NAVY'S SMASHES SEND JAPS REELING; 7 SUNK

Action May Be Major Triumph

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The sinking of seven enemy ships and the damaging of three others, including a converted aircraft carrier set afire, by American submarines during recent operations in the Pacific were announced today by the Navy.

A communique reported that American submarines operating in the western and south Pacific had sunk one large passenger-cargo ship, two large tankers, two medium-sized and two small cargo ships, damaged and set afire one converted carrier, and damaged one destroyer, and a medium-sized tanker.

These operations brought the total of enemy ships reported sunk or damaged by submarines in the Pacific since the outbreak of war to 133, of which 36 were sunk, 20 probably sunk and 27 damaged.

- The text of the communique, number 178, follows:
- "(A) Two large tankers sunk.
"(B) One large passenger cargo ship sunk.
"(C) Two medium-sized cargo ships sunk.
"(D) Two small cargo ships sunk.
"(E) One converted carrier damaged and set afire.
"(F) One destroyer damaged.
"(G) One medium-sized tanker damaged."
"These actions have not been reported elsewhere."

Guadalcanal May Have Been Saved

By CLYDE A. FARNsworth
Associated Press War Editor
Adding to its score against the Japanese Imperial Navy in an offensive which seems to have saved Guadalcanal, the United States Navy announced today that seven more enemy vessels had been sunk by American submarines.

Added to the recent sinkings of the Japanese Imperial Navy in the Pacific were the destruction of a fleet of two large tankers, two medium-sized and two small cargo ships, including a converted aircraft carrier which was left aflame. The ships destroyed were listed as one large passenger-cargo vessel, two large tankers, two medium-sized and two small cargo ships.

In addition to the aircraft carrier, the damaged ships were a destroyer and a medium-sized tanker. The sinkings increased the total of enemy ships reported sunk or damaged in the Pacific by submarines since the outbreak of war to 133 or 86 sunk, 20 probably sunk and 27 damaged.

Guadalcanal indeed may have been saved. Jap ship losses were detailed as follows in a communique received from the new naval commander for the South Pacific area, Vice Admiral William F. Halsey:

- Four to six heavy bomb hits on an aircraft carrier of the Zuihou class.
- Two medium bomb hits on another aircraft carrier of the same class.
- Two heavy bomb hits on a battleship of the Kongo class.
- One heavy bomb hit on a second battleship.
- Five medium bomb hits on a cruiser of the Toku class.
- Torpedo and bomb hits on a heavy cruiser, and
- Two torpedo hits on a heavy cruiser.

Turks Fearful Axis May Hit On Two Fronts

Concurrently with the growth of the German threat to breach the Caucasus mountain wall where Russia defends not only her own oil riches but also a vital approach to the Middle East, Turkey has wavered her fear of attack. The strong Allied showing in Africa—marked today by a report from the Egyptian battlefield that a chunk of the Axis army had been cut off along the Mediterranean—no doubt added to Turkey's inclination to speak her mind.

In the eventuality of a German breakthrough in the Caucasus or a sharp reversal of the British Eighth Army's offensive in Egypt, Turkey would have Axis armies not only to her European front door but also at her back door in the Asia minor part of the Middle East.

Turkey, a land bridge between continents, would be cut off. Undoubtedly with these things in mind, although he did not mention them or even name Germany, President Ismet Inonu told the Turkish parliament yesterday that the nation is in danger of attack—"Turkey is closer to war today than at any time since the present conflict started."

Referring implicitly to the Axis, Inonu said:

"With the war spread over every quarter of the globe, our begins

McNutt Tells Of Draft Complaint

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt said today he had received widespread complaint that selective service boards were continuing to draft workers needed in war industry despite directives intended to guide them in deferring such men.

At the same time McNutt told a press conference that he had sent President Roosevelt today the long-awaited report of his management-labor advisory committee on the manpower situation, opening the way for possible executive action on the question.

McNutt declined to reveal contents of the report, declaring any details must come from the President, but acknowledged that a section dealt with the question of compulsory national service.

The manpower commissioner said directives prepared to guide local draft boards in granting occupational deferment had "not been so effective as I should like to see them" and "widespread complaints still roll in that the directives are not being followed."

Americans To Vote Off-Year War Election

With Republicans predicting "substantial" gains and Democrats conceding them some but not enough to control, America's adult millions will pause briefly in their drive to win the war to vote tomorrow in the "off-year" elections which will determine the make-up of the 78th congress and state administrations.

In the first wartime election since 1918, when the Republicans gained control from a Democratic congress under Woodrow Wilson and held it for 12 years, upwards of 30,000,000 voters—light compared with former years—are expected to choose from more than 1,600 candidates, 33 senators, 432 house members, 32 governors, and a host of other state officers.

Maine held its election Sept. 14, going Republican as expected. Sharp reductions in registrations indicated a light vote despite appeals from party leaders, including President Roosevelt, that citizens go to the polls to demonstrate that one of the nation's most cherished privileges—the free ballot—could be preserved in war and democracy kept functioning.

In an attack on "Washington bureaucrats," Frank Giffert, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, declared in a radio speech last night that a Republican victory would mean that "we are going to prosecute the war with more efficiency, more determination, more power, and win decisively."

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) recalled in a statement that Woodrow Wilson lost his "program for the peace" with the election of a Republican congress, and charged that a "powerful and insidious movement" was trying to wipe out the social gains which he said had been made by the new deal.

It was announced meanwhile that the senate campaign expenditures committee had posted investigators in Delaware, New Jersey,

The American first lady rolled into the reservation in an embassy car and was greeted by soldiers who quickly shouted their recognition of her.

She dined at Queen Mary's chateau in the south of England last night.

Sheriff's Race Is Only Contest In Gray Co. Election

For the last time this year, barring any special elections that may be called, Gray county voters will go to county's 17 precinct polling places tomorrow to cast their ballots.

Polls for the general election will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. Election supplies were being delivered to presiding judges today.

With the exception of the "write-in" candidacy of James Barrett for sheriff, opposing G. H. Kyle, Democratic nominee, there will be little excitement in the election for the Democratic ticket is unopposed in the county, district, and precinct races.

The Republicans have a dozen candidates, ranging from senator to state superintendent of public instruction, while the People's Unity party has seven candidates, with Charles Lavigne Somerville, governorship seeker, topping their ticket.

U. S. 'Pea-Shooters' Show Japs New Trick

WITH AMERICAN AIR FORCES IN CHINA, Oct. 31 (Delayed) (AP)—American airmen flying shark-nosed P-40's, known hereabouts as "pea-shooters," introduced a new trick in their air warfare with a dive-bombing assault on Hongkong last Wednesday.

One big merchant ship was left in flames by a direct hit, and near-misses were scored against two others in this third raid within a week upon the Japanese-occupied British crown colony.

"The Japanese radio reported seven bombers raided Hongkong Wednesday, but said that no damage was inflicted and that one raider was shot down," said the institute.

"We are using them for about everything except submarines," Col. Robert L. Scott of Macon, Ga., a pursuit group commander, said of the "pea-shooters" which have filled the role of escorts for regular bombers, chasers, interceptors, level bombers and reconnaissance planes.

Eating Habits Of American Public Up To Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Eating habits of American civilians for the duration of the war may be determined largely by the decision President Roosevelt makes on a proposal that he appoint a food administrator to control production and consumption.

The proposal, advanced by War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson, reflects sharp and fundamental differences within the government over war food requirements and the possibility of further shortages.

At the bottom of these differences is the question of how much manpower, machinery, transportation, and other facilities should be devoted to food production.

On the one hand are those—including Secretary of Agriculture Wickard—who believe that food production should be maintained at as near present record levels as possible in order that civilians as well as the United Nations fighting forces may have well-balanced diets.

On the other are those—including some war production board officials and military authorities—

NOVEMBER: Month of the Mileage Saver

The lively calendar above is a reminder that there are a lot of dates in November that are important in the national mileage conservation campaign. During the first week, Uncle Sam wants those lucky car owners who have more than five tires to pick out the best five for themselves and sell the rest to the U. S. government. These excess tires will go into the nation's stockpile and will be sold, for war use, under strict rationing. From Nov. 12 to 14, motorists in all areas not now gas-rationed will register for ration books. They will be required to give the serial numbers of the five-tires they are

BLYTHE GETS A PRESENT
CHAPTER XXX
THERE are axioms about opportunity, Blythe Miller reflected.

Some say it knocks only once, and the implication is that there's the devil to pay if you don't open the door. Blythe was ready to believe it.

Yesterday just after lunch, chance had given her a perfect opportunity to tell her father and Duane Hogan all about Nancy Hale's heart-breaking treachery. There had been a tender moment between the three of them, a privacy there in the Miller living room, when almost surely the two men would have understood her, and together they might have worked out a plan.

"But then," Blythe sighed now, thinking, "everybody had just been praising Nancy. And—and in effect, comparing her and me. I couldn't have told that awful thing about her, there! Anyway"—she actually whispered the last of it—"I simply don't want to tell with her calling me a friend—and with baby Scooter!"

Remembrance of baby Scooter Hale had perhaps been the deciding factor again. Scooter's father had been slain trying valiantly to defend Pearl Harbor. Nancy was all he had left. If she were imprisoned—or anything, it would just about wreck his innocent life.

And, too, Blythe had persisted in her little-girl belief that she could work out something alone, if the matter didn't solve itself in some miraculous way. But here it was Wednesday morning, and she had done nothing and no miracle had occurred. Right now she sat in solitude in Pop's office. Remembering the gamblers, she didn't much like being here alone, but on this day before the State U. game she couldn't be really alone or lonely for long. Too many people kept calling or telephoning.

There was the press to answer, the passes to be issued, the laundered football suits being returned, the long distance from State U. officials 300 miles away, the colored trainer's request for more rubbers, alcohol and ointments, the repaired cleats on Duane Hogan's shoes, the anxiety about the weather tomorrow, the increasing stream of "pests" who just wanted to chin about the game prospects. But here was a little moment, even so, when that the bathroom doors had all blown shut and were too heavy even for his maturity. Also, his mittens needed readjusting, his sweater was unbuttoned, and his puppy Link was shivering in the November cold. She brought them both inside to play soldier and stand guard over the radiator. Scooter was faithful, but Link, the pup, shamelessly went to sleep on duty.

There was a moment's interval again for planning. Tonight—this very night!—Nancy was to lure Duane and Norman to her apartment and drug them, as carefully planned. Indeed, the "luring" had already been accomplished. It had been done yesterday under Blythe's own eyes at the Miller home. Recalling that fact infuriated Blythe now—and she rather grasped at the sense of fury. It helped offset the love and sympathy for the little boy nearby. Nancy's little boy. It would be easier if she could only hate Nancy Hale!

She might have made a cold-blooded plan for getting the goods on Nancy and the gamblers, except that she heard a flurry of feet and laughter and talking outside, and Norman Dana came in with Nancy herself. They held packages.

"Heigh ho, Bly!" Norman hailed her. "Oughta be out, it's beginning to snow!"

"Norman has leave from flying field until after the game!" Nancy put in. "Isn't that wonderful!"

Everything was in a stir. Scooter shrieking happily, Link the pup demanding attention from everyone, good-looking Norman talking and laughing and opening packages as Nancy directed. It was altogether a gay moment—except for Bly. She had to bite her lips to keep from showing the pressure within her soul. It hurt, hurt terribly, to know the treachery of this sweet-looking Nancy Hale.

All at once there was a special-looking package which Nancy brought to Blythe unopened. She spoke to Blythe in a tone as perfect as if it had been genuine and sincere.

Blythe opened the package mechanically, saying nothing. She took out a handsome hand-tooled leather purse. Blythe knew it cost $25 if it cost a dime.

"Whew!" breathed Norman, impressed.

"I had my pay check," Nancy was saying, gently, "and I wanted to get this for you, dear. You've been so awfully kind to Scooter and me. Norman, if I ever had a sister, I'd want it to be Blythe!"

(To Be Continued)

Then 12 cadets crowded in for their passes and instructions as users tomorrow in the stadium. They lingered to talk small talk just because Blythe was the coach's daughter and a dark-haired, violet-eyed girl. The moment they left she heard someone outside calling.

"By! . . . By! By-y-y-y-y."

"Yes, darling!"

She had to go out and help baby Scooter Hale, mature gentleman going on 25—months. It seemed

Carson Teachers Elect Officers
Special To The NEWS
WHITE DEER, Nov. 2—Herbert Campbell, principal of the Panhandle grade school, was elected president of the Carson county unit of the Texas State Teachers association, at a meeting held Wednesday evening, at the White Deer High school.

Other officers chosen were Gladys Holley, White Deer, vice-president; Mrs. Gann Sumner, Skellytown, publicity chairman; and Claudine Black, Panhandle, secretary-treasurer.

Since regular meetings probably will be held, delegates to the district house of delegates, which will meet next spring during the educational conference, were also elected. They are Mrs. Vesta Johnson, Groom; H. A. Freeman, White Deer; Hermon Ford, Skellytown; and Miss Lynette Cain, Panhandle.

Mrs. B. R. Weeks, delegate to the State House of Delegates, which will meet in Dallas early in November, reported on some of the amendments to the constitution of the Texas State Teachers association, and other business which will be considered at that meeting.

Following the business session, refreshments were served in the cafeteria to representatives from Groom, Panhandle, Skellytown, and White Deer.

Phantom Slayer Is Convicted At Denver
DENVER, Nov. 2 (AP)—Theodore Edward Coneyes was convicted of first degree murder late today for the phantom slaying of 79-year-old Philip Peters, and the district court jury fixed the punishment at life imprisonment.

The 59-year-old defendant grinned when the verdict was read in District Judge Joseph Walsh's court. The 13-man jury deliberated less than two hours.

The death penalty had been demanded by the state for the ghostly man, who was charged with beating Peters, his former friend, to death with an old gun and stove shaker on Oct. 17, 1941. The attack occurred when Peters surprised Coneyes robbing his icebox.

Last July 30, police dragged Coneyes from a filthy little attic hideout in Peters home.

Coneyes said he retired in panic to the attic hideout—which he secretly appropriated several weeks before the slaying—and lived on a near-starvation level for ten months.

Jap Military Clique Takes Tighter Grip
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—A drastic streamlining of the Japanese government to "strengthen Japan's fighting power" and probably foreshadowing an even greater domination of the nation by the military clique headed by Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo was announced by the Tokyo radio today.

More than ever Premier Tojo appeared to be emerging as a 20th century recreation of the Shogunate which ruled Japan for 700 years.

The creation of a new super-ministry of greater "East Asiatic affairs," unification of administration in such overseas territories as Formosa, Korea and Sakhalin with that of Japan proper, and a sweeping reorganization of government bureaus and departments was announced in general terms by Premier Tojo who declared the present conflict would settle the destiny of East Asia "for a thousand years to come."

McGee Says Those Who Need Gasoline Will Get Gasoline
BROWNWOOD, Nov. 2 (AP)—Praising the work of Governor Coke Stevenson in behalf of adequate gasoline rationing for Texas, Mark McGee, state OPA director, said here today that "there's no point in being jittery about gasoline rationing."

McGee said Texas farmers, ranchmen and "essential industries" will be taken care of under the rationing program.

"A man living 20 miles from town needs gasoline to get to town and operate his ranches and farms. He'll get gasoline," the director said.

McGee said "screening panels" will be set up immediately in each community to handle gasoline ration applications.

"We're going to the people," he declared.

NORWICH, Eng. (AP)—An innkeeper in this Norfolk town decided to charge one shilling for each pass taken outside the bar, and money refunded when the glass returned. At the end of two weeks, he found he had four more than he started with.

VIDE GLANCES
Greeley, Colo. (AP)—Farmer Arthur Fugate says it's about time that cities began providing wooden hitching racks for the farmers.

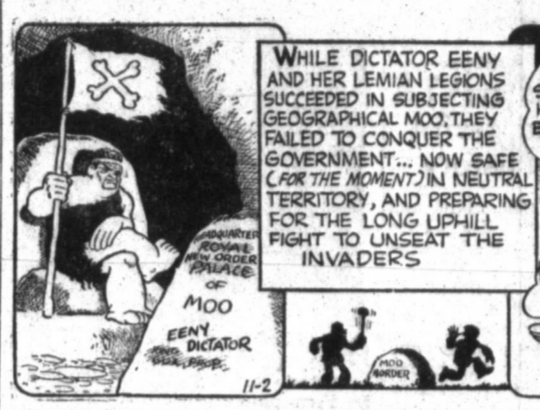

"More and more farmers are going to be hauling into town with team and wagons, from now on," he says. "There are no hitching posts, and help is too hard to grab, bring along an extra man or boy to hold the horses."

Texas PTA Will Meet In Houston For Fourth Time

For the fourth time in the 33 years of its existence, the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold its annual convention in Houston, November 18 and 19.

The theme of the convention, "Our Concern, Every Youth," will be carried out in round-table conferences, addresses, and departmental workshops.

The usual entertainment features, attendant upon a large convention, will be cut this year to make every moment count and to conserve time during this national crisis.

Fifteen years ago, when the 19th annual convention met in Houston, the theme was "The Challenge of Youth."

Twenty-five years ago, when Houston was hostess city, the country was involved in World War I.

Because of conflicting activities, the music night which was announced for next Friday night under the sponsorship of the high school Parent-Teacher association, has been postponed indefinitely.

The concert, which was planned as a money making project, was to be presented by the band, glee club, a cappella choir, and individual students.

Madam, does an old TABOO prevent your knowing this help? It's no taboo today to discuss plain facts. Thousands of women praise CARDUI's 2-way help. Taken as a tonic, it usually peeps up appetite, stimulates flow of gastric juices, thus aiding digestion and helping resistance. Started 3 days before the time, and taken as directed, it should help relieve much purely functional periodic pain. A 62-year record says it may help.
