Bricker Sees Extension of Rent Controls

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Bricker (R-Ohio), a leader of past fights against continuing federal rent controls, said today their extension in modified form may be necessary when Congress returns Nov. 27.

His surprise statement to reporters contrasted with the view of Senator Maybank (D-SC) that he saw no reason for Congress to revise the present local-option rent law at the brief "I am e duck" session after the elections.

Under present law federal rent controls will expire on Dec. 31 except in communities which have voted, either through their local governing bodies or by popular referendum, to extend them for another six months.

The legislation, when it was passed last June, was regarded by friend and foe alike as the last extension of the federal rent ceilings first applied during World War II.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking Committee said he would start hearings on a rent control measure as soon as Congress returns. He added that something would have to be done. Whether Congress would find time to act in the brief session before Christmas was doubtful.

Although Bricker was a chief spokesman against the last two extensions of federal rent controls, he said Congress may have a shortage that will require rent ceilings.

The determining factors, Bricker said, will be how deep these cuts are and the extent to which they are offered by a reduced demand for housing because of the entry of more men into the armed forces.

Small Business Clinic Underway In Amarillo Today

A "Small Business Clinic" got underway in the Herring Hotel, Amarillo, this morning with a large group of businessmen and manufacturers from all over the Panhandle attending.

The group arrived in a Cabot plane Thursday noon. After eating lunch in Pampa the visitors were taken on a quick tour of several Pampa machine shops, including Jones - Everitt, Basch-Ross and the Cabot Shops. They then proceeded to Borger where a brief survey of Borger's facilities was made, including a trip to the butadiene rubber plant and to Phillips.

Yanks Take Third Series Game, 3-2

YANKEE STADIUM — (AP) — Gerry Coleman's ninth inning hit scored Gene Woodling to give the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, giving the Yanks a 3-0 lead in the 1950 World Series.

FIRST—PHILLIES — Waitkus drilled a ground single into right field. Ashburn struck out. Jones tapped weakly in front of the plate and was thrown out by Lopat. Ennis rapped a sharp grounder right at Johnson who threw him out. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

FIRST—YANKEES — Rizzuto walked on four pitches. On a hit and run play, Coleman sent a little bloop to Hamner who easily doubled up Rizzuto with a throw to Waitkus at first. Berra walked. Ennis snagged DiMaggio's high pop behind second base. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

SECOND—PHILLIES — Coleman scooped up Sister's slow roller and tossed him out. Hamner smashed a single off Johnson's glove. Semnick riddled a single to Rizzuto into center field, and Hamner reached third. Lopat charged off the mound to field Gollat's roller, faked Hamner back to third, then wheeled and whipped out Gollat at first. Semnick moved to second. Johnson picked up Heintzelman's tricky bounder and threw him out. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

SECOND—YANKEES — Bauer was an easy out. Heintzelman to Waitkus. Mize skied to Gollat. Johnson struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD—PHILLIES — Waitkus flied to Mapez. Ashburn struck out. Jones lined a single to center field. Ennis popped to Rizzuto. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

THIRD—YANKEES — Lopat sent a high pop to Waitkus. Lopat was called out. Rizzuto (See YANKS AGAIN, Page 5)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If he were the nation's No. 1 dog catcher, John L. Lewis said yesterday, the first thing he'd do would be to impound "the sad dogs" which now infest our State Department.

President Truman had been quoted Wednesday as saying "I wouldn't appoint John L. Lewis dog-catcher."

He couldn't afford to, the mine workers' chiefs retorted yesterday, or he "would have more brains in the dog department than in the Department of State."

Lewis said in a letter to Colorado State Senator Neal Bishop: "Naturally, the first duty of the Bureau of the Dog, if staffed by the undersigned, would be to collect and impound the sad dogs, the intellectual poodle dogs and the pusillanimous pups which now infest our State Department."

(The dictionary says pusillanimous means "destitute of courage.") (See LEWIS, Page 10)

Relentless South Korean Drive Hits 75-Mile Point

Yanks, Allies Lie at Side Of Seoul Road

BY TOM LAMBERT

WITH U. N. FORCES IN SOUTH KOREA — (AP) — A spirited wind raised little swirls of dust among the white crosses, staves of David and stark white stars massed on the red-brown, dusty hillside.

The half-masted United Nations flag fluttered in the breeze. Then the voice of the chaplain, Col. Frank Tobey, floated across the Marines, soldiers and South Koreans at today's first memorial service at the only U. N. cemetery in this area.

The Americans and South Koreans whose bodies lie beneath these crosses, these stars of David, the white markers, died for the protection of all freedom loving people of the world.

To the west lay the sea, hardly visible. At the foot of the graveyard lay the road to Seoul, bustling with men and weapons, along which these dead had marched and fought a few days ago.

Then Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, commander of the tenth corps which took Seoul from the Reds, stepped to the microphone. His boots raised little spurts of dust in the afternoon sunshine.

These men who lie here in this hallowed spot gave their lives, like Nathan Hale, for liberty and the dignity of man. They were inspired to risk death itself to preserve the right of an individual to go where he likes.

Any Vishinsky trade is expected to increase the fervor with which the nations who have backed U. N. action against aggression in Korea will support the eight-power proposal as the logical consequence of the action.

The eight powers officially sponsoring the resolution are Britain, Australia, Cuba, Brazil, The Philippines, The Netherlands, Norway and Pakistan.

The Soviet Union introduced a rival plan in committee, but it was overwhelmingly defeated by the majority of countries.

WANTA BET? PAPER SAYS IT'S SIMPLE

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Chicago Tribune said today a reporter yesterday placed a bet on a horse race with a clerk in a cigar store across the street from the U. S. courthouse.

The Tribune said a U. S. Senate crime investigating committee was in session in the federal building. It said the bet was placed shortly after Mayor Martin H. Kennelly was reported to have told the committee there is not a place in Chicago where you can walk in and bet on a horse.

Full U.N. Vote On Korea Due

NEW YORK — (AP) — The full United Nations assembly meets today to give thunderous approval to an American-backed resolution containing clear but implied permission for Gen. MacArthur to cross the 38th parallel.

The resolution, which passed the all-important political committee Wednesday, 47-5, also contains a blueprint for Korea's future as a ward of the United Nations.

Only the 6-nation Soviet bloc opposed the plan in committee. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky is expected to rise today to continue the fight against the resolution, which is formally sponsored by Britain and seven other countries.

The eight powers officially sponsoring the resolution are Britain, Australia, Cuba, Brazil, The Philippines, The Netherlands, Norway and Pakistan.

Barbershoppers To Blend Voices Tomorrow Night

Saturday night at 8 o'clock the annual Parade of Barbershop Quartets will be held in the Junior High School Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Top of Texas Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

Six quartets, three guest artists and a local harmony group, plus a many-voiced male chorus, will participate.

The three visiting quartets will be The Kernels of Omaha, Neb., reputedly one of the outstanding show quartets of barbershop; the Beau Jesters of Dallas, southwestern district champions, and the Blackburn-Shaw quartet of Amarillo, runners-up to the Beau Jesters for the district title.

Resistance Is Slight; Vise Being Forged

TOKYO — (AP) — South Korean troops punched 20 miles deeper into Communist North Korea today on the east coast while other allied forces massed for the expected big push to the Red heartland.

The forward South Koreans were more than 75 miles beyond Parallel 38, the border where they had crossed into enemy territory last Sunday.

Arrayed below the bannery was the bulk of the pooled 175,000 United Nations troops. Air and naval support was ready for an offensive.

Another vise apparently was being forged to crush the remnants of the reeling Reds—officially estimated by MacArthur's headquarters to have suffered 200,000 casualties since their June 25 invasion.

Forty thousand of the Red manpower losses were listed as war prisoners of the allies.

The other casualties admitted included some duplications. This means a man might have been wounded, removed and returned to battle, wounded again and pressed into action again.

A MacArthur spokesman declined to speculate on how many of the Red casualties were dead men.

The Reds' heaviest losses of men and material have been suffered since Sept. 15 when the allies leaped to the offensive climaxed by the liberation of Seoul and encirclement of Red divisions in the south.

Of the 40,000 Communist prisoners-of-war, 14,028 were listed as taken in three days this week. This presumably was in the continuing mopping up of straggler bands widely scattered in the south and around Seoul.

The deep plunge into North Korea on the east coast was reported by AP Correspondent William Jordan, traveling with the South Koreans.

Jordan said the South Korean third division pushed off after an artillery exchange with the Reds near Changjon, some 60 miles north of Parallel 38, and by nightfall had neared Tongchon.

Shamrock GI Dies in Korea

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Pvt. Melvin Marshbanks, son of Mrs. Myrtle Marshbanks of Shamrock, was killed in action in South Korea on Sept. 20, according to a telegram his mother received Wednesday night from the Defense Department. He was 18 years old.

The message, signed by Adjutant General Edward F. Wiswell, said "The Secretary of the Army has a great deal to express his deepest regret that your son, Private Melvin G. Marshbanks, was killed in action in Korea 20 September 1950. Confirming letter follows."

Private Marshbanks, the first casualty reported in this area during the Korean war, volunteered for military service in June, 1949, trained at Camp Clinch, Ark., and later at Ft. Sill, Okla. He left California for the Korean front on Aug. 21.

His mother received a letter from him, dated Sept. 15, in which he reported having communications lines, which enemy forces had cut.

Pvt. Marshbanks was born at Keeton in May, 1932, and attended school here. (See SHAMROCK, Page 10)

Wayward Wills Coming in Fast; Judge Confused

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Where there's a will there's a way—but which way for a probate judge now confronted with three documents disposing of eccentric Charles Babonet's $500,000 fortune?

The third will was filed yesterday — with reservations — by Public Administrator Ben H. Brown. It is in the form of a scribbled letter dated Aug. 17, 1945, and addressed to "Dear Friend Abe" in pencil on four sheets of tablet paper.

Brown said it was apparently mailed from Denver, Colo., with an accompanying letter from "Abe," who failed to identify himself or give an address.

Brown told the court he was offering the will for probate without determining if it was authentic.

A Miss Betricia Reed was named as the chief beneficiary for $200,000. The writer said: (See JUDGE, Page 10)

Physician-Dentist Draft Approved

ABOARD YACHT COMMANDER, Chesapeake Bay — (AP) — President Truman signed today a proclamation providing for the drafting of physicians and dentists for the armed services.

Presidential Secretary Charles Ross announced Mr. Truman had put his signature to the document but gave no details of the proclamation's provisions to newsmen on this yacht, who are trailing the president on his Chesapeake Bay cruise. Ross said the text of the proclamation would be made public later in Washington.

Grace Friend

ANOTHER VIEW ON ADOPTION
Dear Grace Friend:
In reference to the letter Mrs. A. wrote about whether to tell her little daughter that she is an adopted child, I should like to offer her another point of view if I may.

We also have a little adopted daughter, four years old. But she is OUR CHILD as truly as finally ours as the several who were born to us. The fact that she became a member of our family in a different manner from the others is no way qualifies the fact that she is our own.

It is painful to think of the grief and the "lost" feeling of a sensitive and loving little one who is told, even with all of the love possible to a mother, that she is "not really our own."

In my opinion this is not only unnecessary but untrue. The truth stated positively, not negatively, will not hurt the child. Pearl Buck's article, "An Interview with My Adopted Daughter," found in June 1946 issue of Readers Digest has much help and encouragement for adoptive parents who are facing this problem. I suggest that Mrs. A. ask at the library for it.

Dear M.
Thank you for your "other" viewpoint on telling adopted children of their background. I find your letter interesting but I still feel that as it is almost impossible to keep the adoption a complete secret, that it is better for an adopted child to hear of the adoption from her parents rather than from an outsider. This danger alone, it seems to me, is enough to warrant the telling of the adoption. I have talked to a number of people who have adopted children or who have been adopted and

What Is The Spirit of Christ?

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
"If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His." That is the clear, explicit statement, as revealed in Romans 8:9, of what it means to be a Christian.

But what is the spirit of Christ? And what does it mean to have it?
The spirit of any man is evidenced in his life and character and in his words and deeds. This was true of the Christ. It is in Jesus of Nazareth, in all that He said and did, in all the records of that wonderful life that we must know and understand the spirit of Christ.

We see that spirit revealed in what Jesus repeatedly said concerning Himself, His mission, and His purpose. That is the very essence of a true Christian — to have a mission and purpose.

A Christian is not a drifter, living haphazardly from day to day. In the Lord's prayer he prays for daily bread, and that daily bread is for the sustenance of a well-directed life, devoted to the will of God, to be done in earth as in heaven.

It was in that will of the Father that the spirit of Christ, the mission and purpose of Jesus, centered. He came to give life, and to give it more abundantly. He came with a gospel of God's grace, to seek and to save the lost. He came to bear witness they all feel that it is better to know from the beginning that you are an especially chosen child for which your parents have longed—hence sent to fill their need.

One adopted child to whom I talked said that she used to feel sorry for the "born" children whose parents had to take them regardless.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 8. The Golden Text is: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else" (Deuteronomy 4:39). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made" (page 472).

unto truth, to proclaim the truth that would set men free. Holiness, honesty, truth, love and grace — these are the marks of the spirit of Christ. For the true Christian they are a life-orientated and listed as the fruits of the Spirit, in Galatians 5:22. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance against such there is no law."

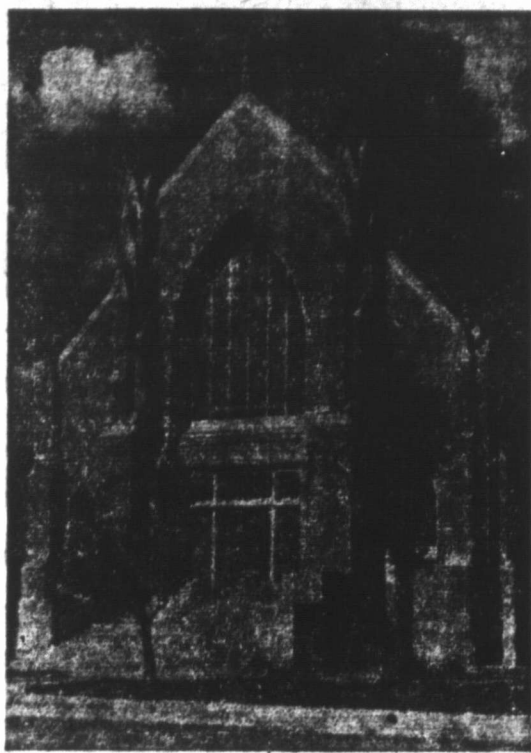

We are in a world of war; suspicions, jealousies, hatreds are rife not only in individuals, but in organizations and nations. Crime and violence, drunkenness and debauchery, are in almost every community. The law that is, or ought to be, against these things is powerless in some of our largest, and what ought to be our finest and most progressive, cities, often because of the corruption and dishonesty of the very officials who have sworn to enforce the law.

We are living in a complex, confused, difficult, and in many respects a corrupt time. But the fruits of the spirit, the qualities of the true Christian, are essential to good living, a safety, happiness, and true prosperity in society. There is no true way of life but God's way, made manifest in the life and spirit of the Christ.

The greatest need of the world, as it has ever been, is for true Christians, who will follow that way, and live in that spirit.

Our grand business undoubtedly is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand. —Carlyle

First Christian Church of Pampa Is Outgrowth of Organization of Seven Charter Members in 1909

Fifteen young people from the Pampa First Christian Church have dedicated their lives to full-time Christian service in missions. This is more than any other church has sent, except Tyler, Texas, which also has sent 15.

At the present time, Leonard Brummett, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Brummett, is in training for Chinese missionary work. He took his undergraduate work in Lexington, Ky., and is now working on his post graduate degree at the University of Kentucky.

Brummett is one of the two "Living Link" missionaries now under the sponsorship of this church. The other is Mrs. Franklin Smith, who is stationed in Alaska, but is now in Pampa. She has reviewed some of her work at several group meetings this week and will speak at both regular services next Sunday.

The First Christian Church of Pampa is sponsor of the oldest Boy Scout Troop here and the principal interest of the church organization is in missionary work. The church, as a whole, is known officially as the "Disciples of Christ." Through its missionary agencies, work is carried on in 10 foreign mission fields abroad and at home.

On April 4, 1909, seven members of the church organized in a frame schoolhouse on Starkweather and E. Francis. Later, the group joined with the Methodist organization in a revival held in the red school house on N. Cuyler. Mrs. J. F. Meers is the only one of the seven who still resides in Pampa.

During this revival, the church gained 58 members. This group met with the Methodists until their first church building was constructed on Kingmill, where Johnson's Cafe is now located. In 1916, an addition was made to this building and in 1928, the lots where the church is now standing at Starkweather and Kingmill were purchased.

An education building was erected during that year, with the Rev. James Todd as minister and was dedicated in November. The congregation met in that education building until the erection of the present sanctuary in 1931. At that time the minister was the Rev. F. W. O'Malley. Following the ministry of the Rev. O'Malley, the Rev. John Mullins came and remained here for seven years. He was followed by Rev. Beauford A. Norris, who was here for 10 years. During the time the Rev. Norris served in the Army as chaplain, the Rev. Samuel D. McLean and James Brown served the Pampa church. The Rev. Norris returned and served here for a year, when he resigned in 1948 to attend the seminary in Scotland. He is now a professor of practical theology in Indianapolis, Ind.

The Rev. Henry H. Tyler followed the Rev. Norris, coming here Nov. 1, 1948. He took his undergraduate work at Phillips College in Enid, Okla., and his post graduate courses in Yale. After serving in the Navy as chaplain, the minister had the church at Anadarko, Okla., from where they moved to Pampa. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler are parents of a four-month-old son, Stephen Dean.

Work will begin Monday on a new parsonage for the church, which will be located directly across the street from the church. Besides general upkeep and remodeling of the church, this is the only building program on the calendar at the present time. Ivy Duncan is chairman of the building committee. He was also chairman when the sanctuary was constructed.

As the only Christian Church in Gray County, the Pampa church has a resident membership of 940. The Official Board of the church, a third of which is elected annually for a three-year term, is headed by S. S. Gault. Members include 12 elders, 18 deacons, six deaconesses. Other officers are Philip Harvey, vice-chairman; H. L. Ledrick, secretary, and Roy Wilson, treasurer.

The work and activities of the church are carried on through seven functional departments: worship, Floyd Kuntz; evangelism, Dr. Oscar Hoff; missions, Roy McMillan; education, Homer Craig; finance, W. R. Harden; property, C. H. Mundy. These members are appointed by officers.

Heintzelman dropped a sacrifice bunt down the first base line and was out. Lopat to Coleman, who again covered first. Waitkus filed to Slater in left-center. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

SEVENTH—YANKS

EIGHTH—PHILLIES

Ashburn slapped a single past Mize. Jones dropped a sacrifice bunt down the first baseline and was out. Mize to Coleman who covered first. DiMaggio hauled in Slater's high fly in left-center. Slater sent a high pop to Mize near first base. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

EIGHTH—YANKS

batted for Lopat. Woodling popped to Hamner. Jones speared Rizzuto's sharp rap and whipped him out at first. Coleman walked on a full count. DiMaggio walked on four pitches to load the bases. That was all for Heintzelman and he was replaced by Jim Konstanty. Bobby Brown, a left-handed batter, went into hit for Berra. Brown sent a roller to Hamner who in his anxiety to start a force play fumbled and Coleman scored with the tying run on the error. There was no run batted in. Jackie Jensen ran for Brown. Mize fouled out to Jones. One run, no hits, one error, three left.

NINTH—PHILLIES

Joe Collins is playing first base. Gene Woodling in left field, and Tom Peck pitch for the Yankees. Hamner clouted Ferrick's first pitch between DiMaggio and Woodling in left-center for a double. Only a barehanded stop by DiMaggio prevented Hamner from stretching it. Semnick bunted a low pop fly to third which Johnson could have caught. He elected, however, to let it bounce but Hamner sneaked into third safely and Johnson barely threw out Semnick as a sacrifice. Gollat was purposely walked. Whitman, a left-handed hitter, batted for Konstanty. Whitman bounced to Collins whose throw to Berra nipped Hamner at the plate. Gollat advanced to second on the play. Ralph Cabellero went in to run for Gollat. Mize came in to get under Waitkus' fly in short right. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

NINTH—YANKS

Jimmy Bloodworth now playing second base, and Russ Meyer pitching for the Phillies. Johnson lined to Mayo in left. Mize struck out. Woodling beat out an infield single to Bloodworth who fumbled the trick bounder. Bloodworth made a diving stop of Rizzuto's liner but could not hold the ball and Woodling reached second on the single. Coleman singled to left-center between Mayo and Ashburn scoring Woodling with the winning run. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

NINTH—PHILLIES

Jones stopped Johnson's sharp grounder and threw him out. Mize raised a short fly to Slater. Lopat lined a single into center field. Rizzuto broke his bat on a short pop to Gollat. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

SEVENTH—PHILLIES

Hammer singled through the middle into center field. Semnick laid down a sacrifice bunt toward the mound and was out. Lopat to Coleman, who covered first. Gollat lined a single into center field scoring Hammer and who beat DiMaggio's throw to the plate. The boys put the Phillies ahead, 3 to 1 for the first time in the series. Heintzelman dropped a sacrifice bunt down the first base line and was out. Lopat to Coleman, who again covered first. Waitkus filed to Slater in left-center. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

SEVENTH—YANKS

CHECKING OUT—Kenneth Cummings, left, who has charge of the newspaper's city routes and F. I. Green, Pampa Daily News circulation manager, distribute papers to the group of carrier boys in the background. The papers are coming right off the press to the boys who then head for their routes. This is a typical scene six days a week. (News Photo and Engraving)

DELIVERING—Carroll Copeland is a walking businessman. These boys have a long way to go in a short time to see that Pampa residents get their daily papers. This part, which requires delivering an average of 100 papers, is where the carrier boy meets his customers and is judged by them. He has a lot of work to do and many people to satisfy. This too, is where his problems as a carrier boy originate and where they can be solved with consideration for and cooperation with the boy who delivers your paper. (News Photo and Engraving)

YOU and the SERVICE

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. What is the maximum deferment the services will allow for men in critical occupations in essential activities? And can one deferment be renewed?
A. The first deferment will be for six months. The second one can't be for longer than another six months. It will be tougher to get a second one than the first.
Q. I haven't used any of my veterans benefits which I collected during World War II. If I am called back to active duty will that time apply to my benefits which are determined by length of service?
A. No.
Q. My son went into the services six months ago. He took out a $10,000 GI insurance policy. Will he be able to convert that policy to an endowment policy when he gets out?
A. Not unless the law is changed. At present if he gets out he has to drop his policy. But there is sentiment in Congress to permit veterans of the Korean conflict to keep their insurance.

Q. If I get called up to active duty what are my chances of being sent to Korea?
A. Excellent. Forces being sent to the Orient have first call on men being called to active duty.
Q. Are reservists being deferred on the basis of the number of children they have? Last week my wife had triplets. What will they do about me? I think I'm about to be called up.
A. The services aren't giving deferments on the basis of dependency claims alone. However, they are considering special hardship cases which yours might very well be.
Q. Has there been any change in the announced policy of not sending draftees to Korea?
A. No. The services hope the Korean fighting will be over before any draftees are sufficiently trained to be sent there.

Life on Easy Street Just Example of Unusual Names

BOSTON — (AP) — Like to be on "Easy Street"? Well, visit the island of Nantucket. There is an "Easy Street" dotted with cottages near the waterfront.
But, then, you can find a highway or byway to suit almost any mood — or taste — in old New England.
New Bedford has its "Johnny-cake Hill," Marblehead its "Gingerbread Hill," Boston its "Corn-hill." All are streets.
"Rocky Pasture Road" in Gloucester really isn't as rough traveling as the name suggests. And "Gee Avenue" in that old fishing port is just a quiet neighborhood. Even the oldest inhabitants can't give an explanation of how most of these streets got their names.
Of course, Plymouth's streets are easily traceable — such as Mayflower Street and Standish Avenue.
But how about "Ann Mary Brown Drive" in Warwick, R. I.; Boston's Back Bay just hums — with Beethoven Street, Symphony Road and Brahms Avenue all within a few blocks of each other.
With a wealth of quantity-named highways and byways, Boston has one named for the near-sighted: "Myopia Road" in the Hyde Park district.
And the Hub did all right, too, by George Washington, the father of our country.
There are four "Washington Streets" in the city also: "Washington Street North," "Washington Place," "Washington Square," "Washington Terrace," and "Washington Court."
Boston has a "Joy Street," but the town of Dartmouth goes this one better with "Barnes's Joy Road," and Worcester comes through with "Bliss Street."
The New York Dutch influence has left its mark in some western Massachusetts communities with "Van Deusenville Road" in Great Barrington. In the same town, there's the simple Anglo-Saxon "Three Mile Hill."
Feel chummy?
How about "Friendship Street" in Providence, R. I., "FreeLove Street" in Fall River.
Want to ride in style? Try "King's Highway" on Cape Cod. If not, take the "Ox Bow Road" in Charlestown.
It's wise to know beforehand where you are headed, however,

Simple Accident Really Backfires

HOUSTON — (AP) — It was one of those simple traffic accidents — a truck ran into the back end of another truck.
But — Traffic Investigators A. E. Rockwell and H. R. Coats found the driver of the truck in front, the one who got hit, had no license. One ticket. The driver of the truck in back did not have a license either.
He borrowed one from a friend who passed by, but the officers caught him at it. He got tickets for reckless driving, using an assumed name, and driving without a license. His friend got a ticket for allowing someone to use his license.
The police took the man with three tickets to jail. His boss came to get him out and got a ticket for allowing his truck to be driven without a license. The boss left — and didn't get his driver out of jail.

Aviation Gasoline Output Hike Asked
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A production increase of at least 25,000 barrels of aviation gasoline daily was called for yesterday by Secretary of Interior Chapman. As the new petroleum administrator, Chapman requested the oil industry to reach this production in spite of abnormally high costs with the expectation the government will pay part of the burden later.

Henry, Look Out! It's the FBI Knocking at Your Door!

By HENRY McLEMORE
My country is of these! This may not be the silliest country in the world, but it comes close.
It lands fruit salad with ammunition in a war. It throws in jail three-dollar burglars and ignores fifteen- and twenty-million dollar thieveries by people who are rightly connected.
I never knew how silly this country could be until this afternoon. I was sitting in my office, trying to write a column, when a man with a badge as big as the front of a country depot stove said he had to see me.
"I had to see him because the badge was a Federal badge, and when they shine that on you, boys, you'd better behave. You can kid the city, the county, and the state, but when they show you the badge of the Feds, please don't argue. (If I can make a slow aside here, I would like to say that J. Edgar Hoover is the man most responsible for the respect paid to Federal Agents. Once Ed's boys get on your trail, you'll just save yourself time, money and worry by quitting quick.)
I asked the agent what crime I was hooked up with. Had I been found rolling hand grenades on the White House lawn? Had I been found hiding an H-bomb in a pumpkin? Had I been found voting Republican?
"No," the man said. "But do you remember a column you wrote before you came back from Europe a few weeks ago about how your passport picture was fourteen years old?"
I told him, "Sure, I remember the column. What was wrong with it?" He went on to tell me that I had probably given the idea to lots of people that they could evade the passport rules and use an old picture on passport. He continued saying that I had violated national security, that I was liable to be placed under arrest.
The next two paragraphs were taken up by my laughs.
Then I got mad when I got finished laughing, and I told him, the State Department agent, something like this:
That column was written to be funny, and whether it was funny or not it must have been obvious to everyone except State Department agents that it wasn't written seriously. It's a sweet and silly government that spends the money to send a man from Washington to talk to me about this when in Washington rather serious wrong-doings go on every day.
I told the agent, who was a nice man and who agreed with me, that I had never given this country any trouble. When I was old enough to fight for it, I fought for it. As soon as I started making money, I paid every cent of tax I could pay. I wasn't bragging when I told him this, because most American all the expenses involved, into a town with the dirtiest gambling police scandal in history frightens me. O'Dwyer goes home-free to Mexico as ambassador and they probe me. Senators say he's the best man for the job and I can't do my little job of work because of a State Department agent wanting to talk to me. There's something wrong in that. There's something real, real wrong. No one will ever tell me that the Democratic party, from the very top, had no idea of conditions in New York. And nothing was done about it for years and years and years. And the man who handled New York, the man who ran it, goes off as clean as a dew-fresh rose as our representative to a foreign power. Let us get on watch in this country. Let us stand on watch. Not with a gun, as the Minutemen did, but with something much more powerful — the ballot. If America fails, no blame can be placed except upon us. Our forefathers gave us the right to elect our leaders. If we elect the wrong ones, then we have no one but ourselves to turn to in our grief.

LIGHTING LESSON

By Professor Reddy
"Eyes are priceless — and what's more they're rationed, too — you get only one pair for a lifetime, says Professor Reddy, DGL (Doctor of Good Lighting). "On the other hand," continues Reddy's lesson, "Good light is inexpensive and easy to obtain. Good light is a matter of enough light, properly diffused, without harsh or eyestraining glare, and with shadows eliminated."
Certified Lamps are just what the doctors — doctors of good lighting like Reddy Kilowatt — order for reading, sewing, studying — any task that calls for good light to protect good sight. See them at your favorite appliance shop or furniture store.

 manly strength and firmness of mind; of weak or mean spirit; cowardly.")
 Bishop had started the whole thing a couple of years ago by suggesting jokingly to Mr. Truman, an old friend, that he appoint Lewis ambassador to Moscow because he offers "a more formidable appearance than Stalin, roars a 'no' louder than Gromyko, hurls more choice invectives than Vishinsky."
 It was in Mr. Truman's prompt reply, made public by Bishop only this week, that the president said he wouldn't name Lewis dog catcher.
 Since the president wouldn't want more brains in the dog department than in the State Department, Lewis said in his letter to Bishop made public here, "his remarks to you are eminently justified."
 Lewis also said the president's appointment of a dog catcher would entail "creation of a new federal bureau with its accompanying personnel of thousands of employes and, in consequence, an increase to the tax burden."
 There was no indication whether Mr. Truman, now cruising in Chesapeake Bay, had heard about Lewis' retort.

 MacArthur's repeated surrender demands that began last Sunday were still ignored.
 The steady push of the South Korean Third division on the dusty coastal road toward Wonsan appeared to be taking on added significance. The possibility of a sledgehammer land-sea concentration against the Red industrial center was pointed up by these other events:
 Conferences between Capt. Fred Stelter, chief of staff of the east coastal naval support fleet, and Gen. Lee Cong Chan of the South Korean army;
 Re-establishment of Pohang airstrip — some 250 miles south of Wonsan — as a U.S. Fifth Air Force fighter base for close support of Korean republican east coast forces; and
 A flying visit to the east coast just below Parallel 38 last weekend by Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U. S. Eighth Army commander, and Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U.S. Fifth Air Force commander.

 Will No. 1 — Filed by the Bank of America after it was found shoved under a door last month. This is the one that left the William Tyson family $100,000 for an act of friendship 31 years ago. It is dated Oct. 2, 1913.
 Will No. 2 — mailed to Brown from Sacramento, dated May 26, 1941, but torn in half so that its terms are virtually illegible.
 The three wills have this in common: all were submitted anonymously. And all add to the mystery of Babonet, the recluse who died last Aug. 7 at the age of 68, leaving oil riches never dreamed of by friends here.

 "I believe they had a conviction that communism must be driven from the concourse of human relations and that their efforts and others to follow if necessary will be the means of attaining this noble aim."
 Almond's voice deepened: "The despotic principles which guide those of the Communist ideology are repugnant to all of us, even those of our own nation whose weakness is favoring Communist license under the democratic safeguards of our own free governments."

 "Personally, I salute them. I ask you to do likewise as individuals, not as an organization."
 Hands snapped to foreheads in salute. An Army band began playing softly.
 Then Almond took the first of four wreaths of fresh flowers and laid it on a grave. The marker bore no name. The dead was unknown.
 Marine Maj. Gen. O. P. Smith then took a wreath and laid it on the grave of R. C. Mathony, Army Maj. Gen. David Barr placed one on the grave of Walter L. Moore.
 As Grieg's Peer Gynt suite funeral music neared an end, South Korean Col. Pak In Yup laid a wreath on the grave, marked only by a white stake, of soldier Poe Sun Ha.
