Mention Of Second Front Condemned

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill voiced emphatic disapproval on the time or place of a second front, as the subject cropped up in the house of commons today and as the BBC broadcast to France that an Allied offensive "is in the making."

Churchill's remarks were provoked by a question from Capt. Peter MacDonald which was prefaced by the assumption that "the period of offensive operations by the United Nations is now approaching."

As parliament met for the first time since Sept. 11, a high officer of the British army broadcast in French that "today more than ever before the possibilities of a British and Allied landing on French soil must be foreseen."

"The message followed the pattern of previous BBC broadcasts to France. It told the French that there would be no advance warning of the day or point of attack but that "the offensive of the Allied nations is in the making."

Three Billions Asked For More Navy Planes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for $2,862,000,000 additional funds now for the navy to construct airplanes which the budget bureau said were necessary for "the prosecution of the war."

Congress May Be Asked For War Work Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—A national service act, for compulsory assignment of workers to jobs where they are most needed, emerged today as the probable administration answer to the multiplying manpower problems of fighting a war on three fronts—the firing, food and factory lines.

Paul V. McNutt, war manpower chief, told the house agriculture committee which is inquiring into farm labor scarcities that an administration-sponsored bill for allocating labor probably would be submitted to congress soon.

While remaining silent on the extent of powers such legislation would embrace, he told the newspapermen he disliked the terms "labor draft" and "labor conscription."

Testifying before the committee, he said: "Persuasion is not enough and there's not sufficient patriotic urge. I hope in the very near future that certain recommendations will be made. It's not an easy task. We've never had such legislation. Certain constitutional questions are involved."

McNutt told the committee that "the job ahead is a question of putting every man and woman in the place where they could contribute most to a speedy victory."

He stressed that England passed such an act virtually at the outset of the war, and he expressed the opinion that compulsion would have to be used with very few persons in this country, that the mere existence of the law would go a long way toward correcting conditions.

Several proposals for war service legislation already have been submitted, including bills by Senator Hill (D-Ala.) and Austin (R-Vt.).

Turning directly to the farm labor problem, McNutt told the agriculture group that one way to keep workers on the farm was to increase their wages, so as to diminish the lure of industrial pay.

In answer to a question from a committee member, whether this would bring about higher farm prices, he said "it would seem to follow logically." Later he told newspapermen he did not intend his statement to be construed as having any relation to the current farm price fight for higher prices in the anti-inflation bill.

McNutt told the committee that "food requirements will not permit a curtailment of farm output."

He expressed confidence that this year's crops would be harvested

Boyles' appointment was announced today in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Appointment of rent control directors in 38 of these 35 designated areas was announced today by the Office of Price Administration.

House By House Check Aim In Salvage Drive

Collection of scrap metal in Gray county, due to start as soon as definite assignments are made at a meeting of the industrial scrap metal salvage committee and the steering committee of the Oil Field Protective association, is going to be more intensive than any preceding campaign.

C. K. Trease, chairman of the industrial unit, said today: "We are going over the county with the idea that not one pound of scrap metal we can find will be left out of the pile. Actually, it's going to be a house-to-house canvass, with workers getting down to cases and talking to persons who

Leaders To Push For Speedy Vote On Inflation Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Determined to get a speedy vote on farm price controls, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) called the senate into session an hour earlier than usual today for what he hoped would be final action on the administration's anti-inflation bill, now in its seventh day before the chamber.

Confident they had majority support behind them, Barkley and Senator Brown (D-Mich.), co-author of the bill, said they would stand pat on an amendment calling for administrative, rather than statutory, adjustment of food and fiber price ceilings to absorb rising costs of farm labor.

Farm bloc members meanwhile cast about for an acceptable compromise which would provide a wider price spread to cover all costs of production.

Before formally offering any such proposal, however, they hoped to obtain a vote to write into the measure, which would direct the president to stabilize prices, wages and salaries at certain levels, a provision altering present parity standards to include labor costs as a factor. Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said he thought 50 of the 96 senators would support the proposal.

Frey is a price calculated to equalize the farmers' returns from their crops with the cost of the non-agricultural commodities they buy, and under terms of the bill now before congress no ceilings could be fixed on farm products at less than parity levels.

Air And Ground Forces Hit Out On Two Fronts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—A determined Allied offensive appeared definitely underway in the far-flung Pacific war theater today causing the Japanese invaders to fall back in New Guinea and inflicting heavy losses on enemy planes and troops in the Solomon and Aleutian islands.

The unleashing of Allied air and ground power on two of the three strategic Pacific points coincided with announcement of a conference of the U. S. navy and air force's high command somewhere at sea. The attacks brought destruction of 49 Japanese planes in the Solomons and Aleutians and damage to five ships in four days of raids.

Taking the offensive for the first time on New Guinea, General MacArthur's ground forces hammered back Japanese troops in the Owen Stanley mountains with an infiltration and outflanking attack about 32 miles north of the important Allied base at Port Moresby.

MacArthur's Australian headquarters announced last night the attacking forces were "making progress" for the first time since the invaders landed at Gona Mission July 21 and began pushing through the heavy, crocodile-infested jungles toward Port Moresby, which, if captured, could serve as a springboard for an assault on Australia.

Meanwhile, Allied air forces continued savage pounding of the Japanese bases and supply lines in New Guinea. These persistent attacks, an army spokesman observed, may have stopped the invaders' progress by smashing vital supply lines.

The aerial assaults on Buna, the enemy's main Southeastern New Guinea base, set supply dumps and huts ablaze. Barges were destroyed by bombs and supply columns strafed. Airdrome dispersal areas, a destroyer and a transport ship were bombed off Buna on Bougainville island in the Northern Solomons with unobserved results.

The greatest blow to the Nipponese air forces during the activity commencing Sept. 25, was struck in

DeWitt Mackenzie Writes From London

Wide World's famous war analyst and author of "The War Today," a daily feature in The Pampa News, has arrived by plane in London on the first leg of a tour of many of the war zones.

His first article from England will appear in The News tomorrow. They will appear daily thereafter.

The Solomons where 42 planes were shot down and three others damaged, the navy department said. Navy and marine corps fighters bombed four ships, setting a cruiser afire and probably sinking a transport and ruined Japanese gun emplacements.

Without loss of a single U. S. plane, the American forces bombed

U. S. Merchantman Lost Without Trace

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29 (AP)—Another story of an American ship lost without a trace and apparently with all hands dead by enemy action came to light heretoday with publication of the merchant marine casualty list which listed as missing Gus Warren Darnell, master, of Houston, Tex.

Captain Darnell, hero of a submarine sinking in which he brought all but one of his crew through to safety in a vicious attack, was the captain of an American merchant ship that sailed from a Gulf coast port last July 23 on a short trip, and has never been heard from since.

The navy department considers Darnell and the 32 crewmen aboard missing and presumed lost, but there is not a hint as to the fate of the vessel. It disappeared without a trace, joining other historic vessels in the history of the sea, lost without an inkling of their fate.

Nazi Tanks Press New Threat In Stalingrad Today

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies were reported to have widened their counter assault in the 36-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, hammering the German north flank on a 40-mile front between the Don and Volga rivers, while Nazi tanks pressed a new threat within the embattled metropolis.

With winter fast approaching and the great German summer offensive apparently stalled on all fronts, London heard that Adolf Hitler had launched a new surge of top-ranking Nazi generals, ousting Field Marshal Fedor von Bock from the Stalingrad command and replacing Field Marshal Wilhelm Ritter von Leeb at Leningrad.

The Nazi-inspired Vichy radio said Field Marshal Siegmund List, who directed the 1941 Balkan campaign, had replaced Von Bock. Previously, Von Bock was reported to have quarreled with Hitler over the former's insistence on a costly siege of Stalingrad and a synchronized drive into the Caucasus.

London military quarters said Field Marshal Georg von Kuchler had replaced Von Leeb on the Leningrad front, where the German armies have been slowly driven back in a series of Soviet counterattacks.

London informants said List, a ruthless tactician and leading exponent of lightning war, was expected to open a savage new assault on Stalingrad with total disregard for losses.

Hitler's high command again spoke of "embittered fighting" in the Volga steel city and declared that "the Soviets vainly continued their relief attacks from the north."

"The Soviet command acknowledged that armor-screened German infantry attacks had forced the Russians to withdraw anew in the Moscow region of the Central Caucasus, 50 miles north of the Grozny oil fields, but declared Red army gunners killed 200 Nazis and wrecked 10 tanks before retiring.

Bloody street fighting raged throughout the night inside Stalingrad as the Germans sought to exploit

Wash foundation garments as frequently as any other undergarment if you would be fastidious, keep them long-wearing and dainty. Perspiration discolors the fabric, tends to cause elastic inserts to stretch and sag. Washing is a good perspiration remover. But wash them correctly, carefully. Use lukewarm soapy water. Dunk the girle up and down in the suds for several minutes. When all perspiration and soil are removed, transfer the garment without wringing into a clear rinse water of the same temperature. After that rinse, press out excess water, but do not wring or twist. Roll in a thick absorbent towel to blot up additional moisture. Hang over a rod to dry. Ironing is not necessary.

A Japanese cruiser and a seaplane tender, and shot down three seaplanes at Tonoleto harbor on Sept. 25; destroyed six more enemy seaplanes, damaged a seventh, hit a cruiser and probably sank a transport near Shotland island on Sept. 26. The following day they blasted four bombers and five fighter planes of an attacking Japanese squadron over Guadalcanal.

Continuing their attacks yesterday, the American air forces successfully intercepted 25 Japanese bombers and one Zero and forced by 18 Zero fighters and were headed for marine installations on Guadalcanal. The navy and marine fighter planes destroyed 23 of the enemy bombers and one Zero and forced the others to jettison their bombs into the sea.

The marines meanwhile strengthened their hold on Guadalcanal by destroying several small enemy detachments still on the island with the aid of dive bombers. About 6,000 miles northward, army airmen accompanied for the first time by Canadian planes, raided the Japanese footholds on the Aleutians. Seven enemy planes were destroyed, a transport left in flames, two submarines strafed and an estimated 150 Japanese killed or wounded in a low-level attack on Kiska.

After heavy army bombers raided enemy installations on the island with unobserved results on Sept. 24, the navy announced yesterday, a strong force of army bombers and pursuit planes accompanied by Royal Canadian Air Force ships, attacked again on the following day.

pand a wedge driven into a factory settlement yesterday by two Nazi infantry divisions, 60,000 troops, led by 150 tanks. Russian accounts said that the thrust cost the invaders about 4,000 men and 50 tanks, and that 1,000 other Nazis were killed northwest of the city.

Dispatches to the army newspaper Red Star conceded that the Germans had occupied several favorable new positions in the shifting struggle within the city.

The newspaper, citing a typical example of the close-quarter fighting, said an area 30 yards by 250 yards changed hands four times before Russian troops finally won it.

Held in Reserve Have you wondered why scrap metal must be collected now? Here's the answer:

To operate at capacity, the steel mills must know exactly where their scrap is coming from for production six and more months hence. Scrap must be poured into salvage banks now, even though they may be considerable lag time between the time it reaches the salvage depot, is sorted and processed and the time it is shipped off to the mills.

Need for scrap in the manufacture of steel is far greater than in peacetime. One ton of finished steel can be made from a ton of pig iron or from a ton of scrap or from a ton composed in part of pig iron and part scrap. The higher the proportion of scrap, however, the easier.

This is true because to smelt one ton of pig iron requires two tons of iron ore, 1.2 tons of coal, and a half ton of limestone—nearly four tons to be mined, processed, shipped. To get a ton of scrap, however, requires a ton of scrap.

"minor" crop losses had occurred. Despite the departure of 2,000,000 persons from farms since April, 1940, he testified, the number now employed in agriculture is virtually the same as that of last year. He said experts expected a further withdrawal of 1,300,000 by the end of 1943, of which 900,000 would be men.

But by more older and younger persons entering farm work, he predicted the net deduction in the total of farm workers by then would amount to only about 750,000.

He suggested that, if other means failed, "freezing of labor in agriculture is a very real possibility."

WAR DAMAGE Let us insure you for war damage to your property. Pampa Insurance Agency 107 N. Frost—Ph. 772 Bob Ewing

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh. I MISSED getting my hair cut this morning on account of the scrap collection. When I climbed into the barber chair, Ray says to me: "Sorry, Joe. Ain't got time for you today. We're closing up this morning at ten." And then I remembered. This was the day the town had agreed to drop everything—and I mean everything—and collect scrap for Uncle Sam. Yes sir, the drugstore, the corner garage, Sam Abernethy's general store—every place in town except the post office—closed up tight today from 10 to 5. And you ought to see the result piled up in front of the fire house. One hundred and fifty tons of metal that had been lying around in attics, cellars and back yards of our town since Charlie Jenkins' great-grandfather joined up with the Texas Rangers. That's almost 500 lbs. of metal for every man, woman and child in our town. Just shows you—when American citizens go out to do a job for Uncle Sam they do it right. Because from where I sit, that's what we're fighting for—the right to work together—for our own accord. To do the job because we want to, not because somebody tells us to. And when the job's done, to relax as we see fit. And the Judge agreed. He pointed out that one of the things that helps folks get together is just what we were doing now. It's great, after a good day's work, to be able to have a chat and a glass of beer if you want to. Joe Marsh

HARVESTERS POLISH MANEUVERS FOR CHILDRESS GAME

Speed Will Be Stressed In Workouts

Recovering from their bruising one-point shaving suffered at the hands of the Sunsets Elsons of Dallas last week—a defeat which the locals took by a matter of only four minutes—the Pampa Harvesters will review the mistakes they made, polish defensive and offensive maneuvers, and otherwise prepare for what may be a tough season against the Childress Bobcats in workouts this week. Coaches Buck Prejan and George Scott said last night after checking on their charges through a light Monday drill.

And the check showed that Halfback Bob Dunham is on the ailing list with an injured shoulder and light touch of "flu" while Gene Robbins, reserve end, is also on the sick list. The coaches hope that both boys will be in uniform when the Bobcats of Childress invade Pampa for a Friday night tussle.

Tempo of three remaining drills before the Childress game will be speeded as the team prepares for what may prove to be a "tartar" in the form of a Bobcat outfit that will be looking for revenge after last year's beating administered by the Harvesters.

The Harvesters elected team captains for the tilt Friday night and they are Dunham and Basil Arnold. While the local eleven will carry a better early season record into Friday's fray, Coaches Prejan and Scott believe the Childress club may be "ponging" for this one. The Harvesters have played six games thus far this season and made a commendable showing in both while the Cats have dropped a 31-0 decision to Amarillo and only last week lost by 7 to 6 to Wellington. Thus, the two participants in Pampa this week will both be out to avenge one-point setbacks.

"Childress was probably thinking about us when they lost that game to Wellington last week," Coach Prejan said, as he sized up the Harvesters' chances of turning in their best season of the year. In fact, the coach left the impression that he is going to work the squad just as hard this week in preparation for the Bobcats as he did last week in getting ready for the Elsons. Some sort of District 1-AA comparison will be available after the Bobcat-Harvester tilt, if you go in for that sort of thing. Racking comparative football scores—especially this early in the season—often proves to be nothing except a lot of pencil exercise. However, the static grid-doppers will remember that Amarillo defeated Childress by 31 to 0.

Portland Coach Favors Dropping Eligibility Rule

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 29 (AP)—R. L. Mathews of the University of Portland, one of the far West's oldest football coaches in point of service, today propounded a wartime sports code for his own and perhaps many another independent school.

"Eligibility can go hang itself on the nearest tree for as long as this world strife lasts. No boy wanting to play football will be turned down at Portland. Even the pay students can play."

Mathews, a former University of Idaho football coach, gave the amenities of collegiate amateurism the rough side of his tongue:

"These boys might be here today and gone tomorrow. War makes for uncertainty. If it's a question of stopping bullet passes today and plain bullets tomorrow then we don't want to set up the barrier that might deprive some deserving lad of a chance to enjoy life while he may."

"Our great country's armed services are crying for physically fit young men and Portland doesn't intend to be slack in fulfilling its obligations. I've long contended that football provides the kind of contact needed to whip a man into shape for all kinds of combat, so we'll get 'em ready with football. Eligibility can go hang . . ."

Mathews invited the whole 450-man student body of Portland to the football field, promised a chance to play to everybody—freshmen, "pay students," students who are a bit shy scholastically.

Mathews said Portland, besides its varsity eleven, would have a "goof" squad, a "goofier" squad and a "double-goof" squad and as many more as are needed to give everybody a chance to play.

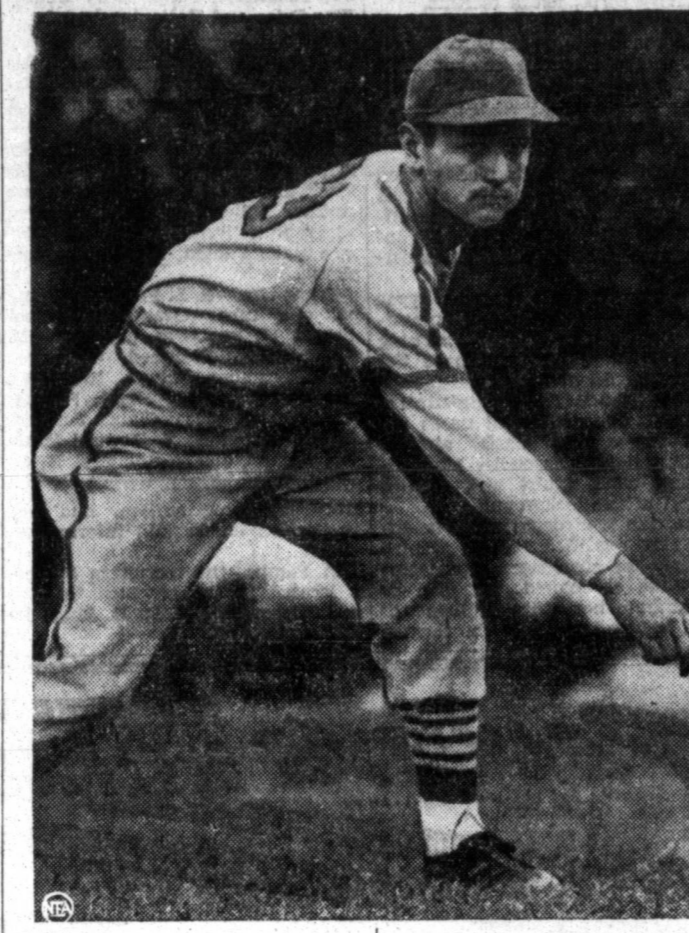

and they will be waiting to see what the Harvesters do against the same club.

With two games under their belt, both in which they demonstrated perhaps shadows of things to come, the Harvesters seem to be rounding into a smoother functioning unit, and that uncertainty quality is gradually fading from the eleven, although several problems still remain before the start of the conference season a few weeks away.

Frankly, the Harvesters demonstrated some sound football in that game against Dallas and made a great deal better showing than many fans believed they would.

In other district non-conference games last week, Amarillo and Lubbock—favorites to do the most damage in this circuit this season—won and tied. The Sandies crushed Abilene 19 to 7 while Lubbock was getting a 6-6 draw with San Angelo.

CARDS' SURPRISE HURLER

But Beasley turned out to be a fireball pitcher with a rubber arm and went into the closing days of the campaign a sure shot to be a 20-game winner in his freshman year.

Beasley pitches with the ease of Paul Dean, reminds you somewhat of the younger of the incredible Hicks who paced the St. Louis club in a similar finish in 1934.

Austin, Maguire In Top Match Of Golf Tournament

Second round of play in the 1942 City Open Golf tournament will get underway next Sunday over the Pampa Country Club course after most of the first round matches were completed last Sunday on an almost perfect autumn day that drew the local shotmakers in large numbers. Play will continue in four flights with winners, second placers and consolation champs to be awarded war stamps as prizes.

The John Austin-Haskell Maguire match carded for last Sunday was postponed because Maguire was out of the city. It will probably be played either Thursday or Friday of this week.

Approximately 55 of the city's best shotmakers are matching drives and putts in the open this year, playing for the first time on the Pampa Country club's nine new grass greens.

John Austin and Marvin Harris listed best scores in an earlier qualifying round, Austin shooting a 75 and Harris stroking a 76. While Austin was idle Sunday, Harris shot steady golf to defeat Floyd Ward, 3 and 2.

Following the results by flights: Championship Flight—John Austin vs. Haskell Maguire, to be played later. Mark Heath over Gene Donovan, 2 up. Marvin Harris over Floyd Ward, 3 and 2. C. P. McGinnis defeated Jim Richeson, 3 and 2.

First Flight—C. M. Prigmore over Fred Thompson, 2 up. D. M. Dickey defeated Buck Jay, 1 up. Bill Smith over R. C. Baker, 4 and 3. Joe Parkinson defeated F. E. Hoffman, 3 and 2.

Second Flight—Charlie Thut over Lynn Boyd, 6 and 5. Frank Shotwell, Sr. defeated Bob Curry, 2 and 1. Gene Fatheree over F. A. Howard, 2 and 1. Dan Gribbon defeated Lee McConnell, default.

Third Flight—Warren Fatheree over R. J. Haggin, default. Jet Brumley defeated John Haggard, 4 and 2. A. F. Hawthorne over Walt Warner, default. W. C. Dillman defeated Walter Rogers, 7 and 6. Ed Vickers drew bye, advanced to second round. V. Swindle drew bye, advanced to second round. C. B. Carlock drew bye, advanced to second round.

Matches Not Played—John Gordon-Ernie Voss; W. B. Weathered-Ted Halbig; J. H. Coombs-Bill Crowson; C. O. Bridges-M. A. Graham.

Texas Golf Star Will Represent Chicago Club

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Betty Jameson, the former San Antonio, Tex., sports writer, now is working for a Chicago insurance house and will do her golfing as representative of a Chicago area club next year.

Winner of the only two major women's golf tournaments held this year—the Western open and the Western amateur, the Texas girl has played golf only three times since her August victory over Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., in the finals of the amateur.

Betty was an honor guest, along with Patty Berg and Virginia Van Wie, both former national champions, at the Women's Western Golf association's annual meeting yesterday.

Cards Calmly Take Final Workout As Yanks Close In

By GAYLE TALBOT
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29 (AP)—St. Louis remained extremely calm and collected about the impending world series as its Cardinals took their final workout today and the renowned Yankees closed in from the east.

Unless one read the newspapers, there was nothing to indicate that the two flag winners were due to start belting each other at Sportsman's park tomorrow afternoon. There were no banners; no hoarse talk in hotel lobbies about "our Cards." In short, the so-called world series atmosphere of other years appeared to have taken a leave of absence.

The hotels were choked, and it took both a reservation and a willingness to argue to get any sort of room. But they say that is a normal condition these days and in no wise related to baseball's banner attraction.

The local explanation of the seeming apathy toward the series is that the town wore itself out rooting the Cardinals home in their amazing September drive to the pennant. The fans needed a couple of days' rest before taking up the big assault on the Yankees tomorrow. All reserved seats to the first two games here were sold a week ago.

The Yanks—not riding a special train this time, but occupying uppers and lowers like everybody else—were due to arrive shortly before dark tonight, too late for a workout. They will not see the field until tomorrow, but the fact is of no importance because they played the Browns 11 times at Sportsman's park this season and know its every shadow.

Shouting and carrying on much as they have all season, the flamboyant Red Birds held a long practice session yesterday, then attended a barn dance in their honor last night and were scheduled to hold another workout today. It was obvious that Manager Billy Southworth meant to keep his scrapping youngsters at razor-edge. He didn't want them to relax and start thinking too much about the series.

So far as the naked eye can discern, little if anything was taken out of Southworth's hellions by their sensational stretch drive, in which they won 43 out of 52 games. They look full of fight, and every regular will be at his appointed post when the shooting begins. Captain Terry Moore still has one leg tightly taped, and Second Baseman Jimmy Brown might be a trifle tired, but otherwise the National League champs came out of it in remarkably good shape.

Incidentally, two baseball writers from the East who have been travelling with the Cards for a fortnight, are raving about Stan Musial, the club's rookie left-fielder. They declare he has developed into as great a fielder as his teammate, Terry Moore, who generally is considered the best in the league, and they predict he will be a sensation in the play-off.

Despite 109-Game Loss, Phils' Chief Sorry Season Over

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Phils lost 109 games this year and finished 62½ games behind the pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals—but Manager Hans Loberg is sorry the season has ended.

"Sure we won only 42 games," the 60-year-old veteran smiled, "but I wish the season was just getting underway. That's how much I like baseball. It's in my blood."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Santa Fe was the star stock market performer today, jumping around 3 points to another 5-year peak as directors pulled a real surprise on Wall Street with a $2.50 dividend declaration for this transportation leader.

The best most prognosticators had looked for in the way of a Santa Fe debutment was $1.50 on the common. The boosting of this guess by $1 brought quick bidding for the issue, and, for a while, it was all over the ticker tape.

While other rails such as Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific responded with advances into new high ground for the year and N. Y. Central, Great Northern and Southern Pacific tacked on modest gains, trends presented a spotty appearance in other parts of the list. Hesitancy in most of the final hour, the direction generally groups was apparent at the opening and, remained moderately foggy.

Dealings were on the slow side with the exception of scattered flurries in the carriers and assorted specialties. Transfers for the full proceedings were in the neighborhood of 400,000 shares.

Buyers discerned nothing particularly bullish in the war news and some stood aside to await completion of wage-price legislation and more light on the tax program.

Army Issues New Call For 'Wacks'

Changing from the constant call for aviation cadets, the army is making it known that its branch for women, the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, needs recruits.

Physically fit women, 21 to 45, are needed in the WAAC to replace able bodied men for combat duty. Women are needed in offices, hospitals, as laboratory assistants, radio operators and technicians and 40 other specialist jobs.

Another opportunity for women in the WAAC is in the aircraft warning service. Applicants are enrolled as auxiliaries with view of assignment to the aircraft warning service.

These specialists are of two types—basic and administrative specialists. For basic aircraft warning service, a specialist must have the regular qualifications of auxiliaries for the WAAC. The administrative warning service specialist needs the requirements for basic aircraft warning service specialist plus a general office background.

Cotton Council To Protest To Nelson

MEMPHIS, Sept. 29 (AP)—Charging that proposed expansion of the rayon tire cord program threatens "serious injury and injustice" to cotton's largest market, the National Cotton Council announced it will make a formal protest to Donald M. Nelson, war production board chairman.

In a formal statement, President Oscar Johnson said that the council "smells an odorous mouse" in WPB approval of the rayon cord expansion program while tests on "cotton vs rayon cords still are under way, and in the face of preliminary evidence that such a program is neither necessary nor justified by the war effort."

Flowers Grown By Man Win 15 First Places At Victory Show

Women have been "glamorized" for taking over men's jobs in factories but now the situation has been reversed, with a man as the holder of the greatest number of awards in a flower show sponsored by a women's club.

William F. Hendricks, general production foreman for the Cabot companies, who resides at 417 N. West, took 15 first places, four second, and one third in the Victory Harvest Garden show, held at the Lamar building on the junior high school campus Saturday.

Seals were awarded the best exhibits of flowers and vegetables. Proceeds of the show, the first of its kind ever held in Pampa, and one of several shows sponsored over the nation for the benefit of army and navy relief, totaled $100.

Among the awards to Mr. Hendricks were six first places on roses, and nine on gladioli. He also took first place with an arrangement on petunias.

Pampa's Prize Peaches

In the vegetable section, Mrs. C. O. Bridges led with five blue (first place) seals; in canned goods, Mrs. T. H. Kelley and Mrs. M. B. Pollard each won four blue seals.

Outstanding among fruits were the large, freestone peaches grown in Pampa by Mrs. and Mrs. J. E. Martin, 800 N. Frost.

The Pampa Garden club today thanked Supt. L. L. Sone and the Pampa Independent School district for the use of the school building for the two-day show, which opened Friday; Bob Mullen, for moving tables; Walter Rogers, Arthur Teed, for talks on radio and before civic clubs on behalf of the exhibit; Cretney Drug store for use of space to sell tickets; Radio Station KFDN and The Pampa News, publicity.

Complete results of the show follow. There is no uniformity because in some cases there was only a first award, others a second. In some cases there were four awards; in others one or more honorable mention. Name given first in the list is winner of first place, unless otherwise indicated.

Red Browder Rides Again
We have returned to normalcy. Earl Browder, secretary-general of the Communist party in the United States, again is telling us how to manage our affairs.

Truth to tell, we had been getting on quite well. There were flaws, some serious, in the conduct of our war effort, but none which had deteriorated since we were deprived of Mr. Browder's guidance.

For example, here and there local unions had been conducting sily and vicious outlaw strikes, slowdowns, "vacations," and similar unfortunate interferences with the production of badly needed armament.

But surely that was not for lack of Mr. Browder's personal attention. Because his Communist party for more than two years deliberately instigated strikes in key war industries for the purpose of slowing down our armament manufacture.

Why did Mr. Browder want to prevent us from making arms? Because they were for use against Adolf Hitler, then the ally of Russia.

Perhaps Mr. Browder did not personally instruct Communists to promote such strikes. Perhaps all he knew about them was what he read in the newspapers.

It is a matter of court record, however, that Mr. Browder made several trips to Russia. It is officially established that, in order not to make a record of those trips, he used phony names in procuring passports, for which he was convicted in federal court and sent to the penitentiary.

There are plenty of men available who will swear that they saw Mr. Browder in attendance at the Communist "universities" where sabotage, espionage and other methodology of world revolution was taught to party agents stationed in capitalist nations.

For the world, we would be uncharitable, but Earl Browder's record does not inspire trust. We feel that the democratic peoples can get along quite well without his advice and assistance.

Obviously, Red Browder is not constrained by any sense of shame to hide his head in oblivion. He insists upon foisting himself upon a public that is interested in nobler things.

Well, we're not helpless. We have a ready recourse. We can ignore Mr. Browder's completely, and look to those whose lines does not switch on orders from a foreign government.

Rubber Czar

Appointment of William M. Jeffers as rubber administrator will be judged by his accomplishments. There are those who feel that somebody familiar with the rubber business should have been selected.

The rubber shortage has been so befuddled for so long that outsiders had to be called in to assure the public that a crisis actually existed. Much has been made of the fact that most of those who did run the government's rubber agencies were graduates of the Big Four in the industry.

Perhaps it was best to get somebody against whom no possible suspicion could be cast on that score.

Nelson Comes Through

Henry Kaiser's confidence in Donald Nelson's good faith has been justified. Mr. Nelson has come through with a trial order for three super-cargo planes. Now we shall find out whether the wonder man of World War II production has taken on more than he can handle.

If Mr. Kaiser should fail, he still will remain one of the great men of this era. We do not expect him to fail. He has succeeded too often before, where lesser men could see no possibilities of success—and surely the manufacture of huge cargo planes is feasible.

The Nation's Press

WAR LABOR BOARD RESIGNATIONS ARE IN ORDER (News Week—By Ralph Robey)

It is almost impossible to conceive that anyone any longer can believe that the present National War Labor Board is competent to handle the difficult labor problem of this country during the war. By one decision after another, the board has shown in ways that leave no room for argument that it is so hopelessly prejudiced in favor of labor that it is incapable of developing a basis for its decisions which assures justice as between employers and employees, or as between labor as a whole and the public at large.

To those who have not followed the work of the board with care, this may appear to be a harsh and unjust condemnation. And certainly it will be so regarded by those who, like the majority of the Labor Board, always start with the assumption that labor is right, and that the malpractices of some of its leaders are mere child's play as compared with what employers do.

But the facts show that this is not a harsh and unjust condemnation. Examine the line of reasoning followed by the board in any of a half dozen major decisions it has handed down in the last several months, and the conclusion is inescapable that no argument is too thin and no contention is too absurd for the board to use it as a basis for supporting the demands of labor.

Consider, for example, the decision handed down a couple of weeks ago in the case of the United States Steel Corp. The points at issue in this instance were, the customary ones—higher wages and "maintenance of union," or that is, whether the employer should be forced to fire any of his employees if they were members of the union on a given date, unless they maintain their membership and continue to pay their dues, regardless of what the personal desires of the employees in question might be.

On both points the board, of course, decided in favor of labor. That was to be expected, for

I speak the pro-verbial truism: I stir the sign of democracy. By God! I will not accept nothing which will not have their counterpart of us the same terms."

WHY SOME PRIVATE CITIZENS ARE STRONG ROOSEVELT BOOSTERS

I finally got it in my head why those citizens who are not on the government payroll are still enthusiastic boosters for Roosevelt's domestic policies.

There is always a motive and a cause for every human action. Many of these citizens who are publicly proclaiming that he is a great leader do not get much, if any, direct, material reward from the government. Yet they stoutly proclaim Roosevelt is a great benefactor. Here is the reason:

Roosevelt has given these men more power than they ever had. He has given them power without responsibility. The way he has done this is their votes now have practically as much control as to how a business is run as the owner has. Through their votes, they elect men who will control the distribution of what is produced. Their representative will tell the employer how much he must pay for labor, how long the worker dare work at a fixed wage, what overtime rate he must pay, what is a day's work, who he may discharge, who he may hire, what he may sell his product for; in short, they have practically taken the management out of private enterprise.

Invariably, it will be found that these people who are so enthusiastic for Roosevelt are men who in their private lives have never had much power. They never produced much materially or were instrumental in helping people understand God's or Nature's laws. Therefore, in private life, until the New Deal came into effect, they had little power and little influence. They were lonesome. They resented this. Now since Roosevelt has given them power so that they are consulted and people try to influence them in order to get their vote, they are happy. They are being seen and heard of men. This is their norm of rightness. They seem to be important in the eyes of their fellowman.

They are, in reality, bribed by this power probably without even realizing that they are bribed.

I know of no individual who believes in the American principle that all men should be equally free; that no man should have power without responsibility, who is a booster for Roosevelt's domestic, socialistic Utopias.

Power Without Responsibility

The next time you hear a man proclaiming the bigness of heart and the greatness of Roosevelt in his domestic policies, analyze the individual and see whether he ever before has had much authority, much power, much influence in private life and whether his great admiration for Roosevelt is not due to the fact his vote now gives him power he never had before Roosevelt got laws passed giving government official power to run private business they never before had under our Constitution that limited the powers of government. These new laws give him as much power as those who had earned their power by serving their fellowman. This keeps him from being lonesome and of little importance as he was before the New Deal.

No wonder he boasts the New Deal. His foresight is so lacking that he cannot see the poverty and misery that always is sure to follow giving men without experience power without responsibility as the New Deal has been doing.

in the case of the Little Steel decision six weeks earlier (Newsweek, July 27), the same questions had been raised and the board ordered both an increase of wages and maintenance of membership. But in the present decision the board has not limited itself merely to giving a raise and union maintenance. It has ordered that the raise shall be made retroactive to last Feb. 15, and it has ordered this in spite of the fact that there was a contract between the corporation and the union covering wages up to Aug. 9, and the union previous to this latter date gave no notice, as required by the contract, of any intent to change the contractual relations.

How does the board justify this repudiation of a contract? It justifies it on the amazing grounds that "whether such notice was given is nothing but a 'legalistic consideration,' and that the failure to give such notice 'was in the best interests of maximum steel production,' because, since the case would not have been settled in twenty days, it would have resulted in 'wide-spread uncertainty and confusion to the detriment of the whole war effort.'"

Such is the sanctity of contract as seen by the Labor Board when it interferes with getting something for labor. Yet, only a few weeks ago the labor members of the board wrote an opinion in the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. case in which they said: "The company should be directed to carry out its contract solely because it made a contract and must be bound thereby."

Truly, there is no limit beyond which the members of the Labor Board will not go in order to find a means for supporting the claims of labor. So long as this situation exists, it is useless to hope for that national unity, for that complete cooperation, and for that willingness on the part of everyone to make those sacrifices which are essential to our winning the war. For the public is not blind. It knows injustice when it sees it—and it knows that it sees it almost continuously in the decisions of the War Labor Board.

The time has come, therefore, when resignations from the War Labor Board not only are in order, but are imperative in the interest of winning the war.

FREE PRESS CASE (Indianapolis News)

Another skirmish in the unending battle of the people against the courts to protect American liberty is indicated in the petition of the American Newspaper Publishers' association for reconsideration of the free press case of last June.

The case involved the right of a city to require vendors of religious literature to obtain a peddler's license. Cities in Arkansas, Alabama, and Arizona used such ordinances to forbid the sale of religious tracts. They refused to license the vendors, which enabled the police to arrest them for violating the peddler's license ordinance.

By a 5-to-4 decision, the United States Supreme court held that the ordinance did not infringe any right guaranteed by the Constitution.

The majority opinion was noteworthy for its omission of reference to the fact that the license could be denied, which gave the city the privilege of barring the sale, and for its failure to distinguish between an article of commerce and the issue of a religious press.

Chief Justice Stone and Justices Murphy, Black, and Douglas dissented. The weight of their dissent, and their notice of the press freedom guarantee of the Constitution, are among grounds that offer hope for a more enlightened consideration of the case.

POWERS: President Roosevelt needs no further sanction from Congress to commandeer on his own terms industry, organized labor, agriculture and individuals for the war effort. Only a few days ago the Government's ablest attorneys

Not even Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey's lawyers new that this all-embracing clause had been slipped into a statute supposedly designed to give F. D. R. control of military manpower. They know it now, however. The paragraphs in question authorize him to place munitions contracts with "any individual, firm, association, company, corporation or organized manufacturing industry."

INNOVATIONS: Politicians on Capitol Hill are beginning to pay close attention to the far-reaching reforms which Rexford Guy Tugwell has introduced as governor of Puerto Rico. They suspect that he is using the island as a laboratory for experiments which the Administration may apply to the mainland in the near future.

PLEASE: Many an American husband would be surprised if he knew how anxious his wife is for him to go to war. Here is a typical letter received by Selective Service officials: "Why don't you draft my old man? He hasn't earned a nickel in five years. If he were in the army, I would get at least fifty dollars a month. Please take him!"

Need On Home Front Is Spirit Of Daniel Boone
The topic will be whether in the last 17 years the local communities of these United States, the American people themselves, have become entirely too dependent on Washington.

Among the questions it raises are these: Has native American ingenuity been stifled by too much patronizing from the top down? Are the American people no longer a nation of self-starters, no longer able to solve their own local problems?

These points are made now because of two situations: First, the extremely spotty performance and results obtained in local scrap drives. Second, the local labor shortages reported from many regions throughout the country.

In seeming contradiction to the generally depressing reports on scrap drives and manpower shortages there are from some few localities reports of tremendous successful results in meeting both problems. Omaha conducts a scrap drive which attains such amazing

FRAZIER-AND-BECH CHAPTER XVII
A Good Samaritan you said Frazier-and-Bech as naturally as at table you said salt-and-pepper, bread-and-butter. You said, Frazier-and-Bech are in Pediatrics, or GYN, or Surgery; as they progressed through the months of their rotating services.

For the first time in months Candace found herself resenting it. In the beginning, longing to run away from anything or anybody that even remotely suggested Martin, she had fought bitterly against that enforced contact with Peter; but circumstances and Peter's quiet will had been too much for her.

She would have said that she had completely forgotten Martin. That he was to her now simply a doctor who had once been an interne at the hospital and was now a consulting staff member who appeared occasionally on important cases. That would be true again after tomorrow; but today he was more than that, much more. He was the man she had once loved, and who was to marry on the next day another girl.

When she had gone and Candace stood beside him he grinned at her companionably. "I'd hate to see what would happen if one of the young squirts around here got up 'boo' to you," he remarked. Candace stared frostily, raised warning eyebrows over the patient's head. "Oh, he doesn't speak English," Peter explained. "What I mean is, he went on, 'you have every man-Jack scared of you when, if only they had brains enough to see it, you're the one who's really scared. Jepperson'll be all right at night if I don't clear it, and she set quickly to work to rid the corner behind the screen of the stained swabs and gauze, leaving to Jepperson the less arduous task of passing instruments to Peter."

She had struggled hard to put their relationship on a professional, strictly impersonal basis and it had seemed that she had finally won. It was a long long while since a really personal remark had passed between them. She was angered, and wounded, that Peter should presume today of all days. She said sharply, "You're so clever, Doctor. You read me just like an open book, don't you? But then you should, since you've seen all the pages."

"Save the sarcasm," Peter advised mildly. "It's a mighty effective weapon in most cases and I've come to admire the way you use it, but I'm so thick I'd blurt it. Resent it or not, it's still sound advice for you to put that perfect dust cover on your eyes once in a while and come out for air. At least when you're off duty."

"I ever I should need or want your advice, Doctor," she said stiffly, "I'll come to you as a patient, and ask for it." Her face was white and her voice shook, but the well-trained hands that she furnished him with implements never wavered. "You must know," she broke out furiously again after a moment, "that I resent this spying on me all the time. That I hate having work done on me while I hate it. Yet you've somehow managed it on every service. Why?"

"Oh, it's for a very selfish reason," Peter said lazily. "Because you're a perfect machine. With you, one nervous tickle to be considered the personal equation. It makes things very easy—for me. I'm afraid it's bad for you, though. Keep every human emotion too long in leash and one day they'll turn on you and rend you."

Candace laughed, sharp and hard. With a deliberate effort to be insulting she said, "I never thought you'd be guilty of such cheap advice, Doctor. That emotion rending business—I thought only the cheaper internes trying to interest some nurse in a convenient affair used that one." She had succeeded in annoying him finally. "If you're insinuating that I'm advising an affair for you—I'm not. Even to an affair one must bring something; and you're fast getting to the stage where you're just an empty vessel."

"Empty vessels make most noise," she quoted. "That's what I've always told a child when I prattled too much. But it seems to me that you're the one who's doing the prattling just now. Prattling the sort of advice that goes over big with neurotic lady patients. The type of patients who really pay. You'll be a big success at that rate, Doctor." Abruptly she stopped.

There was the familiar faint squeak of the stretcher-carrage's wheels, the muted footsteps of attendants on the cork floor of the corridor. The carriage reached the door of Emergency, paused an instant to negotiate the turn, then—Martin Corby was wheeled in. (To Be Continued)

Today's War Analysis

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by Dewitt MacKenzie, Wide World war analyst, is written today by Glenn Babb. MacKenzie, seeking a shorter range view of the war, arrived in Britain last night and will resume the writing of the column tomorrow from London.)

An optimistic but anonymous Yugo official in London has likened today's frenzied situation in the Balkans to that of 1918 on the eve of the collapse of the satellite members of the Hohenzollern-Hapsburg Axis. That autumn Turkey, Bulgaria and Rumania were simply melting away. Today the threat of invasion is far away from Hungary and Rumania. The armies they have contributed to the Russian campaign are fighting from 500 to 1,000 miles from home and the promises that they are to share in the spoils of conquest, or at least have favored places in the Hitlerian new order, have the appearance of fairly sound currency. Then, too, the ties which the Axis conqueror grasps his satellites in his cause are of far tougher fibre than those of 1918, far more ruthless terrorism, greater thoroughness of political control, the all-pervading fear invoked by the Gestapo.

But signs are appearing that the one-aided alliance is suffering increasing stresses. Fear was the primary force that brought the Balkan states into the combination. Now fear is being exerted from the other side and the coalition is cracking alarmingly. Although the battlefronts are far away the war has been brought home to Bucharest, Sofia and Zagreb by the long-range bomber, American, British, Russian.

United States Liberator are known to have raided Rumania last June and there are apparently well-founded reports that the same far-ranging machines had much to do with the recent spread of air raid panic through the Axis capitals of the Balkans. If these reports are substantiated, an Italian raid brought home to the peoples of the Balkans the moral effect is likely to be tremendous.

Meanwhile the costs of the new order are mounting frightfully. Allied officials in London say Rumania's contribution, the steel of Odessa, Sevastopol and now Stalingrad, have reached the appalling total of 300,000 in dead alone. The evidence is strong that Hitler has allotted his allies a place of honor in the front ranks of those sanguinary operations. There is little doubt that that was the meaning of last week's meetings at Hitler's headquarters on the Eastern front, whether he summoned the premiers of Rumania and Croatia to tell them what more was expected of them.

Is it the stuff that wins wars. If there is a lack of this characteristic, shrewd native ingenuity—a lack of this ability of a local community to solve its own problems—things are really in a bad way. Is civilian morale shot? Is local leadership dead? Has the country in fact been regimented so rigidly from Washington that local enterprise has been killed? Are all these things true that the anti-New Dealers have been saying for the last 11 years? Does too much interference from Washington make the people soft? Have too much WPA and CCC and NYA and AAA and FSA made it impossible for the American people to fight and win the war on the home front.

Is it going to take a lot of fancy federal nursing to carry the local communities through the war? Must the civilian population be a drag on the military?

is, and Austria-Hungary one by one raised the white flag and the German surrender followed quickly. But hopes built on any imagined parallel between that September and this almost certainly will prove illusory. Undoubtedly Hitler, like the Kaiser, is having trouble keeping his lesser Allies of the southeast up to the mark. There can be no doubt that it requires the strongest kind of pressure to keep the Rumanians and Hungarians fighting side by side against the Red Army. ### Rubber Footwear To Be Rationed

Seriousness of the rubber shortage was more forcibly brought home to Pampa an dGray county today when notice was received at the local War Price and Rationing Board office that effective midnight tonight rationing of men's rubber boots and and rubber work shoes will become effective.

This step was taken to insure necessary supplies of this footwear for men working on jobs essential to the war effort or the public health and safety.

Effective tonight at midnight, OPA has ordered all sales and shipments of six types of men rubber boots and rubber work shoes frozen to prevent a buyers' run on the stocks now on hand and also give dealers time to take inventory.

All retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers of the rationed footwear are required to obtain OPA inventory forms from the Gray County War Price and Rationing Board on either Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week.

The "freeze" period will end on Monday, October 5, when rationing to customers begins. The Gray County War Price and Rationing Board will be open to workers and company purchasing agents who need certificates entitling them to buy the rationed footwear.

To get a certificate the applicant must fill out two copies of a form that will be available at the board's office in the city hall. These can be obtained by coming to the board in person, writing for them, or sending a representative.

New Evidence Hitler Has Fired Von Bock

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Recent Stockholm reports that Adolf Hitler had sacked Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, commander of the Stalingrad offensive, were given more credence here today by a broadcast-account from a Nazi war correspondent at Stalingrad which told how Col.-Gen. Hermann Von Holt was receiving "reports from his commanding generals."

Von Holt commanded the fourth German armored army in the Stalingrad area earlier this year. He led the third division in the capture of Smolensk last year and in October was elevated to command of the 17th German army.

U. S. 'Chutists Show British How It's Done

WITH THE AEP IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Sept. 29 (AP)—American parachute troops showed the British army and ulstermen how they will hit the Axis when the time comes by dropping onto Irish bogs, surprising the Tommies in large-scale battle practice recently.

Hundreds of young and tough Americans with full fighting equipment leaped from huge troop transports in this first exhibition of their skill in Northern Ireland. The presence of the American parachutists in Britain was disclosed only 10 days ago.

Long-timed British units were caught off guard by the blossoming parachutes but quickly caught up their weapons and jogged a mile to engage them.

The parachutists descended from a height of a few hundred feet with tommy guns, explosives, emergency rations and full personal equipment. Mortars, machine-guns, ammunition and signal equipment was dropped simultaneously.
