Texas Flier Rescues Men Left Behind

By C. YATES McDANIEL. ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 28 (AP)—Capt. Alvin J. H. Mueller, United States Army air corps veteran of numerous aerial rescue missions in the southwest Pacific, is safely back in Australia, thanks to the U. S. navy, after he was forced to crash-land a big bomber on his last hazardous mission to Mindanao.

Mueller learned to fly and land "almost any old plane" in rough and ready peace-time civilian aviation days near his home at Seguin, Texas.

Months before he started going the wrong way in the southwest Pacific Mueller and Co-pilot Paul E. Cool of Pontiac, Mich., have had dozens of opportunities to put trial and error experience to good use.

They estimate that the allowable will be reduced about one barrel a day per well which will "hurt".

AUSTIN, May 28. (AP)—The Texas Railroad commission today authorized average daily allowable production of 1,200,000 barrels of crude oil for the first 15 days of June.

The commission decreed 10 producing days for the half-month, while the average permissible flow was 132,000 barrels daily greater than the 1,065,800 certification of the office of petroleum coordinator.

Commissioners Jerry Sadler and Olin Culberson who signed the order said it considered only crude oil and did not include other petroleum liquids which currently are produced at the rate of about 120,000 barrels a day.

Sadler announced further that he would go to Washington to a conference with OPO officials on future producing plans.

The 15-day order, he explained, would give the regulatory agency time to study its effects on the marketing situation.

The 1,200,000 barrel permissible, Culberson declared, was in line with firm nominations made by purchasers at a statewide proration hearing last Tuesday.

"The allowable will fill all pipelines, take care of idle tank cars and meet all firm contracts," Sadler added.

Previously Sadler had asked the OPO to revise upwards its estimate of June demand in Texas which Sadler said was insufficient to meet war needs.

The overall allowable for petroleum liquids from the state's 99,000-oil wells was 1,374,479 barrels daily last Saturday. Deduction of 120,000 barrels of condensate and casinghead gasoline would leave an average flow of 1,254,479 barrels of crude.

Sadler said basic schedules for districts and fields under the 15-day June order could not be determined finally before Saturday.

The commissioner explained he had been invited by R. E. Allen, assistant deputy petroleum coordinator, to confer on the Texas oil situation, particularly with reference to casinghead gasoline and condensate, on war products.

The invitation resulted from Sadler's request for a larger OPO Texas certification in June.

Because of the uncertainty of airplane reservations Sadler said he could not return from Washington before June 1 and for that reason the commission decided to immediately issue an order for part of June's production.

In April the commission extended the March order for 15 days and at mid-month wrote a new order for the last 16 days, including three non-producing days.

It was Sadler's opinion that basic allowances would not be greatly altered for the 15-day June schedule which engineers were preparing.

Lend-Lease Pact Handed To Litvinoff

By WADE WERNER. WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—A gigantic pooling of economic resources on a worldwide scale, first for the winning of the war and later for the winning of the peace, is indicated in lease-lend agreements consummated or in process of negotiation between the United States and more than a score of anti-Axis countries.

The broad principles of lease-lend assistance and cooperation in the achievement of victory and establishment of a healthy world economy after the war were laid down in the agreement signed last February by Great Britain and the United States.

Tuesday the draft proposal for a similar agreement with Soviet Russia was handed to Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff by Secretary of State Hull, and yesterday the draft of a proposed lease-lend pact with China was transmitted to Chungking through Foreign Minister T. V. Soong, who is in Washington.

In discussing the proposals offered Russian and China, Secretary Hull told his press conference that the provisions generally are the same as those already entered into with Britain.

The agreement with Britain provides, among other things, that the precise and detailed terms of settlement of lease-lend accounts shall be deferred "until the extent of the defense aid is known"; that full account shall be taken of all aid rendered to the United States, as well as aid rendered by the United States and that the final terms and conditions of settlement shall be such as to promote world trade rather than hinder it.

Lease-lend aid in the form of ships, planes, tanks, guns and other materials already is flowing to the United States and will be as widely separated parts of the British Empire, including the United Kingdom itself, India and Australia.

In other words the 132,000,000 people of the United States have buckled down to the job of producing and shipping weapons of war to British pilots, American guns and Chinese gunners.

In the final settlement of lease-lend accounts, therefore, less emphasis is likely to be placed on settling a bookkeeper's balance than on cooperative measures to get world economy on its feet again.

Lease-lend aid, as interpreted in the master agreement signed with Britain, is on a reciprocal basis. In this connection it is significant to recall that President Roosevelt some time ago remarked that the value of United States aid to Soviet Russia could be measured in German troops killed and tanks destroyed.

In other words, resources of all kinds are being pooled in the common war effort; American tanks and Russian soldiers; American planes and British pilots; American guns and Chinese gunners.

Yoder First Contributor To USO Drive

Principal H. A. Yoder of Woodrow Wilson school was the first contributor to the USO drive which will start next week.

He gave $7.50, which he figured was the right amount to give for a man drawing $1,800 a year, and the USO committee figured it out the same way.

On the same basis, and considering that a person earning a large income can afford to give away more than a person with a smaller income, it was estimated that a man drawing around $3,000 a year should be able to contribute $25 to the USO, and a person earning between $3,500 and $4,000 should be able to contribute up to $35. A $5,000 income would allow $50 for the USO.

Mr. Yoder gave seven times as much as he gave last year, and this war he believes he can contribute more than 1,000,000,000 in population. In addition, defense materials are flowing to 16 American republics with which the United States has signed lease-lend agreements.

The USO drive will be outlined today and tomorrow and be ready to "go on the road" Monday.

Last night, "Stu" Johnson's heard a U. S. Marine, "Stu" Johnson, former advertising solicitor of The News, praise the USO, and express confidence that Pampanos would not let their boys down.

"There are Texans everywhere," he said, "and the USO is for them the same as everybody else."

Workers Forbidden To Change Jobs

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of essential workers are forbidden to change jobs in war industries under government orders being drawn up today to stop "pirating" of skilled men by rival manufacturers.

Orders being prepared by the war manpower commission for immediate issuance make the United States Employment service the "sole hiring agency for critical skills in critical areas."

The effect will be to prevent workers from changing from one plant to another without approval of the government agency.

A spokesman for the manpower commission said labor "pirating" through offers of higher pay had become so widespread, especially in the aircraft industry, that it interfered with war production.

Connally Organizing Fight On Rationing

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Nine senators, organizing to fight expansion of gasoline rationing areas, voted today to ask Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, to conduct a public hearing before any move is made to order nationwide curtailment of motor fuel sales.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), who acted as leader of the group, said he and Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) would lay the request for a hearing before Nelson, Petroleum Coordinator Ickes and Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Thomas said the governors of oil producing states, most of whose production has been curtailed because storage tanks are full, would be invited to appear at any hearing that might be held. Oil company representatives and citizens also would be asked to testify, he said.

There was unanimity of opinion among those present at today's informal session, Connally reported, that there was no valid reasoning for rationing sales of gasoline except in restricted areas where transportation is overtaxed.

Besides Connally and Thomas, those who joined in the protest move included Senators Johnson (R-Calif.), O'Daniel (D-Tex.), Eilender (D-La.), Chavez (D-N.M.), Hatch (D-N.M.), Spencer (D-Ark.) and Doxey (D-Miss.).

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Congressional action to block nationwide gasoline rationing was projected today as Senator Connally (D-Tex.) called colleagues from oil producing states together to organize a fight against the proposal.

While Connally declined to predict what course the group would take, Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said he and others might seek to attach to pending legislation a rider specifically prohibiting the expansion of gasoline rationing orders beyond the 17 Eastern states now affected.

Extension of the rationing area to the United States has been considered as a measure to conserve rubber and Secretary of the Interior Ickes indicated in a letter to Senator George (D-Ga.) that a definite decision already had been made on the question.

President Roosevelt's has announced that gasoline rationing soon will be extended to all parts of the country. Ickes wrote George in explaining why Georgia could not be excluded from the present rationing area.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference Tuesday that measures would have to be taken to conserve rubber, but did not specify what method would be used.

"This decision was not made because of a shortage in petroleum supplies," Ickes' letter continued, "but because of the necessity to conserve tires. The initial curtailment, due to deficiencies in means of transportation for petroleum products, had been applied only to the regions formerly served by tankers no longer available."

House committee was informed by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones yesterday that the government soon would announce a program to purchase and reclaim scrap rubber, he said, several federal agencies, including the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, were working on a plan to make use of the 800,000 to 1,000,000 tons of scrap rubber now in the country.

Japs Report Capture Of Supply City

Japanese headquarters asserted today that Japanese troops, clearing a 200-mile advance in ten days, had captured China's "gold flower" city of Kinhuwa, capital of the eastern seaboard province of Chekiang, and thereby cut off one of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's vital supply routes.

Chekiang province is strategically important as a potential springboard for an Allied offensive against Japan.

Chinese dispatches failed to confirm the Japanese claim. They asserted that Chinese defenders firmly entrenched on the outskirts of Kinhuwa were holding their ground at last reports, but admitted that the city was in grave danger.

A Chinese communique last night said a fierce battle was raging around the city after two heavy assaults had been beaten off and more than 1,500 Japanese had been killed by land mines alone.

Japanese field headquarters said Japanese soldiers completed occupation of the capital at 7 a. m. today.

Kinhuwa lies 200 airplane miles southwest of Shanghai and 300 miles east of Chungking, China's wartime capital.

A Japanese army spokesman said that more than 300,000 Chinese troops had been concentrated in the Chekiang theater and that the fall of Kinhuwa meant the military collapse of the zone.

Far across China, in the southwest, Chinese dispatches reported that Chinese troops had fanned Japanese invasion columns into headlong retreat and encircled the enemy at Lungling, Burma road town west of the Salween river, after recapturing two towns south of Lungling.

While Chinese and American "Flying Tiger" airmen bombed and machine gunned the enemy, Chinese ground troops inflicted "staggering losses" on the enemy in the Teng-chung area 40 miles northwest of Lungling, dispatches said.

Hitler Claims Victory In Kharkov Duel

British Report Tank Thrusts In Africa Repulsed

By ROGER D. GREENE. Associated Press War Editor. Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, assistant U. S. Army chief of staff, declared in London today that the United States stands ready to supply "men and materials on a large scale to a European battlefront," even as Adolf Hitler's field headquarters claimed victory in the critical battle south of Kharkov.

Meanwhile, the British news agency Reuters reported that an Axis submarine was believed sunk yesterday off St. Lucia, British West Indies, and possibly two of the attack on the damaged U. S. destroyer Blakeley in the Caribbean. The Blakeley was first torpedoed off Martinique on Monday.

The German high command said a Nazi U-boat attacked the destroyer and blew her bow away. The Blakeley arrived safely at St. Lucia last night, escaping the U-boat wolf pack it was announced. One and possibly two of the undersea marauders were reported sunk.

Gen. Somervell's statement, coinciding with a rising British clamor for direct action against Germany, said the United States was able to send men and supplies despite the shipping shortage and large commitments to Australia and India.

Russia has frequently urged Britain and the United States to open a second front against Hitler's armies this summer.

While the bloody battle of Kharkov swirled toward a climax, Britain's desert armies struggled against a fresh German offensive in North Africa, a drive aimed at Egypt and the green valley of the Nile.

British headquarters said tanked Axis thrusts had been repulsed on both flanks of the Libyan battle scene, but an RAF communique acknowledged that Axis mechanized forces had advanced within 15 miles of the main British stronghold at Tobruk.

The RAF said British fliers bombed the enemy throughout yesterday in the El Adem and Bir Hacheim areas.

El Adem is 15 miles south of Tobruk; Bir Hacheim is 50 miles southeast.

On the Soviet front, the Russians were staging "psychological attacks" in which the Nazis charged Red army lines, firing wildly and shouting at the top of their lungs. In one such attack, 1,000 "psychologists" were left dead on the field.

German headquarters said flatly that Axis troops had crushed the Russians in an "outstanding victory" south of Kharkov and captured 165,000 prisoners.

The Red armies, however, declared they had thrown back two violent German assaults in the Izyum-Berdyuzhynsk sector. They killed more than 2,400 Nazis in the last 24 hours.

Name Of Josh Lee, Farmer, Will Not Appear On Ballot

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 28 (AP)—The name of but one Josh Lee will appear on the ballot for the Oklahoma primary election and it will be that of the incumbent United States senator.

The state election board yesterday erased the name of the other Josh Lee, a 48-year-old farmer who had filed as a rival to the senator for the Democratic nomination.

Senator Lee challenged Farmer Lee's candidacy on the ground that it was meant to divert votes from himself and that it impaired the integrity of the ballot.

An Oklahoma law permits the election board to eliminate any filing for office which it finds to be "frivolous, fraudulent or not in good faith."

Trailing far behind Mayer, who received $173,773 more than in 1940 and whose 1941 remuneration included $46,435.80 as either bonus or share in profits, were a host of other motion picture executives, actors, actresses, industrialists and businessmen, a survey of annual reports filed with the securities and exchange commission showed today.

New Purge Of Fascist Party Undertaken

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
BIERN, Switzerland, May 28 (AP)—Premier Mussolini has undertaken a sweeping new purge of his Fascist party in a drive to strengthen his grip on the Italian home front while awaiting a declaration from Vichy before pressing further his territorial claims upon France, according to foreign reports reaching here today.

It was understood that a friend of Mussolini and Pierre Laval, French chief of government, was en route to Rome with French counter proposals to Italian claims to Nice, Corsica and Tunisia.

These proposals were said to suggest that France would consent to Italian police supervision over some areas, probably including the French North African port of Tunis, but that all such territory remain in French possession.

Mussolini apparently was moving with caution.

Recent Italian declarations plainly implied that a weakening of the home front compelled "vast reorganization" within the Fascist party organization.

Mussolini already has removed more than a dozen high party members in recent weeks and replaced a number of party secretaries in key cities, according to reports reaching here.

Now, it is said, every party member is being subjected to new examination, subject to exclusion from the organization.

Under these measures, public officials henceforth will be permitted to assume administrative posts only with the authorization of the party and at Mussolini's personal order.

It is said that Mussolini is intent on shaping a smaller, stronger, more easily controlled party modeled after Adolf Hitler's SS (Elite Guard) including only members on whose absolute loyalty he counts in enforcing national discipline.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The markets were hopeful interpretations of Russia's stand against the Nazi drive and the statement of Donald M. Nelson that inventory controls being readied by his war production board, affecting retailers and wholesalers, would not be issued for a number of weeks and would not become operative for several months thereafter.

On the advance side were more dividend reductions and omissions, but the market took these in stride.

Chicago, up 2 or so at the best, and General Motors ahead around a point, were at new highs for the year. Well in front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Electric, Union Carbide and Johnson & Johnson.

Policies Related To Operation Of School Adopted By Board

The Pampa school board has adopted policies regarding operation of the school and patrons are asked to read them carefully. This is the second in a series of policies adopted by the board. The first group was published in yesterday's Pampa News.

Office of instruction: The office of instruction is under the direction of the director of instruction. The director of instruction is responsible to the superintendent and the board of education for the following:

1. The general supervision of teaching throughout the entire system.
2. The coordination of teaching efforts in each of the seven divisions of the system.

Allred Fighting For Right Of Men In Service To Vote

HOUSTON, May 28—James V. Allred, candidate for the United States senate, today took up cudgels in behalf of members of the armed forces by serving notice that he would fight for their clear right to vote in the party primaries.

In a letter to E. E. Germany, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, the former attorney general and governor submitted a resolution that all service men, otherwise qualified, should be eligible for participation in the primaries.

Allred informed Germany that he would appear in person before the committee June 8 to argue adoption of the resolution.

Allred reminded the committee of a ruling, subsequently approved by the supreme courts of Texas and the United States, which he made as attorney general in 1934 in which he said that the party and its executive committee had the exclusive power to prescribe the qualifications of its own members and to determine who shall be qualified to vote or otherwise participate in the party primary elections.

Allred said he was prompted to take this action because of the "doubt and uncertainty" about their right to vote that he had observed on the part of "thousands of our young Texas citizens who have answered and will answer their country's call to arms."

This doubt, he said he believed, was due to a "misconception of a recent opinion by the present attorney general of Texas in which he was writing on the question as to who should be allowed to vote at a general election."

"I cannot bring myself to believe there is any valid law denying our fighting men the right and privilege of participating fully in our party primaries," he wrote Germany, "nor do I believe for one moment that you, as chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, or the members of the committee, have any disposition to deny them that privilege upon any technical grounds."

Allred said that from his service in the last World War he understood "the anxiety and concern those in the service of their country have in the selection of their representatives who shall determine the policies during this war, as well as the policies after they return victorious to the pursuits of peace."

"To me it seems decidedly unfair and un-American to fashion a way of life for those who are spilling their blood to preserve that way of life without giving them their right of expressing their views with their ballot at the polls," he stated.

Allred characterized the matter as one of "grave concern," not only to the service men and their families, but to the public at large.

Regents Expected To Straighten Out Medical Controversy

GALVESTON, May 28 (AP)—Prolonged dissension at the University of Texas medical branch will be straightened out without the use of strong-arm methods, in the opinion of university regents inquiring into the school's affairs.

Entering the seventh day of virtual morning to midnight sessions, the board continued hearing witnesses, largely school staff members, on both sides of a controversy in which Dean John W. Spies and a number of faculty members are aligned on opposite sides.

The regents, at a press conference yesterday, declared their investigation was being conducted along democratic lines and asserted the disagreements would be acted upon in a similar manner.

They added it would be "prejudging" the case if they expressed any opinion on whether court action was contemplated by any of the principals involved and reiterated they could not estimate when they would conclude the inquiry or take action.

University President Homer P. Rainey, speaking for the regents, reported the board was progressing in establishment of a cancer research project which involved agreeing to a contract with the Anderson Foundation of Houston, donor of $500,000 matching funds to a state appropriation.

"I am carefully considering qualifications of various persons in selecting a director for the project," Rainey said. "It will take some time to complete this task."

Barrage Against Sales Tax Laid Down By Treasury

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Treasury experts laid down a hammering barrage against sales tax sentiment today as the House Ways and Means committee sought to make up a $2,000,000,000 deficit it has piled up against the administration's revised $9,900,000,000 tax goal.

Despite the prospective shortage, department statisticians remained adamant against any form of a sales tax, primarily on the theory it would bring disproportionate hardships to the low-income families.

The treasury staff launched its direct attack on either a manufacturer's, wholesaler's, or retail sales levy at an extraordinary meeting of the committee last night, with statements by Randolph Paul, Secretary Morgenthau's tax adviser, and James W. Martin, University of Kentucky economist, now a treasury consultant.

Having tentatively disposed of new corporation and individual income tax proposals, the committee has run squarely into the alternatives of accepting treasury recommendations for increasing excise taxes by more than $1,000,000,000 or adopting some form of sales tax.

Details of the treasury presentation last night were not immediately available, but Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the committee told newspapermen that Paul had said that a tremendous increase in treasury personnel would be required for administration of a retail sales tax.

He said that the committee probably would discuss first the treasury's excise program but he added that it was "absolutely certain that a sales tax is going to be considered by the committee."

Nalle Backs Down On Charge Newsmen No Value To War

AUSTIN, May 28 (AP)—Newspapers and newspaper men have contributed a vital part in the war effort but national selective service headquarters has issued no order for deferment of newspaper men as a group, Capt. George S. Nalle of state selective service headquarters said yesterday.

Referring to his reply to a letter from the Motley county draft board concerning the classification of Douglas Meador, 41-year-old publisher of the only newspaper in Motley county, Nalle added:

"It was not my intention in anywise to reflect upon the patriotism or the value of newspapers or newspaper men to the national effort, knowing as I do that thousands of newspaper men have already gone into the armed forces and a great many of them voluntarily."

Selective service headquarters also exhibited a copy of a letter written by R. Stapleton, chairman of the

Motley county draft board, which said in part:

"It is probably not a question to be considered for Mr. Meador and his business, but the problem is whether or not the community his paper serves ought to be without this medium of local news."

"In short, is Mr. Meador worth more to his country publishing a newspaper than he would be looking down a gun barrel? Please advise."

It was in answer to this paragraph, headquarters said, that Capt. Nalle wrote:

"This registrant has no grounds for occupational deferment. Unfortunately, we cannot win the war with newspapers, and he would be worth infinitely more to his country looking down the sighting end of a gun barrel."

O'Daniel In Politics And Cut Off Air

DALLAS, May 28 (AP)—A. L. Chilton of Radio Station KSKY today denied a charge by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel that the junior senator's weekly transcription was cut off the air last Sunday for political reasons.

"With the entrance of other candidates for the senatorship in the field, conditions were changed."

is continuing," the German high command said.

A Nazi communique asserted that Soviet attacks aimed at relieving encircled Red forces in the Donets river battle zone, 80 miles below Khar'kov, had failed completely.

On the North African front, once more aflame with battle, British headquarters announced that the initial thrust of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika corps had been repulsed in a series of fierce tank actions west of Tobruk.

A British communique said the battle raged over a wide section of the Libyan desert yesterday.

"Tank-led Axis forces first attacked the British left flank in two main columns "which were heavily engaged by our armored forces northeast of Bir El Hachem," the communique said, adding that detailed results of the action were not yet known.

Axis armored forces then struck "on the Bir El Hachem defenses," 50 miles southwest of Tobruk, where they were "repulsed with loss," the communique said.

A third Axis assault "suffered casualties" below Ain El Gazala, 30 miles west of Tobruk.

"Our positions remained intact," British headquarters announced.

It was the fifth great offensive of the sea-saw Libyan desert campaign, fought in blistering heat, in which each side has won two victories.

Reinforced by new United States-built tanks and planes, the British confidently awaited the main shock of Rommel's latest offensive and promised the Axis invaders a rude surprise.

"Let 'em come and get us," the British said.

British equality if not superiority in the air was indicated by the communique, which said RAF warplanes vigorously attacked Axis troops and transport columns, supported British land forces and successfully intercepted Axis aerial attacks on British troops.

In the Russian campaign, Soviet headquarters gave no intimation of a decisive turn in the critical "battle of the bend" on the Donets river 80 miles south of Khar'kov. The Red army command said

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's troops engaged German tanks and infantry in bitter all-night fighting after crushing two Nazi assaults yesterday.

"In the Tzym direction (at a bend of the Donets river), our troops repelling enemy attacks inflicted heavy losses on them," a Soviet communique said.

"Men of one rifle unit destroyed up to 1,400 Hitlerites."

"In another sector, large enemy forces tried to ford a river (apparently the Donets again). Artillery opened fire at short range and the enemy, retreating, lost over 1,000 killed."

Against this picture of the Red armies grimly holding fast, Hitler's headquarters declared:

"The battle of encirclement south of Khar'kov has resulted in an outstanding victory of German and Allied troops."

The Nazi command asserted that 517 Russian armored vehicles, 1,180 guns and a vast amount of other booty had fallen into German hands.

On the main Khar'kov front, where Marshal Timoshenko launched his offensive May 12 in an attempt to beat Hitler to the punch, the Russians said their troops again "consolidated their positions."

The donation would be paid to the local office of Civilian Defense for defraying expenses of the local office of director of civilian defense in maintaining an air raid control center.

thetic rubber, the war production board said hard liquor production would be cut 90 per cent by the end of the year in order that distilleries may turn out industrial alcohol, to be used in making the synthetic product. Enough beverage liquor is in store to last several years.

Whatever the reason for the proposed gasoline rationing, Connally said it was going to be difficult to explain to the people of states where storage tanks are brimming why they could not have all the fuel they wanted.

Thomas said he was not convinced that any appreciable saving in tires could be effected.

"If people put their cars up in

Treasury Will Disclose High Salaries, Bonuses

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The Treasury, it was learned today, will lay before a private meeting of congressional leaders tonight evidence of excessive corporate salaries and bonuses, extravagant promotion expenditures, and other devices used to evade war taxes.

At the same time, the treasury delegation, to be headed by Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and Assistant Secretary John L. Sullivan, is expected to discuss with the congressmen means of punishing evasion cases or holding down salaries through drastic enforcement of old, little-used statutes. The congressional group will be members of the joint house and senate committee on internal revenue taxation.

Since details were guarded, the nature of the treasury's data could only be judged from the fact that they were to be presented by Morgenthau in person at an undisclosed nocturnal meeting place. One informed source, when asked if the material was "sensational," replied:

"I don't think people will lay down their papers before they have read every word of it."

This also implied that the findings might be made public after the meeting.

Meanwhile Toland, counsel for the House Naval Affairs committee, disclosed he had been ordered to turn over to the internal revenue bureau a transcript of testimony taken yesterday which showed that a Cleveland company gave out $2,000,000 in employee bonuses last year.

Toland said the orders came from Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), after the committee heard James F. Lincoln, president of the Lincoln Electric company, contend that the bonus system had saved the government $35,000,000 on war contracts for welding equipment and electrodes by stimulating worker efficiency and thus reducing costs.

Jap Air Raid On U. S. Certain Says Secretary Stimson

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today the war department considered a Japanese air raid on the United States to be inevitable as a return blow for Brigadier General James H. Doolittle's attack on Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

The secretary told his press conference the army was doing everything possible to meet the expected attack, which he indicated was anticipated on the West coast.

"Whatever happens, we shan't relax our most effective defense preparations for a major offensive," he said.

Stimson also told a questioner that despite the great distance the East coast lies from Japan, an attack on the national capital was "not inconceivable." He did not discuss the possibility of attacks by Japan's Axis partners.

The "loss of face" Japan suffered from the army air attack led by General Doolittle made a vengeance "blow inevitable," Stimson contended.

"The United States, through General Doolittle, inflicted a stinging, humiliating, surprise blow on the Japanese as evidenced by their boasting of Japan's invulnerability at the very time the bombers came over," the secretary said.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr. Wide World Sports Columnist NEW YORK, May 28-Tulane sent the names of six 1941 seniors to Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune for the all-star football ballot. Five of them are in the navy or will be by next month.

George Pillsbury recently elected Yale crew captain, is the fourth member of that Minneapolis family to pull an oar for the Blue. Seems that Minneapolis sends the flour of its youth to Yale.

Chaplers Off The Old Block Maurice Dutra, one of Golf Pro Nedie Dutra's twins, showed he has what it takes to win tournaments when he paced his high school team to victory in the Detroit City High league tournament the other day. He was four over par for the first two holes, then came back to break 77 for the first time with a neat 77. His brother, Mortie, Jr., plays on the same team.

One-Minute Sports Page There was only one private, Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., in the six-a man contingent in the P. G. A. tournament; all the rest were corporals. Betty Robinson, who was Olympic track champion in 1928, is working in one of the war stamp booths at Lincoln field. They're blaming the war for the absence of squawks in the Kitty league this season. The circuit had a tough time lining up six lumps to work for $150 a month and expenses and apparently the wolves are afraid to get too tough or those six will head for the army or defense plants. Horsemen at Belmont complain that they have to pay $38 a ton for the stuff they feed their nags—who said that ain't hay?

Today's Guest Star Arthur Siegel, Boston Traveler; Clark Shaughnessy, who is winding up spring football practice at Maryland this week, has, as his assistants, a bacteriologist, an agronomist and a chemist. He, himself, is an optimist.

Service Dept. When he played basketball in West Philadelphia and later drew sports cartoons for the Evening Ledger, Bob Bowie was six feet four and weighed only 140 pounds; he had to fill up on bananas and water to make the weight requirements for the army. Now, after four months in uniform at Jefferson barracks and Lowry field, Bob has put on 27 pounds without gulping a single banana. Checking over the list of Texans who recently were decorated by heavy action in the Pacific war zone, Amos Mentzer of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram learned that ten of the bombers of Tokyo were former college and high school athletes and three other ex-footballers had received awards for valor.

SOFTBALL TEAMS SIGN UP

Other Teams May Enter Friday Night

Preliminary plans for organization of a Pampa softball league were made at a meeting in the corporation court room last night. A special invitation to all companies to enter teams in the league was extended at last night's meeting. Anyone desiring information regarding the league may call C. O. Busby, telephone 250.

Teams already entered in the league are Knights of Pythias, Jaycees, Woodmen of the World, Mack and Paul Barbers, Diamond Shop, the Supply Boys, and the City of Pampa.

Frank Leder of the Diamond Shop said he would donate a trophy to the winning team. Games will be played at Recreation park east of the city with admission 10 cents. Proceeds above actual expenses will be given to local war and charity organizations, according to plans.

It is hoped that play can begin Monday evening. Twilight games will be played. Sam Turner presided at last night's meeting. The K. P. team will practice at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Margolia diamond.

Cutten Hits Drinking In U. S. Armed Forces

CLEVELAND, May 27 (AP)—The Rev. George Barton Cutten, president of Colgate university, declared today that "the fundamental strategy in this war seems to be for us to drink our way to victory."

"Pearl Harbor," he said in an address prepared for the Northern Baptist convention, "was our first laboratory experiment in realization of this strategy and it can hardly be termed a success."

Bonham Seems Pitcher To Reach Goal Of 30 Games

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer

The most coveted pitching goal in the major leagues is 30 victories in a season.

The feat hasn't been accomplished since Dizzy Dean and his great season for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934 and it hasn't been done in the American league since 1931 when Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove won 31 for the Philadelphia Athletics.

After Bob Feller traded his baseball togs for a navy uniform last winter there didn't seem to be a pitcher with a remote possibility of gaining the pinnacle this season.

Yet, Ernie (Tiny) Bonham, big right-handed ace of the New York Yankees, apparently has found the right trail and his chances look about as good as Feller's ever did.

Bonham bagged his seventh straight victory, 8-3, from the Philadelphia Athletics. The crowd at Yankee Stadium, where he hadn't been scored upon all season, was hoping he would get his fifth shut-out. He missed this, but he pitched an expert seven-hit game without allowing a walk.

He may not win 30 games, because there are only 24 weeks in a season and he may not get to work often enough. But with a team like the world champions behind him he is not likely to lose many and at present he is right on the beam—approximately one-fourth the victories in approximately one-fourth of the season.

The Boston Red Sox came out of a slump to overpower the Washington Senators, 10-1, in a night game. Oscar Judd limited the Nationals to two hits. Rookie John Pesky collected three of Boston's 13 hits and scored twice.

Chicago's usually weak-hitting White Sox collected 17 hits at Cleveland, but had plenty of trouble taming the Indians, 9-7. Three of the Tribe's ten hits were homers and it remained for relief pitcher Joe Hansen to win his own game by singling across two runs in the eighth inning.

The St. Louis Browns backed up Johnny Niggling with extra-base hitting to beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-2. Walt Juhnich led the attack with a homer, a double and a single.

The Brooklyn Dodgers increased their National league lead to six games by beating the Boston Braves, 4-1, with a three-run ninth-inning rally that settled a hurling duel between White Wyatt and Jim Tobin.

Lamesa And Oilers To Play Rubber Game In Ladies Night

The Pampa Oilers and Lamesa Dodgers will play the rubber game of their current series tonight before a Ladies Night crowd.

Last night the Dodgers jumped on Pampa pitching for 14 hits, while Pampa fielders made seven errors, to beat the Oilers 9 to 0. Game time tonight will be 8:30 o'clock and it will be the last home game until June 4.

Manager Jodie Tate will try to win tonight's game by sending Costello, his ace moundman, to the hill. Manager Dick Ratliff of the Oilers will probably retaliate by using Powell Pickering, although he'll have Barnett, Boal and J. D. Isaacs available.

Last night's crowd was disappointingly small, not more than 400 fans being in the stands. That is not enough money to cover current expenses and make up for losses on small crowds at previous games. The 100 business and professional men who backed the club are asking fans to "come out and enjoy a ball game and at the same time help the club."

Manager Ratliff sent Bernard Schmitt to the mound but he lost his third straight game, after winning his first four. His slider was the sliding across the center of the plate and then given a ride by the Dodgers who bagged 14 hits, five of them doubles. He didn't walk a man and fanned five. Behind him, his teammates made seven errors.

The Oilers got to Elkins for only four scattered singles, two of them going to Ray Surratt.

Lamesa earned its first run in the second when Hanes singled, Bonnell doubled and Palmer singled. The first of the Oiler errors gave the Dodgers their next run, in the third, when Surratt was safe on Cunningham's error, went to third on Stevens' single and scored when Drake fled out to center. From there it was all Lamesa.

A couple of fellows named Bailey had tough nights. Bob Bailey, Oiler left baseman, fanned on three straight trips, the plate agent bagging a single and Umpire Bailey was on the receiving end of much griping by batters and sarcasm.

Bucky Walters pitched seven-hit ball as the Cincinnati Reds conquered the Chicago Cubs, 10-1, with a 13-hit offensive that included a grand slam home run by Gerald Walker to clinch a seven-run spree in the fourth inning.

The surging St. Louis Cardinals moved into second place slightly ahead of Boston by routing the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, and Bob Carpenter pitched the New York Giants to a 6-2 decision over the Phils in a night game at Philadelphia.

Wartime Program Of P-TA Includes 'Block Mothers'

(By The Associated Press)
 People most vitally concerned with the war—the parents who must rear children in the midst of war's dislocations of social, economic, physical, and even spiritual structures—may avail themselves of a program designed especially for them.

It is the wartime program of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, an all-inclusive plan to see that children, "our hope and our salvation," are properly cared for during and after the emergency thrust upon us.

The men—and there are women, too—who think of the P-TA as a bevy of clucking females who get together periodically to relate in rotation how Junior's teacher mistreats the dear little 'tween, have another thing coming.

Largest Lay Group
 Parents and teachers forming the national membership of more than 2,000,000, the largest lay organization in the country, are a hard-working group of men and women. If their ideals were put into practice universally, the wartime program would not be necessary. There simply wouldn't be any cause for war.

But man's frailties have plunged the world into the darkness of conflict again, and the P-TA left the convention of its national congress in San Antonio to go about its work of child protection.

"Let us bring up a generation," the convention resolved, "which will passionately love all that is warm and kind and human, and spurn with equal force all that is evil and cruel. Let us bring up a generation that will believe in itself and in the world of which it is a part, despite war and chaos."

Broadly, the program is aimed at reaching the best forms of education, health, social welfare, conservation, and recreation.

In detail, it includes such suggestions as annual health examinations for children, study of family nutritional needs, giving every bicycle rider instruction in how to ride safely, encouraging letters from the home town to boys in army camps, encouraging the purchase of war bonds, and establishing a system of "block mothers," mothers who would keep every home in the block in close touch with all developments in the care and protection of children.

The national congress makes no rules binding upon the individual Parent-Teacher associations, because conditions vary in every community, and thus it feels each association is the best judge of what should be done for its homes.

The congress furnishes the guiding spirit and is the clearing-house for the exchange of ideas and information. It calls upon leaders of every field relating to children, be it health, education, citizenship, or any other field, to advise it. Therefore, it is a rich library for the parent.

Leaders of the congress, who are pushing so vigorously their campaign, have a personal as well as social interest in the work.

From the president down through the membership, there are mothers who have sons at war, some far from home, some in danger, some fighting for their mother's ideals.

Mrs. William Kietzer of Portland, Ore., president, has a son and son-in-law, both on foreign duty. Her son is a censor now in the battle zone. She hasn't heard from him for some time.

"But then," she smiled, "when I did hear from him, it amounted to practically nothing. You see, he's a good censor."

Another mother at the congress convention had a son who was on a ship bombed at Pearl Harbor. On down the list are hundreds of mothers who are working to provide the sort of world their sons may come back to when the long haul is over.

or the sort of world their sons will give their lives for.

Pan-Americanism
 The convention devoted one day to consideration of Pan-Americanism, on the theory that western hemisphere unity is essential to the war effort and the realization of the post-war ideal.

A striking demonstration of the shrinking world was given the congress by Mrs. William Hastings of Madison, Wis., a vice-president.

Ordered to go from the convention to the Pan-American Child congress in Washington and report back, Mrs. Hastings missed a plane out of San Antonio. She rode a bus to Dallas and then flew to Washington, the entire trip consuming about 14 hours' actual travel time.

In Washington, Mrs. Hastings met the delegate from San Juan, Puerto Rico, Miss Herminia Acevedo. Miss Acevedo was pointing because her trip from Puerto Rico had "taken so long."

She had flown to Washington in 10 hours.

Lobert Advised How To Get Out Of Loop Cellar

By TED MEIER
 PHILADELPHIA, May 28 (AP)—The Phils can get out of the National League cellar, says one of Hans Lobert's grandstand coaches, by playing ball like bridge—leading with their aces.

Since the 60-year-old Lobert became manager of the downtrodden Phils this season he has been bombarded with letters, postcards and nightly telephone calls.

"They've been calling up at all hours of the night," said Hans. "One of them came up with a new wrinkle."

"He asked me if I ever played bridge and went on to say that in bridge you lead with your aces, so why didn't I lead with my aces. That is, lead off with my best hitter, Danny Litwhiler, and so on down the line."

"I thanked him for the idea. But, say, in bridge you don't always lead your aces, do you?"

"I sure get some sizzlers," Lobert laughed. "But I always tear everything up. A lot of those who telephone ask 'How do you stand it?'"

"Others just say 'Why didn't I do this, why didn't I do that' and so on."

"Remember that night game with the Braves last Friday? (The Braves beat the Phils 10-7 by scoring four runs in the ninth and Lobert was thrown out of the game by the umpire.) Well, I got home about a quarter to one and you can imagine how I felt. Just as I'm going to hit the hay the 'phone rings and a voice says 'Holy smokes, that's a fine way to play. You won't let them hit, you won't let them bunt.' And a lot more along the same lines."

A graduate of the John McGraw era, Lobert doesn't get mad at the fans, however.

"It all goes to show that they're interested in the Phils," he explains. "And some of them are very sensible."

Gen. Donovan Praises USO

HOUSTON, May 28—The army's head man in Texas and adjoining states came to the aid of the USO today, State Chairman Harry C. Weiss announced.

He was Major General Richard Donovan of San Antonio, commanding officer of the eighth corps area, who expressed his approval of the USO which is now campaigning to raise $1,100,000 as Texas' share of the fund which will provide recreation and entertainment for the men in Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

"I am happy to voice my appreciation of the work being done by those experienced welfare organizations which compose the USO, namely, the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic Community Service, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare Board and National Travelers Aid association," General Donovan declared.

"The USO is contributing splendidly to the entertainment and recreation of soldiers off duty from their camps and stations. The cooperation with military authorities and the good will developed between civilian communities and military garrisons are tokens of American unity which will make certain our final victory."

General Donovan is one of many military leaders to give active support to the USO drive which opened May 11. More than half of the goal has been contributed, but Chairman Weiss expressed the hope that it will be reached before the closing date July 4.

"Here we have proof of the complete confidence the commanding officers of the army have in the USO," Mr. Weiss pointed out. "With this backing, Texas will not say no to the USO."

Homers Feature Texas League Play

(By The Associated Press)

Home runs featured Texas League play last night as Dallas won from Oklahoma City 6 to 5, Fort Worth downed Tulsa 8 to 5, San Antonio beat Beaumont 9 to 1 and Houston edged Shreveport, 9 to 6.

Ed Kazan, Houston second baseman, was the ace home run hitter—maybe the deuce. He slammed two balls out of the Sports' park and sent five runs across the dish.

It was Charley Metro's homer in the third that prevented Al Lamacchia from getting a shutout in the San Antonio-Beaumont game.

Merv Connors' two-run homer in the first inning gave the Dallas Rebels a lead which they kept throughout the game.

It was the first loss, after three victories, for Elmer Singleton, newcomer to the Indian roster.

Bubba Floyd had three singles and a double in four trips; Sig Grysa, Indian shortstop, had a triple and two singles in five times up.

Ed Greer went the distance for Fort Worth, allowing nine hits. Meanwhile, the Cats hammered two Tulsa pitchers for 13 blows. Glenn Gardner, who started, yielded four runs in the third and was relieved by Frank Marino.

Consumer Credit Regulations Please Retail Credit Men

Retail credit men over the nation are pleased with the federal consumer credit regulations which went into effect on May 6.

Walter Daugherty, secretary-manager of the Pampa Retail Merchants Association, Inc., 202 Rose building, has received a statement from L. S. Crowder, St. Louis, general manager-treasurer of the National Retail Credit association, which points out the advantages to both customer and retailer from the new laws.

Benefits accruing from the new credit regulations, Manager Crowder says, will be the encouragement of persons to buy within their ability to pay, due to larger down payments and shorter terms on installment credit; elimination of overbuying, encouragement of thrift, and the chalking of customers to buy more war bonds.

National Rodeo Directors Will Convene June 20

CANADIAN, May 28—The board of directors of the National Rodeo association will meet in Carlsbad, N. M., June 20 for the business of approving the constitution and by-laws.

The name of the association was changed at Fort Worth in March from the Southwest Rodeo association to the NRA.

Carlsbad is the home of Floyd B. Riegan, second vice president of the NRA.

The directors plan to go to Roswell the day following their business meeting and attend the roping contest there between Bob Crosby of Roswell and Carl Arnold of Buckeye, Ariz.

Each contestant will put up $2,000, winner to take the $4,000 pot, also one-third of the gate receipts.

Allyn D. Finch, Dalhart, is president of the NRA; Scott D. Hamilton, Fort Smith Ark., is first vice-president; and C. A. Studer, Canadian, is secretary-treasurer.

Glider Pilots To Be Trained At 27 Schools In Nation

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Large numbers of glider pilots will be trained at 27 schools beginning June 1, the war department announced yesterday.

Training in light motor driven planes will be given at 18 civil aeronautics schools, with elementary and advance glider training at nine army schools.

The glider pilots will be authorized to wear the army air force wings with glider insignia.

Students will get four weeks of instruction in light planes with emphasis on "dead stick" landings, a week of elementary training in small, two-place gliders and a week of training in large, cargo-type gliders.

Conchas Lake To Open June First

TUCUMCARI, N. M., May 28—Roy H. Smith, secretary of the Tucumcari Chamber of Commerce, announced today that the construction of three barriers at Conchas dam to protect the irrigation outlet, main dam, and spillway had been completed. The Tucumcari Chamber of Commerce and the G.P.A. were successful in getting 176 barrels donated for this purpose by a barrel campaign which they staged sometime ago. Mr. Smith stated that they had a notice from State Game Warden Elliott Barker that the lake would be opened June 1 to Nov. 30.

A regular state fishing license will be required; a fee for placing your own boat on the lake and other regulations being the same as last year with the exception that boats will not be allowed on the lake before sun-up and must be checked back in not less than 30 minutes before sundown.

Adequate camping grounds are available. A new lodge has been completed. Boats and motors for hire will be available at reasonable rates. Bait, fishing supplies, groceries, etc., will be available at the dam this year.

Conchas lake proved to be the best fishing in New Mexico last year and should be even better this year, Mr. Smith said.

Ickes Asked For Steel Priorities

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes has asked the War Production board again for priorities on steel to build the world's largest pipeline from Texas to New York, as a means of relieving the petroleum emergency in the East.

Disclosing at a press conference, Ickes reiterated that so far as gasoline conservation was concerned, there was "no need, nor is it advisable" to make gasoline rationing nationwide, but added that this might be necessary to save rubber.

He has not abandoned hope for the pipeline, Ickes said, and he expects to appear personally before W-P-B in behalf of the project.

"I'm going to wind myself up and make a southpaw speech," he declared.

W-P-B Chief Donald Nelson said recently that the country could have this pipeline only if it sacrificed production of ships and tanks. Priorities for the project have been rejected twice, by the Supply Priorities Allocation board and the W-P-B.

The line would deliver 350,000 barrels daily to the eastern states, it has been estimated.

Ickes contributed one cheerful note to the seaboard's motor fuel outlook, reporting that the railroads last week set a record for eastward oil movement, using 50,000 rail tank cars to deliver 706,800 barrels daily to the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia.

Service Men's Pay Bill In Conference

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The soldiers' and sailors' pay boost bill was back in conference today, with little prospect of an agreement in time for increases becoming effective before July 1.

By a 322 to 31 vote, the house refused late yesterday to accept a compromise worked out by a joint senate-house committee under which the minimum pay would be $42 a month, and instructed its representatives on the committee to insist on $50.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee, who heads the house group, declined to predict the outcome and said he did not know when the conferees would get together.

Service Men's Pay Bill In Conference

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The soldiers' and sailors' pay boost bill was back in conference today, with little prospect of an agreement in time for increases becoming effective before July 1.

By a 322 to 31 vote, the house refused late yesterday to accept a compromise worked out by a joint senate-house committee under which the minimum pay would be $42 a month, and instructed its representatives on the committee to insist on $50.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee, who heads the house group, declined to predict the outcome and said he did not know when the conferees would get together.

Possum Kingdom Lake One Of Most Beautiful In State

By H. S. HILBURN
For the Associated Press

Where the Brazos river once sliced its tortuous way through bustling cliffs and broad mesas in Palo Pinto, Stephens, and Young counties, there is today a serpentine waterway whose blue waters conceal astonishing depths.

The reservoir, known as Possum Kingdom lake, is set off by some of the most magnificent scenery in the Southwest. It pursues a 67-mile course, with 310 miles of shoreline.

One point, overlaid two and one-half miles from the $8,500,000 Morris Sheppard dam, which impounds the lake, is 25 river miles from the dam. The lake courses 56 miles from the dam, west of Mineral Wells in Palo Pinto county, to Graham, in Young county.

It is approximately 18 miles from the dam to the CCC camp in Possum Kingdom park, where the Texas State Park board is constructing a recreation center northeast of Breckenridge and south of Graham.

Closed to fishing under a state law until properly stocked, the lake is to be opened to fishermen June 1, 1942, under regulations promulgated by the State Game Commission and approved by the lake supervisor.

That's a bass 11 inches long from his snout to the fork of his tail, his tail being a fin and not a part of the body.

Possum Kingdom lake is for recreational fishermen, not for commercial fishermen.

The creel limit in one day is seven black bass, seven white bass, seven catfish, 12 crappie, and not more than 30 of the smaller sunfishes. And that's a pretty fine string, even in a fishing paradise.

The powerhouse at the dam has electrical output of 25,000 KVA, obtained through two large turbines. The plant is ready to operate awaiting only the readiness of the contracting purchaser to receive current.

The Brazos district sells its current in bulk, owning no transmission facilities. Its power is contracted to the Brazos River Transmission Electric Cooperative, Inc., an entirely separate organization, created under the rural electric administration, a federal authority.

Possum Kingdom lake and the impounding Morris Sheppard dam are owned by the people of the state of Texas through their authorized Brazos river conservation and reclamation district.

Its improvement, for recreation is by the district and by other state agencies, the state game, fish, and oyster commission, and the state park board, which have the cooperation and assistance of the national park service and the CCC.

The Texas legislature has taken a progressive and wise course in regulating its public waters.

This is accomplished through the state board of water engineers, which has defined the watersheds of the state and has covered the development of the more important districts to be delegated to authorities, one of which is the Brazos district.

This board is an authority created by the state of Texas and is effecting its multiple purposes in this great dam, which is the first of 13 dams designed for flood control, hydro-electric power, water and land conservation, recreation, irrigation, municipal needs, etc.

In addition, other small dams in West Texas have been aided by the district. They are near Anson, Albany, and Throckmorton.

Fishermen will pay an annual permit fee of $1.10 for fishing in the waters of Possum Kingdom lake. This is in addition to the $1.10 they pay there or elsewhere in the state for permission to use artificial lures.

The lake fishing permits provide funds for assuring the ample stocking of the lake with fish through the years to come.

Boat enthusiasts will find a delightful new haven in the broad expanse of the lake and its scenic shore line.

The lake is without equal in the entire Southwest for scenic beauty, boating, and fishing.

Among the tall fish stories going around is one that a biologist of the state department testing the waters of the lake, caught 27 fish in 30 minutes, 24 of them being keepers.

Negro Gives Cotton Crop To Uncle Sam

AUSTIN, May 28 (AP)—Calif. E. Rosborough, Sr., was born the year slavery ended in Texas, and he wants to make sure it can't happen here again.

So Uncle Calip and Uncle Sam are going into the cotton business. The money will go into bonds to buy bullets.

This letter arrived at the Department of Agriculture from Mt. Pleasant, addressed to "Commissioner J. E. McDonald."

"I am an old colored man born 1865—I have only two boys and they are somewhere in the war and I am a cripple man but I thought I would plant one acre of cotton and give it to the government as a present to help win the war. The government may sell this cotton just to suit itself when it has been labor yet I am a poor colored man. But my God and your God is on our side—is this ok tell me at once." (Signed) Calip E. Rosborough, Sr.)

War Plants To Work On Memorial Day

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Shut down scheduled next Saturday in observance of Memorial Day in any war plant should be canceled, WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson said today, because the country "cannot afford a lag in war production."

"We can honor our heroic dead only by showing that we are as determined as they were to defend our country without counting the cost to ourselves," Nelson said. "We cannot honor them by taking a holiday."

'Master Race' Nonsense

Suggestions that the people of this country establish themselves as a "Master race" are silly, says Dr. Philip Caryl Jessup, professor of international law at Columbia university, in a commencement address.

"To my mind," he explains, "nothing is more obnoxious to our professions and to our real feelings than the idea that we will, no matter how benevolently, impose upon the world a 'pax Americana' or a 'pax Brit-Americana'."

He grew up on Kipling. Dr. Jessup admits, but he thinks Kipling went out of his way to build up "false and pernicious ideas." He did not understand the East as realistic observers do now. He wrote in a smugly superior way of "the White Man's burden."

We shall never again be able to talk in that way, says Jessup. Imperialism is out, and Asiatic wars of western nations are out. Special rights and privileges, concessions and open doors, have tumbled about the white man's ears. The professor thanks God for it. "We have been hurt in the fall," he admits, "but our friends in China and India and elsewhere, acting as their own architects, will raise more durable and more beautiful buildings."

If all this is true, and it probably is, then the sooner Americans grasp the facts and act on them, the better for everybody.

What A Flyer Does

For modest simplicity and straightforwardness, consider Capt. Hewitt T. Wheelis, acclaimed as one of the outstanding heroes of this war.

He is embarrassed by his fame and can't understand the fuss made about him. The hardest thing he has ever done, apparently, is going around under orders from his superiors and letting himself be exhibited as a hero. This hell-on-wings fellow must belong in the sky. Down here below he seems out of his element. As for his remarkable exploit, he says:

"There wasn't anything impossible about it. It was what a flyer does. There wasn't much to it. We just flew in, dropped our bombs and fought our way out."

That's all! And the personal glory embarrasses him. He says "We." By that word he doesn't mean what Lindbergh meant, "the plane and I." He means his comrades and himself. You'd think he merely tagged along.

But people are not fooled. There is greatness inside of a lad like that.

The Killers

In the case of both the Nazis and Japanese, it is often hard to tell whether they kill people for military reasons or just for the sake of killing. Presumably they have reasons connected either with immediate strategy or long-range objectives. But surely the men who do the actual killing, at the command of their superiors, must often be in doubt as to the purpose and legitimacy of their slaughter.

Indiscriminate killing is probably easier for the Japanese than for the Germans, because they are so different from Europeans in their racial attitude and their respect for human life.

Yet the Germans themselves, however tender-hearted in their normal living, seem to have been so hardened under Hitler that they are incredibly docile in carrying out savage orders. Civilians are often slaughtered en masse, without any evident military purpose except the illegitimate one of inspiring deadly fear.

In former and more civilized eras, people everywhere would shrink in horror at crimes now commonplace. Hitler and his docile subordinates, not content with looting conquered areas of western Europe to the extent of $36,000,000,000 in cash and goods, have shot nearly half a million people in addition to all the strictly military slaughter. It is indeed Genghis Khan, the great medieval killer and looter, all over again.

Texas Women Apply For Auxiliary Jobs

The Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, which is going to take just 409 officers from over the whole nation, could get that many in Texas and still be particular.

Five hundred applied at Houston yesterday, the first day application blanks were available. Twenty-two women were waiting when the office opened, and there was a line in front of the desk all day.

Two hundred put in their bids at Dallas. The office was jammed in the morning, and business was brisk all day. Among the applicants were housewives, teachers, models, clerks, stenographers, factory workers, a cafe owner, soda girls, carhops, and denturists.

Many applicants said they had sons in the armed forces. A hundred applied at Fort Worth and 50 more telephoned, only to learn that blanks had not been received.

Three hundred filled out questionnaires at the San Antonio office.

Women who are not selected as officers will have an opportunity later to serve as privates in the WAAC.

"I speak the man-word criminal. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."—WALT WHITMAN

DO OUR PEOPLE NOW HAVE EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES?

Socialists and New Dealers point out that people do not now have equal opportunities. They seem to think, after they have made this statement, that the only solution is more laws so that workers can more nearly have equal opportunity.

They seem to think that those who oppose more laws are contending that workers now have equal opportunities. But this is not the case.

Those who oppose more laws with the idea of bringing about more nearly equal opportunities, contend that the primary cause and lack of equal opportunity is the discriminatory laws that we already have on the Statute books. They contend that, in order to have more nearly equal opportunity for all, we must repeal all these discriminatory laws that make for unequal opportunity. They contend that the primary cause of unequal opportunity is such laws as the Wagner law, the minimum wage law, the maximum hour law, tariff laws, graduated tax laws, excise taxes, the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust law, the Norris-LaGuardia act and subsidies of all kinds to individuals.

They also contend that before we had these laws, people more nearly had equal opportunity than they have now. They contend, with Jefferson, that the best governed nation is the least governed nation; that is, men more nearly had equal opportunity when the government did not attempt to protect any individual from his own inefficiency and indolence.

Yes, we certainly now have unequal opportunity. The question in dispute is not whether we have unequal opportunity, but what is the cause of the unequal opportunities we now have. We must find the cause before we can correct the condition.

Those who oppose more government regulation as a remedy point out that there are three reasons why government interference with free initiative will increase inequalities of opportunities rather than make them more equal.

First: It is impossible for the regulators to know the relative value of many thousands of different services. The government bureaus therefore cannot be efficient. That with complete government regulation business men would only be office boys for the government.

Second: Government officials are not as likely to be fair and honest as private business men are. The reason is that in private enterprise the dishonest person can be punished quicker by withdrawal of patronage than can the appointed agent of the government.

Thirdly: These millions of government regulators produce no wealth. They consume without producing equal value.

Success of Some Not the Cause

It seems, from the suggestions made by many New Dealers and Socialists, that they believe unequal opportunities are results, not of discriminatory laws but from the great financial success of some people; that financial success in business is like success in war or in games; that one party being successful means the failure or the loss of another. This is not the case. One group cannot be successful financially unless other groups are also successful in their respective lines. They see someone inconvenienced and his income temporarily reduced who has the idea that he has a right to trade his services for more than others are willing and able to perform the same service. They, thus, draw the conclusion that the more efficient take away equal opportunities from the least efficient; that the success of one means the loss for another. They do not see that the underselling, or success, benefits the consumers of this product by an amount at least equal to the temporary loss of the one individual who is undersold; that the success of others in different lines more than makes up to the one undersold any inconvenience or imagined loss he has suffered; that all have improved opportunities comes from the success of some producer producing for less.

This belief causes them to be afraid of bigness. They think bigness deprives the less efficient of equal opportunities. So, it is natural with this erroneous belief—that the success of one man in business means the failure of another—to believe that unequal opportunities result from some being very successful financially instead of from the real cause of the government making discriminatory laws or failing to enforce the laws that are intended to make all people equal before the government and God. The result is that these people who have not made a careful study of the causes of prosperity are invariably advocating laws that impede the success of the most efficient. This, causes more hardship and their usual remedy is more government discriminatory, arbitrary laws, instead of repealing the ones already on the statutes causing the trouble.

Cicero answered this question of whether the worker had unequal opportunities or was harmed by the success of one man in producing, when he asked the question whether the worker would have been better off if the temple had never been built.

Yes, we most certainly have unequal opportunities. The remedy is not as the New Dealers claim, more laws, but fewer laws.

A BIRD IN THE HAND

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, May 28—If people believed what they see in the movies, Sonja Henie's new picture would cause whole brigades of rookies to try to wangle service in Iceland. The impression you get on the set is that the sub-arctic island is peopled almost exclusively by beautiful, warm-hearted, short-skirted gals who are fond of music, dancing and gents in uniform.

The scenery is austere enough, for in all directions you see barren cliffs or painted stretches of sullen, gray ocean. The immediate atmosphere and climate around the hotel at Reykjavik, however, are like that of Lake Placid or Sun Valley during a chorus girls' convention.

It would have been easy for 20th-Fox to introduce these sprightly cuties as a musical comedy troupe cast away in Iceland by the torpedoing of a liner.

When I asked John Payne whether he skates in the picture, he replied that he doesn't do much of anything. "What chance has a leading man got against a couple of ice-skating comedians like Jack Oakie and Bessie Love?" he demanded. "The best I can do is stand still and underplay everything and hope that sooner or later the contrast will cause audiences to look at me."

Hollywood is guilty of a lot of untruthful misrepresentations, such as the "Iceland" picture, but most often there is amazing authenticity even in the most trivial details. On the set of "Orchestra Wife," where a scene in a doctor's office was about to be filmed, I glanced at some papers provided by the property man for the doctor to be thumbing over while he talked to Ann Rutherford. For all that the camera could see of them, these might as well have been bills of lading or letters from the studio fan mail department. Instead, they were carefully filled-out clinical charts plus a specially typed letter regarding an order for medical supplies.

The veteran prop man, a Rumanian count named Phillip D'Esco, said proudly that he always does things like that; has done them, at least, ever since he worked for Director Herbert Brenon.

During Brenon's production of "Sorell and Son," D'Esco recalled, he was told to buy a three-five-pound note for use in a scene the next day. All the banks in Los Angeles were called, but none of them had one. D'Esco then telephoned a big bank in San Francisco and arranged for the currency to be rushed here by air.

The scene next morning was one in which Carmel Myers, the hotel keeper, paid off H. B. Warner, the porter. "This, now, is fact," said D'Esco. "Brenon took from me the five-pound note I had almost gone crazy getting, and he put it in an envelope and sealed it, and wrote on the outside, 'Wages, Five Pounds.' In the scene, Miss Myers handed the envelope to Warner, and Warner put it quickly into his coat pocket. Nobody saw the money, but Brenon said that the scene was played better because both people knew the money was there."

How Not To Do It

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Throwing money away cost a Brooklyn man another $5. He was fined for disorderly conduct when he stood on a street corner flinging paper money into a crowd. Previously the man had been arrested for playing policeman at a busy intersection.

There is a surplus of Bermuda grass at the rear of 1001 E. Francis. It is plowed up but not dug up, for anyone wanting it. There are some small sunflowers among the grass; please do not leave them.

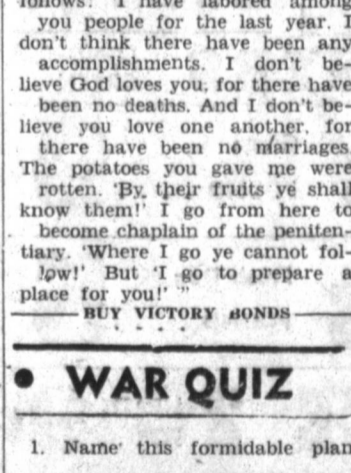

Drs. John Ross and L. E. Rehner of the University of Michigan are improving the eyesight of the navy by prescribing plenty of carrot juice and eye-exercises. The exercise includes moving the eyes sidewise, then up and down, then diagonally for 15 minutes in the morning and 15 minutes at night. After this massage the closed eyes with a large sewing thimble for five minutes.

This story is not original, and it comes from a Pampan who does not want to be quoted so you may guess who it is, but the way he told it the place was Pampan and the time was some mythical period in the months since Dec. 7. "News of the outside world was very scarce. There were no radios and no one subscribed to a newspaper, but they did have a live wire chamber of commerce and this great body decided to send a member to Amarillo and bring back the news. Crawford Atkinson was chosen to go, in spite of the fact that he had caught cold, and it was affecting his hearing slightly. When Crawford returned with the news he told something like this: 'From what I gather there is no war going on. It seems like a man named Roosevelt is mixed up in it, so is a man named Hitler, another named Mussolini, and some furriner named Hirohito. From the best I could hear they were fighting over some woman named Pearl Harbor.'"

This is lifted from the Boise City News, via the Dalhart Texan: "A minister, leaving his pastorate, gave his farewell address as follows: 'I have labored among you people for the last year. I don't think there have been any accomplishments. I don't believe God loves you, for there have been no deaths. And I don't believe you love one another, for there have been no marriages. The potatoes you have are very rotten. 'By their fruits ye shall know them!' I go from here to become chaplain of the penitentiary. 'Where I go ye cannot follow!' But 'I go to prepare a place for you!'"

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

Mrs. Roosevelt came back from the hairdresser's and was surprised to see some bags in the hall. . . son Elliott had come home unexpectedly from Africa. . . wasn't she surprised. . . not even the president had known he was coming.

That's the gist of what Eleanor wrote in her column, anyway, and the news she gave out surprised a lot of other people, too.

It was known that Elliott was in Africa, where he had been on duty as a major in the army air corps. What Mrs. Roosevelt told was how the major got back in such a hurry, which is a story in itself, and it might as well be told since— (a) the flight of one major hardly constitutes a troop movement; (b) the news of his arrival was given out by a recognized White House spokesman; and (c) the information can't possibly be of any aid or comfort to the enemy.

Major Roosevelt came back from Africa in a flying boat that was traveling exceedingly light—just a few other passengers. The route was, well, maybe the route is military information. But it was a route not ordinarily flown and it is believed the flight broke all records for speed between Africa and the United States. A flying boat of the type used on this trans-oceanic service was observed in Washington waters on the day before and the day Mrs. Roosevelt announced the major's return, though Washington is not a regular port of call for this type of ship.

Mrs. Roosevelt's column ended with a statement to the effect she was afraid Elliott would have to spend some time in a hospital, for he had picked up some kind of a germ.

If you will put together the pieces of the story, you can make out of it whatever you can make out of it. Maj. Elliott Roosevelt was taken sick in Africa—but not too sick to fly 6,000 miles, or so. He was rushed home by special flight, flown under emergency orders, necessary because of the variation from the courses usually followed by the Ferrying Command.

SAVE AND SALVAGE

Next thing on the program will be national campaigns on saving and salvaging rubber and saving gasoline.

In spite of all the extra authority granted the president under the emergency war powers acts, there is one type of law he cannot set aside—any law passed by one of the 48 states.

There is, at present, only one way in which state laws interfering with the war production effort can be circumvented. That is through the army which, in an emergency, can declare an area as a zone of military operations. Military regulations then take over and whatever the commanding general of the area says, goes.

HOW MUCH?

Inflation made the cost of the last war $15 billion higher than it would have been without inflation, but thus far in this war it is impossible to tell what the extra inflationary cost has been or will be, says Budget Director Harold D. Smith. One reason is that costs of war production have to be constantly recalculated. As manufacturers perfect their processes for doing things they never did before, their contracts are being negotiated downward, thus reducing the cost of the war.

James H. R. Cromwell, ex-husband of Doris Duke, ex-U. S. minister to Canada, who has been hanging around Washington all winter apparently looking for just the right job, has taken on a spare-time activity in sponsoring Korean independence. He is president of the Korean-American Council now, and writes letters to the state department about it.

The versatile and amazing Ivy Litvinoff, wife of the Soviet ambassador to Washington, has taken up sketching and is going to art school. In the evening, for practice, she sits and sketches the ambassador as the ambassador sits and reads.

THE ENEMY STRIKES

CHAPTER XV

TALCOTT accepted the print and as he scanned it his bewilderment grew. The print was a copy of a creased and rather smudged original. It was the head-and-shoulders likeness of a man in uniform, a Ulan officer of the first World War. His head was closely shaved or bald. Under a bulging forehead his eyes held the fixed, glassy stare of unquestioned authority. His chin was short and square, his lips thin and cruel. He didn't look like Struthers; he didn't look like anybody Talcott could remember ever having seen.

"That's a photograph of Baron Gerhardt von Stampf," the slow, musical voice said. "A brilliant and unscrupulous agent. He speaks five languages as fluently and effortlessly as if each was his mother tongue. He was operating in Brazil until the recent shakeup there. We have reason to believe that he may be in the Islands."

"It certainly isn't Struthers," Talcott said. "I don't like to think what a Nazi agent could do if firmly established nearby. We'll check on him thoroughly. And now, the cloudiness left his gray eyes as he turned to MacDowell, 'you claim to be employed by the Standard Detective Agency, that your name is Patrick MacDowell and you are a resident of New York. You have your license?'"

MacDowell was taken completely aback. He didn't recall having made any claims to this disconcerting individual; didn't remember that he had even opened his mouth. He fumbled through pockets and produced a card with photo attached, a motor vehicle permit and a few letters.

"These look all right. I want to know where you met Halsey and Struthers and what evidence you had as to their authenticity."

"This man! How the devil did he know about Halsey when his name hadn't been mentioned? Why, I met Halsey in Struthers' office. It was Struthers called the boss and asked for me. I worked with him before."

"Struthers was known to you?"

"Absolutely." "And Halsey?" "Halsey took me to Federal Chemical's offices. Right straight in to the president's private secretary." "And the secretary instructed you to arrest Talcott if the auditor requested it?" "That's the idea." "You didn't talk to anyone else at Federal Chemical?" "No."

"The man at the desk frowned. 'Talcott notified the Company he was leaving; your call came from the auditor, not the company. A man whom you had just met in the auditor's office took you to the secretary. Have you any evidence that Halsey is actually an employe of Federal Chemical?'"

MacDowell gasped. "Huh? What more would you expect? He took me right in!" "Anybody can go right in if they've got clearance," the gray-eyed man smiled faintly. He turned to Talcott. "Did you know Halsey before?" "Only through letters."

"Which could have been sent without the knowledge of the President. This may be a conspiracy to defraud the Company, or—" He paused, searched through his drawer again, found a blue sheet. He said, "You operate a distillation plant for the production of nitric acid. How much oil does it consume?" "About a barrel a day."

"How much stock do you ordinarily carry?" "Two months' supply." "Any idea why Struthers would order five hundred barrels to be shipped immediately?" "Talcott lifted his eyebrows. 'Five hundred barrels! Not unless he was afraid priorities would shut off his supply.'"

"The man at the desk shut himself behind his eyes. One, two, three minutes passed in which his fingers drummed restlessly. Then, sighing, he said, 'Well, I'll watch it. And I suggest that you watch yourself. There can be only two possible answers to the auditor's conduct. I'm rather hoping, for the sake of all of us, that he's trying to take the Company for a ride. Good luck, Bill.'"

"HOWD that guy know about me?" MacDowell demanded when they again faced Emancipation Park. "What did he ask all them questions for? How'd he know about Halsey? Nobody said nothing to him about Halsey, not unless you got to him while I was asleep. And who is he anyway?" Talcott grinned. "I'm beginning to understand why Struthers picked you for this job."

"Huh? And what's how much oil you use got to do with all this, I'd like to know!"

"If I knew all the answers I wouldn't be going back with you." MacDowell lapsed to muttering. It sure was mysterious. Walk up an alley and climb a flight of stairs and there, in a little room 600 miles from home, was a guy who knew all about you. Who knew all about Halsey before his name was even mentioned. A guy who asked dumb questions about how many barrels of oil it took to run a still. A guy who talked about international intrigue; as if anybody would want to get control of a stinking, desolate hunk of rock like Abas Island.

Suddenly a look of positive brilliance burst from MacDowell's face. "Hey! That guy!" he gasped. "That guy is—" "But Talcott was yards away, striding toward the waterfront. Briskly heading for a crowd gathered on the quay, a group of natives and tourists and shopkeepers and sailors. The crowd was growing in volume. People were running to it across the small Park; running men brushed past MacDowell."

Down there a woman screamed; the crowd bulged and parted momentarily and MacDowell saw a uniformed officer pushing them back from the launch that belonged to Federal Chemical Company's Plant Number Six. Another uniformed officer was in the launch, bending down. Well, maybe the cops could tell him something. Maybe they could tell him about the guy in the room that knew so much.

He had to run to keep up to Talcott. When they reached the crowd he saw that the people in it were scared. They were staring at the launch and the bent-down officer, jostling each other in their effort to see.

Beneath his tan, Talcott's face was white as milk. "What's wrong here?" he demanded so sharply that the officer looked up. "What's your boat?" the officer demanded.

"I'm in charge of it." "Then you're the one we want. Walter, take the gentleman over to the Fort." The officer stood up, and MacDowell, crowding close, saw Sebastian. Stretched out in the bottom, he was, his bandaged arm covering his face. Beneath the blade of his left shoulder was a glistening dark stain from which a knife-handle protruded.

High Bonuses Given To Avoid Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The House Naval committee was informed today that the Lincoln Electric company of Cleveland, O., had handed out bonuses in 1941 ranging as high as $50,000, and that among them was one of $25,000 to a $4,121-a-year plant foreman. Others running from $3,000 to $5,000 went to $30- and $40-a-week employes. It was testified. Edmund Tolan, counsel for the committee, declared that he was presenting the Lincoln case to demonstrate how there could be evasion and avoidance of the excess profits tax through the payment of bonuses, and said he would show the need for a "ceiling" on such payments.

Air Force Has Enough Crews To Handle Bombers

By JIM THOMAS
SPOKANE, Wash., May 28. (AP)—For the discomfort of the enemy—Berlin, Rome, Tokyo—Maj. Gen. Robert Olds asserted today the personnel of the Doolittle mission which bombed Japan was "just an advance sample" of what all the thousands of bomber crews being developed in the United States will be able to do.

"Units graduating from the second air force," he said, "General Olds never refers to bomber work as pilots, or gunners or individuals, but of units and teams," "will be trained in their routine procedure so that any given entire squadron can be given a mission to bomb Tokyo, Berlin or Rome and do just as good a job as the advance group of select volunteers under General Doolittle did."

General Olds, who took command of the second air force only 12 days ago, has completed detailed inspection of the world's most far-flung advanced bomber training organization and made his statements in an interview regarding the inspection.

Two other points were stressed:

1. Trained pilots and crews will be ready to handle all the bombers it is possible to produce.
2. It takes time to build an air force, and there is no substitute.

"The long range bombers coming off the American assembly lines now are built with the precision of a watch. We expect, and demand, that they be handled with the same precision, in every respect," he said.

It was awarded: The trophy for the best daily in a city of less than 50,000; the trophy for the best front page; and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce community service trophy in recognition of its successful campaign for a county health unit.

The trophy for the best weekly in a town of less than 2,000 went to The Redlands Herald, Nacogdoches. Dr. J. J. Taylor, editor of The Dallas News, was voted the outstanding editor of Texas.

David W. Warren of Panhandle, president of the Texas Press association, was a principal speaker at the convention.

Garden Of Pampa Woman Filled With 2,000 Dahlias, 7,000 Other Flowers

By LORENE OSBORNE LOCKE
Her hobby is beauty. When, because of ill health, she had to turn from fine needlework and oil painting to some other medium of expressing this urge for the beautiful, Mrs. J. K. Redman turned to flower growing. Each late summer and fall her dahlia garden makes you agree with the poet that a thing of beauty is a joy forever. People drive miles to see it.

I am sure that no one who has visited that small cottage on Faulkner and seen the gorgeous riot of color at its height would challenge the statement that this quiet, unassuming Pampa woman is the dahlia queen of the Panhandle.

And she, more than any other one person, is responsible for making Pampa the center of a tremendous flower interest, the dahlia lover and the dahlia grower. And that on these plains, where not too many years ago, they told us that flowers and shrubs would not grow.

Did you see the Redman Dahlia garden last fall? If you did you understand what I mean. She had 2,000 hills planted in the glamorous flowers on part of two city lots. In addition to these she had 5,000 gladioli, and tuberoses, cannas, and other blossoms.

The dahlia is a man's flower. Though it has plenty of women growers, too, no other flower can marshal half the enthusiasts among men that the dahlia does. Someone has said that the reason for this is that men love big flowers and little women and that women love little flowers and big men. Whether this is true and is the explanation for the showy, colorful dahlia's popularity or not, the fact remains that it has gained such a following both of men and women, that a national society is devoted to its interests.

Native Of Texas
But, this started out to be Mrs. Redman's story, though dahlias are so woven into her life that they will inevitably creep in. She is a native Texan, but was reared in Oklahoma. She came of a real pioneer family. Her father was an early-day buffalo hunter who came west for his wife's health and drifted into that favorite profession of the Indians and other pioneer white men.

Mrs. Redman says she got her love of growing things from living on a farm as a child. After finishing school she taught for a number of years. She has lived in Pampa 16 years, coming here from Vernon, attracted by the oil industry as her husband is a rig-building contractor.

Her first desire to create beauty Mrs. Redman expressed in fine needlework. She has a priceless tablecloth which she designed and executed in Spanish cut-work during this early period of her life. It is a grape and leaf design, inspired by the grape trellis in her father's backyard. She used her mother's wedding ring as a pattern to make the grape clusters uniform.

"The cloth is edged in handmade lace, five inches deep, tatted in intricate design. Mrs. Redman spent all her spare time for two years on this piece of handwork."

"How much more joy it is to grow dahlias," she smiled. "However, my mother is partly responsible for my pleasure in working with my hands," she continued. "She is over 70 years old and still does lovely and colorful handwork, especially knitting."

Portrait Painter
It is different with her art. The dahlia artist was once a pupil of Georgia O'Keefe, the noted woman artist. She was deeply interested in portrait painting, and as you talk with her you wonder if after all art is not her first love. This is understandable as she painted for more than 20 years and has some beautiful examples of her work hanging on her walls.

"In fact, I'm sure my love for flowers came out of my love for painting," Mrs. Redman told me. "I first began flower growing to relieve the nervous strain from painting."

When she became acquainted with the dahlia her art had a rival. "It was while visiting in my mother's home that I saw the first blooms of the showy tuber. A bouquet was sent to a neighbor's funeral. I found out what they were and where they came from. The florist in Sweetwater who had supplied the funeral flowers told me how I could get some of the bulbs. He also told me what he knew about their culture. It wasn't much. "But I came back to Pampa with three of the tubers. That was 15 years ago."

Mrs. Redman is sure these were the first dahlias raised in Pampa or vicinity. No one who saw them growing had ever seen them before. This year she will have her 2,000 dahlia hills again but plans to raise 10,000 of the gladioli. Now is the time to plant dahlias if you wish to start a garden.

Last year Mrs. Redman added a greenhouse to her other flower activities. "I have no extensive greenhouse business, however," she explained. "It is the growing I like. I do not push the commercial part."

The owner of the Redman garden does not maintain any mystery about her success. She is very generous about passing on to others any secrets she may have gained in her experience with the flowers.

The dahlia must have well-drained soil and it is native to the high regions of Mexico where it is hot and dry. The first European to see dahlias growing was Ferdinand Hernandez, who discovered the beautiful plants growing in the gardens of the Aztecs in ancient Mexico. He reported the finding of them to Philip II of Spain.

Hernandez was so struck with their beauty that he later wrote so much concerning them to his monarch that it was easy to identify them as the type of flower later named for Andreas Dahl, the Swedish botanist.

There are now over 8,000 registered varieties of the dahlia and each year sees a number added to the market. It is possible to grow as many as a hundred varieties in Texas. Mrs. Redman must have every one of them.

"Dahlia culture is most simple," she tells us. "Anyone can grow them with a little care and attention. The secret of fine flowers is to keep them growing at all times. Don't feed them too much at one time. Plant foods or fertilizers are essential to proper growth of plants. About 30 days after plant has begun to grow, dairy loam or other fertilizer should be worked into the soil not too close to the plant."

"Dahlias do not have bulbs, but roots or tubers like a potato. Each one planted must have an eye on it. Plant tubers flat or at a slight angle, never perpendicular. Never plant under or near large trees. This shades them too much and the soil is poor."

"The dahlia should be made an individual part of the general garden scheme, rather than blended into it," she continued. "If you have only a few of the plants place them all together, not too close to each other, but in the same group. They are more striking en masse, we might say. In fact, most flowers are."

"What about cutting them?" I asked. "Does that interfere with their growing or blooming?"

"On the contrary, the cutting of the flowers for home use," said Mrs. Redman, "definitely extends the blooming time. It encourages new growth and more blooms. So do not be afraid to draw from your dahlia garden for cut flowers."

"After the blooms are cut, the keeping qualities can be greatly enhanced by placing the tips of the stems in hot water (not boiling) for about 10 minutes. This should be done immediately upon cutting them. After this searing process they should be placed in cold water out of drafts and away from direct sunlight."

If you do not want to become a dahlia enthusiast, stay away from the Redman gardens, for every one who comes into real contact with dahlias is pretty sure to develop a deep enthusiasm for them sooner or later, believes Mrs. Redman.

Perhaps the reason for this is that no flower reflects more truly the America of today than the dahlia. It is big, showy, colorful. It combines the very qualities which appeal most strongly to the average American.

Her next ambition is to try orchids, says Mrs. Redman.
