Japs Flee Two Of Their Aleutian Isle Rat Traps

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Blasted by American sea and air power, the Japanese appeared today to have fled from two of the three Western Aleutian islands they occupied four months ago and were undergoing heavy bombardment on their remaining foothold.

Probably realizing they had blundered into what a naval spokesman termed a rat trap, enemy forces have disappeared from the westernmost island of Attu and nearby Agattu with losses thus far totalling 38 ships sunk or damaged and 40 planes destroyed.

of Japanese activity on either island had been detected for several weeks. The enemy lone remaining base, the island of Kiska, thus drew the concentrated fire of U. S. bombing planes.

Presumably operating from their new Andreanof Island base, army Liberators with fighter escorts dumped explosives and incendiaries on the Japanese Kiska encampment Monday, scoring hits on seaplane hangars.

Six enemy seaplane fighters which counter-attacked were shot down.

and all the American aircraft, escaping what the navy termed "only light anti-aircraft opposition," returned to their base.

The enemy's opposition of Kiska was regarded in naval circles as increasingly jeopardized, not only because the new American base is but 125 nautical miles distant but because of the approach of bitter winter weather. Less than 10 days ago, the Japanese radio reported that snow and biting winds were causing

Your Synthetic Tires Will Be Fairly Good—If You Ever Get 'Em

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Motorists can expect their Buna synthetic rubber tires when they eventually get them to have 90 per cent of the wearing qualities of natural rubber.

This was disclosed in an appendix to the report of the special rubber survey committee headed by Bernard M. Baruch, which became available for the first time today.

Buna, foundation of the huge synthetic program, is "particularly well adapted as a material for tires," the appendix stated. Besides its 90 per cent wearability compared with crude rubber, it is "apparently satisfactory" for inner tubes, the committee said, and is also to play a part in the recapping program.

Japs Running In New Guinea, Too

(By The Associated Press) Japan's far-flung invasion armies, stung by the rising fury of American and Allied counter blows, were reported to have abandoned two key islands in the western Aleutians and continued their retreat on the New Guinea front today.

A U. S. army communique said the Japanese, apparently realizing they had blundered into what a naval spokesman termed a "rat trap," had disappeared—so far as

7 Army Fliers Rescued After Week On Raft

By CHARLES McMURTRY WITH THE PACIFIC FLEET. Sept. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—Seven army fliers, rescued from the South Pacific after drifting on a four-man rubber raft for seven days, saw two members of their B-17 bomber crew die of exposure.

"If we ever had to lose a bomber, we were damn glad to get rid of that one," the survivors said today. "We called it 'Spider' because it was hung together with thread. It was one of the first flying fortresses."

The men existed on a sip of water rationed morning and night, and a bite of chocolate daily. Twice they saw airplanes but were unable to attract attention either with flares or their frantically-waved shirts. They fought off three sharks and shot two of them.

They were surprised to learn later from a news correspondent that a shark had ripped the bottom of their rubber raft end-to-end but fortunately had not pierced the air compartment. The fliers knew the bottom was torn but had no idea of the extent of the damage.

Survivors of the bomber's crew are First Lieutenants James P. Van Haur, 24, pilot, Missoula, Mont.; Arvid A. Anderson, 26, navigator, Bremerton, Wash., and Sidney L. Darden, 26, navigator, Waco, Tex.; Sergeants Joe Gagnon, 23, bombardier, Tupper Lake, N. Y.; Richard Paul Anderson, 23, radio-man, Brookline, Mass., and Constantine Rusecky, 23, engineer, Shennandoah, Pa., and Private Virgil L. Murray, 25, side-gunner, St. Regis, Mont.

Corporal Lucien De Amour, gunner, of Beverly, Mass., crazed by his suffering, leaped from the raft the sixth night and perished. Corporal James Hosegood, 33, assistant gunner (no address) died of exposure and illness three days later.

The old flying fortress left its Southwest Pacific base Sept. 11 with two other bombers, and at the turning point in its mission, the cylinder of the port engine blew out. "With only three engines we fell behind the formation," Bud Anderson said. "The radio compass failed us up and down to beat hell. It took Van Haur and I both to handle the ship."

"With Darden's navigating we got over the island base about 9 p. m. We could see the shoreline but no lights because of the heavy overcast. We circled and kept calling for searchlights without success. We were afraid to try a landing because you haven't got a praying chance in those dangerous mountains. At 11 p. m. we had only 20 minutes gasoline supply remaining and we knew we would be forced down."

"It was a sorta sick feeling not to pick up any light, but we were not afraid of a sea landing. The water looked rough."

"Van Haur made a honey of a crash landing. Most planes break in two but ours held together, probably because it dropped flat."

IN THE SCRAP:

40 Magic City Pupils Turn In 40,000 Pounds

A Wheeler county school paced the Top O'Texas area today in the collection of scrap metal with the Magic City students turning in 40,000 pounds, or 1,000 pounds each for 40 of the school's total enrollment of 57 pupils.

The other 17 students are at work but have not turned in their tickets. Magic City is located 25 miles southeast of Pampa. J. V. Younger is the superintendent.

Meanwhile in Pampa, Sam Houston school had today reached slightly above a third of its pound for pound quota with scrap metal collected to date weighing a total of 8,656 pounds. Quota of the school is 22,918 pounds.

On the first day of the campaign, Monday, the school had collected 3,000 pounds. An additional 2,000 pounds was added to the scrap pile of the school yesterday when Crawford Atkinson brought in a load which was credited to Carol Ann McClellan and Marilyn Fitzgerald, pupils of Mrs. John I. Bradley.

Members of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce have postponed but not abandoned their downtown drive for scrap metal, which had been scheduled to start today. Due to not all merchants having their scrap metal at the curb this morning, the collection will be made tomorrow in order to get all the scrap at one time.

Members of the second platoon of Company D Texas Defense Guard will work this afternoon sorting the scrap metal collected in the street between the court house and city hall, following up work done by the first platoon yesterday.

A total of 100 tons has already been collected and the scrap metal pile is still growing.

Reports from two more districts have been received by the office of the Pampa Civilian Defense Council.

District 6, south and west of LeFors, made one shipment of 184,760 pounds of cast iron and a second shipment of 57,120 pounds of other metal to eastern foundries this week.

District 12, which extends into Wheeler county, 8,780 pounds has been collected. J. R. (Bob) Posey and Wayne Axley are leaders in district 12. Reno Stinson and Deacon Jones, leaders of district 6.

Nation's Arms Expense 6 Times World War No. 1

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A $6,236,956,621 appropriation bill, swelling the country's cost of arms to more than six times the bill for World War No. 1, was sent to the house floor today with approximately 90 per cent of the new expenditures earmarked for the navy.

In approving the omnibus second supplementary National Defense bill, the House Appropriations committee authorized 14,611 new naval planes to complement an unprecedented aircraft carrier building program now under way.

Simultaneously, the bill would furnish fresh financial reserves for the war projects of a dozen different government agencies—rubber for the war machine to roll on, air lanes to carry the Allies' message of victory, homes for war workers.

The $5,599,974,309 set apart for the navy would raise its spending credits for the fiscal year of 1943 to $30,827,982,282, while the measure as a whole would increase the total voted for defense and war since 1940 to $220,000,000,000. A total of $2,862,000,000 was voted to finance the construction of the 14,611 naval planes and to help meet the president's production goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943 for both the army and navy.

In discussing those goals, under Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal told the committee that the number of man-hours required to build big planes had been cut almost in half, while Commander G. W. Anderson of the navy bureau of aeronautics reported that "peak" production probably would be reached about December of next year.

In addition to the naval allocations, the measure carried $5,000,000 for the office of civilian defense, $25,000,000 for the office of war information, $500,000,000 for war housing, $19,000,000 to produce rubber from the guayule plant, $10,303,000 for the war manpower commission, $5,200,000 for the office of defense transportation, and $3,000,000 to promote friendly relations between the country and other nations in the western hemisphere.

In granting the office of war information an even $25,000,000—approximately $2,000,000 less than it had requested—the appropriation committee declared "war are conducted" on the three important fronts of military operations, economic controls and the dissemination of psychological information. The United States, with the other United Nations, must adequately pursue all three if victory is to be attained.

Along with the report, the committee made public a transcript of testimony—carefully edited to eliminate military information of value to the enemy—of numerous high-ranking government officials.

Included in the public portions was testimony by Rear Admiral J. H. Towers, until recently chief of the bureau of aeronautics, that the navy now "has considerably more pilots than required for our general needs; that non-rigid airships—blimps—were proving 'expensive'."

Soviets Break Up German Advance Near Stalingrad

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor

Soviet tanks were officially reported to have broken into the vital 40-mile German barrier northwest of Stalingrad today, the 45th day of bloody siege, and Axis sources declared the Russians were now beginning to stream back across the Don river.

German military quarters asserted vaguely that encircled Russian forces—the size undisclosed—had been "annihilated" northwest of the Volga metropolis.

This followed a claim by the Nazi command yesterday that a bottleneck had been closed tighter around trapped Russian troops above the city.

The northwest barrier, stretching between the Don and the Volga, has been frequently cited by the German high command as guarding the main Nazi siege armies.

A bulletin from Red army headquarters failed to indicate the extent of the Soviet tank thrust, but reported:

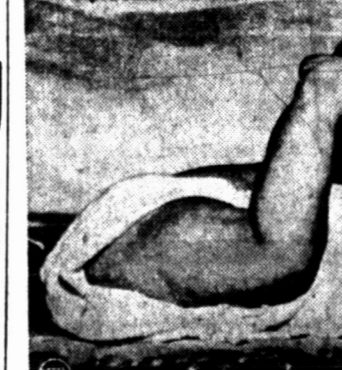

"Northwest of Stalingrad, tank crews broke into enemy positions and destroyed tanks dug into the ground, eight guns and five ammunition trucks, and wiped out about 250 Germans."

A Rome radio broadcast, heard in London, said Russian troops surging back across the Don with pontoon and regained footholds on Busy parents in wartime might try this trick, ably demonstrated by 6-month-old Vicki Swanson of Moline, Ill., who reclines in resined pose while putting her 10 little piglets to work at mealtime.

I SAW . . .

A postcard from William T. Fraser, chairman of the BCD goodwill committee, asking everyone in Pampa to turn out tonight for annual carnival at Grandview, which will be held at the Grandview school, and will start at 7:30 p. m. "If you can't go yourself, try and arrange to send a representative," the chairman advised. To reach Grandview, follow Highway 13 out of Pampa south for 15 miles, then go west 2 miles, then 1 1/2 miles south.

Dairies and farms will make available almost 16,000 tons of steel for war production in the next twelve months as a result of WPB conservation order M-200. The cuts by two-thirds the amount of iron and steel used for manufacture of milk cans, and reduces the number of types of milk cans made from 125 to 17.

Ten Liberty ships and two G-1 craft from Texas and Louisiana shipyards helped to make up the record-breaking output of 93 new cargo vessels launched from American shipyards in September.

I HEARD . . .

C. P. Doc.) Pursley saying that adults ought to follow the lead of school children in the scrap metal drive. "If the children are turning in their weight in scrap iron, why don't the grown-ups do the same?" Doc asked. The idea is already in effect insofar as the schools are concerned, Doc, for teachers and janitors are included in the school quotas but the all-over idea has not yet been adopted. It's a good suggestion Doc has made and ought to be put into action by every Pampa at once.

Don't Forget KPND Victory Bond Auction At LaNora Tonight

KPDN And Merchants Combine For Victory Bond Auction Show Tonight

Tonight's night when patriotic Pampa merchants and radio station KPDN combine to present the famous War bond victory auction to be held on the stage of the LaNora theater starting at 9 o'clock.

By going to the theater tonight and taking part in this unusual auction, by investing the amount you bid in war bonds and stamps, there's a possibility that you will receive any number of worthwhile gifts from Pampa merchants.

To mention just a few, on the bond auction block tonight will go a women's all wool coat, 32-piece set of dishes, pair of men's shoes, man's hat, floorlamp, groceries, blanket, women's handbag and many other items.

One $25 war bond will also be auctioned to the theater audience. This auction works like any other auction except that the successful bidder will invest the sum which he bids in war bonds and stamps. In this way, the article which a member of the audience may receive will not cost a single penny. The only requirement is that the person who receives the item loan the amount of the successful bid to Uncle Sam by the purchase of stamps and bonds.

Harry Wahlberg, arranger and director of Pampa's first bond auction, and who will be the chanting auctioneer tonight, promises that the audience will receive plenty of fun and entertainment if they attend the affair this evening, which starts at 9 o'clock.

Bidding promises to become fast and furious and in some cases, maybe the highest bid will not be accepted. Maybe it will be the first, third or fifth bid, injecting a note of uncertainty which promises to increase the tempo of the bidding.

Walter Rogers, chairman of the bond and stamp committee, commends this show as the first effort toward raising the county bond quota for the month of October.

The entire program will be broadcast over KPDN so that those who will not be able to come to the theater can bid on every article that reaches the auction block. Listeners during the event can call either 1180 or 1231 to enter their bid.

Names of successful bidders will be announced over the air, or withheld if so desired. Those in the audience will not necessarily have to bring money with them to enter the bidding, but must buy their stated amount of bonds and stamps within one week after the show. However, if they have the money or sign to purchase the bond tonight, the article on which they bid will be given them from the stage.

Articles which will be auctioned tonight were displayed in the lobby of the theater this afternoon and will be on display during the early show tonight.

The LaNora's regular schedule of picture entertainment will be maintained until 9 o'clock, so buy your tickets early and be on hand for the victory bond auction, starting at 9 o'clock.

Former Pampa School Superintendent To Be Specialist Captain

Dr. W. B. Irvin, a former superintendent of Pampa public schools who has been superintendent of schools at Lubbock for the past five years, has received orders to report next Monday as a captain in the army specialist corps.

Lubbock school trustees granted him a leave of absence covering the duration of the war and for such period as thereafter may be necessary prior to his release from the services.

Before going to Lubbock Dr. Irvin was superintendent of Perryton school for 12 years. Previous to that he was superintendent at Pampa for two years. Mrs. Irvin recently was added to the faculty of Dupre school.

Doctor Irvin will complete his work at Lubbock "for the duration" at midnight next Saturday and will leave Sunday for Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, where he reports for duty the following day. He will serve in an educational advisory capacity in the specialist corps.

Rationing Manpower Through Existing Agencies Suggested

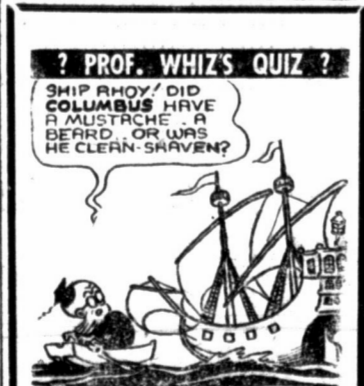

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A special house committee is reported "reliably" to be drafting a recommendation that manpower be rationed through existing agencies before any attempt is made to adopt "work-or-fight" legislation.

A poll previously taken of the committee on defense migration disclosed outright opposition to a mandatory national service act, which would give the government broad controls over labor, until all "voluntary" methods have been exhausted.

Sources close to the committee reported at the same time that the members felt the problem of meeting the needs of industry, agriculture and the armed forces was becoming increasingly serious, and must be met by definite action before the end of the year.

The only food was chocolate. It was rationed one-ninth of a bar daily and accepted in the best of spirits. No one asked for more at any time.

The first day we saw a PBY plane and fired four flares but it did not see us. We were not worried and were confident we would be picked up soon.

HARVESTERS PRACTICE IN BROWNFIELD FOR BOWIE GAME

Sandies Will Play Austin On Saturday

Ending a trip that has taken them from Texas into New Mexico then back into Texas again, the Pampa Harvesters will arrive in El Paso tomorrow morning for their game with Bowie High school at that city at 8 o'clock Friday night.

The team left early this morning and will stay over-night in Carlsbad, N. M., after a workout this afternoon in Brownfield.

Lubbock was the first stop on the trip for the Harvesters. They ate lunch there at noon, before going on for their work-out.

Should any of the Harvesters remain in El Paso over the week-end, they'll have a fine chance to scout the Golden Standard, as the Amarilloans will play Austin High school of El Paso in the Southwest Texas city Saturday.

Sooners Will Need All Power To Stop Steers

NORMAN, Oct. 8.—Still scoreless, Oklahoma's war-crippled football team goes doggedly into its third game of the 1942 season Saturday, engaging Coach Dana X. Bible's strong Texas Steers in the Dallas Cotton Bowl.

Past and spirited, Texas will cruelly pressure Coach Dewey "Snorter" Luster's red-painted Sooners with a running game that flowed to the fantastic net yardage total of 529 yards against Kansas State and 286 yards against the Corpus Christi college against the Corpus Christi college, as Bible's Oranges rolled up 64-0 and 40-0 scores.

Texas also out-ran Northwestern's powerful Wildcats at Evanston last week and was four times inside Northwestern's 30-yard line, twice inside the 20 and down to the Wildcat 8 once in the third period although losing to coach Lynn Waldorf's team, 0 to 3.

Oklahoma's big red line, supported by such sniping line-backers as Center Jack Marsee and Blocking Backs Bill Campbell and Jack Steele, will try to meet the speedy Texas running challenge.

The Sooners checked the Oklahoma Aggie rushing offensive with an average of 2.8 yards per rush September 26, and last Saturday smothered Tulsa's running game, holding Coach Henry Frnka's great backfield to a rushing average of only 1.9 yards per play, but admittedly haven't yet met a running game as ruthless as Bible's.

The Texas line strength this year runs to tackles instead of guards. Zurl Conoly and Stanley Mauldin, strapping Steer tackles, are two of the fastest men in the country at their positions this fall. Jackie Field, ace back, single-handed galloped 161 yards in 19 rushes against Kansas State for an average of better than eight yards every time he toted the squash.

Field's yardage in the Kansas State game alone is almost as much as the whole Oklahoma team was able to do in both its Aggie and Tulsa clashes.

Travel Trouble Makes Tarheels Cancel Rice Game

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 8 (AP)—University of North Carolina athletic officials have announced that the football game with Rice University of Texas, scheduled to be played here October 17, has been called off because of the transportation situation.

Director R. A. Fetzer said the athletic council acted after receipt Wednesday morning of a telegram from Jess Neely, athletic director at Rice, requesting it.

Neely's request, Fetzer said, was "to postpone the two-game contract for the duration of the war."

The game was to have been homecoming for North Carolina. No immediate plans were made to try to fill the date.

Sooners Asked Not To Travel To Texas Game

NORMAN, OKLA., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Students who follow the university of Oklahoma football team to Dallas Saturday for the Texas game will be doing a "Very Unpatriotic Thing," the sooner student newspaper—The Oklahoma Daily—editorialized yesterday.

"When thousands of boys are giving up their lives each day for us—the least we could do is to give up one weekend," the daily asserted.

The paper declared "trains are crowded each day with troops and supplies and when 200 students pile in to go to a football game, it lessens the room required for men and material."

In past years as many as 1,000 students have attended the traditional contest.

By the end of the week, about 4,000 college students will have turned harvest hands in addition to thousands of high school students.

Only Four Texas Grid Teams On Unbeaten List

(By The Associated Press)

Texas has only four undefeated, untied college football teams with the season less than a month old and three of them will be in danger of taking the plunge this week.

Texas Christian is the only eleven that appears to have no trouble signs on the trail because the Christians play down-trodden Kansas, an outfit that has lost three straight.

Meanwhile Hardin-Simmons tackles Southern Methodist. Rice plays Tulane and Abilene Christian college engages Texas Mines.

All three of these unbeaten outfits will be favored to win but by no appreciable margin.

There are thirteen games on this week's Texas college schedule but of the four conferences only one, the Southwest, has contests counting in championship standings.

Here is the week's complete schedule.

Smart Playing Wins For Light Maryland Team

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 8 (AP)—Now that the University of Maryland has demonstrated that the T-formation is all right if you've got what it takes to make it click, the Monday morning quarterbacks are hopping aboard Clark Shaughnessy's bandwagon and chrousing "We knew you could do it, pal."

The old Liners, impressive when their aerial onslaught. Quarterback Tommy Mont, tossed Connecticut dizzy two weeks ago by a 30-0 Maryland victory, proved they had a pretty fair ball club last Saturday by defeating the tough Lakehurst naval air station outfit, 14-0.

Shaughnessy promised last summer that his squad often would be out-tweaked and probably out-manned, but would win games "because we'll be smarter." Time will tell, but to date the skeptics who figured the ex-Stanford mentor might be affected by the Maryland climate are agreed the Liners will do all right by themselves.

"One more complaint out of my family on the meals and I'll get a job in a war plant myself, where all of our various cooks have gone!"

Oil Shortage May Strike West Coast In Long War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Erie, Gen. Walter B. Fryon told a senate subcommittee the army had plenty of oil for its war needs in 1943, but there might be a petroleum shortage on the west coast if the war lasted "too long."

As the first witness before a subcommittee on mineral resources, General Fryon, liaison officer between the army and the petroleum coordinator, said the army's use of oil products was considerably higher this year than last.

"The army does not anticipate any difficulties in meeting 1943 requirements," he said, but he added that "the demands will draw rather heavily on reserves," with the consumption already exceeding new production.

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) explained that the subcommittee was endeavoring to ascertain "whether or not the country is to face an oil shortage in the midst of a great crisis, as it has a steel and rubber shortage." He said the hearing was not an investigation, but "merely an attempt to develop the facts so the senate and country may know the problems and what should be done to deal with them."

"We can bring in new supplies of oil by encouraging the wildcat," O'Mahoney said, "by drawing on reserves, or by developing oil lands owned and controlled by the oil companies and not listed among the known reserves."

Charles F. Roeser of Fort Worth, Texas, a member of the Petroleum Industry War council, advocated a rise in the price of crude oil both to provide funds now to carry on more exploration work and to furnish the reward incentive for continued future efforts.

With Price Administrator Leon Henderson present at the hearing, Roeser said in a prepared statement that a request for higher crude oil prices was before the OPA for more than 15 months, but that agency "under its policy to prevent any price increases has repeatedly refused to recognize the necessity for higher crude oil prices."

The widening spread of the United States war fronts, Roeser said, was sharply increasing the demand for petroleum products. He estimated the present production at 3,800,000 barrels of crude daily, with 112,000 additional barrels daily taken from storage.

The demand for 1,400,000,000 barrels a year, he said, "is nowhere near being replaced by new discoveries."

"Crude oil production in the Eastern and Mid-continent sections and in California cannot be increased much, if any, above present levels of 1,831,000 barrels a day without waste," Roeser said. The demand on the West coast was rising so rapidly, he added, that "it may well be necessary to augment supplies with crude oil shipments from Texas and Mexico."

Advocating more extensive wildcat, or exploratory, drilling, Roeser said this was necessary "if the oil industry is not soon to be confronted with a real shortage of crude oil production," which would "constitute a threat to the country."

Roeser also recommended their relaxation of "numerous restrictions" on the exploration and development of government land.

Relief Needs In County Dwindle

Reflection of war time conditions continues to be made in the dwindling need of relief appropriations.

In effect last Thursday went the mail order plan on the issuance of food stamps, under which the distribution of blue and orange food stamps for WPA workers and others is through the mail rather than a county office.

There are only 29 cases certified to purchase food stamps in Gray county, and there are only six schools in Gray certified to receive school commodities for the free lunch project.

Texas commodity rolls have been cut over 49 per cent this year.

While favoring curtailment of all non-essential activities, the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association asked for retention of government relief for all citizens unable to help themselves, in a resolution passed at the association's convention the week preceding October 1, held at Big Spring.

Censorship Boss Praises Press For Taking On Big Job

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP)—"It is an awful responsibility that lies on our press today," newspaper publishers were told by Byron Price, director of censorship, who praised them for keeping faith with the American people during trying war conditions.

"We may be thankful that the American press remains strong enough to serve valiantly and to good purpose, having suffered neither the crushing oppression of despotism on the one hand nor first-hand exposure to enemy bombs on the other," Price said in an address before the New Jersey Press Association at the start of national newspaper week.

He said that "the public will applaud overwhelmingly what their newspapers did" in withholding the news of President Roosevelt's recent cross-country trip until after his return to Washington. He urged individuals likewise to refrain from circulating information which might prove valuable to the enemy.

Price praised also the work of war correspondents of press and radio, saying that "a story of global war, fantastic and hardly believable, is being written for history in the 24-hour operations of American newsmen."

Allies Now Pushing Toward Jap Base

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 8 (AP)—The mile-high gap in the Owen Stanley range apparently was firmly back in Allied hands today with Australian advance forces, still on the offensive, pushing on toward the down slope to the Japanese base at Kokoda across the mountains from Port Moresby.

The chance of a Japanese stand in the high ridges seemed hourly more remote as dispatches from the inland New Guinea battlefield reported the Australians continuing their cautious, steady advance on the trail of the Japanese who once pushed within 32 miles air line of Port Moresby before being outflanked and hurled back.

By yesterday the Australians were moving up the last mountain grade north of Gagi, within four miles of the Gap through the highest ridges. A report to the Melbourne Herald estimated that by early today they had pushed through within two miles of the end of the pass—headed for the down slope, still without resistance.

Charlie's Back From The Big City--And Boy, Is He Happy!

MARSHALL, Oct. 8 (P)—Charlie Heartall has come back home. He couldn't stand the metropolitan tempo of Shreveport, 30 miles east along level highway 80. Two months ago, feeling that "I just had to see what the other side of the mountain looked like," the Marshall News-Messenger reporter joined the staff of the Shreveport Journal to work the police and city hall beats. "I like this side of the mountain best," he mused today. "I'm back in my home town where I belong." In the Shreveport Journal office he kept answering the phone with "This is Heartall, with the News-Messenger." It was embarrassing. He missed Marshall's leisurely cups of coffee. Shreveport may be more leisurely than Chicago, but have you ever had a cup of coffee in Marshall? Charlie had to eat lunch in town instead of with his family. He lived "way out"—3.6 miles—and catching a trolley every morning at 7:15 to get to work at 8 was terrible. He had to wear a coat because everybody else did. "I tried to look like a native," he says, "but someone in a crowd would spot my gait as from Texas. And they would slip up behind me, and step on my heels. This would trip me up. I would flounder and bump into people and say 'Lady, I am sorry' and she would stare at me. "Shreveport's all right. But this is God's country. I go down the street and people say 'Hi, there, glad to see you back,' and this makes me feel swell." —BUY VICTORY BONDS— Half of the world's natural rubber was used in America before the Japs captured 97 per cent of the total supply. —BUY VICTORY STAMPS— The United States produced 192,100,000 of the 1940 total world production of 307,300,000 metric tons of petroleum.

Your Being Lazy May Cost A Life!

HAVE YOU TURNED IN YOUR 100 POUNDS OF SCRAP METAL . . . OR ARE YOU SHIRKING YOUR DUTY?

Surveys and actual collections have proved—every family can produce an average of 100 lbs. of unused metal!

That's the figure to try for—and to beat. Make that 100 lbs. the absolute minimum and work up! Go over your house again and again—question the need for every metal object that you see.

And if you live on a farm, figures show you can turn in from 500 lbs. to a ton of scrap, depending on the size of your farm. Round up the old car parts, tools and other things you may have lying around. Go through your barn—search your whole place. Any metal you don't absolutely need has important work to do. Start it on its way to the steel mills and the battle fronts.

If you're a manufacturer, merchant, landlord, contractor, or other businessman, you've got a real job to do. Use a fine-tooth comb on your place of business—there's where the biggest tonnage comes from. This "industrial" scrap must provide at least 75% of the tonnage in this community. It must boost collections to a total of at least 100 lbs. for every man, woman and child!

So don't stop when you've turned in all the useless stuff. Sell or scrap the things that are being kept simply because they might be used. Follow this rule—if it hasn't been used for six months, and you're certain it won't be used for the next six—sell it . . . or scrap it!

Remember—your Country needs scrap-metal desperately. Every pound that you turn in may save some brave boy's life. And every pound you don't—helps Hitler!

★ Let's Win The Pennant For Our County!

The Government is awarding a pennant for every County that collects at least 100 lbs. of scrap metal per person during the Newspapers' Scrap Metal Drive. We want to see that pennant waving over our Courthouse. Let's put it there to show our boys we're with them all the way!

★ Let's Top Every Other State!

Each of the three states collecting the most scrap per person will be given a special plaque by the Government. We can win one of these. Our State can beat them all. Let's set a real mark for others to shoot at. Right here in this Community, let's show them what patriotism and hard work will do!

THE BITTER TRUTH CHAPTER XXV

DR. FRAZIER and Miss Bech came out of room 721 together, walked into the chart room. He made a notation on 721's chart and she took it from him and hung it on its proper hook. "You look tired," he said. Candace had been only days on the case but it seemed like years. "I am tired," she said. She passed a hand wearily across her face, as though by the motion she could erase the blue smudges from under her eyes. "Everything about this case makes me tired: that poor husband slinking around with the air of a criminal as though by giving her a baby he had personally sentenced her to death; that mother, that pathetic father slipping in there to hold her hand and crying. And through it all she just lies there, refusing to get well, practically willing herself to die! I've tried bringing in the baby to her and she just shudders and turns her head aside—"

Faith—"The eyes opened suddenly wide. Tell Faith I love her," she said clearly. Candace straightened abruptly with shock. "Talk sensibly, Mrs. Eustis," she commanded sharply. "You don't have to wonder in this way. It's time you thought of making some effort to get well." The girl looked up at her beseechingly. "I've been wanting to ask you," she begged, "you never told me. Did he—did he—say anything else?" "Who?" Candace demanded. As though she didn't know, as though every nerve in her body wasn't waiting to jump at the sound of his name on those lips. "Why, Martin," the girl whispered. "Martin, of course." Candace found herself struggling with a swimming nausea. This was what had tired her more than anything else, the fear of some reference to Martin. She grasped the headrail of the bed for support. "Mrs. Eustis," she said reasonably, trying to distract the sick mind, "you're not talking sensibly. You're married, your husband's name is Martin. You have a sweet baby in the nursery downstairs—"

She took a wasted hand firmly in both her own, as though to lend her strength. "I don't believe Martin Corby ever loved you. Certainly he never sent you any message the night he—he died. I told you that, well, because I knew you loved him, you yourself were hurt, perhaps dying, and I thought I was making his going easier for you—" She fought for a tone, firm, reasonable, that would carry conviction to the sick girl. "His last message was to me," she said. "It was that his engagement to you had been all wrong. The blue eyes were wide open now, in horror, as though Candace was the patient and mad. "What are you saying? Who—who are you?" Candace said clearly, "I'm the girl Martin was engaged to when he met you." The girl cried wildly, "It isn't true! You're making this up. It couldn't be true. That message, you couldn't have made that up, you couldn't have known my name—" "Oh, couldn't I, though?" Candace said bitterly. "I knew you and everything about you. But the most important thing about you to me was that your father had money and influence, that he could help Martin Corby in his career. That's why Martin left me for you." "You're lying!" the girl gasped. "You're a fiend! You're doing this to torment me, because you hate me—" "I'm not," Candace denied gently. "I don't hate you. If I did, I'd let you go on thinking this thing, wrecking your life and all the happiness you could have for the sake of a dead man who never loved you, who wasn't really capable of loving anyone but himself." She herself was realizing that, definitely and finally, at last. "No, I'm really grateful to you. Because you've made me see what a fool I've been, too. I've let Martin poison my life. With you I don't matter, there's only myself to hurt. But with you there's more than that, much more. You have a husband whom you promised to love and honor; you have a baby son you've brought into the world. And unless you're as selfish as Martin, you'll get well and try to make up to them for this—" She started for the door. "You won't be wanting me around after this. I'll send Dr. Frazier to you now. If you're doubtful about all this, if you don't believe me, you might ask him if it's true. He knows. And—good luck," she finished gently. (To Be Continued)

Sword Swallower, Fat Lady, Escape Artist Mix In Circus Brawl

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8 (AP)—A feud in the freak tent at Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus boiled over into city court today, producing these reactions: Miss Patricia, sword swallower, paid a $20 fine for hopping Baby Betty, fat lady, over the head with a pop bottle. "It was worth $20, the biggest bargain I ever got in my life," commented Miss Patricia. Baby Betty displayed a long cut on her forehead as the ground of her complaint against Miss Patricia. "Now I can sleep again," chortled Miss Hanka Kelter, the long-haired Venus. She testified Baby Betty repeatedly had threatened to shear her 7-foot tresses some night. Municipal Judge Edmund B. Smith hastily stopped Doty Velez, Hawaiian dancer, from peeling down a shapely stocking as he testified she had been bribed. "I mean any marks The Great Shackles (escape artist and Baby Betty's husband) left on your jaw in the blows he allegedly gave you yesterday in the dressing room row," the court explained. John B. the chief of the circus' special police, said Baby Betty and the Great Shackles were discharged as an aftermath of the melee.

Will To Work Puts Nebraska Ahead In Salvage Campaign

By GEORGE GRIMES Managing Editor, Omaha World-Herald OMAHA, Oct. 8 (AP)—Nebraska took the national spotlight in scrap collection—104 pounds per person in three weeks—because tens of thousands of men, women and children in the state were willing to work. Hard work does it—and collecting iron and steel and other metal scrap is hard work. City men went out into the country and helped farmers dismantle and load onto trucks old tractor engines, abandoned hay rakes, broken down threshing machines. Some suffered broken fingers and bruised bodies—but at the end of the drive good will between farm and country was never higher. Women scoured their homes, and often with tears sacrificed treasured mementoes. Children got out their little red wagons and hauled smaller scrap to collection depots—and then tossed in the wagon and their tricycles. Speeches Won't Do Job The state took off its coat and got to work. There is no other way to start scrap flowing to the open hearth furnaces where the ingots are made to be turned into tanks and guns. Speeches won't do it. Flowery pieces in the paper won't do it. There's only one way to support our munitions industry through scrap collection and that is to put in hours of toil. But the people of Nebraska loved it. Here is the answer to the common plea—what can I do to help our men at the front? Here's something that everyone can do, rich or poor, banker or farmer, industrialist or laborer, boy or girl. He or she can get scrap and turn it in. And unless the whole nation becomes that, scrap conscious steel a year. The Holy Ghost church in Omaha got enough scrap to pay off the mortgage on the parochial school. Out of an abandoned gravel pit and from the farms, Cass county, Nebraska, found enough scrap to finance that iron lung needed for emergency work for suddenly stricken children. Another county won enough in scrap prizes and donated scrap to provide the longed-for county library. Still another got funds for fire equipment to check those devastating prairie blazes so feared in an area of great ranches. Dual Purpose Served Rural parents-teacher associations got scrap, sold it, and established their school library, or bought maps or got funds for lunches. Scrap piles gave funds for the U. S. O., the Red Cross, for medical equipment, for the county senatary. The City of Omaha, with every home donating over 90 pounds of scrap, cleaned up 25 thousand dollars in hard cash for war funds. It was done by careful organization, and then by hard work. The county salvage chairman was aided by a volunteer woman chairman—and how the women toiled and inspired and nagged until that scrap poured in. No one will forget the tears rolling from one mother's cheeks as she brought to the scrap pile a little collection of tiny metal toys, treasured mementoes of her 4-year old who had died, but given now for the use of our army. Or the war veterans who dug out those helmets, guns, bayonets, gas masks, cigar lighters brought from their conquest of the German armies. In 1918—and paraded with their trophies to the scrap pile. Cities turned in cannon trophies from World War I, the Spanish War,

Reading Guides
Paralysis Victim
Back To Health

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—A 14-year-old infantile paralysis victim who cultivated a reading habit for diversion now finds it guiding her back to health.

The knowledge Margaret Merrick amassed on her sick bed won her a place on a radio quiz show July 1. Her mother, Mrs. A. C. Merrick of Western Springs, said this new found interest had much to do with Margaret's walking without a cane last week for the first time in more than a year.

"I consider it definitely responsible for her progress," Mrs. Merrick said. "It's done more for her than anything else we could do."

Besides what it has meant to her health, her reading habit was earned her $1,100 in war bonds for her radio appearances.

Hitler To Increase
Division Propaganda

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 8 (AP)—United States Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson predicted today that Adolf Hitler will redouble his propaganda efforts to divide the Allied Nations and called upon the public to beware of rumor mongers.

"Unless criticism does not advance our cause," he said in a speech delivered before the American federation of labor convention. It serves Hitler's. Even though false stories are eventually shown to be untrue, they may have the harmful effect of shaking the confidence of our soldiers in the effectiveness of their weapons.

Citing rumors assailing the quality and effectiveness of weapons made by American labor, Patterson asserted that criticism of the garment rifle, U. S. tanks and P-40 planes as inferior, "died away in the face of actual performance."

Extension Service
Boosts Garden Clubs

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 8 (AP)—Texas garden clubs can do a great deal in producing food at home, says J. F. Reuther, horticulturist for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, in the extension service's monthly garden letter. Home gardens released canned vegetables for men in the armed forces and for lend-lease shipment, it was reiterated.

If there's doubt whether a home garden is practical, note that grocery stores charge 10 cents a head for lettuce, and that a serving of tomato juice in a cafe costs 20 to 25 cents.

In preparing the soil, remove all weeds—don't plow them under. Then apply barnyard manure, plowing or spading it into the soil four or five inches. Pulverize the soil thoroughly before planting.

Buy now all of the seed which will be needed. A fall garden should not be limited to turnips and greens when there are so many other vegetables which will grow well during the season. Wise planting will assure an assortment of good vegetables. At the same time proper planting will avoid losses from the hazards of early frost, heavy rainfall and insect and disease damage.

Here's how:

Semi-hardy vegetables can still be planted in October. These will stand light frost. They are carrots, Danvers half long recommended variety, 2 ounces of seed to 100 feet of row; cabbage, Copenhagen market, 100 plants for 100 feet; turnips, purple top, shogoin, 1 ounce; beets, Detroit, dark red, 2 ounces and Swiss chard, Lucullus, 2 ounces.

Vegetables which can be planted now and which will stand heavy frost are spinach, long standing Bloomsdale, Noble, 1 ounce for 100 feet of row; onions (sets), white Bermuda, 2 quarts; Kale, dwarf curled, 1 ounce, and collards, Louisiana sweet, 50 plants.

Come On, Texans--
Plenty More Flags

DALLAS, Oct. 8 (AP)—A Japanese flag captured by a Texas marine will be soaked in gasoline, as the marine requested, and burned deep in the Heart of Texas.

The flag of the rising sun and the marine's request were presented to Mayor Woodall Rodgers by Chief Petty Officer P. L. (Spud) Murphy of the U. S. navy.

A native of Tyler, Murphy came to this country in September as Hawaii's delegate to the American legion convention.

"Before I left Hawaii," Murphy explained, "a Texas marine handed me the flag with instructions that it be presented to the mayor of Dallas, soaked in gasoline and burned deep in the Heart of Texas."

"The marine, whose name I can't reveal, captured the flag during a raid on a Jap-held island in the South Pacific."

Acting City Manager V. R. Smith accepted the flag, a red sun on a white background, and assured Murphy that "it will be a pleasure to comply with the request."

FARM LABOR SITUATION ACUTE
 AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—An increasingly acute farm labor situation in Texas, especially the northwest where harvest of cotton and feed crops accentuated the demand for workers, was reported today by the U. S. department of agriculture and the Texas extension service.
