

'Entire Strength We Possess' Needed To Conquer Axis, Says FDR

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt informed congress today in a message analyzing the first year's operations of the lend-lease program that the offensive the United Nations "must and will drive into the heart of the Axis" would take "the entire strength that we possess."

"The war can only be won by contact with the enemy, and by attack upon them," he asserted in a letter transmitting the lend-lease report.

"That takes time, for the United Nations need more and still more equipment and transportation. Success will come slowly, at the price of defeat and losses."

Mr. Roosevelt said lend-lease was a prime mechanism through which the United Nations were pooling their entire resources.

The report, covering operations since the original lend-lease law was signed a year ago today, showed that the total value of aid was $2,570,482,441.

This aid includes not only military items such as guns, tanks, and planes, but also raw materials, machinery, food, ships, expansion of production facilities, and services.

Defense articles actually transferred to nations allied with this country or listed among the United Nations aggregate $1,411,000,000 and articles awaiting transfer or use totaled $488,000,000.

The rest of the $2,570,000,000 was made up of $128,000,000 in servicing and repair of ships, $243,000,000 in rental and charter of ships, $170,000,000 in production facilities in the United States, and $4,000,000 in miscellaneous expenses.

"Had not the nations fighting aggression been strengthened and sustained—their armed forces with weapons, their factories with materials, their people with food—our presently grave position might indeed be desperate," the president told congress. "But for the continued resistance of these steadfast peoples, the full force of the enemy might now be battering at our own ports and gateways."

He asserted that lend-lease had provided experience to fight, expanded productive capacity for turning out weapons and articles of war, and had provided lessons of untold value through tests of the weapons in combat.

Lend-lease, Mr. Roosevelt said, may be thanked for the combined strength of the United Nations.

"With the combined strength," he asserted, "we go forward along the steep road to victory."

The British commonwealth of nations and 33 other countries are eligible for lend-lease assistance, which now covers two-thirds of the earth's surface and aids nearly two-thirds of its population.

Congress has authorized a total of $48,000,000,000 in lend-lease aid, the report noted, of which $18,410,000,000 was appropriated directly to the president. Much of this $48,000,000,000 total is represented by war supplies which could be transferred after their acquisition by our own war and navy departments and the maritime commission, if the chief executive and heads of the armed forces thought it advisable.

By the end of February, the report disclosed, most of the $12,985,000,000 of actual appropriations in the first two lend-lease funds had been allocated, and $8,450,000,000 had been obligated or placed under contract. In addition, congress has appropriated $5,425,000,000 as of March 5, 1942, to cover commitments to be made before the end of this year.

The report observed that the $2,500,000,000 volume of lend-lease help was impressive as an abstract figure, but that when it was viewed with relation to need, "what has been done falls far short of what is needed to turn the tide toward victory."

Although many persons have inferred that the quantity of military material turned over to other countries

Vargas Gives Self Right To Declare War

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, March 11 (AP)—President Getulio Vargas issued a decree today giving himself the authority to declare a state of war or a state of emergency throughout the country in case of foreign menace, imminence of internal disturbance, or existence of a plan of conspiracy.

The decree, issued as Brazil was experiencing increasing shipping losses as a result of Axis submarine activity off the United States Atlantic coast, declared that "from the time the use of the armed forces for the defense of the state becomes necessary, the president will declare a state of war in all national territory or in part of it."

Any endangering of the country's institutions or the safety of its citizens or territory is sufficient cause for the president to declare a state of emergency in the whole country or any part of it, the decree provided.

Any international guarantees relating to the property of citizens of foreign states which may have "practiced acts of aggression harmful to the Brazilian state" would thereby be suspended, the decree said.

At the same time the government shipping line, Lloyd Brasileiro, announced.

Battle Raging In Full Fury; Port Moresby Jap Goal

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Australian bombers struck smashing blows at Japanese warships today and claimed to have sunk or damaged at least seven, but unofficial reports said the enemy's great invasion-bent convoys continued to move toward their eventual jumping-off bases in New Guinea.

It seemed clear that the battle for the approaches to Australia was now raging in full fury.

Hitting their hardest blows of the war on the gathering Japanese invasion armada, Australian airmen were reported to have sunk at least two ships and left five others beached, battered and burned.

Three waves of RAAF bombers pounded the Japanese fleet yesterday and the aerial counter-blows were continuing today.

British dispatches from Canberra said Japanese invasion fleets were reported moving toward Port Moresby, on the south coast of New Guinea, over 100 miles from the Australian mainland.

Australian planes were said to be continuously attacking the enemy ships.

A bulletin from royal Australian air force headquarters said waves of Australian bombers inflicted havoc on the Japanese seaborne forces, attacking a cruiser, setting two ships afire, leaving another "large ship" burning, and scoring several direct hits on a warship.

A series of follow-up attacks "recorded further hits and near misses," the communique said.

"When the aircraft left the target area (from the final attack), one ship was burned out and three others were on fire. Two of them were sinking and one was being beached," the account said.

Other hits were believed to have raised the toll still higher. In Tokyo, apparently unmasking Japan's next move, a government spokesman warned Australia to yield without a fight or suffer "the same fate that has befallen Singapore and Java."

On other fronts in the far Pacific:

1. With signs pointing toward an early Japanese attack on India, a high British spokesman in London held out to India's 400,000,000 a promise of dominion status in full as soon after the war as possible.

It was also announced, that Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's energetic lord privy seal and government spokesman in the house of commons, would go to India for consultation with leaders there who have been clamoring for immediate independence as the price for India's support in the war.

2. In the dying battle of Java, a Dutch dispatch said the Dutch commander, Lieut. Gen. Hein Ter Poorten, had ordered all Netherlands troops on the island to lay down their arms.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters asserted that the Japanese had captured 93,000 troops, including 2,000 commissioned officers, in the Indies' invasion—a scaling down of yesterday's claim of 98,000 taken in Java alone.

In Melbourne, Lieut.-Gov. Hubert J. Van Mook of the Dutch Indies said that about 3,000 Australian troops were probably still fighting in the mountain jungles.

Hitler Calls On Italy For Fresh Troops

(By The Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler was reported today to have called upon Italy, Hungary and Slovakia for 2,000,000 fresh troops to bolster the heralded Nazi spring offensive and fill the gaps left by nine months of slaughter in the war with Russia.

Advices reaching London said Hitler, desperately needing manpower to replace the Nazi losses in dead, wounded and missing, had demanded 1,000,000 troops from Italy, 1,500,000 from Hungary and 100,000 from Slovakia.

Soviet authorities declared on Feb. 22 that Germany had lost 6,000,000 men on the Russian front.

With pre-spring thaws already melting snow on the long battle-line, dispatches indicated that the Russians were smashing with ever increasing fury to demoralize the Germans and keep them reeling backwards instead of organizing a spring counter-drive.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that the Red armies were striking in mass attacks on the southern (Ukraine) front and holding the initiative on the Moscow and Leningrad fronts.

"Heavy and bloody losses were inflicted upon the enemy," the German high command said, in a communique which also noted "uninterrupted heavy defense fighting" by German troops.

A Red army bulletin also announced the capture of an important junction in the Lake Ilmen sector, where trapped survivors of the German 16th army originally estimated at 96,000 soldiers were reported suffering from lack of food, clothing and munitions.

A Red army bulletin also announced the capture of three villages on the central front, where Nazi garrisons at Rzhev and Vyazma were described as virtually surrounded.

U. S. Losing Battle Of Production Donald Nelson Warns Capital, Labor

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The nation's war industries were told today that they were operating at only 50 per cent of capacity although "face to face with an enemy determined to destroy us."

Bespeaking a determined public demand for faster "production, and no fooling," Donald M. Nelson, blamed the current output lag on these main causes:

Reluctance to increase the number of shifts;

Lack of imagination in meeting production problems;

The issue of extra pay for holidays and Sundays;

Failure flow of materials;

Time required to train new men;

Shortages of certain specialized facilities.

The war production chief, in a radio address to the country last night, voiced his belief that these difficulties could be overcome by government, labor and management working together in concerted effort.

"If all our equipment now involved in war production were used 24 hours a day, seven days a week," he declared, "we would practically double the man-hours being put in the sprocket."

Her Husband Fights Japs With Bullets—She With Riveting Gun

By NEA Service

DALLAS, March 11—"I just wish this were a Tommy gun trained on those Japanese so-and-so's!"

Grim-faced, blue eyes flashing, Mrs. Frances Saive brandished the riveting gun which she operates in the North American Aviation company plant here.

She means it.

She lived in Palembang, Dutch East Indies for six years until the crisis forced her to leave. "I came to hate the Japs long before the war started," she declares. "We found them treacherous, overbearing, sneaking, backstabbing."

Most angering to Mrs. Saive since her return is Americans' complacency and smugness. "They just don't seem to believe we are actually in a war. And not just a war, but THE war. This is IT. It's not some aerial they're hearing over the radio."

Her husband, Capt. Bob Saive is leading U. S. army troops against the Japs somewhere in the Pacific battleground. A reserve officer, he was called to active service from his long-time job as geophysicist with the N.K.P.M. Oil Co., in the East Indies. She has not heard from him since December. She bangs viciously at her plane rivets—"I'm doing everything I can to help beat the Japs. There isn't much time!"

Telegrams Answer O'Daniel Complaint

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Organized labor's leaders assailed today a bill for government registration of unions and of trade and business associations a type of "petty sniping" patterned after Fascist practices, and argued it would breed disunity in the war effort.

Both William Green, president of the AFL, and Philip Murray, CIO chief, sent statements to the House Judiciary committee, recording opposition to the proposal.

Meanwhile, in the senate, Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) said he had been informed by the war department that "not a single man is on strike in any plant in the country whose production is important or essential to the war effort."

Guffey said he wanted this fact noted because Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.) had read to the senate yesterday several telegrams urging legislative action to end strikes in war industries.

Navy In Urgent Need Of Young Aviators

Any young man who thinks he fits the necessary physical and mental requirements to become an aviator is urged to apply to the nearest Navy Recruiting Station at once, or to the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board, 524 Allen Building, Dallas, Texas, according to Lieut. All young men who can qualify will be ordered to primary training within two weeks and will be commissioned Ensigns upon successful completion of the full training course.

Promise Of Dominion Status Given India

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 11. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill repeated today Britain's promise of dominion status for imperiled India after the war and announced that his ranking aide, Sir Stafford Cripps, would go to India as an emissary to seek assurance that a precise plan already drafted by London would gain general Indian acceptance.

The promise of Indian self-government within the British commonwealth of nations after the war, first made in August, 1940, so far has failed to mollify Indian Nationalists.

But Churchill, in a long-awaited statement to the house of commons, disclosed that the government, in order to "clothe these general declarations with precision and to convince all classes, races and creeds in India of our sincere resolve," had gone a step forward and agreed to a detailed plan.

He did not, however, disclose the exact nature of the concessions by which his government hopes to win the loyalty of India's 350,000,000.

15 More Needed To Apply For CPT Program

Unless 15 or more youths register by tonight to take the proposed civilian pilot training course here, the program will be jeopardized, Earl Dinsmore, contractor, announced today. Up to noon today 35 of the necessary 50 minimum applications had been filed at the office of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

An effort will be made to secure five scholarships, at $335 each, from Pampa if 50 or more applicants sign to take the course.

To finish the course students must drill at least once a week and complete 45 hours of ground school work. Fifteen free flight scholarships will be awarded if the city furnishes five scholarships. The course is open to anyone who has passed his 18th birthday but who has not reached his 27th birthday.

If this program dies it is unlikely that Pampa will ever receive another. If it is put across there is a chance that Pampa might get a permanent training rating.

Schools To Go On War Time Monday

Pampa schools will begin observing War Time next Monday. That means that children will go to school one hour earlier than at the present time. Schools will begin at 8:45 o'clock as in the past with the noon hour from 12 noon until 1 p. m. as usual.

When War Time was adopted the school board voted to start classes at 8:45 o'clock or by observing old time. The action was taken to accommodate bus students.

Now that it is becoming light earlier, the board has decided to move classes up to War Time.

Girl Scouts Train For Citizenship In Troops, Councils

Girl Scouts have been getting training in citizenship in their troops and councils for 30 years—30 years to be exact, and the reason for the excellence of that training is not hard to find. We quote a few excerpts from the Girl Scout Handbook on the subject.

Some people think that a citizen is any person who has the right to express his opinion and ideas about government through the ballot; in other words, by voting. But really every person living in a community is a citizen and the things he does every day determine whether he is a "good" or a "bad" citizen. A good citizen is one who is USEFUL to his community, through his thoughts, his words, and his actions.

You hear a great deal about "freedom," "my country," "democracy," in the United States in this simple way—as though you were speaking of a troop instead of a country. In a troop, freedom should mean that the members are free to give opinions, make suggestions, and to take responsibility; to vote for or against plans that are considered troop affairs. No girl should be held back by other girls and not given a chance to advance in troop activities. Each girl should understand that the majority opinion is the one to abide by in doing things the democratic way, but she should also remember the fact that minority ideas must have consideration and respect.

In all the ways mentioned above you may find freedom and democracy in a troop. In the same way you must help your country to be a real democracy with freedom for all who live in it.

In the expression "my country," the word "my" is a possessive pronoun. It is generally understood that you can take care of a thing that belongs to you. You do not take off a dress and throw it on the floor. If you have a little animal that you call "my dog" you do your best to give it good care.

When you say "my country," you should understand that it is yours and deserves your care and protection. Remember that "my country" is not some great figure that stands over you with a stick and tells you what to do. This is simply a way of referring to a certain part of a continent with people, trees, flowers, birds, mountains, and lakes whose future is in the hands of every person living in it.

Some people have more chance or greater ability to help their country to grow in usefulness than others, but everyone has some chance to help, no matter how small it is. With the fundamentals of good citizenship so simply and yet so forcefully and eloquently expressed, it is easy to understand why Girl Scouts are good citizens. Congratulations to them on the thirtieth anniversary of Girl Scouting, and long life to them.

During the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1940, the United States imported 23,140 tons of castor beans.

TWO VEGETABLES SERVED EASILY

Serving two vegetables as one cuts down fuel costs, also serving and washing-up tasks. Why not try green peppers stuffed with yellow corn? First remove seeds and stems of peppers, parboil until tender then stuff with canned whole kernel corn seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. Sprinkle with paprika and heat in oven until corn is hot and lightly browned on top. Heating will take only a few minutes and can easily be accomplished while the oven is being used for another dish.

SAVING IS PATRIOTIC

It's patriotic these days to economize, and it's true economy to care for household equipment in such a way as to prolong its usefulness. With ordinary care, cooking utensils of porcelain enamel will retain their original lustre and give long, efficient service. Here are some things to remember: If food becomes burned or dried on utensils, let it soak for a few minutes to soften the dried particles. Do not try to scour the surface with harsh abrasives or cleaning agents. Do not change direct temperatures suddenly, such as removing from icebox and placing on stove, removing from fire and plunging into cold water, or pouring cold water into heated utensils. Do not drop utensil or strike with a sharp instrument.

TIME TO REFURNISH!

How is your supply of house dresses? If it's going down, and you're not able to replenish completely, now is the time to make the old ones over. Why not use some contrasting color for a set-in belt, new sleeves, a dashing pocket or two, or some tricky applique? I won't take a great deal of time and you'll be surprised at the refreshing effect a bit of doctoring up will do. Perhaps your scrap bag will yield the desired material.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Resumption of quiet but persistent selling in chemical shares threw the stock market off balance today.

Following the chemicals in their retreat to the lowest levels for two or three years were numerous industrials and merchandising stocks. In the depressed dividend declines of the worst range from fractions to around 5 points. Steels, motors, aircrafts and rails remained in a narrow range to the finish.

The market's performance was a fairly close copy of yesterday's both in respect to price shifts and volume which for the five-hour stretch amounted to only about 400,000 shares.

Here's How To Establish Proof Of Your Age

Many inquiries have been received recently in regard to the procedure which should be followed by individuals in establishing their proof of age. These individuals inquired for the purpose of securing such information for ready reference when the time comes for them to file claim for federal old-age and survivors insurance benefits, according to Mr. Reed, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security board.

"While it is a fact that one year, one month, or even one day may make a difference in one's old-age insurance benefits, the task of establishing a birth record is not as difficult as many people believe."

It was further emphasized that the Social Security board must have in its possession proof of date of birth before a claim may be accepted for old-age and survivors insurance. Following are some of the proofs acceptable to the Social Security board:

1. A copy of the public record of birth or a statement as to the date of birth shown by such record, duly certified; or
2. A copy of a church record of infant baptism or a statement as to the date of birth shown by such record, duly certified; or
3. A written notification from the bureau of the census or other public agency that a described record of birth has been established at a public registry of vital statistics.

If none of the evidence described in items 1, 2, or 3 is obtainable, the reason therefor should be stated and the applicant may submit: a statement of the physician or midwife or other individual who attended at the time of the birth of such applicant; or

5. A certification, upon the approved form, of the applicant's residence in the United States, but was born in another country, and none of the evidence described in items 1, 2, or 3 is available in the United States; the applicant may submit an immigration or naturalization record, or other evidence of probative value, which shows the date and place of his birth.

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The Australians are meeting the menace of Japanese invasion in their traditional fighting spirit with offensive strategy.

Instead of waiting for the Nipponese to get neatly set in their recently acquired bases on the island of New Guinea for a major bombing assault on the neighboring mainland, the still small but doughty Australian airforce has carried the war to the enemy. At least five Japanese transports and one warship were smashed yesterday, and the toll is believed to be bigger.

It took the Russians to crack the myths that Hitler had created a fighting machine which just couldn't be stopped. Maybe it will be Australia's shores against which the Mikado's galleys will break their noses.

Certainly that represents the Allied determination, for America and Britain are rushing reinforcements to this last remaining and consequently absolutely vital large base remaining to them in the southwest Pacific. Australia must be held at all costs for an offensive base, and the job must be done mainly by the air force. Many more planes are needed, and success will depend in large degree on how many the Allies can rush to the scene in the immediate future.

Of course we still have to learn what the Japs have in mind. It isn't yet clear whether they calculate on assuming a limited liability in merely capturing some northern Australian ports to protect their flank, or whether they envisage a full-dress invasion of this vast continent, which is approximately the size of the United States and has a coastline of 10,000 miles.

Australia quite rightly is assuming the worst and is getting organized to deal with it. The Commonwealth and neighboring New Zealand have agreed upon the establishment of an Anzac zone of mutual defense, which will include both countries. That word Anzac by the way, is a first world war abbreviation for —This bridge was blasted by Japanese planes as they raided Port Darwin, on Australia's northern coast. This photo, first on the bombing of Darwin, was sent more than half way around the world by radio to London, thence relayed by cable and telephoto to the United States.

FIRST PICTURE OF JAP BOMB DAMAGE TO DARWIN

"Australian and New Zealand army corps" and is synonymous with all that is best in soldiering.

I understand that the Anzacs have decided to ask for an American as supreme commander for this great war zone. In this connection Australians are citing that America's Lieutenant General George H. Brett, who has been deputy supreme commander of the unified command under General Wavell, already is in Australia. It appears that the Aussies are impressed with the fact that Brett not only is an all-around soldier but is tops in the air, upon which the brunt of the defense and oftheir way southward, setting up a series of bases which finally will bring them within range of the capital cities and the centers of production. That involves a hazardous undertaking.

The invaders would have to work across vast open spaces, including great reaches of desert. They couldn't live off the country because, forsooth, there's nothing for them to take. All their supplies would have to be moved through inhospitable territory over great distances, constantly subjected to Allied bombing.

An all-out invasion would involve the use of a great naval fleet and transports for the landing of troops at southern ports. This would mean the establishment of extremely long and vulnerable lines of communication, not to mention the problem of getting troops and supplies ashore in the face of Allied defense, which will be no Malaysian affair.

New Zealand says she can hold against the enemy. And an Australian observer in this country remarked grimly to me that it might be a great thing for the Allied cause if the Japs did try a wholesale invasion of Australia, because that might just about knock the Rising Sun out.

Oh Boy! McCARTT'S CAFETERIA Sure Serves Good Food

Suppose you were a business man

You'd discover in a hurry that your own interest is best served when you keep the consumer's interest always uppermost in mind!

WE'D LIKE TO VENTURE the expert opinion, because we deal with them daily, that American business men as a group are perhaps the most honest and conscientious people in the world.

They have to be.

If a business man tries to fool the public by getting his prices too high, then a competitor comes in with a lower price.

If a retailer gives poor service, people leave him and trade at a competitive store.

If a manufacturer puts out poor quality products or misrepresents them, people just stop buying from him and the business man goes broke.

So no matter what a business man thinks or what you think about business men, the facts are that business men have to keep their prices, service and quality in line or they eliminate themselves. The operation is automatic.

It's a great system that protects the consumer like this and in case you haven't guessed it, it's the American System of Free Competitive Enterprise, which guarantees the right of our people to buy where they please and which guarantees our people the right to make things and sell them within the law.

WHAT TO DO

Make advertising your buying guide because you can be pretty sure that a consistent advertiser is keeping his price, service and quality in line, giving you full value for your money.

And another thing. When you run into one of these smart boys who thinks our system is all wrong—just remind him that it isn't an accident that we have the highest average income—the highest standard of living in the world (see panel)—then suggest that HE go into business and see for himself how quick the public smacks him down if he pulls against your interest, the consumers interest.

OUR AMERICAN SYSTEM IS SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF

The average annual income per person is higher here than in any country in the world.

PLLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Battle Must Be Carried To Enemy Or Be Lost

The great lesson of World War II is this: victory belongs to the aggressor—to the nation which carries the battle to the enemy. Hitler and his Axis mates have consistently followed that principle.

The grave losses which the United Nations have taken may be laid, in part, to the once-commonly held belief that it would be possible to fight a defensive war and still win.

Here in our own country, most of us have been "defense minded" instead of "war minded." The great natural barrier provided by our oceans has been our solace.

Where will the United Nations strike? No man can answer that now. Much will depend on what further successes the Axis achieves.

At this moment, one of the principal American-British tasks will be to muster sufficient naval strength to deal with the strong German surface fleet which took the incredible risk of attempting to escape from Brest.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word principle, I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

"THEN GOD IS BLIND" As we see those nations, which have regarded themselves as more or less Christian, making little progress in the war, one is reminded of a remark of the Chinese Ambassador, Dr. Hu Shih.

E. Stanley Jones in his latest book writes, "I have seen merchants sitting on their goods in the freights trains going to the city with the goods because they dared not trust them to each other, not even to the railway officials; this self-centered attitude with its consequent lack of corporate responsibility has been the cause of China's chaos and backwardness."

He continued by remarking, "So bad did this become that Dr. Hu Shih, the father of the Renaissance Movement said 'if China is not destroyed, then God is blind.'"

But God is not blind. God recognizes that our treatment of foreign people in the past has been anything but brotherly or Christian.

No, God is not blind. People, as individuals, and collectively and as a nation must pay for their sins and their selfishness.

RESULTS OF MISEDUCATION

As we see the native honesty and the morale of our people being beaten down through acquiescence to discriminatory practices and laws, one wonders whether our professional education has done more harm than good.

It would seem that every man who has anything to do with education should make a careful self-examination of what he is teaching to ascertain whether or not the ordinary citizen would be better off had he not been trained at all by any of our educational institutions.

Last 10 years." Several weeks ago Mayor Jeffries used much the same language in saying, "It is by far the most serious thing in my administration."

What the officials apparently do not see is that the housing riot is itself the outgrowth of the labor disorders which were so generally tolerated in Michigan a few years ago.

That was Michigan's education in mob violence and the lesson has apparently been well learned. Many people in Detroit seem to have reached the conclusion that the larger the mob the more praiseworthy its activities.

Now the mob had turned against the least privileged group in America. That should have been expected. When the notion becomes current that the constituted authorities will not keep the peace, the victims of racial or religious prejudice being in a minority, must expect the worst.

Authorities say there is nothing to indicate sabotage in the burning of the Lafayette, near Normandy, at its pier in New York harbor. Sparks from a welder's torch ignited the flames which swept the palatial ocean liner for nearly four hours, leaving it in ruins, resting on the mud of the Hudson river's bottom.

OUR GREATEST SHORTAGE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON —Back in Movietown, and even at the same studio where she once was a sort of pleasant irritant, Miss Jean Muir has resumed her screen career—but not quite where she dropped it nearly five years ago.

The actress is still outspoken, but she seems to have tempered her opinions somewhat. She's still independent but no longer eccentric. And, instead of taking leading roles in B pictures, to which she had been sent for discipline, she now is appearing in "The Constant Nymph" in the distinguished company of Charles Boyer and Joan Fontaine.

Miss Muir likes to think that Hollywood has changed, and doubtless that's true. But Miss Muir also has changed, although the flicker colony never was quite aware that she expected to take $100,000 out of him.

Another incident of her first weeks here was her refusal of a role. She wandered into the office of Hal Wallis, studio production chief, tossed the script on his desk and murmured that it wasn't at all the type of thing that she wished to do.

She criticized Hollywood and its people, and in her particularly articulate and deceptively soft-voiced manner had a knack for twisting phrases after she'd got them under the movie industry's sensitive skin.

By this time, of course, the studio knew that it had a good actress, but it also had to do something about discipline. So Jean Muir went into B-picture leads. She accepted the rebuff and worked harder than ever, even managing to organize a little theater here. Somehow, though, she didn't seem to be able to square herself and beat back to worthwhile screen roles, so in 1937 she quit and returned to the stage.

HIGH LIFE AND LOW LIFE In The BIG City

ANIMALS IN NEW YORK Although there is a law against it, a beautiful Plymouth Rock hen lives happily in the center of New York almost in the shadow of the Waldorf Astoria.

On Eighth Avenue an eccentric lady goes walking with a fawn every day. It lives with her in her apartment. His trim little hoofs clatter along the sidewalk; it shivers with fright crossing the street in traffic.

A famous lecturer stayed in the best hotels with a monkey, a marmoset, which she carefully concealed. She had picked it up in South American travels and was never separated from it.

In the face of such conditions, the talk of "settling down" and raising a family" becomes mere nonsense as expressing the way of average American life.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, March 11—A great deal of the congressional thinking on housing is still based on the assumption that the only kind of housing which is any good is that in which an honest American worker buys a house or a farm on time, settles down in the community, raises a family, finally pays off the mortgage, stays on the same place or keeps working for the same company all his life, save enough money to retire on and spends a comfortable old age putting around the house he and the little woman built just after they got married, 40 years ago.

That was the pre-First-World-War conception of ideal American life. It is still the rural and the small town conception of life as it should be, and the majority of the congressmen today are definitely rural, definitely small town, definitely pre-World-War-One. No one can deny that those were the good old days. But the question arises as to whether life is like that, any more or whether it will ever be like that again.

Surveys today indicate that not one worker in 100 lives in the same house for 25 years. Jobs change, factories go bust. A drought or a depression comes along and makes necessary wholesale migrations of thousands of people. Hopeful homeowners carrying mortgages get foreclosed on, slap-dab in the middle of one of these catastrophes and lose everything but their shorts.

THE AMERICA THAT WAS It is sad to admit, but rural and small town America as they were in those good old days are disappearing. Rurally, there aren't enough new farms opening up for the sons of farmers reaching manhood, and the good young men have to go to the big town for a job. In the small towns, likewise, there aren't enough jobs to go around.

If you were to spell out the cycle of shelter requirements for the average worker during his life span today, housing experts believe it would be something like this: 1. Before marriage—two rooms. 2. Just married—two or three rooms. 3. Raising a family—one or two more rooms. 4. Change of jobs—a different dwelling for each new location. 5. Increasing prosperity—a bigger or better house. 6. After the children grow up and leave home—back to two or three or four rooms. 7. "SETTLING DOWN" IS OUT. In other words, during 30 or 40 years of useful life the average family will require from five to six or maybe 10 different dwellings.

Workers in the middle income groups and to skilled technicians, professional folks and executives—particularly to the better paid employees of big corporations who get transferred from one branch office or one plant to another, often in distant cities. These white-collar migrants are just as much a housing headache as the day laborer. And none can be expected to buy and sell a house every time the family changes location with any expectations of coming out even on the half-dozen deals.

Walsh To Replace Crowley At Fordham

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The same system that brought Fordham university 72 triumphs and only 14 defeats in nine years under Jim Crowley will be continued with Earl F. Walsh, big, smiling Iowan, at the helm.

Walsh was named acting coach of the Rams last night, and Crowley was given a leave of absence to join the navy, where he probably will be in toughening flying cadets by football methods.

The new Fordham boss was Crowley's chief scout and backfield coach during his nine-year tenure and came to the Rose Hill institution after having spent a similar period as head coach and athletic director at Dowling college, then the Deo Moines, Ia., Catholic academy.

After his graduation from Notre Dame university, where he blocked for the immortal George Gipp with such laughing joy he won the nickname of "Nails," Walsh coached for a time at the Winner, S. D., high school. There the star of his team was Frank Leahy, present Notre Dame mentor. Walsh is a native of Adair, Ia.

PLAINVIEW, March 11 (AP)—Pledged to buy a defense bond of any denomination from $25 up each month for 12 months, over 500 Plainview citizens launched what is believed to be the nation's first bond-a-month club.

The bond-a-month idea originated with the Plainview Lions club which voted after the declaration of war almost 100 per cent to purchase bonds. The Lions proposed that an organization devoted entirely to bond-a-month purchases be formed.

A person qualifies for membership in the club by purchasing $300 worth of bonds with his membership. Bond purchasers wear a red, white and blue button inscribed, "I Belong Bond-A-Month Club."

Organizers of the club say 60 per cent of their membership is on the salary allotment plan. The club functions principally on its universal public appeal plus leadership of a group of energetic representatives from the city's civic organizations.

SAN ANGELO, March 11 (AP)—Tom Green county employes have pledged to purchase $340,191.36 in defense stamps and bonds through the salary allotment plan. A total of 3,932 employes of 372 firms have signed to put $28,349.28 in war securities a month.

Two Ex-Convicts And Dancer Face Murder Charges

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—Two ex-convicts and a dancer were charged today with the strangulation-slaying of wealthy Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, Polish refugee.

They were booked as John D. Cullen, Eli Shonbrun and Madeline Webb and charged with homicide and "acting in concert in the homicidal death" of Mrs. Reich, whose body was found last Thursday in an East Side hotel where she had gone for a luncheon.

The trio was picked up yesterday and last night, first Cullen and then the other two after Cullen revealed their whereabouts. Police of 11 states had sought them since Saturday.

Shonbrun, 33, and Miss Webb, 28, were taken into custody by Detective Lieutenant Daniel J. Mahoney in a Bronx rooming house. Mahoney said he found the stone from Mrs. Reich's $1,500 diamond ring under the former showgirl's pillow.

Cullen, 45, has a police record of six arrests and one conviction for petty larceny for which he served three months in 1939.

Shonbrun, who served time five years ago on a grand larceny charge and who had been arrested several times, has a wife and 7-year-old son.

Miss Webb, who with Shonbrun had been registered at the Hotel Sutton as "Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leopold" had been friendly with Mrs. Reich for two years and had invited her to luncheon the day of the slaying.

Mrs. Reich was the wife of Max Reich, New Jersey tax manufacturer, whom she had lived in another New York hotel.

Confession Made In Canan Slaying

DALLAS, March 11. (AP)—Washington police today notified Dallas officers that a 22-year-old man had admitted robbing and killing Rudolph Canan of San Antonio and dumping his body on the highway north of Plano, Tex., March 1.

Three Mexicans were arrested at Fort Smith, Ark., yesterday, and charged with the slaying.

Canan's bloodstained car was abandoned in Dallas.

Washington J. Barrett, acting chief of Washington detectives, told Inspector Will Fritz of Dallas that the suspect gave the following account: "I left Fort Smith, Ark., with Canan, who was working for a travel bureau, on March 1. North of a town called Plano I shot him in the back of the head and threw him out of the car south of town. No one else was in the car. I drove to Dallas later Sunday night, left the car on a parking lot and came east."

Barrett said Washington police had arrested the suspect in a stolen automobile about which he was being questioned when he broke down and admitted the Canan killing.

Ingenuity Of Americans Delight WPB

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE
WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—American ingenuity of the kind that turns a carpet factory into a plant for the manufacture of gun barrels has surprised and delighted the War Production Board, which doesn't find progress too satisfactory on many fronts.

One particularly gratifying—and amazing—performance was turned in by a linoleum manufacturer who rearranged his machinery in such a way that it now turns out brass shell casings in place of fancy floor coverings.

The WPB caught another brass check when one of the world's builders of merry-go-rounds reported that it was ready, able and willing to turn to the production of parts for warplanes and tanks.

"We had to change over completely from ordinary machine and structural work to the highest type of precision machine and structural work," the head of the concern said. "Our engineering department did the job."

Now, instead of carousels, they're turning out jigs and fixtures for tank production, and gun mounts, tools, punches, dies and gauges for the production of pursuit ships and bombers.

Some of the other change-overs have been a shade less spectacular, as WPB drives toward a complete conversion of manufacturing to war production.

A survey of the rapidly changing picture of industrial America shows: A maker of ladies' "unmentionables" is now turning out mosquito netting instead of lace panties.

A firm that used to make orange squeezers now manufactures gauges and dies and bullet punches.

Perussion caps are being made in a plant that once specialized in egg poachers.

A toy company now is working on nothing but binoculars, compasses, gun sights and bearings for the U. S. navy.

ORDERS FROM VIENNA

CHAPTER XXV
 THE next afternoon Mr. Patterson Lawes at the Burton County Bank carefully polished his glasses and reread the cablegram that had been handed to him.

Mr. Carter, the assistant cashier, came out of the vault. "What's up?"

"That young Mitchell—trying to be a fool."

"Yes?"

"Cabled orders to turn over that—You know, the Tower estate that was left to him, to Drake McHugh."

RANDY adjusted the window shade, poked the fire, and made small rustling noises.

Drake spoke finally. "It's no use, Randy, you've got to talk to me sooner or later. Might as well be now."

"How would you like it if something happened to Parris and he didn't let you know?"

Drake hesitated. "I don't know. I hadn't thought of it."

"Well, it's the same thing, Drake, he's your best friend."

Drake picked up the message from the counterpane. He had almost worn it out since yesterday reading and rereading it.

"Gee, he's a great friend, Randy."

"Of course."

"But what, now? What?"

"This last sentence."

"Yes, I know. What about it?"

"You and Randy stick together till I get there. We'll work everything out."

"I know it by heart," she said softly.

"Of course he doesn't understand."

"Doesn't understand what? What are you driving at, Drake?"

She waited. He did not notice how pale she had become.

"I tell you, Randy, I—I remembered that if you had just a little money there—"

"I've heard there was homes you could get into—maybe."

"Would you—would you deliberately treat me that way, and Parris, too?"

"I—I don't."

Drake was looking at Randy with an expression half desperate and half a puzzled concern for her.

"Then listen carefully. Whatever you say, or however you feel—it's your and me hereafter—together—somehow."

The expression went out of Drake's face.

"I want you to trust yourself" entirely to me for a while until you are well and—"

"But you see, honey—I can't ever be well, as you say."

"Drake, I'm going to tell you something, and I want you to listen until I have finished. It's first of all about what Parris said in that cablegram: 'You and Randy stick together till I get there.' We're going to do that. But I made up my mind about that long before this happened. Then after you got hurt I just had to think of how—that was all. Do you remember one time you said something about marrying me? Well, I made fun of the idea because I guess I'd been a little hurt. But later on when you came down here—remember the morning you came to ask Pa to help you get a job? I made up my mind that day that I'd marry you as soon as the right time came around. I knew I wanted to marry you—"

Drake flung his arms across his face, but Randy went on evenly. "We'll get married, any time now, and then we'll work out some way that we'll do afterward."

Drake raised his arms and clutched the head of the bed. Then he turned his face to the wall again, but one hand reached out for hers.

THREE days later Randy was hurrying about her house-keeping when Mr. Lawes called.

"I am Patterson Lawes, I believe Mr. Drake McHugh is here at present."

"I think Drake would want me to deal with it—whatever it is."

Mr. Lawes reached for his leather dispatch case. "I hardly think so, Miss—"

"I am Mrs. Drake McHugh, Mr. Lawes."

"I hadn't been advised of that, Mrs. McHugh. He arose and bowed slightly. "I didn't know Drake was married."

"We were married yesterday."

"But—God bless me, the boy hasn't any legs!"

"I didn't marry Drake because of his legs, Mr. Lawes. Suppose we hear about the business now?"

"Well—I have here, Mrs. McHugh, a communication that you should be of great interest to both of you. I suppose it will help solve some problems—if you have any," he added hastily.

He looked at her sharply.

"Were you expecting a communication from Mr. Parris Mitchell in Vienna?"

"I expect a letter soon. I had a cable from him. Drake had one also."

"I see. Now, Mrs. McHugh—"

He laid the papers on the table and explained briefly their purport. Randy listened with an increasing dismay.

"I shall leave these with you, er—Mrs. McHugh."

Randy shook her head. "I don't know how Drake is going to take this. I'm so afraid he may think I asked Parris for help."

Mr. Lawes rubbed the back of his head. He was completely perplexed.

"I DON'T know, Randy, I just don't know what to say."

Spots of high color stood out on Drake's thin cheeks. Randy was disturbed by his agitation.

"I guess I—oh, I don't know. What do you think about it?"

The discussion of Parris' offer had proved less troublesome than Randy had anticipated. Drake was not violent about it, but he was not easily convinced that he should accept it. She remembered a warning line in a second cablegram she had had from Parris: "As soon as he is well enough make him decide things. Give him full sense of independence."

"I don't know what to say, Drake. We've got to look at it as a loan, not as a gift."

"But what do you think I ought to do?"

"I don't know, Drake. After all, women haven't got much sense about money. You're a man and you know better than I do what's right."

"But how are we ever going to pay it back, Randy?"

"Well, out of whatever we make some day. As soon as you are able we've got to make some plans about what we'll do."

"You think we ought just to take the money, then?"

"You have to say that yourself."

Drake closed his eyes and his chest sank with a sigh of weariness.

"You don't have to think about it now—"

"Yes I do, Randy. We'll take it. When Parris comes home maybe we can give most of it back."

"Maybe so."

"I believe it's the right thing. Like you say, we've got to think some way out."

"Well—I feel better. You reckon I could learn to do fancy-work, honey?"

Randy did not respond to the smile. She bit her lip hard to keep back tears.

"Listen, Drake. Don't ever joke like that. You're a man, and above everything else you're my man. I've loved you for a long time, but now I'm going to be proud of you."

Rainey Explains Quest For Rubber

AUSTIN, March 11 (AP)—Describing how the largest institution of higher learning in the south "went to war," President Homer P. Rainey touched briefly on the school's research for a synthetic rubber.

"From a university-developed process now in its early stages for the preparation of acetylene, it is believed that synthetic rubber might be produced cheaply," Rainey asserted, in a radio address. "For a nation at war, with the rubber shortage imminent, the development of a cheap method of making synthetic rubber would be a remarkable boon."

"Because of the pressing need for greater synthetic rubber supplies, the governor has appropriated additional funds to support this research project, in the hope that a definite contribution toward the betterment of the nation—now and in the future—may result."

The President explained that the university's war effort had been directed into six principal channels—Instruction, supplying man power for armed service or related defense activity, war-time research, civilian defense, general morale and "winning the peace."

Axis Sub Sinks Ship Four Miles From New Jersey

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Ever bolder and swifter in their attacks, Axis submarines have sunk two ships in nearby waters in as many days.

In the latest and most brazen approach to the east coast since the United States entered the war, an enemy submersible with one well-aimed torpedo split in half the 6,766-ton Gulf Oil tanker Guiltrade early yesterday less than four miles off Barnegat, N. J.

Some time earlier, between 7 and 7:30 p. m. (EWT) Sunday, either the same raider or another with an aim almost as good blew asunder the 5,152-ton Brazilian cargo-passenger vessel Cayru about 130 miles off Ambrose Light, beacon for New York harbor.

The two sinkings, numbers 28 and 29 on the officially announced list of ships sent to the bottom off the U. S. east coast, apparently resulted in heavy loss of life, with a total of 78 still missing.

Sixteen of the 35-man crew of the Guiltrade were picked up by coast guard boats and landed safely at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, while 22 of 75 seamen and four of 10 passengers were rescued from the Cayru.

The captain of the Guiltrade, Torger Olsen of Port Arthur, Tex., said his ship was struck a few minutes after he had ordered the running lights put on "in order to avoid a collision with two ships ahead of us."

"All I wish," he added, "is that they would put me aboard a coast guard cutter so I could go out to sea and hunt that sub that sank my ship."

One of seven survivors who remained aboard the stern half of the split tanker until rescued, Chief Engineer Guy P. Chadwick, said that after blasting the Guiltrade the submarine impudently cruised back and forth between the halves for 30 to 45 minutes, before disappearing.

Magic: Five Quarts Equals One

The magic of modern dairy industry makes it possible to shrink five quarts of fluid milk into one quart of dried milk. Add water and dried milk powder becomes fluid again. Dried milk is in great demand for export to friendly nations abroad. It takes little space in the holds of ships, stays sweet without refrigeration, and can be used as a substitute for fresh milk for children. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has placed dried milk high on the list of "defense foods" whose increased production is sought during 1941 and '42.

Van Mook said Allied forces carrying on the fight in unoccupied sections of the 622-mile-long island were under orders not to obey commands from the Japanese who had fallen into Japanese hands.

In London, authoritative quarters acknowledged that the strength of the main Japanese battle fleet had "not been impaired" by Japan's far-flung sweeps of conquest and declared that Japan could now be expected to lash out in three directions—against Ceylon, off the southern tip of India; against Australia, or farther east toward the Fiji Islands.

Japanese bombers attacked Port Moresby on the Gulf of Papua in northeastern New Guinea, for the third day in succession. Port Moresby is only about 40 minutes flight from the Australian mainland.

In the battle of Burma, the withdrawal of British imperial troops from the southern Burma trap left Japanese invasion forces in control of the great Irrawaddy delta which bulges 100 miles into the Bay of Bengal.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek said that with Rangoon and Bassein now open to the Japanese navy, Japan's next sea move might be against the port of Akyab, near the frontier of Bengal province, India, and the Chittagong coast.

Mandalay itself, the center and pivot of the British defense, was expected to be an immediate target of Japanese land forces.

British Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that the situation on Bataan Peninsula had apparently been stabilized temporarily, with neither air or ground activity in the past 24 hours.

Japan's warning to Australia to submit without a struggle was sounded by a Tokyo spokesman with the declaration: "They should see the handwriting on the wall."

Premier Hideki Tojo set forth the Japanese position before the diet Jan. 21, the spokesman said, in an assertion that Australians would be crushed if they continued to resist Japan's real intentions and express willingness to cooperation with Japan we will not hesitate to extend our help with real understanding for their welfare and progress.

Vagaries of the Japanese mind are evident in the statement, for it is in Australia that the Allied nations are assembling men and war materiel for the counter-offensive intended to clear the invaders from all the southwest Pacific.

Japan's imperial headquarters asserted a Japanese cruiser formation sank the United States light cruiser Marblehead in the Indian ocean March 2 while she was "fleeing toward Australia" and that a destroyer sank the 525-ton Dutch minesweeper Jan Van Amstel near Lombok Strait at dawn Monday.

Deaths in the Indian ocean of casualties in the Tokyo announcement which, as in reports of the destruction of the U. S. cruisers Augusta and Houston, was not confirmed by other sources.

The Marblehead, a 7,050-ton vessel whose main armament is listed as 10 six-inch guns, normally carried 468 men. The Jan Van Amstel complement was 46.

tries has been enormous, the report said, "the hard fact is that in relation to need the volume has been small."

Deliveries are inadequate, it explained, because of the time and effort required to revolutionize our industrial system and to attain the production volume demanded of an effective arsenal of democracy.

But some of the actual assistance has included such valuable items as planes, plane parts, tanks, ordnance, ammunition, field communications equipment, trucks, petroleum, ships, naval aircraft and ordnance, ship and airplane stores and equipment, repairing and remodeling of British naval vessels, construction of naval bases and airplane supply depots all over the world.

The report spoke also of transportation problems, noting it was 10 times harder to deliver than to produce a tank for the Russian front. United Nations shipping must be increased, it said, to carry the ever-increasing load of lend-lease material. Ships as well as all other United Nations facilities now are in a common pool, the report asserted.

This picture was given of the manner in which the countries aligned against the Axis are operating.

"All the resources of the United Nations are now part of a common pool, out of which arms and men pour as considerations of military strategy dictate. Into this pool flow lend-lease munitions, together with the entire military, air, and naval strength of all the United Nations."

"Out of it, air, land, and naval units of American forces have gone into the Southwest Pacific; British and Russian troops have moved into the East; Chinese soldiers have come to the defense of Burma; and quantities of British materiel have arrived on the main front in Russia."

"Lend-lease material, as well as poured from the pool to play its part in this joint effort. Lend-lease arms are being used on every great battlefield of the war, side by side with the pre-lend-lease weapons purchased by the British and other nations, and still being delivered in considerable quantities."

peoples for the defense of the rich sub-continent now threatened by the Japanese advance in Burma and to the Indian ocean.

"We should ill serve the common cause if we made a declaration which would be rejected by essential elements in the Indian world and which would provoke fierce communal disputes at the moment when the enemy is at the gates of India," he said.

Sir Stafford, who has returned from the ambassadorship to Moscow to become Lord Privy Seal and who is known as a proponent of Indian self-government, has the task to procure in India "the necessary measure of assent not only from the Hindu majority, but also from those great minorities amongst which the Moslems are the most numerous and on many grounds pre-eminent," Churchill announced.

"We must remember that India has a great part to play in the world struggle for freedom, and that her help must be extended in loyal comradeship to follow the Chinese people who have fought alone," he declared.

Accordingly, Sir Stafford will also confer with the British commander in India, on the military situation.

Sir Stafford, a member of the war cabinet, had volunteered for the task, Churchill added, and goes with "the full confidence of the government."

Churchill plainly indicated that the cabinet had struggled with a thorny problem, with the majority Congress party in India demanding unconditional freedom for all India, and leaders of the Moslem minority, from whom British draws some of her best Indian fighting men, threatening on the other hand to revolt if they are not granted a special autonomous status if India is liberated.

The cabinet had reached conclusions as to how these clashing views could be reconciled while a new constitution is being set up, he said, but he did not disclose what they were.

to military production."

By a coincidence, the enemy helped emphasize Nelson's urgent words. Before he spoke, the Tokyo radio staked Nippon's hopes of ultimate victory on her ability to outdo both the United States and Britain in the battle of production.

He told labor and management they were getting their "last chance" to deliver the goods.

"Let's be perfectly frank," he said, "neither management nor labor in plants working on war orders, nor management and labor together in those plants, could survive the public wrath should that wrath be turned against them, nor could we here on the war production board."

County Court To Operate On Full Year Basis

A change in the length of county court terms was approved by the county commissioners at their regular meeting yesterday under which county court will operate practically all the year around, instead of only four months.

The present system is four terms of one month each—March, May, August, and November. Under the plan approved yesterday there will still be four terms, designated by the same month names, but with this difference:

March term, from second Monday in March to May 1; May term, first Monday in May to first day of August; August term, first Monday in August to Nov. 1; November term, from first Monday in November to the first day of March of the succeeding year.

This means that the March term will last practically two months, March and April; May, for three months, May, June, and July; August, for August, September, and October, three months; and November, for November, December, January, and February, four months.

In all, this means 12 months in the period, March up to the following March, instead of the four months under the old plan.

Reason for the change, County Judge Sherman White explained, was to conform to a suggestion made by the State Bar of Texas, which for the past year has been working on plans to change court procedure over the state. The state bar had year-around court as one of its suggestions.

Judge White said that under the new plan, it would mean that judgments in civil cases could be filed at any time; in criminal cases, in the weeks set aside for such cases.

Other business transacted by the commissioners yesterday included approval of monthly bills and of three budget amendments, one for $400 for the Texas Defense Guard Air corps, Flight D, another for $270.69 for court house insurance, and the last for $5 for premium on the bond of the county superintendent.

Los Angeles Has Alert For Hour And Six Minutes

LOS ANGELES, March 11 (AP)—Air raid wardens and emergency units were mobilized shortly before dawn today by an alert order, but the fourth interceptor command gave an all-clear signal an hour and six minutes later without decreasing a general blackout.

In San Francisco, the western defense command said an "unidentified object" caused a preliminary, or "yellow," alert at 5:49 a. m. (PWT). This was changed to a "blue" alert at 6:03 a. m. The "blue" signal mobilizes all emergency agencies and silences radio broadcasting stations.

First Aid Classes To Start Tomorrow

Two new Red Cross first aid classes will be started here tomorrow and both classes have vacancies for additional students.

One class will be started at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in the cafeteria at Junior high school and the other will begin at 8 o'clock in the Junior high school building.

Both classes will be taught by certified Red Cross instructors.

The "yellow" alert was effective from Santa Barbara to San Diego counties, the "blue" only in Los Angeles and its neighboring counties on the north and south, Ventura and Orange.

Radio stations returned to the air at 8 a. m.

It was the first radio silencing in nearly two weeks, since the entire metropolitan area was blacked out and anti-aircraft guns fired for a half-hour Feb. 25 at what Secretary of War Stimson said was a flight of enemy commercial airplanes.

Just A Reminder---

Be Good To Your Electric Appliances and They'll Be Good To You!

We're all soldiers and in the army now. And that means responsibilities. For us, salesmen no longer offer this or that appliance. We must advise that you take good care of your electric refrigerator, your washing machine, your sweeper, radio, food mixer, and every other electric appliance. The factories that make these marvelous time and labor-saving servants are being turned to the manufacturing of war materials. Be good to your electric appliances and they'll be good to you.

It is true that there is less food spoilage with electric refrigeration. It is true that the electric washing machine, the sweeper, and the food mixer all have greatly relieved women of tiresome household drudgery. But now that the manufacturing of these "helping servants" has been retarded, it is time for you to take better care than ever of these appliances. Hence, it is proper for us to urge you to keep your electric appliances in good condition... get longer wear out of them.
