JYM HENDRICKS

Hendricks Dies

Borden County lost an old-timer and dear friend last week. Jym L. Hendricks, 71, retired cafe operator in this town, was dead on arrival at the hospital in Post after he was stricken with an apparent heart attack at 9:30 a.m., Wed., November 8, in his home.

Jym and his family moved to Borden County in 1952. He and his wife Madge operated Jym's Cafe in Gail While operating the cafe, Jym was always willing to fix an early breakfast or a late lunch for as many as 15 cowboys if the hands were too far away from home.

The San Saba, Texas native was born September 2, 1907. He lived in Borden County for 26 years during which he operated Jym's Cafe for 23 years. He was married on October 15, 1946, at Llano to Madge Blythe. He was a veteran of world War II.

Surviving are his wife; four daughters, Jennie Cathey of Burnet, Callie Birdwell of Mangum, Okla., Norma Martin of Altus, Okla., and Melba Rinehart of Gail; two sisters, Monterey O'Neill of Lampasas and Joyce Isham of San Saba; four brothers, Bernice Hendricks of Eden, Taylor Hendricks of Goldthwaite, Paul Hendricks of Nacogdoches and Beno Hendricks of Gail; 17 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday, November 10 at Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel in Snyder, with the Rev. S. V. Clanton, pastor of the Apostolic Faith Church, officiating. Burial was in the Gail Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Grandsons were pall-bearers.

County Follows State

Borden County followed the state in electing the first Republican Governor in 105 years. With possibly the largest turnout ever recorded for a non-presidential year, the county gave Bill Clements 52% of the vote. The state wide percent was 50.3%. The tally for Borden County was 162 to Hill's 149. With the Republicans adding only 1 seat to the Texas 24 member congressional delegation, the Governor elect said that he foresees no problem working with a predominately Democratic state legislature.

Even tho the GOP had a heavy turnout compared to the over all state wide low percentage of total votes, the conservative Democrat vote was a large factor in Clements victory. However, upon analyzing his loss, Hill reflected, "Apparently the Republicans, were just a little bit more determined." He had been criticized for relaxing after his defeat of Briscoe and the insurance of his staff that he "would win big."

Former Attorney General Hill conceded graciously shortly after Clements's claim to victory by saying "I'm totally satisfied that it's the Lord's will." However, he did allude to the fact that the $6 million spent by the GOP in the election played a big part in his defeat. Clements retaliated by saying "90% of that went for name recognition - - - as Attorney General, Hill already had that."

Borden County continued to vote Republican by electing incumbent John Tower over former Congressman Bob Krueger. Out of 303 votes cast for the senate seat, Tower polled a 51% (153) victory against 47% (145) for the Democrat. State wide, Tower's percentage was 50.3%, by far the lowest it has been in his 17 years as Senator. The issues seemed to have become buried as conflict of personalities intensified. However the conservative philosophy prevailed and in accepting victory Tower said "I expect to continue to reflect a conservative viewpoint - - - to bend my efforts to reduce size, scope, and power of government" Even tho Tower had a slim unofficial margin of 14,000 votes amounting to a victory, Kruger will not concede until the county courts canvassing are complete. In talking to reporters Wed. in Austin, Krueger, suffering from campaign hoarseness, croaked a favorite passage from Shakespear, "Thou hast ever been one that has taken the buffets and rewards of fortune with equal thanks..." The Borden County Republicans vote dropped considerably after the first two places on the ballot.

Democrat Charles Stenholm won a decisive victory over Republican hopeful Bill Fisher with a tally of 202 to 97. Stenholm will replace retiring Congressman Omar Burleson of the 17th district.

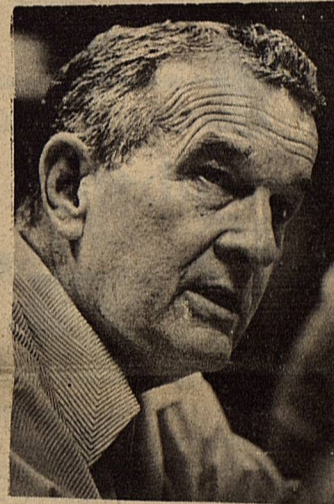

STATE AND COUNTY

In the race for Attorney general Republican Jim Baker had a respectable count of 130. This was not enough, however to defeat Democrat Mark White who polled 171 in the county.

The county also followed the state in electing Hobby over Marshal for Lt. Governor with a 208 to 77 victory. In the race for Railroad Commissioner Democrat Poerner polled 212 votes to Republican Lacey's 72.

In the only other contested race on the ballot E. L. Short had a decisive victory over Republican Joe Robbins with a vote of 225 to 60. Short polled a 64% win throughout the 28th State Senatorial district.

Short will replace Kent Hance who resigned to run for retiring George Mahons 19th Congressional seat. Hance, well known in Borden County, won the Congressional seat with 53.2% of the vote.

GOVERNOR-ELECT
BILL CLEMENTS

Democratic primary victories gave clear sailing to all county races with no Republican opposition. They are: Jim Burkett, County Judge, 251; Dorothy Browne, County Clerk, 227; Larry Smith, County Commissioner Precinct 2, 54; Ed Rinehart, County Commissioner Precinct 4, 67; Don Cox, County Treasurer 226; Carolyn Stone, Justice of the Peace, 53.

UIL Band Marching Contest

The Coyote Band will be competing in the Region VI University Interscholastic League Marching Contest Saturday, November 18, 1978. The band will meet at the school Saturday morning at 7:15 in order to practice briefly before leaving for Andrews. The early practice will refresh memories from the school holiday on Friday. The band will leave for Andrews at 8:00 Saturday morning and will be marching at 10:15 in Andrews Stadium. After the band ratings are announced, the band will return to Lamesa for lunch and arrive in Gail around 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

The band is making real progress and has spent many hours in the cold morning air with wet feet preparing for this competition. Many hours are necessary to achieve the standards of perfection for precision, uniformity, and quality of playing called for by U.I.L. judges. The standards grow increasingly stringent each year it seems and the Band is hoping to do well this year. It always helps to have some supporters in the stands and parents and friends are encouraged to be in Andrews Saturday morning and support the band in this very important competition.

Coyotes Lose To Roby

The Borden County Coyotes ended the 1978 season last Friday by playing the Roby Lions. The score was Roby 60, Borden County 6. The game was a hard hitting one and was a good game. The Coyotes had a hard time handling the Lions speed. The Lions scored on long runs and deep passes. The Coyotes lone score came when Craig Peterson scored from the one yard line. The score was set up by a fumbled punt and recovered by Perry Smith. Carley Doyle punted the ball a good 60 yards.

The Coyotes season record was 0-10 but never did the Coyotes show signs of giving up. They hit until the final whistle and never let up.

Jr. Coyotes Finish Season

The Junior Coyotes ended their season with Roby last Thursday. Roby won 24-0. The game was played hard by both teams and the score did not indicate the play by the Coyotes. The Coyotes moved the ball well on the ground and controlled most of the time

FHA Holds Workshop

The Gail Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held a workshop in Seminole, Monday November 6, 1978. Presenting the workshop were President- Rhesa Wolf; 2nd Vice- Lisa McLeroy; 3rd Vice- Karen Williams; Secretary- Janna Love; Historian-Recreation Leader- Glynda Burkett; Pianist- Carla Jones; Executive Council member- Penny Thompson; and Reporter- Mayme McLaurry.

At the workshop, Karen Williams and Lisa McLeroy presented the steps and reasons for Impact and Encounter. Impact can be used to accomplish any goal you desire. It is a process of setting your goal, narrowing concerns, seeing what you will accomplish and then doing it. Encounter is a process of learning about yourself and growing. There are three areas of encounter: 1st the Key to individuality, and the scroll of involvement with others, 3rd the torch of preparation for adulthood.

The group was then led in a relaxer by Glynda Burkett which helped everyone to relax and get acquainted.

A word exercise was given by Mayme McLaurry and Janna Edwards. The purpose of this exercise was to show people that ordinary things have a meaning in F.H.A. and to yourself.

The F.H.A. purposes were presented by Rhesa Wolf. Everyone separated into small groups and were given a puzzle of the purposes. This helps to learn the purposes instead of just reading them.

The next exercise was to show how to tie the purposes into the projects, programs, activities, and meetings of a chapter. Everything done in F.H.A. serves a purpose.

Carla Jones led the group in the F.H.A. song, O Future Homemakers of America.

During the refreshments, the Gail officers mingled in the crowd and explained their projects, as the Seminole girls looked through the scrapbooks. Penny Thompson presented the "egg exercise". This exercise helps people to decide, when presented a situation, what the situation is and how to deal with it in every day living.

The Gail officers, led by Carla Jones, paraphrased the creed and repeated it for the others. Then everyone said it together.

To finish up the workshop, Rhesa Wolf handed out evaluation sheets and everyone wrote down their thoughts on how well the workshop was presented and how it helped them.

The officers enjoyed doing the workshop and are looking forward to doing more. They were very sorry that the 1st Vice President, Vickie Jones, was unable to attend because of illness.

There were about 35 people attending the meeting. The purpose of the meeting was to help girls to see the importance of F.H.A. in daily living as well as in the future. /s/ Reporter-Mayme McLaurry

This And That About Election

People are funny. The following are quips. I have read or heard from other news media or even local voices concerning the election. I do hope I don't get on my soap box as I relate some of them to you. For goodness sake, don't hold me to it for the most part I am "just repeating."

- "This is a quiet time in America" says Brinkley. If you think so, maybe that's the reason for the low voter turnout Nationally. Borden County consistently does better than the nation on this account. 326 or 62% of registered voters in the county went to the polls. Only 33% of registered voters in Texas voiced their opinion.

- "A hard time for incumbents." Six Republicans gained Governorships. The U. S. Senate gained three Republicans and the House of Representatives 12. Demos retain control.

- Tower was pleased to note that he carried his own county as well as that of his opponent.

- Texas sends more freshmen to Congress this year than since 1896. Eight veterans retired.

- Stenholm, age 40, from Jones Co. Bursleson, running for Congress for the 1st time 32 years ago was also 40 and from Jones County.

- Krueger's resigned seat in Congress was filled by Republican Tom Loeffler, 21st District.

- Write in candidates were victorious in West Texas. Two for County Commissioner in Glasscock County, County Judge in Kermit, Constable in Andrews, and J. P. in Martin County.

There were 16 straight Republican ballots cast this year. That's a good gain from the two cast in years past.

- President Carter campaigned actively for 16 candidates -- 12 lost.

- Coincidentally 12 of the 16 tax proposals on ballots across the nation carried.

- "Janie Briscoe said 'Clements was a better candidate but that I will vote for Hill.'" Oh me.

- One Borden-ite said to me "I voted for more Republican than I ever did in my life. It's been eight hours now and nothing has happened to me!"

- The White House called Congressman Kent Hance a while back and asked if he wouldn't like for them to send Rosalyn Carter to campaign for him. He said "No, thank you. I have always run my own campaign and will continue to do so." So there!

- The computer machines didn't work in Philadelphia and they had a terrible time. Even called in the F.B.I. CON'T on Page 9

Jer's Greetings

I had no idea James Earl knew I had been gone but as soon as I got home the dollar rallies. And I read in the papers (excluding The Star) that the President blamed the recent plummet of the dollar on spending abroad. It's nice to be missed but I resent having to take the blame for inflation and the decline of the dollar. I guess somebody has to be the goat, but it seems pretty tacky when Mr. Carter won't take the rap for government's wild spending habits. If the Borden Star became source material for him, he wouldn't make such unfounded accusations.

While breaking the economy, I became aware of one thing. In our eagerness to become a free and independent nation, we inadvertently left to the British one very important trait or possession -- the Kings' English. Everyone over there speaks the most beautiful English in the most well modulated voices. The vocabularies of even the kid on the street-the cabbies-the street vendor are enviable. Words like "viable" flow uneffectively from a cabbies mouth.

And the manners of the British are impeccable. Even the children are quiet and well mannered-no hollering and jostling in the museums. Rather, genuine interest in the exhibits being explained by soft spoken parents. The cabbies drive like madmen but so polite-their conversation to you and to their squawk box is thoughtful and considerate "I'm much obliged"- "thank you very much". Their quiet, good manners include horns too. The streets are teeming with fast moving traffic but no horns, an indignant cabbie asked, "Why should we use our horns?"

I must look terribly British and even intelligent. I was besieged with queries by even the natives. But as soon as I opened my mouth, I destroyed my image on both counts. Hunhh? is neither British nor intelligent. That's all going to change tho. I have made up my mind to improve my manner of speaking. When asked a question or when I fail to understand, I shall say, "ok?" "well-uh" and "now then". And rather than tell you that something "suits me fine" or "right on", I shall murmur "d'accord". When you pour the cream in my tea, I shall lower my eyes and say, "thank you" demurely-sounds better than "woh".

Should I be asked directions, I'll tell you to travel the dual carriage way to the second roundabout, taking the first exit and procede to the laybay where you will find your shop clearly marked. Now that is just as implicit as "take the four lane to that circle a mile or so down the road. Go around the circle to the first road leading off-then you go a block or two to where you see a wide spot in the road- that's where you can park off the street. And along in there someplace you'll see a store that might help you".

It isn't only the use of words that I must perfect, but also intonation, accents and enunciation. The n's must be softened-a bon must not be of the candy sound. Even tho I learn to use the proper word, if not said in the sharp, clipped British manner or the soft, blurred French way, I might as well revert to, "say what?" and "hunhh?".

Report Child Care Income

Again this year, working parents who claim the credit for child care on their Federal tax return are required to furnish the name, address and social security number of their babysitter.

At the same time, providers of child or dependent care services must report amounts received as income on their Federal tax return and the IRS said it is stepping up its efforts to insure that the income reported is consistent with amounts claimed by parents who take advantage of the credit.

IRS Form 2441, "Credit for Child And Dependent Care Expenses" calls for claimants to furnish certain identifying information about the child care provider and the amount he or she was paid.

The credit for child and dependent care is 20 percent of actual child care expenses paid so parents can work. Money paid to a babysitter so the parents can go out socially does not count for purposes of the credit. The maximum credit is $400 for one child and $800 for two or more children.

The credit can be claimed by all taxpayers, regardless of income, and encompasses not only the workday care of children but certain other eligible dependents as well.

IRS has developed a free publication, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care," which explains this tax provision in detail. Ask for IRS Publication 503.

Williams Involved In Accident

The intersection of Highway 180 and 669 was the scene of an accident involving a Chevrolet station wagon and a Ford pick-up pulling a goose-neck trailer. The accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. Monday.

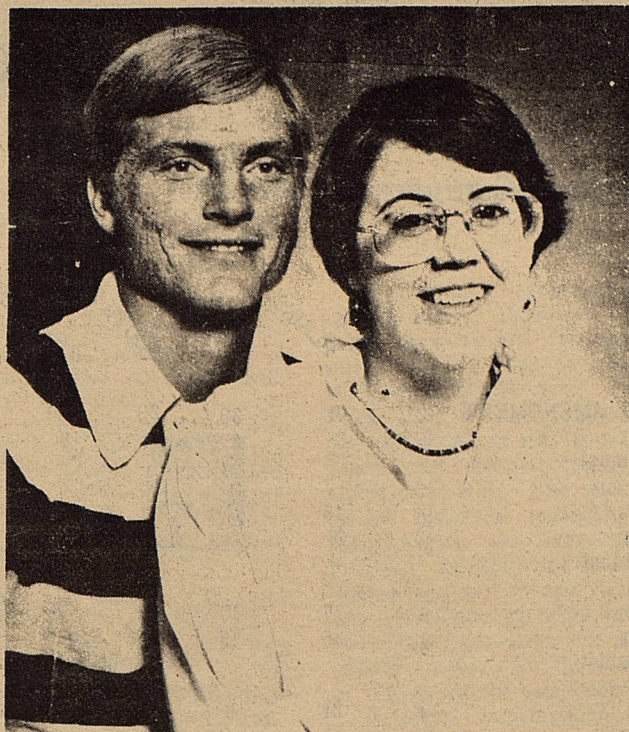

Kenneth Williams, Borden County farmer, was traveling West on Hwy. 180 when he was hit by the station wagon driven by Mrs. Betty Sue Perry. Mrs. Perry was crossing the intersection going north.

The 1970 station wagon caught only the left rear tire of Mr. Williams trailer. More extensive damage was done to the front end of the car.

There were no injuries sustained by either driver.

Mrs. Perry is a Latin-American living in San Angelo. She had a male passenger in the car with her who also received no injuries.

According to Sheriff Sneed, Mrs. Perry is being charged with failure to yield to a stop sign and with driving without a license.

Texas Passes 55.5% Of Amendments

Borden County had a mind of their own in the question of the amendments. They turned down five and gave the green light to only 3. This was nearly the exact opposite of the state trend of six passing and only two failing.

However in the tax relief amendment, Borden County recorded the largest vote on the ballot with 248 or 79% voting for the amendment. This was in line with the state wide 85%.

The "tax relief amendment" would provide tax breaks from local school taxes for homeowners, farmers, and ranchers and the elderly, with the option for the state to reimburse local school districts for the revenue lost because of the new exemptions. The amendment also would tax agricultural land on productivity rather than market value.

Texas voters turned down one that would have permitted local governments to issue revenue bonds to finance construction of industrial facilities. Another amendment that would have authorized cities to issue tax increment bonds for redevelopment of blighted areas also was defeated.

AMENDMENTS PASSED IN STATE

- permit the state to purchase products manufactured by non-profit sheltered workshops for the handicapped without taking competitive bids;
- exempt solar and wind powered energy devices from property taxes;
- expand jurisdiction of justice of the peace courts to hear cases in sections;
- abolish the State Building Commission;
- and allow water districts to issue bonds and use tax revenue for firefighting purposes.

Kruger Calls For Recount

Former Congressman Bob Krueger has asked for a recount in Howard County. In his bid for the Senatorial seat held by John Tower, Krueger lost the election by a slim margin of 14,000 with approximately 2 million Texans casting their vote.

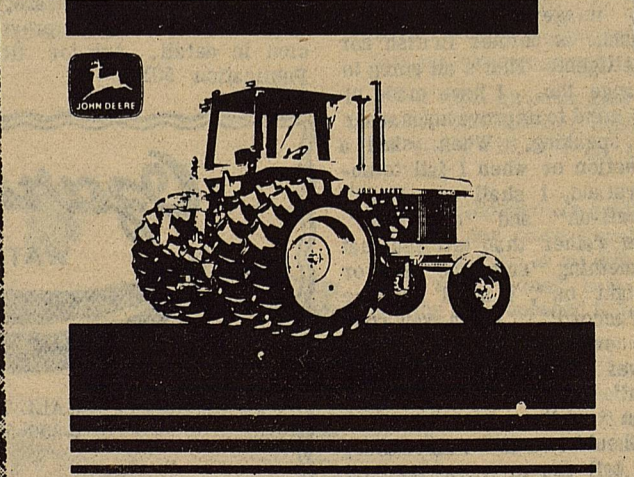

The latest report is that Krueger has asked for a recount in at least 40 of the 254 Texas counties. Monday, Nov. 13 was the deadline for a candidate to ask for a recount in the counties with voting machines. He has until the 25th of November to make the same request in counties using paper ballots.

In the Monday canvass by the Commissioners Court, Borden County showed one discrepancy. One box in the county failed to include the tally numbering the straight party ticket ballots. This changed the total number of votes cast in the county from 313 to 326 bring the percent to 62%. It also changed the total for all GOP candidates by a plus 4, all Democrat candidates in that box by a plus 9.

Your County Agent Says by Randy Upshaw

NOW IS THE TIME TO TREAT FOR PEACH
TREE BORERS

LUBBOCK--For homeowners with peach trees, fall is the best time to treat for one of the most destructive of all peach tree pests, the peach tree borer. A sure sign of the pest, says county Extension agent Randy Upshaw, is the gum oozing down the trunk or branches of the tree. "This insect is mostly a pest of peach but is also found infesting plum, cherry, and apricot trees."

Actually, two borers commonly attack peach trees, he adds. The larval stage of the peach tree borer feeds within the tree's cambian layer in an approximately six inches above the soil line to six inches below. The lesser peach tree borer attacks the cambian layer of the upper portion of the tree's trunk and larger branches. The approach to controlling these pests is basically the same, but the method of application differs.

Two fumigants generally used for peach tree borer control are paratichlorobenzene (PDB) crystals or ethylene dichloride in the liquid form.

Using fumigants around peach trees is a delicate operation and should be done with great care and precision. Over-treatment can damage the tree. The crystals, when applied to warm soil, quickly volatilize into a heavy gas which penetrates through soil crevices into burrows of overwintering borers and kills them. Crystals should only be applied when the soil is dry and the temperature is 55 degrees or above.

"When using PDB for peach tree borer control, weeds should be removed from around the base of the tree and the soil leveled one foot from the tree trunk. PCB crystals should be placed in a narrow groove incircling the tree about two inches from the tree trunk. Care should be taken to keep crystals from directly contacting the tree. Clean soil should be placed over the crystals to form a cone-shaped pile about six inches high around the base of the tree. This soil should be removed from the base of the tree in late March or early April."

Upshaw adds that the amount of PDB to use is determined by age and size of the tree. In general, one-half ounce of crystals should be used for two-to three-year old trees, three-fourths ounce for four-to five-year old trees, and one ounce for mature trees.

Upshaw says that both PDB and ethylene dichloride can also be used to treat peach trees infested by the lesser peach tree borer. Affected areas, recognized by masses of gum mixed with frass and sawdust running down the surface of the trunk and branches, should be treated after the leaves fall from the peach trees. A mixture of four ounces PDB in one pint of miscible oil diluted in two pints of water or a smaller amount at the same proportions should be prepared. The mixture should be painted on the wounds and damaged areas, without encircling the trunk or limb. When using ethylene dichloride for either peach tree borer or lesser peach tree borer control, proper rates and application instructions will be found on the product label.

For the homeowner with peach trees infested with either the peach tree borer or the lesser peach tree borer, control measures can greatly lengthen the life of the trees.

Further information on control of the peach tree borer is available at the county Extension agent's office.

President Carter Urged To Sign Legislation

Fort Worth, Texas

October 24, 1978-- Both consumers and cattlemen will suffer if President Carter does not sign into law the recently passed amendments to the Meat Import Act, the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association said today.

John B. Armstrong, president of the 14,000-member beef producer group, has urged the President to sign the legislation. Armstrong said that failure to do so would thwart the will of Congress and stifle the cattle industry's rebuilding of the basic herd, after four years of liquidation as a result of adverse economics.

"Cattlemen have been supporters of efforts to curb inflation," Armstrong said. "We are urging the President to sign this bill, which actually is anti-inflationary."

In support of his position, Armstrong referred to Library of Congress studies which show the import legislation would provide stability benefiting both the public and the cattle industry. The amendments would help assure more dependable supplies of quality beef at reasonable prices for U. S. consumers.

The new legislation includes a counter-cyclical import quota formula, under which imports will increase when domestic beef output declines cyclically, and will decrease when U. S. beef production becomes excessive. The legislation also defines more precisely the circumstances under which the President may increase meat imports beyond quota levels.

"We are already dependent on other countries for our oil supplies," Armstrong said. "The last thing we want to do is become dependent on foreign meat as well. Failure to make this new bill law eventually can have that effect."

The bill (HRL1545) was passed by substantial majorities in both houses of Congress in mid-October. Cattlemen are concerned that critics are making last-ditch efforts to head off the legislation by putting pressure on the President to exercise his veto.

The critics claim the legislation will reduce imports and raise prices to consumers. But cattlemen, backed up by independent studies, say the exact opposite is true.

"Over the 10-year cattle cycle, total imports WOULD NOT BE REDUCED," Armstrong said. "In fact, during the next few years, when domestic beef output will be decreasing cyclically, imports will increase--helping to moderate prices to consumers."

"Later, as part of the cycle in an agricultural business like ours, U. S. beef production will likely become burdensome again. At that time, imports will be decreased. The supply and price stability which will result from HR 11545 will benefit consumers as well as cattlemen."

Armstrong said that criticism of the bill by foreign nations was to be expected. "What these foreign critics fail to mention is that we already import more beef, by far, than any other nation. In fact, our imports account for 30 per cent of all beef involved in world trade. Under our import law, we guarantee beef exporting nations a substantial share of our market, year after year.

"On the other hand, most countries--including beef exporting countries which are now criticizing us--put up trade barriers which shut out competitive beef. Because of those barriers, we in the U. S. export only two-tenths of one per cent of our beef production. Obviously, beef trade is not now a two-way street.

"It's obvious to cattlemen in Texas and elsewhere that the exporting nations want to go on dumping their periodic surpluses in our market. They want our market to be the relief valve for the whole world--at the expense of U. S. cattlemen and, ultimately, the U.S. consumers," he said.

Armstrong pointed out that the elected representatives of the people in Congress have shown they want to put a stop to excessive foreign dependency.

"Now it's up to the President to show his support for the cattlemen and consumers of the nation by signing this important legislation into law," Armstrong said. "We are asking our Texas senators and congressmen to personally contact the President and urge him to take this action immediately."

Crop And Livestock Reports Needed

From mid-November to early January, thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by the Service's field staff. The information gathered through the questionnaires and interviews provides the basis for determining the final acreage, yield, and production of crops and end-of-the-year livestock and poultry numbers for the state of Texas and for each county.

Reliable information on what is produced, how much, and where is important to farmers, ranchers, and others in making production and marketing decisions and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture. These are also essential to farm organizations and legislators in promotion, planning, and enacting wise legislation and are used in establishing acreages and payment levels to producers under the various commodity programs.

The collection and publication of agricultural statistics are a cooperative effort between the Texas Department of Agriculture and USDA. This cooperation avoids duplication of effort, promotes economies, and increases the effectiveness of statistical reports. All individual farm and ranch information is kept confidential, and only state and county summaries become part of the final published estimate.

County statistics for 1977 and January 1, 1978, are available on Livestock, Poultry, Dairy, Field Crops, Small Grains, Cotton, Vegetables, Fruits and Pecans, and Cash Receipts from the Sale of Texas Farm Commodities. Bulletins can be obtained from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P. O. Box 70, Austin, Texas 78767, or by writing Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

The Chatter Box
by Kathy Blagrove

It's almost time to get out the ski equipment. Before you go skiing, experts advise conditioning muscles to prevent injuries. These tips will help you decide what exercise you need before taking off for the slopes.

Recently people have become interested in a variety of exercises including jogging, racquet ball, tennis, swimming, and many more, to promote physical fitness, points out Carla Shearer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Everyone needs exercise on a regular basis; however, they should exercise some precautions when entering into any program, the specialist advises.

Ms. Shearer suggests consideration of the following before beginning an exercise program:

- 1) Don't try to do too much too soon.

It's advisable to get a medical check-up before starting a program of vigorous physical activity.

For those over 35, it's wise to include a cardiogram in the pre-exercise exam.

- 2) Don't push yourself too far. Stop exercising immediately if you experience extreme fatigue, tightness or pain in the chest, abnormal shortness of breath, lightheadedness or nausea.

In these cases, check with a doctor again about the exercise that you are doing.

Although exercise is recommended on a daily basis, when suffering from a cold or fatigue, discontinue vigorous exercising.

- 3) Let the body warmup before strenuous exercise.

This period of gradual warm-up minimizes muscle and speed up minimizes muscle and joint problems. Five to 10 minutes is usually sufficient to loosen joints, stretch muscles and speed up circulation.

- 4) After exercising, allow the body time to cool down slowly.

During vigorous activity, blood goes to the arms and legs. Muscle movement helps the blood return to the heart.

If the muscular activity is abruptly stopped after vigorous exercise, the return of blood will slow down. By gradually lessening the strenuousness of the activity, the body can return to its normal condition.

- 5) The key to physical fitness is regular daily exercise--not just on weekends.

"Now-and-then" exercise will not help to build and maintain physical fitness. In fact, some experts believe if you can't exercise regularly, you may be better off not to exercise at all. If it is impossible to do daily exercising, exercise at least three to four days a week -- alternating rest days and exercise days.

But, exercising only once a week will usually only provide you with sore muscles.

- Now I may get mad, Californians, those grand people who started the tax revolt, vetoed Proposition 5 which called for no smoking in public places but then said yes to Prop. 3 which will allow their children to be taught by homosexuals. Knowing there were ratifications to this proposition, I still wonder how healthy this is!

- Mary Anderson Hiatt who works for a government office in Austin and is certainly in the minority as far as party affiliation is concerned, said she felt kinda funny with all the gloom around her after Hills defeat. Her Demo friend Kelly Weaver said "aw Mary just hang all your Elephants around your neck and go on".

You will forgive me if I seem to gloat a little bit? After all it's been 105 years! Seriously I was pleased with the voter turnout---especially with the conservative mandate, be it Democrat or Republican.
