Worse To Come, Arnold Promises After RAF Lays Waste Great City Of Cologne

U. S. General Says 'Our Forces Will Fly Beside' RAF

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH Associated Press War Editor

A superlative aerial campaign to weaken Germany for a knock-out invasion from the west, perhaps this British amid prospects of direct and imminent American aid to multiply the destructive effort.

At least temporary stalemate in a broad sense in battle of Russia on Germany's east, reverses for the United States in China and the uneasy balance between belligerents in the Australian war zone could not dim the glowing offensive spirit among the United Nations.

Reports from the Libyan front, indicating a decisive land victory for the British, fanned this spirit.

Axis armored forces, erstwhile attackers, were said now to have gone on the defensive, trying to escape British entrapment.

There may be a sharp relationship between the turn of warfare on that North African front and the 6,000,000 pounds of bombs dropped by the RAF in the greatest raid on the Rhineland Saturday night.

For a knock-out of Axis forces in Libya might open the way to invasion of Italy—a second European front against Hitler.

And so the offensive spirit glowed among the Allies against Hitlerism though no one could say that dark days were ended.

It burned with the brightness of the incendiary bombs with which more than 1,000 planes touched off the Saturday night holocaust at Cologne, Germany's fifth city, in the greatest air raid operation of history. At least 1,250 planes, counting the bombers supporting aircraft, participated in this mission of destruction to the Rhineland.

Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the United States air forces, in enthusiastic congratulatory to the RAF command, said that "our air forces hope very soon to fly and fight beside them (the RAF) in these decisive blows against our common enemy."

Significantly, Arnold, who is in London with Lieut. Gen. Brentnall Somervell, chief of the United States army supply service, and Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the United States navy bureau of aeronautics, announced he had "practically completed" talks with the British on developing "the maximum impact of our combined air strength."

British air experts said that with American help the operating force of 1,000 bombers might on occasion be tripled.

The British lost 44 planes Saturday night, about a four per cent ratio against the ten per cent figured as the limit under which such an operation could be counted as a success.

The RAF was active again Sunday night over Hitler's domain but action was largely reconnaissance. The Germans said the single British planes carried out "nuisance" raids on western Germany last night and admitted "great damage" from the Saturday night attack but insisted that only "about 70" planes took part.

German planes struck back Sunday night—weakly by comparison. They attacked the cathedral city of Canterbury, southeast England, with about 25 planes. Another two dozen craft were active against other British targets. Canterbury's historic buildings, business areas and homes all suffered from the German bombardment.

By daylight, the RAF took up the cudgels again but there was nothing to indicate that the new fighter-bomber sweep over northern France was more than the customary day-day raid. Several historic buildings were wrecked (the fate of Canterbury cathedral itself was not disclosed), but casualties were reported officially as light.

Repeating to General Arnold's congratulations on the Cologne raid, Air Marshal A. T. Harris, chief of the RAF bomber command, said: "We are supremely confident that with their aid our common enemies—faced with certain devastation of their own land—will have cause to bitterly rue the day when they forced our two countries into war."

Stung by the fury of the attack on the fifth greatest city in all the Reich, German fliers struck back last night at Britain's ancient cathedral town of Canterbury, sending over 25 planes in three waves.

Several historic buildings were wrecked (the fate of Canterbury cathedral itself was not disclosed), but casualties were reported officially as light.

Italian Officers Laugh As Victims Struggle In Water

KEY WEST, Fla., June 1 (AP)—Four officers of a submarine believed Italian laughed from the conning tower of their vessel as they watched members of the crew of a torpedoed Brazilian merchantman struggle in the water near their blasting craft.

Two torpedoes thundered in rapid succession against the ship May 24 near Haiti. Six men died, two of them killed by the explosion and four in the rough sea attempting to reach lifeboats. Forty-five survivors reached land after 29 hours in lifeboats, and were brought to Key West.

The attacking submarine had the head of a long-horned goat painted on its conning tower. In the goat's mouth was a red rose.

"I believe that submarine was Italian," said Chief Engineer Haroldo Nascimento, "Brazil has some submarines that were made by the Italians, and their lines are remarkably similar."

Allies Fly 2000 Miles To Bomb Japs

(By The Associated Press) A parried thrust into Sydney harbor by a force of Japan's midget submarines, successful Allied air raids on Japanese island bases facing Australia and valiant Chinese efforts to check Japan's Chekiang province offensive were reported today as the major developments in the far Pacific war.

Submarines, apparently of the two-man type which the Japanese has used fruitlessly at Pearl Harbor, ran into thundering shellfire and depth charges in the Australian harbor Sunday night and three of them probably were destroyed.

This may have been the entire force, which apparently stole into Sydney from a mothership lying off southeastern Australia. The Japanese succeeded in sinking an old steamer used as a ferry.

The Allied air forces based on Australian soil started large fires and wrecked docks and airdromes at enemy lodgements in Timor, northeastern New Guinea and the Solomon Islands, General MacArthur's headquarters reported.

Just before dawn yesterday Japanese establishments at Lae, New Guinea, were bombed so suddenly that only one fighter got off to oppose the raiders. On Saturday night the Allies struck at the Koppang airdrome on Dutch Timor and the harbor at Dili, capital of the Portuguese half of that Japanese-held island.

On Friday night the Allies made a 2,000-mile roundtrip to Tulagi in the Solomon Islands, setting at

Navy Dead In War Reaches 8,500

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The navy department announced its fourth casualty list of the war today, raising the total of dead, wounded, and missing to more than 8,500 officers and men.

The new list, covering the period April 16 to May 10, inclusive, added the names of 64 dead, 54 wounded, and 2,123 missing.

In the first three casualty lists the navy had reported 2,991 dead, 2,495 missing, and 907 wounded. The latest accounting included the names of some missing or dead who previously had been reported wounded.

Professional Men Working At Night In War Factories

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Sacrificing sleep and leisure time, many of this city's doctors, lawyers, merchants and ministers are working midnight war plant shifts when their regular day's work is finished.

This idea of working long additional hours at a job requiring physical effort sprang spontaneously from the ranks of men who wanted to do "more than I'm already doing to help win this war."

Firms Expected To Donate To USO

Business firms as well as employees will be expected to make donations this year in order to meet the $4,800 USO quota set for Gray county.

Hanna, county chairman, and M. C. Johnson, city chairman, said today, "Last year, it was sufficient for a conscience." It may be that some "consciences" may have to be "stirred up" a little, it was said.

The same solicitors who obtained funds in the business district last year, will work the area again this year. E. C. Allen is chairman of the industrial drive. The residential district will be canvassed next week. Persons can assist the USO committee by contributing before solicitors call upon them.

Each firm which donates and the employees of which give to the USO will be given stickers stating that they are 100 per cent, but it will be necessary for both employees and firms to give in order to get the sticker.

Display Your Flags AUSTIN, June 1 (AP)—Urging Texans to display not only Old Glory but the flags of the United Nations, Governor Coke Stevenson today proclaimed June 3-14 Flag Week in Texas and June 14 as Flag Day.

A former Panhandle resident returned today, this time to supervise grade and drainage work and construction of fence at the new twin-engine bomber training school east of Pampa. He is Joe Poole who resided at Roxanna, White Deer and Borger back in 1926 and 1927.

The huge job of excavating approximately 540,000 yards of dirt for the runways and aprons, laying of about 26,000 feet of pipe, and building eight miles of wire fence is scheduled to get under way Wednesday, Mr. Poole said today upon his arrival in Pampa. He is representing Poole Brothers of Shawnee, Okla., successful bidders for the contract.

The firm was organized by Lee Poole and now operated by Joe and Allen Poole. They were one of the first contracting companies in the Panhandle oil field.

Amount of the contract and completion date were not released.

Other contracts on the airport are expected to be let soon.

Only 15 Car Tires Will Be Allowed

Only 15 passenger car tires will be allowed Gray county motorists by the office of price administration this month.

The June quota for the county, released today by the Gray County War Price and Rationing board, lists the limit on passenger car tires as 46, retreats, 77; trucks and buses, 87 tires, 114 tubes, 152 retreats.

For the week ending Saturday, the board granted permits for the purchase of 24 tires, 40 tubes, retreats 85.

Tire and tube certificates were granted to: E. N. Franklin, Pampa, carbon black operator, two tubes; W. C. Gilmore, Pampa, salesman, one tube; Pampa postoffice, one tire; Vance Rhea, trucking contractor, two tires, two tubes; W. E. Melton, Pampa, farmer, one tire, one tube;

Water Runs Over McClellan Spillway

For the third day, rain came to the Pampa area last night, starting off the new month with a one-hundredths of an inch of precipitation recorded at the U. S. Weather bureau east of Pampa.

While the shower Sunday night was only a sprinkle, the combined rainfall over a wide area put water over the spillway at Lake McClellan 25 miles south of Pampa at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the Lake level was still rising at that time.

In the Oklahoma Panhandle, a cyclone leveled 50 buildings, tore down telegraph and telephone wires, and left hundreds homeless at Guymon, as the aftermath of 60-mile an hour wind, rain and hail. No casualties were reported.

Locally, there was no counterpart of Guymon's storm. Wind velocity here was 21 miles an hour at 9:30 last night, although on the preceding night it had reached 38.

Last night's shower pushed the annual rainfall to 9.11 inches. Forecast for Pampa and vicinity: Continued warm this afternoon and tonight with scattered thunderstorms.

Why Ration Gas In Louisiana? Asks Congressman Hebert

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Representative Hebert (D-La.) said he had told Donald Nelson, WPB chief, that "it will be difficult to explain to the people of my district why they should be rationed when our oil wells are being held to production."

Hebert in his formal protest to the WPB administrator against possible extension of rationing to Louisiana, declared: "We must forego gasoline, we are told, because it will save rubber tires. But there has been no answer as to what use the rubber tires thus saved will be put and as one responsible person has said, tires not in use deteriorate as quickly probably as those on automobile wheels."

Although our sugar cane is the richest in the nation, nobody from Louisiana murmured when placed on sugar rationing because everybody realized it was a case of lack of supply to meet the demand for sugar the country over," Hebert declared.

"There is no shortage of gasoline in the country," declared Hebert. "The shortage is found in the lack of transportation to the Eastern section of the country. It is my understanding that if there was adequate transportation there would be no shortage of gasoline anywhere in the nation."

Congratulations

TEXANS TAKE OATH TO AVENGE CRUISER—The 600 Texans, hands upraised, were sworn into the navy Saturday, determined to avenge the loss of the cruiser Houston in the battle of the Java sea. There were more than 1,500 inducted, although the Houston's personnel was about 1,000. A 60-foot miniature of the sunken vessel faces the recruits, who were sworn in after hearing a message from President Roosevelt read to them.

Oil Field Play To Feature Junior High Graduation Exercises Tonight

Graduation exercises for the ninth grade students in Junior High school, who will enter high school next term, will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Junior High school auditorium. Graduation exercises for the high school will be tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

A play and pageant will be presented at the Junior High exercises. The play, directed by C. T. Hightower, will include Mary Jean Evans, Jack Dunham, Ruth Caloway, Johnny Campbell, Wanda Jay and Wayne Pahl.

Four valedictorians will be honored, each having the same scholastic rating. The valedictorians will be Anna Barrett, John Robert Lane, Helen Paxson and Shirley Taylor. Diplomas and awards will be presented by Supt. L. L. Sone and Principal Winston Savage.

The graduating class of 194 students will receive certificates. The principal address at the high school graduation exercises tomorrow night will be presented by the Rev. William J. Stack, pastor of Holy Souls Catholic church.

Cecil Bradford will be honored as valedictorian and Dorothy Drescher as salutatorian. The graduating class of '79 will be the smallest in 15 years. Reason for the small class is caused by Pampa reaching the status of a full 12th grade school. Next year's class will probably be one of the largest.

Tomorrow night's program will open with the processional, played by the high school orchestra. Invocation will be by the Rev. Albert Smith, pastor of Central Church of Christ. O Pray For Peace will be presented by a sextet composed of Lois Casika, Alyne Osborn, Dorothy

Camacho Expected To Declare State Of War Today

MEXICO CITY, June 1 (AP)—President Manuel Avila Camacho, acting on authority delegated by congress last week, was expected to proclaim today the existence of a state of war between Mexico and the Axis powers—Germany, Italy and Japan.

Mexico—to all intents and purposes—has been at war since May 22, when the cabinet voted to summon a special session of congress to enable the president to act.

It was just 19 days ago that a submarine sent a torpedo crashing into a Mexican tanker off the United States coast, provoking a storm of protest which led to the government's declaration.

Today is doubly significant because it is the 25th anniversary of the founding of Mexico's navy, and special ceremonies were arranged to link the observance with the war declaration.

Military police, stepping up precautions against sabotage and espionage, had a new problem on their hands as the results of a series of unexplained explosions which occurred yesterday aboard the American tanker Calcaillao at Tampico, killing four men and injuring at least 20.

Several persons expected of sabotage have been held for questioning.

PHENOMENAL FEMALE! — "I don't think you understand. I just want to be a private." These words were spoken to a Baton Rouge, La., recruiting officer by Mrs. Verna Harris, 27 (above) when she applied for enlistment in the new Womens Auxiliary Army Corps recently.

Bond Quota For June $90,500

Gray county's war bond and stamp quota for June is $90,500, according to figures released today from the office of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury. The amount is $16,000 more than for May.

The office of the Gray County War Bond Saving committee received word today that a report on the county's sale of bonds and stamps for April would be released in a few days. No total on May sales is available.

Figures released for counties include sales made out of the state or out of the county, to men and women living in the county. Some oil companies, for instance, purchase bonds for employees at head office but that amount is credited to the county in which the employes live.

Because of the procedure, it is impossible for the local board to keep up with sales unless an office could be opened to secure returns from the many dozen agencies handling sale of bonds and stamps.

Jaycees To Elect Directors Tuesday

Maximum attendance is desired at the regular Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon tomorrow noon when the Jaycees will elect six directors and five alternates. One of the six directors will be for one year and the other five for two-year terms. Terms of alternate directors will be for one year each.

Carry-over directors are Dr. Frank Kelley, Joe W. C. Tooley, Bob Miller, G. R. (Sig) Cobb.

The nomination committee has selected the following 11 members as candidates for directors: Alvin Bell, Chas. Cook, Vernon Hall, Horace C. Johnson, Joe Key, Chas. Lamka, Dr. N. L. Nicholl, Sid Patterson, John A. Phelps, Jay Thompson, Jim Nalley.

The eight candidates for alternate directors are as follows: Frank Morris, Bud Martin, D. R. Weaver, George Lewis, Leonard Glickman, Leslie H. Hart, Sam Turner, Louis Landgraf.

The directors will select officers from among the directorate soon after the election. L. H. Johnson is president now. His term will expire in June. New officers will assume their duties July 1.

Germany To Be Destroyed City By City

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—The hope of United States-British mass aerial assaults to blast the Reich out of the war city by city was declared officially today to be nearer at hand and the Germans were advised to look to the still smoldering ruins of devastated Cologne for a sign of the future.

With plain words, the general made it clear that "the Yanks are coming" that the British-American partnership of power in the air will repeat and may even dwarf the RAF's terrific Saturday night 1,000-bomber attack which loosed on the war-plants of Cologne the greatest weight of steel and explosive ever borne on wings.

Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the United States air forces, in his conference in London, was nearly completed and had "hastened the day when our air shall join in an air offensive against the enemy which he cannot meet, defeat or survive."

Replying to General Arnold's congratulations on the Cologne raid, Air Marshal A. T. Harris, chief of the RAF bomber command, said: "We are supremely confident that with their aid our common enemies—faced with certain devastation of their own land—will have cause to bitterly rue the day when they forced our two countries into war."

WAR BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The navy said today that a small British merchant vessel had been torpedoed in the Atlantic and survivors had been landed at an east coast port.

(By The Associated Press) The war in the Far Pacific region presents the most intricate pattern of stroke and counterstroke on a vast front where, it could be said, with the exception of the Chinese sectors, that the Allies were dishing out more than they were taking.

BROWNSVILLE, June 1 (AP)—The Brownsville Herald in a special story from Matamoros, Mexico, quotes a high federal official as saying today that more than 40 Axis airmen have been taken into custody between Tampico and Nuevo Laredo.

Two torpedoes thundered in rapid succession against the ship May 24 near Haiti. Six men died, two of them killed by the explosion and four in the rough sea attempting to reach lifeboats. Forty-five survivors reached land after 29 hours in lifeboats, and were brought to Key West.

Commission Denies Freight Rate Hike

AUSTIN, June 1 (AP)—The Texas Railroad commission today denied a request for a 10 per cent increase in freight rates. Announcing the commission's decision, Jerry Sadler, a member, asserted he believed refusal to raise the rate boosts would save the people of Texas $15,000,000 a year.

The formal denial, signed by Commissioners Sadler and Gus Culbertson, declined to disclose the commission's reasons.

Confusion Worse Confounded

Washington is a very busy city. Everybody there, with unimportant exceptions, is working night and day to put over the most gigantic war program ever conceived.

Conceding this, and all that it implies, nevertheless we must reiterate and emphasize that Washington's public relations are deteriorating so rapidly as to constitute a menace to public morale.

The last time this was pointed out, using the gas-rationing tragedy-comedy as illustration, President Roosevelt blamed the press. He said the correspondents' two-to-five gallon a week prediction was less intelligent, perhaps, but nevertheless a fact.

Harold Ickes and Leon Henderson, with their statement that rationing would be less rigorous than predicted in news stories, were made to look more than a little foolish.

This now is history. It should not be revived but for the more recent and more harmful flurry over optimism about military operations.

These things were timed, presumably by accident, coincide with reports of correspondents released in Germany and Italy, who told about the internal difficulties confronting Hitler and Mussolini.

Then a "high official," Secretary Hull and finally the President had to dash cold water on the public, so that we wouldn't consider the war already won.

Who follows these situations closely can not feel that the self-contradiction in the government's news "policy" arises from confusion of everybody, from the President down, is anxious to get us at fever heat in the production, financing, fighting, fighting programs.

They will know that if farmers were paid more for producing wheat than they could make producing other farm crops, there would be a surplus of this commodity.

It seems so foolish for the government to tax those people who render a service which people voluntarily want, as indicated by their voluntarily buying the service, in order to pay people for rendering a service that people say they do not want so much of, as indicated by the price.

In every case, when an artificial reward is paid for a service or a commodity, the supply is increased.

Look at the $22,000,000,000 worth of gold we now have, due to the fictitious price on gold. Before the fictitious price, we had about one-fourth this amount.

Look at the surplus amount of silver we have due to the fact that we are paying silver producers twice the price of the current free market value.

Could any New Dealer contend that this surplus of gold and silver and wheat is helping us win the war?

We are paying an expensive lesson for our attempt to establish artificial prices and wages.

Common Ground

By B. C. BOILES

"I speak the pan-world primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart on the same terms."

ANSWERING THE USUAL ANTI-PROFIT ARGUMENT OF SOCIALISTS

Most every socialist or New Deal book I have read, and I have read many of them, gives an argument against the profit motive similar to the following:

They usually point out that doctors exchange ideas without receiving a material reward for them. They argue that since doctors do this, industrialists and laborers need no other motive.

There are two errors in this comparison. In the first place, the doctors exchange ideas with other doctors for other ideas. They are not directly seeking material things. They are seeking to understand the laws of life and the laws of nature. They get great pleasure and satisfaction in understanding these laws and giving these laws to mankind in exchange for the approbation of the public and the ideas of other research workers.

On the other hand, the material workers are producing material things, not ideas. They exchange their material productions for other material productions. Their reward is other material things, just as the researcher's reward is new ideas from other researchers.

Then, again, the industrialist needs great capital in order to make it possible to serve his customers and his workers. He runs great risks of losing his capital in large quantities, which the researcher does not. Thus, it is necessary for the enterpriser to make great profits in order to keep his supply of capital replenished and have it grow in order to perform a greater service.

In contrast to this, researchers do not require a very great amount of capital. If they do require it, they will know that the industrialists who have received their reward in the form of profit, will gladly supply him with the required physical means of experimentation if the researcher can demonstrate to these industrialists any reasonable possibility of discovering any useful truth.

So, the next time you hear a socialist lamenting against rewards called profits, point out to him that there are two kinds of rewards—rewards of ideas, or spiritual rewards, and material rewards. And the man who is searching for the truth is rewarded for the truth he gives by receiving truth from others; while the industrialist, who is dealing with material things, and runs great risks of losing his material, is rewarded in material things.

WHEAT SURPLUS EVIDENCES FUTILITY OF PRICE FIXING

News reports state that unless extra storage is built, there will be a great waste of the coming wheat crop due to the lack of storage.

Practical people foresaw exactly this condition. They will know that if farmers were paid more for producing wheat than they could make producing other farm crops, there would be a surplus of this commodity.

It seems so foolish for the government to tax those people who render a service which people voluntarily want, as indicated by their voluntarily buying the service, in order to pay people for rendering a service that people say they do not want so much of, as indicated by the price.

THE OLD MAN OF THE SEA

Today's War Analysis

By DeWitt MACKENZIE

The Allies very definitely are getting ahead with their job of taping Herr Hitler to learn the measure of his girth.

Latest and most impressive proof of this rests in the revelation of air power in the record British bombing raid by some 1,250 warplanes which laid waste to a large area of the ancient British city of Cologne—a really terrifying exhibition.

That is, to use the language of British Premier Churchill, "a herald of what Germany will receive, city by city." This statement acquires added significance through the announcement today in London by Lieut. General Henry Arnold, head of the United States Air Force, that he has practically completed conferences with British leaders to develop "the maximum impact of our combined air strength" on Germany.

In short, the curtain has been drawn aside to give us a glimpse of an Allied air fleet which is rapidly developing into a force that nothing on earth will be able to withstand. We shall in due course be able to blast Hitler's Germany off the map, to make way for another Reich which will fit into the new world order.

Still, we shouldn't let this spectacular event obscure the momentous development on the Russian front. In the struggle for the main gateway to the golden Caucasus, upon which the outcome of the war depends to such a large degree, appears to have reached the lull which may be said to mark the end of the first stage of this Armenian and counter-offensive resting on the Allied side.

True, the Hitlerites have suffered no overwhelming defeat along the great Kharkov-Rostov sector which forms the chief barrier to the Caucasus, but the important point to keep in mind is that the mere fact that the Nazis haven't been able to get ahead with their project of breaking through into that garden of Eden is in itself a serious setback.

However, we shouldn't assume that the present slackening off in the battle means it's dying out. On the contrary, the mighty armies which are facing each other in this critical trial by sword are girding themselves for further blows. Offensive and counter-offensive will intensify as the summer progresses, and the fertile fields of this sector will run with the blood of a vast host of youth before the issue is decided.

This doesn't necessarily mean that Hitler will devote all his energy to trying to break through the Rostov gateway. On the contrary it's quite possible that, since he finds the going tough opposite Rostov, he may attempt an assault by air and sea against Syria in an effort to break into the oil fields of the Middle East that way.

This possibility finds support in the new offensive which has been attempted by Nazi Marshal Rommel across the blazing summer sands of the Libyan desert.

However, the battle still rages fiercely and while Rommel appears to be in a tight spot he is one of the great soldiers of our time. The British are cautious in their optimism as regards the outcome, and we should be, too.

People You Know

There are all kinds of roses galore this spring—red ones, pink ones, sunburst, but there are few white roses, except at the home of W. R. Frazee, 1002 East Francis, and Mr. and Mrs. Frazee have white roses that are really pretty, and they have the odor that only white roses have.

Heavy Ingram thought he was going to be in the army pretty soon the other night when he was distributing magazines to the soldiers on a troop train. It was raining, and Henry rushed over from his apartment at 321 West Atchison with a box of magazines and the service men kept saying that anybody who would get out in the rain to give magazines to soldiers, they have the odor that only white roses have.

"Where is Shangri-La?" is the title of a poem recently published in the Peoria Star, Peoria, Ill. Here it is as it appeared in the Congressional Record.

WHERE IS SHANGRI-LA? By C. H. (Choi) Gamble

Where is this place called Shangri-La From which our heroes flow To hunt down bombs on Tokyo And to destroy the foe?

This Shangri-La's a coral isle, Hid in the far-out west, It's a factory in Detroit, A camp in Tennessee; It's a motor shop in Flint, As caterpillars grow from steel

It is the Coprus Christi base, A shell plant in Mobile, A shop where old men help to make War items out of steel; It is the lonely night-watch there In Sikka, and in Nome, It is a soldier's mothers heart zined to soldiers' hearts

It is the man from Tuskegee, And he who went to Yale, The man brought up across the tracks, The man who reads in Braille, The man who lives in Bigtown, and The one from Homburg town,

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, June 1—When the make-up man had completed what seemed to be an adequate repair job after Anna Lee had been kissed by John Wayne, the British actress got out her own cosmetic kit and really went to work. While tracing a lip line, she paused to explain that these extra touches were being applied for better reasons than mere feminine vanity. It might make a lot of difference in her career if she didn't look as nice as possible.

Miss Lee's American career has not been quite what you'd expect of a beautiful, violet-eyed blond who was a movie star and a leading lady of the English stage before she came here. The trouble was that when her husband, Director-Writer Robert Stevenson, was brought to Hollywood by David Selznick, Mrs. Stevenson just tagged along. If she had waited and arranged to arrive with a studio contract, Anna Lee would have received a lot of ballyhoo and more movie roles than she could play.

SHE WAS READY

About 16 months ago, in the midst of a frantic search for the right person to play opposite Ronald Colman in "My Life With Caroline," Producer-Director Lewis Milestone saw a British picture called "Young Man's Fancy." He rushed out of the projection room and announced that the star, Anna Lee, was the girl he wanted—and would somebody please inquire whether she could come to America right away?

You can imagine his astonishment when he was told that Miss Lee was the wife of a director at the same studio and that she was available at once. It was a good start. Before the picture was finished John Ford chose her for the fine role of Bronwen in "How Green Was My Valley." She gave that a fine performance, too, but then had to leave the screen again because she was going to have a baby.

Caroline Lydia Boniface Clementina Stevenson was born three months ago, and her mother is resuming her twice-interrupted career with the leading role of a nurse in "Flying Tiggers," Republic's story of the American volunteer aviators in China.

ALSO WRITES

Besides acting, Anna Lee writes. She's in the middle of a novel now, and has done short stories and a screen story. Another unusual thing about her is that she's undoubtedly the only movie star ever to be shot out of a cannon. This was during the filming of "Young Man's Fancy," and she insisted on trying the stunt because it looked like fun. It was, too, except that her feet were numb for three days from the impact of the spring, and except for the fact that the friction in the bore of the cannon ripped off the tight-fitting nurse in "Flying Tiggers," Republic's story of the American volunteer aviators in China.

It was a good start. Before the picture was finished John Ford chose her for the fine role of Bronwen in "How Green Was My Valley." repulsion of mass attacks last night the British again sent Hurricanes and Boston bombers over the channel in forays against airbases and rail lines in Northern France and Holland, and other flights winged west by daylight to continue the battering.

Of such magnitude was the Cologne raid that only a masterwork of organization, with the bombers swarming over their targets at six-second intervals, made it possible.

Its paralyzing might was told in astronomical figures: Of three-fourths of Cologne aflame and under a three-mile-high pall of smoke;

Of more than 1,000 bombers roaring over their German targets in Cologne, and elsewhere in the Rhineland and Ruhr valley in a 90-minute procession of death and destruction;

Of perhaps 1,250 planes in all, including the bombers' protective fighter escort, in the greatest aerial armada ever put into the skies at one time;

Of 6,000,000 pounds of bombs dropped;

Of twice the number of planes and four times the weight of explosive and incendiary bombs that ever were dumped in a single night, even at the height of the German air assaults;

Of 6,000 airmen in a single, intricately coordinated air attack;

Of 100,000 men in ground crews at home sending the planes off from scores of bases.

Even the Germans admitted "great damage" to Cologne, their first target city, although the Berlin radio scoffed at the British announcement of the scope of the attack, quoting Nazi military sources as saying "about 70" planes took part.

The British said their losses were 44 planes, picked off by 500 anti-aircraft guns and many night fighter squadrons.

On the basis of British reports that the RAF used 1,250 planes in all, this was a loss of less than four per cent—compared with the 10 per cent generally mentioned as the maximum losses which still would mark a raid as a success.

Only Berlin, Vienna, Hamburg and Munich surpass Cologne in size and population in Germany. Beside being an important manufacturing center of 768,000 population in the heart of a great German industrial region, Cologne also is a great Rhine river port and the hub of rail lines connecting Germany and France.

Though one ponderous blow virtually had flattened a great German city, the raid's significance lay for the British in the vision it raised of more, and worse, to come for the enemy.

Prime Minister Churchill himself pictured the Cologne attack as part of a master strategy rather than an isolated achievement.

He told the fliers in a message of congratulations that their work was "proof of the growing power of the British bomber forces" and also "a herald of what Germany will receive, city by city, from now on."

The British radio told the German people it was but "the first step" and reminded them that "the Yanks are coming" to add their might to Britain's bombing strength.

That the Yanks may be coming very soon was suggested in an exchange of messages between Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States air force, and the RAF's bomber command chief, Air Marshal A. T. Harris.

"Our forces hope very soon to flight and fight" beside the RAF, Arnold wrote Harris in congratulating the RAF on the Cologne smash.

And Harris answered that the British, too, looked forward "to the time now so near" when the two air powers would be merged in the assault upon Germany.

Arnold, nearing the finish of conferences here aimed at what he termed "the maximum impact of our combined air strength" against Germany, told a press conference:

"My visit here, I hope, hastened the day when our air arm shall join in an air offensive against the enemy which he cannot meet, defeat or survive."

light operation. The day shift seemed to be concentrating on the Calais area.

On the land fronts of the European-African war this was the apparent situation today:

Libya The bulk of Marshal Erwin Rommel's two German tank divisions, main bulwark of his African hopes, was attempting to escape British entrapment along his drive through the big Hachheim-Alin el Gazala line had petered out.

Rommel's only hope was to win a "battle of the gaps"—to preserve two tenuous pathways through British minefields to the west which the Germans had cleared and now guarded with anti-tank artillery.

British air and armored forces were battering the Rommel force from all sides.

The Germans—with the Italian high command chiming in—said the British had counter-attacked but were repulsed.

Russia Comparative calm prevailed on the vast front with both the Germans and Russians preparing for their first spring campaign, had advanced in the Crimea to Kerch strait within eyeshot of the Caucasus shore.

The Russians, in the battle of Khar'kov, had won deep wedges about that Ukrainian manufacturing city and curbed German plans for a counter drive via Rostov.

The Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, had stirred ominously over the week-end, with the Russians claiming seizure of an advanced German line, but the operations were local. Although the Russians there had beaten the enemy to the punch neither side showed signs of making anything of it immediately.

The German high command said its forces successfully executed local attacks and repelled isolated Red army thrusts, while dive-bombers damaged two freighters off Murmansk and other planes struck at the Russians' Sevastopol foothold in the Crimea.

The battle of the Atlantic, a major consideration in American-British offensive plans for the European theater, was marked today by the German high command's claim that during May its navy and air force had sunk 170 ships totaling 924,400 tons and damaged 66 others.

Emmett graduated from Miami High school in 1915, from New Mexico Military Institute in 1918.

Dusty, 33, shown here in football gear, went into the service from the Gray county oil fields one and one-half years ago. He graduated from Miami High school in 1928, attended Texas A. & M. two years, is now a sergeant in the quartermaster corps, stationed at Camp McQuaide, Calif. He is unmarried.

When Carl E. Gatlin came through both Pampa and Amarillo the first of January on his way to a Pacific station, he threw letters off the train to be mailed to his wife who is living in Clarendon. Of course he could not tell her his destination but his family has since heard where he is located.

Capl. Carl was graduated from Miami High school in 1920, and from Texas A. & M. in 1925. He began teaching in University of Tennessee soon after, where he was still employed when called into service about a year ago. He is 42 years old and has three children.

Night Shore Lights To Be Blotted Out

SAN ANTONIO, June 1 (AP)—The Eighth Corps area command, to minimize the risk of ships in the Gulf of Mexico silhouetting as targets for enemy submarines, ordered active today a blotting of night shore lights from New Orleans to Brownsville, Tex.

The orders, issued by the corps area commander, Maj. Gen. Richard Donovan, applied to the area under his jurisdiction as defined in the official activation of the military areas of the southern defense command by Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger.

A small Axis submarine which torpedoed a medium sized Norwegian cargo vessel May 27 and sank it with no loss of life provided the 15th attack in May on ships in the Gulf, the navy reported yesterday. Thirteen of these ships were lost, with death to 192 seamen.

Applying to the period of thirty minutes after sunset to thirty minutes before sunrise, the regulations govern all lighting for a distance of ten miles inland from the shoreline and all city lighting in communities of 5,000 or more population in a distance of 25 miles to the coast if inspection from the sea determines the "loom" is objectionable.

The orders do not apply to the cities of Houston and New Orleans, it was understood unofficially. Dimouts already have been in effect in Port Arthur and Galveston, Texas Gulf cities, for several nights.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—An early rally in today's stock market, credited partly to a lull in news, failed to get going through with any appreciable strength in initial gains running to a point or so before reducing in many cases near midday.

Stocks backed away from their forenoon run-up. Railroads were lower. Most advances were well distributed as the session approached the finish but there were plenty of laggards.

Up most of the time were Chrysler and General Motors, which went to new high ground for the year; Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, and American Express.

American Airlines. Numerous issues were unchanged or up only a shade at the last. Inclined to fall were U. S. Steel, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Boeing, and United Aircraft.

In China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's fighters were engaged in a wide-front diversionary action in Anhwei province, in an effort to offset a Japanese offensive which had overrun Kihwa, capital of neighboring Chekiang province, and nearby Lanchow.

Meanwhile the Japanese landed fresh forces to the southeast on Yuhwan island, off the Chekiang shore.

The Chinese were able to recapture certain points behind the Japanese Chekiang line, but the tide of battle was still generally with the enemy. In Anhwei, however, regulars and guerrillas struck the foe at several places extending from the neighborhood of Nanking to more than 175 miles inland and up the Yangtze river.

The Japanese reported an air raid on an airfield near Kunming, southwest China, in which they said, 16 planes were destroyed including two of the B-24 type used by the American Flying Tigers.

Tiny Axis Submarine Sinks Merchantman

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Southern waters churned with enemy torpedoes last month as undersea raiders concentrated their fury on Allied and neutral shipping in the Gulf of Mexico-Caribbean area.

Piling up a war total of 231 navy-announced sinkings in the western Atlantic from Canada to South America, the submarines picked off 13 victims in the Gulf-Caribbean sector alone.

There were 17 officially announced sinkings during the week and the navy announced yesterday the loss of four more ships.

With the sinking May 20 of two American merchantmen in the Caribbean within sight of each other, and on May 27 of a Norwegian cargo ship in the Gulf, the number of sinkings in that area since the Brazilian ship to be torpedoed and the sinking of two Mexican oil tankers.

Last week saw the first Gulf appearance of a tiny Axis submarine which, unlike previously-observed enemy raiders, carried no deck guns, but sank a medium-sized Norwegian merchantman with three torpedoes.

Elsewhere on this side of the Atlantic the Axis raiders methodically continued activities, accounting for four officially reported sinkings between May 25-31 off the U. S. East coast to bring that area's war total to 111 announced sinkings.

Sterilization Of Criminals Held Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—An Oklahoma statute authorizing the sterilization of habitual criminals was held unconstitutional today by the supreme court on the ground that it classified stealing chickens as a crime and excluded embezzlement.

Justice Douglas delivered the unanimous opinion, applying to an Oklahoma court order for the sterilization of Jack T. Skinner of Pittsburg for four officially reported sinkings between May 25-31 off the U. S. East coast to bring that area's war total to 111 announced sinkings.

The 1935 statute authorized sterilization of persons convicted for the third time of "crimes amounting to felonies involving moral turpitude." The legislation exempted offenses "arising out of the violation of the prohibitory laws, revenue acts, embezzlement or political offenses."

A person who enters a chicken coop and steals chickens, Douglas said, "commits a felony and he is thence convicted."

"If, however, he is a bailee of the property and fraudulently appropriates it, he is an embezzler. Hence no matter how habitual his proclivities for embezzlement are and no matter how often his conviction, he may not be sterilized."

Douglas asserted that the action was condemned by "his failure to meet the requirements of the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment."

Mob Loots Food Store

VICHY, June 1 (AP)—Growing seriousness of the food situation in Occupied France was emphasized today by dispatches from Paris reporting that two policemen had been killed and a third wounded while attempting to halt a mob storming a food store.

Despite the efforts of the police, the mob looted the store, tossing food to those outside, who fought for possession.

YOUTHS OF 18 AND 19 MAY BE DRAFTED

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Next three months may determine whether military authorities ask congress to draft youths of 18 and 19.

Unofficial proposals to lower the minimum selective service age from 20 to 18 years have aroused some strong opposition in congress and informed legislators said it was likely a decision would be postponed until fall brings a clearer picture of how long the war will last.

Senator George (D-Ga.) said he believed a more intelligent judgment of the question could be made after the summer military campaigns.

It appears then that the war will last through 1943 and may run through 1944 or even 1945. I have no doubt that the army will want to drop the age limit to 18," the Georgian said. "Under present conditions, I would hesitate to draft 18 year olds and would not want to make the 19 year olds subject to compulsory military service unless it is absolutely necessary."

June Term Opens In 31st District Court

Time stood still as the June term of 31st district court opened here this morning.

The large clock on the south wall of the district courtroom had its hands steadily on 1:46 and was not running as court opened at 10 o'clock.

District Judge W. R. Ewing sounded the docket. It will be called for order at 10 a. m. each succeeding Monday during the term. Tomorrow, the non-jury docket is to be called for trial.

Only nine of the grand jury panel of 16 reported when court convened, and three special jurors were inducted. The grand jury was sworn in around 11 o'clock.

Members of the jury are R. B. Allen, Tom Clayton, J. B. Hughey, Travis Lively, J. W. Shelton, Rufus Jordan, B. W. Rose, C. P. Pursley, C. B. Davis, Jay Evans, J. E. Dole, and Ennis Jones.

Attorneys in court this forenoon were Curtis Douglas, Ennis C. Favors, William Jarrel Smith, Rufus Jordan, John P. Studer, Walter E. Rogers, Arthur M. Teed, Newton P. Willis, all of Pampa, and Warren Sparks, Phillips Petroleum company attorney.

This week is non-jury. First six grand jurors is to report next Monday.

400 Attend City's Memorial Ceremony

With simple but impressive services, Memorial day was observed in Pampa yesterday in a ceremony attended by 400 persons at Fairview cemetery.

Over the grave of the last veteran of World War I, to be buried in the local cemetery, that of Jess Morris, a firing squad of Company D, Texas Defense Guard, fired a salute. The detail was led by First Sergeant Paul Blankenburg.

The program was followed through as planned. Although it rained heavily Saturday night, causing apprehension to arise as to whether the service could be held outdoors should the rain continue, Sunday was bright and clear, and a large crowd gathered as the parade formed at the high school.

From the school the parade led to the cemetery.

The Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor of the First Methodist church, was the principal speaker.

Members of the veterans organizations, including E. J. Kenney, a sign up apparatus, and several Veterans of Foreign Wars, and present inspector of district 9, and Mrs. Ralph Chism, representing the V. F. W. auxiliary, took part in the V. F. W. Memorial Day parade.

Playing of the Pampa Volunteer band was on the program, including the playing of "Nearer My God To Thee," by a clarinet quartet composed of John Eason, Price Dozier, Chet Henry, and Ray Nielson.

Countless Barrage

Balloons Protect Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1 (AP)—The gas mask, the steel helmet, and the barrage balloon—all of them preparations against enemy attack which official Washington thinks may come at any time—became commonplace sights along the Pacific coast today.

A survey disclosed that countless balloons, probably surpassing even Britain's balloon barrage, now protect every strategic military point along the west coast, from San Diego to Seattle.

These captive gas bags have one main purpose: to keep enemy planes high enough to impair the bombardier's aim, and to help the anti-aircraft gunners.

Completion of the installation work came with west coast residents, minutes of warnings by Secretary of War Stimson and Civilian Defense Director James M. Landis, concentrated on new civilian defense measures.

Policemen, firemen, and air raid wardens were issued gas masks, and policemen were instructed to carry them while on duty. Steel helmets also were passed out to San Diego police, who went on a 12-hour shift with no days off.

Southern California civilian defenders received huge numbers of the masks. Forty thousand were distributed in Seattle, and more than 30,000 in the San Francisco bay region.

THEY'RE OFF!

COME IN AND HAVE A LOOK, FOLKS!

Our Pig Growing Contest is off to a roarin' start.

Just a couple of days ago, we picked out two frisky little porkers, both from the same litter. They were both fresh off their mama's bottle, and each a living image of the other.

We brought these two pigs into the store and put them in separate pens. There they sat and eat until they made big hogs out of themselves. One gets all the grain he wants, and the other gets grain plus Purina Hog Chow.

Now we have an idea, folks, that the "grain plus Hog Chow" pig is going to out-grow this other pig. Why don't you drop in and estimate what you think their difference in weight will be on the date that is set for weighing them in? It will be fun to watch 'em grow, and see just how much difference Purina Hog Chow can make.

Our door swings easy, folks, so come in!

Wagner Now No. 1 Catcher For Athletics

By PHILADELPHIA, June 1 (AP)—The trading of Frankie Hayes to the St. Louis Browns clinches the success story of Hal Wagner, who now becomes the No. 1 catcher for Connie Mack's Athletics.

Hayes, veteran A's backstop, went to the Browns last night in exchange for Pitcher Bob Harris and Catcher Bob Swift. No cash was involved.

The story of Wagner is the tale of a rookie taken in hand and developed gradually by Connie Mack, whom many consider the smartest manager in the game.

During the last two years Wagner, a 6-footer who lives at nearby Riverfront, N. J., has spent much of his time sitting beside Connie on the bench. As a catcher, Wagner developed the points of the game.

"He's got it up here," Connie said early this season, tapping his forehead with a long forefinger.

Wagner, now 27, was discovered at Duke University in 1924 by Russell Blackburn, coach of the Athletics.

In 1940 Wagner, 165-pounder who throws right and bats left, caught 34 games to Hayes' 136. A year ago Wagner donned the mask in 46 games compared to Hayes' 126.

Early this year he virtually took over Hayes' post. Through yesterday's doubleheader with the Yanks he had been in 36 games to 20 for Hayes. His batting average to date is around .270, but in yesterday's second game he slammed out three hits in four trips to the plate in addition to catching the game.

Harris who pitched a four-hit to 2 victory to snap the Yanks' eight-game winning streak.

Max West of the Braves, who had hit only two home runs this season and both of them last week, rapped four in two days.

At Philadelphia, the Yanks came from behind to win a seven-run sixth-inning rally to whip the Athletics, 11-7, then bumped into Luman Harris, who checked them on four hits, for a 4-2 decision in the afterpiece.

Elden Auer and Johnny Niggeling shared the pitching honors as the St. Louis Browns stopped the Cleveland Indians, 5-4 and 8-3.

The Boston Red Sox crushed the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators, 11-1, in the first game and took the second, 4-3, on Pinch-Hitter Lou Finney's two-run single.

Aling Lee Lyons pitched and batted for the Chicago White Sox to a 9-4 ten-inning triumph over the Detroit Tigers, getting three hits in five appearances and touching off a five-run rally in the tenth. The second game was halted in the third inning with no score.

Bob Carpenter pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-2 triumph over the Braves as Dixie Walker hit a grand slam homer and Whitlow Wyatt tossed a six-hitter in the first game.

Bob Carpenter yielded only seven batters in the second game, won by the Chicago White Sox to a 9-4 ten-inning triumph over the Detroit Tigers, getting three hits in five appearances and touching off a five-run rally in the tenth. The second game was halted in the third inning with no score.

Yanks Lead By 8 Games As Indians Skid To 4th Place

Associated Press Sports Writer
Major league baseball enjoyed a week today after the busier weekend of the season, which brought disaster in double doses to many of the pennant contenders and success in the same quantities to those who could withstand the pressure of four games in two days.

Here are some of the more important happenings witnessed:

The New York Yankees stretched their American league lead to eight games, although their eight-game winning streak was snapped by the Philadelphia Athletics in yesterday's second game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers boosted their lead in the National league to six games by stopping the Boston Braves twice yesterday after dividing a pair with the New York Giants the day before.

The Cleveland Indians skidded into the cellar in the American league while the Detroit Tigers took over second place and the Boston Red Sox moved up a notch to third.

The St. Louis Cardinals replaced the Boston Braves in second place in the National league by winning two out of three over the week-end while the Braves managed only an even split in four games.

Mel Ott, playing his 17th year in the majors—all with the Giants—led Rogers Hornsby's National league record of 1582 runs batted in by driving two runs across in yesterday's twin triumph over the Philadelphia Phils.

Max West of the Braves, who had hit only two home runs this season and both of them last week, rapped four in two days.

Irreplaceable Craftsmen Will Be Deferred

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
 WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The labor mobilization program of the War Manpower Commission became effective today, establishing an emphatic policy for military deferment of irreplaceable craftsmen and setting up a system of priorities to make certain that urgent production needs get first call on available skilled workers.

"This is a great opportunity," said Administrator Paul V. McNutt, "for a democracy to demonstrate that it can discipline itself."

The manpower chief directed on May 21 that the Selective Service system instruct local draft boards, effective June 1, to consult with Federal Employment service offices before calling to the army any individual "skilled in a critical war occupation."

Selective service previously had adopted a policy for deferment of men in critical occupations, but McNutt said some draft boards seemed "to regard it as a breach of patriotism to defer anybody for occupational reasons." Hence, the Federal Employment offices were brought in to the picture to help the local boards determine those men needed most urgently at work benches.

Of equal importance, the War Production Board is classifying war plants according to urgency and the Federal Employment service will make preferential referrals of workers to employers engaged in war production in the order of their priority before making referrals to other employers.

The manpower program effective today directed also that the Farm Security administration "increase the number of mobile labor camps in order to make available workers in agriculture to achieve the 'Food for Victory' objective."

Jap Midget Subs Sank In Famous Harbor Of Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia, June 1 (AP)—Japanese midget submarines, apparently launched from a mother ship off the Australian coast, sneaked into famous Sydney harbor last night to be greeted by a thunder of gunfire and depth charges which probably sank three of the tiny craft and thus averted damage to vital shipping.

The only achievement of the suicide raiders, believed similar to the midget undersea craft which flared in the attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7, was the sinking of an old steamer used as a ferry.

The raid, however, carried the war to southern Australia for the first time and gave the residents of Sydney—the largest city in this broad continent—an exciting night punctuated by the sounds of heavy gunfire.

The submarines, which presumably slipped through a narrow shipping lane in the mile-wide harbor entrance, were spotted first at about 11 p. m. and two sudden gunshots from Allied defense batteries touched off a veritable inferno.

Searchlights sprang into action on all sides and their beams swept the harbor as more guns fired their salvos.

One searchlight picked up the periscope and upper portion of the conning tower of one submarine, which was believed sent to the bottom by gunfire.

Two other submarines, Allied headquarters said, were believed sunk by depth charges lobbed by Allied naval vessels which combed the bay in all directions.

U. S. To Check Stores On Price Law Compliance

Uncle Sam is going to check up on how Pampans and residents of other Southwestern cities are abiding by the price control program.

Inspectors from the Office of Price Administration plan to visit establishments from the largest merchandising organization down to the smallest cross-roads store in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, and Kansas.

Retailers were reminded by Max L. McCullough, region OPA administrator, that they must mark ceiling prices on all cost-of-living commodities in their stores. The statement, "Ceiling Price $—," or "Our Ceiling $—" must be plainly marked on the article itself or on the shelf or bin where the commodity is kept. "Marking prices of cost-of-living commodities on sheets of paper, as some stores have done, and keeping the list in the store will not conform to the regulations," Mr. McCullough said. "The ceiling price must be clearly identified with the article and must be placed where the public can see it plainly."

In addition to marking his prices on the commodities, the retailer, must file by July 1, 1942, with his local county rationing board a list of his prices on cost-of-living commodities.

The retailer must also prepare a statement of his base period (March, 1942) prices on ALL commodities in his store by July 1, 1942, with his local county rationing board a list of his prices on all discounts or allowances, and keep this list available for public inspection during ordinary business hours.

Holiday Death Toll Smallest In Years

(By The Associated Press)

A nation honoring its dead of other wars even in the midst of a new one found some solace today (Monday) in counting its smallest Memorial day holiday death toll in years.

Only 287 violent deaths were reported throughout the United States during the two-day holiday, as against an average of 400 on a normal May week-end.

Two factors were credited with saving many lives, both connected with the war effort: Gasoline rationing kept many eastern motorists at home, and uninterrupted activity in war plants kept many others at their machines.

Thus the nation's highways, on which 308 lives were lost during last year's three-day observance of Memorial day beginning on Friday, claimed less than one-third of that toll this year, 104 persons having been killed in traffic accidents.

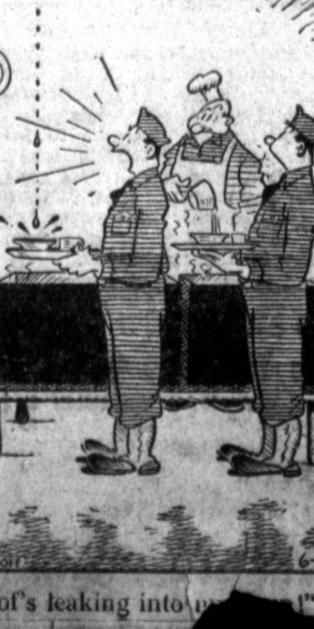

The same number of drownings were reported, and 83 others lost their lives through miscellaneous accidents.
