'God Has Taken Heroes Of Bataan Unto Himself,' Says MacArthur

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Corregidor's big guns still blazed defiance in Manila bay today, and the Japanese reported at 6:50 a. m. eastern war time, that hostilities were continuing on Bataan peninsula itself, despite previous assertions that Lieut.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's heroic defenders had "begged" for a truce.

Domel, the Japanese news agency, said Japanese vanguards were pressing forward against American and Filipino positions on the peninsula and had captured the town of Limay and Lamao on the east coast, capturing several thousand prisoners.

At his United Nations headquarters in Australia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the hero of Bataan's first successful defense, commented:

"The Bataan force went out as it would have wished—fighting to the end of its flickering, forlorn hope.

"No army has ever done so much with so little.

"To the weeping mothers of its dead, I can only say that the sacrifice halo of Jesus of Nazareth has descended upon their sons and that God has taken them unto himself.

Thus Gen. MacArthur signaled the end of the long, desperate struggle against hopeless odds as Bataan's surviving defenders continued the last stages of resistance.

Coincidentally, the news that Gen. Wainwright's men still battled grimly on—24 hours after the war department in Washington conceded the probability that they had been overcome—Japan claimed heavy new blows against British sea power in the Indian ocean.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters asserted that Japanese naval and air forces yesterday sank the 10,850-ton British aircraft carrier Hermes, two cruisers, a destroyer, a patrol vessel and six other ships in an attack off Trincomalee.

Trincomalee is a big British naval station on Ceylon just off the southern tip of India.

The Japanese communique said another British cruiser was heavily damaged and 52 planes destroyed.

In London, the admiralty acknowledged that the aircraft carrier Hermes had been sunk in an aerial attack 10 miles off Ceylon but declared that the Japanese claim of having sunk two additional cruisers "is known to be quite untrue."

A Tokyo communique yesterday said two other British cruisers, identified in London as the 10,000-ton Cornwall and the 9,975-ton Dorsetshire, had been sent to the bottom in the Indian ocean. This claim the British confirmed, but Allied Indian planes were declared to have straddled a Japanese aircraft carrier with high explosives yesterday.

Plains Publishers Convene In Amarillo
Panhandle publishers opened their annual convention today in Amarillo. Registration began at 9:30 this morning at the Herring hotel.

Tex DeWeese of Pampa, head of the Panhandle Press association, delivered the president's annual address at the opening of the convention.

A barbecue at noon, speeches by Maj. William B. Ruggles, public relations officer from Camp Barkeley; Sen. Marshall Formby, publisher of The Plainview Tribune; and Norton Dowd, Western Newspaper Union manager from Wichita, Kans., were other parts of the morning program.

Tonight a dinner-dance and floor show will be held at the Herring. Concluding the convention will be the annual News-Globe luncheon at noon tomorrow and the election of officers and committee reports.

Thut And Vantine Champ Minstrel Ticket Sellers

For being "good work horses" as they were dubbed, Charlie Thut and John Vantine, champion ticket sellers for the Lions club annual benefit minstrel show, held last month, received their awards at the Lions club weekly luncheon at noon yesterday.

Prizes were circular pieces of cardboard, to which ropes were affixed.

A quiz program, in which "Gas House" Bourland's team was put "on the spot," as the losers, was conducted by Arthur M. Teed.

Concluding the program, Crawford Atkinson, president, had those present stand in silent prayer in tribute to the American forces killed or captured in the fall of Bataan.

Attendance at the luncheon was 59. Guests were Garnet Reeves, Tex DeWeese, Arthur Pullington, Bryan Hooks and Charles B. Hinsey of Amarillo, and O. J. Day of Quanah.

U. S. Making More Airplanes Than Axis

ROYAL OAK, Mich., April 10 (AP)—U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown (D-Mich.) told a Jefferson Day banquet gathering of Democrats last night that the United States "now — not on order, not in six months, but now — is producing more airplanes than Germany, Italy, Japan and all the conquered countries together."

The speaker told his audience he was reminding them of production figures because confidence, not an attitude of defeatism, is the nation's need.

"I greatly deprecate the attitude of some in the administration who think they can spur our workers to greater effort by telling them how much superior the Germans and the Japs are," Sen. Brown said. "It isn't so."

The senator said they, Garand rifle, "which has three times the fire power of any rifle used by enemy powers, is now, today, being produced in such quantities that one can be placed in the hands of every American soldier who is supposed to carry a rifle."

A battleship, two cruisers, 18 destroyers and five submarines have been launched since Pearl Harbor, he added, as well as 112 merchant ships. Merchant ships now are being completed at the rate of two a day, he pointed out.

Ray Boyles Given Medal At A. & M.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Boyles received word today that their son, Ray Boyles, sophomore at Texas A. & M. college, received a medal for being the best drilled and best all-around sophomore in "A" battery of the coast artillery unit at the Easter review and parent-day program Sunday.

The honor carries with it the rank of top sergeant in his junior year, and the rank of captain of his battery in his senior year.

Ray graduated from Pampa High school in 1940. He is a brother of Charlie Boyles, ace Harvester full-back.

Isolationists Lost Bataan, Says Rayburn

SULPHUR SPRINGS, April 10 (AP)—Rep. Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house, said last night the United States now has six times as many soldiers on the battle fronts — after four months as General Pershing had after 10 months of the war of 1917-1918, and that production of supplies for these troops was running ahead of schedule.

But despite this bright picture, the Texas Democrat told a unity rally, he did not expect the end of the war in 1942.

He sketched this outline of arms production: More than 3,000 planes are pouring out of factories monthly, will be met by summer.

Production goals in shipping undoubtedly will be met by summer early fall, and Garand rifles are rolling out of factories by the thousands. Enough of the latter are available to equip every soldier who needs one.

Rayburn blamed isolationists for reverses in the Pacific, recalling that as majority leader three years ago, "I lost the first battle of Guam."

"The isolationists joined forces to wreck the president's and the navy's plan to fortify Guam, when they said we could not afford to offend the friendly Japanese. They defeated this measure in 1939 by 60 votes, and three years later we lost that priceless, strategic island to an unscrupulous foe. If we could not fortify Guam, and held Guam and Wake islands, we could have sent bombers to Bataan to aid the matchless MacArthur and his gallant men."

Lack of unity and confidence have hampered the war effort, Rayburn said, costing the nation precious time and valuable ground. The former cannot be regained, but the ground can be re-won, he assured the nation.

Rayburn said he favored a 48-hour week in war industries, without overtime.

"That will come. There must be no strikes, no lockouts, no stoppages. . . this is no time for capital to be greedy and labor to be unreasonable. On March 7, there were 100 men out of strikes in war industries. That was just 100 too many."

"Some speakers and writers and some others, unwittingly I trust, have endeavored to create the impression that our war effort has been fully supported by our country's efforts. Let the President of the United States face at his desk that roll of the dead every working minute of his day," Rayburn said.

"I do not need to speak of my own country because you Texans know me, but I would call your attention to the fact that this was directed at the commander-in-chief of the United States army, a President who has four sons in our combat units."

"It's going to take us all working together to build and build and build and fight and fight and fight," Rayburn said, stressing how vital it is to have unity in the United States today.

You Must Pay Fine For Letting Your Chickens Run Loose

Numerous Pampans are going to find themselves appealing to City Recorder C. E. McGrew unless they keep their chickens in their own yards and their goats tied up, Police Chief Ray Dudley said today.

"There's going to be no warnings issued this year," the chief said. Several Pampans are trying to have victory gardens but they are having little success because neighbors' chickens are scratching up the seeds or eating the green shoots as they break through the ground.

Unless chickens are kept at home, owners will be charged under the city ordinance requiring chickens to be kept penned up. The same goes for goats which have been eating victory gardens, Chief Dudley declared today.

Growth Of Scout Troops Proves Present Need

Do you know that there are now 326 registered Girl Scouts and Scouters in Pampa?

The local council believes these figures prove that the girls of Pampa are vitally interested in the program and citizenship training the Scout plan gives.

In September, 1940, there were no Brownie Scouts in Pampa; at the present time 100 are registered in this group which includes girls between the ages of seven and 10 years. There are now 133 intermediate Scouts, 12 senior Scouts, and 81 adults registered through this council. Sixteen of these adults serve on the council; the others are leaders, assistant leaders, and committee workers.

The 16 troop leaders are as follows:

One, the senior Scouts, who meet with Miss Sallie Cahill, local director; two, Mrs. J. C. Goldston, who will be replaced soon by Mrs. Jim Nation; three, Miss Maxine French, with Mrs. Dick Sullins as assistant; four, Mrs. Sam Anislmair, with Mrs. D. C. Hart as assistant; five, Mrs. D. A. Caldwell; six, Mrs. J. H. Fish, with Mrs. E. E. Etheridge and Mrs. Ruth Swafford as assistants; eight, Miss Mary Louise Smelzer; nine, Mrs. Paul Hawthorne, with Mrs. P. O. Sanders as assistant; 10, Mrs. D. M. Dickey, with Mrs. C. C. Cockerill as assistant; 11, Mrs. O. W. Robinson; 12, Mrs. R. E. Frierson, with Mrs. C. E. Edwards as assistant; 13, Mrs. G. H. Anderson, with Mrs. Lane Garrison as assistant; 14, Mrs. J. W. Robinson; 15, Mrs. Jess Clay; and 16, Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, with Mrs. Laika McClelland as assistant.

A troop of Brownies is now organized through the parochial school with Mrs. Ken Thornton as leader; this troop will be added to the council as soon as it is registered. Each of these leaders has committee members who assist in special activities of the troops.

As special as leaders, meeting places, and assistants can be found, more girls will be added to this group.

The day camp, beginning June 22, the camping and cooking trips planned will round out the summer vacations with fun and practical knowledge.

Smart Strategy Will Win Battle Against Food Waste Today

MARKETING.—Learn the quantities of food your family needs and buy no more. Avoid loading up on perishable vegetables and other foods just because they seem cheap. If that "cheap" food spoils because you cannot use it fast enough, then it becomes extravagant food.

Don't buy a large quantity of eggs at a time unless your family will use them before they deteriorate. Don't buy more meat than can be eaten at one or two meals. Waste lurks in every carelessly planned grocery order.

STORING.—Keep potatoes in a cool, dark place. Wash fresh greens at once, drain, and place in covered container in refrigerator. Keep butter and eggs in refrigerator in covered container. They both absorb odors. Uncovered milk absorbs odors and may spoil. Never store bananas in the refrigerator.

Do not crowd refrigerator. There must be a circulation of air, otherwise it will not be able to do its job. Wash the refrigerator at least once a week. Rinse out with soda and water. That is absolutely necessary to prevent food from spoiling.

COOKING.—If you don't know how to cook the modern way, it will pay to learn. The federal government offers a practical series of booklets on cookery, most of them free. Many state and local community services also offer books on modern cooking. Improperly cooked food is a great source of waste. Unless food is pleasant to eat and nutritious, it will be wasted.

Cook vegetables in very little water and use the water you cook in. It is full of vitamins and minerals. Cook vegetables only a short time. Overcooking destroys vitamins and minerals. Never use soda in vegetables. It destroys many food elements.

All Pampa P-TA Units Represented At District Meet

Thirty-four delegates, including principals of all Pampa schools, attended sessions on the first day of the eighth district conference of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers being held at Panhandle. "The Home Re-Discovered" is the theme of the conference at which Mrs. W. B. LaMaster of Perryton, district president, presided with the seventh vice-president, Mrs. L. G. Byerley of Memphis.

Following the introduction of district officers yesterday morning, the welcome was given by Mrs. J. S. Sparks, president of the Panhandle P-T-A. Mrs. LaMaster, who gave the district president's report, told that the eighth district has 8,400 members with a loss of 118 members from last year; three life memberships were pledged, 65 members took the procedure course in the district, and 80 from Pampa will receive study group certificates.

Mrs. LaMaster pointed out that she has traveled 2,300 miles in the eighth district and has used as her motto the five L's, "Live, Love, Labor, Learn, and Laugh." She recommended that every association adopt that theme for next year.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State college at Canyon, spoke on "The Home," in which he discussed marriage and divorce. A patriotic luncheon in the Methodist church was followed with the afternoon session which was opened when mothersingers of Borger sang two numbers.

Harold L. Nichols, executive director of the Y. M. C. A. of Amarillo, led the discussion on "The Study of Use and Effects of Alcohol and Narcotics." Supt. J. W. Reed of Dumas took part on the panel and appealed to the P-T-A. for legislation against the use of alcohol and narcotics near the army camps.

Highlight of the afternoon session was an address by Dr. Bernice Moore of the University of Texas who spoke on "The Home Faces the Crisis."

The chamber of commerce, and civic clubs of Panhandle served a western dinner in the high school gymnasium for all delegates and guests.

Thursday night's program included a concert by the Panhandle band and the White Deer chorus. Following the introduction of guests, Dr. John F. Mead, president of the Amarillo Junior college, spoke.

Texas' First Newspaper Printed At Galveston On April 11, 100 Years Ago

GALVESTON, April 10 (Wide World)—The mother and daughter of journalism in Texas went to press today with booming special editions to celebrate jointly a centennial which gives this state its first newspaper to reach its hundredth birthday.

"Mother in this unique relationship is the Galveston Daily News, born April 11, 1842, after a night-long labor under a sputtering sperm candle in a one-room, unapainted shack on this Gulf island. Texas was an independent republic then.

Daughter is the Dallas Morning News, which stems from the original Galveston organization.

The Dallas Morning News was established as such in 1885 by the A. H. Belo and Company, then publishers of the Galveston News. The two continued under the same management until 1923, when the Dallas owners sold the Galveston properties to W. L. Moody, Jr., and associates of Galveston.

Thus, the Galveston Daily News is Texas' oldest newspaper, while the Dallas Morning News through its publishing corporation is Texas' oldest business institution. By agreement, the respective claims were established.

The story of the Dallas paper largely revolves around the career and personality of George Bannerman Dealey, who at 82, is at his desk nearly eight hours daily six days a week.

No other man in American journalism records such a span as from October 12, 1874, to the present, more than 67 years of unbroken work. The Dealey motto is: "Stick to the Job."

As an English immigrant boy he got his job on the Galveston News as an office boy.

"How much are you paid?" asked old Willard Richardson in the counting room at Galveston late in 1874, as he stopped the new office boy, whose older brother was already on the staff.

"Three dollars a week, Sir," piped the youngster.

"Never mind, George, some day you will get more," said Richardson, who was long on frugality. Two copies of the News delivered to his home each morning for his wife and himself were smoothed, refolded and returned to the office for resale.

It was hard work and it meant sticking to the job, but in 1926 the office boy grown into man, with his associates, bought the publishing company for $2,725,000.

"Mother and daughter newspapers became separate organizations in 1923, but nothing was lost from the glories of a romantic past. They share alike the honor of recording a hundred years of turbulent history of Texas—to this date—under three of the six flags which have flown over this huge southwestern state.

The publisher who brought out Volume 1, Number 1, of the Galveston News was a roving soldier-printer, Samuel Bangs, whose efforts were fired by the immortal cry, "Remember the Alamo."

The newspaper which came to be known as "The Old Lady of the Sea," rode out and reported storms of wind and water; it flouted blockade; it survived the rigors of reconstruction days after the Civil War because it had established itself in a strong position before the fury of the war between the states. It was the center of recurring fiery political campaigns; it was one of the first newspapers in the land to emphasize its special correspondents; it was a charter member of The Associated Press.

Three years after the birth of the News, the Lone Star flag of Texas was exchanged for the stars and stripes.

The News strongly supported annexation, and later just as warmly battled with Sam Houston, liberator of Texas, on the issue of secession. Houston was against secession; the editor of the News for it. Three years later, the News was published under its third flag, the stars and bars of the Confederacy.

Col. A. H. Belo joined the News in September, 1865, as a bookkeeper. Within the year, he was a partner. Under his influence, personal journalism waned and the News broadened in service to the people of the growing state.

After Bangs founded the paper, it was dominated mainly by Willard Richardson during the Civil War and immediately afterward, then by Col. Belo, whose name still holds in the Dallas corporation, and later by the Dealey family, which now controls the North Texas newspaper, and by the Moody interests at Galveston.

In the days of reconstruction, the News followed Gen. Robert E. Lee's ideas, facing the future calmly and confidently. It urged friendship and cooperation, rather than bitterness. The newspaper prospered despite the times, and seized the opportunity to utilize the telegraph and telephone fully in gathering reports. Col. Belo assisted in the organization of the modern Associated Press, and the News was a charter member.

With the change in ownership in 1923, the policy of the Galveston Daily News also changed. The new owners gave up the idea of keeping it in the "state" paper class. They picked its own geographic field and circulation and editorial effort has since been developed in this field.

In October, 1926, the Galveston News acquired the Tribune and both papers are published by the Moody interests. Louis C. Elbert is vice president and general manager; Silas B. Ragsdale, managing editor; while E. L. Wall handles the editorial page.

The Texas papers exchanged centenary congratulations in letters by G. B. Dealey of Dallas and W. L. Moody, Jr., of Galveston.

"I should like to be among the first to felicitate the Galveston Daily News on its 100th birthday," Dealey wrote.

"The Galveston News was outstanding in the life of Galveston and Texas when I first landed on the island in 1870, a green, 11-year-old youngster fresh from England. "I could not forget it if I would that day in October, 1874, when I got my first job with the News. It was October 12, and I have always had a suspicion of just how Columbus felt on the same date several centuries earlier, when he made the great discovery of his life."

W. L. Moody wrote that it afforded him "exceptional pleasure to congratulate Texas' oldest business in-

Increase In Corn Planting Authorized

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

CHICAGO, April 10 (AP)—Farmers plowing for spring planting in the most crucial sowing season in years today found strong temptation to seed more than they originally had intended.

The high price of hogs, which convert corn into the pork products so urgently needed abroad, is the tempting factor.

Largely because of expanded government buying of pork for lend-lease shipment, hogs have soared in the last few weeks to above 14 cents a pound in Chicago, highest since 1926. Corn, of which there is a plentiful supply, is near 90 cents a bushel, within a few cents of the highest since 1937.

Converted into pork and lard, however, a bushel of corn is estimated by market experts to be worth well over $1, since the relationship between hog and corn values is much more favorable for feeding than usual. Statistics showed it is more profitable to feed corn to hogs than at any time since 1926.

The nation now has a large supply of corn and other feeds but, in recognition of the need for pork and other livestock products, the government has authorized an increase in corn planting this year. However, producers last month indicated they intended to plant only 91,348,000 acres, compared with the goal of from 92,500,000 to 95,000,000 acres authorized by the government.

Acreage last year, the smallest in half a century, totaled 87,164,000 acres and in the 10-year period ending in 1939 it averaged 101,081,000 acres. Production from this year's intended acreage, however, could equal that of the good crops a decade ago considering the much more extensive use of hybrid seed, which returns high yields. Actually, government acreage restrictions on corn planting have been relaxed so that producers could seed more than their allotments.

Texans At War

DALLAS, April 10 (AP)—The United States should carry on the development of foreign countries—without exploiting them—after the war, O. E. Jones of Chicago, vice president of Swift and company, told the Texas Cotton Ginners association.

He advocated the use of wartime collaboration as a basis of trade agreements after the war. These agreements, he said, should be administered in terms of world prosperity and goods should be produced and surplus distributed on a world-wide basis.

By following this policy, he said, the United States could avoid the stigma of imperialism.

Southern Clubs Go To Post Today For Pennant Chase

(By The Associated Press) Southern Association clubs—their rosters made up mostly of rookies and old timers because of the war—go to the post today (weather permitting) for the 1942 pennant chase.

A total of approximately 25,000 fans are expected to see opening day games at Atlanta, Birmingham, Knoxville and Memphis.

Chatanooga sends an all-rookie team—probably the first in the history of the Southern League—against Atlanta's 1941 champions in Atlanta. Lookout Manager Sparky Olson, who'll direct from the bench, will pit big John Miller against Atlanta's right hand ace, Elmer (Fep) Lambert in a game due to begin at 4 p. m. (Eastern War Time). A crowd of 10,000 is expected.

Nashville will depend on Vito Tamulis, former major leaguer, in its opening tilt with Bert Niehoff's Knoxville Smokies in the East Tennessee city, scheduled to start at 3:30 p. m. (Central War Time). Guy Fletcher will hurl for the Smokies before an expected turnout of 3,000.

Memphis will call on Frank Verreia, southpaw ace and 20-game winner last season, when the Chicks face New Orleans in Memphis. The game is scheduled for 3:30 p. m. (Central War Time). Charles Brumlow will pitch for the Pelicans. The teams expect to play before about 6,500 fans.

Little Rock's Joe Callahan will toe the mound against Birmingham when the clubs meet at 4 p. m. (Central War Time) at Birmingham. Either veteran Harry Matuzak or Rookie Charles Kane will get the pitching call from Manager John Riddle of the Barons. A crowd of 5,000 is anticipated.

1942 Plates May Last The Duration

Your 1942 automobile license plates may have to last the duration.

A general limitation order on metallic license plates has been issued by the War Production Board. Effect of this would be that Texas as well as all other states will continue the 1942 motor vehicle license plates in use for an indefinite period.

Although the Texas Highway department has announced that it would cooperate in the move, no definite action has been received here by F. E. Leech, county tax officer, whose department handles motor vehicle registration.

While the 1942 license plates were carefully made, the Texas Highway engineer calls attention to the fact that manufacture of 1942 plates was begun six months prior to Pearl Harbor and the subsequent shortage of materials.

It is believed by the highway department that the 1942 license plates will withstand weather conditions for two years and perhaps longer if the car and truck owners will clean them frequently and apply wax, polish, or other preservative.

Bataan Falls And Bogarts Dine Out

HOLLYWOOD, April 10 (AP)—The Humphrey Bogarts read the headline "Bataan Falls" and decided to dine out last evening. They knew they'd eat poorly, if at all, at home. They have a Filipino houseboy, Yohn Dellomero, who's a human war barometer.

"When the battle of Bataan was going satisfactorily," explained the actor, "our dinner was ready on time, served well, and was good."

"But, interrupted Mrs. Bogart, "when the Bataan defenders were hard pressed, dinner was late, soup was spilled, plates were dropped. Everything went wrong."

"John will be very unhappy—jittery."

So the Bogarts stopped off at a cafe.

Fugitives Captured

BIG SPRING, April 10 (AP)—Dan Jordan, 17, and R. V. Lollis, 15, fugitives from the state reformatory for boys at Gatesville, were captured here last night.

H. Lackey, a sociologist, was taken by the boys as a hostage. He said they visited his office yesterday, pretending to seek help. Jordan, the sociologist declared, pulled a pistol.

The boys offered no resistance when they were caught by Deputy Sheriffs Denver Dunn and Bob Wolfe. Lackey was with them.

CHICAGO GRAIN (By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 10 (AP)—After fluctuating nervously with a non-committal attitude above and below previous closing levels, wheat prices today developed a definite upward trend and finished with small net gains.

A decline of as much as 2 cents in soybeans prices at one stage rattled the grain market, but more stability appeared later when selling had spent itself. Some traders attributed the stronger tone of wheat, after the early decline had carried prices near the four-month low established Monday, to buying attributed to mills and previous short sellers.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/2 higher compared with yesterday's finish. May $1.22 1/2, July $1.25, corn unchanged to 1/2 lower. May 80 1/2, July 80 1/2; oat 1/2 off to 1/2 up; soybeans 1 1/2-1 1/2 lower; rye 1/2-3/4 higher.

Ayres Hopes To Get In Medical Corps

WYETH, Ore., April 10 (AP)—Actor Lew Ayres is as deeply opposed to war as ever, but he has not yet given up hope of serving the army in a non-combatant job.

"I think I could be of some service in the medical corps," Ayres said yesterday, "because I know a little about it. If the army would rather have me there than here, I'd rather be there."

"Here" is a conscientious objector's forest camp at the foot of Mount Hood on the Columbia river. Ayres, who is enacting in real life the film role he portrayed in "All Quiet on the Western Front"—that of a man who hates war—came here last week from Hollywood.

But Brig. Gen. J. O. Donovan, California director of selective service, said at Los Angeles yesterday he had received from Ayres a telegram asking reclassification from conscientious objector to 1A0, which would make him eligible for the medical corps or other non-combat work.

Texas Mother Knows Her Son Will Win Through To The End

(By The Associated Press) No less daring than the pilot of a great flying fortress carrying fire and death to the enemy over the South Pacific is a woman who stays at home in Seguin.

Whenever this pilot has attained another goal in his search for speed, daring and adventure through the years it was his mother who shared his triumph with him. She rode on his first motorcycle, accompanied him in his motorboat and became a regular passenger in his private plane. Later she rode beside him in a flying fortress.

Today Capt. Alvin J. Mueller is far away over the Pacific, holder of the Distinguished Service cross. Mrs. Alvin J. Mueller remains at home, sure he will win through.

"He isn't afraid of anything," Mrs. Mueller says. "The last thing he promised me before he left was that he would be back to take me riding again, and I know he'll be back."

Capt. Mueller has been much in the headlines recently. Winner of the Distinguished Service cross, his latest exploit included the daring protection of a "neighbor," Lt. George Schaezel of New Braunfels. While raiding enemy shipping in the Davao Gulf area, one of Schaezel's engines went out of commission and he was forced to reduce speed greatly. Mueller put his plane between the New Braunfels pilot and the enemy, defending him during the entire attack at 20,000 feet altitude. The planes flew nearly 1,200 miles over the open sea with Mueller's plane badly damaged by machine-gun fire, but they returned safely.

Mrs. Mueller's gray-blue eyes beam when she talks of her son. She's 56, but her hair is still dark brown, and she is tremendously energetic. She can whip up a main pie, Alvin's favorite dessert, in nothing flat.

Alvin was a born dare-devil, she remembers, but she has never worried about him.

"First it was skates," she says. "His father and I bought him his first skates when he was still just a child. He wasn't satisfied to skate like other children do. . . . Not Alvin. He had to do tricks. It was the same way with bicycles and later speedboats. And then he got his first motorcycle. And then he got his first motor car. And then he got his first airplane. And then he got his first flying fortress."

Alvin is 31 now. He bought his first plane in San Antonio 10 years after he had soloed with an instructor. He flew the plane to Seguin, landed in a pasture and walked to his home.

Alvin was married to Miss Roberta Posey of New Braunfels nine years ago. She is now living with her parents in New Braunfels. In 1938 Alvin Mueller, with a transport license, entered Randolph field. Later he was graduated from Kelly. It was last October, in Utah, that he took his mother for a ride in a flying fortress.

forces major sea battle in both the Pacific and Atlantic.

The Axis, he said, counts on victory in these forthcoming battles because of greater air power, fresh crews, and the time factor in American armament production.

"Victory would mean the virtual closing of all the important maritime communications among Russia and the United Nations across the Atlantic, through the Indian ocean, and around the North Cape.

"The Germans learned a lot of lessons from the first World War. Not the least was at Jutland. They believe that the battle there decided the fate of the old German empire, but that the new Jutland, to be fought off Norway, New York, or Calcutta, will defeat the British empire and confine the American war effort to North America."

Axis world strategy, he continued, up to now has been based on the Nazi idea of geopolitics. This held that land power, plus air power, could conquer the sea power of the American and British seapower.

But Nazi reverses in Russia, the constant stream of Allied troops to Australia, the Middle East, and Britain, and the prodigious scale of Allied material aid to Russia, have demonstrated that sea power is necessary adjunct to any plan for world conquest.

4-H Club Girls To Present Program Over Station KPND

Concluding National 4-H club week, members of Gray county girls 4-H clubs will present a radio program over Station KPND, Pampa, at noon tomorrow.

Stress of the nationwide salute to the farm girls of America is being made on their part in growing Victory gardens and the preparation of foods grown from such gardens.

Gray county has 24 girls who have signed cards as victory demonstrators, and four Gold Star girls who rank with the best 100 girls over the state for four separate years, out of a total state-wide membership of 56,000.

Gold Star 4-H girls of Gray are Gwendolyn Coutts, Doris Smith, Bernice Mae Wade, and Lola Prock.

Miss Coutts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Coutts of Hopkins. She is now teaching school at Grandview. In her work as a 4-H member, Miss Coutts did outstanding work in making her own bedroom suite, planting and cultivating the family garden, and as a clothing demonstrator.

In one year alone, Miss Smith canned 400 containers of vegetables and fruits. She is an expert garden demonstrator, and also outstanding in her work in sewing.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Smith, who reside north of Kingsmill, and a graduate of Pampa High school.

Allied Air Force Still Falls Short

By C. YATES-McDANIEL

MELBOURNE, April 10 (AP)—The United States and Australia have taken the offensive in the air but are yet unable to lay the ground-work for a total counter-drive, it was stressed officially today while the Japanese consolidated a further gain in their arc of bases facing this continent.

In actual warfare, seven Japanese bombers, fighter escorted, raided the strategic New Guinea harbor of Port Moresby for the 25th time and were believed to have lost at least one bomber.

The first reports of the 20-minute raid mentioned no damage or casualties. The attackers once more encountered Allied interceptor planes. Defending airmen pitched their resistance on a note struck by Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, air chief and deputy commander under General Douglas MacArthur in the southwest Pacific.

"We've taken the offensive against the Japanese in the air and we'll continue to increase it."

Moderating any hope that such air initiative could be broadened into all-out offensive action, by land, sea, and air, Australia's air minister, A. S. Drakeford, declared that despite successes of the air arm, the Allied air strength still falls short of what would be required to lay the basis for total action.

somewhere off the Ceylon coast. Gen. Wainwright authorization to take whatever action he saw fit. In view of the extreme peril of battle exhausted, hopelessly out-numbered defenders.

As an added fillip on nightmare shock to the American and Filipino soldiers, Japanese dispatches said a violent earthquake rocked the whole peninsula during the final stages of the battle, collapsing Filipino huts and starting landslides.

But after asserting that the men of Bataan had "begged for a halt in hostilities after six days of fierce Japanese assault," the Japanese acknowledged that Gen. Wainwright's troops continued to fight today.

Earlier, a Domei dispatch said: "Details of the conditions of surrender are not yet disclosed, nor is it known yet whether the Japanese forces have decided to accept the terms."

Domei also indicated the island stronghold of Corregidor, one of four United States fortresses in Manila bay, was under heavy aerial bombardment.

The news agency said Japanese bombers twice attacked Corregidor yesterday, dropping tons of explosives and setting fires which spread "huge columns of smoke" over Manila bay.

Despite their gallant, last-ditch stand, military observers virtually conceded that the battle of Luzon was over, and speculation immediately arose as to the next target of Japan's far-flung march of conquest.

With Gen. Yamashita's strong forces freed from Philippine operations, Washington quarters studied these possibilities:

- 1. A surprise Japanese attack on Siberia. 2. A reinforced drive into Burma and India. 3. An attempt to finish China. 4. Invasion of Australia. 5. A grand-scale assault on Hawaii.

Most observers predicted Siberia would be next on the list, with the Japanese striking Russia's "back door" in the east in a drive synchronized with the start of Adolf Hitler's long-heralded spring offensive in the west.

13 CHAMPIONSHIP BOUTS ON BOXING CARD HERE TONIGHT

1,500 Fans Expected To See Fights

Usually there is only one boxing champion seen in the ring in a single night, but that will not be the case tonight when 25 champions will take the ring at the Pampa Junior High school gymnasium, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Occasion will be the annual Tournament of Champions between the holders of the north and south divisions of the North Plains School Boxing League.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. All proceeds will go to member schools. Admission will be 30 cents for students, 45 cents for adults, and 60 cents for reserved seats, including general admission. A few reserved seat tickets were still available early this afternoon at Harvester Drug store.

Every boy who will step into the ring will be in perfect physical condition. They know how to take care of themselves while "dishing it out." An estimated 1,500 fans will see the tournament and many will probably be turned away. Overflow crowds saw the tournament last year when it was staged over a three-night period. This year the tournament will be a one-night affair.

One change in the lineup was announced today by President Toby Waggoner of LeFors. Jackie Jackson of LeFors, who lost a hairline decision to Junior Montague of Wellington at 145 pounds, will represent the south half. Coach John Lee of Wellington notified President Waggoner that Montague would be unable to fight. Jackson, therefore, will tackle Langford of Stinnett, one of the classiest fighters in the district.

Pampans are about as excited over the fights as are fans from participating cities. Pampa high school does not have a team in the tournament this year.

There's not a favorite on the card, President Waggoner declared today. Although he has eight boys representing the south, he wouldn't come out and say he had a sure winner.

"Every boy is a champion and picking a winner when a champion meets a champion would be impossible," the league president said. "I have seen every boy fight and they are tops, every one of them."

While LeFors will send eight boys to represent the South, Wellington will have four and Childress one. From the North, Follett will send five fighters, Miami four, Stinnett three, and Canadian one.

Few if any of the boys on the card are defensive fighters which means that father's going to fly. Two-fisted fighters will be far in the majority.

Pairings for the Tournament of Champions follows. South champions named first:

- 65 pounds—Rice, LeFors vs. Howard, Miami.
- 75 pounds—Dunn, LeFors vs. Saragant, Stinnett.
- 85 pounds—Cooper, LeFors vs. Byars, Follett.
- 95 pounds—Clemmons, LeFors vs. Kivlehen, Miami.
- 105 pounds—Smith, Wellington vs. Brooks, Canadian.
- 115 pounds—McLaughlin, LeFors vs. Locke, Miami.
- 125 pounds—Vanlandingham, LeFors vs. Termin, Stinnett.
- 135 pounds—Brewer, Wellington vs. Graham, Miami.
- 145 pounds—Jackson, LeFors vs. Langford, Stinnett.
- 155 pounds—Stinnett, Childress vs. Glasgow, Follett.
- 165 pounds—Watson, Wellington vs. Youck, Follett.
- 175 pounds—Nipper, LeFors vs. Glasgow, Follett.

Baseball Games Will Not Be Interrupted By Air Raids

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR
NEW YORK, April 10—If you're watching a major league baseball game when an air raid comes, don't go away. You'll probably be sitting in the best bomb shelter in the neighborhood, and you might miss part of the game.

Club officials, preparing for their first wartime season in 25 years, agreed today that fans could find no better protection in the event of an enemy raid than the steel and concrete stands.

And in New York, where all three clubs are making extensive plans to care for the customers in such an emergency, an official has decreed that afternoon games should not be interrupted, even by a raid.

"The ball players will be the soldiers in that situation," said Harry M. Price, chief civilian protection adviser of the office of civilian defense. "They must stay right there and take it. If it comes, up to a certain point. The show must go on. Otherwise, it would be like actors rushing off a stage. If they show panic, you can see what might happen."

Here, as well as in some other major league cities, a sticker on the back of your seat will tell you what to do if an air raid warning sounds. If you are to move at all, there will be green and red arrows to direct you to the proper shelter.

Specially-rehearsed air raid wardens will be on hand to take charge and public address systems will be extended to the areas beneath the stands to carry instructions to all. "I've been in baseball 50 years and this is a new experience for me," said President Ed Barrow of the Yankees. "We are printing signs on each seat with the proper directions—sit tight, follow the green line or follow the red line—and we have installed red-painted barrels of water, buckets, bins full of sand and fire extinguishers."

In Yankee Stadium, where no night games are played, 15,000 persons can be sheltered under the bleachers and another 40,000 under the grandstand, Barrow declared.

"They will be protected by concrete three decks deep. Those in the lower stand will remain in their seats, protected by the steel and concrete structure above. Nobody will be permitted to leave the park during a raid."

Five Follett Boys To Box Here Tonight

FOLLETT, April 10—Follett High school will send five boxers to Pampa tonight for the Tournament of Champions. All five are real champions and dope points to several Follett victories.

Heading the Follett delegation will be Maurice "Big Mo" Sisk, 196-pound heavyweight who has had three fights this year and won them all. "Big Mo" won a first round knockout in his home tournament, a second round knockout in a dual meet and a decision over a teammate to win the elimination tournament. He has been boxing for two years. His opponent in the tournament will be Wellington's 269-pound Noah Cudd. But size doesn't mean anything to him, he kayoed Teague, 248 pounds, from Phillips in the second round and Phillips, 220 pounds, from Pampa, in the first.

Two brothers will appear on the Follett team when Kaylor Glasgow, light heavyweight, and Kenneth Glasgow, 155, tackle south champions. Kaylor has won five and lost four bouts this year. Kenneth has been undefeated. He is the boy who defeated Casell Foster, Amarillo Golden Gloves champion.

Dave Youck will again appear in the tournament, fighting at 165 pounds. He has won 19 out of 20 fights, losing only to Kenneth Twigg, former LeFors champion.

Lyle Byard, 85 pounds, will round out the team. He has a record of eight wins and one loss.

Today those great industrial research laboratories have another job. They're working now to protect our freedom and the comfortable way of life that they helped to create.

Hitler's complaint has been that Germany got a raw deal at her worst peace proposals.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart on the same terms."

SO SURE THEY ARE RIGHT All New Dealers are so sure that they are right, they are willing to have a bare majority...

Let's take the advocates of the minimum wage and maximum hour law as an example. The New Dealers and many of the theists are so sure that they can tell every man how long he should work at straight time...

Yet, these people who are so sure of themselves that they are willing to use force to compel others to comply with their will, are so uncertain of the logic and the justice of their contentions...

They are not, in fact, seeking the truth but only seeking to be seen and heard of men. On the other hand, those people who believe in real Christianity and true democracy...

They believe that all people should be permitted to help establish values and that all people have a right to help determine how long a person may work; that is, they do not believe in any minimum wage or any maximum hour law.

Equal freedom publicly analyzed and criticized. So the fruits of the acts of the New Dealers show that they have an exalted opinion of their infallibility.

In this respect, they are similar to Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini. They are so sure they are right, they have such an exalted opinion of their judgment, that they contend in using force that the end justifies the means.

The Francis Avenue Red says that there are some people who hate the President of the United States so much that they had rather see the Japs and Hitler win the war than the Roosevelt policies prevail.

I'd like to explain here that Garnet Reeves had nothing to do with Garnet, Jr's ride in the jeep which led the Army Day parade.

How inadequate such a conception is in interpreting the real facts is shown in this lesson where we find Jesus very definitely associating others with His ministry in organized activity.

PERSONAL CONTACT CHOSEN BY JESUS AS BASIS FOR ORGANIZATION OF CHURCH

Text: Luke 10:1-7, 17, 21-24 By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

This lesson presents an aspect of Jesus and His earthly ministry that is generally overlooked. We want to think of Jesus as a great teacher, preacher, and minister to men in their daily needs, who nevertheless left to others the work of organizing. We stress the fact that Jesus, who has done more than any other not only to determine the spiritual life of mankind but to influence the course of history, never wrote a book although others have recorded His sayings, established an organization, and was the founder of the church only in the sense that He laid the foundations, leaving to His disciples, both the Apostles and those who followed them, the actual work of organization.

How inadequate such a conception is in interpreting the real facts is shown in this lesson where we find Jesus very definitely associating others with His ministry in organized activity. We might think of the Twelve Apostles as a rather unorganized band, accompanying Jesus as He went about teaching and healing, or going upon special missions as He assigned them to certain tasks. But here we have the definite appointment of 70 others and a planned campaign of action, in which Jesus sent them two and two into every city and place where He Himself was planning to go, that they might prepare the way.

We have heard a great deal of late of social planning. Possibly, both in the church and in society, there is too great emphasis upon organization, especially where organization is divorced from life and from specific tasks and goals. But a lesson like this ought to remind us that nothing great or permanent can be accomplished without planning. We see that Jesus was not only pre-eminently as a Teacher and Savior, but that He was also a great strategist, considering carefully just how His words and His ministry could be made most effective.

We recall another passage in Luke 14:28-31, in which Jesus compared the strategy of the kingdom to that of a man intending to build a tower but sitting down and counting the cost, whether he would have sufficient to finish it, and to a king going to make war against another king considering well whether he be able with 10,000 to meet him that cometh against him with 20,000. If our modern democratic nations had shown as careful strategy in their affairs as Jesus showed in His strategy and planning, we would not be in the plight that we are in today.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON WASHINGTON, April 10—The Hon. Kenneth McKellar, bachelor senator from Tennessee, has emerged recently as one of the greatest advocates of government economy in the congress, and maybe there's a reason.

You may recall that last fall there was a great to-do about building Douglas Dam in western Tennessee. Senator McKellar was agitator. His point was that to build Douglas Dam would flood some of the best farm land of the state, cause a lot of farmers to be moved off their acres, and ruin the business of several canning factories.

Senator McKellar proposed that two or three other dams be built on other locations to give the same amount of power for about the same amount of money and at the same time avoid the upset of "pea-canning is usual." He wrote a bill to build "his" dams and he nearly, but not quite, slipped it through as an amendment to other legislation.

But the case for Douglas Dam was well prepared by smart young David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Douglas Dam was presented as a necessary item of national defense. It was shown how the dam could be built economically and quickly as a duplicate of another TVA dam to provide the power needed for increased aluminum production. TVA wanted it. The old OEM wanted it. The president wanted it. Everybody wanted it except Senator McKellar. The senator had to back down and take his licking. Douglas Dam appropriation went through.

Ever since then, the Hon. Kenneth McKellar from Memphis has been a changed man. Never a New Dealer in the narrow sense, he was yet a good party man and he went along with the administration most of the time—particularly the powerful Southern bloc. After the battle for Douglas Dam, however, the distinguished senator from Tennessee began to look through instead of over his spectacles at new appropriation bills. In the manner of a Southern gentleman at his best, he began to rebel. Out some of his pet projects from under him, would they? Well, maybe he could do a little cutting of his own.

He was in an excellent position to wage war. He had completed 30 years in congress, and he knew all the tricks. He didn't have to run for office again until 1947. He was chairman of the senate postoffice committee, which passed on postmaster appointments. He was also chairman of the senate appropriations committee. Carter Glass was chairman, but McKellar did much of the work. And the committee passes on all bills granting money to federal agencies. On top of that, McKellar was named a member of the congressional joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures. Senator Harry F. Byrd was chairman of that committee, but again McKellar was ranking member. Armed with this double-barreled shotgun, Kenneth began blasting.

MEXICAN MASQUERADE

ASIA—EXPLAINED

CHAPTER XV

"RESCUE party of one!" Allan stared at Escobar unbelievably. "Exactly," the colonel of rurales bowed. "Good man! How did you do it?"

"Very easily. I took advantage of the ebb tide to float down here in a small fast launch, its engine still. I guided it to the eastern shore of this island—the side opposite from the guards' quarters—and drew its nose up on the beach unseen and unheard. If you go to your rooms and get the fewest things you need—"

"They were out of the room before he had finished. In a minute, Kay and Allan were back. The Frenchman was not. Escobar looked at his watch and fidgeted.

"The moon is coming up right now," he said, with a grin. "Devil take the fellow, is he packing a trunk? Where is he?"

The answer came with awful clarity. It came in a series of staccato explosions from the eastern shore as a gasoline engine was cranked by Allan's hand. Suddenly, the engine exploded, too, as if in sympathy.

"My launch!" he cried. "That son-of-a-bitch!"

He dashed from the house and sprinted in the direction of the shore, leaving a trail of sulphurous Spanish in his wake. Allan and Kay, speechless from disappointment, followed more slowly. Escobar when they overtook him was standing on the shore looking at a man in a launch. De Fontanelle had slid off the beach and was drifting in a patch of moonlight 50 yards out. He waved to them jauntily.

"So sorry," he called. "It is my duty, you see, to prevent any prisoners from escaping! My sympathy—and good night!"

He put his boat in motion, heading for the main island. Escobar recovered his poise with an effort the others could almost feel.

"So! As you Americans would say, we now have M. de Fontanelle's numeral. Not a very good friend," seniorita, but a member of the Japanese company placed on this island to spy on you."

"I just can't believe it!" said Kay miserably. "He was—he seemed so nice!"

"Nobody is what he seems any more," commented Escobar, playing his favorite theme. "Which reminds me, Senior Steele: I have no wish to pry into your affairs too deeply, but were you by any chance depending on Sun Su to get you out of this—er—dilemma?"

"Well—yes. Frankly, I was." "In that case I have bad news for you. Sun Su's hotel was burned to the ground two nights after you left. Apparently by a gang of bandits who have since vanished. Sun Su himself was shot and killed while fleeing the building."

"Holy cow!" Allan selected a smooth boulder and sat on it, his knees a trifle shaky. "Bandits! Who were they, Escobar?"

"Ah, who shall say? At all events, I'll miss Sun Su. He was just a plain, old-fashioned crook and cutthroat. He was chief of a smuggling ring—probably killed by confederates whom he double-crossed. Also, he was on the payroll of the Japanese fishing company, in just what capacity I don't know."

"It was his job to catch suckers," said Allan, wincing.

SEVERAL things were clear to him now. Sun Su had tipped off the Japs so where they could trap him on a pine-topped hill. Sun Su had similarly betrayed Harry Bishop to the enemy. Sun Su had made no difficulty, naturally, when his good friend Asia had asked him for Allan's belongings. Sun Su had sold himself to certain parties in San Diego as a trustworthy agent—and wouldn't the chief be wild when he learned the truth! Sun Su, in short, had been a consummate, artful crook.

"Your line of communication to the rear would appear to be cut," said Escobar. "Let us hope nothing has happened to mine."

"You recall a certain rough-looking fellow you once observed at my heels?"

"Gosh! You mean—?"

"He was following me, not to make trouble, but to help me if I got into any. Well, I'm in trouble now, and Diego knows it, so I am sure he is carrying out orders I gave him to meet just this emergency."

"Thank goodness!" muttered Allan, and so did Kay. "Colonel, I've a confession to make and an apology. Until now, I've been half suspecting you of—of playing ball with Asia and these Japs! Sorry!"

"You naturally would, judging me by appearance," replied the officer quite cheerfully. "Even some old friends of mine—you met them, senior, the day you arrived in San Sabal—were misled into believing me a traitor to my country; they considered it their patriotic duty to kill me, if possible. I decided then to enlighten them quietly, as I'll now enlighten you and this young lady."

"I am a colonel of the rurales, it is true; but I have also the honor to be a member of the Mexican secret service."

"I've just been suspecting that, too," muttered Allan. "My government's interest was aroused by this Japanese cannery. We feared some infraction of our neutrality. I undertook an investigation—discreet and so indirect that it meant putting myself in a very bad light. I selected the lovely Seniorita Asia for my point of attack. I soon convinced her I was a victim of her charms."

"She certainly has 'em!" muttered Kay, so to veng.

"Yes, indeed! I won her confidence by giving her secret documents from our military files—old ones and valueless, but she has not found that out yet. I established myself so securely in her trust that, finally, only today, I was invited to visit the cannery. In a few days more I think my mission would have been successfully completed. Then I looked over here, saw another charming lady doing tricks with a window shade—and here, alas, I am! In this soap, as you say."

"Tough," commiserated Allan. "I know just how you feel, being in it myself. Say—just who and what is our friend Miss Minor?"

"She is who she claims to be. As for what, I've learned she is an international spy, a sworn, relentless enemy of England, and as big a crook in her own line as the late Sun Su was in his."

"Oh!" gasped Kay. "A spy! Will you—will you shoot her?"

"I suppose we will have to eventually. Why not?" The officer caressed his mustache gently.

"It's simply extraordinary," said Colonel Escobar. It was three days later, in the afternoon, and he was talking with Allan and Kay Sargent in the living room. Kay had Steele's field glasses in her hand. "Let me repeat: You saw De Fontanelle walking the shore of the main island; you saw a boy give him what looked like a cablegram; you saw De Fontanelle open it, read it, and—display elation. I think you said elation?"

"Yes. I could see his face quite plainly through these glasses. He was smiling, and he threw a kiss to heaven. Just why are you surprised, Colonel? He received some good news, I suppose."

"Seniorita. I have a transcript of that cable in my pocket at this moment. It is a message to Pierre de Fontanelle telling him his mother died suddenly last week in Paris. Would you say, either of you, that such news could be a cause for elation?"

Tactical Approach
Lieut. George Earnshaw, the old Athletics' pitcher, wanted to arrange a game between his Jacksonville, Fla., naval air station ball team and MacDill Field at Tampa. A formal request brought no reply so Lieut. Earnshaw wrote to Sergeant Hank Greenberg as follows: "Listen, you big lug, I hear you have a ball club down there. We want a game. I may not have much left but I can strike you out three or four times."

P. S.: The game will be played early in May.

Only three players on the Indiana squad, Red Embree, Steve Gronba, and Jim Hogan, are younger than Manager Lou Boudreau—and all three may be farmed out before the season starts.

Byron Nelson Now Favored At Augusta

By GAYLE TALBOT
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10 (AP)—Struggling along against discouraging rain and distracting war news, entered its second round today with Horton Smith and Paul Runyan, a couple of proficient veterans, leading the field with equal 67's at the first quarter.

Strangely enough, scarcely anybody expected either Smith or Runyan to win the tournament. The favorite, after the wet and bedraggled field of 42 had checked in last night, was Byron Nelson, who shot a 68 on his first round. When Nelson shoots like that at the start and admits, as he did, that he never felt more certain of his game, then it is hard to make any other choice.

Harold "Jug" McSpadden, who played a round with Nelson, was so enthralled by the tall Texan's game that he offered to bet him against the field. The former Open, P. G. A. and Masters' champion, failed to his only one green, said McSpadden, and that was because one of his drives came to rest on a rock. "When he's hitting the ball like he is now, he's unbeatable," McSpadden added.

Smith and Runyan, however, deserve full credit for great rounds under difficult conditions. Five under par on the exacting Augusta National course is eye-bugging golf, even when the sun is shining. Smith in his race from tee to green. Runyan, the little fellow who can't hit a ball very far, was helped a great deal by the fact that the course was very fast for most of his round. Also, he took only 26 putts on the 18 holes, Nelson, by comparison, required 32 putts.

The sensation for some time was Sammy Byrd, the former ball player, who came panting in before the rain began with an elegant 68. Before Smith and Runyan bettered his mark and Nelson tied him, Sammy had time to tell what finally persuaded him to chuck a comfortable baseball career for the uncertainties of money golf.

"I stopped off in Atlanta in the spring of '35 and played a round with Bobby Jones," he recalled, "and Bobby was kind enough to say that I had as good a swing as he ever saw. And then, later that year, Larry MacPhail, for whom I was playing at Cincinnati, said he thought I was a sap if I didn't devote myself to golf. I've never regretted taking his advice. If I had stuck with baseball I would be washed up by this time."

Behind the four bunched leaders and within quick striking distance were Jimmy Demaret and Lawson Little, each with '70 then there were Ed Dudley, Billy Burke and Jim Furrer, the Australian, at '71 Craig Wood, the defending champion, played a round with Bobby's '72 Ben Hogan, the pre-tournament favorite, had a disappointing '73; Sam Snead a '78. Gene Sarazen got in a pack of trouble and listed an 80, highest score of the day.

Wrestling Being Taught Soldiers
GALVESTON, April 10 (AP)—The tall young man with the eschrambled hair, handed the soldier a pistol, then turned his back. "Now," he invited cheerily, "shoot me."

But before the soldier could press the trigger he was disarmed and Paul Boesch, professional wrestler, had demonstrated a group of soldiers at Camp Wallace how handy a little knowledge of good old American catch-as-catch-can might be for a fellow who found himself in a shellhole with a Japanese.

It may be added that the gun wasn't loaded in the first place.

Boesch is one of a dozen or more wrestlers who are teaching, without compensation, self defense to groups of Camp Wallace soldiers ranging from small classes to whole battalions.

Col. C. L. Berry, a wrestling fan, saw in the sport a potentially valuable adjunct to bayonet fighting.

He called on Lieut. Terrell Murrell, camp athletic officer, to familiarize the men with it. Lieut. Murrell in turn called on Corporal Karl Rosenstein, who as Karl Gray is one of the top-ranking Junior heavyweight wrestlers of the nation. Gray invited fellow matmen to help.

Lieut. Murrell said results had been good and was pleased that his camp probably pioneered adoption of wrestling as a means of combat.

Ten Juniors, Four Seniors Are Chosen As National Honor Society Members For 1942

Group Chosen From 87 Eligible Students By School Faculty

Fourteen National Honor Society members for 1942 were chosen last Tuesday at a meeting of the faculty. The ten juniors elected are Margaret Ellen Burton, Dorace Jean Caldwell, Charles Erickson, Anne James, Mary Gurley, John Tom McCoy, Elizabeth Roberts, Frank Shotwell, Dorothy Stone, and Billy Waters.

Four traits considered: Members of the National Honor Society must qualify in character, high scholarship, service to the school, and qualities of leadership.

New members were selected by the entire faculty from 87 eligible juniors and 21 eligible seniors. Cecil Bradford is president of the society, Philip Silkott is vice-president, and L. J. Hatter is secretary.

Sleepiness Makes Appearance Along With Spring Season

If the average Pampa High student were asked what he liked to do when April rolled around, the answer would probably be "just sleep." When the grass begins to "green up" again, and the trees and tulips bud out, nearly everyone just can't overcome inertia.

When students fall asleep in history class, and daydream in English, they are not to blame these days. How can they study when the disease of spring is upon them?

The hungry, sleepy days of Pampa are now here. Everyone would like to do as the bear does—eat, then find some cool, dark cave and sleep.

These are Neely Joe Ellis and Louisa Baxter, both sophomores of room 202. Two other students whose names were omitted from the Honor roll are Aubrey Pollock and Joe Hernandez.

Correction: Four students' names were omitted from the second six weeks Honor roll. Two of those students made five grades above 90.

700 Hearts Go Back To Berkeley With 45th: The Nickel Serenade brought back many memories to the soldiers as they dropped "slugs" one by one into the juke box.

Hicks Is New Member: Dr. H. H. Hicks, local dentist, was elected to the position of school board member last Saturday to succeed C. P. Buckler.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

The girls' badminton tournament will close next week. Next Tuesday in the sophomore division rooms 102 and 100, and 209 and 201 will meet. Junior-senior games, scheduled for Tuesday are 203-204, and 104-103.

Sophomore games next Wednesday will be 101-100, and 201-216. Rooms 206 and 109 will play in the senior division on Wednesday.

Games on Thursday will be 301-216 and 201-101 in the sophomore division. 104-105 in the junior, and 106-109 in the senior.

Next intramural contests will be softball and archery. A division for girls who have not participated in previous tournaments will be made in the archery tournament.

There will be an important coaches meeting on Tuesday, April 14.

One-Act Drama, "Undercurrent," Wins Local Meet

April 17 Is Date Set For District Meet

After having won the local one-act play contest from Junior High school members at the one act play "Undercurrent" have been working almost every night polishing dialects and actions. The local contest, which was held last Thursday between the Junior High and High schools, was judged by Kenneth Carman.

The district contest will be held here at 1 o'clock, April 17, in the Junior High auditorium. Cities who will participate in this contest are Borger, White Deer, Phillips, Perryton, and Pampa.

As the plays are to be given in Pampa, Robert Ratcliffe, speech instructor, stated that it would be necessary for several students to act as crew members in arranging scenery, costuming and other jobs.

The play, "Undercurrent," will be given Wednesday for the high school assembly and Thursday for the Junior High school. This is to get the cast members used to an audience, Ratcliffe stated.

Members of the cast have been working on their lines and have mastered them but are still working on accents. As a German accent is used by two of the members, it is necessary for a lot of work to be done, the director said.

Tuberculosis Rate Is Lower In Pampa, School Nurse Finds

At a statewide tuberculosis convention which was held at Austin, April 2-4, Miss Ursula McCarty, Pampa High school nurse, found that Pampa's rate of positive tuberculosis cases is seven per cent lower than the average state rate of 20 per cent.

The convention was held to help the school nurses in their efforts to detect and isolate all active cases of this disease. A professor from Abilene Christian college was the main speaker, Miss McCarty said. She revealed that out of 500 students tested, 10 per cent had positive cases.

Miss McCarty said that 45 in every 100,000 U. S. citizens have active tuberculosis. In Texas the rate is higher with 69 persons in 100,000 having active cases.

Also, she said, that the reason Pampa's rate is lower is because we are farther north and there are less Negroes and Mexicans, among whom the rate is very high. The main symptoms of this degrading disease are loss of appetite, a constantly tired feeling, lack of pep, pains in chest and coughing when a deep breath is taken.

As the plays are to be given in Pampa, Robert Ratcliffe, speech instructor, stated that it would be necessary for several students to act as crew members in arranging scenery, costuming and other jobs.

The play, "Undercurrent," will be given Wednesday for the high school assembly and Thursday for the Junior High school. This is to get the cast members used to an audience, Ratcliffe stated.

Members of the cast have been working on their lines and have mastered them but are still working on accents. As a German accent is used by two of the members, it is necessary for a lot of work to be done, the director said.

Correction: Four students' names were omitted from the second six weeks Honor roll. Two of those students made five grades above 90.

These are Neely Joe Ellis and Louisa Baxter, both sophomores of room 202. Two other students whose names were omitted from the Honor roll are Aubrey Pollock and Joe Hernandez.

Sophomore games next Wednesday will be 101-100, and 201-216. Rooms 206 and 109 will play in the senior division on Wednesday.

Games on Thursday will be 301-216 and 201-101 in the sophomore division. 104-105 in the junior, and 106-109 in the senior.

Next intramural contests will be softball and archery. A division for girls who have not participated in previous tournaments will be made in the archery tournament.

Pampa Students To Make Eight Contest Entries

Waters, Snow Win Declaration

Students from Pampa High school will compete in the District Inter-scholastic contest in Shamrock, April 17 and 18, Principal D. F. Osborne said. Entries will be made in eight different fields.

Lillian Snow, sophomore, and Billy Waters, junior, will enter the district declamation contest. To be the district contestant Lillian defeated other high school girls. They were Mary Nelson and Elaine Carlson, juniors. Billy was the only boy entry.

Entering the district shorthand contest will be Ava Chesher and Sara Bird, juniors, who can take dictation at the rate of 90 words per minute, Mrs. Russell Holloway, shorthand teacher, said.

Girls to enter district debate are Dorothy Stone, junior, and Alyne Osborne, senior. Miss Pearl Garen, debate sponsor, says that the boys will be chosen later from the following: John Tom McCoy, Jack Morehead, and Neal Holden, juniors.

Typing students will be chosen from the following: Wilma Jean Bryan, Frances Deering, juniors, Faye Morehead, sophomore, and Juanita Osborne, junior. The three highest will go to the district meet.

Miss Anne Louise Jones explained that the essay contestants will be chosen from the following: Phyllis Perkins, sophomore, Frances Deering, junior, Mary Bell, junior, Bill Bell, senior, Mary Nelson, junior, Mildred McCrate, sophomore, Scott Rafferty, Dorace Jean Caldwell, Juanita Osborne, Phyllis Davis, Eugenia Phelps, Bob Clabby, juniors, Virginia Lee West, senior, Colleen Bergin, sophomore, and Minnie Belle Williams, junior.

Play Contests To Be In Pampa: One act play contestants will have their district meet in Pampa the 17 instead of in Shamrock, Principal Osborne stated.

In the field of athletics will be tennis. Entering in boys' tennis are Erlan Eller, John Tom McCoy, Philm Erlan, juniors, Jerry Alexander, Bobby Edson, Bobby Curtis, sophomores, John Knox, Marvin Gray, seniors, Joe Bob Zimmerman, junior.

Miss Maxine Richardson, physical education teacher, is in charge of the volleyball team and girls tennis. Coach Prejean will sponsor field and track.

Spelling contestants have not yet begun because of the inability to secure booklets with which to study, Miss Loraine Bruce disclosed.

Cafeteria's Sales Are Largest Last Tuesday: The biggest day for sales in the Pampa High school cafeteria was experienced Tuesday by Mrs. June Anderson, head of the cafeteria.

Twelve new books including the World Almanac arrived Thursday of last week from the McClung company in Chicago, Illinois, librarian Miss Frances Munson said.

Eighteen World Almanacs, 1942, have been purchased with the money students have paid for fines. The following are the new books: "The Duke Decides" (John R. Tunis); "He's in the Navy Now" (Lt. Commander John I. Tuthill, Jr.); "The Shiver" (This is the first unexpurgated and intimate account of Germany in the Second World War. Here is the private, personal journal of a great foreign correspondent, in which he tells the things he saw and experienced during seven years in which Hitler rose to power and conquered most of a continent.)

Other books are "Windswept" (Mary Ellen Chase), "Above Suspicion" (Helen MacInnes), "Inside Latin America" (John Gunther), "Forest Patrol" (Jim Kjelgaard), "How Green Was My Valley" (Richard Llewellyn), "He's in the Army Now" (Captain William H. Baumer, Jr.), "Berlin Diary" (William L. Shirer). This is the first unexpurgated and intimate account of Germany in the Second World War. Here is the private, personal journal of a great foreign correspondent, in which he tells the things he saw and experienced during seven years in which Hitler rose to power and conquered most of a continent.)

Former Editor Leaves: Mickey Rafferty, Little Harvester editor for one year and former Pampa News employee, left Saturday for Junction, Arizona, where he will do field work for a copper mining company.

Mickey was past president of the Panhandle High School Press association. In 1941 he won first place in sports writing at the state press meet and in the Panhandle meet. Mickey graduated from Pampa High at the end of the first semester this year.

Formal Quill And Scroll Banquet To Honor Students And Journalists

Commercial Teacher Gives Suggestions For Seeking Jobs

When commencement time comes rollin' round, many of the seniors will be applying for jobs and undergraduates will seek employment for the summer months.

To timid students, Mrs. Russell Holloway, commercial teacher, offers helpful suggestions. The first step, the faculty member believes, is to look at yourself, and to count your assets, such as training, experience, interests and abilities.

Prepare for the interview by studying yourself, and the firm to which you are applying for employment. If actually applying, be sure you have a neat appearance, go alone, and most of all be courteous, Miss Holloway said.

After you have the job, your employer looks at you to find if you follow instructions, and to see if you really get along with others. He notes if you are interested in your work and the firm.

Bowling Becomes Popular High School Fad, Reporter Finds

"Wham!! Oh gee, I got a split." This is a remark that is heard often now. "Yep, you guessed it, the game is bowling."

Pampa High's students seem to follow the American trend by taking up this new fad. The highest scores in Pampa High school belong to E. L. Edmondson, senior, who holds a score of 212 with him with 209, Esther June Mullinax, junior, trails with a score of 146, which is the highest score among the girls, and she is followed closely by Nelle Roach with 140.

Bowling is rapidly becoming America's most popular indoor sport. The object of the game is to knock down the pins. A large ball of a plastic substance is used. If all the pins are knocked down in the first try it is called a "strike," but if the pins are all knocked down in two tries it is called a "spare." In case a "strike" or "spare" is not made one point is given for each pin knocked down. Ten frames constitute a game. A perfect score is 300, made when you get a strike in every frame.

Starnes Is Selected By Hi-Y As Sponsor; New Books Will Be Used For Following Years Says Director

Pampa High school Hi-Y boys will order gold pins this year and may order jackets later on, it was decided at their meeting Tuesday night.

The boys also chose Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of the Harrah Methodist church and Bible instructor in Pampa High, as their sponsor, providing Rev. Starnes is able to accept the position. The present sponsor, Tom Herod, is unable to continue in that position because of pressing school administration work.

Books to be used are "English in Action," I, II, III, and IV, by Tressler; Spanish, "Quinto en Espana," and "Quinto en America," by Williams; general science, "Exploring the World of Science," by Lake; and biology, "Human Affairs," by Richie.

Members of the committee who selected the books are Miss Margaret Jones, head of the High school English department, Mrs. Joe Fischer, biology teacher, Mrs. Jack Stroup, English teacher in Junior High school, Henry Siler, foreign language instructor, Mr. Cabe, and J. Herman Jones, assistant principal of Junior High school.

Girls' Tennis Team Will Go To Amarillo: The newly organized girls' tennis team will go to their first tournament at Amarillo Saturday, said Miss Maxine Richardson, coach.

Amarillo is sponsoring an all "play" day. The high school team has been practicing for the past three weeks. Girls on the tennis team consist of Martha Pierson, Freddie Nell Beckham, Betty Ann Culbertson, Virginia Windsor, Helen Marie Alexander, Jean Chisholm, and Doris Anne Davis.

The volleyball team will also go to Amarillo Saturday. $8,500 Is Estimate Of FFA Stock Value: Eight thousand five hundred dollars is a conservative estimate of the value of stock owned by boys in the Future Farmers of America, Hood Wills, sponsor of the organization, announced this week.

This impressive figure is the total value of 16 sows, 64 fattening hogs about ready for the market, 21 beef cows and calves, 48 steers that average 600 pounds each, 320 hens and 400 fryers ready for market, 10 horses and 50 acres of wheat, Mr. Wills said.

Each boy keeps a careful record of his stock which he keeps at his home. Some calves have been chosen already for stock shows next fall.

Junk Yard Made Of Junior High In Scrap Drive

Have the boys turned the junior high school grounds into a junk yard? No, the gigantic mound of scrap metal massed on the grounds is only the contributions of the Pampa schools to the national scrap metal drive.

Two carloads each weighing 75,000 pounds were the estimation of the total amount gathered by Ed Weise of the International Harvester company.

Governor Coke Stevenson suggested that Texas do her best in this great nation-wide drive. The scrap metal drive here in Pampa included wholehearted participation by Ed Tracer and Jack Hanna of the Pampa News and the International Harvester company, Superintendent L. L. Sone, general chairman of the drive, said.

School individuals who did much in making the Pampa drive a success were Tom Herod, assistant high school principal, and the Hi-Y members, Coach J. C. Prejean, the football boys, and F. F. A. members. School boys sacrificed half of their Friday's holiday to work all morning to make additional contributions to the drive.

All schools worked wholeheartedly in the drive Superintendent Sone said. Schools that contributed were the high school, the junior high school, Sam Houston, Horace Mann, Woodrow Wilson and the Parochial school.

Sam Houston was the winner of the contest held between the ward schools and was awarded an American flag.

The National Defense school for adults directed by Mr. Fred Brown received 6,000 pounds of scrap metal to be used as shop material and the high school shop boys received 2,000 pounds of sheet metal. The rest of the salvage is to be sold to junk dealers in Pampa. The dividends from the junk will be turned over to the Civilian Defense council to be added to their fund in Pampa, Mr. Sone explained.

Junior Class Party Planned For Friday: A junior class party will be held at 8 o'clock, next Friday, April 17, in the high school cafeteria and gymnasium, Mrs. E. L. Norman, head junior class sponsor, said.

Skating in the gymnasium and games in the cafeteria will entertain the students. The cokes machines in the cafeteria will be filled, and cokes and candy may be purchased for refreshments. A meeting of the junior sponsors and class officers will be held to complete plans for the party.

Admission will be 10 cents. New Books Will Be Used For Following Years Says Director: Books to be used are "English in Action," I, II, III, and IV, by Tressler; Spanish, "Quinto en Espana," and "Quinto en America," by Williams; general science, "Exploring the World of Science," by Lake; and biology, "Human Affairs," by Richie.

Two members have been added this semester—Elizabeth Roberts, junior, and John Knox, senior.

Four members of the organization—John Knox, Anne James, Dorace Jean Caldwell, and Elizabeth Roberts—are in the national honor society. Requirements for the society include a high scholastic average, outstanding service, either on the school paper or on the annual, and faculty approval.

High School Debaters To Vie With Miami: A girl and boy debate team from Miami will arrive Sunday afternoon for a practice debate with Alyne Osborne and John Tom McCoy representing Pampa High school, Miss Pearl Garen, debate coach, said Wednesday.

The Miami team will debate the affirmative, and Pampa will debate the negative side of the question which is "Federal Aid for the Equalization of Education in the Secondary Schools." The debate will be held at the high school.

On Friday, April 17, a girls' team and a boys' team will go to the district meet at Shamrock. The two girls will be Alyne Osborne and Dorothy Stone. The boys have not yet been decided, Miss Garen said. Members of the high school debate team will have a practice debate for the junior high school debaters at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in room 201 Miss Pearl Garen, debate sponsor, announced Thursday.

Age-Old Question 'Why Take Geometry?' Answered By Teacher: Students sometimes wonder what good taking plane geometry will do. Such questions as, "Can plane geometry be used in every-day life?" "Does it form a basis for war training?" are asked everyday in Pampa High school.

Mrs. E. L. Norman, teacher of mathematics, said that plane geometry is very useful in every-day life. It gives you appreciation for geometrical designs. Snowflakes, figures in dress material, the way you plan a flower garden, and architecture, are just a few of the things it helps you notice in every-day life, she pointed out.

Taking all the mathematics you can get is the best basis for a knowledge of war training. The main importance of plane geometry is the reasoning and thinking ability acquired from the subject, she said.
