"Commando" is coming to mean any type of fighter—on our side—whose business is to strike devastating surprise blows. Such a soldier is Sgt. Jack Ross of the U. S. army's new tank destroyer

O'Daniel Will Invade Plains, West Texas

(By The Associated Press) Texas' senatorial struggle—only three weeks from decision day—moved toward the northern sectors of the state as the three candidates announced itineraries for the coming week that would give none a chance to rest.

Two to four major public meetings a day, plus several radio appearances, were on their schedules. James V. Allred's campaign will take him from West Texas across Central Texas, and from thence east and northeast. Dan Moody was booked in towns and cities in East and North Texas, and W. Lee O'Daniel will continue to comb the Panhandle, Plains and Northwest Texas.

Taking advantage of the crowds, some candidates for railroad commissioner, lieutenant governor and lesser state and county offices were following in their wake.

The weekly speaking schedules announced by the three senatorial candidates were:

O'Daniel—Monday, Abilene, Anson, Haskell, Stamford; Tuesday, Paducah, Plainview, Amarillo; Wednesday, Pampa, Shamrock, Wellington, Childress; Thursday, Vernon, Seymour, Wichita Falls; Friday, Jacksboro, Graham, Breckenridge; Saturday, Cisco, Ranger, Weatherford.

Moody—Monday, Athens, Canton, Tyler; Tuesday, Gilmer, Kilgore, Carthage, Marshall; Wednesday, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Pleasant, Clarksville, Paris; Thursday, Cooper, Sulphur Springs, Greenville; Friday, Terrell, Kaufman, Dallas; Saturday, McKinney, Corsicana.

Allred—Monday, Sweetwater, Abilene; Tuesday, Ballinger, San Angelo; Wednesday, Stephenville, Cleburne; Thursday, Hillsboro, Athens; Friday, Farmersville, McKinney; Saturday, Bonham, Clarksville, Paris.

Allred, speaking at Brady's July jubilee, said that if the isolationists, with whom O'Daniel voted, hadn't hamstringed the selective

'Not An Hour Wasted Not A Shot Withheld'

(By The Associated Press) America observed Independence Day with its fighting men deployed the world around, struggling as never before to maintain the liberties daintily proclaimed 166 years ago. There were celebrations wherever the nation's forces happened to be. American fliers chose this significant holiday for their first participation in an attack upon the Hitler-held continent of Europe.

Meanwhile, at home, the day was dedicated, not to the usual firecrackers, picnics, and motor tours, but to whirling factory wheels and busy assembly lines, led, said President Roosevelt, a single hour was wasted, or a single shot withheld.

In the desert sands of Africa, along the thousands of miles of battle lines in Russia, in New Zealand and Australia, and the islands of the Pacific, in war-torn China and all over the seven seas, free men are fighting desperately—and dying—to preserve the liberties and decency of modern civilizations," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"We celebrate x x x this year, not in the fireworks of make believe but in the death dealing reality of tanks and planes and guns and ships. We celebrate it also by running through the interruption of the assembly lines, which turn out the weapons to be shipped to all the embattled points of the globe."

Kunze Expelled In Mexican Nazi Hunt

By WILLIAM D. PATTERSON MEXICO CITY, July 4 (AP)—The expulsion of Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, acting fuhrer of the German-American bund, to the United States was announced officially tonight while Mexican agents pursued a widespread search for German agents in Mexico, some of whom, it was reported, might have been landed from a Nazi submarine.

Authorities were said to be running down a number of leads in an effort to bring about a general seizure of German agents.

Secret agents acknowledge, without comment, rumors that some of these enemy agents might have been landed about 11 days ago from a German submarine north of Tampico.

One unconfirmed report said one of those agents had been arrested. The reported landing was described as part of a general plan of sabotage and Axis aid that involved the eight saboteurs recently seized in the United States after landing from German submarines and with the more than 20 agents rounded up in the Panama Canal zone and Central America.

The interior ministry said that Kunze had been "expelled" to the United States by plane today as an "undesirable foreigner."

Kunze faces an espionage charge in Hartford, Conn. The indictment alleged that he conspired to transmit U. S. military and defense information to Germany and Japan.

The ministry said he managed to

Axis Bogs Down In Egypt As Soviets Meet Furious Attack

Planes Rock Rommel Back On His Heels

CAIRO, July 4 (AP)—General Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, waging a supreme fight for Egypt and the Middle East, threw fresh troops into a battering assault tonight on weary Axis forces which were being pounded on their small strip of desert positions by the heaviest aerial attack ever seen in the Middle East.

The first results of the new attack, launched from positions west of El Alamein, northern anchor of the British defenses of vital Egypt, was the capture of 600 German infantrymen. They were so exhausted after five weeks of continuous fighting that they were unable to resist.

Battlefront reports said it was General Auchinleck's knowledge of the physical state of the Axis forces, now down to a pint of water a day in the torrid desert, which led him to push his offensive to prevent Field Marshal Erwin Rommel from resting his men or rushing fresh troops into the battle.

The British, on the other hand, were using newly arrived New Zealand forces as well as British armored units and South Africans who have been through the whole campaign.

Reports from Alexandria said all kinds of reinforcements, with American tanks, guns and other war equipment, were moving along the desert highway to the Allies' front, 65 miles west of the great naval base.

Both in Cairo and Alexandria the people were reported optimistic over the prospects and fully confident that the tide of battle was turning in favor of the Allies. The population was calm and all activities were going on normally.

The continuing assault from the air, as well as Allied artillery, was having a telling effect on the Axis forces. At least 40 of Rommel's big guns were in British hands and a number of his tanks knocked out as the reinforced British eighth army smashed at the foe in the El Alamein area, a British communique said.

Describing the Allied air attacks in cooperation with land forces as "unprecedented," the British communique listed 28 Axis planes as destroyed in the air and on the ground in yesterday's all-day conflict.

Sixteen of these were German dive-bombers, 13 of which were shot down in a few minutes in a single spectacular battle over El Alamein with a squadron of South African fighters new to the desert.

The South Africans, called to the attack almost as soon as they arrived at a desert airdrome, reached the scene just as the first Stuka was seen off to dive against British troops.

Slashing through the Nazi fighter escort, the South African Hurricanes shot down the 13 dive-bombers while explosives still were in the racks. The awesome roars of the crashes drowned out the cheers of the earth-bound British soldiers.

Evidently the RAF and United States army airmen in the desert put

30 Crewmen Of Ship Die In Gulf Sinking

A GULF COAST PORT, July 4. Thirty members of the crew, including the master and three members of the gun crew, died when a small Panamanian vessel was torpedoed and sank in three minutes in the Gulf of Mexico, June 16, the navy announced.

Fourteen survivors were landed at a Gulf port by a rescuing navy patrol bomber after 13 days at sea in two life rafts which they said were circled constantly by sharks. Albert Boden, fireman, of Houndbars, died June 22 aboard one of the rafts.

The torpedo practically blew off the ship's stern, giving the crew no time to lower life boats. Captain Anders Weesgaard of (622 Johnson Ave.) Mobile, Ala., went down with the ship. The others died either from the torpedo blast or were pulled down with the sinking ship.

The two life rafts were lashed together for about 6 days because of rough weather but separated later. For provisions the men had milk tablets, chocolate and graham crackers. Water was rationed to two cups a day.

Flags and canvas were used both as shelter and sails. The men had oars and took turns at rowing, estimated that they would have reached land in another 6 days.

On the third day at sea, the survivors said they spotted two patrol

5 Narrowly Escape Drowning In Lake

Five persons narrowly escaped drowning at Lake McClellan yesterday afternoon when their motorboat capsized about 50 yards from shore while coasting to a landing at the boat house.

Occupants of the boat were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leland and five-year-old daughter Gayle Sue, and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Cook. Mrs. Leland sank beneath the water twice but was rescued by her husband.

Mrs. Cook was able to swim to shore and Mr. Cook grabbed the Leland child and swam with her.

Mrs. Leland was unable to swim and Mr. Leland was only a novice. He was able to hold his wife above water until a boat arrived.

After giving Mrs. Leland artificial respiration, she was brought to a physician here. Her condition last night was favorable.

Mr. Leland said that he was approaching the boat house and had killed the motor when the boat became waterlogged.

Foes Show Slight Gains In Russia, Alaska And China

By RICHARD McMURRAY Associated Press War Editor

The determined British army of the Nile stayed for the third successive day the critical German threat to Alexandria and all Egypt, and the Axis forces last (Sat.) night showed signs of weariness and lost momentum.

In the equally vital battle of the Ukraine, the stalwart Russian army met and contained the full fury of a 100-mile wide Nazi offensive and counterattacked with success while consuming the enemy's mechanized might at the rate of an armored division a day.

In the midnight communique, issued early Sunday the Soviets admitted that in one undisclosed sector of the Kursk front Russian troops had retreated and occupied new positions while stubborn battles proceeded on the Belgorod and Volchansk fronts near Kharkov.

And in Western Europe, the swiftly growing United States air forces flew for the first time from the British Isles in an assault upon German airdromes in Holland and shipping off the Dutch coast.

A modest beginning of an immense punishment which the aroused American nation had promised Hitler, for only six bombers manned entirely by U. S. crews and an equal number of RAF bombers took part.

Three planes—two of them American operated—were shot down, accounting for the first U. S. combat casualties in Europe of this war.

Other army and navy pilots attacked a more imminent peril to North America making four raids on German airdromes in Holland and shipping off the Dutch coast.

The 10 men to take a training course consisting of 35 to 45 hours flight instruction and 240 hours of ground school training will be named following the taking of a screening test and physical examination. Only requirements are that the men must be between the ages of 17 and 37 years, pass a physical examination and be inducted into the air corps before starting the course.

Upon completion of the course here, the men will be sent to advanced training bases where they will be given aptitude tests and then assigned to either the aviation cadets, glider corps or as instructors. The 10 men will be given free lodging and board while taking the course, and free transportation.

Anyone who has taken the air corps screening test and made as high as 65 on the test will be eligible to take the course here.

The Pampa school board has been named ground school sponsors. That course will include all phases of flying plus math and physics. No flight contractor has yet been named.

Men desiring to take the course may secure application blanks from Frank Culbertson at the Culbertson Chevrolet company here. Mr. Culbertson will make arrangements for free physical examination.

Stirring thought the news of the U. S. raids in Europe and the Aleutians was, the exploits were overshadowed by the momentous battles of Egypt and Russia.

In Egypt the stake was so immense that world interest was focused on the outcome, for the prize was the control of the Middle East, its oil and its restive peoples.

The sky-ruling British and U. S. army pilots supported the stiffened and reinforced British land forces with the greatest aerial onslaught any continent except Europe has ever seen, and it was this power that prevailed in the control of the Middle East, its oil and its restive peoples.

Then, too, the accurate British artillery was taking a growing toll of the Axis armor, and the Allies were showing a more aggressive fighting spirit and a greater willingness to take risks to punish the desert fox, Marshal Rommel.

Forty big Axis guns were captured along with hundreds of enemy troops but the very fact that for three tortured days and nights the Germans had been stopped in the El Alamein battle, had outweighed these tactical gains.

It was far too early to draw conclusions, tempting though the prospects were. The fox had halted before, and even withdrawn in his 350 mile sprint across North Africa, only to rest and strike with great

Election Will Be Forum Topic Monday

An open forum meeting of citizens will be held at 8 o'clock Monday night in the county courtroom to discuss the city bond election for a $15,000 bond issue to drill three water wells at the site of the Pampa advanced air engine flying school, Crawford Atkinson, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, announced last night.

Ian E. Williams, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of a special committee appointed at a recent director's meeting to promote the bond issue, will preside at the meeting.

"Back in April, when we made our first contacts with officials of the army air forces, we made commitments to provide the site, drill water wells and provide a road, for the project," Atkinson said. "In order to carry out these commitments we called a joint meeting of our board with the city commission and the city commissioners court."

"At this meeting, it was agreed the city would provide the water, and the county would provide the land and build the road.

"Later the government agreed to buy the land.

Mr. Atkinson related that other cities had voted huge amounts, compared with the Pampa issue, for army installations in their vicinities. "Pampa is asking for only $15,000," said Mr. Williams, "the smallest amount of any city in Texas where an army installation has been made."

Mr. Williams also pointed out that aside from bene Sias and the community will receive in additional business

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

The Allied world drew an easier breath at the end of a week tense with war drama in Egypt and Russia.

For the moment at least British reinforcements appeared to have blocked again the Axis drive toward Alexandria.

Unquestionably Hitler's promised knock-out summer offensive against Russia is in progress. A German claim to have broken through Russian defenses testified to that.

A crisis is brewing in southern Russia that is no less urgent than that for the British in Egypt even though the factors involved, including the time element, are wholly different.

Neither Russian nor German reports afford much map data by which gauge the ebb or flow of the huge and growing battle. As the week-end began the Germans spoke in broad terms of a gigantic breakthrough in the Ukraine and a speedy advance, toward the Don river area.

For their part, the Russians had been claiming the ebb or flow of the huge and growing battle. As the week-end began the Germans spoke in broad terms of a gigantic breakthrough in the Ukraine and a speedy advance, toward the Don river area.

It appears that the main German attack thus far has developed along a front of probably 200 miles from northeast of Kursk southward to Kupyansk, 80 miles east and slightly south of Kharkov.

That roughly corresponds to the line of the Kursk-Belgorod-Volchan-sk-Kupyansk railroad.

Kupyansk was taken by the Germans more than a week ago. Belgorod, like Kursk, remained in German hands throughout the winter and spring. Volchan, however, was the northern limit of Marshal Timoshenko's drive at Kharkov as Chuguev was its southern extremity. If the Germans now hold all of the Kursk-Kupyansk railroad, therefore, it is clear that they have not only regained all of the ground Russia won about Kharkov but definitely moved eastward beyond Timoshenko's jump-off positions.

The Russian salient that by-passed Kharkov to the south and stabbed dangerously close to the Dnieper river crossings threatening to outflank the whole Nazi line to Taganrog appears, by this analysis, completely wiped out. The indicated front from Kursk to Kupyansk also implies a developing two-prong German drive to tear a huge gap between Russian armies in the south and those in the central or Moscow area.

From Kursk and Kupyansk railroads run generally eastward to connect with the remaining unhampered Russian north-south communication system. What is indicated by the German break-through claim is a converging twin drive, narrowing from a 200 mile to a 50 mile front if it reaches its target, to cut that last direct Russian north-south connecting link.

The missing factor about all Nazi break-through claims in this battle as compared with previous fast-moving conflicts in Russia is lack of any indication that panzer divisions have been able to plunge through far to the Russian rear. It was that blitzkrieg technique that won Hitler all his previous land victories. To date, Timoshenko's army seems to have found means to foil it although massed tanks by the hundreds have been thrown at it repeatedly at many points. Russian retreatments to keep the front intact have up to now proved successful.

The territory as yet lost or gained is of small consequence as compared with the losses in men and equipment on either side. The battle in Russia is a battle of attrition, of destruction of armies, not for this or that key point. Its time element can be computed only in weeks or months.

Kunze was successful in remaining under cover in Mexico despite a ceaseless police search carried out in cooperation with the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He was captured, however, this week in the small gulf coast town of Boca del Rio, Veracruz state, during a round-up of Axis nationals which was instituted to check reports that fifth columnists were responsible for the submarine torpedoing of two Mexican tankers.

He was in Mexico under the name of Alfonso Graf. Police indicated his only attempt at disguise was to shave off his Hitler-like moustache.

There was no explanation for his presence in a coastal town where surveillance was being tightened because of national defense precautions and mounting U-boat activity in the Gulf of Mexico.

Authorities indicated the extreme secrecy with which his case was handled was occasioned by possible ramifications of his movements.

His identity was not confirmed until it was said he had been placed aboard the regular midday plane for the United States today. He was accompanied by two secret service police agents.

20,000 Watch Bombing Of Model Tokyo

MIDLAND, July 4 (AP)—The thunderous crash of bombs and the vicious roar of 75 twin-motored bombers brought a taste of war to the West Texas suburbs today.

Sweeping over a miniature Tokyo at the Midland army flying school, the planes dropped their "eggs" and methodically reduced the model city to rubble while an estimated 20,000 spectators watched grimly.

The attack staged to demonstrate the skill of bombardier cadets, was described by Brigadier General I. Davies, flying school commandant, as "a grand thing for the school. Bombardiers gave an excellent performance and the program moved like clockwork."

The model of Tokyo was laid out to scale, 300 feet representing a mile. Offering a tempting target were docks, forts, breakwater, warehouses and other structures, made of cardboard and scrap lumber.

Two attacks were staged, one at 2 p. m. the other at 10 p. m.

Committee Votes Agriculture Funds

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—Stop-gap legislation which would give the agriculture department nearly twice as much money during July as it would receive under a disputed regular appropriation bill was recommended unanimously today by a senate appropriations subcommittee.

If the senate and the house should agree to this plan, the two branches could wrangle over the appropriation bill for the rest of this month without causing financial embarrassment to the department, now technically without funds.

Under a simple resolution recommended by the subcommittee, the department would be allowed to spend this month at the rate which prevailed in June, the last month of the previous fiscal year.

The old law provided $1,127,623,854 for the 1942 fiscal year. The new supply bill sets up about $680,000,000. Accordingly the departments may have some $93,900,000 available for July spending, compared with about $56,000,000 under the disputed bill.

The subcommittee substituted its resolution for a lengthy bill passed by the house last Thursday—a measure which was entirely unacceptable to the senate leadership.

'We've Always Been Proud of Him,' Says Parents Of Hero

EL RENO, Okla., July 4. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kegelman were pleased to learn that their son, Capt. Charles C. Kegelman, was awarded the distinguished service cross today in London, but the pilot's father said it didn't make much difference because "we've always been proud of him."

The 26-year-old pilot was decorated by Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of U. S. army forces in the European theater of operations, for his part in the American-British air raid today on airfields in German-occupied Holland.

A native of El Reno, where he attended grade and high schools, young Kegelman will be 27 years old in October. He attended Oklahoma Military Academy two years ago and spent two years at the University of Oklahoma, where he was a pre-medical student.

He left O. U. in May, 1936 to join the army air corps and trained at Randolph Field, Texas. After receiving his commission, he was assigned to Shreveport, La., then to Savannah, Ga., and later to Will Rogers air base at Oklahoma City.

His wife lives here but at present is visiting in Austin, Tex. He has three sisters, Miss Anne Kegelman, Los Angeles; Mrs. E. E. Milam, El Reno, and Mrs. Eldon Smith, Oklahoma City.

The pilot's father is a retired Rock Island locomotive engineer.

Estimate of sugar supplies on hand in the United States for this year—total 5,500,000 short tons. Normal demand would be 7,500,000 short tons. Industry absorbs approximately 35 per cent, the balance going for family consumption. Sugar supply for family consumption is expected to be substantially maintained by shifting part of the demand for sugar for industrial alcohol from other industrial uses rather than from food stocks. Clearly, hoarding of sugar is not only unwise but unnecessary as well.

Mexico Observes Independence Day

MEXICO CITY, July 4. (AP)—Mexican officials celebrated the United States independence day with more ceremony than the American colony today, as symbol of the new sympathy between the two nations.

There were no official United States celebrations except a dinner at night. Ambassador George S. Messersmith cancelled the usual Fourth of July reception at the embassy, following the White House's policy of having no large gatherings during the war. However, the ambassador was kept on the run during the day, making three formal speeches.

President Avila Camacho messaged President Roosevelt that the independence celebration this year was "particularly solemn" because the United States was fighting for the preservation of democracy, opposing the dictators and working, in all possible ways, to safeguard the integrity of America, the sovereignty of our nations and their concept of human harmony in law and honor.

In a message to Secretary of State Hull, Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla called the United States "the heroic defender of the principles of equality, culture and independence."

Messersmith spoke first at a municipal ceremony changing the name of Primavera street to "Benjamin Franklin Avenue." He said the principles of the new world permitted such an honor to men of peace and science.

Next the ambassador spoke on an inter-American radio program with Padilla. He said the Latin American interest in the Fourth of July this year was "the most striking evidence we could have of the vital nature of the struggle in which we are all engaged."

Padilla said the declaration of independence was the origin in this hemisphere of written institutions dictated by the voluntary expression of the people.

To the American colony dinner at night Messersmith said the new order of the Axis was "no more than an old order from which humanity centuries before had emerged."

power and surprise which caught the British flat-footed.

For the first time in this sixth desert campaign, the enemy was stopped and his momentum was gone. The incessant pounding at Rommel's long, tenuous supply lines and the peppering of his flanks suggested that the British might be in the ascendancy.

All kinds of reinforcements including American tanks, guns and other materiel were streaming to the front.

There were reports that Rommel was digging in, perhaps to rest and consolidate and await new reinforcements. But there was no disposition by the British to play his game—the imperials were attacking to destroy. The Axis claims of victory degenerated into boasts of repelling counterattacks.

The massive battle of the Ukraine — engaging perhaps 50 times the number of men locked in the death struggle before the rich Nile delta — erupted violently in three sectors between Kharkov and Moscow.

The main German effort was east of Kursk and here Marshal Fedor Von Bock was hurling most of his tanks, artillery and dive bombers. Other violent attacks were aimed from Belgorod, 75 miles south, and from Volchansk, 25 miles below Belgorod.

In the ebb and flow of battle on the undulating plateaus, the Russians said they were wiping out an average of 300 tanks a day together with thousands of German troops and their mercenaries.

The Russians admitted temporary German gains here and there but no serious breaks and almost invariably said their counterattacks restored the original positions. One Russian report before Kursk was said to have pushed the Germans across an important stream. Nowhere was there substantiation of the German claim that their troops were advancing speedily toward the river Don.

One thing was certain: There was no repetition of the spectacular German advances of last summer. Instead there was a steady, stolid defense of attrition with the Russians selling small gains in territory for an immense price in German lives and materiel.

The Russians, with their vast lands and seemingly limitless supply of manpower, could better afford to trace than the Germans. Sevastopol, for instance, was sold at what the Russians said were 300,000 casualties — a costly achievement for victor and vanquished alike.

The American air blow at German-held Europe was aimed at Hamstedt, Alkmaar and Valkenburg and bombs were seen to fall squarely on the targets. The U. S. fliers borrowed American-built planes from the RAF and flew with an equal number of British operated bombers without a protective screen of British fighters on the Fourth of July. The attacks were pressed "from very low levels," the first U. S. communiqué for the European theater said.

Their machine guns were turned upon 150 German fliers, surprised at the airfields, among other things. Considerable damage was done to grounded Nazi planes and installations. The raid provoked a letter of praise from Air Marshal Harris, British bomber command chief, who said:

"I know your magnificent youngsters will fetch a grunt out of the enemy with the first punch."

In the Asiatic theater, the Japanese widened their gains against the Chinese in Kiangsi province where they were attempting to encircle and annihilate a large force south of the Kiangsi-Chekang railway, the ruins of which now apparently rest in Nipponese hands. Chinese outer defenses of Kwangfung in Eastern Kiangsi were broken and a central railway was seized. A Chinese command was taken in the capture of Wuchen in Suiyen province.

U. S. air might—now in action in all the world's six continents—combined with the Australians in raids on Lae, New Guinea and Kopepang, Dutch Timor.

their full strength into the battle. Axis landing grounds, camps and roads were attacked. Twelve Allied planes were lost. (The Germans claimed 25.)

While it was emphasized here that the British counter-attack did not indicate that the Germans and Italians were permanently halted, a British commentator declared the Axis thrusts had diminished slightly in numerical strength during the past three days.

"This was tacitly acknowledged by the German high command, which said 'counter-attacks undertaken by the enemy with reinforcements were beaten off in hard fighting.' The Germans admitted El Alamein remained in British hands."

An observer thus described the turn of the tide Thursday afternoon:

Axis infantry supported by artillery and with tanks massed behind them, slipped forward to attack British guns which had been holding up the advance. Just as the Axis armor was about to enter the battle, the British counter-attacked on the German flank, drove the tanks from support of the infantry, and caused the entire attack to fail.

Reports that Rommel was attempting to dig into positions along the northern end of the El Alamein line came from the desert last night. They were followed by the communique announcing capture of 40 Axis cannon.

While there was no disposition here to minimize the continuing threat to Egypt, it was felt that the heavily-reinforced British army had recovered from the defeats it suffered across 350 miles of desert and was doing battle with full confidence in its weapons and leadership.

The Egyptian government announced that Axis planes raided the Suez canal area Friday night, but caused only three casualties. Alarms sounded also in Cairo and elsewhere, and Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha announced that a complete blackout would be introduced for Cairo.

Are You Getting Used To Sinkings?

AN EAST COAST PORT, July 4. (P)—"The first man who wants gasoline to joyride ought to have to ship on a tanker and help bring it in—it would be a different story then."

40 Persons Killed On 4th Compared With 162 In 1941

(By The Associated Press) Despite tire and gasoline shortages 40 persons died on the highways yesterday (Sat.) and 31 others met violent death in other forms as the nation celebrated Independence Day.

The figures compared with 162 deaths, 114 of them caused by traffic accidents, last Fourth of July. A toll of 21 lives was taken by drowning. The fact that there were no reports of fatalities caused by fireworks was largely attributable to heavy restrictions on pyrotechnic displays in coastal areas and strictly enforced local safety laws.

Automobile traffic in all sections of the country was reported lighter due to the tire and fuel saving campaigns.

California led the states in traffic deaths with a toll of 10 recorded. There were seven drownings reported in Ohio.

Phillips Drilling 8 Gas Wells Southwest Of Pampa

The Phillips Petroleum company has started drilling eight new gas wells southwest of Pampa. All the wells are in an area spotted with gas wells. Some of the new tests are on the edge of the pool, as far as three miles from nearest production.

The eight new tests are spotted over an area five miles by six miles. Not more than a half dozen gas wells have been completed in that section, ranging in production from 3,000,000 to 100,000,000 cubic feet.

In all 11 new locations were reported in the Panhandle field last week, eight in Gray county, two in Carson county and one in Hutchinson county, all for gas but two. A total of 155 new locations have been filed so far this year.

COMING EVENTS . . .

Shadows cast by Stirling bombers, largest planes in combat today, are ominous portent for A. Hitler. With America and Britain promising Russia greater efforts in the west, the Germans are going to see a lot of these big boys.

Dutch Get Thrill Out Of U. S. Raid

LONDON, July 4 (AP)—Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of the Netherlands, commenting on the United States air attack on airfields in Holland, said tonight it had "sent a thrill of hope and encouragement through the hearts of the Dutch people wherever they may be found."

Gerbrandy said: "Participation of United States crews in bombing raids on the occupied territories of Europe sent a thrill of hope and encouragement through the hearts of Dutch people wherever they may be found."

"On behalf of the people of the Netherlands, I salute the gallant fighting forces of the United States who today, the anniversary of America's day of independence, have given tangible proof to my people that they are ready to take an active part in the liberation of their country."

"Two planes manned by men of the great American nation have not returned from operations against the enemy in the Netherlands. To them and to their relatives and friends I give special salute."

"I want to assure the American people that the people of my country will not forget their sacrifice."

"The dawn of a new Netherlands day of freedom and independence is breaking."

"Thank you America."

Three Mothers In Tyler Have Five Sons In Service

TYLER, July 4 (AP)—Four Tyler mothers, three of them having five sons each in the armed services and one having four sons and a brother in uniform, received golden eagle service pins of the Emblem of Honor society here today at an Independence Day ceremony honoring Smith county fighting men and their families.

Lieut. Col. Homer E. Carrico, commanding officer at the East Texas army recruiting and induction center here, presented the pins to Mrs. Melvin Wilcox, Mrs. R. T. Palmer, Mrs. George Owen and Mrs. Helen Kroesen. Mrs. Kroesen has four sons and a brother in the service.

Two other eligible Smith county women, whose pins have not yet arrived, were introduced by Colonel Carrico. They were Mrs. W. E. Massey, who has four sons in the service, and Mrs. W. R. Whore, who has four sons in uniform and a fifth leaving within a few days for the army.

Cadet Wants To Be Sent To Japan To Harvest Revenge

GOODFELLOW FIELD, San Angelo, July 4 (AP)—Bryan P. Glass, cadet at the army air force basic flying school here, has a personal as well as a patriotic reason for wanting to put an ebb in the tide of Japanese conquests.

For caught up in that tide were his missionary parents and a sister—all now interned on the Shantung peninsula, where Bryan lived for 15 years. Another sister and her husband are in Free China.

In 1936, young Glass came home to enter Baylor university and ensuing years found much of China made over to fit the plans of the Nipponese.

Bryan says, "I hope I'm not sent to Ireland"; for his eyes are set on China.

LONDON, July 4 (AP)—A son was born to the Duchess of Kent this evening at Coppins, country home of the Duke of Kent, youngest brother of King George VI. The infant became seventh in the line of direct succession to the throne.

The Duchess of Kent formerly was Princess Marina of Greece. She and the Duke of Kent were married November 29, 1934. Their new son is their third child.

A bulletin issued by the Institute of Distribution, an organization representing 16,000 chain stores serving 26,000,000 consumers, tells the story.

Some 30 years ago, we started to burn the candle at one end. At that time, we started to take the management out of the hands of those with the greatest economic talents.

And during the last 10 years, we started to burn the candle at the other end. We made laws that made it impossible for the man with one talent to serve mankind.

FORTUNE TELLER

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON: HOLLYWOOD, July 5.—The movie-makers are up to their ears in a quandary.

They want to be patriotic and conserve materials, but they also have been assured that the most patriotic thing they can do is to keep on making good movies.

The WPB put an arbitrary limit of $5000 on expenditures for new materials for construction of sets in each picture.

And in order to have an ever increasing standard of living, we must have a government that devotes its time and energy not killing talent by discriminatory laws.

THE TORYISM OF NEW DEALISM: The socialistic, New Deal individuals like to brand those people who oppose socialism and New Dealism as Tories.

But the facts of the matter are that New Dealers are the worst kind of Tories. They are the people who know no universal, impersonal rule by which to determine whether an act is right or wrong.

And the bare majority or a dictator, in no way, is capable of representing eternal, immutable rules of conduct established by our Creator.

THE ONLY TIME A BARE MAJORITY CAN BE USED as a guide is when it does not conflict with the inherent rights of an individual, when it only expresses opinion as to the best way to reconcile government with the inherent rights that belong to all people.

But New Dealers pay little attention to terms. They proclaim themselves liberals, but, in reality, they do not know what liberalism is because they do not respect the rights of the minority.

REFLECTIONS ON MIDWAY: Other things being anywhere near equal, land-based airplanes will decide this war.

At Midway, though the disposition of strength is properly a matter of reticence, it is clear that Japan's attack-and-invasion forces, borne by various carriers available to water only, were handily disposed of by a defense depending primarily upon land-based aviation.

So They Say: How can we expect other nations to respect our government if our own people are continually ridiculing, criticizing, and belittling one of the three branches of government?

EDWARD J. FLYNN, Democratic national chairman.

Our reservoir of resources is now approaching flood stage. The next step is for our military, industrial, and shipping experts to direct its full force against the centers of enemy power.

President ROOSEVELT.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim: Sonny Cox, 11-year-old newsboy, got a thrill the other day. He sold a paper to a major on the train.

He didn't like New York. It appeared to be just the army either. It goes for the navy and the marines, too.

The friendly alien squirmed. He didn't ask any questions. He tried to look severe but his sailor friend went on telling about his adventures and hopes for the future.

I would like for the pious, Pampa pioneer who could have given $100 to the USO and never missed it, but who didn't give a dime because he doesn't believe in "entertainment for the soldiers."

A BOOMERANG: Instead, the government order is an encouragement to low-grade productions and is causing the cancellation of some good ones.

UNPARDONABLE: He took her rowing on the lake. She vowed she'd go no more. I asked her why, with this reply: "He only hugged the shore."

Office Cat...: First Britisher—Do you think this man 'Tid' stands any chance o' gettin' wot 'e's out for?

Second Britisher—No, but I think 'e stands a good chance o' gettin' wot 'e's in for.

always stick by you." Forgive me, Arvo, for publishing this personal letter but I wanted to print it because it is a fine tribute to your fine father.

HIGH LIFE And low life in The BIG City

By Stella Halit: The friendly alien was in a long line at the information window of the Pennsylvania Railway station.

Behind him was a young sailor—clean, lonesome, appealing. "You just move up in front of me, because I'm not in a hurry and have lots of questions to ask," said the friendly alien.

"Oh, no, indeed," replied the sailor, and responsive to this friendliness started a conversation.

Passenger cars must be kept running—and on the tires they have. To this end the government is initiating the rubber conservation campaign with the following objectives in view:

1. To keep essential rubber-tired vehicles running as long as possible without depleting the rubber stockpile.

2. To secure as much rubber as possible for the stockpile, either as usable tires or as scrap.

3. To keep non-essential cars running as long as possible.

IT is the tires now rolling the passenger cars of the nation on their way which actually form the biggest rubber problem anywhere.

Complicated statistics have been analyzed to show that, figured on a basis of the normal driving habits of this country, the average tire has left in this spring...

TEXAS TOPICS

By DeWeese: HERE are the cold, unvarnished facts and figures showing why rubber conservation is the outstanding war problem today.

Japan today is in control of more than 90 percent of the world's rubber plantations. In 1941 we used 750,000 tons of rubber.

Most of our synthetic rubber plants are still in the blue print stage. This year production will total about 30,000 tons.

Next year we may get 300,000 tons. In 1944, if miracles are performed, we may produce 800,000 tons—every ounce of which will have to go for military needs.

The much talked of guayule crop will not be substantial before 1946 or 1947.

Crude rubber from South America and Africa will be only a small fraction of the amounts needed for military uses.

There remain only two sources from which any hope can be drawn for even a partial solution of the shortage problem: the rubber stockpile with which we started the war, and the rubber which can be reclaimed from rubber scrap.

THOUGH the latter will help, it affords no permanent relief, because before it can be used again, some crude rubber must be mixed with it.

The present rubber stockpile will merely tide us over our immediate military and essential civilian needs.

That these military needs are tremendous is shown by the following figures:

1. The present rubber stockpile will last only 75 tons of rubber.

2. A 10-ton pontoon bridge requires 1 1/2 tons of rubber.

3. A medium size tank requires 3-4 of a ton of rubber.

4. The bullet-proof tanks used in flying fortresses take over a half ton.

5. Even a gas mask uses nearly two pounds.

With not a single ounce of our present rubber stockpile going to passenger cars this year, we will still, at our present rate of consumption, exhaust that stockpile by the end of March, 1943.

New or recapped tires will not be available for ordinary passenger cars for a year, or next year, unless the present supply of passenger car tires can be preserved, at least through 1944, passenger cars will be tireless and their passengers forced to seek other means of transportation.

STOPPAGE of the wheels of the passenger cars of this country would spell disaster for the nation.

Most of the total annual mileage rolled up in the United States is consumed by workers earning their living driving to and from or on their jobs.

If they don't get to their jobs, the tanks and guns aren't there, the ships don't get to their jobs, either.

Public conveyances—buses, trolleys, trains—are not the answer to transporting the passengers of the 26 million passenger cars in the nation.

There are no more cities today, no public transportation line exists, they've been forced out of business by those very cars which are now in such danger of paralysis.

Not cars, but more conveyances. They require too much of vital, scarce materials for their construction.

Passenger cars must be kept running—and on the tires they have. To this end the government is initiating the rubber conservation campaign with the following objectives in view:

1. To keep essential rubber-tired vehicles running as long as possible without depleting the rubber stockpile.

2. To secure as much rubber as possible for the stockpile, either as usable tires or as scrap.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON: NYA—the same old depression-stepchild National Youth Administration which has been treated as a poor relations always—patronized and pitied or kicked around and cussed—now faces the necessity of cutting out the monkey business and going to work.

Uncle Congress has cut down on the allowance for the coming year and the NYA nephews and nieces in the money won't be so numerous from here on in.

At its peak in February, 1940, NYA had 480,000 youngsters on its out-of-school program.

A year ago the number was down to $26,000. The number now is about 125,000, but after July 1 it will be cut from 70,000 to 80,000 at any one time.

This number will be taking courses lasting from 10 weeks to three months, so during the year from $500 to 400,000 will be enrolled, but all will be working on defense training.

All the frills like the study of handicraft and the graphic arts, ceramics and weaving, even some of the nurses' aid training will be wiped out of the curriculum, and unless you've been one of NYA's ardent admirers, you can kiss most of this goodbye as good riddance.

NYA's in-school program takes a healthy backing, too. At the peak, half a million youngsters were getting financial aid, and in the month of Sam last year there were 90,000 college and 325,000 high school students getting government grants.

Next year it will be only 25,000 to 20,000 college students, and if any southern New England or southern Sam last year there were 90,000 college and 325,000 high school students getting government grants.

LAST GAMES WILL BE PLAYED IN NEW MEXICO LEAGUE TODAY

Due To War Every Club Losing Money

The West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League is no more—until after the war. Owners of the Pampa franchise announced yesterday that they had been notified that the league would be disbanded after today's games. The Oiler was ready to stay in the league, but other clubs announced that they couldn't continue and rather than carry on with four teams, the league will be disbanded.

The Pampa Oilers played their last home game of the season last night. This afternoon they go to Amarillo where they meet the Gold Sox in the grand finale of the season. Both Bailey, left-handed pitcher, and Surratt, right-handed pitcher, will pitch one game for the Oilers with Joe Isaacs the probable choice for the other.

The war was the cause of the league's disbanding. Not a single club in the league has made a dollar this year and it is doubtful if one has broken even.

The West Texas-New Mexico league was not the first to fall. In fact, the West Texas-New Mexico league is one of the few Class D leagues to last this long. Several leagues of higher classification have also disbanded until after the war.

"We'll keep our franchise and when the war is over we'll be ready to play ball again," President Ray McKernan said last night.

President McKernan, speaking for directors and the 100 men who bought stock in the club and gave Pampa baseball, thanked every man, woman and child who attended games.

Although he gained his usual city block in the stretch, the combination of a milk wagon load on his back and a short strange stretch worked enough of a bugaboo to make Warren Wright's whizzer wind up second to A. J. Sackett's lightly regarded Tola Rose, in the rich Butler Handicap at Empire City, before a banner crowd of 34,728.

As was the case the last time Whirly was beaten, it took a new track record to do it.

"The Rose," packing only 103 pounds compared to the 132 Whirly-away had to lug around, led from end to end to hit the wire in 1:56 2-5, lopping three-fifths of a second off the standard Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Lively Night set up in winning the same mile and three-sixteenths stake three years ago. And for doing this, he returned his supporters $33.60 for each $2 ticket.

Swing And Sway held on for third place, as Vagrancy faded to fourth. She was trailed to the wire in order by the other half of Mrs. Whitney's entry, The Rhymer. Harry M. Warner's California hope, Paper Boy, and Tony Pelletier's Bay View, the surprise of last year's Santa Anita Handicap.

George Stirnweis... all infielder.

Newark Has Another Gordon Coming Up For The Yankees

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor NEWARK, July 4.—George Stirnweis has stirred up more excitement among Newark fans than did the renowned Joe Gordon.

Veteran baseball men say the Bears have "another Gordon" for the Yankees in the chunky son of a Bronx policeman who first crashed the headlines as a remarkable back for North Carolina.

Stirnweis demoralizes the opposition with his speed. On second base with his club one run behind the other afternoon, he so annoyed the Syracuse pitcher that husky Frank Keliher worked the count to two and three and then got a ball he could hit out of the park.

On another occasion, Stirnweis stole second, and when the ball was thrown into center field, did not stop running until he scored. He has stolen 27 bases already. Last year the International league leader had no more than 24.

BEATS OUT BUNTS, HAS GOOD POWER Stirnweis, 5-foot-8 and weighing 175 pounds, is batting .307. He beats out bunts and has good power, the latter proved by his seven triples. He is a right-hand batter.

Stirnweis makes that tough play at second base. When he goes behind the bag for a ball, you hear baseball men say that only Joe Gordon could do that.

Stirnweis plays anywhere in the infield, and over here they suspect that he'll wind up at third base for the New Yorks, with Gerry Priddy devoting his entire time and attention to first base. That is provided there is professional baseball next spring and the young men are still available.

ROBERTSON EXPECTED TO SUCCEED DICKEY Stirnweis went to North Carolina because he did not believe he would have much chance in a big Fordham backfield. He is one football player who was not left brain-muscle by the game.

Scouts agree with Bill Terry of the Giants that George Stirnweis is the slickest minor league infielder in years.

Yankees get 'em. In Newark, all are positive that it will be Aaron Robertson who will step in behind the bat for the New Yorks when Bill Dickey hangs up his tack as a regular. They say Buddy Ross can't move with Robertson, a huge left-batter not hitting .300.

Newark also has a whole of a shortstop in Bill Johnson, a Montclair, N. J., youth who is at the position for the first time after experience in the outfield and at third base. He's batting .319 and has nine home runs.

Southpaw Tommy Byrne, who was given $12,000 to sign fresh from Wake Forest, has won nine and lost one and is batting .362. In his last three games, Byrne came through with his own big hit in the ninth.

All of this and more on one Yankee farm. I won't go into the others. That would be too brutal.

SHUT OUT BREAKS Record At Boston By STEVE OSTROY BOSTON, July 4 (AP)—Shut out, one of the greatest sons of the fabulous Equinox, gained ample revenge today over Valinda Orphan, his recent conqueror in the Dwyer Stakes, by breaking the Suffolk Downs track record for the mile and three-sixteenths as he captured the $25,000 added Yankee Handicap before a holiday throng of 31,000.

Under a shrewd ride by veteran Edlie Arco, the Green's stables winner of the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Cup, two of the three American triple crown events for three-year-olds, flashed over the distance in 1:55 2-5, clipping four-fifths of a second off the mark set by Great in June, 1938.

The time also was only four-fifths of a second off Challeon's world mark. At that, the "Orphan," Uvalde, Tex. horse, which went to the top at the start and held the lead to the head of the stretch, was only a scant neck behind the winner as they drove to the wire. Both were top-weighted at 126 in the four-horse field, smallest in the history of this eight-year-old event.

Pythian Team Will Give Members And Friends Ice Cream The Knights of Pythias softball team is going to throw a big ice cream feed for members and friends in the lodge hall in the Meriten building after their game with the Diamond Shop Thursday evening. Proceeds will go to purchase badly needed softball equipment.

Home-made cakes will be served with the ice cream and the lodge-men are throwing the feed open to everyone, not just members or softball players. The feed will begin about 8 o'clock and there'll be no limit.

Oilers Win Final Games Of Season At Local Park

Surratt Leads Oilers At Plate; Mohrlock On Mound

Idle throughout last week, Frank (Whitey) Warren of Berger continued to lead the West Texas-New Mexico league batting pack with his .411 average.

Grover Seltz, suspended more than a week ago, but who had played in games not put into last week's averages, dropped below the 400 mark to 399. Frank Hargrave of Amarillo also dropped 10 points to 392.

In doubles with 30 and home runs with 17, Hargrave continued to set the pace. Joe Isaacs and Ray Surratt of Pampa were tied in triples with 11. Mel Steiner of Clovis had 34 stolen bases to hold that lead, 10 better than Leroy Koenig of Lamesa.

Lefty Ken Wyatt of Clovis still is undefeated on the mound with 15 victories. Following him are Andy Mohrlock of Pampa and Jim Jennings of Berger with nine wins and two setbacks. Wyatt is one ahead of Gene Costello of Lamesa with 106 strikeouts.

In The American Oilers Sell Mohrlock To Cardinals

Big, blond Andy Mohrlock, one of the favorites of the Oiler baseball team yesterday became a member of the famous St. Louis Cardinals of the National league. Mohrlock was sold to the Cardinals and will leave tomorrow for Decatur in the Three-I league.

Mohrlock was signed to a Cardinal contract by Jim Matthews, St. Louis scout who had been watching the big fellow. Matthews base Walter Morris of the Detroit Tigers who was also watching the big right-hander.

Mohrlock jumps from Class D to Class B ball. The big fellow has won 10 games and lost only two this season. He has an earned run average equal to that of any other hurler in the league.

The likeable big fellow has everything that it takes to make a big league pitcher. First, he has size; second he has ability; third he has a baseball heart; fourth he has a burning fast ball, a great curve and a nice change of pace.

Pampa fans took up a silver collection and presented it to Mohrlock after last night's game.

Lamesa Downs Pampa Boats To Be Entered In Canadian Races

Bagging 18 hits off three Pampa pitchers, the Lamesa Dodgers downed the Oilers 16-3 here Friday night in the opening game of their series. The Oilers got to Pitcher Elkins for 11 bingles, but he kept them well scattered excepting in the fifth when four hits rang off Pampa bats.

Jim Boyle started for the Oilers but was nipped by a pair of runs in the first and three more in the second. Bernard Schmitt relieved but was also hit hard, Timmons moving over from his shortstop position in the fourth to handle the hurling assignment the rest of the way.

Boyle, Surratt, although nursing a badly sprained ankle, went to short and made one putout and four assists and bagged two hits.

Drake, right fielder and clean-up hitter, led the Lamesa assault with four singles on his six trips to the plate. Stevens parked two doubles and a single while Bonnell connected for a triple, double and single.

Brown and Ratliff each bagged a double and single off Elkins while Cunningham and Surratt got two singles each.

First Oiler run crossed the plate in the third when Isaacs, who had forced Cunningham after he had singled, advanced after Brown was played at Magnolia park on East Foster avenue, the first called for 2:30 o'clock.

JUST BETWEEN US GIRLS

By JOHNNIE DAVIS

Each day I pray, God give me strength anew To do the task I do not wish to do; To yield obedience; not asking why; To love and own the truth, and scorn the lie; To look a cold world in the face; To cheer for those who pass me in the race; To bear my burdens gaily, unafraid; To lend a hand to those who need my aid; To measure what I am, by what I give— God give me strength that I may rightly live!

Returned to Pampa to visit for two months while her husband is in Illinois is Mrs. Arthur Holland of Midland. Mrs. Holland, who is Ruth Ann Mitchell, before her marriage, greeted friends from other years when she attended the horse show in Amarillo last Sunday with her mother, Mrs. W. C. Mitchell. Pampanos will enjoy having friendly Ruth Ann with them again. Also attending the horse show were Mrs. J. W. Garman, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Miss Sallie Cahill, and Miss Constance Ferguson. Mrs. Raymond Harrah's Pattie O'Dare received fourth place in the five-gaited amateur class at the show.

An Indiana man, 100 years old, says he can't remember whether he had eight wives, or 12. A glance through his old bills would probably solve the problem!

Comely Heidi Schneider has returned home after spending an exciting month in the East. Highlight of her trip was June Week at Annapolis at the United States Naval Academy, where she was a guest of Midshipman Charles Laswell of Dallas. Activities included sailing, picnicking, hiking, attending band concerts, parades, and four formal dances. The farewell dance, which was given in the armory, was attended by 6,500 people. Following the graduation exercises, dinner was served in the Midshipmen's mess hall. This is the only day in the year when women are allowed in the mess hall. Orchids were plate favors. Beside each girl's plate was a blue ribbon on which her escort placed his class ring and she wore the ribbon around her neck. During the ring dance the midshipmen and their partners walked through a huge ring made like the academy rings, and the girls dipped the rings on the ribbons into water from the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans and Caribbean Sea. At the end of the dance when the lights were turned low and the orchestra played the Navy songs, Heidi and other guests placed the rings on their escorts' fingers. Girls engaged to first classmen received miniature rings matching the Annapolis emblem and other girls received crossed sabers topped with the class crests. Heidi found that one of the most impressive traditions of June Week was the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" at the conclusion of each dance. Before going to Annapolis, she spent 10 days in Washington, D. C. Following June Week, Heidi went by airplane to Dayton, Ohio. Her route home she came through Kentucky, Tennessee, and visited in Dallas. The entire month proved to be an extremely entertaining one.

Mrs. Glen Pool, who recently moved to Wichita Falls, just can't get Pampa out of her blood. She's ready to move back here. Mrs. Pool, who was active in the Business and Professional Women's club, as well as the Garden club, has been visiting here and working in her garden. She attended the B. P. W. installation breakfast last Sunday when Hattili White, state president, installed officers. Thanks to the Business and Professional Women for a pretty white linen handkerchief.

The old-fashioned woman who "paid and paid," now has a daughter who says "charge it."

Pampa women golfers will begin their city tournament this week under the direction of a new president, Mrs. F. A. Howard, elected last week to succeed Mrs. R. M. Bellamy, who is joining Dr. Bellamy at Will Rogers Field in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Howard has been popular on the golf course for several years.

The British hostess who puts a loaf of bread and a knife on the table, letting her guests cut off what they want and no more, and who neglects to put on bread-and-butter plates, leaving her guests to put butter and jam on their bread directly from the dishes in which those are served, is doing the socially correct thing. It's a new scheme for keeping as little food as possible from going to waste. War has changed and is fast changing many phases of social usage, even for the etiquette-conscious British.

Right here in America there's a social custom that ought to be put aside the way Britain is putting aside bread-and-butter plates. And it is one that women could rule out themselves. In small towns and all but the largest cities it is customary for prospective bride's friends to give showers for her. It isn't at all unusual for a girl to have as many as six or eight showers given for her by friends who are anxious to see her well stocked with linens, dishes, lamps, and bric a brac.

The hardship isn't on the friend who gives the shower, or on the bride who has to exchange duplicate presents and find space in her closets for a pile of things she'll never use. The hardship is on the friends who are invited to every shower given for her, and who, even if they can't show up for the party, are expected to buy a gift, wrap it in paper covered with pink umbrellas and send it to the party.

That is tough enough on a bride's friends any time—but now when most people are economizing it is often a real hardship. So why don't the women of America put an end to this accepted form of gold digging? Brides would still have their wedding gifts, even if there weren't a single shower for them.

Personal Nominations: For one of Pampa's nicest and most personable co-eds at home this summer: Norma Jean McKinney. For one of the city's most jovial and competent business women: Audrey Fowler. For one of Pampa's most attractive matrons: Mrs. A. W. Mann. For one of the most polite and adorable youngsters in town: Brown-eyed Marsha Kay Mommans. For one of the most capable young business men: Frank Smith. For one of the proudest fathers: Farris Oden.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon are the best yet when it comes to doing "Ten Pretty Girls." And Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wells do well with the schottische. Also Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Saxe with "Put Your Little Foot," "Little Brown Jug," and the circle waltz. Two of the best spectators at the recent Kiwanis ladies night event were the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Henshaw.

Maybe we aren't breaking the censorship rules when we mention weather conditions. Mrs. W. S. Dixon and daughters returned Thursday afternoon from Ohio where they visited with relatives. En route home they had to detour because of the "swollen" Missouri river. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Scruggs have returned after vacationing in Colorado where snow was plentiful and the temperature reached 25 degrees. Maybe it isn't so cold here for July after all.

Two of the most enthusiastic Girl Scouts attending the Day Camp are Barbara Fay Blair, 940 East Campbell, and Norma June Marrow, 521 South Gray street. Both girls are members of the troop whose leader is Mrs. Wayne Robinson. In connection with the Day Camp, which has been in progress for the past two weeks, Mrs. Robinson brought 10 of her girls for a tour of The News plant last week when the press was not in operation, but this enthusiastic pair of sixth graders, Norma June and Barbara Fay, came back a couple of afternoons later to see what made the press operate. If the interest shown by these youngsters is an example of what is being accomplished by Girl Scout workers, every woman and girl in town doing Scout work deserves the highest praise. These youngsters described the dessert and each ingredient in the one-dish meal which they had following a hike. Both had violets to be translated in connection with this nature study. We've never had two more appreciative visitors in the office.

The longer you live in this world, the more valuable experience you acquire—and the less you feel like making use of it.

Conrad Thibault, baritone, whom we talked with when he was presented in a concert in Amarillo last fall, has written what is apparently the first World War II song to become "official." It is "I'm a Soldier of DeGaulle." He wrote it in French originally, and it has now been accepted as the official war anthem of the Free French.

Wake up tomorrow morning A new word in your mind: Wake up tomorrow morning Determined to be kind. A little smile of greeting, Some friendly word you say, Will make the man you're meeting Feel better all the day.

You'll want to make your white shoes last and you'll want to keep them looking their best, too. Here are some good general tips. Buy a reliable shoe whitener. If you use a liquid, apply in small quantities and brush or rub off the excess when the whitener has dried. Use a brush on suede or buckskin to bring up the nap, a dry cloth on smooth white leathers.

Establishing a red, white and blue theme, streamers and American flags formed the background for the occasion. Miniature flags as lapel pins contributed to the holiday atmosphere.

In the absence of Miss Margaret Burton, president, Miss Jean Chisholm made the presentation. Each girl entered from a large red, white and blue V, as the strains of the club song, "Star Dust," was played by the orchestra.

You May Be Able To 'Rough It' But Beauty Is Fragile

In the U. S. land army and on robust inland vacations American women are roughing it this summer. They're replacing men at hard work in farmhouses and gardens. Summer holidays are canoe trips, camping adventure bicycle tours—more heroic stuff than women are used to.

And that's just velvet, where beauty is concerned, if? The wise tenderfoot girls herself with hardy facts about what outdoor living does for—and, alas, does to—a lady's looks.

It's a truism that one of the best forms of recreation is a change of work. The girl who does housework in town will be benefitted astonishingly by cultivating the corn; the woman who customarily does any routinized hand or brain work, or housework, will be stimulated and refreshed mentally by taking over the cooking or provisioning or wood-chopping at camp.

OUTDOORS CAN MAR BEAUTY It gives her change—and, of course, the very best kind of physical exercise—tending to normalize the appetite and dimensions. And the rough setting is a constant invitation to health-building, beauty-bracing sports.

So get in as much of it as you can, working and playing. But on the other hand, there will be heat, air, insects, dirt, heavy work, and muscle strain to think about. They do damage a gal's surface, and her spirits. Don't forget your cooling soap, powder, cologne, and other bath requisites, including hard water soap if you're going out of reach of soft water showers or tubs. A good fluffy cleansing cream, too, for sun and air make it an essential. The outdoor girl who expects to be very much sunned over a long stretch may want an emollient for skin and eye care, and every one will want things for their hands. Inexpensive cotton gloves will protect them, but they'll require constant soap and water treatment, followed by lotion. She should remember, too, to dig her nails into soap before starting a grimy task.

For muscle strain, which may hurt enough to ruin your looks if you're not careful, the remedy is rest and gentle rubbing with any mild rubbing alcohol or witch hazel. And, of course, better prevention—which means don't overdo work or play, particularly your first days out. That's the ticket for poison ivy also—above all, watch out for and sidestep all creeping plants with leaves in threes.

RE PREPARED FOR INSECT BITES Insects, which mar your skin and disposition more than a town-bred gal expects, can be fended off simply. When you work in a garden, put a few drops of spirits of camphor, oil of cedar, or oil of citronella on a towel near by. If you are bitten, wet the end of a bit of ordinary soap and rub this over the puncture. Or try touching the bite with a naphthalene moth ball, or iodine. If you are bitten by that other common menace, the red mite that inhabits practically every green thing, and that produces a bump that lasts 10 days, soak for a half hour, soaping frequently, then apply rubbing alcohol or, better, boric acid ointment.

You'll want makeup for this setting, too. I heartily agree with the gent who told the land army recruit, "Remember, cows just don't appreciate a cupid's bow mouth." Obviously applied glamor does look and feel absurdly artificial amidst columbine and colts. But where is the woman who won't be searching for her lipstick when she spruces up—whichever?

She'll want bright summer color; or, probably a tan foundation, especially at first, cool lubricating lotion for hot nights, and a touch of fresh summer perfume or toilet water.

V Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS

Because of the great amount of work to be done, Mrs. J. B. Massa has announced that we will be cutting every afternoon now, except Saturdays and Sundays in the production room in the basement of the post office. Remember the new hours—From 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. Mrs. George Pollard will supervise the cutting on Mondays, Mrs. E. W. Voss, Tuesdays; Mrs. Bob Campbell, Wednesdays; Mrs. C. H. Wood, Thursdays; and Mrs. Bruce Walters, Fridays. Mrs. Frank Culbertson will substitute. We are cutting now on 24 1/2 women's and 122 girls' blouses which means that we'll all have to get busy and help.

Those of us who cannot come down to cut will want to sew several of these garments at home. They are ready to be given out now. One nice thing about sewing these blouses is that we won't have to put in the buttonholes nor sew on the buttons. Someone has kindly loaned us an attachment for making button holes and last Thursday, Mrs. L. G. Runyon demonstrated its use to a few of our women who will put the buttonholes in all the blouses. These women are Mrs. B. Kersey, Mrs. Hal Suttle, and Mrs. E. W. Voss. We will use the buttons donated some time ago by local cleaners.

There is a model of the blouse to be sewed in the production room and Mrs. Massa is anxious that you look it over carefully before you take a blouse home to sew.

Mrs. Hol Wagner, production

chairman, completed her report for the first months of this year. She says that we have produced 2,453 garments (a little more than 400 a month), and that 1,470 of these garments were for civilian relief and 983 for our armed forces. Word—that Mrs. Wagner has received from national headquarters intimates that hereafter the proportion of garments for our armed forces will be much larger than for civilian relief.

All but four of our navy garments were shipped last Wednesday. We would like to get those four in as soon as possible.

Our thanks to Mrs. M. F. Roche for the blanket to be used as a filler for a comforter.

The Susannah Wesley class of First Methodist church tackled a comforter recently using the blankets that we had in the production room and donating the blanket used as a filler.

We have backs for two more and blankets for them waiting for some individuals or groups to do the tacking.

Mrs. Roy Bourland reports that we got in quite a number of fine sweaters from LeFors this week. Mrs. Arlie Carpenter is in charge of the knitting there and is anxious to have more new knitters from that vicinity.

Many new knitters volunteered in Pampa this week which is very gratifying because of the huge amount of knitting ahead of us.

Joyce Oswald, 13-year-old daughter of the Clyde Oswalds, started knitting afghan squares for the Red Cross some time ago. But she couldn't be content with just that. She tried toe socks next and knit seven of them. And now she has completed a pair of regular socks. In our chapter that's something of a record for a girl her age. Her mother knits for the Red Cross, too, and her grandmother, Mrs. Ora Duengel, is one of our most faithful workers.

White shoes should be given an occasional scrubbing to remove accumulated layers of whiteners which sometimes stiffen leather and cause it to crack.

Sweetheart Or Son Off At War Would Like Your Photograph

Just about the nicest present for the sweetheart or son who's off to war is a new photograph of yourself.

But of course you want to give that a picture of YOU—and not what one noted photographer calls "a picture of somebody having her picture taken." It might be a good idea to keep that acid outline of the stiff, posey photograph in mind. It should help you to find a good photographer. Look at samples of his work, and choose one who makes pictures that look like living people.

And you will have to cooperate with the photographer.

If possible, have a facial and correct makeup applied by a professional before you go to the appointment. If you know that your surface is in order, you'll be much less likely to present to the camera a face all furrowed with wonder about that eyebrow or that mole. If a professional makeup isn't possible, then wash your face before you go, take makeup with you, and give yourself at least twenty minutes to apply it in the studio.

Comfortably settled, remove all your street makeup with cleansing cream and then generously apply a finishing cream of some kind of slightly oily foundation preparation. This will give your skin a smooth finish and will conceal any minor blemish and make lines and wrinkles less conspicuous.

GIVE YOUR HAIR SHEEN TREATMENT

Do not powder over this foundation. Do not use rouge. Apply lipstick and mascara generously. Use eyebrows quite heavily with an eye pencil but be sure to follow your natural arch. Eye shadow is not necessary unless you have bulging eyes.

Your hair should be set a day or two before your appointment. Brilliantly styled hair is not necessary unless you have a very special occasion. Don't mind the photographer becoming outmoded and downright laughable in fairly short order.

And remember: no lighting will counteract the dull look of fatigue in your eyes—so get a couple of hours of extra sleep for a few nights, or even a week, before you are photographed.

'V...' Mail Can Be Sent To Men In Service

'V...' mail can now be sent from Pampa to soldiers, sailors and marines outside the continental United States. The special letter forms are now available at the post office. It was announced yesterday. No person can secure more than three sheets at a time.

The new V mail is written on special letter forms supplied by the government. The letter can be written with typewriter, ink or pencil, sealed and addressed to the soldier, sailor or marine and regular or air mail stamp placed on the envelope.

The letter is dispatched to a "jumping off" point where it is opened and a miniature photographic negative made of the letter. A total of 1,500 one-page letters can be photographed on one film. The films are placed in a special bag and dispatched the quickest possible way to their destination.

Upon arriving at their destination the films are developed and enlarged pictures of the letters are made and delivered to the addressee.

The original letters are kept in the United States until a receipt of delivery has been received, then the letters are destroyed.

A ton of letters can be recorded on a film weighing 25 pounds. First V letter dispatches from Pampa was mailed by Mrs. Jessie Stroup to her son Jack Stroup in the United States navy.

LAUGH-FILLED FABLE of a Yank in the RAF, who is forced to bail himself out of Holland and finds himself in Dutch, in danger, and in love, Columbia's hilarious "The Wife Takes a Flyer," showing at the Rex theater today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

Lovely Joan Bennett is the "wife"; Franchot Tone, the flyer. Major supporting players in the bright new comedy include Allyn Joslyn as a pompous Nazi major; Cecil Cunningham and Roger Clark.

Richard Wallace directed the delightful love-and-laughfest, which was produced by B. P. Schulberg. Wallace, who also directed the costars, "She Knew All the Answers," makes of "The Wife Takes a Flyer" a joyful combination of thrills and romance, comedy and excitement.

"Mars," $2,500,000 patrol bombing plane, is the largest navy flying warship. Its wingspan equals the height of a 20-story building and it could carry a bomb-load to Europe and return, non-stop.

Worn piston rings waste gasoline. If you would help the conservation program you should have worn rings replaced.

Kunze Involved In Mexico Plot

HARTFORD, Conn., July 4. (AP)—Thomas J. Dodd, Jr., special assistant to the U. S. attorney general, said today that he understood that Gerhart Wilhelm Kunze, acting "fuhrer" of the German-American bund, had been brought across the border to Brownsville, Tex., from Mexico, where he was arrested in connection with a plot to give Germany and Japan military information.

Dodd, who previously had indicated that he might go to Mexico himself in the case, said today that it would be unnecessary for either he or any of his assistants to make the trip to Texas.

The acting Bund leader, wanted in Connecticut on charges of violating the 1917 espionage act, was indicted with Anastase Vonsiatsky, head of the All-Russian Fascist party, and three others, by a federal grand jury here on June 10 on a conspiracy charge.

Besides Kunze and Vonsiatsky, who pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years in a penitentiary, Dr. Otto Willmet, head of the Chicago division of the bund; Dr. Wolfgang Ebel, physician of El Paso, Texas, and the Rev. Kurt B. Mohlzahn, Philadelphia clergyman and former German army officer, likewise were indicted.

Molzahn and Dr. Ebel have pleaded guilty with Vonsiatsky but his sentence has been deferred until after the trial of the others which has been put down for July 15 in this city.

BOB HOPE, KING OF COMICS, needs every gag he's got to get him out of trouble in his latest and fastest Paramount film, "My Favorite Blonde," the riotous spy chape opus that is showing at the LaNora theater today, tomorrow, and Tuesday. Unquestionably the funniest film in the long line of Hope hits, the picture owes much of its hilarity to blonde and beautiful Madeline Carroll, not to mention the part played by a penguin named Percy.

Opening in the fog-shrouded New York harbor where Medelaine, as a British secret agent, is involved in a murder, the picture wastes no time in popping the ubiquitous Bob Hope into the frying pan. Madeline, with a gang of Nazi spies hot on her trail, seeks refuge in the New York Paramount theater where Bob, as a ham villain, is appearing with his partner, the penguin.

From there starts a transcontinental chase that is crammed with one furious adventure after another. Bob and the penguin being in the middle of all of them. In the end Madeline manages to conclude her secret mission successfully. Bob gets decorated by the British government and, unless there is no justice in the world, Percy, the penguin, gets an extra fish for supper.

The raid was undertaken soon after dawn by two Boston Douglas light bombers, six of them manned by all-American crews, the others by seasoned RAF airmen. Because they can develop a top combat speed of 350 miles per hour they swept out on their mission without fighter plane cover.

Two American-manned plagues were missing after the operations but one was officially declared to have been still under control when last sighted over its target. The other was shot down by anti-aircraft fire—the first American army air casualty on the continent. One of the six British planes also failed to return.

It was stressed in the first two American communiqués and in the British air ministry communique that the raids were carried out just over the ground—"hedge-hopping."

Bombs were seen bursting on hangars and administration buildings at three airdromes and at least one enemy fighter plane was set afire on the ground. The damage was declared to be "considerable."

At one point 150 German airmen in flying suits were caught flatfooted, lined up as if on a parade.

It was while hedge-hopping at near zero altitude that Captain Kegelman's plane ran afoul of the enemy flak and then he displayed "superior airmanship and extraordinary gallantry and coolness in saving the lives of his crew."

One propeller and the starboard nose of his plane were shot away, bullets clipped his tail section and one engine caught fire.

The plane plowed into the earth, knocking a large hole in the bottom of the fuselage and damaging the starboard wing.

Captain Kegelman recovered control after passing the target area on one engine, but found himself running into intense flak fired from a tower.

He drove directly at the tower with front guns firing and the flak was silenced. Then he flew home without further incident on the one remaining engine, the flames in the other having died out enroute.

Air Marshal A. T. Harris, commander of the British bomber command, quickly offered his congratulations in a letter to the U. S. bomber command.

Reds Forced Back To New Kursk Lines

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Sunday, July 5. (P) —Stubbornly-fighting Russian soldiers have been forced back to new positions on one sector of the Kursk front, the Russians announced today, but their Red army comrades are fiercely engaging Axis tanks and infantry on other areas of that Ukrainian battlefield.

The midnight Russian communique did not disclose just where the Russians fell back in fighting which has developed into some of the heaviest of the war. In its brief report on the Kursk fighting yesterday the Soviet bureau of information reported that Soviet soldiers "carried out a fierce battle against tanks and enemy infantry" during the day as the Germans sought to advance eastward.

"On one sector of this direction (Kursk) our men retreated and occupied new positions," the communique continued. Stubborn battles still were being waged against the invaders on the Belgorod and Volchansk fronts, north of Kharkov.

The Russians disclosed that the Germans were putting on the pressure on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow. The midnight communique said fighting still continued in that sector after twin offensives against two different points on the Kalinin front were thrown back with the loss of at least 2,000 enemy men and officers and 27 tanks.

The first attacks were launched Friday by enemy infantry supported by about 50 to 70 tanks and aircraft. These were reported thrown back and the Germans tried again yesterday but, the Russians said, to no avail.

"All attacks were repulsed; battles continue," the communique asserted. The Red army earlier had hit back at the Germans and their Axis Allies in the Ukraine with a sharp counter-attack in the Kursk sector, forcing the Nazis to retreat across an important stream after absorbing the full fury of a German offensive along the flaming 100-mile front.

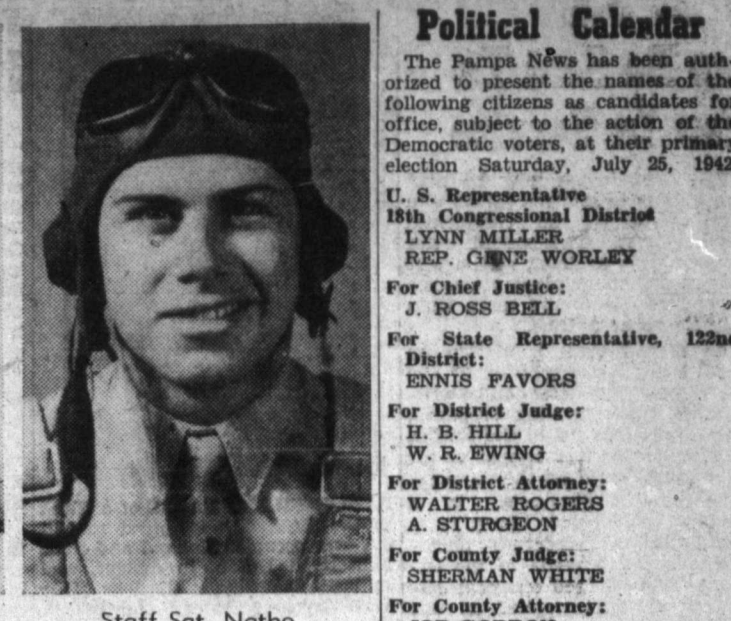

Frontline dispatches said the resilient Soviet defense wrecked dozens of German tanks and slaughtered thousands of Hitler's troops near the junction of the central and southern fronts before starting their own attack. A tremendous number of enemy guns and other material were declared destroyed as the Germans and their Hungarian mercenaries were rocked on their heels.

The Germans were said to be losing at least the equipment of one armored division daily in the tremendous defense of attrition—a total of 300 tanks, about evenly divided among the three main sectors of the Ukraine front. Much of the spectacular fighting was tank against tank.

(The German high command said vaguely that its troops were advancing swiftly "toward the Don" and that strong Russian forces were encircled. Nazi military commentators spoke of a gigantic breakthrough in the south, but did not give the location. The last resistance in the Crimea was declared crushed.)

AT THE EGYPTIAN FRONT, July 4 (P)—Allied forces advanced from their El Alamein positions today in an energetic attack on Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's troops.

Offensive action was decided upon the basis of unmistakable evidence of exhaustion of enemy units who seemed to have spent much of their offensive power in the grueling 350-mile advance during the past five weeks.

THE ENEMY AGAIN CHAPTER X

THERE were no shots from above, but a murmur of excited voices reached Tom and Judith. Flashlights played all around, never quite spotting them under the wharf. For a few seconds the swimmers stopped paddling in the water and huddled together, holding to the barnacled post.

"This can't last long, Judy," Burke whispered hoarsely, his teeth chattering. "They'll find us sure. They know we're under here."

"Let's take a chance of swimming for it," Judith said. "If they shoot at us it might attract attention and bring help of some kind. They may not take that chance. Anyway, I'd rather drown than freeze to death," she said, shivering.

"Then come on, darling." The endearing word strengthened her with new hope.

They moved in and around the boats, swimming as quietly as possible, but their pursuers' lights picked them out. No shots came, but Judith was tense with fear. Swimming furiously now, they drew out of the lights' range and reached a white schooner anchored off shore. With great difficulty Tom got himself aboard and pulled her up. They were exhausted and cold.

"I'm not sure this is a safe place but it gives us a chance," Tom panted, scanning the darkness.

"Surely they can't find us much longer. The detective should be along soon. He was to follow me." Judith drew her shoulders forward and wrapped her arms around herself for protection against the cold air. "I'm freezing, Tom—simply freezing to death."

He took her hand and pulled her along the deck to the cabin door. Luckily it was not locked. Judith stumbled down the first step but he caught her up in his arms and set her safely on the floor below. His arms dropped away from her at once while her heart cried out to him not to let her go.

"If I can find some old clothes for us," he said, fumbling in the dark for closets. "We've got to get out of these wet things before we catch pneumonia."

There was nothing to be found, but he kept looking. Judith's fingers discovered a blanket on one of the bunks and she wrapped herself in it, wet clothes and all, and sat down on the edge of the bunk. Quite without warning, she laughed—a laugh that was next to tears and hysterics.

"When I get out of this mess, the company owes me a real vacation and another raise in salary. I'll never be the same."

"You poor, sweet darling," said Tom softly from across the room. Judith stared in the direction of his voice. Her heart thumped against her ribs so loudly she wondered if he couldn't hear it.

A devilish impulse rose in her to taunt him. "Don't tell me you really have a heart."

"One that beats for a redhead," he laughed. "Now don't try to make me say more, Judy, not until we are out of this. Then I'll prove what a real sentimental streak I have. What you have gone through for me . . ."

"You don't owe me a thing, Tom Burke," she flared hotly. "I have only been following orders. It's my job—the job you thought so stupid for a girl."

There was a swift movement and Judith felt herself pulled into strong arms and against a wet coat and a body that shivered with cold. His hand tilted her head back and he kissed her—a kiss that set her whole body tingling with excitement. He freed her lips but held her tightly in his arms.

"It's a free world, Judy, darling," he told her huskily. "I have a right to be sentimental any time I want to and without changing my mind about things."

She pushed at him and struggled to get out of his arms. Another minute and she would be weeping.

"Well, I don't want any of your love," she said and wondered why she was telling such a lie—it was the only thing in the world she did want.

"No?"

He kissed her again. Slowly, she felt herself sink into a well of happiness and then just as slowly come back to the present. Against her will, her arms clung to him. Then he let go of her so abruptly that she fell back to the bunk. He drew in a sharp breath and moved away from her.

Judith was too stubborn to give way to tears and let him know he had won. Instead she got angry.

"Let's have a light—spies or no spies," she demanded and stood up.

"Judith, sweet—" he said, "why don't you give in and say—" He broke off abruptly. "Sh—" he whispered. Her heart beat chokingly.

Into the quiet there came a sound, close at hand, of oars dipping into the sea.

"Oh, Tom!" she whispered and stumbled forward against him, forgetting her anger, wanting only the love and protection of his arms. "You were right. Investigation is not a girl's job. She should stay at home and—Oh, Tom!"

"Yes, Judy," he said. "I'm sorry I was so mean, darling, about your job." He put a finger under her chin, lifting her tear-wet face. "I do love you, sweetheart. I have every minute of the time. Please keep on being brave."

HE pushed her from him and she huddled in a dark corner. She heard him swear.

"The Pacific has your gun but I've still got a good right fist."

They waited, Tom poised at the foot of the steps, every muscle drawn tight. Judith scarcely breathed. This would be either the beginning or the end of things for them, but at least she and Tom were back together.

There were cautious steps above. Then a flashlight poured down the steps. A man started down. Tom made a flying tackle for his legs and brought him down hard. A quick right to his jaw put him out for the moment. Tom saw the man was Heavy.

A second man had appeared, and Judith cried out sharply as she saw him raise the butt of his gun to bring down on Tom's head. Her warning came a second too late and Tom's dodge did not take him out of reach of a glancing blow. He went down, and in that moment the spies went the upper hand.

"I will shoot," said Karl menacingly as Tom struggled to his feet, "if you make a move."

The third man kept the cabin well lighted with his torches, and at the same time made sure the portholes were closed and curtained.

"That was a foolish move you made back there," Karl remarked. "I could have shot you easily—both of you."

"This is a good spot as any," said Heavy, scrambling to his feet and shaking his head. He drew a cord from his pocket and set to work binding Burke's hands and legs; then he pushed him into a chair.

"You will talk now."

"No!"

"All right," Karl reached a hand for Judith. She gritted her teeth as the man's fingers dug into the flesh of her arm, but kept her face averted so Tom could not see the flash of pain in her eyes.

AFL, CIO Pledge Steady Arms Flow

DETROIT, July 4 (P)—Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding the war department's services of supply, received pledges of an unflinching flow of guns, tanks, planes and the other tools of war from the top men in the AFL and CIO today in a Fourth of July labor rally.

The general himself, principal speaker on a luncheon program which also included addresses by Philip Murray and William Green, presidents of the CIO and the AFL, respectively, warned that liberty was a luxury which "must be paid for again and again, endlessly, in blood and toil and devotion."

Buckingham Takes Over Gas Station

Howard Buckingham, Sinclair dealer, has assumed management of the Sinclair Service station across the street from the courthouse which was formerly operated by Paul V. Clifford.

Howard Buckingham, Jr. will be active manager of the retail station, while the older Buckingham will continue active operation of the wholesale business.

The Buckinghams have been in Pampa for over 12 years, engaged in the wholesale oil business and service station business. Until entering the wholesale business with his present company less than two years ago, they operated a service station at the corner of Atkinson and Cuyler streets for several years.

Crash Of Lombard Plane Ascribed To Pilot's Negligence

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—The house committee on investigation of air accidents declared today the crash of a Transcontinental and Western passenger plane near Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 16, in which Carole Lombard and 21 others were killed, was due to the negligence of Captain Wayne Williams, the pilot.

While directly attributing the crash to Captain Williams' flying course, the committee said evidence showed that TWA had failed, prior to the accident, to establish rules for the route requiring all night flights to be made at an altitude which would insure safe passage over the 8,304-foot peak.

Secret of mass airplane production, technicians have learned, is building up "floats" or banks of parts. As engines roll off assembly lines in increasing quantities, huge stocks of supplies are needed to maintain steady flow of materials for final assembly.
