Land Urges Freezing To Halt Arguing

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, advocated today "some form of freezing" labor and employer relationship to "go away with what I call this daily agitation."

Land told the House Naval committee he believed open shop agreements, closed shop agreements, and all other agreements between labor and management should be frozen in their present status "for the duration of the war."

That, he added, would be "the simplest, the easiest, and the quickest solution that will be just to labor, to capital, and to the people of the United States."

Land withheld his views on suspension of 40-hour week legislation but said he was "definitely opposed" to double-time pay during the war.

Advocates of restrictive labor legislation, meanwhile, served notice that only an agreement by unions to waive overtime pay for a 48-hour week in war industries would serve their efforts to force a showdown in congress next week on the question.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) paved the way for such a showdown by inviting those of different mind to argue their case if he is successful in bringing before the senate his bill to permit the government to take over strike-bound war plants, freezing working conditions and labor relations in such plants.

Connally predicted a majority of his colleagues would vote to consider the measure when the question comes up next Monday.

"I'm going to tell them if they want a showdown, this is the time to get it," he said. "If we get the bill up, then we can thresh out the whole labor question."

Senator Lee (D-Okla.), who has been in the vanguard of those urging suspension of the 40-hour week law, said he would welcome settlement of the issue through a voluntary agreement between labor and management. He said, however, that nothing short of such an accomplishment would satisfy him and others of like views.

Administration leaders have been reported seeking such an agreement and Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) predicted that an understanding might be reached this week.

Sailor Injured At Pearl Harbor, Brother Killed

Seaman First Class Donald Martin of Twisp Falls, Idaho, who accompanied the body of Apprentice Seaman James F. Crow, Jr., of Skellytown here today, was wounded when the Japs made their sneak attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, last year and his brother, William A. Martin, was killed in the same attack. Both were in the navy air branch.

Martin, who is only 18 years old, had been in Pearl Harbor only 12 days when the attack took place. He said the alert was sounded only three minutes before the first wave of bombers swept over the harbor.

He was struck in the leg by shrapnel during the attack. It wasn't until two days later that he learned that his brother had been killed. On January 31 young Martin left Pearl Harbor for the United States for medical checkup. After his arrival he was asked if he wanted to be honorably discharged from the navy. His answer, without hesitation, was "no."

"I wouldn't leave the navy for anything now," Martin said today. "I'm going back just as soon as I can."

Young Martin was in another ship in the same flight in which Crow was flying when he was killed. He didn't see the crash because he had already come out of a dive and was ahead of the ship in which Crow was flying. Ensign Willard E. Norval of Galesburg, Ill., also killed in the crash, was considered as one of the best flying officers in the squadron, Martin said.

93 Buildings Burn In Kewanee Fire

KEWANEE, Ill., April 13 (AP)—Ninety-three buildings in two square blocks in the heart of Kewanee were destroyed or damaged by a fire which raged for four hours today. Business leaders estimated the damage in Kewanee's most disastrous fire at $1,500,000, but Police Chief George Nelson said the loss might reach $2,000,000. The exact cause of the conflagration was not immediately determined.

Fourteen U. S. navy fliers perished yesterday when two big PB-5A patrol bombers crashed and burned near each other in the Livermore hills.

Reds Warn Japs To Quit 'Blabbering'

(By The Associated Press) In apparently growing conviction that the Red army holds the whiphand on Russia's European front, one of the leading mouthpieces of Russian politics declared sharply today that Japanese "blabbering" about invasion in the Russian east "might damage first of all and most of all, Japan herself."

This, Pravda newspaper organ of the Communist party, oddly observed the first anniversary of the signing of the Japanese-Russian neutrality pact, the basis of the uneasy peace between the two powers and striking in similarity to the Russian-German non-aggression pact which Germany voided by invasion of the Soviet union last June.

Pravda firmly warned Japan to live up to all ramifications of the agreement. "It is necessary," the editorial declared, "that the Japanese military and Fascist cliques who are dizzy on military successes should understand that their blabbering about war and invasion in the north might damage first of all and most of all Japan."

Siberia is north of Japan. The anniversary and the editorial came while the new Japanese ambassador, Naotake Sato, and the new United States ambassador, Admiral William H. Standley, were in Moscow to present their credentials.

How much of Russia's confidence depended on the possibility of a second European front was a question. There have been repeated calls that the Axis thus be diverted to facilitate Russia's position against Germany.

The RAF smashed at Axis arsenals in Germany and Italy during the night. Not a bomber was reported lost on the 1,500-mile round-trip foray against Turin, a munitions-making center of northern Italy, but at least 10 bombers and one fighter were lost in the sweeps to Essen's Krupp works, docks at Le Havre, France, and airdromes in France and the low countries.

The British acknowledged those losses, and the German high command put the cost of the last 24 hours of RAF offensive over Europe at 24-15 downed by day and nine by night.

The German air force increased its pace on the Russian front, in support of light counter-attacks by infantry and tanks in a general attempt to feel out the depth of the Red army's positions. Warm weather and slush prevailed in the principal fighting areas.

British Bombers Raid Arsenals

LONDON, April 13 (AP)—Britain's far-ranging bombers pounded at Axis arsenals in Germany and Italy early today in a bombing offensive designed to smash the equipment of many German divisions before it is able to leave the factories.

The royal arsenal at Turin, where much of Italy's munitions is produced, was reported to have been one of the main targets of the raid against Berlin's Axis partner. It was the first raid on Turin since September and the 18th since Italy entered the war in 1940.

An authoritative source said the attack on Italy was carried out without the loss of a single bomber on the 1,500-mile round trip.

The Krupp works at Essen, Germany, was one of the objectives in the 45th raid on that Ruhr manufacturing city. It was reported.

The Ruhr raid and subsidiary attacks on docks at Le Havre, occupied France, and airdromes in France and the low countries cost the RAF 10 bombers and one fighter, it was said.

There was every indication the British were taking maximum advantage of the spring nights—which now provide about seven hours of darkness—to step up aerial operations fast dealing into the United Nations' first real European offensive of 1942.

The Italian high command reported that "several localities in northern Italy" had been attacked by British planes but said that bombs dropped did not cause any damage.

The German high command reported today that 24 British bombers were destroyed in RAF attacks over Europe which included raids during the night on sections of west and northwest Germany.

Officials Will Explain Sugar Rationing Plan

Your sweet tooth is going to be less sweet soon. Just how this will happen will be explained at a meeting of rationing board officials of the Panhandle to be held at the Potter county courthouse in Amarillo at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

At the meeting state rationing officers and representatives of the Texas department of education will explain the setup.

James B. Massa chairman of the Gray County Rationing board, will head a group from this county who will attend the regional meeting.

Thus far, no further plans have been made for the registration for sugar rationing in Gray county, as the county board is awaiting additional instructions from the state office, and information to be gleaned from Thursday's meeting.

Wholesalers, retailers, including restaurant, institutions, and industrial users of sugar will be registered Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28 and 29.

Consumers will be registered May 4 through May 7. Schools over the county will be registration places and teachers will be registrars.

Persons registering for family units must know things like age, height, color of eyes and hair and names of each person for whom they are registering.

Under present rules, a family unit may have on hand two pounds of sugar per person without being penalized. If a family has more than that, it must be declared, and coupons for the excessive amount will be taken from books. Second ration books will not be issued until all coupons are out of the first book.

Corregidor's Gunners Sink Small Boats

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The war department reported today that Corregidor's gunners sank a number of small Japanese boats and kept enemy air raiders so high over the Philippine island fortress that bomb damage in a series of new raids caused only minor damage.

A communique said the Japanese boats were in the harbor of the fishing village of Mariveles at the tip of the abandoned Bataan peninsula. Several were set afire in addition to those sunk.

Meanwhile, communication between Corregidor and Cebu was cut off for the past 48 hours so Lieutenant General Jonathan Wainwright was unable to report on the efforts to beat off an invasion of the central Philippine island, more than 300 miles south of Corregidor.

The communique reported belatedly the sinking by enemy action of two army freight ships, the Liberty and the Meigs, both of which went down in the Southwest Pacific.

The Liberty was torpedoed twice by an enemy submarine January 11 when 12 miles from the Netherlands Indies island of Bali. No lives were lost. The vessel was beached and 53 crew men and one passenger were rescued by Dutch planes, some being flown to Soerabaja, and others to Bali.

The Meigs was sunk February 19 in a bombing raid on the harbor of Darwin, Australia. The master, Captain F. S. Link, died later of wounds, one crew member was killed and eight were wounded.

Ten raids were made on Corregidor in the past twenty-four hours, the war department said, raising the total to 22 in the last two days.

The communique said there were some casualties but military installations sustained only minor damage.

Artillery assaults were reported last night from both Bataan, which at the closest point is only slightly more than two miles from Corregidor, and Cavite, on the opposite side of Manila Bay. Japanese radio reports said heavy

U. S. Aid May Be Asked By British

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH Associated Press War Editor With at least a fourth of her total strength in battle-ships, perhaps half of her aircraft carriers and formidable contingents of supporting and covering craft, the Japanese imperial fleet has seized effective control of the Bay of Bengal in the war's strongest challenge to the United States and British fleets.

Prime Minister Churchill gravely disclosed in the house of commons today that at least three Japanese battleships, including one of 32,720 tons mounting 16-inch guns, along with five aircraft carriers, a number of light and heavy cruisers and several destroyer flotillas are operating there at the front door to India.

Broadly suggesting a strategy to meet the challenge, with a possible implication of the need for United States naval participation, Churchill said:

"We have the Pacific ocean and the Indian ocean with the Japanese occupying an intermediate position between the two. It is possible to use large forces on one side and small forces on the other, or vice versa."

His statement, covering the Easter day bombing of Colombo and Trincomalee, strong points on Ceylon, and the subsequent sinking of the British aircraft carrier Hermes and the cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall, constituted an indirect admission that the Japanese had won dominance in the Bay of Bengal.

The gravity of this situation, coinciding with Japanese occupation of Bataan peninsula in the Philippines, the all-out attempt to reduce the Corregidor fortress and deeper encroachment on the Burma road to India, was relieved only by the continued offensive showing of Allied aerial defenders of Australia and the sinking of several small Japanese boats in Manila bay.

A war department communique covering reports up to this morning disclosed that shellfire from Corregidor and other ports in the bay had shattered a number of light craft and set fire to several others in Mariveles harbor.

It appeared, although the communique did not so state, that the Japanese might have been preparing for an over water assault on Corregidor.

"There were 10 Japanese air raids on Corregidor during the past 24 hours, making a total of 22 in two days."

Green Bugs Thrive; More Rain Falls

Green bugs in the Top O' Texas area rejoice today for its ideal growing weather for them anytime it is cool and damp.

So far they haven't hit hard in Gray county grain fields but are thick around Groom. A fellow who always takes the easy way, the green bug will move on from wheat fields to anything green, if the wheat proves too tough.

No doubt the green bugs will hold jubilees tonight for the weatherman is offering a tasty dish of more showers this afternoon and tonight, with temperatures about the same as the corresponding afternoon and tonight of Sunday.

Pampa received 66-inch of rain in the past 24 hours. Conway, Fannin, and Canyon received heavy showers. Yesterday morning at Canyon it rained so hard motorists could not find their way leading off the paved highway about five miles north of the cottage town.

Maximum temperature in Pampa yesterday was 55, minimum 46; for this afternoon, 52. Precipitation for the month, 1.62-inches; for the year, 4.59-inches.

Crash Victim's Body Arrives Here For Burial

The body of Apprentice Seaman James Ferridon Crow, Jr., 18, arrived in Pampa this morning and funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Central Church of Christ with the Rev. Albert Smith, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Fairview cemetery here under direction of Dukenel-Carmichael Funeral home. Seaman Crow was killed in the crash of a United States Navy dive-bomber near San Diego, Calif., last Monday. Pilot of the plane, who was also killed in the crash, was Ensign Willard E. Norval, 26, of Galesburg, Ill.

Crow's body was accompanied to Pampa by First Class Seaman Donald Martin, member of Crow's squadron, wounded at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, when the Japanese attacked.

Young Crow was born in Sayre, Okla., in 1924. He moved to Skellytown with his parents in 1937, and attended Skellytown schools for three years, playing in the school band. The family later moved to the Drilling and Exploration company's Watkins lease north of Skellytown and Crow attended high school in Berger for two years.

Mussolini Insane, Reporter Cables

LONDON, April 13—A special correspondent of The Daily Mail on the Italian frontier cabled today that Premier Mussolini was found in a state of "complete prostration" when examined by a specialist.

The dispatch said: "During the interview II Duce sobbed bitterly, then burst into hysterical laughter. The specialist said Mussolini had lost all control of himself and no longer was able to manage his affairs as dictator of Italy, which now are reported in a chaotic condition."

WAR BULLETINS

LONDON, April 13 (AP)—Exchange Telegraph reported today from Stockholm that the Russian radio said the Red army crossed the Desna river near Bryansk, virtually completing the encirclement of that city. Bryansk is 200 miles southwest of Moscow.

CHUNGKING, China, April 13 (AP)—The "Flying Tigers" of the American volunteer group raided Japanese air fields at Yungso, eastern Burma, at 3 p. m., yesterday and set on fire three Japanese bombers, Chinese dispatches reported today.

LONDON, April 13 (AP)—Germany has sent hundreds of new planes into action over the eastern front in an effort to wrest air supremacy from the Russians and blast a path for a ground offensive, Russian dispatches reported tonight.

THAT'S COTTON!—Army life in Australia evidently has its moments for Sgt. J. H. (Cotton) Bryant. "That's him," said his father, J. H. Bryant of Lubbock. "That's Cotton." The occasion was his first glimpse of the above photo and the Lubbock man pointed to the man at the extreme right. The picture was among the first original photos to arrive in the United States showing U. S. troops in the continent "down under." It shows two friendly Australian girls walking with Bryant and another soldier along the banks of the Yarra river, with the Princess bridge and the city of Melbourne in the background.

Boys Foil Speed Cops

KANSAS CITY, April 13 (AP)—Patrolmen Art Bennett and Joe Carboneau just sat there and watched the cars creep by—some one put up a sign: "Speed Trap Ahead."

Then the cops, who don't have to show up at court today to prosecute any speeders looked up the boys who installed the sign.

Breakfast Given On Anniversary Of Beta Delta

"Personal Enrichment" was the theme of the program at a breakfast meeting of Beta Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, Saturday morning, at the White Way Drive-In.

Mrs. Dan Busch was in charge of the program and Miss Claudia Everly, Mrs. R. H. Sanford, and Mrs. Lou Roberts participated in a panel discussion of "Health, Grooming, and Leisure."

Mrs. H. B. Landrum, a guest, discussed cancer control, and Miss Josephine Thomas, chairman of the drive for funds to carry on the work of cancer control, assigned workers to various sections of the city.

In commemoration of the eighth anniversary of the organization of Beta Delta chapter, Mrs. J. L. Lester, a charter member, gave a brief history of the chapter and introduced the other charter members present: Mmes. Sam Irwin, John I. Bradley, W. O. Morrow, C. J. Meek, L. K. Stout, and Misses Josephine Thomas and Claudia Everly; past presidents, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Bradley, and Miss Ila Mae Hastings; and the present president, Miss Katherine Simmons.

The program was concluded with the singing of "Texas, My Texas," led by Mrs. O. R. Owens. In the business session, Miss Hastings, Mrs. Irwin, and Mrs. F. E. Leech were appointed as a committee to investigate the possibility of using money to accumulate in the scholarship fund to purchase Victory Bonds, and Mrs. Busch, Mrs. Irwin, and Dr. Lorraine Bruce as a committee to select and endorse a candidate for state office.

Other members present were Mmes. C. P. Buckler, J. D. Beach, S. Pruitt, Leticia Goodrich; and Misses Bernice Larsh, Lorene Winston, Ida Mae Harris, Louise Willis, Pauline Irons, Gladys Holley, and Lurline Bowman.

Mrs. Osborne Gives Demonstration At Wayside HD Club

To keep milk from curdling when combined with tomatoes or tomato juice, pour tomato ingredient into milk, stirring vigorously. Mrs. Lowell Osborne pointed out in demonstrating tomato juice cocktail at a recent meeting of the Wayside Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. Harold Osborne.

"Tomatoes, like citrus fruits, are very rich in vitamin C which is very easily destroyed by heat in the presence of air; therefore, eat foods rich in vitamin C raw part of the time. This vitamin cannot be stored in the body so it must be included every day.

A spiced fruit punch, which requires no sugar, was demonstrated by Mrs. Harold Osborne as follows: 1 pt. grape juice (not sweetened), 3-4 cup lemon juice, 1 1/2 cup water, 1-4 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 18 whole cloves, 4 inches stick cinnamon. Combine all ingredients, heat to the boiling point, boil about two minutes. Serve hot or cold; strain out whole spices and chill to serve.

Tomato Juice Cocktail
1 1/2 cup chilled tomato juice
1-2 cup chilled milk
1-2 cup chipped ice
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
1-2 teaspoon salt
Dash black pepper
Four tomato juice into the milk, stirring vigorously. Add ice and season. Serve immediately in chilled glasses. Yield: four servings.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames J. S. Piqua, W. F. Taylor, L. E. Taylor, W. E. Beaudreart, Wood Osborne, Hall Nelson, Lowell Osborne, Doyle Osborne, S. J. Meador, H. B. Taylor, Jr., J. W. Condo, one guest, Mrs. D. W. Osborne, and the hostess.

The club will meet April 24 in the home of Mrs. W. A. Green.

Try These Tips For Saving Golf Balls

By NEA Service
Recreation is just as important during war as peace. Golfers, because of the rubber shortage and government ban on the manufacture of golf balls, will have to give them special care if their supply is to last. The following tips should prove valuable:

Use old cut-up balls for practice. HEAT SPOOLS RUBBER
Keep golf balls away from steam pipes or any other over-heated places. Avoid leaving them in direct sunlight in hot weather.

Wash sand and grit off the covers, as shown at left. But, avoid hot water and hard scrubbing. Don't allow the balls to remain in the water. Abandon the luxurious idea that a new ball is needed after every round.

FOR UNCLE SAM—2,918 POUNDS IN FIVE HOURS—A troop of Schenectady, N. Y., Girl Scouts, anxious to aid Uncle Sam's war effort, helped launch a drive to collect metal, paper, and miscellaneous junk that can be put to martial use. The

Miss Purvines And Jack Burgan Wed In Ranch Home

PANHANDLE, April 13—Miss Evelyn Purvines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Purvines, who live on a ranch north of Panhandle, became the bride of Jack Burgan, Amarillo, brother of Miss Neva Burgan of Pampa, in an impressive single ring ceremony Easter Sunday.

Nuptial vows were spoken in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. James Todd, Jr., officiating. An improvised altar in front of the fireplace was banked with huckleberry, white snap-dragons, and jonquills.

Mrs. Ralph V. Short, matron of honor, wore a brown sheer crepe dress with dusty pink trimmings and accessories. Her corsage was of pink rose buds.

Virgil McGee served as best man. The bride wore a redingote style dress of hydrangea blue sheer crepe fashioned along princess lines and trimmed with handmade flowers of the same material. Her accessories were brown and she carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

The bride's mother wore black crepe with a gardenia corsage. After the ceremony, an informal reception was held. Coffee and the three-tiered wedding cake were served from a lace-covered table centered with jonquills and snap-dragons flanked with white candles in crystal candelabra. The cake was decorated in yellow and white.

The couple is at home at 905 Parker street in Amarillo. Mrs. Burgan was graduated from Amarillo High school and Amarillo while attending school in Amarillo she made her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Wiley Polard.

Mr. Burgan, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Burgan of Canyon, is associated with Harry Holland.

THIS GROUP OF BRITISH WOMEN waiting in a ration line for eggs may be a forerunner of what the American housewife can expect in this country as scarce items become scarcer.

Housewives: Paste These British Tips On War Rationing In Your Cookbook

BY ROSETTE HARGROVE
LONDON, April 13—The handwriting on the wall of the American home spells out real r-a-t-i-o-n-i-n-g.

You can't buy new autos or tires any more. There's a shortage of sugar, silk, rubber, metals, gasoline. Later it is bound to become worse. Certainly, ration cards are only weeks away.

As over there, the American woman will undoubtedly have to wrestle with the problem of how to make less food do the same job that plenty did before.

You'll need patience—for long waits in stores awaiting your turn; a mathematical mind—to figure out how ounces can do the duty whole pounds used to do, and plenty of philosophy—to squelch a craze for something you just can't have.

BIKES USED FOR SHOPPING
For a typical British example of what you may bump up against, let's go shopping with Mrs. Hyphen-Jones. She's an average middle-class woman here.

She uses a bicycle with a large basket fore and aft, a number of shopping bags, and treasured pieces of wrapping paper. The paper shortage is so severe that even swank West End stores wrap nothing but food.

We'll go to the butcher first. This is easy because she has a choice, usually, of only beef or mutton. Such things as sweetbreads, a calf's liver, kidneys and sausage—are not at all 60 per cent bread—are getting to be very dim memories.

Next comes the grocer—and strict rationing. The grocer can be either a benefactor or a malevolent deity with his special delicacies hidden under his register. If Mrs. Hyphen-Jones has registered for everything with him, he is inclined to be gracious, otherwise no luck.

A recent headache for grocers and housewives alike is the recent rationing of practically all canned foods, including fish, meats and beans.

The fruit department is, like Mother Hubbard's cupboard, pretty bare at the moment. Pears are from 26 cents apiece; grapes $3 a pound; corn, $3 a dozen ears.

FISH ARE UNRATIONED
On the other hand, olives, preserved fruit, jar ginger can still be served around, but they are exorbitantly priced and most people pass them up.

Now, to the fishmonger. Here the outlook is decidedly brighter. Fish is unrationed but prices are controlled for all the more inexpensive kinds. If money is no object, there is plenty of smoked salmon to start with at $3 a pound or oysters at about the same price per dozen.

On the other hand, working-class wives have communal kitchens, free milk for the children, not to mention free medical care and nurseries where the children are looked after and fed during the day.

DISH WASHING TIP
If your fine china has gold or silver engravings, handle it gently while washing; use a soft brush or dish mop and wash one piece at a time; avoid too much or too strong soap suds and use no ammonia. Rinse and dry carefully.

SCHEME FOR SUNLESS ROOM
For a room that is not often flooded with sunlight—such as a bedroom facing north—bright colorings can be used with excellent results. As a suggestion the walls might be of pale apricot, rugs of the shaggy white cotton type or a textured mahogany, window draperies and spread of a deeper apricot tone, nicely tailored, lounge chairs upholstered with sharp, blue-green and white cotton. Pottery lamps of green or white with white shades would blend in beautifully with the entire motif.

Importance Of Milk In Diet Cited By Mrs. Julia Kelley

"Milk tops the list of foods needed for a good daily diet as they are given in the Texas Food Standard. That is Texas' guide to sound nutrition in war-time or peace-time."

Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Gray county home demonstration agent, stated, "Every young person needs a quart a day and many older people need at least a pint a day to keep fit."

"For people who do not like their milk 'straight,' the following suggestions for milk beverages are good as mid-afternoon or mid-morning 'pick-ups' or at meal time:

Chocolate Milk
1 cup milk
1 t. chocolate syrup
Mix or shake thoroughly or beat with egg beater until frothy. Serve very cold or hot.

Chocolate Syrup (Large Supply)
1-2 c. cocoa or 2 squares chocolate
2-3 c. sugar
1 c. hot water
1-4 t. salt
Mix cocoa, sugar and salt. Add hot water and stir. Simmer about 10 minutes. Cool. Store in glass jar in cool place. Use as desired for hot or cold chocolate.

Why Punch
5 cups whey
1 c. sugar
1 c. shredded pineapple
2 lemons
Boil the sugar and 1 cup whey together for five minutes. Cool the mixture, and add the remaining whey, the juice of the lemons and the shredded pineapple. Serve the punch with cracked ice or very cold. Mint may be added. Any fruit juice or fruit may be used instead of the pineapple.

Honey Milk
For each person use 1 teaspoon honey to 1 cup milk. Mix or shake thoroughly. Add 2 tablespoons orange juice or a small amount of lemon juice. Serve very cold.

American Women's Figure Really Isn't So Short And Dumpy

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—The American women's figure is not so short and it's not dumpy, says the Metropolitan Life Insurance company—the contrary "the average stature of American women is showing satisfactory improvement."

The Metropolitan's studious statisticians admitted that they had been investigating the length and breadth of the female figure ever since the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported that the average height of American women was but five feet, three 1/8 inches.

"This relatively low figure creates a false impression in that the measurements were made in stocking feet whereas the commonly quoted average is based on measurements in shoes," said the statisticians.

"They thought that five feet five inches would be a fair way to list the average for the little woman—assuming she wears shoes with a two-inch heel."

"Furthermore, better times are ahead," they predicted.

"While the general today's women may not have figures quite as attractive as the movie stars and professional models who are popularly held up as ideals of the sex, improvement of the average stature until the general average of future generations should come close to that of the glamorized groups," their report stated.

"They thought that the government report was 'biased,' inasmuch as 'the government' sample contained a disproportionate number of such groups of women as those from the cities, the eastern seaboard, and low-income families—in which the average height is distinctly low, as compared with the general population."

Quality Of Germans In Russia Low

KUBYSHEV, Russia, April 13. (AP)—The German air force accelerated its activity today in support of light counterattacks with infantry and tanks as the Germans sought to feel out the depth of the Soviet front.

Warm and slushy weather—probably the warmest thus far this year—prevailed in the fighting areas.

A dispatch from the front said the German aviation arm still was strong, but asserted that Soviet fighters were overtaking the slower Nazi planes and beating them—with machineguns, cannon and ramming.

Three German counterattacks were reported on the Bryansk front south of Moscow, but Soviet reports said they definitely were not a major operation.

Russian sappers, extracting all possible aid from nature, were reported today to have changed the course of floodwaters and washed the Germans out of a fortified village in one of a series of triumphs recorded by Soviet Russia during the weekend.

Just as the waters swept over the Germans in this village, so is a wave of confidence in ultimate triumph sweeping over the Soviet union.

Optimistic Russians give three reasons for their confidence:

1. They believe the expected spring offensive will be their offensive.
2. They are convinced the German army will be smashed on Russian soil this year.
3. If the worst should come, they are prepared to fight on, in the Urals or Siberia.

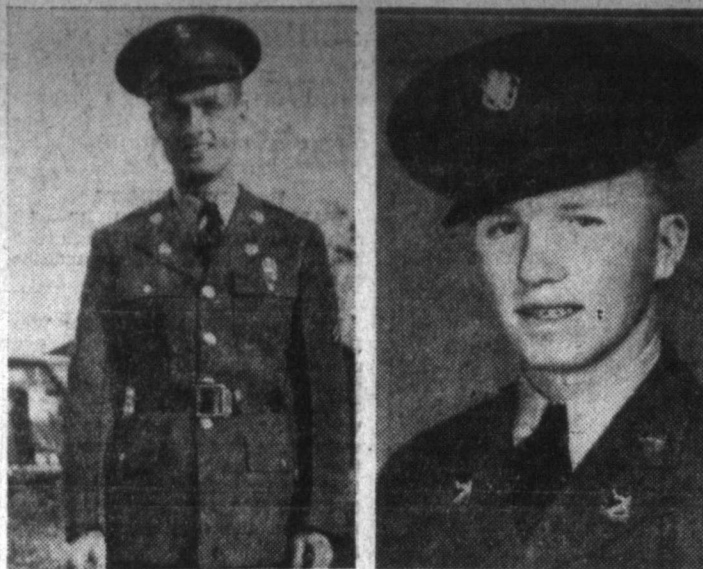

Boosting the first point, a Soviet commissar broadcast from the front that "A German offensive this spring appears to be most unlikely."

He said he based his belief on the statements of German prisoners of war and on the quality of reinforcements the Germans had sent up, consisting mainly of very young, half-trained men or semi-invalids, deaf and one-eyed, or of wounded not quite recovered.

Germany Completed Bulgarian Airdromes

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 13 (AP)—The Germans have completed 50 to 60 new military airports in Bulgaria—some of them only a few minutes flying time from Turkey—and the Nazis now are convinced the neighboring country is satisfactory for use as an advanced air base, a recently arrived skilled observer reported today.

This informant said he did not believe there was any immediate threat to Turkey, however, because of a lack of German planes, crewmen and fuel. He added that training of new Bulgarian pilots and advanced courses for others have been halted by a shortage of gasoline.

One Of Founders Of Dalhart Dies

DALHART, April 13. (AP)—Funeral services were held Sunday for George E. Walker, 75, veteran Rock Island engineer whose experience in early day railroading in Texas and New Mexico included successful bouts with train robbers and flash floods.

Walker helped establish Dalhart in 1901 and was elected one of its first councilmen. For many years he was engineer of the Golden State Limited of the Rock Island.

One of his most poignant memories was of holding up Logan, N. M., in 1904 when three jittery train robbers finally gave up their attempt to crack the express company's strong boxes. Walker had talked them out of using more than three sticks of dynamite at a time on each safe, and neither charge was strong enough to do the job.

Another time he brought the Golden State Limited around a curve downhill toward what ordinarily was a dry wash. A cloud-burst had sent the water flooding down the draw, and the engineer could see no bridge—just a wide expansion of water. He opened the throttle and roared through, praying the bridge was still there. It was—but not for long. Before a section crew could get back to the scene, the trestle was gone.

Walker died at an Amarillo hospital. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Neil of St. Louis; four daughters, Mrs. Edwyn Milroy and Mrs. Irvin Long both of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Earnest Farmer of Waco; and Mrs. Wilson Cowen and her two children, Wilson Walker, 7, and John Elwin, two weeks, of Amarillo.

Safety Conference Opens At Dallas

DALLAS, April 13. (AP)—The fourth annual Texas Safety conference opened here today with addresses by George Clark, managing director of the Texas Safety association; Carl J. Rutland, assistant president and John E. Rogers of Tulsa, a director of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Homer Leonard of McAllen, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, will receive from Mrs. Jack M. Little of Dallas, president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, an award to the house in recognition of its passage of model safety laws.

Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, will present a similar award to Senator A. M. Aiken of Paris, president pro tem of the state senate.

Rutland will present awards to winners of the 1941 Texas traffic safety contest: Dallas for cities of more than 100,000 population; Galveston for cities between 50,000 and 100,000 and Lubbock for cities between 25,000 and 50,000.

First place awards for cities between 10,000 and 25,000 will go to eight cities which ties with no traffic deaths in 1941: Del Rio, Denton, Harlingen, Highland Park, Paris, Sweetwater, Temple and Terrell.

Rutland will receive from L. E. Wallace of Chicago Texas' award for winning second place in the National Traffic Safety contest sponsored by the National Safety council.

High, Wilder On Medical Society's Convention Program

Two Pampa physicians are on the program of the Panhandle Medical society's annual convention tomorrow and Wednesday in Amarillo.

They are Dr. H. L. Wilder and Dr. Clifton E. High.

Dr. Wilder is to speak on "Diseases That Are Amendable to Radiation Therapy," at the medical section of Tuesday's session.

He will also open the discussion of "Treatment of Sterility With the Aid of Roentgen Ray Methods," at the obstetrics and gynecology section, Wednesday afternoon.

When the eye, ear, nose and throat section meets Wednesday forenoon, Dr. High will open the discussion of "Recurrent Corneal Erosions."

Dr. R. M. Bellamy of Pampa is vice-president of the society which is headed by Dr. R. A. Duncan of Amarillo.

Entertainment features of the convention will include luncheons tomorrow and Wednesday and a banquet and dance Tuesday night.

Ladies at the convention will be guests at a luncheon Tuesday at the Rose Bowl Tea room and Wednesday morning at a coffee at the home of Mrs. L. K. Patton, 2813 Hughes, Amarillo.

Pvt. Ernest Arrives At Armored Force Training Center

Pvt. Ernest H. Ernest of 920 E. Campbell, Pampa, has arrived at the armored force training center at Fort Knox, Ky., preparatory to duty with the newest and fastest-moving land force of the army.

For the first six weeks of the 12-week training period, Pvt. Ernest will be taught the fundamentals of soldiering. He will study the organization of the army and armored force; insignia of rank; military courtesy and discipline; care of clothing and equipment; map reading, and many other courses.

During the second six-week period, he may find himself in any one of these companies: special training, light tank, medium tank, scouting and patrolling, marder, anti-tank, machine gun, assault gun, reconnaissance.

Elephants are good swimmers and can breathe while under water, using their trunks like periscopes.

Defense Guard Delighted With Field Maneuver

Rain yesterday delayed but did not cancel the field day maneuver of Company D, Texas Defense Guard.

Tired, but delighted at the exercise that gave them a chance at some real soldiering, the company returned to Pampa shortly after 8 o'clock last night, after hearing the range north of Canyon resound most of Sunday morning and all of the afternoon with the sharp crack of 30 caliber rifles.

Showers here delayed the start until 8 a. m. After learning that it would be possible for three school buses to travel the dirt road from the highway to the range, the start was made.

The buses were delayed for a while in Amarillo, but arrived at the rifle range in the forenoon.

At 1:30 the company halted for a mess, which consisted of a beef stew and coffee, prepared by Mess Sergeant Herbert Vaeth, biscuits, and apples.

Sergeant Vaeth and Corporal C. A. Vaux have been at the range since Saturday night, making preparations for Sunday's meal, hauling out the stove and other kitchen supplies.

Everybody got a chance to shoot, including the bus drivers, battalion medical detachment, officers. In all 75 men took part in the maneuver, which included plenty of work besides rifle shooting.

There were three school buses, and an equal number of private cars. The men from the range and returned by the car of Captain E. J. Dunigan, Jr.

U. S. Sub Survives 45 Depth Charges

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 13 (AP)—What if there are three of them? They're flying the Japanese naval flag, aren't they?

With those words a young American submarine commander recently ordered a direct attack on three enemy destroyers somewhere in the Southwest Pacific.

One destroyer usually is considered a handful for opposition by a submarine, but the American commander tackled three of them and brought his vessel safely to port somewhere in Australia.

The submarine was coming to the surface just at dusk to recharge its batteries and freshen its air when it sighted the enemy destroyer squadron a short distance away.

The submarine could have stopped short of the surface and been undetected, but the commander ordered full speed toward the target.

The submarine fired two torpedoes which barely missed one enemy destroyer, and then crash-dived. While the submarine still was diving the Japanese attacked, dropped 45 depth charges which shook the submarine again and again, threatening to cave in its sides.

During the next nine hours the destroyers circled, losing explosive charges. One extinguished lights in the submarine and did some damage to machinery.

An officer aboard said there never was a sign of panic. The work of repairing the damage went on efficiently, interrupted time and again by explosions.

Finally the machinery was in working order and the submarine, after the longest dive in its record, came to the surface and found the enemy gone.

Red Cross Unable To Aid Americans In Philippines

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—Red Cross officials said tonight that difficulty in securing an international Red Cross delegate in Manila apparently was holding up an agreement permitting it to dispatch supplies to Americans held prisoners by the Japanese in the Philippines.

The Red Cross announced some weeks ago that negotiations for an agreement were under way through the international Red Cross in Geneva.

The international delegate, who must be a citizen or subject of a neutral country, would oversee the distribution of the supplies in the Philippines.

Officials said that if no one was found in Manila who could or would undertake the task arrangements might be made for some suitable persons to go there.

The negotiations, they pointed out, are between the international Red Cross and Japanese authorities.

Commissions In Reserve Offered By U. S. P. H. S.

AUSTIN, April 13.—Supplying the need for an immediate program of expansion in the medical personnel available for the health and emergency medical service, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, today announced that the United States Public Health service is offering reserve commissions to physicians and dentists whose services may be used in care for evacuees in the event of enemy action.

Recruitment of those reserve commissions will be largely from older age groups, from those of minor physical disability, making them ineligible for military service, and from women physicians.

Draftsmen Needed By Civil Service

AUSTIN, April 13.—An unlimited number of draftsmen is needed by the U. S. Civil Service commission, according to Dr. Homer P. Rainey, secretary of Texas president and member of the state committee of the National Civil Service Reform league.

Under a current arrangement, the league is working with the commission to obtain qualified workers in needed government positions.

Information concerning the positions may be obtained at any first or second-class post office or from Thomas D. Sathoff, secretary of the board of civil service examiners, San Antonio air depot, Duncan field, San Antonio.

22-Student School Buys $89.90 Worth Of Victory Stamps

BORGER, April 13.—The Pantex school is doing wholesale business for Uncle Sam's defense work. The largest and most important of these projects is the sale of defense stamps.

For the last nine weeks the stamps sold have amounted to $89.90. With an enrollment of only 22 students, this is an excellent report in view of the fact that adults of the community have bought their bonds and stamps elsewhere.

Certificate Of P-TA Given To Pantex Teacher

NORMA JANE EWING has recently received her certificate of award for the procedure course for parents and teachers, prescribed by the State Congress of Parents and Teachers. This work was done by correspondence as the course was not offered as a group discussion in the Pantex Parent-Teacher unit this year.

Red Cross Asked To Aid Bataan Soldiers

ABILENE, April 13 (AP)—Two fathers of soldiers last reported on Bataan appealed today to the American Red Cross to attempt to deliver medicines and food to Americans trapped there and on Corregidor.

"Please command us to do whatever is needful—and for God's sake make haste," urged a telegram signed by J. D. Perry, Sr., grocer, and Frank Grimes, editor of the Abilene Reporter-News. It was dispatched to Red Cross headquarters at Washington.

"As fathers of sons on Bataan, not knowing whether they are alive or dead," the message continued, "we ask the American Red Cross if immediate arrangements can be made to rush food and medicines to our fighting men now in the hands of the Japanese, either by sea or air."

"You can count on the American people to provide necessary funds and we hope the Red Cross loses no time in trying to get relief to these victims of circumstances—our own flesh and blood."

The sons are Private Jack P. Perry and Capt. Rudyard K. Grimes.

Editor Grimes expressed hope a nationwide movement might be started for relief of the men of Bataan.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

CONQUERED?

Two years ago this month Hitler conquered Norway. Or did he? Many tides have risen in the fjords since that cold dawn when the Nazis and the Quislings drove their already bloody dagger into the backs of the Norwegians who had escaped World War I and somehow believed they'd miss this one too.

Quisling and Hitler thought it was easy. Americans—still a long way from Pearl Harbor—thought it was a little too easy. The British and French thought they might do something about it, got a handful of troops there in time to start getting them out again.

Well, two years have gone by, and how easy does it look to you today, Vidkun Quisling? Even with Hitler's best horror merchants backing you up, you have only 32,000 members in your party—just 1 per cent of Norway's population.

The rest of them seek your life. The day Hitler falls you die. Perhaps sooner. Your treason wasn't even smart.

And how are things for you, Hitler? You have stolen everything you could lay hands on. You have slaughtered hundreds who resisted; thrown thousands into concentration camps. You have brought them all misery. But that misery is a puny thing compared to the will for vengeance that will not be denied.

CONQUERED? Ask Adolf. Americans: can you say you are fighting as well as Norway? If you can answer yes, the war is won, for the power is with you.

And Britain? Have you anything but praise for the Norse sailors and ships that bring you oil and weapons and food that you may continue the fight, for the people in Norway who cheer your bombings against their homeland and pray nightly that you will invade?

And France? Norway makes your cringing collaborators look even worse. If your France had resisted as valiantly as Norway, Hitler today would be a lot farther down the road to defeat.

Two years after their tiny army was beaten, the bravery of these tough Norwegians shines like the northern lights, flashing a signal around the world that Hitler can never win. If that sounds poetic, all right. Poets for centuries will sing of these men, women and children.

CONQUERED? Why the Norwegians have just begun to fight!

THE WAR THAT NEVER ENDS

No official communique was issued. Headline writers almost passed it up, unnoticed. But America has scored an important victory against a hated enemy, an enemy that has struck even at the President.

The good news comes from Dr. C. E. Rosenow, Mayo Foundation bacteriologist who reports that 25 years of research on the cause of infantile paralysis has been rewarded with the scientific proof that the minute, visible streptococcus germs, not an invisible virus, as commonly accepted, are the causative organism.

The doctor now proposes to use an anti-serum, already perfected, and possible skin tests to detect the disease in its earliest stages. He has practical proof in the use of anti-serum on 2000 human patients, with marked mortality reduction.

This major victory, yet to be fully confirmed by subsequent practice, should not go unused. Infantile paralysis needs no bombing planes, no saboteurs to strike at your home. The war of science against this enemy goes on, in time of peace and time of war.

THE NATION'S PRESS

Carbon dioxide, the gas that makes the "pop" in soda pop, is being put to work in many ways in this war. It has already been the means of saving thousands of lives. As fighting continues, it will doubtless save thousands more, for it is being used in pieces of equipment developed by American industries to bring extra safety to the airplane pilots who are flying for the United Nations.

Today these airman wear lifevests that can be inflated instantly with carbon dioxide gas to "keep 'em floating" if they are forced to bail out over water. The vest is a rubberized jacket that is worn uninflated beneath the parachute harness. Attached to it are two tiny carbon dioxide pressure cylinders, each one smaller than a cigar. Two cords from the cylinders dangle at the man's waist. When these cords are pulled, they release the gas into the vest, inflating it instantly. The carbon dioxide expands 450 times its compressed volume and makes the jacket so buoyant that it will keep a 200 pound man afloat.

In addition to this vest other emergency equipment has been perfected for the aid of pilots forced down at sea. Rubber rafts that can be inflated in three or four seconds by a cylinder of carbon dioxide about the size of a quart milk bottle are now in general use. They are fitted out with oars and emergency provisions, and are so sturdy that they will float for days. One type of boat rolls up like a duffel bag, and when dropped from a plane, it inflates automatically on the way down.

Water wings for airplanes are also being used on many fighters today, particularly those that operate from aircraft carriers. In the wings of these planes are compartments with pop-out doors.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." WALT WHITMAN.

A POPULAR SCAPEGOAT

All New Dealers are constantly looking for someone to blame for their lack of accomplishments.

The charges made against the Standard Oil of New Jersey is a shining example. Entirely too many of the public have become indignant because of the statements made, accusing the Standard Oil in this trial before the Congressional committee.

When one side of the report was made public, the Standard Oil was convicted of almost treason. In fact they were accused of treason.

But when the final evidence is made public, it is found that the Standard Oil simply had an agreement to exchange new ideas on scientific subjects with similar concerns in Germany. Under this condition, both companies and the people of the United States and Germany were benefited.

But the New Dealers who want to blame all trouble of all people on the selfishness and the mendacity of big business, seem to think our people would be better off if we would build a wall around this country and not exchange ideas, or that ideas should not be property; that when a man got an idea he should make it public without any reward.

In short, they do not know what really creates wealth and they are envious and covetous of people with ideas.

The policy of corporations exchanging ideas with corporations in other countries is a common practice. I have a close connection with the Electric Furnace Company of America that makes 40 per cent of the electric furnaces in the United States. They have had a working agreement with a firm of similar character in London. They exchange new ideas with each other. The American firm sends a man to England once a year, or the English firm sends a man to America to enlighten each other.

But according to the New Dealers, this is a crime. But every user of automobiles, which are largely made by the progress of the electric furnaces, as well as other users of alloys of great strength, are the beneficiaries of exchanging ideas with firms of other nations.

But now in this war hysteria, New Dealers are looking for a scapegoat. Whatever a big concern does is a crime, no matter how beneficial or how patriotic the heads of these organizations may be. They can do nothing at all to please a New Dealer because a New Dealer believes they should live as well, or nearly as well, as a man has a right to live who has ideas that really benefit mankind.

OVER-TIME PAY DOUBLE STANDARD OF RIGHTNESS

What most people fail to realize is that paying time and a half and double time for working over 40 hours is absolutely a double standard of rightness.

This is true because if the men do not get all they produce for the first 40 hours then they are being robbed. Or when they get all they produce for the first 40 hours, then, when they get time and a half or double time for the same amount of production, they are robbing those who pay the bill—the consumer. The consumer pays all bills.

So, in either case, it is impossible to pay time and a half, without doing an injustice to some group. It is simply a double standard of rightness and when people—whether they be labor unions, preachers or governments—admit of no single standard of rightness, then they are in a precarious position.

And the only way of arriving at a single standard of rightness, according to experience of all history, is to permit all people to be equally free to produce and enjoy on the same terms.

Yes, time and a half for over 40 hours a week is a double standard of rightness. It is a form of robbery. Those who get the real value when they are being paid time and a half or double time, are being overpaid on their straight time. If they get their real value on straight time, then they are robbed when they get time and a half and double time.

We had better return to a single standard of rightness or straight time for all labor. Let men work as little or as long as they want to and be paid the full value of what they produce.

The department carries a deflated rubberized bag, which is connected to a cylinder of carbon dioxide. Located on the top and bottom of the "usage" are two water-actuated valves, which release the gas as soon as they are submerged. The water wings are inflated, pop out of their compartments and help to keep the plane afloat.

THE FINAL TEST

(Indianapolis News)

At this time one of the best features of the democratic way of government is in operation throughout the nation. The reference is to the national debate on the whole problem of the rights, duties and privileges of labor in wartime. There is shouting on one side that labor is using the emergency to further its own program. Labor on its part, accuses management of the same thing. The provision for the 40-hour week should be repealed, some say. High government officials and various army and navy leaders oppose such repeal and suggest instead abandonment of the pay for Sunday and holiday work where that policy prevails. In a problem as complex as that of labor, it is only fair to assume that some justice resides in many of the claims and counter-claims. At the same time, some of the labor leaders seem to make wholly unwarranted outcries.

William Green, Philip Murray and, just this week Daniel Tobin, the president of the Teamsters' Union, have been at great pains to build up a myth about a "conspiracy" to destroy labor standards. The call for revision of labor legislation is no manifestation of a conspiracy, nor is it the beginning of a persecution of labor. It is the spontaneous attitude of all sections of the public which have sensed the injustice as well as the inadvisability of inflating hourly wage earnings in certain key industries while salaried workers, wage earners, and certainly the men in military service enjoy no comparable subsidy through legislation. The justly famed American sense of fairness is coming to the fore in this instance.

The final test, then, of any labor policy which results from the current debate must be in the form of this question: What is its bearing on the winning of the war? Other considerations must assume secondary ranking.

Not infrequently those who are discredited today are the heroes of tomorrow. (Liberty, a magazine of Religious Freedom)

RUMOR: JOHN L. LEWIS MAY BOLT THE C. I. O.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, April 13—Director-Writer Billy Wilder has been having trouble filming a sequence between Ray Milland and the precocious, pig-tailed little girl who's playing the top role in "The Major and the Minor." One reason is that the freckled, wide-eyed youngster is Ginger Rogers.

In the course of her masquerade as a kid of 12, Miss Rogers gets kissed by an adolescent cadet at a school for boys. Major Milland sees the incident, so he calls in the girl and paternally attempts to tell her something about the facts of life. Miss Rogers' attentiveness and naïveté during this lecture were too much for Milland's composure, and he kept breaking up the scene by snickering.

Then they started a shot in which Milland dismisses the girl with the assurance that in five or six years she'll be a very charming young body. The girl is in love with the major by this time, and he leans toward him yearningly as he haltingly remarks that sometimes she seems very wise and beautiful and not a child at all.

TROUBLE BY THE PECK

After a few fumbles on that one, Milland gradually got used to Miss Rogers' breathless proximity. Then a workman began pounding on a pipe under the building. A few minutes later piano music came from an adjoining stage. The director hustled off to squelch the musician, but he didn't say much when he found that it was Irving Berlin. On the next try, Miss Rogers leaned so far toward Milland that she went off balance and stumbled into his arms. That sort of thing wouldn't do at all—not while the major was still trying to believe the girl was only 12.

Wilder and his writing partner, Charles Brackett, had much fun with their story, in which a worldly young woman begins a kid masquerade in order to buy a half-fare railroad ticket, and who then doesn't dare resume her adult character. One reason she doesn't dare is because she takes refuge for a night in the major's stateroom. (That's after she has been seen smoking a cigaret.)

Later in the picture Ginger goes to a dance with one of the young cadets. The guests are students from a nearby girls' school, and they all turn out to be impersonators of Veronica Lake—his little blonds, from 10 to 16, with their hair down over their right eyes.

SNUB BROADWAY

Somebody finally has written a scenario about a bunch of struggling young musicians and entertainers that actually doesn't end with their triumph on Broadway. This one is called "Priorities of 1942," and its war-work theme is what allows it to avoid the frayed theatrical success story.

A dance band is broke and stranded on the coast, and its members get jobs in an airplane factory. While not busy with their welding and riveting, they entertain the swing-shift crew and get up a show. Sure enough, a Broadway producer flies out to sign 'em up, but they turn him down and get back to their far more important little jobs on a bomber production line.

There's another unique feature about this picture. Watching a big scene in which a couple of hundred swing-shifters were dancing to Johnny Johnson's music, I decided this is the first movie in which factory workers haven't been idealized in appearance by the pretty gals and handsome men chosen to impersonate them. The clean-out youngsters in the plane plants are just as good looking as these extras. And they can dance better, too.

People You Know

It's been a week since the Army Day soldiers went back to Camp Barkley, and not only are Filipinos still thinking about those boys in the uniforms but they are still thinking about Pampa. An example is a letter to The News received from one Sgt. Marion Compass of Company F, 189th Infantry, Writes Sgt. Compass in part, "I can truthfully say that we never had such a welcome as you folks gave us. I want these clippings (from The News) so that I may send them to my home town and have my folks read them. . . . Again in closing I must say that Pampa is 'all right.'" Sgt. Compass undoubtedly meant the letter for the populace so it is published here. . . . I didn't meet some fellows in Company F, and they were tops, so if he's in Company F that's all I would want to know about him. He shall have the clippings he wanted.

At the top of my list is the La-Rosa Buds club. They've got something on their minds besides raising cash and going to the dance. They're ready and willing to help out in the war effort and they showed it in the Army Day celebration, the scrap metal drive, and they're glad to work when somebody shows them how they can help out. Boys clubs like that one are worth having around. It is a brother club of the La-Rosa sorority, a girls club. "Buds" means "buddies" and not the pre-natal stage of a blossom. Buddy Simmons is president, J. V. Adams, secretary and treasurer, John Smith, reporter, Charles Hilliard, vice president, Wayne Hilliard, parliamentary. Other members are Bill Rice, Bill Forman, Forrest Vaughn, Melvin Clark, Donald Johnson, Harris Lee Hawkins.

The News is grateful for the correspondent who wrote: "I'm always quoting something I've seen in The Pampa News. Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 13—All right, you want to know what your life is going to be like six months or a year from now. So this is telling you: Mr. Donald Nelson, the big War Production Board man, has just passed out the tip that by June 30 the practically all metal-working plants of this country will be converted to war production. The making of new metal gadgets for civilian consumption will then be out. That means that the United States is going back to about 1900, which was just about the time the steel age got going good.

This hits you right where you live, and in ways that may surprise you. True, you may be riding around in autos, listening to radios, snitching midnight snacks out of mechanical refrigerators, and keeping the little woman happy and occupied at home with electric washing machines and vacuum cleaners. But they'll be old ones—mere memories of the good times that were B.H.—Before Hitler. He is the guy to be blamed for all this, not Mr. Nelson.

In the next one, two, or three months, stockpiles can be built up on all these metal gadgets, but limitations when these stockpiles are used up—that's all there is, there isn't any more till the war's over.

AND WAIT TILL CHRISTMAS

You will begin to feel this through the summer and fall, but by the time you're ready to do your Christmas shopping you'll be limited to toothpicks, chopsticks, wooden nut-bowls, and kindred by-products of the forest monarchs. Who knows—maybe burnt wood wall plaques will come back.

As for the brides of 1943 and the young couples courageous enough to get married and set up housekeeping—try to set up housekeeping—it will be a wooden wedding.

The walls from civilian consumers are likely to be long, loud, and lachrymose for just pictures when there are no more of these new gadgets to brighten your life: When your car or tires wear out, you'll be walking home, unless you can get a street car or bus close to your door. The house you walk in to will be an old one—no new construction will be permitted except on war housing projects, and possibly new chicken coops and woodsheds and porch steps.

The doornail you wipe your feet on won't be metal or rubber. The rack you hang your hat on, the hanger you put your coat on will not be metal. The ashtray and smoking stand you put your snipe in will not be metal. The rack for your tie will not be metal. The soap dish, toothbrush holder, toilet paper holder, bathroom scales, clothes hamper, will not be metal.

The windows you look out of will not have metal frames, the venetian blinds will not be metal, the curtain rod will not be metal.

The kiddies' toys you stumble over will not be metal. The ornamental radiator cover you fall against will not be metal. MODERNE BUT NOT METAL

Out in the kitchen, the pride and joy of the housewife, the shelves of food on the shelves of metal kitchen cabinets. The kitchen table and chair may still be moderne, but they won't be metal. There simply won't be any new electric iron, toaster, boiler, broiler, waffle iron, percolator, or mixer of all which would take metal. No metal vegetable bin or vacuum cleaner, either.

There won't even be any new metal wastebasket to receive the bills you can't pay for the metals things you can't buy.

If you get out in the evening, the street signs will not be metal. There will be no new juke boxes, slot or vending machines, marble games, or outdoor motors in your life. If your nerves need treatment, there will be no new electric vibrators or sun lamps or heating pads.

If you die, the flowers sent you by loving friends cannot stand on new metal stands and—here's the final ironless irony—if you want a metal casket you'll have to confine yourself to one of gold or silver, of which we have too much. Life will be like THAT. WASHINGTON FILE

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst The Indian rejection of Britain's offer of dominion status, in exchange for support in the war effort, certainly is porridge and cream for the Axis bowl, since this lack of coördination in defense of one of the strategically vital bases is a grave threat to the Allied cause.

Pandit Nehru, political leader of the All-India Congress (Nationalist) party, who is said to have been one of a minority of the leaders favoring acceptance of the offer, disclosed that Berlin and Tokyo have been sending "frantic appeals" in an effort to swing the Indians away from Britain. Thus the rejection of the plan gives the unholy brotherhood of Germany and Japan a chance, no matter how unwarranted, to stick another feather in its bonnet and claim a diplomatic success.

Indeed, while the Indians abhor the idea of any foreign overlordship, be it British or Japanese, there still remains a widespread feeling among them as regards these two nations that, as Nehru puts it, "one is really as good or bad as the other." Nehru himself declares that he cannot tolerate the conception, but the fact that it exists most certainly hurts the British position and makes the Axis going easier.

Whether the Japs will seize upon the weakness produced by the British-Indian impingement and attempt an invasion remains to be seen, but the situation is an invitation to them. The Nationalist idea of refraining from acting with the British and of organizing their own opposition to invasion probably is Japanese encouragement to the Japs, because such disorganized and conflicting defense must hamper its own ends.

America sympathizes with the Indian desire for independence, since our own country went through a similar crisis. And one must admire the Indians' courage, however mistaken their idea of what modern warfare means, in standing on their own feet in face of invasion by barbaric hordes; the people of Hindustan never have been afraid to die. Still, I'm afraid that the folk of that still largely primitive country have small idea of what modern warfare means, for conflict since the days of swords has passed them by.

They can scarcely realize that their civilian hosts would be of no avail whatever against mechanized Japanese forces and aerial power. Nehru recognizes it and apparently they may be in the present light.

At the same time we mustn't forget that there are two sides to this age-old quarrel between Britain and Hindustan. Nehru said that a fundamental factor in India's attitude is "distrust or dislike of the British government"—a distrust which causes short sighted and a "slave sentiment."

Perhaps we might better say that many Indians feel they are held in bondage as an inferior race. One of the deep-lying causes of the Nationalist attitude toward Britain, as I know well from study of the situation at first hand, is the Indians' claim that the British never have treated them as equals. There is a very definite racial problem there, and it is well that we should understand it in trying to assay the present crisis.

JOHN L. RANKIN NAMED HEAD COACH OF LEFORS PIRATES

Joe Champion Assistant To New Mentor

LEFORS, April 13.—One of the first duties of the new LeFors school board was to elect a football and basketball head coach to succeed Francis Smith who resigned recently to accept a job at Winters High school. The board named John L. Rankin, assistant coach for the past six years, as head coach and Joe Champion as assistant coach.

Rankin is head of the science department in the high school. He is a graduate of West Texas State college at Canyon where he was an outstanding gridiron performer for four years. He has coached for immediate spring football training. Twelve boys from last year's undefeated and untied team will be available. Champion has been with the LeFors school system for three years. He is a math teacher, having been moved from junior high school where he was also junior high school football coach. He is a graduate of McMurry college at Abilene where he was a football and basketball star.

LeFors will not have a track and field team this year, Coach Rankin has announced.

Two Texans In Golf Play-Off At Augusta

By GAYLE TALBOT
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13 (AP)—Slender Ben Hogan and towering Byron Nelson, two of golf's crack professionals, match their skill today in an 18-hole playoff for the Masters' championship.

The two Texans were deadlocked with 280 strokes apiece at the end of the regulation 72 holes yesterday.

When they tee off at 1:30 p. m. (central war time) they'll be shooting at golfing gold of $1,500 for the winner and $800 for the runner-up.

Nelson was leading Hogan by three strokes when they started yesterday's final round, but he wilted under the pace and wound up with an undistinguished 73. A trapped second shot on the 71st hole cost him clear claim to the title. Hogan, the dark little man who never quits, shot a birdie three on the last hole to gain his 70—two strokes under par—and a tie.

Their respective records for the four rounds were 68-67-72-73, Hogan 73-70-67-70. Paul Runyan, a pint-size like Hogan, scored a fine 71 on his final round for a 283 total and third prize of $600. Fourth was tenacious Sammy Byrd, 285 and $300; and fifth, the veteran Horton Smith, 287 and $400.

The ambassador in an interview, said the failure of the Sir Stafford Cripps mission to India was the failure of a political mission and not a military or strategic setback for Great Britain. He said he felt there was no hope for immediate solution of the Indian problem, but that his majesty's government would continue to hope for better luck in the future.

15,400 See Texas League Openers

DALLAS, April 13. (AP)—Beaumont took a long lead toward winning the Texas league opening day attendance trophy for the second straight year yesterday when 7,700 fans crowded into the park to see the Exporters battle the Houston Buffs in an 18-inning game.

Fort Worth with 3,000 was next, then came San Antonio with 2,500 and Dallas with 2,200.

The weather was threatening at all of the cities except Beaumont, but despite this fact 15,400 saw the four opening games, which was less than 1,000 under last year.

Opening day games competing for the prize will be played at Shreveport, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Houston as follows:

Rain Holds Up Practice Of 15 Possible Oilers

Joe DiMaggio... baseball's king of swing.

The weather was nice in February. The weather was nice in March. Now why can't it be nice in April so that the Pampa Oilers can work out? The weather man and Acting Manager Dick Ratliff and his prospects are definitely at outs and they are making no bones about it.

Besides two from last year's Lamesa team and seven rookies, Manager Ratliff had seven Pampa youngsters and "oldsters" in uniform Saturday. Floyd Hatcher, Glen Coates, Bill Arthur and Tommy Adkins of last year's Junior Oilers were on hand as well as Lloyd Summers and Bob Bailey, former members of the Pampa Oilers, and Henry Stephens, last year with Magnolia Red Horses.

Other hopes were given a jolt yesterday when Ratliff received word that Lefty Huckabee had enlisted in the air corps and will not be available for the duration. He was to have reported Friday. Loss of Huckabee left Ratliff without one pitcher in the fold. However, he has feelers out for several promising chumpers and he has a couple of trades brewing that might bring pitchers here.

While most of the other clubs in the league will depend largely on older players, the Oilers will more than likely come up with a young, hustling club. Only James and Bucknel from last year's Lamesa club are in the fold. Brown, big centerfielder, will report Sunday. He is assistant coach at Sterling City. Rookies include Selheim, pitcher, Dallas; Payne and McLearn, outfielders; Allen and Martin, infielders. All the rookies are under draft age.

DiMaggio's Swing Is Proof Against Long Batting Slump

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 8.—When Joe DiMaggio belted one ball into the left-field bleachers and another clear over them—400 feet or more—in Savannah the other afternoon, some followers of the Yankees expressed relief.

Until he caught up with Class B pitching for the two home runs and a single, DiMaggio was batting .213. The Yankee Clipper had made one hit in his last 17 trips, had been up eight times without a blow.

The least concerned was DiMaggio, however, for the Big Guy knows he can hit. Nor did it make any difference to him that he was facing Sally League pitching. He doesn't care who's pitching. All pitchers look alike to him.

DiMaggio's perfect swing is proof against a protracted slump.

I recall the first time Tris Speaker and Harry Heilmann saw the rhythmic swing of DiMaggio in an American league film previewed in Cleveland. Speaker and Heilmann were fair country hitters, but they were the first to ask the operator to run that part of the picture over again. They raved about the ease with which the great center-fielder hit the ball.

DiMaggio didn't pull punches during streak.

When DiMaggio's average fell below .300 for the first time in his career early last season, the fisherman's son wasn't worried.

"I'm hitting the ball good," he explained. "I can't miss getting my hits soon."

On May 15, DiMaggio launched his amazing all-time record-wrecking consecutive batting streak. From that afternoon until he was stopped at 56 in a night game in Cleveland, July 16, DiMaggio made 91 hits in 223 times at bat for an average of .408.

Proof that he wasn't pulling his punches in an effort to hit safely and continue his skin rests in the fact that he manufactured 15 home runs.

As a matter of fact, DiMaggio hit in 72 out of 73 games, and it took a phenomenal stop by Ken Keltner, the Indian third baseman, to keep him from hitting in 73 straight after the old records of George Harold Sisler and Willie Keeler were erased from the books. He had another streak of 16 games after being checked.

DIMAGGIO ALWAYS HITS BASEBALL THE SAME WAY

When DiMaggio started his string, the New Yorks were in fourth place with 14 won and 14 lost, five and a half games back of the leading Cleveland. When he was halted, the Yankees were out in front by seven games. They went on to prevail by 17.

Secret of DiMaggio's success is that he always hits the ball the same way.

He does not shorten his grip and just try to meet the ball when in a slump, as did Tyrus Raymond Cobb, Frank Frisch and other fine hitters.

"The only thing I make sure of when I fail to hit for a game or two is that the toe of my left foot is pointed directly toward the pitcher," says DiMaggio.

That's Joe DiMaggio's cure for a batting slump.

Make certain your left toe is pointed at the pitcher and swing the same way—a little harder if anything.

Kentucky Derby Has All Earmarks Of Bookmaker's Dream

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, April 13. (AP)—The Kentucky Derby future book came in for a new paint job today, and the picture had all the earmarks of a bookmaker's dream.

Recent running events left six horses all tangled up in the "chalk" and four or five others in the "dog" that quite a few of the boys and girls were inclined to toss a buck or two on them.

The only thing an odds-layer enjoys more than a set-up like that is when a 2 to 5 shot is beaten. Because with 10 candidates for the big May 2 race getting strong support from the cash contributors—some times referred to humorously as the suckers—and only one possible winner, there's no way a bookie can lose unless his bankroll falls through a hole in his pocket.

Request for last week's goings-on boosted Mrs. Payne Woodruff's Devil Drive, William Woodward's Apache and Warren Wright's Sun Again right up front and center with Alsab and Requested, the Florida fellows and Col. Ed Bradley's Bless Me.

At the same time, creditable boys by Valinda Orphan and Hollywood, both from the barn of the western cattlemen, Emerson Woodward; Walter Chrysler's Ramilles, the hard-kick juvenile of 1941; and William J. West's A Bit, who ran like a cat tearing after Apache, were stretched at Jamaica Saturday, have brought out new backing—and with cash.

Bunched at 5 to 1 by some bookmakers in the new line are Alsab, Requested, Apache, and Jamaica; and one-three at Keeneland last week

Exporters Beat Houston 1-0 In 18th

(By The Associated Press)

Beaumont baseball fans—7,700 in number—saw 18 innings for the price of nine yesterday as the Texas league teams beat the summer's campaign.

The Exporters defeated the Houston Buffs 1-0 when, in the 18th inning, J. P. (General) Wood singled to center field, scoring Pitcher Frank Overmire from second base.

Les Mueller hurled 12 fine innings for the Shippers. Jack Creel, the Buff moundman, held the Exporters scoreless. Beal went out for a pinch hitter in the 11th.

Three thousand passed through the turnstiles at Fort Worth to watch Earl Caldwell, last season's 23-game winner, put away the Oklahoma City Indians, 9 to 7.

The Cats were behind to start, the Indians counting three runs in the first on Gill Brack's homer; but Fort Worth caught up with two runs in the second and two in the fourth, and then shovered across five in the fifth.

At Dallas, unceremonious weather held the crowd to 2,200 and Tulsa walloped the Rebels, 4 to 1.

Tulsa scored twice in the seventh and twice more in the eighth, taking a 2-0 lead. The Rebels' only run came in the eighth, scoring Pitcher Jess Landrum, utility outfielder, filling in at second base.

The San Antonio Missions hammered the Shreveport Sports, 7 to 1. Sid Peterson, on the mound for the Rebels, yielded two hits in the first, two in the seventh for a run and one in the ninth.

The San Antonio club, meanwhile, got 10 hits off Brookhurst, Speer and Williamson, including a home run by Mancuso with one on in the fifth.

Today's games: Oklahoma City at Fort Worth, night; Shreveport at San Antonio, night; Tulsa at Dallas, night.

Co-Ed On Men's Team

ASHLAND, Va., April 13. (AP)—Instead of dropping tennis as many colleges did when their male athletes marched off to war, Randolph-Macon drafted a co-ed, Lucy Tyler, to fill out its team.

Saturday Miss Tyler defeated Ed McGraw of Loyola (Baltimore), in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, in an intercollegiate dual meet.

With Whirlaway between 'em, and Bless Me, whose only contribution was a fairly creditable workout last Thursday. Other more generous—if any—odds-layers quoted 5-1 on Alsab. Requested and Apache and 6-1 on the other three.

Placid Sooners Rattled By Aggies' Savage War Ditty

NORMAN, Okla., April 13.—Coach Jack Baer and the University of Oklahoma baseball team aren't surprised that the Texas Aggies are currently leading the Southwest conference.

"They've got a fine club, but they've got a wonderful band," is the way Baer puts it.

The Sooners had been warned about that Texas Aggie band prior to their recent visit to Texas. Ted Lyons, Chicago pitcher who formerly twirled for Baylor university of Waco, once declared, "If you can get by the seventh inning at College Station, you can pitch in the world series."

But the Oklahoma boys weren't overly worried. Sooner baseball teams are known for their coolness in the face of a hot verbal barrage from enemy fans. At Manhattan, Kans., last spring the rabid Kansas Sooners taunted Hal Cumberland, Sooner pitcher in the 10th inning of a close game, and Cumberland replied by striking out the side.

But at College Station the Sooners ran into something new. The Texas Aggie bandmen sat right behind the Oklahoma Sooners' players and noticed, with curiosity, that there were two drummers, but only one snare drum.

The game began and so did the Texas Aggie band. Every time the Sooners were in the field the cadet band struck up a shrill savage ditty called "The Wildcat Song" in which one phrase is played over and over with the slide trombones and trumpets blaring.

One snare drummer, his hands moving so fast they blurred, furnished the drum obligato until com-

Major League Baseball Season Opens Tomorrow

Gloria Nord... whiz on wheels.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—If all the hopes, desires and predictions are filled this year for managers of major league baseball teams, the first divisions of both the circuits are going to be a little crowded.

On the eve of the start of the pennant campaigns, not a single manager could be found today who was willing to admit that his club wasn't tagged for an upper berth.

Half of them, if the weather doesn't interfere, are due for a setback tomorrow when all 16 teams are scheduled to break from the barrier in the first wartime season in 24 years.

The war shared honors with the pennant prospects in comments collected from the pilots.

From 24-year-old Lou Boudreau, who begins this assignment as manager of the Cleveland Indians, to 70-year-old Connie Mack, ready for his 49th season as a skipper and his 42nd with the Philadelphia Athletics, the club leaders agree that baseball is in for a big year in spite of the war.

Most of them believe the conflict will have some effect on the play of the teams, varying as the season progresses and the draft makes further inroads on the personnel, but none expects business at the gates to decline.

League managers, with the exception of Joe McCarthy, think the New York Yankees are the boys to beat.

Connie Mack, who declined to confirm or deny what they're saying about his Athletics, picked the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox to run one-two in the American league but warned that the Chicago White Sox have hidden strength that might put them on top.

McCarthy, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, thinks the season will be a good one and promises "something interesting" from his club, which will be after its sixth American league pennant in seven years.

In the opinion of Billy Southworth, whose St. Louis Cardinals are being picked to battle it out with the Dodgers for the National league flag, the 1942 Cards "are a stronger defensive ball club and have added speed and pitching to an already good pitching staff."

"I am depending on strong defense, good pitching and enough power to keep us in the race," he said.

Tomorrow's schedule of opening games in the major leagues and probable pitchers:

American League
New York at Washington, Bonham vs. Hudson.
Philadelphia at Boston, Marchildon vs. Newsome.
St. Louis at Chicago, Auker or Muncieff vs. Ripney.
Cleveland at Detroit, Bagby vs. Benton.

National League
Brooklyn at New York, Davis vs. Hubbell.
Boston at Philadelphia, Javery vs. Johnson.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, Butcher vs. Walters.
Chicago at St. Louis, Passeau vs. Cooper.

Pirates Nudge Out Browns For Title Of Grapefruit League

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Grapefruit league has been squeezed dry and today the golden yellow ring is awarded to the Pittsburgh Pirates, who nudged the St. Louis Browns out of the spring training title by a percentage margin of 341 to 339.

The bold Buccaneers won 20 and lost seven exhibition games in their continental warmup for the regular National league season while the Browns captured 17 and lost six.

Sunday's exhibition results:
St. Louis (A) 5, St. Louis (N) 4.
Pittsburgh (N) 9, Philadelphia (A) 5.
Chicago (A) 4, Chicago (N) 3.
Washington (A) 4, Philadelphia (N) 2.
Cincinnati (N) 6, Detroit (A) 5.
New York (A) 8, Brooklyn (N) 7.
New York (N) 5, Cleveland (A) cancelled, weather.
