DEFENDANT SAYS DEAD GIRL WAS NOT HIS SWEETHEART

WON'T LOOK AT PHOTO

AT ONE TIME GIRL WAS "DEARER THAN A SWEETHEART"

SINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—The defense in the Newton Yarberry murder trial rested early tonight and the court took a short recess preparatory to beginning state's rebuttal testimony.

Yarberry had denied killing Dorothy Dorcas Symons and had been given a severe cross examination by the prosecution.

Slouched in the witness chair and smoking a cigaret, Yarberry denied late today the prosecution's entire thesis.

"Newton, did you kill Dorothy Dorcas Symons?" his counsel asked. "I did not," he answered.

After more than an hour of rapid monologue in which he told what he claimed to be his movements on July 30, the night the 19-year-old girl mysteriously disappeared, later to be found dead, beneath a gnarled covering near the Aransas Pass seawall, the attorney put the direct question to him.

Denies Affection
"Of course you'd admit you killed the girl if you did," the prosecution said.

"Yes," Yarberry said.

"Were you engaged to marry Dorothy?" he was asked.

"No."

"Did you consider her your sweetheart?"

"Well, guess everybody else would, but I wouldn't. I could go anywhere I wanted to. She could go anywhere she wanted to."

He described himself as having used "dope" one time under a physician's direction, and said he never drank to excess.

In rapid colloquial language he told of his movements on July 30. He said he went to Dorothy's house that afternoon but left soon.

"Dorothy said 'are you coming back tonight?' and I said 'I might,'" Yarberry continued.

"I went on to town and that's the last time I ever saw her."

"I left the bowling alley nearly 7 that night and went on and went (See YARBERRY, Page 8)

Gus Davis Builds Large Trench Silo

Gus Davis of the southwest part of the county has built the first trench silo in his community, perhaps in the county.

Mr. Davis has the silo about half full of row crop feed. He has waited until the grain matured, and is putting in a great deal of water. Silo men have predicted the silage will keep perfectly.

Dimensions of the silo are 72 feet long, 12 feet wide and 8 feet deep. It was built at no extra cost, except for labor in scraping out the trench. The cost of labor, excluding his own work, was $15. It is believed this type of silo is the most economical of any that can be built in this section.

Mr. Davis will feed the ensilage to his herd of purebred Guernsey cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Sanders was at the Pampa-Canyon game Friday.

Mrs. R. C. Wylie, dressmaker and designer, is moving her business address from the Singer Sewing Machine shop to 211 East Francis. Mrs. Wylie is locating here permanently. She comes from Wichita, Kans.

BUSINESS MEN POSTPONE MIAMI TRADE DAY TRIP

Due to a veritable deluge of rain between Pampa and Miami, Okla., late yesterday, local business men postponed their trip to that city until Nov. 9.

About 30 business men had planned to study Miami's annual trade day tomorrow. They were to leave this morning. Because of the muddy roads, it would have been impossible for the men to drive to Tulsa today as they had planned. Most of them said it was necessary for them to be back here Wednesday. It was feared that the muddy roads would have delayed them in reaching Miami by Monday, and in returning.

Plans are under way to make the (See TRADE DAY, Page 8)

FLOW IN EAST TEXAS REDUCED

PANHANDLE ORDER TO BE HELD UP FOR INQUIRY

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today decided to nip 20 barrels per well from production in the East Texas oil field effective next Tuesday. The three members voted unanimously to curtail the flow to 185 barrels per well daily. The existing order allowed 200 barrels per well.

Under an estimation by the oil and gas division of the commission, the 2,200 wells now producing in the troublesome field will yield approximately 363,000 barrels daily. Figures received the past few days showed production in excess of 400,000 barrels daily.

In addition to the approximately 40,000 barrels immediate reduction in the East Texas flow, more than 20 barrels daily will be taken from the West Texas field, the commission having voted to reduce existing allowances in that area by 10 per cent. The order will not apply to the Panhandle field, C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, announcing it was desired to investigate wastage of gas there before issuing another proration order affecting it.

The commission's decisions were unanimous. Terrell and Lon A. Smith and Pat M. Neff, members, voting together. Some of the orders proration fields in the past were signed by Neff, but he had acquiesced to the commission's plan of regulating East Texas on a per well basis. The new order will hold until the commission alters it.

There were indications of dissension ahead, however, when Commissioner Smith said after this time he would not sign any more orders reducing production on a per well basis, unless a check were placed on drilling.

"Tariff Conclave" to Be Open to All

All sessions of the "Tariff Conclave" and semi-annual convention of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas at Tyler on public will be open to membership in any organization, according to local officials of the association.

"Business men and landowners are especially invited. This meeting is sponsored by this association as matter of leadership, but it is everybody's meeting, and we want it open to all of Texas," writes Tom E. Cranfill, president. "Replies from oil men from all sections of the state and the announcement of the subjects to be used by four speakers indicate that the meeting will be the most important of their year."

Wirt Franklin, of Oklahoma City, an independent leader, announces his subject as "The Permanent Remedy." Hon. C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Railroad commission, will talk on "Imports and Conservation." Capt. J. F. Lucey, Dallas, will report on "The Recent Washington Conference," and Representative Bailey W. Hardy of Breckenridge, has chosen "Imports and Control," as his text.

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Sanders was at the Pampa-Canyon game Friday.

Mrs. R. C. Wylie, dressmaker and designer, is moving her business address from the Singer Sewing Machine shop to 211 East Francis. Mrs. Wylie is locating here permanently. She comes from Wichita, Kans.

GENERAL FUND OF COUNTY TO SHOW DEFICIT

BORROWING OF OTHER ACCOUNTS MUST BE REFUNDED

REMEDY IS SUGGESTED

TREASURER WRITES TO SENATOR SMALL ABOUT PLAN

The fourth quarter of 1931 fund Gray county's general fund in expected depleted condition, and with about $8,000 more having been spent than received.

Transfer of jury funds to the general fund has amounted to about $10,000, but this sum was merely borrowed and must be paid back when the next taxes are paid. It is illegal to transfer funds permanently, and the general fund is limited to 25 cents on the $100 valuation.

The county began this year with a deficit of $23,385.07. Receipts to September 30 amounted to about $62,000, compared with disbursements of about $47,500. The deficit at the end of this year probably will be around $20,000.

New Added Overdraft
In other words, the county this year will "break even" or a little better by limiting expenditures from the general fund, which already has nearly a score of different levies upon it. Increased valuations have helped to ease the situation but not to remove the deficit, which looms as big as ever with no means of retreating in it.

Boom day demands created the deficit because tax receipts were nearly two years behind the actual development and the actual needs. Gray county growth is well shown in the figures on total valuations:

1926	$3,785,404
1927	$11,394,877
1928	$13,182,449
1929	$21,140,179
1930	$27,775,856
1931	Same or increase, estimated

County Auditor Ramon Wilson has had considerable correspondence with Senator Clint C. Small concerning possible raising of the limit of tax levy for the general fund or changing the method of allocating tax funds. Senator Small has stated that he regards the present system as very inadequate. He also has shown much interest in Mr. Wilson's suggestion to levy a blanket ad valorem tax to cover all county purposes, with the commissioners to distribute the funds as needed. The present system results in surpluses in some funds and substantial overdraft in others, without the possibility of transferring the monies. Any change would require a constitutional amendment.

All Facts Heard in Bishop Cannon Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—All facts that will tell whether Bishop James Cannon Jr. overstepped federal laws in fighting Alfred E. Smith's presidential campaign today were assembled before a grand jury.

The completion of its job, to indict or dismiss, was promised "within a week or 10 days." The 23 jurors agreed just before noon that the score of witnesses who have filed to the stand since Thursday morning, had supplied the testimony needed for a finding.

The jury must tell the District of Columbia Supreme Court whether it found from a score of witnesses reasonable evidence the clergyman and the treasurer of his 1928 anti-Smith organization, Miss Adela L. Burroughs, violated the federal corrupt practices act.

ORGAN NUMBERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. May Foreman Carr, newly appointed organist at the First Methodist church, has chosen 14 favorite classical selections for presentation today.

CHORUS TO BE ORGANIZED ON MONDAY NIGHT

Every singer in the city, young and old, who would like to join a municipal chorus is invited to attend a meeting at the First Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock Monday.

The selections to be sung will be easy enough for anyone of ordinary musical sense to learn. High school glee club members will be among the members of the chorus, and church choirs will be largely represented.

Prof. E. J. Jones, until recently of Huntsville Teachers college department of music, will address the singers and suggest plans. Mrs. May Foreman Carr will be pianist. It is expected that the chorus will number at least one hundred.

EDISON KNOWS ONLY HIS WIFE

INVENTOR IN STUPOR ON THE VERGE OF COMA

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 10. (AP)—The world for Thomas A. Edison now is just one person—his wife.

As the inventor lay in a stupor today, on the verge of a coma, Dr. Hubert S. Howe said Mr. Edison for days has been able to recognize no one except his white-haired wife, who has been at his bedside almost constantly.

In the past, because of the peculiar timbre of her voice, her words have been clear to Mr. Edison despite his deafness. To this circumstance is partially attributed his ability to recognize her now.

Other members of his family are maintaining a vigil near the sickroom but the last word of farewell between them and Mr. Edison apparently has been exchanged.

How much longer he will be able to recognize Mrs. Edison was beyond prediction. But she, his companion of 45 years, remains close at hand to keep alive his last contact with the world.

As Dr. Howe came from his routine examination of the patient he told reporters:

"About the only change in Mr. Edison's condition is that it is increasingly difficult for him to take nourishment. He has had nothing in the last 24 hours. In the preceding 24 hours he had only six teaspoonfuls of cereal."

Barber's Tale Denied
"He is not taking liquids, which are very necessary if the uremic poisoning is to be kept from spreading through his system."

Dr. Howe described as "a lot of nonsense" a statement by Mr. Edison's barber that the inventor had recognized him yesterday.

Dr. Howe said that any change in Mr. Edison's condition now would be gradual, according to all outward indications, "although I would not be greatly surprised at any sudden turn."

After his visit Dr. Howe returned to New York. It was announced that in the event of a sudden change in the inventor's condition a special police escort had been arranged to conduct the physician through Holland tunnel and over the highways to the Edison home.

Shoes Are Needed For Little Feet Of City Children

The Welfare board is badly in need of shoes for children. There are several children who are unable to go to school because they have no shoes. It would not be asking too much to have parents with good jobs buy a pair of shoes for some child that needs to go to school, members of the Welfare board declare.

Old shoes would also be appreciated. There are hundreds of people in Pampa who throw shoes away that could be worn by some woman or child. Mrs. W. H. Davis said yesterday.

"It is heart-breaking to see some children, especially young girls, come into the office asking for shoes," she said. "Their little feet are as hard as leather and have sand bars sticking to them," she said. Members of the various Parent-Teacher associations have been doing wonderful work in collecting clothing and other necessities. Mrs. Davis says. She says the various churches have also worked hard sewing and gathering clothing.

GUN TAKEN OFF AL'S BEST PAL IN COURT ROOM

APPLICATION FOR BAIL POSITIVELY REFUSED BY JUDGE

FLORIDANS TAKE STAND

TESTIFY SNORKY SPENT FREELY WHILE IN FLORIDA

FEDERAL BUILDING, CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (AP)—Phil Andrea, personal friend and constant companion of Al Capone at the scar-faced gang chief's income tax trial, was ordered by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today to stand trial for carrying a pistol in the courtroom.

D'Andrea, suave, nattily-dressed, and secretive appearing, was seized by three deputy United States marshals as he left the courtroom after today's session. The marshal found a .38 caliber pistol tucked under his belt.

Pleas Fall
Capone and his attorneys pleaded unsuccessfully for his release, and he was taken away to jail. Judge Wilkerson called his court into special session again this afternoon and ordered D'Andrea to be arraigned before him Monday morning on a rule requiring him to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

"I had been informed that men with pistols were coming into the courtroom during the trial," Judge Wilkerson announced, "and it was I who ordered D'Andrea arrested." The judge then ordered government officials and court officers to take strict precautions beginning Monday to prevent "gun-toters" (See CAPONE, Page 8)

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

STERRA BLANCA, Oct. 10. (AP)—Three motorists were killed and two others injured in a collision between a truck and an automobile on the Bankhead highway 18 miles east of here early today.

The dead: Frank J. Randall, 51, former Post Worth preacher and radio announcer.

His daughter, Virginia Randall, 11.

Clyde Bush, of Colorado, Tex. The injured: Mrs. Myrl Randall, fractured skull.

Best Bush, cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred when an apple truck driven by Mrs. Ruth Bush, in which her husband was riding, collided head-on with an automobile in which the Randall family was traveling.

Writer of Creamery Essay Ranks High

Although not winning the trip to St. Louis, Roy Hill of Eldridge was high in the list of entrants of essays on creameries which was held recently under the direction of the Creamery association. The Eldridge youth, however, won the $5 prize given by the Gray County creamery for the winner of entries from Gray county.

Roy made a trip through the Gray County creamery before writing his essay. The creamery is one of the best equipped in the country and the youth's essay received many favorable comments. There were ten entrants from Gray county.

LEAVES FOR FAIR

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 10. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff W. R. Joyner left here today for El Paso, Tex., to return here with Ruth Phillips and Rachel Campbell, the latter an 11-year-old child who authorities say was kidnapped. The woman is being held in El Paso for Atlanta authorities.

Mrs. Porter Malone and little son, attended the football game in Canyon Friday.

AFTER HOOVER'S BIG CONFERENCE

AS NEW YORK SENATOR LEFT PARLEY—there is a general sentiment that in a crisis such as the present, the country must be put ahead of the party. That was the statement of Senator Robert Wagner, Democrat of New York, when newspaper men surrounded him as pictured above, as he left the White House conference which heard President Hoover's plan to stabilize the domestic financial and economic situation by creating a $500,000,000 banking pool.

TURKEY RED AND BLACK HULL WHEAT HAVE HIGHEST YIELD

WAGNER'S TURKEY RED wheat made the best yield of any variety of wheat harvested in Gray county this year, according to a report received by County Agent Ralph R. Thomas from the Texas Experiment station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The average yield of Turkey Red per acre was 22.50 bushels. Next in yield was Black Hull with an average of 22.47 bushels per acre. Tenmarg wheat was third with an average of 20.55 bushels per acre.

Black Hull Higher
The average yield of Black Hull in all of the wheat-growing counties in the Panhandle was 17.87 bushels per acre. Tenmarg was second with 17.76. Because of good growing conditions existing during the growing period, the difference was not enough to matter. The Experiment station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture will use several average crops to decide which variety is best adapted to the area.

An experiment to determine which variety is best suited to Gray county was begun last year on the farm of J. Evans, two miles west of Laketon. Seven tests were conducted there last year, and six varieties are being grown this year.

Denton Wheat Impractical
Varieties planted last year were Kanred, Black Hull, Tenmarg, Kell-haw, Russian, Turkey Red, Baughn's Turkey Red, and Denton wheat. The last variety was declared to be impractical for the Panhandle and was not planted this year. Most of the Denton wheat was found to be highly susceptible to smut. Results of the test will not be announced for several years. The state and national governments are cooperating with Mr. Thomas and Mr. Evans in making the tests. Results will be made known after about five years, Mr. Thomas said. Many such tests are being made in the wheat-growing counties of the Panhandle.

This fact was pointed out by Geo. W. Briggs as a good reason why an experiment station should be established in the wheat area.

Way of Salvation Will Be Subject At Revival Meeting

The Way of Salvation Made as Plain as Day is the subject to be discussed this morning at 11 o'clock by Dr. O. L. Powers, who is conducting revival services at the First Baptist church. At the evening hour, 7:30 o'clock Dr. Powers will talk on "Excuse Us." Special music will be directed by Ernest Fletcher. An evangelistic service also will be held at the Sunday school hour, 9:45 o'clock. The training service will be held as usual at 6:30 o'clock. The revival will continue through next Sunday.

Gray Farmers Will Attend Dallas Fair

County Agent Ralph R. Thomas, county agent with headquarters in Pampa, and P. B. Farley of Groom, accompanied by Jim Farley of Groom, Clarence Tidwell of Grandview, and William Hill of Eldridge, will leave tomorrow morning for Dallas, where they will attend the Dallas State fair.

The three boys will be guests of the Dallas Fair association, having won the trip by making the best grades of live stock, grains and cotton, respectively, in the county. The trip is being sponsored by the Pampa Board of City Development.

Jim Farley excelled in baby beef. Clarence Tidwell raised the best grain sorghums, and William Hill had the best cotton in the county. The party will return to Pampa Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Akers watched the Harvesters win another victory in Canyon Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. McCullough and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith went to Canyon Friday for the football game.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Kelley attended the football games at both Amarillo and Canyon Friday.

REPORT BLIMP FELL FLAMING AMONG HILLS

WATCHERS SAY THEY SAW IT BURST AND FALL

CARPHITES ALSO SEEN

PARTY OF SEARCHERS START TOWARD HILLS

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Oct. 10. (AP)—A searching party organized by Point Pleasant police tonight started toward hills back of Gallipolis Ferry, W. Va., behind which a blimp was reported to have fallen in flames.

The party was organized after Robert P. Henke, of Gallipolis, his wife and Dr. and Mrs. Claude Carter, also of Gallipolis, said they saw the blimp cross the Ohio river and that it fell while Henke was watching it through field glasses. Henke, building contractor, said the blimp was between 100 and 150 feet long and flying at an altitude of about 300 feet when it burst. He said that a moment before it fell behind hills back of Gallipolis Ferry, he saw something white, which may have been a parachute floating downward.

Many See Wreck
GALLIPOLIS, O., Oct. 10. (AP)—Dr. Charles E. Holzer, owner of the Gallipolis airport, tonight was investigating a report that a dirigible crashed about 10 miles from Virginia hills south of here this afternoon.

Dr. Holzer said more than a half dozen citizens had reported seeing the dirigible break in two and fall to the ground in flames. Several persons said they distinctly saw three occupants of the blimp jump with parachutes as the craft started to fall. Dr. Holzer said.

Dr. Holzer, who operates a hospital here, said the ship passed over his hospital and that persons who reported seeing it fall gave the time of the supposed crash as 2:50 p. m. The crash was said to have been from Akron, and to have been on the way to Huntington, W. Va., where it was to circle the field during a football game.

Ship Request Denied
HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 10. (AP)—An airplane reported to have been seen falling down in the West Virginia hills across the Ohio river from here today.

The territory in which the dirigible was reported to have fallen is sparsely settled and telephonic communication with many large sections is impossible.

Officials of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company reported tonight that all company blimps are accounted for.

Death of LeFors Resident Sudden
Paul Mundt, 70, of LeFors died at a local hospital yesterday morning at 10 o'clock following a brief illness. The body is at the Stephenson Mortuary. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending word from relatives in Illinois. Mrs. C. L. Ross of Galbreath, Ill., is the only known survivor.

Mr. Mundt had been a resident of LeFors for the past four years. He had been in failing health for some time, but his condition was not thought serious.

P. T. A. TO MEET
The high school Parents' Teacher association will hold its regular monthly meeting, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Easton. Mrs. Easton, president, announced yesterday. The program will be announced tomorrow.

THE WEATHER
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, probably rain in north portion, cooler in north and west portions today. Monday partly cloudy, cooler in southeast portion.

Halloween Luncheon Given For A.A.U.W. and College Club PARENTS, TEACHERS ARE TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

STATE GROUP WAS FORMED 22 YEARS AGO

TWO THOUSAND OF THE ASSOCIATIONS NOW ACTIVE IN TEXAS

By MRS. WILL T. DECHERD
All Parent-Teacher associations in membership with Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations have been stirring with activity since the opening of the school year when they renewed their efforts to bring home and school together in such a way as to produce healthy, intelligent, upright citizens out of the children of today.

There is so much to be done along many lines of endeavor that there must be more than a desire for a celebration back for the teachers coming into the state office, Austin, Capitol Station, from many associations for suggestions as to how to observe the 22nd birthday of the Congress on Oct. 19.

The best sentiment and good common sense, based on psychology, demand such an observation of the day as is called for by the state chairman of Texas Congress Birthday, Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, of Dallas. It is to Mrs. Porter's efforts the congress owes its birth on Oct. 19, 1909, in the old First Methodist church of Dallas.

Started as Clubs
Mrs. Porter, who sends her ball for the birthday from California where she has been summering, realizes that it is inspiring to trace the growth of the congress through the years from a few scattered "mothers' clubs" as they were called then, to the 2,000 Parent-Teacher associations of Texas at the present time. It is also interesting to see how the valiant organization has thrown its influence into every walk of life which touches children and their rearing and has helped to bring about the improvement of the schools, juvenile courts and better laws governing children, supervised recreation, better health conditions, and the study both in group and in the home, of the laws of the development of the child, physically, mentally and morally.

A review of these facts may fittingly be a part of the birthday program. But in this day of many and varied activities, it is necessary to have a singleness of purpose if the best of progress is made, so Mrs. Porter urges that the associations get a fresh vision of the aim and purpose of the founders of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the mother of all the state branches, for the Parent-Teacher work started in the national body. This aim is usually stated in the comprehensive phrase, "Child Welfare in Home and School, Church and State," and the motto which Mrs. Porter loves to repeat is "The love of childhood is the common tie which should unite us in holiest purpose."

Extension Work Stressed
With this aim and motto the Texas congress with both mothers and fathers, alert and working, still presses on to the goal. "A Parent-Teacher association in every school community in Texas." It does this through its extension work which is largely financed by interest on the endowment fund. This fund, the nucleus of which was $3,000 given by Mrs. Porter, now amounts to $27,073.99. Therefore, another feature of the birthday observance is the birthday gift which is sent to the state office and which goes to the endowment fund.

Every Woman Asked To Make Donation
AMARILLO, Oct. 10. (P)—Every club woman in Pampa, including members of Parent-Teacher organizations and church societies, has been asked to donate two quarts of fruit, already canned, to the community canning project.

LUNCHEON IS GIVEN GROUP
A 1 o'clock luncheon was given Thursday for members of the Linger Longer Bridge club in the home of Mrs. E. P. Hollingshead. In the bridge games which followed, Mrs. Jack Baker was favored for high score.

Those attending were Mesdames Jack Baker, Raymond Brumley, O. K. Gaylor, E. J. Pafford, Hollis Rabb, George Sawyer, Sam Ray, and the hostess.

The next gathering, which will be in two weeks, is to be an afternoon bridge party in the home of Mrs. Pafford.

Mrs. W. Furviance and daughter, Janice, spent yesterday in Panhandle visiting relatives.

FOR EVENING

Orchid pink is chosen by Kay Francis for a chiffon evening frock that displays narrow shoulder straps and flowers of self-material.

MRS. SWANSON FAVORS GROUP

HALLOWEEN IS THEME IN CLUB MAYFAIR GATHERING

HUNDREDS ARE TO GATHER AT STATE SESSION

WOMEN'S CLUBS WILL ELECT OFFICERS AT LUBBOCK SOON

CANYON, Oct. 10.—Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon is expected to become president of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, when the state convention is held in Lubbock Nov. 9-12, inclusive.

A long apprenticeship in club work has been served by Mrs. Hill. She has been president of the Women's Book club, the first federated club in Canyon. She has attended the district meetings each year for nine years. She has been chairman of the department of international relations, the American home and American citizenship and of the state division of budgeting. She was local chairman when Canyon entertained the seventh district convention in 1926.

LUBBOCK, Oct. 10.—Lubbock committees are making extensive plans to care for several hundred delegates at the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs which is to be held here Nov. 9-12.

This is election year and the political phase of the meeting is expected to add interest and attendance to the convention. Mrs. R. G. Lee of Cline and Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston are in the race for the presidency to succeed Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mt. Pleasant, who is serving now as head of the state organization.

Of no small interest will be the series of tableaux and pantomimes, Texas Under Six Flags, to be presented under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the speech arts department of Texas Technological college.

The convention will open Nov. 9 with an annual luncheon for the executive board of the federation at the Hilton hotel, with the Lubbock City Federation of Women's clubs as hostesses. In the afternoon, all visitors will be guests for a tea.

Cowboys Attend
A pioneer club dinner is on the calendar for Tuesday evening. Cowboys from West Texas ranches will attend in regular dress to be the serving and a ranch cook is engaged to handle "pots and pans."

The Texas dinner will be the climax of the convention, when presidents of Lubbock's federated clubs will be hostesses. Different tables will represent the six nations under which Texas citizenship has served.

Art Exhibit Planned
The art exhibit is to be one of the outstanding features of the convention. Mrs. C. M. Ballenger is the local chairman. Already the American Legion Home, a new $15,000 building, modernly furnished, has been secured to house the Texas pictures. Five hundred dollars in cash will go to the Texas artists entering the winning picture and the picture will go to a permanent home in the Texas Federation home in Austin. The picture must be painted in oil and represent some Texas scene. No portraits or imaginary pictures will be considered. More than 100 pictures will be entered.

EDITOR VISITS PAMPA
Miss Irene O'Keefe, assistant editor of the Panhandle HERALD, was in Pampa on business Friday.

WINS HONOR

Local friends have received word that Miss Claudine Pope, above has pledged the Tri-Delta sorority at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Pope of Pampa and is a former student at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., and entered the university at Michigan this year as a junior.

DRAMA, MUSIC ARE STUDIED

CHILD STUDY CLUB IS FAVORED BY MRS. McCONNELL

Business, a program, and a social half hour combined to make the afternoon a pleasant one Friday for members of the Child Study club. The club was entertained in the home of Mrs. Floyd McConnell, with Mrs. Raymond Harrah in charge of a program of music and drama.

Mrs. Harrah opened the program by reading a paper on the place of drama in education out of the school.

The value of music in education at home was stressed by Mrs. A. H. Doucette, who explained that most of the great musicians began their studies very early and usually came from musical families.

Mrs. Lee Harrah spoke on the stage as an educator, and Mrs. E. S. McConnell told of the lives of Ritter, Newman, and Shuttleworth, all of whom were active in dramatic activities.

Mrs. Doucette presided over the business session, during which it was decided to hold regular meetings on the second and fourth Thursdays of every month. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. W. Johns, 600 N. Somerville.

Ice cream and angel food cake were served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. J. H. Patterson was welcomed as a new member. Old members attending were Mesdames C. S. Barrett, A. H. Doucette, B. E. Finley, Robert Gilchrist, Lee Harrah, Raymond Harrah, H. W. Johns, R. S. McConnell, A. W. Mann, and the hostess.

Art League Will Have Open House

Open house will be held by the Pampa Art league Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. L. B. Hughey. Each club member is permitted to invite two guests. A program is being arranged for the occasion.

Girl Scouts will have an open-air meeting at 4:30 o'clock near the Sam Houston school. Winners and marshmallows will be roasted.

Mooshatr Legion will meet at 8 o'clock at Locust Grove club.

THURSDAY
Dutch church club will have luncheon at 1:30 o'clock at the Canary Sandwich shop. Mrs. Frank Allison will be hostess.

High school Parent-Teacher association will hold a regular meeting.

American Legion auxiliary will meet at 8 o'clock at the Legion hut.

DR. CALLISON MAKES HEALTH TALK SATURDAY

READINGS ARE GIVEN BY MRS. RAYMOND HARRAH

When members of the American Association of University Women and the College club met at 12:30 Saturday in the Schneider hotel, they were greeted by skeletons, cats and pumpkins, which proved that Halloween was approaching.

Music was furnished by Mrs. T. E. Rose while each member found her place.

Mrs. C. C. Cokerill made the announcement that each active member would be expected to pay the 50 cents for her plate for each meeting unless her reservation was cancelled and inactive members must call 527-J to make reservations. Miss Willens may insisted that all dues be paid as soon as possible.

Mrs. Raymond Harrah, accompanied by Miss Shirley Green, gave two musical readings, Envy, and Miss Nicotine, that were fully appreciated.

The main speaker of the afternoon was Dr. C. P. Callison, who spoke on Preventive Medicine.

Many Are Ill
"Three per cent of persons over 15 years of age are ill all the time," declared Dr. Callison.

"It is easier to prevent disease than it is to cure it," said the doctor. "This has been recognized throughout history. Early Greeks and Romans practiced physical culture, bathing, and games. As a result, they were in good health, but if they became ill, they gave up in despair. Other primitive people (and some such people are living today) realized that something should be done to prevent disease, and, not knowing any better preventatives, they turned to superstitions, such as carrying rabbits' feet. There are also false theories as to the cause of sickness, one of them being the breathing of night air."

There are two outstanding aims of preventive medicine—the prolonging of life and the prevention of economic loss that results from sickness.

Much Prevention Possible
"Practically all diseases of external origin and many of internal origin can be prevented."

Dr. Callison showed the bearing the following modes of transmission: Secretions from the nose, mouth, or throat, transmission by water and food, transmission by insects, transmission through soil, transmission by direct contact and other.

The speaker said that in order for headway to be made in preventing diseases, the general public, administrative bodies, and practicing physicians must cooperate.

"The doctors know what to do," he said, "but administrative bodies must put the idea over by means of clinics and other endeavors." He also advocated county supported hospitals.

Should Have Authority
"For public safety," said Dr. Callison, "the administrative officers should have almost dictatorial powers. People with contagious diseases should be isolated for the protection of others and should be well cared for."

The following members attended the meeting: Mesdames Parry Oden, Henry Charliss, R. Earl O'Keefe, C. T. Hunkapillar, Alex Tubetkin, Harry Marbaugh, J. B. Massey, E. L. Norman, L. L. Sone, A. M. Teed, E. C. Will, R. B. Fisher, A. H. Hahn, Philip Wolfe, W. O. Workman, C. W. Stowell, C. C. Cokerill, La Mar Jones, A. E. Goldstein, John Sturgeon, Thomas C. Duwall, Saunders, T. E. Simmons, and Paul Karlsink; Mesdames Zenobia McFarlin, Fannie May, Wilena May, Julia Shackelford, Iva Jane Willis, Wilma Chapman, and Mary Idelle Cox.

The bank president says: "Keep on deposit all you should have as a reserve against emergencies. If that reserve is not yet large enough (it should be equal to at least six months' salary), add to it. But if you have a surplus above all likely needs, make careful purchases of things you want for permanent use while prices remain low."

"See that your home is put in good repair. Do not let your automobile or any other property get run down. If you have needed an added piece of furniture, shop carefully and buy it now. Buy clothing in reasonable quantities. Buy real estate if you are planning for a home of your own. Land prices have not been so low in many years, and mortgage money for building can be had on very reasonable terms."

VARIETY IS NOTED IN WRAPS

By DIANA MERWIN (Associated Press Fashion Editor)
PARIS, Oct. 10. (P)—Evening wraps this winter offer a choice of colors as varied as a jewel box.

Ruby velvets, sapphire duvetyns, emerald velvadas, amethyst satins are all part of the colorful picture offering Milady Moderne a wide choice of hues.

Rich ermines and sable cloaks also are seen, while the classic black velvet wrap outlined in white fox remains to serve the woman who wants one cloak to accompany many frocks.

Wraps Go To Extremes
The smartest wraps are either full length designs or pert waist-length models with huge puffed sleeves reminiscent of the mutton-leg. Knee length wraps also are seen.

Most of the cloaks which smart society will wear after 9 o'clock this winter are richly fur-lined and darker than the fabric of the wrap itself, although a few answer the demand for economy by eliminating furs.

Collars rise high to frame the face or swathe the shoulders in cape effect, while cuffs are wide and elaborately cut.

A full length ruby velvet wrap displayed in the all collections had a large cape and muff ends of rich sable, an emerald green duvetyn was collared, cuffed and banded at the hem in black lynx, while a long velvet veljada was trimmed in silver fox.

With Hoops And Bustles
Short wraps will be a favorite of the woman who adopts the old-fashioned mode of hooped skirts and bustles for evening wear, since the full length cloak cannot be worn gracefully with these.

One of the smartest waist-length wraps of silver and green lace is topped by a huge cape of silver fox scarves, while another of tangerine velvet has large puffed sleeves and a collar of sables.

Evening wraps are richly varied this winter. This model of green velvet by Hsimo is collared, cuffed and banded at the hem in black fox.

TEACHERS SEE CANYON GAME FRIDAY NIGHT

OTHERS VISIT FRIENDS AND RELATIVES IN NEARBY CITIES

Terminating a strenuous week of teaching and the giving of examinations to cover the first six weeks' study, many teachers of Pampa are enjoying rest and recreation this week-end. Each school in the city represented by faculty members at the football game played by the Pampa Harvesters with freshmen of West Texas State Teachers college in Canyon Friday. Numerous other instructors are visiting relatives in nearby cities.

Supt. and Mrs. R. B. Fisher attended the game in Canyon. Among the high school teachers who attended are Mrs. E. L. Norman, Miss Mary Idelle Cox, Miss Schulkey, Mrs. T. P. Johnson Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Harris, W. O. Workman and Miss Zenobia McFarlin. Principal and Mrs. L. L. Stone and little daughter, Shirley Mae, also attended.

Among the junior high teachers at the game were Miss Janice McAllister, Mrs. Arthur M. Teed, W. B. Weathered, Miss Boyd Whiteley, Marguerite Terrell, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Edna Mims, and Miss Anne Louise Jones.

Mrs. Lou Roberts is spending the week-end in Amarillo.

After attending the football game in Canyon, Mrs. T. P. Johnson went to Tulsa for the week-end.

Mrs. E. R. Miller has as her guests Mrs. Jerry Craven and daughter, Fern Ray, of Hazelton.

Miss Lois Stallings, music instructor in the junior high school, is visiting in Miami this week-end.

BAPTISTS OF PANHANDLE TO MEET ON 22ND
Panhandle Baptists will meet at First Baptist church, Amarillo, Oct. 22 for the purpose of completing the plans for the Every Member canvass movement Nov. 29 to Dec. 6. There are 26 Baptist churches in this section with a membership of 18,700. They will be expected to raise $50,000 for the cooperative Baptist program.

Dr. Geo. W. Truett, pastor of First Baptist church, Dallas; Dr. Millard Jenkins, pastor of First Baptist church, Abilene, and Secretary J. Howard Williams of Dallas will appear on the program. Rev. E. T. Miller, organizer for district number 10, will preside.

BARBECUE IS GIVEN FIRST

METHODIST MEMBERS HERE

OUTING IS ENJOYED BY MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED

More than two hundred persons, members of the First Methodist church and their families, gathered at a spot north of Sam Houston school for a barbecue Saturday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock a large group, mostly children, met at the church, and transportation was furnished to the picnic grounds, where games were directed by Mrs. Ray N. Johnson.

Many more persons of all ages went to the selected spot at 6 o'clock for the evening meal. An entire beef had been barbecued and was served with accessories. Plenty of lemonade and coffee were provided.

Contests and stunts held the interest of the crowd after supper. The event was planned by the Rev. Ray N. Johnson, pastor of the church, and the following committees:

Location committee: Joe Shelton, C. E. Ward and Horace McBee. Food committee: Roy Bourland, Travis Lively, Mrs. Lewis Robinson, Mrs. C. E. Ward, and Mrs. Horace McBee.

Entertainment committee: Mrs. Ray N. Johnson, Mrs. Joe Shelton, and Mrs. S. A. Hurst.

There are some Pampans who have seen Amarillo's town, however, that are getting a little weak in the knees, and there are plenty of Amarillians who have seen Pampa's team that think the Harvesters can't be beat.

We'll have to admit that it will take plenty of steam on the part of the Harvesters to stop that "sweet evening breeze," but the Harvesters have the machine to make the steam.

If mothers of Baker school children keep up their good work they are going to develop a potential football team near the school. They are now undertaking the project of furnishing milk each morning to all first grade children in the school. Their money could be used in no better way. The benefits of providing the children with milk to drink were shown last year when it was undertaken under the direction of Miss Bess Kilough, health supervisor. In addition to supplying a definite need for the under-nourished children, it gives added energy to every child in school.

There's another good sign at Baker school. Whereas only 85 per cent of the children's breadwinners were employed at the opening of school, the percentage has increased to 99 per cent. The total enrollment at Baker is 445, which represents 24 families.

Wise spending now, when prices have reached the lowest level in nearly two decades, is as much a part of thrift as saving all that is possible when prices are going up.

The statement comes from Walter H. Bennett, president of the Employment Industrial Saving Bank in New York City.

The bank president says: "Keep on deposit all you should have as a reserve against emergencies. If that reserve is not yet large enough (it should be equal to at least six months' salary), add to it. But if you have a surplus above all likely needs, make careful purchases of things you want for permanent use while prices remain low."

"See that your home is put in good repair. Do not let your automobile or any other property get run down. If you have needed an added piece of furniture, shop carefully and buy it now. Buy clothing in reasonable quantities. Buy real estate if you are planning for a home of your own. Land prices have not been so low in many years, and mortgage money for building can be had on very reasonable terms."

WHISTLES ARE GIVEN PUPILS

Eight student policemen were awarded whistles at the Horace Mann chapel period Friday morning.

The chapel was opened with a song, Lord God of Hosts, led by Miss Loma Groom, and scripture reading by Ruth Sullivan. The entire group then joined in repeating the Lord's prayer.

The Spirit of Fire, a playlet, was presented by the high high grade and pupils of the same grade sang The Spirit of the Wind. Mrs. A. A. Sing-song led by Miss Groom closed the chapel service.

WHITE DEER COUPLE WILL BE MARRIED

Miss Alice Elizabeth Warminski and Telesfor Haisius, both of White Deer, are to be married Tuesday, Oct. 20 at the Sacred Heart church in White Deer.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be given at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Warminski.

Merten Teachers And Parents Meet

The Parent-Teacher association of Merten school held an all-day meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. C. B. Haney, Merten lease. A covered luncheon was served at noon.

Twenty-nine persons were in attendance.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Kelley attended the football games at Amarillo and Canyon Friday.

can use the street and sidewalk. You see he has a legal right to be on his own property. He has the same legal right as anyone else to be on the street. What he can't do is cross from one to the other."

Norma was smiling. "Are you going to help him, Bob?"

"Oh, there's really nothing much for Perkins to do but come across and buy that land. It's just a case of mulishness. He's made up his mind he won't. Someone else made up theirs that he would. It's not my worry though. Bill Kennedy's handling it. He was telling me about the thing just before I left the office. Just one of these freak affairs that pop up every now and then."

"I remember Mr. Brooks told me about something like that once—"

Norma said meditatively. She related sketchy details of a legal controversy involving a picket fence.

They sat in the comfortable living room and talked for three-quarters of an hour. Then Farrell arose and said he must be leaving.

"Come to see us again soon," Chris urged as he stood with one hand on the doorknob. Norma added, "Yes, do!"

"Thanks. Be glad to. Well—good night!"

There was no doubt that Chris plan to take Norma's mind from her worries had succeeded. Norma was more like her old self for the rest of the evening.

A week later when Bob called to see if the two girls were at home he promised them a surprise. Over the telephone he refused to explain further but half an hour later he led them proudly to the apartment window and pointed to the street.

There before the entrance was a shiny coupe.

"Oh, Bob!—is it yours?"
"Why Bob!—"

"Nice looking little bus, isn't it?"

he said grinning. "Got the chance to buy it at a bargain and it was too good to refuse. Picks up speed, too! Well—would you like to try it?"

Both girls exclaimed with enthusiasm when they inspected the car at close range. It was small, of inexpensive make but it had trim lines. Farrell was like a school boy displaying a new toy.

He helped the girls inside and took the wheel. They drove for an hour and a half. April had been a cool month but there was the scent of spring in the air.

Bob did not go inside when they reached the apartment. It was the same park. Norma had found so inviting the day she had shopped for the Thanksgiving dinner. Trees were unfurling their fresh green leaves now. The little leaves could not keep out the moonlight but they made the boughs seem heavier. Two weeks before the leaves had not been there.

"Bob," said Norma softly. "I think we should go back now."

"O. K. Just as you say."

He did not go inside when they reached the apartment but nodded a cheerful good night at the door.

"Take another spin some of these times?" Farrell asked.

"We'll be glad to," Chris told him and Norma agreed. Then they went into the building.

On a Sunday afternoon 10 days later Farrell took the girls for a second drive. Then as the days became warmer he dropped into the habit of coming around oftener. The second week in May there was a terrific and unseasonable hot spell.

A drive in the open country after sunset was a blessed relief. Bob's coupe drew up before the apartment almost every evening.

Always the three of them went together. It was natural enough because Chris and Norma spent almost every evening in each other's company. When Bob was with them Chris found relief from the constant strain of keeping Norma's thoughts diverted.

Dr. Willoughby mentioned the fact that his patient seemed in better spirits.

June arrived. Norma gave up her work in Stuart's office and a girl whom Chris knew, a capable stenographer out of work since the office in which she worked cut its force, took over her duties. About the same time Norma told Chris she thought Bob should discontinue coming to the apartment. Chris relayed this suggestion to Farrell and the automobile drives ceased.

June proved a warm month and July brought three weeks of scorching heat. Chris postponed her vacation so that she could be with Norma. They were hard, wearing days with the sun beating down on hot pavements from morning until evening and the nights offered a little respite. They were hard days for Norma and hard days for Chris.

The last week in August had been set for Norma to go to the hospital. The two girls were sitting before the open window trying to get a breath of cool air one evening early in the month. There was no light in the room because light attracted insects. Norma reached for Chris' hand and held it tightly.

"Chris," she said slowly, "there's something I want you to promise me!"

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (NEA).—After two years fighting what many considered an inevitable downward movement of wages, the Hoover administration apparently feels forced to retreat to a second line of defense and insist that American workers suffer no loss in real wages.

Wage cuts will still be deplored, but it is admitted that some are unavoidable, even though lower wages mean lower purchasing power.

That is the interpretation placed on such administration reaction as has been expressed since the recent wage reductions announced by United States Steel and other large corporations.

President Hoover is represented as "still unalterably opposed" to any lowering of the American standard of living and as believing that rents should go down if wages are to be cut. Secretary Doak says the slashes are deplorable, but apparently unavoidable. Chairman Cofford of the unemployment relief organization stands his previous assertion that "the present wage scale could be equivalent to a large increase if commodity prices and the cost of living should stay down."

This, in effect, is a reluctant acquiescence to the relief always held by a substantial group that wages would have to come down in this depression just as they have come down in every other depression. They may, it, thanks in a large part to Hoover's vigorous campaign against reductions, come down to an extent proportionate with the loss to labor in previous slumps. In the past a wage movement downward has often stopped short of the general decline in living costs, leaving wage earners and salaried workers relatively better off. And the veil of "real wages" may be something for the administration to point to with more or less pride if it is still power at the end of the present depression.

Rents are always last to drop. But the wage cut end, in past depressions, always came pronto. Wage reductions have been going on for the last year and a half, but there has been no sign of an actual rush in that direction up to the present time. The delay has been partly to Hoover's efforts and partly to the conviction of industrialists that, in this age of mass production, wage rates should be kept up in order to maintain the highest possible purchasing power.

Whether the downward wage movement will be accelerated through the fall and winter is a speculative question. If it is, the extent of any net gain achieved by postponement of the process will have to be computed by economists of the future.

The situation at this point can only partly be expressed by the available figures because there is not a satisfactory method of guessing at the extent of wage cutting to date or the number of workers affected.

Real wages in industry and agriculture had increased about 15 per cent between 1919 and 1929 as a result of higher wage scales and lower living costs. Living standards were raised correspondingly. The government now says living costs have gone down 12.3 per cent during the depression (food 20 per cent, clothing 9 per cent and rents 6.5 per cent). Wage cutters argue that 10 per cent wage reductions consequently do not decrease living standards.

But both labor as a whole and the national purchasing power have been hard hit since the beginning of the depression, quite aside from wage reductions which represent only one of three very bad blows.

Industrial payrolls have declined 30 per cent. The pay of the steel corporation, for instance, is made clear in protest to Gifford by the National Women's Trade Union league. Before its recent wage cut of 10 per cent the corporation had, between June, 1930, and June, 1931, reduced its number of employees by 19.4 per cent and its payroll, thanks both to unemployment and part-time work, by 37.8 per cent.

ABOUT NEW-YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES

NEW YORK—Add new rackets: A fellow appears to be completely "out," sleeping on the sidewalk or doorstep. Usually one of the passersby stops to lift his head and inquire why he doesn't move along.

The chiseler mumbles something, usually with an alcoholic accent, about "wishing he could go home," but he lives in the suburbs and somebody has taken his last cent away from him. Usually the Samaritan, having gone so far, goes further and shells out the required change.

The sleeper then totters around a block or so, and sinks in another spot to repeat.

I got the information on this racket from an English avenue cop last night, when I called his attention to a man who appeared to be in the throes of illness in a sidestreet doorway.

"Is that guy pulling that again?" snarled the cop. "I'll break his neck."

The Space Eater!

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

The Phoenicians invented money because they got tired of bartering and carrying around their produce. Today there is an even better method used by many people—trading on credit and failing to pay in goods, tokens (money), or services.

If the nation's unpaid accounts, those delinquent for a lengthy period, could be totaled, the result would be staggering. Bad debts are wholly absorbed by the merchant. The retailer is compelled to raise the profit per unit on his merchandise to make up for loss on other units.

Prompt payment of debts, or arranging for satisfactory credit, will reduce commodity prices. If behooves buyers both to pay as promptly as possible and to be patient with merchants who are cautious in taking on new credit prices. It is known that depression in dealers' earnings and dealers' prices. It is known that depression in dealers' earnings and dealers' prices. It is known that depression in dealers' earnings and dealers' prices.

Ma Ferguson Again
The shadow of Ma Ferguson continues to fall across the Texas political stage. Ferguson never knew when the state has had enough of them. Ma could never defeat Small or Sterling for the people have not changed their minds about Fergusonism, but Ma is given a chance to beat Small out of the final heat. Clint is stronger than ever in the ranks of the lawmakers, and could defeat Sterling or Ma either if he could get into the final primary.

Government is inseparably associated with taxation. Broadening of governmental activities has multiplied taxes. You are taxed by the federal government, the state, the county, the school district, the city, the club, the church, the welfare organization, the Boy Scouts, the Salvation Army, the railroads, and an infinitum.

More and More
The government is in the printing business, the grain business, the cotton business, the corn business (whiskey), the contracting business, the land business, and the banking business. Everywhere you look you either find the government in business or people begging it to run their affairs. Everywhere you see the government, you see taxes. Everywhere you see the government you see government employees—men and women whose salaries you are paying. Pretty soon one out of every three persons you see will be supported by you—the government—and you will be in favor of giving the government everything and taking an easy seat on the bandwagon too.

Governmental meddling has produced a state of uncertainty in American business which has done more harm than good. No man is sure that a governmental-sponsored agency will not enter his field in competition, although he is a taxpayer. The post office is the best thing the government does, and it operates at a huge loss.

We are unable to account for the complete silence of the college accountants in recent months. If we had time we would journey back to class for awhile to get the low down on the situation. We never knew a professor who could not explain the whole thing in a nutshell.

Miss Shirley Green is spending the week-end with her parents in Memphis.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK THE YEAR'S LEGISLATIVE TRENDS

From the Wichita TIMES:

A summary of economic and social measures enacted by the various state legislatures this year appears in the current issue of "The Business Week." It reveals that legislators generally took little thought of the depression, so far as taxes were concerned. There was a general tendency to impose new taxes and increase taxes already levied. Farm marketing, unemployment and old age pension measures received much attention, but not as a rule, in ways that will meet existing conditions.

Legislatures met this year in 44 of the 48 states. In 14 states, income tax legislation was passed. In 13, inheritance tax measures; in six new real estate taxes; in seven, new intangible tax laws; in 12, new franchise tax laws; in 20, gasoline tax rates were increased; in four, chain stores were the targets of special measures; in 17, new sales tax legislation was enacted.

In 26 of the states, new laws were passed regulating public utilities; in 30, new regulatory measures for busses and trucks were enacted. Laws designed to improve banking methods were passed in 30 states.

Twelve states have new laws dealing in some ways with the unemployment problem. Nine were added to the list of the states providing old age pensions. In 15 states there were new laws designed to help marketing of agricultural products.

Viewed as a whole, new legislation reveals some trends that significant. Stricter regulation of utilities and of banks seems to be the rule. The tendency toward special taxes is becoming more pronounced. In one state, Florida, the gasoline tax is now seven cents a gallon, and this was a compromise; some legislators wanted to make it eight cents.

In the realm of social legislation, most of the legislative activities was in connection with marketing of farm products, a problem that has been brought painfully to public notice. Whether anything really worthwhile has been accomplished in that direction remains to be seen. Unemployment is a problem whose real solution, we believe, lies outside of legislation.

Generally speaking, legislation by the states this year reflects economic conditions. The new taxes that are imposed were deemed necessary, in most instances, by the fact that the depression has reduced revenues from established sources.

Too little was done toward reducing expenses of government. That is a matter that ought to be receiving earnest attention in times like these. Legislators are too prone to seek new sources of income, too little inclined to cut expenses to fit normal income.

THE SERVILITY OF A PEOPLE

From the Houston PRESS:

Fortunately Harris county does not need to cringe before the state highway commissioners. They can keep every cent of the $3,000,000 or more we send to Austin each year in gasoline taxes and registration receipts, and may try to penalize us any way they wish, and still we do not bow or beg.

But the Lord help you if you live in a county that must petition for state help in building roads.

Wasn't that a pitiful spectacle presented the other day by Limestone county citizens? In an effort to placate the highway-commissioners they offered to send to the legislature a new representative next year. It seems Representative J. T. Cox of Groesbeck introduced a bill at the last session to make state highway commissioners elective. The Limestone county delegation thought that they had hurt the feelings of the commissioners. "Give us a better road from Groesbeck to Kosse and we will give you a new legislator," was their plea and promise.

To what low state have we fallen in Texas if a legislator cannot stand for what he thinks is right? Let us hope the delegation which visited Austin spoke only for themselves and not for the people of Limestone county.

Many Uses Of Petroleum

MEDICINE WAS PRIMITIVE USE

BY - PRODUCTS 'IMPORTANT IN OIL REFINING BUSINESS

Probably no other raw material enters so many fields of use as petroleum. Gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil, and lubricating oil constitute the principal products of petroleum and are widely and variously used for light, heat, power, and lubrication. But there are many other products.

Petroleum As a Medicine
Petroleum and natural gas were employed in a primitive way as sources of light and heat centuries ago. The use of crude oil in the treatment of wounds and cutaneous affections—probably of equal antiquity—has been even more general. Historians relate that petroleum, as a remedial agent, was carried to distant countries and was an important article of commerce.

However, not until the development of the modern oil industry was petroleum employed as a medicine for internal use. A specially purified, tasteless paraffin oil distillate is now commonly put up for internal use. Petroleum also enters the medicinal field in the form of solvents, creams, ointments, and as petroleum jelly.

Moreover, a series of alcohols—obtained by chemical treatment of certain of the products of refining, in which the nature of these products is drastically changed—enters the hospital and the home; and is utilized as solvents in the making of lacquers, soaps, and essential oils.

Naphthas Yield Other Products
From the same naphthas that yield gasoline a variety of products is derived, such as commercial solvents, blending naphthas, varnish makers' and painters' naphtha, and dyes' and cleaners' naphtha.

Has Countless Uses
Wax derived from petroleum has almost countless uses. It is employed in the packing of fruits and eggs, and in the making of candles. Wax also enters the laundry as a detergent and as an iron wax. It is widely used for sealing purposes, as in the preserving of fruits and vegetables; and is employed by etchers. Saturating wax is applied to cardboard, matches, and paper.

Petroleum For Asphalt Roads
The use of asphalt in the building of roads is familiar to everyone, but it is probably not realized that of all the asphalt produced and consumed in the United States, by far the largest amount is refined directly from petroleum. The millions of yards of asphalt pavements annually laid in the United States are about equivalent to 13,600 miles of paving 18 feet in width.

During recent years the use of asphaltic road oils, and cut-back asphalt—produced by combining such distillates as gasoline or kerosene—has rapidly increased in the treatment and construction of low-cost secondary roads. There are some two million miles of rural roads of this type, and their improvement will mean a new era for the farmer.

Remote country and farming districts, will thus be given a fair proportion of the advantages of localities now favored with high-class asphalt. Motor vehicle operation in the country districts will be increased, and engineers state that the improved country roads will serve as admirable foundations for more expensive types of pavements later on.

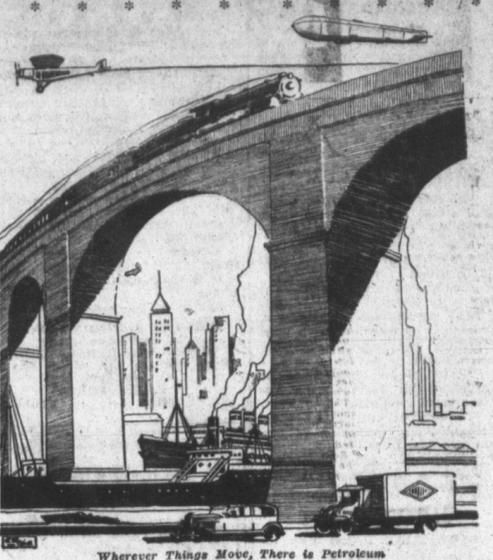

At the modern airports, which are being constructed in all parts of the country, asphaltic landing strips, parking spaces, runways, and taxi-ways.

Uses of Asphaltic Products
Asphaltic products in great quantity are used in the manufacture of roofing and for waterproofing purposes; in the manufacture of a great variety of products, such as wall board, floorings, floor covering, moisture-proof wrapping paper, paints, varnishes, enamels, japans, anti-acid and coatings, pipe-dips, sealing compounds, insulating products, emulsions, molding compositions; and in the compounding of rubber products.

Men's Bible Class Has Steady Growth
The Men's Bible class, which meets in the La Nora theater each Sunday morning at 10:15, has been steadily growing both in attendance and interest.

Rev. C. E. Lancaster, teacher, has announced as his subject for this morning, "Thou Shalt Not Steal." The following officers who were elected last Sunday, will be installed the first Sunday in November: Pete Post, president; Tom Rose, vice-president; Fred Thompson, secretary; Bob Ruse, song leader; Inez Barrett, pianist; R. Earle O'Keefe and Lewis Davis, secretaries; Bob Brashears, publicity; Rev. Lancaster, teacher.

Fred Thompson is present president of the class.
Mrs. John Haggard took several girls to the Friday night football game in Canyon.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Blythe were in Canyon for Friday's football game.

GUILTY LIPS

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "MAD MARRIAGE" EDITED BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pretty Norma Kent, 20-year-old secretary, married Mark Travers, millionaire's son, in spite of the opposition of Mark's father, F. M. Travers.
The story opens in Marlboro, middle-western metropolis. After an extravagant honeymoon at fashionable Blue Springs during which Mark spends all his money and borrows $500 the couple return to Marlboro. Mark loses his first job. Then he becomes a floor-walker in a department store. In spite of poverty he and Norma are happy until his father sends for him. Travers offers to take Mark back into his business organization if the son will prove he can make good. His first task involves a business trip to France. Norma must remain at home. She tries to persuade Mark not to go but is unable to do so.

Norma, rudely treated at her father-in-law's home, slips away, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. Chris Saunders, her former roommate, helps her find a job.
Mark's father, determined to engineer a divorce, employs detectives to trail the girl. They produce records to show that Norma three years earlier had been convicted on a vice charge. In spite of evidence that this charge was framed and Norma innocent, Travers sends his lawyer to Paris. Norma knows nothing of all this until she receives a letter telling her Mark has secured a divorce. Next day in the office Norma faints and Chris takes her home. Though ill, Norma goes to Travers' home to help me. Bob, Mark's parents. She learns they are in Florida. Norma moves to Chris' apartment. One night Chris meets Bob Farrell, former suitor of Norma's, and says, "Something has to be done and you must help me!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII
Farrell looked at the girl. "What do you want me to do?" he said.
"I've been thinking about you, Bob. Something's got to be done—and done right away. If Norma doesn't begin to take an interest in something—begin to care a little bit about what's going on around her—the doctor says it will affect her health. I've tried and tried and it's no use! She doesn't want to go anywhere. If we stay at home she'll sit and sometimes not say more than a dozen words all evening."
"But I don't see that there's anything I can do."
"Yes, you can, Bob. Norma's always liked you. She likes to hear about the things you do and what's going on in your office. If you'd drop around once in a while the way you used to I'm sure it would help. Just say you happened to be in the neighborhood and thought you'd stop in or something of the sort."
Farrell flushed slightly. "I'd do anything I could to help you, Chris," he said, "but I don't think Norma wants to see me."
"Won't you come out once—just once—and see if it doesn't work the way I think it will?"
"Why, of course, if you want me to."
"How about tomorrow night?"
"That'll be all right with me. By the way, what about these doctor bills? Is she going to need money?"
"Not now, Dr. Willoughby's keeping his charges down. I think he's sorry for Norma. Saw her that first day, you know, when she fainted in the office. But she'll have to borrow after while. Won't take a cent, of course, but I've persuaded her, it's all right to accept it and pay it back later."
"Let me take care of that. How much is it going to cost?"
"About $250, I guess, with the hospital and everything. I couldn't let you pay all of it, Bob, but I'll admit I've been wondering how I can get it."
"I'll write a check right tenger. I don't worry about it any more. Farrell pulled out a fountain pen and reached for his check book."
"Not now," Chris told him. "We don't need the money now and I wouldn't want the responsibility of keeping it. I'll let you know when the bills begin to come. It's fine of you to want to do this, Bob."
"Why shouldn't I? It's well, it's just a little thing. By the way, you won't mention the fact to Norma, will you? Please don't!"
Chris nodded. "I'll tell her the money is a loan," she said, "and she'll think it's all from me. When she begins to pay it back I'll turn the cash over to you."
"You're going to see that she has everything?"
"Everything she needs. Dr. Willoughby says she's getting along splendidly if it only weren't for these moods of depression."
There was a pause and then Farrell asked, "Has she heard anything at all from Travers?"
"You mean Mark? Not a word. Wouldn't you think he'd be ashamed of himself? And nothing from his family either. Of course that was to be expected. Oh, Bob, to think I stood by and let her marry that good-for-nothing! It makes me wild when I think of that. I might have known it would end this way!"
"There was no way for you to know that," Farrell said thoughtfully. "Or for anyone else to know it, either. Well, if you say so I'll stop in tomorrow night. For a few minutes anyway." He noticed the waitress coming toward them and added, "What are you going to have for dessert?"
They gave their attention to the menu. By the time their orders were set before them three other diners had taken the nearest table. There was no longer opportunity to talk privately. A little later they left the restaurant and boarded a street car. Bob left Chris at the door of the apartment building.

There was a crack of light showing beneath the door as Chris climbed the dark stairs. She slipped her key into the lock, called out "No-one!" and entered.
"You who!"
"No one was in the room. Chris glanced about, hurried to the alcove where the two studio beds stood. Norma lay there sound asleep, one arm out over the covers and the other pillowed beneath her head. Her hair was tossed back from her face. A silken strap had slipped out of place, revealing a smoothly rounded, ivory shoulder. A faint tinge of color glowed in her cheeks and the dark lashes, shadowed, seemed longer than they were.

Chris stood, quietly looking down at the other girl. Norma's breathing was deep and regular. Cautiously Chris crept to her knees. Yes, just as she had expected. The pillow beneath Norma's cheek was damp from tear drops. One more night when the girl cried herself to sleep. Softly Chris tiptoed away and arranged the screen so that light from the lamp could not awaken Norma.

There was no indication that Bob Farrell's next evening was anything but a regular casual visit he made it out to be. The two girls were washing dishes when the bell rang. Norma went to answer it and admitted Bob. She apologized, explained dinner had been late. Bob called for a tea towel and volunteered to help but his offer was refused.

In five minutes the last of the dishes were out of sight. Norma remembered one of the windows had taken on an unmanageable stubbornness and could not be raised. Would Bob fix it? Of course he would. He did.
"You know," Farrell said as he dropped into the arm chair, "a fellow came into the office today with one of the craziest cases I've ever heard of. It's a fellow who lives in Laurel Park. Do you know what he's up against?"
"I wouldn't even try to guess," said Chris. "What's his difficulty?"
"Well, Laurel Park has its own city government, you know. They've paved a new street and this man—Perkins his name is—owns a house on the block. But when he bought his property the owner retained a strip a foot wide between the house and street. When they came around with the paving proposition Perkins refused to pay for the strip in front of his home, saying he didn't own the frontage. Nobody could persuade him to buy that foot of land. Well, the paving's in now and the Laurel Park council has ruled that if Perkins steps over that foot of ground, jumps over it or crosses it in any way he will be subject to arrest. The man came to us to see what he could do about it."
"Why, how perfectly silly!"
"Maybe, but he's had to come and go by the back door and ally drive for a week now and he's pretty sick of it. Everybody else (See STORY, Page 5)

SAM

BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: The dramatic return of Nelson Alderson, after his successful venture in the world of all work, introduces his daughter, Fourth Alderson. Fourth, a beautiful girl, is in love with Sam, a young man who is in love with her. Sam is in love with her because of her beautiful appearance. She is in love with him because of her beautiful appearance. She is in love with him because of her beautiful appearance.

Chapter 17
SUICIDE?

FOURTH choked. "I can't stand the thought of it, or the disgrace of it. My God, Joan, what am I going to do?"

She shrugged. "You might try making the best of it."

"Did you talk to them?"

"I've talked to them," Sam shrugged again. "Nelson couldn't find a job."

"They spent all my money," Fourth said grimly. "and now I suppose they expect me to support them until I find Nelson another job. That's a good joke!"

"Is it?" asked Sam.

"You know it is," he retorted savagely. "They'll never get another cent out of me or spend another night under my roof. Where have they gone now—to my job-seeking relative? I wish him joy!"

"Martha's father hasn't room for them."

"Really? Then where are they? Walking the streets?"

"No," said Sam calmly, glancing at him. "They haven't gone anywhere. They're upstairs just now. I put them in Nelson's old room."

"Upstairs?" Fourth took a step toward her. "What are they doing there?"

"I suppose they're unpacking."

Fourth laughed with sharp savagery. "Are they suffering from the wild illusion that they are going to live in this house?"

"Where else can they live?"

"I don't know," Fourth had suddenly become calm. "I'm positive, however, that they aren't going to spend a night under this roof. I'm about to go up and tell them that interesting bit of news."

"No!" Sam got to her feet and came to her stepfather's side. "No, Fourth. You can't."

"I can," Fourth's contradiction was almost stilted.

He turned and was almost at the foot of the stairs before Sam spoke. Then she said quietly: "Haven't you forgotten something?"

He paused to stare. "What?"

Sam drew a sharp little breath. "I hate to say it, Fourth, but haven't you forgotten that this house isn't yours?"

His face went white. He came back to her. "Just what do you mean by that, Joan?"

"I mean that this house belongs to me, and that I say that Nelson and Martha shall stay here. I mean that I won't have them turned out—by anybody."

"Oh," Fourth ran his fingers through his white hair. "You know what the real issue is, don't you?" he inquired heavily at last. "It's just a question of whether you'll have Nelson or me."

"I don't see that. I don't see why we shouldn't all be able to live here."

He shook his head. "No, Joan, you'll have to choose."

Sam said: "I can't turn them out to the street, Fourth."

"So?" Fourth leaned back and smiled. "So that's my answer! It is interesting to know just what my stepdaughter thinks of me."

Fourth walked over to the big cupboard in the corner. He pulled out a large kit bag. Then he began to toss his belongings into it, helter-skelter.

Sam said: "I wish you wouldn't be foolish."

Fourth did not answer. He put on his hat and coat, at last, and stood regarding the kit bag with a stony stare. Then he shook his head. "What did I park that thing for?" he inquired audibly. "From all reports, I won't need my clothes. Not where I'm going."

"Nonsense!"

"Nonsense is it?" Fourth drew himself up with dignity. Then he picked up his mouth organ and walked across the room to the open door he turned for a first look. "Good by, Joan," he said in a low voice. "I hope you'll be able to get along."

ODEN ASSERTS MORE VALUES IN RADIOS NOW

"There's more radio now for your money than ever before," says M. D. Oden, owner of the Oden Music Shoppe. "The new radios, the new developments of the 1932 models, well they're certainly superior to anything produced heretofore."

The new RCA Victor has recently brought forth another achievement—the "ing playing record or program transcription. For vi-trolas or radios with combination vi-trola, the new record is far in advance of any other. It plays about three times as long as the old style record. The revolution of the disc that carries the record has been decreased.

The Oden Music Shoppe is now showing a complete line of the new RCA Victor radios and combinations.
