largest twin-motored airliner, now in mass production for U. S. army airforces. Withholding the actual number of troops and jeeps carried, the war department permits revealing that the Commando weighs 50,000 pounds fully loaded, is powered by two 2,000 H.P. Pratt & Whitney engines. With a wingspan of 108-feet it is designed to carry artillery, tractors, trucks, engines, gas, etc., as well as troops. The speed of the plane is secret.—Photo approved (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Nazi Saboteurs Lose Fight To Escape Military Trial

FDR Upheld By Highest Court In Land

Prisoners Denied Right To File Habeas Corpus

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR
WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The supreme court unanimously upheld President Roosevelt's wartime power today to close the civil courts to seven alleged Nazi saboteurs and to appoint a military commission to determine their fate.

The charges preferred against the men—that they slipped into America armed with explosives to blast war production plants—allege an offense which, the court said, "the president is authorized to order tried before a military commission."

This commission, which began secret sessions July 8, is now finishing the case and, Attorney General Biddle, elated over the supreme court's ruling, said the argument before the commission would conclude speedily and that the commission might be able to render a verdict to the president as early as next week.

Colonel Kenneth C. Royall, one of the army officers assigned to the defense, expressed doubt that the proceedings would conclude so quickly, however, apparently indicating an intention to plead at length for the prisoners' lives.

Royall had argued to the court that no one in America should be denied the right to civil trial, while the prosecution had contended that these men were enemies in a practical sense as "parachutists or invading armies" and had no constitutional rights.

The defense declared that some of the prisoners, at least, were in effect refugees from Germany and had no intention of actually using the training and the explosives with which they came equipped.

Further, the defense contended that President Roosevelt's order closing the civil courts to specified types of persons was "totally invalid and unconstitutional."

In handing down its decision at the end of an extraordinary three-day session, the court observed that it "has fully considered the questions raised."

Chief Justice Stone announced that the court denied the prisoners' motion to file writs of habeas corpus.

Only seven of the eight accused saboteurs sought the writ.

The court's opinion found: "1. That the charges preferred against the petitioners on which they are being tried by a military commission appointed by the order of the president on July 2, 1942, allege an offense or offenses which the president is authorized to order tried before a military commission."

"2. That the military commission was lawfully constituted."

"3. That petitioners are held in lawful custody, or trial before the military commission, and have not shown cause for being discharged by writ of habeas corpus."

The opinion said: "The motions for leave to file petitions for writs of habeas corpus are denied."

L. L. Ladd Found In Critical Condition
L. L. Ladd, pioneer Pampa newspaper man and printer, collapsed in his office on North Frost street this morning and his condition was reported critical in a local hospital early this afternoon. He was found lying on the floor by Fred Able of Berger.

Mr. Able called an ambulance and the police said: "Ladd was unconscious when found and up to this afternoon he had not fully regained consciousness."

Mr. Able told officers that he had talked with Mr. Ladd about 9:30 o'clock and that he seemed to be in good health. He said he returned about 10:20 o'clock and found him lying on the floor.

Germans Roll On South Of Rostov But Stopped West Of Stalingrad

Russians In South Routed, Nazis Claim

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Rallying Soviet armies, fighting under the slogan, "Die, but Don't Retreat," threw back the Germans in some sectors of the Don river bend 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad today, but in the Caucasus the situation grew even more critical.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters declared that German, Rumanian and Slovak troops driving toward the Caucasus oil fields had already thrust spearheads 112 miles below the Don, and the Russians acknowledged German advances in this theater.

The Nazi command said that fighting was in progress for the town of Salsk, a junction on the last major rail line from the Caucasus to Stalingrad 100 miles southeast of Rostov, and that Axis troops had swept across the Don on a 150-mile front.

German speed troops and advanced infantry divisions were pictured by the Nazi command as closely pursuing the Russians and preventing further retreat at several points by outstripping the "disorganized fugitives."

Strong Soviet attacks were acknowledged in the north, around Rzhhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, on the Volkhov front and outside Leningrad.

In the battle of the Don river bend, above Stalingrad, the Red armies reported they had turned a novel "flying wedge" attack of massed German infantry, walled by tanks, into a death trap for the Nazis.

Dispatches to Red Star said Russian troops also wiped out three battalions of German infantry disguised in Soviet army uniforms. Red Star said the deception was quickly frustrated when it was discovered

$101,850 Worth Of Bonds Bought Here During This Month

Sale of victory bonds and stamps in Pampa totaled $101,850 up to noon today, according to a survey made by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Gray county's quota for July is $144,300 which could be reached if Pampans go all-out the rest of the day and record sales have been made at McLean, LeFlore, and Alameda, from where no reports have been received.

Tonight is the deadline in the sales contest being held among clerks in Pampa retail stores.

The committee in charge, headed by Hollis Keyes, and representatives of the firms giving bonds and stamps as prizes to winners, will meet in the chamber of commerce room at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to check the sales and award the prizes.

Several clerks are running a close race. They will sell bonds and stamps up to closing time tonight. All bonds must be issued by tonight. No orders for purchases will count in the contest.

Fantastic Tale Of Killer Recounted

DENVER, July 31 (AP)—Trapped in the tiny attic of a house that children believed haunted, a wispy, half-starved man has admitted, Detective Captain James E. Childers said today, beating to death the aged owner, and then living furtively in a cubbyhole of the house for nine months.

Gaunt and clad in old clothes tied together with a rope, the man said he was Matthew Cornish, 59, once an advertising salesman in Tonawanda, N. Y.

He was captured yesterday in the small back house of Philip Peters, 72-year-old retired railroad auditor, who was found beaten to death in a blood-spattered room last October 17.

"I killed him because he caught me robbing the ice-box," Captain Childers quoted Cornish as saying.

Investigating children's tales of a phantom, eerie sounds and ghostly lights in the modest home in a quiet North Denver residential section, police saw the front door open slowly. A pale face appeared in the opening. The officers ran toward the door but it was slammed shut.

Childers and Detective Fred Zarnow smashed down the door and entered in time to see a tattered trouser leg disappear into a hole leading to the attic.

Zarnow shot a flashlight beam through the tiny opening and saw Cornish cowering in the left, about four feet square and too low for a man to stand erect. The detective seized Cornish by the wrist and dragged the man out, barefoot and

Vicars Heads Regional Bond Sales Set-Up

A regional set-up of the United States Treasury department's national Victory Fund committees swung into action today in Gray, Wheeler and Donley counties under the general chairmanship of DeLea Vicars, Pampa banker.

Organized over the entire United States, the purpose of the Victory Fund committees is to assist local War Bond and Stamp groups in the sale of bonds to large investors.

A dozen men from the tri-county area held an organizational meeting in Hotel Schneider here last night at the call of General Chairman Vicars.

From Wheeler county were D. O. Beene, Wheeler; Claude Holley, Shamrock; R. J. Holt, Wheeler; O. T. Nicholson, Shamrock, and Henry Flanagan, Mobette.

From Donley county were J. D. Swift and W. H. Patrick, of Clarendon.

Gray county was represented by DeLea Vicars, S. E. Imel, Fred Thompson, and E. B. Tracey, all of Pampa.

Mr. Vicars stated today that the local county committees will organize immediately and begin in the work of assisting the regular War Bond and Stamp committees.

The work of the two groups is in no way duplicated, he added.

It is the purpose of the Victory Fund committees only to assist the government in the sales of bonds to the larger investors, he said, and the work of these groups will be only supplemental to the regular county bond and stamp committees.

Kaiser Says Nelson Pledged Full Support

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser, West coast shipbuilder, told a senate committee today that Donald Nelson, chairman of the war production board, had promised "full support" of his program to build giant troop and cargo carrying planes in his shipyards.

Nelson "wants to know, of course, if it is possible to get the men and materials" to do the job, Kaiser said.

Earlier, Dr. William W. Christmas, New York engineer who identified himself as "the highest authority on aeronautics," testified concerning a design for a 564 ton plywood "battle plane" which he said could carry 3,000 men 1,200 miles.

Dr. Christmas supported Kaiser's suggestion that American shipyards could build huge flying boats for army transport service.

Dr. Christmas said he had offered his ship to the navy but "they couldn't see it to save their lives."

Senate advocates of the giant cargo planes set as their immediate goal an expansion of production of smaller air freighters, such as are now being produced for the army and navy.

U. S. Fliers Down 9 Raiders Over Darwin

Six Confederate Veterans Answer Reunion Roll Call

CAMP BEN McCULLOUGH, July 31 (AP)—Six of 11 surviving members of the Texas department, United Confederate Veterans, answered the annual reunion roll call here.

When the men who fought under Gen. Robert E. Lee first organized 46 summers ago there was fire in their blood and a spirit of celebration.

Recalling the faded past was a dim sign on the old, tin-roofed tabernacle reading: "No shooting."

The veterans chose 92-year-old Gen. R. P. Ray of Bertram as commander to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Capt. G. A. Petty of San Marcos.

Answering the roll call were Gen. T. C. Crenshaw, 94, of Houston; Gen. William Banks, 96, Houston, commander of the Trans-Mississippi department; M. H. Woolf, 95, Corsicana; Gen. J. A. Dowdy, 95, Dallas; and L. M. McAdam, 97, Confederate home at Austin.

I HEARD . . .

That Pampa has a new picnic ground—the grass green on No. 3 hole at the Pampa Country club. Anyone interested in holding a picnic there may contact Russ Allen. When the new grass greens were installed, several members agreed to care for the greens and Russ drew No. 5. He and his gang had the green free of weeds and sprinkler going and gone to the clubhouse when Gus Howard drove past about dark. He saw someone on the green and thought it might be Russ and his workers. He decided to visit them but instead of workers he found a picnic party. Lunch was spread on the beautiful grass and children were playing under the spray. Yes, they left in a hurry.

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 31 (AP)—In the biggest burst of aerial warfare since the Coral sea battle nearly three months ago, American fliers in Curtiss Kittyhawks yesterday shot down nine Japanese raiders over Darwin and downed one or possibly two Japanese over New Guinea, while heavy Allied bombers 100 miles north of New Guinea set raging fire to a Japanese transport and shot up its destroyer escort.

The 46-year-old defendant was picked up at Plainfield after Corp. Walter Heckmann became suspicious of his credentials and notified the FBI.

"I deny this charge and I have records to prove it," the five foot, four defendant declared yesterday as Federal Judge William J. Barker held him in $5,000 bail on charges of impersonating an FBI agent and a U. S. army major.

One American plane was shot down at Darwin but the pilot parachuted to safety.

The American fighters tore into the attacking force of 27 heavy bombers and 22 escorting Zero fighters over Port Darwin, knocking down seven of the fighters and two bombers at a cost of only one defending plane. The Japanese formations were completely broke up in this Allied performance, described by a headquarters communique as a piece of "brilliant interception."

The big raid upon the northern port came in the afternoon after a light, ineffective morning attack.

In other thrusts at the commonwealth, nine high-flying Japanese bombers made the first attack of the war on Port Hedland, small freight port southwest of Broome, in western Australia, causing slight damage and one casualty, and made a futile, single-plane night attack on Horn island, in the Torres strait.

Keeping up their own offensive operations, Allied heavy bombers pounded on the destroyer-escorted Japanese transport 100 miles off Gona Mission, Papua, and scored five direct hits, leaving the vessel spouting flames visible for 30 miles.

Then the destroyer escort was machinegunned from low level and her anti-aircraft guns silenced.

The transport, described by today's U. S. Fliers, Page 6

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
HOLLYWOOD, July 31—After all these years the Brothers Warner are remaking "The Desert Song," and Dennis Morgan is getting a singing lead in a movie. Premature announcements of both events have been made off and on for the past six years, but there's no mistake about them this time. In fact, Morgan is starring in "The Desert Song" and has been at work about six weeks.

There is no record—or at least the studio isn't telling—of how many times the musical and its Sigmond Rosenberg tunes have been taken off the shelf, discussed, revised, assigned, cast, budgeted, and laid away again.

Early in 1939 Dennis Morgan was hired on the strength of a "Desert Song" test and was announced for the starring role. He had spent three years waiting for a chance to sing, and this looked like his big opportunity.

Instead he went into dramatic parts and distinguished himself in pictures such as "Kitty Foyle," "In This Our Life," "Wings of the Eagle," and "The Hard Way." He kept up his vocal training, but his ambition has undergone a change; he hopes he won't be retyped as a warbler.

One circumstance favors him: The war in North Africa has lent a new urgency to the rewritten "Desert Song" that it now is much less a typical musical than the original.

You may recall that in the first filming the hero and his gel drew derisive sneers when, presumably in the middle of the desert, they launched into the title song and were joined by a ghostly symphony orchestra. Talkies were young in 1930. Today, Morgan and Irene Manning again sing the number in the desert at night, but they're on a hill above a Rifian camp and are accompanied by native music.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
Another twist favoring the introduction of music is that Morgan's role is that of a fortune-hunting American stranded in Africa after the revolution in Spain and who now is the piano-player in a cafe in Zouara. Between stints he slips away in turban and burnouse to aid a bunch of exploited Rifians in thwarting the construction of a railroad intended as a German supply line.

"Dennis Morgan" is the actor's second rechristening. In 1938 he played gangster roles at Paramount as "Richard Stanley." In 1936 and '37 he had languished at Metro under his real name, Stanley Morner—and also under wraps. He was dismayed to learn that they were keeping him around merely as a threat to Nelson Eddy, in case that star happened to get too temperamental.

They allowed him to do only a few bit roles, plus the lead in a Class Z picture called "Mama Steps Out." It was awful. Morner and Alice Brady, who was Mama, stepped out on their own preview and got three quickies.

PRIME MINISTER WINSTON CHURCHILL'S DAUGHTER holds down no soft berth because of her positions. Mary, who is 19, is a sergeant in the A. A. T. and polishes her uniform buttons just like the next girl.

Bright Evening In Blackout: 'On Leave' With Churchill's Daughters

By DONN SUTTON
LONDON—The dour porter who drove his rattling train of tiny baggage trucks across the dimmed-out platform of London's Euston Station probably doesn't yet know who were his unexpected feminine passengers that night.

But he could see, by the pin-pricks of light from the blinded windows of the Manchester Express alongside, that they were exceptionally pretty and blonde. And as they hopped aboard one of the empty little cars, they called out happy taunts at the two American men who strode in futile dignity beside them.

"Let's make a scene!" exuberated the one girl, the slight and feather-light one.

"Yes, let's do—let's disgrace our friends from across the sea!" gleefully agreed the other.

Their light laughter floated to the rafters of the great gray station.

CIVVIES SEEM LIKE A TONIC
The two girls were the daughters of the prime minister of Great Britain—lovely, 19-year-old Mary Churchill and graceful Sarah (Churchill) Oliver, in London on a rare night of leave from their duties and from their uniforms as members of the great British feminine army.

One of the two Americans was catching a sleeper for Manchester and this was the climax of a post-war party. Before that there had been good food and drink and talking and dancing in the quiet luxury of a little restaurant just off Half Moon street.

Mary had been prompt. For the evening she had exchanged the khaki uniform of an AAT sergeant for a bright print dress with little "barge balloon" sleeves and a green necklace—and a fascinatingly un-military hair-do.

She sat waiting for Sarah. Mary gazed doubtfully at a lemon squash. "One of the rarer brands of aspic," she commented. She has a quick, east smile, lovely, finely chiseled features that would attract all eyes in a public place even if Winston Churchill never had been heard of.

She talks rapidly and with an air of repressed excitement, as if the next moment—and the next, and

At Hopkins H. D. Club

Food preservation was demonstrated by Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Grand county, in the demonstration club members and guests when they met at Phillips community hall this week.

"Cook fruits and vegetables as little as possible to retain as much natural flavor, color and vitamins. Always use hot water bath for fruits but pressure vegetables."

"Exhaust the food before it is either pressure or hot water bath is used. To exhaust fruits and vegetables, place the filled containers in a larger container with the boiling water at least two inches below the tops of containers; cover to keep the steam in. When the steam has collected between top of containers and lid, start counting time, exhaust fruits 10 to 20 minutes, depending on ripeness of fruit; exhaust vegetables 15 to 30 minutes. After foods are exhausted, pack more foods into containers and cook fruits in water bath, that is in boiling water with the water coming above the jars or cans, depending on ripeness of fruit; exhaust vegetables 15 to 30 minutes. For vegetables place in pressure cooker after exhausting and pressure 35 minutes at 12 pounds pressure.

"In drying fruits and vegetables, the oven or the sunlight over to be used," Mrs. Kelley stated. "In using the oven, be sure the oven is not over 150 degrees. Eight hours is sufficient time for drying in the oven."

"In drying in the open sunlight be sure the screens are covered to keep out dust and flies and from one to two days will be ample time. After fruits and vegetables are dried, place them in small bags and store in a dark place where the air can circulate around them," she concluded.

A called meeting of the club will be held next Tuesday at 2 o'clock at the community hall to make plans for the half-and-half party with the Merten club.

Rev. Dunsworth To Begin Seventh Year At Calvary

The Rev. E. M. Dunsworth begins his seventh year as pastor of Calvary Baptist church next Sunday.

"These have been joyful years," the pastor said today. "The property value of the church has increased over a period of six years from $2,000 to about $20,000. A splendid missionary program has been carried out. There have been more than 500 additions to the church during this time."

The pastor will preach both morning and evening. The Sunday morning sermon subject will be "God's Challenge," and the evening sermon subject is to be "Will God Forget Our Sins?" Some interesting reports will be given of the work done.

The public is invited to attend all services of the church, which is located at 824 South Barnes street.

Love To Be Topic Of Lesson-Sermon

"Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, next Sunday.

The golden text is: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (11 Corinthians 13:11).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine principle, love" (page 275).

RIBBON TRIM

The ribbon band which tops the "long tops" bodice of this "junior miss" frock is the feminine touch which draws so much admiration to the girl who wears it. The ribbon (and its fetching bow) may be repeated at the dropped waistline, too, if you care for more decoration. Quick to make and smart to wear, it's a dress you'll like now and later, too.

Pattern No. 8186 is in sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Sizes 15, short sleeves, 3 1/2 yards 35-inch material; 2 1/2 yards ribbon for ribbon top and bottom of bodice.

Though she never has been in the United States, she knows the words and music of all recently popular American songs and hums them and dances to them. Perhaps not one American girl in ten could, like Mary Churchill, recite the words of "Ballad for Americans." ("It explains America to me as nothing else has," she said. She has a crush on Lieutenant Jimmy Stewart, formerly of an anti-aircraft section and actually will participate in action if and when raiders appear over her post, some distance from London.

Take care of your straw hat this year—you may want to wear it next. Keep it brushed—a soft brush for fine smooth weaves and a clean whisk broom for the coarser rough straws. If caught in the rain, be sure that it is properly shaped while drying. If leather sweatband is dampened after wearing, turn it out to allow it to dry instead of transferring perspiration and hair oils to the hat.

Presbyterian Mrs. Drake At Farewell Shower

Special To The NEWS
CANADIAN, July 31—Mrs. W. H. Drake and little daughter, Ann, were honored at a shower given them by women of the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Carl Studer invited them and also Mrs. Mrs. E. J. Cussens for luncheon. In the afternoon other women of the church called and enjoyed a social hour. Punch and cake were served to the group.

Rev. Drake is at Ceta Glen this week attending the Amarillo District Presbyterian conference. He is expected back in Canadian today and the family will leave Saturday for their new home in Douglas, Ariz. He has been pastor of Canadian Presbyterian church since November, 1936.

Of Air Force Arrive In London

LONDON, July 31 (AP)—United States army air force, strengthened by the arrival of four high-ranking officers, hummed today

The arrival of the staff officers concerning possible establishment of government had certain "intentions," also added fuel to these speculations. Observers showed keen interest in the appearance of Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky at a closed

The arrival of the political correspondent Malsky had made it clear he believed the time had come for the Allies to attempt to open a second front. Reuters, meanwhile, reported in dispatches "from the French frontier" that the quality of the fortifications

Nazi Submarine Captures Captain Of Sinking Ship

(By The Associated Press) The first reported instance of the seizure by a German submarine of an American ship's captain as a prisoner of war was disclosed by the navy yesterday in announcing the sinking of another U. S. merchantman in the western Atlantic. With the loss of the Brazilian freighter Tamandare, announced by the Brazilian government yesterday, the Associated Press unofficial tally of submarine sinkings of United and neutral nations' craft in the area rose to 404.

"You are a prisoner of war. I want you to come aboard. I am very sorry," survivors of the American vessel quoted an English-speaking U-boat commander as having said to the American as his ship was foundering in the South Atlantic on July 9.

"We'll treat him well. He'll be aboard only about 11 days," the commander replied to pleas of the 43 survivors to let their captain accompany them in lifeboats. The submarine's torpedoes killed three crewmen.

Sympathy Strikes Halts Production At Pontiac Plant PONTIAC, Mich., July 31 (AP)—War production was halted today at the Pontiac division of General Motors corporation here after pickets turned away day-shift employees, and a CIO union leader said the employees were joining a mass demonstration in connection with a CIO-AFL organizational dispute over retail food stores.

A spokesman for the management said the plant was shut down when CIO picket lines were established at all entrances at 7 a. m. and the workers returned away. Tucker P. Smith, regional director of the United Wholesale, Retail, and Department Store Employees (CIO), said the Pontiac workers responded to an appeal to join a parade designed to convince state and federal authorities that an AFL "blockade" of food deliveries to retail stores should be lifted.

Members of the Retail Clerks' union (AFL) have been seeking to organize employees of independent food stores in the Pontiac area, and have enlisted the aid of AFL teamsters in shutting off deliveries to those stores whose owners had not signed AFL contracts.

Smith estimated 3,000 Pontiac workers would join about 1,000 retail store employees in today's demonstration.

Wholesale Sinkings Claimed By Berlin BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), July 31 (AP)—A special announcement by the German high command said today that U-boats have sunk 24 Allied merchant ships, ten sailing vessels and one escort ship totaling 167,000 tons.

Five ships aggregating 41,000 tons were reported sunk out of "heavily protected convoys" in the middle Atlantic and off the American coast. U-boats in these waters were said also to have sunk 12 ships aggregating 73,000 tons, which were sailing singly, along with five sailing freighters and a patrol vessel.

A destroyer and two ships totaling 17,000 tons were reported damaged in attacks on Atlantic convoys.

Dissatisfied Customer PORTLAND, Ore., July 31 (AP)—Patrolman L. Johnson's evidence led to the arrest of a fortune teller, but he's not quite satisfied. "I paid her 75 cents for having my fortune told and would like to have her return same," his report stated.

Allred Likes To Campaign On Watermelon, O'Daniel On Popcorn By WILLIAM E. KEYS AUSTIN, July 31 (AP)—With the bitter battle of words and issues at an end—at least in most of the Democratic primary races—comes time for a few smiles.

Campaigners must eat. Their food preferences vary and probably could be linked with some deep-seated psychological reasoning.

For instance Dan Moody, breakfasting at midnight after his final primary campaign speech had eggs, toast and milk. Then as a follow-up—like putting on an additional phrase to a completed speech—he had some cereal.

Election night Moody's midnight meal was watermelon. Jimmy Allred, preparing for a San Antonio public address, sat at a coffee shop counter and fortified himself with a big slab of coconut cake. Allred also is a watermelon camper. He'll eat it several times a day if he can get it.

Senator O'Daniel likes popcorn. He munched it on the street corners while talking to friends and waiting for his turn to speak on the C'Daniel-Collins tour.

And a wag, following Coke Stevenson's overwhelming re-nomination, suggested to the governor that as a possible result the governor's coffee making technique might improve.

Needless to say, the suggestor was not an admirer of the coal-black campfire style coffee which it is the governor's delight to brew.

The governor, incidentally, was a double winner in the party primary. No one else in this correspondent's book made as close a guess on the total vote.

The governor estimated it would reach 900,000. This was at least three weeks before the election. He poo-pooed suggestions the country vote would not turn out because of tire conservation. It was his idea, and apparently a sound one, that there is a voting box within reasonable distance of every ranch and farm home.

All was not bitterness in the campaign. Treasurer candidates Harry McKee and Gordon Smith, both of Austin, bumped into each other in the same office while passing out

Listening In On Psychological Front

By PETER EDSON When Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, came to Washington last winter to take over what was left of the sadly demoralized Participation division of OGD, one of the president's passionately anonymous assistants had occasion to call him on the telephone. When their business was concluded, the voice at the other end of the wire asked, "Can I talk off the record a minute?"

"Sure!" said Mr. Daniels. "Why not?" The wire was silent a second, and then the anonymous assistant let him have it. "Hello, sucker!" They both laughed and hung up.

It was that had in the beginning, by dint of a lot of sweating, bleeding and crying, the Office of Civilian Defense thinks it has an organization it doesn't have to apologize for, and no one can call Mr. Daniels "Sucker" now and get away with it.

In the days when the civilian mobilization was getting started, the civilian population generally was asking, "What can I do? I'll sweep floors, drive a truck, sit up nights, work in a hospital, or anything." So 9 or 10 million people signed cards listing their abilities, and nothing happened except that everyone got sore at OGD.

The emphasis has changed since those pre-Pearl Harbor days. Today, OGD is questioning the volunteer, and the tenor of the questioning is, "Can you do it?" There are specific jobs to be done, and it is not just the run-of-the-mine dope who can do a lot of them. Consequently many of the incompetents have been weeded out, and the nine million volunteers have been reduced to a potential working organization of two or three million qualified defense workers known as the Civilian Service corps.

BANS BOONDOGLING Civilian Service corps was created by OGD—it was really Jonathan Daniels' idea—to provide a useful and not a boondoggling, half-day, co-ordinated bowling, or similarly silly outlet for the energies of people who wanted to do some little something to help win the war. The old name of the Division of Voluntary Participation was simply too much of a mouthful to be practical, so Civilian Service was born. It stressed "service" and it had the semi-military character of an army "corps."

A formal order creating the corps was handed down about two months ago. Members of the corps are selected from their qualifications listed on the mobilization card. They are hand-picked for particular jobs. They must agree to take orders and they can be fired if they don't. They must take an oath to support and defend the constitution, swearing a-1 so that they do not have the habit since May 27, 1941, advocated the overthrow of the constitutional form of government of the U. S. by force or violence.

That was put there in response to a demand that there be an anti-Communist provision. Next, OGD made deals with other civilian war organizations—Office of Price Administration, Office of Defense Transportation, the salvage and conservation committees of the War Production board—to use Civilian Service corps people in their work. For instance, Schenectady wanted a rent survey. Local Civilian Service corps people made it and it didn't cost a cent. OGD wanted car pooling and emergency motor transport organized. The job was let to Civilian Service corps. Some of the price ceiling educational work was done by CSC women. And so on.

The fact that OPA or ODT or some of the salvage outfits get the credit for these jobs is perfectly agreeable to OGD which got too much publicity back in the fan-dancing days. Gradually, these OGD Civilian Service corps people are to be given insignia. Not armbands such as are reserved for air raid wardens, plain clothes cops and the Defense corps, but plastic lapel buttons and pins bearing within the OGD triangle-in-a-circle, the small red letters CD, for Civilian Defense, with a big red V—for Victory as well as Volunteer—in the middle.

The plastic buttons or pins will cost about a dime. In silver plate they'll cost about 30 cents, but if Tiffany wants to make them in platinum and cloisonne to sell for 30 bucks, that will be okay. Anything members of the Civilian Service corps will be proud to wear is okay. Earning respect for the organization and its work is the thing most to be desired.

Father And Son In Same Judge's Race NEW ORLEANS, July 31 (AP)—Oliver S. Livaudais, Jr., and his father both qualified as candidates in the Democratic primary for a district judgeship in St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes, but they won't oppose each other.

"We just wanted to make sure of winning," explained the father. "We're having some meetings with our friends and as soon as we decide which has the best chance of winning, the other will withdraw."

Here's Prevue Of Your Yule Greeting NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—It's a little early, but we thought you'd like to know what kind of Christmas cards you'll get this year.

The familiar red, white, and green will give way to the patriotic red, white, and blue, the greeting card industry announced today.

Furthermore, fat old Santa Claus will be replaced by skinny Uncle Sam's bewickered countenance, and the cards, even though Christmas stands for "Peace on earth and goodwill toward men," may contain the warlike slogans:

"Trap the Jap"; "Faste the Pa-perhanger"; "Muszie Mussolini."

Mystery Of Haunted House Solved By Arrest Of Slayer

DENVER, July 31 (AP)—The mystery of a house children believed was haunted has been solved, police say, by the arrest of an emaciated, half-starved man who admitted he lived in a tiny attic cubicle of the vacated dwelling for nine months after beating the owner to death.

Mathew Cornish, 59, unemployed and haggard, was captured yesterday in the home of Philip Peters, 73-year-old retired railroad auditor who was found there, slain, last October 17.

Detective Capt. James E. Childers said Cornish, former advertising man from Tonawanda, N. Y., confessed he bludgeoned Peters with a gun and poker after Peters caught him looting his icebox.

Indiana, with 289,093 hunters, is the fifth ranking state in this respect.

He explained that the house finished with its work now and ded that he did not know how he would remain in Texas.
