Vacation Bible School at the Muleshoe Church of Christ will be June 7-11. There will be classes for all ages including adults. Class begins each morning at 9 a.m. and lasts until 11 a.m. The subject for study will be "The Christian Family". Anyone needing a ride can call 272-3070 or 272-4790.

Mrs. Marie Engleking of Many Farms, Arizona, who teaches in the Federal Indian School, was a guest in the home of Mrs. Vera Engelking this past week. She was in route to her former home at Newkirk, Oklahoma. She will attend Oklahoma University for special training at Norman, Oklahoma this summer.

Mrs. Herb Griffiths reported that the Band Uniform Drive has collected $4,000, only one half of the needed amount. She stated that this money will be put in the permanent uniform fund and will not be spent until the full amount is collected. The fund drive will be extended through the summer in order to collect the full amount needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Berry of Muleshoe visited her sister Mrs. Ester Fenton of Jasper, Ala. recently. During their stay they made a trip to the world's largest space exhibit in Huntsville, Ala.

The Berry's viewed space ships used by astronauts, saw a full-size moon rocket close-up, and walked on a simulated moon crater. They snacked on space food, fired a rocket engine, operated a lunar landing computer, and viewed a futuristic space station mock-up.

Jaycees Plan Hospital District Board Meets With Architect

All members were present at the Tuesday night meeting of the Bailey County Hospital Board as well as Bob Wingler of Wingler and Sharp, Wichita Falls architect firm.

Wingler was present at the request of the board in order to explain the hospital construction costs and avenues of acquiring funds.

Wingler pointed out that in the beginning his firm had estimated a 50 bed general hospital, television equipped, with operating and emergency facilities and laboratories with construction qualifying for medicare would cost an estimated $1,250,000. Due to increased construction cost, the architect now estimated the cost at $1,400,000.

Wingler said in order to bring the existing hospital up to a new hospital status, it would cost approximately two-thirds of the amount to build a new hospital. He also indicated the remodeled building would possibly be adequate for only a 10-15 year period with no room for expansion. Also, the existing facility would necessarily be closed for eight to nine months if remodeling was to be done.

He pointed out that at the time construction for the new hospital was running approximately $38 a square foot and remodeling was approximately $25 a square foot.

Wingler said due to medicare regulations, small hospitals which do not comply are being forced to close.

Wingler stated, in his opinion, a major remodeling would not be feasible for West Plains Hospital.

Dr. Charles Lewis, president of the Hospital District board, further explained that the total original Hill-Burton matching funds application was in the amount of $1,800,000 in order to comply with minimum Hill-Burton application regulations and that funds not used in the construction of a new hospital could be returned to Hill-Burton.

In answering various member's questions, Wingler discussed the types of applications made to Housing and Urban Development and Hill-Burton and pointed out that HUD hospital requirements are more along the lines of state requirements than those set by Hill-Burton.

It was brought out that there were 96 requirements for application to HUD at the time the Muleshoe application was made.

Wingler explained that at this time it was much easier to acquire funds with a Hospital District background.

NFO Negotiates For Contracts

The Bailey County National Farmers Organization met Monday night, May 31, at the Bailey County community room in order to discuss the proposed 1971 grain, sorghum and wheat contracts.

William Albert, field representative from Plainview, and Eldon Norris, field representative from Tucuman, were present at the meeting.

The National Farmers Organization is in the process of negotiating a contract with the American Grain Company for $2.65 per CWT minimum floor price on milo and $1.50 per bushel net for wheat.

Bailey County NFO grain chairman, Leldon Phillips, said the contract is to be ratified by the NFO members at a later date.

NFO grain contract will cover a six state grain producing area.

Sweetheart Presented To Lion's Club

Muleshoe Lion's Club met Wednesday, June 2, at the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church at noon.

J. W. Coppedge presented an audience participation program consisting of questions on current money spending programs in the nation. Thirty questions were asked and will be discussed at a later meeting.

The new Lion's Club Sweetheart was presented to the members. She is Miss Linda Middlebrooks.

The Lion's will have installation of their new officers at a special ladies night to be held June 25.

Dog Vaccination Day Will Be Held June 10

The local veterinarian has confirmed the fact that skunks in the Muleshoe area have rabies. If a skunk bites a dog that is not properly vaccinated, then the dog becomes rabid and dangerous. This creates a hazardous situation for the people of Muleshoe. Rabies shots for humans are painful, but if proper shots are not administered, rabies almost always cause death to humans.

The City of Muleshoe will have a dog vaccination day on Thursday, June 10, 1971, from 3:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. at the

THA Members Hear Health Care Trends

AUSTIN - - Some form of national health insurance will be in effect for the American public within the next several years.

The plan which finally will emerge from the U.S. Congress is highly uncertain at this time.

But whatever the form, Texas leaders in the hospital field are well aware their institutions must undergo broad changes to fulfill the demands for increasingly high-quality health care at reduced costs for greater numbers of people.

Discussions of proposed health insurance programs but, more particularly, the ways hospital services can best be tailored to fit health care delivery systems of the future were the focal point of the recent 42nd Annual Convention and Exhibit Show of the Texas Hospital Association in San Antonio.

Over 5,000 health-oriented registrants, representing THA and 16 related organizations, convened in the Alamo City for a five-day period to consider the monumental problems facing the health care industry.

Appropriately, the theme of this year's convention was "These Changing Times." And if any one central message evolved from the multitude of meetings, it is this:

Hospital leaders are entirely willing to assume the burden for the delivery of high-quality health care for all Americans by introducing whatever changes and innovations are necessary in the structure of hospitals.

This affirmation was succinctly expressed by W. Wilson Turner of Houston, newly-installed THA president at the San Antonio meeting, when he told the association's policy-making House of Delegates the current approach to health care at all levels has been "disorganized and fragmented."

Labeling federal health programs as a "broadly decentralized and highly fragmented set of patchwork activities," Turner challenged the policymakers to "acknowledge our stewardship by developing a comprehensive, integrated organization for the delivery of health care to all that will be effective at both the city and state levels and serve as a model for our nation's leaders."

In agreement with Turner was Stephen M. Morris, president of this year's convention was

John Tower Speaks On Drought Aid

NOTE: Since the Senator's report last week, the following additional federal drought assistance has become available.

Small Business Administration announced it would begin making long term low interest economic assistance loans to businesses suffering substantial economic injury due to drought. This assistance applies to the same 235 counties in which farmers and ranchers are already eligible for Farmers Home Administration low interest emergency loans. The 19 Texas counties not included in these programs are: Camp, Cass, Cherokee, Dallas, Franklin, Gregg, Harrison, Henderson, Marion, Morris, Panola, Red River, Rockwall, Rusk, Smith, Titus, Upshur, Van Zandt and Wood. counties not mentioned are eligible for SBA and FHA emergency loan assistance.

Agriculture Department extended its emergency conservation assistance to five more counties: Callahan, Castro, Hockley, Lipscomb and Parmer. And it provided another $1 million to the State ASC Committee to share with farmers in the eligible counties the cost of deep plowing and other conservation measures designed to reduce wind erosion. These actions bring this assistance to 67 counties and provide the State ASC Committee with a total $3 million in federal funds for this assistance. The 62 counties already eligible are: Andrews, Archer, Armstrong, Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Brown, Burleson, Burnet, Caldwell, Calhoun, Cameron, Childress, Cochran, Coleman, Collingsworth, Comal, Comanche, Concho, Coryell, Cottle, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Denton, DeWitt, Dickens, Dimmit, Donley, Eastland, Ellis, Erath, Falls, Fisher, Floyd, Foard, Freestone, Frio, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Goliad, Gonzales, Gray, Grimes, Hale, Hall, Hamilton, Hardeman, Hartley, Haskell, Hays, Hemphill, Hidalgo, Hill, Hockley, Howard, Hutchinson, Irion, Jack, Johnson, Jones, Karnes, Kent, Kimble, King, Kleberg, Knox, Lamb, Lampasas, LaSalle, Lee, Lipscomb, Live Oak, Llano, Lubbock, Lynn, McCulloch, McLennan, McMullen,

Corn Irrigation Guides Aired

Timely irrigation on corn can mean extra bushels at harvest and often more production per acre-inch of water.

"Corn irrigations should be applied with the plant's seasonal water use pattern in mind," explains Leon New of Lubbock, Area Irrigation Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Irrigations during high water use stages of growth contribute heavily to high corn yields while only slight increase in yields is obtained during growth stages requiring less water."

Generally, irrigation should begin at the six-to-eight leaf growth stage, he points out. The water requirement is normally about one-inch every ten days by this stage and increases rapidly as growth continues. Irrigations prior to six-leaves often produce rapid vegetative growth that results in a large, more lush plant early in the season. Such plants may require more water later in the season for grain production. Larger plants can increase the demands for irrigation water that is already limited on many farms.

"Corn has a high water requirement from just prior to tasseling through the dough stage of grain development," adds New. "Adequate moisture is especially vital to the corn plant during this period. Water use can be four-to-five inches during tasseling and selking, especially when temperatures are high. Irrigations should be keyed to this growth period."

New and Mack Heald, Farmer County Agricultural Agent, conducted corn irrigation studies last year on the Aubrey Heathington farm that supports this information. There was no yield increase from an irrigation applied at the six-leaf stage when the last of five additional alternate furrow irrigations was applied during the early dough stage about August 1. However, the application of six additional irrigations occurred during the dough stage on August 15 brought a 15 bushel per acre yield increase.

"Slight yield increases can be obtained if the first irrigation is at the six-leaf stage and optimum soil moisture conditions are maintained through grain development," contends New. "Such an irrigation program may be profitable where the irrigating capacity is sufficient to irrigate frequently enough to maintain these moisture levels throughout the later stages of plant development." "The big yield boost comes from irrigations at tasseling, milk and grain filling," says the specialist.

elect of the American Hospital Association, who told the opening session of the THA meeting that hospitals must become the focal point of medical care delivery to meet the nation's growing health care crisis.

Morris, along with the THA's new president, heads a "hospital system," which appears to be the trend in hospital organizations.

Turner is president of four hospitals contained within Houston's Memorial Baptist Hospital System, while Morris serves as president of Samaritan Health Service of Phoenix, Arizona, an organization of eight hospitals.

Without referring to his own operation, Morris counted off ON TAX LOOPHOLES

After reporting $40-billion a year in Federal revenue was lost through tax loopholes, Senator Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) has asked for an item-by-item accounting of this figure. The bill provides that each preferential tax section and the estimated revenue loss be listed.

the advantages of hospital systems over a single institution:

- * The capacity to organize high-priced management expertise.

- * The capacity to better utilize and plan on a regional basis.

- * The capacity to better utilize medical and professional talent effectively and efficiently.

- * The capacity to introduce economies of scale.

- * The capacity to provide a complete range of health services to a defined population group within a specified geographic area.

"This is what the public is demanding," Morris said. "They want to look at some identifiable organization or system for their complete health needs the same as they now look to the small branch bank in their own communities for their total banking needs. People expect medical care to be available, accessible, comprehensive and in continuity."

A factor hastening the development of hospital systems, Morris noted, is the growing desperation of smaller hospitals about their inability to remain financially solvent and to attract the management and medical talent they need.

"So we see far more hospital systems -- both proprietary and non-profit," Morris said. "The hospital then, rather than being a free-standing facility, will be the organizer, the arranger of total health services. It will program the resources and share in the financial risks."

"The hospital -- primarily through its administration -- will plan, organize, direct and monitor the delivery of services."

But to meet such broad demands, Morris said, the hospital of the future must place as much emphasis on outpatient as inpatient care.

As a result, Morris said, hospitals must look beyond their institutional walls.

In a closing session of the convention, O. Ray Hurst, executive vice president of THA, noted the growth of the Texas Hospital Association since 1956, when he assumed the post of executive director.

Since that time, THA has leapt from 347 members to more than 2,200 this year.

In 1956, there were 28,088 hospital beds represented by THA members. Today, members represent 76,000 beds.

The total budget for THA was $56,000 in 1956. Today, the budget for the association and its related non-profit Texas Hospital Education and Research Foundation is $2 million.

The THA headquarters building in Austin also was constructed under Hurst's supervision. During the past year, 172 meetings attended by more than 6,000 people have been held there.

Hospital...

The architect further said that in his opinion, HUD funds would possibly be available if applicants had their share of money on hand.

In other business, it was revealed that the Hospital District was approximately $3,500 in debt at this time.

Dr. Lewis said in order to borrow money a legal instrument from the Board would be required by the bank that had been approached.

C. G. (Grundy) Lewis requested that this instrument be further clarified to determine if this could put the hospital district in motion.

In compliance with a request from the State Board of Health it was voted to re-submit and update the application to Hill-Burton in order to keep this avenue for funds open.

C. G. Lewis stated that he was opposed to federal grants and was against a tax supported hospital.

Dr. Lewis reported that the area director of the Hospital Corporation of America had been contacted, but as of yet, had come up with no decision in respect to the Muleshoe hospital.

Creston Favor suggested that in order to become more familiar with the problems of the existing hospital, the Hospital District Board should meet with the non-profit hospital board at the non-profit board's next meeting. It was a consensus of the district board to do so.

A general discussion took place involving various types of funds, FHA, HUD and Hill-Burton. Also the problems of welfare and indigent care were taken under consideration in relation to hospitals.

Man's triumph over a Menace to Life...

Sharks have always been man's enemies in the sea. They are a danger to the shipwrecked, and occasionally threaten the lives of swimmers along our coastal waters. Sharks are only one of the many dangers that man faces every day. The world, today, is in a turmoil and we must be alert and on guard for the enemies' moves. Now is the time to trust in the Lord and to seek His help.

"Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. O my God, I trust in thee; let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me."

Psalm 25, 1-2

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Keeping as perfect as humanly possible an imperfect system of grading cotton was the primary purpose of the Universal Cotton Standards Conference attended by Ray Joe Riley of Hart, Chairman of the Research Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and Paul Bennett, PCG Secretary-Treasurer.

The Conference is held every three years to examine and approve "key sets" of the Universal Cotton Standards for use in this country and abroad during the next three years. In attendance at this year's Conference in Memphis, Tenn. were over 200 cotton officials and industry leaders from 10 overseas nations and the United States.

Foreign countries that are signatories and were represented at the Conference include Belgium, England, France, Germany, Italy, India, Japan, The Netherlands, Poland and Spain. In addition to these, representatives of producers, spinners, shippers, giners, exchanges and other segments of the U. S. cotton industry were present and took part in the work of the Conference.

Pursuant to the Universal Cotton Standards Agreement, first effected in 1923, all signatory associations examined and approved key copies of the Universal Cotton Standards to be used as the basis for trading American Upland cotton throughout the world for the next three years.

The "First Reserve Set" of standards approved at the 1968 Conference have since been sealed in the National Bank of Commerce of Memphis, and the Special Committee to Safeguard Standards almost ritualistically escorted this First Reserve Set to USDA's Memphis Cotton Division office May 18.

The 1968 set was opened that afternoon and matched to Key Sets of Standards for 1971, with opportunity for comments and suggestions from all delegates. A First Reserve Set, a Second Reserve Set, a Special Working Set for USDA and Key Sets for Signatory Associations were selected. Each Key Set contains a "biscuit," or standard cotton sample, representing the characteristics of all U. S. cotton grades.

Opening remarks for the Conference were by S. C. Rademaker, Director of USDA's Cotton Division. Addresses were heard from Dr. Clayton Yetter, Administrator, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Services necessary to the accurate prediction of fiber performance in the production system.

"Hopefully," Riley concludes, "in years to come we will see the Universal Standards Conference evolve into a forum for modernizing cotton evaluation techniques rather than a gathering for the approval of standards to be used in a highly imperfect system."

vice, and J. Dukes Wooters, Jr., Executive Vice President of Cotton Incorporated.

While the Conference delegates took no action on the matter, a demonstration was given of quality measuring instruments now being evaluated by the Cotton Division and there was much discussion of instruments now being evaluated by the Cotton Division and there was much discussion of instrument classing of cotton and the problems related to the standardization of cotton classification.

Bennett and Riley reported wide agreement among delegates in discussion periods that the presently used system of classing and pricing cotton by staple, grade, color and micronaire does not adequately reflect the end-use value of the fiber.

Riley said "We often ask spinners to tell us precisely what fiber properties they want. But they can't give us a realistic answer because of the vague relationship that exists between the "green card class" and cotton processing performance. And mills won't be able to give precise answers to our questions until sound, scientific, repeatable measurements are developed that include all

Congressman Price Plans Europe Tour

Congressman George Miller (D-Calif.), Chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee has requested Congressman Bob Price of Pampa to accompany him to Europe during Congress' Memorial Day recess. The Representatives will travel by regularly scheduled military airlift and will make stops in Wiesbaden, Germany; LeBourget, France, and Madrid, Spain. Price's presence was sought because of his membership on the House Space Committee and his experience and familiarity with jet and supersonic aircraft.

In Wiesbaden the Congressman will tour the Headquarters of the U. S. Air Force in Europe Air Force and Foreign Service officers regarding European defense planning and NATO balance-of-force levels. At LeBourget, France, Price, Miller, and company will be U. S. representatives at the 29th International Air Exposition, which will feature aeronautics and aerospace displays from over 700 exhibitors representing the major industrial nations. Price said, "As a member of the Space Science and Applications Subcommittee, I will be carefully examining the various aerospace exhibits to cull out those items which would help strengthen the U. S. space program. In addition, I will be evaluating the current status of the British-French Concorde, The European rival to the SST."

While in France, Price will make new efforts to meet with Nguyen Minh Vy, Deputy Head of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris Peace Talks. Price, who met once with Vy last September hopes to obtain specific information regarding the treatment and release of American POW's and MIA's, said, "Three pilots I flew jet combat with in Korea are known to be Communist prisoners and two others are listed as missing in action. I want to find out

Market Report

MARKET REPORT
COLLEGE STATION . . . Stretch your food dollar this week and take advantage of lower prices during seasonal peaks, suggests Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Best beef values include round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, liver and short ribs.

Retail pork prices are unchanged for the past three weeks. Look for best pork values on smoked hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end cut loin roasts and chops and liver.

Fryers are still excellent buys in most retail meat departments, and frozen turkeys are available in some stores at low prices.

Check prices on large and medium size eggs for lowest costs, comparing eggs of the same grade. If the cost difference of the two sizes is less than seven cents, the larger size is usually the best buy, Mrs. Clyatt says.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include oranges, bananas, lemons, strawberries, pineapples, corn, potatoes, head lettuce, celery, cabbage, carrots, broccoli, yellow onions, radishes and green onions.

Before returning to the United States the Congressman will visit the Deep Space Network Tracking Station outside Madrid which is one of the three major tracking stations positioned around the world.

Attention will be focused on the progress in the construction of a new 210 foot space tracking antenna which will be the only link with earth for the long range U. S. space missions of the seventies -- space probes and fly-bys to Jupiter, Saturn, Mars, and other outer planets of the solar system.

The reason some people don't stick to the truth is that such a policy would eliminate a lot of conversation.
