Most of Loot Taken in Raid Is Unclaimed

Four more peace officers visited the Pampa Police Station yesterday afternoon in an attempt to identify some of the loot taken from the Ash home at 928 Gordon following a Tuesday raid by local officers.

Sheriff Paul Gattner, Amarillo, Sheriff Hugh White, Tulsa, Sheriff Ted Andrews and Chief of Police Hoyt Curry of Plainview, were unable to spot anything on their lists of stolen items.

Outside of Sheriff Earl Hill, Memphis, only Sheriff Hugh Anderson was able to identify any of the items. Hill identified a clock, a string of pearls and a watch that turned up several days after the search. The watch had been pawned.

Meanwhile Chief of Police John Wilkinson and Texas Ranger Kelly Rogers went to Muskogee, Okla., to question Virgil Johnson, charged along with Alvin J. and Carl "Donny" Ash in the Memphis Foote and Fowler Drug Store burglary, where the pearls, clock and watches were taken along with a large supply of narcotics.

Johnson was held in Oklahoma by federal authorities on a narcotics charge and is also wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with other crimes coming within the jurisdiction of the federal government.

Both the Ash brothers are ex-convicts, Carl a one-termer and Alvin a five-time loser. Alvin served time in Granite, McAlester, Huntsville (twice) and a federal penitentiary term. Johnson and Carl were inmates on the same prison farm at Huntsville and came out together.

But officers were still unable to involve either of the Ash brothers in the Memphis burglary or the Tom Rose burglary. Also suspected of being implicated in the Brumley Food Market burglary, neither has given a hint they had "anything to do with it."

Two in Race For Justice Of Peace

The race for justice of the peace, Precinct 2, Place 2, picked up another starter yesterday afternoon when G. L. "Nat" Lunaford filed as a candidate.

Lunaford's entry made it a two-man race, officially, the other candidate being W. J. Cornelison, former Deputy Sheriff Carl M. Tucker announced but has yet to file with the Democratic Committee.

Like Tucker, this will be Lunaford's second appearance on the local political stage. In 1948 he flexed his political muscles in the Precinct 2 county commissioner race and came out a close third in the seven-man field that sent incumbent J. W. "Bill" Graham and Irvin Cole to the August runoff.

Tucker on the other hand was low man in the three-man constable race that sent incumbent W. F. "Bill" Langley and former Constable Earl Lewis to the runoff. Cornelison was a candidate for any of five in the 1948 or the 1946 primaries.

The office was vacated last year by the death of Judge Charles Hughes a few months ago. He was re-sworn into office.

He said the meeting is open to all tax-paying residents.

Immediate Coal Dispute Report Is Ordered by President Truman

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman asked his coal fact-finding board for an immediate report today on the present situation in the contract dispute.

The White House announced the president's move but declined to say whether it was preliminary to some further presidential action such as a move to seize the mines or a personal appeal for a resumption of coal mining.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles F. Ross summoned reporters to his office and told them: "The president this morning requested the fact-finding board in the coal dispute to call a meeting of the parties—the operators and the union—and ascertain specifically what concession has been made by each party in the negotiations and where each party stands at this time on each issue in the dispute and report to the White House as soon as possible."

Ross said all members of the board are in town.

"Mr. Cole was just notified to get busy immediately," Ross said. David Cole, Paterson, N. J., attorney, is chairman of the fact-finding board.

With the fuel shortage becoming more critical by the hour, government attorneys moved desperately to recover the ground they lost by a judge's decision yesterday that the United Mine Workers Union was not in contempt of court.

The first move scheduled was a request for a full 80-day injunction to replace the temporary non-strike order which 372,000 miners have stubbornly defied. Justice department lawyers also pushed plans for a swift appeal on the contempt issue.

In Congress, Senator Morse (R-Ore.) introduced a bill to authorize government seizure of the pits. He promised to seek emergency action on the measure at a meeting of the Senate Labor Committee today.

There were reports that President Truman was preparing a message for delivery to Congress, asking for short-term power to seize the pits and work them without advantage to either side.

The president told his news conference yesterday that a draft of proposed emergency powers—presumably calling for seizure—has been prepared by White House aides.

Mr. Truman also commented that the coal crisis is very serious and that he planned to carry out the letter of the law in respect to it. His critics in Congress said he had been too slow in invoking the Taft-Hartley law.

Under this act, the final move the president can make in a critical labor dispute is an appeal to Congress for whatever legislation he is needed to cope with the crisis.

The effects of the strike, if it continues, were expected to reach shattering proportions by next week. Leaders of industry said that the major plants will be halting operations on a wholesale scale for lack of coal.

In an interview with Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, he said that "no strike in the coal fields has ever imperiled public health or safety, this one included."

Enough coal is on hand, Lewis was quoted as saying, to last out the dispute, "if fairly distributed." And he said the dispute would end quickly if the (See DISPUTE, Page 3)

U.S. ARMS TO CAUSE RED RIOTS IN FRANCE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: French morale is low as the nation awaits the first shipments of U. S. arms—and perhaps a showdown with Communists. The situation is described here by the chief of the Associated Press bureau in Paris.)

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS—(AP)—The first boatload of arms that reaches France from America probably will set off a riot—and this may be a good thing for France.

Arms are expected early this month under the military aid program.

In America the date of such shipments is a secret. It almost certainly won't be a secret on arrival in France.

Every port is honeycombed by Communist agents. They are determined to carry out the party's threat to prevent the landing of any arms that will build up France's military strength.

French morale is about as low as it has been at any time since the war. This is the view not only of British and American diplomatic observers, but numbers of Frenchmen as well. The country has had a disquieting series of reverses and can't seem to do anything to help itself to get out

Essentials of Art Applied To Daily Life

Approximately 200 persons attended the banquet which was held in the basement of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Walton said in his speech, "We learn in art three essentials: simplicity, sincerity, and restraint." He then pointed out how the seniors might apply these three essentials to their lives through illustrations of their own work.

A Hawaiian theme was followed throughout the entire banquet, including the decorations which were arranged under the direction of Mrs. E. L. Anderson.

Harry Kong, Hardin-Simmons student from Honolulu, Hawaii, sang several Hawaiian songs both in English and in his own native tongue.

Mrs. George S. Vineyard, director of WMU youth work, welcomed the guests, and Jim M. Moore, Senior Class president, responded. Floyd Watson was toastmaster, and Mrs. Anderson introduced the guests.

The tables were served by twenty girls from the Junior Class of Pampa High School. Mrs. R. L. Edmondson is president of the WMU.

NEW BRITISH WAR MINISTER CALLED COMMUNIST; OUSTER IS DEMANDED

LONDON—(AP)—Lord Beaverbrook's anti-Laborite newspapers today demanded the ouster of Lettwiner John Strachey from his new post as war minister despite a stiff government denial that he ever was a Communist.

Both yesterday's tabloid Evening Standard and this morning's Daily Express played up some of Strachey's old pro-Communist statements, the likes of which twice got him into trouble with U. S. authorities on visits to America before the war.

The Standard said Strachey, named war minister this week, "remains an avowed Communist," and "has never publicly repudiated his belief in communism."

A quick reply from Prime Minister Clement Attlee's official residence at No. 10 Downing Street called the charges "disgraceful." The statement declared that Strachey "is in the fullest sense being publicly identified with the Labor Party's known attitude of opposition to the Communist party and its doctrines."

Merchant Group Asks Store Hour Change June 1

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Merchant Activities Committee voted yesterday to recommend Pampa stores' summer hours be started June 1 and run through Labor Day.

Summer hours recommended by the committee are 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. weekdays and 9 a. m. until 7 p. m. Saturdays.

At the meeting in the Chamber office yesterday, various angles on how local merchants may serve Pampa's trade area were discussed.

Frank Smith, chairman, said plans are now under consideration for conducting various surveys to see how the merchants may better serve the area.

Printed cards showing legal holidays in Pampa for 1950 were said to be ready for distribution to all local businesses. A resolution was passed by the committee to ask local banks to consider the advisability of adopting legal holidays to coincide with the holidays set up by the committee. Some of the members felt it is inconvenient for businesses to remain open on days when the banks are closed.

Special Session For U.N. in May Forecast

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—The critical issues of Red China and the atomic bomb appeared headed today for a special session of the U. N. general assembly in New York in mid-May. But U. N. leaders privately expressed little belief that such a meeting would entice the Russians back to the fold unless an unexpected break comes.

The Soviet delegation and its Eastern European allies have been on a walkout strike against U. N. organizations since January, refusing to sit with delegates of Nationalist China.

Informed delegates at the U. N. said the feeling is growing that something must be done; that the U. N. cannot go on forever with some of its members refusing to take part and with the East-West tension increasing.

So far, these sources said, the best bet appeared to be a special session.

The session might be called primarily to settle the China question and get the Russians and their satellites back into the meetings if possible.

Then, the assembly could be faced with the atomic control question. If there is a special session it might begin about mid-May. The regular 1950 session is scheduled next fall.

The Soviet delegation, meanwhile, kept up operations from its luxurious Park Avenue headquarters in New York City instead of coming out to Lake Success. Late yesterday Jakob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, sent a telegram to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie and U. N. Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo appealing to them to intervene to save eight Greek trade union leaders from death sentences.

Texans to See War Practice

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two Texas congressmen will witness the armed forces big Operation Portrex in the Caribbean next week.

Reps. Fisher and Teague plan to attend from Monday through Wednesday.

They will be aboard naval vessels during most of the operations, which will see 80,000 men joined in a simulated attack and defense of a tiny island near Puerto Rico.

Fisher is a member of the House Armed Services Committee. Teague is a combat veteran and regarded as one of the best informed men in Congress on military affairs.

Two Texas newspaper people also have been invited to witness the war games.

Editor Frank Grimes of the Abilene Reporter News left yesterday for Norfolk, Va., to board a ship.

Virginia Rainey, aviation editor of the Beaumont Journal, is listed among those who have accepted invitations to see the maneuvers.

Members of the subcommittee are Senators Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman; Eastland (D-Miss) and Wiley (R-Wis).

The full Judiciary committee may act Monday.

'Suicide' Element Eliminated In Hydrogen Bomb Dropping

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A method of dropping a hydrogen bomb which does not require a suicide mission has been worked out. And huge jet bombers which can carry the new weapon are being developed.

This information is part of a hitherto secret priority schedule for push-button warfare revealed in the Air Force annual report.

Since early in World War II, AF experts have been seeking various ways for an airplane to drop a bomb without going directly over the target.

Such bombing technique has several obvious advantages: The plane doesn't have to fly through the anti-aircraft fire usually concentrated around a city. And if a bomber can drop its load from 50 to 100 miles away from the center of the city, it's impossible to concentrate sufficient anti-aircraft guns in an area of that wide radius to be effective.

The same theory applies to air cover. It's extremely difficult and costly to intercept and shoot down an attacking plane that comes no closer than 100 miles of a target to accurately drop a bomb. While the idea of escaping the blast of a super-bomb was not original inspiration for this line of study, the H-bomb now gives it added reason.

There are several methods, now in advance development, for guiding bombs to targets.

Electronic gear in the bomb's nose can direct it to heavy concentrations of light, sound and heat as it falls. This is done with control vanes.

The best method yet developed permits the bombardier, by means of radio, to guide a bomb into its target. Control vanes on the missile, plus small wings, give the bombardier more control over direction and greater range to the bomb. The Navy's "Bat" is such a missile.

The bombardier watches the path of the dropping bomb on the radar scope which also shows the target, and thus can tell how to direct the course by radio.

Many of the details and descriptions of the various guiding systems and their application are top secret. So are the effective ranges of guidance.

To further insure the safety of a crew in a plane assigned to drop an H-bomb, the Air Force is working on several new giant jet bombers, all about the size of the B-36, which will have speeds in the 600-mile-per-hour range. Only one, the XB-52 which is being built by Boeing, has been announced officially, and only the barest details are available on it.

According to present plans, the XB-52 will be powered by eight new-type jet engines more powerful and efficient than anything yet made. It will be large enough to carry an H-bomb. It will have a range of 10,000 miles or more. In shape it will resemble the B-47 "Stratojet," with slim swept-back wings.

Although little is known about the exact specifications of the H-bomb, it is generally agreed among the experts that the B-36 is the only plane flying today that could carry it. At a speed of about 300-miles-per-hour there is good reason to worry about out of range of a B-36 getting out of range of the blast after dropping an H-bomb.

However, with the speed of the new jet "heavies" combined with the various bomb guiding systems, it is generally assumed that by the time a decision has to be made on whether or not to drop the H-bomb on an enemy, the suicide aspect of the mission for bombing crews will not be a factor.

Penelope Platypus Insists On 14,000 Worms Monthly

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In a dark basement of the lion house, your girl a finicky eater? Take your troubles to the Bronx Zoo. You'll get plenty of sympathy.

They have a girl — Penelope is her name — who's so fussy about her food that they've finally had to turn the lion house at the zoo into the biggest worm breeding farm in the world.

Penelope is a platypus, a small duck-billed animal from Australia who insists on 14,000 worms a month to stay alive and happy. And not just any old worm, either.

Three years ago, when the zoo got word that Penelope and two relatives were on their way from Australia, Christopher Coates was assigned as curator in charge of the platypuses.

"We started looking for worms, but the earthworm farms couldn't supply enough to meet the needs of the duckbills. Our initial order for worms was 25,000. Months later we received 3,596," Coates says.

So Coates and Keeper Thomas Callahan took up farming in the

After several months of digging and breeding, they figured they had a pretty good supply of worms.

They did, if they wanted to go fishing. But not if they expected to satisfy Penelope and her two companions. The crop from Coates' farm was the common earthworm, and Penelope wasn't having any.

While Penelope went on a hunger strike, zoo workers went worm hunting all over Bronx Park and neighboring parks. They dangled thin worms, fat worms, short worms and long worms under Penelope's nose, and she reacted like a child sniffing spinach. Finally they turned up a nice fat specimen in a pile of decayed leaves.

Penelope fairly snapped at it. Coates promptly tagged it the leafworm and filled his farm with leafworm eggs. Today they're being cultivated like prize dahlias. Callahan harvests two pounds a day, which is any- where from 250 to 2000 worms, depending on size and weight.

In his spare time, he also dishes up egg custard, crayfish and trout for Penelope and friends. But he doesn't use Penelope's dinner to go fishing.

Shivers Lauds Provisions for Infortunates

AUSTIN — (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers said "you and I" will look after the care of the unfortunate persons in Texas' state hospitals and special schools. "The Legislature decided we would do this Texas job in a Texas way," the governor declared, "without calling on the federal government for financial assistance."

In a radio report to the state last night on the work of the special session of the Legislature which ended Wednesday, Shivers said that Texas' first decent program of reform for state hospitals is in sight. The special session started on a problem without a dollar in hand, he said, and 20 million dollars on the line — 21 million for operation and 5 million for new buildings in the coming year.

"Tomorrow, as a result of this aggressive step, our state hospitals will be places where people can be brought back to mental and physical health — rather than unsafe, unsanitary places where they can exist without much hope of permanent cure. The magic formula that made possible, he said, was a combined vision, orderly planning and cooperative action.

"This great thing does not come as a gift from the Legislature to the unfortunates of Texas," he said, "and I will pay for it. In Texas the funds to support and improve our state hospitals will come from the smokers of cigarettes, the consumers of beer, wine and whisky, from the oil, gas and sulfur producers, the public utilities, the insurance companies, and others whose taxes were even a slight boost for the effective period of the appropriation."

McLean Theft Suspect Held

Denver, Colo., authorities told late this morning they were holding Ernest Glenwood Selens, age and home not indicated, as an armed robbery charge. The authorities said they believe Selens to be the man who burglarized the Bradhurst Hardware store in McLean of $237, two Winchester rifles, and the man who stole a 1947 Ford coach belonging to Ernest Kramer, McLean.

The sheriff's department did not say whether Selens was in the hold Ford when he was picked up. Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan said an attempt would be made to bring Selens back to Gray County for trial.

McDonald to Run Again for Agriculture Commissioner

AUSTIN — (AP) — J. E. McDonald, who said Jan. 24 that he would run for agriculture commissioner next year, reversed his decision yesterday. He will run for re-election.

Two state representatives, a Valley farmer who sought the office two years ago, a college teacher of vocational agriculture, and a former newspaper promotion man have been eyeing the job since McDonald's January announcement.

Some of the candidates may drop out. McDonald has never lost a race since he was first elected in 1930.

McDonald explained his new decision this way in a prepared statement to the press: "Many agricultural people believe that within the next two years a constructive and enduring agricultural program must be provided and that as Texas commissioner of agriculture I could be helpful."

"Therefore, I have re-considered and am a candidate for re-election." Asked later to amplify his announcement, he said: "The present and last Congress have been working on plans for a constructive, enduring agricultural program. My friends think I am deserting at the wrong time."

"I would like to retire, but my friends feel that I can be helpful in drawing plans for the future, I'm willing to give two more years."

McDonald had said his earlier decision to retire was based on his age, 68, and his desire to move to the Valley where four of his five children live.

Vaccine for One Type of Polio Made

CHICAGO — (AP) — Scientists have disclosed they have developed a vaccine that has immunized 90 percent of experimental animals against one form of infantile paralysis.

In a report to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, researchers at Michael Reese Hospital here said they obtained the vaccine by bombarding polio virus with a new type of ultra violet light.

They also said they are aiming at a form of the vaccine that will be safe and effective against each of the presently known three types of polio. The report said, however, that much more work must be done to refine the procedure before human trials of the vaccine can be attempted.

Dr. Sidney O. Levinson, director of the institute's research foundation who headed the science team that developed the vaccine, said the 90 percent immunity rate was scored on a colony of mice. He said the serum will not be tried on humans unless or until it can give immunity to all forms of polio.

Dr. Levinson said the next step in the research is to use the same ultra violet light treatment on the other forms of the virus and test the vaccine on animals. He explained the ultra violet light kills the virus but does not destroy its ability to stimulate immunity in a patient.

Dr. Levinson said heat or chemical destruction of the virus, the usual method for preparing vaccines, does not work on the polio virus because these agents also kill the immunity factor.

The mistletoe was worshipped by the druids in Britain.

Nichols Rites Set Saturday

Funeral services for Jack L. Nichols, 61, will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday at Duenkel-Carmichael Chapel, with the Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Mr. Nichols died at 5:15 p. m. yesterday at his home, 606 N. Hobart, after having been in ill health for several years. He was a mechanic before his health broke.

Born Jan. 2, 1889, at Rio Vista, Texas, Mr. Nichols moved from Oklahoma City to Pampa in 1938. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Martha Nichols, Pampa; four daughters, Mrs. Haskell Dill, Amarillo, Mrs. Melvin Lewis, Pampa, Mrs. Glen Goodwin, Shamrock, Mrs. Royce Hardy, Stamford; two brothers, Fred and Bob, both of Willowbrook, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Otis Wood, Wewoka, Okla.

Burial will be at Fairview Cemetery, Fairbairn, Minn. In addition to Mrs. Nichols, the survivors include Dale Bennett, R. H. Kitchens, Harold Beckham and Grady Sheriff.

GOOD RISK—Samuel S. Fels, president of a Philadelphia soap company, celebrated his 90th birthday by doing a full day's work just as he has for the past 74 years. Sixty years ago an insurance company turned him down for a policy because he was considered a doubtful risk.

DECORATIONS—Shown above is a portion of the decorations which characterized the Baptist WMU banquet held in the basement of the First Baptist Church last night in honor of the Pampa Senior Class of 1950. Dr. Truett Walton of Abilene was guest speaker.

Writer's Den Is Nice Place For Knitting or Television

NEW YORK — (AP) — Animals have dens, and ever since I was a small animal I wanted a den, too. Let me tell you about my den. When we finally became rich enough to afford a four-room apartment a couple of years ago, the wife of my bosom said: "For ten years you have been howling to have a den. Now I want you to take the small bedroom and make yourself a den. And from now on please do all your growing in it."

I told her I wanted it in red and green and blue. I said I wanted a beat-up old pine desk to work on, and a broken down old oak swivel chair to dream in. I said I wanted to cover the walls with a montage of photos from the war days — and pictures of old friends who had died during prohibition.

"Just a rough and ready den," I cautioned. "Nothing fancy." Well, a carpenter came and hammered out a high-priced built-in typewriter cabinet. The door is so hard to open that I have never managed to get the typewriter out — and that is why the great American novel has never been written.

Then a thin-faced, ascetic-looking gent arrived from a department store and perpetrated some draperies by the window. The draperies had brown horses rearing against a chateaux background.

"Look, Man-o'-War might like those — but I don't," I complained. "They're real manly," said Frances. "What did you want on the draperies — men chasing pretty ladies across a meadow?"

Why not? Next a beautiful white birch desk and stiff upright chair arrived. I am afraid to use the desk for fear of getting fingerprint marks on it, and I'd rather lie on the floor than sit on the chair. It's more comfortable.

The other day I saw Frances measuring a space by the wall. "For a television set," she explained. When I objected I didn't want to turn the room into a theater, she asked: "Are you going to be stingy with your den?" "It's for a different kind of hyena than you married."

"I don't see what you're hollering about," she said. "This is a nice room now. I love to come in here and do my sewing." And that is why I am going to buy a pup tent and pitch it in the living room. A man's den is just his wife's idea.

Child Actress Returns After Brief Lay-Off

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The retirement of Lora Lee Michell, nine-year-old film actress recently the subject of a stormy custody battle, lasted less than a month. She started work in a new picture yesterday.

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Michel, foster parents who won custody of the child, changed their minds about taking her back to Texas, a studio press agent quoted Mrs. Michel: "Lora Lee is happy here. She loves acting and she loves Hollywood. It would be a shame to cut her career short at this point."

The child is not under contract, but makes more than $100 a day when she works. The Michels adopted the girl in Texas in 1945 and her natural mother, Mrs. Lena Brunson, lost her bid last month to get the girl back.

Federal Dam Plans Opposed

ABILENE — (AP) — A proposed federally-constructed multi-city dam on Clear Fork to supplement Abilene's water supply will get no help from the Abilene Chamber of Commerce water committee. Last night the committee, on the motion of Howard McMahon, Abilene Reporter-News publisher, urged instead that the city construct a detention dam and pump flood waters into nearby Fort Phantom Hill reservoir.

Recently Abilene was allotted 30,000 acre feet of flood water annually from the Clear Fork by the state board of water engineers.

The federal project was boosted by Harry E. Burleigh, state planning engineer of the reclamation bureau. He said a desirable dam site for serving Abilene and 30 other area towns with water had been found in the southwest corner of Throckmorton County, about 35 miles northeast of Fort Phantom Hill.

He estimated the cost of the project at $24,000,000. The cost of the pumping project was estimated at $500,000.

Medical Loan Talks Slated

DALLAS — (AP) — Possible financial aid to two Baptist hospitals will be considered here next Tuesday by the executive board of the Baptist General Convention.

They are the Valley Medical Center at Harlingen, a General Convention institution, and the Baptist Memorial Hospital at San Antonio, owned by the Southern Baptist Convention.

Dr. Wallace Bassett of Dallas said that the San Antonio Baptists need about $75,000 to apply on a $1,200,000 wing now being added to the memorial hospital.

Baptist officials here have not estimated how much is needed by the Valley Medical Center to rescue it from financial difficulties. There have been reports that the Center needs financial aid because of uncollected accounts receivable.

Prehistoric settlers of Western Texas and New Mexico were mostly hunters.

Smorgasbord Serving Will Begin Sunday

Smorgasbord — Swedish-type supper served buffet style — will be served from 5 to 9 p. m. each Sunday at the Schneider Hotel Dining Room.

A smorgasbord consists of a large variety of hors d'oeuvres, hot and cold meats, smoked and pickled fish, cheeses, salads, relishes and desserts.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bonham, dining room managers since Jan. 1, have been in the restaurant business for more than 20 years. They have served smorgasbords at their own restaurant in Chicago and various places in Nebraska where they have managed restaurants and clubs. They managed the Country Club here from April, 1949, to January, 1950.

Lions Club Hears Former Resident's Support Appeal

Robert "Finky" Sims, at yesterday's Lions Club luncheon meeting, appealed for support of the local Red Cross current fund campaign. Sims is general chairman.

He showed a sound movie which was put out by National Red Cross. Part of the work done by Red Cross workers was presented, including Navy men at Pensacola getting first aid instruction, physicians issuing Red Cross first aid certificates, Red Cross workers assisting in disaster areas and Junior Red Cross workers at work.

Sims said 11 members of the club have agreed to assist with the drive. Paul Brown, chairman of the Lions Club minstrel Talent and Rehearsal Committee, said additional members and their wives are needed in the chorus. Practice is held in the Palm Room at 7:30 p. m. each Monday, Wednesday and Friday for the chorus.

Vice President H. P. Dossier presided in the absence of President O. E. McDowell, and introduced the March Club Lion, Paul Crocker, who is a Scout of Troop 14.

Class 'A' and 'B' Finalists Due Today

Canyon and Gruver Still In Running

BULLETIN
AUSTIN — (AP) — Little Gruver edged Canyon, 48-47, this morning to reach the finals in Class B in the State High School Basketball Tournament. The other finalist in Class B was also to be determined today.

AUSTIN — (AP) — Finalists in two divisions of the State High School Basketball Tournament will be determined today, but the third — the big one — just gets underway.

Class A and Class B cut to semifinal size yesterday and last night. Birdville (Port Worth), Canyon, French (Beaumont), and South San Antonio advanced in Class A. Canyon, Gruver, Forrester and Waelder in Class B. Canyon meets Gruver in the first Class B game today at 8:45 a.m. Forrester then tackles Waelder, followed by Birdville and Canyon, and French and South San Antonio.

Austin of El Paso meets Hargling this afternoon at 10 p.m. in the opening game for Class AA, the big school division. Three hectic games and five that never bored were unrecalled yesterday before crowds ranging from a few hundred in the morning to an estimated 4,000 for the night session.

Richard Zamora sank 27 points to lead South San Antonio to a 44-33 victory over Lehart. This was the highest individual total of the first day of the three-day tournament. The score in this game was tied five times in the first half and the lead changed hands nine times in the first two quarters. Canyon beat Bishop, 37-25; Gruver edged Warren, 42-41; Forrester tripped Marfa, 31-29; Waelder defeated Early (Brownwood) 38-26; Birdville squeezed by Teague, 44-33; Canyon rolled over Gaston (Joinville), 54-2; and French flattened Ballinger, 35-18.

Two free shots by Leslie Cator with about 20 seconds remaining gave Gruver its up-hill victory, while Forrester's narrow win resulted largely from the play and 12 points of Billy McCready. Canyon and Waelder had comparative easy victories, but Birdville found the going rough. A desperate stalling game paid off by one point.

For Canyon yesterday's victory was the sixth against one defeat. Gruver and Forrester had to chop down taller opponents to win. They made up in spirit what

Baseball Training Camp News Briefs

(By The Associated Press)
PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Hank Behrman and Joe LaFata of the New York Giants, forced out of action by minor ailments, were expected back in action today. Behrman, a relief pitcher, yesterday had an operation for removal of a cyst from his jaw. First base candidate LaFata came up with a swollen right ankle.

MY Biggest BONER

Myatt Didn't See Burns Tag First, Expected to Force Sisler at Home

By GLENN MYATT
Former Cleveland Catcher
It was with Cleveland that I pulled my biggest boner. I remember it well because the great George Sisler was the runner who scored as a result. We were battling the Browns in St. Louis when this happened, and they were no pushovers in those days. They had the bases full and none out or one out. Anyhow, a double play was what we were looking for. A right-hand batter was up.

SWC Grid Teams Play Twin Bill

DALLAS — (AP) — For the first time in history two Southwest Conference football teams will play intersectional games on the same day in the same stadium next fall.

Oct. 14 in the Cotton Bowl, Texas will meet Oklahoma in the afternoon and six hours later Southern Methodist will clash with Oklahoma A&M. The "double header" will furnish a comparison of the popularity of the two top drawing teams of the conference. SMU in the past three years has become the top challenger to Texas in football attendance. Last year SMU bested Texas by a long shot by crowding 848,000 fans into the Cotton Bowl for eight games. Texas, however, only played six home games. Now comes a direct test. The Texas-Oklahoma game always is a sellout. But what will it do to the SMU-Oklahoma A&M game? If that is a sellout, too, it will mean more fans will have seen football in one stadium on a single date than in southwest-ern and possibly national history. The Cotton Bowl seats over 75,000. One thing sure is that Oklahoma fans will get a big break. They can see both of their state schools play without moving out of their seats.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — No. 1 laugh-getter on the boxing beat these days is a reference to Vic Marsilio's, Feb. 29 date at St. Nick's. . . Seems Vic insisted on getting some of his fighters on the St. Nick's card in February and matchmaker Teddy Brenner told him "okay" on the 29th. . . "It was two days later that Vic became suspicious and looked at a calendar. . . No. 2 item is the fact that Willie Pep, an American of Italian descent, and the Frenchman, Ray Fanechon, will fight in the Garden St. Patrick's night — and with all the Irish fighters that are around these days. . . It's a bit odd, but Fanechon appears to be a rather odd character. . . He's an ex-coal miner and he has a missing toe and a damaged hand as a result of falling asleep on the track and being struck by one of the mine cars.

Coaches to Pick South All-Stars

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Texas High School Coaches Association Committee to select the South All-Star football squad of 1950 will meet here tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Standard Lambert, head football coach at Lamar College of Beaumont and publicity director for the association, said no announcement of squad members would be made until invitations had been accepted. He said the committee would work out final decisions for the selection of the squad.

The South All-Stars will meet a similar group of all-stars selected from the Northern half of Texas in a game climaxing the association's coaching school to be held here next July 31-Aug. 4.

Carl Price, Waco High School football coach, is chairman of the Selection Committee—and also represents Class A.A. Robert Schultze of Lamar (Houston) represents the City Conference on the committee; Emory Deson, Gaston (Joinville), Class A and Johnny McNabb, Bishop, Class B.

The directors of the association held an executive session here last night to transact routine business. They were to meet with the Austin Chamber of Commerce today to work out details for the coaching school.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hassel—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Two major league clubs have won their league pennant only one time. What clubs are they?

SPRING TRAINING FOR THE MAJOR LEAGUES, which got underway March 1, brought along with it several changes in the playing rules for the 1950 season. These changes not only are of importance to the players on the field but to the fans in the stands so they can better understand the game. So here is a quick rehash of the new rules of operation.

As far as the pitchers are concerned, there are two main changes to watch for. One is that height of the pitching mound has been standardized. The rules require that every mound be 10 inches high and slope gradually to the baselines. Mounds have varied in type, height and texture much that it was throwing the pitchers off form from town to town. Some places have even changed the height of mounds overnight, depending upon who was to pitch the next day.

The other change that will most affect the hurlers is change of the strike zone. It is now defined as the "space over home plate between the hitter's arm pits and knees when he assumes his natural stance." The natural stance of some hitters is a crouching one, which is legal, and which more and more hitters will adopt in order to reduce the throwing distance to the opposing pitcher.

The crouch could cut the strike zone by as much as one-fourth. Another altered rule provides the catcher must keep one foot in the receiver's box when the pitcher is issuing an intentional pass. Both major leagues interpreted this rule differently last season.

Another change makes the umpire the judge if unportantlike conduct has prevailed when a base runner slides into an infielder to break up a double play. The ump has the power to call the batter out even if the ball did not reach the base in time.

Two other minor changes say that a starting pitcher must go through a completed game to receive credit for a victory and that the pitchers are not permitted to apply rosin to the ball or to their uniforms.

Tickets for the basketball banquet are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office, at Frank Ledet's Jewelry Store, Wilson Drug, Johnson's Cafe, Pampa Office Supply, and at Berry's Pharmacy. The banquet will be held on March 11, at 7:30 in the Senior High School cafeteria.

The banquet honors the Pampa Harvest basketball team, two-time conquerors of the Amarillo Sandies this season.

Guest speaker for the occasion is Coach Claire Adolph Ibbas, head of the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League and the St. Louis Browns in the American League have each won but one pennant.

Boudreau Tells Rosen He Will Start at Third Base for Tribe

MIAMI, Fla. — (NEA) — Al Rosen hopped a plane for the Indians' training base in Tucson today, a letter from Lou Boudreau.

Manager Boudreau's informant, Rosen, 24, that he was the Cleveland third baseman.

This means, of course, as long as he can hold the job. Boudreau's early tip to young Rosen is evidence that the Illinois alumnus has a solid hunch Ken Keltner has tapped out at 34, after 14 years in organized baseball, 12 of them spent with the tribe.

There were signs all the way along the line last season that the Milwaukee Dutchman fired his last shot enjoying his final campaign helping the Indians to the world championship in 1948.

Boudreau assuring Rosen that he is the Indians' third baseman also means the boss still feels capable of playing plenty of shortstop.

"It's this year or never, Rosen insists. A highly intelligent chap, he says he'll get out of baseball and into something else if he fails to make it this trip.

Rosen is certain to get a thorough trial, for other clubs, the Senators, Yankees and Browns, for sure, await the Cleveland decision.

This is the Indians fourth look at Rosen. Ellis F. Hawley, Greenberg and Company either must string along with the young man or dispose of him.

There are to be two divisions of six teams each in the National-American Football League, with the 13th club, Baltimore, a swing outfit playing each of the other 12.

Watch the Colts next fall. They'll use a swing shift. With the amalgamated professional circuit composed of two divisions, and each team using two platoons, the entire game smacks of militarism.

A poll of newspapermen on the biggest sports upset of the last 50 years resulted in the decision that the Boston Braves of 1914, who won the pennant and the World Series although they were in last place on July 4, were the surprise team of the era.

Bosh. You remember bigger surprises? For instance:
1. The time you hit the daily double.
2. The time you wrote for World Series tickets—and got them.

3. The time you went to the golf matches—and it didn't rain.
4. The time you paid $50 to see a championship fight—and you could actually see the ring.
5. The time you got a seat on the 50-yard line, without having to see a scalper.

Betsy Rawls Ousts Alice; Marlene Wins

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — The surprising Betsy Rawls of Alamo, Texas, met Polly Riley of Fort Worth in the semifinals of the South Atlantic Women's Golf Tournament today.

Miss Rawls, shooting four-under-par, yesterday eliminated the heavily-favored Alice Bauer, another Texan, one up on the 20th hole.

Miss Riley entered the semifinals by beating Betty Bush of Hammond, Ind., 4 and 3 yesterday.

In the other semifinals bracket, Mary Arnes Wall of Manomone, Mich., meets Marlene Bauer, sister of Alice. Miss Wall advanced by defeating Mary Lena Faulk, thrice Georgia State champion, in the quarterfinals.

Lajoie Declares Averages Drop With Old Ball

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (NEA) — At 74, Napoleon Larry Lajoie asks you to guess his age. Until you see that he is slightly stooped and carefully when he walks, you'd never suspect it unless you knew they pulled him off a Woonsocket, R. I., hack to make him the model of all second basemen and many hitters in 1924.

Larry Lajoie Ty Cobb.

looks more like a college professor than a stickout member of baseball's Hall-of-Fame.

"The kid today isn't tough or aggressive enough to match the stars of my day," says the big and graceful Frenchman who three times led American League hitters — .406 in 1901, .385 in '03 and .381 in '04.

"And then he came Ty Cobb," he beams. "We had batters who hit .400, or crowded it, with the dear old dead ball — Cobb, Big Ed Delahanty, George Stone, Tris Speaker and some more. On top of the muckball, pitchers were permitted to dirty and doctor it."

"But even with the rubber ball that has been in use since Babe Ruth started hitting home runs, there are very few good hitters around today. Ted Williams must be a remarkable hitter, but I saw him only the one time. The average-major league hitter of today bats no more than .250."

"What baseball needs is a few more young fellows with the Cobb and John McGraw spirit. More blood and guts! If a player gets a hang nail today, he is carried off on a stretcher. If you sprained an ankle in my time, you taped it up, and hustled back to contend for your job. Or you sat on the bench, and didn't get paid."

"Things are made too soft for the kid of today, and that's the way he plays out the string. Look at those $100,000 bonus babies, lads who haven't even a throw caught or hit a ball in real competition. How about those who get $52,000 and an automobile for signing?"

"A standout prospect was lucky to get a bicycle for signing when out of the majors until 1916. I played, and they didn't get me. The average salary was $25,000. It certainly was tougher and different then. Veterans made newcomers go the hard way. They gave them no liberties with their jobs. Nobody went around saying 'please' to a recruit. And that stood good until McGraw bowed out in comparatively recent years."

"Now they hand it to the new players on a silver platter, and, in my opinion, they're making a mistake. It makes for a weaker breed of cats."

Lajoie, who has lived in Florida since 1944, and now resides in a ranch-type home in the fashionable Hillside district of Daytona Beach, was so great that they changed the name of a club in his honor. When he managed the Cleveland Indians, they were known as the Naps.

Most ballplayers are soon forgotten, but Lajoie was so extraordinary that the addicts, right down to the small fry, still re-gel.

Rickey Suspects He Sold White Sox Appling's Successor in Carresquel

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla. — (NEA) — Asked for his Biggest Boner in Baseball, Branch Rickey replies that it might be this winter's sale of Alfonso Carraquel to the White Sox for $35,000.

In passing along Chico Carraquel, at what for him is a bargain basement rate, President Rickey of the Dodgers suspects he has dealt the Chicago American's successor to Lucius Benjamin Appling they have sought so long.

At 41, and after 20 years of shortstopping—19 of them with the Fale Hose—Luke Appling has to be near the end of the line. That being the situation, Mahtma Rickey makes it quite clear that he would have asked for and got more for the promising youngster until their minor league eligibility runs out. Then they are either ready for the big step or properly "fattened up" for the market.

"It was a bad deal," laments Rickey, now busy setting up bigger and better pitching and batting gadgets at the Vero Beach base. "I spoke too fast."

"I was talking to General Manager Frank Lane of the White Sox about a lot of players, and made the error of putting a price on the wrong man. "Frank darted in, took me up on Carraquel. "I was committed, and stuck with what I said."

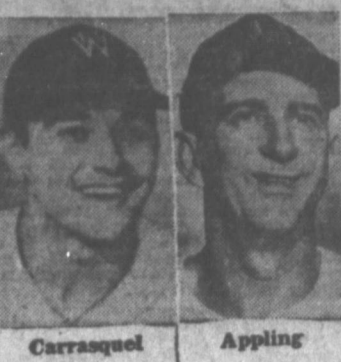

It would be nice to see the White Sox get a break. Their faithful followers richly deserve one, and since Lane moved in, the Comiskies have made a stout effort to improve the club.

The result is that the White Sox are headed back to the spot they held when the Black Sox scandal of 1919 blew the team Charles Comiskey organization asunder.

The franchise, again one of the best in baseball, was sadly neglected for years. That is one of the business' strangest stories—how two clubs in the great city of Chicago, the Cubs and White Sox, could be so consistently poor so long.

It stresses the tremendous value of intelligent and alert organization in this game, or in anything else, for that matter. This undoubtedly had much to do with the winter's changes on the National League side in Chicago.

And the White Sox were practically without a front office until the Comiskey family called in Frank Lane.

the draft, you see, could have been retained by the Brooks for another year of development.

Rickey always hangs onto budding youngsters until their minor league eligibility runs out. Then they are either ready for the big step or properly "fattened up" for the market.

JC Tourney In Semifinals

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — The State Junior College Basketball Tournament entered its semifinal round today with defending champion Tyler leading four of the four teams left in the running.

Tyler last night ran over Paris 74-46 to enter the penultimate round. Amarillo will be the Apaches' foe in the semifinals. Amarillo reached there by downing Tarleton State 65-44.

Lon Morris and Wharton are the other teams left. Lon Morris beat Kilgore 51-47 while Wharton took out Allen 44-27 in yesterday's quarterfinals.

Semifinalists in the consolation bracket are Ranger, Lamar (Beaumont), Blinn and Howard County. Ranger advanced with a 57-50 victory over Navarro County. Lamar trimmed Laredo 82-58, Blinn licked Schreiner Institute 55-45 and Howard County felled Del Mar of Corpus Christi 44-41.

Ted 'Kid' Lewis Still in Game

LONDON — (AP) — Ted (Kid) Lewis, the ex-welterweight champ who barnstormed America 20 years ago, still is hanging on in the fight game as a manager and talent scout.

Lewis entered the professional boxing wars in 1910 as a skinny little 14-year-old featherweight of about 120 pounds. He quit the ring 15 years and 250 fights later as a full grown high-heavyweight of 170 pounds. Now, at 83, he weighs just over 200. His thick blond hair has disappeared and what's left is silver but his blue eyes still are bright.

Although he held the welterweight title for two years during the first World War, Lewis is best remembered by American fight fans for his marathon series with Jack Briton.

The 18-year-old Englishman met the 30-year-old Briton for the first time in New York in March, 1915. In the next six years they fought 20 times, thoroughly covering the eastern United States.

Lewis won three of the fights; Briton four. The rest were "No Decision" bouts, usually because won 140 fights, lost 22, fought six draws and 62 no-decision fights.

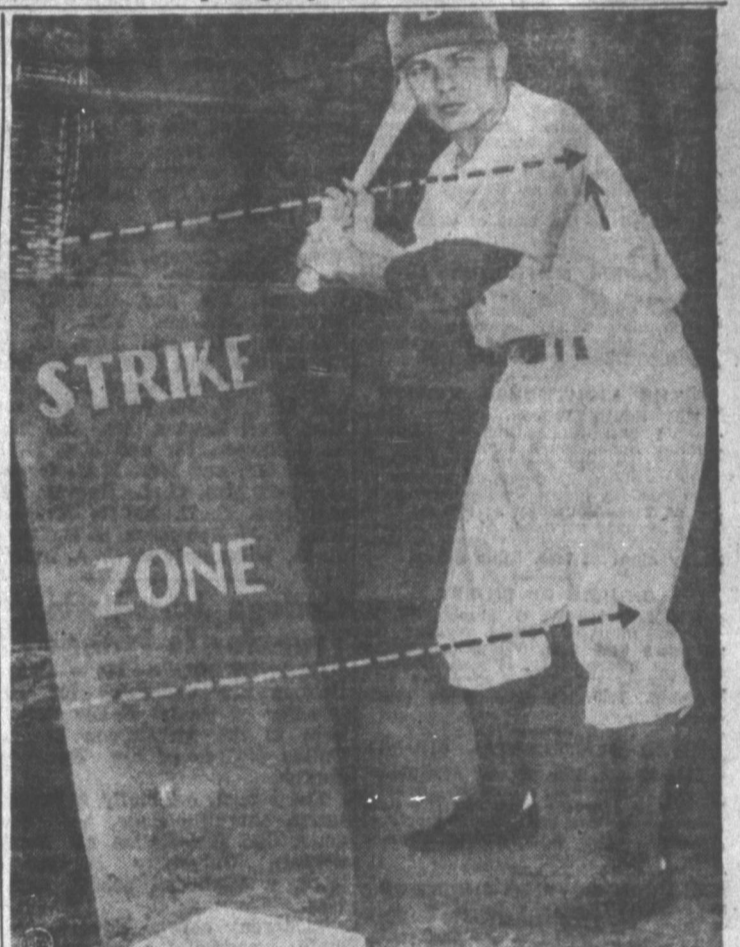

"I love the States," he says. "I was married over there and my son was born there." He's managed various English boxers — none of them very successful — and still has a stable of "a couple of kids. Nothing much, but I'm still looking."

He also scouts for talent for a pair of London fight promoters who specialize in showing new faces.

Money? Well, definitely not the hush days of three decades ago, but, says Lewis: "I'm getting along. Just tell 'em I still love 'em in the States."

member him, although he has been out of the majors for 33 years. He averages 20 letters a week, mostly from hero-worshipping kids.

Larry Lajoie's fabulous performances are pretty hard to forget.

NEW PITCH—Boston second baseman Eddie Stanky demonstrates strike zone which has been redefined by the committee studying baseball rules. A strike now is a ball over the plate between the batter's armpits and the top of his knees. It used to be the player's shoulders. The umpire will judge the batter's normal height in case of a croach.

College Jurisdiction Transfer Is Planned
BROWNWOOD — (AP) — Negotiations are underway for the transfer of Daniel Baker College here to the jurisdiction of the Dallas diocese of the Episcopal church.

The school, originally a Presbyterian church college, has been under the jurisdiction of Southwestern University of Georgetown, a Methodist school, since 1946.

Yesterday college directors formally accepted the return of the college from Southwestern.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 5.

The Golden Text is: "Know ye that the Lord is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture" (Psalms 100:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace" (Psalm 37:37).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is the creator of man, remaining perfect, the divine idea, and the divine Principle of man or reflection, man, remains perfect" (page 470).

To trust God when we have securities in our iron chest is easy, but not thankworthy; but to depend on Him for what we cannot see, as it is more hard for man to do, so it is more acceptable to God. —Feltman

There is a confidence necessary to human intercourse, and without which men are often more injured by their own suspicions, than they could be by the perfidy of others. —Burke

Episode, Old Yet New, in Ephesus

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Ephesus, in the days of the Roman Empire, was the capital of the Roman province of Asia. Situated at the mouth of a river, three miles from the sea, its ample port made it a most important point on the route of trade between Rome and the east. Silt from the river made constant care necessary to maintain the port, and after the decay of Rome the harbor began to fill up, and the modern place is inland from the sea.

Much of interest was associated with the place, but its significance for our story, drawn from Acts 19, was in the strength of its pagan religion, which centered in the goddess, called Diana in Acts, but actually the goddess Artemis. This goddess, reputedly fallen from Heaven, was worshipped in many parts of the east as the huntress goddess, and also as the many-breasted goddess of fertility, with rites in her worship of a degraded nature to which perversions of that conception easily led.

Here, at Ephesus, was a great temple to the goddess. Throng came to worship at various times of the year, and the worship and the throngs made much opportunity for profitable business. Worshipers in the temple presented shrines to the goddess. Among the poor such shrines were of terra cotta, but the rich presented shrines of silver. The terra cotta shrines were later thrown out by the priests, but the silver shrines were hung in the temple, until great quantities had gathered and then they were melted down.

Obviously the making of such shrines was very profitable to the priests, and they naturally were stirred up when the worshippers fell off under the success of Paul's Christian teaching — Paul spent nearly three years in the city — and the demand for silver shrines declined.

Among themselves they said, "Our craft is in danger"; but that might not have been of much appeal to people unconcerned about their profits. So they made a religious issue of it, concealing their personal interest and stirring up prejudice, by crying that the great goddess and her temple were being despised, and her magnificent shrines destroyed.

Their ruse worked to the extent that a great riot was started in which Christians and Jews would have been in danger of being killed, had not the town clerk managed to stop the riot and dismiss the assembly.

The interesting story is old, but ever new. Never, when great reforms are planned, or effort is made to suppress vice, or anti-social practices, are these things defended for what the yare. It is not so long ago that the most ardent advocates of liquor were decrying the saloon, and giving the strongest assurances that it would never return. But the rallying cry was about "personal liberty." The gambling interests today have entrenched themselves around the taxes they pay for old age pensions, and if profits from doubtful things can arrange for taxes to go for schools, or for some other socially worthy project, their defense is secure. Disreputable businesses shelter themselves around what will happen to reputable business if they are suppressed.

Ancient Ephesus is not as old as it seems.

Entire Family Routs Prowler
EDINBURG — (AP) — It took the entire D. A. Smith family to subdue a six-foot youth who broke into their home Wednesday night.

Sue Smith, 16, screamed when she awoke to find the prowler in her bedroom. Smith tackled the youth, and they fought through the living room, onto the porch and out into the yard and driveway.

Mrs. Smith phoned police. Sharon, 11, and D. A. Smith, Jr., 5, joined the battle with any weapon they could find.

"If it hadn't been for my women folks, we wouldn't have won," Smith said after police took the youth away.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY BEGINS IN THE HOME

CHART 1 DELINQUENTS

1949	BOYS	9

These figures show that delinquency among our juveniles goes on and on month in, month out, year in, year out. True, some headway is being made, but it will take more than our law enforcing agencies, working alone on the job. They can't do it all. It is up to each of us, as parents, to help replace the 1949 question marks with figures much lower than those of previous years.

As Good Parents You Should.

- 1—Give the love and companionship so necessary to your child's welfare;
 - 2—Attend church with your children;
 - 3—Support personally the many fine organizations that provide recreation for boys and girls;
 - 4—Devote some of your time to personal service in the activities that minister to the young;
 - 5—Help spread good cheer and human understanding to families not as fortunate as your own.
- Wise parents know that duty to their children is more than food, clothing and shelter. They know that the home life needs to be more attractive to childhood; that wholesome recreation for their own boys and girls and their neighbor's children is the best way to prevent trouble and sorrow when the critical years are upon them.

Meat Loaf Can Be Company Fare

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Staff Writer If you bake a large juicy meat loaf, using beef, pork and veal and flavor it subtly, you will have a no-worry meat dish for company. At the same time, bake potatoes and acorn squash. That's pretty easy, isn't it — and the result will be a bountiful, well-balanced and delicious menu for your guests.

COMPANY MEAT LOAF One and one-quarter pounds ground beef, 1-4 pound ground pork, 1-2 pound ground veal, 1 clove garlic finely chopped, 1-2 cup chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley or celery leaves, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 1-2 teaspoons salt, 2 beaten eggs, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 slices cubed, soft bread, 1 cup warm milk. Mix meats well. Add the garlic, green pepper, parsley or celery, seasonings, mustard, eggs and Worcestershire sauce. Soak bread cubes in warm milk. Add to meat mixture. Mix all ingredients thoroughly.

Using loaf pan, bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Then turn meat loaf out on a greased, shallow baking pan. (The meat loaf will keep its form, won't crack and will have a browned crust.) Pour 1-2 cup boiling water around the loaf. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. Baste with liquid every 15 minutes. Serve with Piquant Sauce.

PIQUANT SAUCE One 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, few shakes tabasco sauce. Combine tomato sauce and horseradish and heat to boiling. Then add Worcestershire and tabasco.

SHARING RESPONSIBILITY FOR PARENTS Dear Mrs. Friend: Both my husband and I have brothers and sisters and we both have mothers who need financial help. His attitude is that my brothers should help my mother and that he and his brothers should help his, that the daughters should not feel they need to contribute to the mothers' support.

Dear Wilma: I believe that married people should share all of their responsibilities as well as their pleasures and so I think that you should help both of your parents. It seems to me that your husband's attitude grows out of a feeling that the man of the house is the one who makes the money and that he should be the one to pay it out. It would explain his feeling that your brothers should care for your mother.

British Election Has No Meaning

THE OUTCOME of the British election goes down in the record as a victory for socialism. It would have been a victory for socialism no matter which party won.

John Bull had sold out to the socialists, so that all that the voters had to choose between was socialism Labor style and socialism Conservative Party style. They were in the same boat as the American voters were in the 1948 presidential election.

The Conservatives tried to out-promise the Laborites by telling the voters they would build a bigger and better welfare state at less cost. They didn't say how the costs were to be cut. Campaigners usually don't bother about such details.

About the only distinction between the two platforms was a promise by the Conservatives that they wouldn't nationalize the steel industry, which the Laborites are determined to do in spite of hell and high water.

ANY LITTLE John Bull who wanted to see the whole lousy mess of socialized medicine and socialized everything else chucked into the dump truck was out of luck in the British election. He could yell Hail Britannia until he was black in the face. Britannia couldn't hear him because the Socialist Party had taken over. It had taken over both major parties.

Had the Conservatives come out on the election of junking socialism, the platform would have been something to get excited about. The Churchill crowd might have won. Who knows? Anyway a nip and tuck race would have indicated something of profound significance.

AS IT IS, about all the election outcome means, as it was conducted, is that it is becoming evident to some Britishers that the promises of the Laborites and their performance are two entirely different things.

One reason that Britain is stuck in her socialistic rut is the New Deal policy toward the Laborites. If it hadn't been for the financing of Britain's socialists by American taxpayers there's plenty of good solid ground for thinking that the industrial government would have bogged down out of sight long ago. But our New Dealers wouldn't let that happen. Even Churchill, who is a shrewd old duck in spite of getting licked in his own election, with Stalin was instrumental in getting American taxpayers' dollars for the socialist setup in England.

SO FAR as we're concerned in this country, the British election is important in one way. It is a lot different from that in England. The New Dealers are setting up a welfare state right here, and the Republican Party, instead of offering us a chance to knock out the welfare state, comes along with a program for a welfare state of its own. That's what the Conservatives did in England. We'd better watch out.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Richest U. S. senator is said to be Democrat Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma. He was born in a log cabin, rose to become his state's first native-born governor and its Democratic national committee man. He won a by-election at the 1944 Democratic National Convention in Chicago and a vice presidential possibility until President Roosevelt gave the nod to Harry S. Truman.

Senator Kerr's fortune has been built up in the oil and gas business of the South West. In spite of his wealth, Senator Kerr has been considered a New Dealer.

All this lends more than usual interest to Senator Kerr's sponsorship of amendments to the Natural Gas Act of 1938, now before Congress. His principal amendment would remove from rate-fixing regulation of the Federal Power Commission all "independent" natural gas producers, if they sell "at arm's length" to interstate pipelines and distributing companies, and if they don't sell direct to consumers.

Eighty percent of all U. S. natural gas is now produced by companies which would qualify as regulation-exempt "independents" under the Kerr amendments. Asserting that the real purpose of these amendments is to "trip" the price of natural gas in most parts of the United States, Charles H. Rhyne, Washington representative of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, estimates that if the Kerr amend-

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1950)

The article entitled "Inside Pegler" by the Rev. William Smith, S. J., in a Catholic magazine called "The Sign" was calculated to create an impression that in rejecting his views on labor organization I had shown contempt for his cloth. The effect of that propaganda, might be unfair hostility to me and I detect a note of gloating in one passage which gives me to believe that this was Father Smith's desire. This controversy carries an invitation to Father Smith to state his position on unionism in my column and my later judgment that he had done a very poor job, especially for a priest of the learned Jesuit Order. I said, in brief, that he had laid an egg and it is plain in his own text that his personal resentment highly seasoned his essay in "The Sign" wherein I must assert that he laid another egg.

I already have quoted from several comments by other priests to prove that Father Smith's feud with me is not sacerdotal but personal. Further to that effect, I submit a portion of the text of an unsolicited letter from another priest as follows: "I have just read an article in 'The Sign.' Convinced from a rather serious conversation, I find lots of time to read, and digest what I read. May I say at the outset that I have re-christened the article 'The Egg and I.' Once that egg is revealed to the reading public, it seems to continue to roll, in anticipation of Easter Monday, all over pages of 'The Sign.' To this reader, at least, it does not roll very gracefully and an egg can do such a thing, it seems to rebound, the thinking of the author of the article. "In all honesty and, I trust, with some degree of humility, I believe that I understand your position concerning the present unions quite well.

"It has always been a comparatively easy thing to whip out an encyclical to flatten an opponent in a controversy. It is much, much more difficult to know the mind and interpret correctly the words of the author of an encyclical. Encyclicals invariably are confined to the status of a principle which is inflexible but not necessarily infallible. The application of these principles to particular cases is a matter that requires much thought, meditation, experience and prayer to the paraclete. The spirit of the encyclical forgives criminals, but they have to go to prison or the chair just the same.

Philip Murray, for example, though not a violent man himself, officially consorted and cooperated with the Communists during the wild criminal insurrection which was the organizing process of the CIO. But for those organized crimes the CIO would not exist today. Those crimes were offense against the government of my country. No matter what arrangements Murray may have made with his pastor by confidential treaty I hold him responsible for his own degree of guilt. His CIO empire is the illicit proceeds of those crimes and he must make restitution. There is also an important matter of punishment which the law forgives criminals, but they have to go to prison or the chair just the same.

"I believe that I understand you when you say 'Wipe out the unions and start all over.' Knowing that you are a friend of labor as well as an outspoken enemy of communism, may I be bold enough to paraphrase those words in a manner which I think you would not object to. I would wipe out these unions and start all over. The very fact that you say 'start all over' indicates rather obviously that you believe it possible, albeit difficult, to have unions stripped of racketeering, to say nothing of the illegality in adherence to points regardless of the frighteningly damaging and disastrous effects upon the safety, well-being and legitimately procured and steadfastly guaranteed peace, happiness, prosperity and well-being of millions of citizens. Not being a psychiatrist, I would not even presume to say any more than merely mention the psychological effect that the actions and threats of these unions constantly exercise upon the lives of the weak and the strong. "The underlying reason of all this is very easy to find. It is because these unions are founded upon false principles as well as an apparent ignorance of, or an unwillingness to even listen to, the natural principles of justice. I would not say nothing of practical

"Why Go the Way Of Great Britain?" Since the United States seems to be following in the socialistic footsteps of Great Britain an address made by proxy by a wise old Englishman, Sir Ernest Benn before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at New York on January 20th should be interesting to Americans. Sir Ernest Benn is the author of many books. He is one of the few rich men who understands free enterprise, and who can write and clearly explain his expressions.

"When my son was in England during the war, he had an hour's chat with Sir Ernest. Sir Ernest contends that a little of Bastiat's philosophy, which this column was responsible for publishing would be worth a lot of Lend-Lease to the British people. That is if they could get the economic philosophy of Bastiat they would be much better off than just having a lot of Lend-Lease money from America. I quote from this speech: "Even if my personal circumstances had permitted me to accept your generous invitation to come in person, to talk directly to you, and enjoy a few hours in the society of a lot of free men, I should have felt impelled to decline. I am not prepared to accept the only terms on which my government will allow us to travel. I have in the past enjoyed my full share of a good dinner, and one of the happiest things on earth is an American genius for hospitality. But I have always been able to meet you on more or less level terms. I could, for instance, offer a handful of pounds or a box of candies, at my own expense, to a charming young man. Now I can only come to you as a pauper, possessed it is true of a sufficiency of devalued English pounds, but absolutely barred from securing of my own right, the dollars or dimes to spend as I myself would like to do. Being, perhaps, a pig-headed Victorian, having spent three-quarters of a century in a typical atmosphere, I am not prepared to put technicalities in this curious and uncomfortable position. Furthermore, I was able on occasion, when some of you visited England, to offer hospitality in a typical English home, now far too big for an Englishman to maintain in present conditions. "There is an alternative. Were I willing to join some official delegation for the purpose of setting up a control, let us say, the various magnetic poles, I could fly to and fro across the Atlantic, enjoy a life of luxury and do my full share in governing new grounds for the benefit of the world's peaceful nations of the world. I blush to think of the large numbers of my fellow countrymen who are battling on the American tax-payers' dime for the purpose of a bluish in present conditions. "What the planners have done to currency and monetary exchange illustrates perhaps better than anything else what is happening to the normal and natural responsibilities of healthymen. "Socialism is not a system, it is a disease, and we English have at long last discovered that indubitable truth. The 'something for nothing' mentality is, in fact, as the Henry Wallace wing and the Republicanism of the House and Senate. The Rayburn-Barkley forces believe that it is because of ADA's amateurish and impetuous tactics that the present Democratic Congress has escaped from their control and white House management. "DINNERS — The revelation of ADA's low rating around the White House came a few weeks ago, when it held a series of local dinners in honor of the anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt. In reality, the celebration was designed to prevent a further decline in its prestige and fortunes. Although President Truman is more available for partisan rallies, dinners and other raising mounds than any chief executive in recent memory, he did not appear at an ADA dinner, despite attempts to obtain his presence. Vice President Barkley, who is also a great party-goer, flatly refused to attend any of the "splinter" affairs. "It was also noticeable that the only Cabinet member to appear at these dinners was Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman. Inasmuch as he will be the administration's liaison man with all liberal groups, his attendance was obligatory. None of the Democratic leaders from Capitol Hill were on hand. "GRIPES — Mr. Truman is a man of deep and bitter memories, as recent events have demonstrated. He has not forgotten that the top organizers and leaders of ADA were among those who demanded that he step aside for "Ike" Eisenhower in 1945. "But even if he had forgotten, the ADA's past and present misbehavior gripes him. It was Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, national chairman of the organization, which forced a civil rights placid into liberal platform over the White House objections. That led to the loss of four Southern states for Mr. Truman in 1948. WASHINGTON — A "splinter" group which aims to take charge of the Democratic Party in the post-Truman days for fear it will come under conservative control is heading for serious trouble, perhaps the rocks, only a few years ago, after its founding. It is the leftist faction known as the Americans for Democratic Action.

The man in the White House regards it as a movement designed too blatantly for the glorification of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and the politically ambitious members of his family now on the political stage.

FIFTH — Mr. Truman recently deplored the fact that there were really "four parties" rather than two in the U. S. — Truman Democrats, Southern Democrats, the Henry Wallace wing and the Republicans. If he had expressed his real and bitter feelings, he would have named the ADA as a pretentious and presumptuous "fifth party."

Besides irritating Mr. Truman, this small and self-centered organization has angered the regular leadership of the House and Senate. The Rayburn-Barkley forces believe that it is because of ADA's amateurish and impetuous tactics that the present Democratic Congress has escaped from their control and white House management.

DINNERS — The revelation of ADA's low rating around the White House came a few weeks ago, when it held a series of local dinners in honor of the anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt. In reality, the celebration was designed to prevent a further decline in its prestige and fortunes.

Although President Truman is more available for partisan rallies, dinners and other raising mounds than any chief executive in recent memory, he did not appear at an ADA dinner, despite attempts to obtain his presence. Dames In Slacks

By GORDON MARTIN

There is much that stupid men don't know, about the current styles, and the way that women use their clothes to exercise their will. For a man just doesn't understand a hat that's off-the-face, or why gowns are trimmed with sequins or with fine chintilly lace. But wherever men folks gather, you are sure to hear some cracks 'bout the awful way most women look who venture out in slacks.

Now a man's convinced that slacks are mostly worn by two extremes, and that neither one comes close to any fellow's fashion dreams. For it seems some gals who like long pants have lots of extra weight, which is something that a pair of slacks can save accentuate. Or it's skinny dames who wear 'em and believe they're lookin' fine, but their britches make you think of clothes a-flappin on the line.

Oh it's true that slacks are sometimes worn by many fancy dolls, but a man is sure that trousers never look right on the molla. While a pair of pants is something that most all the gals possess, it's a comfort now and then to see a babe who wears a dress. Although knowledge of the fashions is a thing a fellow lacks, he can tell you mighty quick just how a woman looks in slacks.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

Sometimes a very few words spoken at the psychological moment can have a tremendous effect upon shaping a person's life. I remember very well the words that a victory came to me before I told me back in my early years. I was having a rather difficult time of it trying to get located in something I could make my life's work. I guess I must have spoken in despair a great deal about my failure to find any "opportunities."

On one such occasion this wise old neighbor spoke out with some feeling: "Opportunities!—When will you young people learn you don't have to go out looking for opportunities! Men don't have to worry about finding opportunities—because Opportunity is always on the search for men."

He pulled on his pipe a few moments and gave me a chance to try to digest what he said. Then he added, in a more kindly voice: "There is no need to fret and strain, son. There is no need to go around anxiously and feverishly searching for an opportunity. There are a thousand opportunities looking for you this minute. But they can't find you because you haven't put up any flag. The trick is to first become something you can advertise. Become a doctor, a lawyer, a good mechanic, an expert on street cleaning — whatever's in your blood. But you've got to be 'something' before opportunity can find you. When you start to become something — then hoist your banner and announce what you are — and opportunities will beat your front door down."

His words hit home. At the time I wasn't anything but a poor boy looking for a job. Worse, I had no idea what I wanted to be. But I soon made up my mind. Salesmanship was in my blood. I became a salesman — I studied until I became an "expert" on salesmanship. Then I hoisted my banner, and dusted off the welcome mat. My friends were right. Opportunities almost beat my door down.

Many important ADA-ers object to the organization's present management. They have evidence that it has become mere publicity agency for a few officers and favorites. They base their criticism on the Feb. 18 edition of ADA World.

The eight-page edition carried the picture of National Chairman Humphrey three times. It mentioned his name eleven times. Director Charles M. La Follette, former Republican congressman from Indiana, was mentioned seven times. FDR, Jr., was featured in one photograph, as was his mother, and he got honorable mention four times. The "Rosevelt" name elaborated every page. Even Theodore Roosevelt's name got into the select list — once.

President Truman's name appeared only three times, and then in connection with routine news stories. National Chairman Boyle did not even "place," and is sore!

Bid For A Smile

Mother—Have some more of my alphabet soup.

Junior—No, thank you, I couldn't hold another word.

We heard the other day of a man who paid a psychologist $50 to cure him of an inferiority complex — and later was fined $2 and costs for talking back to a traffic officer.

Mechanic—The horn on your car must be broken.

Motorist—No, it's just indifferent.

Mechanic — Indifferent? What do you mean?

Motorist—It just doesn't give a hoot.

So They Say

I think the first order of business for this country in 1950 is to turn from the easy acceptance of deficits as a way of life to the making of a specific and hard-headed plan of getting back to black ink and a long-run program of sound debt management.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, former chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, head of Federal Social Security Administration.

Here Are the FACTS ABOUT

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

It Is Proposed...

★ For Elementary Schools

- To add 24 new classrooms to existing elementary units, bringing the capacity of each to 500-600 students.
- To provide each elementary unit with adequate assembly rooms for children, teachers and patrons. This will allow the sixth grade to be housed in the elementary schools, and removed from Junior High School Campus.
- To provide needed toilet facilities and replace worn out heating systems in some elementary schools.
- The elementary schools at present contain 62,480 sq. ft. This program will add a total of 61,528 sq. ft., which will be about equally distributed between the four elementary schools.

Est. Cost 1 to 4 $ 750,000

★ For Negro Schools

- To provide adequate classroom building for twelve grades for Negro Children, to be of Brick Veneer, and of a type which may permit additions as needed.
- A Tile and Stucco building suitable as assembly room and gymnasium for the Negro Children and Patrons.

Est. Cost 5 and 6 $ 90,000

★ For Bus Barn

- To provide suitable and safe storage and maintenance facilities for the fleet of school busses. There are 21 now in operation representing an investment of over $100,000.00.

Est. Cost $ 50,000

★ For Vocational-Physical Education-Gym

- To build a combination vocational and physical education building to provide classrooms for High School Vocational Training, physical education offices, dressing rooms and showers; and a Boy's Gymnasium with 2,000 seating capacity.

Est. Cost $ 275,000

- To equip and furnish 1 to 8.

Est. Cost $ 85,000

Total Proposed $1,250,000

★ Do Our Children Need It?

- Because of overcrowded conditions, the whole sixth grade is in Junior High Building, forcing the ninth grade into the High School Building. This puts over 1,000 students in High School, which was designed for approximately 900.
- The average enrollment in the elementary school classrooms is from 32 to 34. Under best standards, 24 to 26 per classroom is recommended. In Junior High School there is an average enrollment of 33 to 42 per classroom. The total school enrollment this year is 4043. Next year's increase will bring it to 4265.
- Existing facilities for the Negro Children are wholly inadequate. In addition to poorly equipped and crowded classrooms, they have to come to the Junior High Gym for their basketball games, and other activities of that kind. Court Orders and Legal Rulings are holding that equivalent facilities must be provided if we have separate schools.
- We have over $100,000.00 investment in 21 busses, with a probability of having to increase them. The working conditions of those charged with their maintenance is almost intolerable. The present barns could be called fire-traps, and are very unsightly. Safety and the protection of a continuous high investment require better housing for this Department.
- In High School, only a small part of the Boys who want to take Vocational Courses are able to do so. Additional facilities for those students who do not expect to go to college but expect to be able to take jobs in the Industries of this community, are sadly needed.
- Then there are over 1,000 High School Students whose directed physical education must be had in one gymnasium. It is crowded every period of every day. They can and do stretch a curtain across the middle of it, and Boys can use one end while Girls use the other. Obviously there are not enough periods in the day for them all to have proper instruction. From information we have, it appears Pampa is the only Class AA School in Texas where physical education is not a requirement for graduation. Here it is impossible.

- In addition there is no place with seating capacity to handle conference basketball games, tournaments and other events which make this phase of school activities self-sustaining and self-supporting. We feel that portion of the cost of this building devoted to athletics would be self-liquidating, as it would be the one revenue producer in the program. However, our High School Students need it even if it should produce no revenue.
- Thus it can be seen that every part of our system, from elementary to High School is overcrowded, and without additional facilities, we must soon come to Half Day Schools.
- The above expansion will relieve the pressure at every point for several years. After which new schools must be built.

★ Can We Afford It?

- The following table shows the comparative financial picture of ten typical School Districts in Texas, most of whom are now further expanding.

School	Tax Rate	Valuation	Bonded Debt
Abilene	1.10	51,000,000	1,607,000
Amarillo	1.28	123,000,000	3,444,000
Beaumont	1.50	88,000,000	4,886,000
Borger	1.65	28,000,000	1,138,000
Highland Park	1.25	68,000,000	2,382,000
Lubbock	1.30	71,000,000	5,106,000
Pampa	.88	53,000,000	92,000
Pasadena	1.39	65,000,000	2,981,000
San Angelo	1.38	41,000,000	1,861,000
Wichita Falls	1.50	55,000,000	1,127,000

- At present, Pampa Independent School District has a possible maximum Tax Rate of $1.00 of which $0.88 is levied. Without increasing the rate above $1.00, the present maximum, our schools can be operated and this Bond Issue retired.

- In fact, after the Bonds are issued, we would still be in the best financial condition of any District in Texas.
- Except for the High School, we have had no new construction in 15 years. We have perhaps been too conservative.
- This program will cost the average home owner about $3.00 per year in additional taxes.
- Surely we can well afford to provide our children with those things essential to their well-being and their schooling.
- We can't afford not to do this.

★ The Citizens Committee is a group of your friends and neighbors — parents, patrons and home owners interested in the betterment of Pampa schools. Its nucleus is the group who met in the County Court room on Feb. 16, as published in The Pampa News. Our interest is not sectional or selfish. Our ONLY interest is the welfare of the children in our school district, within practical limits. Anyone so interested is a part of this committee.

We are committed to the above program included in this bond issue, as being necessary, sensible and economical. It has resulted from weeks of study and thought, gathering facts from every source, and expert opinion. It is a minimum program, and is the least—not the most—we can do to provide proper educational facilities for our children.

★ CITIZENS COMMITTEE

Baylor Automatic Watches are now the official timepiece of the Pioneer Air Lines, General Robert J. Smith, airline president, announced in Dallas, following presentation ceremonies at which William Zale, vice-president, Zale Jewelry Stores, Baylor Watch distributors, placed an official watch on General Smith's wrist.

All pilots, dispatchers, station managers and executives of the Pioneer Air Lines will depend on Baylor watches for accurate timing of all flights.

"The model approved," Mr. Zale pointed out, "is a 17-jewel water-resistant and shock-resistant movement with automatic re-wind feature. It uses the beryllium balance which makes the movement completely anti-magnetic. The dial is luminous with a sweep second hand for extremely accurate 'second' timing. Case is in stainless steel with matching metal band.

"Because of the high traffic flow over Pioneer Air Lines and the exceptional accuracy with which planes must meet connecting schedules at five major air division points, Houston, Dallas, El Paso and Fort Worth, Texas, and at Albuquerque, New Mexico, we are particularly proud that Baylor watches were selected for this job," Mr. Zale said.—adv.
