FDR Asks Americans To Honor These Flags

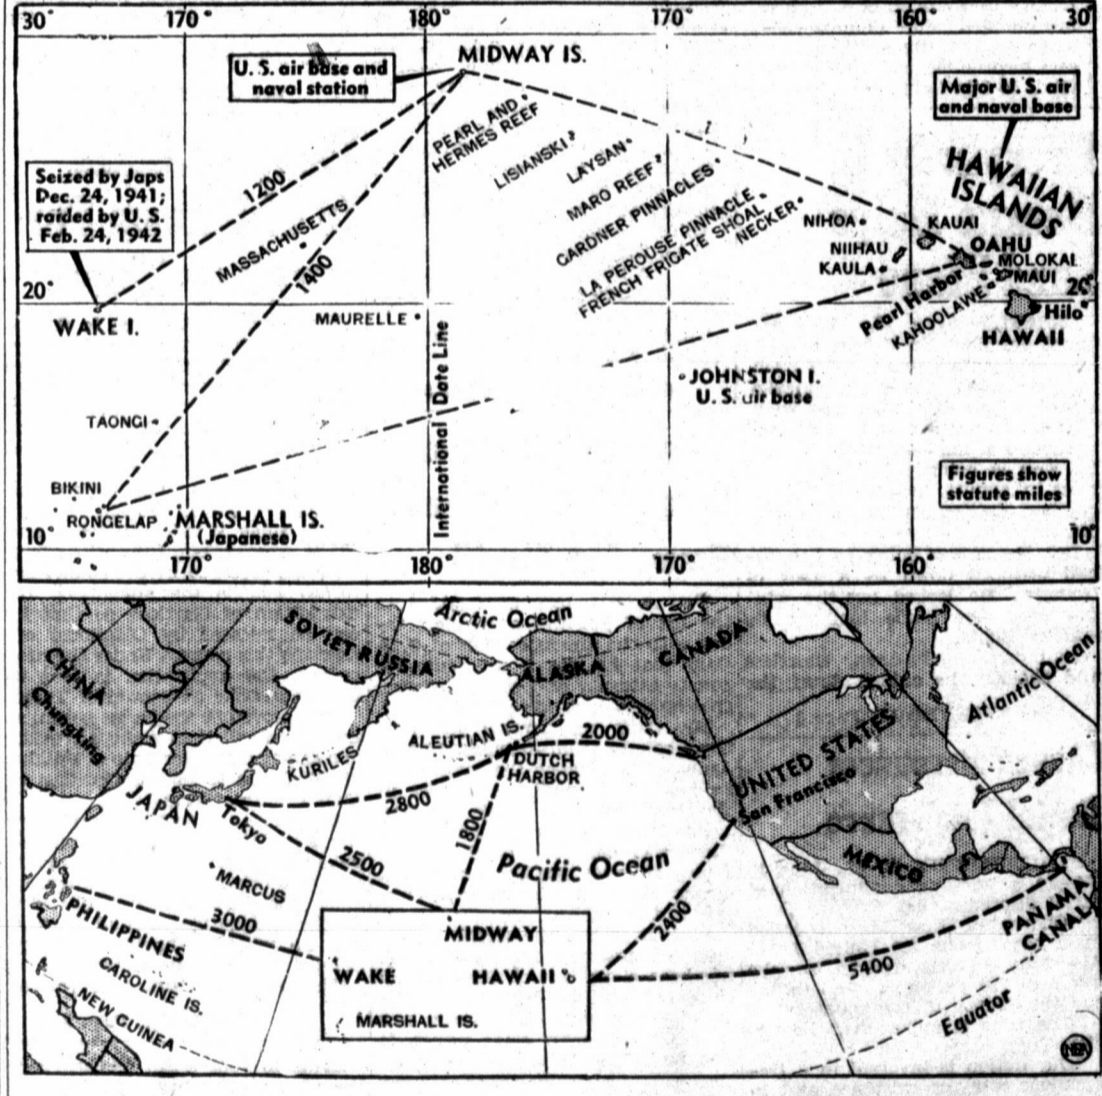

It is fitting that on our traditional Flag Day we honor not only our own colors, but also the flags of those who have with us, signed the Declaration of Independence, paying homage to those nations awaiting liberation from the tyranny we all oppose, to those whose lands have escaped the scars of battle, to those who have long been heroically fighting in the blaze and havoc of war.

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The United Nations' flag—and the flag of Mexico, which declared war after the President's proclamation—are shown above.

MEXICO CITY, June 13 (AP)—A Russian delegation of six army officers, engineers and economists which has just arrived in Mexico was stated officially today to be exploring the possibilities of investing in Mexican war industries. General Salvador Sanchez, chief of the army's general staff, told newspapermen the Russians were here purely on an economic mission and that their mission had no military or diplomatic significance.

Texas Naval Flier Killed In Crash

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 13 (AP)—The navy reported today that Samuel Nathaniel Warren III, 22-year-old aviation cadet at the U. S. Naval Air station here, was killed yesterday in the crash of a dive-bomber on Padre island.

Warren, son of Mrs. Margarette C. Warren of Marshall, Texas, had been in training here since last December. A former retail clothing salesman, he had been in the national guard three years. The funeral will be at Marshall.

TODAY IS... FLAG DAY

This year Flag Day, June 14, means more to Americans for our flag stands for freedom. Now that that freedom is in jeopardy, the day on which we pay tribute to our flag has a deeper meaning. When we display our flag we will be showing the world that we prize our liberty so highly that we cannot fail to keep it.

New Type Torpedo Bomber Surprised Japs At Midway

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—A new type torpedo bomber with a top speed of 270 miles an hour was disclosed today by the navy to have been "one of the surprises that met the Japanese at Midway Island." The new plane is designated officially as the TBF but is known as the Grumman "Avenger." The navy disclosed that the Avenger types reached the Pacific fleet "weeks ahead of schedule" and four months after the first production model left the factory. It also disclosed that in comparison with existing torpedo bombers the Avenger had a "much greater range and is 25 per cent faster." In addition to the top speed of more than 270 miles the Avenger was listed as having a range of 1,400 miles, a normal load capacity of 2,000 pounds of bombs or one torpedo and a ceiling of more than 20,000 feet. "The Avenger has proved to be a worthy battle companion to the

Burglar Gyps Partner Out Of Share Of Swag

The old saying, "Even among thieves there's honor," was debunked here Friday afternoon when a Pampa man, arrested in connection with a series of burglaries, learned that his partner had gyped him out of his fair share of the swag from one of the burglaries. The two men, one in jail here and the other in Holdenville, Okla., entered Lewis Hardware store on South Cuyler street, according to a confession signed by the man arrested here. While the man in jail here grabbed a shotgun and a rifle, his companion rifled the cash register. Both guns have been recovered. After leaving the building, the pair decided to divide the loot on a 50-50 basis. So one took the rifle and the other took the shotgun. Then the man who had rifled the cash register handed his companion $3.75, stating that it was half the amount taken from the cash drawer. It wasn't until he had made his confession that the man in jail here learned that $25.34 had been taken from the store. When the man is returned from Oklahoma officers had better keep him in a separate cell from his companion or there'll be a young war in the county jail.

Germany Hurls New Submarine Threat At Allies

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Germany's answer to Allied threats of a second front this year is to be an extension of unrestricted submarine warfare over the entire North Atlantic directly to the U. S. coast, the German radio announced tonight.

"Every ship which enters this zone after June 26, 1942, will expose itself to destruction," said the announcement, heard here by CBS.

In outlining this unrestricted policy of U-boat preying—a policy which led to the United States' entry into the first World War—the Berlin broadcast defined the forbidden zone as follows:

"From the Belgian coast three degrees east, over 62 degrees north, three degrees east and 68 degrees north, 10 degrees west to the coast of Greenland along 68 degrees north, then along the Greenland coast to Cape Farewell and from there to Cape Harrison; thence along the coast of Canada, the United States of America to Key West; from there along 20 degrees north, 60 degrees west, 45 degrees north, 20 degrees west and 45 degrees north, five degrees west and then to the French coast at 37 degrees, 30 minutes north."

This charted a line running north from the Belgian coast through the center of the North sea, then westward to include the waters about Iceland and Greenland, then south along the Canadian and U. S. shores to the West Indies.

"Such an extension of the realm of operations on the part of the German navy," the broadcast added, "is more than an announcement on paper. That has been proved already beyond a shadow of a doubt by the successes achieved by German submarines in American waters."

"With the pact concluded in London and the agreement said to have been reached in Washington between the English-speaking democracies and their Bolshevik ally, it is an entirely different matter. Here is a declaration on paper which is far from being backed by any reality which might have an influence on the actual course of the war."

"The only point which might be of interest when viewed from a strictly dispassionate and strictly realistic value, is the alleged decision to set up a second front in Europe this year."

"That, of course, is a hope perhaps not so much of the democracies themselves as of their hard-pressed Bolshevik allies, a hope which, paradoxical as it may seem, is shared by the German army, whose forces are itching to give a warm reception to any Allied expeditionary force which might attempt to fulfill the demand from Moscow."

Houston ranks fifth among the list of 17 cities in the United States whose population increased ten percent or more from 1930 to 1940. During this decade, Houston's population increased 31.5 per cent.

According to geologists, most of West Texas was a shallow continental sea 250,000,000 years ago, and an ancient land which they term Llano-ria extended far into the region now occupied by the Gulf of Mexico.

Tire Appraisers To Receive Tires At County Warehouse

Tire appraisers, working on a fee basis at a county warehouse, will soon be a development of the federal government's tire rationing set-up.

In case you know anyone who can qualify for the job, the Gray County War Price and Rationing board, located in the city commission room at the city hall, would like to have their names.

Reason is that the board must submit the names to the Reconstruction Finance corporation's regional office in the Cotton Exchange building in Dallas.

Under the plan, announced in a letter received here by the board from Mark McCree, state rationing administrator, the Defense Supply corporation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation will offer to buy, or receive as gifts, excess tires of consumers.

Tires are to be turned in to rationing warehouses. There is at least one such warehouse in each county, where appraisers will be stationed.

Boards in the county seats are to recommend five tire appraisers, who are to be qualified tire graders, know present ceiling prices, and willing to appraise tires on a fee basis, at least part time.

Payment of the fees would come from the Defense Supply corporation.

POWERFUL DRAMA, FINELY DIRECTED AND ACTED is Warner's "Kings Row," film version of Henry Bellamann's novel which interlaces the sordid and the sweet in a small American town in the days of the dying horse-and-buggy.

"Kings Row" is a splendidly-fashioned film, beautifully acted and directed. It is interesting Americana and potent drama. Perhaps its punch would be greater among its contemporary big pictures had not the hand of war fallen over our land. Aside from the childhood sequences, there are few light touches to gladden. The accent is principally on the stuff side of human existence. But heady as this cinematic wine is, the current season will see few such stalwart, strong productions.

Ranchers' Rodeo To Be Held July 4th At Clarendon

CLARENDON, June 13.—The true west will live again in Clarendon July 4th when ranchers and cowboys gather for a one-day patriotic Ranchers' Rodeo.

The celebration, the oldest in the Panhandle, dating back to before the turn of the century, will depict the long-ago west. Even the parade will have no automobiles. Participants will ride horseback or in hacks or wagons.

Following the declaration of war it was decided to discontinue the celebration but so many were the demands that the committee approved a one-day rodeo with all proceeds going to the USO, and war bond purchases. Concession rights have been donated to the Red Cross.

Rodeo events will include calf roping, bull riding, bronc riding, and cutting horse contests in the adult division. A bull riding event will also be held for boys from 12 to 15 years of age.

Cash prizes will be given in all events.

The theme of the celebration will be honoring of the old-time and present day ranch workers from the Panhandle and special attention will be paid various outfits of yesterday and today.

The rodeo will be held both in the afternoon and night and admission charges have been set at 25 and 50 cents for both performances.

Borger Firm Named Co-Defendant In Scrap Metal Charge

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13. (AP)—Federal District Judge Edgar S. Vaughn today heard the first civil action in Oklahoma to be prosecuted under emergency price control regulations and issued a temporary restraining order against the Horwitz Pipe and Supply company.

The office of price administration charged the company with "buying, shipping and selling scrap metal at $2.50 a ton in excess of the OPA schedule."

Judge Vaughn's order permits the firm to continue business but puts them in danger of contempt of court proceedings in case of future violations. Hearing for permanent injunction was set for June 23.

Named in the complaint were the company, Louis Jack Horwitz, Max Howard Horwitz, Meyer Horwitz, all of Oklahoma City, and Harry A. Horwitz, who operates the company's office at Tulsa.

Also named as co-defendants, charged with selling at over-ceiling prices to the Horwitz company were the Texas Pipe and Metal Co., Borger, Tex.; Razian Metal Co., Woodward, Okla.; United Iron and Metal Co., Picher, Okla., and the Rozel Pipe-Metal and Junk Co., Tulsa.

Negro Shoplifter Loses Race With Woolly Manager

A negro shoplifter lost a race with Manager Del Hartman of the F. W. Woolworth company Friday afternoon. The manager caught the negro in the Cuyler street underpass just as the police car drove along Atchison street within a few feet of where Hartman captured his man.

Under the negro's arm, officers said, were 12 articles of ladies' lingerie, allegedly taken from the store. Yesterday in city police court Recorder C. E. McGrew fined the negro $25.

Do you know the three great services advertising renders

You?

To SURVIVE, an industry must serve the people and serve it well.

There are many ways in which advertising serves, but here are three of great benefit to you.

Advertising constantly operates to improve our standards of living by lowering prices.

It does this by making the economies of mass production possible.

You can make 500,000 of an article for much less per article than if you made only, say—100. So you can sell it for less.

With these lowered prices, more people can buy things and the standard of living of all the people goes up.

In other countries automobiles are almost unheard of in middle-class families. But, today over 20 million automobiles are driven by our people because with the aid of advertising their prices have been brought down within the means of more people.

Advertising makes possible free competitive enterprise.

Through advertising a small business man can expand to the full limits of his value to society. He can take his case before millions, whereas without advertising only a few hundred could be reached.

This creates healthy competition between business.

The consumer is always the gainer because competition forces quality and service to be better and prices to be lower.

Consider the automobile, radio, mechanical refrigerator or almost any product of 15 years ago and these products today. In every case you'll find quality improvement along with the lower prices.

Advertising helps vitally to perpetuate our Bill of Rights—our Freedom.

It does this by helping newspapers, radio stations, magazines, and other means of expression to remain solvent from the advertising revenues received. Without a free press our Bill of Rights would be next to worthless, because we would never be sure of what was going on. This would leave us wide open for the dictators—much the same as in Germany, Russia and Italy today.

WHAT TO DO

Mention these points if you run across an uninformed fellow who misunderstands the importance of advertising in our American Way of Life.

And make advertising your daily buying guide—because if you see a firm or product consistently advertised you can be pretty sure that firm or product is delivering you the greatest value for your money in quality, service and price.

Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS
In March we included in this column a poem that appeared in the "Red Cross Volunteer" called "Attention, First Aiders." The national office has had several violent answers to this poem, including one from a Pampa first aid instructor. The following published in the May issue of The Volunteer, written by Janie Griffith, a member of the Nashville (Tenn.) chapter, seems to best contain all the sentiment aroused by Miss Amy Grief's original attack:

"ANSWER"
While there's life, there's also hope
Of educating you, John Doe!
Waters, it's the folks like you
Who make our job so hard to do!
You say, when you are in the pink!
"Oh, how that First Aid work does stink!"
You talk about its worthlessness,
But wait until YOU'RE IN DISTRESS.
It's when you're stretched out dying that You'll welcome an applied cravat
When blood flows from your sliced-up veins!
It's then that you will chafe a restraint!
If you're found groaning in some ditch
You'll not object to traction hitch.
And you don't readily complain
When Thomas splints can ease your pain!
If in a state of asphyxiation,
You'll want artificial respiration.
And while you're waiting for the Doc
You'd not object to easing shock—
So, Brother, you just stop that yelping
Of saying First Aid work's not helping!
At least our tourniquets aren't things
As permanent as harps and wings!
With no First Aid you'd feel much worse
For you'd be waiting for the nurse!"

Eleven big boxes were sent from the production room this week and 10 of those were for men in the armed forces. That includes, of course, the kits which go to the army port of embarkation in New Orleans. One of the boxes contained garments for relief of civilians in war areas. Our thanks to the Pampa Office Supply company who gave us the rope to tie the boxes and to J. B. White who roped all the boxes this time. Hol Wagner should have our thanks, too, for the boxes he's tied at different times.

Mrs. Fred Vaughn answered our call for someone to put buttonholes in 20 bedjackets early last Monday morning. By afternoon the bedjackets were back ready to be bundled and shipped. There are another 20 ready for a volunteer now.

Mrs. J. B. White, executive secretary, sent in a volunteer special services report this week, covering the period from April 1, 1941, through March 31, 1942. It showed the following figures: 220 people gave 475 hours of service in the teared 659 hours during roll call, teared 659 hours during roll call, and 45 other volunteers donated 844 hours of service in other phases of Red Cross work.

Mrs. Hol Wagner also sent an annual report concerning volunteer work in production, which covered the same period. It showed that we had 1,104 volunteers giving a total of 37,248 hours of their time to this work!

Maxine Smart Becomes Bride Of Clayton Dunham

Miss Maxine Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Smart of Skellytown, became the bride of Clayton Dunham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dunham, of San Diego, in a ceremony solemnized at 3 o'clock on June 7 at the Calvary Baptist church with the Rev. Darrell Davidson officiating.

The bride was dressed in powder blue with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore. Mrs. Moore is a sister of the bride.

Present at the ceremony were members of the bride's family, Glenda Davidson of Skellytown, and the Rev. E. M. Dunsworth.

Mrs. Dunham was a senior in Pampa High school last term. She has been an active worker in the Goble's organization.

Mr. Dunham was graduated from Pampa High school in 1938 and later attended Oklahoma A and M college in Stillwater.

The couple left for San Diego where he is employed as foreman of a lumber mill.

LEADS FROM MARCH—When U. S. Naval Academy graduates begin their June week prom march June 18, Miss Mary Pauline Walston, above, of Austin, a University of Texas senior, will be at the head of the line with Willis Edward Maxson of Austin and Wichita Falls, regimental commander of the academy's graduating class. Next day the couple will wed in the academy chapel.

hand—socks, women's sweaters, and long-sleeved khaki keepers. We have enough to keep us busy all year, so that those who knit can't get up. More than that—we will have to have many new knitters. Women should be learning to knit now so that they will be ready to produce garments rapidly this fall. Our fighting forces will certainly need them next winter.

There are still some bed jackets to go. Maybe we can get them all out this week.

Mrs. Wagner is calling a meeting of all production assistants in the production room at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. It is very important that every woman be there.

Mrs. Sherman White is assisting now on Saturday mornings.

Mrs. Mike Roche was happy that so many of you came in to see the kits. You no doubt were interested in the garments we are producing, too. Come in again. You are always welcome.

"Modern war is where we are. We can see war in the undramatic, non-protective jobs, dirty jobs, hard jobs. We see it in the labor we can add out of what was leisure, in the materials we can add out of lavishness, in the strategic secrecy we can add by discretion. We see it in the strength we build out of merging all our little strengths, all our separate groups and units, into one great common effort."—From an address by Jonathan Daniels, assistant director in charge of civilian mobilization.

KEEPING tabs on fashion is Hollywood's business, and here's Rosalind Russell doing it literally. Irene designed both costumes for Rosalind's new Paramount picture, "Take a Letter, Darling." The suit, right, is sandy beige wool. It closes with one button in the middle of an unusual wide scalloped tab. In the pink and magenta hostess pyjamas ensemble shown at left, the tab closing again creates a striking effect.

were cut or filed too deeply. If that's wanted, the women's nailbits are sheered off, straight across and quite short.

That's really the only way to handle nails that need to grow out at the corners. The nail is then shaped with an emery board—sharp corners would catch and break—but the shaping is just the gentlest rounding of the center of the nail.

This shape is maintained for from one to three months, depending on the nail's condition. The cuticle should never be cut. It's pushed back. Hangnails are clipped. That's all. Then polish is applied: base, enamel, and protective sealer.

CALCIUM "DIET" MAKES GOOD NAILS
If you're troubled with splitting nails, you'd be wise to ask your manicurist to follow this method for a time, or to follow it yourself at home.

You might, simultaneously, build up the vitamin and calcium side of your diet—a pint of milk daily, with its 10 grains of calcium, or six oranges with same amount of calcium. Peanuts, pineapple, and prunes also are good.

If you're doing nail-punching work, you might even leave the polish off during the day, for a while at least. They will soon be in better condition, and will look much better than they ever did before.

Fingernails Can Be Prettier At Popular New "War Length"

Smart, war-busted women are taking to the shorter-nails fashion with enthusiasm, whether or not they wield a wrench in line of duty nowadays. And they're going in for reconditioning treatment manicures. It's a natural result of putting their minds to practical beauty.

Yvonne Sergeant, hand expert of one of Fifth avenue's finest salons, reports that most women are so antsy surprised, too, when they see that sensible grooming keeps their hands looking prettier.

Miss Sergeant, who sagely never put a piece of steel to finger flesh nor pointed a nail, even in the era of "the longer, the better," now suggests a reconditioning treatment manicure "to start off right" when women begin wearing shorter nails—especially women who have weak abused nails, thanks to corners that

War Need Not Spoil Bride's Reception

Despite the war, spring brides should plan to have a delightful reception. It need not be expensive, but it should be lovely.

An afternoon reception, around four o'clock, is simple, convenient and probably the least expensive, according to Margery Wilson, authority on etiquette.

"Make it a stand-up affair, with finger food. You can easily accommodate 50 guests at surprisingly low cost," adds this author of "The Woman You Want To Be," a guide to successful living and entertaining. "Have pink and white for your color scheme in both food and decoration. For the wedding cake have a spray of roses surmounting the cake, placed on a piece of cardboard right on the

Time Out For War—Uncomplaining Younger Generation Doesn't Need Or Want Sympathy

If you are middle-aged and inclined to sit around and feel sorry for the young folks who are having their lives disrupted, their plans interfered with, their futures risked—get better acquainted with the young folks you know.

They don't want any sympathy, figuring they don't need any. There was a period when young folks sat around and felt sorry for themselves and blamed the old folks because they didn't have what they used to refer to as "security." But the war put an end to that period.

Today, young folks aren't especially worried and they aren't complaining. They figure they have a job to do before they can get on with their lives and their plans—but that doesn't keep them from making the plans.

The attitude of this young couple is typical: The young man, Jim, and M. D. in June, when his fiancée finishes her second year of college.

BUY VICTORY BONDS
Get Ready Now For Time When Husband Gets Call To Army

A lot of young wives think they are facing the future if they say once in a while, "I expect Jim will be called into the army before very much longer, since we haven't any children."

But that's not facing the future. That's just talk.

The wife who is honestly looking ahead is already making plans for the day when her husband will leave home to fight for his country. She is getting things lined up so that she can get along as well as possible without him if she has to.

Then, if the war is still on, and they both count on it continuing, the young doctor will go into one of the branches of the service, his wife will go home to her family and finish college at their expense. (They always told her they would put her through school.) And, when the war is over, they will go on with their marriage.

To them it is as simple as that. Old folks could find all kinds of sorts with the plan, could see all sorts of reasons why it might not work out. But what all the young folks see is that they are in love, want to marry, and that they have a wonderful year ahead of them.

So, don't feel sorry for them. They are as light-heartedly happy as only confident, courageous young folks—who are sure life will never lack them—can be.

If she worked before marriage, she is either taking a refresher course, or she is already looking around for a job. Not just any job, for the war may last a long time. She is looking for a job that will pay something in satisfaction as well as in money.

If she were married before she ever had a chance to hold down a job, she is taking some kind of training to fit herself to earn a living.

CAN TAKE LOAD OFF HUSBAND'S MIND
By facing the future she is not only doing something for herself, but she is taking a great load off her husband's mind. Any married man who contemplates going into the army would do so with more peace of mind if he knew that his wife were capable of getting and holding a job.

That is why it is foolish for a woman to think she is really looking ahead when, all she does, is talk about the future.

If she is really trying to see what tomorrow is likely to bring, she is preparing for it. Because it is almost certain to bring changes so great they can only be met successfully by forethought and preparation.

SERIAL STORY

SPORTING BLOOD

BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: When Hunter Dent, Strickland Ballard's farm manager, finds Ballard's dead son, Junior, lying unconscious beside a hatch of money, he thinks he has a weapon against his rich but unscrupulous employer. Hunter has bet the elder Ballard that the latter will return the prize horse and new strain of corn which Ballard has stolen from him.

FATE OF THE MESSENGER

CHAPTER IV HUNTER DENT could hear the butter telephoning in an agitated voice. Hunter listened again to Junior Ballard's heart. There was just a faint throb of life there yet. A great remorse came upon Hunter. When he brought the boy here last night, thinking he was only drunk, he should have made sure. Everything now was complicated. The bank messenger near dying; Hunter had the missing $17,000 in his safe. His mind was added. He could hear Warwick's voice.

Red entered breathlessly. She stopped, met Hunter's eyes straight and hard. "Hunter! Is Junior in there?" "Yes, but you'd better not—" There was a long moment between them. "Is—is something wrong?" "Not serious, I hope. Warwick has called Dr. Ferguson and your dad—" "Look here, Hunter Dent. Tell me the truth. I can take it. What has happened to my brother?" She started past Hunter. He stopped her. She looked into his face. "Will you let me go ahead, Hunter?" "All right," he said, dropping his hand from her arm. "But pull yourself together. He's bad hurt. I guess he's finished. He's lost his last bet, I have a hunch."

HUNTER opened the door. Red went quickly in. Hunter watched her closely. She stepped across the room, stopped with a small gasp. If he expected her to throw herself across the body of her brother and become melodramatic he was slated for disappointment. She stood there breathing fast and looking upon the motionless youth. Hunter moved up to Red's side, a half-pace behind, just in case she could not take it. Then she turned. Her brown eyes were swimming. She went into his arms and put her face against him. It seemed hardly more than a few moments before Strickland Ballard appeared. It was so early in the morning yet that the man had not had time to shave. Dr. Ferguson was but a moment behind. Hunter remained by the bed while the doctor made his examination. Ballard's face was a study in worry, fear, and anger. "How is he, Doctor?" Dr. Ferguson put his instrument in his bag. "He's not gone yet. I can't say how it will turn out. We've got to get him to the hospital for X-rays and then maybe we will know." He glanced at Warwick. "Did you call the ambulance?" Hunter said, "We could use the big new farm truck. It is as comfortable as the ambulance and we'd save time."

"A good idea. Let's do that." As Hunter went out to get the truck Strickland Ballard followed him to the yard. He took his baffled wrath out on Hunter. "What's been going on around here? How did this happen? I thought I left things here in your charge, sir." Hunter was in a mood to hit Ballard where he lived—in his ego. "I am in charge of the animals, sir—and the crops. Including the famous Ballard Prolific strain. There was nothing said when I was employed here about being father to your children. I supposed you assumed that responsibility yourself." He strode off. In no time at all he came back in the powerful new truck. They gently carried the unconscious boy out and bedded him in the truck. Hunter drove. Until he was almost in town he did not remember he had not had breakfast, not even a cup of coffee. Being an out-door man he required food. He came to the hospital. There the attendants took Junior Ballard in Hunter's arms. He hardly knew why. He felt sorry for the family; maybe he should have waited with them for some final news. He asked at the information desk as he started out, "This young fellow from the First National Bank, who was attacked last night and robbed—how is he?" "He is dead."

Hunter was dazed. "Dead!" he repeated dully. "Did—he was unconscious?" "He died without making any statement." To his amazement he found Junior's big car just within the stone-and-iron gate which guarded the back boundary. The big truck was jammed against the tree. One casing had blown out. The door was open. Hunter made an examination of the spot, looked and found bloodstains in the wrecked car. His discovery did not simplify the general mystery. All Hunter could deduce was that Junior had come home by the back way, had been either so intoxicated or nearly dead he had had a wreck, by sheer strength he had got to the office, no doubt looking for Hunter; and then he had passed out. Afterward he went to the office. He sat down and tried to think. The messenger was dead. No tales there. Junior Ballard probably would die. Hardly any tales there. Hunter Dent had the $17,000 in the safe, and the combination was in his pocket. He seemed to have, he supposed, all he needed to make old Strickland come to him on his knees and say his amens. After that—what? "I wonder," he muttered. He went over to the safe, knelt, twirled the dial, opened the ponderous door. The leather bag containing $17,000 was gone! (To Be Continued)

Aviation To Be Taught Next Year In High School

A course in elementary aviation will be taught in Pampa High school next year as part of the science course. The course will be offered at the request of the government. Similar courses will be taught in all of the larger high schools, and some of the smaller schools, over the nation.

In answer to the government's plea for training of high school teachers in elementary aviation, West Texas State college at Canyon will offer a special course beginning this week. Attending from Pampa High school will be Mrs. G. H. Alexander, science instructor. It will be a course with graduate or undergraduate credit of six semester hours. Classes will meet three hours a day for six weeks. The cost of the course will be $30, including fees and books. The instructor will be Supt. J. W. (Ted) Reid of Dumas, licensed pilot who was a flier in World War I.

The purpose of the course is to prepare high school teachers to offer pre-flight training to high school boys and girls next term. Thousands of American high schools will offer this work in the fall. Phases of the special course will include airplane design and structure, communications, meteorology, aerodynamics, aircraft engines, elementary air regulations, safety and civil air regulations, and socialization. These subjects will be prescribed by federal agencies.

Sooner Roping Tilt Draws Interest Of Canadian Residents

CANADIAN, June 13—Local rodeo fans are interested in the roping contest to be held in Waurika, Okla., June 28, between Clyde Burke of Comanche, Okla., and Dick Truitt of Stoneham, Okla. Clyde Burke was proclaimed the champion roper of the National Rodeo association (then Southwestern Rodeo association) for 1941. Each contestant will put up $500 and agree to rope six calves and six steers, with the winner taking the $1,000.

The contest will be strenuous in that the two contestants will rope alternately a calf and then a steer, until the 12 have each been roped or missed. This is probably the beginning of such contests due to the fact that it is an endurance test as well as one of roping skill.

Fire Siren Used As Call To Prayer

CANADIAN, June 13—Late in April the practice of ringing the bell on the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock each forenoon was begun to call attention of the citizens of Canadian to a request to pause a moment in silent prayer for the success of our armed forces, making possible the survival of the best that exists in the United States of America. Pastors of the various churches took turns being responsible for ringing the bell. It was found that the sound did not carry to all parts of Canadian with sufficient volume to remind busy people indoors, so beginning this week the siren at the city plant, used ordinarily for fires, has been put into this service. The call to prayer is a clear-sounding whistle, not the continuous wail used in case of a fire.

Reported submarine-sinkings in the eastern Pacific remained at 7.

Physical Requirements For Enlistment In Navy Lowered

Physical requirements for enlistment in the regular navy have been lowered, it was announced at the Annapolis sub-station yesterday. Eye, weight, height, and teeth requirements have been modified to permit enlistment of applicants with minor deficiencies. Eye requirements have been lowered from 20-20 to 15-20. Height minimum requirement has been lowered from 63 inches to 62 inches, but maximum still is 76 inches. Weight must be in proportion to the build and frame of the man rather than age and height combination.

Chief C. M. Norman, in charge, said requirements on teeth had been lowered "substantially." His statement follows: "The navy offers the best opportunity to answer your country's call—and what's more, to build your own future! Because the navy offers you training in 45 skilled trades and professions—radio, aviation, engineering, photography, welding, electricity, and many others. And that means that when the war is over and your services can be spared, you'll be released from the naval reserve to civil life far better prepared to resume a civilian job.

"Navy training and experience are a valuable asset in life. Many of America's most successful men got their start in the navy. If you qualify, the navy may spend $1,500 training you to become an expert—and fitting you for a well-paid job when you return to civil life. "In the navy you earn while you learn. You get a pay increase automatically after four months, with further promotions to follow. You may earn up to $18 a month, plus allowances, plus your board and keep, plus the finest medical and dental care, plus more than $100 worth of clothing when you enlist. "If you have had special training or know a trade, here is the opportunity to use your knowledge at once. If you can qualify in any one of the navy trades (high school or college not necessary), you can join the navy as a petty officer right away... with the higher pay and allowances that go with such a rating. "Demands of an ever-expanding navy largely has been instrumental in the liberalized requirements. Further information may be obtained at the navy recruiting sub-station, third floor, federal building, Annapolis. H. V. Hamilton, yeoman second class, will be at the post office in Pampa Monday for the purpose of interviewing and accepting applications for the navy and naval reserve. BUY VICTORY BONDS

Lay Instructors First Aid Course To Be Concluded

The lay instructors first aid course which has been scheduled for the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross will be concluded this week by Elmo Lowe from the St. Louis office. Dr. W. Purviance will be the collaborating physician. The purpose of this lay instructors course is to train local people as first aid instructors. Invitations to participate in the course have been extended to residents of Wheeler, Roberts, Carson, and Donley counties. Men and women in good physical condition, holding current Red Cross advanced first aid certificates, with teaching ability, may take this course. Class membership will be limited to a maximum of 35 from the five counties. This class will meet in room 301 at the high school building Monday night at 8 o'clock. The advanced classes, taught by H. M. Cone and J. H. Duncan, have certificates at the local Red Cross office, which may be had if the following people will call for them: Adalen Brazil, Mrs. Harry W.
