

Nazis Massing Huge Numbers Of Troops For Assault On Stalingrad

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were reported massing huge numbers of troops for an assault on the Volga steel city of Stalingrad today and at the same time the German high command said other Nazi columns had captured Eltsa in a thrust more than half way across the Caucasus toward the Caspian sea.

Elista, the capital of the Soviet Kalmuch republic, lies 230 miles southeast of Rostov and only 175 miles from the vitally important city of Astrakhan at the Volga delta.

The loss of Astrakhan would be a serious blow to Russia's river-borne line of war supplies.

As the global war exploded to peak fury on land, at sea and in the air, United States headquarters in Europe announced that during the past 48 hours U. S. army fighter planes had entered the struggle on a large scale for the first time.

A communique said American fliers had made 31 sorties from 9 a. m. Tuesday until 9 a. m. today, including three sweeps over the Nazi-occupied French "invasion" coast, 29 missions at sea and eight interception flights off the coast of England.

No losses were mentioned. Simultaneously, the Italian headquarters reported that Axis planes and submarines still attacking a powerful British convoy in a three-day-old battle in the western Mediterranean had inflicted "heavy losses... above all to aircraft carriers."

The Italian command said the convoy was escorted by "an imposing number of warships, among which were numerous aircraft carriers."

A British admiralty announcement yesterday conceded the loss of the aircraft carrier Eagle.

Vital Information

Compliance with all applicable price regulations is required by licenses granted by OPA to wholesalers and retailers selling commodities or services for which OPA has established ceilings. Price Administrator Henderson emphasizes.

Production of mattresses must stop on September 1, and of studio couches, sofa beds, and lounges on November 1, if such products contain iron and steel, under terms of an order issued by Director General for Operations Amory Houghton.

In order to aid a government war program calling for the purchase of an estimated 10,000,000 pounds of manila rope and cable held by approximately 6,000 wholesalers and 44,000 retailers throughout the country, OPA has exempted specified government transactions in manila cordage from the provisions of GMPR.

All sales of fat-bearing and oil-bearing animal waste materials, with two exceptions, now will be covered by GMPR. Price Administrator Henderson has ruled.

Merchants and others selling beverages in paper cups or paper containers have been warned by OPA to discontinue the recent practice of charging consumers a separate price for these items if no charge was made for them during March.

Celling price of 4 cents a pound on the waste kitchen fats now being sold by housewives to retail meat dealers in the fat salvage program was established today by OPA.

Development of standards which will save materials, make fuller use of the nation's production facilities, and make price control more effective by pegging price to quality will be spurred by a new contract between the government and the American Standards Association.

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 13 (AP)—Firmly entrenched at three points in the Solomon islands, United States marines battled to expand their positions today with the immediate backing of Allied sea forces and long-range air assaults on Japanese communications and reinforcement bases.

A spokesman here, asked for comment, said only that he never knew of such troops being landed from ship-based aircraft before.

The U. S. navy's communique said the marines landed as scheduled on three islands, whose names it did not disclose, in the Tulagi area.

Scribes Now Fighting But Also Writing

By KENNETH L. DIXON
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Remember that reporter who razzed the rest of the game as he shook hands all around and said he was going to do some fighting—and let the others do the writing?
 Well, he's doing both now.
 He's editor of the Jungle Cat, and the Horned Toad, and the Rip Cord and the Kodiak Bear, and—well, about 500 or so of the biggest chain of newspapers in the world.
 The publisher is Uncle Sam, who found out that you can take a newspaperman out of the newspaper, but you can't take the newspaper out of the man.
 As a result, it was disclosed today, the army has recognized the value of the hundreds of newspapers which have sprung up around the posts as quickly as an erstwhile scribe could find himself a typewriter and a printing machine.
 The journalistic boom is on—with the army's blessing—and the officers say it has become one of the best morale builders among the field forces.
 The old Stars and Stripes, top overseas sheet of World War I, has been revived in London, and its counterparts have burgeoned from Iceland to Australia.
 The Yank—only official newspaper for the entire army—supplies news and feature service stuff from its New York staff.
 Otherwise, the editors print the latest jokes about top dicks, recent developments in the second lieutenant's love affairs, and other stories guaranteed to have sent their city editors into frothing frenzies.
 The papers flourish even on the fighting fronts, although making deliveries sometimes becomes a problem, and as a circulation area, no-man's land is—well, no-man's land.
 But on the other hand, there's practically no competition.

69-Year-Old Wins Rich Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—The boys around the barns were saying that Ben White was too old to compete against 40- and 50-year-old "youngsters," that Bill Strang's luck was all bad when it came to winning the Hambletonian.
 But Trainer-Driver White and Owner Strang, partners for some 15 years, showed them yesterday when the Ambassador won the rich trotting horse stake at Good Time park—the third time White has turned the trick and No. 1 for Strang.
 "Maybe I'm too old," said the 69-year-old White, after the Ambassador had won the purse of $20,489.91, "but I had a right smart horse in front of me and that can make up for a lot of years."

Missourians Really Have To Be Shooled

AUSTIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—State Highway Patrolmen Chilcote and McMains stopped a Missouri driver who was zig-zagging over the broken center stripes on a highway near Marshall.
 They asked the motorist if he knew the meaning of the dash stripes (a warning not to pass cars moving in the same direction because of limited visibility).
 "I don't know what they mean in Texas, but in Missouri it would be a bad paint job," was the reply.

Manufacturers Want Sales Tax

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—An 8 per cent sales tax to supplement heavy corporate and individual income tax levies for war purpose was proposed today by J. Cheever Cowdin, spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.
 The NAM program called for $37,200,000,000 in revenue in 1943, a sharp increase over pending measures, on top of which was suggested consideration of compulsory individual savings.
 While urging a sales tax as had the U. S. chamber of commerce, the NAM said a 5 per cent without sharp increase over pending measures, such as the chamber also proposed, was "unpractical and indefensible."
 Cowdin, in recommendations prepared for the senate finance committee, called the revenue bill pending before it "one of the most important single measures ever to come before congress" and added: "A bad tax bill can lose the war."
 Through Cowdin, the NAM surveyed 3,000 businesses and industrial units and estimated corporate tax net about $18,000,000,000 this year.
 It proposed the treasury take $11,900,000,000 in taxes and leave approximately $6,000,000,000—or 27 per cent—estimated gross receipts—for dividends, reserves and additional working capital. He estimated that on the same basis corporations would pay $13,500,000,000 in 1943.
 Such a total, he asserted, was far beyond the corporate payments anyone in government has so far estimated or asked for.
 To make up the $37,200,000,000 total in 1943, the NAM would slash $2,000,000,000 from non-war expenditures, collect $5,200,000,000 by the sales levy, $9,000,000,000 in individual income taxes at rates lower than those now pending, and obtain $7,500,000,000 from excise, employment, customs and miscellaneous taxes not covered in its recommendation.
 "About all the ingredients of a runaway inflation are with us now," Cowdin declared, "and we can no longer afford to hide our heads in the sand. We must take drastic action."
 "A sales tax will be one step in that direction, and we urge consideration of compulsory savings as an additional step."

Bombs Again Rain On City Of Mainz

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Powerful British air squadrons rained high explosives and incendiaries on Mainz again during the night as Nazi raiders ended London's long freedom from attack by bombing the outskirts of the capital.
 The attack on Mainz—the second successive night assault on that German industrial center—was accompanied by raids on Nazi airbases in the low countries, the air ministry said.
 Five RAF planes were lost in the overnight operations.
 The pre-dawn raid on the greater London area was the first since nuisance raiders unloaded a few bombs before daylight on July 30 and some buildings were wrecked.
 By mid-morning authorities said all persons trapped in the debris had been removed. Casualties were reported as seven killed and at least three injured.
 DNB said fires were rekindled in Mainz by the British raiders and mentioned damage in residential areas of the Rhineland rail-river traffic hub and industrial center which was battered with tons of high explosives and incendiaries the night before.

Wheat Hoard Piling Higher

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
 CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Uncle Sam's hoard of wheat, piled up for the day when a world clamoring for bread can be satisfied in peace is swelling by millions of bushels weekly as fast as farmers can find suitable storage space, grain trade statisticians showed today.
 Farmers are putting up their grain as collateral for government loans even though market prices are the highest for August since 1929. Lending operations are running far ahead of last season, when a total of 278,000 bushels was stored. Up to Aug. 1, loans had been granted on 31,000,000 bushels compared with less than 4,000,000 at that date a year ago, and lending was averaging 12,000,000 bushels weekly.
 The government's lending is not to accumulate more wheat, because Uncle Sam already owns more grain than at any time since the ever-normal granary program came into being several years ago, the total being near 300,000,000 bushels grown in 1939, 1940 and 1941. Rather, loans are offered to prevent farmers from dumping the new crop on the market.
 Market experts predicted that if the premium producers can obtain by using grain as collateral is not diminished through price rises to or above loan rates, the next few months, possibly more wheat will be stored this season than last. In this event, the total in the ever-normal granary may be near 700,000,000 bushels. However, this would be less than half of the record supply available for the 1942-43 season estimated in excess of 1,500,000,000 bushels.
 Thus, there would be left more than 800,000,000 bushels "free" whereas normal annual requirements for domestic use are less than 700,000,000 bushels, excluding exports, which will be small this season unless the war situation changes. More wheat may be fed to livestock than usual.

Jap Hold On Tulagi Believed Broken

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Japanese hold on the Tulagi area in the Solomons is believed to have been broken by American marines who have been strongly reinforced, Hayden Leonard of the Australian Broadcasting commission reported today. His analysis of the situation was heard here by CBS.
 Leonard was quoted as saying it was believed "the Japanese have been driven from many of their defensive positions after fierce hand-to-hand fighting."

U. S. Following 'Hands Off' Policy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The United States is following a "hands off" policy in the Indian crisis, and American military forces in India have been ordered to avoid even the appearance of participating in the internal strife touched off there by Mohandas K. Gandhi's "freedom now" campaign.
 This was made clear in a statement of policy incorporated in orders to the American forces in India and made public by the state department last night.
 The statement emphasized that the sole purpose of American forces in India is to carry on the war against the Axis.

BLOOD 'N GUTS

The Green Hornet was Gen. Pershing's aide on the punitive expedition to Mexico, a job he supposedly acquired by loudly cataloging his own experience to Pershing.

The late Gen. Hugh Johnson told a story of his first meeting with Patton, which occurred shortly after Johnson joined the expedition.

Patton was reloading his smoking guns when Cervantes, the last survivor, opened fire.

It seems Patton took a handful of men and made an unexpected raid on Condealora Cervantes, one of Pancho Villa's chief lieutenants.

Patton, screaming over the desert in an auto, cornered Senor Cervantes and his marauders in a big adobe cañuel.

HE FAVORS WESTERN SIX-SHOOTERS

Patton always wore two big 45-calibre revolvers—he wouldn't use an automatic. It was unfortunate for Cervantes that somebody hadn't told him about Patton's prowess with the guns.

Patton was reloading his smoking guns when Cervantes, the last survivor, opened fire.

A fetish with the doughy general was physical perfection. He had the idea that a cavalryman should be more thoroughly trained than a professional athlete.

Patton got hemstitched across the belly by a machine-gun.

Old Blood-and-Guts has a raft of critics in the war department.

UNCLE SAM WOULDN'T PAY HIS EXPENSES TO THE 1912 OLYMPICS

Patton, the early edition of the modern commando, invented and talked the army into adopting a new cavalry saber.

Patton today is a holy terror, even as of yore. He roars around in his tank when most generals would use a staff car.

Gen. Patton yelled "Charge!" at St. Mihiel, and went for the Hun, teeth bared and profanity crackling.

I. W. Spangler Funeral Held At Church Today

Funeral services for Ira Walter Spangler, 41, Pampa teaming and trucking contractor, who died early yesterday afternoon when his sedan crashed into a bank after hurdling a bar ditch on a country road southwest of Pampa, were held at 2:30 this afternoon at the First Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor. Burial will occur at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Memorial Park cemetery in Oklahoma City.

Mr. Spangler was born September 23, 1900 and had resided in Pampa for 16 years, a period covered by the oil boom. He started as a teaming contractor, later branching into trucking, and was well-known to oil men of this section.

His death yesterday afternoon was attributed by a physician as likely due to a heart attack, suffered when the sedan he was driving failed to make a turn while traveling at a high rate of speed.

Survivors are the widow and one daughter, Mrs. Buri Brooks, both of Pampa; two brothers, I. M. Oklahoma City, and Roy V. Long Beach, Calif.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Spangler, Red Oak, Okla.

Funeral services for the services here were W. A. Rankin, H. B. Grist, Hugh V. Anderson, J. P. Mead, J. C. McWilliams, and C. F. (Jack) Walton.

Arrangements were by Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Attendance at the luncheon was 40. Visiting Rotarians were L. M. Frye, Monongahela, Pa.; O. K. Lewis, Amarillo; Bill Braymer, Stamford; C. H. Everett, Ardmore, Okla. Guests were Tom Miller, Oklahoma City, of Reinhart and Johnson, one of the contractors on the bomber school here, and J. C. Richey of Pampa.

NAVAL CRAFT

shipping at Rabaul after concentrating their previous raids this week on the big Japanese airdrome there which undoubtedly had been sending air aid to the Solomons.

Reconnaissance before today's raid showed a spurt in shipping activity in and about Rabaul, which is some 700 miles northwest of Tulagi, a headquarters spokesman said.

Some 2,000 miles west of the Solomons Allied airmen attacked Japanese shipping and base installations in the Dutch-Timor-Banda sea area with undetermined results.

The U. S. navy communique on the Solomon action said there was substantial evidence that the Japanese since invading the island in January had a base well under way in the Tulagi area.

This presumably was at Tulagi harbor, potentially one of the finest naval base sites in the southwestern Pacific.

With the hurricane-free, 100-foot deep harbor in Allied hands, it could play a big part in the newly generated offensive to throw the Japanese out of the southwest Pacific islands.

In the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea, where quiet prevailed today, it was disclosed that American Albatrosses were used as dive-bombers for the first time in the southwest Pacific last Sunday during a big-scale Allied raid on Japanese positions at Kokoda, 60 miles across the Owen Stanley range from Allied-held Port Moresby.

Operations against the Japanese in the Kokoda area began Friday, the same day that American forces challenged the invaders in the Solomons. In the opening skirmish eight Japanese were killed and 15 wounded, and one Australian was wounded.

On Sunday, the Australians made thrusts with three groups of their skirmishers and at least 35 Japanese were killed, many were wounded and many war trophies seized.

of the Tulagi sector in the southeastern Solomons, where the navy said U. S. marines were battling to expand their gains on three islands in the Tugali vicinity—presumably Florida, Guadalcanal and Malaita.

Other far Pacific developments: India—Renewed rioting and clashes with police flared in Mohandas K. Gandhi's six-day-old campaign against British rule in India today, but there were indications that the mass civil disobedience movement was slowly fizzling out.

Dispatches from Bombay, the center of disorder, said the outbreaks there were fewer and smaller.

While India smoldered, a Chinese army spokesman reported that Japanese transports carrying more than 20,000 troops were sighted in the Gulf of Tonkin, possibly bound for new offensives in Southern Asia—perhaps toward Burma and the Indian frontier.

China war front—U. S. army bombers hit the Japanese-held town of Yoyang (Yochow) in northeast Hunan province, American headquarters announced, carrying out a "highly successful" raid without loss to themselves.

On the land front, the Chinese reported that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies had withdrawn from Hwanzu, which they recaptured a week ago, but were still pressing their assault on 20,000 Japanese troops massed in Linchwan (Fuchow), 12 miles to the north, in central Kiangsi province.

had more than a year and a half to operate in this country, since the letter was written, the committee was reported to have taken the position that all persons identified with Nazi movements in America should be under constant surveillance.

Along with the letter, it was learned, the committee will send to the White House a list of names of approximately 17,000 persons whose past activities indicated Nazi sympathies.

Close to 3,000 of the names are of persons the committee claims contributed to the "Kyffhauserbund," and several thousand others were identified as being associated with the "American-German Volksbund," which Kappe's letter described as "by far the most active and most indoctrinated combat group in American-Germanism x x x."

How the letter came into the committee's possession was not disclosed. It was written in German, dated at Stuttgart, Germany, January, 1941, and bore an admonition that those who received it were to keep it confidential. It was numbered one of what presumably was a series of instructions sent out by Kappe from the House of Germanism, Stuttgart.

Home Fires

The Eastern states—the same 17 plus the District of Columbia which have been experimenting with gasoline rationing—are looking forward to a cold winter.

Just as it has been found impossible to supply their motorists with automobile fuel, because of transportation difficulties, so it is going to be impossible to provide sufficient fuel for their oil burners.

There is no "wolf, wolf" in the warnings that are being broadcast. If there were, the nation's largest petroleum company would not have substituted coal equipment in place of oil burning.

Unfortunately, changes have been coming thick and fast, interspersed with just enough false alarms so that the Eastern public is a bit apathetic. There is a general and dangerous tendency for the home owner to let the matter of next winter's fuel drift, in hope that, rather than see the public suffer, government will find some rabbit to pull out of the hat.

During January and February, in the Eastern area, ordinarily 1,130,000 barrels a day of fuel oil are burned. The best that is forecast for the coming winter is 791,000 barrels a day. Obviously this leaves a shortage of about 340,000 barrels a day, or approximately one-third of the normal usage.

But that is not a true measure of the seriousness of the situation so far as householders are concerned. Much fuel oil is used industrially. So the reduction to householders may exceed one-third of what they have been using.

This has been reiterated time after time, and still householders neglect to do anything in preparation. Some 400,000 of them have furnaces originally built for coal but converted to oil. About all these would need to do is have the oil burners removed and grates installed.

The government is going out of its way to permit the manufacture of grates for this purpose, from metal needed elsewhere. The Federal Reserve board has made an exception liberalizing credit restrictions, to help householders finance the conversion from oil to coal and also to cover the cost of weather-stripping, insulation and other fuel-saving devices.

That, probably, is about all the government can do. Uncle Sam can hardly be expected to provide the conversion free, or to send his workmen to do the job.

Save Tin Cans

The tin can salvage program, originally confined to 36 metropolitan areas, is being extended to another 104 cities because the necessary detinning plant capacity now is available.

The program has received excellent support from the communities already covered. Their residents have realized that, in addition to the valuable tin recovered in the process, "tin" cans produce thousands of tons of scrap steel to boost the output of our overburdened steel plants.

During the current six calendar months the salvage division needs 17,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel. Much of this will come from the larger sources. But every householder in the 140 can salvage areas can contribute toward victory if he will save all tin cans, remove wrappings, cut off heads and bottoms, flatten them out, and turn them over to whatever collection agency his community may provide.

Our readers were informed by Washington correspondent of the Post, that the sinkings of American and British ships by Nazi submarines have become the grim menace of the war.

All who are in a position to know the facts, military and naval men, production chiefs, agents, so the dispatch read, that it is "the most serious single phase of the war, more serious even than the continuing Russian losses, if only because it is directly related to the effort to relieve Russia either by a second front or with greatly increased supplies."

Altho it is admitted that the ship toll has now exceeded 400, the full extent of the losses is "a carefully guarded secret." For a year there has been no public announcements from London of sea losses on the British side of the Atlantic. For all the people of the United States know the sinking may be twice 400 or even worse.

What is to be said in favor of a censorship policy which hides these vital facts from the American and British peoples? If it is a people's war which the people must fight, then they are entitled to know the bad news along with the good. Moreover, the people need the truth about sinkings in order to measure up to the needs of the war. Since the German naval command knows the essential facts about allied shipping losses, release of the facts to the united peoples can hardly be said to run the risk of aiding the enemy.

Failure to tell the facts about these losses has prevented a full realization of the need for new transport devices in order to open a second front. A new front to relieve Russia is a crying need of our war and yet the problem of transportation of men and supplies obviously comes first. If the cargo plane is the solution, the facts about shipping losses will speed its production and use.

The American people are not children. They can and should have all the facts about the war which will not give the enemy vital information he does not have.

MOST IMPORTANT NEW WAR STRATEGY BOOK

I have just been reading a most thought-provoking new war book. It makes one shudder as to the consequences of this war. The name of the book is "The Coming Battle of Germany" by William B. Ziff, editor of Flying Magazine. It was published July 17, 1942.

From the book, one is compelled to conclude that Mr. Ziff is a war strategist and certainly a student of war history.

Edson Blair, in a recent issue of Barron's Weekly, said "Without question, Ziff has written the most timely and thought-provoking book in 1942." It might be called a companion book to Major Alexander P. de Seversky's book, "Victory Through Air Power". Both Ziff and Seversky believe the war will be won by air power rather than by a large army and a large fleet. I know of no two recent books that are more important for our people to read than "Victory Through Air Power" and "The Coming Battle of Germany". Ziff says, "We are rapidly becoming a 'have-not' nation."

He observes that the Germans learned their technique from the great students of war strategy not living in Germany. I quote:

"The Germans, who developed the technique of blitz in association with the master strategy of total war, learned these tactics from five men, none of whom were German and each of whom was a prophet without honor in his own country. One was Gustave Le Bon, French master of mass psychology whom his own compatriots practically ignored. Others were the great Englishman, J. F. C. Fuller, whom his own contemporaries looked on as a crackpot, and the gaunt Frenchman de Gaulle, both champions of the renovated war of movement. They preached that great concentrations of tanks moving as the spearhead for a limited professional army which followed close behind on wheels, would create such irresistible points of pressure that the existing type of fortified lines would simply fold up under it."

"The other matters of the staff of brilliant thinkers were the Italian, General Douhet, and the American, General Mitchell, who claimed that the decisive factor in modern war would be the tremendous striking power of the airplane. Mitchell's freely-spoken contempt for those who rejected his views afterwards proven correct, caused him to be court-martialed, while Douhet actually spent a short period in jail."

I remember the late Everett Dean Martin personally telling me that it was Le Bon's work that inspired him to write his books on Liberty. We well know that Mitchell's predictions have been coming to pass rapidly during the last year.

Here are a few of the statements made by Ziff:

"Aircraft cannon already enable planes to cope with light tanks and soon may be expected to carry heavy enough guns to make tanks of every type as vulnerable as so many cheese boxes." "One may claim that England has an army worthy of comparison in the same in the combined air corps she has never away from Pampa but three days in the summer time. He says that once he gets back here he will never leave."

My decision to join the navy was not a jumped up affair, and I did not do it on the spur of the moment or as a publicity stunt. One month after Pearl Harbor I made an attempt to get into the press relations division of the navy, the branch for which I considered myself fitted.

That was a month before I registered. But the navy was full up with press relations men and did not need me. So I sat back to wait until it was in the books for me to go. I wanted the finger to pass the air corps. All I have is a month before I registered. The time came two weeks ago when I found out that the county had run out of I-A men and that the board would dig into the 3-A class. Then I knew it was time to go. Both the A.F.L. and the C.I.O. are in the Pontiac affair, which started when A.F.L. teamsters refused to deliver goods to grocery stores in which clerks were members of the C.I.O., or unorganized. The C.I.O. sought to retaliate first by picketing the A.F.L.-operated stores and then extended its picket line to the General Motors plant—which of course is producing munitions—and demanded that the C.I.O. workers in that plant join in a demonstration against the A.F.L.'s boycott.

The United Automobile Workers, C.I.O., refused to go through the picket line and hence the plant had to shut down. Their refusal was upheld by their local leaders. If not ordered.

President C. E. Wilson of General Motors, in telegrams to Washington, described the affair as "more than national disgrace, which is a mild way of putting it. In fact, as Wilson also said, it approaches treason. Apparently the local authorities are unable, or unwilling, to deal with it effectively; and that, too, it may be said, approaches a national disgrace."

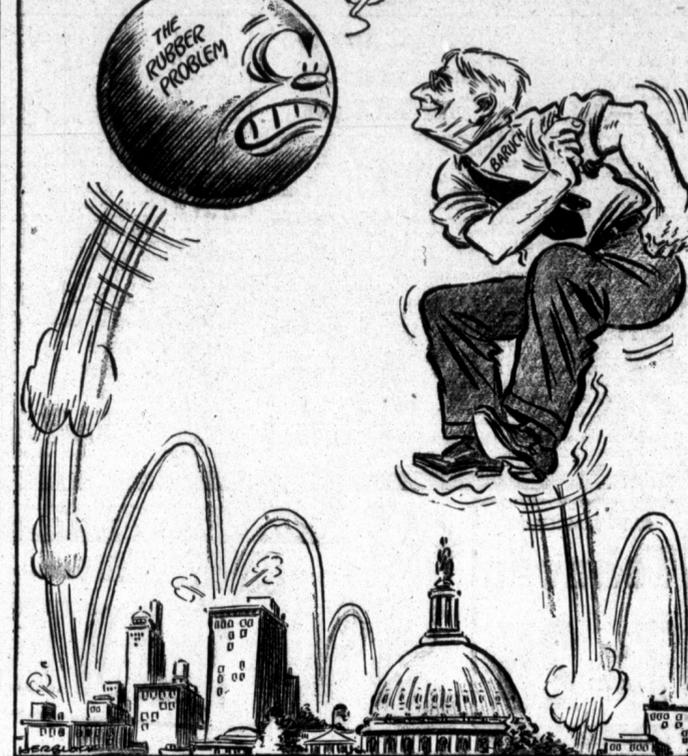

If Washington does not take these union leaders and crack their heads together, public confidence in the ability of this administration to handle the war will be seriously damaged if not destroyed. Such an example should be made in Pontiac that a disgraceful situation like this can never arise again while the war lasts.

The failure of Congress to pass effective anti-strike legislation last winter, when public opinion demanded it, is at least partly to blame. For that the administration is responsible. Pontiac is not an isolated instance; there have been strikes and work stoppages and slowdowns all over the country. But in itself it furnishes abundant proof that neither the A.F.L. nor the C.I.O. has sufficient disciplinary control of subordinate unions, what they said when they promised "no strikes."

The Federal government must take such control.

News Behind The News
The National Whirligig

GOATS: The consuming fire that is raging across the prairies to the Volga very likely will envelop the entire North Caucasus in the year's greatest holocaust. The significance of a Nazi victory there has been underestimated by most people because they confidently expect Timoshenko's broken armies to escape into the hills where the reichswehr cannot follow. But New York economists warn that if Marshal Bock does not bag the retreating Russians he will in any event capture enormous booty even though he should fail to reach the oil wells.

The Ukraine collective farms are already lost. Now nearly forty per cent of Russia's corn, twenty-five per cent of winter wheat and seventy per cent of castor beans (or vegetable oils) are probably doomed. The region is the hog, sheep and beef center. These people who have out the butcher because he is short of his fillet mignons will be glad to accept hamburger if this zone should be overwhelmed and we are then obliged to feed the starving Muscovites.

Let those who trust in the Caucasian barriers also beware. When Hitler invaded Czechoslovakia he discovered in the Skoda armament works a new type of drag-climbing tank. His generals experimented with it in Norway and smashed thru British defenses. They placed the weapon in mass production and so had sufficient numbers for scaling the impregnable Balkan peaks. They have assembled even more and better mechanical mountain goats for the ranges between Batum and Baku.

BLOW: Mail from Cairo which has just arrived in New York reveals an angle of the Libyan tragedy which has been kept from the more closely censored cable dispatches. The fall of Tobruk, writes a correspondent, has had a serious effect on the morale of the soldiers. The unexpected disaster has lowered the confidence which the average Tommy had in the army command. The usually taciturn troops are growling about incompetent leadership.

Line officers complained that the initial mistakes were in making the tiny port for so many months and especially in "making such a fuss about the blooming place." Scarcely a week passed without a glowing account being distributed throughout the globe describing the gallant resistance of this tiny collection of mud huts. As the propaganda buildup crescendoed, the staff was compelled to send in supplies and lose valuable shipping in the process.

The world was given the impression that here was another Gibraltar. And yet all the while it was nothing but a house of publicity cards. It collapsed at the first real push. Singapore was overplayed in the same fashion. It was a naval base but never a strong fortress like Verdun or Sevastopol. Word was circulated that it was a great bastion. But when the Japs, who knew the truth, called the bluff, the blow to Allied spirits was staggering.

PROMISES: Recent actions by the administration demonstrate that it is waging this war as if it were an ordinary political campaign. It is copying the technique of the stump with a similarity that would be startling if one did not recall that electioneering is almost the only job that ever occupied most of the top men. An office holder always throws sops to pressure groups. Hence the president assumes that a national leader—even when the U. S. A. is fighting for survival—must toss bones to the various professional blocs to keep them from crybabbling.

Rabbits: Rumors know that they can impress morons and pinkos by castigating businessmen. Therefore, while a company is supplying with synthetics the raw materials which a negligent government failed to gather before the declaration, federal muckrakers hector it with a nonstop smear attack. Even an Armageddon cannot cause postponement of the spoils system. Republicanism—other than a corporal's guard of toddlers—are barred from executive positions although their imperial country needs their brains and services.

A MAN just came in and wanted to know how many war planes Uncle Sam has "across the water." . . . We couldn't tell him because in the first place we don't know and in the second place it's a military secret. . . . Seems as though he had a bet with another man who gave him two-to-one odds that the U. S. didn't have 3,000 planes abroad. . . . Well, if we haven't—we might as well rake our chips out of the game. . . . There is a buzz going around that if a certain city official ever slashes the gate (without a pass) again at a certain government reservation, he is likely to get slapped in the hoose-gow for violating a federal law. . . . And, of course, that goes for anybody.

A wasp played a dirty trick on Frank Foster, the furrier man, and kicked him smack-dab between the eyes. . . . Naval censorship prevents us from printing a wov of a story from a navy man back in town. . . . His yarn stands yearning for an end. . . . Jim Green, The News circulation manager, is feeling mighty good these days. . . . Admirals Fullingim and Flynn are doing a nice bit of recruit promoting for the navy. . . . Admirals Fullingim will be in the navy himself before the week's over.

The steepness of the tax levy against 1942 incomes is one of the greatest riddles confronting businessmen. . . . Overconservative executives are making provisions for a fifty-five per cent excise. Others are anticipating a rate of more than fifty per cent which will lead to wholesale dividend cuts or cancellation of all payments to stockholders, since managements are seriously concerned about future prospects. . . . Before long entire reserves will be exhausted; then no more funds will be available for postbellum conversion to normal construction.

Railroad executives complain that the worst offenders in the transportation tangle to and from the national capital are not citizens and businessmen and politicians, but government officials themselves. After making reservations, they often neglect to notify railroad offices when their plans are canceled. Frequently ticket clerks have no way of knowing up to what hour the Bureau will time whether Mr. Executive actually will use his seat or berth.

THE CHARGE that oil companies have deliberately blocked the production of artificial rubber for mercenary reasons is an example of political buck-passing of the worst type. . . . One of the largest oil companies recently stated categorically that it "supports and will fight for just one program for the production of synthetic rubber. That is, an at-home program of the government to give our nation the most rubber in the shortest time, from any raw material whatsoever, and with the least possible drain on vital construction materials." That is the policy of the industry generally. . . . What has delayed the synthetic rubber program is inexcusable political manhandling. Bureau after bureau has stuck its finger into the pie. . . . The public has been fed one conflicting opinion after another. Only recently has any order come out of the chaos—and only recently has any real start toward solving the problem been made. . . . Whether synthetic rubber can be made from petroleum, grain alcohol or anything else is a chemical problem, not a political problem. The oil industry, like the rest of the country, wants results. Its interest, like the interest of all of us, lies in getting tires in the shortest possible time, irrespective of the process used to manufacture them.

Classification Of 20-Year-Olds At Once Ordered

AUSTIN, Aug. 13 (P)—Immediate classification of selective service registrants who have reached their 20th birthday was ordered today.

Adj. Gen. J. Watt Page, state selective service director, said the classification would affect men who registered last June 30, provided they have become 20.

The June 30 registrations was for those between the ages of 18 and 20, inclusive, and in Texas affected approximately 132,000 men.

General Page added no national lottery was or will be held for the 18-20 year age groups and order numbers have been assigned on the basis of birth dates. (Alphabetically as to registrants born on the same date.)

Registrants who have not reached their 20th birthday will not be mailed questionnaires until they become 20. Then they will be classified in accordance with current regulations and policies for filing calls.

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst

The Germans continue their advance in the Caucasus, spreading both ways among the rugged northern foothills of the towering mountain range which forms a barrier across the great Caucasian isthmus separating the Black and the Caspian seas.

On the coasts at either end of this mighty barricade are comparatively narrow routes which lead down into the Middle East and some of the world's richest oil fields. The Nazi Genzhis Khan is headed for those coastal routes, which may carry him to a great and perhaps decisive victory—if he can travel them. The fighting is fierce and bloody, for the Russians are exacting a terrible price for every foot of ground they surrender.

The picture isn't a cheerful one from our standpoint. Still, while some gloom is bound to creep about the chest of our armor, especially in these muggy August days, we must remember that nothing decisive has happened yet despite Hitler's spectacular victories.

If the Nazi leader had utterly smashed the Russian army—as he has been trying to do—the story would be different. Then something decisive would have happened. But so long as the Red fighting machine continues to function as a unit, the Russians aren't beaten by a long way and Herr Hitler has plenty of trouble on his hands.

Some military observers believe the Nazis have the strength to battle their way down both coastal routes to Batum and Baku, thus acquiring invaluable strategic positions and capturing the oil which they need to enable them to continue the war. That would be a disaster for the Allies.

It must be admitted at once that this is a possibility. There's no use blinking the fact that the situation is serious. Still, there are a good many of us who can't see that such a break-through is inevitable. On the contrary, I believe the Russians have a fair chance of keeping the Huns north of the Caucasian mountain range.

That would leave Hitler in possession of the Northern Caucasus oil fields of Malkop and Grozny, and while these produce only about 15 per cent of Russia's oil and do not provide the supplies he needs, they would be mighty useful. He also would have acquired vast new agricultural regions. Both oil and wheat fields have been destroyed under the Muscovite scorched earth policy, but the damage could be repaired. Russia, of course, would suffer through being deprived of these resources, and having her main connections into the Caucasus severed.

As a matter of fact, the Nazis think perhaps Hitler will halt his drive and consolidate, if and when he has completed his conquest of the Northern Caucasus down to the mountains. The idea is that he would rest there through the winter and strike southward again in the spring.

I hope he does that, because he will have achieved what likely will be an empty victory. That's so because it isn't probable that he can stand another winter without fresh supplies and still emerge in the spring strong enough to fight his way down to the Middle East. By then, mind you, Uncle Sam and John Bull should be ready to do business on a fairly big scale and the Fuehrer will have trouble on his western front.

Some military observers believe the Nazis have the strength to battle their way down both coastal routes to Batum and Baku, thus acquiring invaluable strategic positions and capturing the oil which they need to enable them to continue the war. That would be a disaster for the Allies.

It must be admitted at once that this is a possibility. There's no use blinking the fact that the situation is serious. Still, there are a good many of us who can't see that such a break-through is inevitable. On the contrary, I believe the Russians have a fair chance of keeping the Huns north of the Caucasian mountain range.

That would leave Hitler in possession of the Northern Caucasus oil fields of Malkop and Grozny, and while these produce only about 15 per cent of Russia's oil and do not provide the supplies he needs, they would be mighty useful. He also would have acquired vast new agricultural regions. Both oil and wheat fields have been destroyed under the Muscovite scorched earth policy, but the damage could be repaired. Russia, of course, would suffer through being deprived of these resources, and having her main connections into the Caucasus severed.

As a matter of fact, the Nazis think perhaps Hitler will halt his drive and consolidate, if and when he has completed his conquest of the Northern Caucasus down to the mountains. The idea is that he would rest there through the winter and strike southward again in the spring.

I hope he does that, because he will have achieved what likely will be an empty victory. That's so because it isn't probable that he can stand another winter without fresh supplies and still emerge in the spring strong enough to fight his way down to the Middle East. By then, mind you, Uncle Sam and John Bull should be ready to do business on a fairly big scale and the Fuehrer will have trouble on his western front.

Pilots forced down at sea can press the trigger on an orange canister and release an orange cloud of smoke that will last for an hour or more, gradually increasing in density.

Classification Of 20-Year-Olds At Once Ordered

AUSTIN, Aug. 13 (P)—Immediate classification of selective service registrants who have reached their 20th birthday was ordered today.

Adj. Gen. J. Watt Page, state selective service director, said the classification would affect men who registered last June 30, provided they have become 20.

The June 30 registrations was for those between the ages of 18 and 20, inclusive, and in Texas affected approximately 132,000 men.

General Page added no national lottery was or will be held for the 18-20 year age groups and order numbers have been assigned on the basis of birth dates. (Alphabetically as to registrants born on the same date.)

Registrants who have not reached their 20th birthday will not be mailed questionnaires until they become 20. Then they will be classified in accordance with current regulations and policies for filing calls.

Woman Taxi Driver Has Her Troubles

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 13 (P)—A woman taxi driver answered a male customer's call.

As his destination, the customer met his wife.

Two policemen arrived shortly thereafter to settle the argument. They charged both the husband and wife with disorderly conduct.

The cause of it all? "He didn't have to sit in the front seat with the driver!"

End Urged To Wind Junkets By Officials

By PETER EDSON

Maybe the government should do something about this demand for hot shot public officials to come out into the country and make speeches on matters pertaining to the war. It is nice of the citizenry to want to hear the lowdown about the war effort, straight from some Washington horse's mouth, and it is flattering to the officials to be asked to come and make remarks.

But for a number of reasons, delivery of those inspiring messages interferes with the war.

In the first place, there is a transportation shortage and the railroads and airlines shouldn't be cluttered up by public speakers traveling from and to Washington. Secondly, those officials really don't have time to make those speeches, if they are to do their administrative jobs right. Thirdly, the ghosts who wrote the speeches for the big name officials don't have the time to write good speeches, being too busy writing publicity handouts and answering questions.

To save your ears from the ghostly transportation and the hot shots themselves, therefore, some kind of a national wartime economy campaign should be launched to cut down on the number of interruptions imposed on busy officials.

PRIORITIES PROPOSED

A limitation order might be issued, priorities assigned, and speakers rationed on the basis of say one speech per 10,000 people per six months.

Maybe that is too rich a ration, for after looking over the advance copies of a lot of these speeches, the pattern begins to jell and you get so you know what's coming next. If the country could get along on synthetic speeches for the duration, a conservation program could be put over which should leave everyone reasonably happy and just about as inspired as if they had a shot of the real McCoy.

For all wartime speeches, like all political speeches, seem to run to a formula, and with a simple outline as a guide and a few blank spaces to be filled in with local references there is no reason why an ersatz speech couldn't be delivered just as well by the peanut brittle manufacturer of the D. A. R. or American Legion post, the Civilian Defense council chairman, or the high school professor of elocution. It isn't what a guy says that counts, anyway. It's how it sounds.

As a trial balloon, this is about what you might expect from one of these war economy effusions:

"Gentlemen of the Peanut Brittle Industry: (Substitute glass beads, griddle and bra, horsehoe, grits and grease, or other correct designation to make appropriate salutation.)

"It gives me great pleasure to be here (tonight, this noon) to read this synthetic speech to you on behalf of Co-ordinator (Director, Administrator, Chairman) (fill in correct name of whoever it is from the ABC, DEF or GHI bureau, branch, division or office).

PRAISE PLUS PROBLEMS

"If were here, I am sure he would tell you that (a) Long before Pearl Harbor the peanut brittle industry had lined up for all-out production of peanut brittle to win this war. Or (b) Today the peanut brittle industry faces a crisis.

"I want to remind you that there, remind them of something.

"But my purpose tonight is to tell you about the work of our division (bureau, branch or office) and to show you how we are trying to make your problems our problems and our problems your problems. (Follow here with a long and involved explanation of red tape organization, co-ordination and liaison.)

"I do not need to remind you that this country as a whole faces a crisis. (At this point, discuss the rubber situation, sugar, gas or fuel oil rationing, being sure to mention no fact that is not already known.)

"What this all boils down to is that we are going to have peanut brittle made the American way, or the way Hitler tells us to make it. (Pause for applause.)

"In the words of (insert here a statement from George Washington, Roosevelt or Bartlett's Familiar Quotations. Follow with references to Midway, Coral sea, Bataan, Singapore, our gallant Allies and speculate a little—but not too much—on the second front.)

"We must face this situation squarely. The contribution of labor must not be ignored. The smoke from the factories is the smoke of battle.

"In closing, let me make this final point. I know, and your government in Washington knows, that it can count on this industry never to let our boys get stuck for peanut brittle."

The foregoing is not funny, and it was not consciously intended to

TOJO BELIEVED SHOT, WOUNDED BY KOREAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Kilsoo Haan, Washington representative of the Sino-Korean Peoples League, said today he had received a report from the Orient which he believed to be true that a young Korean patriot had shot and wounded Premier General Tojo of Japan June 17.

Haan said his information, from agents of the Sino-Korean league in Japan, was that Park Soowon, 31, slightly wounded Tojo with his first shot, fired at the entry of the old war ministry brick building in Tokyo at 10:30 at night, but that a second shot missed the premier. After treatment of his wound at a hospital Tojo was allowed to go to his home.

The second shot, Haan said, hit former Premier and former Minister Hirota, who was following behind Tojo.

In the ensuing excitement Japanese gendarmes opened fire, Haan related, and shot Maj. Yuzo Fujita, whom he described as "a well-known Japanese army flier of great fame in Japan." During the melee two Japanese photographers from Nichi Nichi and Hochi were hit and Soowon was mortally wounded.

Hirota and Major Fujita were rushed to hospitals with serious wounds, Haan said he was informed.

Soowon was a member of a Korean terrorist society, Euldan, meaning the members were pledged to give their blood for their country, Haan said, and he was informed that terrorist bands "are now creating terror in Tokyo, Yokohama and Osaka."

JAP TRANSPORTS SIGHTED IN GULF

CHUNGKING, Aug. 13 (AP)—An intelligence report has been received saying that Japanese transports carrying more than 20,000 troops were sighted in the Gulf of Tonkin on Aug. 7.

He said there was no indication, however, where they came from or where they were going.

If the Japanese transports were southbound, as would be reasonable, they might be taking reinforcements into Thailand or Japanese bases in French Indo-China for possible new offensives in Southern Asia, perhaps heading toward Burma and the Indian border.

SERIAL STORY LUCKY PENNY

BY GLORIA KAYE

THE STORY: Wealthy Penny Kirk has returned from Paris to Kirktown to learn something about the great steel mills she owns and the people who work in them. She gets a job as waitress, under the name of Penny Kellogg, fight breaks out between the restaurant owners and the workers. Later she meets Jim Vickers, local newspaper editor who doesn't recognize her. She leaves from Bud Walsh, a steel worker, that the men are dissatisfied with the mill's present management.

A NEW JOB CHAPTER VI

SUMMER nights crowded with pleasant memories warmed Penny's friendship for Jim. She could hardly wait for the end of the day, when Jim would drive up in his nondescript car. They found rutted roads that lead nowhere except to hilltops crowned with the glories of the setting sun.

One night in particular, Penny could always remember. They had been driving along in silence. Jim absorbed in his own brow-wrinkling thoughts, Penny drinking in the beauties of the moonlit panorama spread about her.

"Penny," Jim said, thoughtfully. "How'd you like to be captain of my team?"

"Yes," Jim answered, "I need someone like you—"

Penny looked up quickly, her face beaming.

"I mean," Jim was struggling for the words, "I need someone like you on the Courier. We'd make a winning combination, you and I."

He had wanted to say something quite different—something about the way he really felt. How he missed her. How he longed to have her near him. He hesitated only when he thought of the struggle ahead for anyone who would share his threadbare existence.

Her answer, spontaneous and swift, was a kiss that held them enraptured for a long moment.

They spent exciting hours, planning, exchanging ideas, excitedly awaiting the day when Penny would leave Pietro's and join Jim's small staff. Penny's future promised exciting, thrilling adventures. She was at the Courier office early on her first day of work, eager to begin her career.

The Courier occupied crowded quarters in the basement beneath the branch office of the City Bank. Penny knew from the moment she walked in that she was destined to love the smell of printer's ink and the informality with which the Courier staff tackled each crowded day. She knew each morning would be brighter because of Jim's warm smile of welcome.

Penny swung easily into the routine of work. Before long, the office lost its dusty, disorderly appearance. Jim wondered how he had managed so long without her.

Perhaps because she herself was bursting with news and with a vitality that reflected her good will toward everyone, she found it easy to extract dozens of interesting news items.

Late one afternoon, when Jim had finished deciphering the day's notes which always crammed his pockets, the quiet of the office was shattered by a sudden rush of footsteps on the sleep stairway. Penny looked up, into the frightened eyes of a breathless boy.

"Mr. Vickers! Mr. Vickers!" he shouted. "A terrible accident. The bridge. Come quick."

Jim shot upstairs. Penny followed swiftly, helping the first youngster to negotiate the last steps. Jim's car was already rattling impatiently.

"It's the center bridge, Mr. Vickers," the boys directed. Jim allowed a siren-blowing ambulance to pass, and swung into busy Central avenue. News has a curious way of spreading swiftly in a small town. Already people were racing toward the scene of the tragedy.

Piecing together the story of what had happened was not hard. Never suspecting that death was so near, the driver of a huge truck and trailer, loaded with steel, had started across the span. Weakened by age, too tired to support the heavy load, the structure had given way. Its twisted steel was a tangled mess. Pinned beneath the wreckage were the driver and his helper.

Once again Penny had an opportunity to admire Jim Vickers in an emergency. He lost no time in making the dangerous descent to the river. His was the guiding hand that sped rescue work. The men must have known they would be too late.

Penny flung Jim into his coat when finally he returned. His face was white and his lips were dry. He didn't say anything until they were back in the car.

"I have the toughest assignment in my life ahead," said Jim. "You remember Bill, don't you? The fellow who started the fight at Pietro's?"

"Yes," said Penny, "I remember."

"Bill's brother was helper on that truck. I'll have to tell his wife." The tragedy struck painfully home.

"The Kirk management! That's good!" barked Jim. "They sit back in their beautiful offices in the prettiest building at the county seat, and don't know or don't care about anything except black figures on the profit reports."

"Then it's high time they learned a few things," flashed Penny.

"I'd like to have the day off tomorrow," Penny told Jim, hoping he wouldn't ask her to reveal her plan.

"Sure, Penny," said Jim. "I have another request, Jim. I want to do a series of stories that everyone in town will read. I need your help."

"Just name it, Penny," offered Jim, "and I'll do all I can."

"I'd like to spend a few days in the Kirk mill. I'll take my lunch box with me and chat with the boys. I'd like to get some human interest stories about the men who make steel," she explained.

"Sounds good," Jim admitted.

The more Penny thought of the injustice she had witnessed, the angrier she became. She was fighting mad by the time she left that night for her return to the Kirk estate.

She intended to stay mad until she had finished her visit to the Kirk offices.

National Jaycee President Will Visit In Texas

Special To The NEWS
GLADEWATER, Aug. 12—Bill Shepperd, recently elected president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will make his first official visit to Texas August 21, 22 and 23.

Shepperd will stop at Longview August 21 for a dinner in his honor and since the president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce is also named Shepperd, it is planned as a "President's Victory Dinner" honoring the Shepperds. Bill, the national president, and John Ben, the state president.

This visit will mark the first time a national president has ever visited Region 3, the East Texas district of the Texas Jaycees, and Jaycees throughout the state are being invited to attend by the Longview Jaycees.

Following attendance at the dinner in their honor, Shepperd and Shepperd will journey to Galveston to attend a convention of Region 2, to be held there on August 22-23.

The Galveston meeting will be on a state-wide basis since President John Ben Shepperd is calling an executive meeting of Texas Jaycees.

There Will Be No Red Cross Drive This Fall

At the local Red Cross board meeting Tuesday evening in the Red Cross office, Frank Smith was made chairman of 1943 Red Cross war fund and roll call.

The month of March, 1943, has been officially designated—with the approval of President Roosevelt—as the period for the next membership and fund-raising appeal of the American Red Cross, Doyle Osborne, chairman of the Pampa chapter, announced today upon advice from Norman H. Davis, national chairman.

"I have been advised by Mr. Davis," Chairman Osborne states, "that the decision means the American Red Cross will not conduct a membership roll call this November and instead will hold a combined appeal for memberships and funds for war-time needs next March.

"The decision, also means," Chairman Osborne says, "that the Red Cross will make its war fund and membership appeals directly and separately to the people and that it will not participate in any joint fund-raising effort." Copies of correspondence between Mr. Davis and the president, in which the basis for this decision is outlined, have been received by the local chapter. In it President Roosevelt has written: "I fully agree that the Red Cross should make its war fund and membership appeals directly and separately to the people and should not participate in any joint fund-raising effort."

With the pressure of war-time work, I feel the Red Cross has made a wise decision to combine the roll call with its next war fund appeal. This will not only be a distinct saving in effort and manpower but will make possible a proper spacing of the other major appeals. "The nation can look forward to the month of March, 1943, as Red Cross month. . . The character of the Red Cross and its responsibilities under international treaty, and its congressional charter, are such that the national interests will best be served if the Red Cross maintains direct contact with the people for membership and support necessary for its work at home and abroad."

This recent pronouncement from President Roosevelt was in response to a letter from Mr. Davis in which it was pointed out that the Red Cross is now being asked to reconsider the matter of participation in combined campaigns.

President Roosevelt expressed himself as concurring in the stand of the Red Cross as presented to him by Mr. Davis in which the national chairman said: "We are convinced that the Red Cross cannot be considered as a local agency in view of the national and international scope of its work. Neither can it be regarded as a war-time agency alone, as it will continue to serve long after the war. Certainly it should not become merged in special fund raising plans which are created only for the war period and which will include, as to numbers, only a small proportion of the communities in which there are Red Cross chapters and branches. The Red Cross cannot conduct several different types of campaigns at various times and then have an effective national effort for the rest of the country. In the light of all our experience, and particularly our experience in the war fund appeal just concluded, the Red Cross is convinced that it would be unwise to merge its membership and war fund-raising appeals with those of any other organizations."

Shirley To Direct Upper
The dean of the upper division will be Dr. D. A. Shirley, who also is registrar. Studies prepared for this division are expected to meet certain standards for admission and to pass newly devised tests prior to graduation with a B. A., B. S., or B. B. A. degree.

Added stress will be placed on graduate work through the office of Dr. A. M. Meyer, graduate dean. He is opening a new office, with council room and thesis writing aids provided. He will examine plans for making graduate work efficient and pleasant at West Texas State.

In emphasizing the college's recognition of the varying needs of students in this section, Dr. Hill has created three schools in the upper division—the school of liberal arts, headed by Dr. L. F. Sheffy as chairman; the school of education, headed by Dr. R. P. Jarrett; and the school of business and public administration, headed by Dr. L. E. Johnson. Department heads in the three schools will cooperate with the chairmen in developing the curriculum and providing guidance programs.

Dr. Hill has declared that the first duty of every department, school, and division is to make a maximum contribution to the war effort. West Texas State last term had one of the broadest war-time programs in the Southwest. The new deans also will be charged with the responsibility of wiping out duplications and effecting economies.

The director of the center will be Roy C. Boger of Dallas, former executive secretary of Southern Methodist university. Miss Alma May Clark, now of Louisiana Tech, will direct the nursery school.

Student leaders will begin arriving soon to plan events of the registration period. These will include political, social, and religious leaders and upper-classmen who guide the Freshmen Fellowship club, an organization which attempts to make college life pleasant for first-year students.

Southern Conspiracy Against Negro Charged
NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—A conspiracy in the Southern states "to incite racial violence and destroy national unity so vital to the successful prosecution of America's war effort," was charged in a telegram from the Greater New York Industrial Union (CIO) to President Roosevelt.

The telegram, signed by Joseph Curran, president and Saul Mills, secretary of the union, said "rejection of a large war contract by the governor of Alabama because of the government's non-discrimination policy; the call by certain agents for the emergence of a 'White Supremacy League'; attacks upon negro soldiers; incitement of white and negro workers in war plants against each other; beating of CIO representatives are part and parcel of this conspiracy against national unity."
