HOARDERS WARNED NOT TO STORE UP FOOD

NAZIS CAUGHT IN TRAP

Canned Goods Go On Ration In Next Month

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—You will need a ration book with your can opener beginning in February. In an extraordinary broadcast to the American people, Food Administrator Claude R. Wickard outlined plans last night to ration all canned, dried, and frozen fruits and vegetables and their juices including soups, as soon as the machinery can be set up. The purpose, as Wickard explained, is to insure an equitable distribution on the home front while supplying the armed forces and our fighting allies, who together will need about 25 per cent of all the food that we produce next year. In a warning against hoarding, the office of price administrator emphasized that consumers must list stocks on hand when registering for war ration book two, the "point" rationing book which will be used for canned goods, and later for meats and other commodities. Stamps will be deducted to cover the goods on hand before the ration book is issued. "Heavy penalties," said OPA, "are provided for any applicant who makes a false declaration of the amount of goods he has on hand." Fresh fruits and vegetables, and those preserved at home, will not be affected. Wickard, declaring that nearly half of next year's production of canned and dried fruits and vegetables...

Temperature Tumbles To 11 Above In Pampa

It was so cold in Pampa over the week-end that even the weatherman was ready to call it quits. Ray M. Wells, who is an employe of the local U. S. Weather bureau station, tried to get a taxi to go from his home to the station, which is located at the Pampa airport. He couldn't get one, so he walked. Today, he's at home with two badly frozen ears. This morning it was colder than it was Sunday with the thermometer registering 11 above early today, while Sunday's low was 25 degrees. The norther hit Pampa around midnight Saturday. By daylight snow had piled in drifts all over the city and surrounding area. The storm here was a part of the over-cast area that extended to Clarendon, Childress, Wichita Falls, Vernon, north to Spearman and Perryton, and east to Western Oklahoma. Bus schedules out of Pampa were expected to be back to normal today. Sunday it was necessary to cancel bus trips to and from Pampa and Childress, and Pampa and Oklahoma City. Telephone linemen from Amarillo and from Clovis, N. M., were still at work today repairing damage caused by the high winds and ice that broke down communication lines to Amarillo, Spearman, and Perryton. Many telegrams had to be sent by a round-about way yesterday. Minor difficulties of the same nature were experienced by the local telephone exchange. Linemen of the Southwestern Public Service company were at work yesterday and today repairing damage to lines. There were five "whiteouts" (street lights) out of operation at one intersection in Pampa this forenoon. Electric lights were out for brief periods over Pampa twice Sunday morning.

More Cold Coming In Wake Of Texas First Cold Snap

By The Associated Press. Continued cold weather was forecast for Texas Monday after a whistling norther sent temperatures tumbling over the state Sunday. Memphis, Tenn., reported that Saturday's windstorm, counted five dead and several injured in Rusk county. The norther swept as far south as Laredo, bringing a blizzard to Childress and snow to Abilene, San Angelo, and Electra. Low temperatures were reported in Beaumont, Austin, Fort Worth, Dallas and Wichita Falls. To Dallas, the norther brought a drizzle of rain. In southeast Rusk county, the windstorm did what it did in a matter of minutes. A blizzard, which killed Will Mayfield and his wife; two children of John Hartfield, and the young son of Chester Yarbrough, Rastus Barr and three children were in a hospital at Henderson. In southeast Rusk county, the windstorm did what it did in a matter of minutes. A blizzard, which killed Will Mayfield and his wife; two children of John Hartfield, and the young son of Chester Yarbrough, Rastus Barr and three children were in a hospital at Henderson. Similar disturbances were experienced in the counties of Tarrant, Trinity counties, and other parts of the north. The windstorm that cut a seven mile swath through Tarrant county, east of Cookville, injured several persons. Just over the Trinity county line 10 miles from McKinney a twister wrecked one roadside tavern, damaged another. Several more persons were injured at Appleby, Nacogoches county when a slashing wind reportedly damaged every structure in the community. The post office was flattened and all communication lines in the vicinity were affected.

Russia Ready To Snap Jaws At Stalingrad

By JAMES M. LONG. Associated Press War Editor. The Red Army was reported today swiftly drawing shut a second and still larger circle of entrapment around the Nazis in the salient to Stalingrad, threatening uncounted new German forces with the fate of the 22 divisions already declared hemmed in and doomed. The jaws of the new trap were said to be only 45 miles apart northeast of Tsimlyansk, on the lower Don, mid-way between Rostov and Stalingrad. As the Russian comeback offensive surged ahead in the bitter cold on all four major fronts on Hitler's eastern flank, the correlated Allied sweep across North Africa pressed to within 180 miles of Tripoli, where Marshal Rommel's retreating columns were reported streaming on into Tunisia for a last stand. In every phase of fighting, on land and in the air, from the Russian front to North Africa, the Allies were keeping to the attack and the Axis battled for time, on the defensive. The continued British advance upon Tripoli was announced in a Cairo communique which said "yesterday our troops were in contact with the enemy in the Wadi Bel El Chebir area, 40 miles west of Sirte." That represented a thrust of almost half the distance to Tripoli from El Aghelia since Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth Army overran that Libyan defense line two weeks ago. From both sides, Allied bombers battered the Axis-held ports of Tunisia in hard week-end blows. Flying Fortresses pounded Bizerte and Sfax. Only two of the big bombers were lost, and two ships at Sfax were reported sunk. The Cairo communique announced raids Saturday night on Tunis and Sousse. On the mud-clogged Tunisian land front, Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud's French North African troops...

Canned and bottled vegetables and vegetable juices. Asparagus, baby foods, beans, fresh lima, beans, green and wax, all canned and bottled dry varieties, including baked beans, soaked dry beans, pork-and-beans, kidney beans and lentils; peas, including pickled; carrots, corn, peas, sauerkraut, spinach, tomatoes, tomato catsup and chili sauce, tomato juice, all other tomato products, all other canned and bottled vegetables; vegetable juices, and combinations. Other processed foods. Canned soups, all types and varieties. Dried, hydrated fruits: prunes, raisins, all others. Frozen fruits: cherries, peaches, strawberries, other berries, all other frozen fruits. Frozen vegetables: asparagus, beans, lima, beans, green and wax, broccoli, corn, peas, spinach, all other frozen vegetables. The following items are not included: Canned fruits, chili con carne, frozen fruits in containers over 10 pounds, frozen vegetables in containers over 10 pounds, fruit cakes, fruit juices in containers over one gallon, fruit puddings, jams, jellies, meat stews containing some vegetables, olives, paste products, (such as spaghetti, macaroni, noodles) whether or not they are packed with added vegetable sauces; pickles, potato salad, preserves, relishes, vegetable juices in containers over one gallon.

Ger. DeGaulle May Soon Come To U. S.

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle probably will visit Washington soon to lay the blueprint of a new French government before President Roosevelt then proceed to North Africa to see Gen. Henri Giraud, successor to Admiral Jean Darlan, well-informed quarters said today. The creation of a new French government, centered probably at Algiers, based on the repudiation of the armistice with Germany and Vichy's dissolution of the French republic, was said to be among the aims of the Fighting French leader. De Gaulle is described as "very anxious" to unite all diverse French elements and bring about a general mobilization of the fighting forces of North Africa and other parts of the French empire. His plan coincides with the report that Albert Lebrun, president of the republic until the armistice, has escaped to Switzerland, a report that has been denied in Vichy, however. Although the departure of De Gaulle for Washington has not yet been scheduled, reliable informants said they believed that the program for conferences with President Roosevelt and other American authorities already had been set and that the Fighting French leader might leave England soon. The position of De Gaulle in the blueprint he will carry has not been discussed, sources close to the fighting French leader said. But it was understood that he...

Panhandle Towns Honor Major Daley

Pampa, Canadian, and Amarillo will honor Major Jimmie Daley, former member of the American Expeditionary Force in the RAP, now a major in the United States army air force.

He will be given a banquet at 7:30 tonight at the Herring hotel in Amarillo. Canadian, the birthplace of the major, plans a party for the ace, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Daley, and sister Joan Daley, to visit the city sometime before January 3, on invitation of the Canadian Rotary club. The Pampa Rotarians will have the major and his father as special guests here at a luncheon program at noon Wednesday.

Ceiling Price On Flour To Be Boosted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Senator Reed (R-Kas) predicted today that the office of price administration soon would find it necessary to increase the ceiling price on flour to avert a threatened bread shortage. The Kansas senator declared that because of a price squeeze, 90 per cent of the state's flour mills had quit taking orders three or four weeks ago. He pointed out that wheat was selling at $1.22 a bushel in Kansas City when price ceilings were set on flour, but now brings about $1.31. He said it was likely that OPA would permit an increase of about 58 cents a barrel on flour, which would mean a rise of about 12 cents a bushel on wheat when reflected back to the farmer. High administration officials were reported to have agreed to such an increase in the flour ceiling coupled with a proviso that the Commodity Credit Corporation be allowed to sell 150,000,000 bushels of government-owned wheat at not less than the market price on the day of approval of legislation granting permission to do so.

Private Killed On Christmas Furlough

BLACKLAND ARMY FLYING SCHOOL, WACO, Dec. 28 (AP)—A Christmas furlough meant death for Private Prentiss L. Tubbs, 20, of Moline, Tex. Stationed at Blackland, Tubbs was killed Christmas Eve when a privately-owned motorcycle he was riding overturned enroute to Gatesville. Announcement of his death was released today by the field's public relations officer.

28 Killed, 119 Hurt In Train Crash In Canada

ALMONTE, Ont., Dec. 28 (AP)—Twenty-eight holiday passengers were killed and 119 injured, many critically, when the locomotive of a Canadian Pacific troop train plowed through the three wooden cars of a local train standing in the station last night, officials of the railway said today. A corrected casualty list was released by the railway after earlier reports had listed a total of 232 casualties, including 32 dead. Virtually all the dead and injured were in the three coaches which were taking aboard men, women and children at Almonte on the run from Pembroke, Ont., to Ottawa. The troop train was only slightly damaged. It was moving from the Petawawa military camp. Throughout the night, in the flickering light of a bonfire built from the wreckage of the smashed cars, rescue workers toiled to release trapped passengers and remove the dead. Scattered in the deep snow were reminders of the recent holiday festivities, torn bundles in the brilliant color of Christmas wrappings. Although civilians made up the bulk of the casualties, at least six soldiers were among the dead.

Domestic Economy Still Faces Changes

Author of the following article on changing business practices is the chief of the Business Structure Unit of the U. S. Department of Commerce. By WALTER F. CROWDER. The necessary gearing of the business world to the insistent demands of war is requiring sweeping changes in business practices. The very framework within which operating business was conducted is being changed daily. Wartime control measures that have been instituted to bring about the transition of our economy from a peacetime to a war basis have changed the nature of the business in which business is conducted. The basic shift in the pattern of production sets the stage and is the conditioning factor in the transition from peace to war on the economic front. In 1939 the gross national product was approximately $88 billion. And it is estimated that in 1943 the aggregate output of goods and services will total $175 billion. This increased enormously in response to war demands. Toward New Peak. In 1939 the gross national product was approximately $88 billion. ODT Branch Now Open In Pampa Pampa now has its own office of defense transportation branch with Ernest E. Reynolds, member of the board of examiners of the Amarillo ODT district today establishing his headquarters in the Schnetzer hotel lobby, where Examiner Reynolds will be available for interviews daily from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Starting the branch here makes it possible for commercial vehicle operators to obtain personal interviews on their problems of adjustment of certificates of war necessity. Requests for adjustments should be made promptly by operators who find mileage and fuel allotments insufficient. N. F. Nelson said today, Mr. Nelson is district director of the Amarillo ODT district. See ODT, page 6.

Rommel Soon To Have His Back Up Against Wall

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating African corps was rapidly approaching Misurata today and there it must decide either to make a stand or give up all Mussolini's Tripolitania and join the Axis forces in Tunisia where pelting rains kept Allied and Axis armies at a standstill. Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery reported in a Cairo communique that his British Eighth Army had engaged Rommel's rearguard in the region of Wadi Bel El Chebir, 40 miles west of Sirte and only about 15 miles east of Buzat El Hsu. The Libyan shore bends northward there toward Misurata and forms a huge hump in the coastline. Flanking marshlands and hills in the immediate stretch ahead gave Marshal Rommel his most advantageous position to stop and fight since his defeated army pulled up stakes at El Aghelia, 230 miles east of Buzat El Hsu. If Rommel abandons the Misurata positions, he has no place to stop short of Tripoli and even there he perhaps can make no prolonged stand. Although he might save men and See ROMMEL, page 6.

Gasoline Shortage

The gasoline rationing fiasco in the eastern seaboard area is one of those episodes about which criticism should not be offered too hastily. It is perhaps the most-up-to-the-minute, before-you-begin-scoolding variety.

Time enough having elapsed for consideration and inquiry, it seems opportune now to inquire whether there was any justification for the overnight stoppage of deliveries in 17 states and the District of Columbia on all except commercial ration books.

If the crisis was one of panic only, or if it was real but badly mismanaged, then it is a tipoff on what can be expected in connection with other rationing whenever something goes wrong temporarily.

The President's explanation that there was an emergency need to ship gasoline to the fighting front, which required taking it from the eastern seaboard's supply, seems logical.

In that event, one wonders whether the necessary tanker convoy could have been gotten together in less than a week—and what was being done in Washington during that week to cushion the shock of the blow that was about to fall.

Suppose on the other hand that the shortage arose rather gradually because more gasoline was being distributed than was being brought into the area. In that case, is there any excuse for the crisis having crept up on the large federal paid staff, paid to handle such matter, so as to force a complete shutdown overnight?

Every motorist in the east is aware that there is a black market in gasoline for those willing to pay the price and unpatriotic enough to do so. The coupons supporting that market are generally believed to come from T and S book holders.

If that is true, the very classes who created a black market that contributed to the crisis were the only classes permitted to buy gasoline during the emergency.

The best-informed petroleum experts have felt for some time that the basic gasoline ration in the east has to be cut to two gallons if essential needs are to be met. They are convinced that this, and control over the black market, could have averted the moratorium.

Rationing is very complicated and irritating. The public is entitled to a straightforward explanation and to a revision of the setup which not only will prevent recurrence of the gasoline crisis, but will safeguard against similar occurrences, nation-wide, in connection with other critical commodities.

The Nation's Press

DEPLETING OUR MANPOWER (The Daily Oklahoman)

Is there not some sensible and effective way for our governing authorities to simplify and reduce the number of vexatious reports which every citizen who is in business is forever required to fill out and forward to Washington?

It is reported on competent authority that everyone of the 1,400,000 persons who sell food to the public is required to fill out for federal inspection 25 man-sized reports every month. And now the mother of all reports is added to the lot.

Every one of those more than a million food dispensers must fill out a report that is so extensive and all comprehending that no time will be left for any other labor at all. The principal duty of all those 1,400,000 food dealers will be filling out reports for the dusty and neglected archives at Washington.

And what is true of the food dispensers is true to some extent of most of the business people of the country. They have but little if any time left for the demands of their own business. They have practically no time left to help win the war. It is impossible for them to work intelligently for national victory; they must devote full time making out interminable reports to the Washington bureaus.

It is not so much a question of personal irritation. It is a question of consuming the working days of literally millions of people at a time when an alarming shortage of manpower is being proclaimed to the housepots and when government admits that there is not sufficient manpower to do the work that must be done if we are to win the war. It is a serious thing indeed when so many citizens are kept so busy gratifying the report lust of bureaucrats that they have no time left to help win the war.

Grant that these reports are considered necessary by the multiplied departments. Grant that the bureaus think that they are serving the national cause when they call for all these reports. The fact remains that millions of citizens are kept out of productive work or war-winning efforts by the ceaseless demands of the bureaus for more and more reports. Is it not possible for the government to simplify this program and check this amazing inroad upon the country's depleted manpower?

WPA RECORD

(Indianapolis News)

The President has issued an order for "the prompt liquidation of the affairs of the works progress administration, thereby conserving a large amount of the funds appropriated for this organization." The demand for war labor has reduced the WPA in most communities to a mere agency for keeping politicians on the federal payroll as WPA executives. The order will shift a lot of these people to useful work.

WPA is the successor of CWA, which was the successor of FERA. All were cut to the same terms. The Hoover administration had set up the RFC to finance industry with a view to creating employment. But the market did not develop. The country was facing the dole. Both Mr. Hoover and the New Deal were opposed to the dole. The New Deal elected to try what amounted to a

OUR OBLIGATION TO FREE THE DISTRESSED

Of course, every humane person would like to reduce as much misery and suffering and poverty as possible resulting from the war and from lack of government.

But if other nations can have forms of government that cause undue poverty, misery and suffering and eventually leads them to the war, possibly suffering is the only thing that will cause them to improve their government. Of course, if we have, by tariffs and immigration laws, been somewhat responsible for their wars, we have a moral obligation.

In the long run, however, we can reduce poverty and suffering more by improving our own government and removing the laws that discriminate against other people living in other parts of the world rather than by attempting to continue our own errors and raise enough food and clothing to feed the rest of the world.

We can teach and help better by example than we can by interfering with the natural rights that belong to other human beings and then attempting to feed them.

It looks as if the administration is undertaking the impossible—something that will pull down the whole structure. Our hearts seem to be on the poverty and misery of other countries rather than on our own misdeeds. No nation in all the world was ever able to feed and take care of the rest of the world. To undertake it will eventually so weaken our own nation and people as to be easy prey for a nation that is not so emotional.

WHY CONSERVING PROPERTY IS IMPORTANT

There are different ideas as to why property should be conserved. The New Dealers misconstrue the real important motive of conserving property. The different motives are expressed clearly by Irving Babbitt some 18 years ago:

"The conservative nowadays is interested in conserving property for its own sake and not, like Burke, in conserving it because it is an almost indispensable support of personal liberty, a genuinely spiritual thing. As for the progressive, his preoccupation with property and what he conceives to be its just distribution amounts to a morbid obsession. Orderly party government will become increasingly difficult if we continue to move in this direction, and we shall finally be menaced by class war, if, indeed, we are not menaced by it already. Every student of history is aware of the significance of this particular symptom in a democracy. One may sum up what appears to be our total trend at present by saying that we are moving through an orgy of humanitarianism towards a decadent imperialism."

FREE INSTITUTIONS AND UP-LIFTERS

As we are getting more and more up-lifters in our government, we should take cognizance of the remark made some 18 years ago by Irving Babbitt. I quote:

"If we do not develop a sounder type of vision than that of our 'uplifters' and 'forward-lookers', the history of free institutions in this country is likely to be short, and, on the whole, discreditable. Surely the first step is to perceive that the alternative to a constitutional liberty is not a legalistic millennium, but a triumph of anarchy followed by a triumph of force. The time may come, with the growth of a false liberalism, when a predominant element in our population, having grown more and more impatient of the ballot box and representative government, of constitutional limitations and judicial control, will display a growing eagerness for 'direct action'. This is the propitious moment for the imperialistic leader."

SUBSIDIES MISUSED

(The Wall Street Journal)

Payment of subsidies to protect price ceilings is growing. Now cheese-makers are to be donated 3 1/2 cents a pound of their product (out of the public funds) on condition that they pass it along to dairy farmers in the price paid them for milk.

So the Treasury is to pay part of the cost of cheese eaten by millions of persons well able to pay for what they eat. It may be that a few cheese eaters are poor. Not only these but every other consumer of the yellow delicacy will be "on relief" every time he munches a cheese sandwich or buns a mousetrap.

War or no war, subsidies to producers are justified only when they make possible production of an essential material not otherwise obtainable. Some copper mines cannot be worked if they get only 12 cents a pound for the metal, so they are properly paid more without disturbing the ceiling price over the lower-cost mines. But the cheese subsidy is different. The Department of Agriculture offers to apply it to all cheese of American manufacture.

Price ceilings which need and get subsidy protection are not ceilings but plain frauds. They do not control prices but only conceal price increases from the public gaze. Our publicists worry a great deal about a $15 billion inflationary gap which (so Randolph Paul of the Treasury says) must be taken out of the hands of income recipients in some manner to curb consumer spending. Well, now the Government will help and encourage people to spend their income for cheese and some other subsidized commodities instead of buying war bonds.

If the dairy farmers are entitled to more for their milk than they are getting, why should the Treasury stand the increase instead of millions of well-paid cheese eaters of the farm? The defenders of subsidies assert that they save consumers many times what they cost the Treasury. That is not true of any subsidy paid to all producers of a given commodity. They receive, because of the subsidy, only the amount of the subsidy, which is all that need be added to the aggregate consumers' bill to render the industry self-sustaining without Treasury funds.

This cheese affair is important, not because of the money involved, but because it illustrates an error of policy which can make a farce of price control. Beyond that, as President Eric Johnston of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce warned the Farm Bureau Federation members the other day, Government farm subsidies threaten the farmer with still more rigorous control of his activities.

News Behind The News The National Whirligig

PEACE: The National Association of Manufacturers within a few days will present a thirty-four point program of business practices recommended as the basis for a sound postwar period. This will be one answer to those detractors who charge that the program is merely a list of wishes.

(The ace portrayed "seven hungry pairs of eyes" watching him cut up four little oranges, their only food.) Housewives were peeved because butter for the turkey feast is scarce. It was taken by the Army, and creamery men have been drafted. Some grocers doled out a quarter pound per family. Many customers were insulted and stamped out when offered oleomargarine.

(The great hero pictured near madness and finally death approaching his agonized companions.) Unexpected demands of the African A.E.F. caused a gasoline shortage. Taxis were permitted to run only six miles a day and they used up their quotas early. By three p. m. it was difficult for rich passengers to catch cabs in the de luxe Fifth Avenue store district. Police-men state that the martyrs were furious about the hardships. Some were contented to walk a couple of blocks to the subway.

LOGS: Timoshenko has a double-barreled objective in his irruption from the middle Don. The most sensational aim is obvious. He hopes to reach the Sea of Azov and not only bag the Stalingrad besiegers but also catch the Caucasus frebooters in the biggest trap ever sprung in this struggle.

His second purpose is to win back the Dniezok cast fields. An English engineer now in New York who was recently in Moscow discloses that Soviet economists consider the loss of these mines one of the worst blows dealt to the Russian war effort. It is estimated that the 1942 output of all U.S.S.R. pits did not exceed fifty-five million tons. During the same period the Nazis dug out or purchased two hundred million tons.

LYRICIST GRABLE

Betty Grable has written the lyrics to a song, "That Day at the Beach," which will be used in her next film, "Pin Up Girl." A film chorus cutie, Marjorie Jackson, wrote the music.

There's an argument at Columbia over who will get top billing on "Our Friend Curly," Rita Hayworth or Humphrey Bogart.

Slight of the month: Bulky Laird Cregar in a henna job and a permanent make for his role in "Hello, Frisco, Hello."

It happened at the Hollywood Canteen. A soldier, waiting outside for admittance, asked one of the hostesses if there were any celebrities inside. "There's Hedy Lamarr," said the girl. "Is that all?" asked the soldier. "Listen," said the hostess. "Isn't Hedy Lamarr enough for you?" The soldier pushed back his cap and said, "Listen, sister. I could date Lamarr, Lana Turner, and Rita Hayworth with Ann Sheridan as a chaser."

LYNN BARI is suffering from a new kind of film ailment—chafed shoulders. As a glamour girl of 1930 in "Hello, Frisco, Hello," she wears an evening gown that weighs exactly 41 pounds. Two thin straps on her shoulders did the damage. "Thanking Pat O'Brien for an autographed picture, Capt. Jack W. Hayes, Jr., pilot of a Flying Fortress, wrote the star. Today's War Analysis

By DeWitt Mackenzie

NEW DELHI, Dec. 27 (Delayed)—Looking back from nine months to the black days when the sprawling sub-continent of India was unprepared to defend itself against a Japanese invasion it's good to be able to report with certainty that this great empire's security is no longer a cause of anxiety.

Of course the defense of India is still a matter of concern, just as is the defense of England, or our own United States for that matter. There always must be an element of danger so long as the Mikado's barbarians are sitting just across the Bay of Bengal in Burma.

However, we can say that Hindustan today is so well set for military action that it feels capable of dealing with any emergency. The time of complete helplessness has passed. I arrived in the Indian capital last night and the first thing I did was to check on the military situation to make sure it looked as good as close range as it has from a distance. It seems even better here where we are up against actualities.

India has a big army of at least a million under arms here at home apart from the hundreds of thousands of men who are fighting overseas. The training of new troops is proceeding well. Other defensive projects are said to be in an equally satisfactory condition.

So far as concerns the possibility of a Japanese invasion, the reader of this column will recall that from the outset of the Nipponese conquests in Indonesia and Burma that the Japanese had been ordered to make for the Indian sub-continent. This estimate was based on the undoubted fact that an invasion would not be strategically sound except from the standpoint of some emergency such as might develop, for example, in the Russo-German theater.

The Japs already had overrun all and maybe more than they could hope to digest. So why ask for trouble by trying to swallow giant India. The Nipponese military leaders will steal all they can get away with, but the intimations have been that they are trying not to let their eyes get bigger than their stomachs.

Still there always was the bare possibility that Hitler might persuade his allies to strike at India in order to help his Caucasus drive or that some other circumstance might impel them to cross the Bay of Bengal. Therefore, it is a matter of immense satisfaction to see these contingencies recede into the dim shadows.

There undoubtedly is another sort of invasion which the Japanese are attempting. That is the conquest of propaganda. Every effort is being made to create disaffection among the people of India, but the average native of this country has no delusions about his fate at the hands of the Japs if they ever get a hold here. The morale of the army is said to be air-tight.

India's presently vastly improved position is due not only to her own growing strength, but to the weakening of Japanese resources. Thanks for this must go to the operations of United States forces and their Allies in the Pacific.

Japan's heavy losses in aircraft, warships and cargo boats have greatly weakened her striking power and limited the range of her activities. In order to invade India on a big scale, the Japs must have control of the Bay of Bengal—please get out those maps I talk so much about—both in the air and on the water.

They must have transport ships with which to move their troops, equipment and supplies. These requisites would appear to be beyond their reach at this time. Certainly the Anglo-American air forces have superiority in the air definitely although they lack absolute control over the raids on Calcutta last week.

There is still another point in India's favor which I mentioned last week in a dispatch from Cairo. Every day the Allies come nearer to driving the Axis into the sea from Northern Africa, so much nearer do we come to the time when the Mediterranean will be opened again for shipping. This will mean that India no longer will have to depend on the long haul from Britain and the United States around South Africa for her war supplies. That will give

Scouts To Sponsor Clare Tree Major Play On Tuesday

Pampa Girl Scouts are sponsoring the holiday appearance of the Clara Tree Major players in "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm" here Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Junior High school auditorium.

This enchanting story of Rebecca Rowena Randall, "the liveliest" of seven children, who leaves her completely satisfactory albeit poor home, Sunny Brook Farm, to go live with two persimmonous old maid aunts. The aunts offer to give one of the girls education but prefer Hannah, the oldest and silent, even a bit hum drum daughter. However, since it is impossible for the over-worked mother to get along without Hannah, Rebecca is chosen to take advantage of the aunt's offer. Her position in life, schooling and church privileges being generally conceded to be "the making of Rebecca."

Her impulsive ways and quaint manners endear her to old and young alike and she makes many friends. However, living with Aunt Miranda is a task an older and experienced person might have qualified. Aunt Jane is sweeter and altogether more considerate. As the story unfolds it grows more interesting and no one can help suffering or laughing with Becky as the case may be.

Tickets may be obtained from any Girl Scout or at the door of the Junior High auditorium on Tuesday afternoon.

Allies Smash Last
Jap Defense At Buna

ALIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 28 (AP)—Allied troops storming heavily-fortified, bunker-type defenses are steadily smashing the last Japanese lines at Buna in New Guinea, the Allied command announced today in a communique which also disclosed that American P-38 fighters had made their debut on that front with a smashing victory over enemy aircraft.

Hammering ceaselessly at Japanese remnants trapped in a coastal strip in the Buna area, Allied troops attacking from the left have driven a wedge into the enemy's defense system, and on the right "important enemy gun emplacements have been taken," the communique reported.

The Japanese are staging last-ditch resistance, declared the communique.

Miss Dowell And Kenneth Dyer Wed On Christmas Eve

Special To The NEWS

McLEANS, Dec. 28.—Miss Joyce Dowell became the bride of Kenneth Dyer in an impressive double ring candlelight ceremony solemnized Thursday evening, December 24, at 9 o'clock in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Dyer, with the Rev. J. W. Myrore officiating.

The bride wore a navy blue frock trimmed in pink with black accessories. For "something old" she wore the laveliere which her mother wore when she was married and for "something new" she wore a black lace butterfly in her hair. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Hazel Dyer of Houston, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Dyer wore a navy dress trimmed in white with a corsage of white carnations.

Serving as best man was Thomas Bailey of the United States Coast Guard, who is stationed at Galveston.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Dowell of McLean, is a graduate of McLean High school. She attended Hardin-Simmons college at Abilene.

The bridegroom attended McLean High school.

Attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Dowell and son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Vester Dowell, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Dyer, B. Dowell, grandfather of the bride; W. M. Smith, grandfather of the bridegroom; and James Wiley Dyer, all of McLean; Odell Dyer of Dallas; and Bobby Clyde Dyer of Orange.

Dinner was served on Christmas day at the home of the bridegroom's parents in honor of the couple.

GALLUP, N. M., (AP)—Place a big rooster in a burlap bag and put it under the hood at night.

This procedure, ranchers told a neighboring Indian, would keep the frost off the motor and make the car easy to start in the morning. Well, it didn't, because there weren't any spark plugs, plug wires, or any fan belt by the time morning rolled around.

The Indian, they explained, didn't have a rooster. He substituted a goat.

420 Die Over Long Holiday Weekend

By The Associated Press

At least 420 persons met death by violence in the United States during the long holiday weekend, as the nation observed its second Christmas of the war.

War-time duties and restrictions sharply reduced motor travel, yet highway accidents slightly mounted until no fewer than 258 lives were lost in the four-day period beginning Christmas eve and ending early today.

The traffic death rate was far under last year, however, when 334 such deaths had been reported by dawn of Dec. 26.

Highest toll was reported in California where 55 persons were killed, 40 of them in traffic accidents.

Deaths by states included: Oklahoma, 1 traffic; Texas, 3 traffic.

Put VICKS PLAN To Work Today!

Medically-Supervised Tests Show How Simple Home Plan CUT SICKNESS FROM COLDS MORE THAN 50%

Fewer colds... Shorter colds... 50% less sickness from colds! —that's the certified record of Vicks Plan in a great medically-supervised winter test among 2650 children. Right in your own home, this easy guide may do less—or it may even do more for you and your family. But with colds on a rampage, this tested plan is certainly worth trying today! Get full details in your package of Vicks.

IT'S EASY—HERE'S WHAT YOU DO

Observe A Few Simple Health Rules. Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Avoid crowds and people who have colds.

At First Sniffle or Sneeze, put a few drops of clinic-tested Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. Use as directed in package. This specialized medication is expressly designed to aid your natural defense against colds—and if used in time, Va-tro-nol helps prevent many colds from developing. (Even when your head is all stuffed up from a head cold, Vicks Va-tro-nol relieves distress, makes breathing easier.)

If a Cold Does Develop, or Slips By Precautions, rub clinic-tested Vicks VapoRub on back, as well as on throat and chest. VapoRub penetrates to the cold-congested upper bronchial tubes with soothing medicinal vapors. It stimulates throat, chest, and back surfaces like a warming poultice. This penetrating-stimulating action works for hours to relieve miseries of colds... even while you sleep!

NOTE: If the miserable symptoms of the cold are not relieved promptly—or if more serious trouble seems to threaten—call in your family doctor.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART

Simply because they are polite enough not to broadcast their observations and reactions to everything they notice about us women, don't think the men aren't unobtrusively serving of details when they look us over.

"What is there about women that most annoys you?" an average young suburban commuter was asked.

"Dirty necks" was the astonishing answer. Well, it wasn't as bad as it sounded. He admitted that he didn't see many dirty necks. The laconic answer was just his way of saying that he DID see a great deal of inexcusable personal grubbiness.

And you can see it, too, if you keep your eyes open. You'll see a few dirty necks. You'll see more necks, actually clean, but giving the impression that they are dark with grime because the owner uses a too-light face powder and stops it at the jaw-line, creating an ugly light- and dark-contrast between face and neck.

You don't have to be a hawk-eyed detective to see too many hands that are just plain dirty—although the lacquered fingernails give evidence of long and loving care. And, conversely, you'll see many nails with the lacquer chipped and scabby-looking.

You'll see avoidable blemishes, born of insufficient or inefficient use of cleansing agents. You'll see dusty-looking hair and shoulders powdered with dandruff. You'll see...

Allied Aviators Knock Japs Down

By The Associated Press

Allied air power, on the offensive across the southwest Pacific from Burma to the Solomon Islands, was credited today with knocking down 33 to 36 Japanese airplanes, damaging at least four ships and bombing eight or more Japanese bases in weekend attacks.

These underlined the grim warning which the Japanese people were given by their premier and war minister, Gen. Hideki Tojo, that "The real war is starting from now."

Tojo, in an address to the diet, said Japan faced hard military problems at the outposts of her stretched warfront and declared that Japan was busy day and night "providing against air raids and preparing for future war developments."

He mentioned the Aleutians, Burma, the Solomons and New Guinea as scenes of potential United Nations counter-offensives and estimated that the Allies had 1,000,000 troops and 600 aircraft in India.

Outnumbered more than three to one, 12 of the swift American pursuit planes engaged a force of 25 fighters and 15 bombers. A communique from Allied headquarters in Australia said the Lightnings

MODERN MENUS

By MRS GAYNOR MADDOX

Cheese sauce can play a tasty and important part in your wartime menus. It has definite food value and of course, because of the cheese and milk, adds complete protein. Learn to use it with appropriate foods, such as vegetables, toasted sandwiches and egg dishes.

Basic Cheese Sauce
(About 2 cups)

Two tbs. butter or other table fat, 2 tbs. flour, 2 cups milk, or diluted evaporated milk or hydrated skim milk, salt and white pepper to taste, 1/2 to 1 cup grated American cheese, paprika.

Melt butter or other fat, slowly stir in flour. Blend thoroughly. Slowly add liquid, a little at a time, stirring while mixture thickens. Bring to boil once, then keep hot over very low heat. Add 1/2 to 1 cup grated American cheese, paprika, salt and pepper, and stir over low heat until cheese is melted and thoroughly blended.

Vary your cheese sauce according to dish. A little dry mustard adds piquancy; a few drops of Worcestershire sauce gives it extra taste. Finely chopped green pepper goes well with the sauce, too.

If the frost hasn't halted the movement of cauliflower by the time you read this article, try this wonderful combination.

Cauliflower with Cheese Sauce
(Serves 4 to 6)

One medium cauliflower, 2 cups cheese sauce, 1/2 cup toasted almonds.

Parboil cauliflower. Drain. Separate into large clusters. Arrange clusters in buttered baking dish. Pour cheese sauce over cauliflower. Sprinkle top with the almonds. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) until browned. Serve very hot.

BEANO THINKS

CHAPTER IX

MYRA returned to the kitchen, where she had been distracting Beano with freshly baked mince pies for which she had discovered he had a weakness and a great capacity.

"Funny," she said. "People phoning from Montreal all this way for nothing?"

"Yeah," replied Beano with a pie in each hand.

"There's a cup of coffee on the stove to wash it down," said Myra.

"A guy gets hungry up in this town," said Beano.

"Lots of ice here later on," said Myra.

"I'll bet," said Beano.

"Cold stuff, ice," said Myra.

"Yeah."

"Funny how you read about hot ice."

"Yeah, in books."

"Sure, in books," echoed Myra.

"You read books?"

"Not with hot ice in 'em." Then Beano laughed at what he thought was his own private joke.

He did not realize Myra was sharing it.

"Funny how wrong calls come through. That ever hear of him?"

Beano shook his head. It obviously didn't register.

"Said he was from the National Insurance Company."

Beano dropped the mince pie straight in his coffee, then picked it out as it disintegrated in his fingers.

"What was that," he asked hoarsely.

"National Insurance Company. That's the limit, trying to sell insurance on Christmas Eve."

"Selling insurance. You sure of that?"

"Maybe he wanted to buy some ice." She said it casually, pretending not to look at Beano, but she saw from the corners of her eyes that his face took on an expression of a deflated balloon.

"You said ice. Did he say that?"

"Sure, he didn't I was kidding. Let's join the others." She left him, but Beano stayed. She was sure now, and she was also sure she held more strings of the developing climax than even Benny or Beano.

Beano stayed behind in the kitchen, suddenly smitten with a sense of great tragedy. Here he was at the peak of his life, with wealth and what is more, the love of a good woman and he could feel the pursuit at his heels. He was torn with anguish. Just as he was about to go straight for the rest of his life with the most beautiful girl in the world as his own, he was about to be trapped.

Beano McCluskey had to get rid of that ice quickly. After all, if he didn't have it they couldn't pin anything on him. So Beano reasoned, and he figured that if Leona had half of it she might as well have the other half.

He could leave it in her room when nobody was looking, in some of that fancy paper they were wrapping the kids' presents in, a little something from you know who and don't let anyone know you've got it, it's hot.

On second thought it would be better not to let her know it was hot.

At that moment Benny slipped into the kitchen with a swift look behind him to see no one else was following.

"Leona, studying house-keeping?"

"Just looking around."

"Around what?"

"Around the kitchen," said Beano. "Nice kitchen."

"Yeah, clean. Nice mince pies, have one?"

"No thanks, Benny."

"Don't thank me. What are these? Huh-huh, sausage rolls, what do you think of that? Nice too, have one?"

"No thanks, Benny."

"Don't thank me, pass me that plate of cookies, have one, no?"

"No thanks, Benny."

"No thanks. Someone been teaching you manners? Wouldn't be Leona, would it?"

"Them's natural."

"I see you been teaching her a few things."

"Gee, she learns quick." There was a touch of reverence in Beano's voice.

"Them kind do. What you teaching her?"

"Same as I'm learning, anatomy."

"She's got enough already. You would be teaching her anything else, would you? Nothing to do with ice?"

"Ice?" said Beano trying to think quickly but without much success.

"Yeah, ice?"

"Didn't you say you didn't want nothing to do with ice?"

"Sure I said it, but I'd kind of like to keep track of it, just to see it didn't get you into trouble. Not that I'd touch it."

"I knew you wouldn't Benny," Beano looked round like a trapped animal looking for some way of escape from a trap.

"I've been thinking it over after what you said, Benny, the other day, and I figured out you was right."

"WHAT do you mean, I was right?"

"You and me have always been straight and that ice ain't for us, not even if it costs us five grand."

"Say, you ain't losing your grip are you?"

"No, Benny. But I was thinking, being up here and New Year's coming soon we ought to turn over a new leaf."

"Go on," said Benny dangerously.

"Well, so I figured I ought to get rid of it, give it to someone who could use it and not know it was hot."

"Leona?" said Benny, letting each syllable fall with a slow motion.

"That's it," said Beano. "She's a good girl, she is. She can take care of it until they stop chasing me and then maybe we can come and see you when we're married and maybe if you've got a show

"The pin points of Benny's eyes held him transfixed. Beano ran his finger round the band of his collar nervously.

"You see, Benny, there's some dicks coming after us."

"What? Benny swallowed a mouthful of cookies and held his throat for a moment with the pain of swallowing too much at once. The delay gave Beano a moment to realize that for once he had Benny on the run.

"Sure, you heard that telephone just now. It was the dicks from the National Insurance Company."

Benny's face went white. Then gradually the color came back. He took another mince pie and became normal once more.

"Well, I told you so. I told you I'd have nothing to do with it and now look what you've got yourself into. If I was you I'd beat it, take the car and beat it right now, take her with you."

"All I care, and if you get twenty years in the pen don't tell 'em you know me and I'll have something nice lined up for you when you get out, and Leona too. That's more than the Maxos would do for you."

"Didn't you say you mean get out now?"

"Sure, beat it, go north. If you go straight up, north, you here you get to the North Pole and they'd never think of looking for you there."

"I ain't going!" A stubborn sullen tone in Beano's voice jerked Benny with surprise.

War Producing Industrial Texas May Be Peace-Time Measure, Claim

By HUGH WILLIAMSON

Associated Press Staff

Business was extra good in 1942, a year that may be recalled a decade hence as the time industry climbed to rank comparable with agriculture in the state's economy—and didn't waver as peace came.

The composite index of business activity, as drawn by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, was hitting new highs at the year's end. The November figure was 171.8, nearly 50 points higher than at the same time in 1941.

Factors of the composite index are employment and payrolls, runs of crude oil to stills, consumption of electric power, freight car-loadings and department store sales.

F. A. Buechel, assistant director and statistician of the bureau, noted an increase in non-agricultural payrolls and commented:

"A continuation of this rise is expected during the next six months at least. Many of the leading war industries of the state are gaining momentum in employment and payrolls, and it will be many months before the peak is reached."

Praises Industries

Another key to the scope of industrial development in Texas was provided by a survey made by the nation's Community War Chests and councils. Fort Worth and San Antonio were listed in this survey among cities in which the expansion of industry has necessitated the importation of labor and the use of women workers.

Qualified observers predict that industry, brought to Texas by the war, will continue to thrive during peacetime. The manufacture of airplanes, for example, is not believed likely to stop; rather, planes for peacetime will be turned out by Texas plants.

Testimony along this line was offered by Leonard T. Blaisdell, commercial vice president of General Electric who, in a Dallas speech, said Texas is growing industrially, and that Texas' production is going far toward winning the victory. He praised industry for taking the long look, preparing for a post-war era of business, and planning new equipment that will incorporate many of the war's innovations.

As for Texas' most important agricultural product, the United States Department of Agriculture has forecast a cotton crop in 1942 of 3,113,000 bales as compared with 2,652,000 bales last year.

Buechel forecasts that, with government payments, farm cash income in Texas will approximate a billion dollars this year.

The United States Department of Agriculture disclosed a record had been set in cumulative movement of cattle and calves to market during the first 10 months of the year, the figure being 2,167,000. Another record was broken when 2,831,000 head of sheep and lambs moved to market during the 10-month period.

The war brought declines in some businesses—notably that of motor vehicle dealers—but these were not great enough to change the general picture.

As for the 1943 outlook, Buechel says of the composite index: "Further sharp advances are expected during the coming months."

ables will be needed for military purposes, said:

"On the average, 33 pounds of canned, frozen, or dried fruits and vegetables are expected to be available for each person in 1943 as compared with an average of about 46 pounds a year from 1937 to 1941."

"But that doesn't mean," he said, "we will be poorly fed. At present—assuming that we meet production goals and that military and lend-lease needs stay in line with present estimates—it looks as if we will have a civilian food supply about as big as we had in the last half of the 1930's."

While everyone will not get as much of every kind of food as he wants, and while "there may not be as much pleasure in eating," Wickard declared that "there will be enough for an adequate and healthy diet."

Speaking on the same program, Elmer Davis, director of war information, observed that some American food goes to the Allies and said that "to hear some people talk, you would think that most of it is going to our allies."

"That is not so," he declared. "What goes to our Allies is less than what goes to our own armed forces; and don't forget that to some extent this exchange of food works both ways. Some British food, and a great deal of Australian food, is supplied by the governments of those countries to our troops who are stationed there. x x x"

Wickard and Davis said advance announcement was necessary to give the public time to become familiar with the point rationing system, which OUA explained as follows:

"With a few minor exceptions, such as individuals living in institutions, every member of the civilian population from the new born infant to the oldest inhabitant will have exactly the same number was chiefly interested in a military post.

"The main point is to bring French arms back into the war, and unification under a single regime which the fighting forces as well as the French people will follow is the best way to achieve it," said these sources.

Gen. Giraud, unanimously selected as high commissioner and chief military and civilian authority in North Africa by the imperial council following the assassination of Admiral Jean Darlan, has not yet secured complete control of the entire army in North Africa, some sources said.

Although his prestige is great, they said, some parts of the French army are still "confined to quarters" under terms of the French-German armistice.

Dispatches from Algiers, meanwhile, quoted Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in North Africa, as saying he was delighted with the selection of Giraud. The Algiers press also acclaimed the selection and declared it was a sign of eventual French unity.

The identity of Darlan's killer, who was executed by a firing squad Saturday morning, was still uncertain, as was the motive or the persons that inspired him to the deed.

It was believed that they were passengers on the Pembroke-Ontario train, which was standing in the Almonte station when the troop train crashed into it.

Every operation must be scrutinized and reduced to a minimum basis. It is a patriotic duty for every business to economize, and to increase its efficiency.

Business Challenged
There is an essential job for manufacturers, distributors and service concerns to do in supplying the civilian population with basic goods and services, but each job and each operation should be on a minimum basis.

So serious is the shortage of rubber and of mechanical parts for vehicles that Director Nelson has asked operators to refrain from driving even one more block than is necessary.

RUSSIAN TAKE 66,000 PRISONERS IN 10 DAYS

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—A Moscow broadcast recorded by the federal communications commission said today 66,000 German prisoners had been taken by the Russians in the middle Don sector alone during the past 10 days.

The invaders were said to have been dislodged from 800 inhabited localities in the same period. "The more blows they get," the Moscow radio was quoted, "the more they lie and the more they shout about their own successes."

ALLIES BOMB BANGKOK
LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Tokyo radio reported today that Allied planes had bombed and machine-gunned Bangkok, capital of Japanese-occupied Thailand, early yesterday morning, wounding about 10 civilians.

DOMESTIC

tremendous expansion in national effort is being accomplished only through the utilization of our resources of manpower and material and is, of course, being accompanied by an unprecedented volume of income payments to individuals.

Although this doubling in output raises tremendous problems, an equally significant feature for the domestic civilian economy is the change in the composition or use to which this national product is put.

In 1939 the goods and services purchased by consumers amounted to $61 billion, while Government expenditures amounted to fifteen billion. In 1943 it is estimated that Government expenditures for goods and services will aggregate about $90 billion (largely to meet military requirements), while the aggregate of consumer expenditures for goods and services will be in the neighborhood of $75 billion. Furthermore, of the goods available for consumer purchase, the supplies of durable items are being reduced to a trickle in comparison with the peacetime volume.

All Business Affected
These figures reflect the drastic change that must take place in our economy to meet our military requirements. They indicate the need for over-all control measures, controls that are needed to do the military job successfully and controls to maintain stability.

No segment of business will remain untouched by wartime pressures. Some businesses will be forced to close for want of supplies or manpower. These are casualties of war. The majority will survive but their usual methods of operation and customary practices will be greatly altered.

Every operation must be scrutinized and reduced to a minimum basis. It is a patriotic duty for every business to economize, and to increase its efficiency.

Business Challenged
There is an essential job for manufacturers, distributors and service concerns to do in supplying the civilian population with basic goods and services, but each job and each operation should be on a minimum basis.

So serious is the shortage of rubber and of mechanical parts for vehicles that Director Nelson has asked operators to refrain from driving even one more block than is necessary.

AMERICANS NOW BEATING JAPS AT THEIR OWN GAME

They have had exceptional recent success in the Buna Government Station area, capped by the drive of one unit to a beachhead east of the station.

The forces which made the successful push Dec. 25, after a previous effort which failed Dec. 24, are forming a line facing Giropa Point, hoping to hold there while additional troops move in behind to sweep in on Government Station from which might be called the back door. To the south of the station at a junction of tracks leading to Buna village and Government Station, the American covering force is pinning down the Japs in a defensive position generally known as the triangle.

The strongest concentration in the general Buna area now is believed to be Giropa Point and it is at that point the enemy possibly will withdraw if driven out of the old strip area to the west.

The Americans on Dec. 24 made gains in the station area itself under the support of heavy artillery fire which was almost constant from before dawn until dark.

There are more Americans taking to trees now in countermarching which they have been learning and are finding effective. The Americans also are discovering it is best to be more cautious. They are exposing themselves less and are learning to make their bullets count.

From hospital patients who only a few days ago commanded companies and platoons in the front lines I learned one possibly encouraging fact—the Japs no longer are so prodigal with their ammunition. Where once they blasted recklessly with machineguns, tommyguns and rifles, they now hold their fire until pretty sure of a target. Some consider this a sign they are running short of ammunition.

material and strengthen the Axis forces in Tunisia by quickly abandoning his Libyan positions, military commentators pointed out that the Eighth army and its powerful air force would be at his heels and ready to join the British First army in a two-way drive upon Tunis and Bizerte.

The Italian high command admitted today that "reconnaissance" activity was growing more intense in the "Sirt" region" of Libya, a term it uses to obscure the extent of the rout in Tripolitania.

It claimed that Allied attacks in Tunisia were repulsed, however, and the German high command said some ground had been gained by the Axis there.

The only ground action reported from the Allied side was from the French forces guarding the southern flank in Tunisia. The French claimed an important advance south of Pont-Du-Fahs, about 30 miles southwest of Tunis.

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Allied headquarters in North Africa said a large force of Flying Fortresses rained high explosives on the docks and harbor at Sousse in Tunisia yesterday and blew up one ship.

were proving their worth in the Allied battleline.

They announced an important advance south of Pont-Du-Fahs, some 30 miles south of Tunis, where they held the southern flank of the Allied line with Americans in the center and British to the North.

This was one of two French forces reported to have thrust through stiffening German defenses to positions roughly 35 miles from the Gulf of Hammamet on the Tunisian east coast, threatening thus to cut the Axis Tunisian front in two. The second column was near Kairouan, about 50 miles farther south and 35 miles west of Sousse.

In Allied headquarters communique said French troops "have distinguished themselves by their courage and played high fighting qualities" and "are being reinforced and re-equipped."

It was not known whether these forces would continue to be under direct command of General Giraud since his designation as high commissioner of French Africa, to take the place of the assassinated Admiral Jean Darlan.

Allied ground forces continued to hold the important hill position six miles northeast of Medjer-Zil-Bab, which they won Christmas day in a fierce fight in which the height changed hands three times.

Along this battlefield, 28 miles from Tunis, the Germans were reported working with feverish haste to bolster their defenses, using huge tanks as pillboxes, stringing up wire, and strewing mines.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT WINS FLYING CROSS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Dec. 28 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Elliott Roosevelt, who commands a 12th Air Force photographic unit, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for "heroism and extraordinary achievement" in flights "made voluntary with complete disregard for his personal safety."

The medal was pinned on the president's son yesterday by Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, American Airforce commander on the Tunisian front.

The citation said Roosevelt, as a member of parties surveying important ferry routes, "participated in long and dangerous flights over arctic, sub-arctic and tropical regions, many of them being over water and uninhabited areas."

"On one expedition, Lieut. Col. Roosevelt was the only member who made every operational flight. As a result of his experience and energy he has been of great assistance in establishing ferry routes."

Please Put Off Your Holiday Rail Trip until after January 12th

Please do not make a trip by rail, unless it is urgently necessary, between now and January 12th.

The Santa Fe, in cooperation with other western railroads and the Office of Defense Transportation, makes this direct appeal to the general traveling public, for these reasons:

Christmas Furloughs
Between December 12 and January 12, hundreds of thousands of our men in service will have holiday leaves.

We all want them to be able to travel without delay on these brief and precious furloughs.

In this same period the railroads must transport a million men of the armed forces moving on duty; handle the heavy seasonal flow of students; and care for the ever-growing number of persons who must make trips by rail on urgent government business or private emergency.

Not Enough Cars for All
If, on top of all this, civilian America "travels as usual" during the Christmas-New Year holidays, there just will not be enough passenger coaches and sleeping cars to go around.

So, if you possibly can, postpone your trip at least until after January 12—and thus do your share to ensure seats or berths for our men in service on their all-too-brief Christmas-New Year furloughs.

More than ever, in these difficult times, please turn first to us for friendly help on your travel and shipping problems.
