War And The Top O' Texas

Vital Information

OPA officials have reminded electrical retail dealers that their businesses are covered by the GMPR, not MPR No. 136, and under the GMPR they are not required to file catalogs and prices with the OPA in Washington. Through some misunderstanding, electrical retailers are sending price lists to Washington.

Howard A. Schlatt, regional rent executive, today reminded landlords in defense-rental areas where offices were opened on July 1 that the registration deadline is only 4 days away and urged them to send in their statements immediately to avoid the last-minute rush. Headline for registration of housing accommodations other than hotels and rooming houses is Aug. 15, and deadline for registration of hotels and rooming houses is Aug. 31.

Texas contributed 35,994 tons of rubber in the recent drive, according to a report made by George B. Butler, executive secretary of the Texas Salvage committee. This collection puts Texas third among all states in the nation in this vital scrap drive.

Many new clothing styles will have fewer pockets, fewer buttons and buckles, and no unnecessary yardage as a result of an order, L-181, issued by WPB. The order does not interfere with quality, freedom of action, or the utility of the garment, WPB emphasized.

An amendment to Conservation Order M-114, issued by WPB, makes more leather for civilian shoes available. Under the amendment, only goatskins that can be processed into more than 6-3/4 square feet of leather need be set aside for military services. The original order reserved goatskins that would produce over 5-3/4 square feet of leather. Goat skin is used for shoe uppers.

Reports to the WPB region office that attic fans are being installed in homes and business houses in violation of the special orders brought a warning from J. B. Joyce, deputy region WPB director. Manufacture and installation of such fans are under strict regulations, and violators are subject to WPB action, Joyce warns.

Full discussion of United Nations peace aims is a powerful weapon in the winning of the war, Elmer Davis, OWI director, said in releasing a pamphlet entitled "The Four Freedoms." Issued during the anniversary week of the signing of the Atlantic Charter, the pamphlet clarifies the essential freedoms for which the United Nations fight.

Operators of hotels and rooming houses filing petitions for adjustments in maximum rents are required to give notice of filing the petitions within 24 hours of filing the petitions, under an amendment to Procedural Regulation 3 issued by OPA.

Time Still Left To Cast Absentee Vote

You still have time to cast an absentee ballot. Contrary to the impression gained by some readers of yesterday's issue of The Pampa News, Tuesday, August 18, the Tuesday of next week is the deadline, not Tuesday, August 11.

County Clerk Charlie Thut said he had received several calls from persons wondering if it was too late to cast an absentee ballot.

August 18, four days in advance of the second Democratic primary, is the deadline, and you can still cast your absentee ballot within the interval.

Scrap Metal Campaign Will Be Planned To plan Gray county's second scrap metal campaign, County Judge Sherman White has called a meeting of the Gray County Salvage committee to be held at 3 p. m., Tuesday, August 18, in the county court room.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 12 (AP)—William Dudley Pelley, founder and leader of the Silver Shirts of America, was sentenced today to fifteen years in prison in the first major sedition case since America's entry into the war.

I. W. Spangler Killed In Car Wreck

I. W. Spangler, Pampa contractor, was instantly killed at 12:15 this afternoon when the sedan he was driving was demolished when it hurled a bar ditch 19 feet wide and from 6 to 8 feet deep on a country road 4 miles west and 1 mile south of Pampa.

The sedan did not turn over but nosed into a bank. So terrific was the impact that the floorboard was pushed up through the floorboard. A shotgun which Spangler was carrying in the car was fired out of shape.

Place of the crash was within 50 yards of the farm home of Joe Brown, who heard the car crash, and called an ambulance. Mr. Spangler was driving west and failed to turn when he came to an intersecting road. Police Chief Ray Dudley and Constable Jess Hatcher went to the scene of the accident. Deputy Sheriff Louis Allen was also present when he went to the scene of the crash.

Situation In India 'Ugly'

BOMBAY, Aug. 12 (AP)—The British called increasing numbers of troops and police into action today to bring order to the situation in India, which has become a question how long martial law could be forestalled in turbulent India.

The worst new trouble spot was New Delhi where an official statement described the situation as "ugly" and said an Indian mob had burned and virtually destroyed the town hall and troops had fired on civilian crowds yesterday.

The four-day-old tension persisted also in Bombay but the situation at noon seemed to have calmed down and police intensity and the casualty lists in Bombay alone reached at least 31 dead and more than 250 wounded.

Since the terror began as the sequel to the arrest of Mohandas K. Gandhi and other Hindu leaders after the All-India congress party made him generalissimo of a planned non-violent campaign to break British rule, 500 or more other Indians have been made prisoner.

Armed security forces have opened fire on milling throngs in at least eight places across India; the wreckage of burned buildings, smashed glass and overturned vehicles has piled up, and a paralysis has begun to grip the teeming sub-continent's trade.

Hearing On City Budget Set For Tuesday, Aug. 25

Pampans will have their chance to give their opinions of the amount of money the city should spend next year, when the annual hearing on the budget, for 1942-43, is held at 10 a. m., Tuesday, August 25, in the city commission room at the city hall.

Discussion of the budget, a copy of which was filed by the city manager on July 20, with W. C. deCordova, city secretary, occupied the major portion of the city commission's meeting yesterday.

Hitler Claims Sweeping New Successes

Reds Acknowledge Advance Toward Stalingrad

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters claimed sweeping new successes in the battles of the Don river and the Caucasus today while the Russians acknowledged a new German advance toward Stalingrad on the Volga and declared whole cities were aflame on the trail of the Nazi invaders.

Soviet dispatches said huge masses of German tanks supported by planes ripped into the Russian lines northeast of Kotelnikowski, 95 miles northwest of Stalingrad, and broke through the Red army defenses.

The assault was finally stopped, Red Star said.

German headquarters flashed a series of bulletins asserting that the bulk of the Russian 62nd army and the 1st tank army had been "annihilated" in the Kalach sector, 50 miles northwest of Stalingrad, with 35,000 Red army soldiers taken prisoners. Since July 23, the Germans said, the Russians have lost 57,000 tanks in the flaming Don river bend fighting.

The German high command declared 1,044,741 Russians had been captured since Jan. 1 along the whole battlefield.

WAR BULLETINS

CHUNGKING, Aug. 12 (AP)—It was rumored here tonight, without confirmation, that Allied warplanes bombed Formosa today. This Japanese island off the East China coast is one of Japan's principal troop staging areas for offensive operations.

R. R. To Join Navy To Help Raise Quota

The Roving Reporter is not going to ask you to do anything he wouldn't do himself.

So he's going to join the navy Friday afternoon.

Who'll go to Amarillo Friday afternoon with the R. R. to join the navy? Who'll join up with him? You young fellows 19 and 20 years old you're going to have to get into something pretty soon, so why not now? You strapping guys with working wives you may be in Class 3A now but they're gonna call your number soon. You fellows who got deferred, you can't stay deferred forever.

Come on in, in the water's fine, and in the navy needs men awful bad!

Who'll join the navy with the R. R. Friday afternoon?

Yesterday a woman who has a son 20 years old and who thinks he's not going to be drafted because he will be in college, called up the R. R. and said, "If you want somebody to join that old navy so bad why don't you join yourself?"

Well, sister here it comes right back in your teeth. The R. R. is not going to ask your son or anybody else's son to do anything he wouldn't do himself. So he's going to join Friday, and he's not enlisting because his number is up. The draft board is not breathing on his neck yet, and probably won't be for some time.

But every time I see a man in uniform I have a feeling that I ought to be in there, too. Yesterday, when H. W. Owen, son of Mrs. O. E. Palmer, 307 E. Brown, and Thomas Dewey, came back from the navy, the desire to get in there with them was overpowering. Owen has been in the navy since he was 17 and the only resistance encountered was from aircraft.

British Lose Another Aircraft Carrier

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The British aircraft carrier Eagle has been sunk in the Mediterranean but a large part of the 22,000-warship's crew has been saved, the admiralty announced today. A German broadcast heard here indicated the Eagle went down at the start of a battle which may be continuing between a British convoy and Axis submarines and warships. The broadcast, quoting DNE, said a British "capital convoy," escorted by the bulk of the Mediterranean fleet, had been engaged in the western Mediterranean since last evening.

Later the Berlin radio broadcast an account of the end of the Eagle, quoting a dispatch to the Rome newspaper El Piccolo datelined La Linea, Spain, which faces Gibraltar.

"The Eagle, after having been hit by four torpedoes, showed a heavy list and began sinking," it said.

"Other units of the convoy hurried to the spot in order to help the sinking Eagle, but owing to fire breaking out on board the aircraft carrier and spreading instantaneously the rescue ships were unable to go alongside.

"The British rescue vessels therefore had to confine themselves to saving the crewmen who jumped overboard.

Mechanics Of Pampa Wanted To Join Army

Are Pampa automobile mechanics and those with similar trades as patriotic as mechanics in other towns? Will they carry on for America in the work they know best?

These are the questions that will be decided here tomorrow when Lt. Joe R. Pouncey will be in Pampa to take the enlistments of physically fit qualified men between the ages of 18 and 45.

He will be located at Tom Rose Ford, 121 North Ballard, telephone 141 and 142. Lieutenant Pouncey said he would be available to interview applicants beginning at 10 a. m. and would remain on duty as long as they called.

Object of this recruiting drive is to secure from the Panhandle the 170 men needed to complete the personnel of the No. 3 maintenance company, of the 13th armored division, which is now being organized at Camp Perry, Ohio, to which the men will be sent for training.

In all, 800 mechanics, machinists, welders, cooks, and other technicians are required. Lt. Col. Walker, battalion commander, and his officers are in Oklahoma and Texas this month to recruit men for the maintenance battalion.

Lieutenant Pouncey has been in Amarillo for the past week, making his headquarters at Walter Irvin, Inc., automobile dealer. He has secured 50 recruits. During his stay in Amarillo, the recruiter has also made trips to Plainview, Childress, and Memphis.

He will be in Berger Friday and in Dalhart Saturday.

In the recruiting drive, which is under the office of the chief of ordnance, the officer is working in conjunction with automobile dealers of Oklahoma and Texas.

Needed for the maintenance battalion are:

Automobile mechanics, machinists, blacksmiths, gunsmiths, welders, carpenters, painters, chauffeurs, electricians, parts men, cooks, stenographers, clerks. Especially needed at this time are canvas and leather workers.

America needs these men now. Men going into the army can serve best in the work they are qualified to do.

Truck Strikes And Injures Small Girl

In the first accident that has occurred in the area since the underpass was opened, a five-year-old Pampa girl was injured when she was struck by a truck while attempting to cross S. Cuyler street just south of the underpass in the 300 block late yesterday afternoon.

Glenda Marrow, daughter of A. B. Marrow, 521 S. Gray, suffered an injured left knee and head bruises and was knocked unconscious when struck by the vehicle, one wheel of which passed over her left knee.

She was given emergency treatment at a local hospital, where she was taken in an ambulance, and later last night taken to her home. She apparently was not seriously injured, and suffered no broken bones.

The accident was unavoidable, according to reports police have from witnesses, one of whom was William C. Dillman, former Pampa policeman, now an employee of the Texas Gas & Power corporation.

At the time of the accident, the truck, driven by Fred Elmer Whipple, was headed south and was proceeding at a rate of speed of not more than 10 miles an hour. Mr. Whipple stopped his truck immediately after the girl was struck.

Glenda, the girl who was injured, with three other girls, one of them her sister, had started to cross the street from the east.

As they neared the center of the street, two of the girls stopped, while Glenda and her sister, aged 7, started to run. The older sister was knocked down. Apparently hysterical, she got up and ran six blocks to her home, police report.

Police Chief Ray Dudley and Patrolman Joe Mullins answered the call to the accident, while Patrolman A. B. Gossett made the investigation.

Cops assumed the underpass after the accident so that Chief Dudley could not drive his car to the scene and had to park his car on the north side of the tracks and proceed afoot to the place.

Leo's Four-Vehicle Caravan Races Over Texas Highways

TAHOKA, Aug. 12 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel raced over South Plains highways today carrying his plea for the "most overwhelming majority anybody ever went to Washington with."

In the first of six public speeches today the senator told a Crosbytown crowd, comfortable under the cool shade of park trees, that he didn't like to live in Washington.

But, he added, there is a job to do there, just as there is "for your boy and my boy" in the sandy wastes of North Africa, Australia and all those other battlefields.

From Crosbytown, O'Daniel's four-vehicle caravan sped over dirt roads 44 miles to Post, where he spoke to a street corner crowd which sought sidewalk awnings for protection from the sun.

In each town, O'Daniel continued to lambast political pirates, the newspapers—mentioning some in Dallas, Fort Worth, San Angelo, Lubbock and Amarillo—and labor leader racketeers.

General Says "Air Marker" Case Without "Hostile Motive"

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding general of the eastern defense command, said today that alleged "air marker" incidents, described in a recent release by the first air force at Mitchel Field, N. Y., were without "hostile motive."

"As a result," General Drum added in a formal statement, "the cases were dropped as having no bearing on national defense.

"The responsibility and blame for the release of the photographs and the story are now under investigation and appropriate action will be taken in due time."

Texas Troops Retreat Before Superior Power

WITH THE TEXAS DIVISION ON CAROLINA MANEUVERS, Aug. 12 (AP)—Texas troops who retreated doggedly after delaying an enemy superior in manpower and firepower in last week's problem of the VI corps maneuvers, climbed aboard dusty trucks and moved into weekend bivouacs.

They spent a hard day of work cleaning guns, equipment, and vehicles and prepared to rest for the next action.

But Saturday morning the motor vehicles were again in the line when they were ordered to move to the North Carolina towns, Lexington, Salisbury, and Thomasville, as objectives. These, with 14 other towns in both North and South Carolina, were hosts to soldiers who had just spent a hard week in the field.

In the Texas division, 50 per cent of the men were given 40 hour passes to visit the three host towns.

Col. John D. Forsythe of San Antonio, Texas, joined the Texas division this week as chief of staff, according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, commanding general of the Texans.

Although more at home on a spirited pony than behind the wheel of an army half-track, Cpl. Kenneth "Cowboy" Goss of Miami, Okla., has his iron steed with the same skill that he used riding the range.

Born in small-town Lincolnville, where a Cherokee reservation is now located, this cowboy grew up in the stirrup and rode the range in many western states. Although he has a leg acquired when a steer fell on him, he performs mechanical duties in the Texas division engineer company as well as driving his armored horse.

Pampa Store Hours Will Remain Same

Opening and closing hours of Pampa stores will remain the same, it was decided at a meeting of Pampa merchants held yesterday afternoon in the committee room of the Board of City Development at the city hall.

This means a continuation of the 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week-days, and 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Saturday. At an earlier meeting, Saturday night closing was scheduled to be changed from 10 p. m. to 9 p. m. starting in September, but at the meeting yesterday it was decided to continue the 10 p. m. closing throughout September.

Basic of yesterday's meeting was a suggestion that stores remain open over-time during the week, in addition to Saturday night.

The meeting was called by M. C. Johnson, chairman of the retail trade promotion committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at the suggestion of several merchants to discuss the possibility of extending the hours to accommodate war workers.

Gas Rationing Over Nation In Prospect

By BEN FUNK
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 12 (AP)—There is a growing belief in the oil industry that gasoline rationing will be extended gradually across the nation and that the Midwest will feel its restrictions in the near future, possibly before the November elections.

Observers here predict that four states—Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois—will be drawn next into the rationed area.

Deputy Petroleum Coordinator Ralph K. Davies himself gave support to this theory during the week when he declared if other areas were rationed because of transportation shortages, "they will have to accept it as an inevitable consequence of the war."

Members of the OPEC staff forecast the Midwest would be the only area likely to feel a transportation pinch in the immediate future.

The rationing threat wasn't the only thing the oil man had to worry about. He was harassed on one side by a serious labor shortage and on the other by his inability to get drilling equipment due to the expiration of order P-98.

So bad was the shortage of skilled oil field workers that contractors expressed the opinion such workmen should be made exempt from the draft.

Many contractors are already working their men on 12-hour shifts, which means an obvious increase in operating costs as well as a loss in efficiency because of the longer hours.

Order P-98, which gave the oil industry priorities for obtaining drilling equipment, expires at midnight, July 31, and since that time the industry has had no means of getting materials for either development or maintenance work.

Unless the order is extended quickly or a substitute is drafted a drastic curtailment in field operations seemed in prospect.

Responding to an appeal by companies producing high-octane gasoline, toluene and synthetic rubber that they were not getting enough of certain types of crude oil, the Texas Railroad Commission boosted allowances in 40 state fields.

Largely as a result of this action, United States production soared to 3,997,155 barrels daily during the past week, a gain of 604,540 barrels a day.

Something to Remember

Perhaps you know a young man who has tried to get into his country's service. He has been turned down because of physical disability.

Persons who do not know the facts point to him and wonder. He is self-conscious about it almost to the point of distraction.

This young man loves his country and is patriotic to the core.

The people who have the tongue-in-cheek attitude toward him are doing him a great injustice. They are eating his heart out.

It isn't right. When you see a man on the street now and he appears to be of army age—don't condemn him.

About That Second Front

All the signs point to some dramatic development in this war. What it will be, or where, or upon whose initiative, only a very few persons know—and perhaps they are not quite certain.

It could be the collapse of the sturdy Russian defense. Undoubtedly Hitler is pouring every possible ounce of his strength into an effort to break the Red army now. He may succeed. But in all probability he will not, although he is doing tremendous damage.

More probably, the sensation will be the opening of a second front by either the Anglo-American alliance or the Japanese. Nobody should be too greatly surprised if the two came almost simultaneously—the United Nations trying to distract Hitler by his Russian adventure, while Japan, in Siberia, attempts to distract the Reds from Hitler.

Over whatever the Japanese may do our control is limited. Moreover, President Roosevelt has promised that we shall wage a war of offense. Therefore it is up to us to decide, principally, where we are going to hit Hitler, and how.

Laymen in a democracy are entitled to their opinions. But lay opinions in the matter of second front strategy are not worth the breath it takes to expound them. Only the experts should determine, on the basis of secret information properly withheld from the public, when we are ready to strike, and where, and how.

Conceding that probably we shall open a second front soon, there is one point on which the public should keep very clear.

If our second front is in the air—if it is a day-by-day series of devastating raids upon the Reich's industrial centers and transportation arteries—then in launching it we shall not have burned all our bridges behind us.

We can wage such warfare assured that even if it should prove less conclusive than we hope, we shall have done more damage to Germany than to ourselves.

A second land front can not be opened in Europe, however pressing Russia's emergency, unless we are prepared to gamble our national existence upon that one throw of the dice.

The losses we must suffer, landing an army in Europe and attempting to supply it, will be so unbearable that they could not be repeated.

If such an attempt is made and it fails, we shall have lost the war for keeps, right there.

The decision is too vital to be made on the basis of emotion. If Franklin Roosevelt were so weak that he could be egged into rashness by pre-printed postcards, Red Front sponsored, they should be withheld. Fortunately, he is not.

Slowdowners

A naive—or possibly sarcastic—writer expressed disbelief the other day that anybody in these times would participate in or instigate a slowdown in a war plant.

The fact remains that there are slowdowners daily in such factories, at least some of them inspired by men who think of themselves as loyal Americans. They are shortsighted enough to place traditional union methods above the war emergency.

Such, presumably, was the burly employe who tried to force out a too energetic workman in a mid-western plant. That slowdowner was amazed when his victim displayed FBI credentials and handcuffs. We can't have FBI agents in every war factory. It is up to loyal workmen to protect themselves and their country against the slowdowner, whether he is a traitorous fifth columnist or a misguided shop steward.

CRITICS WITHIN THE NEW DEAL (Chicago Tribune)

For the second time in two days an ardent administration supporter from the south has made a most devastating criticism of the conduct of the war. The latest critic is Sen. Josh Lee, the Oklahoma Democrat, who declares that it is utterly folly for us to continue to try to build ships faster than Hitler can sink them. He wants the nation to go to air transportation for maintaining its supply lines and contends that if we don't we face "complete loss of the war."

There will be those who disagree with Sen. Lee on the course he suggests. There may be doubts in some minds as to the feasibility of air transport alone, and the hopelessness of the battle against the submarines is not conceded everywhere. Until now the suggestion that the fight would go better if the navy department were placed in competent hands has received no response from the administration. But regardless of the soundness of the arguments, the fact remains that two of the administration's most faithful followers in congress have commented bitterly

BAN ON RADIO PROGRAMS AND RECORDS BY MUSICIANS' UNION NATURAL

Some people might think it strange that James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians (A.F.M.) has decreed that after the last of July, members belonging to the musicians' union do not have their music recorded or used over the radio. This is the usual scheme of labor unions—making things scarce—claiming they are thus able to help the workers. They think that more musicians will be employed. They forget that this act will deprive all the consumers of the mechanical benefits of the records, and recording radios.

And if it is wise to discard mechanical inventions that benefit all mankind yet favor the musicians, in order to have an artificial scarcity in music, then it would be wise for all workers to discard the use of modern tools so that it would take more time and make more jobs in their individual lines.

Collective bargainists fail to realize that it is not work that people want, but it is the fruits of work. And their fruits of work can be much larger when they avail themselves of all the modern tools and inventions resulting from the ingenuity of man.

But labor unionists never think of anybody but themselves. The maxim of all labor unions is the old latin phrase: Pericat mundus, dum ego saluus sim (the world may perish, provided I be safe).

When people support a combination to rob their fellow workers, by discarding the use of labor saving tools as the musicians' union has done and which are beneficial to mankind, then this belief grows on them until they do such ridiculous things as ban the use of modern equipment by their members.

ARE THERE NO IMPERSONAL RULES? Judging from the answers one gets from all New Dealers, socialists, collective bargainists, when they are asked by what impersonal rule they justify their course of action, one would think there were no such thing as an impersonal rule.

At least, no New Dealer, collective bargainist, socialist, seems to be able to give any universal, impersonal rule.

In fact, if he understood any universal, impersonal rule, he would not be a New Dealer, a collective bargainist, or a socialist.

Jesus was trying to tell the public that there were certain rules by which they must live, if they would be His disciples. There is nothing in the Bible that is more important, when properly understood, than this statement of Jesus' in Luke 14:26:

"If any man come to me, and hate not (love less) his father, and mother, and wife, and children and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple."

The older dictionaries gave the word "hate" as meaning "love less." This simply means that we must obey and put ourselves in harmony with eternal, universal, impersonal principles, laws and rules, if we would have the Kingdom of Heaven "within"; that is, if we are to retain our self-respect and have peace of mind, tranquility and happiness.

Yes, there are immutable, impersonal, universal rules that never change through the ages.

But this is something the socialists, the New Dealers, and the collective bargainists deny by their acts.

It is foolish for them to contend that they believe in principles when their whole policy and program is a denial of this belief. People are known by their fruits and not by lip service.

on its conduct of the war, Sen. Lee on ships and planes and Rep. Lyndon Johnson on inadequate equipment and army and navy brass hats.

For much less critical comment the administration's departments of propaganda and persecution have attacked impeachable Americans who do not happen to be administration supporters. No invective has been too harsh for use against those who have called attention to errors and deficiencies in the conduct of the war. The smear brigade has grown more and more strident until it has reached the assertion that any one who criticizes is indulging in a treasonable abuse of the right of free speech.

Are Sen. Lee and Congressman Johnson and any other New Dealers who use the power of criticism to save this country from military defeat to be treated similarly? Is the Gestapo to be loosed against them as it has been against other critics? Are they to be smeared and charged with treason because they say what events make clear to every one, namely, that our victory is threatened by men incompetent to perform the duties of the high office they hold?

FOR COUNTRY BY Stella Hault

William Saroyan, that ever uninhibited young playwright, has stated the case of the intellectuals. He is reputed to have done more than answer his draft board's questions. Roughly speaking he is supposed to have said: "You can have my body, but leave my mind alone. I do not want to write plays in the army."

Most intellectuals will sympathize with the playwright. In the case of Saroyan he seems to have just as much of a body as the most unlettered hillbilly who is not true of the majority of intellectuals.

But isn't Saroyan cheating? It is not with his body that he has won fame and money. It is not with his body that he has charmed his audiences. Wouldn't he himself admit that he has had just a few privileges not granted to the hillbilly: ambition, feeling for poetry, egotism and showmanship. Isn't his intellectual courage something special. Wouldn't he admit that he always expresses what he has in mind and isn't the gift of his intellect a magnificent possession. His body may be just as good as the inarticulate hillbilly but it is the least of Saroyan's gifts. Mentally speaking, he is an extremely rich man. Yet he offers himself as a manual laborer on the same footing as the man across the street who has not a dime in his mental pocket to give to his country. The question is one of ethics.

Certainly it is more romantic, even voluptuous, to offer one's body. We are all touched by the big shot executive who joins up as a buck private. But isn't he a cheat too. A man whose whole experience has been in directing others has no moral right to be a buck private. He has no right to put his brain on a shelf for the duration. That brain was the best "thing" he had to offer in peace time and the same is true when the country is in such distress.

Harold Wright is another Pampa insurance man who has joined the navy. Like many another man who has entered the service and who will in the future, Harold Wright, strictly speaking, is no longer a youth, even though he looks younger than he is. But when he joined up at Dallas last week he made it a point to get into a branch of the navy where his ship would be in combat zone. It will be a sacrifice to Harold Wright to leave his wife, home, business, and he wants that sacrifice to mean something. He feels that doing the same thing in the service as he did at home will not justify the sacrifice. He doesn't want to give up his life in Pampa just to be a file clerk. He wants it to mean more than that. I can understand his feeling, and I would be the same way. I wouldn't want to punch a typewriter in the navy. Neither would Harold, and when he enlisted he didn't enlist to punch a typewriter.

Now please consider the above words, a preface, an introduction to the remainder of this column. This seems the propitious time to publish the following masterpiece on the subject that Mr. Wright's enlistment brought up. I do not want to lay his brain on the shelf when he enlists, and just give his country his body? I disagree with Stella Hault, the author, and agree with Harold Wright, because his speaking is supposed to have said: "You can have my body, but leave my mind alone. I do not want to write plays in the army."

Most intellectuals will sympathize with the playwright. In the case of Saroyan he seems to have just as much of a body as the most unlettered hillbilly who is not true of the majority of intellectuals.

But isn't Saroyan cheating? It is not with his body that he has won fame and money. It is not with his body that he has charmed his audiences. Wouldn't he himself admit that he has had just a few privileges not granted to the hillbilly: ambition, feeling for poetry, egotism and showmanship. Isn't his intellectual courage something special. Wouldn't he admit that he always expresses what he has in mind and isn't the gift of his intellect a magnificent possession. His body may be just as good as the inarticulate hillbilly but it is the least of Saroyan's gifts. Mentally speaking, he is an extremely rich man. Yet he offers himself as a manual laborer on the same footing as the man across the street who has not a dime in his mental pocket to give to his country. The question is one of ethics.

Certainly it is more romantic, even voluptuous, to offer one's body. We are all touched by the big shot executive who joins up as a buck private. But isn't he a cheat too. A man whose whole experience has been in directing others has no moral right to be a buck private. He has no right to put his brain on a shelf for the duration. That brain was the best "thing" he had to offer in peace time and the same is true when the country is in such distress.

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

GUESSES: While military men shake their heads gloomily over Russia's plight and whisper of a "separate peace," economists and technicians who have lived and worked in the U. S. S. R. for years see no reason for excessive pessimism even at this hour. Given the will to resist, they maintain that Moscow can fight on through another fall and Napoleonic winter. So far civilians' prophecies have proved far more accurate than soldiers'.

The latter are inclined to ground their bleak forecasts on factors which influence fighting men. They look at Hitler's strategic and tactical successes, his conquests of territory and the defenders' losses. They have not yet recovered from the awe which the Nazis' sweep through Western Europe inspired—a comely Prime Minister explains the Allied high command's nonaggressive, on many fronts. They fail to recognize the vast Soviet reservoir of human and material resources which has been developed far from the present line under the three Five Year Plans. The generals have been so wrong in their judgments that Anglo-American managers of the conflict pay scant attention to their predictions. The emissaries who have talked to Stalin on behalf of President Roosevelt and Churchill have the utmost faith in the Reds' second-world stamina.

F. D. R. and the British leader are basing all their future plans on the belief that the Bear will continue to claw Hitler. If they are wrong, it will be one of the catastrophic bad guesses in the history of statesmanship. But they are convinced of the soundness of their conclusions.

WEAPONS: Der Fuehrer may soon seize the Maikop and Grozny oil fields, but they could represent an empty victory. They comprise only a small percentage of Russia's petroleum resources and the shafts will be destroyed utterly before he arrives. The rich Baku wells lie far beyond the almost impassable Caucasus mountains. There, with Hitler's supply lines growing more extended every day, the Reds' famed artillery and air force are expected to make a desperate stand.

Meanwhile Stalin will rely for fresh war machines on factories, blast furnaces, processing plants, gasoline refineries and railroads he built behind the Urals—three thousand miles from the scene of today's conflict. A thousand more miles to the east he has another problem: despite the loss of the entire Ukraine, spring harvests were early and bountiful in that territory and they were removed before the Nazis' entrance. Civilians may be pinched, but there should be sufficient meat and wheat for essential workers and fighters. Moscow has not yet asked Uncle Sam for vast shipments of edible, only weapons.

FOLLY: Russia's impending downfall in the Caucasus means that the full fury of hell is about to be let loose on the United States. The days of brave, glorious, battle-shed engagements like that of Bataan are all over. Now at last we are in for the real thing. Three, four or more years of fierce fighting; ten, eleven million or more soldiers and sailors and, according to optimists' estimates, more than a million sick and several hundred thousand slain. "It will be the toughest, hardest, most merciless war we have ever fought," says Admiral Leahy.

What will the parents of those bruised and lifeless sons say when they look back on this year "that the locust hath eaten," knowing that the administration could have equipped those lads with adequate weapons if it had not botched the defense program? Mr. Nelson's flustered lieutenant confesses that they have wasted our substance of raw materials. The whole vast assembly-line projects is stalled because those at the top did not have the experience, brains or spunk to run the machine.

Such folly could be forgiven if the men now in charge were the best we have. But they aren't. In the most critical game in our history the coach has put a second-string team on the gridiron. Because he personally dislikes the varsity players he has kept the all-star team on the bench. The greatest production enterprise of all time has been handed to officials who never in their lives made even a mousetrap, while the greatest production geniuses in the country have been withheld as private citizens.

CHAMPION: Donald M. Nelson is a capable purchasing agent. His selection as W. P. B. boss at least stopped Harry Hopkins from gumming the works. But he is limited because he has not had first-hand experience with blast furnaces, factories and those other units which transform rocks into tanks, ships and planes. Since lack of steel, copper and other raw materials is slowing down our plants, it would be only common sense for Mr. Roosevelt to pick a supreme manufacturing specialist to clean up the muddle. He has the choice of a baker's dozen of such trump cards. He could solve the bottleneck if

TEX'S TOPICS

By Kay Kyser DeWeese

KAY KYSER writes that everything is set, and that he'll be ready to take over this space next Monday. Band-leader Kyser will write Monday's column and then a half dozen or so more radio and screen personalities will handle the chore on succeeding days.

Among them will be Eddie Cantor, Vaughn Monroe, Dorothy Kilgallen, Andre Kostelanetz, Phil Spitalny, Horace Heidt, Walter O'Keefe, and Jane Froman. Kyser, in his column, promises to tell among other things about one of his most embarrassing moments on the air.

Albert Lehman, one of our operators in the East, reports that a warship was launched the other day at an Atlantic port which reporters intended to describe as a heavy cruiser but censors forbade any mention of her class.

The object of such secrecy is to keep information from the enemy. Yet if one of Hitler's spies has a dollar in his pocket he can purchase in any large bookstore a copy of a standard work on shipping which names the vessel and openly calls her by the designation that was smugged out by the navy blue pencil boys.

In addition the volume has many other facts which the gold brads refused to allow the press to print.

ONE OF the reasons for such a contradictory policy is the frequent practice of the admirals and generals of placing round pegs in square holes. They would be irritated if a civilian presumed to advise them on strategy and logistics. Their explanation would be that one must learn the trade of war before one is qualified to discuss it—let alone work at it.

But they see nothing incongruous in selecting as the public relations officer in one of the biggest naval districts a man whose vocation was selling real estate. The colonel who supervises the news at an equally famous army corps area is a former proprietor of a hardware store.

The subject of a second front seems to inspire our best second guessers. Any victim of hay fever will tell you it's nothing to be sneezed at.

War games make soldiers fast thinkers, says a military writer. Especially those pay day contests with the speckled cubes. Newspapers have been printing pictures of combat tactics. This is naturally to be resisted by umpires who visit Brooklyn.

Expert observers say the tide is turning in favor of the Allies. It won't be long until we have an edge on the Axis.

BANKERS describe a new problem in the currency field. Anyone who ever fingered a pound sterling note invariably admired the quality and texture of the paper.

Few people know that one of the secrets of this superb craftsmanship is that the Bank of England uses discarded white linen in its manufacture. Oddly, most of the cloth for decades was obtained from France.

With the Third Republic in Nazi hands no more second-hand garments from Paris find their way to London. Since Britons now wear colored shirts the kingdom's central bank is hard pressed for the needed supplies.

Financiers suggest that the Germans may have used such rags in the counterfeit United States dollar bills which were circulated in South America recently.

The fakes were so well made, it is revealed, that even experts had difficulty detecting them. Series and numbers gave away the deception—not the printing or the paper.

he drafted Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, and said to him in effect: "I do not subscribe to some of your sociological notions any more than I always see eye to eye with English leaders, Russian Bolsheviks, Dutch royalists, Chinese guerrillas and Norwegian socialists. But if I can be a buddy of these foreigners then I'll try to be big enough to trust you, my fellow American. I am giving you complete charge of the production program. You know the job. Do it. And if any politician tries to butt in, throw him out on his ear."

Should Mr. Sloan be unavailable, there are Eugene G. Grace, Ernest T. Weil, Frederick B. Huffman and other industrial supermen. If the president were willing to copy Abraham Lincoln, he would make that type of appointment. Then, no matter how stiff the schedule of the next few years, the nation would know that it had a champion team out on the field fighting.

Today's War Analysis

By DeWitt MacKenzie Wide World War Analyst

The revolt in India which started out as a passive affair has grown to that grim stage where it has become an active menace to the Allied cause. Mohandas Gandhi's campaign of non-violence to achieve freedom is so far out of hand that many cities are swept with the fearsome sound of mob roar.

Already the Allied war effort suffers from disorganization in this great arsenal. The upheaval is an open invitation to Japan to invade one of the most vital bases of the United Nations. And the threat of a junction of Axis and Jap forces in India—a joining of west and east—grows as Hitler lashes his victorious troops on through the Caucasus towards the Middle East—his ultimate goal.

Thus it isn't surprising to hear on every side the eager question of whether it's too late for a compromise between the British government and the Nationalists. It's hard to see going much farther than anything heretofore offered by the Nationalists. He said it would be acceptable to the All-India congress. Here's the Sirdar's plan:

"Executive power now rests with the governor-general-in-council, that is, the viceroy and the executive council of 15 members. Four members of the council are British and 11 are Indian, all of them appointed by the viceroy and what you in America would call stooges.

"My suggestion is that the council be reconstructed to provide a popular interim government. Let five seats be given to the All-India congress, whom you know so well in the outstanding figure; give an equal number of seats to the Moslem league, which doesn't see eye to eye with the All-India congress but demands guarantees that it will get proportional representation in any independent government; and let the viceroy himself pick five other members from among universally respected Indians.

"There would be absolutely no constitutional change until after the war, except that the viceroy would not have a great bone of contention. His council would remain as governor-general with powers similar to those exercised in Canada and other sovereign countries of the British commonwealth of nations.

"The status of the some 560 Indian princes and their states, which has been a great bone of contention, would remain unchanged until the framing of a new constitution after the war.

"However, either the United Nations must guarantee complete freedom for India after the war, or Churchill (British premier) must make an announcement in unambiguous terms in parliament, guaranteeing India's complete independence soon after the end of the world conflict.

"The Indians are prepared to leave military defense of the Allied war effort to an American, a Chinese and an Englishman. We would cooperate fully in the war effort, the first essential being to win the war."

there are Eugene G. Grace, Ernest T. Weil, Frederick B. Huffman and other industrial supermen. If the president were willing to copy Abraham Lincoln, he would make that type of appointment. Then, no matter how stiff the schedule of the next few years, the nation would know that it had a champion team out on the field fighting.

Republicans In New York Reelect Fish

(By The Associated Press) Pre-war foreign views as a general political issue were discussed in at least four of five states today as primary returns gave a wide majority of officeholders victories over opponents who had assailed them as isolationists.

Example number one in national interest was the veteran Representative Hamilton Fish, pre-Pearl Harbor critic of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, who won Republican nomination in the president's home district over three opponents in yesterday's balloting.

Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican nominee who had joined with Fish's intra-party opponents, asserted in commenting on the congressman's lead that "for the sake both of the county and the Republican party the fight for his elimination must be continued."

Renominated three to one, Fish observed that "these pre-war issues were sunk at Pearl Harbor and every fair-minded American knows it and resents attempts to revive them."

Other New York congressmen who weathered the cry of before-the-war-isolationism included Representatives Edwin A. Hall, Birmingham Republican; Daniel A. Reed, western New York Republican; Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party left wing leader, and three New York City Democrats, William B. Barry, James A. O'Leary and Martin J. Kennedy.

But in Nebraska, Representative Harry B. Coffey, campaigned again on his congressional record prior to the war, lost the Democratic senate nomination to Foster May, Omaha radio announcer.

The Republican nomination to the senate seat now held by George W. Norris, veteran Independent, was won by Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican Midwest director. Norris did not compete in the primary but his friends had predicted he would enter the general election again as an Independent.

Meanwhile, selection of delegates to New York state's Democratic convention, Aug. 19, officially started the battle for nomination of delegates for Senator James M. Mead and State Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., in a test of presidential influence on selection of the party's nominee for governor.

Mead carries the endorsement of Mr. Roosevelt and Bennett is supported by James A. Farley, state party chairman and the president's former campaign manager.

In Ohio, a veteran Democratic congressman who opposed the administration's pre-war foreign policies met primary defeat but two Republican colleagues who took similar positions, appeared assured of renomination.

The loser was Representative Martin L. Sweeney, who was opposed by party leaders in the 20th (Cleveland) district, by Democratic Mayor Frank J. Lausche, and all three Cleveland newspapers. The victor was Michael A. Feighan, Cleveland attorney.

O'Daniel Hurls New Accusations As Alfred Promises To Back FDR

'Little Yes-Man Hasn't Boy Of Own In Army'

(By J. B. KRUEGER) FLOYDADA, Aug. 12 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, fresh from a fervent Floydada stump speech before the largest crowd of his run-off campaign for reelection, headed today into South Plains territory which gave him a thumping majority in the July 25 election.

His vote-seeking dash across the state, a stern test of physical endurance in itself, carries him today to Crosbyton, Post, Tahoka, Snyder, Roby and Merkel.

The senator got majorities in five of the six counties in which these small towns lie. The other, Taylor, gave him a plurality.

Behind O'Daniel lay two days of probably the hardest campaigning he has undertaken—16 speeches in 13 towns before crowds ranging from a few score up to several hundred who heard him here.

Also behind him lay a string of accusations against his opponent James V. Alfred, the newspaper, labor leader racketeer and "political plater" opposing us." Standing prominently among these charges was high praise for President Roosevelt as a war leader and the world's greatest strategist.

Elemental as these things were in his speeches they did not obscure an O'Daniel campaigning touch which has been with him since he astounded Texas in the 1938 gubernatorial race: His choice of terms, the endless variety of presentation he gives day in and day out to identical arguments.

In two days he has created a fresh set of words for his opponents, new turns of phrase which vary with every speech. Of Alfred: "My little yes-man opponent hasn't any boy of his own in the army."

"When he crawled off that federal bench, a $10,000 lifetime job, he forgot we already had a United States senator from Texas. How can I explain it, when he can't explain it himself. Nobody knows why he did it—but we all have our own ideas."

"I'm just a common old clodhopper you folks picked up from the ranks and sent to Washington."

On denying the charge of isolationism: "When your own flesh and blood is out there in it (the war) your heart and soul is in it too."

"I have great confidence in Mr. Roosevelt. . . . He is the greatest commander-in-chief we have ever seen. . . . Wonderful war leader. . . . greatest strategist in the world."

For various of his targets O'Daniel has applied the terms of vituperation, buzzards, yellow little newspapers, dirty slanders, yellow-sheet newspapers, filthy gold, and these crooked little newspapers.

'Jimmy Alfred Not Running On Boy's War Record'

(By LEDGERWOOD SLOAN) PARIS, Aug. 12 (AP)—Hard-driving James V. Alfred sets forth again today with humor and argument to whittle away at the majority vote which many East Texas counties gave W. Lee O'Daniel in the July primary.

Before applauding audiences, the candidate departed briefly from his usual presentation of his platform to throw barbs at his U. S. senate run-off opponent.

Alfred drew laughter at Paris last night by asking as he explained his resignation as federal judge, "What if some big flour man who is making $50,000 a year should resign to run for governor?"

At Sulphur Springs and Quitman crowds laughed as Alfred declared "the only platform I heard about in the first primary was that there ain't gonna be no runoff." Later he said, "I think Texas is entitled to two senators. Some folks say we haven't got one."

At Floydada last night O'Daniel's speech was a slight variant of talks he has made since he embarked upon his runoff campaign. Before the largest crowd of his latest trip, the junior senator inveighed against "labor racketeers," declared his loyalty to President Roosevelt, denied he was or ever had been an isolationist, and reiterated a prediction that he would be returned to the senate by a huge majority.

Some of the phrases he has used before audiences in recent addresses: "My little yes-man opponent hasn't any boy of his own in the army."

"When he crawled off that federal bench, a $10,000 lifetime job, he forgot we already had a United States senator from Texas. How can I explain it, when he can't explain it himself. Nobody knows why he did it—but we all have our own ideas."

As the Japanese fought to broaden their hard-won gains, under furious Japanese counterattacks, supporting Allied fliers struck triphammer blows at Japanese bases and shipping along a 3,000-mile front north of Australia.

Other major developments in the far Pacific: Crisis in India—British authorities invoked the "whipping act" to subdue India's riotous mobs and sent more troops and police into action to cope with mounting violence.

Observers said it now was a question of how long martial law could be forestalled as the insurgents looted government food trucks, burned down the New Delhi town hall and income-tax office, and blocked streets to paralyze traffic.

Work stoppages hit cotton mills engaged on war contracts in Bombay and Ahmedabad, India's two chief textile cities.

Gandhi himself and more than 500 of his followers have already been arrested, it was announced, while troops and police opened fire on milling throngs in at least eight places across India.

Despite the Nazi boasts of spectacular successes, British military sources declared that Soviet resistance was stiffening on all fronts.

These quarters said Red army counter-attacks in the Volga and Rubez sectors, south and northwest of Moscow, respectively, were beginning to worry the Germans.

Nazi claims were discounted as greatly exaggerated.

BUY VICTORY BONDS Speedy War Plants May Be Slowed Down Or Closed WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—War plants which are running far ahead of schedule may be closed deliberately or slowed down for a time to ease the drain on scarce materials, under plans now being considered by the War Production board.

The production cuts would be brought about by curtailments in the allocation of materials to such firms for the last three months of the year, it was disclosed by an official who requested that his name be withheld.

In many cases new or converted war plants are discovering that their output exceeds earlier expectations, with the result that parts they produce lie idle for weeks or months before they can be incorporated in the finished product.

Birth Of Pups Keep Bombers Up

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 12 (AP)—Seeing a dog on the field, the Albuquerque army air base control tower operator held several bombers aloft.

Military police dashed to clear the runway.

The MPs arrived, in motorcycle and sidcar, just as three pups were born. The mother, ancestry uncertain, was as wild as a coyote and fled into the nearby sandhills.

To an Albuquerque home went the pups.

Down came the bombers.

Let's raise that enlistment quota of 22 for Gray county in a hurry. Let's raise it this week. Sooner or later most of you young fellows will be in this war so why not get in now where your president and your government wants you to be—in the navy.

If you want free transportation to Amarillo Friday call up either the R. R. or County Attorney Joe Gordon who is chairman of Gray county, recruiting.

Join the navy and help Texas win the war!

Let's beat Amarillo in raising our quota for this month. Pampa has done little toward accepting Amarillo's challenge that Potter county would enlist its quota of 50 men before Gray county enlisted its quota of 22 men.

There are nearly a dozen counties in the Panhandle ahead of Gray county. Hutchinson county of which Borger is the county seat is ahead of both Potter and Gray counties. Are you going to let Amarillo show us up?

1 (C) It's a cake of soap! Dust and dirt build up on bulbs and reflectors almost before you know it! Soap and water can often double the light you get from the same current.

2 (C) The clue, if you look closely, is the thimble on her finger. She's suffering from eyestrain because she's been doing her mending and sewing in poor light.

3 (B) An eyeglass lens. Symbolic of the important part eyes must play in winning the war. If you're using your eyes longer and harder these days, have them examined.

MORAL: DON'T BE A LIGHTWASTER! Eyesight and electricity are vital to the war effort. Conserve both! When you read, work or study, have enough light to guard against eyestrain but don't waste it! When you need bulbs, buy carefully. Get the right sizes! They'll help you avoid being a lightwaster.

Pardon Sought For Albert B. Fall

EL PASO, Aug. 12 (AP)—A presidential pardon is being sought for Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of War, in connection with the bribery in connection with the Hiram Bingham administration oil scandals.
Efforts on Fall's behalf were disclosed by his wife who said she had received from the Department of Justice a letter of application, papers looking toward a possible restoration of his citizenship.
Fall, now 81 and an invalid in the Veterans hospital at Fort Bayard, N. M. was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe from E. H. Dooty in connection with the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserve lease. He has staunchly maintained his innocence.

'Too Much Salute, Not Enough Shoot,' Indians Complain

FORT DEVENS, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP)—Indian soldiers stationed at this fort, itching to go on the modern warpath against the Axis, have one good-natured complaint—"too much salute, not enough shoot!"
That was the war-cry among more than 1,000 tribesmen from Oklahoma, New Mexico, and other states today as Massachusetts observed "Indian Day" in recognition of the aid the redmen gave to the white pioneers of the Bay Colony.
Since Massachusetts is now has only a comparatively few of her own to honor, the full-time presence of the Devens warriors gives the state its greatest population of Indians since the days of the Puritan settlers.
Wearing the olive-drab of Uncle Sam's troops instead of the fighting feathers of their forefathers, the Indian soldiers include Cherokees, Pawnees, Creeks, Osages, Potawatomis, Seminoles, and Poncas.
"These Indian boys make great bayonet leaders," says Sgt. Arnold Woodall, of Woodward, Okla., himself part Cherokee. "They have great thrusting power, and when they advance they let out wild war whoops that could scare any enemy."
Woodall says they also make good machine gunners. "They're crack shots, many of them, and they also know how to deploy themselves with snatches."

Swimming Tourney To Be Held Aug. 23

Boy Scouts of Pampa will hold their swimming tourney on Sunday, August 23, beginning at 2 p. m., at the Pampa municipal swimming pool.
The date and time was set at a meeting of Pampa swimmers held last night in the office of Fred Roberts, council executive.
In charge of the tourney will be Oscar Hinger, municipal pool manager, and Jack Skelly, a neighborhood scout commissioner, and Red Cross and Boy Scout lifesaving instructor.
There will be four classes of competition: Tenderfoot and second-class; first class swimmers and Star scouts who have not won their swimming merit badge; scouts who have won the swimming merit badge but not life-saving badge; and scouts who have won the lifesaving badge.
The tourney is for members of the 11 Pampa troops.

Up To 400 Bombers Raid City On Rhine

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Mainz, German chemical industry and rail center of the Rhine, was heavily attacked last night by the RAF in a raid which was "particularly successful" and left fires still raging this morning, the air ministry announced today.
Sixteen bombers were missing, indicating a strong force participated. (If previous losses of 4 to 5 per cent of the attackers is used as a basis, the number involved would be up to 400.)
The Coblenz docks, Le Havre and airfields in the low countries also were attacked.

Former Congressman Elected Senator In Arkansas Primary
LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Renowned returns from yesterday's runoff primary today served only to swell by thousands the top-heavy vote that gave former Congressman John L. McClellan the Democratic nomination for United States senator over Attorney General Jack Holt.
Holt, defeated for the first time in a 14-year political career, conceded defeat shortly after 10 o'clock last night.
Official returns from 1,683 of 2,149 precincts tabulated by the Associated Press gave McClellan 95,670 votes and Holt 63,146.
McClellan, 46, who served the sixth district in congress from 1935 to 1939 and was defeated for the senate in 1938 by Senator Hattie W. Caraway, hailed his nomination tantamount to election in this state—as a "crushing defeat for machine politics."
The election apparently assured Congressman Wilbur Mills of the second (northern) district of a third term. Returns from 247 out of 350 precincts gave Mills 11,065 and C. B. Robbins, Herber Springs banker, 6,673.

Cargo Plane Row Recalls Sad Situation

By PETER EDSON

All this excitement about cargo planes, if they follow the advice of designer Grover Loening, big-builder Henry J. Kaiser and Senator Josh Lee's military affairs sub-committee hearings, is a bit pathetic. It is pathetic because in a way it is so unnecessary. It is unnecessary because the United States, which before the war built the world's best transport planes and had the world's best systems of commercial airlines, shouldn't now have to be turning itself inside out to build up an adequate fleet of aerial cargo carriers.

Before the United States got into the war, active U. S. commercial airlines had in service about 500 cargo planes—350 of them operated by domestic land lines, 150 of them operated by Pan American in its foreign and overseas routes. Additional planes were on order by most commercial airlines with the major manufacturers. Boeing was building new clippers for Pan American; Douglas was building more standard DC-3's and a few of the newer, bigger, four-motored DC-4's, while Lockheed had plans for its own Constellation.

Then in December of 1940, a government "request" was made to the plane builders that no more deliveries be made to private purchasers, and a little later orders were given to stop production of all commercial planes. To all practical purposes, the manufacture of cargo planes came to a dead stop.

Mind you, that was only a little more than a year and a half ago. Contrast that order with all the excitement now to build all the cargo planes possible.
This is probably a large measure of hindsight, and from the army air force point of view, there is justification for these drastic orders curtailing production of transport planes. As Lieut.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold testified before the Lee committee, the first demands were for training planes so that a flying personnel in the industry frankly worked enough to meet any requirements and the second demands were for combat ships and bombers as dictated by Great Britain. Even so, in securing the large number of trainers required the orders were concentrated with the major companies, whereas these primary trainers m-Ct have been ordered from smaller companies, leaving the big companies to continue the production of transports.

But this inability to get new equipment is not the only sad part of the story, from the commercial airlines' point of view. Gradually, the army has been taking over the commercial airlines' equipment and personnel, throwing on them a load of responsibility for developing aerial transportation which has some of the most advanced equipment in the world. This may require the exchange of labor between farmers, and we urge that they cooperate among themselves, with the workers, and with us to make this plan operate.

"The same things applies to farm machinery. No piece of farm machinery—including trucks—should be allowed to remain idle on one farm when there is a job to be done on another. We will be glad to help farmers get together in pooling their equipment to get this job done."
The USES-War board setup is familiar with crop and labor conditions throughout the county and is anxious to advise any farmer needing help now or in the future. The joint plan of these agencies has tried to take into consideration every eventually in connection with the labor situation, and those behind the plan believes that the farm labor problem in the county can be solved if everyone cooperates.
Farmers and workers should recognize the possible necessity for members of farm families, including older children, to work on other farms during slack periods at home; and townspeople and other citizens with no experience in farm work may be called on to aid in getting wartime crops harvested.
Mr. Hood asks that farmers having discuss them with him at his office, 206 N. Russell.

Clark Gable Will Enlist As Private
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (AP)—Clark Gable, who needs no other introduction, was due to enlist in the U. S. army today—as a buck private.
The place: Somewhere in this immediate vicinity. The time: 11 a. m. Central War time. The reason: "He doesn't want to sell bonds or pour pink tea. He wants to be a regular soldier."
This came from an army recruiting officer, who said he preferred to remain unidentified.
Gable, himself, elected to remain out of sight and out of touch with even his intimates in the movie capital.
The recruiting officer explained this. He recalled the time when another screen idol, Jimmy Stewart, enlisted several months ago.
"We darned near had to put an armed guard around Jimmy. We don't want a thousand women cutting buttons or hair off Gable," said the officer.
Gable, 41, it was said, will enlist in the army air forces.
"He wants to be an aerial gunner," said the officer. "He told me he doesn't care what type of plane he's in, or what gunner's spot he draws."
Gable is a crack shot.

Grid Squads On Pacific Coast Limited To 28

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Pacific Coast conference universities, if they follow the advice of their graduate managers, will limit their 1942 football playing squads to 28 in any one game, unless the contests are between schools less than 50 miles apart.
The managers, meeting here yesterday, reached the proposed limit of 28 through a survey held by each of the 10 member universities.
It showed that while some larger schools have carried as many as 45 players in their travels, the average to play in a game was between 25 and 30 players.

In other moves designed to meet wartime conditions, the managers recommended to faculty athletic representatives that no limits be placed on football scouting, that a uniform date for opening the football season for next year be set, and that each school play one game in which the net proceeds would go to the army and navy relief fund.

U. S. Employment Service Helps In 'Food For Victory'

The cooperation of all farmers and farm workers in making the greatest possible use of their time, skill, and equipment to produce this year's great "Food for Victory" crops was urged today by Lonnie Hood, local United States Employment Service manager. Cooperation, he said, is the keynote of the government's program to assist in getting in the exceptionally large crops despite the reduced supply of experienced farm labor.
Mr. Hood pointed out that the employment service and the Gray County War board have laid careful plans, which dovetail with similar plans in other counties in an effort to assure that adequate labor will be available when and where needed. Since the farm labor supply in many counties has been greatly reduced, as in the case of Gray county, the probability of obtaining outside help is considerably lessened; and USES-War board plans are based upon the knowledge that full use must be made of the labor to be found in this county.
"In order to make the most of what we have," he said, "we will need the cooperation of every person who wants to do farm work. By moving from farm to farm as the work requires, it will be assured that they are occupied on every working day. This may require the exchange of labor between farmers, and we urge that they cooperate among themselves, with the workers, and with us to make this plan operate."
"The same things applies to farm machinery. No piece of farm machinery—including trucks—should be allowed to remain idle on one farm when there is a job to be done on another. We will be glad to help farmers get together in pooling their equipment to get this job done."
The USES-War board setup is familiar with crop and labor conditions throughout the county and is anxious to advise any farmer needing help now or in the future. Berry Turns In No-Hit, No-Run Game For Tulsa

(By The Associated Press)

The disintegration of the Dallas Rebels, whose losing streak now extends to 21 consecutive games, shares interest in the Texas league with the no-hit, no-run performance turned in last night by Jittery Joe Berry of the Tulsa Indians.
The Rebels, reduced to 13 players with the loss of two men to the armed forces and another sold yesterday, were not in the best fettle to go up against the hungry Cats at Fort Worth. The Cats took the first game 1-0, despite a total of only three hits allowed by Johnny McFarland and Eddie Marlean of Dallas, and won the nightcap 3-0.
Berry no-hitter enabled the Oilers to turn back their unmanly neighbors, the Oklahoma City Indians, 1-0, at Tulsa. It was Jittery Joe's 16th triumph of the season. The night before Oklahoma City had won a surprising double victory over the Oilers.
Beaumont trounced the visiting Houston Buffs, 5-4, taking three out of the four-game series. Wessing's lucky triple was the blow that made the difference.
The San Antonio at Shreveport game was called in the tenth with the score 6-1 to permit the Missions to catch a train.

McCarthy and W. O. V. will play tonight at Magnolia park.
The Jewelers have won 19 and lost only three games to pack 21 and 3 1/2 games ahead of Mack & Paul Barbers, who hold the second rung in the league standings.

Trotting Horse Has His Day At Goshen

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—This historic village, steeped in the lore of the trotting horse, enjoys its annual day in the sports sun with 11 three-year-olds tangling in the 17th Hambletonian.
Possibility of a decided drop in attendance because of the war took some of the color away from the event, which in other years has attracted crowds variously estimated from 20,000 to 40,000, but it took none away from the buggy whip derby itself.
Despite the presence of Colby Hanover, 1941 two-year-old champ and holder of a 2:03 mark this season, ten other owners yesterday paid the $500 entry fee for a crack at the $38,954.38 purse. To the winner of two-out-of-three one-mile heats, the first scheduled for 2 p. m., (CWT), will go $20,489.91.

Detroit Losing Half Million Dollars In Players To Service

DETROIT, Aug. 12 (AP)—Followers of the Detroit Tigers reckoned today the club is yielding upwards of half a million dollars in ball playing talent to the military forces.
Catcher George Birdie Tebbetts will be inducted into the army soon, becoming the seventh Tiger to pull on one of Uncle Sam's fighting man's uniforms.
Preceding Tebbetts were Outfielder Hank Greenberg, for whom Detroit could have asked $150,000 from any other ball team; Pitcher Freddie Hutchinson, for whom the Tigers paid $70,000; Infielder Billy Hitchcock, who cost $50,000; Pat Mullin, your outfield sensation of 1941, and Pitchers Bob Uhle and Les Mueller.
Harvey Riebe, a catcher purchased from the Beaumont farm in the Texas league, was ordered to report to the Tigers in Cleveland today.
Johnny Lipon, shortstop from Beaumont, has orders to report to the Tigers here Friday.

When Dr. Harold Flickinger, a Siloam Springs, Ark., dentist, was going muskie fishing at the Lake of the Woods, he remembered stories he had heard about anglers whose crockery molars had popped out and have been engulfed in voracious fish.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Stock prices made an indecisive effort at recovery in today's late market dealings after an early session in which the market advanced a little higher than a precarious balance over minus signs.

Warner Bros., low-priced amusement issue, took the late play to move in large blocks at a fraction better than the best previous for the year.

It displaced Chrysler in the spotlight. The former opened on a block of 1,000 shares, and later slipped more than two points on yesterday's dividend cut; there was some come-back later.

Ahead most of the time, though there were plenty of swings from loss to gain and back, were such issues as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, International Harvester, Procter & Gamble, Douglas, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Eastman, Consolidated Oil and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Profit-taking from time to time set back Eastern Airlines and American. Others included in dip included Santa Fe, Caterpillar, American Telephone, and Kennecott. Homestake slipped more than a point on fair turnover.

SERIAL STORY LUCKY PENNY

By GLORIA KAYE

THE STORY: Wealthy Penny Kirk has returned from Paris to Kirktown to learn something about the great steel mills she owns and the people who work in them. She gets a job as waitress, under the name of Penny Kellogg. A fight breaks out in the restaurant between a workman and the Castro, a gang of gamblers who prey on the millworkers. Later she meets Jim Vickers, local newspaper editor, whom she falls in love with, who doesn't recognize her on a ride he tells her the story of his life.

TROUBLE'S BREWING

CHAPTER V
JIM studied her upturned, eager face.

"Are you very tired, Penny?"

"Not a bit," said Penny, stretching the truth a little. "Why?"

"I'd like to show you something."

By now they were back in the center of Kirktown, bumping along decrepit Central avenue. Jim steered into one of the side streets, shifted gears and climbed slowly up the hillside.

"All this is terrible," said Jim, waving his hand in the direction of the tumbledown shacks. "No one should have to live like this. It's criminal to herd people into such unhealthy holes."

At the top of the hill he stopped, inviting Penny to join him as he jumped out of the car.

"This street," he said, "is the only decent street in Kirktown. It's high enough so that the air is pure and fresh. In summer, cool breezes make life pleasant up here."

"There's a plateau stretching back beyond the Kirk Memorial Building that's big enough to build at least 500 homes, enough to house everyone who lives in Kirktown now. There's a lot more room for expansion, too. I would tear down every one of the shacks along the lower hill. Make all that land a beautiful park, with a boulevard winding down through it to the edge of the mill."

He was studying Penny's reaction. He was flushed with the excitement of his idea.

"A model town," would pay for itself," he said. "I know it sounds revolutionary. The councilmen and the mayor and the few businessmen with sense in this town think it's impossible. They laugh at me."

"Wonderful!" enthused Penny. "Some day, Penny, I'll show them. I have an idea." He paused, searching for words.

"Do you see that house hidden up there in the trees?" Penny followed the direction of his finger, pointed at her home, the Kirk estate.

"That's where John Kirk lived,"

she heard him say. "I have a hunch Penelope Kirk will come back there, eventually. Then I'll get my chance to tell her a few things. I'm going to tell her, Penny. Even if I have to go back to Europe and kidnap her."

She started to say, "I'll help you, Jim." Then she clamped her hand over her mouth as if to hold the words in. He studied her, curiously.

HE was so full of his crusade for a better Kirktown that he didn't notice Penny's embarrassment.

"Nothing much," Bud answered. "It's always the same."

"Do you like working at the mills?" Penny questioned.

"Do I?" The Kirk mills are tops for my money," he said proudly. "Did you know that we made some of the steel for the Grand Coulee Dam? And some of Dad's steel was used in the Panama Canal."

Bud hesitated a moment, debating his next words. "Dad says things aren't the same at the mills now. Not like they were when John Kirk was running things. Old John was a wonderful fellow. He knew every man by his first name. He often brought his dinner pail along, and had lunch with the men."

"By today's standards," Bud reflected, "John Kirk would be considered a slave driver. He wasn't, though. He worked as hard as the rest of the men. They liked him and they respected him. And John Kirk always took care of his men. He had a reputation for paying better wages than any of the big mills, and for taking an interest in the fellows that worked for him."

"You certainly make the good old days sound swell," said Penny. "Old John Kirk doesn't seem so much like an ogre from your description."

"He was a great guy," said Bud. "Ask any of the old-timers. They'll tell you. The mills could use someone like John Kirk now. He understood men as well as steel. The gang that's there now understands steel only. Morale isn't the same. John Kirk knew how to get his men to work for him until they couldn't lift their hands. That was the secret of his success."

Midge was back now, glowingly happy as she always was when Jim Vickers' help—to execute it. "Trouble at the Kirk mills meant trouble for Penny. She wanted to strike at its source. (To Be Continued)

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12-Movie-town newswear: The celebratory Door Canteen in Manhattan, where stars in all branches of show business entertain men in uniform-and only men in uniform-will have a couplet here. Bette Davis and John Garfield are the organizers. All American movies have been ordered out of unoccupied France and Vichy colonies by year's end, when A. Hitler, with his "new order" films, takes over the exclusive franchise in some 4,000 theaters. . . . More actual battle scenes are promised for newsreels. HOLLYWOOD HOT SHOT

Screen queen yawningly remarked to a friend that she had become just too, too, unappealingly bored with marriage. "Well, why don't you get a divorce?" asked the pal.

"Oh, I don't," she said, "I'm bored with that, too."

For the first time since the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers team broke up, and she went into stardom in dramatic roles, she'll dance again in a picture, and with a new partner. He's Don Lopez, to be imported from a New York night spot. Picture is Paramount's version of the Moss Hart musical, "Lady in the Dark." The Aldous Huxley script of "Mme. Curie," originally prepared for Greta Garbo, is being offered to Katie Hepburn. Miss Garbo, now technically a freelance since her M-G-M contract expired, is getting offers from all over town but probably will remain at her old studio for "The Paradine Case."

Head of the location company of Columbia's "Commandos Come at Dawn" wired a Los Angeles arms company for 20,000 rounds of blank ammunition. The acknowledged read: "Sending 8,000 rounds. For rest, get actors to yell 'Bang-Bang!'"

BAXTER'S BACK

Mickey Rooney and his wife, Ava Gardner, seem to be due for a heart to heart talk with Judge Hardy. . . . Warner Baxter out of a year's retirement to star in "Crime Doctor."

Bob Hope is sensitive so questions about his large income, and was appreciative when a fan asked, "You make a lot of money, don't you, Mr. Hope?" The actor said yes, he was doing pretty well, and the fan continued: "Then why don't you get a haircut?"

Metro was worried about the antics of Lana Turner and her urging for band leaders so there was a concerted sigh of relief when she married Businessman Steve Crane. As soon as she returned from her honeymoon the studio hired six big-name orchestras.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

SKILLED workers have "know-how". So have the makers of Coca-Cola. That's why Coca-Cola has that extra something. Almost anybody can make a soft drink, but nobody else can make Coca-Cola.

There's a finished art in its making which gives Coca-Cola a special quality... its unique taste comes from a blend of pure, wholesome essences,—refreshment that can't be copied.

No other drink gives this special plus... this unique taste and after-sense of refreshment. People have come to realize that nothing takes the place of Coca-Cola. To want refreshment is to think of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

War-time limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, is the first to go. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola will not be changed in any respect.

Long, hard-working hours tire you out,—slow up production. You need a brief respite. So, when the schedule calls for time-out for a "breather", a moment for ice-cold, energy-giving Coca-Cola leads to better work.

The best is always the better buy!
