vote for the sales tax.

MRS. HELEN PAETZOLD

HEREFORD (Staff)—Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Mary Paetzold, 69, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Anthony's Catholic Church with burial in St. Anthony's Cemetery directed by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mrs. Paetzold died Thursday at West Gate Hospital. She is survived by her husband John J. Paetzold, of the home; seven sons, Raymond, Donald, Edward, Walter, William and James, all of Hereford, and George Snyder; two daughters Mrs. Eleanor Williams, White Deer, and Mrs. Alice Koenig, Hereford; a brother, John Korstien, Ontario, Canada; six sisters, Mrs. Mary Carney, Hereford; Mrs. Agnes Luel, Bakersfield, Calif.; Mrs. Lucy Reeves, Arlington, Calif.; Mrs. Elizabeth Looper, Pampa; Mrs. Mamie Ritter, Groom, and Mrs. Alice Scholen, Okarche, Okla.; 39 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

FLOYDADA (Staff)—Funeral services for David John Summers, 60, were to be held today in the First Christian Church with burial in Floydada Cemetery directed by Moore-Rose Funeral Home of Floydada.

Mr. Summers died Wednesday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He is survived by his widow, two sons, David Leon, Boise City, Idaho, and Johnny Floydada; two daughters Mrs. Betty Joe Carroll, Santa Fe, N.M., and Mrs. Francis Stephens, Lubbock; two step sons, J. W. Lacy, Amarillo, and Doyle Lacy, Lubbock; a step daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hughes, Roaring Springs, a brother, Marion Summers, Pampa and 14 grandchildren.

WILLIAM C. WILKERSON Funeral services are pending at Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home for William C. Wilkerson, 32, of 832 E. Murphy, who died Thursday in Albuquerque, N.M.

He was born March 17, 1907 in Pampa and had been attending Amarillo college the past four years. Prior to college he served in the Army for seven years.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Ruby Maude Wilkerson, Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Nadine Hill, White Deer; Evelyn Broxson, Corsicana; three brothers, Elvis and Arthur, both of Pampa and James, Tulsa.

Presidential Elections May Be By Direct Vote Of People

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In its first such action since 1803, the House has passed a proposed constitutional amendment to allow presidential elections by a direct vote of the people.

Although the proposal's future in the Senate is uncertain, the unexpectedly large margin by which it passed the House Thursday—339 to 70—gave it a new momentum. Even if it clears the Senate, it would still require approval by 38 states before it could become the 26th amendment to the Constitution.

The amendment proposal would scrap the 180-year-old electoral college in favor of a direct vote and provide for a runoff between the two top tickets if none polled 40 percent of the vote on the first balloting.

The last amendment proposal dealing with the election machinery, the 12th amendment, cleared Congress 169 years ago. It dealt with only a slight revision of the Electoral College, affecting the way the electors vote for president and vice president.

Further, you have a happy choice of six engines and five transmissions (including low-cost, no-clutch Torque-Drive). And Nova is anything but dowdy. See above. Certainly, little cars have to be more than a little uneasy about Nova's easy price. It simply doesn't cost that much more to own that much more car. Putting you first, keeps us first. On The Move.

SSIC Urges Senate Finance Group To End Tax Exemptions For Unions

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The Southern States Industrial Council is calling on the Senate Finance Committee to amend the House-passed tax reform bill to eliminate one of its worst loopholes — the tax exemption on income of labor unions.

In a letter to the chairman and all members of the Senate committee which currently is considering the tax reform bill, H.R. 13270, the SSIC points out that unions have been the most vociferous of all organizations in demanding tax reform. However, the changes which the unions demand, and were partly successful in getting in the House-passed bill, are those which would increase the tax burden on business and industry. The unions have been conspicuously silent on the unjustifiable tax exemptions they enjoy.

SSIC is asking that the tax exemption presently given to the estimated, $1,500,000,000 annual income of unions from investment in property and business enterprises of all types be eliminated. SSIC also is asking for removal of the tax exemption from 100 percent of income from both dues and investments of unions engaging in political activity which, SSIC says, includes just about all of them.

The Senate Finance Committee, of which Senator Russell B. Long (D-La.) is chairman, began hearings on the tax reform bill on Sept. 4 which are scheduled to continue through Oct. 3 and may go on until the first part of November. Senators Paul Fannin (R-Ariz.) and Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) are expected to lead the fight within the committee to end union exemptions. SSIC's letter to the committee is as follows:

"Hon. Russell B. Long, chairman

"Senate Finance Committee
"Dear Senator Long:

"The most glaring loophole in the federal income tax law is the exemption given to the income of labor unions. Nothing was done to close this loophole in H.R. 13270; the House-passed tax reform bill which is now being considered by the Senate Finance Committee.

"Labor unions have been the most vociferous of all organizations in demanding tax reform and the closing of tax loopholes. The reforms unions demand are aimed at further increasing the heavy tax burden borne by American business, and the so-called loopholes on which unions have concentrated their attacks are those applying to business, such as the investment tax credit, real estate depreciation write-offs, and the oil depletion allowance. Such tax provisions were placed in the law to stimulate investment by private enterprise so, as to strengthen the national economy and provide more jobs and more goods and services for the American people.

"Unions, through dues extracted from working men and women — frequently against their will, have amassed billions of dollars which they have invested in all types of income-producing property and enterprises — income that is tax exempt under present law. It has been estimated that the tax exempt income of unions amounts to about $3,000,000,000 per year, about half of it from the dues and fees paid by working people, and about half from unions' investments.

"There is no justification for tax exemption of union investment income. H.R. 13270 would make the investment income of churches and foundations and other exempt groups subject to taxation for the first time. Why churches, but not unions?

"Furthermore, the House bill makes 100 percent of the income of foundations which engage in political activities subject to federal income taxes. The same standard should be applied to labor unions which engage in political activities, which includes almost every union without exception. The use by unions of their tax exempt income from both dues and investments for direct contributions to favored political candidates and to maintain elaborate and expensive lobbying apparatus in Washington is highly improper.

"Union officials and lobbyists have been completely silent on the inequitable tax advantages enjoyed by their organizations, while leveling their criticism at the tax structure for non-union businesses. The House Ways and Means Committee, unfortunately, let them get by with it.

"The Southern States Industrial Council, representing approximately 3,000 business and industrial firms, urges the Senate Finance Committee to amend H.R. 13270 to eliminate the tax exemption presently given to the investment income of labor unions and remove the tax exemption from unions which make political contributions, attempt to influence legislation, or engage in any form of political activity.

Education Today

United Press International

Trees, ponds, plants, animals. What education value have these things that America has in such abundance outside its urban centers?

Holding power, according to school officials in Traverse City, Mich. The school system in that northern Michigan community credits its pioneering outdoor education program with keeping many boys from dropping out before they get their high school diplomas.

Since 1966, about 50 teen-age students have spent half of every school day working and learning at the Traverse City schools' field laboratory, a 212-acre wooded tract 20 minutes by bus from the high school.

These boys — about 5 percent of the school system is convinced — otherwise would drop out — spend their mornings at the field laboratory, cutting timber, constructing nature trails, building bridges and small buildings and learning to operate the tools and equipment at the school's own sawmill. In the afternoon, the youths return to the classroom for academic subjects.

"This kind of outdoor work provides a favorable experience for the boys and gives them a better outlook toward school," says Allen Lockman, a veteran teacher who directs the outdoor education program.

Lockman says that in addition to learning vocational skills that will serve them well after graduation the boys often profit by gaining confidence and self-esteem.

"When the kids give speeches on how to run the sawmill the other students find them as interesting as the boy who scored the winning touchdown

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you for some practical words of advice to pass on to my 16-year-old daughter. She is a fine, pretty, intelligent girl with high ideals. Popular, too, and respected by her classmates. I have instilled the "old fashioned" virtues in her and we have had some frank discussions about sex. She's always believed that it paid off to be "nice," and went with one of the most popular boys in high school. They enjoyed a decent, fun relationship and considered themselves "in love" as most kids do. She wore his "friendship" ring and he wore hers.

She told me that lately he was trying to get her to go a little bit further than she wanted to go, but she managed to keep him in line. Last week he gave her an ultimatum, and when she refused to cross the limit line, he dropped her and went back to his old girl. (He had told my daughter that he'd been intimate with that girl, and I have reason to believe he had. I am not knocking her, but she has had no supervision, having lived with a divorced mother who has a poor reputation and is never home herself.)

Now my daughter feels that being "good" didn't pay off. In her disappointment and jealousy and through her 16-year-old eyes she's played life's game honorably and lost, while the other girl did all the "wrong" things and won. What can I say to her?

HER MOM: You can tell her that "life's game" is hardly over at age 16, and a boy who would give her such an ultimatum is no bargain. Tell her, too, that before the game is over, she'll realize that though she may have lost one boyfriend, she won much more.

DEAR ABBY: Some very good friends of ours have a son who has gone the hippie route. When we inquire about their "children," (they have others who are married and one is in the service) should we inquire about their hippie son? Or should we just not mention him, like he is "dead"? We know that they are pretty sick about the life he leads.

NEEDS TO KNOW: DEAR NEEDS: Knowing that your friends would be hurt or embarrassed by the mention of their hippie son, do not mention him.

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with me? I was crazy about this man who was wonderful company and great guy. The only thing wrong with him was that sometimes he drank too much. Then he got quarrelsome and moody. He wanted to marry me, but I was afraid of his drinking and kept putting him off. He got tired of my stalling and married someone else.

I hear his wife sold him on A. A. and he hasn't had a drink in a year. I can't get this guy off my mind and now I'm eating my heart out. Can you help me?

DEAR LONELY: Quit eating your heart out with thoughts of what might have been. The one who got away always looks best. And should you ever meet another "wonderful guy" whose only weakness is joy juice, try to sell him on A. A. And if you succeed, then marry him.

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, SEPT. 20
Your birthday Saturday: The year ahead is full of much talk, many apparent opportunities which go nowhere. Few openings offer serious change of direction. It is time to sort out true from false. Discard outdated unconscious attitudes and sell off useless materials and property. Consider people who leave you this year as no great loss as they have some other destiny to fulfill which you cannot share. Saturday's natives tend to be intelligent, industrious, and willing to follow a strongly dissident course of action when given reason.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): There is nothing to do but go ahead with the best work you can do under conditions of stress and noise. Cut out any distraction that you can, and keep matters simple. Promises from others fade fast.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Creative work is favored over commercial efforts. Deal with professional consultants. Home affairs are subject to confusion, crossed signals. Be wary of any deal which seems too good.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Joint financial affairs should be left as they are, despite temptations to take risks. Skepticism may spoil a romantic episode, but will save you heartbreak later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): It is your duty to remain calm while all around you everything surges and everybody frets. Self-important people intrude where they are difficult to cope with. Omit social action tonight and get some studying done.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your knowledge of social customs is essential to progress. Think what you are doing, where it may lead you. Any sort of service received should be checked carefully on delivery.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): This period early in your new cycle invites capitalization, peopel able and willing to invest in you and your future prospects. Search near you, then plan on looking at greater distances if you are not well sustained locally.

Clergymen's Wives Earn Special Place For Accepting Woes, Blessings Of Life

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
A couple of weeks ago, I put forward the argument that there must be a special place in heaven for the wives of clergymen.

These noble women, I said, accept with quiet fortitude the hardships of one of the most difficult human vocations. I went on to list some of the crosses they bear: Inadequate income which requires scrimping on the family budget; a hectic schedule which keeps the pastor from spending much time with his family; nosy and judgmental scrutiny to which a minister's family is subjected by some members of the congregation.

Comes now a communication from a young clergy wife in Terre Haute, Ind., who says I've presented only half of the picture. "Let me share with you some of my joys as the wife of a clergyman," says Mrs. Patricia Lefevre, 33, wife of the Rev. Maurice H. Lefevre, pastor of St. Mark United Church of Christ.

Pat Lefevre is no rookie in the role of clergy wife. She's been one for 13 years. She knows all about family budget problems, since she has two children to feed, clothe and educate. And her husband, serving a congregation of 450 persons, is as busy as any pastor.

But she doesn't feel put upon by life. On the contrary. Here, in her own words, are some of the blessings she counts:

"1. A faithful, loving husband who allows me to be me, and who, although he is out almost every evening working with some group or individual, always returns home to his family.

"2. An adequate house which becomes a lovely home with a little imagination, ingenuity and tender loving care.

"3. Good friends upon whom I can rely. I long ago learned not to be bothered by petty criticisms. There are so many more significant things to fill one's mind and time.

"4. An opportunity of service. While many wives are lonely and seek outlets for their time and energies, I must decide where I can best use the talents I have.

"5. Do I sit and moan because I must wear last year's dresses? Never! I have a sewing machine, there are yard goods sales every fall and spring, and plenty of jiffy patterns to be had.

"6. Walk over the price of

Churchwomen Set Date For Brunch, 3-Act Play Review

The women of St. Matthews Episcopal Church will sponsor a play review and a brunch beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Episcopal Parish Hall.

Mrs. Eugene B. Smith Jr., Dallas, will review the three-act play "Plaza Suite." Chairmen for the program is Mrs. Ann Taylor, with Mrs. Jack Reeves as food chairman and Mrs. Raymond Reid directing arrangements for table decorations.

Mrs. Smith started her career in drama in high school by winning the State Declamation Silver Cup Award. She graduated from Coe School of Drama, and attended the University of Texas where she was a member of the Curtain Club and winner of the Samuel Franch award for acting.

She has received a B.A. degree in Speech and Drama from Southern Methodist University. While attending SMU, she wrote a one-act play, "The Night, The Day."

While attending the Hockaday Institute of Music, she studied the harp for six years. She has performed leading roles with University Summer Stock Players, Dallas Little Theater and the former Courtyard Playhouse. A member of the Dallas Junior League, she has performed with the League's Children's Theater.

She is a board member of Dallas Symphony Orchestra League, Woman's Committee of the Dallas Theater Center, the Summer Musicals Guild and Highland Park Presbyterian Church. In 1963, she was selected by Dallas Times Herald as the Dallas Woman of the Year.

While on an European tour, she attended a Royal Command Performance for the Queen and Prince Philip in Edinburgh and received a note from the Queen wishing her success in her presentation of "Mary, of Scotland."

The Christian Women's Fellowship will have its Executive Board Meeting Wednesday, 9:30 a.m. at the church with Mrs. Virginia McDonald, president, presiding.

The Education Committee, J. Stanley Hill, chairman, will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The Elders will have their meeting at the church beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday W.R. Harden is chairman of the Elders.

First Baptist Church

Rev. Dan E. Cameron, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will preach the second sermon in a series on "Some Questions We Must Answer," and this Sunday morning will use "What about Capital Punishment?" for his topic.

David Campbell, minister of music, will direct the Chancel Choir in singing the anthem, "He Is Coming" by James Cram and will sing a solo, "Ere You Left Your Room This Morning" by Anthony, to complete the special music.

Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Prayer" by Pool for the offertory.

In the evening worship hour the pastor has asked Barbara Holt and Myron Porter, Jr. to discuss their summer work as missionaries. Special Music presented by the new Adult Ensemble Class, directed by David Campbell will be "Why Should I Care?" The special music will be presented by Mrs. Roy Kornegay. The organ offertory will be "Take My Life" by Havergal.

First Presbyterian

The Rev. Martin Hager, First Presbyterian Church pastor, will use as his sermon topic "The Celebration" at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services. Sunday Rev. Hager will take his sermon from Jeremiah 4: 23-30 and Luke 15: 3-10. Ruling Elder Curt Beck will be pulpit assistant.

At the 11 a.m. worship service, the sacrament of infant baptism will be observed. The Chancel Choir will present the anthem, "A Gladsome Hymn of Praise" arrangement by Lovelace. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Carol Mackey. Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, church organist, will present Mozart's "Ave Verum" as the offertory, as well as the postlude and prelude selections.

At 6 p.m. there will be a combined Junior High and Senior High Fellowship program at the church on "Symbolic Films." There will be a discussion afterward but no supper is scheduled.

Christian Science

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon this Sunday includes a prophecy from Isaiah: "And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low; and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day." The subject of the sermon is "Matter."

Services are open to all and begin at 11 a.m. at First Church of Christ Scientist, 901 N. Frost.

Another passage in the lesson, from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Mortals are inclined to fear and to obey what they consider a material body more than they do a spiritual God."

Zion Lutheran Church

Sunday will be observed as Sunday School and Bible Class staff will be installed during the service. The Pastor, the Rev. M.G. Herring will deliver the Service, "Equip God's People for Ministry," which will be used.

A pot-luck dinner will be served in the Parish Hall following the service, with special treats for Sunday School children.

Church of Christ

Guy Caskey will speak at both the 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. services of the Church of Christ at Mary Ellen and Harvester. His topic will be "The Certainty of Salvation." Jack Pape will be speaker for the 6 p.m. service. The Lord's Supper will be served at all worship services.

Bible classes for all ages are at 9:30 a.m. All adult classes will study the benevolent program of the Pampa congregation. Scriptures which outline responsibility to help one another will be emphasized.

Jon Jones, who was minister of the church from 1956 to 1959, will preach for the week of Fall meetings which will begin Oct. 12.

White Deer Church Selects New Minister

WHITE DEER (Sp.) — The Rev. James C. Gurzynski is the newly appointed pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. He comes to White Deer from Lubbock where he was assigned coordinator of religious education with offices in Lubbock and Amarillo, and worked in master's program in history at Texas Tech.

Born April 28, 1937, in Toledo, Ohio, he moved to Amarillo after his ordination in 1963. He writes a weekly column, "Doing Your Own Christian Thing," for the West Texas Register, and other articles for professional services.

Rev. Gurzynski graduated from St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake, Mich., and has studied at Catholic University, Washington, D.C.; University of Louvain, Belgium, and Fordham University, N.Y.

He has served as associate pastor at Our Lady of Grace, Lubbock; administrator of Sacred Heart, Spearman.

Ideas Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A special Department of Transportation committee studying the problems of air controllers has invited the controllers and their organizations to submit written comments.

Committee chairman John J. Corson said the group planned to hold informal meetings with spokesmen for interested parties.

Worship at the Corner of Banks & Harvester Hear Gordon D. Bayless as He Presents the Message from the Bible. Alvin Adams will be leading singing in songs that you love. Do not miss this Blessing at Highland Baptist Church Sunday Morn & Even.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

Rev. Monroe Woods Jr.
(HOW TO BE UNHAPPY)
(Scripture: Matthew 5: 1-12)

Have you heard the "daffy definition" of a pessimist? He is a person who must live with an optimist! I suppose it must be trying, even depressing, to live with a person who, like Micawber in Charles Dickens' famous story, is always sure and bright about his certainty that "something is bound to turn up!" Another definition you may remember hearing long ago went this way: An optimist says, "Good morning!"; the pessimist answers, "What's good about it?"

The Declaration of Independence declares that man is entitled to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." From the way you and I look and act some days, you would think we were seriously in search of unhappiness! If you want to be unhappy, here are 10 mental pills that will help you to be unhappy:

- (1) Make little things bother you, don't just let them, make them.
  - (2) Lose your perspective on things and keep it lost; don't put first things first.
  - (3) Get yourself a good worry, one about which you cannot do anything but worry.
  - (4) Be a perfectionist— which means not that you work hard to do your best, but that you condemn yourself and others for not achieving perfection.
  - (5) Be right, be always right; be the only one who is always right; and be rigid in your rightness.
  - (6) Don't trust or believe people, or accept them at anything but their worst and weakest; be suspicious of everything and everybody.
  - (7) Always compare yourself favorably to others—the guarantee of "instant misery."
  - (8) Take personally everything that happens to you.
  - (9) Don't give yourself whole heartedly to anyone or to anything.
  - (10) Make happiness the aim of your life instead of bracing for life's problems through a "bitter with the sweet" philosophy.
- This is a prescription that never fails.
- Now listen to our Lord's prescription for the happy life: How happy are the humble-minded, for the Kingdom of Heaven is theirs!
- How happy are those who know what sorrow means, for they shall be comforted!
- Happy are those who claim nothing, for the whole earth will belong to them!
- Happy are those who are hungry and thirsty for goodness, for they will be fully satisfied!
- Happy are the merciful, for they will have mercy shown to them!
- Happy are the utterly sincere, for they will see God!

Tempest In A 'Tea' Pot

The lot of the seeker after pot is not so hot these days. In Mexico, most marijuana smoking is that in the fields burned by the police. The result of this destruction is that the supply has gone down in the U.S. and the price has gone up.

But the marketplaces, like water seeking its own level, will go by its own rules, even in this, no matter what obstructions are placed in its way.

One of the laws of the marketplace is that where there is a demand, a supply will be created, as two young visitors to Disneyland reportedly discovered when they bought what they thought was pot and it turned out to be chopped up alfalfa and manure.

For the individual to do anything — from taking drugs to becoming overweight — which is harmful to himself is foolish. But if left alone, the consequences of his foolishness will fall only on the individual and to a lesser degree upon his family.

On the other hand, any interference in the marketplace creates distortions whose consequences fall on all individuals. The era of prohibition was a classic example of massive harm done by attempted interference with the marketplace. It's impossible to legislate

There used to be, and perhaps still is, a college economic geography text that had the opening line: "Hell is hot."

As the text went on to explain, however, not all hells are hot. What would be hades for one man might well be heaven for another. Similarly, geographical and meteorological variances affect man's economic interests.

The Well May Go Dry

A new supply has to be found. It was to encourage the discovery of new supplies that mineral producers were given a partial release from levies on production. That allowance enables them to finance the risky and costly search for new sources.

That this long-standing policy works to the benefit of everyone is illustrated by the fact, for example, that despite a record rate of production, Standard Oil Co. of California more than replaced the oil reserves it produced in the Western Hemisphere last year. For this year Standard has projected capital and exploratory expenditures of approximately $750 million. Traditionally the depletion allowance is an essential factor in such outlays.

Our tax loophole closers had better make sure that what they are closing isn't the source of tomorrow's production.

The tax pitcher carried to the well once too often will find a dry hole in the ground.

Believable Fish Story

People who do not know what FLIP is, probably do not know what BOMEX is either.

Those people included, until minutes ago, US — that is, us.

So, FLIP is really a Floating Laboratory Instrument Platform which is to be used in the Barbados Oceanographic and Meteorological Experiment, the initial letters of which project account for the second acronym.

FLIP is a kind of ship which operates so silently it can be used for acoustical studies of the oceans.

It's a package of instrumentation which adds up to one thing: a way to bug and listen to fish, to record the mutter and chatter of the sea.

The more efficiently to do so, FLIP has some characteristics as peculiar as natural sea dwellers. For example, it can just stop and stand itself on one end wherever the listening turns out to be good.

The rubber company in Akron, Ohio, is pretty proud of its work in helping to create a craft so silent it can't disturb the living creatures around it.

But why, in the first place? Well, just as FLIP is part of BOMEX, so also is BOMEX a part of the Global Atmospheric Research Program (which must be GARP).

What the scientists hope to accomplish by studying the fish is to learn enough about the ocean so that, coupling it with knowledge of the atmosphere, they will be able by 1980 to make accurate worldwide

Dream-World Liberals Fall On Evil Days

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — America's doctrinaire liberals are probably worse off than they have been in decades, though the surface evidence is deceptively comforting to them.

At a time when the country's demands for really effective social action are rising steadily, their characteristic commitment to loud verbalizing in behalf of pure, uncompromised causes is producing severely diminished returns.

Some of their near-brethren, the pragmatic liberals who are more interested in workable answers than in unsullied principles, privately indicate contempt for the doctrinaires. Says one of the practical types: "They're out in the suburbs waving their copies of the New Republic, while other people are facing the hard realities of urban conflict."

But if the strongly partisan liberals have opened up a deep cleavage with their more practical friends, it has not won them new companions on the radical left among the students, the black militants and others. The radicals are quite openly contemptuous of them, even as the doctrinaires' tumble over themselves in pursuit of their allegiance.

The gravity of the doctrinaires' dilemma is somewhat cloaked, however, by the fact that their influence often seems greater than it is. Having easy access to, and sometimes command of, important channels of publicity, they can make big sound waves. Their decibel count is high, but they register low on the achievement chart.

Their dilemma is at least three-fold in nature.

For one thing, their great penchant for talking the game instead of playing it strikes the pragmatic Democratic and Republican Liberals as worse than useless in a critical age when problems are compounding.

Some of the practical ones simply laugh at the emotional agitation the doctrinaires invest in "verbal commitment."

For another, the partisan liberals' irresponsibility on the issue of public money, a characteristic failing, today puts them dangerously out of time with the nation's mood.

The spiraling resistance of many middle-class elements to the climb in taxes and government spending is reflected in an impatience which approaches that exhibited by militants who demand action at any cost.

Whatever the program, the doctrinaires inevitably proclaim that the money proposed for it is "inadequate." The hard truth is that millions of Americans think the inadequacy lies with those political figures who argue for new spending of more billions.

Perhaps the most crucial factor in the doctrinaires' dilemma, though, is their growing recklessness as to the means of attaining their goals.

Many of them stand right at the precipice. They talk constantly of the slowness and the failures of the democratic process. Frequently excusing or minimizing the violence of the radical left, they stop just short of declaring for some sort of autocratic government.

Part of the explanation is their cumulative frustration — at the country's refusal to be guided by their emotional clamor. Part is the partisan liberals' wish to identify closely with the rampaging students and black militants they regard as their natural constituency.

They really do perceive themselves as elitists who know better than anybody what the country ought to be doing. The logic of that self-perception is driving them inescapably toward increasing disgust with democracy.

A young 1968 worker for Sen. Eugene McCarthy might have been speaking for doctrinaire types 25 years older than when he addressed himself to the "political process." As casually as he would announce his purchase of new razor blades, he spoke of relying on democratic methods only insofar as they showed promise of serving the objectives. But if the tone was soft, the language was not. It was the language of elitist autocracy.

So the "pure-cause" liberals have a deep puzzle. They have driven themselves to the edge of the cliff and don't know how to scramble back.

Hanoi's Idea Of Troop Withdrawal

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

Does America Need A Safeguard?

When President Nixon's Safeguard antimissile defense system was ratified some weeks ago, the liberal press rejoiced at the fact that the vote was extraordinarily close. To read some of the accounts and comments that appeared in print, you'd think that Safeguard had been scrapped on the Senate floor.

There are still many battles ahead before this nation can deploy a workable anti-missile defense program. Opponents of such a program insist it won't work, and that even if it does, we ought to spend the money to fight poverty instead. Politicians warn the public against the trigger-happy members of the military-industrial complex — men who would supposedly send us all into a global nuclear war.

It's vital that the American people understand what a defensive system is all about and why military experts believe we desperately need such a system. For a beginning to such understanding, consider the testimony of Lieutenant General Arthur G. Trudeau (USA-Ret), General Trudeau appearing on the Manion Forum radio program, had this to say:

"The anti-ballistic missile system involves missiles and radars that are capable of directing these missiles against an incoming enemy missile in space. At the present time, our country hasn't a single system that in any way prevents incoming missiles from reaching their target. We are, the world's greatest nuclear realist colony today.

"As far as we know, the Soviets are still expanding and improving their anti-missile system. Present information now indicates that the Soviets have more intercontinental ballistic missiles available than we do.

"It may be that the Soviets do not have the intention to attack until they have such superior power as to guarantee that they can do it with almost assured success. If we wish to keep this nation secure and deter attack, we had better base our defensive resources on the enemy's capabilities and on what we need to do to prevent such an attack, rather than merely wishful thinking, deciding that he does not intend to attack us.

"We're so naked that we could be blackmailed one of these days when the Russians are satisfied that they have sufficient superiority to do so.

"The balance of power in conventional forces and in strategic missiles and in space capabilities, must be maintained at so favorable a figure that the enemy CANNOT AFFORD to launch an atomic or Czechoslovakia, against either our European allies or ourselves. That, God, there is some evidence that the present Administration understands this problem.

With Some Reservation

You little fellows will be overjoyed to know that you picked up the bite this summer for 15 student activists who spent 6 weeks lecturing educators on campus radicalism.

Student militants was paid 100 berries a week as part of a $63,000 "summer school" sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education. 35 profs and deans from all over the country went to Claremont College in California at taxpayers expense — so they could learn "what's happening" from the rebels.

This session exposed the deans and professors to "lovin'" and seminars on drugs, sex, "radicalization of students" and the "functional implications of obscenity."

The student instructors was the most "active involved irrelevant" ones the OE could find and by the third week the students had "radicalized" the programme.

After it was over the educators agreed they would return to their campuses much more "sympathetic" to the cause of student "rebels." "If there's one thing we all agree on it's that we don't want police on campus," said the chairman of the philosophy department at the Univ. of South Dakota.

That's what we need today. Taxpayers supporting the radicals to teach the socialists better ways to overthrow the taxpayers.

Paper Plans--And Reality-- In U.S. Troop Withdrawals

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It can be stated definitely that President Nixon's recent delay in proclaiming additional American troop withdrawals from Vietnam did not result primarily from the step-up in Viet Cong-North Vietnamese military activity.

Though Red attacks were the announced reason for the delay, enemy offensives actually were a minor factor.

Postponement in withdrawals was primarily a result of earlier paper miscalculations. The planners have proved to be overly optimistic on the speed with which Vietnamese units could take over from American forces.

Thus far the problems are not serious.

Nixon and President Thieu agreed at Midway on the withdrawal of as many as 75,000 American troops by the end of 1969 depending on the situation.

The script still calls for withdrawing 25,000 troops every three to six months or as many as 100,000 a year, give or take, according to enemy reinforcements and the problems of substituting Vietnamese troops.

(Withdrawal announcements need not be in 25,000-man chunks. The President could delay somewhat and then announce 40,000 or 50,000 or any other number that fit political, economic and military requirements.)

Original plans did not take sufficient account of the interminable delays in maneuvers so complicated as those involved in substituting one army for another, considering the differences in training and equipment, especially since the Vietnamese detachments additionally must learn how to mesh in much more efficiently with a variety of American helicopter, radio communications, air and engineering units.

All this is a much different problem from moving out one body of troops and substituting another. To a considerable degree it must work by out and try. This intermeshing has proved to be a real problem, primarily because it requires an understanding on the part of individual Vietnamese company and platoon commanders and noncommissioned officers as to what these U.S. technical supporting services can and cannot do and precisely how they can and cannot be used. That is, they have the difficult problem of learning more precisely now a combat unit must fit in with its sophisticated (U.S.) support like a hand in a glove.

The number of things that can go wrong in this type of adjustment is considerably larger than the programmers anticipated — the difference between paper plans and reality.

But there have been other problems. It takes time to substitute inefficient, politically appointed Vietnamese officers with combat-efficient replacements. There are difficult political problems involved, for one thing.

Maintenance is another major problem.

But there is one additional reason for the President's delay. Since the withdrawal program is intended to buy time in the United States and Vietnam, there is an advantage in stringing withdrawals out when the state of public opinion here permits. This makes it possible to better prepare the Vietnamese and leaves more troops available for withdrawal when antiwar pressure mounts in the Congress or on the college campuses as anticipated later this fall.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — How does master planning by a city or county differ from planning of the commissars in the Soviet Union?

ANSWER: — It differs only in degree. The Soviet planners try to plan all aspects of their economy. Fortunately for all of us, the county administrator and supervisors have not yet gone that far. However, the state and federal bureaucracy makes up for any "shortcomings" of the local governing bodies.

Soviet planners have had very little success in regulating the market place. They have succeeded in "regulating" it, all right, but the marvelous benefits that were supposed to come from such regulation have failed to materialize. The Soviet economy is continually plagued with shortages of all goods for all consumers. A Freedom Newspapers staffer recently visited Moscow and Leningrad, and while he marveled at their Metro, he had to admit that they were in no danger of having traffic jams. They have not even been able successfully and consistently to feed their own people under their planners.

And the Soviet has had to resort to the profit motive and to the concept of individual responsibility to get improvement in their economy.

In Santa Ana, Calif., the planning department, four years after undertaking a soul searching study, printed a report which made the semi-admission that general planning under the "old" concept had been, in large part, an immense waste of effort.

However, the same day that report was printed, the board of supervisors approved in principle a "plan" for a general plan, which called for more of the same old thing that had been such an immense waste of effort, only this time on a larger scale. In other words, an even larger waste of effort for which the tax payers will have to pay.

The planning department's report further stated, "Information gathered in the traditional approach would often be outdated by the time the general plan was adopted."

Socialism ultimately will fail. It is like the dinosaur — too clumsy, too slow, too insensitive to new stimuli to be able to survive in a highly complex and rapidly developing environment. The tragedy is the unnecessary suffering and impairment of people's lives it causes as we experiment with it.

It often has been said that socialism begins at the local level, and this is certainly a good illustration of the fact.

Clearing House

Go something you would like to get off your chest? That's what the Clearing House is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their minds. So, if you have a target, write to the Editor and get it off your chest.

Dear City Commissioner:

It would be wishful thinking on my part to believe City Manager Charles Hill when he states that we here in Pampa will not be bothered by the Council of Governments. Having studied this system of government, I understand once it is set up in Canyon and Amarillo as is now in the process of being done it will overlap into our county and town and indeed can and will encompass the whole Panhandle Region. I for one do not want to be under this new "Super Government" which could take my home away from me and move me where they think necessary. If you have studied this system then you realize your duties will only be to carry out the wishes of the federal government. I urge you to study this new system and voice your disapproval of it on the radio and in the newspapers. Also contact the commissioners in Canyon and Amarillo and tell them we do not want to be ruled by this form of government in the Panhandle.

P.S. A copy of this letter is being sent to the newspaper.

It Depends On The Viewpoint

What's a "tax deduction?" On our paycheck tax deductions, each dollar deducted for taxes costs us one dollar.

But on our tax forms tax deductions are only deductions from the income on which we must figure out the tax, so here each dollar of tax deduction only saves us dime.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

WE ASK AND RECEIVE NOT

God, Who is a God of law and order, has set certain conditions upon the fulfillment of which depends His promise to hear and answer our prayers.

First, we must have pure hearts. "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me" (Psalm 66:18). This means that the man who continually practices sin and who has in his heart a purpose to commit sin and who clings to sin has no claim to the ear of God.

Prayer that God promises to answer must come also from an unselfish heart. "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume upon your lusts" (James 4:3). Man has no right to ask God for something simply to use for the gratification of his own desires or for his own personal satisfaction.

Prayer to be heard must come from a yielded heart, a heart submissive to God's will. "If we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us" (1 John 4:14). A heart thus yielded will certainly be a heart that is pure and a heart that is unselfish. The life in which the will of God is foremost is a life which has no room for impurity and selfishness.

Prayer without faith God nowhere promises to answer. A believing heart is essential toward meeting the conditions which God places upon our access to Him with our petitions. Jesus said to His disciples: "And all things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive" (Matthew 21:22).

The Lord Jesus Christ said our prayers should be in His Name. "And whatever ye shall ask in My name that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son" (John 14:13). Only by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ are men saved.

Only through His blood are sins washed away, and only in Him do we become children of God. How proper, therefore, that our prayers to our Father should be in the Name and for the sake of Him Who has made our salvation possible. In Christ's Name we may bring our petitions to our Heavenly Father, and "He that spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?" (Romans 8:32).

Wit And Whimsy

The man had been eating in the little cafe for more than a year, and the sign over the coffee urn, "Susie's Home Cooking," intrigued him, and he said to the waitress:

Mr. Smith—I've been eating here for over a year, and I've never seen Susie. Tell me, where's she?

Sally (the waitress)—She's just where the sign says she is. She's home cooking.

Failure to hit the mark is never the fault of the target. To improve your aim, improve yourself.

It is quite possible to work without results, but never will there be results without work.

A gunman, who suddenly appeared at the paymaster's window of a large plant, demanded:

Joe (the gunman)—Never mind the payroll. Just hand over the group insurance premiums, the pension fund, and the withholding taxes.

The proud father congratulated his son on his thirtieth birthday anniversary and asked him how it felt to be a teen-ager.

"It's all right, I guess," the boy replied, "except for the reputation."

Harvesters Test Dumas In Underdog Role Tonight

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

Pampa, hoping to shake off the effects of a 13-9 upset last week, and Dumas, shaking even harder after a 42-7 loss to Palo Duro, do battle at 8 o'clock tonight in Harvester Stadium. Both teams were expected to be much improved over 1968 and Dumas was rated third in AAA in a pre-season poll. But both were handed stunning losses in their home openers last week. Costly fumbles and penalties cost Pampa a 13-9 loss to Hereford while Dumas ran into a whirlwind in the talented Dons. Pampa did show improvement against Hereford by moving the ball at will until either a fumble or penalty halted each drive. Defensively the Harvesters showed improvement but not quite enough. Despite the shocking loss to the Dons the sellout crowd tonight can look for a strong, experienced Demon team that does just about everything well. Coach Bill Spynn had seven offensive starters and eight defensive returnees from his 1968 team that finished 5-5.

Spann is expected to start eight seniors and three juniors against Pampa with all of the seniors returning lettermen. Mickey Hartman, 150 pound junior will be at split end and he'll be joined on the other side by 240 pound senior Doug Trammell, a returning starter. The center is 222 pound Steve Robinson, who also started in 1968. Terry Cauthen, 207 pound senior and Scott Baird, 186 pound senior will be at tackles. Cauthen is a returning starter and Baird a returning letterman. Guards are Wyatt Stafford, 186 pound senior who started last year and Ken Maples, 188 pound senior, and returning letterman. In the backfield is Bobby Laughry, a 160 pound junior, lettered last year and started parttime. He tossed for two touchdowns passes against Pampa in a 29-7 Dumas victory last year.

At fullback is 173 pound senior Gary Burks, who lettered in 1968. Halfbacks Ermit Casas, 160 pound senior and Mark Robinson, 170 pound junior, are both returning starters. In the Dumas wide slot offense, Laughry will pass a lot with his primary receivers Hartman and Casas, who is probably the fastest player on the Dumas team. The Demons are heavy, averaging 197 pounds per man in the line and 164.2 pounds per player in the backfield. Dumas has won four of the five previous games with the only Pampa victory coming in 1966 when the Harvesters scored a stunning, 20-6 victory. As of Thursday the Harvester coaching staff had made several personnel changes that could change back again by game time tonight. Offensively Denny Johnson will still start at split end with Wyatt Earp at tight end, Larry Kotara will be at one tackle with senior letterman Mike Albus at right tackle in place of Mark Watkins. On the personnel chart Senior Roddy Porter was listed running at first team center in place of co-captain Mose Hampton. Chuck Lanehart and Jay Roth will be the starting guards. Defensively the only changes listed was Steve Scott at halfback, Chuck Lanehart at tackle, Ross Holman at safety replacing aching John Jenkins, Micky Sims at end and Johnny Clark at linebacker.

Lee Ninth, Eighth Post Grid Victories

Both Lee eighth and ninth grade football teams gave Pampa a 3-1 sweep in grid action Thursday. Lee ninth won its second game in as many outings with a come-from-behind, 14-3 victory over Borger Houston in Borger.

Lee eighth scored in every quarter but the second to hand Pampa eighth a 20-0 shutout in the first game for both teams. Houston scored in the first period and carried its 9-0 lead going into the fourth quarter but Lee tallied twice in the last eight minutes to salt away victory No. 2.

The Rebels marched 80 yards with James McCarroll going in from the four for the first score. Rick Musgrave carried over the conversion to tie the contest 8-8. Musgrave tossed a 40 yard aerial bomb to Tony Farrell with 1:19 to play for the winning tally. In Lee's first drive, which started after an intercepted pass by David Lanehart, a 20 yard run by McCarroll, a pass from Musgrave to Farrell and a pass interference call set things up for McCarroll's run. The final tally came after some good defensive work by the Reapers, who started the two-play drive at midfield. In the eighth grade contest Chuck Reeves outdistanced the Reapers for touchdown runs of 99 and 80 yards, the second a punt return and Jack King added a 20 yard touchdown romp.

Bucks, Tigers Test Clarendon, Claude Tonight

Area prep football teams open the second week of high school grid action tonight and several exciting contests are on tap for fans. White Deer will seek a measure of revenge against Clarendon while trying to run its record to 2-0 as will Groom and Wheeler. McLean, Lefors, Canadian and Miami will all be out to post their first victories of the young season after disappointing opening game losses. The Bucks will be only slight favorites over Clarendon, who bested them last year, and a 41-20 winner over Memphis last week.

Groom dumped Vega in its season opener last Friday and will be out to do the same thing to Claude, a 38-3 loser to Panhandle on opening night. Wheeler, a 19-0 winner over Lefors last week, seeks to extend Wellington's losing streak to two games. The Mustangs did most of its damage in the first half against Lefors and in a good defensive showing. Lefors will be at McLean and barring a tie, one of the team's will come away with its first victory of the season. McLean was dumped, 25-0 by Shamrock last week. Canadian found the going rough last week at Booker (15-0) and should find it even tougher tonight in Spearman. The Lynx lost a thriller, 14-7 to Spearman. Miami almost opened the season with a victory last week but instead had to settle for a 12-12 tie. The Warriors will be a 10 point favorite to upend Gate, Okla. tonight in Miami in an eight-man contest.

Shockers Tumble Borger, 18-14

Pampa's Shockers overcame five fumbles, three in the second half, with some hard blocking and devastating tackling, here Thursday night to post their second straight victory of the season. Darrell Nipp, a 170 pound booming halfback busted the Borger Junior Varsity line for two touchdowns and quarterback Dale Ammons zeroed-in on 145 pound sophomore Mike Redell for a 49 yard scoring toss to power the Shockers by Borger, 18-14.

Nipp, who also lost the ball twice on fumbles, wrecked the Borger line behind some fine blocking for 92 yards on 21 carries. Johnny Roth added 19 more important yards on 14 carries and Ammons added 25 to the Shocker total on 10 tries. Ammons passing game was adequate with the tall sophomore hitting three of eight for 66 yards. Three were dropped by his receivers. Redell caught all three passes and returned a punt 17 yards in a yeoman's work night. Although Borger outshook Pampa, 172-144, the Shocker defense proved its mettle in the fourth period in a crucial situation.

Pampa led 18-14 and Borger had driven from its own 29 to the 34 despite a 15 yard penalty. But with a fourth and one situation three Shocker tacklers broke through the Bullpups line to set the ball carrier for a loss. The Shockers scored the winning touchdown at the start of the final period marching 80 yards in eight plays. Nipp scooted 15 yards for the score with 11:16 to go. The big play in the march was a pass interference call that gave Pampa the ball on the Borger 16. Ammons had thrown to Redell and the talented sophomore was tripped by a Borger defender. Pampa scored twice in the first five minutes of play to jump to a quick 12-0 lead. On the kickoff sophomore Al Ferguson recovered the first of two fumbles he was to pounce on, this one at the midfield stripe. After Nipp hit the line for a yard Ammons connected with Redell, who caught the ball on the 15 and charged on in for the score. This came with less than a minute gone. Borger was forced to punt and Redell returned it 17 yards to the Borger 40 and nine plays later Nipp, who picked up 32 yards in the drive scotted right end from 13 yards away to put the Shockers in front 12-0 with 7:30 left in the initial quarter. But Borger, who drew a whopping 95 yards in penalties for the night, wasn't about to play dead. The Bullpups got their offense rolling in the second period to score twice. After recovering a Pampa fumble at their own 23 the Bullpups moved the 77 yards in 15 plays with quarterback Bonnie Hickman going in from five yards away. Glen Graves kick made it 12-7 with 8:01 left in the half. Another fumble recovery led to the second and last Borger touchdown. This one was a 43-yard, two play affair with fleet Johnny Darden racing 33 yards. Graves kick made it 14-12 just under a minute later. But the Pampa offense and

PENN STATE FAVORED

Hogs, Horns Open Saturday

By United Press International Penn State, Arkansas and Texas have one thing in common as they open bids Saturday to challenge mighty Ohio State for supremacy during college football's centennial anniversary—all are starting with experienced quarterbacks and talented veteran squads. That's why the Nittany Lions, Razorbacks and Longhorns are favored in games kicking off the first big weekend of the season. Penn State, powerful pride of Eastern football, opens at Annapolis against Navy and Coach Joe Paterno's Lions, boasting a string of 19 consecutive games without a loss, will be led by senior quarterback Chuck Burkhardt, All-American linebacker Dennis Ontkutz and defensive tackles Mike Reid and Steve Smear. Coach Darrell Royal's Longhorns, kick off their campaign on the West Coast against California with a lineup featuring quarterback James Street and running backs Ted Koy and Steve Worster. Arkansas starts the new season with 37 returning lettermen, including quarterback Bill Montgomery, flanker Chuck Dicus and halfback Bill Burnett. Oklahoma State provides the opening opposition for the Razorbacks. Ohio State, the defending national champion, is idle this weekend. Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes open the season Sept. 27 against Texas Christian.

Other major openers send South California against Nebraska, Northwestern to Notre Dame, Arizona at Wyoming, Pittsburgh at UCLA, Kansas at Texas Tech, Air Force at Missouri, Washington at Michigan State, Texas A&M, at Louisiana State, Indiana at Kentucky, Southern Methodist at Georgia Tech, Minnesota at Arizona State, New Mexico at Army, Houston at Florida, Purdue at Texas Christian, Virginia Tech at Alabama and Grambling versus Morgan State at Yankee Stadium in New York.

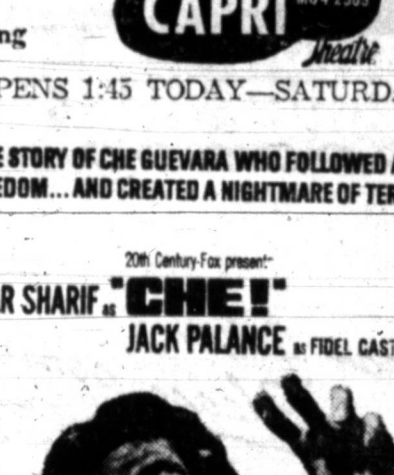

USC, a big winner the past two years with O. J. Simpson, attempts to continue its successes against a Nebraska team with quarterbacking problems. The Trojans will unveil running back Clarence Davis, who exceeded the junior college exploits of Simpson. The Trojans also expect to increase its passing game with quarterback Mike Holmgren. The Alabama-Virginia Tech contest pits teacher against pupil and marks the return of Crimson Tide Coach Bear Bryant to the scene of his first defeat as a head coach. Bryant visited Blacksburg, Va., in 1945 as coach at Maryland and took a 21-13 setback. His star pupil, Jerry Claiborne, coaches Virginia Tech. Last year Alabama hung on to edge Tech 14-7.

Georgia Tech, which hasn't lost a home opener since 1928, is a six point favorite over SMU. Team Under Webb Feet PHILADELPHIA (UPI) Clarence "Chick" Webb was named head swimming coach at Temple University Thursday, succeeding Joe Verdure. Webb coached at the city's George Washington high school the last six years and produced five undefeated teams.

Staubach Gets Nod To Start DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry said Thursday rookie Roger Staubach will start against St. Louis Sunday in the season opener even though quarterback Craig Morton was throwing passes in practice with an injured finger. Morton, who sprained the index finger on his throwing hand two weeks ago in a preseason game against the New York Jets, "looked pretty good," a spokesman said. Staubach, the former Heisman Trophy winner who has been in the Navy four years, has been leading the team since Morton's injury.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—After a number of years in semi-retirement, Helen O'Connell, who rose to stardom as a pop vocalist during the big band era, has gotten her career into high gear again.

The amazing thing about this is that Miss O'Connell looks almost exactly like she did when I fell in love with her about 30 years ago.

She still has the same effervescent eyes, blonde hair-unsullied by dishwasher grey and dimples darting in and out of cheeks virtually unfurrowed by the plow of time. And she is still hitting every note right on the tennet. It's all kind of weird.

How Miss O'Connell has managed to avoid growing older along with the rest of us is one of life's deepest mysteries to her contemporaries.

Some say it's because Miss O'Connell started young. They say she began singing with Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra when she was only three years old and was barely four when she first recorded "Green Eyes," "Amapola" and "Tangerine."

Others say Miss O'Connell keeps herself packed in ice when she is not on stage. Still others claim she does it with mirrors.

Hoping to learn more about the matter, I dropped in the other evening at the Shoreham Blue Room, a local concert hall where Miss O'Connell is currently appearing in nightly recital.

As I was being shown to a table, I noticed an odd noise in the room and asked the waiter about it.

"That is our nostalgia pump," the waiter explained. "We have a middle-aged audience tonight, and anytime Miss O'Connell appears before a middle-aged audience the nostalgia gets so deep we have to pump it out."

If she didn't have to appear in living nostalgia, Miss O'Connell probably could be making a fortune as a rock singer, which is where the big money is. She has what it takes to be a hit with the teen-age nitwits of today.

But everywhere she goes she is reclaimed by the teen-age nitwits of yesterday, who insist that she lapse into "Green Eyes," "Ampola" and "Tangerine."

Twice on the night of my visit, the audience gave her a standing ovation. Which isn't easy to do with varicose veins.

When I finally got a word with Miss O'Connell, I asked how she had maintained her youthful appearance. She professed to be baffled by it, too.

"If I knew I did it, I wouldn't be singing for a living," she said.

"I'd stop and give preservation lessons."

Protest Lodged Against 'Mike Happy' Pilots

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Every now and then some individual who does a lot of flying will rise up and demand that airline pilots be muzzled.

These passengers contend that pilots are becoming increasingly "mike happy." The captain switches on the intercom when he switches on the engines and keeps up a steady stream of chatter for the duration of the flight, they complain.

"I'll readily concede that not every pilot is a brilliant monologist. I can understand how a person who flies frequently might come to regard a soliloquizing pilot as something of a bore.

But those of us who fly as little as possible and hate every minute of it have some rights in this matter, too. We probably form the majority on any given flight, and to us a loquacious pilot is the next best thing to a security blanket.

It hasn't what he says that matters; we just like to have constant reassurance that he is still up there in the cockpit.

The finest pilot I ever encountered was at the controls a couple of years ago on a flight to Washington from Memphis, with stopovers in Nashville and Knoxville. He identified himself, as I recall, as Captain Abrams.

As he was taxiing out to the runway preparatory to taking off from Nashville, he suddenly stopped the plane and reported over the intercom that a nasty looking thunderhead was moving into the area.

He probably could fly around it, he said, but he felt it best to stay on the ground until it had left the vicinity.

"They don't call me 'Chicken Abrams for nothing," he added.

It was a great comfort to me to learn that the plane was being flown by a fellow coward. I came closer to relaxing on that flight than ever before or since.

Backstairs At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: That man in the vest and impeccable suit, white shirt and tie? He once was a hippie!

They say so in Orange County, Calif.? And they're referring to President Nixon? You've got to be kidding.

The current issue of Orange County Illustrated in a salute to the Presidents tells the story. There may be hope for the country yet, if the nation's first citizen once was sloppy in his dress, and determinedly, too.

What's more, he was an orthogonian.

It all happened when he was an undergraduate at Whittier College.

According to Orange County Illustrated (OCI), at the age of 17, within a month after entering Whittier, Nixon was "part of a cabal that formed a new student fraternity, the Orthogonians—or square shooters—to compete with the Franklins, long-established group with a reputation for being highbrow and favoring (the town's wealthier families."

The story continues: "Franklins always wore black ties to school functions and when posing for photographers. Orthogonians couldn't afford evening clothes, adopted slouch sweaters and open, tieless collars as their trademark. Nixon composed the club song, collaborated in writing its first

Removal Of Name From Junk Mailing List Mortal Blow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Something happened to me this week that sent my crest falling into a dish of humble pie and gave my ego such a shattering blow it will never again become stable.

I suffered what was surely the ultimate humiliation, the supreme abashment, the granddaddy of all put-downs.

I was notified that my name is being removed from a junk mail list. How lowly can one get?

This crushing disgrace was inflicted upon me by a mail order gift house in a note attached to its new Christmas catalog. I reproduce the cruel message below although the sight of it still causes me to burn with shame:

"Dear friend: The time has come to remove your name from our mailing list since our records show you have not purchased anything from us in a while, even though we have been sending you catalogs regularly."

The phrase "remove your name from our mailing list" was printed in bold face type, and it seared itself into my brain like a hot branding iron.

My first impulse was to crawl into a hole and try to hide my mortification from the light of day. But I knew my family and friends would see the guilt on my face and find me out. So I have decided to take the matter to court and make a test case out of it.

In one respect, they've got me dead to rights—I must confess that I have not purchased anything from them in a while. Indeed, I have never purchased anything from them at all.

I got on their mailing list in a roundabout way, which the courts may decide is a mitigating circumstance.

A few years ago I saw a magazine ad offering inflatable plastic legs for 50 cents each. That sounded like fun, so I filled out the coupon and sent off for a pair. They were good for a million laughs, just as the advertisement promised.

If I was having a party, I would leave them sticking out from under the shower curtain in the bathroom used by the guests. But the best time I had with them was after a blizzard when I had the legs poking out of a snowdrift. (Write for details.)

After I ordered those plastic legs, I began receiving catalogs from mail order gift houses all over the country. I was a classic case of junk-mail proliferation.

The firm that has now threatened to unlist me is willing to give me a second chance if I will order something from the new catalog. But I have turned the whole thing over to my lawyer. I hope to obtain an injunction to keep my name on the mailing list.

If things have reached the point where an American citizen can be summarily deprived of junk mail, our republic cannot long endure.

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Debbie Reynolds' return to her NBC-TV series after a one-day walkout brings up a provocative point in view of her protest against a cigarette commercial.

In so doing, it made an unintentionally fierce statement on modern monarchy.

No one could live as dull a life as "Royal Family" portrayed. The twinkle in Princess Anne's eyes made that all too clear.

The Woody Allen special, on the other hand, is really with it. Looking more like Groucho Marx, every day, he does a sketch on nudity (with Candice Bergen); romps through a splendid silent film, and plays a wild rabbinical-type tutor in a mad folk tale about turning a dumb girl into a pseudo-intellectual.

Allen also conducts an amazingly frank and funny discussion with evangelist Billy Graham on sex, religion and other matters. They definitely don't agree. More important, though, is the increasingly zany explosion of Allen's rare Marx-like wit.

Restricting certainly not their faults. The production staff treated the royal family as if they were virtually untouched by the essentials of today's world.

And where was one of their favorite storage places? The land at San Clemente which now comprises the Nixon estate and the Western White House.

Operational Capacity Upped For Election

Additional booths and extra clerks will be provided in an effort to prevent any last-minute logjam of voters in next Wednesday's sales tax election.

City Manager Charles Hill said the operational capacity will be doubled at the Jones voting place in the City Hall million.

"There will be eight booths and five election clerks and two judges to accommodate the rush which usually comes between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. when the polling place closes.

City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden suggested time could be saved if voters would have their registration slips ready to hand to the clerks.

Absentee voting continued at a good clip today, Chittenden said, with a total of 50 ballots cast up until the noon hour.

Deadline for absentee voting will fall at 5 p.m. today.

Officials are expecting a fairly heavy vote. Interest seems to have picked up momentum as election day draws near, they stated.

The City Hall voting place will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday.

"We hope everyone will vote as early as possible during the morning and early afternoon hours," Chittenden said.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "My World and Welcome To It," NBC-TV's situation comedy based loosely on the works of the late-writer-cartoonist James Thurber, bowed in Monday night as a weekly entry.

No one in his right mind actually expects the half-hour show to come anywhere near the genius of the late humorist. And it is frankly a commercial venture of a most difficult sort — trying to capture the gentle fantasy of Thurber in a raucous mass medium known least of all for gentleness.

"Imagination is what makes life tolerable," said a character in the Monday night debut, a perfect statement in aiming at the essence of Thurber. Yet imagination is so much easier to project when faced with words rather than blatant film. The subtlety of the imagination has more free rein with words; you participate with the author; you create your own images to your satisfaction. Not so with film.

At any rate, imagine Thurber with a laughtrack. No laugh track was used in Sunday night's charming debut of the Bill Cosby show on the same network.

Data Automation Ups Revenues 270 Per Cent

DALLAS — Data Automation Company, Inc., a Dallas based company serving the data communications industry, has announced revenues totaling $3,264,647 for the six month period ending July 31, 1968. The revenues represent a 270 per cent increase from $1,209,992 in revenues for the same period of the previous year.

Net earnings of $301,638 are a 250 per cent increase over the corresponding time period of 1968. Pretax profits, before extraordinary items, totaled $381,078, a fivefold increase from 1968. Net income per share was 22 cents, a 144 per cent increase of per share income.

DAC has focused its development on the data communications market during the past six months. The company now ranks as the largest unregulated nationwide firm providing third party leasing and field maintenance of time-sharing computer terminals. DAC operates service centers in 18 major cities.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market appears to have been a "perfectly normal correction within a necessary base building pattern," says Hayden Stone Inc. A lack of buying demand seemed more responsible for the slump than any aggressive selling pressure, the firm adds. A supporting cushion seems to be gradually forming within the 800-820 Dow Jones area and the odds now seem better than 50-50 that any additional testing period will be successful, it adds.

About the best that can be expected of the market at this point, barring some dramatic good news, is a continuation of backing and filling movement between the 800 and 840 levels which could extend over several weeks, according to Goodbody & Co. From this a solid base could emerge after tax-loss selling is completed and the prospect of some easing in monetary policy draws closer, the firm says.

Institutional investors are holding large funds in short term paper of various sorts earmarked for timely commitment in common stocks rather than in bonds or mortgages, says W. E. Hatton Co. At present they are only "nibbling" and appear to be most interested in "fast growth" issues like computers, mobile homes, some retails, consumer interest shares and certain natural resource issues than in the more conventional stocks having growth rates of 6 per cent compounded or less.

In a more ebullient market atmosphere many of the major oil companies holding North Slope Alaskan acreage would have been bid up substantially over current levels, Reynolds & Co. believes. As it is, the general slide of stock prices witnessed during the 1969 bear market to date has dampened enthusiasm for shares of the group, and the new buying interest evidenced since the lease sale has been followed by normal profit taking the firm says.

Texas Legislature OK's Increase In DPS

Due to the rising traffic deaths and crime rate, the Texas Legislature has authorized an additional increase of manpower in the uniformed ranks of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

In carrying out this authorization a call was issued in Pampa today by Chester E. Fant, of the Major Texas Department of Public Safety Education service, to young men to fill a 120-man training school beginning October 21, 1969.

Fant stated that two inducements have been authorized by the legislature to help fill the uniformed ranks of the Texas D.P.S. First, the salary during training has increased to $525 per month; secondly, upon graduation the salary has increased to $630 per month.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 35, a height of not less than 68 inches, a weight of not less than two pounds per inch of height or more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height, and be in sound physical condition. They must have completed high school or the equivalent and must be a citizen of the United States and be of good moral character.

Those selected will take their basic training at the Texas D.P.S. Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. The training period is approximately four months in length. Upon graduation the patrolmen will be assigned to one of the four uniformed field services — Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection, and Drivers License.

Benefits received include two weeks vacation annually, 12 or more holidays each year as provided by the Legislature, 12 days per year sick leave which may accumulate to a maximum of 36 days, $10 per month added to salary at the end of each five years of service, to a maximum of 25 years, a modern liberal retirement system based on age and — or years of service, social security benefits, traveling expenses when away from assigned station as prescribed by law, group hospitalization and life insurance plan available, uniforms and the necessary equipment to perform duties furnished.

FILES SUIT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has filed suit against 22 Virgin Islands' gift shops and their trade association, charging they fixed the price on items sold to tourists. The imported items, which are sold to tourists at free port prices without the usual taxes, include imported perfumes, watches, cameras, radios, crystal, and china. The suit charged the retailers and their association conspired to fix prices, limit discounts and cut off supplies of merchandise to retailers who would not go along with them.
