FIRST PICTURES AFTER DIEPPE RAID—Battleworn Canadians relax for a "spot of tea" on their return to England from Dieppe, France. The commando raid on Dieppe was carried out in such force so as to make it necessary for the British Radio stations to broadcast to the French people that this was not an invasion but just a raid. British sources claim that all objectives were carried out. (Cablephoto from London to New York, passed by censors.) (NEA CABLEPHOTO.)

Barney Ogle To Be M. C. At Navy Show

Nine Enlist In Army Thursday

Sergeant R. D. Short, Pampa recruiting officer, sent nine more volunteers to Lubbock yesterday afternoon, raising his total for the month to 25. With nine more recruiting days left, Sgt. Short hopes to beat his all time record of 32 volunteers set last month. Most of the men sent from here this month were to the air corps ground school division. Four of the men sent yesterday were from Pampa, three from Wheeler, one from Allison and one from Altus, Okla., but recently a resident of Pampa. Joining the armed forces from Pampa were George W. Cunningham, Ira D. Van Houten, James E. Smith and Alvin J. C. Borden. Volunteering from Wheeler were John M. Wright, Hiram A. Whitener and T. H. Lamb while Taylor Wright of Allison, cousin of John Wright from Wheeler also enlisted. Jessie T. Austin of Altus was the ninth man.

French Women Escapes
VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 21 (AP)—Paris police announced today that Madeleine Lutz, Frenchwoman condemned to death last month as instigator of a food riot, had escaped while being transferred to Rennes prison.

I HEARD . . .
O. K. Gaylor wondering if anyone was thinking about how to secure a U. S. O. building in Pampa when the army air base is completed here. Pampa must have some place for the airmen to rest, write letters, play games and meet relatives who come to see them. It's not too early to think about the situation.

By THE ROVING REPORTER

There's only one reason why Pampa civic groups are going to sponsor an hilarious, patriotic musical show here Monday night, and that reason is because the navy needs men, particularly apprentice seamen, men between the ages of 17 and 35. All apprentice seamen are sent immediately to San Diego for training and then to one of the navy's 49 schools scattered over the nation. The age limit for apprentice seamen is 35 years of age. Pampa's navy enlistment quota for the month of August is 22 men, and only a few more than half of that number have enlisted to date. Potter county with a quota of 50 has almost raised their quota. Only one from Gray county has enlisted in the navy this week. Pampa sponsors are bringing the show to Pampa to create some interest. Even Hutchinson county is far ahead of Gray county in navy enlistments. A packed house is expected for the big show which packed Amarillo's city auditorium. Headline attractions will be the songs of Buddy Harris, the "singing sailor" of the U. S. Navy who is a daily featured vocalist. Before he joined the service he was an ace commentator. He has been assigned to navy radio cutting and appearances in behalf of the service. The show will be staged at Junior high school auditorium promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Why is Amarillo coming to Pampa? See NAVY SHOW, Page 5

Charlie Maisel Elected Head Of American Legion

A former Pampian today was the chief officer of the American Legion in Texas. Charlie Maisel of Phillips, formerly of Pampa, was elected commander of the department of Texas at the Legion's convention in Fort Worth which closed yesterday. He succeeds Andrew Dilworth of San Antonio. Maisel was formerly commander of Pampa post, is a past district and past fifth division commander. Selection of a convention city for 1943 was deferred pending decision as to whether a convention would be held next year. Other officers elected at Fort Worth were: Dr. W. J. Danforth, Fort Worth, executive committee; Lou J. Roberts, Berger, alternate executive committee; Herman Nani, San Antonio, judge advocate; Rev. H. H. Black, Colorado City, chaplain; C. Wilcox, Waco, historian; Johnnie Jenkins, Waco, sergeant at arms; and W. F. Speigal, Port Arthur, treasurer.

Leo Says He Does Not Like To Live In Washington, D. C.

By LEDGERWOOD SLOAN
LEONARD, Aug. 21 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel began the last day of the senatorial run-off contest by urging crowds here and at Farmersville this morning. "Let's roll up a big, big vote tomorrow." Explaining he needed the "prestige of an overwhelming majority," the senator said he didn't like to live in Washington, "but I started a job there and I want to finish it." He cut his speeches shorter than usual. Again he praised President Roosevelt as a great war strategist, assailed "politically controlled newspapers," and jibed his opponent, James V. Alfred, as a "yes man." At both Farmersville, where he spoke under a street awning, and at Leonard, on the courthouse lawn, audiences stood closely packed around his speaking truck.

Rail Delivery Of Gasoline In Southwest Prohibited

Japs Move To Strike Back At Marines In Solomon Islands

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Giant U. S. army flying fortresses were reported launching a big attack on Japanese warships off the Solomon Islands today as the enemy apparently moved to strike back at American marines now occupying at least three islands in the southeast of the 900-mile-long archipelago. A British broadcast indicated the attack was developing and said details were being awaited. Previous reports from New Zealand had said the enemy was massing naval forces for a counter blow against the marines in the Tulagi area. Imperial Tokyo headquarters asserted today that a small force of American troops effected a landing at dawn Aug. 17 on Makin island in the Gilbert Islands, 2,400 miles southwest of Hawaii, but were "repulsed completely" by the Japanese garrison. The Japanese report, unconfirmed elsewhere, said the landing party consisted of about 200 troops. Seized by the Japanese at the outset of the war, the former British-owned Gilbert Islands lie on the equator, just below powerful enemy bases in the Marshall Islands and 1,100 miles northeast of the Solomon Islands. Such a raid presumably would be little more than a commando thrust to test out the enemy's defenses. In the 10-day-old battle of the Solomons, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's air scouts searched the vast island-dotted South Seas in quest of Japanese naval activity amid reports that the enemy was massing new strength for a counterblow against U. S. marines in the Tulagi area. A navy communique announced last night that the marines now were engaged in mopping up remnants of Japanese garrison troops on islands "recently captured" at the eastern end of the 900-mile-long archipelago.

The navy said a Japanese destroyer or cruiser had been set afire by Allied aircraft and declared that bombardments by enemy planes, destroyers and submarines had inflicted only minor damage on Allied shore positions. Enemy destroyers could hide easily in the maze of islands, escaping detection by day, and make hit-and-run attacks on the marines' shore positions under cover of darkness. The navy's announcement that several islands had been "recently captured" indicated that the marines, cutting through the mountainous jungles, had virtually completed occupation of the strategic bases. The Leathernecks were known to have gained beachheads on at least three and perhaps six of the eastern Solomons. Informed quarters in Auckland, New Zealand, said the Japanese were busily reorganizing their naval and air forces in the northern Solomons.

President To Send Wilkie To Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Harold Ickes today prohibited railroad delivery of automobile gasoline in 20 states in the Middle West and Southwest in a move to release an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 tank cars for supplying the East. The states brought under the ban were Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. Deputy Coordinator Ralph K. Davies said it "remains to be seen whether rationing of petroleum would be made necessary in those states as a result of the order. He added that the diversion of additional tank cars would not aid the East's gasoline rationed motorists since the railroad cars would be used almost exclusively to build up fuel oil stocks in the East, particularly in New England, against the coming of winter. A spokesman from the coordinator's office said the diverted tank cars would add approximately 100,000 barrels to the more than 1,000,000 barrel daily movement of all types of petroleum into the East. He said that the East's present needs, including allowances of fuel oil for storage with an eye to winter requirements, is in excess of 1,400,000 barrels of petroleum of all types and that the needs for the first 3 months of next year would be boosted to approximately 1,600,000 barrels daily. Besides the additional tank cars, a pipe-line under construction is expected to provide a net gain of 150,000 barrels daily to narrow further the excess of Eastern requirements over shipments, the spokesman said. Davies explained that the diversion of tank cars was ordered because the railroads and oil companies had increased their efficiency in handling tank car movements to a point where they now would be able to handle the additional cars in the Atlantic coast service. He said that the number of tank cars assigned to the East coast run had risen from approximately 1,000 to approximately 70,000 in the 20 months since January 1941. Formerly, most of the oil deliveries to the East were made by seagoing tankers, but the submarine menace has virtually eliminated deliveries by sea.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that Wendell L. Wilkie, who opposed him for the presidency on the Republican ticket in 1940, was going to the near East and Russia to tell those countries the truth about the American war effort and the unity behind it. The president told a press conference that in addition to Russia, Wilkie's itinerary would include Egypt, Arabia, Palestine, Syria, Turkey, Iraq, and Iran. The best thing to call him, Mr. Roosevelt said, is a special representative of the president, since he will carry letters not only to various Americans but also to officials of other countries, including Premier Stalin of Russia. The president said, in replying to a question as to Wilkie's specific mission, his principal tasks will be to tell the truth, reporting as the leader of the minority party in this country. As this leader, he said, Wilkie's words would carry very great weight. Mr. Roosevelt said that the Republican chief had been asked to carry to these nations a commission of what would happen to them if the Axis won, and if the United Nations won. These countries should begin to think about this, the president commented, because either they are going to face a prospect of being reduced to puppet states controlled by Germany and Italy or they are going to have their chance for autonomy.

Nelson Asked To Fire Dollar-A-Year Men

30 Men Leave For Ft. Sill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Blaming "certain dollar-a-year men" of the war production board for shortages of critical war materials, CIO members of WPB's labor advisory committee called upon Chairman Donald M. Nelson today for their dismissal. As WPB officials disclosed that Nelson had directed a review of personnel and elimination of executives considered unsuited to their jobs, the advisory committee's three CIO members made public a resolution protesting that the war effort was "being paralyzed" as a result of inefficient planning. The petition was signed by Clinton Golden, assistant to the president of the United Steel Workers of America; John Green, president of the CIO International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America; and Walter Reuther, vice president of the United Automobile and Aircraft Workers of America. "Every effort to expand steel production facilities and to plan for maximum utilization of present steel production facilities," the resolution asserted, "has been blocked by vested interests in the steel industry who have been given aid and comfort by certain dollar-a-year men in important positions in the iron and steel branch of the WPB."

Gale Tearing Up Towns On Texas Coast

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 21 (AP)—

Sailboats and yachts at anchor were sunk, plate glass windows blown in, city power disrupted in places, and roofs damaged by gale force winds here today. No loss of life was reported, and damage was confined principally to the waterfront. The wind blew up to 64 miles an hour, and residents of coastal lowlands were warned by the coast guard of dangerously high tides. The United States weather bureau's advisory from New Orleans indicated high tides from High Island (east of Galveston) to Sabine, Tex., with damaging winds inland to northern and middle Galveston bay and over Chambers and Jefferson counties. In nearby Beaumont, gale winds leveled trees, blew down signs, and disrupted power supplies in some sections of the heavily industrialized area, but most large manufacturers were operating normally. Efforts to check on damage and possible loss of life in beach districts of the entire heavily-populated Sabine district were hampered through lack of communications. Many telephone lines were down, but there had been no reports of injury or loss of life. The weather bureau's 9:15 a. m. (CWT) advisory from New Orleans reported a southwest wind of 64 miles an hour at Port Arthur. If previous storm patterns are followed, winds of approximately the same velocity should blow from the opposite direction following a period of calm. Coast guardsmen in the Port Arthur area were on patrol. The Port Arthur News reported it had been without power since 8 a. m. The newspaper was experiencing difficulty in checking storm damage because of communication disruptions.

Party Urges Big Turnout In Election

An estimated 2,250 Gray county voters will express their preference for either W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel or James V. Alfred as U. S. senator from Texas in the run-off primary election to be held tomorrow. There are other races on the ballot, but this one far exceeds the others in interest aroused in Gray county. Total number of eligible voters in Gray is 4,932. In the first primary, held on July 25, around 4,500 votes were cast. The second primary ordinarily draws about half as many ballots as the first. State party leaders are seeking to correct this situation and have appealed for a big turnout tomorrow. Next in general interest is the Alford-O'Daniel contest, is the race for railroad commissioner, in which Beauford H. Jester opposes Pierce P. Brooks. John Lee Smith and Harold Beck are rival candidates for lieutenant governor; W. Gregory Hatcher and Jesse James for state treasurer; E. C. Nelson and E. L. Pitts, for chief justice court of civil appeals, seventh supreme judicial district. While the O'Daniel-Alford feud See ELECTION, Page 5

E. H. Brainard, Hemphill County Pioneer, Dies

Edward H. Brainard, 82, pioneer Hemphill county cattleman, died at his home in Canadian last night following a long illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Brainard residence in Canadian at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by the Rev. J. J. Lewis of Sacred Heart church. The family requests that friends do not send flowers. Mr. Brainard was born July 4, 1860, in Otis, Mass. The family moved to Sparrowbush, N. Y., in 1868. Mr. Brainard attended schools in Massachusetts and New York. See PIONEER, Page 5

Two Pampa Boys Held In Burglary

City police were notified yesterday that Wichita Falls officers are holding two Pampa boys in connection with a burglary in Wichita Falls. They broke into the courthouse. Wichita Falls police also reported that the boys are wanted in connection with a burglary in Childress. Board officials, however, said the other 15 boys have been in trouble here. Chief Ray Dudley revealed today. Libbey, the CIO committee members declared, "was fired for telling the truth" in a report "exposing the failure of the dollar-a-year WPB iron-steel branch men." Board officials, however, said the engineer was discharged for discussing a confidential report on iron and steel operations with outsiders and for other personnel reasons. See VICTORY BONDS.

Bayonet-charging Russian troops were reported today to have slaughtered all but a few Germans who stormed across the Don river before Stalingrad for the second time in 12 hours, and Soviet dispatches declared the invaders had suffered another setback in bloody fighting south of the great Volga steel city.

A bulletin from Red army headquarters said Russian infantrymen and tank crews, battling to hold the bend of the Don as a final barrier before Stalingrad, "almost completely annihilated an enemy group which crossed the river." "More than 500 Germans were killed," it said. The fighting centered in the Kletskaya-Kalchik region, 50 miles west of Stalingrad. Other Nazi forces which crossed the river yesterday were said to have been completely wiped out. See GERMANS, Page 5

Shower Given As Courtesy To Mrs. Francis Enright

Mrs. Francis Enright was named honoree at a layette shower Thursday given in the home of Mrs. Gladys Davis with Mrs. T. J. Gray, Mrs. Charles Madeira, and Mrs. Davis as joint hostesses.

Garden flowers decorated the rooms where the guests assembled as Miss Margaret Davis played piano selections. Also she played musical numbers during the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Madeira presided at the blue baby book in which the group registered and suggested names for boys and girls.

A dahlia corsage was given to the honoree, and after games were conducted, a basket filled with gifts was presented to Mrs. Enright.

Refreshments of individual white cakes topped with "Baby" in pink and blue, punch and mints in pink mint cups were served. Mrs. Watt poured punch from a table centered with a small pink lace-trimmed basket holding verbenas. Glass baby shoes filled with pansies encircled the centerpiece.

Present were Meses C. C. Dodd, Russell McConnell, Lorene Wilson of Sunray, Tom Cook, Leon Cook, E. Savage, J. C. Sullivan, Charles Madeira, Cecil Cullum of Shamrock, C. O. Sloan, T. J. Watt, Earl McConnell, B. A. Davis, and Miss Margaret Davis.

Sending gifts were Meses Dorothy Peacock, Lee Hampton, Carson Watt, Flora Enright, Della Sullivan, and Leta Mae and Tommie Sullivan.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21—Scores of people have danced into movies and have remained to become dramatic actors and actresses. Quite a number have sung themselves into screen contracts and haven't had to warble a note afterward. Others actually have been launched on picture careers by their ability to act. But the most famous of these is the only one I know who started for film stardom on a piano.

In mentioning this matter, I probably am doing a disservice to thousands of kids who reluctantly have been practicing their scales half an hour a day and attacking the intricacies of "The Happy Farmer" or "To Spring"—the latter with much criss-crossing of hands. "Remember Diana Lynn," they'll be reminded. "She worked hard at her music lessons and got to be a MOVIE STAR!"

It started nearly two years ago, when Paramount was planning a picture about brilliant young musicians and which, after being retitled four times, emerged as "There's Magic in Music." A violinist was needed for a good part, and violinists need accomplices. So when a girl fiddler was discovered, Diana came along to supply the supporting harmony. The accompanist played so well that the music department urged the production department to work a kid pianist into the story.

OK BY GINGER
For an audition, she memorized the Grieg concerto within a week, and that put her into the picture. With no dramatic training, she began doing such a good job of acting that her part was built up as production went along. She wound up as one of the leading characters and a possessor of a contract.

Her billing identified her as Dolores Costello, which is her real name and maybe a better one than Diana Lynn.

Then came "The Major and the Minor," a top-notch comedy with an exceptional break for a girl who could be a brash and sharp-tongued prat, a juvenile hellion with a genius for the innocent concoction of romantic trouble and explosive mixtures of chemicals. Miss Lynn got her role, and one afternoon on the set I was surprised to hear Ginger Rogers, who's pretty thrifty with her enthusiasms, predict that that Lynn youngster was going places—and important places.

STILL PRACTICING
During the picture, Miss Lynn didn't get within sight of a piano, or does she in "Henry Aldrich Gets Glamor." Her next assignment is the lead in another of the Henry Aldrich series.

One of the main differences between Miss Lynn and the average girl is that she would rather play a piano than go to a party. People who know about music say she's a genius, and people who don't know about music and are not connected with movies say it will be a shame if she's not permitted to have a concert career.

Chicken pie never fails to create enthusiasm for Sunday dinner. Be generous with the gravy—and try extending it with a can of concentrated cream of mushroom soup. Adds to the flavor, too. Do your best by the crust—make it short and rich, and be sure there are two helpings all around.

Sunday School Lesson

Men Who Envision Worthwhile Goal Can Be Tremendous Power For Good.
Genesis 28:10-22

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The Bible in its many books is the story of how good and noble and beautiful things have come out of unfavorable characters and environments. It is a book of remarkable realism in the frankness with which it has recorded the sins and shortcomings even of those who might be regarded as patriarchs, prophets, and deities.

All this is strikingly illustrated in the case of Jacob with whom this lesson has to do. Born of a scheming and tricky mother, he first appears as a schemer and trickster himself, with his mother's help defrauding his brother Esau out of his inheritance so that he may grab everything for himself. Elements of this intrigue and treachery remained with him even after he became the medium of higher and nobler experiences. But the story tells how he discovered was himself deceived, and the point worthy of note is that with all Jacob's evil tendencies and qualities, there was that in him upon which something substantial could be built.

It was in this respect that he stood so strongly in contrast with his brother Esau. Good-natured, easy-going Esau was in many ways the more likable of the two, but how could anything stable or permanent have been built upon him? He showed little sense of values or of capacity for responsibility, and was utterly weak in ways in which Jacob was strong.

Our lesson illustrates what the power of God and the vision of God may do with men who have positive force and strength in them, although they may be in their conduct a great deal to condemn. Take a man of worldly ambition whose thoughts are taken up with self-aggrandizement and material success and who is willing to exert great energy and undergo privation and sufferings for the attainment of his ambition. Give that man the vision of something that is more worthwhile. Above all things, let him get a vision of God and of the standards of success that Jesus proclaimed and exemplified. His life, and such a man may become a tremendous power for good. It is in this respect that it has sometimes been said that the greatest sinners have made the greatest saints. That is not by any means always true.

The symbolism of this lesson has taken hold very strongly in the world's literature and in its religious life. Jacob's Ladder is the typical means of communication between earth and heaven, and the vision that Jacob had has become intimately associated with the experience that is possible for every Christian who seeks God's guidance and God's help.

Jacob's religious practice also has become a symbol and an example for many Christians who devote a definite portion of their income to religious purposes. Jacob of course was something of a bargainer, even in his religion. He gave, hoping to receive, and he had not learned the lesson that great things are blessed to give than to receive. But he did bargain to give one-tenth, and one can only reflect upon what would happen in this world if all who profess religious faith were willing to be titheers. It is not for those who are giving a great deal less and for those who have a great deal to give to cavil at Jacob's establishing a percentage between himself and God. To all of which it should be added that Jacob received a great deal more than he gave.

Rev. Starnes Will Conclude Ministry Here At Revival

Revival services at the Hahrah Methodist church will be concluded Sunday night. More than 50 have attended the prayer services which have preceded the evening services during the revival.

Rev. Don Davidson of White Deer preached last night in a service dedicated to the young people who were present. Services will be held Saturday night.

The Sunday morning services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Newton Starnes. This will be his last time to head this congregation, as he is being called into the services of the navy as a chaplain and is leaving next week in preparation to enlistment and attending the six weeks chaplain's school at Norfolk, Virginia, before being assigned to a post of duty.

Young people's services have been directed each evening by Wayne Coffin, who will leave next week for Southwestern university, where he is preparing himself for the ministry. The music for the revival is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Flaudie Gallman.

Members of the church will honor their pastor with a basket of dinner, which will be served Sunday after the morning service. Friends of the church are invited to attend.

Mind To Be Topic Of Lesson-Sermon

"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 23.

The Golden Text is: "God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." (II Timothy 1:7). Among the citations which follow the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out." (Romans 11:33). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The basis of all health, sinlessness, and immortality is the great fact that God is the only Mind; and this Mind must not be merely believed, but it must be understood." (Page 330).

Religious Movie To Be Shown Tonight At Central Baptist

A life-size moving picture, a modern all talkie, is to be shown in the Central Baptist church, at Starkweather and Francis streets, tonight at 8:30 o'clock. It is of a religious and patriotic nature.

The main feature will deal with the life of the Apostle Paul, in dramatic story form. In the picture Paul will be seen as he witnessed the stoning of Stephen, then arresting and imprisoning the saints; next, on the road to Damascus, falling under the great light and his conversion. Much of his ministry is re-enacted on the screen.

The fortune telling girl is a high point, as she is seen telling fortunes, then becoming interested in the gospel message, and her conversion. This brings about the beating of the preachers, their being thrown into prison, a thrilling earthquake, destroying the Philippians Jail, the conversion of the jailor, etc. All this looks very real, with excellent sound effects.

"Paul is seen and heard giving his message on the steps of the castle, a mighty sermon, which follows a mob scene. He is also seen before the different rulers, making his self defense. His message to Philae, and Philae's statement to him saying, 'Almost thou persuaded me to become a Christian,' is a most heart touching scene. The mob scenes are well done. The court scenes are thrilling, informational and inspirational.

This film was produced in England, by a professional cast, under religious direction. It is a picture with a great emotional, as well as intellectual appeal, suitable for all ages. It is said to be the best religious picture ever shown in this country. The characters talk as in a commercial picture.

A patriotic film will precede the above, with war news of a world wide, history making nature, such as the fall and invasion of some conquered countries, their battles of land, air and sea, the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the President speaking, a special arrangement of the flag, etc.

The public is invited and no admission charge will be made, according to announcements by the pastor, Rev. T. D. Sumrall.

Meeting Reverses To Be Theme Of Rev. Sumrall

"Job, the Man Who Met Reverses and Yet Remained True to God" will be the sermon subject at 11 o'clock at the Central Baptist church by the Rev. T. D. Sumrall, Sunday morning.

"Everything meets its day of testing and the things which stand the test are desired. This is true of man as well as material. The test of a man's fidelity to God is his faith in times of doubt and distress. We are facing many perplexing problems and some are not true to God. The greatest people are those who meet losses and crosses and yet remain true to God. Job was God's good man—a man whom God could brag on," Rev. Sumrall stated.

"The Three Appearings of Jesus" will be the sermon theme for Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Special emphasis will be given to the second coming of Jesus in this sermon. He will come to clear the world of all sin and restore it to its original purity as it was in the days of Adam and Eve. We urge all, the coming of rumors of wars and end-time signs to hear this sermon," he added.

Allred Cries Out Against Haters Of Roosevelt

By J. B. KRUEGER BEAUMONT, Aug. 21 (AP)—The signal for "cease firing" was nearly at hand for the senatorial run-off campaigners but James V. Allred kept up his shouting today at what he calls Roosevelt-haters, common citizen millionaires and "my opponent"—W. Lee O'Daniel.

The final leg of a journey over Texas to the Panhandle, back into Central, East and Coastal Texas the last three weeks took him to Liberty, Cleveland, Comroe and Houston. In those places and by radio he will have his last chances to carry his message that the greatest issue facing Texas is winning the war, supporting the president to the hilt, succoring agriculture, little businessmen and protecting labor from exploitation.

Last night, speaking from a truck trailer platform in Weiss park, Allred charged that "no one x x x has been found to say that my opponent is not an isolationist."

"My opponent says he has been falsely charged with being an isolationist and that he has supported the president's war policies. Frequently he said 'I am not a member of the cabinet, not even a single senator has been found to say that my opponent is not an isolationist. All Texans in congress, including Senator Connally, voted solidly against (Senators) Wheeler and Nye."

"The facts were, he said, that he had proposed real parity for all agricultural products including cotton. For the latter crop he had suggested a 25-cent floor—not a ceiling—under it.

Allred told his crowds with rising emphasis that "we are winning! The trend is on. It will reach its peak Saturday—this is not the first time I have come from behind to win!"

That did not divert him, however, from warning Texans to note well with whom O'Daniel's first primary supporters voted.

"Many have finally waked up to the fact that boxes like the River Oaks box in Houston and the Westover Hills box in Fort Worth, where the big oil tycoons and the big bankers and the millionaires vote, went against Jimmy Allred by better than four to one, although I carried Harris county, where River Oaks is located, by a majority of over two to one, and I led the ticket in Tarrant county, home of my opponent, where Westover Hills is located.

"People have been inquiring and they find that the big bankers and the oil millionaires who hate Roosevelt first, last and all-

Private Manning Graduated From Radio University

SCOTT FIELD, Ill. Aug. 21—Fully prepared to take his place among communications experts in the U. S. army air forces, Pvt. Thomas H. Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Manning, 1312 Duncan, Pampa, Texas, has been graduated from this radio university of the AAF. It was announced today by Col. Wolcott P. Hayes, commanding officer.

At commencement exercises Pvt. Manning received his diploma from the director of training along with scores of other radio operators and mechanics and will soon be assigned to duty with one of the air forces' tactical units.

Many former classmates of Pvt. Manning are now serving with combat units in the various theaters of war as communications men with ground and air crews. Scott Field school officials have intensified studies and laboratory work here to supply the necessary men for almost 200,000 aircraft urged by the president for production this year.

475 Tank Arsenal Workers On Strike

DETROIT, Aug. 21 (AP)—A Chrysler corporation spokesman said today 475 AFL construction workers stopped work at the Detroit tank arsenal this morning on orders of Ed Thal, secretary of the Detroit Building Trades Council.

H. L. Weckler, Chrysler vice-president, said "This is sabotage against the government of the United States just as much as willfully holding up the production of war material or willfully destroying war material."

Weckler said Thal had threatened to call off the job all AFL men employed on expansion of the tank arsenal unless a subcontractor handling installation of paint booths and ovens fired CIO employees and hired 40 AFL members to do the work.

E. J. Hunt, operating manager of the tank arsenal, said that "every minute we lose at this time means that we meet our future advanced production schedules that much later."

There was no comment from union sources in the absence of Thal, who was said at his office to be in Washington.

Weckler said the practice of four companies handling Chrysler corporation's industrial metal construction work for years has been to employ AFL members for pipe-fitting and electrical work and CIO members for sheet metal work.

Enemy Subs Pick Off Two More Victims

(By The Associated Press) Enemy submarines in South American waters have picked off two more merchant victims but reports from Rio de Janeiro today said a U. S. plane had sunk another under-sea raider—the third destroyed in recent days in that area.

That the pack of Axis submarines is meeting stiff resistance off the Brazilian coast was indicated by dispatches from Fortaleza crediting an American plane with destroying a sub. United States fliers also were reported to have sunk one other submarine of the three.

The latest officially disclosed ship sinkings—those of a Brazilian coastal steamer and a British cargo carrier—put at 438 the Associated Press tabulation of announced Allied and neutral wartime merchant losses in the western Atlantic area.

President Getulio Vargas announced that henceforth all Brazilian merchantmen moving through the usual sea lanes would be convoyed by the navy and air force in cooperation with United States naval and air units.

The chief executive made his announcement to 8,000 members of the Maritime Workers Front, massed outside Guanabara palace, promising them "coordinated efforts will assure non-repetition of the acts of aggression of which we have been the victims."

Throw your scrap into the fight! Half of every tank, gun and ship is made from scrap iron and steel. Put your scrap out—to be picked up August 29th. Watch for Junk Round-up Announcement Ad—August 27th.

Unless the citizens of America respond at once, the war production program can bog down for lack of steel and other vital materials.

Even in peacetime, scrap provided about 50% of the raw material for steel.

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed. In the steel mills this precious "scrap" is melted with pig iron to produce the steel which goes into our machines of war.

Many steel furnaces are working from hand to mouth. Others are faced with shutting down. All need great mountains of reserve scrap to see them through the fall and winter months.

Steel production has gone up...up...UP! America is now producing as much steel as all the rest of the world combined. But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; all the tanks, guns and ships our country is counting on cannot be produced.

We can be thankful that there is enough Scrap in this country to see us through—Scrap a oncewasteful nation is turning to in time of stress. It all depends on you to collect it and turn it in.

It is the greatest "Treasure Hunt" in history. Appoint yourself a committee of one to search your attic, your basement and your garage, your barnyard, your factory or your store. Then give your pile to a charity or collection agency—or sell it to a Junk dealer. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

HOW TO TURN IT IN—Sell it to a junk dealer... Give it to a charity... Take it yourself to nearest collection point... or consult your Local Salvage Committee... If you live on a farm phone or write your County War Board, or consult your farm implement dealer.

Think In A Young Way

Deeds are what count—not words. But the war production board's action thus far gives life to the most promising words that have come out of Washington in weeks:

"We are trying to think in a young way on this," E. A. Locke, Jr., assistant to Donald Nelson, said the other day of Henry Kaiser's cargo plane proposal—"vigorously, freshly, without prejudice."

"From here on we are determined to provide the leadership in this war and to be the first with all that is new and better. Then let the Hun follow after."

Mr. Locke is just one man out of the thousands who must co-operate if those brave words are to be translated into victory. Perhaps he is just an optimist, a pollyanna, a prophet crying in a wilderness of bureaucratic inertia and traditionalism.

"Half of America is doing things it never did before, and the other half is waiting to do them," said Kaiser. And Locke tossed back the flat answer: "We will not keep that other half waiting long."

Nothing that has come out of this war effort is more encouraging, if you stop to consider its implications, than the response of Locke, Nelson and Franklin Roosevelt to Henry Kaiser's dramatic proposal that we begin a huge air freighter development.

While still the die-hards were explaining why "it can't be done," Nelson, after a conference with the president, gave Kaiser a preliminary order for 125 seventy-ton planes, with the understanding that if the Pacific Coast wonder man makes good on those, there will be another 375 to follow.

No less startling in its young thinking was the simultaneous approval of the experimental building of a 200-ton cargo plane—a veritable monster of the air, yet within the bounds of what aeronautical engineers believe is entirely practicable today.

Five hundred of the larger craft, said Locke, could service with bombs, ammunitions, spare parts, gasoline and food the 50,000 pilots and mechanics that would be needed to send 1000 big bombers over Berlin every day in the year.

The air cargo idea may not prove feasible, on the scale now being discussed. But whatever the result of this experiment, or the next or the ones that may come after, we have begun to win this war if Washington really is behind Mr. Locke's promise:

"We are trying to think in a young way—with a full willingness to take considered risks."

A SOURCE OF RUBBER (Chicago Tribune)

As was indicated in the news columns on Saturday, this newspaper is willing to go ahead and make rubber without waiting for the report of Mr. Baruch's committee of college presidents.

The raw material we propose to use is a by-product of our paper mills, known as sulphite liquor. The sugars in it can be fermented and turned into alcohol, the alcohol into butadiene and the butadiene into rubber. It has long been known that the alcohol could be made from sulphite liquor. We have reason to believe that our chemists have found a better process than was known before and this method has been placed at the disposal of all paper makers. If it is generally employed it will produce enough alcohol to make about 10 per cent of the synthetic rubber called for in the government's program.

We can make alcohol to be sent to other plants for conversion to rubber or, as our chemists would prefer, we can do the whole job from first to last. We are ready to risk our own money in the process and take the chance of losing it. We can start as soon as the government will grant priorities for the purchase of a limited amount of equipment required.

Unlike petroleum, grain, and coke, the raw materials which are generally relied upon for the making of synthetic rubber, sulphite liquor is not needed for any other war purpose. The rubber which might be made from it would not reduce the food supply, the fuel supply or the supply of anything else which might be useful in winning the war. The quantity of equipment required would be relatively small because steam and power are available at the mills together with storage capacity and technical skill. If the government will give us the green light, we shall do our part.

JUST HOW SERIOUS IS IT?

(Idaho Commoner, Idaho Falls, Ida.)

From Washington comes again at week's end a White House inspired conclusion that the people of the United States aren't, even yet, aware of their grave danger. They aren't taking this war seriously enough. So something is to be done about it.

We are, we suppose, to be subjected once more to some of this morale-building propaganda from erang later against the former Democratic National chairman. Farley managed President Roosevelt's 1932 and 1936 campaigns, but balked at the third term and let his own name go before the national convention for the nomination.

Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.), long a supporter of the president, said he thought the New York convention fight would have a "bad effect on the country" because it would be taken as a "very severe slap at the president."

"It means the Democratic party will be badly split up," he added. "As for 1944 the New York delegation might be for Farley for the Democratic nomination for president or be Farley-controlled, but that does not mean he would control the rest of the state delegations."

A Democratic senator from the South, commenting anonymously, said the Bennett nomination "makes Jim Farley a national figure in his own right."

Farley Candidate Wins Nomination Over Roosevelt's

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Senators split today on the significance of the nomination of John J. Bennett, Jr., for governor of New York over Senator James M. Mead, who had the support of President Roosevelt.

Most legislators begged to be excused from commenting on the victory scored yesterday by James A. Farley, Democratic state chairman, who had backed Bennett. But among those willing to talk on or off the record were some who believed the state convention result increased Farley's political stature in the 1944 presidential picture and others who thought it would boom-

Nearly 400 Will Be Graduated From Texas U. Monday

Nearly 400 more University of Texas graduates will be ready for service after Monday—service in the armed forces, in war plants, in schools, or at home.

In commencement exercises Monday night, 385 university graduates will receive bachelor's degrees while 150 more will receive graduate degrees.

Governor Coke R. Stevenson will give the commencement address. Among the graduates will be Opal Beatrice Muller of Pampa, bachelor of science in physical education; Capitola Wilson, Wheeler, bachelor of arts; and Harold Ray Hudson, Ferrington, bachelor of business administration.

"I speak the pass-word primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

—WALT WHITMAN.

IS ROOSEVELT A REAL LEADER?

A reader takes exception to my statement that people will have to determine whether we concentrate on air power because "we cannot count on Roosevelt doing any leading. He never takes any actions that might lose a vote because of criticism."

Whether or not Roosevelt is a leader depends entirely upon what he is trying to lead us to do. If leadership means trying to get people to respect the equal, inherent rights of every individual, then he most certainly is not a leader. But if leadership means playing favorites in order to keep in power, then he is a great leader.

Of course, when I said he never takes any steps to lose a vote, I meant net votes. He is perfectly willing to forsake most any one or any small group and lose their votes if the net results will be an increase in votes for himself.

This same reader attempts to prove that Roosevelt does do unpopular things by citing his attempt to enlarge the Supreme Court. But it will be remembered that he did not admit he wanted to change the decisions of the Supreme Court. He did not tell his real motives for wanting to pack the Supreme court. He claimed they were behind with the docket and the men were too old. So he did not, even in this case, attempt to lead the voters. He only wanted to get more of his socialistic, popular theories perpetuated.

Because he has broken with some leaders is certainly not evidence of his courage or leadership.

The same reader infers it was "perfidious criticism that elected him in the unprecedented third term and makes his fourth term seem inevitable."

No, it was not the criticism that elected him. It was his ability to corrupt the voters with their own wealth, without them knowing they were being bought, that elected him. Had it not been for his policy of buying votes, that is taking from the few and giving special privileges for the time being to the many, he never would have been re-elected for even the second term.

But his ability to fool the public by his unlimited borrowing has caused the voter, who does not understand money and credit and how real wages are raised, to believe that Roosevelt was really benefitting them.

Incidentally the county in which these epistles has the largest circulation switched 26 per cent away from Roosevelt between 1936 and 1940. Roosevelt is not a leader, if we understand by leadership standing for principles that will make it possible in the long run for all people to have a constantly increasing standard of living. He is a follower of the crowd. If we want to concentrate on an air war, public opinion will have to take the lead.

Just the minute Roosevelt sees that the great mass of people want a big air force and not such a big army, he will immediately switch over and lead the procession. His whole popularity is not a result of standing for principles or of being a real leader, but it is the result of taking from the few and giving to the many. So long as this lasts, he will be popular, but when people begin to realize that Roosevelt's policy of eating up the seed corn and taking the management out of the hands of those people who have been voted economically most efficient, is the cause of the war lagging and of their not being able to get many things they should have, then Roosevelt's popularity will decline.

However, we have not yet had enough of these deprivations and enough of war reverses for the great mass of people to realize the end results of Roosevelt's policies, of disregarding the equal rights of all men and seeking to be popular by catering to the masses, without any regard to their future well-being.

Washington. But until Washington sets the tempo and convinces us that Washington itself realizes how serious this war and acts accordingly, the propaganda chiefs may as well save their breath and ink. Our eyes are on Washington. We know that this war is serious business and we'll know that Washington knows it when:

President Roosevelt quits dabbling in state politics and appointing political henchmen to fill political jobs after he has himself declared that "politics" for the other fellow—must be adjourned for the duration.

President Roosevelt is willing to sacrifice some of his prestige and authority and name Gen. Douglas MacArthur or some other equally competent military or navy man to run this war as it should be run.

When we quit building roads through the City of Rocks in Cassia county and devote 100 per cent of our effort to the war.

When we forget about "social gains" and get down to the serious business of fighting a war that we must win to survive at all.

When we quit throwing money away like chaff and start getting some semblance of value for the billions we are spending.

When we recognize that we can't lick Hitler and Hirohito's 80-hour week with a 40-hour week. When they are honest enough to admit in Washington that, so far, we are losing this war just about as fast as we can.

When the brass hats acknowledge that American people have the real stake in this conflict and that they are entitled to know what's actually going on, and when the brass hats act accordingly.

After Washington has done that and a few other things, we'll be willing to listen when Washington tells us that this war is much more serious than we think it is. Until that time, we refuse to take it seriously because Washington, from the White House down, isn't taking it seriously.

TOUGH GOING

KAISER CARGO PLANE PLAN

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Wednesday night I found the man I've been looking for—the All-American soldier. He's so real and fine he's almost typical. He's not a soldier yet; he's a selectee and will leave tomorrow for Fort Sill and then to an army training camp. But he's already a soldier in my books. It would not avail much to call his name because you probably wouldn't recognize it and it wouldn't mean a thing to 90 per cent of you. This young man is 22 years old; he has straight brown hair, blue eyes, a square jaw, jutting eyebrows, and he is tall and slim but muscled like a race horse. He slightly resents the fact that he has been drafted and he has his side which you shall hear. He is willing to go, and he's a fighter, a wild-horse rider, and he's not afraid of anything or anybody, and he'd fight a circle saw or a gorilla if he thought it was trying to push him around. He toys with the idea of making a fine soldier and coming back and whipping the dirt out of them. His father was killed last year while dismantling a tank at a tank farm near Pampa. He was one of the survivors and it was one of the few times his name ever got in the paper. The father left a widow and five children, three of whom are two, four and 10 years old. The soldier is the oldest one of the bunch. There are two grown daughters in the family. The mother gets compensation as a result of her husband's tragic death, but not enough to meet the needs of her family. The soldier plans to send his mother most of his pay, and he thinks that the government should provide allotments to the children. . . . He says two uncles of his wanted him drafted. . . . He has a girl and he's in love with her and they talk of marriage but agree that the mother should have the allotments. . . . I met this soldier down at the Legion hall party for the selectees. As soon as I saw him I knew he was the guy I had been hunting so we hit it off together right from the start. It was a dutch lunch and every time he partook I partook. I stayed right with him all night—thru the dance at the gym, the Sons of the West dance at White Deer and finished up with him at the Blue Bonnet. He's a rug-cutting fool, and an expert litterbugger. He out-danced everybody in White Deer, but he met his match at the Bleu Chapeau. He can sing and he can yodel and he's got perfect rhythm. I'd rather stand around and watch him dance than anybody I ever saw dance. . . . Over at White Deer I kept the Sons of the West playing Blues in B Flat 30 minutes just to see that soldier swinging and swaying and jerking, every muscle every limb expressing rhythm. . . . While we were going home we stopped to get a hamburger and we got to talking and I found out he layed by many a crop and how he worked on the farm and there was an extra bond between us. . . . Then he got to telling me how he had a fight one night and got whipped, but no Jap is going to whip him. I knew he was going in the army to fight when he said that if he did well over there somebody else might not have to go. . . . He's going to fight, not make money, not to be a hero.

MARKET: War's great paradox: The manpower commission predicts such extreme lack of toolers that one in every three housewives soon must take a job in a victory plant. On the other hand, a new survey made by New York City authorities indicates that five hundred thousand persons, will be forced out of work in the next few months. Already one in seven is unemployed. Similar conditions are developing in Chicago.

One angle on the crisis—not realized by the nation—is that most of the victims are insufficiently trained to enter defense machine shops. Every where there is such a scarcity of teachers in aviation engineering, welding and kindred trades that unless instructors are imported there will be even less hope of breaking the labor bottleneck. In one branch alone six thousand students could be prepared, but they were available. Municipal officials are appealing to manufacturers for experienced mechanics to handle some of the classes.

Human nature presents an additional predicament. More than forty-one thousand building and construction men are not on pay rolls. Some of these could obtain positions elsewhere but they are reluctant to quit Manhattan. Others with industrial backgrounds may be absorbed when New Jersey concerns expand to meet full programs. Should all of the stranded finally migrate, empty apartments will create a panic in the real estate market.

DIET: United States soldiers in Australia discover that an unmentioned anxiety of the brave people is the fate of their seventeen thousand men lost in Malaya. In a population of seven million this tragedy touches a sizable proportion of families. So far it has been impossible to induce the Japs to transmit official lists of war prisoners.

The enemy, however, has been broadcasting a few names of captives on short wave radios. On one occasion Nipponese pilots dropped thousands of letters from the unfortunates on Fort Moresby. The authorities are trying through neutral intermediaries to induce Tojo to follow the rule of the Geneva convention and not only publish a complete roster of dead, wounded and missing, but also permit international Red Cross ships to distribute

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By ALBERT N. LEMAN

AVIATORS: Wizard Kaiser's promises about cloud freighters arouse popular excitement. But there is a little-known side of the whole transport question which interests U. S. flyers. It is a new conception of the use of air power in the whole strategic scheme of war. No army—not even the Luftwaffe—has bombers and fighters enough to strike alternately with strength on isolated fronts.

The limitation is greater than that of a winged ship scarcity. G. H. Q. does not shift its armadas from one sector to another chiefly because of ground facility shortages. Field crews, spare parts, explosives, gasoline and other equipment—all bulky objects—cannot be jumped quickly across vast distances. If this was possible Uncle Sam could attack Rommel today and turn on Norway tomorrow.

To accomplish such an ambitious task it is an unpublicized reason that the generals, admirals and aviators are eager to obtain cargo planes. They want mobile air bases even more than sky-borne soldiers and raw materials for production. Available for such disposition is a new portable steel mesh runway which can be pegged on a reasonably flat surface. Parts can be rolled and stored in flying machines.

Children suffer hardships when the dairyman brings milk only once in four days and frequently omits even that service. Mothers with babies are up against it if the ice-man skips their sections. Tradesmen in many cases have reasonable explanations such as shortage of help and red tape regarding gasoline and tires. But arbitrary private decisions cause other delinquencies.

A curious reaction is that many customers are taking matters into their own hands. Some have purchased cows or goats and thus have their own supply of milk. Others are cultivating gardens. House-to-house salesmen who now overlook their clients may discover that they have lost them when times are normal again.

Letter To F. D. R.

Really Got Results

DETROIT, Aug. 21 (AP)—Ten-year-old Stuart Falk's postal card to President Roosevelt, envying a dog's life, got results.

"Dear F. D. R.," the boy wrote, "I would like to be a mascot in the U. S. marines. Our country is at war and I think dogs are not the only mascots. Mother laughs at this. I am only 10 years old. I want to be a mascot because our country is at war."

Stuart addressed his letter simply to "F. D. R., The Capitol."

But the address was adequate, for an automobile load of marine officers rolled up to Stuart's door yesterday—Capt. Charles Popp said, on orders from the commander-in-chief—and explained to the boy's mother that he could be a "mascot" at recruiting headquarters, with a uniform and everything, just as soon as he gets back from summer camp.

"A boy as anxious as that to serve his country deserves a chance," Captain Popp declared.

West Coast Cities Dimmed For Duration

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21 (AP)—Booming wartime cities the length of America's coast dimmed bright lights for the duration last midnight under a military order designed to blot out a back-drop of glare against which lurking enemy submarines could silhouette shipping.

Every light which faced the ocean or threw a glow into the sky was ordered dimmed or shaded. Most outdoor lights were extinguished altogether.

By JANE FROMAN

Songs this fall are very likely to fall into two classes—bounce and ballads.

Most of the time in the past few months, the Number One song had rhythm and Number Two was a ballad, and that in a nutshell is likely to remain the musical situation any week in the coming hot season.

Most musicians say that it is the war that calls for songs of certain types, and unquestionably the war has had its effect in keeping the rhythm tunes and the ballads well in the foreground in public favor.

When you take a song like "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree," you have a nice, swiny little tune that ties up with the current situation of a soldier and his girl. And in the ballad field, "Johnny Doughboy Found a Rose in Ireland" ties in with the war, too.

At the moment there is a dearth of what we call outright "torch" songs, and the broken heart for the moment has given away to ballads of remembrance, of looking back on the happy days, and away from the lyric agony of the "torch" ballad in its sharpest definition.

If a singer could ask the inspired gentleman of Tin Pan Alley for one gift and one only, it would be: "Give us a good torch song." The true "torch" tells the story of an unhappy heart voicing an undying—and generally, unrequited—love and it is the one type of popular song that we have always felt touches the hearts of the greatest number of people. When a singer finishes singing such a composition, there is always a pause before even one person applauds. In radio, where the performer has come to gauge so much by the reactions of studio audiences, who are often overly generous with their applause, it is by the length of the applause you can judge a song's effect on the audience. When a singer completes a number and there is immediate applause, you can generally mark the offering as a run-of-the-mill song. But when you finish a torch song or a ballad and there is a pause of one or more seconds before some generous soul begins to clap his hands, you can measure the effect of that song not only on the visible audience, but on the radio audience as well. You can estimate that the armchair dialers have accepted the song even more enthusiastically than has the studio audience.

With the war having its effect on most song lyrics and on many of the melodies, there isn't at the moment a new number that fits the description of "torch song" available for a girl to sing. And so I ask the song writers to make me a present of a good torch song. We have only semi-torch ballads, and I'm afraid they will have to do until the torch song comes along.

Danny Kaye, the stage comedian, sings a song about Stanislawski of the Moscow Art Theater leaving the torch actor to "suffer." It is because the words of a torch song let the singer "suffer" provide more opportunity for interpretation, that most of us like to sing them. Perhaps that is selfish.

I am by no means going to sing only torch songs or torch ballads. I have fallen in love with the spirit of the day and I'll be perfectly willing to repeat that oft-repeated warning about sitting under the apple tree, and I've done my share to help the florists by attempting to sell "One Dozen Roses." But everybody changes pace in life and the singer must be any different. For every rhythm tune there must be a ballad to compensate so I'll raise my voice to "Skylark" and herald, in true real estate allotment fashion, the values of "Sleepy Lagoon."

It is an encouraging sign to me to note that many of the orchestras that featured only trumpets, saxophones and trombones heretofore are now adding violins. That can only mean that for every bouncy little tune, there will be a ballad.

And when a ballad is good, it is very, very good and when it is bad I won't sing it!

European food.

The folks down under recoil at the thought that their sons and husbands are compelled to subsist on a monotonous diet of rice, fish and bean paste. Parents are disturbed because they do not even know if their boys receive proper medical attention for battle injuries and tropical fever. Although Americans and British were abused in Hong Kong and other places, reports reaching the Anzacs about conditions in Singapore do not include atrocity stories. That much is comforting.

COWS: A by-product of emergency restrictions is slowly causing disruptions in rural living. Many vegetable dealers, dairy owners and other merchants are taking advantage of federal curbs to neglect their rounds.

Children suffer hardships when the dairyman brings milk only once in four days and frequently omits even that service. Mothers with babies are up against it if the ice-man skips their sections. Today's War Analysis

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt MacKenzie. Wide World war analyst, is written today by MacKenzie's absence by Glenn Babb.)

Winston Churchill's dramatic travels and the magnificent adventure of Dieppe have relegated the war in Russia to smaller headlines this week but has done nothing to alter the fact that the one major front remains that along the Don and in the Caucasus foothills. There is the one place that the fortunes of all the United Nations are in the balance, where tremendous decisions affecting not merely the duration of the war, the cost of victory but the question of victory itself are in the making.

Comparatively the other fights are training bouts—preliminaries. There is nothing preliminary or tentative about the battle of the Don Bend. It is make or break for keeps for the two greatest armies in the world.

Today's Moscow communique is one of the best for many days. It recites the usual list of battlefields where thousands of men are dying without any of the all too frequent admissions of retreat. But it would be a mistake to draw too much encouragement from a single half day's record. Only last midnight the Russians had to report a damaging series of setbacks: partial survival of a German force that had crossed the Don above Stalingrad; south of Krasnodar "our troops were forced to withdraw to new positions in one sector"; "the Germans advanced somewhat southeast of Pyatigorsk." Only in the Kotelnikowski sector, where the southern claw of a Nazi pincer is reaching for Stalingrad, did the stubborn defense continue wholly successful.

Stalingrad has become the symbol of victory in this campaign. There is no blinking the fact that this great industrial city and communications center, whose sentimental value to the Russians is almost as important as its strategic importance, is in serious peril. The tremendous battle last midnight, already nearly a month old, forced forward in an obscurity little revealed by the communiques—either Russian or German—but the broad outlines of the struggle have been manifest.

From the northwest Marshal Fedor von Bock, having possession of most of the Don Bend, is engaged in a titanic effort to force a crossing of the river only 40 miles from the city. From the southwest another powerful armored and infantry force is attacking from the Kotelnikowski area. The Russian admission that not all the enemy who crossed the Don have been wiped out is ominous.

Stalingrad's hour comes just as her sister city of the north completes the first year of one of the great sieges of history. It was a year ago today that Hitler's guns took Leningrad under bombardment and the siege lines were drawn about the former capital of the czars, his primary objective. How far has Russia's striking power been diminished by the terrible losses of men, of industrial strength, of food producing lands? Can Hitler be sufficient to keep the Russians fighting effectively until the Americans and British are ready? Will winter come in time and will it, in the more southerly climates into which Hitler has now penetrated, be as stout an ally to the Russians and all of us as it was a year ago?

Thieves Steal Cabot Company Car Thursday

Thieves didn't wait until dark to steal a car from a downtown street yesterday; they took it in broad daylight. The car was taken between 6 and 6:30 last night from the 100 block on West Kingsmill avenue. The car, a Ford sedan, belonged to the Cabot company and was driven by R. C. Allen, general superintendent. The car had the Cabot sign on both front doors and bore license number 547-481.

Mr. Allen parked the car and went into a drug store for a few minutes and when he came out the car was gone. City police, notified of the theft, started an immediate investigation and had the description broadcast over the Amarillo police radio. Officers later found a man who saw the car being driven south on Cuyler street. Two youths were in the car, he told police.

No trace of the car had been found up to an early hour this afternoon. —BUY VICTORY BONDS

Wheeler Farmer Dies In Head-On Collision

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Church of Christ in Twitty for Lonzy G. Clay, 50, farmer residing eight miles northeast of Twitty, who was instantly killed when his pickup truck and a cattle truck were in head-on collision three miles south of Wheeler at 2 o'clock this morning.

Clay was riding alone and Merle Keys, employe of Bob George of Shamrock, was the only occupant of the cattle truck.

Keys, held blameless in the crash, was quoted by investigating officers as having made an unsuccessful attempt to swerve the truck out of the path of Clay's pick-up, but was too late.

Clay had resided with his family at his home, four miles north and four miles east of Twitty, 24 years, having moved to Wheeler county from Ardmore, Okla.

He is survived by his widow, five daughters, one son, three brothers and three sisters. Funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ.

ELECTION

In precinct 2, John Haggard, incumbent, and H. C. Coffey are contesting for county commissioner, and in precinct 1, LeFors, George Hawthorne and Henry Shott are rivals for constable.

One change in the polling places for the second Democratic primary election tomorrow was announced today by John V. Andrews, county chairman.

In precinct 12, Pampa, the polling place has been changed from the Thomas grocery to the Odd Fellows hall.

Farris C. Oden will replace Arthur M. Teed, out of town on vacation, as presiding judge of precinct 10.

With these two exceptions, the places and officials are the same as in the first primary, July 25.

Polls will open at 8 a. m., close at 7 p. m. Returns will be tabulated in the office of the county clerk and results should be known within 1 1/2 hours after the polls close.

Election supplies were issued to the 17 precincts in the county today by the county chairman. —BUY VICTORY BONDS

Half way down the Caucasus, the land bridge to the Middle East, the Russians acknowledged that German vanguards had made some advance toward of Pyatigorsk in a drive toward the Grozny oil fields.

Meanwhile, the Russians proudly marked down the first anniversary of the siege of Leningrad, where the Red army, aided by the city's 3,000,000 civilian population, has held the Germans at bay for 12 months.

Dispatches to Pravda said Adolf Hitler, expecting a swift conquest of the old-time capital of the Czars, had thrown 60 divisions into the long assault and hauled up 6,000 big guns, 19,000 machineguns, 4,500 mortars and 1,000 tanks in a vain attempt to crack the city's defenses. —BUY VICTORY BONDS

These quarters said Japanese troops in the Tulagi region were fighting a bitter defense action in the hope of receiving reinforcements, and declared the outcome still hangs in the balance.

Striking at Japanese supply bases far to the west, Allied bombers attacked enemy forces on Timor island and destroyed off great explosions in the town of Maobisse. General MacArthur's headquarters announced.

On the China war front, Chinese headquarters announced that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies had recaptured the powerful Japanese stronghold of Kwangtung in Kiangsi province, thereby diminishing the threat of a Japanese invasion of Fukien province.

Dispatches said Gen. Chiang's forces recaptured the city yesterday morning after passing it in the Kiangsi campaign in which they have retaken Kweiki, Shanzhao and other points along a 60-mile stretch of the important Kiangsi-Chekian railway.

The president and Willkie conferred about the trip that length yesterday, and Mr. Roosevelt said one thing had been emphasized.

He named this as the fact that a great many people over the world get from American news dispatches the idea that our production is being hurt to a very large extent by strikes. There will be a threatened strike in one small plant that will last 24 hours or a 24-hour shutdown by management in another small plant and these incidents are so handled by news agencies, Mr. Roosevelt said, as to make other countries think they are the rule instead of the exception. He said British leaders had gained the same impression but that he had told them the total production affected was infinitesimal and they were much surprised.

Because of what he termed a disproportionate exposition of the news, he said false impressions were spread not only in Britain, but also in the near East and were seized on by our enemies. Reports that ten men walk out are front page stuff for these enemies, Mr. Roosevelt declared.

NAVY SHOW

(Continued from Page 1) pa to put on a show here? It looks suspicious, but no admission will be charged. Everybody gets in free, and the best entertainment talent in Amarillo is included in the cast.

Amarillo says they are coming over here to salute Pampa and vicinity for their effort in navy recruiting.

Dixie Dice has gathered together her top-flight artists for the show she has elected to name "Nice 'N Nautical."

Barnes Ogle, Braniff Airways representative and former radio and stage personality, will combine his singing and microphone work as master of ceremonies for the show.

The Maxell company has volunteered their public address system for the evening with Dub McEntire of the Certain-Teen Products Corporation at the controls.

Chief C. M. Norman, champion naval recruiter, has ordered his staff out in full regalia for the event and reports many volunteering cars to transport the cast to Pampa.

The Amarillo "fleet" will leave for Pampa Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

A navy recruiter, Chief Specialist H. L. Longbach will be in the post office basement all day long to enlist men. All who enlist Monday will be especially honored at the show.

The special section to be reserved for parents and wives of men in the navy is expected to be larger than at first anticipated. Judging from the interest already displayed.

Mrs. Bill Lucas, mother of navy gunner, Billy E. Lucas, called for a reservation before all the papers were distributed yesterday. Billy has been at sea and was last heard from when his ship docked at Quersist Point, Rhode Island.

Others who have made reservations and their navy relatives include: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewis, parents of John Farrington Lewis, member of the Texas Plainsman squadron, which left Monday night for the University of Georgia, at Athens, Georgia; Mrs. Jessie Stroup, mother of Jack Stroup, seaman, second class, stationed at Norfolk, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Heard, parents of Maurice Heard, mechanic, second class, stationed at Norfolk, Virginia; and Mrs. Jack Stroup, wife of Jack Stroup, seaman, second class, stationed at Pearl Harbor.

Anticipating an overflow crowd for the show, an effort is being made to reserve choice seats for parents and wives of men in the navy. All these special guests have to do is telephone 383.

Townpeople Asked To Do Share In Collecting Of Scrap Metal

With farmers of Gray county already doing their part in the collection of scrap metal, the salvage committee today called attention to the fact that townpeople should also do their share.

A meeting of the county salvage committee and of the industrial salvage committee has been called by General Chairman Jack Hanna for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the office of County Judge Sherman White.

At this meeting, final plans will be made for the campaign, which is to end with a giant rally on Saturday, August 29.

Urging every man, woman and child in Pampa to hasten the day of victory by salvaging needed scrap materials, Mayor Fred Thompson today pledged full support to the local salvage campaign.

"By turning over to the salvage committee of Pampa every available pound of old materials, we all can make a direct and helpful contribution to our national victory effort."

"Every 50 pounds of steel means another 105 mm. shell; a discarded doorknob will help make dozens of cartridge cases; 25 tons of steel will make another tank."

"I call upon every resident to search his home carefully from cellar to attic, looking for scrap iron and steel, copper, brass, bronze. Every one of these materials is needed today by American industry for manufacture into weapons and equipment for our armed forces."

"There are many tons of valuable scrap in Pampa and Gray county. We must collect every pound of it and see that it gets into America's war plants. Our steel mills, tank factories, shipyards, airplane plants and other war industries are already exceeding their former production records. We can help them attain even higher production by sending them all the scrap materials we can find."

"As you search for scrap in your home, remember that the scrap you are looking for will give our armed forces more weapons to win a quicker victory."

Should Lubbock Have Two Judges On The Court Of Civil Appeals? Honorable J. Ross Bell Endorses Judge E. C. Nelson

The Lubbock area has one of the three Judges; the Vernon area has one. Is it not fair for the Northern or Amarillo area to retain its membership on the Court?

Let's see what disinterested witnesses say:

1. What Judge Pitts Said: In January of this year, before the lawyer politicians of Lubbock decided to enter Judge Pitts in the race, he was a disinterested witness. On January 15, 1942, he wrote Judge Nelson as follows:

"There may come a time later on when I may be ambitious to become a member of that court myself, but it does seem that your section of the country should have a preference in naming a successor to Judge Jackson." (Judge Jackson is the Amarillo member of the court, who is now retiring.)

2. What Honorable J. Ross Bell Says: The Honorable J. Ross Bell, of Childress, ran third in the First Primary, and carried the largest number of counties, next to Judge Nelson. Now that he is out of the race, he has no further personal interest in it. A few days ago, he wrote Judge Nelson as follows:

"While it is not my intention to take any active part in your contest for Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, I do expect to vote for you. I shall do this for two reasons:

First: I believe you to be best qualified for the position you seek.

Second: With other qualifications equal, I feel that the northern section of the district is entitled to representation on the court. The South Plains country already has one member on the court, and it probably would be more satisfactory to have all sections of the district represented."

Nobody has ever sought to take away Lubbock's place? Should Lubbock seek to take away the place that has always been held by a man from the North Plains?

QUALIFICATIONS:

Judge Pitts has had little or no legal training and little or no experience in the practice of law. This is one of the most exacting judicial positions in the State of Texas—next to the Supreme Court itself. Should a man with little or no legal training and little or no experience in the practice of law be elected to such a position?

Who Should Choose The Chief Justice?

The people? Or a group of lawyer politicians of Lubbock who would like to have that distinction? Judge Nelson did not ask any group whether he might run for the office. If elected, he will not be under obligations to any such group. He will be free to chart the course of the law fairly for all. Is that what you want? If so, vote for Judge E. C. Nelson, Saturday, August 22.

SERIAL STORY

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

BY RENE RYERSON MART

Copyright, 1942, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER I

"Letty, Tom's asked me to marry him."

Letty Fields stopped trying to get the freshly laundered, pink gingham dress over her head...

"Are you going to?"

Enid Sharon kept her eyes on little Ann. What an adorable picture she was with her mop of red-gold curls...

Longing tightened around Enid's heart. She wanted this, a baby—a baby of her own...

Letty who was old-looking at 30. Letty who had three children when Phil's wages were only adequate for one...

Enid was thinking of this when she finally answered Letty's question. "I don't know, Letty. I don't know whether I'll marry him or not."

Enid reached over and took the pink dress out of Letty's hands and slipped it over Ann's curly head. "Sit still, you wiggle-worm!" she admonished...

Letty, she reflected, meant well, but she hadn't been much help in solving her problem. And it was a problem that had to be answered soon...

But, Enid thought, what if something happened and she couldn't go on working? What if she had a baby right away as Letty had had? Tom was a salesman for a small manufacturing plant...

She wasn't really pretty. Her skin was creamy and her fine straight hair was a honey blond shade, contrasting nicely with her brown eyes...

LETTY was still talking. "You're 24, Enid. You'll soon be an old maid. If you're going to marry and have children you ought to have them before you're 30. It's easier on you when you're young."

Enid laughed her surprisingly appealing little chuckle. "Wait—Letty. I'm not even married to "Go ahead and marry Tom," Letty said. "You're 24, Enid. You'll soon be an old maid."

the boy, yet, and you have me with a family."

"Tom's a good boy," Letty persisted. Enid supposed Letty meant by that that he didn't drink, or smoke to excess, or gamble, and that he'd probably never run after other women...

Maybe she was a romantic little fool, but she had always dreamed of a man who would be very gentle and kind. A man whose eyes would show his adoration when he looked at her...

Tom laughed at things like that. He wanted action and excitement in his recreation. It was "Come on, Babe. Let's go to a ball game, or, 'Let's take a drive.' A drive with Tom meant tearing through the countryside at 60 or 70 miles an hour...

The front door downstairs banged. Phil was home. Letty started guiltily to her feet and headed for the stairs. Her husband liked his meal on the table promptly. Enid followed more leisurely with little Ann.

Enid always came directly from work to Letty's one night a week to have supper with them and see the children. She was fond of the noisy little scamps. But tonight in her perplexed mood she found their exuberance distracting.

It was too hot to eat, anyway. "We'd better get busy, Sis," she laid the paper down and bustled to her feet as Letty finished eating. "That is if you want any help with the dishes."

"Why—is Tom coming after you?" Letty asked hopefully. "No, I'm walking over to my art class at the university from here. He'll pick me up there later."

Letty went to the front door with her when she left. She thought Enid looked especially nice in her crisp tailored linen suit. She'd like to have one like it. But clothes weren't the most important things in the world.

Grandfather Drafted ELKHART, Ind., Aug. 21. (AP)—Most men regard leaving home to go to war as a stock story to tell their grandchildren someday—but not Kenneth N. Kress, 43-year-old draftee.

His two grandchildren, youngsters of Mrs. Robert Cussemeyer, his daughter, were there to see him off as he left for the army.

Government economists figured that, despite the war production board's efforts to curtail the manufacture of consumer goods, the public spent $39,900,000,000 for all purposes in the first half of this year compared with $24,500,000,000 for the government. Capital expenditures by private business amounted to $6,000,000,000.

Writer Describes Blazing Blood Battle Of Dieppe

Editors note: Ross Munro of the Canadian press went ashore with Allied shock troops storming the Dieppe beach under Nazi fire yesterday to get this first-hand story of the war's biggest commando raid.

By ROSS MUNRO Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN RAIDING FORCE RETURNING FROM DIEPPE, Aug. 19 (Delayed)—For eight raging hours under intense Nazi fire from dawn until a sweltering afternoon, I watched Canadian troops fight the blazing bloody battle of Dieppe.

I saw them go through this biggest of the war's raiding operations in wild scenes that crowded helterskelter one upon another in crazy sequence.

There was the furious attack by German E-boats while the Canadians moved in on Dieppe's beaches, landing by the dawn's half-light. As the Canadian battalions stormed through the flashing inferno of Nazi defenses, there was the belching of fire from huge tanks that rolled into the fight.

I spent the grimmest 20 minutes of my life with one unit when a rain of German machine-gun fire founded half the men in our boat. Only a miracle saved us from annihilation.

A few hours later there was the spine-chilling experience of a dive-bombing attack by seven Stukas, the dread Nazi aircraft that spotted our landing craft waiting offshore to reembarc the fighting men. Our boat was thrown about like a cork by their seven screeching bombs that plunged into the water around us and exploded in gigantic cascades.

There was the lashing of machine-gun fire from another Nazi aircraft and the thunder of the anti-aircraft fire that sent them hustling off.

Germans Ordered Held At Rio After Sixth Ship Sinking

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 21 (AP)—All Germans except diplomats who had embarked on the exchange ships Bage and Cuyaba were ordered held as hostages by President Getulio Vargas shortly after the sinking of the sixth Brazilian ship in recent days was announced.

The ships already were filled with German nationals, ready to sail for Lisbon in exchange for Brazilian nationals. The voyages had been postponed earlier in the week when a crisis arose over the sinking of five Brazilian ships by Axis submarines, claiming the lives of perhaps 600 persons including Brazilian troops.

The sixth U-boat victim, announced today, was the coastal steamer Jaey.

One high official of the government navigation line declared today that the sinkings, which brought Brazil into undeclared conflict with the Axis, were the result of "brazen operation of Nazi spies who informed on planned troop movements."

Panhandle Oil Field Given Small Increase

AUSTIN, Aug. 21 (AP)—Beginning Sept. 1 Texas oil wells may produce a maximum of 1,430,363 barrels daily, a reduction of 46,833 barrels from the allowable reported on Aug. 15.

Engineers estimated actual average daily production would be about 1,353,409 barrels or 44,391 less than the September market demand certified in Texas by the office of petroleum coordinator.

Comparative average daily allowables by district for Aug. 15 and Sept. 1 were: Southwest Texas, 251,724 and 225,842; Gulf coast, 274,433 and 288,449; East Central Texas, 89,067 and 88,606; East Texas, 364,390 and 359,627; West Central Texas, 47,808 and 47,227; West Texas, 228,871 and 197,195; North Texas, 131,656 and 131,646; Panhandle, 89,223 and 91,771.

Soldiers Behave Better Than Home Folks

By PETER EDSON
Pampa News Washington Correspondent

It now develops beyond any doubt that this new U. S. army is good—and by "good" in this case is meant well-behaved, disciplined, law and order abiding. This fact comes out through studies of the army's courts martial record as compiled by the Judge Advocate General's department.

Principal cause of this apparent improvement in behavior comes from the army's new ideas on how to administer military justice to the men in service who do occasionally break over the traces.

Today the army doesn't have the old idea that every time a soldier breaks one of the Articles of War, which is the military code of laws, the offender should be haled before a court martial, tried and given appropriate sentence as provided for in the table of maximum punishments in the Manual of Courts Martial. There is a punishment tailored to fit every crime in this tabular form, from death for sleeping on post in time of war or desertion in the face of the enemy, down to minor offenses which call for forfeiture of pay, confinement to quarters or a few days in the guard house.

A short time before the defense army began to be built up, the army brass hats came to the conclusion that in order to give maximum training to every soldier, the only kind of a guard house which did the army any good was an empty guard house, and furthermore it was silly to take up the time of a lot of officers conducting courts martial. Instead of preferring formal charges and bringing soldiers before a military court, on all petty offenses, commanding officers now award administrative punishment such as a reprimand or extra duty unless the soldier demands trial by court martial. The soldier naturally chooses the former. Punishment is swift.

FIGURES PROVE IT

This elimination of useless and time-consuming trials was carried right up through the entire system of military justice. Direct punishment by company commanders was substituted for Summary Court Martial, which corresponds to the lowest justice of the peace court in civilian life. Similarly, special courts martial for more serious offenses and general courts martial for most serious crimes were handled by the lower courts wherever possible. The result has been a tremendous decrease in the number of trials by military tribunal, as compared with the first World War. Table below gives picture.

Senator J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, is also an army officer on active duty.

construction of a State office building or buildings; providing for repayment to the Permanent School Fund; providing for the submission of this Amendment to the voters of this State; and providing for the necessary proclamation and expense of publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 49-b, which shall read as follows:

"Section 49-b. The Legislature may provide by law for the issuance of not more than Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas to the Permanent School Fund for the construction in the City of Austin of a State office building or buildings, and the State Board of Education is hereby directed to invest not more than Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) of the Permanent School Fund therein. Such bonds shall be executed on behalf of the State of Texas by the Governor and Comptroller, and shall bear a rate of interest not to exceed three (3) per cent per annum, payable annually; they shall be of such denomination as may be prescribed by law and shall be payable in not to exceed twenty-five (25) equal installments beginning one (1) year from date of issuance; and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to set aside into a special fund annually at the beginning of each fiscal year until all of said bonds shall have been paid off and discharged, a sufficient amount of the first moneys coming into the Treasury for the use and benefit of the General Revenue Fund not otherwise heretofore obligated to the payment of bonds and interest, a sufficient amount to pay the interest becoming due and the bonds maturing during such fiscal year. From said Fund, the Treasurer shall pay the interest on said bonds as it comes due, to the credit of the Available School Fund; and shall pay off said bonds as they become due and deposit the amounts so paid to the credit of the Permanent School Fund. The power hereby granted to issue bonds is expressly limited to the amount stated and to five (5) years and after the adoption of this grant by the people."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at an election to be held on the third day of November, 1942, at which election all voters favoring such proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots, the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas authorizing the investment of not more than Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) of the Permanent School Fund in bonds of the State of Texas to be issued for the construction of a State office building or buildings and providing for the repayment of the said sum of money to the Permanent School Fund."

Those voters opposing said Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots, the words:

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas authorizing the investment of not more than Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) of the Permanent School Fund in bonds of the State of Texas to be issued for the construction of a State office building or buildings and providing for the repayment of the said sum of money to the Permanent School Fund."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of said publication and election.

Old Keys Have Brass In Them

The government needs scrap brass, bronze and copper and the Pampa post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, needs the money it can raise by selling donations of brass, bronze and copper for its service men's entertainment fund.

Do you know that you have all kinds of brass, bronze and copper around the house that will make many shells? You don't? Well, you have.

For instance, you have a bunch of old keys, don't you? Well, every key you have will furnish enough brass for a .30 calibre shell. You have a couple of old water faucets, don't you? Well, they'll furnish enough for a couple of dozen shells.

There's all kinds of material laying around nearly every house in Pampa to help slap the Japs and axe the Axis.

Mike Roche, chairman of the committee collecting the scrap, is trying to secure a list of articles which will be accepted. Receptacles for the metals are located at several downtown places.

Here Are The Facts!

Pampa, Texas, Aug. 4, 1942

County Judge Dave Shanks,
Ochiltree County,
Perryton, Texas.

Dear Judge:

As a citizen and taxpayer of Gray County I am naturally interested in the election to office of men who are qualified. Consequently, it is my desire to inquire of you as County Judge of Ochiltree County about the past record of H. C. Coffee, whom I understand was formerly a long-time resident of Ochiltree County and who served in your county as County Commissioner.

If it is a fair question I would appreciate a word from you giving me the reputation that Mr. Coffee bore in your county as a citizen and as a County Commissioner.

Thanking you, I am

Yours very truly,
(Signed) W. J. Carruth
