Postmaster C. H. Walker Will Retire October 31

Official Will End 15 Years In U. S. Service

C. H. Walker, Pampa postmaster since July 20, 1926, today announced that because of age regulations he would be automatically retired from that office on October 31 of this year.

There are three ways by which his successor may be chosen.

1. Appointment of an acting postmaster to serve not more than six months, during which period an examination would be held and a list of eligibles compiled from which the new postmaster would be named.
2. An immediate examination with regular appointment.
3. Promotion of someone now in the postal service, without examination.

The second method is the least likely. It is probable that the first method will be used.

Appointment as postmaster comes from the President on recommendation from the first assistant postmaster general.

Served For 15 Years

Altogether, Mr. Walker has been in postal service for 15 years. He was appointed postmaster at Dalhart by President Woodrow Wilson and served there for eight and one-half years, from 1913 to 1922.

He has been Pampa postmaster for six and one-half years, having been commissioned for a four-year term on July 20, 1936, then re-appointed on July 20, 1940, without term.

There were today no official indications from Washington as to a hint of Mr. Walker's successor nor the probable method by which a successor would be chosen.

O. K. Caylor, a veteran in the Pampa postoffice, has served as assistant postmaster under Walker and also was in the same capacity under Mr. Walker's predecessor, D. E. Cecil.

Texas Speed Law Cut To 35 Miles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Texas highway commission has passed an order directing the motor speed limit be reduced from 60 to 35 miles an hour; the order has been passed on to Gov. Coke Stevenson, and the governor will issue a proclamation making the order public when he sees fit, Robert Lee Bobbitt, member of the commission, said.

Bobbitt, president of the Western Association of State Highway Officials conferred with Rubber Director William Jeffers and later expressed confidence there would be an ample gasoline and tires available for all essential automobile traffic in the west.

Bobbitt had urged that in the application of national gasoline rationing consideration be given distances in the West and the extreme importance of the automobile in areas where there are few or no railroads.

DDT announces that applications for certificates of necessity will provide the office with a complete inventory of all tires now on the wheels of the country's more than 5,000,000 non-military commercial vehicles, or held for the use of such vehicles. In applying for a certificate of war necessity, every operator must report the number and condition of all tires in his possession by sizes or size groups, including both new and used tires.

—AND MORE SCRAP'S ROLLING MERRILY IN

Determined that not a scrap of scrap shall remain in Queens Borough, N. Y., Queens citizens have put their drive over in a big way. Given a quota of 13,000,000 pounds, they already have collected nearly 31,500,000 pounds; are still going strong.

Here's What They're Doing Around Nation In That Scrap Metal Drive

(By The Associated Press)

There's nothing like getting in a plug for your own home town while waging a scrap campaign—as two mayors could prove today—or even calling upon the pretty WAACS to help pick up the steel and iron junk. Here are some of the recorded doings as the 21-day drive led by the nation's newspapers moved in to its second week.

Minneapolis, Minn.—The mayor of Minneapolis offered to wager a barrel of Minneapolis flour against anything the mayor of St. Paul could offer that his city would collect more scrap per capita.

Governor Proclaims Next Monday Scrap Metal Day In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—To permit all grown-ups and citizens of Texas to concentrate their efforts to bring the drive for vitally-needed scrap metal to a climax, Governor Coke Stevenson today proclaimed October 12 as scrap metal day.

Schools have been asked to close at noon that day to free children who are already fighting their home-front battle as Junior Rangers, the governor's proclamation said, and "citizens and business houses are urged to cooperate toward the successful conclusion of this campaign for collection of scrap metal."

Thornton Hall of San Antonio, Texas director of the newspaper's scrap metal drive, said today that the governor's proclamation was "typical of the fine response we are getting from officials and from the loyal citizenship of Texas, cooperating with the Junior Texas Rangers."

Hall said that the response on the part of the school children was

Denmark Rejects Demand By Hitler

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A demand by Adolf Hitler that Denmark agree to her "voluntary incorporation" into a bloc of model states as a show-piece of the Nazi new order has been rejected by the little monarchy, the Free Danish council here reported today.

The demand was said to have accompanied by a threat that the Gestapo would run Denmark if it were refused.

The St. Paul mayor replied that he would accept the wager from "what was once a great flour city" and pledged a 50-pound dressed lamb from the "greatest quality packing center in the United States."

Des Moines, Ia.—WAACS from nearby Fort Des Moines will drive trucks in Des Moines' house-to-house canvass for scrap next week.

Topeka, Kas.—Governor Payne Ratner announced his wife had found a scrap treasure-trove of old iron and steel in the sidewalls of long-vacant horse stalls in the garage which served as a barn years ago.

Then the executive contributed the iron fountain from the front yard of his mansion, plus an old steel tank from the basement and two brass shell casings—mementoes of the first World War—from his office.

Off to a flying start in the collection of scrap metal among Pampa school children are the students of Sam Houston school.

They began their collection at noon yesterday and up to this afternoon had collected 3,000 pounds of salvaged metal, piled on the south side of the building, located at 900 N. Frost.

Sam Houston school is the first in Pampa to report its work in gathering up scrap metal, a part of the national project of America's school children.

First to bring his weight in scrap metal to the school was John High, 10, fifth grade pupil and son of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. High, 921 N. Somerville. He brought in an old fashioned operating table as a part of his load of scrap to make his weight-quota of 87 pounds.

Teachers and janitors are not exempt from getting their quotas. First teacher to turn in his weight in metal was Aaron Meek, Sam Houston principal, who hauled in 198 pounds of salvage metal.

Sam Houston's janitor, W. L. Carpenter, heads the list of janitors to bring in a load, with 145 pounds.

This quota business may be all right but not for Ruepaula and Jane Davis. They turned in a combined total of 445 pounds, and Barbara and Richard Radcliff did almost as well with 400 pounds. Billy

Soviets Beat Off New Nazi Siege Assault

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

Russian troops were officially credited with beating off another sledgehammer assault by 45,000 Germans in the 43-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, crushing 22 separate attacks, while north of the city the Red armies knifed deeper into the Nazi protective barrier.

Soviet dispatches said the Germans had failed to gain any front in the last 24 hours.

Once again, as though to obscure its lack of success in the main Stalingrad battle theater, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters stressed developments in the Caucasus, where a "progressive German attack" was described as wresting height after height from the Russians.

"In Stalingrad," a Nazi communique said, "the German attack in embittered fighting has made a further advance."

"Northwest of the city, a second Soviet group was encircled."

With cold nights beginning to set in, heralding the early approach of winter, German prisoners were quoted as saying that Nazi officers and troops were becoming disturbed about the progress of the campaign.

"The Germans hurry," said the Russian government newspaper Izvestia. "They see time passing. They fear delay. They are fiercely rushing forward."

But instead of forcing the Russians to retreat, the invaders were pictured as sacrificing appalling numbers of men and machines. Headlong Nazi assaults in a northwest suburb alone were declared to have cost the besiegers 2,000 men killed.

Soviet headquarters said a single Russian unit repulsed seven consecutive attacks by a German infantry regiment supported by 15 tanks, wrecking three tanks and wiping out about a company of Nazi.

As the battle of Titans continued into its seventh week, agitation for a second front reached a crescendo in Moscow and evoked a new warning from Prime Minister Churchill, supported by 15 tanks, wrecking three tanks and wiping out about a company of Nazi.

"We are quite clear that no statement from his majesty's government is called for at the present time further than those already given," Churchill told parliament in London.

Churchill's comment was in reply to a question as to whether the government had any statement to make on Premier Stalin's letter to the Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow, in which Stalin called upon the Allies to fulfill their obligations fully and on time.

"I have really nothing to add—certainly not on the spur of the moment."

Borger Landlord Gets Warning From Rent Director After Serving Papers

A landlord who tendered eviction papers on his tenants in Borger yesterday was advised that such procedure is illegal and federal prosecution may result in such a procedure, according to an interpretation of the rent regulations by the regional OPA field staff.

Scores of Pampa tenants and landlords are visiting and calling the area rent office in the Culbertson Building, 218 Ballard Street, and they are being advised of the federal rent regulations now in effect in Gray, Hutchinson and Carson counties.

W. L. Boyles, area rent director, has advised tenants and landlords that all residential rents must be cut back to the March 1, 1942, level and no exceptions to this regulation can be made until after registration is begun in about two weeks. The registration statements will arrive from Washington about the middle of October and the landlords will then register each residential unit. After this registration of a unit, the adjustments can be made by either landlord or tenant to adjust the rent on an equitable basis.

Although Mr. Boyles has not completed his staff at the area rent office, the many visitors and telephone callers are being provided with an interpretation of their individual problems. The office has received a shipment of questions and answers on rent control and this list will answer most prevalent questions.

Anyone interested in this information on the rent control program may call at the Culbertson Building and receive a copy.

Former Official At Borger Accused In Idaho Slaying

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 6 (AP)—Preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow before Justice of the Peace T. M. Roberts in the fatal stabbing of John W. L. Goode, Dallas, Tex., a salesman.

A second degree murder charge has been filed against T. S. Davidson Sr., proprietor of the Boulevard Hotel, in connection with the slaying.

Davidson confirmed that he was a former city commissioner at Borger, Tex. He said he never knew Goode in Texas, however, and declined to make further comment.

Goode died at a Boise Hospital Saturday night, five hours after he had been stabbed four times as Davidson's motor coach. Davidson was released on $10,000 bond set by Justice Roberts.

Investigating officers said the two men apparently disputed over the price of accommodations at the hotel.

Americans To Pay 36 Billion In New Set-Up

BY RICHARD G. MASSOCK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Finance Committee told the Senate today the American people would pay taxes totaling $36.537,000,000 or one-third of the national income, during the coming year under pending legislation.

George took the floor to explain the gigantic new revenue bill after a proposal by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau for $6,000,000,000 in new levies, over and above those in the pending measure, had aroused cloak-room demands for a sales tax.

Previously the Finance Committee had laid before the senate its formal report on the bill, in which it criticized house-approved rates on corporation profits and defended its action in reducing potential taxation on business as desirable in order to encourage efficient corporation management in wartime.

George's estimate on over-all taxation included $26,337,000,000 in federal levies and $10,200,000,000 in state and local imposts. He estimated national income at $110,000,000,000.

Since March 3, the House Ways and Means Committee, the house itself and then the Senate Finance Committee have been working on the tax legislation.

Opening debate on the latest version of the measure, Senator George attributed the length of time consumed in its preparation "to a sincere effort to prevent the drastic increases from causing severe inequities and unduly interfering with our economy."

"Framing our tax bill," he said in a prepared statement, "we had to exercise considerable care in not imposing such a severe rate on corporations as to disrupt the national economy of our country."

Estimating that $22,054,600,000 will be collected from corporate and individual income and excess profits taxes, he said $10,790,300,000 would come from corporations and $11,264,300,000 from individuals.

"In deciding that the total normal and surtax rate should not exceed 40 per cent, we gave careful consideration to the effect of such a rate upon our economy and also considered the effect of the rates levied by other countries," George said.

In some instances, at least, the tax rate is higher than that of Great Britain, the senator's figures showed.

"If we look at the first bracket of individual income tax rates under this bill," he said, "we will find that the total normal and surtax rate amounts to 19 per cent. In addition, the 5 per cent victory tax raises this total to 24 per cent. If we add to this the 40 per cent imposed upon corporations, we will have a total rate of 64 per cent on individual incomes as compared with the British rate of 50 per cent. Moreover, in Great Britain, no state or local taxes are imposed."

George said the committee gave

Burmese Are Learning

The Burmese, like the Indo-Chinese, are learning now that is involved in cooperation with Japan's Asiatic program. The Burmese did not like the British. They provided a fifth column which contributed materially to the east of the Jap conquest.

The Nipponee have proved themselves excellent fighters. But their national psychology in the end will help undo them. Already by their arrogance and cruelty they have largely destroyed the appeal of their slogan: Asia for the Asiatics.

When the time comes, returning United Nations armies may find as vigorous a fifth column working for them in Burma as that which originally aided the Japs.

Anxious Relatives

The parents, wives, brothers and sisters of Americans who were in the Philippines have been besieging every possible source for information whether they still are alive and, if so, where they are and what is their condition.

To these questions there is no answer, because the Japanese have not provided those lists of prisoners-of-war which humanely compile and transmit through the Red Cross, as speedily and accurately as war conditions will permit.

This negligence or deliberate restraint emphasizes one difference between Japanese and Occidentals. We wage war to accomplish a purpose, good or bad, and regret the human suffering that becomes inevitable, and try to limit that suffering as much as possible.

Civilian Essentials

As the pinch grows tighter and Washington gets tougher, it is more than ever important to understand what Army-Navy-WPB officials mean when they speak of "essential civilian requirements."

"Civilian requirements" obviously include everything that is not military or naval. "Civilian requirements" include the transportation which is as vital to war as are armies and navies; the utilities without which war could not be prosecuted; the industries that manufacture armaments and munitions; and also furniture, hair tonic, curling irons, paper weights and house paint.

So whenever Washington mentions "essential civilian requirements" that first word, essential, is the key word. And essential now has just one really important definition: That which contributes materially to the prosecution of the war.

GOING BACK TO LINCOLN (Critic's Tribune) When Mr. Roosevelt informed congress that he would annul the act if it was not repealed by Oct. 1, the substitution of executive order for legislation was given notice that this was the substitution of executive order for legislation.

At the beginning of the Civil War was suspected in certain regions and deny them the privilege of the writ. He explained that the Constitution permitted the denial in rebellion or invasion. The provision for suspension was in the article dealing with congress, in the section of prohibitions, but it was a general restriction of authority, not a specific grant of it to one branch of government.

Lincoln, altho he argued that seditious agents should not be taken away from the military and allowed to commit treasonable acts under court protection, was solicitous for the writ. In an odd order, he instructed a commanding officer that in his judgment of necessity he might bombard towns and suspend the legal privilege but in latter to use the greatest prudence.

However, for the Lincoln precedent there is something closer to the question. Gen. Fremont in Kentucky undertook to confiscate property and free slaves. Lincoln stopped it. Some of his friends thought he was wrong and that Fremont was right. He replied to one of them, O. H. Browning, on Sept. 22, 1861:

"You speak of it as being the only means of saving the government. On the contrary, it is itself the surrender of the government. Can it be pretended that it is any longer the government of the United States—any government of constitution and laws—wherein a general or a President may make permanent rules of property by proclamation? I do not say congress might not with propriety pass a law on the point, just such as Gen. Fremont proclaimed. I do not say that I might not, as a member of congress, vote for it. What I object to is that I, as President, shall expressly or impliedly seize and exercise the permanent legislative functions of the government."

Seize and exercise the legislative functions of government—that is the proposal Mr. Roosevelt put forward. Congress, taking his word as final, is hurrying to meet the deadline and by giving him a law to keep him from making one himself. Only badly educated citizens could regard this as a little thing. Only ignorant or designing citizens could say it was. It is one of those little things which overthrow governments.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word, primal. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." -WALT WHITMAN.

OUR NEW IDEA OF AMERICANISM

It used to be that Americanism meant being interested in promoting the people in America, looking after the interest of the people who live in this country, making it so that they could get more for a given amount of work and protecting them in their life and their property.

Now we seem to think that Americanism is taking care of all the people throughout the world. Few people realize how rapidly we have assumed the obligation of lending, or leasing, or giving help to the people of other nations. Besides the British Empire, we have been lending, leasing or in reality giving aid to the following 35 nations: Argentina, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Dominion Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, France (fighting), Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Iceland, Iran, Irak, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Poland, Turkey, U. S. S. R., Venezuela, Yugoslavia.

The trouble is we are teaching these people to believe that our wealth and our resources are inexhaustible. If we continue at the present rate, our debts will be increased 1000 per cent, by the end of 1944 as compared with 1932. At the present rate of expenditure England's debt will be increased only 250 per cent, as compared with 1932.

The English government seems to realize that their wealth is limited, while the people at the head of our government seem to have no such conception as to our being limited, judging from the above list of nations to whom we are giving assistance.

And while we are doing this, it is well to remember that our government officials did not have courage or honor enough even before the war to levy taxes enough to pay our own bills as we went along.

DETERMINING THE RIGHTNESS OF A MAN'S OPINIONS

One often hears the expression, quite often in a facetious manner, that another person is right because he agrees with him. That is true only in the case of people who know no impersonal, immutable rules of conduct. Without any rules of conduct, a man can then only determine whether another is right or wrong in his reasoning and conclusions as to whether or not he agrees with him.

Impersonal principles do not change or contradict themselves, but in every case, people who do not attempt to live in harmony with impersonal principles sooner or later contradict themselves.

The real test, therefore, whether or not a social or governmental program is good or bad is not whether it agrees with the ideas of any individual, but whether the individual is obliged to contradict himself in carrying out his program. The truth never contradicts itself. The truth always has a logical answer for a social program. The reason we are in our trouble today is because we have attempted to follow personal opinion rather than put ourselves in harmony with God's or nature's impersonal law.

IS GOVERNMENT CRAZY? (Daily Oklahoman)

No longer is the country disturbed by predictions of a potential or probable aluminum shortage. Aluminum is being produced in quantities more than sufficient to meet all present or prospective needs. America now has in sight the capacity to produce nearly twice as much aluminum as the whole world consumed in pre-war days.

About 90 per cent of the aluminum produced in the country is being produced by the Aluminum Co. of America either in its own plants or in plants it is operating for the government. No other company or business in America has done a finer piece of war work.

It would seem therefore that our government would appreciate what this great company is doing and be entirely grateful for the mighty service that the company is rendering.

In what has been called the longest trial in history the government sought to prove that Alcoa was a criminal monopoly. The proceedings lasted five years and three months. From 153 witnesses the trial judge heard testimony that filled 41,722 pages. At the end of a hearing that reviewed every detail of the company's life for more than half a century the court found the defendant company was not guilty. It is from this decision that the attorney general had been ordered to appeal.

It is no credit to our government that the company that is rendering a war service unsurpassed by any other agency has to fight the unlimited power of the United States government while working so magnificently to save the country from disaster and the government itself from possible destruction. It is an amazing thing that any government would go to such lengths to destroy an agency whose efforts in behalf of freedom may prove to be the means of preserving our national existence. And it is a humiliating thought that if Alcoa was a suspected or an avowed ally of Hitler, it would not be prosecuted with a more implacable fury by the government of the United States.

Why can't the government suspend this proceeding until after the war has been won? Once the terrible need for the production of aluminum in ample quantities has ended, let the government proceed to determine finally whether the federal statutes have been violated. If the laws have been violated, the company should be punished, but why destroy it when it is doing more perhaps than any other company on the continent to save the nation's life? The policy of the government would be more foolish or hardly less criminal if it should silence all the guns at a battle's front in order to try the gunners for shooting dice at a honkey-tonk.

BEYOND UNDERSTANDING (Daily Oklahoman)

We can't understand it. For centuries now manufacturers have been adding the cost of production to the price they charge for their products, and they are still permitted to do that with the approval of congress and President. But when it is suggested that farmers be allowed to do what the manufacturers always have done, congress rebels and the President declares his unalterable opposition to the suggestion. No, we can't understand it at all.

THIS WON'T HELP WIN THE WAR

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER SLEUTHS: Contrary to fears of Capitol Hill politicians, President Roosevelt on his incognito tour of the country's munitions plants made no attempt to exalt himself or to cut down legislators during the bitter controversy regarding his anti-inflation program. He confined his actions to the business of checking production of planes, tanks, ships, artillery, etc.

Regardless of the merits of such censorship principles, the secrecy which surrounded this unprecedented trip constitutes a tribute to the American press and people. Every Washington newspaper man knew about the swing around the circle but wrote nothing about it for publication. Neither Hitler nor Mussolini, who travel dictatorially, could have moved through their countries with greater safety.

The Secret Service, which was appalled when first informed of F. D. R.'s scheme, did a grand job. Posing as Army-Navy inspectors, they laid detailed advance plans in every city and factory the Chief Executive intended to visit. At no time was Mr. Roosevelt in the path of danger, thanks to "Ed" Sterling's sleuths and shadows.

FORD: The only paper that broke the censor's rulings was the Journal of an organization in a city located in the northwestern Pacific area. It printed sixteen thousand copies describing the Presidential tour, but except four thousand were collected and commanded by Secret Service agents. No orthodox sheet informed the public, although influential representatives here filed a formal protest with the White House against the muzzling of the press.

In a West Coast city the head man's daughter, Anna Boettger, christened a new merchant marine vessel. Her father sat beside her and helped guide her hand in splashing champagne against the ship's hull. There was a complete story of the launching and Anna's ineptness in breaking the bottle, but no mention of her distinguished parent's presence.

An even more revealing incident occurred at Henry Ford's Willow Run plant. Earl Godwin, former Washington correspondent and now a radio commentator on the Ford program, was going through the factory with Henry. Along came F. D. R. When he saw Earl, he waved and called: "Remember, Earl, I am not here—I am still in Washington!"

The auto magnate's eyes bugged at this show of familiarity on the part of the Chief. In an awed voice he asked Godwin, "Do you know the President of the United States that will? Does he call you by your first name?" And Earl, being a smart fellow, stuck his fingers in his vest and replied, "Why, certainly, Mr. Ford. I know him so well that I call him by his middle name."

KEY: President Roosevelt and Price Administrator Leon Henderson have criticized the Congressional rural bloc's anti-inflation bill because it boosts parity levels to 112 1/2 per cent if "all farm labor costs" are included. If only hired help is counted in the equation involving receipts and payments the figure will be 104.06.

But, as the political agriculturists point out, the Administration has permitted prices to rise far above the peak which F. D. R. denounced. In his catchall message the Chief Executive said that he would approve ceilings of any recent date and both House and Senate measures with his full approval, fixed September 15th as the economic day if reckoning. The President may not realize it—probably doesn't.

but here is what gives his Capitol Hill opponents a laugh—and a pain: September 15th parity prices on key foodstuffs which enter the family budget were: Hogs, 123; beef cattle, 136; veal calves, 127; lambs, 133; wool, 143; chickens, 117; milk, 115; rice, 125; cottonseed, 132; dry field peas, 133. Every one of these products is far above the 112 1/2 or 104.06 index. And yet it was Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Henderson who permitted these edibles to soar to a point where they are almost unbuyable. No wonder the farm bloc is angry.

TEMPER: President Roosevelt has decided to play neutral in next month's Congressional and state elections. With only a few exceptions—possibly in the cases of "Jack" Bennett in New York and "Joe" Casey in Massachusetts—he will keep his hands off all Democratic candidates.

Two basic reasons impel F. D. R. to assume this attitude. He has finally become convinced, owing partly to his recent journey around the country, that the people want him to be a war and diplomatic leader rather than a Party politician. He also learned that the Republicans will make substantial gains in the House and Senate, perhaps forty seats in the lower chamber and at least five in the upper. Therefore he does not intend to stick his neck out, as Woodrow Wilson did in 1918 with his appeal for the return of a Democratic Congress.

Together with other considerations, this reading of the public temper suggests that commingling with the home folks, workers and sufferers has had a deep effect on the President. He may now force his crowd in Washington to get down to the business of winning the conflict and to forget personal or partisan advantages.

TEARS: A well-known Washington citizen recently searched his cellar for scrap as his contribution to the nation-wide drive. He and his wife unearthed the old-fashioned photograph which they had bought for their first-born when he was three years old. They had kept it as a keepsake and memento. It contained several pounds of metal.

They stared at each other with tears in their eyes. But the boy for whom the musical machine had been purchased will soon be serving as a radio operator in a Flying Fortress over Europe. So the old man took his ax, smashed the relic and sent it along.

Exclusively yours: Producer Dudley Nichols and Director Jean Renoir met at Charles Laughton's home the other night to discuss the script of a new RKO picture, "This Land is Mine." But Renoir spent more time in nostalgic conversation over Laughton's art collection, including three paintings by a great French artist, than he did in discussing the script.

When he fled from Paris, Renoir was forced to leave behind his own superb collection of paintings by the same artist.

The paintings in Laughton's mind which took Director Renoir's home off the script were by the famous French artist Auguste Renoir—the father.

Retail Failures May Go 10 Times Higher Than 1932

By PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington

The problems of the small businessman are again in the Washington limelight—at least temporarily. The Senate Committee to Study and Survey Problems of Small Business, headed by Senator James E. Murray of Montana, is holding hearings to see what has happened to their baby since they turned it over to the nursing of the Smaller War Plants Corporation.

This SWPC, you'll recall, was set up by act of Congress last June as a part of the War Production Board. But after the early October hearings the committee will suspend until you guessed it—after election. Politics still survives, even though in the meantime small business may perish.

Currently the Smaller War Plants Corporation has been ducked in a pellucid dead cat thrown in its general direction because in the four months of its existence it has been able to let only three contracts, adding only about a dozen of the 169,000 small manufacturers scattered throughout the country.

WHAT OF THE REST? In the meantime, what is happening to the 72,000 wholesalers, the 1,614,000 retailers, the 638,000 service companies such as laundries and dry cleaners, the 20,000 building companies, the 40,000 places of amusement and the 25,000 hotels? They're all small businesses, too, and they wait that nobody in Washington is doing anything about them except to deliver funeral orations after they are dead.

Even in boom times small business firms die like flies, and are born the same way. Some enterprising citizen of every community is always getting the bug to go into business for himself, usually on a shoestring. He opens a "beauty" gas station and as often as not folds up before the year is out. In 1939 and 1940 recorded business failures numbered over 1000 a month. All through the Coolidge and Hoover booms they numbered over 30,000 a year. In 1932 they reached a peak of nearly 32,000 with liabilities of nearly $1,000,000,000.

But even such colossal failures as these are mere chicken feed to the failures that are anticipated for the next year. Wayne Chatfield Taylor, president of the Commerce, estimates the number of retailers alone which may be forced out of business before the end of next year may reach 300,000—10 times the failures of 1932.

AID FORMULA WANTED

What can be done in the face of all this woe? When the Murray Committee resumes its hearings—after the election—it will continue sessions for a month. Its aim is to conduct an inquiry before the necessary credit formula for legislation that will help small business men get out of business without going into bankruptcy.

The plan which Senator Murray's committee apparently has in mind is somewhat similar. It hopes to set up governmental machinery which can extend the necessary credit to the business that must hold up for the duration, in the belief this business can reopen after the war is over.

It is probably too much to hope any legislation of this kind will be passed before the end of 1942. It might even drag over and be left for the new Congress.

In the face of that possibility, the smart small business man today will be the one who doesn't wait for Washington but takes matters into his own hands, closes up his business if that's the handwriting on the wall of his factory or store, and gets one of those nice jobs in a shipyard or jeep factory. There, at least, he'd be getting something for his overtime.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Wide World War Analyst

LONDON, Oct. 6—Premier Stalin's statement that Allied aid to Russia "has so far been little effective," as compared with the Soviet contribution to the cause of the United Nations, is being received in Britain in the spirit in which it apparently was offered—without rancor and with a desire to get ahead with the job of hanging Hitler.

Indeed, well-qualified observers point out that obviously there can be no dispute with the Soviet leader's estimate insofar as it concerns aid in the nature of action by combat forces. It is assumed this is what he referred to, not to equipment and supplies which Britain and America have been delivering with such difficulty and danger especially vis. that the fire centers of the Nazis established in Northern Norway.

Stalin's statement made in response to questions by Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press and Wide World Correspondent, attracted attention throughout Britain. Far from causing resentment the Premier's direct language is evoking a strange assortment of bedfellows, determined to deliver the necessary aid to Russia at the earliest possible moment.

The striking thing to my mind is that this triple alliance, which in many respects represents a strange assortment of bedfellows, should have reached a point of understanding where rebukes can be exchanged without causing friction. Certainly the same could not have been said so long ago.

Now this is of vast importance, for upon the solidarity of the triple Alliance depends the future of Europe. The three governments recognize this and lessening of the natural suspicions which at first existed between the Communists and the Anglo-American combine presumably have been due to mutual efforts to reach an understanding.

There is no doubt that Stalin will get his second front at the first feasible moment. Irrespective of his desire, there would be a second front because of Anglo-American determination to establish one. To any trained observer it is clearly clear that this country is a perfect beehive of preparation by both British and American Forces for offensive operations.

As I've already reported, Britain is being swept by the hunch that preparations are reaching the stage where they permit an offensive at almost any time. I find this feeling growing stronger daily though of faldom is sitting tight and not talking except to reaffirm that medicine is being prepared for the Nazis all highest and will be administered by force as soon as possible.

The British public, like the American, lives for the day when a major offensive can be undertaken. However, the man in the street who not so long ago was loud in demands that the second front be opened immediately now has reached the conclusion after all it must be for the high command to say when and where offensives shall be undertaken. To the average person the term "second front" seems to mean only one thing—invasion of the continent through France.

Apparently that is what Moscow has in mind, too. However, I believe the Anglo-American command places a wider interpretation on the phrase and a good many Military experts hold that several very useful "second fronts."

What Stalin wants, of course, is an action that will draw a great number of German troops away from the eastern front in the quickest possible time and thus relieve the threat to his army of invasion in Egypt—a vital part of his drive against the Caucasus and the Middle East—would achieve this purpose.

It is equally true that some day the East and John Bull likely will have put a great army ashore in France.

However, of one thing we can be very certain—the Anglo-American command never will undertake the most difficult operation in all history of war until it feels reasonably certain of success. That doesn't mean they aren't prepared to take chances, for they are, but the stakes are too great to gamble madly.

The recent Dieppe raid ought to show the dangers of such an invasion. -BUY VICTORY BONDS-

ONLY WAR KEEPS CARDS FROM LONG-TIME HOLD ON CROWN

Team Won 47 Games Out Of 57 In Season

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—If it were not for the probability that the war will break it up, the St. Louis Cardinals club that completed the job of knocking the New York Yankees yesterday might within the next few years go tearing on to win ranking with the greatest teams in baseball history.

It is a son-of-a-gun of a baseball club—much better than anyone suspected even when it was running wild in the closing stages of the national league race. There is no team in either league at the time with anything approaching the all-around punch, pitching and polish of the new world champions.

On the off chance that somebody might think we are going overboard on the bold young men of Manager Billy Southworth, a few figures might be in order:

Through yesterday's deciding game at the stadium, which was won by 4-2 on a two-run homer by George Kurovski, rookie third baseman, in the ninth inning, the Cardinals won 47 of their last 57 contests in the 1942 season. That comes to an all-time winning average of .824 down the stretch.

They slugged and slashed their way to victory in their last six straight games in the league race, paused only to drop the world series opener in St. Louis, and then battered the Yankees into submission in four straight. Some time, some team might have set a record that looks comparable in print, we doubt that the competition was as tough.

With all due respect for the Brooklyn Dodgers, it would have been a shame if the Cards' sensational charge had fallen short of the national league pennant. Two capacity crowds in St. Louis and three vast gatherings of nearly 70,000 here would have been deprived of a baseball treat to be treasured.

It is doubtful the Dodgers could have beaten the Yankees. They lacked pitching. As the series unfolded it became obvious that the Cardinals not only had all the dash and color which had become their hallmark, but that they also possessed great pitching in quantity.

Mort Cooper, their biggest winner, was a rugged front-line pitcher for the Yankees, yet they had the men who could take up the slack in Johnny Beazley, Ernie White and Max Lanier.

Beazley, the solemn 23-year-old rookie from Nashville, who defeated the Yankees in the second game to square the series and then came back to clinch the championship yesterday, probably deserved to be called the series star. He pitched two great games and showed an astonishing store of poise for a youngster.

But the Cardinals line-up was studded with stars. It strictly was a team victory. Take Kurovski, the rookie third sacker from Reading, Pa. His game-winning blow yesterday was little more important than the triple he smacked in the second game to drive in a run and throw the Yankees into a tantrum of umpire-baiting from which they never recovered.

Or Terry Moore, the team's great captain and center-fielder. In the course of the series he made two of the most spectacular catches ever seen on any field to stifle Yankee rallies and generally lent support to the claim that he is the equal of Joe DiMaggio. He singled and later scored the sixth-inning run that tied the count at 2-2 yesterday and set the stage for Kurovski's winning wallop.

Or Edus Slaughter, who saved two games with marvelous plays, one a Dead-eye Dick peg to third base from right field and the other a leaping catch of what should have been a homerun by Charley Keller.

To top off his fine performance, he slugged a fourth-inning home run into the deep right field stands off Red Ruffing yesterday to equalize a four-bagger with which Little Phil Rizzuto had greeted Beazley in the opening round.

And then there was White, the southpaw, who blunked the Yankees 2 to 0 in the third game; and Walker Cooper, who out-started Bill Dickey behind the plate, climaxing his efforts with a snappy peg that caught Joe Gordon off second base in the ninth inning yesterday.

Freshmen Grid Prospects High

By RICHARD WEST
Associated Press Staff
Assuming football will continue for the duration, Texas and Texas & M.—the state's two largest schools—are due to have even greater teams in the future.

Some of the finest players ever graduated from Texas high schools enrolled this fall at these institutions.

At Texas, in particular, this year's freshman was called the best in the school's history.

Four members of the Associated Press 1941 All-State High School team were lauded by the Longhorns: Backs Gene Hill and Wayland Hill from Wichita Falls and Temple, respectively; Ed Hap, Temple tackle; and John Hamberger, Sunset (Dallas) tackle.

Other great recruits include Jack Allison, Austin, and Ed Bacak, Corpus Christi, ends; James Hallmark, Wichita Falls, tackle; T. C. Martin, Temple, and Felto Prewitt, Corsicana, centers, and Backs Charlie Munson from Austin, Lorn Weems, Nacogdoches, and Frank Guess, Wharton.

A. & M.'s frosh are distinguished by ten tackles weighing over 200 pounds each. Best known of the new men, however, are Marlon Flanagan, Sweetwater speedster; Gus White, three-goal polo player from Lamesa; Dutch Neumann from Kilgore; and Bernard Ott, lineman who made the all-state Catholic team last season.

Another is Milton Routt, whose brother, Joe, starred from Ansonia, Okla., at A. & M. Another brother, Chip, was a great tackle. And Jack Rollins, 205-pound tackle, is the son of a great Aggie back of 1906.

Texas Christian is thrilled over Pete Stout, Throckmorton; passing Mattie Farrell from Ansonia, Okla.; Riverside (Fort Worth); hard-driving George Britain of Robstown; Pat Wright, fleet-footed half from Bowie, and a long-distance punter, A. J. Coker of Comanche.

Two biggest names enrolling at Rice are "Big Mamma" all-state guard at Wichita Falls, and Nick Lanza, a battering ram of a full-back from Adamson (Dallas) who has been shifted to end. Others expected to show promise are Bob Furse, back, Eastland; Bill Bolling, center; Wichita Falls; Ed Greenham from Kilgore; David Cook, back, Lufkin; and Paul Davis, giant tackle from Waco.

Southern Methodist has that fine Masonic Home passer, Gordy Brown, and another good hurler, Bill Squires from Paso. Wayne Ed Gentry, back from Tyler, and David Wyatt, back from Gainesville, are very promising, as are Paul Casch, Big Spring center and Ed Starr, Waco end.

Outstanding at Baylor are a triple-threatener from Livingston, Harmon Rowe; a 210-pound powerhouse runner, Buddy Tinsley of Barbers Hill; Elmer Bloyd, Paducah end; Ventyn Moxton, Conroe tackle, and two great guards, Bentley Jones of Cleburne and Arthur Havestock of Corpus Christi.

Up at Fayetteville are five freshmen who coaches say could make the varsity now: Earl Bowman, 190-pound end from Little Rock; Harry Ledbetter, 180-pound back from Fordyce; Theron Roberts, 200-pound guard from Texarkana; Eldred Rogers, 184-pound back from Fordyce; and Bill Troxwell, 185-pound back from Seagriff.

amount to the triumph. For the most part, they did not display the distance-hitting qualities of the Yankees, but each of them seemed to hit or come up with a great play when it was needed most.

Cards Ace Hurler Almost Ready To Quit 2 Years Ago

By JUDSON O'QUINN
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Johnny Beazley was about ready to quit baseball two years ago after three seasons as a bush leaguer whose back hurt every time he cut loose with his fast one.

"I took him to a doctor," Charles A. Hurth, business manager of New Orleans' Southern Association club related today, "and the doc said if he would have his tonsils out, he'd be fit as a fiddle."

That's just what he did, and the doc was right.

"I got my biggest thrill," said Ex-Boss Hurth, "as I sat in St. Louis and watched that rookie beat the Yankees in the second game of the world series. When in trouble, ice water really flowed in his veins."

"Then I got my second biggest thrill yesterday as he polished off New York again to clinch the world series for the Cardinals. It was some performance for a major league freshman."

Beazley, now 23, started with Lexington in the Kitty league in 1937, but was unimpressive in two victories and five defeats. The next year he went to Greenville, Miss., in the Cotton States loop where he won two and lost four before finishing at Abbeville, La., in the Class D Evangeline circuit.

The big right hander lost six and won eight at Abbeville and then was taken on by New Orleans in 1939, but went back to his Nashville, Tenn., home with a sore back—out all season. The next year he was optioned to Columbus, Ga., and won five and lost three before packing up for home with his back ailment.

The latter part of 1940 he hurled four victories and lost two for Mobile, Ala., but he still complained of his back.

This is where Hurth, who had picked him up for a song, stepped in. Beazley came back from his operation to win 16 and lose 12 for New Orleans, with an earned run average of 3.61 last season.

The Cardinals grabbed him. And they were right, too.

Gas Rationing Still Opposed, Coke Asserts
AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—Texans remain overwhelmingly opposed to gasoline rationing, based on the volume of mail reaching his desk, Governor Coke R. Stevenson asserted today.

Concluding a tour of the nation, President Roosevelt said in Washington yesterday that Texas, which had once opposed rationing now was going along as much as Massachusetts with the program.

Stevenson was one of several governors who conferred with the president during the tour but the Texas executive has not discussed details of his meeting with the president.

Asked if Texans in his opinion, were reconciled to restrictions on motor fuel consumption the governor asserted at a press conference: "The volume of my correspondence shows the Texas public is overwhelmingly against gasoline rationing."

The governor recalled that Robert Lee Bobbitt, member of the Texas as highway commission and president of the Western Association of State Highway Officials was now in Washington attempting to convince federal authorities that Western and Southwestern states needed more liberal gasoline allowances than those proposed under the nationwide rationing plan.

The governor revealed also that DeWitt C. Greer, state highway engineer, and Chairman Brady P. Gentry of the highway commission accompanied Bobbitt.

Bobbitt declared before his departure that the association, representing 12 states, did not intend to protest rationing but rather to assist in mapping the best program possible.

He proposed to tell federal officials to restrict rationing on motor vehicle transportation in western and southwestern states would affect the war effort as well as the economic situation.

The governor has long opposed rationing on grounds it would conserve rubber, the announced objective of the restrictions.

It is his opinion, based on scientific surveys and studies, that sufficient non-military rubber supplies will be available in a year and rationing of gasoline during that period would conserve no more rubber than a sensible driving speed maximum.

Cards Receive $6,192 Each For Winning Series

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—A bunch of St. Louis Cardinals came bustling out of Yankee stadium, still boisterous at winning the world series, brushed off the cab drivers and headed for the subway and the nickel ride back to their hotel.

That is as good a way as any of leading into the possibility that all that "galantry" and "gameness" of the crash-hous game came from that $6,192.50 waiting for each player at the finish of the 1942 world series—and the Cards are a lean, hungry team.

This, incidentally, is not trying to take a thing away from the running Redbirds. They hit when they had to. They ran when it counted.

Just look at the way Johnny Beazley pulled himself out of two clutches yesterday. And how about that clinching homer by Whitley Kurovski? He's the player the Yankees tabbed as the "All America Out" before the series started.

But the reports are that the top-priced player on the young St. Louis outfit draws down in the neighborhood on the claim.

Moore, the ghost of center field, who not only can—but does—catch everything within nine miles of him.

On the other hand, the Yankees are the highest priced club in baseball, with a payroll estimated at $300,000 a year. Their average salary is somewhere near $10,000.

Southwest conference teams came through last week's games with few serious injuries and today get busy preparing for their next gridiron rivals.

The university of Texas Longhorns suffered only bruises in the Northwestern tilt. Coach D. X. Bible ordered work on offense, with emphasis on the passing attack. He seemed satisfied with the team's defense.

There were some changes in the Texas lineup; Bible planned to work Roy McKay part time at tailback and shift Jackie Field to fullback.

Rice players were in good shape and were to get down to their practice today. Jim Nall suffered a bruised hip in the L. S. U. game, but it improved over the week-end, and he was out for drill yesterday.

Dutch Meyer, recovered from an influenza attack, resumed supervision of the T. C. U. Horned Frog workouts. Guard Mike Harter suffered a bruised leg in the Arkansas contest and may be kept out of the Kansas game Saturday.

Bill Henderson of the Aggies had four stitches in his lip, cut in the Texas Tech game. Boots Simmons, the other starting end, had about recovered from an injured ankle. Jake Webster was expected to resume his duties as extra point kicker in the game with Corpus Christi naval air station Saturday.

The Arkansas Razorbacks had only one serious injury, but it was a damaging one—Center Floyd Tom Dean, giant Southern Methodist tackle, was the only Mustang to be counted out of this week's struggle with Hardin-Simmons. He had an injured shoulder. Guard Ray Rasor suffered a head injury in the Pitt game, but may play against the Cowboys.

Top-O-Texas Cadet Club Meets Tonight

Top-O-Texas Cadet club will meet for their regular weekly session tonight at the Pampa high school for classroom study of airplane identification. Tom Herod, assistant high school principal and local CPT ground school instructor, will be guest instructor for the course.
 Continuing with their plan to prepare themselves for induction into the Army Air Corps, members of the club have ordered math and physics books and will commence regular class work in these subjects as soon as textbooks arrive.
 As another part of their pre-induction training, the club decided last week to meet at least once each week for physical education workouts and study of elementary military drill. This feature of their program will be directed by Sgt. R. D. Short, local recruiting officer.
 "It is our understanding that several more Gray County men have taken the Aviation Cadet examination and have been sworn into the reserve corps within the past few days, and we want these men to know that they are welcome to join our club immediately," Hoyt West, chairman of the organization said today.
 Some members of the club are expecting their appointments as cadets shortly, but none are extremely optimistic; and you can hardly blame them since some have been waiting over five months for a call to active duty.

 careful consideration to the recommendations of Chairman Donald Nelson of the war production board in fixing the excess profits rate at 90 per cent with a 10 per cent post-war refund, given in non-negotiable, non-interest bearing bonds payable after the war. He gave four main reasons for the post-war credit:

"1. With a high corporate tax, it will give the taxpayer an immediate incentive to make the corporation more efficient in its operation and keep its costs down to a reasonable basis.
 "2. It will allow more immediate revenue to the government than could otherwise be secured under high rates.
 "3. It will provide the corporation with a post-war reserve to enable it to undertake the task of rehabilitation and readjustment after the war.
 "4. By having a tendency to hold down costs, it will offset somewhat the effect of an unduly high excess profits tax upon inflation."

George estimated the broadening of the individual income tax base by reducing the personal exemptions would add approximately 7,000,000 new taxpayers, with 600,000 more added by a reduction of the credit for dependents from $400 to $300.

"In order to raise the large amount of additional revenue required to meet the needs of the war, it is necessary to reach down into the lower income group and in doing so I felt it preferable to levy a tax such as the victory tax, rather than a general retail sales tax," Senator George said.

He said it was impossible to obtain the estimated $2,000,000,000 additional revenue of the 5 per cent victory tax by increased taxation of persons in the higher income levels.

 moment—to the carefully worded statement I have made on this subject, and I would strongly advise the house not to press these matters at a period which is certainly significant."

The British war leader warned last week against speculation on the possible time and place of Allied offensive actions.

In Moscow, the sharpest Russian editorial to date on the lack of a second front appeared in a Pravda cartoon showing a group of "Colonel Blimp"-type generals listening dumbly to two strong officers labeled "General Decisiveness" and "General Courage."

The stuffed-shirt officers were tagged with such names as "General Cannot Risk," "General No Hurry" and "General Let's Wait."

Soviet newspapers gave front-page prominence to Stalin's letter to the Associated Press.

Simultaneously, in far off Chungking, China, Wendell L. Willkie expressed hope that Stalin's letter would "bring Russia's imperative needs forcefully to the attention of the peoples of the United Nations."

Wild street fighting continued inside Stalingrad and in the northwest outskirts, while above the city, on a 40-mile front between the Don and Volga rivers, the Russians hammered new dents in the vital German field flank.

Two Soviet bulletins told of progress against the so-called German "barrier" guarding the main Nazi siege armies.

At midnight, Red army headquarters said Russian shock troops "improved their positions" in that sector. Then, in today's noon communique, the Russian command said "Unit 'N' made a slight advance" in the same region.

Dispatches indicated that the heaviest fighting flamed in Stalingrad's northwest suburbs, where three German divisions, led by 100 tanks and supported by swarms of the bombers, attempted to smash into a workers' settlement.

Soviet dispatches declared that wave after wave of Nazi attacks were hurled back, and the army newspaper Red Star asserted:

"Neither tanks, aviation nor tommy-guns can shake the decision of our fighters to protect the Volga river stronghold and repulse the German robbers from the walls of the glorious city."

Battle Looms In House Over Poll Tax Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Digging in for a showdown fight against legislation to repeal poll taxes charged in eight Southern states, Southern representatives took heart today from reports that their opposition was splitting and leaving town.

Under house rules, the legislation will come up for decision next Monday when Representative Ramsay (D-W.Va.) moves that the judiciary committee, which has bottled up the bill since early in 1941, be forced to produce it.

Ramsay, sponsor of recent legislation to permit service men to vote by mail without paying poll taxes, was one of the 218 representatives who last month signed a petition forcing the bill before the house.

Action On Report Delayed
 Since then, however, a senate judiciary sub-committee has reported adversely on similar legislation on the ground it was unconstitutional and violated the right of states to determine the voting qualifications of their own residents.

The full senate committee yesterday decided to delay action on the sub-committee report until Oct. 19.

The senate sub-committee action was hailed by poll tax defenders as having caused wide spread desertions in the ranks of their opponents.

There was a slim chance, that there might not be a quorum present in the house next Monday when Ramsay makes his motion. With the congressional elections just around the corner, the house calendar fairly light, and the poll-tax not an issue in many states, a number of house members already have left Washington for their home districts.

The eight poll-tax states, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama, Texas and Arkansas, have a total of 78 house members, or less than one-fifth of the total membership.

 Gene Barrett turned in 250 pounds. Where are the children getting the scrap metal? A lot of it is coming from farms and small house lots. Principal Meek says, with the children getting help from their folks in bringing the stuff to the collection depot.

Above-quoted is also the idea of Dalerhea Johnson, who brought in 77 pounds. She weighs only 52 pounds, so she had 25 pounds of scrap metal represented in the lot she brought in to spare. The extra 25 pounds will go to the credit of one of the teachers.

Others of the first 20 Sam Houston students to bring in their weight in scrap iron, with amounts, were: James Williams, 90; Sammie Dunn, 52; Tommie Joe Cox, 52; Bob Johnson, 80; Don Hicks, 62; Jane Dickey, 65; Jacqueline Merchant, 56.

Pampa's Clean Up Project Praised

Work done in Pampa's clean-up campaign of May 17-23 of this year was praised in a letter received here today by City Manager Steve Matthews from Ralph W. Emerson, executive secretary of the National Clean Up and Paint Up campaign bureau, Washington, D. C.

Acknowledging receipt of the report on the local campaign, he accompanied the letter with transmittal dated September 29. Secretary Emerson writes:

"The weed campaign in Pampa has been emphasized with exceptional effect in your report and the amount of scrap collected is a surprisingly large amount for a city the size of Pampa."

SERIAL STORY OF BRIGHTNESS GONE BY HOLLY WATTERSON

UNDER BRUCE AGAIN CHAPTER XXIII SHE found herself reluctant to see Peter and his father before she left. Peter had a trick, born probably of long association and understanding, of feeling through her, and she had a feeling that this Harper affair would not bear too much inspection, would not make her appear to advantage in his eyes.

over one of its rungs, munching a roll and watching Bruce as he went about, turning up the gas under a pot, setting the table. The limp was not too noticeable now, nor was the slight droop of the muscles on the left side of his face. Sometimes, though, that droop gave rather a startling before-and-after effect; the drooping side simulated the discouraged mood he had labored under while he was involved in business troubles and smarting under Belle's displeasure; the other, brighter look had come after his release from both.

the one to make him feel secure, possibly unwanted. SHE became anxious to leave before she herself might somehow blunder into the subject, or Bruce could bring it up. As soon after lunch as she decently could she said briskly, "I can't wait around any longer on the chance of seeing Peter, I'm afraid. I have an awful lot to do."

Italians Claim Sinking Of U. S. Ship In Atlantic

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The sinking of a United States battleship of the 33,000-ton Mississippi class in the Atlantic off Preetown, West Africa, was reported by the Italian high command in a special communique today.

The claim has no confirmation from any other source, nor is there any indication that United States warships were operating in that area.

The communique said the Italian submarine Barbarigo scored four torpedo hits on the battleship at 2:34 a. m., Rome time, today (8:34 p. m. (E. W. T. Monday)).

The communique, broadcast by the Rome radio, credited the sinking to the Italian submarine Barbarigo, an ocean-going type which previously had been reported by the Italians to have sunk a United States battleship of the Maryland class near Brazil last May 22.

This claim, more than four months later, still has no confirmation. The navy department in Washington said it had no comment to make on the claim.

The Mississippi is the oldest of three battleships grouped by the United States as the New Mexico class. They are the Idaho and New Mexico, each 33,400 tons, and the 33,000-ton Mississippi, which was completed Dec. 18, 1917.

Each of these battleships mounts 72 14-inch and 12 five-inch guns as her chief weapons and each carries three planes and two catapults from which to launch them.

All three were modernized between 1930 and 1934, when they were fitted with heavier protection including thicker decks and anti-torpedo bulges. During 1941, their anti-aircraft batteries were strengthened and their top-side protection was increased.

School Children Show Spirit In Scrap Campaign

Something of the spirit Texans are showing in the newspaper scrap drive is demonstrated by San Antonio's 40,000 school children.

The "Junior Texas Rangers" could not wait for yesterday's starting date—they were bringing metal to school last week.

Into the school collection went two 75 mm. cannons weighing five thousand pounds, relics of World War One that had adorned the Thomas Jefferson High school campus.

La Prensa, Spanish language newspaper, donated a 3,000-pound printing press to Latin American children attending Irving junior high school. A brewery turned in a 150-ton refrigerating machine.

San Antonio had previously gathered two million pounds of old metal in an air wardens' drive. Another million pounds, it was estimated, has been collected in the newspaper campaign.

Dallas school children, proudly wearing their Junior Texas Ranger badges, went whole-heartedly into the drive. At Union Bower school, the youngsters quickly assembled a huge pile of scrap by going into nearby river lowlands and dragging away torn bodies of old automobiles.

"Shimmying Sadie," reputed to be Texas' oldest elevator, was headed for the junk heap at Galveston. "Sadie" was named by a former operator who said, "You can't tell what she will do next." The elevator was put into use in 1905.

Robstown went into a "business blackout" today as grownups and 1,400 Junior Rangers carried out a house-to-house search for metal. Schools were dismissed and business establishments closed—all but the telephone exchange and the scrap depot.

Thirty-nine service station operators at Sherman signed an agreement to close up tomorrow and help in the collection. One of the stations will halt its day-and-night service for the first time in 22 years.

Outlawing Poll Tax Proposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A constitutional amendment to outlaw collection of poll taxes as a voting qualification was proposed by Senator O'Mahoney (W-Wyo.) as the senate judiciary committee deferred until October 19 action on an anti-poll tax bill offered by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.).

"I am drafting an amendment for introduction tomorrow," O'Mahoney told reporters.

O'Mahoney said a judiciary subcommittee on which he is chairman was directed to reopen hearings on the Pepper bill for one day to hear governors and attorney generals desiring to appear in opposition. The subcommittee disapproved the bill Friday.

"Legislatures of most of the states will meet in January," O'Mahoney said, "and I am convinced the amendment could be ratified within six months, since only eight states now levy a poll tax, and only three-fourths of the states would be required to approve the amendment." Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Virginia now collect poll taxes as a voting qualification.

Gas Rationing Will Be Adjusted To Needs Of Migratory Laborers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Senator Hatch (D-NM) said today he had been advised by government officials that the forthcoming nationwide gasoline rationing program would be adjusted to the needs of homeward-bound migratory farm labor.

After conferences with officials of the office of price administration and United States employment service, Hatch explained that special concessions to such workers were to be made under the program, expected to start November 15.

Information concerning rationing in such cases, he said, was being made available to all local offices of the United States Employment service.

Hatch told officials that migrant laborers in Texas and Oklahoma were hesitating to leave those areas for fear of inability to obtain gasoline.

IF IT HASN'T BEEN USED FOR SIX MONTHS, AND YOU ARE CERTAIN IT WON'T BE USED FOR THE NEXT SIX—SELL IT . . . OR SCRAP IT!

This is work for the boss to do—no one else can give the final word. If it's machinery, get in touch with the manufacturer, to see if someone else can use it. If they can't—scrap it! If it's a pile of extra parts or fixtures, sell or scrap the ones you don't need. If it's heavy stuff that has to be dismantled—do it, even if it costs more than the scrap will bring.
