“Great Convoys” Reported En Route To Aid Australia

Allied Attack Being Mapped In Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 7.—Australians linked reports via London today that “great convoys of American troops are moving through the southwestern Pacific with assertions of their own government leaders that London and Washington are working out plans for an offensive from Australia and India aimed at driving the Japanese back to Tokyo and Yokohama.”

John Beasley, Australian supply minister, said in a speech at Sydney that “within the past week complete organization for Allied strategy in the Pacific has been worked out.”

“The enemy has a long supply line which we can cut, leaving him at the end of a line without support for his forces. Time is the only factor we have to deal with, and given time, we in association with our allies, can drive the enemy to Tokyo and Yokohama.”

Other government leaders said they were informed that the United States are assembling their minimum strength in the southwest Pacific at the earliest possible moment for such an offensive.

The dispatches from London, quoting a Daily Mail correspondent accredited to the United States Pacific fleet, said large convoys loaded with American troops, aircraft, planes, guns, tanks and “materials to be used to build the foundations for a great offensive” were moving through the Pacific toward Australia.

The Tokyo radio in the past 10 days has told of repeated brushings with American naval and air forces all the way from north-east of New Guinea, north of Australia, to Wake Island and the Minami Tori Shima (Marcus Island), 1,400 miles from Tokyo.

The United States navy, however, has confirmed by one of them, an attack by 18 Japanese bombers on a task force northeast of New Guinea in which 16 of the Japanese planes were shot down.

Employment of tanks by the British for the first time in Burma was looked upon here as a strengthening of that front to gain time for

Java As Good As Gone But Hope Is Not

Might Marshaled For Gigantic Counter Drive

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Staff Writer
There was every indication last night that, except for scattered nests of weary but grim resistance, the Dutch and Allied defense lines in Java had collapsed under the incessant hammering of overwhelming Japanese forces.

The official Java radio, situated at military headquarters at Bandung, went off the air with one final, defiant pledge of loyalty to Queen Wilhelmina—herself long since forced to escape to alien-friendly lands in Europe.

“Tokyo claims—and for once there was little cause to disbelieve them, whether issued direct or through other Axis channels—sole columns branching out from the easternmost of three original beachheads had driven through the heart of the island to its Indian ocean shore, and has pushed to the very outskirts of Soerabaja, once looked upon hopefully as a naval base from which part of the United Nations counter-drive could be initiated.

Thus in one brief week since the first Japanese troop landings—a week black-marked, as was the battle of Malaya, by tremendous enemy superiority in the air—the battle of Java was all but lost. Entering upon the fourth month of warfare in the Pacific, the Japanese held virtually unchallenged domain over a huge arc swinging south and east from Burma to the Philippines, the Indies island chain and on dangerously close to Australia's north coast.

Yet if the Indies were as good as gone, if in Burma a new and

Brazil Says Envoys Seized In Japan

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 7 (AP)—The Brazilian government announced tonight that its embassy in Japan has been occupied by military police, its ambassador held incommunicado and its “functionaries treated like prisoners of war,” and that accordingly it was taking “similar measures” in retaliation against Japanese diplomats in Brazil.

An official government statement said: “The government of Brazil has been informed officially that the ambassador and diplomatic functionaries of Brazil in Japan are in a disturbing and strange situation incompatible with international uses and customs.”

“Our ambassador was placed incommunicado, our embassy was occupied by civil forces and military police which remain in it, and our functionaries are treated like prisoners of war.”

The Brazilian government, which has given all guarantees to the diplomats and functionaries of countries with which it has ceased diplomatic relations and has assured them all liberties, in accordance with its traditions of hospitality, finds itself self forced against its will to give the ambassador and functionaries of Japan in Brazil treatment equivalent to that which Brazilian diplomats are receiving in Japan.

Early tonight four uniformed policemen and two plainclothesmen guarded the gate to the palatial stone residence of Japanese Ambassador Itano Ishii.

One of the police disclosed that no Japanese diplomats or functionaries would be permitted to leave their homes without special authorization and then they will be accompanied by guards.

British Criminal Accuses Petain
VICHY, March 7 (AP)—Marshal Petain accused the British of “criminal aggression” in a memorial message read for him today at mass funeral services in the Paris region for French who died in the RAF raid last Tuesday night on industrial plants around German-occupied Paris.

“There is no law of war, there are no excuses whatever which can justify such blood hecatombs before human conscience,” the aged chief of state said of the raid which caused an estimated 325 deaths.

Australia Next On Japs' Timetable

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The fourth month of the Pacific war opened today with the news still grimly bad and the United Nations still desperately on the defensive, but with indications that the day of attack may be drawing near.

In three months of fighting, the Japanese have overrun the southwestern Pacific, and southeastern Asia. General MacArthur still clings to his peninsular tip in the Philippines. The Dutch, overwhelmed, have abandoned hope of retaining more than an isolated area in Java. The British have lost Malaya and Singapore. They have been forced out of a vital section of Burma. The Burma road has been cut.

The master of this vast area, Japan now is expected to carry its attack to the northern shore of Australia, to deprive the Allies of bases from which the counter-attack may be initiated. And sweeping on through Burma, she may attempt to invade India, as part of a master Axis plan which includes

Denton Choir Has 40 Voices

Forty voices strong, the picturesque Denton A Cappella Choir from the North Texas State Teachers college will be heard in concert here Monday at 8 o'clock in the Junior High. Their appearance is sponsored by the music department of the school system.

Under the direction of Dr. Wilfred C. Bain, head of the music department of the Denton Teachers college, the Denton A Cappella choir is said by critics to be one of the most dramatic and colorful musical organizations in the Southwest.

Trained to the precision of Prussian guardsmen, the forty young men and women offer a performance that is exciting both to the trained music lover and the man in the street. From its programs audiences derive the same thrill that comes to spectators watching any other finely balanced human performance.

China Warns Japs To “Pearl Harbor” Russia

(By The Associated Press)
On Europe's portion of the world's battlefield the emphasis again was on Russia last (Sat.) night. But this time it was speculation rather than newly-won victories, which gave the Soviet armies their prominence.

Chungking newspapers predicted that Japan's new ambassador to Russia, Naotake Sato, would go to Kulsyev in a role similar to that of Saburo Kurusu at Washington—ostensibly as an envoy of peace, while behind this mask Japan would prepare to strike at Russian positions in Siberia as unexpectedly as she struck three months ago at Pearl Harbor.

On the eastern front emphasis was shifted to the southern flank by Swiss newspaper reports that the Russians have massed newly-organized armies in a huge triangle protecting the approaches to the rich and vital Caucasus and the Rostov oil fields.

The forces were said to have been rallied to stand off the expected Nazi spring offensive. The Germans, exhorted anew by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels to contribute their utmost to the war effort, claimed to have repulsed a number of Russian attacks, to have accounted for 6,000 Russian troops in one central-front sector since March 5, and to have hit hard by air at Russian positions around Staraya Russa.

It is here that the Russians say they have locked the better part of the entire 16th Nazi army in a ring of steel.

Scout Drive Nets Total Of $3,395

With complete reports in from 32 out of 66 workers, the sustaining membership drive from the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council in Pampa had reached a total of $3,395.50 here Saturday night, of which $2,355.50 was in cash, and $1,040 in pledges.

The total $3,395.50 is $500 less than was raised in Pampa in the drive last year. Scout Executive Fred Roberts said yesterday. This week the campaign will be continued to “mop up” the 34 incomplete reports.

Out of the 34 incomplete, there has been no report at all from 11 workers.

Plans for Borger's scout drive will be made at a barbecue to be held tonight at Fritz Thompson's place in Borger. E. H. Bender, refinery superintendent, will be in charge of the drive.

Executive Roberts said last night he had not checked close enough to tell which “ranch” (into which Pampa Scout workers were divided) was the winner. The individual high man appeared to be Frank Perry with a total of $391 obtained.

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
The fourth month of war in the Pacific opens with the United Nations still in retreat before the ever-extending Japanese attack everywhere except for the American-Filipino stand on Bataan peninsula. Java, the last bastion in the Dutch Indies, seems destined to go to the hands of the Japanese. If Winston Churchill falls as Britain's war captain, it will be because of that. The collapse of the Singapore bastion had two immediate effects of prime consequence. It threw the burden of defense upon Java and Burma before either front could be fully manned and equipped. It also brought about immediate rupture of the Burma road to supply China and deprived Allied forces of an adequate oil supply in the Southwestern Pacific. The result seems still to be negative so far as easing Japan's own lack of oil for battle operations on the vast scale she is waging war is concerned. Destruction by the Dutch of wells and refinery installations has strictly limited Japan in that respect, probably for many months. That she has attained some additional oil is certain, however. Yet, by the same token, that destruction policy means that Allied fleets and aircraft will be unable to get Dutch oil for many months even if they can regain possession of the islands. It means that the oil for Allied offensive operations across the Pacific, when that time comes, must be tankered from western hemisphere sources. That is the greatest oil pool on the globe but it is far from the fighting fronts in both the Pacific and the Eastern Atlantic. The other two great known oil deposits are in the Russian field in the Caucasus and in Persian sources, both still in the hands of the Allies. Moreover, Axis submarines raid-

War Hospital To Be Established At Medical Branch

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—Final war department approval for the 127th general hospital unit and the 30th surgical hospital to be established at the University of Texas medical branch at Galveston was announced today. Medical Dean John W. Spies notified University President Homer P. Rainey of the war department's action and explained the two staffs, to be filled partly by faculty personnel, will be on call for military duty at any time or place the department orders. In order not to deplete seriously the medical school's teaching staff, 49 physicians—36 for the general staff and 13 for the surgical unit—will be brought in from outside the faculty.

Axis Propaganda Trying To Drive Wedge Between American People And Leaders

Right now Axis propaganda guns are loaded for a double-barreled blitz against the United States—one barrel designed to alienate us from our Allies, the other to divide us among ourselves. You can guard better against this subtle, psychological attack on the home front by listening to Edmund Taylor, who since publication of his best-selling "The Strategy of Terror" last year, is regarded as our foremost authority on Axis propaganda methods. The article below is the second of two which he has written for NPA Service and The News.

Every effort will be made to create panic and despair in the mind of the American public, to give the impression of a "snowball" disaster, gathering momentum as it advances. Many of the individual elements in the picture will have no real significance at all but will be simply optical illusions of disaster. To what extent such a campaign can succeed, is hard to say. It depends on the speed and thoroughness of the FBI in rounding up enemy agents in the next few weeks. It depends on the ability of local and national officials to face facts in time and to act on occasion with energy and even ruthlessness for the salvation of American democracy.

Just as Axis propaganda is trying to drive a wedge between America and her Allies as the first step in a carefully planned campaign aimed at knocking America out of the war, so it is trying to drive a wedge between the American people and its leaders. This is a repetition of the two-pronged psychological strategy which destroyed France and will destroy us if we let it. The central theme of the Axis campaigns on the American home front was apparent even before Pearl Harbor—in fact it was outlined in speeches and articles of extreme isolationist leaders a full year ago. It is that President Roosevelt and other American leaders are the real enemies of the American people because they got the country into a war for which it was not prepared and which they are bound to lose. "YOU HAVE LOST," NAZIS TELL US. This is a classic Nazi theme, used over and over in their European campaigns. It is almost word for word the charge upon which Premier Daladier and Blum are now being tried at Rome, France, in accordance with instructions dictated by Germany to the Vichy government. It is probably no accident that the Rome trials have gotten under way at this time; they are intended to serve as inspiration and models for American appeasers and Nazis, a practical lesson in the art of abolishing democracy. There is, of course, one slight catch in this technique and the Nazis are perfectly aware of it: Before you can have a Rome trial you have to lose a war. Knowing that we cannot lose the war until we have lost our determination to win it, the Axis propagandists will concentrate on trying to persuade us that we have lost the war before we have really begun to fight it. PROPAGANDISTS THRIVE ON ALLIED REVERSES. This is a tall order, but it is not impossible. It has been done before. If the French government in June, 1940, had not been convinced by Nazi propaganda that England was doomed and the war as good as over, it would have moved to North Africa in all probability and would still be fighting. The Axis knows that President Roosevelt and other responsible American leaders have harder heads and stronger nerves than the men responsible for France's destinies in 1940, so no energy will be wasted trying to convince them that the war is lost. But a great effort will be made to convince the American people. The next Allied military reverse anywhere in the world will almost certainly serve as pretext for a campaign to convince the American people that the war has been lost. Simultaneously Axis propaganda agents in this country will try to throw the blame for the supposedly lost war first, on our Allies, sec-

Long Live The Queen! Farewell Dutch Message (By The Associated Press) LONDON, March 7—Blacked-out communications left the fate of all Java in the gravest doubt tonight after a 13-hour-old dispatch had told of a Japanese breakthrough in the outer northern defenses of Bandung, the military headquarters and arsenal where the Dutch East Indies had concentrated its remaining effective forces. "We are shutting down. Good-bye till better times. Long live the United Nations front in crumbling," was the farewell message of the official Java radio service as it signed off. (The message was timed 6:55 a. m., C.W.T., today.) The official station is located at Bandung. The silence suggested that the headlong advance of overpowering Japanese forces, free to work their will in the air and on the sea, had overrun not only Bandung but other strongholds as well. Founded by a Japanese air force against which "Dutchmen can no longer put up sufficient resistance," the defenders of the beautiful glens of volcanic Mount Tangkoeban Pra-hoe, 10 miles north of Bandung, finally gave way Friday, said a dispatch of Aneta, the Dutch news agency. As a result, the dispatch said, the situation on the whole western end of the island, which had been reckoned as the best defended, was admittedly critical after only seven days of the invasion. This dispatch timed at 10 a. m. (8:20 p. m., Friday, C.W.T.) was about 13 hours in transmission, and the interruption of further communication suggested that perhaps Dutch hopes of making a MacArthur-like stand amid the high hills of west central Java had been completely dashed.

31 New Cars Allotted To Gray County

A quota of 31 new passenger cars, which includes station wagons, has been allotted to Gray county for the period March 2 to May 31, the Gray County Rationing board announced Saturday. By "new" is meant a vehicle driven less than 1,000 miles. This means that automobile dealers in Gray county can sell cars again, but the process will be limited to the quota number and purchasers must make application to the board, just as in the case of tires and tubes. There are 14 eligible classes of purchasers. In the main, these are similar to the classes in applications for new tires and new tubes. Among the eligibles will be physicians, surgeons, ministers, ambulance operators, fire fighters, taxicab drivers, police, defense industry workers, federal state and local employees, persons requiring a new car to make wholesale deliveries of newspapers. Ask WPB On Trucks If you want a new truck, whether it's light, medium, or heavy, or a truck-trailer, your way is to write to the War Production Board in Washington. That's all that is provided to handle the situation at present. A letter from William H. Brooks, executive officer of the OPA, received here by the board, states that a ration plan is being developed by the WPB, but does not state what the plan is nor what is meant by "being developed."

MERRY, MADCAP COMEDIES, FULL OF GAGS AND SONGS, SHOWING THIS WEEK

Olsen And Johnson Featured In Unique "Hellzapoppin"; Joe E. Brown Returns To Pictures In "Shut My Big Mouth"

Keeping up the pace with the gags on Pampa screens this week is going to be an all-out job.

First, these the mad and merry mixture of entertainment found in Universal's "Hellzapoppin," an Olsen and Johnson show with all the trimmings, including a stock of gags never seen before.

Adding to the pace is the acting of Martha Raye and Jane Frazee, plus Hugh Herbert and Mischa Auer.

There's also some swell tunes by Don Raye and Gene De Paul: "You Were There," "Conga Beso," "Watch the Birds," "Heaven For Two," and the titular tune.

It's at the LaNora for four days, starting today.

Joe E. Brown comes back to the screen in a comedy "Shut My Big Mouth," showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Rex.

The actor with the mouth as wide as the Pacific war front is cast as a wealthy Eastern horticulturist on his way west to beautify the countryside already considered a masterpiece of natural beauty.

It's in the closing years of the last century so naturally Badman Victor Jory holds up a stagecoach, Joe gets frightened and knocks out several bandits by accident, for which feat he is promptly elected marshal.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer produces the newest version of Robert Louis Stevenson's novel, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Spencer Tracy, shown above in a scene from the picture opening a three-day run today at the Crown.

Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner are the other principals in the cast. Story has not been changed. It is the story of the man who dared God by attempting to cross the great divide while still alive and pays the penalty for his brashness.

Ann Corio, stock and summer show player, makes her film debut in PRC's "Swamp Woman," at the Crown Wednesday and Thursday.

She is cast as a honky tonk dancer who returns to her family in the swamplands. During her stay she undergoes a change for the better and the man, Jack LaRue, who once loved her, falls in love with her again.

There is a second romance in the picture, between Mary Hull, a younger cousin, and Richard Deane, escaped convict.

KINGS ROW

BY HENRY BELLAMANN

PEYTON WON'T HELP

CHAPTER XXII ONE day in a kind of desperation he went to see Peyton Graves. Drake smiled at the surroundings. "Well, well! You look like a bank president in here, Peyton."

"What can I do for you, Drake?" "Just dropped in to see how you're getting along, Peyte. Are you busy?" "Pretty busy, Drake, just now."

"Well, I was just going to ask you, Peyton, if you don't need some help." Peyton flushed. "Gosh, Drake, I haven't got a thing for you to do. You know, of course, this thing's just getting going. I'm working altogether with other people's money—for the time being. Later—maybe."

"Well, I just thought—" "I'm awfully sorry, Drake. Wish I did have something." "So long, Peyte. Good luck."

Young Peyton Graves' new house was the subject of much discussion. Of course, everybody knew that the St. Georges were back of Graves, but it did show what an enterprising young man could do in Kings Row.

Castor Oil Seen As Revenue Source For Cotton Farmers Needing Cash

By RICHARD WEST Associated Press Staff
Castor oil—that smelly stuff you ran from as a kid—may be the answer to the problem of a new money crop for hard-pressed Texas cotton farmers.

Chemists have found that when watery particles of the oil are knocked out it becomes a valuable industrial oil that can be used in the making of paints, varnishes, and lacquers.

The navy needs it for making water-proof paints and for use in the recoil mechanism of naval guns.

So Texas A. & M. college—fast turning out soldiers for the battlefield—is also working feverishly on the industrial front and the castor bean is one of its projects.

E. B. Reynolds, chief of the division of agronomy, Texas Agricultural Experiment station, and his aids, experimented to see where the castor plant will best grow in Texas.

Better varieties will produce fairly good yields where cotton succeeds. Tests were made at College Station, Angleton, Beaumont, Iowa Park, Lubbock, Temple, Tyler, and Weslaco.

In general, highest yields were obtained at Weslaco, Iowa Park, and Lubbock, ranging from 1,000 to nearly 1,400 pounds of seed an acre.

Why the sudden emphasis on the castor bean?

Because of the war. Disrupted commerce on the high seas has virtually cut off imports of tung oil from China. Tung—some of which is being grown in Texas and other Gulf coast states—has been used for making paints and varnishes, for coating linoleum, as a base for printing inks.

Castor oil—when water is knocked out—is a good substitute. It produces a beautiful, wrinkled finish when allowed to dry alone without further treatment. It is particularly valuable for use on stove castings, radio cabinets, and machinery castings.

The castor plant has had an up-and-down history. It has been grown in this country more than 100 years but became an important commercial crop only in certain sections of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Illinois from 1860 to 1900, Reynolds points out.

After that the industry declined because large amounts were imported from India, China, and Brazil.

During World War I the bean again came into prominence in response to the demand for more suitable lubricants for aircraft engines. After the war ended chemical research later solved the lubrication problem.

Now World War II has given the oil another chance. Early last year the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at the request of the National Defense Council, started a campaign to increase seed stocks for 1942. In this work, centered in a group of blackland counties in the vicinity of Dallas, the government assured growers a price of 3½ cents a pound.

But, Reynolds points out, the industry still has several difficulties to overcome. In most of the present varieties the seed pops out, shatters as it matures. This makes it necessary to harvest the seed by hand at frequent intervals to prevent some of its loss.

Concludes Reynolds: "Even if shattering does not occur and one harvesting is sufficient, the matter of suitable machinery for harvesting and threshing is still to be considered."

"Further, there is not a ready market for the beans in Texas, although a few of the larger oil mills will buy seed to aid in developing the industry."

"If, however, there is sufficient demand for this crop, the problems encountered in harvesting, threshing, and marketing probably can be solved without much difficulty."

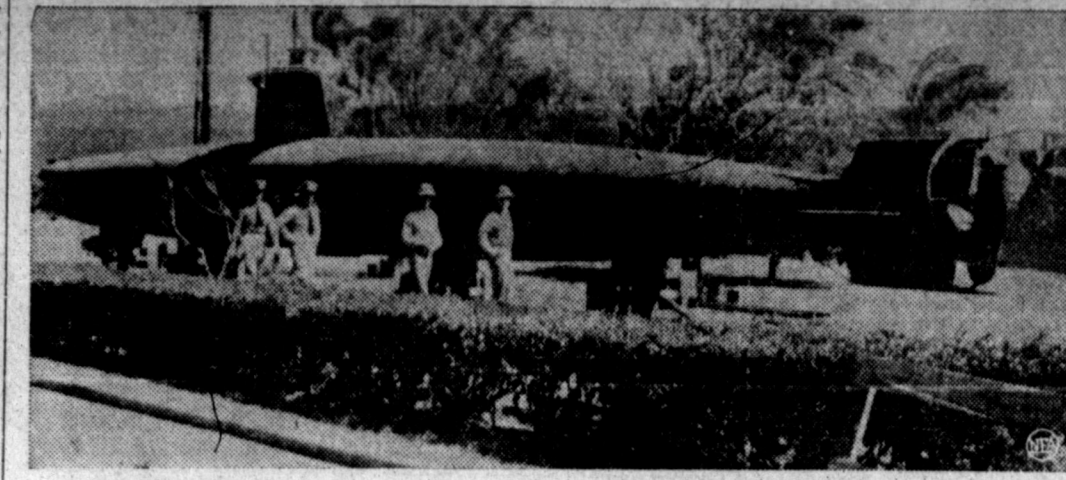

Food For Victory Campaign Explained By County Agent

How the Food for Victory campaign in Gray county is organized and how it is developing was explained today by County Farm Agent Ralph E. Thomas.

Expansion of vital foods under the campaign is being directed in Gray county by five agricultural leaders comprising the Gray County United States Agricultural War Board. L. R. Taylor of the AAA is chairman of the board. Other members of the board are Mr. Thomas, extension service; Clyde L. Carruth, production credit; David Shahan, farm security; and Ralph V. Johnston of the forest service.

Similar boards functioning in all the counties in Texas are responsible to the State USDA War board which in turn is reporting on progress to the U. S. secretary of agriculture. The county board members are thoroughly familiar with local problems and represent the administrative machinery through which the farmers are able to contribute to the Food for Victory campaign.

Members of the defense board, assisted by AAA farmer committeemen, were in charge of the sign-up campaign in Gray county last fall when every farmer in the county was asked to sign a pledge sheet relative to his 1942 production plans. In these plan sheets farmers outlined their expected increases in the vital defense foods such as dairy, poultry, and meat products.

Farm plans from all the farms in the United States are to be summarized enabling the U. S. department of agriculture to determine far in advance the expected production for 1942. The county board has emphasized that the farm plan is not binding upon the farmer but it does represent a pledge of good faith in his part in the record production effort.

Activities of the county board is supervised by the Texas USDA war board made up of representatives of the various department agencies functioning in Texas. Similar boards operate in each state.

News Carrier Boys Rank 13th Among 38 Texas Newspapers

Carrier boys of The Pampa News rank in 13th place among the carriers of 38 Texas newspapers in 25 Texas cities in the sale of United States defense bonds. Carrier boys of Texas are in 11th place among the 48 states in total sales.

In the 12 weeks since they began selling, carrier boys of this newspaper have sold 65,000 stamps, or $6,500 worth.

Badges and bars are awarded the carriers on their sales by the U. S. treasury department. A new scheme has been put into effect to keep the boys from having to wear as many bars as a general out of a Graustark novel.

After a carrier sells $131.50 worth of stamps he gets a gold bar. That's the last award made until the time he quits selling, leaves his route, or the sale of stamps over the nation is ended.

Thus, a carrier with a record of $131.50 of defense stamp sales would have a badge of bronze, a silver bar for second award, and a gold bar for third award.

The badge is given when the carrier sells $18.75 worth of stamps, an amount sufficient for a $25 bond. The second award represents $56.25 in sales. After the third award, comes a series of badges:

$506, badge with tank and one star; $1,236, badge with airplane depicted, two stars; $2,000, badge with battleship, three stars; $3,881, white victory badge, four stars; $7,631, blue victory badge, five stars. Dale Butler is leading the field of Pampa News carriers in the sale of defense stamps. His total is $1,260. Runner-up is Darrell Hogsett, $691.60; Burt Graham, third, $688.50; Don Barnard, fourth, $582.90.

Carrier boys can sell any series E defense bond from $18.75 to $5,000. Persons wishing to purchase bonds from carriers should make their checks payable to the postmaster. Bonds will be mailed from the post-office by registered mail.
