Nazis Capture 25,000 In Tobruk Fall

By EDWARD KENNEDY CAIRO, Egypt, June 22 (AP)— Driving forward without a pause from their capture of Tobruk, Nazi mobile columns have clashed with British forces only a few miles from the Egyptian border, the British reported today, as the Allied position in the entire Middle East appeared threatened by the disastrous rout in Libya.

The British command said the clash occurred 12 miles northwest of Fort Capuzzo, which is just across the border in Libya.

It was indicated that a few of the garrison troops-British, South Africans and Indians-had escaped from the Tobruk disaster. Some small craft moved out of the harbor while it was under shellfire from German tanks and other parties fought their way through enemy fornations in the desert.

(The Germans declared they have destroyed a British naval formation of small ships leaving the harbor.) Isolated parties also were reported ontinuing resistance.

Negroes Escape From County Jail

Two Gray county prisoners, both trusties, made their escape from the county jail last night. One was James McNeil, charged here in alleged connection with a box-car robbery, the other a 17-yearold boy, also held on a robbery

Sheriff Cal Rose said the prisoners made their escape through his apartment, adjoining the jail, and went down the stairs and out of the building, while the sheriff was absent from the court house.

The sheriff had hopes of apprehending the two escaped prisoners in a short time. He had been absent from the court house only a short time when the prisoners made their get-away, and he said today it could not have been more than 10 minutes before he returned to the office when the prisoners got away. This is the first time any prisoners have escaped from the jail while Rose has been sheriff.

The Shape Of Total War

It is possible to say with little exaggeration that Oliver Lyttelton's accounting of the British war effort is a non-fiction, 1942 "What Price Glory" or "Farewell to Arms."

We, on this side of the Atlantic, have heard and read soul-searing accounts of the horrors of war where bombs are bursting, machine guns spraying, incendiaries firing, bayonets splitting human bodies. Piecemeal, bit by bit, we have been told something of the social and economic effects of total war in a democracy and of its even more scarifying effects in the totalitarian countries. But Lyttelton, the Donald Nelson of Great Britain has given us frankly, factually and without adornment, a picture of the complete readjustment that such war means to civilians. Every man and woman is subject to draft to work or fight. They cannot take jobs at will and move on when they please. They are frozen at their machines

Women work long hours-up to 55 a week-often at tasks that every man hates to think of having women do.

Boys and girls from 14 years up are almost universally engaged in war work on farms or in factories-not pin money, occasional tasks, but day-by-day drudgery that frees men for fighting and for even more onerous labors.

Not only has production of civilian goods been cut to the bone, manufacturers have had to see the patronage they had laboriously acquired turned over to rivals, so their own factories might be used for war goods.

Food is rationed. Money doesn't count. Cabinet ministers and factory workers, millionaires and subsistence level laborers, each is entitled to the same amount.

Clothing is rationed. The rich can have better quality, to be sure, but for each woman, whatever her income or bank balance, there is one coat, one dress, one pair of shoes, one nightgown, one set of undergarments, two pairs of hose and four handkerchiefs for this year.

After July 1 the ordinary civilian will get no gaso-

Income taxes start at the $450-a-year level, and climb fast to the almost completely confiscatory rate of 971/2 cents on the dollar.

This is the barest skeleton of what Mr. Lyttelton tells us of what total war means even after the danger of death or maining has been discounted.

We, too, are a party in this total war against Hitlerism. What are we civilians suffering that can be mentioned in the same breath as John Bull's Nazi inhumanity. It is a shocking story. A year ago printers' union, reinstate the workers with back it would have been blazoned over the front pages pay, deducting what they earned otherwise. of all newspapers, and the skeptical would have asked whether this was like the World War horror stories which were discredited afterward.

By now, more's the pity, we have learned that no savergy is too great for the Nazis to perpetrate. Atrocity has been heaped upon atrocity until authenticated accounts have ceased to be sensational news. After Poland, nothing seems worth doubting.

Today, because we were unprepared, we can only pity. Tomorrow, all pulling together, we shall be in position to promise to the people of Poland, of Greece, in private business when the business man has of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia and France and no way of knowing in advance what the rules Scandinavia and the Low countries that the Yanks of the National Labor Relations Board will be: are coming, and that those who manage to survive or whether the Supreme Court will finally de-

Common Ground

WALT WHITMAN

BELIEVING WHAT YOU PUBLISH, UNFAIR

LABOR PRACTICE! The National Labor Relations Board's Trial Examiner has ruled that the Santa Ana (California) Register is guilty of unfair labor practice.

The Examiner admitted as evidence signed editorials in the Register by the writer in the trial. In his report he emphasizes that publishing the criticisms of labor unions is not unfair labor practice. But the Examiner held that the beliefs that prompted the writing of the editorials was evidence of unfair labor practice.

The obvious conclusion is then that publishing editorials criticizing the Wagner law and the labor unions is not unfair labor practice, provided you do not believe what you publish. But if you believe what you publish, then you are guilty of unfair labor practice, provided this belief advocates all men being equally free tefore God and that there be no laws that favor any man whether he elects to bargain collectively or individually.

This is a very subtle way of depriving freedom of the press. If the government fines and punishes a man severely for expressing his opinion, selfpreservation tends to prevent him from doing what he thinks he should do in order to bring peace, justice and prosperity to his fellowman.

The Examiner also contended that the Register was guilty of unfair labor practice by not offering the printers an hourly increase, although he admitted the newspaper offered to increase the wages $120 a year for 120 more hours.

If the Labor Examiner's contention is correct, then any employer who does not offer to increase the hourly wages of the workers is guilty of unfair labor practice, no matter how much the rewards for the labor of the employers customers are reduced, as was the case with the orange producers in the territory in which the newspaper is published.

Another charge the Examiner claims was unfair labor practice was that the labor witnesses testified that the management told them that the publisher would not sign a contract even if the parties agreed on a contract; that the man ager's word was as good as his bond.

The Register Publishing Company, under for mer ownerships, had never signed a contract and the present owners were only carrying out the policy of the former owners. In every other contract which the owners of the Register made with the typographical union, they had always signed a contract. The managers of the newspaper were not aware that this was regarded unfair labor practice. It never had been in the past when the newspaper entered into a verbal agreement with the printers. It would seem that there could be no real refusal to sign a contract before the terms of the contract had been agreed to

The Examiner also contended that the publishers' demand for no limitation in apprentices and the right to control the work of the apprentices was unfair labor practice.

There was no evidence submitted in the trial to show that if the employers proposal for a new contract were not accepted, the employer would not continue as he had in the past to carry on the last contract made. All the evidence showed that it was the printers who refused to continue to carry on the old contract at the one dollar

The Examiner, nevertheless, recommended that the National Labor Relations Board order the From Greece come the latest tales of systematic newspaper to bargain collectively with the

> But the management of the newspaper does not even know now what would constitute bargaining in good faith with a labor union, when the government rules it is unfair labor practice if a higher hourly wage is not offered; if the employer has not the right to train his apprentices and use them to the best advantage; if the employer has not the right to determine the number of apprentices he can use to enable him to best serve his customers and society.

for yet a while shall see retribution exacted for the cide it is unfair labor practice to actually believe what an editor writes in a newspaper, provide it in any way criticizes labor unions and th yesterday tickled Manager Groer Seitz of the Clovis Pioneers who won the doubleheader from the Oilers. The ump has fined Grover a total of $100 this season, and Grover privately enjoyed the booing. It also amused him to see the ump being put in the position of favoring the Clovis team. . . I believe that the ump called them wrong several times yesterday, but far more aggravating to me was Manager Ratliff's futile attempt to beat Seitz' throw from the outfield to the plate. He should know by now that Grover can throw strikes all day from the outfield. . . The only time that the ump burned me up was when he called a strike on Pigg who seems to do everything right, even if he is only 16 years old. The doubleheader was worth attending even if the Oilers lost, and I would have sat thru both games just to see Brown make those two good catches in the outfield.

At the swimming pool. . . The 1942 brand of college sophistication is not snobbish, nor is it into account the events that are transpiring in 1942, and I'm thinking of three Pampa girls who appear to have intelligence as well as good looks—Ann Chisholm, Ann Buckler, Sarah Frances Bourland. They come out to the pool at intervals in the interest of a tan and swimming. They all went to college last year, and they show it, but subtly, which is a favorable reflection upon their school. . . there are a few things about this writing job I really like. F'rinstance, I like the part where . . after all the writin' and the routine is done . . . I just set back and think about things in general. (Oh, yes, that's part of the job, too.) Doesn't matter much what I think about. Sometimes I concentrate on one thing. Sometimes I think of lots of things, one right after the other.

Usually, when I get to thinkin', I send down for some beer. Seems a glass of heer not only touches the spot but it also sort of helps the thinkin' mood along.

It's such a peaceful, friendly beverage. Sort of honest and human. And it tastes good. I like to hold my glass of beer up to the light and look thu ugh it. That beautiful, golden-amber color kind of fascinates me. Reminds me of the sunny barley fields where beer gets its start.

MAYBE I shouldn't admit it, but After all . . . when you stop to think about it . . . beer is a simple natural thing. I read somewhere that all it's made of is good, wholesome farm grains and water and a little yeast ... with hops for flavor. Nature's process of fermentation and the age-old art of the brewer does the rest. I guess that's why beer is so wholesome. It really is the beverage of moderation. You just can't imagine anybody getting into trouble drinking a few glasses of beer.

. . . Well, here I am . . . going on and on thinking and talking about beer. Probably could go on for hours. That's the way I am when

I set back and get to thinking about things.

And by the way, taking it easy and "just thinkin" is fun. Try it sometime . . . quiet and comfortable like. Joe Marsh

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Wide World Sports Columnist NEW YORK, June 22.—Look for nore big news to pop any day now on the athletic teams that have been doing a fair country job of advertising our armed forces. But don't ask us to guess which direction it will pop. . . A lot of hints have been buzzing around that there's pressure from the upper regions to give the athletes less publicity and to keep them at their training chores, but there's also the unanswerable fact that their appearances speed up enlistments.

ice men. The set-up by army corps areas was arranged to facilitate movements of army teams within each for competition in ASA tournaments.

Military teams have been invited to participate in local, state and national meets and they can do it without charge.

Moreover, the ASA is furnishing rule books and giving trophies for all military camps, training bases and flying fields, and even the shinping cost will be absorbed by the association.

And while civilian teams find medals and trophies hard to get due to the metal shortage, the ASA will be able to furnish everything it promised the armed services. The organization last winter contracted for delivery of the metal and in the near future the trophies will egin flowing to all camps.

Bacon, working closely with army athletic officers in the eighth corps area, has arranged for championships of the six states to be determined by Aug. 23. The regional title will be determined in September, the winner going to the world tournament in Detroit.

He points out that this is the plan for the entire nation so there will be no reason for a young man who was a softball player back home not continuing his efforts while in the armed services. And this time By Galbraith it won't cost him anything. BUY VICTORY BONDS

Japs Inch Nearer Toward Alaska

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)-Under cover of fog and thick weather, Japanese landing forces have inched along the Aleutian island chain toward Alaska and now are establishing themselves at Kis-ka, only 585 miles from the United States navy base at Dutch Harbor This was disclosed in a comunique yesterday that told of the bombing of "a small force" of enemy ships in Kiska harbor. Army fliers reported hitting one cruiser and sinking a transport.

The communique said operations in the Aleutians "continued to be restricted by considerations of eather and great distances." "Within the last few days, however," it added, "the weather was sufficiently clear at times to permit some restricted air operations against Kiska where tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on The navy reported on June 12 that a small enemy force had landed on Attu, a barren, rocky isle marking the westernmost tip of the Aleutian chain. At that time the presence of enemy ships at Kiska was noted, but they were reported

American Legion Auxiliary Buys Limit Of Bonds

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22ments in the war bond drive, Mrs. of Mrs. W. H. Board recently. Mark Murrill, national president of the auxiliary, has reported to the

"There is only one form of installment buying that any true American should indulge in during the present emergency. That is the purchase of war bonds and stamps on the installment plan," she said.

Mrs. Murrill pointed out that, women buy 90 per cent of consumer merchandise, the American Legion auxiliary advocates that they buy less clothing, fewer new household articles, budget household expenses in order to buy bonds.

"Realizing that 100 per cent participation in the war bond drive is vital for all clubs and citizens, the auxiliary was one of the first organizations to ask that $25 series F bonds be available to organizations so that even the smallest chapter could participate.

In citing a few examples of the auxiliary participation, Mrs. Murril said, "At many of our luncheons and banquets the girls are using War Savings corsages. I recently attended a national defense breakfast in Orlando, Florida, where each of us found a ten cent savings stamp on our place card at the table.

'In Hyattaville, Maryland, our members are acting as stamp sales girls in the five-and-ten cent stores and have taken on total responsibility for staffing these booths.

"One of our units in Tennesse has insituted a 'sacrifice box' idea. Members forego some luxury each day and put the price of it into cigar boxes. The money goes for war tamps, of course.

"Mrs. Celia Wenz, our national treasurer, bought $50,000 worth of war bonds for our organization from the late Carole Lombard on the day before she was killed."

Not only is Mrs. Murrill a bond purchaser herself, but she has organized her family in this anti-Axis drive. Her husband keeps a tin tobacco box into which he empties pennies from his pockets each evening. In a surprisingly short time, he had enough to buy their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, a $100 bond on her ninth birthday. Mary Elizabeth, too, as president of the Defense club of Hatherle school in Scituate, Mass., has been active in the club's purchase of over $200 in war bonds

In summing up woman's part in the war, Mrs. Murrill said, "Women can contribute a material part of the effort and resultant victoryspiritually, financially and physically-and in their increased understanding of the problems confronting us, they will play their share in

After Army In Fighting Lines, Women Are Mainstay Of Hitlerism

By JEAN GRAFFIS Former Acme-NEA Berlin

Correspondent NEW YORK, June 22-American oman has a dangerous personal competitor in this war. That enemy is the German housewife, without whom Hitler's total war effort would have collapsed long ago.

Except for her men folk in the fighting lines, the German woman s the heaviest contributor of those things which Hitler needs to win. And unless her counterpart in America is ready to give the same measure of support and make the same sacrifices for the democracies, Hitler's chances of victory will be vastly increased. Three factors hold the German woman in line through all the trials 1. She believes profoundly in the superiority of the "Nordic Aryan" race and in the degeneracy of all

2. She is devoted heart and soul to Germany itself and seriously accepts her "mission" as the modern counterpart of the fabled Teutonic amazons who rode into battle at There are such things as factory or their husbands' sides in defense of the Fatherland.

3. She is fanatically faithful to her family and believes that for its SPINSTERS ADVERTISE preservation Germany must win. SHE'S RUTHLESS WITH HER FOE-AND HERSELF my if that is required to safe-guard the principles she believes in. And her part in the present struggle with herself.

She is ruthless in her personal sacrifices of food, as a toiler in factories, public services, and in many actually dangerous posts connected with national defense. Of less concern, but very real, are the sacrifices she makes in personal appearance and the niceties which appeal to women the world over. It is here that she makes her greatest challenge to her counterpart in America. She has already learned to do without many of the things which American women have in plenty.

DOES WITHOUT MANY NECESSITIES

Silk stockings, bobby pins, cosmeting thread and varn, shoes, galoshes, dry cleaning and laundry, soap, face powder, and many other similar accessories are unobtainable or rationed heavily in Germany. The Nazis have worked hard to the world, but this is little comfort cally. to the average German woman. These fashion showings are primarwhich can pay in foreign currency, after returning to work. But of all this, the German woman knows nothing. The nearest she at style shows is to look at news paper or magazine pictures of them. She must confine herself to her ration card and choose her clothing from the pine-tree, ersatz fabrics and designs of the mass-production

To this extent only, Germany is nation of Maedchen in Uniform. it very easy to slide into! You'll But the German woman makes a creditable, if not attractive appearfrock for the hurried morning ance. I knew personally of one girl who bought 30 pairs of the sheerest silk stockings through an Italian kitchen scullion who, he said, his orders through a "friend" in the Italian embassy.

Buying shoes through the same channels was more complicated First, the Italian got a shoe from the prospective customer. Then he found a woman in the embassy with the same size foot, and had her request a shoe ration ticket through official channels. Coming from the Italian embassy, this request was on by the war and urged Texans to granted by the Germans.

But such opportunities are rare. Furthermore, most German women would patriotically refuse to make such a deal. Besides, they say, with all the men at the front, there is no one back home really worth the trouble to look nice for After almost three years of war German women have relegated the clothing question to the background office jobs, having babies, long and tedious shopping, housework which must be done without servants.

A few require that prospective husbands must be Nazi party members. Most fortunate of the German working women are those in government offices. Although poorly paid, their hours are not exceptionally long, and they obtain extra privileges through their employers. Compared with American standards, their morals are not exceptionally high. Many otherwise self-respecting girls will exchange their favors for a small package of real coffee or chocolate candy. More difficult is the career of the woman or girl at a factory bench or machine. Newspapermen taken on propaganda tours of industrial plants were impressed with excellent health and working conditions and the high morale of women workers. STRAIN TELLS ON WORKERS

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst Marshal Rommel's capture of Toruk, and the precarious position of Russia's great naval base at Sevastopol under furious German assaultoperations vitally linked with Hitler's attempt to break into the Caucasus and Middle East-bring us appreciably nearer the moment when the Nazi chief will unlease his full pack and race for a kill. Our immediate concern is with Tobruk, for Sevastopol still stands. The British now are back on Egyptian soil, preparing to defend mighty base at Alexandria and block the road to the Suez canal. Obvi ously the position is serious. The London Press, surprised angered at this defeat, demands whether there has been a blunder. That's a legitimate qution, but pending further information we entitled to say no more than that Rommel again has demonstrated that he is a master strategist and is perhaps even greater as a tactician on the actual battle

Still, while the British certainly must inquire into the circumstance of the defeat, the problem now is to defend Egypt and the canal, for they must be held at all costs. We don't know how much the British have salvaged from their shattered eighth army which was operating in Libya, though a considerable force with drew across the border. Apart from this, there are the Egyptian army of 40,000 well trained men and 100,-

000 Allied guardsmen. So far as concerns land forces, it's this moment muster more men than the defense appears to have, although he is superior in tanks. However, it seems to be that the battle and Lipscomb counties, Bulletin for Egypt is likely to turn on air This doesn't mean that more troops won't also be needed, for they will

but the most pressing matter is air

This may be the time when Hitler will cut loose that vast air fleet which he has been grooming for so many months. One of the most sig-nificant news dispatches of the day is the report of a Greek submarir commander, who has just returned to Alexandria, that "the Nazis seen to have lots of aircraft on Crete and in Greece." From those positions the Germans could attack either the Middle East or Egypt. The greatest danger is that Hitle may not only stage a violent air offensive against Egypt, but may also reinforce Rommel with air-borne troops and supplies. Therefore control of the air over Egypt becomes a matter of paramount importance. and it will be surprising if the British aren't urging the immediate dis-

ments from the United States Allied mastery of the air over
