SHANGHAI — (AP) — Heavy U. S. Naval vessels moved out of Shanghai today as two Communist spearheads rolled toward the Shanghai-Hangchow area. The Communist radio in Peiping boasted two Nationalist armies, the 20th and 99th, had been wiped out. Two towns, Ning, 85 miles west of here, and Chingtai, 60 miles southwest of Nanking, were captured, the radio said.

The Communist broadcast said the Nanking-Hangchow highway had been cut.

The American ships went down the Yangtze estuary from here to avoid involvement in the civil war.

The British followed the American lead and withdrew warships of their Shanghai force. Movement of the ships into the Yangtze estuary will put them out of artillery range when the Reds arrive in the world's fourth largest city.

When the Communists would come no one knew. But Shanghai appeared ready to receive them without resistance. Most of the city's 5,000,000 inhabitants expect the Reds to walk in and take over as they did the Nationalist capital at Nanking.

No one seemed to know how far away the Communists were. Neither did anyone appear to know the whereabouts of the Nationalist forces that had retreated south from Nanking and the others that were to defend Shanghai.

Communist soldiers in Nanking boldly burst into the home of American Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, 72. He was unharmed as was his staff. A strong State Department protest to the Communists over the incident was forthcoming. The invasion was the first involving a foreign official since Red shore guns damaged four British warships on the Yangtze between Shanghai and Nanking during the past 48 hours. Military men do not think the Communists have enough troops across the Yangtze yet to start rolling in strength toward the big targets of Shanghai and Hangchow. But they may at any time, and when they do they probably will come fast.

Reports that the Reds were getting close were none too reliable.

It was still anybody's guess whether the Communists would strike first to seal off the Nationalist escape route by taking Hangchow, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, the past 48 hours. Military men do not think the Communists have enough troops across the Yangtze yet to start rolling in strength toward the big targets of Shanghai and Hangchow. But they may at any time, and when they do they probably will come fast.

Reports that the Reds were getting close were none too reliable.

REDS SET SHANGHAI TRAP—Red armies (open arrow) aimed for the sea at Hangchow, hoping to trap 300,000 Nationalist troops below Shanghai and thereby dissolve the Nanking-Shanghai-Hangchow defense triangle (broken lines). Shanghai seemingly had been bypassed. Even military spokesmen could not say just where the Communist armies were. Black portion of map represents areas of Communist control and the black arrows indicate the direction of Red attacks across the Yangtze River. (AP Wire-photo Map)

Connally Would Ram Protest 'Down Throats' of China Reds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today a State Department protest should be "rammed down the throats" of the Chinese Communists who invaded the American ambassador's home in Nanking.

"It's a serious affront," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a reporter. "They've got to learn to respect United States rights and property."

The State Department ordered the U. S. Embassy to lodge a vigorous protest with Communist leaders yesterday, soon after it was reported that Communist troops had forced their way into the building and routed Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart out of bed.

But there was some question whether the Communists would take such a protest seriously.

"I think the State Department should make representations and ram them down their throats," Connally said angrily.

News dispatches and a report from the embassy said the troops, after pushing into the building, inspected the second floor and questioned members of the staff.

While they did not harm anyone or molest the property, they reportedly told a servant that Stuart was not to leave the compound. That raised some fears here that the Communists might intend to keep the 72-year-old ambassador a prisoner.

"I think we've got to take a firm stand on this," Connally said.

Although Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) took much the same position, other senators viewed the incident with less concern.

Some — like Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) — felt Stuart should have followed the Nationalist government to Canton to avoid putting himself and his staff in a ticklish situation.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) another of those who felt Stuart should have left Nanking, commented: "I wouldn't go to war over this thing. It was 'regrettable,' he said, but perhaps to be expected in a combat zone.

Small Girls Are Injured

Two grade-school girls were slightly bruised yesterday afternoon when they ran into the rear of a car when they were looking into another direction watching a car approaching from the south on Cuyler. Zell had been traveling east on Brown, had turned south on Cuyler, and traveled about 200 feet when the girls ran into him.

Injured were Mary Margaret Gray, 6, of 514 S. Ballard and Marcia McConnell, 8, of 314 S. Gray. Martha Nolan, 7, of 336 S. Ballard was not injured, according to police.

Chief of Police Louie Allen told The News he was hampered in taking one of the girls to a doctor's office for treatment because the morbidly curious, who were more interested in finding out what happened than in keeping the path clear for ambulances and cars, blocked his way.

Neither of the girls required hospitalization and were released after first aid treatment. No charges were filed against the driver.

William Martin Succumbs Here

William George Martin, 61, a carpenter, died at 8:30 a. m. today in a local hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lula Martin, and by a brother in California.

Funeral services to be conducted by the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home are pending.

Russia Offers West Deal for Ending Blockade of Berlin

Pampa News

VOL. 47—NO. 262 (10 PAGES) PAMPA, TEXAS, TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1949

Airmen End Endurance Flight Today

FULLERTON, Calif. — (AP) — Two tired fliers came out of the sky today after remaining aloft so long they've probably forgotten how to walk.

Bill Barris and Dick Riedel planned to land their Sunkist Lady at 11:44 a. m., PST (1:44 p. m. CST) just six weeks after the minute after taking off from here on their fourth quest for a world endurance flight record.

They fully expect to need walking lessons. Forced down after 568 hours in their third try, they required several days to acquire their "land legs." And this time they've been up nearly twice as long.

Practically the entire population of this community will be on hand to greet them. In the crowd will be Bob Woodhouse and Woodrow Jongward from Yuma, Ariz., grounded Sunday after 74 hours in their attempt to beat the Fullerton airmen's (See AIRMEN, Page 10)

West Finds Published Soviet Terms Acceptable—if True

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States said today "the way appears clear" for lifting the Berlin blockade provided the Russian terms actually are those published by the American position. It was understood the United States, Britain and France had discussed the published Soviet terms and found them acceptable.

The only reservation appears to be whether the Russians intended to propose any further conditions.

The formal State Department announcement came after a round of top-level government conferences. One of these was a report to President Truman from Dr. Philip Jessup, the American delegate to the United Nations Security Council. Jessup had discussed the Soviet proposal at Lake Success, N. Y., with Jacob A. Malik, the Russian U. N. delegate.

For himself, Jessup told reporters "things look hopeful." That presumably was an indication that he inclines to the view that the Soviet proposal is a sincere one and that there are no hidden conditions to be sprung later.

The terms are, first, that the Soviet blockade of Berlin and the Western counter-blockade of the Soviet Zone of Germany should be lifted simultaneously.

Second, that a date should be fixed ahead of time for a meeting of the big four council of foreign ministers (the Western powers plus Russia) to be held after the blockade is lifted.

These conditions were revealed in the Russian announcement in Moscow with each through the Soviet news agency Tass.

In its statement, the State Department declared:

"If the present position of the Soviet government is as stated in the Tass Agency release as published in the New York press this morning, the way appears clear for a lifting of the blockade and (See WEST, Page 10)

Meeting of Big Four Is Part of Deal

LONDON — (AP) — Russia offered the West today a deal for ending the blockade of Berlin. It called for lifting the blockade in advance of a big four meeting on Germany's future.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said the United States, Britain and France would be ready to resume talks with Russia on Germany after Russia lifts the blockade—but the West has no intention of "going back on their Washington agreements."

These agreements related to formation of a Western German government, which Russia vigorously opposes.

The new Russian proposal, announced by the official Soviet news agency Tass, would call off the blockade if the West set a date acceptable to Russia for a four-power meeting. Russia previously had demanded introduction of a single Soviet currency in the Western sectors of Berlin before ending the blockade, but that condition now has been dropped.

Western diplomats said the reason appeared to be that the West's blockading of East Germany and East Europe was hurting the Russians and their friends more than the Berlin blockade was hurting the West.

The East-West currency furl-up in Berlin was the ostensible cause (See MEETING, Page 10)

Local Man Invents New Plow Aid for Farmers

A new attachment for chisel type plows that eliminates the double work of plowing and weeding wheat land has been invented by John A. Hoover, part owner and manager of the Maurer Machinery Co., 721 W. Brown.

And, as soon as his factory is completed, Pampa will have the latest in a growing list of small factories and fabricating shops.

Although quite simple in operation, the Hoover Universal Rod Weeder represents a considerable advancement in the technique of dry-land farming. It not only halves the double work of weeding after plowing, but it also brings trash and stubble to the surface to form a valuable moisture-retaining mulch.

In essence, the weeder is a rod that rotates just under the surface of the ground behind the last row of teeth on a chisel plow. It requires no special attachment or extra machinery. It operates off one of the plow-wheels by a wheel that turns a pulley that turns a universal joint that turns the rod. It will fit any type of chisel plow, Hoover said.

The rod itself rotates in a direction opposite to that of the plow, and the top layer of earth flows back over the rod much the way running water will flow over a stick held just under the surface of a stream, Hoover said.

It is the rotating of the rod that kills the weeds and brings stubble, trash, clods, and weeds to the surface to form a mulch that helps retain valuable moisture in semi-arid wheat farming regions.

Hoover said he had been working on the idea for over a year, filed in the U. S. Patent Office last December, and he is now looking toward full production of his weeder.

Hoover has recently completed a 20 by 80-foot building in the rear of the machinery company that will be Pampa's newest factory. He said he expects to employ between 15 and 20 men to turn out full production of about 50 weeders a day in a few months.

Until he gets the machinery and equipment he needs, however, he is turning out only about 10 of the attachments a day now. The Miller Equipment Co. Inc., of Omaha has contracted to handle sales and promotion on a national scale. Hoover said, but he emphasized that the weeders would be manufactured in Pampa.

At a recent field demonstration in Colby, Kans., a crowd of nearly 1,000 people, including implement dealers in a four-state area, watched the weeder do all its work without a hitch, Hoover said.

Another field demonstration at Pampa will be held in the near future, Hoover said.

Hoover, who was reared just west of Hereford, attended Colorado A&M College, where he majored in animal husbandry. After graduation in 1940 he was cattle raiser in Pampa. (See LOCAL MAN, Page 10)

Park Plans Discussed

Sixteen persons attended the Chamber of Commerce Public Improvement Committee meeting yesterday to study needed improvements at Recreation Park. Ed Weiss, chairman, said this morning.

Various ways and means of improving the facilities at the park were discussed, but no definite plans were made. A subcommittee of the Public Improvement committee presented a report giving estimates on the costs of various types of buildings at the park.

The delegation agreed on the need of additional facilities because of the expanding activities of the Hereford Breeders Association, 4-H Club projects, Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show and Top of Texas Fair.

Another meeting will be called in the near future to perfect plans.

Attending last night's meeting were: Ralph Thomas, county agent; W. B. Weathered, committee member; H. B. Taylor, Top of Texas Fair president; Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Jr., Home Demonstration Club Council; Hueelyn Laycock, county superintendent of schools; Jake Hess, Hereford Breeders Association representative.

W. E. Moore, committee member; Irvin Cole, superintendent of the Top of Texas Fair; Vic Joyner, assistant county agent; Cliff Vincent, Hereford Breeders Association; Quentin Williams, member of the Board of Directors of the Top of Texas Fair; Floyd Watson, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, county home demonstrator; Oran Payne, committee member; and Mrs. Charles Wasminski, Home Demonstration Club Council.

Rope Burns 'n' Saddle Sores

By H. E. TAYLOR, JR.
Well, it took a long time but I finally got my picture in the paper. I don't know if I am going to like this or not. What if I make some body sore and they recognize me by the picture? Lots of people don't know me now and I might have got away with a lot of dope about them. Anyway, J. L. Swindle said he made, and so I did just that. I got my first fan mail last week, and I would like to say that it was really a pip. Whoever wrote it didn't sign his name; just signed it "An Admirer." I don't know who you are, but I just want you to know that I won't have my "reputation" ruined by your comparing me to Harry (The Curbstone Farmer) Kelley. The admirer's my column can't write reading, I know; he wrote the letter with a typewriter and his machine can't spell any better than mine. The letter was a thorn, but I enjoyed getting it anyway. I know I have one person that reads the column.

I started this column to try to let you readers get all the dope on the rodeos around over the country and I went over to Spearman last Saturday to gather a little information. Here I am over at Spearman and we have one of the biggest amateur rodeos of the year staged right here in Pampa. I believe Buck Hines furnished the stock for this show; Buck was also the major contestant, announcer, clown, and I expect he was the only paid admission. It seems that what a bunch of the local cowboys have been telling Buck about his roping horse all winter finally happened. Bronco Hines went out and saddled his horse, reached up for the horn to mount and grabbed a big piece of broken glass that was lying about ten feet from where he mounted his horse. How are you feeling by now, Buck? Buck and A. P. Counties are going to have to team up and make a few rodeos now. The entry fees for bronco riding at McLean next Friday is only $5. You have might do some good after all the practice you have put in. I spent two days over at Spearman and gathered up all the dope on their show. Don't let anybody tell you that Pat Warrman's string of rodeo astute is rough. The just couldn't stand on top of those bulls and horses. The Pampa Roping Club was pretty well represented over there. Bill Stockstill, Tooter Henry, Bob Andis and Yours Truly were all entered. We did not bring all the money back but we got a little of it. Results of the first day's show are: CALF ROPING: Bob Thompson, Stinnett 16.9; 2nd, Johnny Freeman, Higgins 21.3; 3rd, Pup Wells, Spearman, 21.5. RIBBON ROPING: 1st, Bob Clark, Gruver, 27; 2nd, C. M. Coffey, Miami, 28.3; 3rd, H. C. Taylor, Pampa, 28.5. BULL RIDING: 1st, Arthur Turpin, Dalhart; 2nd, Bob Sessions, Stinnett; 3rd, Split ground money between 13 riders that bucked off.

BAREBACK BRONCO RIDING: 1st, C. M. Coffey, 2nd and 3rd, to Jim Cloud, Canadian and Arthur Turpin. SADDLE BRONCS: 1st, Pete Durley, Logan, Okla.; 2nd, Geo. Durley, Logan, Okla.; 3rd, Monk Russell, Fort Worth. Results for Saturday afternoon show were: CALF ROPING: 1st, Van, Webb City, Okla. 15; 2nd, Glen Massey, Shamrock, 16.9. RIBBON ROPING: 1st, Austin McGowan, Spearman, 16.8; 2nd and 3rd, to Tommy Record, Dunas, and Bill Stockstill, Pampa, time 17.9. BULL RIDING: Johnny and 3rd, to 1st, Monk Russell, 2nd; and ground money split with 12 buck off. BAREBACK BRONCS: 1st, Dale Massey, 2nd and 3rd, to of Monk Russell, Jerry Sportsman and Jay Hendricks. SADDLE BRONCS: 1st, Geo. Durley, 2nd, Arthur Hoffman, Dalhart; 3rd, Monk Russell.

There were sure lots of cowboys that bit the dirt at this show. The stock for the Spearman show is the same stock that the Pampa Roping Club will use here on June 10-12. They will get ranker as the season goes along, so if you want to see a real rodeo don't forget those dates and tell all your friends about it. I hear that Red Whitley and Toots Mansfield had their roping match over at Crosbyton last Sunday and Toots came out on top. I believe that Toots beat Red by about 40 seconds. There is some talk of a match between Mansfield and Jack Lowe of Amarillo. The match will be held some time in May over at Amarillo. I finally got the lineup on the rodeo that will be held in the part of the country in the next month or two. We will have to go over to McLean Friday for the American Legion rodeo. The dates are April 29-30, and May 1. On May 7, Huggins will hold their 3rd annual rodeo at Huggins Texas. Stock for the show will be furnished by Claude Hayes of Weatherford, Okla. Also on these same dates there will be a rodeo in Johnson, Kans. There will be five main rodeo events with several specialty acts featuring The Steers and their snow white show horses. Stock for the show will be furnished by Pat Warrman. Prize money for this show will be all the entry fees plus half the gate receipts. That could be a pretty good purse for some of the local ropers to rope at. The Crosbyton Rodeo Assn. will hold their annual amateur rodeo in Crosbyton, Texas, on May 13-15. Goat Mayo, Petroha, Texas, will furnish the stock. The Sunday Roping Club will hold their annual rodeo on May 21-22. Pat Warrman will also furnish the stock for this show. I asked Pat why he was getting so many shows right along together this year and he said he was just trying to get his stock in top shape for the rodeo here in June. I have my notebook so full of dope that I almost passed out at the results of the steer roping out at Clovis Saturday and Sunday. # Pre-Condition Your Hair for New Permanent Wave

Getting ready for a spring permanent starts with reconditioning hair. To keep confined overnight the olive oil that is swabbed on hair, model bandages her head (left). Massage technique of ingging hair (center) flexes tight scalp. Cut-out paper was fitted over sketch of facial outlines (right) help to facilitate choice of spring hair-do.

Senz's tip on try-outs is to sketch an outline of your face, emphasizing its roundness, slenderness or what have you. Then search for likely ideas in newspapers and magazines. When your search is rewarded, cut out paper-doll fashion the hair-dos off the heads of the pictured models, as though you were unvinging these girls. Fit each paper "over" the sketch of your face until you see which is best suited to your contours. Generally speaking, says Mr. Senz, a round-faced girl will find that a coiffure that builds hair up on her head is the best choice for giving the illusion of more length. The girl with a too-slender face is apt to find that she looks better with a built-out hair-do. She can also wear bangs or curls at the temples. A girl with a triangular face — narrow chin and broad forehead — should not succumb to the rage for a close-cropped hair-do, says Senz. For her, he says, hair should be fluffed out at the chinline to balance the forehead width.

Ready for a spring permanent? You'll be happier with it and the new coiffure that's to follow if you'll give several styles a tryout before you go all out for one. Before getting a permanent, get your hair ready for it. Brittle ends left over from the last permanent can be cut. But if the hair above is dry, swab hair and scalp with warm olive oil before you go to bed. Two or three such treatments, followed by shampoos to remove the oil, will be more beneficial than one.

Hair stylist Eddie Senz, who suggests this treatment, says to bandage the head to keep oil on hair where it's needed and off pillows where it can do no good. This New York expert also says to "move" your scalp with massage during this reconditioning period. One way to flex a scalp according to Senz, is to yank your hair, grasping a big hunk of hair and going on to the next arter tugging that one is the technique suggested.

Now for the new hair style, Senz's tip on try-outs is to sketch an outline of your face, emphasizing its roundness, slenderness or what have you. Then search for likely ideas in newspapers and magazines. When your search is rewarded, cut out paper-doll fashion the hair-dos off the heads of the pictured models, as though you were unvinging these girls. Opening—Q

Suppose, for example, that South wins the opening lead of the queen of diamonds, then decides to pick up the outstanding trumps and lead a heart toward dummy. He will not make his contract because he will lose a heart, two clubs and a diamond.

At the queen of diamonds with the ace, he will lose immediately lead a small heart. If West plays low, the king should be played from dummy. When the king holds the trick, the eight of spades is led to declare's ace, and now the king and queen of spades are cashed, picking up the outstanding trumps.

Another heart is led at this point, which West will win with the ace, but no matter what he does now, he cannot prevent declarer from making the contract. If he leads the jack of diamonds, dummy's king will win the trick and declarer can discard a losing diamond from his own hand on dummy's queen of hearts. A small club is then led from dummy, East plays the queen, South covers with the king and West's ace wins. South must lose another club, but he makes the contract, losing only two clubs and one heart.

Old Confederacy Will Be Honored

AUSTIN — (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester wants Texans to pay tribute to the old Confederacy during Stars and Bars Week, April 28-May 2.

On April 18, 1865, General Joe Johnston surrendered the remnants of the Confederate Army to Gen. William T. Sherman near Durham, N. C.

"Although 84 years have passed," Jester said in a proclamation, "the memory of that fateful day has not dimmed, nor have our admiration and appreciation of the gallant spirit of the Confederacy diminished. It is fitting and natural that the people of the South still pay homage and tribute to their forebears who fought and died for principles they believed to be right."

Banquet Laid Around 1849 Gold Rush

McLEAN — (Special) — The California gold rush of a century ago provided the theme for McLean High School's annual Junior-Senior banquet this year.

The American Legion Hut was decorated with wagon wheels, boulders, sand, and picks and shovels, and a covered wagon set up in the rear of the hall was emblazoned with the pioneers' oath of "Californy or Bust."

The tables were crudely laid, with tin cans being used as sugar and cream containers, and the food was served from the rear of a chuck wagon.

The menu consisted of "Forty-Niner's Special: Buffalo and Sop; Prairie Berries; Gold Dust on the Sierras; Corn Pone and Gold Nuggets; Sage Brush and Cactus; and Rich Strike and Black Poison."

The 30 Seniors and 28 Juniors attended in formal dress, but the Sophomore boys and girls chosen as waiters and waitresses were dressed in old-time regalia.

Guests at the banquet Thursday night were members of the High School faculty and board members.

After the long and cold winter, Pampans should start thinking about spring car cleaning. Yes, the car can stand only so much before it will cease to function properly. At Lewis Motors, 211 N. It will save tire wear and possible accidents if you will get those wheels aligned properly. John Bean Visualizer service is featured at Lewis'. The employees use the electric eye method that is found only in the most precision instruments. The visualizer puts the results on a screen so the wheels may be perfectly aligned.

Further, one-stop service is provided there for all makes of cars. The paint job one gets at Lewis' is so well done that the car owner may bring his car out looking like new.

Letters to Mrs. I. Noital

Dear Mrs. Noital:
I have never seen a problem published in your column as serious as mine. I've asked the opinion of many of my friends, but yet I see no way out. My occupation is such that I must reach certain places in Pampa at certain times. And the trouble is that these places are scattered all over town. I am unable to drive, so I have no car. I've been trying to run all over town, but by the time I get to one of my stops I'm so out of breath that I can't transact business.
A Bookseller

Dear Miss Bookseller:
Your problem is indeed serious. I can readily understand how your book sales must be falling off if you have to run all over Pampa soliciting business.
There is only one possible way out for you that I can see. You should remember the number 94 and call it often. You see, 94 is the phone number of Peg's Cab Company. Cabs are often too slow to wait on in many towns and you could just as quickly run. However, Peg's cabs are speedy and are driven by alert, dependable and courteous drivers. Just remember 94 when you're in a hurry.
MRS. NOITAL

Dear Mrs. Noital:
My question may be different from anything you have ever had in your column. You see, I want to completely redecorate the interior of my home. I have looked everywhere I can think of outside of Pampa, trying to find "the" wallpaper for my house. I'm very particular and won't be satisfied with just any old wallpaper. I would like to have combination papers throughout my home in order to have the dreamhouse I've always wanted.
Mrs. Toby Springer

Dear Mrs. Springer:
Your problem is no different from countless other Pampans. The spring housecleaning urge has evidently hit you and you won't want to stop until you have the perfect home.
I would suggest you see E. C. Thompson at the Thompson Glass & Paint Company, 219 N. Ballard. The company has many 1949 Imperial, Charm and Florman patterns.
Also, Thompson has many books on interior designing and color harmony, including the Beau Arts book on Florman wallpapers. This book shows five combination papers that may be used throughout your home to create color harmony in design. You may borrow the books at any time and take them home and study them.

Dear Mrs. Noital:
I have got to have advice. I don't know who I can turn to if you are unable to help me. Therefore, please give my problem some serious thought before attempting to help me.
When we were married six years ago, we thought we had the happiest home in Pampa. It wasn't long, however, before I noticed Fred seemed to always have some excuse for not coming home for dinner. I have questioned him about it time and time again, but have always received a dirty look with the reply, "I was busy last night at the office." Tonight was different, though. Fred gave me the usual dirty look and replied, "Well, if you must know, I can't stand your pastry. That stuff you feed me and call it cake should be put in a pig's trough."
Mrs. Noital, can you think of anything that will save our home?
Mrs. Heart

Dear Mrs. Heart:
Heart, your husband certainly should have broken you during the first years of your marriage. Imagine, having to make up the excuse that he has to work late to keep away from faulty baking.
Your home may be nearly shattered, but you can still save it if you carefully follow my instructions. This very minute you should go down to 109 W. Francis and see Mr. or Mrs. Clay Coston. Clay has saved many a home here in Pampa by putting out fancy pastries that cannot be duplicated. He has a large selection to choose from so you should have no trouble in picking out something that will save your married life with Fred.

BEFORE SPRING ENDS
Pampans should remember summer will be the next season to roll around. Canvas awnings, made at the Pampa Tent & Awning Company, 221 E. Brown, certainly come in handy during the Panhandle summer days.

Paradise for Sewers Found At Exchange

Pampa Sewing Machine Exchange, 304 W. Foster, is becoming more and more a sewer's paradise.
Owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Callahan, the exchange features Domestic sewing machines, both sold and rented. Domestic machines carry a life-time guarantee and have a 96-year service record. The casing or finish of the Domestic cabinet models is really different from old-fashioned cabinet models. Another asset of the Domestic machines is that they are able to sew in a circle.
The exchange has been completely remodeled. A display window has just been completed at the right of the door. The floor has been covered with maroon linoleum and the walls and ceilings have a new paint job.
A complete line of threads—all sizes and colors—is the latest addition to the plant. Also, hemstitching is now done there.
Mrs. Callahan specializes in buttonhole making. Callahan does anything and just about everything in the way of repair jobs on sewing machines. He had five years experience in machine shops before he started to work for the former owner of the exchange last August.
Also sewers' necessities found at the exchange include scissors, pinker shears, buttonhole attachments, bobbins, needles, sewing machine oils and the new Domestic Magic Keyhole Buttonhole worker. With this woman's machine easily make both tailored and regular buttonholes.

Some of the accessories found there are Bruce floor and Johnson's finishes, paste wood filler, floor cleaner, paste wax, liquid and cream waxes.
A complete glass department is found at the company. Every type glass is handled and installed by the owners of the company—E. E. and D. B. Harrison and M. B. Warden.
A floor sander is kept on hand to be rented to Pampans by the hour or by the day, as the customers prefer. Another special service of the company is carrying custom-made venetian blinds, both for home and commercial use.
MultiTint colors are always fresh, because Harrison, Harrison and Warden create them accurately and quickly, right before your eyes. Selditz MultiTint comes to the company only in white, but at the shop all of the 36 additional colors are stocked to be mixed with the white to give the paint protective and preservative treatment while it beautifies.

'MaryAnns' Are Now Featured At Pampa Baking Company

PAMPA BAKING COMPANY, 348 W. Foster, is the home of many tasty products. This week the company will feature "MaryAnns," the shortcake of shortcakes.

Strawberry shortcake is no better than the cake it's made from. That is why housewives should be careful in choosing the right shortcake to put under the delicious strawberries and whipped cream.
"MaryAnns," that may be purchased at the Pampa Baking Company, 348 W. Foster, are tops for bottoms of strawberry shortcake, which is by far the most popular dessert this time of the year.

Roy Boyd, shop foreman, bakes the "MaryAnns" and is assisted by his wife, Lois.
Another taste treat found at the bakery company is the glazed doughnuts that are taken from the oven and quickly glazed at 5 p.m. daily. Boyd makes about 75 dozen of these tasty mouthfuls daily. Approximately two-thirds of the doughnuts are sold from local grocery stores while the remaining one-third is sold right from the bakery.
Many Pampans have developed a habit of stopping in at the bakery between 6 and 8:30 p.m. almost every day to pick up some doughnuts for the evening meal.
Store hours at the Pampa Baking Company are from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Saturdays. Still other taste delights produced at the bakery are pies. Between 50 and 60 fruit pies and about 30 cream pies are baked daily. Kinds of fruit pies made at the bakery are apple, apricot, cherry, pineapple, mince and raisin. Cream pies baked daily include coconut, lemon, chocolate, cherry, apple and cream.
The bakery services practically every grocery in town and several out-of-town groceries. Other towns profiting from Pampa's Golden Loaf bakers are White Deer, Skellytown, Panhandle and Berger. Trucks are sent to these towns daily.
Frank Rapetine, owner of the Pampa Baking Company, strives to please Pampans by always having seasonal products on hand.

Proper Rotations, Tillage Practice Stressed at Meeting

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — Reductions of up to 85 percent can be effected in losses from corn, soybean and cotton land by proper rotations and tillage practices, the head of the sedimentation section of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Washington, D. C., told the American Society of Civil Engineers here.

"Experimental data from plots and small watersheds indicate possible reductions of from 65 to 85 percent in the soil losses from these crops," depending on the nature of soils, slopes, and practices used," L. C. Gottschalk asserted in an address delivered before the hydraulics division of the 96-year-old society, oldest national engineering organization in the country.

Some 800 engineers and guests attended the nine technical division sessions.

Outlining methods used by the soil conservation service in accumulating data on rates of sediment production from drainage basins, Gottschalk told the engineers:

"The time has come when we need to emphasize not why surveys should be made but how and where they are to be carried out. There is a need for standardizing methods of making reservoir sedimentation surveys so that the results obtained by various federal and state agencies are comparable and useful to all."

"In general, the purpose of a reservoir sedimentation survey is to measure the accumulated volume of sediment in a reservoir during the period of storage record. This information is useful for: (1.) Determining the prevailing and probably future sedimentation damages to a particular reservoir; (2.) In combination with similar data from other reservoirs and suspended-load measurements, evaluating the effects of watershed and climatic factors on the rate of sedimentation; and (3.) preparing regional sediment production indices for developing design data.

"One of the objectives of reservoir sedimentation surveys from the standpoint of the soil conservation service is to evaluate the effects of climatic and watershed factors on the rate of sediment production from a watershed. Such data are needed for determining the nature and location of control measures, and for developing sediment-production indices useful in the design of reservoirs and other water utilization projects.

"Therefore, no detailed sedimentation survey is made without at least a reconnaissance study, and preferably a detailed study of the climatic and watershed conditions which affect the rate of sedimentation in a particular reservoir. For any given climatic and soil condition, the following factors affect the rate of sediment production: Size of drainage area, land use, slopes, and channel density.

Size of drainage area and land use are the predominant factors, and these are carefully determined whenever possible from aerial photographs and field inspection. Studies are now in progress to evaluate climatic and watershed factors separately for the development of design data and for determining the amount of reduction in reservoir sedimentation that can be brought about by watershed and channel-control measures. For example, in humid areas most of the sediment deposited in reservoirs is derived from sheet erosion on cropland, particularly from intertilled crops such as corn, soybeans, cotton, etc.

Experimental data from plots and small watersheds indicate that proper rotations and tillage practices can effect a reduction of from 65 to 85 percent of the soil losses from these crops, depending on the nature of soils, slopes, and practices used. In more arid areas, sediment is derived mainly from channel erosion, which requires channel structures for adequate sediment control."

Texas Spring Truck Crops Progressing

AUSTIN — (AP) — Practically all Texas spring truck crops were making good progress the first half of April, the United States Department of Agriculture reported.

The favorable prospects applied to snap beans, cantaloupes, cucumbers, green corn, onions, potatoes, tomatoes and watermelons.

Snap bean harvest had started in the Lower Valley. Crops in other early areas were expected to come into production before month's end.

Early planted cantaloups were making good vine growth. Some were in bloom. Cucumbers in the Riviera section were ready for movement to market. Other early sections were beginning harvest. Good yields were in prospect.

Volume production of green and sweet corn was expected to come into production by the first of May. Yoakum crop conditions were also favorable.

Peak onion production was underway in the Raymondville and Laredo districts. Volume production from the coastal bend was close at hand.

Good yields of early spring potatoes were coming from all sections of the Lower Valley. Conditions were favorable in all areas for the late crop.

Cool spells delayed tomato progress. Volume production is expected in the valley, however, by the first of May. Yoakum crop conditions were also favorable.

New Transplanting Method Speeds Up Plant Growth

Latest transplanting methods approved by experiment stations.

When an amateur sets out a plant in his garden, he should not be in a hurry. A little more time, a little more care, will be more than repaid in the pride he may take in the quick recovery of his plants from transplanting shock, and the fact that his losses will be few, if any.

In the diagram above, the best methods of procedure as recommended by research scientists are illustrated. Transplanting is horticultural surgery, and so every step in this technique has been carefully tested. To prepare for transplanting the plants should be fed with liquid plant food a week before the operation. The day before, a starter solution should be prepared, by hanging a cloth bag containing chemical plant food in a bucket of water and letting it soak overnight. Use 2 ounces of a 4-11-4 mixture or similar to each gallon of water.

Make a hole for the plant large and deep enough to hold its roots without crowding. Mix with soil at the bottom a teaspoonful of plant food, and cover this with soil. Set the plant in place, then pour into the hole, over the plant roots, 1/4 pint of starter solution. While the solution is in the hole, draw in the loose soil and firm it around the plant. The solution not only supplies nutrients but puddles the soil about the roots, making very close contact between soil and root and making it easy for the plant to take up water.

Roots in plants should not be pruned. In removing plants from pots, flats or seed beds, care should be taken to avoid breaking the root system. Replacement of lost roots must take place before the plant can grow very much.

Tops of plants should not be pruned, as shown by research results. Pruning removes part of the "factory" which has to make the new plant material (carbohydrate) upon which growth depends. Pruning is likely to take off more foliage than necessary. Dead or partly dead tissue does no harm, though wholly dead leaves may be picked off.

Shading is good practice when plants are succulent, when soil and air are dry and when sun is hot. But good plants can usually be set successfully without shade, especially if water or starter solution is used or if good contact between soil and root is established otherwise.

Housewives Would Rather Buy Meat From Showcase Than Haggle Butcher

TOPEKA, Kansas — The average housewife would rather buy fresh meat from a refrigerated self-service showcase than haggle with the butcher, Sleeter Bull, writing for Capper's Farmer, tells why this new method of retailing meat is catching on.

"Interest in the self-service method by both retailers and packers is increasing," says the story in the farm magazine. "A large packing company sent a questionnaire to its sales organization and got the names of 178 meat retailers operating on a 100 percent self-service basis. Some were missed and the list does not include stores, probably much greater in number, which sell meat both ways."

"Here's the way a large grocery company in Illinois set up a self-service meat department, the story continues. "The meat case is 30 to 50 feet long, has an open top with a tilting mirror above. Meat is wrapped in cellophane and displayed on coils in the case. A fair-conditioned cutting room, just beyond the case, has a raised floor so customers can see meat processing. A butcher and a helper cut the meat with a power saw and two uniformed girls wrap and seal in cellophane, weigh and label the meat. The girls also keep the meat case supplied."

"Women get higher prices for their meat. Some were higher. The packing company believes that 100 percent self-service of meats will continue to grow. The amount of freezer storage space in the modern household refrigerator is increasing, so is the sale of small home freezers. This should boost the amount of frozen meats marketed in self-service food stores."

stew meat when their neighbors were asking for a porterhouse steak.

"Most store owners also like the idea," the article points out. "It was found that self-service usually increases sales. Most increases were from 20 to 40 percent and were largest in offal cuts, cold cuts, smoked meats, poultry and especially cheaper cuts."

"Of the 50 retailers who reported to the packing company on costs, 32 stated that merchandising costs were lower, nine said they were higher. The packing company believes that 100 percent self-service of meats will continue to grow. The amount of freezer storage space in the modern household refrigerator is increasing, so is the sale of small home freezers. This should boost the amount of frozen meats marketed in self-service food stores."

Foot, Mouth Disease Is Studied More

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Mexico and the United States may know soon whether vaccination can eliminate foot and mouth disease completely.

Previous outbreaks in the U. S. have been eliminated only by the slaughter of all exposed cattle. The joint Mexico-U. S. commission fighting aftosa thinks that vaccination alone has halted the malady. It hopes to be sure by midsummer.

Uncle Sam has spent about $2 million dollars here since the disease appeared around Veracruz in December, 1946. The U. S. expenses now are running about two million dollars a month.

Mexico has put in about 15 percent as much cash but contributes the work of her Army, much equipment, and pays other expenses sufficient to make her roughly an equal partner.

Up to Nov. 26, 1947, when vaccination took the place of slaughter, 451,697 cattle were killed and paid for by the U. S. — about 25 million dollars.

The slaughter policy was abandoned because the loss of cattle was too great a shock to Mexico's farm economy. More than half the animals in the infected areas have been vaccinated under the new policy. By the middle of June, 95 percent will have had their first dose of vaccine.

Then the intensive second inspection and vaccination will begin. If there is no more disease than there was before, the scientific staff of the commission contends this will show vaccination is effective. What they are trying to do is vaccinate all animals exposed to the disease. With nowhere to live, they hope the aftosa virus will die out.

145 Wells Brought In During Week

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas had 145 more flowing oil wells today than a week ago.

The Railroad Commission reported 165 new completions for the week. Production ceased in 21 old wells, placing total producers at 112,613.

The new completions for the year to date total 2,634, leading last year's figure by 544.

There were six gas well completions to boost the year's total in that category to 219, leading last year by 46.

Sixteen of the week's oil well completions and two of the gas wells were wildcats.

Daily crude oil production allowable as of April 23 was 2,040,073 barrels, up to 3,502 barrels over a week ago.

New Drug for Undulant Fever

A promising new drug has been discovered for fighting undulant fever (brucellosis), long a tragic disease for people in rural areas.

Called aureomycin, the drug has been likened to penicillin and streptomycin because it is obtained from common mold.

In a 3000-word article titled "Undulant Fever... A Menace to Farm Families," appearing in Country Gentleman, Alfred H. Sinks states:

"Brucellosis today is primarily a farm problem; at least four out of five victims are people living on farms."

Sinks reports that the new drug has been taken with great success in Mexico by sufferers of brucellosis contracted from goats' milk. Researchers at the Johns-Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore have also found the drug effective against swine brucellosis in humans.

The article stresses that in this country undulant fever is chiefly contracted from unpasteurized milk of cattle with Bang's disease. Dr. Abner K. Kuttler, head of brucellosis eradication for the Bureau of Animal Industry, says: "We've got to try to get rid of Bang's disease by protecting healthy cattle, not by trying to cure sick ones!"

Country Gentleman lists several important points for the farmer to remember in combating

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barco's diet pills do not contain anything harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. The diet pills are not two uniformed girls wrap and seal in cellophane, weigh and label the meat. The girls also keep the meat case supplied.

Here is proof
Here is what Mrs. E. F. Bishop, Route 1, Stamford, Texas, wrote me:
"I am very glad to endorse Barco's diet pills, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I lost 47 lbs. weight, but also looked and felt better in every way. My husband and I are both in excellent condition and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I was not losing much weight until I began taking Barco's diet pills. I began taking it and would soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the way I looked. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truly recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."
At all drug stores
If you are overweight and want to take off 15 lbs. just go to your drug store and buy Barco's diet pills. It is so simple. Pour this into a pill bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Women, Children Used in Red Vilification Scheme

By JOHN FISHER
Stalin's Italian fire eaters have been so violent that the De Gasperi government, confident of its growing muscle, has cracked down on them severely.

American observers from Rome report that the volatile masses no longer respond so readily to Russian-slanted propaganda against the Marshall Plan, nor do they swallow Red lies about American plots to push Italy into a new criminal war.

Italy still sits on a smoldering volcano. More than a million are unemployed. Pay for most workers is extremely low. Food conditions are better but the poor can afford only bare necessities.

Recent setbacks have compelled Palmiro Togliatti's roughnecks to refine their tactics. Instead of relying mainly on hurrying paying the price of similar turbulence, they have devised such new methods as the "non-collaboration" strike, the "stay-in" strike and mob movements by hysterical women and children.

Today's dollar buys only half as much, or less, than it bought a year ago. That is true whether we are buying industrial plants, oil wells, consumer goods, or anything else. So, more dollars are needed to pay industry's cost of living.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Navy nervousness over the switch from Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal, who was a Navy man, to Louis Johnson, who is not, is beginning to show in touchy tempers at the top. At a recent cabinet meeting, Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan announced he would like to discuss plans on a few naval vessels.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Howard Hughes is still having his troubles with the 100-ton flying boat he first flew on Nov. 2, 1947. It hasn't flown since, though Hughes says it will make another test flight "very soon." He has rigged out the whole complicated control system and installed a new one. He has had trouble getting adequate propellers, causing months' delay. Hughes has built a giant hangar for the ship, over the water. It

Answering the Questions of A Pastor
I am reproducing a letter from L. P. Durham, Pastor of the Nazarene, New Mexico Church of the Nazarene. I have numbered the questions, so as to answer them by number. I quote:

"Dear Mr. Hoiles:
For several months I have been reading your editorials and would like a little information. In the first place, I am a Christian who believes in the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence. I also believe in the laws of our land. I notice you seem to have a particular gripe against our educational system, and I have repeatedly read your comment to the effect that, seemingly, our country is going directly against the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence in our public school system.

"Now, it is not so bad to point out the evils of a system if the one pointing them out has a better solution to the problem. I have been wondering just how you would go about giving the citizens of our country an education in a better way than it is being given today.

"(1) Just what are the greatest evils to our school system?
"(2) In what way does our system violate God's laws and the laws of our country?
"(3) How does it violate a person's personal liberties to provide an education for him so that he doesn't grow up in abject ignorance?

"I may sound terribly ignorant to you, but I have not found cause for your attitude, either in the Bible or in your articles. Please come out and explain yourself thoroughly in your next article.

"(4) Also, state whether or not you are a Catholic or a Roman Catholic. Please, above all, tell exactly what is wrong with our tax-supported school system; how it violates the above-mentioned laws; and how it violates the rights of the citizen. I am not wanting a verbal battle with editorials, but I am actually seeking information."

Sincerely,
Since No. 1 and 2 are practically the same question, I am answering them with the same answers. The greatest evil of the public school system is that it is based on the fallacy that the majority is right. It is not right; that there is no Higher Law, Order, Rule, Guide, Sequence, Commandment than the changeable will of the majority.

"If you are buying salmon steaks to serve for a family supper all about one-third pound for each serving. The steaks are delicious served with sour cream flavored with a little onion juice, salt, and sugar.

ROGER THE LODGER
By Elizabeth R. Roberts
THE STORY of a wartime and Mr. and Mrs. Roberts of Great Falls, Mont., have taken in lodger Roger the Lodger, a young construction engineer who has just moved into the vacant apartment in the basement. Next young Lieutenant Victory and his bride Sally came late the other evening. Each day, Mrs. Roberts learns something about her lodger.

"No, just the sheets and pillow slips."
"Are you sure?"
At this Sally grew less sure of herself. "There were only two little pairs of socks," she confessed. "Yellow socks!" I suggested. She nodded her head.

THE next week's washing took on a rosy hue, even though this time Sally had played it smart, so she told me, and knowing much, much better than to wash the socks with limes, she had set them aside to do last.

"What did you do first?" I asked, knowing from the tint that something was wrong. She explained that one of her friends had told her how she washed her silk things by placing them in the machine with lukewarm water—just a little—and mild soap flakes. But Sally, not being wasteful like her friend, had added hot water to the lukewarm water when the silks were done, and had then gone on with the washing.

"Wasn't the water pink from your silk things?" I asked. "I don't think so," she said. "I couldn't see any pink. There was a pile of soapuds on top. Nice, creamy soapuds." So now we had faintly pink linen. Before our range included green and some of the lesser-colored shades (Sally had a gray sweater), I forbade her to help any further.

"Use the machine for your own things any time you want to," I said, "but under no circumstances are you to help me." She received this ultimatum with resignation, with a look that said, "Gratitude lies not in the human heart; Columbus died in chains."
