

B-PW, GIRL SCOUTS WIN IN PARADE

The Business and Professional Women's parade and Girl Scout Association's Little Red Riding Hood float were named first place winners in yesterday's Flight of Santa Claus Parade.

The B-PW float depicted Mrs. Johnny Campbell as the Madonna and was decorated by about six members of the club. Mrs. Sidney Clending was chairman of the Decorating Committee.

Mrs. M. X. Beard was the Girl Scout leader who had the idea for the Scout float. Mrs. John McNeil and Mrs. Beard started the float by making a trip to the dump grounds to pick up trees which were later covered with paper mache.

Many of the troops had a hand in the float. Troop 19, under the leadership of Mrs. Buri Lewter, constructed the flowers that were strewn around "grandma's house."

Troops 2 and 28 made the gumdrop trees under the leadership of Mrs. J. R. Miller and Mrs. W. E. Hinton. Scouts of Troops 9, 15, 2 and 34 constructed the rocks for the pathway.

The wolf mask, worn by Betty Prescott, was constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Beard. Others appearing on the float included Joan Thompson, Little Red Riding Hood; Jeannine Hailey, wood chopper; and Barbara Sharp, grandma.

Five of the 12 bands that had agreed to participate in the parade showed up. Weather conditions (See B-PW, Page 4)

WAITING TO BE UNSEATED—Two-year-old Phillip Burrows wears a mighty unhappy expression as he considers his plight—a toilet seat around his neck. While his mother was upstairs cleaning, Phillip was busy detaching the seat with a screwdriver. His next step was to walk around with it on his head like a king, but his crown slipped. Doctors tried greasing the boy's head, but the seat remained on. Firemen finally came to the rescue with a saw and little King Phillip was dethroned.

Angus Ward And Staff on Way to U.S.

TOKYO — (AP) — Freedom was just a day or so away today for Angus Ward and his staff from the Red-harassed U. S. Consulate in Communist ruled Mukden.

The consul general and his party arrived in Mukden last night at the Communist North China port of Tientsin.

It means the end of nearly a year's virtual imprisonment for Ward in the Manchurian capital. The consulate staff was in Mukden when the Chinese Reds marched in. Then it couldn't get out. The Communists finally agreed to "deport" the staff — but not until after they forced Ward to spend a month in jail on what the State Department called "trumped up" charges.

State Department officials here received word from Tientsin which indicated the entire group of 20 was well and that it encountered no difficulties on the long railroad journey. The arrivals were received in U. S. Consulate residences in Tientsin.

It still wasn't certain exactly when the party will board an American ship — or ships — for the long delayed voyage home. It could be tomorrow, but the pickup may not take place until Sunday.

Several vessels were nearing Taku Bar, 16 miles outside Tientsin. This is the designated rendezvous point. The staff may all go on one ship or be split up, depending probably on arrival times and local conditions.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert, released from the transport Lakeland Victory that although it was proceeding at "several 16 knots," it should reach (See ANGUS, Page 4)

Theft Clues Very Slim

FERRYTON — (AP) — Officers in five states searched today for thieves who yesterday stole $180,000 in diamonds and watches. But they have only two slim clues on which to work.

Sheriff Ray Phagan said the only clues were a linoleum knife found in the Burk Drug Store kitchen and two unopened packages of cigarettes found behind the store.

The thieves cut a hole in the roof of the drug store on the little Panhandle town's main street and stole the sample cases of two diamond salesmen. The cases had been left in the store overnight. Thirty-one watches were also taken.

The diamond salesmen were John W. Sims, representing the Tyson Company of Dallas, and Henry A. Mass, representing the A. Edward Fisher Company of New York.

General Regarded Candidate

KEY WEST, Fla.—(AP)—Intimates said today that President Truman regards General Dwight D. Eisenhower as an active candidate for the presidency.

They added that he regards Eisenhower's recent "hot dogs and beer" speech as part of the former chief of staff's buildup for the presidential nomination.

The President, they continued, will answer Eisenhower in his "state of the union" message to Congress in January.

Charles G. Ross, the President's press secretary, said that speech will "fully expound the President's philosophy of government."

Ross would not even discuss recent speeches of Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University.

Eisenhower has been hitting on the theme that many Americans are chasing after an "illusion called security." He kept at it in a speech yesterday at Galveston.

Truman's long-time feeling of admiration for Eisenhower as an Army man and a builder of morale was emphasized by those who are close to him.

But these same persons say the President regards the ex-soldier turned educator as strictly an amateur at politics.

Not even the closest day-to-day conferees of the President can say whether he will seek the nomination again in 1952. They are in agreement only in that they feel he has not made a decision and wants to await developments in the months ahead.

Most of them tell reporters that he has been more than a little concerned by Eisenhower's general has appeared to line up recent speeches, in which the former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in criticism of the Truman "fair deal."

The President, it was made clear here, is drafting a "state of the union" message which will reiterate his demands for a "fair deal" program. It will emphasize (See CANDIDATE, Page 4)

No Prospect Of Balanced Budget Seen

KEY WEST, Fla.—(AP)—Budget Director Frank Pace said today he saw no prospect of a balanced budget next year without an increase in taxes.

Pace told a news conference: "The probability of a balanced budget in 1951 is not great—lacking new taxes."

Pace said he was not aware whether Mr. Truman will ask higher taxes in his "state of the union" message.

The administration's budget, which goes to Congress in January, this made clear, will require continued deficit financing unless new taxes are levied.

Mr. Truman has said he saw no way of wiping out the prospective deficit for this fiscal year of $5,500,000,000 without higher taxes.

He is being urged to recommend increased levies on corporate profits.

Pace flew here to discuss with the President the prospective budget for the Defense Department, "large-scale policy matters, pertaining to foreign aid program" expenditures for the next year and the budget for the Interior Department, including the big reclamation projects.

Pace would not forecast the size of the new budget—saying a final figure had not been arrived at—but he said it would be about $48,000,000,000 compared with a revised budget of $43,500,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

Thomas Given Jail Sentence and Fine

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas got six to 18 months in jail and a $10,000 fine today for cheating the government by "padding" his office pay roll.

Immediately after the sentence was pronounced, Thomas' wife announced: "I intend to seek the Congressional seat about to be vacated by my husband."

Mrs. Thomas told reporters her husband's resignation is in the mails.

Thomas is 64. His wife is a little younger.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff gave an ear-burning lecture to Thomas along with the jail term and the fine.

He told the little man who seven times was elected to the House as a Republican from New Jersey that he knew he had a good record in the first world war and had done "mush good work" in Congress as chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

But, the judge said sternly: "These can't properly be considered mitigating circumstances."

In fact, he said, as chairman of a Congressional committee, Thomas "had a duty to set an example of upright living."

Holtzoff concluded: "J. Parnell Thomas, it is the judgment of this court that you be imprisoned in an institution to be determined by the attorney general for a term of not less than six months and not more than 18 months, that you be fined $10,000 and that you stand committed until the fine is paid."

The phrase "stand committed until the fine is paid" in the judge's sentence means that Thomas must stay in jail until he pays the fine. If unable to pay the fine, he could, however, take a pauper's oath and serve an additional 30 days in place of the fine.

The six months' minimum sentence will permit Thomas to apply for a parole after he has served that time.

Asked if the fine would be paid, his lawyer told a reporter: "That's the sixty-four dollar question."

Thomas' lawyer, William H. Collins, had pleaded with the judge not to punish the congressman by jail and fine.

Collins described Thomas as "broken in body and spirit."

Standing before Judge Holtzoff, Thomas did, indeed, seem to bear scant resemblance, physically, to the rosy-cheeked little man who once was the gavel-cracking chairman of the spy-hunting House Un-American Activities Committee.

Weakened by a long illness, his face was drawn and he had the look of a man exhausted by extreme weariness.

But Thomas took the sentence with no show of emotion or change of expression.

Eisenhower Turns Hunter During Visit

GALVESTON — (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower turned hunter today and that's what he intends to be for the next several days of his visit to Texas.

The wartime leader of American forces in Europe yesterday called for preservation of the dignity and equality of every American.

"If all Americans want to see security, they can go to prison," he told a combined meeting of this resort city's luncheon clubs.

"But if an American wants to preserve his dignity and his equality as a human being, he must not bow his neck to any dictatorial government."

He urged the people to vote in every election "from school board members to presidents."

"America will never be lost if we vote," he said.

He quoted Patrick Henry's "give me liberty or give me death," and said that regardless of race, creed or color, "the dignity of the human being should be preserved."

The general injected a Texas note in yesterday's speech when he said he liked to think of who had the interest of his country deep in his heart."

Four Injured In Highway Accidents

MCLEAN — (Special)—Slick pavement caused two accidents on Highway 66 that hospitalized two persons and injured two more.

The first accident happened on 9:45 a. m. yesterday 2.3 miles west of Almaraz.

A 1946 Ford driven by Clifford J. Buffington, 31, of Pasadena, Calif., collided with the rear of a 1949 Plymouth driven by Marcus Hulings, 28, 1400 N. 8th, Wichita Falls.

Both cars were travelling west and apparently Buffington was unable to slow down enough on the slick pavement to avoid hitting the other car.

Hulings and his four-year-old daughter, Cherry, were slightly injured. His mother, who was also a passenger in his car, was not hurt. Her name was not available. Buffington also escaped injury.

Hulings is an employee of the Blankenship Supply Co., Wichita Falls.

The second accident happened two hours later 16.2 miles east of Groom.

A 1941 Packard driven by Giles David Crockett, one of the heroes killed in the Alamo, as "a man Alfred Moore, 73, 118 S. Peach, Dallas, overturned on slick pavement.

SOCIALISM OR FREE ENTERPRISE? ISSUE IN AUSTRALIA'S ELECTION

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP)—Socialism or free enterprise? That is a clear-cut issue in Australia's critical general election tomorrow.

The Labor Party of Prime Minister J. B. Chifley, a former locomotive driver, has been in power eight years. It was a long-range program of nationalization. It believes government controls are needed to stabilize the nation's economy and insure full employment.

The opposition promises to halt nationalization and the Australian leftward trend. Labor and socialism went down to defeat in neighboring New Zealand last week and the opposition here

This election has stirred the public more than any since the Commonwealth was born.

The empire and many countries outside the empire look to the result to see if Australia will follow New Zealand's anti-socialist decision last week. The neighboring dominion tossed out the 14-year-old Labor government of (See SOCIALISM, Page 4)

Byron Price Gets Chance at New Post

NEW YORK — (AP)—The New York Times said today that President Truman has offered the post of assistant secretary of state for public affairs to Byron Price.

Price was executive news editor of the Associated Press for several years, and served as director of the office of censorship during the war. He now is assistant secretary general of the United Nations in charge of administration.

Price said he had "no comment."

Man to Die for Assault of Child

HOUSTON — (AP)—A father of two children — Allen Conway Williams — yesterday was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the Oct. 20 rape of a 10-year-old girl.

The 38-year-old merchant seaman testified in court that if he attacked the girl he was drunk at the time.

"I'm not guilty," he said softly as the Criminal District Court jury's verdict was read.

Infant Found In Bus Station

HOUSTON — (AP)—Who left a two-week old baby girl in a paper bag in a bus terminal parcel locker?

The police point to a couple that vanished after arguing in the bus terminal yesterday. But police haven't been able to find them.

The black-haired, pug-nosed baby was found in the locker by Pvt. James A. Lawson, 25, who was enroute to his home in Georgia on a furlough from Fort Bliss.

The baby was wrapped in a pink blanket, a bottle of milk was lying beside her.

The locker was about a foot square at the opening and about three feet long.

Mrs. Lydia Rose, 66, Alameda, told police she saw a couple with a baby arguing in the terminal about 1:45 p. m. The child was found at 3:05 p. m.

Mrs. Rose said that during the argument the woman made the man take the baby, which was wrapped in a pink blanket. She said the couple left about 2:15 p. m. and reappeared a short time later, still arguing.

The baby apparently suffered no harm from her stay in the locker.

Girlstown, U.S.A., Will Dedicate Its First Permanent Residence on Plains

WHITEFACE, Texas — (AP)—Girlstown, U. S. A., will dedicate its first permanent residence on the South Plains of Texas Tuesday.

Out on the wind-swept prairie 80 miles west of Lubbock a long, rambling ranch-style residence is almost completed. Its cornerstone will be put in place Tuesday.

It will have 32 bedrooms and a huge living room with a stone fireplace in the center of the room.

It will be a home for 64 girls, 54 more sisters for the 10 girls who now live at the old headquarters on the ranchland.

Eventually Miss Amelia Anthony, founder and director of Girlstown, U. S. A., hopes to have a home ready for 500 girls. That's in her 10-year plan.

On file in her office now are approximately 700 applications from girls begging for admittance.

"But we had no room for them," Miss Anthony said. "Girls have come to our door — sometimes four a day — and begged for the shelter of our home. County sheriffs and juvenile officers have brought others personally. And then there are the letters."

"We can offer them a home — love — a sense of security — a sense of being wanted."

"And as for juvenile delinquency — we're helping by giving them a home, yes. But we're going deeper. These girls will be mothers of the next generation. We want to teach them how to have a home, how to raise their children right. That's where preventing delinquency begins."

Miss Anthony does not talk about the broken homes from which her girls came. And to prying and unthinking adults her girls answer politely: "All my past life doesn't count. Girlstown is my home now."

The girls are known by their first names only.

They can be brought to Girlstown from infancy to 18 years of age. But no girl will be re-

Oil Probably Caused More Sudden Growth in Texas Than Anything Else

By TIM PARKER Associated Press

Oil has probably caused more spectacular growth among Texas cities than any other force.

Kilgore in 1930 wasn't even an incorporated town. Today the East Texas oil city in Gregg County, estimates its population at 14,807. Gregg County is one of the most rapidly developing counties in East Texas. Longview, the county seat, has a population of 28,000.

High Sawyer, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, estimates Kilgore's current growth is shaded by two West Texas oil towns, Snyder and Colorado City. They are boom towns.

Every week doctors, lawyers, carpenters, plumbers — the whole makings of a new city arrive. They see a chance to grow with a community they believe will grow a great deal.

The growth is so rapid no reasonably accurate estimate of the population can be made. The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce claims at least 10,000 people and was one of the nation's major cattle shipping centers. Ladies from Dallas sometimes visited Colorado City to see the sties exhibited there.

But the railroad, the salt works experienced earlier by Odessa, probably the Texas city which gained the most population, percentage-wise, in the decade ending 1940.

In 1940 Odessa had 8,573 people. An estimate based on utility connections now gives the West Texas oil town a population of 40,000 which is more than quadrupling.

The 1940 area was 1 1/2 square miles. Now the city has grown 35 1/2 square miles.

Here is a roll-call on cities whose growth can be attributed in part to oil:

Kilgore — Unincorporated in 1930, Kilgore became an East Texas oil center following discovery of oil that year. A shiny, new city of 8,708 existed when the 1940 census was taken. The Kilgore News-Herald, basing its estimate on the 1949 city directory, says Kilgore now has grown to 34,500. The directory listed 17,000 people but covered some territory outside the city limits. The News-Herald says "oil built Kilgore, oil still is the major industry, but new industries and an added interest in agriculture are joining the area on more solid footing."

Borger — A West Texas oil town whose population figures are deceptive, Borger has grown from 10,018 in 1940 to an estimated 18,000. The estimate is by City Manager A. A. Meredith on the basis of utility connections. But there are about 5,000 people in the oil company town of Phillips and about 4,000 in the "rubber town" of Bismarck, both adjacent to Borger and in the Borger trade area. The Borger News-Herald says oil, rubber and carbon black "have made the city."

Midland — Doubled its population between 1930 and 1930, again between 1930 and 1940, and expects to triple between 1940 and 1950. The 1940 figure was 9,852.

Delbert Downing, Chamber of Commerce manager, estimates the population now at 27,700, not including 2,800 persons residing at Midland Air Terminal, which was annexed although it is ten miles west of the city proper. The Midland Reporter-Telegram says the population gain is "due largely to oil company expansion."

Midland is the business headquarters center of the Permian Basin oil empire with more than 200 oil companies and affiliated concerns.

Pampa — Chamber of Commerce estimates present population at 21,152, compared with 12,800 in 1940. Still growing. Pampa is completing a million-dollar office building and is getting a new direct highway route north. The Cities Service gasoline plant has doubled in size and a representing plant is expected to elongate the life of the oil field.

Marshall — The Longhorn Ordnance Works, lumbering and agriculture share with oil the credit for Marshall's growth from 18,410 in 1940 to an estimated 30,000 today. The Chamber of Commerce, using utility connections as a basis, says present population is 30,882.

Athens — Expansion of utility companies such as Lone Star Gas and Texas Power & Light, as well as oil and gas fields, boosted Athens from 4,768 in 1940 to about double. The Chamber of Commerce estimates the metropolitan area at 10,850, makes no estimate for the city proper. The Athens Review, believing the city's growth is slowing, has begun an editorial campaign to bring in new industry.

Sweetwater — Another oil town which is growing fast: At 10,773 in 1940, Sweetwater now has about 16,000 people, according to the Board of City Management — which expects the 1950 figure to be 18,000. Sweetwater is 20 miles southeast of Snyder, center of the booming Scurry County oil field. Sweetwater solved its greatest problem — water. Final arrangements are being made for construction of Oak Creek Reservoir, to provide six million gallons of water daily. With the present Sweetwater and Trammel Lakes, this will give Sweetwater 8,900,000 gallons daily. Gulf Corporation has contracted to buy three million gallons of water a day.

Tyler — An East Texas oil town which has grown from 28,279 in 1940 to an estimated 47,000. City Manager C. D. Fairtrace believes the figure by Jan. 1 will be 48,800, based on 4.6 people per water connection.

Blood Survey Units Touring Rural Texas

AUSTIN — A big white trailer with the seal of the State of Texas on its side and the words "Texas State Department of Health" below the seal steps in a rural Texas community. Soon after the trailer's arrival, the strains of popular music are heard throughout the country side.

"This scene is enacted every day somewhere in Texas," a State Health Department spokesman said. "The white trailer is one of the Texas State Department of Health's mobile blood survey units on location, bringing to rural people modern, up-to-date facilities for blood testing."

Careful preparation preceded the arrival of the survey unit. Community leaders have been contacted in advance of the blood testing date. Pamphlets on venereal disease have been distributed, and many of the people have seen a movie and heard a short talk on venereal disease and blood testing, usually made by a health department representative.

The survey technician's hands work skillfully and rapidly, taking a blood specimen from each volunteer's arm in less than a minute. When the day's testing is completed, there may be several hundred blood specimens to be forwarded for examination.

After the mobile survey's work has been completed in a county, health department field representatives notify every person with a positive blood test of the results of the test. Arrangements are made for these people to be treated either by their family physician or at the health department's rapid treatment center, which is maintained for those who cannot pay for treatment.

Other members of the cast included Dreka Rowe, Margaret Brown, Betty Howard and Jewell Moseley.

The final performance of "A Mind of Her Own" will be presented at 8 p. m. today at the High School Auditorium. The play is directed by Miss Thelma Henslee, speech instructor.

Bartletts Have Big Problems

Oh, the problems of those poor Bartletts! The Junior Class play, "A Mind of Her Own," kept Pampans on the edge of their chairs last night while the complicated story was unwoven.

A superb performance was given by each character. The poor Bartlett parents (Bob Allford and Gloria Baker) had many problems at their summer home when Bunny Bartlett's (Diana Crawford) friends entered the scene.

Jessica (Mariola Duval), the villain of the play, had a big time trying to steal all of Bunny's boy friends and creating a "big-to-do" over a "hot" check written by Mrs. Bartlett.

Bunny and her friends wanted to get rid of Jessica so they pulled all sorts of pranks intended for her. However, Mrs. Phelps (Mary Ellen Hawkins), a woman who was trying to close an important business deal with Bartlett, got the brunt of most of the pranks.

Tommy and Nettie Bartlett (Dick Green and Dolores Miller) try to help Bunny get rid of Jessica and end by only adding

RUNNING STORY

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — More than 2500 thoroughbred stallions are available for competition at the local, Hialeah and Gulfstream Parks.

MILLER PHARMACY

The story of the mountain war between the Hatfields of West Virginia and the McCoys of Kentucky always fascinated me. It had the pounding action and the drama of a great western. It had the impact of a great western.

A Hatfield boy did fall in love, violently and passionately, with a McCoy girl, and made the name of Roseanna McCoy a legend. He did carry her off to his family's fortress home high in the hills. Family-proud men took down their shotguns. They oiled their pistols and sharpened their knives. In a wild back country that had no railroad, no telegraph, no newspapers, word went up and down the valleys: "The war is on again."

From some of the events of that half-forgotten chapter of American frontier life, the motion picture of "Roseanna McCoy" has been made. The story is a boy and a girl, their love and all the violence their love unleashed. If liberties have been taken and the whole long history changed to fit the story into the pattern of a motion picture entertainment, it's hoped a good purpose has been served in bringing back to American life the memory of the troubled and exciting romance of Roseanna McCoy and Johnse Hatfield.

DALLAS — (AP) — The gap between the world's well-fed and ill-fed has grown wider in the last ten years, says a United Nations official.

Another Yule Hope Fades

CHICAGO — (AP) — Patsy Owens, a frail little girl who suffered a rare disease, died Wednesday, ending her hope of celebrating one more Christmas.

Patsy, ill since shortly after she was born four years ago, died following an operation on her windpipe. She was brought here Tuesday after a cross-country train ride from California.

A fibrocystic disease caused her lungs to fill with a heavy secretion which was smothering her.

Patsy had been taken from Chicago to California two years ago by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owens. But her condition became worse. Recently when a physician in California expressed little hope for her recovery Patsy said she wanted to return to Chicago to see her cousins.

Public Invited to Choral Concert

The public is invited to attend the Pampa High School choral department's annual Christmas concert at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the High School Auditorium, Frank Wilson, principal, said today.

The concert has been a tradition at the High School for many years. Approximately 357 students will participate in the concert—the largest number of voices Pampa High has ever had in its vocal classes.

The A Cappella Choir, the three mixed choruses and the girls' glee club, under the direction of Kenneth W. Baumgardner and Miss Grace Cump, will make up the voices for the concert.

Salvation Army to Take Applications For Yule Baskets

The Salvation Army will begin Monday receiving applications for Christmas baskets from needy families.

Lt. Fred McClure, officer in charge of the Army post at 111 E. Albert, said applications to receive the Yule baskets will be accepted through Dec. 20, leaving sufficient time for the Salvation Army to determine the need by the families.

The Army gave out small checks last year, but on Christmas Eve this year will give baskets of food and fruit.

The Army's two Christmas kettles will begin operation on Saturday — one at the corner by the First National Bank and the other at the corner by J. C. Penney's.

Massed Chorus to Rehearse Sunday

A rehearsal for the Christmas massed chorus has been called for 4 p. m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church.

Thirteen church choruses, High School choruses, SPEBSQSA members and all others who like to sing are invited to attend the rehearsal and take part in the Nativity scene unfolding at 7:30 p. m. Friday, in City Park.

Harley Bulls, music and educational director of the First Methodist Church, will direct the massed chorus and Mrs. May Foreman Carr, local pianist, will accompany the group at the piano.

The six Nativity scenes to be unveiled Friday night include the manger scene, three Wise Men, shepherds and their flocks, flight into Egypt, Wise Men before King Herod's court and the Annunciation.

Charles Thomas, chairman of the Nativity Scenes Committee, is being assisted by Mickey Ladrick, Florence Jackson, Doris Rinehart, Jim Garrett, M. V. Ward, T. M. Brooks, Claudine Vall, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Harry Garrett, Dick Pepin, Jimmy McCune and Erwin Thompson.

University Regents Will Let Contract

GALVESTON — (AP) — University of Texas Regents meet here today and are expected to let a contract for enlarging the power and laundry plant of the university's School of Medicine.

Uranium Probers Move to Canada

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House spy probers tracing reported uranium leaks to Russia turned their eyes toward Canada today amid indications that their inquiry may become a hot 1950 political issue.

Two investigators for the un-American Activities Committee were reported in Canada, where an official confirmed yesterday that 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds were shipped to Russia via Great Falls, Mont., in 1948.

Committee sources insisted that these two developments were not related, but reports persisted that the committee may renew its once-abandoned effort to obtain records of a court action in New York in connection with uranium sales.

Louis J. Russell, senior committee investigator, has said the probe of the Canadian angle has been "reactivated."

Denny Hewitt, who had a box of puppies with the sign "Give Your Child a Pup for Christmas," was named first place winner in the boys' division. Marilyn McDaniel, who also had a puppy, was selected first place winner in the girls' division.

Other pet division winners include Jack Miller, C. L. Winborne, Carole Latas, Janette Bailey, Ledell Smith and Bobby Conway.

Paul Beisenherz, Parade Committee chairman, has asked that the winners of both the pet division and the float divisions meet at 10 a. m. tomorrow beside the Christmas tree on the City Hall lawn.

Photographers will be at the tree to take the pictures of the winning children and their pets. Also to be taken are footballs and the girls' compacts will be presented.

Seventeen colorful floats were presented in the parade, but all of the kiddies had their eyes on Santa, who was at the end of the parade in a fire truck. He threw candy kisses to many of the children during the parade and then remained at his temporary headquarters by the giant Christmas tree and gave a way more candy.

SMITH'S QUALITY SHOES

Have you ever heard that you can narrow the appearance of wide hips by paying careful attention to your gloves? It's true, says Good Housekeeping magazine. Gloves that contrast too strongly with your costume — white with black or navy, black with very light colors — emphasize the distance between your hands. If you happen to be wearing gloves that contrast strongly, hold your purse under your arm so that one hand is up.

Gift Minded? Silver Useful And Glamorous

When you are wracking your brain for Christmas gift ideas this year, don't overlook the wonderful possibilities surrounding the idea of giving silver.

The Jewelry Industry Council tells us that all too often the young married couple get off to a fine start with their silverware pattern but as soon as the wedding gifts stop they come to a sudden stop in completing their silver chest.

What more thoughtful and lasting Christmas gift than another place setting of silver to add to their collection?

Then, too, there are so many young people who were married during the war and perhaps continued their schooling for a year or so after their Army days. They are only just now getting started in a real home and a beautiful piece of silver or a place setting or two to get them started on their sterling flatware would be both a glamorous and useful gift.

There is also the instance of the mother who has raised her family to the age where they can take care of themselves. At last she enjoys the leisure to entertain frequently. But what with the children and everything else, she never did get that silver coffee service she has always wanted, or the silver candelabra which she has wished for ever since she moved into the new house. Think of her delight if you were thoughtful enough to give them to her this Christmas.

There is also a great deal of interest among teen age girls in starting a silver "hope chest," especially if the young lady question has matrimony on her mind when she graduates from school next term. A place setting given to her this Christmas will encourage her to use her money wisely by adding to her collection in the months to come and, meantime, the knowledge that she has it will be a constant source of pleasure to her.

Retention of Bonus Rule Is Million Dollar Bill for Majors

BALTIMORE — (AP) — The failure of the minor leagues to wipe out the bonus rule affects 36 bonus players of major league rosters representing a total outlay of some $500,000.

Added to his sizeable bundle are 185 bonus-tagged minor league players to increase the total expenditure to well above the million mark. It is small wonder then the "stuck" major league club owners went all-out to ditch baseball's most controversial law.

Leading the fight for repeal at the minor league's annual convention yesterday was Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phils, who own more bonus players than any other club. The staunchest supporters of the rule were Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bill DeWitt, head of the St. Louis Browns.

Needing 45 assenting votes of the 80 leagues, or three-fourths, the proposal to repeal the rule got only 32 "yes" votes. There were 28 "no" votes and one league abstained. As a result, the bonus rule is here to stay — at least for another year.

The action means that the majors probably will make no real move in their joint meeting in New York next week merely to discuss the situation. No vote is expected to be taken although a canvass of major league club owners showed them evenly divided over the rule.

Among the higher priced players "frozen" in the big leagues are catcher Frank House, Detroit ($72,000); pitcher Johnny Antonelli, Boston Braves ($65,000); pitcher Curt Simmons, Phillies ($60,000); pitcher Frank Quinn, Boston Red Sox ($50,000); pitcher Paul Hinrichs, New York Yankees ($50,000); and outfielder Jackie Jensen, Yankees ($45,000).

The bonus rule was adopted originally to stop big payments to promising players for their signatures on their first contracts in organized baseball.

It clamps tight restrictions on players who are paid more than a set scale for signed contracts. Such a bonus player cannot be farmed out unless nobody claims him for the waive price, which varies from $10,000 in the majors to $100 in Class D leagues. He is subject to unrestricted draft by clubs of higher classification as long as he stays in the minors.

The vote on the bonus was the big business of the convention, which closes today.

SWC Heads Open Winter Meet Today

DALLAS — (AP) — Four college athletic conferences open winter meetings in Dallas today, with everything from rough football to expansion on the agenda.

The Southwest Conference coaches, athletic directors and business managers get together this afternoon. Tonight, the Faculty Committee, governing body of the circuit, holds its first session. The windup will be tomorrow morning.

Conference officials reported a short list of topics.

One is the protest of Dutch Meyer, Texas Christian University coach, over rough play by Arkansas in their football game last fall. Meyer charged too many illegal uses of the hands and arms and filed an official protest with James H. Stewart, secretary of the conference.

Another subject that could bring fireworks is the officiating situation. The coaches got together and made out a list of officials to be used in conference games. Only those getting unanimous voice were assigned to the games. It excluded some of the best known officials in the business. The Officials Association has promised to take the thing up with the conference.

Other conferences to hold meetings are the Lone Star, Gulf Coast and Texas Conferences and the Southwestern Junior College Conference.

The Gulf Coast Conference, made up of four schools — University of Houston, Trinity, Hardin and North Texas State — is talking expansion with Oklahoma City University mentioned as a likely addition.

Oma Seeking 'Real Fight' With Bomber

DETROIT — (AP) — Joe Louis, a terror of the prize ring for 14 years, is finding his retirement a problem.

He says — emphatically — he's not interested in a comeback, but the "big man" proposals again are being waved at him.

The management of Lee Oma, who withdrew from a scheduled exhibition go with the Brown Bomber here next Wednesday, offers $35,000 for a "real fight."

And Jake Mintz, co-manager of NBA champion Ezzard Charles, wants a match next summer between his man and Louis. He sees a "million dollar gate."

This stems from Wednesday night in Chicago when Louis knocked out Pat Valentino in the eighth round of their exhibition match. Valentino lasted just eight rounds against NBA champion Charles.

Oma's manager, after one look at a newspaper picture of Valentino's face, wired matchmaker Nick Lodges that Oma was "pulling out."

He suggested instead a "real fight."

The Michigan Boxing Commission threatened to suspend Oma and ask his suspension in other states.

Regional Meet For Glovers January 24-28

FORT WORTH — (AP) — The 1950 regional Golden Gloves Tournament in Amarillo will be held Jan. 24 through Jan. 28, state headquarters of the big amateur boxing program announced here today.

Sponsors in Amarillo again will be the Amarillo Globe-News. Tournament director there will be Duke Nally.

Winners of 21 regional tournaments, $10,000 golf tournament went in Fort Worth at the Texas State Tourney.

Golden Gloves in Texas is sponsored by the Fort Worth State Telegram and is under the direction of Flem Hall, sports editor of that newspaper.

Foreign Turf Invader

HALLANDALE, Fla. — (AP) — Salique, 6-year-old bay who has won a number of races in Argentina, will be stabled at Gulfstream Park during Miami's coming winter racing season which starts Nov. 30. The racer is the property of Dr. Louis G. Pessalano of Miami, who also owns six other South American thoroughbreds.

Seek Second Win of Season Over District 2-AA Squad

The Pampa Harvesters took off to replace Allison yesterday afternoon, the Harvesters worked on more fundamentals and ball-handling, the passing was shoddy in the opening game last week, but the spirit and hustle were high. With a few more games under their belts the Green and Gold could come out with a pretty good club.

The remaining schedule, subject to change, is as follows:

Dec. 9 — Childress, there.
Dec. 13 — Dalhart, there.
Dec. 16 — Memphis, there.
Dec. 20 — Lubbock, there.
Dec. 23, 26, 31 — Brownwood Tournament.

Jan. 3 — Phillips, here.
Jan. 6, 7 — Childress Tournament.

Jan. 13 — Borger, here.
Jan. 20 — Plainview, there.
Jan. 24 — Hollis, there.
Jan. 27 — Borger, there.
Feb. 3 — Amarillo, here.
Feb. 7 — Hollis, here.
Feb. 10 — Plainview, here.
Feb. 11 — Dalhart, here.
Feb. 17 — Amarillo, there.

So, unless some additional games can be scheduled, the next home game for the Harvesters will be after the first of the year.

The Harvesters are the defending champions at both of the tournaments on their schedule, but will have tough sledding this year to defend them as many more strong clubs have been invited to both meets.

The Guerrillas, with a season's record of one win and one loss, will also make the trip to Childress. Their lone victory so far came at the hands of the Childress "B" team last Friday night. Yesterday afternoon the Guerrillas held a scrimmage session with the McClain Tigers at the High School gymnasium. Both clubs spent time polishing both their defense and offense.

Junior Colleges Meet in Little Rose Bowl Game

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — The fourth annual Little Rose Bowl Football Game unfolds in Pasadena's famed sunken battle pit tomorrow, with Little Rock Junior College favored to trim Santa Ana Junior College before 50,000 or more patrons.

The game is billed as a duel between outstanding teams of the East and West, but so far the East has failed to hit the victory note, what with Kilgore, Texas, Cameron, Okla., Aggies and Duluth, Minn., falling before California Jaycee eleven.

Little Rock's Trojans, by the solemn, drawing promise of able Coach Jimmy Karam, will end the Western domination tomorrow. In a note as fresh as the mountain air of the Ozarks, Karam promised that his team would score a minimum of five touchdowns.

Thirty College Players Spread Fame Of Little Donora, Pa., High School

DONORA DANDIES—Arnold Galiffa, Army quarterback; Lee Sala, middleweight contender, and Stan Musial of the Cards.

Stan Musial and Lee Sala Also Call It Home

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

DONORA, Pa.—(NEA)—This blast-furnace city sprouting up from the Monongahela River 30 miles south of Pittsburgh probably is the biggest little sports center in the United States.

Certainly no town of its size—population 13,000—has turned out more Grade A athletes. Most assuredly that is also true of Donora High, which has had five on the varsity and a freshman.

Little Donora Senior High competes in the tough Double A Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League. It won the fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, made Donora famous several years before you heard about it through the tragic smog of October, 1948, which gave the steel, wire and zinc pig nationwide publicity it didn't want.

Lee Sala, the middleweight contender, is an alumnus of Donora High.

But its remarkable football story wasn't written until this fall, although there have been editions of it annually for more than 20 years.

No fewer than 30 college players further spread the renown of Donora High this autumn.

They were led, of course, by big Arnold Galiffa, the stickout Army quarterback, ball-handler and passer, and little Bimbo Cecconi, the extraordinary little Pittsburgh tailback, who were teammates at Donora High. Jack Jaso was a first-string Cornell guard.

Down here the home folks name the others off-hand, and Donora High spreads its unusual talent generously and far-flung.

There were Donora High alumni at a dozen colleges. In addition to West Point and Pitt, they were Columbia, Cornell, Virginia Military Institute, Xavier of Cincinnati, Washington and Jefferson, Waynesburg, Grove City of Pennsylvania, Finley College of Ohio and all-conquering St. Vincent's of Latrobe, Pa. Nor did Donora High overlook the Negro institutions, two of its graduates performing for North Carolina Agricultural and Technical.

Pitt and Washington and Jefferson, in particular, would be in bad way without Donora High. Including three freshmen and a transfer, who had to sit the season out, there were nine Donora High lads with the Panthers during the campaign just closed. Washington and Jefferson had five on the varsity and a freshman.

So, you see, Donora High not only turns out sturdy stock, a big league coaching staff sends the youngsters to college with know-how.

championship in 1944, added the Big Five title. It bagged nine of 11 games in '48, with one of the losses being traced to the calamitous smog.

I'd go into the Donora High basketball players, too, but don't want to keep you all night. Arnold Galiffa is the Army captain, by the way, as well as its first baseman. He also cooks.

For more than a score of years, Donora High has been coached in football by Jim Russell, who scouted for Knute K. Rockne as a Notre Dame undergraduate. An arm injury prevented his playing. Russell's assistants are Moon Clark, who played at Duquesne, and Dr. Michael Duda, a St. Vincent's product.

So, you see, Donora High not only turns out sturdy stock, a big league coaching staff sends the youngsters to college with know-how.

Cotton Bowl Contenders to Make Fast Trip

DALLAS — (AP)—Football fans won't get to see much of the Cotton Bowl teams this time. In fact, in order to look over the Rice Owls, a fellow will have to have a ticket to the game and a ticket to the game is as scarce as the Rice Owls are going to be.

Sounds confusing, but this is the situation as announced by the Cotton Bowl office today.

Rice, the Southwest Conference champion and host in the bowl game Jan. 2, will come to town after the company arrives. The Owls will be here just long enough to pick up their check for $120,000.

North Carolina, the visitor, does a little better, arriving Dec. 28 and holding four workouts before meeting Rice in the bowl battle.

Rice slips quietly into Dallas on Jan. 1. Could be the team members objected to being away from their studies any longer than necessary. Too, Rice already has played in the Cotton Bowl once this year and there's nothing new to see in Dallas.

Rice hasn't hit a lick since winning the conference title Nov. 28. But the Owls return to the practice field next Monday.

Meanwhile, a lot of folks are looking for tickets to the game, of which there are officially none.

Rice will be glad to know it's a 10-point favorite in first odds posted locally.

McLean Firemen Win Donkey Battle

McLEAN — (Special)—Miro Pakan, the fightingest basket-ball donkey rider McLean has seen in a long time, led the McLean Firemen to a one-sided 22-6 victory over the Lions in the donkey basketball game Tuesday night in the Grade School gym.

Of course there were plenty of spills, and even long-legged J. C. Claiborn had trouble with the meanest donkey of the lot, a little but lively mount. Then occasionally, a Lion would be on the Firemen's side, or a Fireman on the Lions' side.

But the important feature of the game was that a total of $73.72 was netted to go into the Fire Department's reascicator fund.

Veteran Heads Miami Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP)—A veteran campaigner and a pair of young professionals led the field today as Miami's 26th annual 10,000 golf tournament went into the second round.

Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., who has been playing pro golf for more than 20 years, carded a six-under-par 64 in the first 18-hole round for a one-stroke lead over the field of 232 top ranking professionals and amateurs.

Gene Dahlbender, 26-year-old newcomer to the play for par ranks, and Fred Haas, Jr., 33-year-old New Orleans shotmaker, each carded five under par 65s.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hassel—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What was the final score of the last Rose Bowl football game?

THE FANS WHO SAW THAT BASKETBALL GAME LAST FRIDAY NIGHT perhaps noticed a few rule changes that have gone into effect this season. There have been three major ones that will be the most apparent to the fans in the stands. One of them pays a slight premium on height (of which the Harvesters have none) and the other makes it very beneficial to be ahead near the end of the game.

The most obvious of the changes is presented at the start of each new period. Under the old rules the team in possession of the ball in possession of the ball to start the next period. Now the ball is returned to the middle of the floor for a jump ball between the two centers to start each quarter. This affords the team with a tall center a good opportunity of gaining the ball and also of getting away for a quick tip-off basket.

This change will also provide a lot of desperation shots as each period nears its end as possession of the ball when the clock runs out will mean nothing.

A second change provides that no substitution can be made for a man who is jumping on a tied ball. Previously a coach could substitute freely and when he wanted to gain possession on a jump badly enough he would stick in his tallest man in place of the boy jumping. Now the fellow jumping must remain in the game until the next dead ball before he can be substituted. The old rule on no substituting for a man shooting a free throw still remains.

And now for the third and most controversial of the changes. It concerns what used to be the final four-minute rule. A team that was in the lead and attempting to stall had its option of taking a free throw or the ball when fouled. The rule has now been changed in several ways.

First the period extends from the first dead ball after five minutes of play has elapsed in the final period, which will shorten it to about 3 minutes. During that time of play when a team is fouled there is no longer an option. The team must shoot the free throw, but it also retains possession of the ball at mid-court. This will afford a definite penalty on a team that is purposely fouling at the end of the game in order to try and get possession of the ball.

But there is bound to be a lot of controversy over this last change. Personally, I'm agin' it. It appears to offer too much aid to a team that is ahead and shortens the game by three minutes for the team that is trailing. If the leading team can do anywhere near a good job of handling the ball there is no way that the team behind can gain possession. The game, for the trailing team, ended when the final three-minute mark was reached.

The best way to play the game appears to me to be the way it was played years ago. Eliminate that three- or four-minute rule on the last part of the ball game and let it be played just as the rest of the battle was.

That way no benefit is gained by either club through a special ruling.

Pampa fans for the last two years have had little chance to see that rule work any other way than beneficially due to the fact that they have had winning ball clubs. But think how you would have felt had you been trailing in the final three minutes and had to see your team fighting to gain control of the ball but having the rules, the officials and the opposing score all against you. If a team is good enough to gain a lead near the end of the ball game it should be good enough to hold it through the final three minutes without the aid of special rules, or else they don't deserve to win it.

As far as returning to the jump ball after each basket, I can't see it. It provides too big an advantage for the team that can find one extremely tall man in school, and doesn't leave as much to playing ability. And it would slow down the game to the point where it might be too boring to see scores like 18-24 and 20-15.

Pro basketball has opened the game up, and it is so remodeled boys are superior in shooting to the same game. The scores of 110-102 aren't because the boys are superior in shooting ability. Of course that is part of the reason, but the main reason is due to the length of the game in order to provide more action for the customers. And pleasing the fan is the only way any professional sport can thrive.

I was glad to see that R. L. Edmondson picked himself up some boys in the draft at Baltimore this week. He came up with a pitcher and two infielders. And most fortunate was the fact that he lost none of last season's squad in the draft. The lowly finish, undoubtedly had something to do with the over-looked of any Pampa ballplayers.

The two infielders will probably be expected to plug up the hole at second base and the gap at third. Virgil Richardson will be back at the initial sack and Ernie Velasquez at shortstop. Those two spots we know will be well taken care of. But the other two were headaches all last season and cost many ball games, especially the third base situation.

Wednesday Ed swapped off A. B. Everett in a three-cornered deal that brought Bob Ferguson to Pampa. Fergie has been a good ballplayer potentially, and with the proper handling could become a good hitter. He was banged up much of last season with a bad wrist. His fielding suffered greatly when he was

Two Southwest Conference teams—Rice and Arkansas—take on inter-sectional foes tonight while Texas tackles North Texas State.

Rice's basketball team invades New Orleans to meet Tulane and Arkansas goes to Baton Rouge to take on Louisiana State.

Baylor last night won its second game in as many starts, dumping Texas Tech, 68-37, as Don Heathington scored 16 points.

Texas Christian came from behind to trounce Abilene Christian, 65-57, on the sharpshooting of sophomore Tommy Taylor, who scored 16 points.

Southern Methodist dropped a 67-83 decision to City College of New York at Madison Square Garden.

Class B Due to Add 4 Districts

AUSTIN — A tentative list of district assignments for 1950 Conference B football, released today by the Interscholastic League, adds four new districts and a new region to the 1949 set-up.

The new divisions were made necessary by the growth of Class B participation to 360 schools, an increase of 20 teams over the 1949 total. Extensive changes have been made in schools' assignments due to changes in enrollment, the addition of the 20 new teams to the conference, and an effort on the part of the districting committee to reduce the size of some of this year's larger, more cumbersome districts.

Among the schools added to the Class B list Dr. Rhea H. Williams, director of athletics for the league, announced, are two that were suspended during the past school year, and several which have been playing Class A football. Most of these did not have enrollment sufficient to qualify for Conference A competition, but were voted into the higher league. They are dropping out of the tougher league at their own request. Enlargement of some smaller schools, shifted back and forth between the infield and outfield, and more pitching strength and little more will be set for next season.

ANSWER: Northwestern 20, California 14 was the final score of the 1949 Rose Bowl Game.

LaMotta Favored In Fight Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

New York — (AP)—Middleweight Champion Jake LaMotta is the betting favorite to win and the fans' choice to lose in his non-title ten round bout with France's Robert Villemain tonight.

The two clash for the second time in Madison Square Garden. The stout-hearted little swing-er from Paris will have most of the customers rooting for him. Anvil-chinned Jake never has been any too popular and the rank decision he received over Villemain last March 25 didn't boost his fan mail.

Burning the Mid-Election Oil

Blowing Fuses

By GORDON MARTIN When arriving home from work one night, McGinley quickly learned that his household was in darkness and his wife was much concerned. And she said a faulty reading lamp had caused a fuse to blow and she couldn't do a thing without her bright electric glow. But McGinley told her not to fret—he'd fix it mighty quick, since replacement of a fuse was just a simple trick.

BY ERKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent PALM SPRINGS — (NEA) — The calendar says December but the thermometer says 90. The Story of the Savior by William E. Gilroy, DD

"And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger." (Luke 2:7.)

Mary had rejoiced in praise when told that she should bear the Christ-child. (Luke 1:46, 55.) "My soul doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour . . ."

She was yet to hear the sad prophecy by Simeon: "You, a sword shall pierce through thy own soul also." (Luke 2:35.) The mother of Christ was a mother of sorrow as well as rejoicing.

But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart." (Luke 2:19.)

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale

THE STORY: Audrey Yakov, blonde artist, wants to trade letters that will clear Eugene Blais of murder charges for a chance to examine a valuable cameo found in possession of Stephanie Trotter. In examining the cameo, she finds a secret spring and hidden away in the back with a paper which might be a clue in the case. Police are going to search for the cameo. Stephanie is now in New York and leaves, if they can, the mystery of the cameo.

As he picked Stephanie past the Chief's office, Reddy opened the door a crack. He saw Arnold Pfeiffer hunched in one of the big oak armchairs while Peters strolled at his side across the desk. The Chief looked up. "Yes?" His voice was brusque.

"Excuse me, Chief. Miss Smith and I are leaving for her place. Just thought I'd tell you."

"Okay, okay. See you up there in 15 minutes or so." He waved a hand in dismissal.

Reddy took Stephanie's arm. "Wow! The Chief's really got his back up about something. Wonder what Pfeiffer's been telling him. Find out soon enough, I guess."

The car bumped its lights up the street, picking out the purple blossoms of the mimbryanthemum that covered Hagar's parking strip.

Reddy leaned forward. "Don't see Yakov's car anywhere. I'm glad we got here first." He braked the car to a stop. "Did you leave your lights on?"

Stephanie was gathering up her purse and gloves. "Yes. I thought I might be coming back alone—I don't like to walk into a dark house."

Reddy gave her his hand as she climbed from the car. "Now you're showing good sense. At a time like this, a good, healthy well-founded fear is nothing to be ashamed of."

She fumbled for her key. "When is Inspector Trotter coming? I expected to find quite a reception committee on the front steps, and here we are all by ourselves."

Lions Club Holds Attendance Mark

The Pampa Lions Club is the only club in Lions International with 100 or more members that has 100 percent perfect attendance in the Lions contest.

President O. E. McDowell received a wire from Lions International headquarters yesterday informing him of the record set by the local club. Other clubs having less than 100 members also have a perfect record in the contest.

A second ten-week period of the attendance contest will be held early next year. If the local club keeps its record, it will be a winner of one of the major prizes in the contest, McDowell said.

Young Pampa Girl Recites Gettysburg Address for Club

Four score and seven years ago... began seven-year-old Donivee Ellison yesterday at the Lions Club where she recited the entire Gettysburg Address.

Donivee, an accomplished speaker, has spent three of her seven years addressing civic clubs and other organizations in 34 states.

Clad in a red, white and blue dress, the little curly-headed orator recited a lengthy poem which she said is "about Abraham Lincoln's favorite."

Changing her style, she next gave "Thanksgiving Blessing," which is a comical verse in Negro dialect. Her concluding reading was entitled, "The Difference," which was all about Gains and Rastus, who resided in Heaven and Hell, respectively.

Donivee is formerly of Odessa, although she is a native of Berger. Her family has lived in Pampa for about a month. Her father is an insurance representative. Donivee is a student at Woodrow Wilson and has three sisters, Jacqueline, Joan and Jane.

President O. E. McDowell appointed five men to serve on a special Soap Box Derby Committee. They are: Frank Culbertson, Frank Smith, Crawford Atkinson, H. M. Luna and Russell Kennedy.

Other Lions were selected as the Steering Committee for the 1950 Lions Minstrel. They are: Morris Ende, Arthur Teed, chairman; J. C. Daniels, Jim LeVerech, Paul Brown, John Kinard, Floyd Imel, L. J. Zachry, Frank Stallings, Henry Ellis, Phillip Harvey, H. M. Luna, W. E. Moore, Ray Salmon and Charlie Thut.

COTTON CROP 90 PERCENT COMPLETED

McLEAN — (Special) — A total of 3,705 bales of cotton had been ginned by the two McLean gins by Wednesday morning, and ginners reported that approximately 90 percent of the crop is now in. Some cotton is being brought to the Paymaster and McLean gins from out of the immediate territory. Ginners L. H. Earhman and E. R. Jones stated. Farmers are taking their cotton wherever service can be had, it was explained.

Much of the cotton now coming in has been alledd, rather than pulled, the ginners stated, thereby giving the farmer less money for the lint. Lack of sufficient frost has failed to open some of the green bolls, particularly on sandy land, it was explained.

Religion Is Personal and Social

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
One hears talk often of "social religion" and "the social Gospel." It is understandable that such phrases, with their emphasis, should come into use in protest against the idea that religion is a mainly, or purely, individual personal matter.

By such phrases actually are redundant. Can one imagine a religion that has in it any truth or any demands of duty that is not social? And, most certainly if there were a gospel that is not social, it would not be the Christian gospel. At every point in His teaching Jesus emphasized love and duty to man to man, and the fellowship of brotherhood, as much as man's own personal faith and his relationship to God.

The Hebrew prophets had essentially a social outlook. They thought of "Israel" as a people chosen and called of God, a nation with God-given privileges and responsibilities. To that people and nation they were supremely devoted in a loyalty that was itself a matter of religious intensity. They thought of the nation and the people as a whole, and they had much to say regarding the conditions and principles that had made for national happiness, as well as for national unhappiness.

Peanut Butter Filled Cookies

Christmas is coming! Fragrant and tantalizing smells are drifting out of kitchens these days, where homemakers are busy baking cookies and cakes, and making pies and candies for the holidays ahead. Most families have favorite recipes for holiday goodies, and filled cookies are always a favorite with children and grownups alike.

Filled peanut butter cookies combine an unusual and delicious flavor with nourishment. Here's a good way to supply the small fry and the grownups with necessary vitamins, in an easy-to-make, inexpensive cookie treat they'll all love!

- Take:
- 1-3 cup fat
- 1-2 cup peanut butter
- 3-4 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1-2 cup milk
- 1-2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 2 1-2 cups sifted flour
- Raisin or peach filling (or any cookie filling)

Cream fat, peanut butter and sugar. Add egg, milk, and vanilla and mix well. Sift dry ingredients together and stir into first mixture. Chill. Roll dough thin. Cut rounds with biscuit or cookie cutter, drop a spoonful of filling in center of one round and cover with another. Press edges together. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in a hot oven (425 degrees F.), 10 minutes. Makes fifty 2-inch cookies.

Christian Science

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 11.

The Golden Text is: "As birds fly, so will the Lord of hosts defend Jerusalem; defending also he will deliver it; and passing over he will preserve it" (Isaiah 31:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation" (Isaiah 12:2).

The late John L. Baird in England is credited with being the first to demonstrate color television, the year being 1928.

ST. LUKE, CHAPTER 2-7-20

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house of David);

5 To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child;

6 And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7 And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

9 And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

10 And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11 For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

15 And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

16 And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

17 And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

18 And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

The old, old story that never ages,
A tale that never has lost its thrill,
Of tender splendor—and never will.

Where is a story lovelier . . . stranger . . .
A baby born in a stable manger
To fill the earth and the skies above
With the power and glory of infinite love?

Beauty, adventure, and peace unfold
In a story fashioned with words of gold
To lift and magic the hearts of men.

THEY STILL SWEAR BY (OR AT) THE DIES COMMITTEE

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 11th of 12 dispatches by Peter Edson, NEA's Washington correspondent, dealing regularly in The News, relating the fight of the U. S. against communism's sweep in this country over a 30-year period.

By PETER EDSON
ALTHOUGH MARTIN DIES, the Texas Democrat, has been out of Congress for five years, the words "Dies Committee" are still swear words. Communists swear at the committee; anti-Communists swear by it. Officially known as the House Un-American Affairs Committee, the investigating body has come by its dubious distinction by devious ways. Dies asked the House, in May, 1938, to set up a seven-man committee to:

1. Examine the extent, character and objectives of un-American propaganda activities in the United States.
2. Study the extent of dissemination of propaganda from abroad attacking the U. S. form of Constitutional government.
3. Study "all other questions in relation thereto."

In 11 years the committee has spent $1,250,000, issued 63 reports, amassed a 30-volume library (26,000 pages) of public hearing transcript, and compiled a file listing hundreds of thousands who are suspect as Communist or pro-Fascist. Some good has been done. But the committee unquestionably has pulled some of the finest boners of our time. The Bill of Rights has been kicked around like a paid gas bill, from time to time, and even the proponents who say the end justifies the means do not seem to have the ring of conviction in their voices. One of the big criticisms against the committee is that its chairmen and members have used it for personal publicity. Whether this charge is true or not, it is a fact that the committee's force has depended largely on publicizing Communist activities, sometimes sensibly and sometimes merely sensationally. It is hard to attempt to list the concrete accomplishments of the committee, because most of them have been at best short-lived. But as a good to other agencies which had been more or less supine in

MARTIN DIES Still swear words... the fight against the Committee, the record is slightly more encouraging.

Year by year, the committee's highlights stack up somewhat as follows:

- 1938 - Revealed the recruitment of soldiers here by Loyalist Spain in violation of the neutrality laws. No good came of this; the executive branch moved so slowly for indictments that the Justice Department finally dropped the whole business.
- 1939 - Heard witnesses tell of Communist infiltration into the Workers' Alliance of the Unemployed, the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota and the labor movement generally. The CIO would not admit the truth of these charges until 10 years later.
- 1940 - Put Earl Browder behind bars for his first time as a Communist leader. His confession to passport fraud before the committee got him a four-year sentence, ended by President Roosevelt's pardon after less than two.
- 1940 - Issued its 1000-page "Red Paper," containing 281 documents showing Communist intent to overthrow the government by violence.
- 1940 - Saw passage of the Voorhis Act, requiring registration with the Justice Department of every organization under foreign control engaged in political activity.

Made 10 recommendations to Congress, only one of which was acted upon — extension of the committee's life.

Goaded the Justice Department into conducting a personal investigation of 4600 employees whose loyalty was questioned. The FBI looked into the lives of 2100 Federal servants, as a result of which 36 were fired and 13 disciplined.

Little if any action, because Russia was an ally.

Ditto. Dies, ill, announced he would not run for Congress again.

Made a permanent organization by the shrewd manipulations of Rep. John M. Rankin (Dem., Miss.). Rep. Joseph J. Hart (Dem., N. J.) succeeded to the chairmanship, did nothing, resigned in six months. Judge John S. Wood (Dem., Ga.) followed with the same achievement, though he did not resign.

Sp harassed the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, which was operating within the belief that the American public became aware of its intentions.

Year of the Big Wind. Under Rep. Parrot Thomas (Rep., N. J.) the committee set out to prove the Republican contention that the Truman administration was infested with Communies.

The big Hollywood investigation ran a week in May and played a two-week return engagement in October. This turned into a fiasco when the committee "tried" some 40 witnesses without permitting cross-examination of accusers or the right to make statements. Most of the witnesses fell back on their Constitutional rights and refused to testify; the 10 Hollywood writers who declined to answer questions about their Communist affiliations were cited for contempt.

The big spy stories, headlined by: (1) Elizabeth Bentley's tale of being a Commie courier; (2) the Alger Hiss - Whittaker Chambers-Papers-in-the-Pumpkin, revelations; (3) the charges against Dr. Edward U. Condon, of the Bureau of Standards as a "weak link" in the atomic security chain; (4) unsubstantiated charges by Member John McDowell (Rep., Pa.) that the U. S. shipped Russia 2720 pounds of uranium during the war. A major deflation of the publicity balloon, when Chairman Thomas was indicted by a federal grand jury for taking salary kick-

J. PARNELL THOMAS... but no more sideshow.

Reorganization of the committee, with Judge Wood reinstated as chairman. Limitation of membership to lawyers. Publication of many pamphlets. End of the sideshow atmosphere.

And so goes the Dies Committee, into 1950.

Next: U. S. Red spy record — too serious to be thrilling.

VD Hit 74 Texans Daily In 1948

AUSTIN — Gonorrhoea infected an average of 74 persons in Texas each day of 1948. That figure comes from communicable disease reports compiled by the Texas State Department of Health.

The more than 27,000 cases of gonorrhoea occurring in Texas in 1948 make the disease one of the most prevalent communicable diseases in the state today.

"Yet, some people are prone to believe that gonorrhoea is no worse than a common cold," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. "Who ever heard of a cold that could cripple and even cause sterility?" asked Dr. Cox. It is true, the state health officer said, that gonorrhoea may be cured in a very short while. But, he added, the disease can cause serious effects on the body.

Dr. Cox warned, "The danger that lies in gonorrhoeal infection is in that many persons will risk exposure to the disease because they do not think it is serious, and many neglect to seek medical advice and treatment until complications arise after being infected."

Price of Eggs Being Reduced

(By The Associated Press) Further reductions in the price of grade A eggs topped food shopping news this week.

Some stores cut pork items a little more, but most meats, poultry, dairy products and produce items held about unchanged from last weekend.

Coffee prices also steadied and many storekeepers said their coffee sales had dropped below normal as consumers apparently started using up excess supplies they bought during the "scare runs" a few weeks ago.

Eggs were down two to eight cents a dozen in thousands of competitive stores across the country for the second week in a row. And the Agriculture Department predicted that egg quotations will continue to drift lower through the flush season of egg production in the first half of next year.

American Liberty Being Threatened

BUCK HILL, FALLS, Pa. — American liberty is threatened by the Roman Catholic Church as well as by communism, says Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

"The Roman Catholic Church does not believe in religious liberty as we understand it," the bishop told the annual meeting of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church.

"The Communist Party," he added, "does not believe in civil liberty as we understand it." "I regret to record these matters," the bishop said. "However, Protestants must understand and face them to meet a crisis, now worldwide, in which freedom itself is at stake."
