Allies Promise Offensive To Divert German Strength

Relief For Russia Planned At Meeting

Churchill In London To Face Critics

WASHINGTON, June 27—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today jointly promised a stroke at Germany which will divert Nazi troops from the Russian front and said the outlook for victory had improved in the last six months.

With Churchill safely back in London, they issued a statement which in addition called transportation the present "major problem" of the United Nations. But it noted that while the U-boat toll in the Atlantic was heavy, ship production was increasing and said new steps against the submarines were planned by the British and American navies.

The statement made no specific mention of a "second front," but nevertheless included a paragraph which provided an intensive whirl of speculation on that subject.

While exact plans, for obvious reasons, cannot be disclosed, the statement said, "it can be said that the coming operations which were discussed in detail at the Washington conferences, between ourselves and our respective military advisors, will divert German strength from the attack on Russia."

Many observers concluded that the millions of American and English troops mobilized in the British Isles were to be thrown into an invasion of the Nazi-held continent. Since the project had reached the stage of discussion in detail, some suggested that the day of attack might be very near.

Others cautioned, however, against jumping to conclusions and advanced the theory that the "coming operations" might be confined to intensified mass air attacks upon German cities; such as have spread havoc in Rostock, Cologne and Bremen.

ROGER ORMAN TOWNSEND had reason to smile when the above picture was taken. He had just received his wings as a second lieutenant in the United States Army Air Corps. Present when he was given his wings were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Townsend, 1202 East Francis avenue, his sister, Mrs. E. C. Thompson of Leadville, Colo., and Miss Dorothy Thomas of Pampa.

Lieut. Townsend enlisted in the air corps on Dec. 14, 1941. He attended Rankin Aeronautical academy, Tulare, Calif., Minter field, Barksdale, Calif., and Victorville field, Victorville, Calif., where he received his wings.

Lieut. Townsend accompanied his parents home for 10 days furlough. He is scheduled to leave for an unknown destination Tuesday unless given extra leave.

He came to Pampa with his parents in 1921 and attended grade school, junior high school, and high school here, graduating in 1935. He was active in musical circles in high school.

After graduating from high school he was employed by the Texas State college at Canyon for two years.

He attended Rankin Aeronautical academy, Tulare, Calif., Minter field, Barksdale, Calif., and Victorville field, Victorville, Calif., where he received his wings.

Red Armies Halt German Advances

By RICHARD McMURRAY Associated Press War Editor

The United States and Britain promised a great offensive that "will divert German strength from the attack on Russia" Saturday at a time when the great Soviet armies had halted furious Nazi drives near Kharkov and Sevastopol and the British sparred inconclusively with the Axis in the opening round of the battle for Egypt.

A highly confident statement issued jointly by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill told of "coming operations"—the nature and timing of which were kept secret to jangle Hitler's tortured nerves—and concluded: "There is no doubt in their minds that the over-all picture is more favorable to victory than it was either in August or December of last year."

The hour of attack seemed near, perhaps on a second front in Europe.

With the United States producing 4,000 planes and 1,500 tanks a month, the statement said the production of munitions "gives on the whole an optimistic picture."

It pointed up the great bottleneck of shipping—"the major problem of the United Nations." Since the U. S. entered the war, more than 310 ships have been sunk off our coast and nearby waters alone.

After a week of melancholy news, the stirring pronouncement was a needed tonic because titanic battles of decision either were started or imminent.

A powerful Axis army of three mechanized divisions and infantry drew up to within 15 miles of Matruh on Egypt's desolate sands and appeared ready to strike vigorously at any moment the shattered and badly beaten British eighth army, once more built up to full strength despite its severe losses in men and materiel during the retreat from Libya.

The battle 115 miles within Egypt and 165 miles from the vital naval base of Alexandria was imminent and the British placed great reliance on its air force to disrupt the enemy and starve him by shattering his communications. By night and day the RAF attacked the Axis ground troops. Marshal Rommel, reaching ever farther from his bases, definitely had slowed his pace but no one believed the critical battle would be long delayed.

Threatening Cairo, a dispatch said that "United States uniforms are appearing in greater numbers than ever in the Middle East, but they are worn mainly by service troops."

The German advance in the Kharkov sector of the Ukraine was checked despite mass air attacks, and a Russian counterattack with tanks at one place hurled the enemy back.

Rommel Drive Definitely Slowed Down

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO, June 27 (AP)—The British eighth army stood reinforced at full strength tonight 15 miles west of Matruh against a powerful Axis striking force spearheaded by three mechanized divisions aiming at Alexandria, 165 miles away, and the Suez canal beyond.

The Allied desert army was in position on a chosen line 115 miles inside Egypt, and military men said that when the imminently expected German onslaught comes, the veterans will defend Egypt inch by inch.

With the enemy within 150 miles of the lush Nile valley where 98 per cent of Egyptians live, there was no doubt the situation was serious but the eighth army—smarting from its bad defeat in Libya—was described as determined that the enemy shall not pass under way.

Marshal Erwin Rommel, the Axis commander, has thrown everything he has into his Egyptian invasion, military men said, but here he can reach the Nile he must smash through the 40-mile desert stretch between the Mediterranean and the great Qattara depression—a great inland sea of sand through which a modern army cannot move.

Rommel had advanced 15 miles overnight but he definitely had been slowed.

Axis and other reports reaching Cairo indicated that the battle of mechanized land forces was imminent, if not actually under way.

"By day and night, bomber and fighter-bomber formations of the Allied Air Force in the battle area have been turned against the enemy ground forces and ground air forces in the area west of Matruh," said tonight's RAF communique.

The Axis zone of forward operations stretching southwestward 80 miles from Matruh on the coast was criss-crossed by planes guided by men grimly determined to exact a terrific toll from the invader before he came to grips with the battered eighth army.

Panhandle Field Has Only Thirty Active Locations

Thirty active locations were being carried in Panhandle oil field reports last week, with three new locations announced and three wells completed. The number of active locations is probably the smallest at any one time since the field was discovered.

The Humble Oil and Refining company's wildest test on the A. S. Moss land in Hall county is shut down while the crew takes its two-week vacation. It is the policy of the Humble company to cease all drilling for a two-week period when all drilling crews take vacations.

Drilling is going ahead in the Pure Oil company's wildest test in Dallas county, near the New Mexico line, but no reports have been issued as to progress.

No further reports have been issued from Hacy, Harrington, and Marsh's two wildest in Sherman county. One of the tests is reported to have hit gas pay. The three new oil wells tested last week, two in Hutchinson and one in Gray, added 554 barrels of oil to the field potential.

The new locations were two in Gray and one in Hutchinson, all in proven oil territory and on 40-acre plots eligible to be drilled immediately.

Completions by counties follow: In Gray County Magnolia Petroleum co., No. 51 fee land 277, section 15, block 3, I&GN survey, tested 127 barrels.

In Hutchinson County Continental Oil co., No. 5 J. M. Sanford "C," section 80, block 46, H&TC survey, gauged 148 barrels. J. M. Huber corp., No. 3 Birch-Weatherly, section 24, block Y, AB survey, was given a potential of 279 barrels.

Intentions to drill: Texas Company, Benedict No. 4, 660 feet from the south and 550 feet from the west lines of section 55, block B-2, H&GN survey, Gray county.

Magnolia Petroleum co., fee 227 No. 52, 1,320 feet from the west and 1,980 feet from the south lines of section 15, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county.

A. C. Oates, Starnes No. 7, 330 feet from the west and 1,594 feet from the south lines of lot 7, section 24, block M-23, TCR survey, Hutchinson county.

Two More Allied Ships Sunk In Atlantic Waters

(By The Associated Press) The loss of two more Allied merchant vessels to Axis submarines in Atlantic waters was disclosed by the navy Saturday and survivors of two other United Nations' cargo ships sunk in the Pacific by Japanese U-boats reached an Australian port.

The Atlantic sinkings included a medium-sized United States cargo carrier and a small Yugoslavian vessel, and brought reported Allied and neutral nations' ship losses in that area since the United States entered the war to a total of 315 merchantmen.

The American ship was lost in the Caribbean May 28. Survivors said two torpedoes and 15 shells smashed into her before she went under. The entire crew of 41, including five navy gunners, escaped uninjured. Crewmen brought to an East coast port declared better lifesaving equipment and more frequent boat drills, ordered by the maritime commission, accounted for the declining loss of life on attacked ships.

Three torpedoes destroyed the Yugoslavian vessel off the Atlantic coast June 24, but the entire crew of 27 were saved six hours later when a rescue craft picked up their lifeboats. Survivors related that one of the ship's engineers observing the ship was moving too fast to permit the safe launching of lifeboats, went below after the second torpedo struck and reversed engines, then returned to the waiting boats.

Survivors from the two Allied merchantmen sunk in the Pacific disclosed how the earlier torpedoing of one of the vessels had brought about the sinking of the other. The disabled vessel's distress calls drew the second ship to the scene. The submarine attacked again, sinking both vessels.

Most of the lifeboats from the two ships were picked up by an Allied destroyer, while another group of survivors landed on a small Pacific island.

The shelling and probable sinking of an enemy submarine off the Cuban coast was disclosed by the skipper of the attacking U. S. merchantman, Capt. John E. Ellison of Upper Darby, Pa., who said the raider had been caught on the surface and did not have time to fire torpedoes or deck guns. He declared the U-boat turned over side ways as it went down in a crash-dive.

Destruction of a Japanese submarine in the Pacific was revealed by the British admiralty, which said the sub and the 8,719-ton liner Tongariro exchanged fire in a running battle and the U-boat disappeared after the fourth shell from the ship struck it squarely. A heavy blast heard half an hour later was believed to have been the end of the raider.

Three seamen who reached an East coast port recently told of undergoing three torpedoings in three weeks. The men described the loss of the first ship, announced by the navy June 2, and added that two rescue vessels later were blasted from under them.

In Washington, the navy moved yesterday to put 1,000 additional small boats into the war against undersea marauders off the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. All owners of seagoing craft were asked to volunteer the services of themselves and their vessels.

Allred And Moody Blast O'Daniel

(By The Associated Press) Dan Moody and James V. Allred, leading opponents of incumbent W. Lee O'Daniel for the U. S. senate, continued plugging Saturday for the deep East Texas vote.

A crowd of 500 cheered Moody and Allred at Madisonville when they scored O'Daniel's isolationist vote against extending the selective service act.

Moody declared: "If reviewing a record is throwing mud, then it can only be because the record is mud."

Allred exclaimed: "A 27-year-old able-bodied single man in 1917 who didn't join the army in 1917 couldn't understand why a 19-year-old boy did and neither can he understand today why a man would quit a federal judgeship to run for the United States senate when our life again is in peril."

Allred served in the last war and recently resigned from the federal bench to make the race against O'Daniel.

In Lubbock former District Judge Homer L. Pharr, chairman of the South Plains Moody-For-Senate club, said Moody informed him on the phone that he would challenge O'Daniel to meet him in a debate in Lubbock next Thursday night.

Moody and O'Daniel planned to be there for that date, Moody said he was unable to change.

Pharr said Moody announced he would issue his challenge at every speech between now and the Lubbock appearance. "If O'Daniel won't accept I promise to go fully into his record in Lubbock," Pharr quoted Moody as saying.

Allred was scheduled for an appearance at Lufkin Saturday night and Moody planned a jaunt to Bryan.

Meanwhile O'Daniel was in Fredericksburg and again attacked what he termed Communist labor leaders.

Before speaking he accepted an invitation from Felix Maier, local merchant, to take over the reins of spirited boys hitched to a buckboard for a drive through town.

Hal Collins, candidate for governor touring with O'Daniel, preceded the latter with a talk. They were scheduled for later appearances at Brady and Lampasas.

Another gubernatorial candidate, Charles Somerville of Dallas, was scheduled to speak at Cedar Hill near Dallas.

Get Out of Debt WE BELIEVE this is sound advice, both from your personal viewpoint and the country's. President Roosevelt has urged paying off debts as a counter-inflation measure. It is also wise preparation for the uncertain post-war future. We shall be glad to help if we can. Perhaps by consolidating your debts into one low-cost loan you can better concentrate on paying them off.

20-Cent Bombsight Used By Americans In Tokyo Attack

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—An improvised, 20-cent bombsight was used by the American fliers who blasted Japanese cities in April, it was disclosed today when 23 of those who participated in the famous raid were given distinguished flying crosses.

Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air forces, presented the medals in ceremonies at Bolling field.

Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the raid and was awarded the congressional medal of honor by President Roosevelt May 18 attended.

Those decorated today and five others unable to attend because of injuries or illness not connected with the raid have just returned to the United States for re-assignment. The other participants are still in combat zones. All are to receive decorations eventually.

It was the belief that some planes must inevitably fall into Japanese hands, that led to removal of the secret Norden bomb-sight from each plane. Anyway, the Norden sight was not necessary for a successful low-altitude attack such as was carried out. The improvised bombsight, costing only 20 cents to make, was designed by Maj. Charles E. Greening of Tacoma, Wash., armament officer of the squadron.

Lieut. Col. John A. Hilger of Houston, Texas, second in command, said the fliers "had less trouble than we expected." Indicating the complete surprise to the Japanese, Hilger said "they all waved to us," presumably mistaking the planes for their own.

Mrs. Hilger, said she knew her husband was along as soon as she heard news of the raid. But, she related, she did not get the news as soon as she might have.

Mrs. David M. Jones, wife of a captain from Winters, Texas, "never was so proud in my life" as she was seeing her husband get his medal.

Oilers Lose Second Game To Hubbers

LUBBOCK, June 27.—The Lubbock Hubbers made it two in a row over the Pampa Oilers Friday night by jumping on the veteran George Milstead for an easy 8 to 3 victory. The Hubbers liked Milstead's slow curves, nipping him for 11 hits, including three doubles.

The Oilers got to Lefty Bergerson for 10 hits, but as was the case Thursday night they couldn't bunch them. Bergerson whiffed 11 Oiler batters.

Cunningham and Pigg bagged two hits each to lead the Oilers on the offense while the defense was marred by five errors.

The Hubbers jumped on Milstead for three runs in the first inning and won the game in the fourth with two runs. The Oilers got one in the first, fourth, and ninth. The Oilers left 13 men stranded on base, enough to easily win the game.

Southworth Says Pitching To Win National League

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP)—A team nine and one-half games off the pace should give anyone the right to sing the blues, but not Billy Southworth, for, says the fidgety manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, "show me any pitching staff in either league that equals ours."

And he feels it should pay off come October and the world series, because Southworth is convinced that excellent pitching is the major reason for the American and the National League.

"So we lost six out of eight games," Southworth exploded today as the weather forced postponement of his date with the Phils. "Why start weeping? This is the time to bear down harder."

"Sure Brooklyn's a good team. They're all veterans. They don't make mistakes and they take advantage of every mistake you make. That's good baseball. But we're not a defeated ball club by a long shot. Show me any pitching staff in either league that equals ours. Our pitchers—and that includes all of them, winners and losers—have an earned run average of 1.71."

Wakefield And Evers Lead Texas League Slugging Department

DALLAS, June 27 (AP)—The clouting twins of Beaumont's hustling Exporters—Hoot Evers and Dick Wakefield—continued to set the Texas league pace during the past week but moving up fast was Henry Ballinger of the Shreveport Sports. Averages through Wednesday showed Evers in front with .369 and Wakefield three points behind, while Ballinger drove into striking distance with an average of .355.

Beaumont's team continued to lead in hitting, blistering the ball for .285, more than 20 points ahead of second-place Houston.

Stub Overmire of Beaumont has been out of action for some time due to an injury but still topped the pitchers with his 11 victories and three defeats, but Joe Berry of Tulsa had the best average—eight wins and two losses.

Doyle Lade of Shreveport, George Klein of Houston, and Earl Caldwell of Fort Worth each had 10 wins, making four pitchers with 10 or more at the half-way mark of the league race.

Softball Doubleheader Will Be Played At Mag

Today's doubleheader in the Pampa Softball league will be played at Maguella park on East Foster avenue, instead of at Recreation park as scheduled. The first game, between Phillips and Mack and Paul Barbers, will be at 2:30 o'clock, followed by a game between the Diamond Shop and Cities Service.

Mack and Paul remains undefeated but they had a mighty close call Friday night when the downed the Cities Service Boosters 6 to 5. Woodmen of the World upset the Knights of Pythias 8 to 7 in another great game.

O'Grady and Mullins divided the pitching assignment for the barbers with Buckingham behind the plate. Christopher was on the hill for the boosters with Leland receiving. Hits were as scarce as hens teeth because of the strong wind which whipped across the field. Each team managed for only four hits.

Cities Service jumped into a first inning lead and added three runs in the second. The barbers had to come from behind in the fourth to tie the game with errors playing an important part.

Sheehan hurled the WOW to their win with Reavis behind the plate. Stansell went the distance for the KP's with Geo receiving. Woods tried to pull the KP's out of the fire with a home run with one on base but the WOW came from behind in the last of the seventh to win.

The Knights bagged 13 hits while the Woodmen were able to get only eight batters.

The Knights scored three runs in the fourth and four in the fifth. The Woodmen scored in the first, added three in the fourth, two in the fifth and then won the game in the last half of the seventh with a brace of runs.

Stanford Student Wins National Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 27 (AP)—Frank "Sandy" Tatum, Jr., the Stanford Phi Beta Kappa student today won the National Intercollegiate championship.

He pelted Northwestern's Manuel de la Torre with sub-par golf for a 2 5 and 4 victory to snap a jinx which had dogged Stanford linkers three times in the past five years.

Tatum traversed the rolling Chain O' Lakes course with a one-under-par 70 in the morning to lead the Madrid-born de la Torre three-up. De la Torre, also an honor student, took a one-up advantage on the 8th hole, but the match was evened on the ninth at Tatum's potted a nine-foot putt for a birdie. It was the only lead de la Torre cracked out three birdies on the last nine which helped develop a two-under-par 33.

De la Torre, the 20-year-old sophomore who wishes to enter the diplomatic service after getting his naturalization papers, found his consistent par shooting insufficient to keep step with Tatum.

The Spaniard carded a respectable 73 on the first 18 holes but never was able to bridge the gap Tatum built in winning the 12th, 13th, and 14th by sinking two 25-foot putts for birdies and posting a par which was good when de la Torre three-putted for a bogey.

Whirlaway Wins Brooklyn Race

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Whirlaway stretched out his six-foot tail and won the Brooklyn handicap today so easily he looked as if he can overhaul Seabiscuit's all-time money-winning record any time the cash is laid on the line for him.

Whirlaway did his famous kick down Aqueduct's "killer" straightaway in time with the "here comes Whirlaway" cry from the stands. Little Mr. Big Tail galloped home by nearly two lengths to pick up a $23,650 pay-check and become the second horse in all racing history to go over the $400,000 mark in earnings.

Today's trick skyrocketed his bankroll to $404,488 just $33,244 short of the Biscuit's $438,730. He ran the mile and a quarter in 2 minutes, 2.285 seconds. The time lopped three-fifths of a second off the record for the Brooklyn and came within one second of the track record on footing that was not completely fast.

Surratt, Brown And Isaacs Doing Hitting For Oilers

If it wasn't for the Pampa Oiler outfield, the team would be a hitless aggregation. Three regulars are hitting above the coveted 300 mark and they are the three outfielders. Ray Surratt leads the great trio with an average of .386, followed by Marshall Brown with .368 and Joe Isaacs with .363.

Andy Mohrlock continues to lead the Pampa pitchers but he lost a win on the record books last week when the Lamesa scorer found that he had given Mohrlock a win that should have gone to Lefty Anders. Mohrlock now has eight wins against two losses. Next is Joe Isaacs, outfielder, who has won seven and lost three.

Surratt held his average last week while Brown and Isaacs both hiked their marks. Walter Buckel and Buck Cunningham also boosted their averages while the rest of the team went on the skids. Surratt bagged two triples to tie Joe Isaacs for the league lead in that department.

League records, in games through last Monday, with the exception of a dozen games played in Wichita Falls and Big Spring for which records are unavailable, White Warren of Pampa led in triples with 11.

Lamesa's Gene Costello was high in strikeouts with 94.

Wyatt of Clovis achieved his 14th victory on the mound during last week to set a new record for the West Texas-New Mexico league.

For averages released Saturday he had only 13 wins but one game has not found its way into the records. He has an earned average of 2.40 for 116 frames in the 13 games listed in the latest averages.

Frank Warren, the Berger catcher, topped 30 points to 411 but that made no difference in his hold on top spot among hitters. Likewise, he held onto the runs batted in lead with 72.

Grover Seitz of Clovis was second with .475 and Frank Hargrove of Amarillo was third at .402. Hargrove had 24 doubles and 12 home runs in the circuit blows. Joe Isaacs of Pampa led in triples with 11.

Lamesa's Gene Costello was high in strikeouts with 94.

Whirlaway Wins Brooklyn Race

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Whirlaway stretched out his six-foot tail and won the Brooklyn handicap today so easily he looked as if he can overhaul Seabiscuit's all-time money-winning record any time the cash is laid on the line for him.

Whirlaway did his famous kick down Aqueduct's "killer" straightaway in time with the "here comes Whirlaway" cry from the stands. Little Mr. Big Tail galloped home by nearly two lengths to pick up a $23,650 pay-check and become the second horse in all racing history to go over the $400,000 mark in earnings.

Today's trick skyrocketed his bankroll to $404,488 just $33,244 short of the Biscuit's $438,730. He ran the mile and a quarter in 2 minutes, 2.285 seconds. The time lopped three-fifths of a second off the record for the Brooklyn and came within one second of the track record on footing that was not completely fast.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Swing and Sway was second and Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention third.

Germans Fall Back Over Stacked Dead

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—The valiant defenders of Sevastopol smashed attack after attack by storming Nazi forces which tried without success to advance all day yesterday in bitter fighting over stacks of their Axis dead, the Russians reported early today.

The siege of the Crimean port roared into its 24th day with no indication of a German break into the vast defenses of Sevastopol.

On the Kharkov front it was the same story, military dispatches said. There Marshal Timoshenko's forces were credited with halting the eight-day-old German drive, and in one sector threw the Germans back in slashing tank counter-attacks.

The Germans were unable to make any headway whatever, the front-line accounts said, despite the extravagant use of massed air attacks in an effort to enlarge their gains.

These accounts were pointed up by the midnight communique, which told of the continued repulse of the Germans before Sevastopol and added there had been no other changes yesterday anywhere on the long front.

Of the battle for Sevastopol it said: "Our troops repelled several enemy attacks on the Sevastopol sector and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy."

The Soviet air force was credited with inflicting "devastating blows" upon the Germans on the Kharkov front. In two days, the communique said, 23 Nazi planes were shot down, 46 tanks and 117 trucks destroyed and 300 Germans killed by Russian airmen.

(The British radio, relaying Moscow accounts, said that in a violent flare-up of aerial warfare all up and down the front Soviet pilots were "breaking up raid after raid upon Red army positions.")

(The BBC, heard in New York by CBS, quoted one correspondent as saying that "for the moment at least it looks as if further developments in the fighting may depend on which side can get air superiority first.")

In "exceptionally fierce" fighting, the eight-day Ukraine offensive of the Germans was brought to a halt east of Kupiansk, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov, said Pravda accounts. Thirty-one air battles were fought in a single day and 51 German planes were wrecked in them, said the newspaper's correspondent.

Before Sevastopol, the Crimean base of the Red fleet which has been under violent assault for 23 days, the Russians declared the Germans had expended the stupendous total of 50 trainloads of explosives—bombs, shells and mines—in a futile effort to break open the city's defenses.

Bitter fights with knife, bayonet and pistol often have raged for hours between Russians and Germans in a single trench, the correspondent said.

Although the Germans' Ukraine offensive had cost them hugely, Soviet accounts admitted that the invaders were still able to gain local superiority in that sector by massing large forces on narrow fronts.

The Soviet withdrawal from Kupiansk was termed orderly and from new positions the Russians were said to be wearing down enemy tanks and infantry.

Elsewhere on the front, particularly in the Bryansk sector southwest of Moscow, the exploratory attacks by the Germans were repulsed, the Soviet information bureau said.

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Though Hitler's summer offensive in the East apparently has not yet been loosed, preliminary Axis thrusts in Egypt and the Ukraine already have produced a twin crisis for his British and Russian opponents.

Both jaws of a vast Axis pincer movement eastward have gnawed their way forward dangerously, at an uncounted cost in life and battle wreckage.

In Egypt, battered British imperials with the bitter taste of defeat in their mouths have mustered for a last-ditch stand perilously close to their vital Alexandria naval base. In southern Russia an ominous dent has been made in Marshal Timoshenko's communication services east of Kharkov.

Yet in Washington a confident note is sounded. And in the joint Roosevelt-Churchill statement there is the definite promise of coming operations which will divert German strength from the attack on Russia.

Cheering, too, is the resumption of British air pounding at Germany and reliable reports that United States air units are laying the groundwork for American participation in such mass raids.

The creation of an American zone of operations in Europe suggests that joint Anglo-American second-front moves are a near, not remote, possibility. Naturally no hint of their nature or scope is available beyond the certainty that American army air power will soon join the British against German targets.

Turning westward to appraise the war picture across the Pacific at this time of crisis in Europe and the Middle East, reports from the Chinese-Japanese front are a little more encouraging. There are some indications that the Japanese invaders are losing momentum in China and still far from a knock-out blow at foes who defied them single-handed for nearly five years. American air power is beginning to even the odds somewhat for the Chinese.

The Japanese campaign elsewhere in the Pacific has been in a lull since the Midway battle. From Australia Allied air power is ranging far to batter persistently at Japanese advance bases, keeping the enemy largely on the defensive. Whether the Japanese toehold in the Aleutian Islands can be exploited remains to be seen.

It seems possible that a seven-week Russian delay in blaming the sinking of a Russian ship on Japan had more to do with awaiting other developments than with lack of accurate knowledge that it was a Japanese submarine. It also is possible that Moscow is now testing by means of that announcement Japan's purpose or ability to move to Hitler's aid by an attempt to invade Siberia.

Lacking the factual military background that served to brighten the Washington conversations, it is difficult to appraise the true significance of the hopeful mood they reflected. The situation of the British in Egypt and of the Russians in the Ukraine and Crimea looks grim

Marines Arrive In South Pacific Area

ATLANTA, June 27. (AP)—This war's first major expeditionary force of United States marines has landed at a south Pacific "jumping off place," apparently equipped to spearhead any United Nations offensive in that theater of war.

The far-off arrival of "transport swarming with marines" was revealed here today by Major Meigs O. Frost, Southern public relations chief for the marine corps.

Accompanying the announcement that the convoy carried the marines' biggest overseas contingent of the war was the first story to be released as written by one of the marines' own war correspondents assigned to combat forces.

The story told merely of the human side of life aboard the transports during the South seas voyage from an unrevealed American port to the undisclosed destination, but contained clear implications of the job ahead of them, a task for which apparently numbered in the thousands.

With a number of Southern leathernecks known to have been included, first official advice regarding the force was relayed here from Washington by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Deane, headquarters public relations director, in line with an effort to bring marine news close to home.

An anonymous sergeant correspondent related how some of the marines enjoyed the cool tropical nights by sleeping in Higgins landing boats aboard their ships.

Enough in all conscience, and a break of some sort on either front cannot be long delayed.

Instruction On Priorities Given

Manufacturers and suppliers of Pampa and this section of the Panhandle were instructed on rules and regulations governing the priorities act and on methods of securing priority rating and the filling out of necessary order forms when W. H. Bovee of the Dallas office of the War Production board visited in Pampa Friday.

Mr. Bovee first met with manufacturers, after which he conferred with suppliers. Because of length of his talks he was unable to meet with retailers affected by priorities.

Bovee explained the suppliers' limitation order, covering 18 categories, that requires that no inventory of stocks may be more than twice the sales of the preceding month. The order was designed to curb hoarding by wholesalers, he explained.

"This is war" keyed the explanation of the new order.

Nearly 100 men attended the meetings, the first at 11 o'clock a few minutes after Mr. Bovee arrived. He was met in Amarillo and brought to Pampa.

rents being increased above the March ceiling price level. Garnet Reeves, manager of the Pampa Board of City Development, told members of the Pampa Kiwanis club at the club's regular weekly luncheon at noon Friday.

Manager Reeves said that while some complaints had been received by his office on rent increases, still there were two sides to the rent question, and that most of the trouble was caused by misunderstanding.

He appealed to club members to acquaint landlords and renters with the rule that rent was not to be raised above the March level, and asked for the cooperation of all in providing sufficient housing in conjunction with the location of the air base near Pampa.

A report of the 27th annual convention of Kiwanis International, held June 14-18 at Cleveland, Ohio, was given by Clyde Carruth, Fred Radcliff, M. P. Downs, and C. P. Pursley, who attended the convention from Pampa. Each one of the four covered a different phase of the convention.

J. M. Hopkins was in charge of Friday's program.

Farmer Hand Having Trouble With Goats

HILLSBORO, June 27. (AP)—Farmer W. G. Hand has been having a heck of a time with his goats lately and sugar rationing has not helped.

He has two young billies, he says, who despite their usefulness sometimes give him such a pain that he has named them Arthritis and Neuritis, respectively.

Arthritis and Neuritis, however, do not figure directly in this story. The pain they give Mr. Hand is nothing compared to his sugar rationing troubles.

To show his goats how much he appreciates their work, he used to feed them sugar. He would go to town every now and then, and sometimes buy as much as 500 pounds of stale store cakes to feed them.

With the war and all, he can't do this any more. The goats are still on the job, but they look at him accusingly when he goes out with the pasture. This makes him uncomfortable.

The other day he sold a goat to a Hillsboro woman.

Then he went to town and bought a 50-cent cake to take to his wife. On the way home, he passed this goat.

The goat spotted Farmer Hand, and the cake. There was an argument between the farmer and his former pet.

The goat won. Mr. Hand, wondering what Mrs. Hand was going to say about it, broke off a large piece of fresh-bought cake, and fed it to the goat.

He will be glad, he says, when the war is over.

Rev. Sumrall To Discuss "Why The Church Has Lived"

"Why the Church Has Lived" will be the subject of the sermon delivered at 11 o'clock this morning at the Central Baptist church by Rev. T. D. Sumrall.

"On the very grounds where infidelity and heathenism have died, the church lives today. No institution on earth has met with reverses as has the church and yet it has mastered its opponents and lived through the ages and we have it as an army with banners marching on. Every church member should hear this message as it will increase appreciation for the church and will encourage every member to be a better servant of the church. The end of the church is heaven when the Lord comes for it." Rev. Sumrall stated.

"The Position of the Believer" will be the evening theme of the sermon at 8 o'clock.

"There is a vast difference between the believer and the unbeliever, in present life, in future destiny. Everyone should hear the sermon," he continued.

The public is invited to attend these services.

JUST BETWEEN US GIRLS

[By JOHNNIE DAVIS]

Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!
Blue and crimson and white it shines,
Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines.
Hats off!
The colors before us fly;
But more than the flag is passing by:
See fights and land-fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the State;
Weary marches and sinking ships;
Cheers of victory on dying lips.
Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums;
And loyal hearts are beating high:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!
—Henry Holcomb Bennett

Next Saturday when the Fourth of July is observed, the waving of Old Glory and the reading of the above lines from this famous poem will provoke a much greater sensation in the hearts of all Americans than in many previous years. . . Never before has the flag been so prominently emphasized on magazine covers and posters. . . "The Glorious Fourth." Just say the words and minds everywhere move in kaleidoscope fashion, visioning the waving of the red, white and blue . . . marching men . . . bugles held high . . . patriotic-looking dinner tables . . . swimming parties . . . picnic baskets . . . the playing of the Stars and Stripes Forever . . . backyard meals . . . and, always, fireworks galore. . . Of course there's more to July 4 than all this. Independence Day is really the nation's birthday, stemming from that eventual morning back in 1776 when the Continental Congress approved the Declaration of Independence. And when crowds gather this year, whether to watch the parade, picnic in the country or take pot-luck in the family dining room, it will be the observance of 166 years of freedom for the United States.

A popular member of the younger set, Naomi Snyder, left Friday for a year's study at Northwest Institute of Technology in Minneapolis, Minnesota. . . Naomi, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Snyder, has been employed in the hospital for two years. . . She will complete her laboratory and x-ray training at Northwest Institute. . . Naomi has been active in the local Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Mary Maud and Patty Ann Rutherford, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Rutherford, have been elected to offices at Camp Arrowhead near Hunt, where they are attending the first four-week term. . . Patty Ann was elected Little Chief of the Payson tribe, and Mary Maud was chosen to represent her cabin in the program council.

Speaking of patriotism—A pretty brunette North Texas State Teachers college ex is applying for an appointment in the WAAC. If she makes the grade, and reports are favorable, she will be the sixth member of her family to join Uncle Sam's forces. . . Five of her brothers, three of them NITCJ exs, are serving in the armed forces, and one of them has just been reported missing in action with the 131st Field artillery in the battle of Java. . . Maxine Teel, who has been teaching in Edinburg, has passed her physical, mental, and moral tests for the Women's Army Auxiliary corps and awaits only approval from Fort Sam Houston. . . The brothers she would be joining in uniform include one who is a radio technician at Camp Barkeley, another in Australia, one who is an aerial photographer on a bomber in Roswell, N. M., another leaving in a tank division at Camp Cooke, California, and the one who is reported missing in Java.

Among the most unusual objects this writer has seen recently is a vase belonging to Mrs. Mamie Butcher. . . The vase, which was made in Mexico, D. F., is broken pieces of china and small mirror squares arranged in clay to form a design.

"We can't have all we want, if our soldiers and sailors are to have all they need" is the statement that explains why bananas must be classed as a war casualty. . . Our Latin American neighbors are still growing the delicious fruit that used to be so cheap and plentiful in our markets but the big, fast refrigerated ships that brought bananas from Central America are now serving Uncle Sam by carrying food, under convoy, to our boys abroad. . . Smaller "banana boats" are ferrying sugar from Cuba or bring bauxite or aluminum. . . Some bananas continue to arrive in local markets but prices naturally are higher and even more hospitable may at times have trouble getting all this nourishing fruit they want. . . Mothers may find it hard to get the bananas for baby's diet that child specialists recommend and we may have to wait until after the war to see the familiar sight of plenty of bananas.

Second wedding anniversaries will be observed within the next week by three couples, Ruth and Wayne Phelps, now of Bucyrus, Ohio, whose anniversary is June 30; Yvonne and Jack Stroup, July 3; and Madge and Cliff Braly, July 5. . . Congratulations.

Fair and warmer is the weatherman's verdict for July. . . This should be good news for Sub Deb club members who have been planning a swimming party and dance for nights and nights. . . So far the girls and the weatherman have failed to get together. . . The same problem has been confronted by several other clubs, including the LaRosa sorority, whose progressive week activities included a swimming party.

Things a lot of women are doing this summer that they did not do last:
Living in slacks. . . Riding a bicycle to the grocery without feeling silly. . . Saying, "I'll take it," instead of, "Charge and send it, please," when they go shopping. . . Doing war work instead of playing bridge. . . Walking, not for the "exercise" but to get places. . . Taking loving care of worn household equipment and being thankful to have it, instead of buying new on the installment plan. . . Spending more time in their vegetable gardens than before their mirrors. . . Parting without regret with their long, glamor hair-dos. . . Learning how to can their own fruits and vegetables. . . Being more partial to guests who take no sugar in their coffee than to those who thicken it with the precious stuff. . . Carrying the family's nation's war effort and old toothpaste tube in their already crowded handbags. . . Wishing they weren't too tied down to get into the women's army. . . Wearing old clothes without even minding. . . Telling Junior he can't have the car and having no argument on their hands now. . . Saying to their friends, "No, we aren't taking a vacation," without feeling apologetic about it. . . Bragging about their economies instead of trying to hide them.

Probably it has been mentioned in this column before, but this writer still thinks that Mrs. Arthur Teed radiates more natural charm than anyone we've seen. . . It is impossible to watch her smile and not smile back at her. . . One of Pampa's friendliest women is Mrs. Walter F. Dean.

What you put into your work seems to have a lot to do with what you get out of it. . . Enthusiasm is the greatest asset in the world. It overcomes and conquers obstacles. It is nothing more or less than faith in action. . . A man without mirth is like a wagon without springs, in which one is caused disagreeably to jolt by every pebble over which it runs. . . The little good I have done is my best work.

A personable sextet of pledges, Mary Bellamy, Shirley Sone, Betty Jo Holt, Colleen Chisholm, Anna Barnett, and Jean Beagle, will be presented by Kit Kat Klub at the presentation dance next Friday night at the Country Club. . . One of the loveliest mother-daughter pairs is Mrs. R. M. Bellamy and Mary. . . A diminutive mother-daughter duo is Mrs. L. L. Sone and Shirley.

Business and Professional Women's own state president, Hatfilu White, of Amarillo, will install Pampa's new B. P. W. club officers this morning at a breakfast in the Schneider hotel. . . The club's capable publicity chairman for the past two years, Lillian McKittrick, is succeeding Audrey Fowler as the local organization's president. . . Following the breakfast, the members will go to the court house when another group of draftees will leave for their point of induction. . . How about some more people meeting these men in service at 9:30 o'clock in the district court room and wish them good luck until they return?

A smile is like a little wedge
That often keeps us from the edge
Of getting sad, or feeling blue
I love to see a smile, don't you?

Banquet Given By Two Lodges For Pete Kelly

As a farewell courtesy to Pete Kelly, who will leave soon to enter the armed forces, a banquet was given by Oddfellow and Rebekah lodges at the I. O. O. F. hall when the military theme was observed in decorating the tables.

Miniature soldiers, sailors, and machine guns marked the tables and plate favors were miniature flags.

Presiding as master of ceremonies was Vernon Hall. The program included two skits presented by Harry Wahlberg, a hula dance by Jess Clay, Homer Cone, Alva Phillips, and Mr. Russell with Mrs. Cone in charge.

FATHER DRESSES THE PART

Let father dress the part if he fancies himself an expert barbecue chef. A New York store features a four-piece ensemble—huge frilly chef's hat, generous-sized apron, towel, and hot-pad mit of white muslin appropriately stenciled with comic figures in bright, fast colors. Adds to the picnic atmosphere, and inexpensively.

PIQUANT PIQUE—Top cotton fabric of the year is pique. Ever fresh, cool, and crisp, it is right for active daytime wear from sun-up and for leisurely hours after sun-down. The one-piece coat-type dress and the two-piece costume—both New York creations—are of lemon yellow pique trimmed with Irish-type lace.

V Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS

The production room was humming with activity this past week. Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, groups of women were busy cutting out the 352 women's and children's blouses, which is one of the big jobs on hand right now. We really need 12 or 15 women to cut on each of these three days every week now until the blouses are out of the way. That means that several more women should volunteer to help in this way.

From now on Mrs. E. W. Voss will supervise the cutting Tuesdays, Mrs. C. H. Wood on Thursdays, and Mrs. J. B. Massa on Fridays. Mrs. W. R. Campbell and Mrs. Charlie Thut took time off from their other Red Cross duties to assist this week.

Several women came in to learn to knit this week and many who could knit came in to check out their first Red Cross garment. With all the knitting on hand, Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Bourland are really thrilled over every new knitter. Many more are needed.

Almost three quarters of a million war victims scattered over a wide area in the Middle East have received aid from the American Red Cross, Chairman Norman H. Davis said.

In Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Turkey, Cyprus, Palestine, Cyrenaica, Eritrea, Abyssinia and Iran, $2,329,000 worth of relief material, largely purchased with U. S. government allocated funds, has been distributed under the supervision of the American Red Cross.

We are happy when visitors from other cities drop in to see our production room and what we are doing—and especially when they offer to help us during their stay in Pampa. In the three weeks that Miss Eunice Brown of New York City has been here she has knit two pairs of socks for us! Miss Brown is the sister of Mrs. W. N. Anderson and also helped us when she visited here two years ago.

Mrs. E. Kaplan of Waco, mother of Mrs. Leon Gilbert, put the squares of an afghan together for us this week. Mrs. Kaplan is a regular volunteer worker in the production department of the Waco branch and could not be content during her visit here without some Red Cross work to do.

Fifty one of the squares in the new afghan were knit by the Lydia class of the First Baptist church. Mrs. F. E. Leach is the teacher of the class and it was she who started many of the young women on their knitting.

Mrs. E. M. Keller and Mrs. Hal Suttle are putting buttonholes in all the men's bedjackets that are on hand now.

The June shipment from the production room will be made on Tuesday of this week. Do you have a garment at home that could make that deadline?

"Bunny" gas masks for infants and children under three years of age were distributed in Honolulu beginning June 4 by the U. S. army authorities.

The gas masks are made of chemically treated cloth, and have an ishinglass face so the mother may look at the child. The idea of making "bunny" masks originated with an unnamed genius, who felt that if the corners were tied into rabbit's ears, and eyes and whiskers were painted on the masks, the babies and children would not be frightened by them.

The first masks were made on an experimental basis by the women volunteers in the Hawaii Red Cross chapter, and thousands have been cut in the Red Cross work rooms to be made in factories by power machine seamstresses.

The special "bunny" mask was developed when it was found the regulation masks were too large for infants and under-three-year-olds.

During World War I, airplane engines had to be overhauled every 50 hours. Today, because their vital parts are machined to within a few ten-thousandths of an inch, they can go 600 hours without repair.

Brownie And Intermediate Girl Scout Day Camps Have Active Week

Even the cloudburst last Sunday night and the rain Monday and Tuesday, did not stop the Girl Scouts from opening their two Day Camps on Monday. "Being Prepared" is their motto. The intermediates and seniors were allowed the use of the high school gymnasium until it was dry enough to go out on the grounds of Harvester park. The Brownies used the Girl Scout little house until it was dry enough to have their activities in the yard.

Another act of being prepared was in having B. R. White, fire chief, assisted by B. N. Stokes and Stanley Gaston, firemen, demonstrate and explain to the girls in both camps on the first day, just what to do in case of an air raid or bombing.

Some of the highlights of the intermediate and senior camp have been a Junior Red Cross first aid course, the making of their tom-toms, cowboy hats, and trefzels for lapel ornaments and leather book marks; sketching objects around camp grounds, on hikes, and making stick figure drawings; carving out of wood, Indian lapel ornaments, making checker boards and boxes, and scrap books; and hiking and outdoor activities by every group.

The goal of the camp is to see that every girl will be a second class scout before the camp is over, and all units have been working on this rank. Another goal is to see that every unit goes on an overnight hike. Before they can do that, next week they have to have worked up to that through a progression of nosehike, long, non-tensel hike, and a one-pot meal hike.

This camp has been as much like an established camp as the staff could make it. The office has been kept in the confection stand under the bleachers. The first aid station was also located there with ample equipment and a cot in case of the illness of any of the campers. A trained first aid expert has been in charge. Pasteurized milk, chocolate milk, and orangeade have been sold to the campers at noon. The camp has been run on the unit or small group plan according to the ages of the campers. All the units have shared in the housekeeping or "Kamp Kapers"; cleaning the latrines every morning, putting away supplies, emptying trash cans, etc.

In the Brownie Day camp, some of the activities have been in first aid, playing nurse, preparing bedside tables, and bandaging; in singing, the patriotic songs have been played a great part as well as rounds, Brownie songs, songs with motions, and games; in crafts, making name plates, Brownie dolls, spoon weaving, loom weaving, drawing cartoons, designing clothes for paper dolls, rolled paper beads, leather lapel pins; in story telling, Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. D. M. Dickey, Mrs. C. C. Cockerill and Mrs. Jim Collins have alternated; in games, various folk dances, exercises, and games in the yard; in dramatics, play acting, acting pantomimes, acting fairy tales, and costume plays; in nature, one unit has studied vegetables and is now making vegetable costumes to put on a similar play at the camp next week. This camp is also operated on the unit or small group plan. The unit leaders have supplemented the above program with their own ideas. Short hikes have been popular with this group.

Attendance for the first week has been:

Brownie camp—Brownies, Monday, 29; Tuesday, 38; Wednesday, 38; Thursday, 35; Friday 34. Staff, Monday, 13; Tuesday 13; Wednesday, 18; Thursday, 11; Friday 12. Schedule for the day in both camps has been:
9:00-9:30—Group singing.
9:30-10:00—Announcements, business, settled in units, ordering milk, checking attendance.
10:00-12:00—Unit activities (Each unit going to its own unit home which it has chosen).
12:00-12:45—Lunch in units.
12:45-1:00—Group singing again (go home).
1:00-1:15—Staff meeting.

BUSY BROWNIE. Conservation is a big word but even the tiniest Girl Scouts—the seven-to-10-year-old Brownies—are practicing it. It's never too soon to learn to make and mend, they say. This is being further demonstrated in crafts at the Brownie Day Camp now being held at the Girl Scout house.

Now's The Time To Gear Your Home To "No Maid"

By RUTH MILLETT

Mrs. Well-to-do-America, who has had a maid ever since her first baby arrived, may not have one long and she is wondering how she'll ever manage without "regular help."

Well, it might not be as tough going as she thinks. Some such women, tired of having to break in a new maid every few months as the girls get better jobs have already made up their minds to get along without help and have discovered it isn't as hard going as they thought it would be.

Let's take the case of Mrs. Jones, for an example. For the first time in years she is doing all of her own work. Instead of living as simply as possible and cutting the housework to a minimum, she had let the job of housekeeping get harder and harder. That is often the way when someone else is doing the work. She had let the family grow careless, too, about keeping their things in order and picking up after themselves. She had let them learn to expect a certain amount of being waited on.

So, she hired a strong-armed woman for a few days to help in getting her house organized. Then she worked out a schedule for herself that allowed her a few free hours every day. She also let her family know that the era of carelessness and clutter was over. They would all have to cooperate by making as little work as possible. She has only been doing her own work for a few months—but it is going along fine now. She has even discovered that there are some advantages to the present set-up.

CHEERLESS MAIDS WERE NO FUN

Often the maids she had weren't efficient enough to suit her, and some of them were none too cheerful to have around. She doesn't have either of those problems to contend with now, and she really enjoys having her house to herself. Then, too, she finds that her family really appreciates the things she cooks for them—and she gets more satisfaction from their praise of a meal when she has cooked it herself. She thinks that having to help around the house is good training for the children. Though she could have had them help when there was a servant doing the work, somehow she never bothered with it. And, she can get out of all kinds of social activities that don't especially appeal to her, by saying she just hasn't time for them.

So, don't worry too much about getting along on your own. It may not be as dreary as you imagine. —BUY VICTORY BONDS—

Kiss Glamor Girls Goodbye, At Least For The Duration

By ALICIA HART

Kiss the glamor girl goodbye—at least for the duration.

Uncle Sam is about to peg the manufacture of cosmetics just as he did fashion and fabrics. As a result, the traditional basic charms of the American women—the well-coiffed head, the pretty dress and the smart grooming—will stay put, not the trappings of the recently fashionably overdone smart women.

The new model—an alert, on-her-toes, refreshing Victory Girl—will still be able to obtain her fundamental charm aids, but the variety of cosmetics and size of the containers will be limited.

The United Grocers association just heard a flat public forecast, at its seventh annual convention here in New York, that a forthcoming WPE order will peg the manufacture of cosmetics—soon. Wallace Werble, trade letter editor in Washington, said the charm aids will be limited by three groups, with heaviest restriction on those which are least essential.

VARIETY WILL BE CURTAILED
"Efforts will be made to force production into larger size containers," he said. "Later on, lines, shades, minor variations, will be curtailed, probably on an item-by-item basis." Price ceilings will remain, of course.

Alice Marble, the tennis champion, expressed the give-and-take spirit that infuses the new fashion and the manufacture and government war program. She called for "lipstick of courage as well as vanity" but that America may remain "the land of the free, the brave, and the beautiful."

Herman L. Brooks, president of the association, which represents about 75 per cent of the entire industry's volume, stressed its preparedness to cooperate with Uncle Sam—and with the American woman. He said alternates already have been found to replace sharply restricted new materials.

Outdoor Films Favorite With Henry Hathaway

By ROBBIN COONS
 HOLLYWOOD—You've all heard about the unhappy symphony fiddler—the one who fiddled morosely because he just didn't like music? Henry Hathaway's reputation as a movie director is built largely on outdoor movies—the kind of hard-riding, hard-shooting adventure stuff that built the picture business. Henry Hathaway just doesn't like the great outdoors.

"Sun," he said. "It burns your nose."
 "Wind," he said. "It gets in your hair. You can't shoot."
 "Horses," he said. "I hate 'em."
 "Rain? Oh, rain's not so bad. I can shoot in the rain, and have."

Maybe Henry Hathaway doesn't feel like this all the time. He is indoors, and "Ten Gentlemen From West Point" was with him.

There had been night after night of shooting, and lost sleep. Big Laird Cregar was tired, hoping for at least a week's rest before starting another of the several pictures awaiting him—and he was wondering when he could sandwich in time for an operation. John Sutton was tired, and all he was looking forward to was another picture, starting right away. John Shepperd was tired, too—but as far as "Ten Gentlemen" was concerned he was through. He had just died, wounded fatally in the big battle with the Indians, the big outdoor battle directed by Henry Hathaway, the outdoor director who doesn't like guns, either.

The Cregar popularity is violating all the rules. They said that about Charles Laughton and Edward Arnold, who are merely portly by contrast with the Pennsylvania behemoth. What niche could such a monstrously huge actor find in pictures. Well, he has "The Black Swan" (in which he'll play the pirate Sir Henry Morgan) and "Les Miserables" (he'll be Javert) waiting for him—and they are only two of the half dozen pictures on his schedule.

Cregar can be pardoned if, sometimes, he looks like the cat who just stole the cream. He enjoyed that "back home and rich" feeling—sweetest in an actor's experience—over at RKO and Paramount where, earlier he had tried vainly for a look-in. When 20th loaned him, he got star treatment.

Monty Woolley is back-home-and-rich these days, too. Monty was rejected for a bit role in "Sun" four years ago, when he was just "the beard" playing doctors and scientists. The makers of "Sun" are starring him in "The Pied Piper."

Rita Hayworth knows about it, too. I suspect Zanuck would give a million for her contract now—for a girl the studio dropped after she played bits in "Dante's Inferno" and a Jane Wither picture. They pay plenty now when they borrow her for "Blood and Sand," "Tales of Manhattan," or "My Gal Sal."

11 Top O' Texas Students On Honor Roll At Texas U.

Eleven Top O' Texas students, three of them from Gray county, are included on the college of arts and sciences honor roll of the University of Texas.

The honor roll includes the names of about one-tenth of the enrollment of the college, 4,518 during the second semester. Upperclassmen are required to maintain a slightly higher average than freshmen in order to be listed.

Dean H. T. Parlin's list contains these names from the Top O' Texas: Pampa—John Edwin McConnell, RAYMOND MASSEY, as a member of the Canadian armed forces, is starred with Laurence Olivier and Leslie Howard in Columbia's flaming new drama, "The Invaders," which opens today at the Rex theater.

Instructions For Applying For Job At Panlex Plant

Pampans and other residents of Gray and adjoining counties who desire to obtain employment with the Panlex Certain-tyed company's plant near St. Francis, are advised to remember these instructions when they consult W. F. Stubbs, interviewer, who will be in the county court room here Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

1. Jot down your past experience, remembering length of employment.
2. Bring letters of recommendation wherever possible, or have in mind at least three responsible persons who can attest your good character and past record.
3. Bring copy of birth certificate if possible; if unable to do so make reasonably such proof can be established on demand.
4. Try to have your mind made up as to the position you desire with the company, remembering explosives experts and plant workers must be trained after acceptance, thereby opening up such positions to practically every walk of life or profession.

All are cautioned against seeking employment to evade the draft. Every known type of employe is sought. Men, women, students, boys, and girls. From the most routine form of manual labor to executive, key positions are the places open in Certain-tyed today. No matter what trade, if any, you are now following, if you want to strike a blow for the Allied cause against our enemies, Certain-tyed's representative wants to see you.

All types of construction workers, electricians, mechanics, truck drivers, building trades, office workers, and specialists are sought. For example, explosive experts are trained from the ranks of school teachers, clerks, bankers, car and insurance salesmen, owners of small and large business firms, and hundreds of other forms of employment.

Hundreds of women and girls will be employed—not just for office work but in the plants as supervisors, instructors, workers, and in scores of other positions.

45-Minute Picture To Be Presented

A 45-minute picture showing the actual operation of wardens, control center, and other branches of civilian defense organizations in Britain will be one of six pictures to be filmed at the Pampa Junior High school auditorium Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The pictures are being brought to Pampa by W. E. Naylor, Texas Ranger who has been assigned to civilian defense work in Texas.

The pictures will be shown specifically for members of the civilian defense council but will be open to the public at no cost.

E. J. Hanna, head of the local defense council, urges everyone connected with the civilian defense program to attend the meeting.

Titles of the pictures to be shown are:

1. "The Bombing of the Marshall Islands," a short, official film taken at the scene of the great American naval and air attack on this Japanese stronghold.
2. "Air Raid Warden," a 10-minute film made in California which shows the functioning of an air raid warden prior to and during an air raid alarm.
3. "Fighting the Fire Bomb," an 18-minute film which has the approval of the war department. A lecture accompanies this picture.
4. "Goofer Trouble," a 10-minute British film depicting the unsafe practices of curious and stubborn people during air raids.
5. "Mr. Proudfoot Shows a Light," a 10-minute British film which satirizes the person who thinks he can get by with not following the black-out rules.
6. "The Warning," a 45-minute film showing the actual operation of wardens, control center, and other branches of civilian defense organization in Britain.

104 Tons Of Scrap Rubber Collected

With only two more days remaining, Gray county had collected 208,649 pounds of scrap rubber, or 104 tons, as its share to date in the nation wide scrap rubber campaign.

This total includes 28 tons reported from McLean and a half-ton gathered in the benefit scrap rubber matinee for children, held Friday afternoon at the Rex theater.

Boys and girls lugged everything from hose connections to huge automobile tires, from dolls to floor mats, to the matinee. Nearly all of the rubber was "live" rubber.

As soon as totals can be tabulated, awards of a $25 victory bond will be made to the filling station, individual, and organization turning in the greatest amount of scrap rubber.

Here Are Questions You Must Answer To Get Canning Sugar

Gray county residents applying for sugar for home canning should be prepared to answer these questions when they make application to the Gray County War Price and Rationing board:

1. How many quarts of fruit did you can last year?
2. How many quarts of fruit do you plan to can this year?
3. How many quarts of last year's fruit do you still have on your pantry shelf?

It is well to keep a record of the fruit canned with rationed sugar, because the board will ask for it when another application is made, the Office of Price Administration says.

Although sugar restrictions have been eased, conservation is still important as submarine warfare and the need for ships to carry war materials mean that imports of sugar will be far below normal.

The average traffic sign can be read by persons with normal vision at a distance of 225 feet.

Have You Ordered Your Window Card?

Nation-wide distribution of service star window cards to families of all men in the armed forces in the present war has been undertaken by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States in cooperation with leading newspapers.

The cards are free to every family represented in the army, navy, marine corps or air force by a son, father, husband or brother.

A blue star indicates service within the continental limits of the United States. A silver star denotes service outside the boundaries of this country, either on the high seas or in the United States territorial possessions, or on foreign soil. A gold star symbolizes America's tribute to those who make the supreme sacrifice under the Stars and Stripes in the present war.

Every family desiring one of the V. F. W. Service Star window cards may obtain one by writing direct to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, National Headquarters, Kansas City, Mo., specifying the number and color of stars desired.

The distribution of the service stars is a patriotic service in which the V. F. W. has enlisted the cooperation of the press throughout the country. The purpose of this project is to remind all citizens that American soldiers, sailors and marines are being called upon to risk their lives to protect and defend the security of their loved ones at home.

Printed in red and blue on white cards 6 by 9 inches, the emblems are expected to decorate literally hundreds of thousands of windows in American homes within the next few weeks.

SERIAL STORY SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR

BY BLANCHE ROBERTS

THE STORY: Judith Kingsley and Tom Burke are employees of an airplane factory. The height of a lovers' quarrel they are both sent to the firm's west coast factory...

STOLEN HIDE

CHAPTER IV

THE car brushed the sage bush behind Judith huddled, and stopped a few feet beyond her. Three men got out and ran to the plane. She crept to the car and peered in cautiously. It was empty.

Without a second's hesitation, she opened the door and got in. She felt around in the seat for the switch. The engine started immediately and, showing it into gear, she pulled the car around just as she heard someone yell from within the airliner.

She hadn't known an automobile could gather so much speed in a second gear. She followed the tracks across the desert. For fully 200 yards the trail ran perfectly straight. She shut off the lights as a gun cracked behind her.

A faint light burned in the distance and Judith turned to see the car with a dust cloud following quickly but went wild when she judged she had gone the length of the trail, she turned the lights back on, just in time to keep from missing the tracks she was following.

By standing on her toes and craning her neck, Judith could see in the window came the light she had seen. She stopped the car some yards from the house and got out, the small gun gripped tightly in her right hand.

mering against her ribs. On the threshold, she poised for action. "Put up your hands!" she told the pilot firmly. There was not a tremor in her voice though her knees shook violently and threatened to give way.

THE man whirled, reaching upward with his arms as he did so. "There's a knife in my coat pocket," Tom told her. "Cut me loose."

SHE advanced across the floor of the small room, her gaze never leaving the man whose hands were extended in the air above his head. There was no mistaking the coldness and daring in his eyes and Judith did not once underestimate him as she reached for the knife.

She worked hard at the ropes with the knife in her left hand and as the last thread was cut from around Tom's wrists, her eyes flickered from the man across the room.

Before long, she struck a highway and hunched a little easier. "I wonder how much gas this car has in it?" she asked herself and switched on the dash light.

She pulled the big car into the drive and honked. She kept on honking until she woke the man who was sleeping in the rear of his station. He came out, rubbing his eyes and grumbling loudly.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The stock market today emerged from a rather depressing week with mild and selective recovery tendencies a little more than offsetting declining trends for many leaders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1/2 of a point at 35.1 but showed a net recession of 5 on the week. Dealings were light throughout, transfers totaling 115,200 shares compared with 127,000 last Saturday.

THE eastern sky turned pink as daybreak neared and Judith reached some foothills. She slowed enough to lift her eyes to the rear view mirror. Nothing was behind her—a car in sight. She let out a long, weary sigh and relaxed her aching back against the car cushion.

She waited for a ride, letting several cars go by unheeded. Finally she spotted a big truck coming down the road. She stood up and moved to the side of the pavement, lifting her thumb as she had seen hitch-hikers do.

What was up 1/2 cent in the session due largely to prospects of government flour buying early next week but the market later slipped mid-cent from these highs. Closing figures were 1/2-3/4 lower than yesterday, July 31.15-1/4, September 31.15-1/4, Corn finished 1/4-1/2 lower, July 35 1/2-3/4, September 35 1/2-3/4, soybeans 1/2 off to 1/4 up and 1/2-1/4 lower.

Freedom Ended For Two County Negroes One week of freedom was ended for two Gray county prisoners, both negroes, when one was apprehended in San Angelo, and the other was returned to custody of county officers by his father from Shamrock.

W. R. Ewing

Judge Ewing Seeks Office On Record

More than 20 years on the bench as judge of the 31st judicial district is the record of W. R. Ewing of Pampa who is seeking re-election to that office in the Democratic primary.

Allred Denies It's FDR's Job To Win War Alone, As O'Daniel Said

HOUSTON, June 27—Hitler's own chart for dividing the unity of a nation is being followed in Texas by those seeking to create mental confusion, contradiction of feeling, indecisiveness and panic, James V. Allred said in a radio address here today.

Campaigning for the U. S. senate on a platform of all-out aid to President Roosevelt's war program, Allred declared that these obstructionists seek to create mental confusion by saying winning the war is not the number one problem before the American people and that the war isn't going to last very long; that they seek to create indecisiveness by saying that the winning of line of jurists. He began his political career as the first court reporter in the district over which he now presides. He practiced law for four years and served as district attorney for eight years before being elected district judge.

Judge Ewing has the distinction of having fewer cases appealed to higher courts than nearly any other judge in Texas. His policy is to abide strictly by the law and that is why the 31st district court has so few reversals of cases.

"I am seeking re-election to the office on my record which is open for examination," Judge Ewing states.

A year ago Judge Ewing was named presiding judge of the ninth administrative judicial district, which is composed of 73 counties in West Texas.

the war is not the job of the people headed by their president but the job of the president alone; that they seek to create panic with claims that American rights and liberties will be swept away unless a certain candidate is returned to Washington.

Allred took issue with frequent statements in the senatorial campaign that the war is virtually over and that we have nothing to worry about.

"To me the war is the greatest issue which has ever confronted the people of Texas and the people of America," Allred declared. "I plead with you to awaken to a full realization of the thing this is now going on in our lives. It is not a drama on a stage; it is a drama in real life. To me, those who would sacrifice the lives of our boys in the armed services for selfish reasons or who would jeopardize the safety of the nation by obstructionism, deserve no more than being labeled just what they are—National Security Enemy Number 1."

Roy McMurray

Sheriff Candidate McMurray Invites Study Of Record

Roy McMurray, who has been active in all civic affairs of the community since entering the wire rope and supply business here in 1934, is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Gray county subject to the Democratic primaries.

This is McMurray's first venture into the field of politics. He is married and the father of one son. Friends of McMurray point out that he has always proven himself reliable and efficient in whatever matters he has engaged. He possesses a wide acquaintance throughout Gray county, which he has acquired during his business career in this section. The knowledge that he has gained in these past seven years form the basis of his qualifications to serve in the capacity of sheriff with a complete understanding of the problems of Gray county.

McMurray made the following statement to the voters of Gray county concerning his candidacy:

"My candidacy for the office of sheriff is due to the many requests that I have had from friends and acquaintances in Pampa, the oil fields, and throughout Gray county. The knowledge I have gained regarding the entire territory covered by this office qualifies me to fill this responsible position.

"If you see fit to elect me, I will enforce the laws of our county and state fairly and squarely, conducting the office in an economical and business like manner at all times. Special favors will be shown no one while I am your sheriff.

"I earnestly solicit the support of each and every voter in Gray county, and if I should fail to contact you personally, I sincerely invite you to investigate my character and my record by talking with any of my acquaintances or friends."

Panhandle Has No Hot District Races This Year

By OBSERVER

The Panhandle is without any hot political district races this year. Maybe it is because of the war, maybe because the Panhandle almost spent itself to the point of exhaustion in district races in 1940.

Then a congressman, a senator, a state representative were elected. This year, State Senator Grady Hazelwood's first term will not expire for two more years, and Rep. Ennis Favors has no opponent. Congressman Eugene Worley, now stationed on an airplane carrier in the Pacific, is opposed for his second term by Lynn Miller, Pampa pharmacist.

The chief political interest in the Panhandle is the U. S. senatorial race. Next in order come the district judicial races and then the county races in each county; to date, there has been more war talk than political talk. People do not seem to be greatly interested, but it is expected that interest will pick up before the first primary which is a month away.

Pampa has already been visited by one senatorial candidate, Senator O'Daniel who has not made a public speech in Pampa since he was elected to office has not announced whether he will come to Pampa. Neither has Dan Moody.

VOTE for JONES!

TO THE VOTERS ---

I am submitting my candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 2 on the basis that I am qualified for this important job . . . a man who is willing to devote unselfishly of his time and energy to the job if elected. . . a man who has lived and worked in precinct 2 long enough to know the problems of its citizens and long enough to know how to solve those problems.

I have made arrangements to be relieved of a major portion of my duties with my present business in order that I can devote the necessary time and efforts to the job of being your County Commissioner, if and when I am elected. I mention this because I firmly believe, and I am sure you do, that this office—if conducted properly—is going to require a lot more than "part time" work especially during the next two years.

I want to express my appreciation again to the many fine people who voted for and supported me in this race two years ago. That was a close race, and it was because of the encouragement and the insistence of many of these people that I decided to enter this race this year.

I have one promise to emphasize, however—if I am elected, I will do my best in conducting the affairs of this office; if I am not elected, I will never ask the people of Gray county for public office again.

Your vote and influence in the coming primary will certainly be appreciated and your trust in me will not be betrayed should you see fit to elect me.

Sincerely,
CLYDE E. JONES

COMMISSIONER Precinct 2, Gray County CLYDE E. JONES IS QUALIFIED TO SERVE THE PEOPLE

His Experience--

CLYDE E. JONES has been a resident of Gray county for the past seven years. During that period he has been actively engaged in the oil business in this county and throughout the entire time has been supervisor, having complete management of properties in this section valued at more than $400,000.00 His business experience qualifies him for the duties of this big office.

Although Mr. Jones has never held public office, he has served the public in various non-salaried civic offices on numerous occasions. His experience includes over five years of service on tax equalization boards. HE KNOWS AND UNDERSTANDS COUNTY TAX PROBLEMS. In carrying out his present business duties, Mr. Jones has had contact and actual experience in the Gray County oil fields. He knows first hand the problems of this big industry.

It may be impossible for CLYDE E. JONES to contact each voter personally due to the national transportation conservation program. But he invites you to investigate his record and ask his many friends about his ability and qualifications for this office. INVESTIGATE—THEN VOTE FOR JONES!

His Character--

CLYDE E. JONES is a native Texan, 51 years old. He was born on the farm and was a farmer until the age of 27.

CLYDE JONES' record as a business man is a commendable one. He has worked for the same company for 16 years under the direct authority of the same man for that entire period. His record will show that his actions, and business judgment, during that time have been such as to have never made it necessary for his employers to "call him on the carpet."

CLYDE E. JONES is a member of the Masonic Lodge and an active member of the Pampa Lions Club. He is now and has always been active in constructive civic affairs.

He is the father of three children, one daughter and two sons. One daughter lives in Wichita Falls and one son is at present taking officers' training in the U. S. Coast Artillery.

His Policy--

CLYDE E. JONES stands for efficient and economical management of the office of County Commissioner.

If elected, he does not propose any radical changes either in the organization, or the personnel of the present precinct set-up, as long as the various units continue to operate efficiently and economically.

CLYDE E. JONES advocates more oiled roads for Precinct 2. His association in the oil fields and his knowledge of this business enables him to know that sufficient oil is available to treat many more needed miles of roads. He knows how this oil can be obtained. There is great need for more oiling of roads used by school buses and lateral roads serving the people in the many oil company camps in this precinct.

Concerning taxes and tax valuations, Mr. Jones states: "There has been a lot of talk about the Pickett Co. of Dallas valuating our property. I do not know whether our present system is right or wrong. This can only be determined after a thorough investigation, which I propose to make if elected." He believes that our present tax rate can be lowered through economical operation of our county government.

VOTE for JONES for COMMISSIONER!

Write-in Necessary For District Attorney Post, Sturgeon Explains

A Sturgeon Pampa lawyer, who announced his candidacy for district attorney after Mr. Martin resigned the office, has lived in Pampa and practiced law in association with his brother, John F. Sturgeon, for seven years.

A. Sturgeon

He was born and reared at Paris in Lamar county, educated in the public schools of Paris, at Austin college at Sherman, and at Cumberland university in Tennessee. His father, the late Senator B. B. Sturgeon of Paris, and his two older brothers were engaged in the practice of law when he attained his LL.B. degree. The law business is all he has known since childhood, however, he began the practice of law in 1924, and since that time he has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession.

During the past 18 years he has tried hundreds of contested criminal cases, not only in the district courts of the state but on appeal to the court of criminal appeals in Austin. His experience has been wide and varied since he has often times been employed to assist district attorneys in prosecuting felony cases for the state as well as his work for the defense.

In Mr. Sturgeon's announcement for district attorney he stated that he favored prompt and vigorous prosecution of criminal offenders but that he was against third degree methods in enforcement of the law and that he believed in fair treatment of all persons charged with law violations.

"In the final analysis," he said, "under our system of law and law enforcement the question of whether the state has a case and sufficient evidence upon which to convict a person depends upon the district attorney and his knowledge of the law, and his ability to understand and place the proper value upon evidence. There is no doubt that many innocent persons have been put to the expense and trouble of defending themselves in a case

What Longview-Illinois Pipe Line Will Mean To Texas And Texans

By BRACK CURRY Associated Press Staff

The noise looped around the throat of Texas' gigantic oil industry by slashing submarine attacks on tankers will be loosened by December.

Allocation of steel by the War Production board to construct a 550-mile oil pipeline from Longview to Illinois marks the biggest wartime step yet taken to break the transportation bottleneck throttling the oil industry, in the opinion of Commissioners Olin Culberson and Ernest O. Thompson of the state railroad commission.

The pipeline is scheduled to be completed December 1 under government ownership.

Three hundred thousand barrels of Texas crude sloshing daily through the 24-inch pipeline will help give Texas its rightful place in supplying Eastern petroleum needs," says Commissioner Culberson, pointing out that the capacity of the new oil artery will be more than the present daily allowable of the entire East Texas field.

Thompson chairman of the state oil regulatory agency, describes the pipeline as "a 300,000 barrel move toward a 1,300,000 barrel job—that is, 3-13th of the solution."

"The steady procession of torpedoes of oil tankers crashing against the door of Davy Jones' locker from Dec. 7 until authorities banned them from intercoastal service, has partially blockaded 1,300,000 barrels of Texas oil which formerly moved to the East by tankers.

To Chairman Thompson "the pipeline is a step in the right direction and similar steps should be encouraged."

"This line is the next best thing to a direct line from Texas to the East," remarked Culberson. "It means more to the industry than anything yet done.

"But I am hopeful of an extension of the line across the Alleghenies to give us direct access to the East. This would take us out of the mercy of high tanker rates, where we have always been."

The projected oil convoy will decrease the cost of transportation from producing fields in Texas to the big Northern refineries, Culberson said, reminding that "there is a big difference in the cost of transportation from Houston to the East and from Illinois refineries to the East."

Culberson emphasized that the Texas petroleum industry always has labored under the handicap of distance from the huge oil consuming areas of the North and East.

"It costs considerably more to ship a barrel of oil produced one mile south of the Red river to the East than a barrel of oil produced one mile north of the Red river in Oklahoma," the commissioner explained.

Kansas and Oklahoma, Culberson said, are taking oil from storage to meet the demands of Eastern consumers, and "with rapidly decreasing production in these two states, this new pipeline will insure an increase in the flow of East Texas oil to take the place of oil from Kansas and Oklahoma."

Stating the new petroleum ferry "will help our dilemma a lot," Thompson pointed to the fact that 300,000 barrels a day, we would still be short 1,000,000 barrels a day in the transportation requirements."

Both commissioners emphasized the need for additional transportation outlets to move the cascade of oil flowing from Texas' nearly 100,000 producing wells to oil-thirsty Eastern industrial centers.

"Every other possible means of transportation must be used to even begin to move as much oil as is needed on the East Coast," declared Thompson.

He suggested use of other pipelines, barges and the most efficient use of rail transportation in tank cars.

"Let me say that a magnificent job has been done by the railroads, extending their fondest dream of moving nearly 300,000 barrels a day. Asserting "there is no limit to the amount of oil that can be moved by inland waterways given the barges and tugboats," the chairman voiced full approval of the bill pending before the senate authorizing a barge canal and oil pipeline across Florida.

"It may be a long, long time before we shall again have oil tankers available for coastwise service," cautioned Thompson. "The tankers are going to be needed to fuel our navy and haul gasoline for our airplanes and our trucks and tanks for all the battlefronts."

"Construction of the Longview pipeline should not cause abandonment of the completion of inland waterways because that source can add probably 50,000 to 75,000 barrel outlets for crude and other products produced and refined in Texas in addition to the pipeline," submitted Commissioner Culberson.

"Cheaper transportation," he stated, "for our petroleum products will be reflected in a stronger petroleum industry which in turn will react favorably upon the economy of Texas."

BUY VICTORY BONDS Miami Receives First 1942 Wheat

Miami, June 27.—Wheat harvest has begun in Roberts county this week. The first load harvested in Roberts was brought in by Alfred Cowan, who lives about 12 miles northwest of Miami, and tested 57, and brought $1 per bushel. It was purchased by the Barnett elevator.

A load from Hemphill county was the first to arrive, however, and to date about 700 bushels have been brought in.

Owing to the green bugs damaging the spring barley and oats a very light yield of those crops have been harvested. However, winter barley has yielded quite well.

A heavy rain last Sunday night or early Monday morning has delayed the harvest for a few days. Farmers are ready to start as soon as the ground is dry enough.

Gene Worley

Worley In Navy But Friends Are Conducting Race

Congressman Eugene Worley of the 18th district which comprises the 28 counties of the Panhandle, will of course not make an active campaign for re-election to his second term.

But his supporters all over the 28 counties are "going to bat for him." His name was filed for a place on the ticket in each of the 28 counties by parents of men in the armed forces, and these residents are quietly but effectively urging the voters to re-elect Worley by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Worley is an officer in the U. S. navy and is stationed on the navy's largest airplane carrier. He is on a fighting ship in the fighting zone, and has already seen much active service in naval warfare. He is taking no part in the campaign but is relying upon his constituents to re-elect him. Mr. Worley was first elected to congress in 1940 by a majority of 8,000 votes in the second primary.

His office in Washington is ably handling district affairs, and Senator Tom Connally and other powerful Texas congressmen are seeing to it that this district is ably represented. Thus far, the district has received more government war contracts than any in the state.

Mr. Worley in the 1940 campaign promised the people that if he had an occasion to vote for a declaration of war that he would enlist immediately. He kept his word, and enlisted the week war was declared. He was first turned down by the army, air corps and marines, and then he joined the navy.

Rare Rhino Skull Found In Museum

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The American Museum of Natural History has sent several expeditions over a period of many years into the jungles of Java and Malaya seeking the skull of a rhinoceros sondaicus, a rare species.

With the fall of the Dutch East Indies and the Malay states, the museum feared it would be years, if ever, before such a skull could be added to the fossil collection.

But soon the skull of a rhinoceros sondaicus will be on display at the museum.

They found it in the museum's own attic, where it had lain unrecognized for more than 70 years.

Contests In Three Top Offices Show District Races To Be Run In 'Two's'

Everything in the district races this year runs in twos as there are two candidates each for district judge, district attorney, and district clerk.

In the district attorney race, Aaron Sturgeon and Walter E. Rogers, both Pampa lawyers, are contesting for the place left vacant by the resignation of Bud Martin.

This means a write-in, as Mr. Martin resigned after the deadline for filing for state and district offices. Resignation of Mr. Martin was announced on June 3, to become effective a few days later.

Mr. Martin, who had served as district attorney since Jan. 1, 1941, resigned in order to take employment with the Douglas Aircraft company in Oklahoma City.

It was not until 13 days later that Governor Coke R. Stevenson named Thurman Adkins of Shamrock as district attorney to serve in the interval between Mr. Martin's resignation and Jan. 1, 1943, when the district attorney elected as a result of the July 25, Aug 22, primaries, and Nov. 3 general election, will take office.

Neither of the candidates for the district attorney's office, Rogers and Sturgeon, have campaigned for public office before. Rogers served one city administration as city attorney of Pampa.

Miriam Wilson, district clerk, is a candidate for re-election for a third term to that office. She is opposed by R. E. Gatlin, who was a candidate in the last election, and who was runner-up in a four-candidate race two years ago. Both candidates are of Pampa.

In the district judge's race, W. R. Ewing, incumbent, is seeking reelection to that office, opposed by H. B. Hill of Shamrock.

GOOCH FOR CONSTABLE H. W. Gooch, local real estate man, is a candidate for constable of precinct 2, subject to the Democratic primary July 25.

Mr. Kyle is a native-born Texan and has been a taxpayer in this county since he established his residence here. He is the father of five children, three of whom were born in Gray county. Three of his children are now students in the Pampa high school.

His campaign slogan is: "Law enforcement with fairness to all, and special privileges to none." He stated that, "My sincere belief is that every public official is a public servant. I will deeply appreciate your vote and consideration in the coming election."

Confederate Vets Near Century Mark Meet For Final Reunion

By NEA Service CHATTANOOGA, June 27—The thin gray lines of the Confederacy, dwindled to some 500 strong, began to assemble in Chattanooga on Monday, June 22, to participate in their 52nd reunion—and to bid farewell to their comrades—for this is their last gathering.

About 70 veterans, all who are hale enough to stand the journey, were expected to come from thirteen states.

JOINED ARMY AS MERE BOYS All of them now past ninety years of age, they were just boys at the time of the Civil War which started eighty years ago. But they are an eager crew, these rugged vets, tramping again the once bloody fields of Chickamauga, scaling the cliffs of Lookout Mountain where they fought the famous "battle above the clouds," and pointing with sticks this time instead of sabres, to spots where they themselves saw action.

General John W. Claypool, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, who now resides in St. Louis, was among the first arrivals. General Homer Atkinson, of St. Petersburg, Va., commander-in-chief of the order of Stars and Bars, was another early comer. General J. R. Sadler, the only veteran to report himself still sufficiently vigorous to ride a horse in the parade, was on hand early. He rode with Forrest through the four years of the war and is 97. Still erect and stout of heart, he is reluctant to see these annual meetings with his comrades end.

Still another outstanding figure among the first arrivals was Cadet William Morrison Wood. He is addressed as "cadet" because as a boy he was a student at the Virginia Military Institute when the entire student personnel marched out in a body to fight so valiantly in the battle of Newmarket.

No Time For Confusion

In the wake of the fall of Tobruk and bad news from Egypt there comes a wave of exaggerated rumors and reports, criticism of the fighting ability of our allies, a revival of sarcastic remarks about "magnificent British retreats."

They can be heard on every street corner and in every drugstore and cafe as the amateur generals go to town.

Nothing could better suit the purposes of Adolf Hitler and company.

Undoubtedly, many of the rumors and reports have had their origin in the busy propaganda bureau of Joe Goebbels. This is particularly true of the exaggerations of the seriousness of the blow. If the Axis can injure our morale and shake our confidence, it is as much a victory for them as Gen. Rommel's desert triumph.

There is no denying that the loss of Tobruk is a disaster for the United Nations. It came as a shock, since up until last week, we had been told that Rommel's forces were being badly battered. It is apparent that there is something wrong. As yet there has been little explanation of the sudden defeat.

We as well as the people of Britain have a right to expect an explanation. And, if British generalship has been at fault, to expect that immediate corrective steps be taken.

However, nothing has happened to justify despair or even undue fear that the Allied cause is desperate. We have been told repeatedly by our military leaders that 1942 was to be a year of perils and bloody trials. We as well as the British have been suffering defeat because we are still in the process of getting ready to meet enemies who had been preparing for years.

Successes like the Coral sea and Midway have caused us to forget the warning. The week's ill tidings—and more bad news which may be expected in the coming weeks—should bring realization of all that we are up against.

It is news that should harden our determination, not confuse our minds. IT IS NEWS THAT CALLS FOR CONFIDENCE, POISE AND STOUT HEARTS.

Reclaimed Rubber

One of the greatest reclamation projects in history is now under way. It might be likened roughly to the reclamation of desert land in the American West, although it is in the realm of chemistry rather than real estate. It is the rubber-reclaiming job in which this nation is engaged.

It might also be called the biggest junk job on record.

The process is naturally interesting. As the old, used rubber from tires, boots, belts, and so on, pours into the national catch-basins, it is dumped into a devulcanizer. The cotton is eaten out by caustics. The caustics are then removed and the reclaimed product is heated and shaped into slabs, under pressure, by steamheated mixers and rollers. Fine screens remove the dirt, and the material is then ready, almost as good as ever, to be shaped again into thousands of useful articles.

The wonder of this precious substance is that, although it is a vegetable product, it seems almost as durable and imperishable as if it were a mineral. Its values are now finding full appreciation. Artificial substi-

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

Presidential signature on the Murray-Patman bill, known as the small business act, makes this measure a law and sets up a fund of $150 million to be administered by a Smaller War Plants corporation. The purpose of the bill is not to save small business, but to help finance plants that can be converted to manufacturing war supplies or the minimum requirements of civilian economy. There is still no help in sight for the little fellows who can't convert and can't be given materials for non-essential production.

One of the clearest statements of the problem facing these manufacturers and an analysis of what might be done to save them was made recently by Philip D. Reed, now a dollar-a-year chief of WPB's Bureau of Industry Branches, but in civilian life chairman of the board of General Electric. Reed gave his views in a commencement address at Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, and though it was generally overlooked, it was a realistic presentation from the head of one of the country's biggest businesses as to what kind of post-war world the graduates and their children would be facing if these 24,000 or more little businesses were permitted to go bust.

Counting The Cost

One suggested remedy, said Reed, would be the creation of a government agency authorized to do three things. Briefly:

- 1. To defray maintenance costs during enforced shutdown.
2. To make loans to partially closed plants unable to operate at a profitable level because of material shortages during the war, and unable to obtain other financial assistance.
3. To make loans up to the fair value of frozen inventories of semi-fabricated parts that cannot be assembled into finished products without additional allocations of critical raw materials now needed elsewhere for war production.

Estimating that if such loans and Statistics on these businesses—what firms they are and how many employes they have—are available. If you count only the smallest 24,000 manufacturers, they represent a $4 billion a year productive capacity.

The Murray-Patman bill will save a number of these firms, but it must be borne in mind that the Smaller War Plants corporation will be restricted by law to helping war production. The purpose of the bill is not to save small business, but to help finance plants that can be converted to manufacturing war supplies or the minimum requirements of civilian economy.

Visitors to national parks have been cut down by half. To solve railway freight transportation problems, manufacturers are being asked to make monthly estimates of their carloadings. War production workers who think up ideas to increase output will get decorated with diplomas in three degrees, "award," which is the highest, "certification," or "citation."

Washington, June 28—Tape sounded, for the living, in Hollywood cemetery lately. In rented quarters on the grounds of that somewhat remarkable institution, Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth have been rehearsing their dances for "The Gay Senorita."

The explanation is simple: Columbia studio, where the picture is being filmed, is very busy these days, and there was not a vacant stage or rehearsal room where the stars could be secure against interruptions. Somebody knew about a suitable room at the cemetery building, and it seemed very unlikely that anything could disturb the dance practice there. Nothing has, either.

This neighboring arrangement between the quick and the dead is not in the least improper. Although obviously within the grounds and fenced by an expanse of lawn, the building stands beside the main gate and is not among the crypts and graves. The structure is now leased by a dignified fraternal organization. Previously, it had two tenants—a dealer in statuary and a concern which made 16-mm. movies of undraped cuties. These "Hollywood Art Features" bore such titles as "Bring 'Em Back Nude," "Patricia's Panties," and "Nude Interludes."

Far more shocking were the carnivals of mourning which for years were staged on Aug. 12, the anniversary of the death of Rudolph Valentino, and sometimes on his birthday, May 6. Hollywood cemetery boasts on billboards that it is "The Cemetery Without a Salesman," but it does have a press agent. The latter may be presumed to have arranged the visits to the Valentino crypt of heavily-veiled women in black attended by crowds and morbid gawkers. Last August, as I recall, was the first time that no mysterious mourners showed up.

By tradition and location, the burial ground is closely associated with the movie industry. Many celebrities have been put to rest there, and the cemetery is bounded on the south by RKO and Paramount studios.

CLOCK OF DOOM

Another odd thing about Hollywood cemetery is that on the grounds is a large clock patiently ticking off the trifling minutes and hours of eternity for the oblivious disinterested stone angels and cherubim. In contrast is the clock on a mortuary on Sunset boulevard. There, among night clubs and agents' offices, and in view of thousands of lively passersby who really want to keep track of time, the clock has no hands. The swinging pendulum is an ominous reminder of approaching doom, and has been an irritating and sobering influence along that sector of frivolity known as the Sunset strip.

There is one other judgement day note in the movie scene: a mortuary occupies the northeast corner of the site of Metro's administration building. In spite of frantic and fantastic offers, the studio wasn't able to acquire the property. It finally had to build around it.

Common Ground

By E. C. BOILES

"I speak the plain-word primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart on the same terms."—WALT WHITMAN

"VICTORY THROUGH AIR POWER" I have just read, "Victory Through Air Power" by Major Alexander P. de Seversky. It is a book that every American interested in winning the war and winning peace should read. It is a very out-of-the-ordinary book. It is so interesting that all members of my family are reading it. Seversky believes, as Billie Mitchell did, that wars in the future will be won by those who control the air. He sold me on the idea that we should have an air command separate from the army and navy.

He says: "The war prospects are melancholy in the extreme, as long as they are viewed from the angle of armies and navies. . . . In this sense the advocates of unstinting and self-contained air power are the only ones who have a warrant for optimism. They alone can implement their hopes with the sureness and precision of engineers. Convinced that they are witnessing the last naval battles in human history, they are not 'let down' by naval impotence or naval reverses. Knowing that the loss of this or that area of land or ocean is a temporary episode, with the real decision still to be fought out in the skies, cannot be discouraged which in former times would have spelled final doom."

Here are a few other quotations from the book: "Those who deny the practical possibility of a direct aerial attack on America are juggling the American people into an utterly false sense of safety which may prove as disastrous to us as the 'Mugnot Line mentality' proved to France."

"In the epoch of aviation the British Navy could not use its aviation adjunct. Neither will the American Navy ever be able to use its aviation adjunct—except in regions out of touch with the enemy's powerful land-based air force."

"Navies are no longer lords of the seas. Their authority is being rapidly restricted and in some respects wholly wiped out. Certain naval units may be salvaged for auxiliary jobs under the protection of air power. A portion may make itself felt against backward nations lacking effective aircraft. But the rest—especially the battle-ships—will be consigned to museums of outlived weapons along with the bow and arrow and the blunderbuss."

"The flaw in this typically naval-minded reasoning is that it assumes aviation will remain frozen at roughly its present stage. It does not recognize that the world is being further 'narrowed by the plane' every day, so that American insularity is as doomed as Britain's insularity. In three years, if not sooner, that doom will be a fact on our Atlantic shore and within five years on the Pacific shore as well; just about the time, that is, when our new two-ocean navy on which such military experts pin their faith will have been completed. It is the inadequate range of air power which still makes America 'that secure base which is the one indispensable requirement of sea power,' and this minimal condition for the very existence of sea power is obviously fading out."

I will continue discussing "Victory Through Air Power" in a later issue.

LIBYA'S FLIGHT

The plight of Libya is possibly a little better understood by those people who have read, "Victory Through Air Power" by Seversky. In this book, he contends that the P-40's were so inefficient in England that many of them were not uncrated; that England sent some of them down to Libya where they could compete with the less efficient Italian planes.

Now that we get the news showing the English being driven back at Tobruk and receding to Egypt, we can better understand the necessity of modern, efficient air power. The cast-offs sent to North Africa seem to be of little use against the Germans who are now using their airplanes and war equipment in North Africa.

tutes are made in growing quantities, but for many purposes are less satisfactory.

The latter may be presumed to have arranged the visits to the Valentino crypt of heavily-veiled women in black attended by crowds and morbid gawkers. Last August, as I recall, was the first time that no mysterious mourners showed up.

By tradition and location, the burial ground is closely associated with the movie industry. Many celebrities have been put to rest there, and the cemetery is bounded on the south by RKO and Paramount studios.

CLOCK OF DOOM

Another odd thing about Hollywood cemetery is that on the grounds is a large clock patiently ticking off the trifling minutes and hours of eternity for the oblivious disinterested stone angels and cherubim. In contrast is the clock on a mortuary on Sunset boulevard. There, among night clubs and agents' offices, and in view of thousands of lively passersby who really want to keep track of time, the clock has no hands. The swinging pendulum is an ominous reminder of approaching doom, and has been an irritating and sobering influence along that sector of frivolity known as the Sunset strip.

There is one other judgement day note in the movie scene: a mortuary occupies the northeast corner of the site of Metro's administration building. In spite of frantic and fantastic offers, the studio wasn't able to acquire the property. It finally had to build around it.

WORKING ON HIM

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 — Tape sounded, for the living, in Hollywood cemetery lately. In rented quarters on the grounds of that somewhat remarkable institution, Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth have been rehearsing their dances for "The Gay Senorita."

The explanation is simple: Columbia studio, where the picture is being filmed, is very busy these days, and there was not a vacant stage or rehearsal room where the stars could be secure against interruptions. Somebody knew about a suitable room at the cemetery building, and it seemed very unlikely that anything could disturb the dance practice there. Nothing has, either.

This neighboring arrangement between the quick and the dead is not in the least improper. Although obviously within the grounds and fenced by an expanse of lawn, the building stands beside the main gate and is not among the crypts and graves. The structure is now leased by a dignified fraternal organization. Previously, it had two tenants—a dealer in statuary and a concern which made 16-mm. movies of undraped cuties. These "Hollywood Art Features" bore such titles as "Bring 'Em Back Nude," "Patricia's Panties," and "Nude Interludes."

Far more shocking were the carnivals of mourning which for years were staged on Aug. 12, the anniversary of the death of Rudolph Valentino, and sometimes on his birthday, May 6. Hollywood cemetery boasts on billboards that it is "The Cemetery Without a Salesman," but it does have a press agent. The latter may be presumed to have arranged the visits to the Valentino crypt of heavily-veiled women in black attended by crowds and morbid gawkers. Last August, as I recall, was the first time that no mysterious mourners showed up.

By tradition and location, the burial ground is closely associated with the movie industry. Many celebrities have been put to rest there, and the cemetery is bounded on the south by RKO and Paramount studios.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The other day a resident of Wheeler county expressed his regret that the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless was leaving Pampa. "I listen to him every Sunday," the man said. That remark could be duplicated a hundred times because Rev. Bayless not only had a large audience in the Baptist church, but he had a vast unseen audience which listened to him over the radio. And not only Pampa but the Top O' Texas will be sorry to lose him. People were always saying that Dr. Bayless was too big for this town, but the minister himself said that no man was too big for any place, no matter how small it may be. . . . But Rev. Bayless was a big man, physically and in other ways. He had a big sense of humor, and he didn't wear a long face. He joked and laughed with people. He was one of the few ministers I have ever known who treated his members as if they were patients, and he was the doctor. And he did a pretty good job of doctoring their dispositions and souls. He set a good example that taught people how to live and enjoy life at the same time. . . . The other day I heard a man say that every time he looked at a certain Pampa business man he got the blues, so doleful and uncheerful was the man's countenance. Dr. Bayless was not like that man. One way to get rid of the blues was to meet Dr. Bayless and talk to him. His presence and demeanor discouraged pessimism. . . . It is often said that there are more gossips in churches than in any other place, and that is because of the isolated habits of many church members, but Dr. Bayless never stuck himself down in Pampa and stayed put, and he did not become narrow-gauged. He made many trips and he broadened himself, and I don't suppose there is a person in Pampa who ever heard a word of gossip pass his lips. He set an example that his church followed. I, who heard all the gossip haven't heard a person say in years, "well, I heard that in the Baptist church." Yes, Dr. Bayless was big in a lot of ways. Pampans grew to respect his opinions because they were broad and unprejudiced. Above all he has true charity, and that is the secret power in his personality. Pampa wishes him good luck and happiness in his evangelist field. . . . Not only his church but the town will miss him. . . .

Don't forget to go down to the courthouse this morning to see the selectees off. They will gather at the courthouse, district courtroom at 9:30 o'clock. And when you get there cheer for them. They will need it, and they will appreciate it. Let's show those old boys that we are proud of them, and that we appreciate their patriotism. They are our home town boys, the best in the world. Let's turn out everybody to see them off. It doesn't make any difference whether or not you know them; go down anyway, and don't spare the hand-clapping. Parents and relatives of most of the boys will be there, but not a kinsman of others will be there. I am thinking of a man who came in from California yesterday. All his folks used to live here, but now not a single one of his immediate family is here. It will help those men a lot if we go down and see them off. Let's do it.

Another person called up yesterday and she said that her rent had been raised, but that she is not going to pay it and she's not going to move, as long as the reason for moving is higher rent, and that lady is exactly right. The landlady can't legally raise the rent, and if she does how can she make her tenant pay it? This latest attempt to raise the rent in defiance of government orders was made on North Russell. Is the woman not aware that she is acting in conspiracy against the war effort. The Greeks probably had a word for such people and so have Pampans.

HIGH LIFE And low life in The BIG City

By Stella Holt

Although none of us at the bookshop go to fashionable weddings we have seen the backset of most of New York's ultra-ultra weddings. For what is more ultra than a June wedding in St. Bartholomew's with a reception later at Sherry's across the street. And we look into Sherry's alley and see the palm trees arriving. We see trees arriving and six-foot long center-pieces of flowers. And then next day we see the palm trees coming out. Palm trees are tough. Workmen strip them by the trunk and the roots stick fast in their buckets of earth. They are banged about unmercifully but always good for another wedding.

You wouldn't believe what some decorators think up. One day some nice green trees arrived in the alley and workmen stripped all their leaves off. Then, believe it or not, they tied paper blossoms onto all the bare twigs. It wouldn't surprise me if that marriage has been dissolved.

Truck loads of palms and cut flowers arrive for the wedding receptions. The whole interior resembles a flowering garden. The flowers are given to hospitals after the reception and the florists call for the trees and potted plants.

There is one Manhattan pigeon who adores weddings. When he sees the wedding go up at St. Bartholomew's he takes up his best in front of Sherry's knowing that a little later he'll have all the rice he can eat. He is not so fat this year as last as little rice is scattered in war times.

A job's a job but one of the workmen lifting trees in big boxes of earth from a truck, paused to mop his brow. "I don't see why anybody wants to get married in June," he said as he grabbed the next palm.

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWeese

The News today presents an unusual supplement to its regular Sunday morning edition. . . . It's the Gray County Political Guide which will serve as a catalogue of information on state, district, county and precinct candidates seeking favor of the voters at the July 25 primaries. . . . Every voter should read this supplement from beginning to end and then file it away for future reference. . . . Never has it been more important that the voters select the right men to operate our government. . . . Every public office now becomes more and more of a public trust because of the vital connections to the war effort. . . . Study your candidates and their backgrounds. . . . Investigate past records and then vote for the one you believe best fitted to serve you and your country.

That submarine menace is growing more serious. . . . The frightful toll of Allied Nations merchantmen in the Atlantic and the Gulf now exceeds the rate of ship production. . . . Jack Danziger, of the Danziger Refineries at Fort Worth and Pampa, too, comes up with a new suggestion. . . . We mentioned it on the radio the other day and it will bear repetition here. . . . He thinks everybody who goes into the coastal areas should be a self-appointed hunter of U-boat hideouts. . . . It is just possible the Axis has a secret base on the eastern shores of the Americas. . . . Mr. Danziger's suggestion has international scope. . . . He believes that everyone who goes anywhere along the coasts of North or South America should be on the alert.

Up here in the Panhandle, far from the coastal areas, we might think that wouldn't apply to us. . . . But, Mr. Danziger points out, there are many from the inland who go hunting and fishing along the coastlines. . . . They, he believes—and we agree—should always have a weather-eye open for possible hiding places for the Axis sea-wolves. . . . No opportunity is too small to overlook. . . . If everyone who gets into the coastal bays, inlets and little-traversed waterways would take to Mr. Danziger's suggestion, it might be surprising what would be uncovered along the eastern shores of the western hemisphere. . . . So, if you get along the coast line by-ways during your vacation, just remember what you have been asked to do by Mr. Danziger.

R. E. Gatlin

Gatlin Received 47 Per Cent Of Vote In 1940

R. E. Gatlin is a candidate for the office of District Clerk of Gray county, subject to the action of the forthcoming primary, July 25.

Mr. Gatlin was born in Fisher county, Texas and came to Pampa 12 years ago. He has been engaged in the fuel and oil business continuously since that time.

At the beginning of World War I, Mr. Gatlin interrupted his plans to study law at the University of Texas, to enlist in the army. He served overseas for the duration and held a Field Artillery Reserve commission until six years ago.

He is a graduate of North Texas State Teachers college at Denton. Following graduation he taught school for two years and read law at night.

Mr. Gatlin made the campaign for District Clerk two years ago and received approximately 47 per cent of the vote cast.

Leech Resident Of County Since 1911

A resident of Gray county since 1911 and tax assessor for Gray county since 1925, F. E. Leech is candidate for re-election to the office of county tax assessor-collector. He is without opposition.

Mr. Leech was first elected tax assessor in 1925 and was named to the combined office of assessor-collector in 1936, when the duties of the two offices were consolidated.

In announcing for re-election, Mr. Leech said: "I want to assure the people of Gray county that I will continue to serve the people of Gray county faithfully and constantly. I have appreciated their support and confidence in the past and will try to merit their support now. I am not unmindful of the fact that it is an important office and one not easy to properly fill."

Jeff Guthrie

Jeff Guthrie Feels That He Is Old-Timer

Jeff Guthrie feels that he is an old-timer of the Panhandle, because he came to this section soon enough to be identified with the stable citizenship of this region.

Mr. Guthrie, 41 years of age, established his residence in Pampa 14 years ago.

For the past 12 years he has served in the police department of Pampa and displayed his ability to serve as a peace officer. He served as assistant chief of police for the past four years.

He is married and the father of three children. One daughter, 12, is a student in junior high school here, and two other children below school age. His wife is a daughter of Robert Boydston, reared 35 miles south of Pampa. The Boydstons have lived in that region 55 years.

In addition to much actual experience, in finger print work, Mr. Guthrie has taken a special course in this section at the University of Applied Science, Chicago, Ill. He can well be proud of his expert efficiency in this work, which is certainly a great asset in the duties of the sheriff's office.

"When you elect me sheriff, I guarantee that my deputies will promptly and efficiently serve all processes; that I will oppose pistol whipping and assaulting defenseless prisoners; that I will oppose the unjust confinement of prisoners in the jail at the expense of the State and County; and I will not assume to be both 'judge' and 'jury' against prisoners," Mr. Guthrie said.

"Courtesy will be the keyword of the sheriff's office when I am elected. Persons visiting the office on business will be met politely with a smile, just as in any well-regulated business institution.

"No women will be insulted, wives, mothers, sisters, loved ones and relatives of prisoners will be given all possible attention, consistent with the law," Mr. Guthrie stated.

Mr. Guthrie emphasized that a deputy with authority to serve the people would be on duty at all times, when he is elected sheriff. He further promises that the sheriff's office will be open for business at all consistent hours with some competent, and capable, authority on duty. He promises to have some one to answer the phone and states "The sheriff's department will NOT be where they can't be found."

Mr. Guthrie invites the people of Gray county to tune their radios to station KPND at 7:30 p. m. Monday through Friday each week.

Tennessee Aluminum Mill Breaks Sheet Fabricating Bottleneck

By TOM WOLF NEA Service Staff Correspondent KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 27—

In the shadow of the Great Smoky mountains, on rich rolling land, which for years has been synonymous with agriculture, America is winning the battle of industrial production.

On the red clay of a leveled-off hilltop, the Aluminum company of America has built a gigantic new plant which has smashed, for the present, at least, the bottlenecks in aluminum production.

"PLANT'S SIZE IS MILITARY SECRET The exact size of this gargantuan factory is a military secret, yet it will give the enemy anything but comfort to ponder these generalities:

So vast is this plant that foremen scot between operations in small cars.

So vast is this plant that in just one stage of its fabrication, the aluminum travels a straight line down a continuous strip mill more than a quarter of a mile long.

So vast is this plant that, from pig to product, aluminum travels three miles under its roof.

A little over a year ago this site was just another grassy hilltop of the Tennessee valley. Plans for the plant, built as part of the Aluminum company's $215,000,000 self-financed war expansion program, were first discussed in November, 1940. A year and a quarter later the giant overhead cranes within the factory were starting the first huge ingots of aluminum rolling through the fabricating mills.

Here in one building, watching aluminum pig become aluminum sheet, you can see the United Nations marching to victory. The tough, lightweight metal that is here kneaded and pounded into shape is building the planes and ships that will dictate the armistice.

NEARBY PLANT PRODUCES METAL PIGS The aluminum pig itself is produced in a nearby plant. "Alumina," the finely-powdered, whitish in this section, aluminum is refined, is obtained by chemical processes from bauxite in the earth's crust.

In huge electric furnaces, called "reduction pots," the alumina is broken by an electrolytic process into its component parts, aluminum and oxygen, by means of a molten electrolyte bath through which a powerful electric current passes. The oxygen is burned off, and the aluminum is poured into pigs. The pig is shipped to the mammoth new plant.

Now hop into a midget car and follow the path of this pig inside the factory as it is melted and cooled, squashed and squeezed, cut and trimmed into fighting weight.

First it is melted for pouring into ingots. You have to step on the gas now to keep pace as the huge overhead crane hurries the ingots to the soaking pits. Swing the auto around a corner and you're looking straight down the "hot strip line." You'll drive more than six city blocks straight down the bowels of this factory before you get to the end of the line.

An overhead crane hauls the ingot from the soaking pit to the line. Now, screeching and clattering down this rolling line, squeezed under 7,000,000 pounds pressure, the metal snakes out from the eight-foot ingot into a strip nearly a tenth of a mile long. Even in your car it is hard to keep pace toward the end of the line, as the thin sheet hisses along to the "continuous mill"—where it is rolled, like a window shade, for easy handling.

BIG STOCKPILE IS BUILT UP Better duck in your seat as the giant cranes swing the coils above your car toward the annealing furnaces. Up to this point the aluminum has been hot while it was being shaped. After annealing, it will be worked cold. Other mills will roll it still thinner.

Steer your car deftly between the rows of giant machines which represent the best of American engineering genius. Watch more overhead cranes, more rolling mills, cutting, stretching, pressing, heating, cooling. At last the sheet is ready for inspection and shipment. Your car's speedometer shows you've

Lynn Miller Pledges Active Representation

Lynn Miller of Pampa is a candidate for U. S. Representative of the 18th Congressional district, which is composed of 28 Panhandle counties.

Keynote of Miller's campaign is active and constant representation for the people of this district.

Concerning his candidacy, Miller stated that he wished to call the attention of the people to some of the duties of Congressmen. He made the following statement:

"Your chosen congressman has the responsibility to lay and collect taxes; to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States.

"To borrow money on the credit of the United States; to regulate commerce with foreign nations.

"To coin and regulate the value of our own money; and of foreign money; and fix the standard of weights and measures.

"To establish post offices and post roads; to raise and support armies, to provide and maintain our navy.

"To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

"To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by the Constitution in the government of the U. S. or in any department or office thereof.

"Your chosen congressman has many other duties—resolutions, bills, amendments, and the ever growing need and necessity for constant and daily attention to the many bills and to our many people who are looking to our great President and our great Congress for the answer. This answer must be the right answer for each and every person.

"We must stand and defend our own people and our own territory, and also the people and territories of our allied nations. The ending of this war will and must be in our favor with the continuation of Democratic representation.

"We as a nation have a profound faith, belief and love for God. We have a nation erected to God and dedicated to our many churches and our Democracy. This Democracy will stand and endure forever. We must fight and fight hard, but we must not forget the power of God in this battle. When we have won this war the strength of our Democracy will resemble that of a beautiful temple, willing, and ever willing to offer a helping hand to the many nations who will be looking for such a temple as our Democracy.

"In faith I begin, and in faith I continue, my efforts to give you Active Representation on the home front, and I have faith in your support and vote in the coming election."

GENE WORLEY FOR CONGRESS

He Kept His Word To Us!

Let's Keep Faith With Him!

REP. EUGENE WORLEY

In the 1940 congressional campaign Gene Worley told you that if he ever voted for war he would join the armed forces, and history records that he did. Today Gene Worley is serving his country as a naval officer on a famous airplane carrier, the most dangerous spot in the Pacific war. When you go to the polls to cast your vote, Gene Worley will either be steaming out of a battle or into one because there is no rest for an airplane carrier in this bitter war. Gene is not taking any part in the campaign, he is relying upon his friends, parents of men in the service and people who believe in fair play to return him to Congress by a really overwhelming vote.

Not only is Gene on the job with the fleet in the Pacific, but his office is on the job for the Panhandle. No congressional district can match the war contracts the Panhandle has already received, and all have been announced through Gene Worley's office. The government and the President and congress are going to bat for Gene Worley while he is helping fight our country's battles. Ask Pampa, Amarillo, Dalhart, Childress, Dumas, Borger, all of which have received war contracts.

We'll Be Proud To Re-elect Him!

POLITICAL OBSERVERS PREDICT RUNOFF IN SENATE RACE

Collins Can't Defeat Coke, Experts Say

The U. S. senatorial race has not yet become a burning issue, but it is fast becoming one, and that sums up the state political situation.

All other state and national races are dwarfed by the senate race in which Senator W. Lee O'Daniel is facing the toughest fight of his career in order to head off James V. Allred and Dan Moody, both former governors, from ousting him from his seat.

O'Daniel is not only worried but he is rather frantic. This was indicated by the fact that he came back to Texas to campaign after he said that he would not return until July 20. Now he is campaigning all over Texas, and he is not ignoring his opponents either.

O'Daniel is travelling around with Hal Collins, who is running against the popular Governor Coke Stevenson who does not seem to be concerned. The governor's attitude is that he will beat Mr. Collins overwhelmingly in the first primary.

The political wise-acs are predicting freely that there will be a run-off in the senatorial race and that O'Daniel will get beat in the August runoff. O'Daniel himself is claiming that "there ain't gonna be no runoff," but observers are remembering last year when Lyndon Johnson, an unknown, almost beat O'Daniel. At that time, it is recalled, if three votes had been changed in each county, O'Daniel would have lost. His margin over Johnson was only about 1,200 votes.

Opponents of O'Daniel point out that since then O'Daniel has become more unpopular by reason of his isolationist views and anti-Roosevelt statements.

O'Daniel supporters claim that both Moody and Allred are political has-beens and don't have a chance, and that the people will have nothing to do with them.

The race is likely to get extremely warm as the summer progresses. It already shows signs of creating an interest that will be considerable, considering the war. The race will gain in interest because of the national interest in the race.

There is not the slightest doubt in the minds of anyone, including the O'Daniel supporters, but that President Roosevelt wants O'Daniel beaten. Also everybody knows that the president wants Allred elected.

Political observers all over the state report that the most futile campaign being waged in Texas this summer is Hal Collins' attempt to unseat Coke Stevenson as governor.

There is no doubt but that Collins is trying to ride O'Daniel's coat-tail into office, but if the Crazy Water promoter from Mineral Wells gets within shouting distance of Governor Coke it will surprise the experts.

Why O'Daniel teamed up with Collins mystifies people on the inside. While O'Daniel was governor he and Stevenson, then lieutenant governor, were close friends. Stevenson was one of the few men in the capital with whom O'Daniel got along. Now it seems that friendship is all over, and that O'Daniel has put his stamp of approval on Mr. Collins.

However, most O'Daniel supporters believed that O'Daniel teamed up with Collins in order to get the Crazy Water musical gang which broadcast daily over WBAP, Fort Worth.

It was thought that O'Daniel would make much of the fact that he has a son in the army, but the son has returned to help his father campaign for re-election so that angle has been soft-pedaled.

O'Daniel's main song this summer is a hymn of hate against "labor racketeers," whereas Allred harps on O'Daniel's isolationism, his obstructionism, his failure to wear a uniform in World War one, and his Re-

47 Residents Seeking 23 County Offices

Forty-seven Gray county residents will seek election to 23 county offices in the First Democratic primary on July 25. Approximately 5,700 men and women are eligible to vote in the election.

Seventeen voting boxes will be open for business at 8 a. m., and will close at 7 p. m.

Jno. V. Andrews, county chairman, will have boxes and all voting and tabulating books and records delivered to precinct chairmen before election. Mr. Andrews, a long-time resident of Pampa, was elected county chairman two years ago. He is the only candidate for the office.

Only 11 of the 23 offices will have contested races, the other 12 incumbents being without opponents. In only one race, that of constable of precinct 2, Pampa, the incumbent will not be seeking re-election, but publican record, and his evident purpose to block Roosevelt. Moody says Allred won't declare his stand on labor. Allred ignores Moody.

will seek another office.

As in past years, the race for sheriff has the most candidates, the incumbent and seven other candidates seeking the office. Next comes the constable's race in precinct one, LeFors, which has five candidates. Third biggest race is that of county commissioner of precinct 2, Pampa, with four candidates.

Uncontested races, with present office holders, are:

County judge, Sherman White; tax assessor, F. E. Leech; treasurer, W. E. James; superintendent of schools, W. B. Weathered; clerk, Charlie Thut; surveyor, Mark Denson; Justice of the peace, precinct 2, place 1, J. H. Henry; justice of the peace, precinct 4, R. D. Massey; justice of the peace, precinct 5, J. H. Bodine; constable, precinct 4, J. A. Darnell; constable, precinct 5, C. G. Nicholson; county chairman, Jno. V. Andrews.

Contested races, with present office holders, as names will appear on the ballot, follow:

Joe Gordon, incumbent; district clerk, Miriam Wilson, incumbent, and R. E. Galin; sheriff, G. H. Kyle, Jess Hatcher, Jeff Guthrie, Clarence Loveless, Dan Cambarn, F. S. Brown, Roy McMurray and Cal Rose, incumbent; county commissioner, precinct 1, Arlie Carpenter, incumbent, G. O. Carruth and John Oldham; county commissioner, precinct 2, John Haggard, incumbent, H. C. Coffee, Clyde E. Jones and J. V. New; county commissioner, precinct 3, Claude Schaffer and Thomas O. Kirby, incumbent; county commissioner, precinct 4, J. R. Glass and C. M. Carpenter, incumbent; justice of the peace, precinct 1, R. C. Holley and H. M. Guthrie, incumbent; justice of the peace, precinct 2, place 2, Charles I. Hughes, incumbent, and T. W.

Barnes; constable, precinct 1, Henry Shoffit, incumbent, C. S. Clendennen, George Hawthorne, George Bailey, and W. J. Clemmons; constable, precinct 2, H. W. Gooch, Jack Ross, and Earl Lewis.

Every eligible voter in the county may vote for persons running for all county offices with the exception of county commissioners where only persons living in a precinct may vote for an office seeker in that precinct. All other races are strictly precinct affairs.

Precinct 1 is the northeast quarter of the county; precinct two the northwest section of the county; precinct three the southwest section of the county; and precinct four the southeast quarter of the county.

Adkins Not To Be Candidate In '42 Election

Thurman Adkins of Shamrock, appointed 31st district attorney by Governor Coke Stevenson to fill out the unexpired term of Bud Martin, resigned, will not be a candidate for district attorney in the elections this year, he announced today.

This means that there will be no write-in of Adkins' name for that office. Since Martin resigned after the deadline for filing had passed, no names for the office of district attorney could be placed on the ballot for the July 25 primary.

Walter E. Rogers and Aaron Sturgeon have been the only candidates to announce for the vacancy created by Mr. Martin's resignation. As present district attorney, Mr. Adkins will serve until Jan. 1, 1943, when the winner of the Nov. 3 general election will take office.

Mr. Adkins is a native Texan, born in Upsher county. He was representative for Upsher and Camp counties in the Texas legislature in 1929-1933, and is a graduate of the school of law of the University of Texas, where he received his degree in 1931.

He formerly resided in McLean, then moved to Wheeler in 1934, and to Shamrock in 1938, where he has his home. Mr. and Mrs. Adkins are the parents of two children, a son, Thurman II, 7, and a daughter, Lynda Carol, 6 months. Mrs. Adkins is the former Jerome Stanley.

Rose Reduces Gray County Crime To Minimum

The 31st District Court records show that crime in Gray county has been reduced to a minimum. Check the records and you will see that there has been less crime in Gray County during the past three years than at any time since the year of 1926. Cal Rose has been your Sheriff for 3 1/2 years, and before he took office he promised the people of Gray county that he would faithfully enforce the law. The promises Cal Rose made you were not idle gestures nor election promises, for they have been kept in faith and confidence. The records of the grand juries and the district court show this.

Since the National emergency the FBI and the Texas Department of Public Safety have from time to time offered courses of instruction

Cal Rose

There never was a time that cooperation of our Peace Officers and Citizens was more necessary than now. All you people know that cooperation is what we must have to keep our communities clean and upright as our Soldiers fight abroad.

And as a matter of fact, since the Proclamation by the President of the United States as of Dec. 7 and 8, 1941, the Commander and Chief of the Army and Navy and every Citizen, Peace Officer and all are working directly or indirectly under the President's orders and it is certainly necessary now for all officers to keep in close touch with all Government officers and learn as much as possible of the Defense program as outlined by the Government for the protection of our Government.

Our Boys are not fighting overseas for the protection of Criminals, Saboteurs, Espionage or any of those. Our Boys are fighting to protect the Democracy of our Nation and it's up to us Peace Officers to be responsible for all duties at Home and any parts that are not laid directly to us, the Peace Officers of America, who are in charge of executive departments at home.

He is the only candidate that has been privileged to receive these special courses of instruction, and aside from the practical experience he has gained as a peace officer he now possesses those additional qualifications by reason of these specialized courses of instruction.

It is experience, practical experience, that counts today. And, it is experience the people need in their public officers because of the National emergency. The times demand that every public official put forth the very best that he may have today and that honest and faithful service from our public servants is necessary. Of course, we hear idle gossip and destructive criticism, but that gossip and criticism usually comes from those who care the least as to whether our laws are enforced. We need only to glance at the newspapers of today to see the serious threat our enemies are making. The Suez Canal is threatened—Germany is attempting to drive on the oil fields of the Middle East—and the Japanese are attempting to make permanent bases in the islands off Alaska. These threats cannot be taken too lightly. They are grim realities, and it means that we are indeed today in an hour of emergency. It calls for unity on our part, and it calls for the best that every man, woman and child may have in order that we may win the war. No battle was ever won by a leader who lacked experience, and no victory was ever had where there was a lack of faithful service. We, therefore, need experience and honest and faithful service from our public servants to do the job. A true, tried, trusted and experienced official will do the job better than one who is inexperienced and without practical training.

Fifth columnists and every character of subversive activity in our midst must be dealt with promptly. There is no room in Gray County for any element that would destroy our National unity and our all-out program to win this war. There is much industry and many interests in Gray County that are vital to our war effort. These industries and interests must be protected and permitted to operate at their greatest efficiency. Cal Rose is an experienced and trusted sheriff who can and will diligently do the job.

Gray County is a law-abiding county. The crime rate today is the lowest it has been in the past sixteen years. It is experience and a faithful performance of the duties of the office, at a minimum expense to the taxpayer, that has brought this about. Re-elect Cal Rose Sheriff at the forthcoming July 25th Primary and he will give you a continuation of this faithful and efficient service.

Coke Candidate For His First Elected Term

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, a Texan by birth and truly a self-made man as far as his successful career as a ranchman, lawyer, business man and statesman is concerned, is candidate for his first elected term as governor of Texas.

The rangy, pipe-smoking governor is well known in Pampa and this vicinity, having visited here for a special luncheon in his honor last fall.

"Coke" as he is known to his legion of friends and admirers throughout the state, was born and raised in Kimble county. A larger part of his education was gained by home study.

As a mere boy he operated a wagon freight line between Brady and Junction, Texas, studying bookkeeping and law by the light of his campfires at night. Later he accepted a job in a Junction bank as janitor, working his way up to the presidency of that bank.

Believing that he was never fitted to be a banker, he resigned that position after a short time to commence the practice of law and to engage in the farming and ranching business, all of which he liked and in which he became very successful.

Citizens of his home county accorded Coke Stevenson his first honor in the political field by electing him county judge. Following service in that capacity, he was named to the state legislature for a number of years, where he was twice speaker of the house.

In 1938 he was elected lieutenant governor and presided over the state senate during two regular sessions of the legislature. He became governor of the state in 1941 following the election of W. Lee O'Daniel to the U. S. senate.

Friends of Gov. Stevenson point out that he is not only qualified to serve his first elected term because of his wide experience in matters of state government, but that he is a real Texan, a man who has shared all the hardships as well as the good fortunes of this state.

Opinion that would have no opposition in the gubernatorial race this year was generally widespread over the state, since no candidate announced against him until the closing days of the filing period.

John Haggard Points To His Experience

Gray county's need for experienced public servants in office during this period of national emergency, prompted John Haggard, present commissioner of precinct 2, to announce for re-election to that office subject to the July 25 primary.

Mr. Haggard points out that the present tempo of affairs in our county, stimulated to a great extent by national defense work, requires the knowledge and experience that can only be gained by actual service in office, if the county's best interests are to be protected.

He is seeking re-election on the basis of his record of service in that office. Mr. Haggard obtained the first office in Gray county for precinct 2, starting this movement about five years ago. During this period more than 80 bad roads have been converted to all-weather routes by oiling. He also points to his record on reduction of county tax rates since he entered office. The Gray county tax rate has been lowered from $1.20 at the time he took office to $0.63 now.

Here's How Young Texans Live At Texas Naval Training Base

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff

When you walk into the naval aviation base at Grand Prairie—300 miles from salt water—you "come aboard."

When you leave it you're "going ashore."

The hundreds of young men from the farms, ranches, and cities of Texas who are there at Hensley field thus learn, long before they tread a rolling deck, the difference between deck and floor, bulkhead and wall, topside and upstairs, "1900" and 6 p. m.

The navy minutely instructs all its boots—the sea's buck private—and aviation cadets in the parlance and habits which make the life of a bluejacket different from any other occupation in the world.

The Hensley base, now expanding into one of the largest of the navy primary flight instruction schools, is situated near Dallas and Fort Worth but from all the sea-going talk a stranger begins to think he may be afloat on the deep.

The new men here stick to the navy's traditional time-telling system, which is to start the hours at midnight and add a 100 for each of the next 24 hours. Thus 7:30 p. m. is "1930" and 1 p. m. is "1300."

One of the most sacred of all navy regulations is that an order is obeyed instantly without question. There is a perfect symbol for that at Hensley. It is a communication system between a flying instructor and his pupil, sitting in the cockpit behind him.

The instructor is equipped with a telephone mouthpiece connected to receivers covering the pupil's ears. The teacher tells his student what he should do; but the pupil can't talk back. All he can do is listen and execute the orders, without argument.

A cadet will tell you that the first month at Hensley is the hardest mainly because he isn't allowed to get in a plane. He drills just as hard as they do in the army, he takes callisthenics early in the day and he studies hard in class. The navy's prod to lagging students is "restrictions," which limits the offender to the field until he catches up.

The grand moment for him comes when he climbs into a trainer-ship and goes up with an instructor, who is somewhat of an unsung hero who works as hard as any stevedore. For maybe 90 minutes at a time the student is shown how to take off and land and otherwise master a ship.

Long ago the navy reached a realistic conclusion about parachutes. The students at Hensley, for instance, are taught how to fold one, how to get in and out of one and what the ring is for. But they don't practice jumping.

"What's the use," one officer explained, "of practicing something that has to be perfect the first time?"

To get young men who can understand this philosophy the navy psychologically "screens out" some potential geniuses, and some a little slow on the mental or physical trigger. It provides two psychology examinations designed to eliminate all who might have mental quirks, inferiority complexes too deep-seated to efface and other inhibitions.

When the test comes, the navy figures, its men must be fast afoot and between the ears.

No one at Hensley admits it but there must have been a bit of sentiment connected with picking this particular base (which the army owns). There is a little body of water abutting the field and on a windy day little whitescaps lace the surface. Mountain Creek lake is not of much practical use to Hensley's seamen.

But sometime, with all the sea-

Clyde E. Jones Informs Voters Of Plans If Elected To County Commissioner Post

Belief that the office of county commissioner is going to be more than a "part-time" job in the next two years because of the war effort, has caused Clyde E. Jones, candidate for commissioner in Gray county Precinct 2, to inform voters that, if elected, he has made arrangements to be relieved of a major portion of his duties with his present business affiliations so that he can devote the necessary time and effort that is called for by that important post.

Mr. Jones is a business man and he believes that the job for which he is a candidate requires a man with business abilities. He has been a resident of Gray county since 1935 and in the seven years he has lived here has been engaged actively in the oil business with complete supervision over and management of properties in the Pampa area valued at nearly half a million dollars.

There is a sort of uniqueness about Mr. Jones' candidacy. In his formal statement which appears elsewhere in this special edition he sets forth that he never has held public office. This is the second time he has been a candidate for the office of commissioner in Precinct 2. In the last election he was edged out of the run-off primary by a very close margin of votes.

But, he says, if he is not elected

Clyde E. Jones

In this election attempt he will never again ask the people of Gray county for public office.

Because of the closeness of his race in 1940, Mr. Jones decided to become a candidate for the same post this year. In addition to his wide and trustworthy business experience in working for the same company for 16 years. A native Texan, born in Johnson county in 1891, Mr. Jones spent his early years as a farmer. He lived and worked on a farm until he was 27 years of age.

The candidate has been active in civic and public affairs in the county. While he has never held public office, he has served on many non-salaried public posts with experience of five years on tax equalization boards. Mr. Jones is thoroughly familiar with the county's tax situation and has expressed the belief that Precinct 2 has enough tax money and that the taxes can be lowered.

He also makes a promise in his formal statement that if he is elected he will make a thorough investigation of the county's tax evaluation system.

Specifically, he states that he is interested in more oil roads for families residing in oilfield camps and continued maintenance of road service to homes off the main roads, including a special effort to make all roads passable for school buses.

Mr. Jones states that he would contemplate no changes in present organization or personnel set-up in the precinct and that nothing in that connection would be disturbed as long as it functions properly and to the best interests of the taxpayers.

Mr. Jones has three children, one a son in the armed service. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and of the Pampa Lions club.

Confederates Marvel At Modern Army

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 27 (AP)—Confederate veterans—40 strong—marveled at the modern army Friday as troops from Fort Oglethorpe paraded in the closing feature of the UCV's 52nd annual reunion.

At Thursday's business sessions, General John W. Harris of Oklahoma City was elected commander in chief.

The sons of confederate veterans passed a resolution calling for denial of draft deferment to strikers who "refuse to arbitrate and who cease work in the production of war supplies."

Another resolution protested the granting of military commissions to able-bodied men of military age who have sought and received deferment from the draft. The group likewise protested granting of commissions to men without previous military training.

NEW DELHI, India, June 27 (AP)—A linky, daredevil fighter pilot from Macon, Ga., Col. Robert Scott, was assigned today to command the American army's first pursuit planes in China, the 23rd pursuit group of the U. S. army air corps.

The pursuit group will replace the American volunteer group on July 4. The group's number, the A. V. G.'s, was expected to be inducted into the group when their Chinese contracts expire next month.

Scott's appointment was announced by Major General Lewis H. Brereton, commander-in-chief of the United States air forces in this theater.

'Packing UP' An AEF For Shipment Huge Job Of Army-Navy Teamwork

The article below is the first of two eye-witness reports on the secret sailing of an amphibious combat force, bound for foreign service.

By TOM WOLF

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

AN ARMY PORT OF EMBARKATION, June 27—The gray-painted troopships, loaded and ready to sail, are getting up steam. Long before this story sees print, they will have slipped out into the moonless night, made their secret rendezvous with a convoy, and, perhaps, even reached their war-zone destinations.

But now they are facing the voyage. The most hazardous aspects of troop movement are still ahead of them. Yet the most difficult part of troop movement has ended. It was over a few moments ago—when the last soldier and the last piece of equipment had passed through this port and onto the ships.

Watching this operation, you understand the significance of the motor-transport building: "When it has been finally decided that the thing is impossible to do, someone will come along and do it."

MANY PROBLEMS OF TIMING

There are literally thousands of problems in timing. The movement of men and supplies must meet convoy schedules prepared when the troopships which will transport them are, perhaps, on the other side of the world.

The operation which has just ended with the loading of the ships had been planned for many weeks. It started with the Operations Division Staff. It told the Transportation Service—one of the divisions of the Services of Supply—that certain units and cargoes were needed in an overseas theater of operations. Together, already chock-full of cargo for convoy schedules weeks hence, they figured out what ships would be available, when and where.

BRING FEW SUPPLIES

Unit and port commanders concerned were thereupon "alerted." The directive stated that the units "go overseas and will report to the port at a time and place designated by the port commander." From here on the port commander runs the show.

A unit going overseas brings comparatively little of its supplies with it to the port of embarkation. Much of its equipment comes from quartermaster depots located all over the United States. This must be routed to the port, yet not arrive too soon, lest it jam up the yards and warehouses already chock-full of cargo for other convoys sailing before it.

Nothing can enter the port except on orders from the port quartermaster. Shipments for this convoy started flowing toward the port almost the same day that this troop movement was decided on.

But they did not come directly here. The port quartermaster first directed them into a holding and reconsignment depot. This is a storage area, perhaps hundreds of miles behind the port, which holds "in transit" shipments until the port is ready to receive them.

For many days shipments for this convoy have been pouring from the holding and reconsignment depots into the port's giant warehouses, each of whose storage "bins" approaches the size of a city block.

Stored here, awaiting loading, is everything from prefabricated barracks to rakes and hoes for tending gardens which will make troops self-sustaining for food; from heavy cannon to small arms; from cases of emergency rations to cases of semi-luxury foods—planned with such fineness that chocolate goes to cold climates, lemon drops go to hot.

112 DIFFERENT SIZES OF SHOES

One whole row of warehouses is set aside as the "overseas supply" section. Always on hand here are kept a day's rations for a million men and enough clothing and equipment to fill at a moment's notice any last-minute deficiencies of a sailing unit. In shoes alone, that means 112 different sizes in stock. And shoes are but one of the 2,000 items stored here.

While supplies for this convoy have been pouring into these warehouses, the railroad yard and storage areas outside them have been filling up with the gigantic machines with which modern wars are fought. There is an olive-drab sea of motorized and mechanized monsters here—tanks and guns, tractors and trench diggers, mobile machine equal ease. There are hundreds of last-minute headaches. One ship, harried by submarines, may reach the port late. Within perhaps 36 hours she must be refueled, repaired and reloaded. If she cannot be loaded entirely within that time, decision must be

TAKES OVER

As the ships of this movement have come into the port, tractor-sized cranes, pushing forklift-like teeth into the mountains of supplies stored in the warehouses, have moved the cargoes to the "head house." This is a final storage area.

Once the supplies and equipment are checked into the head house, the port quartermaster's job is through. The Army Transportation service takes over the loading of the ships. This is no small problem in itself. Each ship must take a cross-section of equipment. If it did not, the boat loaded with all of one essential supply might be sunk in the crossing, thereby immobilizing all other units on arrival.

How a ship is to be loaded depends on the mission to be performed. A task force that may have to fight its way ashore will need its ammunition handy, though ordinary procedure would call for storing it deep in the holds as ballast.

The night before sailing, the port waterfront presents a picture of hectic, seeming confusion. Scurrying under brilliant floodlights, longshoremen weave the cargoes between the freight cars and trucks which have sidled up to the ships.

All the movements seem disconnected, aimless. Huge land derricks supplement the ships' hoisting machinery which swings 20-ton trucks or 20-pound cases into holds with made whether she is to wait for another convoy or to sail partly empty. An entire convoy cannot wait for part of one ship's cargo to be loaded.

LAST MINUTE REPAIRS MADE

As longshoremen scurry about loading her, tankers nuzzle her side, pimpling in fuel. A maintenance crew arrives to make the minor repairs sustained on any long sea voyage. On the docks, painters, tying their brushes to long poles, daub war-gray over rust spots. The docks hum with noise and confusion.

Yet tonight, somehow, miraculously, it was all over. Even as the ships were loading, cargoes for other convoys have been streaming into the yards and warehouses. And with the loading almost finished, the troops themselves have appeared—suddenly, as from nowhere—and march onto the ships that will take them to war.

Brown Well-Known In County; Feels Sheriff Should Be Business Man

Well known to the people of Gray county, because of his continuous business activity in this county since 1923, is F. S. Brown, who is asking election to the office of sheriff of Gray county in the coming primary, July 25.

Mr. Brown feels that practically everyone in Gray county knows him and his family personally through past associations during the time he was operating businesses in Pampa and other points in this county.

He is conducting his campaign on the basis that Gray county's business is the biggest business in this county, and that the responsibility of assisting in the conducting of this large business institution requires a man of experience and one of a level-headed nature with a sense of fairness and honesty.

Inspection of his record as a man and as a long-time resident is open, Mr. Brown states, and he invites an inspection of it by the voters while they are deciding whom to support in the sheriff's race in the coming primary.

In behalf of his candidacy, Mr. Brown has made the following statement to the voters of Gray county: "If elected sheriff, I will, to the utmost of my ability, give you an administration based upon economy, business methods, law enforcement, and the protection of personal and property rights. I will hold in mind at all times the enormous sums invested in our county by both private and corporate interests, which give to many of our families their livelihood, for I believe in full protection for such properties.

"Be sure you understand and know how you are voting before you cast your ballot.

"I ask for your support and influence on the following declaration:

"That I am 100 per cent for our national program, knowing that everyone will have to make sacrifices, a great deal more than we now know, many having already made the supreme sacrifice; and countless more will do so. I will support this program and everything in connection with the war effort to the utmost of my ability. I firmly believe in government of the people, for the people, and by the people; with equal rights to all law abiding citizens.

"That I have no religious prejudice, believing everyone to have the right of religious freedom.

"That I consider anyone elected to office to be a servant of the people and should be ready, at all times, to serve.

"That I have not made, and will not make, any pre-election promises to anyone, expecting, if chosen, to deal in all fairness with everyone.

"That because we are in a grave national crisis, calling for conservation in everything, I will endeavor to see as many of you as possible, yet bearing in mind our president's request for conservation.

"That I am for labor having fair wages, fair working hours, and fair working conditions, but the hours of labor and the work week should be worked out by labor and management in such a manner that the needs of our fighting forces will be taken care of.

"That if chosen I will cooperate fully with all governing offices and agencies and conduct the affairs of the office in the most economical manner possible with law and order.

"The biggest business in Gray county is Gray county's business; let me help the others chosen by you to run it.

"If honored with this office, the sheriff's office will be open to the people of Gray county at all times. I expect to treat everyone having business with the office, fairly, justly, and courteously.

"Yet, I warn the criminal element and those who are chronic law violators that we have no place in our community for such persons, and that I expect to vigorously enforce the criminal laws so that our people shall be safe in their property and in their personal rights.

"Your support and influence will be fully appreciated.

"It is my desire to contact personally every voter in the county before election, but if circumstances beyond my control prevent me doing this, I will appreciate your checking my record and asking my many friends about my qualifications."

Allotments To Influence Deferments

By ELEANOR RAGSDALE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 27—Good news to married non-coms in all armed services—army, navy, marine corps or coast guard; marriage and fatherhood are about to pay off.

One effect of the so-called family allotments and allowances bills, will be to grant semi-automatic graduated pay raises to every enlisted man—Grades 4, 5, 6, and 7—who has Class A dependents, regardless of his or their financial status. A Class A dependent, according to both house and senate bills, is "any person who is the wife, the child or the former wife divorced" (to whom alimony is being paid) of an enlisted man.

RICH AND POOR SHARE ALIKE

Since the "dependency" of Class A is based on relationship rather than financial needs, Sergeant Smith, with penniless wife, Private Brown, with a self-supporting wife and Corporal Van Plush, who clips enough coupons to keep the little woman in a Park Avenue pent-house, could all get equal allowances for families of the same size under the new law, provided they set aside the necessary allotment out of their own base pay. The war and navy departments favor this blanket procedure because it's democratic and easy to operate.

A final feature of Class A payments is that they are "compulsory" in the sense that even if the man doesn't want to apply for them and shell out his allotment of $22 toward family support to start the government allowances rolling in, he must—if his bona fide wife or children demand it.

CLASS "B" RELATIVES ARE REAL DEPENDENTS

When it comes to providing allowances and allotments for Class B dependents, the picture changes in certain respects. In the first place Class B eligibles must be financially dependent on the enlisted man for a "substantial portion of their support," as well as close relatives i.e., parents, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers or sisters.

Secondly, any payments made to them are "voluntary" on the part of the soldier or sailor. That means that unless Yeoman Jack Tar gives the green light himself by applying for such aid to Grandpa or Mom, they can't get it. To provide for cases where the fighting man is overseas and can't be contacted to give the go-ahead, the secretary of war or navy may grant the request after investigation—until such time as a veto or okay can be got from the man himself.

To men with Class A or B dependents not yet in the armed forces and up for classification or reclassification by their selective service boards, the allowances and allotments bill is going to make a whole lot of difference, too.

Title II of the measure amends the Selective Service act in two very important ways. It states that local boards, when determining how dependent a man's family is, shall consider the amount of the extra payments his A and B dependents would be entitled to once he gets into the army before deciding that he should be deferred on financial grounds.

MAN CAN STILL CLAIM EXEMPTION—IF

Formerly the act read that boards should only consider his financial status at the time of classification. In the future, if the board figures the man's kids or parents can get along on the specified payment they'd receive, plus any other income they might have, the man would not be deferred for financial reasons.

If, however, special circumstances, such as invalidation or obligations make the cost of support higher than the estimated payments—the man still may be able to claim service exemption for support.

Furthermore this vital amendment recognizes specifically that certain types of family relationship may be considered grounds for deferment, regardless of the money question.

It authorizes the president to see that some grouping is worked out for Class 3 selective service registrants—who comprise 65 per cent of all men classified—so that established families shall not be broken up just because financial dependency may have been removed.

WORKING OUT DETAILS UNDER NEW PLAN

Already Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, is busy working out the ticklish problem of what categories are to be set up and in what order men from these groups shall be called.

It's a safe bet that when the local boards finally get the new directives, they'll find that all single men with dependents must be called up before the married ones are touched—and the guy with a whole bunch of grade-schoolers to look after will be the last on the list.

Amounts payable in some typical cases under family allotments act:

Gov-ern-ment-From-confri-dier's-tribution pay Ttl.

To class A:
Wife, if no child $28 $22 $50
Wife with 1 child 40 22 62
Wife with 2 children 50 22 72

To class B if there is no class A dependent:
1 parent 15 22 37
2 parents 25 22 47
1 parent and 1 sister 20 22 42
1 parent, 2 sisters 25 22 47

To class B if there is also a class A dependent:
1 parent 15 5 20
2 parents 25 5 30
1 parent and sister 20 5 25
1 parent, 2 sisters 25 5 30

AUSTIN, June 27 (AP)—State Senator Karl Lovelady of Meridian Friday credited Governor Coke R. Stevenson with guiding through the legislative process a law which curbs sale of liquor by drug stores in dry areas.

4,000 Planes, 1,500 Tanks Turned Out In Month Of May, Reports FDR

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed Friday that America's war effort, in the single month of May, had turned out nearly 4,000 planes and more than 1,500 tanks.

Releasing official war production figures for the first time since Pearl Harbor, the chief executive asserted in a statement that this country also turned out nearly 2,000 artillery and anti-tank guns in May, and these were exclusive of anti-aircraft guns and those to be mounted in tanks.

The May output of machine guns exceeded 50,000 weapons of all types, including infantry, aircraft and anti-aircraft. If submachine guns are added on, the total passes 100,000.

Mr. Roosevelt released these figures because, he said, they are going to give the Axis just the opposite of "aid and comfort."

"We are well on our way," he declared, "towards achieving the rate of production which will bring us to our goals."

The last announced objectives of the war production program, told of in the president's annual message to congress last January, were 185,000 planes in 1942 and 1943, 120,000 tanks, 55,000 anti-aircraft guns.

The chief executive, in citing the May figures, warned against overconfidence. He said:

"While these figures give you some idea of our production accomplishments, this is no time for the American people to get overconfident. We can't rest on our oars. We need more and more, and we will make more and more.

"And we must also remember that there are plenty of serious production problems ahead—particularly some serious shortages in raw materials, which are receiving the closest consideration of the government and industry."

The distribution of the production figures coincided with continuing Anglo-American war strategy conferences—conferences in which the White House said Russian offi-
