Senate Probe Clears Service Paper Reports

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Evening Star said today it has learned the State Department loyalty board has cleared Diplomat John S. Service as a loyal American and a good security risk. State Department officials declined comment and neither Service nor his attorney was available immediately. Government agencies customarily do not announce the results of loyalty board investigations.

The report that Service had been cleared by the department board came as Senate investigators sought to find a key to what they described as a confusing FBI-recorded talk in 1945 between Service and Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate investigators are trying to find a key today to what they described as a confusing FBI-recorded talk in 1945 between Diplomat John S. Service and Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe. A transcript of the Service-Jaffe conversation was made available by the Justice Department yesterday to a Senate foreign relations subcommittee. That group is investigating the 1945 Amerasia secret documents case. Service, a State Department Far Eastern official, testified under oath last week that he never knowingly gave military secrets to Jaffe, who was editor of the now-defunct Amerasia magazine. Service said he had no such information to impart.

An individual familiar with what went on at the committee session said Service listened to a reading of the FBI transcript and declared he could not recall ever having made remarks to Jaffe such as were attributed to him in parts of the recording. The FBI's recording was the result of the agency's concealing a microphone in Jaffe's hotel room on May 9, 1945.

After concluding the questioning of Service, the committee is said to have decided to check with the wartime China staff of General Albert C. Wedemeyer for a possible clue to the puzzle. Service spent a good part of the war in China in State Department and army assignments. Service was cleared in the case and returned to his State Department job. Jaffe pleaded guilty and was fined $2,500. Service has denied a McCarthy (See SENATE, Page 2)

Quintuplets Born; Four Still Survive

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — A 28-year-old Negro mother gave birth to quintuplets today — and three boys and two girls — and one of the boys died shortly after birth. Dr. Alvin Wexler, one of the attending physicians, said that he "wouldn't be too optimistic" about the survival of the other children.

Hospital records identified the mother as Alberta Allen of Whitecastle, La., 80 miles north of New Orleans. The quintuplets were born at Charity Hospital between 7:15 a. m. and 8 a. m. at intervals of 10 minutes.

Physicians said the babies ranged in weight from 1 1/4 and 1 1/2 pounds each. The survivors were placed in incubators. The babies were three months premature.

The woman has three other children, between three and five years old. Dr. Wexler said that the chances of having quintuplets is one in 57,000,000 births.

American planes, it is understood, will bomb all towns captured by North Korean troops. Resurgent South Koreans were reliably reported to have hurled back the invaders from the north to a point 20 miles from Seoul, their capital. The South Korean forces were said to have recaptured strategic Uijongbu, 12 miles north of Seoul, slicing across the main communication lines of the Communist tank spearhead. MacArthur's headquarters said earlier reports of Communist advances into Seoul's suburbs "appear to have been isolated forays."

In London, Prime Minister Attlee told Britain's House of Commons the North Korea attack on the Seoul republic was a full scale invasion. He promised a statement later. Word of recapture of Uijongbu came from Korean sources and was partly confirmed by two Korean newspapermen in telephone conversation with Tokyo. Unofficial advice yesterday had been that Uijongbu fell to the invaders because the South Korean second division's counter attack failed to move on a schedule.

The American-manned fighters in their first taste of action shot down four Russian-built Yak fighters which tried to interfere with an airlift evacuation of Americans from South Korea. A Seoul broadcast quoted President Syngman Rhee of South Korea as saying an American general has been named South Korea's defense commander. It said Gen. MacArthur had promised bombers and anti-tank guns for a "joint defense operation."

The defense commander was named in the broadcast simply as "General Church." Brig. Gen. John H. Church is listed as commander of the Kyukyu (Okinawa) military government. WASHINGTON — (AP) — Texas congressmen knew the Boy Scouts were coming, so they fixed up swell receptions. But hundreds of the Lone Star State boys headed for the jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa., were late for the festivities yesterday. They were unavoidably detained by West Virginia floods. About 50 of them missed a meal in the speaker's dining room at the Capitol. Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine kept waiting for them for hours. He already had set tables before he called it off. Republican Rep. Ben Guill of Pampa got up and went to the depot at 6:30 a. m. to greet Panhandle Scouts. They didn't get in until late afternoon.

Ships Collide At New York

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Danish ship Columbia and the American export liner Excalibur collided today in upper New York bay. Police said the Excalibur was sinking and attempts were made to beach her. Six tugboats were dispatched to the scene by the towing company.

The Columbia was coming into New York and the Excalibur was outbound at the time. The Excalibur sailed from Jersey City a short time before with 144 passengers for a Mediterranean cruise.

Pay Increase for Vets in Post Office Seen as Dangerous

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) of the House Postoffice and Civil Service committee said today the House, by overriding a veterans' benefits bill veto, has invited new demands for veterans' legislation. The House overrode the veto yesterday by a vote of 213 to 72. In applying it, President Truman described the benefit measure as the equivalent of "an indirect bonus or adjusted salary payment in recognition of military service."

The bill would give pay raises to World War II veterans who enter the postal service prior to July 1 of this year but who were not in the Postoffice Department when they went into military service. It would do this by advancing them one pay grade or $100 a year — for each year of military service.

The Senate has not yet acted on the veto. It may be a two-thirds vote and passes the bill again, it will become law despite the president's disapproval. In the event, Murray told newsmen, there undoubtedly will be demands for similar benefits for other veterans in the government service and for those not in the government's employ. "It certainly would seem," he said, "that Congress could not single out only one group of veterans for this special benefit and ignore the others who they ask for the same consideration. The House has set a dangerous precedent."

President Truman pointed out after an argument that began during a game of cards.

Grade A Ratings Are Retained by All Milk Firms

All Pampa milk distributors and processors have retained Grade A ratings, according to R. M. Mundine, Jr., director of the Pampa-Gray County Health Department. The continued high ratings are based on inspections and analyses of the companies' plants and products during the past six months.

The companies are Sunshine Dairy Foods, Plains and Borden's. These ratings are based on standards of the United States Public Health Service milk ordinance.

23 Scouts Sign For Canada Trip

Latest reports show that 22 out of the 26 number of Scouts needed to make the Canadian wilderness camping trip have registered in the Boy Scout office. Scouts Assembling for Mammoth Jamboree

The vast tent city in which the boys will live for seven days, ending July 6, is located on the rolling hills where George Washington's ragged Continental army spent the winter of 1777. The site, loaned by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, was chosen because of the historic background it will lend the encampment. The exact route to be followed by the president's party from the railroad station to the encampment will remain a secret. The first two of more than 100 special trains arrived yesterday with 873 Scouts from the Midwest. More than 16,000 other campers are expected today and by Thursday night 47,000 spectators will be on hand from all 48 states, U.S. territories, and 20 other countries.

Conferees Approve Extension of Draft

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate conferees today voted a one-year extension of the president's existing power to draft young men. The agreement, which must be ratified by both chambers, also would empower the president to order the National Guard and all reserves to immediate active duty.

The Senate group obviously acted because of the tense Korean situation. They junked previous restrictions voted by the Senate and House upon presidential authority to induct manpower and voted out a one-year extension of existing draft powers.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), one of the conferees, told a reporter that the previously deadlocked lawmakers had quickly agreed today that this was no time to have a dispute here over such a matter. Previously the House had voted a two-year extension of the peacetime draft act requiring registration of young men 18 through 25 years. It remained in the hands of Congress that authority for inductions or actual drafting.

The Senate voted a three-year extension also retaining "trigger control" over actual drafting. It would have allowed the president to start inductions, when Congress was away, if he found it necessary to build up the armed services to strength allowed by congressional appropriations. The compromise allows the one-year extension of the present act plus new powers to order the reserves and National Guard to active duty.

This could not have been done for all reserves under the present law, unless the president or Congress declared a national emergency, officials said.

'Horse' Trader Given Extension

DALLAS — (AP) — A federal judge has given Louis K. Risken of Minneapolis five more days to pay a $5,000 fine assessed for selling horsemeat in Texas disguised as beef in the two adjacent North Texas counties which show a greater density than fast-growing Harris County. Houston's population figures have not been released, but totals for the city and Harris County "won't match the aggregate figure for both Dallas and Tarrant counties," said the census official.

Lake Still Holding Plane Crash Secret

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. — (AP) — Lake Michigan, the silent grave of many sailing ships, still guarded well today its secret of the Northwest Airlines plane disaster. On the second full day of search for evidence there was a strong likelihood that the cause of the nation's worst airline calamity might never be known. Fifty-eight persons were killed when the DC-4, flying non-stop from New York to Minneapolis, crashed in the lake during a storm early Saturday. Additional bits of wreckage were picked up by the Coast Guard from an area 19 miles west of here yesterday. A child's rag doll, a torn picture of a woman, shirts and sweaters and some chunks of human flesh were found along with twisted pieces of wood and metal. Most generally accepted was a theory that the big plane hit a line squall along the eastern shore and flew to pieces upon striking the water.

Truman Pledges Firm Stand Against Pacific Aggression

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today ordered United States planes and warships to the aid of South Korean forces. He laid down a policy of standing firm against Communist aggression in the far Pacific.

As a part of the broader policy, Mr. Truman directed that the U.S. Seventh Fleet be prepared to intervene to prevent any Communist attack on Formosa, the island refuge of the Chinese Nationalist government. At the same time, he asked that Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Chinese Nationalists, cease attacks on the mainland as a contribution toward the pacification of the whole area.

277,047 Live In Ft. Worth

(By The Associated Press)
Fort Worth's population was announced today as 277,047. That's a 54 percent gain over 177,662 in 1940. The percentage gain is greater than that posted by Dallas.

Almost a hundred thousand people — 99,385, to be exact — have moved into Fort Worth in the last decade. An even greater gain, percentage-wise, was posted by Tarrant County, of which Fort Worth is county seat.

Tarrant county grew from 225,521 to 339,157, a gain of 50 percent or 123,636 people. The Tarrant County figure completed the picture for the 12th congressional district, which grew from 286,132 to 419,529, a gain of 133,397.

Other counties in the district are Hood, Johnson, Parker and Somervell. James Stroud, area census supervisor, said that Tarrant and Dallas counties together will be the greatest concentration of population in the South and Southwest.

"Together they make almost 1,000,000," Stroud said. The Dallas County total, still not announced, is expected to run close to 600,000. Stroud said the population per square mile in the two adjacent North Texas counties will show a greater density than fast-growing Harris County.

Houston's population figures have not been released, but totals for the city and Harris County "won't match the aggregate figure for both Dallas and Tarrant counties," said the census official.

At 277,047, Fort Worth still ranks fourth in Texas. Houston will be first, Dallas is second with an announced 432,505. San Antonio, still not announced, is accorded third place.

Group Studies Park Project

The Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association met at noon yesterday in the Palm Room of the city hall with local businessmen, city and county representatives as special guests for the purpose of studying a project for a park. Cliff Vincent, president of the association, said the purpose of the meeting was to call Pampa businessmen together and see what they think of making improvements at Recreation Park which would increase the size and value of the annual Hereford sale.

"We've gone about as far as we can alone," Vincent said. "We've either got to die or go further." Several members of the association as well as guests were invited to state their opinions on the matter, and make suggestions as to what could and should be done.

It was brought out in the discussion that the association should first decide on what kind of building is needed and what kind of improvements would be necessary, and then work toward that goal. The new improvements could be used also by the 4-H Clubs and the rodeo association.

At a directors meeting of the Hereford Breeders Association, Clyde Carruth reported several estimates on the cost of a building of the desired size and construction. He said a building measuring 60 by 100 feet of all-steel, fireproof construction would run between $17,000 and $18,000. This estimate included ventilators, windows, and doors. Such a building would be large enough to show the cattle and for a large sales ring.

Vincent reported that $100 had already been raised by members of the association for the proposed improvements.

Policemen Fired In Meter Thefts

MANISTEE, Mich. — (AP) — Seven members of this little city's eight-man police force are under suspension. The city commission ordered them all off the job last night on charges of taking money from parking meters. Chief Ray Heber was the only one not to be accused. City Manager Walter Mischley said the suspensions were the result of a month's investigation after meter shortages were suspected. For the time being Manistee, pop. 8,700, will depend on state police and special deputies for protection.

Emotional Starvation Fatal To Children, Expert Says

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Did you know that you can emotionally starve a child to death? Without emotional satisfaction, children die, it's as simple as that, says Dr. Rene A. Spitz, New York psychiatrist.
Here for a lecture tonight, he told a news conference yesterday that his 15 years' research in psychiatric diseases of children has proved that emotional starvation is as dangerous as physical starvation, it's slower, but just as effective.
Recounting his European studies of 91 infants over a period of two years, Dr. Spitz said that one separated from their mothers and with no substitute for mothers, 37.3 percent of these children died.

Eighth Straight Oil Production Gain Is Reported

TULSA — (AP) — Faced by four areas which had new highs for the year, U.S. daily average crude oil production increased by 11,850 barrels during the week ended June 24, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.
The spurt, the eighth consecutive weekly increase, set another new 1950 total daily average output of 5,291,000 barrels.
Most of the gain came in Mississippi, one of the states which reached new peaks for the year. There production averaged 111,150 barrels, an increase of 6,400.
Other year's highs were achieved in the eastern fields, up 1,200 barrels to 83,150; in Alabama, up 100 barrels to 1,850; and Florida, up 200 to 1,700. Illinois took the largest loss, down 3,100 barrels to 169,200.
Production was unchanged in New Mexico 126,676, and Texas 2,244,450.

Woman Says Nothing, Still Has Final Say

CHICAGO — (AP) — A woman sometimes can have the last word in an argument even if she says nothing at all.
A robber grabbed Mrs. Doris Swanson's purse on Michigan Avenue. She wouldn't let go. The tug-of-war went on until she kicked the snatcher in the stomach. He fled up an alley.

Death Seals Hiding Place of Art Work

HONG KONG — (AP) — The British buried 25 valuable paintings when the Japanese seized Hong Kong early in the war — and the paintings may have to stay buried.
Austin Coates, assistant colonial secretary, said three men buried the paintings in the grounds of the governor's residence. Only they knew where.
All three men died. Each believed the other two would tell where the pictures were buried. A search of government files has afforded no clues.

Korea Means 'Morning Calm' but Strife Has Torn Country Since Before Christ

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Korea, a country whose native name means "morning calm," has seen little but strife since its recorded history began in 57 B.C.

The 600-mile long, 135-mile wide peninsula extends southward from Manchuria between the Yellow Sea and the Sea of Japan to within 120 miles of Japan.

For 2,000 years invaders from the north, east and west have fought for possession of well-watered, temperate Korea, whose fertile fields are protected from Manchurian and Pacific winds by a rugged mountain chain.

Despite these invasions, the Korean people have maintained a physical appearance, a complex language, and customs wholly different from their Chinese, Japanese and Northern Asiatic neighbors.

They average five feet, four and one-half inches tall, have dark straight hair, and slightly upturned eyes.

Korean folklore says the nation owes its birth to a divine being who came to earth in the form of a wind. Finding a virgin sitting beside a stream he blew upon her and she brought forth a son, Tangun, who supposedly founded a dynasty which lasted from 2333 B.C. to 1122 B.C.

Only from 57 B.C., however, are there accurate records of the country.

Internal warfare among Silla and other Korean regimes lasted until the brief Mongol invasion of 1231 A.D.

In 1592 General Yi Taicho drove out Japanese pirates ravaging the east coast and founded the kingdom of Chosen, which included most of the 86,000 square miles of modern Korea.

He made Seoul, still Korea's chief city, his capital. Pyongyang, today the capital of Communist North Korea, had been the center of Korean civilization up to that time.

The Japanese sent an army of 300,000 to conquer the country in 1912 but were finally routed. A Korean-invented and -built ironclad warship helped.

Manchu hordes swept down on the land in 1627, devastating the country.

Korea's modern history begins with an American attack on the country in 1871.

A United States Navy flotilla was sent to open trade between the two countries. Repulsed, the fleet opened fire, a force was sent ashore and more than 300 Korean soldiers were killed.

Friendly relations were established in 1883 when the United States and Korea signed a mutual aid pact.

The next year an American, Judge O. N. Denny, became advisor to the Korean foreign office. Other foreigners mostly British and American — gained positions of influence. Chinese, Japanese and Russians were rigidly excluded.

Early in 1894 Korea asked China for help in putting down bandits. Japan used this as a pretext to invade the country, claiming that China was taking over.

Modern, industrialized Japan won the war.

President Theodore Roosevelt assured the Japanese of the Treaty of Portsmouth (N. H.), which ended the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-05, that the U. S.

would not object to Japanese rule in Korea.

Japan formally annexed Korea in 1910 and seized land, fisheries, mines, and the personal rights of Koreans.

More than 1,000,000 fled to try to make a living in Siberia and Manchuria.

The Koreans, spurred by President Wilson's famous 14 points after World War I, proclaimed their independence. The Japanese tortured their leaders to death but others sprang up and formed a secret provisional government in Seoul.

They elected Dr. Syngman Rhee, now president of South Korea, to head the government. He was then in the United States. Rhee had been a pupil of Wilson at Princeton University.

Rhee established a permanent Korean commission at Washington in 1922 and kept up a fight for Korean freedom until World War II ended. Korean independence was an American aim in the war.

Military authorities said that to enable Russian troops from the north and American troops from the south to crush an estimated 378,000 Japanese garrison troops between them, Korea was divided into American and Soviet zones of influence at the 38th parallel.

The division is generally believed to have been agreed on at the Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill Yalta meeting in February, 1945, but the details were never made public.

The original agreement was to be followed by the creation of an all-Korean government under joint Soviet-American sponsorship.

A joint Soviet-American military commission was then agreed on at the Moscow foreign ministers conference in 1945, but exploded when Russia demanded that all anti-Communist Koreans be banned from political activity.

The United States put the question of Korea before the United Nations in 1947.

A U. N. commission returned from Korea reporting that Russia-dominated North Korea had refused to cooperate in efforts to unify the country.

The U. N. then ordered elections. The north refused to take part. Two-thirds of Korea's 30,000,000 people in the south elected 200 representatives and left 100 seats vacant in case the north should decide to participate.

The U. N.-sponsored republic of Korea, based on these elections, was inaugurated Aug. 15, 1948. Russia vetoed its application for membership in the United Nations.

At almost the same time, North Korea declared itself a people's democratic republic and claimed jurisdiction over the whole peninsula.

Russia announced in December, 1948, that it had withdrawn its troops from North Korea; the United States evacuated South Korea under U. N. observation in January, 1949.

Tension between the two sections of the divided country increased.

The situation finally exploded June 25 with the invasion of South Korea by the Russian-backed north.

Indonesia, Spain Given Membership in Wheat Council

LONDON — (AP) — The International Wheat Council has admitted Indonesia and Spain as new members.

Thirty-one members participated in the recent meeting, the first since Germany was accepted in the council.

Indonesia promised to guarantee purchases of 75,000 metric tons, while Spain offered to buy 100,000 metric tons of wheat at the prices fixed by the agreement.

Under the agreement, importing countries are assured of the guaranteed quantities by the exporting members of the council — Canada, Australia and the United States.

Importing countries, however, can buy additional quantities at market prices from other or the same exporters. Argentina, non-member of the council, has been the main supplier of Spain's wheat needs in the past few years.

Groundbreaking Set for Airport

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Groundbreaking ceremonies for the $2,000,000 terminal building at Greater Fort Worth International Airport, originally announced for July 9, have been postponed until July 10.

Officials of the Fort Worth Air Terminal Corporation which will build the terminal and operate the airport, said the original date was chosen at random, and when it was pointed out that it fell on a Sunday, decided to delay it one day.

President Hit By VFW Post

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — (AP) — One post of the California Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, says President Truman should resign from the VFW because of his part in the closing of a nearby veterans hospital.

World Wide Post 6315 of Sloat, Calif., submitted a resolution at the state convention yesterday charging that "the shut down of the Veterans Administration hospital at Van Nuys was 'political'."

The president declined to see four wheel chair veterans who went to Washington in an effort to halt the closing.

The VFW resolutions committee disapproved the Sloat post's measure, but it will come before the delegates later.

Another resolution under consideration would express regret over Mr. Truman's chilly treatment of Actress Frances Langford, who sought to intercede in an effort to keep Birmingham Hospital open.

Library Collects Pencils—With Complications

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Library of Congress is practicing economy — with complications.

Its information bulletin details a plan for routing pencil stubs from the various library divisions to the reading rooms.

"The routine is simple," the bulletin says and then it explains: Members of the staff should turn in stubs to the divisional secretaries.

The divisional secretaries will consign them to the supply officer.

The supply officer "will in turn issue them on demand to the stack and reader service, serials division, etc."

The library happily reports: "168 stubs were collected in this manner in the recent spring house-cleaning."

Want to Buy a Whole Town? There's One in New Mexico

SILVER CITY, N. M. — (AP) — day. Five persons live there. Want to buy a town? It's — complete with theater building, cafe furniture store, 4-room hotel, mercantile and grocery store and other fixtures. But not many people.

The former rip-roaring boom town of Mogollon, perched high in the Mogollon Mountains near the Arizona border 76 miles north of here is on the market.

It went up for sale last week and the notices brought memories to old timers who remembered freighters winding down the steep sides of the mountains into the community with wagons loaded with gold and silver ore.

In its prime, the mining town had a population of 3,000. A mule train carried mail and freight from Silver City and the trip up and back took two or three days, depending on the weather.

Miner were called off to mines of more strategic metals when World War II broke out. It isn't completely deserted to-

Trolley's Tracks Easy to Follow

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — A trolley left easily-tracked tracks in getting away from a hit-run accident, police reported.

By following the trolley line for a mile and a half yesterday, Patrolman James Metzgar and Walter Clifford overtook the streetcar and arrested the motorist, Albert Vogelman, 41.

Vogelman was charged with "hit-run by trolley." Police said Vogelman's streetcar collided with an automobile at an intersection, and then clanged away from the scene.

Let's Talk Things Over With Gabby Garrison

The youth of America is on the march again! This time they are not marching off to war, although they are headed for the firing lines — in various bowling establishments throughout the nation. And they are going forth to fight just as great a battle — a battle against juvenile delinquency. And according to the country's authorities, the bowling establishments have been selected as the battlegrounds.

It is a mass movement, and not confined to any one section of the country. Reports show that the battle being waged along a 2,500 mile front is being won. Pampa is included in that line of battle, but firing has been almost at a minimum, in comparison with other cities.

Word comes from all over the nation, that the bowling club leaders and police officials that the game of ten-pins — once despised in a great many communities — offers the greatest opportunity to cure juvenile delinquency — if not eliminate it. Actions have been taken, months ago, to guide the youth of America to these well-kept bowling centers. Statistics show that within the past year, 40,000 teenagers have taken up the sport in 43 states, and the number is still growing.

This great march to the nation's bowling centers by both boys and girls is due mostly to the work of the American Junior Bowling Congress — another of America's youth organizations. This club works in conjunction with the Boys' Clubs of America, YMCA, YWCA, and many other clubs, in providing a healthful, year-around sport. In establishing this organization, the National Bowling Congress laid the ground work, and the numerous equipment manufacturers joined in to lead the way.

A recent report by Milton Raymer, executive secretary of the Junior Congress, relates that the growth of this Junior Congress has been phenomenal. He stated that in a year or two, the membership list may well exceed 200,000 youngsters.

It seems that people all over the nation have come to realize that bowling is one of the best mediums for curbing juvenile delinquency. It wasn't too long ago that the bowling alley was considered as a hang-out for loafers and idlers. But now, the general attitude has completely changed.

The change in Pampa has been slower than that of other American cities. We have an up-to-date center here, but the teen-age crowd still tends to spend their time elsewhere.

This can probably be attributed to the fact that most parents still consider the bowling centers in the same aspect of several years ago. But now, with the general realization, something should be done about it. . . . and steps are being taken in the right direction. People here are beginning to realize that bowling can be done in the afternoons after school, Saturday mornings, and at the odd times, and that the weather never intervenes.

This type bowling expansion is only one of many enlargements in the Pampa teen-age sports program, now being planned by a group of businessmen who have formulated one of the finest ideas in the country.

Plans now are to supplement the needs of youth with a chapter of Boys' Clubs of America, to be established here in Pampa, with building and all.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, Mr. F. V. Thompson, regional director of the Boys' Clubs of America for the Southwest area, will be in Pampa to help map plans for future expansion. It is the duty for every citizen of this community who is interested in the welfare of Pampa's future, as well as the future of the whole country, to attend the meeting. It is set for the County Court Room, and a program of explanation has been planned for the benefit of those attending for the first time.

Already, a Board of Directors has been set up here. These gentlemen are, for the most part, fathers, although some have no children. Their interest is that of the mutual security of the nation's teen-agers.

The men even have a plot of land in sight for the construction of a building, and even have two sets of blue prints for structures that would increase the recreational activity of the teen-agers in this community almost three-fold. All will be shown and explained at Wednesday night's meeting.

The Boys' Club idea is not wholly for the betterment of the teen-agers. It has a way of "knitting" families closer together. Not only can Mom and Dad watch their children participating in Boys' Club activities, but the fun can be brought right into the home by various means. For instance, local plans even include a wood-working shop and library.

The families are better united. Through these channels, the children are getting the recreation they need, and an outlet for their energies, without getting into trouble.

That's why Pampa citizens need to attend Wednesday's meeting. The youth of America is on the march again. . . . let it not be halted in Pampa.

St. Louis Brown Franchise May Be Moved, Say Rumors

By NED BROWN
NEA Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Looks like a bear market in major league ball clubs. There's a wide variation between the bid and asked prices — for the clubs that are "on the market." It's a big secret, of course, that a couple of clubs are up for sale, a secret known only to a few million. Following the time-honored custom in baseball, owners of these clubs say one thing and mean another.

For instance, Bill DeWitt, president of the St. Louis Browns, in a plea to the St. Louis Advertising club, for better support of the team, warned that unless such support was forthcoming the club may be moved to another city.

Bill disclosed that he had received from reliable sources six different offers to buy the club. Naturally, Bill wouldn't disclose the identity of any of these "reliable sources," but everybody knows they came from Baltimore, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Houston and Dallas.

Interviewed later on the subject, DeWitt declared that he merely told the Advertising Club that "if attendance didn't pick up he may some day have to take action."

Nothing was further from his mind, and the mind of his brother Charles, than selling the Browns.

"We're St. Louis boys," said Bill. "Our interests are here and we don't want to shift the club's franchise." Then, revering himself on his speech to the Advertising Club, "We have received no bids and do not seek any," he said. "There is no plan to shift the franchise."

"We have had nice reports on Baltimore, especially the interest shown in the professional football team." He was referring to an exhibition game that sold out at $5 a throw to replenish the club's treasury. That, he said, "showed a keen interest in sports." But he wanted to make it plain, he hastened to add, that he had no idea of shifting the Browns' franchise elsewhere.

Asked if, in the event he moved his team, he would sell his interests or continue to operate in another city he said: "That would require study."

All this follows the general pattern of modern big league baseball. Whenever important deals are in the making, rumor gets out, the baseball writers begin their questions, and the fanatics gush forth like a spring freshet.

And just about the time the gushing gets gushingest, then — Bingo! The deal is announced as consummated.

Whether the Browns go to Baltimore or elsewhere, or stay at home, you can bet your bottom dollar that there'll be some changes made.

THE CHAMPION — Vic Toews appears right-hand crazy in this picture, but he wasn't outpointing Manuel Ortiz in 15 rounds in Johannesburg. The new world bantamweight champion has been boxing only two years.

Borrego Blanks Sox For Second Shutout In WT-NM Loop, 11-0

CLOVIS — (AP) — Southpaw Joe Borrego went the nine inning route for the second time this week and blanked his second shutout of the season, checking the Abilene Blue Sox 11-0 here last night.

Borrego gave up ten hits but was stingy with men on base. In addition he received airtight support from his mates to gain his sixth victory. Sam Hunter was called on to go the entire distance for the Sox being rapped for 13 hits in the process.

Ron George with a triple and two singles sparked the Pioneer attack. He drove in four runs.

Two mishaps marred proceedings. Shortstop Bill De la Torre injured his ankle sliding into second in the second inning and was removed from the lineup. Elena Vega taking his place. Outfielder Jes Rogerson of the Pioneers was struck on the back of the head by a Hunter fastball in the fourth inning and was knocked unconscious. He was removed after regaining consciousness.

Branch Rickey's latest contribution to baseball is just in the idea stage. But it may blossom into being any day.

The boss of the Dodgers suggests that catchers' chest protectors be red, making a better target.

He'll have the pitchers seeing red.

It may not be such a good idea for some of the hurriers.

The color red drives some people wild — and there's enough wildness on the mound already.

Rickey's earlier scheme—shorts for the players—is spreading like Japanese beetles through his farm system.

It'll make going to a double-header like going to the movies—you'll see two features and selected shorts.

Houston of the double-A Texas League signed a Texan A. and M. outfielder, Wally Moon.

He'll see service in night games.

The Cleveland Indians have another Bob Lemon. This one, no relation to their pitching ace, is an outfielder at Oklahoma City. Cleveland is going to get some Lemon aid.

Sand Irons Demand Many Practice Hours, Is Greatest Stroke Saver

By GENE SARAZEN
Winner of Them All

If I were asked which clubs are the most important, I would say the pitching staff — the seven, eight, nine and the sand iron.

They set up a one-putt green. The leading players today use the sand iron or wedge, not only in traps but in the rough and on the fairway for shots 100 yards and under from the green. Manufacturers have modified the sand iron so that it can be played from rough grass and fairway lies. These modifications, narrowing the sole of the club, have, however, made the present models less efficient in traps than their wide-soled ancestors which came out in the 1930s.

The sand iron stroke remains the same on the fairway as in the trap. The club is picked up quite vertically, well on the outside of the normal line. Come down on the same line as the backswing, cutting across the ball.

PICK UP—The club is picked up quite vertically, not swung back, in the sand iron stroke as demonstrated, above, by Fresh Meadows' professional Al Cucci.

Boyle Says Korea Fighting Not Start of World War III

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Is this the start of a third world war? That is the question that touches most American hearts today as news pours in of the fighting in far Korea, the "Ireland of the Orient."

I believe the answer is: "No!" I believe that the answer would still be the same even though the United States dispatched troops, ships and planes to back up the cease-fire decree of the United Nations.

Why? My conviction is that Soviet Russia isn't yet ready to plunge the globe into another international conflict.

She stretches across 7,000 vulnerable miles that aren't ready for war. Both her frontiers and her wide open heartland are unprepared for war — if we can believe what our own military authorities say about her.

Let her own Russian-trained forces in Korea sweep through that time-bound land — as they have been doing. Or let them fail. Soviet Russia isn't yet ready to let her own dreams of world conquest to the northern Korean troops.

She yet expects to take Korea by the inaction of the western world.

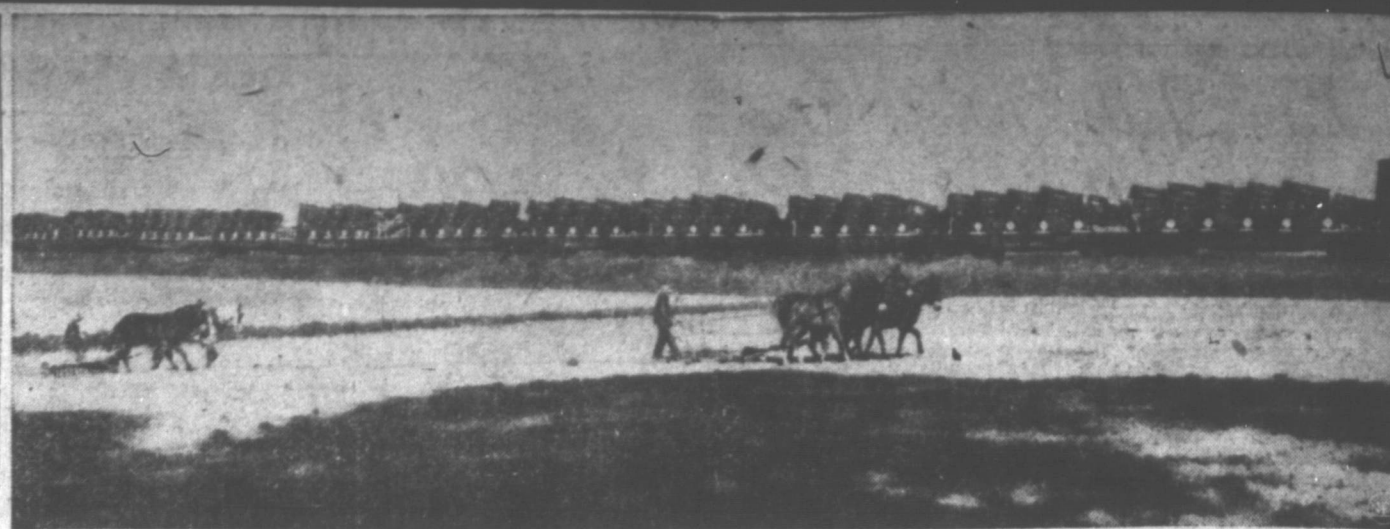

Again why? Because at present the Soviet military and political aim is to try to take the countries on its vast borders by their own interior revolutions. Greece yesterday, Korea today, Southeast Asia tomorrow. And where the day after tomorrow? Wherever poverty and interior political dissatisfaction makes a country ripe for its propaganda.

Russia backed down in Greece, is still grappling in a sudden bold grab for Korea, hasn't yet made its main bid for Southeast Asia. Why doesn't this mean war right now? For a deep and basic reason inherent in the Russian approach to its own predicament. In its very strength — its great, sprawling, contiguous reach of land — lies its great weakness. It can be hit from many angles, and to keep itself from being approached it has endeavored to surround itself with buffer extensions of itself.

Whether or not it really accepts these satellite states into the pattern of its being, its leaders are trying frantically to protect the main body of Russia from possible enemy blows.

Russia is still barking in Korea — just another test of her pressure — and isn't ready to bite. She'll still stand for her bluff being called. And I'd call Joe Stalin now, just as Adolf Hitler should have been called when he marched into the Rhineland. Remember?

THE FUTURE SPEEDS PAST THE PAST—Vivid contrast in farming methods is illustrated in this picture showing a whole trainload of new mechanical balers leaving New Holland, Pa., and passing fields being tilled by farmers using old-fashioned horse-drawn implements. Scene is in Lancaster County where many of the lush farms belong to members of the Mennonite sects, many of whom have an aversion to modern machinery.

Vatican Reports Arrest of 1,000 Hungry Clergy

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — Vatican radio said yesterday that nearly 1,000 priests, monks and nuns were rounded up in Budapest June 9 and transported to concentration points.

The Vatican speaker said secret police of the Communist regime, which recently intensified its measures against the Catholic Church in Hungary, raided monasteries and convents during the night.

They rounded up 322 priests

Official Cites Intersection Crossing Rule

Police Chief John Wilkinson said today confusion still exists among motorists as to the proper procedure on Alcock at its intersection with Hobart.

In an effort to clear up the proper method of movement, the chief quoted from Section 23 of the uniform traffic code, which says:

"Vehicular traffic facing red with green arrow signal may cautiously enter the intersection only to make the movement indicated by such arrow, but shall yield the right of way to pedestrians lawfully within a cross walk and to other traffic lawfully using the intersection."

When travelling east on Alcock, Wilkinson said, it is not necessary for a motorist to stop for the red light before making a right turn on the green arrow. However, he cautioned, the intersection should be clear before the movement is made.

"If there are cars or pedestrians crossing Alcock on Hobart, they have the right of way," the police official concluded.

Although vanquished on the field of battle, totalitarianism, the state's tyranny over the mind and body of man, is not yet dead.

and monks — including 90 Jesuits — and 600 nuns.

Vatican radio said the police climbed convent walls in the dead of night, entered through windows and in some instances smashed down doors. Each arrested person was permitted to take only ten pounds of personal possessions.

Bathing Suits Require Trim Lines

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

This is the time to translate wishful thinking about the new, figure-clinging bathing suits into action. If you begin now, you'll find it easy to get into the suit of your choice when the time comes.

To whittle down hips which are too wide, a waistline gone thick, or to remodel a sagging bustline, borrow the technique you'd use at the beach. That means making your slimming sessions with a play ball, which helps turn exercise into fun. The principle is the same as that back of the old medicine ball, but play balls are light and easy for women to handle.

Pick a rubber ball with lots of bounce, one about 13 inches in diameter. This gives you the right weight and "feel."

If your particular need is to trim your waistline, assume a standing position with arms overhead, holding the play ball in clasped hands. Then describe a circle with your arms, first to the right side, then to the left. Bend the body and reach as far as possible in each direction.

To correct a sagging chestline and strengthen flabby abdominal muscles, try this exercise: assume a sitting position with legs together straight out in front. Next, raise your arms overhead, holding the play ball in your hands. Then push the ball up and down about 20 times in a fast rhythmic movement. You'll feel the pull.

Perhaps you want to reduce just your hips. Squat on your knees. Stretch your arms out in front and firmly grasp the ball in your hands. Then, slightly twisting your torso, lower your hips and sit to the left side. Return to the starting position and repeat this exercise to the right side. Continue, alternating from left to right sides. For maximum benefit, do this exercise without swinging your arms.

These are spot exercises. You may do them all, or just one, depending on your particular figure problems.

Go Up in Smoke, Survey Discloses

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Somebody made one of those surveys the other day and came up with a list of the 10 things women disliked most frequently in men and vice versa. The results were pretty much what you'd expect, with nagging, jealousy, poor housekeeping, staying out with the boys and the like prominently mentioned.

What piqued my interest was that high up on the women's dislikes list was a smoking. Men didn't seem to object to women's smoking in quantity at all, because it wasn't on a pretty inclusive list of female faults.

Personally, I am inclined to think that women have some feeling about smoking because women are the ones who have to empty ashtrays in most houses. They are also the characters who have to vacuum clean every day in every room when there's a pipe-smoker in the house. They are the ones who have to decide what to do with old cigar butts—and only razor blades present a more difficult problem. They are the unfortunates who find the dishwasher swirling with strong-smelling ashes and soggy cigarette butts because somebody used a saucer for an ashtray.

Any man who has a wife who smokes cigarettes is pretty lucky. In fairness, she can't complain bitterly that emptying ashtrays is a never-ending and boring chore—not when she helps fill them up.

I would also bet a nickel that many of the men who vote and nagging a woman's worst fault were cigar and pipe smokers—and the aura of nagging surrounding their homes was primarily concerned with male smoking habits.

The cigarette smoker is probably the least objectionable smoker of the three from the standpoint of neatness and lightness of fumes. The pipe smoker is far and away the most difficult smoker to have around the house. At the same time, the cigar smoker boys seem to enjoy themselves much more.

Sherlock Holmes did a marvellous job of detecting a criminal by identifying his cigar ash—he wrote the monograph on the subject of memory serves. I have thought that a smart private or public eye could track a pipe smoker to earth merely by following the thin line of dottle or shavings that the smoker's pipe will constantly deposit.

It would be a crying shame, however, to deprive a pipe-smoker of his pipe. This type of smoker, messy though he is, seems to derive as much enjoyment from his preparation to smoke as he does actually smoking.

A devotee usually has as much equipment as a cabinet-maker. And it takes him longer to prepare for a smoke than to smoke it. He fills up the bowl, cleans it out, then he fusses with the tobacco—spilling some quantity on the floor in the process, where it joins the gop he just has cleaned from the pipe. Finally he uses a full box of matches to get it started, only to forget about the pipe and let it go out. I'm sure pipe-smoking never hurt a smoker—only the cleaner-upper.

Smokers who smoke cigars are a different breed. They are many breeds, in fact, and the most objectionable of these is the cigar chomper. Most cigars wind up in an ash-tray, however, and so do their ashes. The pipe's nothing quite as unbecoming as a dead, well-chewed cigar butt and it can be identified in even a large, well-ventilated room.

On the other hand, a cigar-smoker lighting up after dinner is obviously enjoying himself. It's a shame to nag him about burying the corpse of his stogie later.

Getting back to men's apparent acceptance of women's smoking—I can't understand it. Seems to me all the men I know would rather their women didn't smoke. And it seems to me that men are always proclaiming loudly that women are the messiest smokers in the business. May be that's just said in self-defense.

U. S. Economic Staff To Make Iran Study
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States will dispatch three economic experts to Iran, probably late this week, to study conditions there. The idea is to determine what steps the U. S. might take to strengthen the strategic middle eastern nation against Soviet pressure.

The men will work with Ambassador Henry F. Grady, newly designated U. S. envoy to Tehran, whose nomination is expected to receive Senate approval in a few days.

Measles Given Girl by Cousin As Doctors Fail

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The doctors couldn't give two-year-old Joan Anderson the measles, but Cousin Kenny did it without any trouble at all.

Joan has a chronic kidney disease which medical authorities believe can be helped by measles. They tried twice to give measles to the little girl and both times they failed. The doctors finally gave it up as hopeless.

Two weeks ago, Joan visited her four-year-old cousin, Kenneth Anderson, who had what his parents thought was a cold. A few days ago Kenny came down with measles. Two days after so did Joan.

Go 'All Out' With Steak Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

How about a steak? I mean a thick one marbled with fat, charred on the outside, red to pink on the inside—and as tender as a young girl's heart.

Any man knows there's nothing better to eat. Only three things are needed: the right steak, the kitchen range and courage. Courage is important. Broil that steak forthrightly. Don't be afraid of it. Just light your broiler at least 10 minutes before you plan to use it, grease the rack with a little fat so the meat won't stick and place the steak three inches from the flame.

Give it high heat. Turn it only once when half done. If you are not certain just how things are going, make a little slit and peek. That's against the law of course but it saves a lot of disappointment.

When broiled to your heart's desire, swing to a hot platter. Carve around the bone, lift out the bone, press meat together and slice across grain from edge to edge. This method gives everyone some of the tenderloin.

For an inch and a half thick steak allow about nine minutes per side if you want it rare, 10 minutes for medium and 12 for well done. For a two-inch steak (ah, let's have it!) allow about 15 minutes on each side for rare, 18 minutes for medium and 20 for well done.

Seasoning Important
We, at our house, season it before broiling—at least an hour before time the steak is taken from the refrigerator. Meat should be at room temperature for broiling. We season it freely. Freshly ground black pepper and garlic salt is one form of benediction. Another is black pepper and hickory salt, or just plain pepper and salt.

How much steak for each person? There are many answers, depending on the amount of bone, the degree of the appetite and, sad to admit, the family purse. However, for an all-out steak party, allow a pound per person and have it two inches thick. Porterhouse and T-bone are the top hat at members of the beef steak set, but sirloin is way out in front, too. In fact, many steaksomaniacs prefer it.

Barbure your friends and buy your steak. Be sure your steak knives are razor-edged. Have a large bowl of green salad waiting for its dressing and French bread (that's for dunking). Exhibit your steak, well seasoned, on a small table, when your guests arrive, let them ogle it. Nothing starts a party off so well.

Never rush your guests. Ask them when they want the steak. Then broil it while they relax in anticipation.

Your sauce can be just plain butter, or chopped fresh chives and butter, or you might try this: For dressing and French bread, cut clove of garlic, sprinkle with a little dry mustard, a dash of cayenne, salt and freshly ground pepper. Dot platter liberally with butter, then place platter in oven a few minutes until butter melts. Plunk your broiled steak right on top of this nectar.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By SUE MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

There is a strange twist to the Ingrid Bergman-Rossellini story that is the only good about the messy and regrettable affair.

It has, I think, served to show women more graphically than thousand sermons, novels or tragic stage and movie dramas that even today there is only one role for a woman to play—the role of a good woman.

Looking at the Bergman story any woman can see all of its tragic consequences, and all its fundamental ugliness.

No woman in her right mind can look at what Ingrid Bergman has done to her husband, her first-born child, her illegitimate son and to herself without realizing that there is no love in it world great enough to pay such a price for it.

No woman can help but see that there is nothing ahead for Ingrid Bergman but misery and self-loathing, and that she holds true for any woman who makes a fool of herself in man's world.

OUTDOOR MOVIE ROLES
On the screen Ingrid Bergman played many different roles—many moving stories.

But none had the message of women that fairly shouts at the from her own sordid and tragic story... which might well be named "All for Love."

No woman can afford to mal an "all for love" gesture. The price is too high, the chance for happiness too slim, the risk ultimate, if not immediate, too great.

Women can't afford to list to their hearts without using their heads.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
NEW YORK — One evening last winter I discoursed some remarks to a group of Arizona citizens at Nogales, Ariz., who were organized to try to bring in new industries to develop private enterprise as a substitute for the government subsidies which actually constitute a major industry in our megalomaniac skeleton state.

State Senator Hubert Merrifield, who runs a ranch in the Santa Cruz Valley and runs a country store at Tubac, had spoken proudly of last year's record of his organization, which is called Greater Arizona. He said Greater Arizona had induced about $1,200,000 of new capital to take a chance in Arizona, and beamed upon the beauty and chivalry with satisfaction amid modulated raptures.

As he said these words of brief effluvia, a member of the organization referred to me in an undertone that the U. S. Employment Service, alone, and its state subsidiary or call, had consumed about one-half as much money out of the federal treasury in the work of referring unemployed persons to employment agencies as he had. He further said that a "referral" was accomplished when a handman was sent from the agency to a dwelling to mow the lawn. The population of Arizona is about 700,000 so this would have been about one dollar a head, although obviously not all the citizens were "referred." More graphically, the federal expenditure of $15,000,000 a year in Pima County alone, of which Tucson is the capital, was an important industry, according to the Bureau of Business Research of the University.

Soon I was laboring my favorite subject, which is our predators and parasitic unionism, and in the course of my calm, kind and unprovoked remarks, I said that I had seen the U. S. give Herbert Hoover the state's electoral vote for president. Texas usually do support the business of their primaries which, except in very rare instances, amounts to final elections in this state. But when a candidate is involved, most pay for the slightest attention to the "pledge." They properly do not look upon it as a binding simply because they are given no choice as to whether they shall take it. Rep. Jack Cawthon, who has no opposition for re-election, already has announced he will introduce a bill to abolish the "pledge" requirement when the Legislature meets next January.

The prospects are that numerous members of both House and Senate may join in the authorship of such a measure. Approval should not require extended debate because of the very recent attempt to use the "pledge" as a tool with which a few politicians could plunder the masses of Texas.

KINGSTREE, S. C., County Record — "We hear about the proposed socialization of medicine. But we are not in the habit of road to socializing the power of industry in this country. Tax free power plants are built with taxes, to compete with tax-paying power companies. Part of the costs are often allocated for some high sounding purpose, the benefits of which usually fail to materialize."

WASHINGTON — NEA — Re-program changes in its high command will give the Air Force a new kind of personality as far as Congress and the public are concerned. And there will probably be some changes in policy inside, although these are more difficult to predict.

Common Ground
The Music Lesson

By R. C. ROLLER
"United We Fall"
I want to quote for a few days from the Analysis Magazine an article written by Frank Chodorov, its editor, under the heading of "United We Fall." The editor of the Analysis Magazine seems to realize better than the editor of any other magazine that I read the end results of a government that does things that are immoral for an individual to do. He really believes in freedom. But let the editor speak for himself. I quote:
"It is never too late to put up a fight for freedom. True, the prospect for such a venture at this time seems black indeed, what with the precateness to push more power upon the political overseer so that he might the better regulate our lives. Recruits would be scarce. From the rank and file, those who under all circumstances are determined to be harassed, little can be expected; they are too preoccupied with mere existence. And those who seem to have the necessary ingredients — that is, those who have by their own initiative pushed themselves above the general level — are equally fervent for a regulated and subsidized existence under an omnipotent State. Subvention has become everybody's business.

The despair of those who still put a value on freedom is understandable. Perhaps, as they say, it is best to let the country have its fill of socialism — or fascism or communism or any other pup from the litter of absolutism — and be done with a quixotic struggle. After a century or two of that kind of existence, when human dignity shall have scraped bottom, a Moses will emerge from the bullrushes and gain a respectable following. By that time, they point out, the State shall have become saturated from malnutrition, slaves being poor providers, and a handful of recalcitrant men can push it over. It was ever thus. Every civilization we know of arose and flourished in the sunshine of freedom; political institutions attached themselves even at the beginning, but remained quiescent until an abundance of economic goods accumulated, and then followed a period of increasing political predation until at last the civilization disintegrated and became an historical or archeological curio. After a while, freedom germinates a new civilization. That is the inevitable cycle, and we can do nothing, they say, to prevent or retard it.

Maybe so, maybe our civilization is also doomed by the inevitable forces of history; maybe it is in the decline right now. Nevertheless, men do what they are impelled by an inner urge to do, not what history dictates. The stars in the heavens tend to their eternal business while we transitory mortals travel within our own specific orbits. It was no historical imperative that directed the pens of those who signed the Declaration of Independence; it was the integrity of the signers. There were many at the time — the Tories — who deemed the venture foolhardy and undesirable, and they could have argued the historical uselessness of all revolutions. Nevertheless, the rebels (none of whom were driven to it by economic necessity) put their signatures to what at that time seemed to be their own death warrant. Why? For lack of a better answer, let us say they were made of a particular kind of stuff and could not do otherwise.

Looking to history for causation, we find that man's constantly recurring excursions in search of freedom are identified by their leadership. The logical inference is that when men of that stripe appear on the scene the cause of freedom is not neglected. If, for instance, those who now write about "free enterprise" were willing to risk bankruptcy for it, as the men of the Declaration were willing to risk their necks for independence, the present drive for the collectivization of capital would not have such easy going. Assuming that they are fully aware of the implications in the phrase they espouse, and are sincere in their protestations, the fact that they are unwilling to suffer mortification of the flesh disqualifies them from leadership, and free enterprise remains merely a mouthing.

The present low estate of freedom in this country must be laid to lack of leadership. Whether or not leadership could have averted, or can still stop, the socialistic trend may be open to question; that a glorious fight for freedom might yet enliven the American scene is not. And, if we can trust the historic pattern, the odds are that nature will give us, in her own good time and at her pleasure, the kind of man that can and will make the good fight."

SHOWDOWN — These four, too, are regarded as representative of the so-called "progressive wing" that would like to liberalize pretty much anything that has been expressed and voted by a majority of House and Senate Republicans. Anyway, they have always stood further to the left than has the GOP Senate policy leader. Today's impressions and emotions may have no permanent effect on bigtime politics. But this sort of resentment against gubernatorial interference could eventually rebound to the Ohio senator's benefit, if it endures.

TAXES — Millions of people will save a billion dollars in excise taxes annually because a Democratic congressman repudiated in a small way the trust busting policy of his state political leader, who happens to be Attorney General J. Harold McGrath. The House member is Representative Alvin J. Forand of Rhode Island. Venerable and powerful Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, gave quiet warning that there would be no tax cut at all, if the tobacco

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The ancient feud between the Republican Party's representatives on Capitol Hill and the GOP governors has been revived as a result of the latter's "scouring off" of national and international questions at their recent Hot Springs Conference.

Three gubernatorial figures mentioned as 1952 possibilities — Driscoll of New Jersey, Duff of Pennsylvania and Warren of California — drew the most severe fire, for they offended the "federal crowd" in two respects. The three condemned Senator Joe McCarthy's tactics in launching his attack on alleged "Reds" within the State Department, although they agreed that a more judicial investigation should be conducted.

Success Secrets
By ELMER WHEELER
There seems to be a conspiracy about to sell the idea to the American people that ambition will wreck your life. Individual initiative has come to be a bug-aboo that gives you stomach ulcers, heart failure, and destroys peace of mind.

GROUP — The Taft-for-President faction was especially upset because of the friendliness shown toward one another by the three governors counted on to oppose the Ohio senator for the presidential nomination two years from now. Messrs. Driscoll, Duff, and Warren. They also include Dewey in the hostile group.

SHOWDOWN — These four, too, are regarded as representative of the so-called "progressive wing" that would like to liberalize pretty much anything that has been expressed and voted by a majority of House and Senate Republicans. Anyway, they have always stood further to the left than has the GOP Senate policy leader.

TAXES — Millions of people will save a billion dollars in excise taxes annually because a Democratic congressman repudiated in a small way the trust busting policy of his state political leader, who happens to be Attorney General J. Harold McGrath.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: There's another starring role in the typewriter-tapping role at MGM for Eleanor Powell. She came out of retirement to do a routine in "Duchess of Idaho." Shirley Temple mixed a role in Andrew Stone's "Riviera." "Not sophisticated enough," was her reason. ... Marjorie Reynolds did a double-take when she got real champagne in a breakfast scene at RKO. They explained it: "You're working for Howard Hughes, kid. Nothing but the best."

Republic is trying to buy two old Mabel Normand yards for Judy Canova stars. Teresa Wright wears "just a nightgown" in a boudoir scene for "Mr. and Mrs. Anderson." Edith quotes are Oscar-winner Edith Head's. She whispered: "I got her size and went out and bought her a nightgown." Until recently, the designer said she would have whipped up a gown in Hollywood tradition with maybe ermine tails or 30 yards of black lace. It was "No more," says Edith. "Now we're doing pictures about real people and they wear real clothes."

DEPENDS ON EVELYN
"Mrs. Mike" may have a sequel, "Mrs. Mike and the Sergeant," is Producer Edward Gross can get Evelyn Keyes' name on the dotted line. ... Argentina's Gable, Fernando Lamas, finally landed a movie job in MGM's "Welcome to Paris." He'll play a Frenchman. ... Rebel Randall's TV shows in New York are bringing her movie bids. First of Free Movies Slated On Wednesday

Wednesday, at 10 a. m., the first of a series of ten free movies will be presented for the youngsters at the LaNora Theatre.

The program, an effort to furnish entertainment for youngsters during the summer months, is being sponsored jointly by Smith's Quality Shoes, Home Builders Supply, Leder's Jewelry and the Electric Supply Co., in cooperation with the Pampa theatre.

Children may obtain their free movie tickets at any of these business houses. No tickets will be necessary for Wednesday's show, however.

The pictures which will be shown are taken from the Children's Film Library at Oklahoma City. The movie to be shown tomorrow is "Barefoot Boy," with Jackie Moran. Some of the other films to be shown the youngsters are "Henry Aldrich, Boy Scout," "Hoppy Serves a Writ," "Miracle on 34th Street," "Shaggy," "David Copperfield," "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn," and "Penrod and Sam."

Super-Neighborhood Offered As Solution to Big-Cityitis

DILEMMA OF THE CITIES—Magnificent progress has been made in providing public housing and get people out of slum areas like the one at left, town planning experts admit. But they warn that endless reproduction of the same type housing (right) creates a regimented, institutional appearance. As a solution, they recommend "super-neighborhoods" or "super-blocks."

Editors note: Are big cities swallowing up America? Town planning experts think so, and this dispatch tells you — and how they would correct the situation. For a word-picture of the "super neighborhood" they talk about as one answer, a second dispatch which follows soon takes you to Radburn, N. J., a town built in 1929 that experts still regard as ultramodern.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—So you're a city slicker and live in the heart of New York, Chicago or Philadelphia. You're up to your chest in culture, foreign restaurants, the theater, first-run jokes, concerts and art galleries. You're a cosmopolite.

But what you don't know, city man, is that you are slowly going whacky. Your kids are becoming delinquent and you're going broke in spite of what your bank balance says. The experts have discovered that it's soon going to be mentally and financially impossible to live in big cities.

In other words, city life in the U. S. has now reached its point of diminishing returns. The city dweller is losing more mentally, through the strains and confusions of big-town life, than he is gaining culturally and intellectually. And he is having to spend more for psychiatrists, police protection, delinquent correction, traffic handling and remedial social services than the extra money he might earn by working in the city.

This problem directly affects half of the people in the U. S., too. Half the American population lives in big cities, on one percent of the nation's land. Indirectly it concerns a lot more than half because the trend to the city is increasing.

Census figures show that between 1940 and 1947 the 13 largest cities increased in population by 10.6 percent and their sub-

Top Pilots Booked For Air Fiesta In Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI — Aviation's national acrobatic and racing champions will take their planes into the air over Corpus Christi July 28 and 29 for the Corpus Christi Air Fiesta, the first civilian air show ever to be produced here with top-flight airmen.

The spectacle will be flown at low altitudes over Cuddihy Field on the two afternoons. Mrs. Dot Lemon, managing director, said acrobatics will be performed as low as 150 feet off the ground.

Rod Jocelyn, world's acrobatic champion, will do the routine that won him that championship in Miami this year. Mrs. Lemon said that one of the most awe-inspiring moments of the show will be the delayed parachute jump made by Jack Huber. Huber will go up two miles, more than 10,000 feet, and jump without opening his chute until he reaches about 1,200.

Among the best known pilots who have accepted Mrs. Lemon invitations to take part in the show are Ray Miller, Clem Honkany, Gene Griffin, Dave Binn, Grady Thrasher, Billy Parker, Phay Daughtrey and Ben Huntley.

The Air Fiesta is the welfare and crippled children's fund-raising project of the 40 & 8 of the American Legion for 1950. Mrs. Lemon, one of the nation's top aviation figures, was brought here by the Legion to manage the show. She directed Houston's outstanding air show last year.

Aviation clubs from all parts of the state have been invited to fly in early for a breakfast to be given in one of the newly opened parks of Padre Island. An air strip is being prepared on the beach for their arrival.

Girl Scouts Return From Camping Trip

Girl Scouts of Troop 26 have returned from a camping trip to Camp Sullivan, east of Lelona. Accompanying the 11 girls were their leaders, Mrs. Joe L. Wells, Mrs. Nelleye Sharpe, Mrs. J. W. Alexander and Mrs. J. B. Ayres, first aid expert.

The day's activities included "nosebag" lunch, a hike, instruction in knot tying, a camp supper, "campfire" dramatics, which were "Little Bo Bop," "Tom and Jerry" and the "Talking Princess." These skills were presented by the three different patrols.

Those attending the session were: Sue Alexander, Dorothy Ayres, Donna Conrod, Debra Franklin, Zelma Franklin, Gracie Nell Henry, Duriene Mitchell, Nancy Moore, Nancy Sharpe, Beth Spencer and Marilyn Wells.

Aged Woman Leaves Over 300 Relatives

WILLS POINT, Texas — (AP)—Mrs. Philadelphia Caroline Kirby, 100 years old, died here yesterday at the home of a daughter. More than 300 descendants survive. Funeral services were held here yesterday.

British Still Care For Maltese DP's

PAMAGUSTA, Cyprus — (AP)—Four hundred displaced persons with no new homeland over the horizon today inhabit one of the internationally publicized Cyprus camps where Britain once held illegal Jewish immigrants to Palestine. They are British subjects, descendants of Maltese. Before the war they had lived for generations in Greece and Turkey. Few spoke English. But because the Maltese had British passports they were evacuated when war began.

For years the 400 have been moving from one DP camp to another — first in India, later to Eritrea, now to this Mediterranean island. Most are elderly. Only 100 are considered employable. They complain they want to return to Greece and Turkey — but those countries do not want them. Britain is not caring for them here.

And what's to be done about all this? Both the situation and the solution were revealed at the recent 82nd Convention of the American Institute of Architects. The answer is smaller cities with in regions, Windels and other experts contend, or the building of super-neighborhoods.

The super-neighborhood, or super-block, about the size of three ordinary city blocks, would include shopping centers, schools, theaters, meeting places and apartments. The super-blocks would be linked by super-highways. And everybody would have his own vegetable patch.

The present expanding cities which threaten to engulf nearby small towns require regional planning, Lewis Mumford, an outstanding expert on problems of city planning, told the architects' meeting. And the small town, he says, must work to stay a small town, instead of trying so hard to become a big city. He describes the ideal towns of the future:

"In areas where clusters of small towns may be developed, the normal size of the small town will be between 20,000 and 50,000 people. In exceptional cases it might be 100,000. Each town will be surrounded by a permanent greenbelt, either established by state zoning law, or owned by the city. There should never be more than 100 persons per acre in the densest quarter.

Windels offers some practical preliminary organizational steps for achieving this vegetable garden utopia. First, he says, the people have to be educated as to what is happening and told how to remedy the situation through efforts initiated by citizen groups, rather than by public officials. Then a National Commission on Urban Population Distribution should be established, followed by experiments to form "Metropolitan Districts," conforming to the boundaries established by the U. S. Census.

Finally, he would bring Uncle Sam into the picture because such decentralization and curbing of the "urban sprawl" is a vital defense against possible atomic bomb attack. Thus, in one package, you get paradise, a vegetable garden and a little better protection against frying in an A-bomb blast.

Retired Preacher Charged in Death

HOUSTON — (AP)—Hiram Riley McCaslin, 80-year-old retired preacher, has been released under $2,800 bond after being charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his stepdaughter's husband.

Aubrey W. Hawkins, 46, a marine engineer, was shot twice in the head with a .22 caliber rifle yesterday in the living room of the house which McCaslin claims is his.

McCaslin told reporters and officers yesterday that he shot Hawkins because "he moved in to my house and took over, and he cursed me every day."

Two Air Force Men Die in Plane Crash

FORT WORTH — (AP)—1st Lt. William E. Pritchett, 28, of Chicago, and 1st Lt. Joseph A. Elonis, 27, of Donaldson, Pa., died yesterday when their AT-6 trainer plane crashed south of the TCU airport.

Witnesses said the plane, from Carswell Field, went into a spin and crashed. The wreckage burned for more than an hour before firemen from Carswell put out the flames.

Laundry Is Real Monkey Business

LOS ANGELES — (AP)—Beauty treatments for anything from elephants to hummingbirds, that's the motto of 26-year-old Lora Buxton. She has opened an animal laundry which she believes is the first of its type in the country. She guarantees to get customers clean by following this routine:

(1) Dunk it in suds and scrub (unless it's a bird, in which case she dry cleans it), (2) manure and buff nails or horns, and (3) administer a thorough brushing. Her most exciting "laundry" is the Java monkey, which nipped her finger, and the 16-year-old East Indian leopard—which behaved like a perfect gentleman.

Art Titans' Feud Uncovered in Rome

VATICAN CITY — (AP)—Evidence of rivalry 400 years ago between Raphael and Michelangelo, two Italian titans of art — was discovered recently.

Prof. Decioleto Redig De Campos, assistant to the Vatican Museums, studying Raphael's famous frescoes, on the Loggia at the Vatican palace noted that one of the central figures had been re-cast in the fresco. The new figure Raphael inserted portrayed Michelangelo dressed as a captive and bound to the chariot of King David entering Jerusalem.

Bales of pitch and oakum were burned to give light for the lighthouse built at the entrance of Boston harbor in 1673.

New Trial Refused For Judith Coplon

WASHINGTON - Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves today refused to grant a new trial for Judith Coplon, 29-year-old former government girl twice convicted of spying for Russia.

Judge Reeves, who last year sentenced Miss Coplon to 40 months to 10 years, overruled the new trial motion after hearing arguments on the question here last week.

The motion was based on contentions of Miss Coplon's attorneys that "newly discovered evidence" indicated the government had concealed wire-tapping activity at the original trial.

SMEAR CAMPAIGN

By Edwin Rutt Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Bill Jarvis, spending a week at a swank vacation resort as guest of the parents of Bevy, his fiancée, is angered by a "smear" campaign directed against Hilda Sands, a pretty young woman who stands by Bevy's side.

Bevy's father, who is a government girl twice convicted of spying for Russia, is a "smear" campaign directed against Hilda Sands, a pretty young woman who stands by Bevy's side.
