Lieutenant Quits His Desk Job To Enlist As Private And Get Action

By JAMES D. WHITE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Meet a man who's giving up his commission as an officer to start over as a private.

"I've been a hell of a war-monger for the past ten years," explains Paul C. Smith. "I hate the Japs and the Nazis and all the Fascists. The thing to do seems to be to get into it."

Smith says there are no strings on his intention to enlist next Monday as a private in the United States marines. To do this, he is resigning his commission as a lieutenant commander in the navy and his dual job as head of the press bureau in the office of war information and deputy to Elmer Davis on information policy in the war and navy departments and selective service.

News Men Share Dangers With Marines

American newspaper photographers and correspondents are sharing with U. S. Marines the "unmitigated hell" into which warfare has turned Guadalcanal. Press dispatches Oct. 28, related how Sherman Montrose, a c m e-NEA photograph and Francis McCarthy, United Press correspondent, are among newsmen who have suffered dysentery and dodged Jap bullets "covering" Guadalcanal for American readers. ## Russians Turn Tables On Nazis

Britain's desert armies were reported to have knifed through Axis forward defenses in the battle of Egypt today, while the Russians turned the tables on German forces in the Western Caucasus and American forces held firmly in the fight to the death in the Solomon islands.

Latest reports from the South Seas battle zone said the conflict was developing at a furious death-dealing pace, with the results not yet clear.

In Washington, the navy announced a scoresheet of 70 Japanese warships and transports sunk or damaged in the Solomons campaign against approximately 20 American ships lost or hit.

These included 12 Japanese vessels definitely sunk, three probably sunk and 55 damaged; compared with 14 U. S. ships sunk, three warships and "several other" unidentified types damaged.

The Tokyo radio continued to broadcast wildly extravagant claims of victory but quoted Japanese naval quarters as warning that the battle is still in progress and the final result therefore cannot be foreseen.

"It can be said that this is one of the greatest naval battles since the outbreak of the war."

Meanwhile, American sources in London said the U. S. navy was greatly outnumbered by the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific but that the numbers would be equalized before long.

On the whole, the day's news indicated a noticeable improvement for the Allies in the three key theaters of action.

These were the highlights: Egypt-British headquarters reported that Lieut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th army made "further progress" in its five-day-old offensive to break through Axis defenses on the El Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

The British war bulletin said tank battles developed on a larger scale yesterday and that "after heavy tank fighting the enemy was driven off with considerable loss."

British tank losses were described as "light."

A Reuters dispatch said British troops had "advanced beyond a number of enemy strong points" and were busy mopping up others.

Overhead, American, British and other Allied warplanes thundered incessantly into the attack against

Local Board To Be Final Judge In Gas Rationing

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Max L. McCullough, regional director of the Office of Price Administration in Dallas, asserted after a conference with Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today that he had received no information from Washington indicating that Texas will receive liberalized gasoline rationing.

"The word liberal as applied to the gasoline rations Texans will receive has been misused and misinterpreted," McCullough declared, adding that he did not believe rationing officials in Washington had used the word in referring to plans to administer rationing in western states.

"Sufficient gasoline will be allowed to carry on essential business," McCullough told a press conference. "The fact is that a great many people in Texas don't need gasoline above the basic A card allowance."

The director said he and Mark McGee, rationing administrator for Texas, would confer today with Stevens and with Comptroller George H. Sheppard and Treasurer Jesse James on rationing procedure for the state.

"Precise regulations outlining rationing plans for Texas will be received next week," McCullough said. "All I can say now is that local

Assistant Postmaster Gets U. S. Army Call

This week-end will mark the end of more than a decade of service in the Pampa postoffice for both the postmaster and the assistant postmaster.

A telegram was received here last night notifying First Lieut. Odie Kenneth Gaylor to report on November 1 to the commanding officer at the port of embarkation at New Orleans.

Lieutenant Gaylor has the privilege of returning here as assistant postmaster after his army service is ended if he desires.

There will be no examination for assistant postmaster. In the absence of Gaylor, the postmaster will select a man from his organization to fill the vacancy. At the present time, Elmer Dupp is acting as assistant postmaster.

Postmaster C. H. Walker will retire automatically because of age regulations Saturday. His successor will be S. G. Surratt who will serve as acting postmaster for a period not to exceed six months, during which time an examination will be held and a list of eligibles compiled from which the postmaster will be named.

Mr. Walker has been postmaster here since July 20, 1936. Before that, he was postmaster at Dalhart for eight and one-half years, making a total of 15 years in all that he has been in U. S. service.

Coming to Pampa from Panhandle in August, 1926, Mr. Gaylor has been assistant postmaster here since that time, a period of 16 years. Altogether he has been in postal service for 20 years, having been employed at the postoffice in Panhandle and before that at Slick, Okla.

British Smashing Deeper Thru Axis Desert Defenses

WITH AN ECHELON OF THE BRITISH ATTACKING FORCE ON THE EGYPTIAN BATTLEFRONT, Oct. 28 (Delayed AP)—During yesterday afternoon and all through the night until daylight our ground forces pushed forward in a series of attacks and at the same held off enemy counterattacks in the vicinity of the gap Allied troops have opened in the Alamein line.

These vicious snafus were directed at a German defense force, composed of mobile units, that established itself early yesterday across the western end of the gap.

In a move to halt our forces attacking along the sides of the gap the Germans rushed Italian tanks into the western end of the opening, but in a short, hot encounter our tanks destroyed a number of the enemy tanks. Last night's ground assault was against enemy positions on both sides and at the end of the gap, and all objectives were gained.

Camping in this forward area is just like watching a day and night newsreel of war pictures. While we were putting up our tent last night a Stuka dive-bomber carried out a raid a few miles ahead over our lines. Several of the heavier guns, working together, formed a "box" in the sky with their bursting shells and then moved the box into the German plane, which was attempting to get away. Obviously damaged, the bomber turned back surrounded by boxes of bursting shells and when last seen was losing altitude fast.

Smaller anti-aircraft and machine guns joined in making a brilliant display stretching over four or five miles. Several of the heavier guns, working together, formed a "box" in the sky with their bursting shells and then moved the box into the German plane, which was attempting to get away. Obviously damaged, the bomber turned back surrounded by boxes of bursting shells and when last seen was losing altitude fast.

Mrs. Roosevelt Sees Supplies In London

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt saw today swayers from Paterson, N. J., and counterparts from Duluth, Minn., en route from American Red Cross chapters to refugees, evacuees, service men's families and bomb victims in Britain.

It is the agency which distributes supplies collected by the Red Cross, bundles for Britain and the British war relief society in the United States.

"I have seen all these things at home," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "but to actually see them here on the way to the people who are going to get them is very nice."

Congratulations—Mr. and Mrs. Izah Phillips of Pampa are the parents of a son weighing 7 1/2 pounds born at 10:15 Monday night. He has been named Joe Arnold Phillips.

Wives Of Seabees Celebrate Navy Day At Luncheon

Celebrating Navy Day, a group of Seabees wives met for lunch at the Court House cafe Tuesday at noon. Sea shells, belonging to Mrs. E. E. McNutt, who returned recently from Norfolk, Virginia, where she visited with her husband, were used on the table. In keeping with the theme of the luncheon, a nautical game was carried out in the napkins. Fall flowers centered the luncheon table.

Copies of the official Construction Battalion publication, "Bee-Lines," were read.

Plans were made to make the meeting a monthly affair. They will assemble in the home of Mrs. L. W. Patterson on November 4, at 8 o'clock.

The women registered by signing their names as well as the names of their husbands and where they are located.

Attending were Mmes. Lloyd Hamilton, E. E. McNutt, Volney Day, Dewey Belmont, Thomas W. Kitchens, Manuel E. Powers, W. M. Peoples, L. W. Patterson, W. J. Brown, Jr., Leonard Olson, and Raymond W. Shannon.

Fall Planting Of Shrubs Discussed At Wayside Club

"Shrubs can be set out as early as just as easily as in the spring and they will get an earlier start than spring plantings because their roots will already be growing," Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county demonstrator, pointed out at a recent meeting of Wayside Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. Harold Osborne.

"Shrubs need water at least once a month in winter unless it is an unusually wet winter. Special care should be given to shrubs in February as this is the hardest month on shrubs—water and cultivate several times."

Mrs. Kelley, assisted by members, rearranged the following shrubs: Red barberry, coral berry, iris, and winter fern, and set out dusty miller and sandalwood. Pruning shrubs and light cultivation was also demonstrated by Mrs. Kelley.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. H. B. Taylor, Jr., Hal Nelson, S. J. Meador, Lowell Osborne, Doyle Osborne, Julia E. Kelley, and the hostess.

Next meeting of the club will be in the home of Mrs. S. J. Meador on November 13 at 2 o'clock.

Feast, Fun, Frolic At Horace Mann To Be Friday Night

Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a feast, fun, and frolic program at the school Friday evening.

A well-balanced meal will be served, beginning at 6 o'clock in the auditorium. During the meal a special entertainment program will be featured on the stage.

Various attractions during the evening will include the fishing pond, where even a nibble means a catch; picture shows featuring the most famous comical characters; fortune telling, shooting galleries to determine the best marksman, a negro minstrel, and the room of stunts—wired and ghost-like.

As a fitting conclusion to the evening's entertainment, the school's king and queen will be crowned. The king and queen are chosen as a result of a defense stamp selling contest which is now in progress at school.

Proceeds from this annual affair benefit the Parent-Teacher association which is sponsoring the affair.

Mrs. Simmons Named President Of White Deer P-TA This Week

Special to THE NEWS. WHITE DEER, Oct. 28.—Following the resignation of Mrs. Mitchell Powers, Mrs. W. T. Simmons was elected president of Parent-Teachers Association, at a meeting held Monday evening at the grade school auditorium.

The group also voted to sponsor a Victory concert to be presented Nov. 20 at the White Deer Grade School, under the direction of Glenn F. Davis, Elton Beene, Mrs. Glenn F. Davis, and Mrs. Roy Reeder.

The program for the meeting was the initiation of eight members of the local chapter of the National Honor Society of secondary schools. Initiates were Jean Boyd, Billy George Clements, James Beck, Peggy Ann Covey, Bonnie Satterfield, Leatrice Hill, and Mildred Warminski.

Centering the stage was the emblem of the society, and large bowls of yellow chrysanthemums were placed on tables bearing candles which symbolized the principles of the organization. The girls wore formal evening dresses.

As Principal Glenn F. Davis played the processional, the initiates entered led by Maxine Doss and Leon Nicholson. Beatrice Haiduk sang "My Task" and Billy Ruth McDowell, president of the chapter, welcomed the new members and introduced the speakers. Mr. Davis then explained the basis for selection of members, and as they lighted candles, Burnice Dykes discussed character; Geraldine Staats, scholarship; Adrian Haiduk, leadership; and Chester Williams, service, the four principles of the society.

After Billy Ruth McDowell had administered the pledge and Maxine Doss and Leon Nicholson had presented bows of blue and gold ribbons, the colors of the society, Supt. Chester Strickland addressed the initiates on the subject, "Making Choices in Life." The program was concluded with James Beck singing the club song, "I Would Be True," and a recessional by Mr. Davis.

Miss Claudia Everly is sponsor of the organization.

Nutritious Yams May Be Prepared In Various Ways

Yams in season that contain vitamins and minerals make such appetizing fall dishes. Potatoes are also filling foods as well as nutritious. Some yam recipes issued from extension service, A. and M. college, put out by Gray County Home Demonstration agent, Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, are:

Grated Yam Pudding
1 lb. yams grated raw, 1/2 cup syrup or honey, 2 eggs—beaten, 2 T. butter, 2 T. sugar, 1 t. cinnamon, 1/2 t. salt, 1/2 t. nutmeg, 1/2 t. ginger, 2 c. sweet milk.

Mix all the above ingredients and turn into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a slow oven one and one-half hours, stirring occasionally.

Yam Puffs
Serves 6-4 large boiled yams, 2 eggs, 1 t. salt, 1/2 c. pineapple or other fruit juice. Beat until fluffy. Fold in well-beaten egg whites. Pipe in mounds on a baking sheet and brown in oven or under broiler. Mounds may be placed on pineapple slices or fried sausage cakes.

All Mixed Up

The morning news columns quoted Draft Director Hershey telling a senate committee that married men with dependent children probably would be called into the army during the final quarter of 1943.

The afternoon news columns quoted General Hershey as having revised his estimate on the basis of overnight study, deciding that married men will not have to be called in 1943—and might not be called in 1944 provided the army remains at around 7,500,000.

Both estimates presupposed that congress would authorize the conscription of 18- and 19-year old men.

General Hershey is doing such a good administrative job with the draft that it seems too bad to pick flaws. But this was only one recent instance of the general's tendency to say publicly things which later have to be corrected.

The draft is one governmental activity which comes distressingly close to individuals and families. It takes sons from their parents, brothers from their wives, and ultimately it may take fathers from their children. Many never will come back alive. More will return maimed in body and broken in mind and soul.

Above all things the draft is the last in which the people should be troubled by conflicting, confused, inadequately considered "information" from governmental sources.

In fact, General Hershey is merely administrator of the draft. He did not make the law. He will not amend the law. He does not decide how many men to call up at any given time.

But when General Hershey, director of the draft, speaks publicly people do not remember those qualifications. His words carry much weight. Therefore, they should be considered with the greatest of care.

General Hershey originally suggested that married men with dependent children would be called in the final quarter of next year, at a time when he supposed the army would continue building rapidly until it had at least 10 million men.

When this was cut by 25 per cent, common sense would have suggested a reevaluation of the situation, indicating that the drafting of men with multiple dependents would not come so soon. Yet the general reiterated.

There has been too much loose talk about important matters. The public is all mixed up, and with good cause.

Better Watch Out

Rubbers and overhoes are not rationed, but as the OPA well stresses, they do constitute a part of the nation's wartime rubber supply, and they deserve the best of care.

Because of their importance to the national health, effort will be made to keep everybody in rubbers and galoshes. Whether this can be done will depend upon the public's cooperation. Don't let them get lost, do not kick them around, don't wear them unless necessary, keep them away from radiators, clean them, repair breaks and cuts promptly.

That would be sensible at any time. It is patriotic now.

Watch The Quality

Now that prices are to be fixed on virtually every commodity and service, the OPA fears that there will be attempts to chisel on quality—either to cheapen products or substitute lower grades for those on which the fixed price depends.

It is the buyer's privilege and duty to be on guard against such violations of the anti-inflation law and regulations. There aren't enough men and women on the government's huge payroll to police prices and qualities without the aid of consumers.

And after all it is for our benefit.

Suckers

On Sept. 6 the White House press secretary, Mr. Stephen Early, relayed to reporters a special greeting from the President: "Good morning, Suckers."

The reporters in news dispatches had quoted anonymous responsible sources that there would be an economic boss to direct the anti-inflation fight. But the President's message to Congress did not mention such an authority.

On Oct. 3, President Roosevelt announced the appointment of Supreme Court Justice Byrnes as economic director to head the anti-inflation campaign.

NEW WORKERS ARE FORESEEN IN THE POST WAR WORLD (Sacramento Bee)

Dr. Charles Stine is vice president of E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company.

In a recent address to a gathering of scientists in New York, he painted a picture of the postwar world which sounded as though he had repossessed the lamp of Aladdin or had found a new open sesame to a treasure house of marvelous discoveries.

But Dr. Stine would be the first to reject the idea of the magical in his prophecies. They were inspired by the tremendous advances chemistry and allied arts are making under the high pressure of war necessities.

For example, more than a century was needed to bring the world's production of crude rubber up to a million tons annually. Now American synthetic plants are expected to be turning out that amount at the end of two years—using petroleum, alcohol and coal.

By the end of 1943, our production of aluminum will be seven times what it was in 1939. Magnesium, extracted from brine and sea

LET BELIEVERS IN MINIMUM WAGES TEST THEIR BELIEF BY ANSWERING THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS

Let those who think they believe in minimum wages answer the following questions and see if they are not obliged to contradict themselves from personal rules and principles they profess to believe.

Is the believer in minimum wages so thoroughly convinced that minimum wages are desirable that he is willing to use the force of the state, the force of the sword if you please, to enforce minimum wages?

Should not a rational American be willing to answer questions about his proposals without contradicting himself before he is sure enough of his beliefs that he is willing to use force to compel other people to help bring his proposals into operation?

By what impersonal rule will the minimum be established?

What will be done with the individual who cannot produce enough to earn the minimum?

Should anyone be permitted to receive more for the same unit of service rendered than many others are willing and able to render the same service?

If answer is yes, then by what impersonal rule would the party be selected who was to receive more than others were able to receive?

Is it not true that workers differ greatly in their ability to produce?

Is it not true that all workers can produce less than nothing when they are learning to operate a complicated delicate machine like a linotype?

Then why should they be paid more than they earn?

Can we have a greater total reward—wages or salaries or profits, call them what you will—than the total production?

If some are rewarded more than they produce and are supported by the dole, will not other workers then be obliged to get less than they produce in order to pay the taxes to support those at a minimum who cannot earn the minimum?

Do you believe that all people should get all they produce or some people should get only part of what they produce?

If they should get only part of what they produce, by what impersonal rule can part of it be taken from them in taxes to support those kept out of a job by those who insist on enforcing a minimum wage law?

If the believer in minimum wages contends that those who cannot earn the minimum and thus cannot have jobs, should be taken care of by charity, would they themselves be willing to furnish the charity to keep the unfortunate in the comforts they want to see them have?

If people are compelled to contribute to support those who cannot earn the minimum, then do we have a government "deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed"?

If it is claimed that the majority have a right to rule the minority, then is it contended that the minority have no inherent natural rights that the majority must respect?

If the state is to support those who cannot earn the minimum, will people be compelled to pay taxes to support these unfortunate by a personal or impersonal rule? If, by impersonal rule, by what one? If by personal rule, how would this be different from a dictator government?

Should the slow worker receive more per unit of production than the fast worker is able to get? If the answer is that he should, would not doing this reduce the incentive to try to produce more for those who could produce only enough to earn the minimum by their extra effort?

Would there not be less to divide up if some slackened production?

Would not this reduction in wages caused by increased taxes to support those who could not earn the minimum, tend to produce more people who would just earn the minimum?

Would this not continue on indefinitely and reduce production and make fewer and fewer people producing more than the minimum?

How do minimum wages benefit the man who cannot earn the minimum?

How do minimum wages benefit the worker who has to have his wages reduced to support those unable to earn the minimum?

If it benefits neither those who cannot earn the minimum or those who have to support them, then how can minimum wages be beneficial to society if it benefits no one?

These are just a few of the questions that the believer in minimum wages should be able to answer without contradicting himself, if he really understands what he advocates.

water, will amount to 100 times the production of two years ago.

In addition, the nation will come out of the war with capacities for making plastics, synthetic fibers, nitrates, high octane fuels and hundreds of other commodities on a scale undreamed of even a year ago.

Will these capacities and this equipment be allowed to dwindle and disappear when peace comes again?

Dr. Stine does not think so.

On the contrary, he believes they will be applied to the arts of peace and so bring about tremendous changes in our way of living.

For instance, Dr. Stine predicts the automobile of the future will be only half as heavy as the common models today and will be equipped with a lighter engine which will give us fifty miles to the gallon, using high octane gas.

This car will be made largely of plastics which also will furnish unbreakable glass, wood which will not burn, shoes which have no leather, wind-up screens without wire and machinery bearings which contain no metal.

Among other things which Dr. Stine says we confidently can anticipate are:

Cheap, nearly fool proof airplanes for the use of the man who owned a flivver a few years ago.

Huge freighter planes and trans-ocean liners.

Fertilizers which will revolutionize agriculture.

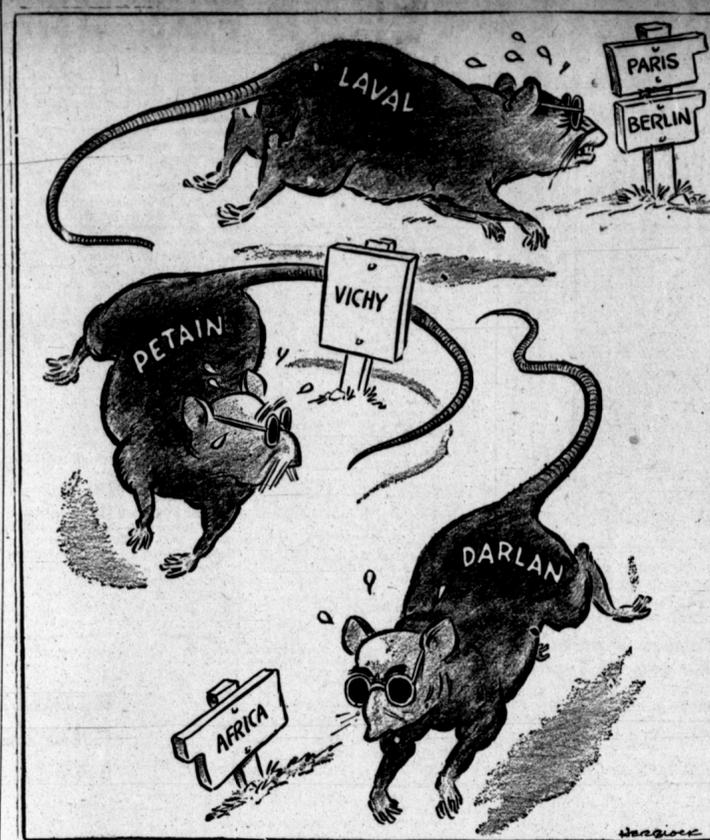

Stainless steel roofing and plywood and plastic housing materials with inside automatic lighting governed by electric eyes adjusted to variations of the light outside the home.

It is cheerful to read such statements as these from a man who is first of all a scientist.

It gives a feeling that mankind will find in the morrow some compensations for the miseries and sufferings of humanity today.

So there may be a silver lining even to the holocaust of a global conflict.

"SEE HOW THEY RUN! SEE HOW THEY RUN!"

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By ALBERT N. LEMAN

BOSS: How many of the forty-five thousand doctors entering the Army and Navy will never return to private practice is a puzzle which disturbs conservatives in the profession.

They do not believe that many will be kept in the regular armed forces after the war. But they suspect that if certain crystal clear plans of New Dealers succeed an overwhelming number of physicians will be persuaded or pressed by economic circumstances to remain on Uncle Sam's civilian pay roll subject to the beck and call of politicians.

Socialized medicine, the dream of reformers and the goblin of old-fashioned temperance takers, is one to be obeyed by the world boss. Once the Washington utopians. Since the days of Lasalle, the famous disciple of Marx, the project has been a part of radicals but it took form several years ago in a flock of district hospitals throughout the country.

The crusade has called a halt for the duration but thereafter, to quote an authority, its program is to "bring a twelve-cylinder standard of medical service to a man who can barely afford a bicycle."

To support this ambitious system the state will draw funds from the taxpayer's pocket. It will hire M. D.'s to give pills and to manage red tape and will pay each on a per capita basis over a definite calendar period; in other phrasing, treatment by mass production. Before he is hired a medico will have to be checked by a board. One on the staff he must look entirely to the Government of the day for his very existence.

DUEL: In the circles of higher strategy certain brain children are nursed which are little known to the man in the street. Staff officers in their shop talk often advance such theories as these: Darlan, egged on by Hitler, is screeching about an American advance on Dakar and hinting that Vichy may slap us down. His intention may be to scare us into dispatching additional warships to guard our west African convoys. This would prevent our reinforcing the Pacific whereupon Japan would have an easier time in the Solomons.

Another bit of professional thinking is that we are likely to take over Africa so that the link between Russia and China by way of Persia will be kept intact. An insurance policy argument for holding and exploiting the Dark Continent is that in case the Far East is lost in what eventually amounts to a stalemate peace, the United Nations will still have this land and South American jungles for tropical raw materials.

An expressed belief in the discussion of experts is that our supremacy in Africa would guarantee us a safe route to eastern Asia where the duel with Japan will be climaxed. We may not be able to defeat Nippon solely by naval action; the issue possibly will be decided in the Chinese maritime provinces with armies and planes. Our path will be through India and Burma to Chiang Kai-shek's country. But the life line never will be secure for a major campaign if the Axis can burst through Egypt and Palestine. Hence we must nail down Africa. Or in other words, say the martial prognosticators, Dakar may be the first stop on the road to Tokyo.

PROFITS: The Axis radio threat or bluff that glider troops are concentrating in the Greek islands for a downpour on the Levant must have sent cold chills through the spines of certain well-beeled investors who were wise enough to foresee that this would be a gasoline war.

Wall and Threadpedle Streets

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent. Off the sound track: Reason you haven't seen more of Hollywood's French importation, Jean Gabin, on the screen is that the actor is having a difficult time mastering English. He's too busy taking dictation and English lessons to appear in front of a camera. He does find time, though, to work almost every night as a dish-washer at the Hollywood Canteen.

When someone asked him why he preferred the Canteen's kitchen to the more glamorous film town night spots, Gabin replied: "It's wonderful. No producers, no directors. No one telling me how to talk English."

Hedy Lamarr is trying to talk producers into casting her opposite Bob Hope in a picture. She wants to be his favorite brunet.

Odd to see Helene Reynolds playing a woman older than Joan Bennett in the picture, "Girl Trouble." When Miss Reynolds was 12 years old she was writing fan letters to Joan Bennett.

VICTORY SLOGAN. Hollywood Victory Council slogan of the week—"Make Your Home a Bond Shelter"—should be adopted nationally. . . . Metro has dropped plans for the refilming of "Quo Vadis" because of the prohibitive cost of sets.

Alfred that Reginald Gardiner is about to resign as Hollywood's No. 1 man-about-town—he'll marry Nadia Petrova when he completes work in "The Immortal Sergeant"—he's perfectly willing to give the world his secret of success.

Requirement for a successful man-about-town in Hollywood or elsewhere is an iron indigestion. You have no idea of the number of buffet dinners an eligible man has to attend—dinners at which you're asked to consume half a dead duck, orange jelly, stuffed celery, a cream puff, a tired radish and a Scotch you don't want or need.

"Miss Gendarme," story of a female police force in a defense boomtown, is under consideration as a film. It was written by John H. Hubert and Albert Julian.

THE RUSSELL RUSH. Slight of the week: Frank Healey, old-time baseball player now an electrician at RKO, running for cover after being kissed by Rosalind Russell as a gag on the set of "Flight for Freedom." . . . Scene in "Air Force" shows young ace named Bill Crago turning on the radio, hearing the song hit, "I Want to Go Back to West Virginia," and remarking: "Gee—I wish I could write a song like that." In real life, Crago is co-author of the song with Grace Shannon. Ann Rutherford and Jack Converse of the drug fortune are an item.

Comedian Leon Errol is celebrating his 40th anniversary in show business this month and it's quite a story. From the day he joined a vaudeville troupe in Australia, Errol has been off salary only four weeks. And then it was because he broke his ankle in executing his famous "rubber legs" routine.

Spectre of Want Is Seen In Food Labor Shortage

By PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

Some time about mid-December there will be another of these government-called conferences in Washington, having to do with how much you eat and what and when, in the coming year. The conference will be a meeting of the big, medium and little shot food processors. Not the farmers, but the packers, the canners, the bottlers, the dryers, the dehydrators and the manufacturers of prepared foods.

There may or there may not be a presidentially appointed food administrator present. Representatives of the food processors hope there will be some one man in charge of all food distribution by that time, to do the job that Herbert Hoover did in the last war. But whether there is centralized control by then, food industry men hope that through the existing Food Requirements Committee in the War Production Board setup, the government will have all its requirements figured out so that the industry will know the how much of every food item will be needed by Army, Navy, lend-lease and the U. S. civilian population.

Not only that, but also what kind of containers will be available to pack it in? With all these programs lined up like ducks in a row by mid-December, the food distributors figure they'll be able to plan on keeping the nation supplied throughout 1943.

A further advantage of having all this in order for the coming year is that with or without a food administrator it will stop a lot of disquieting rumors and false reports now floating around on what foods are going to be rationed, and how. Sugar is the big commodity under full rationing now.

SHORTAGES REPORTED. But all over this broad land there are daily reports of local shortages of coffee, tea, and numerous items of canned goods. Scarcities are beginning to show up in concentrated and confusion mounts. It is to eliminate this confusion that the need for a national food administrator is being talked of more.

The flat statements of several months ago that there would be no shortages of food are now being seriously questioned.

The United States can grow enough food to keep going, and food industry leaders are loud in their praise of the way the Department of Agriculture under Secretary Claude R. Wickard has moved rapidly and effectively to increase all food production goals.

Where the shortages come in are not from lack of planting, breeding, harvest or slaughter of herd and crop. The causes are completely indirect.

Primarily, the food processors face the same shortages that face all industry—a lack of manpower to gather and ship and clean and pack and can and dry and freeze the foods you eat. Unless this manpower problem is licked next year, people might go hungry.

Secondarily, there will be a shortage of food conveniences. There won't be the abundance of foods in the particular containers you may have been used to.

There is no shortage of no shortage of beans, for instance. You will be able to buy dried beans by the peck or bushel. But there won't be as many prepared baked beans as there used to be. There won't be as many tin cans of baked beans, not because of the shortage of tin cans, but because of the shortage of tin cans.

As a substitute, there are offered frozen baked beans or baked beans in glass jars. But there won't be as many glass jars.

MACHINERY LACKING. There is no shortage of glass, but there is a shortage of the special type of closing machines necessary to handle glass jars automatically, and there is a further shortage of rubber rings and closures for sealing the contents of jars and protecting their contents from air.

Here are where your food shortages will come in 1943—not in the foods themselves but in their containers and the methods of getting them to you.

Faced by this situation, the patriotic thing for the good housewife to do is to buy no more canned goods than her family can use and to buy only as her family needs.

Rationing of canned and other processed foods is perhaps inevitable for 1944, maybe sooner, to insure fair distribution. Buying ahead won't help, for in the case with sugar, everyone will have to declare existing stocks on the pantry shelf in order to get ration allowances.

Atlantic Ship Toll Total Reaches 506

The small British craft was torpedoed off the same coast this month. Four crew members were reported missing.

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, tells me he believes Anglo-American friendship is one of the first needs in rebuilding the post-war world and he is concerned over a report he has received that the United States may draw away from this country because of Britain's trend to the "left."

When the archbishop speaks of the "left" he is not using the expression in the political sense but in its broad socialist meaning. He has in mind England's social upheaval which is heading toward equal opportunity for all with special privileges for none.

His grace asked if there was danger of amity and cooperation between the two countries being harmed by the trend to the "left."

I assured him that my observations led me to believe that the United States was surging forward with the times and that we should keep step with England in any humanitarian developments.

Not only that, but also what kind of containers will be available to pack it in? With all these programs lined up like ducks in a row by mid-December, the food distributors figure they'll be able to plan on keeping the nation supplied throughout 1943.

Scarcities are beginning to show up in concentrated and confusion mounts. It is to eliminate this confusion that the need for a national food administrator is being talked of more.

The flat statements of several months ago that there would be no shortages of food are now being seriously questioned.

The United States can grow enough food to keep going, and food industry leaders are loud in their praise of the way the Department of Agriculture under Secretary Claude R. Wickard has moved rapidly and effectively to increase all food production goals.

Where the shortages come in are not from lack of planting, breeding, harvest or slaughter of herd and crop. The causes are completely indirect.

Primarily, the food processors face the same shortages that face all industry—a lack of manpower to gather and ship and clean and pack and can and dry and freeze the foods you eat. Unless this manpower problem is licked next year, people might go hungry.

Secondarily, there will be a shortage of food conveniences. There won't be the abundance of foods in the particular containers you may have been used to.

There is no shortage of no shortage of beans, for instance. You will be able to buy dried beans by the peck or bushel. But there won't be as many prepared baked beans as there used to be. There won't be as many tin cans of baked beans, not because of the shortage of tin cans, but because of the shortage of tin cans.

As a substitute, there are offered frozen baked beans or baked beans in glass jars. But there won't be as many glass jars.

MACHINERY LACKING. There is no shortage of glass, but there is a shortage of the special type of closing machines necessary to handle glass jars automatically, and there is a further shortage of rubber rings and closures for sealing the contents of jars and protecting their contents from air.

Here are where your food shortages will come in 1943—not in the foods themselves but in their containers and the methods of getting them to you.

Faced by this situation, the patriotic thing for the good housewife to do is to buy no more canned goods than her family can use and to buy only as her family needs.

Rationing of canned and other processed foods is perhaps inevitable for 1944, maybe sooner, to insure fair distribution. Buying ahead won't help, for in the case with sugar, everyone will have to declare existing stocks on the pantry shelf in order to get ration allowances.

The medium-sized American vessel was torpedoed and shelled by a submarine off South America in October. One life was lost.

The small British craft was torpedoed off the same coast this month. Four crew members were reported missing.

HARVESTERS OUT TO AVENGE '41 DEFEAT BY WESTERNERS

South Plains Team To Play Here Saturday

Out to get revenge for the 31 to 13 drubbing they took last year from the Westerners, the Pampa Harvesters are putting on all their power in practice this week in preparation for the game here at 2:30 Saturday afternoon with Lubbock.

It will be the second conference game for both teams, as Pampa swamped Brownfield 29 to 7 in a game there Friday night. Earlier in the season Lubbock beat Borger 51 to 6. Both Pampa and Lubbock are undefeated in conference play.

A running and passing attack that is just about the best in the circuit makes the Westerners a heavy threat to the Harvesters.

In the game last week between Temple and Lubbock, the Westerners got some bad breaks and lost 13 to 6. While Temple depended on their piling-driving ground game, Lubbock threw nine passes, none of which were intercepted. The Westerners gained only 42 yards running against Temple's 172.

The Temple team has reached the finals in the state play-off for the past two years.

In Pampa's game last week, the powerhouse ball carrying of Arnold and Dunham's bullet passes were outstanding for Pampa.

Pampa lost little time in showing who owned the game scoring from midfield in the opening minutes when Arnold rifled a 10-yard pass to Arthur who galloped over for the touchdown. Dunham passed to Stafford for the extra point. A few minutes later Bobby Edson placed-kicked a field goal from the 10-yard line for the Harvesters.

The Harvesters scored again in the second quarter when Dunham passed from the 15 to Lard over the goal line.

Lubbock is due to be a different proposition from Brownfield and the Harvesters will need even more power to win the game.

Second in local interest to the Pampa-Lubbock game will be the Borger-Amarillo game Friday night at Borger.

The Sandies have been spending most of their practice periods in learning blocking and if their blocking continues to improve many long runs good for six points are expected.

Borger's Bulldogs have won three titles this season, winning over Liberal, Perryton, and Memphis. Electra gained a one-touchdown victory and the Lubbock Westerners ran up a 51 to 6 conference win.

Packers Passing Pair Leads All In Pro Circuit

By Arnold Derlitzki
CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Only a ceiling on record breaking in the National football league apparently can stop Green Bay's famed forward passing combination of Cecil Isbell and Don Hutson.

Isbell, star passer with Purdue six years ago, and Hutson, ex-Alabama end playing his eighth season with Green Bay, accounted for 10 records between them last year. This season they will better all those marks and others as well if they maintain their present pace.

League figures released today showed Isbell has thrown nine touchdowns in five games and has collected a total of 811 yards. At this rate in his next six games he can boost his record of 15 touchdowns in a season to 19 and his yardage from 1,479 to more than 1,700. He's already assured of one new mark in that he has pitched the least one touchdown pass in each of 17 consecutive games.

Hutson, although playing but a half of Sunday's game against Detroit and held without a touchdown, also is well ahead of last year's pace. Here are some of his 1941 records with his current totals in brackets: points scored, 95 (58); touchdowns, 12 (7); touchdowns on passes, 10 (7); passes received, 58 (33); yards gained on passes, 845 (612).

Blazer Mazur CAPT. HANK MAZUR BIG SHOT OF GREAT ARMY TEAM.

There is no Old Oaken Bucket or Little Brown Jug at stake in Wisconsin's homecoming battle with Ohio State here Saturday but the contest between the undefeated eleven packs plenty of box office punch in other ways.

Those who have been lucky enough to get pastboards—the ticket office expects a near sell-out—may see in action the new Western conference titleholder or even the next mythical national champion.

Ohio, State, unbeaten and untied in five games this season, has been ground in the number one spot on the Associated Press' nation's honor grid list for the past three weeks while Wisconsin, with five victories and a tie with Notre Dame, is in sixth place.

The game, which the super-charged Buckeyes are favored to win, has a two-for-the-price-of-one attraction for a thrifty grid fan.

In action on the field at the same time will be Ohio State's Gene Fekete, fullback, and Badger Halfback Elroy Hirsch, two of the foremost sophomore backfield men in the country. Fekete so far has piled up eight touchdowns and 12 extra points for a total of 60. Hirsch has tallied five times and pitched one scoring aerial. For good measure there are Badger Fullback Pat Harder, leading Big Ten scorer and ground gainer last year, and Buckeye Halfback Paul Sarringhaus, who skipped through the Northwestern Wildcats for two markers last Saturday.

Perhaps even Connie Mack has forgotten that he coached the champion pro football team of the state of Pennsylvania in 1902. When the Philadelphia National league baseball club sponsored a pro eleven in 1901, the athletics retailed the next season with a club and Mack as coach.

The Mackmen walloped the Phils and then went to Pittsburgh for the state title game. It ended in a tie but on the following Sunday the Athletics won, 12 to 6.

Connie had his gridders warm up for the Pittsburgh scrap by playing at Elmira on Friday, another game on Saturday. They cooled off with a fourth game in four days at Williamsport on Monday.

GRID-IRONIES

By LIEUT. RAY WOLF
Head Coach, George Pre-Flight School
Our tailback was a great runner inside tackle. We figured that if we could work the inside tackle play at an opportune time, he would act as though he was injured after being tackled. One or two teammates were to sympathize with him. As our opponents became concerned about his hard luck, our team would be lined up in a widely-scattered single wingback to the wide side of the field. One of our players was to go over to see about this injury. When he got to the supposedly injured player, he was to pass the ball back and we were to run a surprise wide sweep to the wide side of the field.

THE well-dressed woman will be wearing Overalls—willingly—if that's what it takes to care for her country's cars. And on her civilian duties she doesn't go faster than 35—same as all other patriots. 35 gets you there without undue wear. But there's still another main battlefield against wear . . . at exactly 00 miles per hour!

When your car's stock-still, with the engine starting cold, what's faster—your Winter oil or rampant Friction? You can have hopes—or you can have your engine OIL-PLATED by the quick simple change to CONOCO Nth motor oil. Enriched by an added synthetic, this patented Conoco Nth oil seems to "magnetize" OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces as closely and smoothly as durable chrome-plating on bumpers.

Where does any good plating go during all-day parking or overnight? It doesn't go. It stays. And neither does OIL-PLATING all go draining down to the crankcase at every chance. Long hours after you stop—long minutes before any oil from below could climb all the way up—the OIL-PLATING that's stayed up can be easing cold starts. This faithful OIL-PLATING is still there at 35-an-hour, of course, assisting the high-duty liquid film of Conoco Nth oil to keep wear just that much farther away.

Not much chance now of changing to a new car. Smart strategy is changing to an OIL-PLATED engine. Get Conoco Nth oil for Winter at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

CRACKUP CHAPTER XVI

YOU'D look so sweet, Upon the seat—(if we had another seat!)

Of a bicycle built for two—o-o-o! Duane Hogan sang that, with interpolation, in a deeply Texan bass as he pedaled in the same rhythm out toward the athletic field. Behind him clung what could have been mistaken for a child. She sat on the rigid package carrier over the fender, her shapely legs held forward so toes wouldn't touch the ground. Her dark curls reached hardly up to his shoulder. She clung to his cadet uniform belt.

"I like it better this way!" she laughed back at his sally. "If we really had a bicycle built for two, I'd have to help pedal!"

"So! You want a man to do all the work?" "Sure thing!" "Oughtn't be a law against women."

"Men would soon repeal it." "Oh-h-h-h they wouldn't!" "Oh-h-h-h yes they would!" You could cut up thus with Duane Hogan; happily, youthfully, on the rare occasions when he could be alone with him. He never said very much, never talked like some men. But his strength and good humor pervaded his whole life. It was one reason why Blythe loved him. One reason for being frantic because he had never shown any love for her in turn.

"I'm gonna be disgraced if the gang sees me riding a girl's bike," he lamented now. "Towing a girl."

"It was your idea," she reminded him. "I never could think. Papa always said I ought to be a—"

"So, you admit it?" "Hush! Or I'll make him buck you off."

"This isn't a horse. This isn't your ranch, either; this is Lincoln boulevard, mister!"

"Nann!" He pretended to growl. BACK of their easy banter was the knowledge that each concealed serious thoughts. Duane faced a deadly earnest business of learning to fight in the air.

More immediately, he nursed a burning desire to win a football game this week, because his beloved coach and friend, Pop Miller, was in some kind of trouble. Blythe had hinted of that trouble. He thought he understood; Pop wanted to beat State U. again, this time as a flying-field coach. And here he was sick in bed.

When Duane was silent for a block or so, Blythe turned serious too. "Duane," she asked, surprisingly, "do you have a pistol?" "Do I—huh?" "Please, I'm not joking."

"Sure I have. But why?" "Never mind. Would you lend it to me?" "Whatcha gonna shoot? Japs?" "I am not joking, Duane."

"Okay, then, I'll bring it over. Tonight."

"Thanks so much."

"But I'm still curious. After all, lady, a gun—"

"It's for Pop."

"Pop? . . . What's a gun got to do with winning a game?" "I—I don't know. But, Duane—please! We're friends, you and Pop and I. You—your better just—trust us. And not say anything."

He considered that, pedaling in powerful, deliberate strides. "Hmm," he murmured. "Where I come from, pistols are used to—"

"I know. It scares me, too. But Pop asked me to borrow one. I told you Pop was in trouble, but I don't know enough to tell you what kind."

"You don't say!" He stopped the bike, the better to talk to her. When he turned, his face showed deep concern.

"Listen, Bly," he spoke intently, low, "if Pop needs that—he moistered his lips—"I mean, if it's that kind of help. Pop wants, that he use the gun!"

"Oh, Duane! . . . No. No, it'll have to be his way, I'm afraid. Until—at least until we know more. I do know this much, he needs it for protection. And you must promise to say nothing. To go right out with the rest of the team and be yourself! Understand? . . . Practice hard and—"

and kid everybody and keep the spirit up. Don't let anything spoil the team's morale, even if Pop shouldn't be able to come!"

HE looked at her a long moment, then resumed pedaling again. And Blythe knew he would question her no more. He had already said a great deal more than was his custom. But she couldn't end it quite so abruptly.

"Duane, it's kind of personal, I guess. But it concerns Pop, and it concerns the team. And it concerns Nancy Hale."

She lacked that last hint on, supposedly. Would he now show wild, desperate concern? For the other girl?

Bly waited. Duane kept on pedaling as if he had never heard at all. Finally he said, calmly, "I'll stick around. The commandant has already said I could take my duties easy this week. He meant, leave of absence, if needed. I'll stick around Bly."

That's all he ever said about it, and Blythe herself volunteered no more. As to his feelings concerning Nancy, she had learned exactly nothing.

When Nancy had telephoned, that note of urgency in her voice was definite. But Bly was almost afraid to face her again.

Afraid, this time, not because Nancy was making an admitted play for Duane Hogan's love, and had even asked Bly's help in winning him; but afraid because of what she had overheard on the stairs.

Nancy Hale had said "All right" when a gambler's agent had offered her $1000 to drug two football men! One of them—worse—was Duane. Not only would Nancy sacrifice team spirit, friends, and the finer loyalties, but for money she would even sacrifice love itself! Blythe's first quick impulse to expose Nancy had been stifled when she remembered baby Scooter Hale. And, too, there's just naturally something despicable about a tattler. Run quick and get the police after the girl who had stolen her boy friend? No; Bly couldn't bring herself to that. Not yet.

They were nearing Pop's office when Nancy ran outside to meet them. Both Duane and Bly sensed her concern.

"Bly," she began at once. "Duane. Listen—the field hospital called. Heavy Underwood is hurt! There was a plane crackup at dawn. He and the instructor both hurt. And I—if Pop Miller is sick, I'm afraid it may—the team—"

The import of this was obvious. Heavy Underwood was the real power of the Lincoln football line. The great charging center. The team's third man, following only Norman Duane and Duane.

Little Hope Given For Liberalizing Coffee Ration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Official price administration spokesmen offered little hope today that the announced coffee ration of one pound every five weeks for adults could be liberalized in the near future.

The ration, effective after midnight of Nov. 28, was fixed only after careful consideration of the imports expected from future shipments, spokesmen said.

Little margin was left between supply and anticipated demand, these officials who declined to be quoted by name, said, since it has been ascertained that about 92 per cent of all American families are coffee users.

Some coffee merchandising circles reported that 35 to 40 cups could be obtained from each pound of coffee. Luther Reid, chief of rationing information, estimated 45, but even this figured at less than 1 1-3 cups a day for every person over 15.

The rationing was expected to spur a search for substitute beverages which already is under way. These probably will not include tea or cocoa since black tea sales have been cut 50 per cent, green tea is virtually unobtainable, and cocoa consumption has been cut 40 per cent.

Reid noted there was nothing to prevent a housewife from buying chicory and mixing it with coffee to stretch out the supply.

prosecution. Indicating that the period of leniency toward violators is ended, WPB officials stated that all persons interested in construction have had ample opportunity to study the order and learn its provisions.

Sugar users were cautioned today by the Gray County War Price and Rationing board, against allowing their sugar purchase certificates to lapse. The individual consumer's sugar stamps are not affected.

Uncertainty of arrivals from the Caribbean area and restrictions placed on deliveries in recent zoning orders, occasionally interfere with deliveries within the period for which certificates are valid originally.

War And The Top O' Texas

Vital Information

Regional OPA officials announced today that spot check have been ordered immediately in many cities in the Dallas OPA region to impress on dealers and consumers that specific maximum prices have been set on anti-freeze.

With cold weather just around the corner in the Southwest, OPA spokesmen advised the public to investigate ceiling prices before they buy and urged merchants who are not familiar with the regulations to write to OPA offices for information.

With issuance of maximum price regulation 170 on June 25, the OPA made it possible for American motorists to obtain anti-freeze at reasonable levels, well under speculative quotations prevalent at the end of last winter.

During the early part of last season both the natural and synthetic nonpermanent types retailed at about $1 per gallon. There has been a marked increase in the cost of some of the alcohols used in producing these types and, in recognition of this development, over which the OPA had no control, the regulation establishes a maximum price at retail of $1.40 per gallon for the natural type (Type "N") and $1.10 for the synthetic type (Type "S").

All operators of trucks, buses, taxicabs and other commercial vehicles in Texas have been mailed an application blank for a certificate of War necessity if they were registered on December 31, 1941. John C. Massenburg, Dallas regional manager of the motor transport division of the Office of Defense Transportation, was advised today by the ODT central mailing office in Detroit.

Filling out carefully and mailing this application within the next ten days is imperative, said Mr. Massenburg, if the owners are to receive their Certificates of War Necessity by November 15. After that date truck owners will have to have the certificates to buy gasoline, tires and repair parts.

The first major industry to be concentrated in accordance with the statement of WPB policy made last July by Chairman Donald M. Nelson, the farm equipment industry, under order L-170, will center its production in small and intermediate factories, WPB announced.

Production quotas also are cut by the order to 20 per cent of 1940 production, with repair parts to be made at 130 per cent of that year's output.

Operators of service industries and trades ranging from domestic laundering, cleaning and automobile repair was warned today by the Gray County War Price and Rationing board that those service tradesmen who have not yet filed the list of their ceiling prices due September 10 are subject to penalties of the price control law.

In answer to hundreds of inquiries received in the regional OPA office concerning selling to the government of excess passenger-type tires for use on commercial vehicles, OPA officials said today that such passenger type tires must be turned in even if set aside for use on trucks if the owner applies for a passenger car gas ration.

As an example, if a grocery store owner possesses passenger-type tires in excess of five for his commercial vehicle he will be denied a gas ration book for his passenger automobile. If the grocery store owner does not apply for a passenger car gas ration then he is permitted to keep his excess tires.

OPA spokesmen said that the gasoline refusal does not apply to idle truck-type tires, or tubes, but the government will welcome the patriotic action of truck owners who offer idle truck tires or tubes.

An amendment to OPA's hotel and rooming house regulations sets up two new requirements relating to records of charges for rented rooms. The landlord of an establishment containing more than 20 rooms must keep and make available for examination records as to the rent and number of occupants of each room, and the name and permanent address of each occupant.

Landlords subject to the hotel and rooming house rent regulations also must preserve, for examination, all records showing the rent for each period of occupancy and number of occupants during the 30-day period, or the date, used to determine the maximum rent.

Praising the courage and devotion to duty of America's merchant seamen, Admiral Emory S. Land of the War Shipping Administration, has announced that the service flag customarily flown to indicate members of a house hold serving in the armed forces may also be used by families of merchant seamen.

Fourteen of 97 areas in which the War Manpower Commission has reported labor surpluses are located in the Southwest WMC region. James E. Bond, region director, announced, Choteau, Okla., and Beaumont-Orange-Port Arthur are the only region areas in which labor shortages now are reported to exist, and Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Texarkana and Waco are listed as areas in which labor shortages are anticipated.

If WPB investigation discloses willful violation of provisions of order L-41, rigidly controlling all civilian construction, the violators will be summarily turned over to the Department of Justice for criminal

Government Freezes All Salaries, Wages For Duration

Old Pay Check To Look Same Every Pay Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—That joyous cry "I just got a raise," probably will be heard much less frequently during the war-time emergency due to new federal regulation of all wage and salary increases.

Under rules announced yesterday the captains of industry and the lowliest wage earners both become subject to pay control—and even salary or wage decreases must be justified in certain cases.

In case where salaries were less than $5,000 a year on Oct. 3, no decrease may be made by the employer below the highest salary paid between January 1, 1942 and September 15, 1942, "unless to correct gross inequities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war, except with government approval. In case where salaries exceeded $5,000 a year on October 3 any cut must be justified to the government if it reduces the level below $5,000.

The regulations issued by Economic Director James F. Byrnes and approved by President Roosevelt generally limit public and private salaries, except those fixed by statute, to a top net of $25,000 a year with no changes to be made in general pay and wage schedules up to that amount except for such things as increased production, individual merit raises with in established salary rate ranges, and individual promotions.

The treasury and war labor board will enforce the rules. The purpose was to discourage wartime inflation and at the same time increase federal tax revenues by causing corporations to retain amounts formerly paid out in high salaries. The corporation thus would be required to pay taxes levied at a higher rate than on individual earned income.

While there was no regulation preventing a salary decrease, any increase with certain exceptions, must have approval of the war labor board or treasury.

The $25,000 salary limitation is not effective until Jan. 1, although increases are prohibited meantime.

The president, whose $75,000 salary is the only statutory federal increment exceeding $25,000, has asked the treasury, Byrnes said, that his pay be limited within the regulations. Whether he would have to turn back a portion of his salary depended on the amount of his deduction allowances.

Allowing for tax deductions and other allowances, treasury officials estimated that a person would have to make more than $57,000 a year to be affected by the $25,000 limitation.

Before reaching the $25,000 maximum, deductions are permitted for federal income taxes, "customary" charitable contributions, payments on life insurance policies and other fixed obligations in effect on Oct. 3, 1942, and for past income taxes due.

The qualified freezing of salaries of $5,000 or less became effective yesterday and that of salaries of more than $5,000 was retroactive to Oct. 3.

Increases may be granted automatically in these classifications in case of individual promotions or reclassifications; individual merit increases within established salary rate ranges; operation of an established system of salary increases based on service; increased productivity under an incentive plan, and in the operation of a trainee system.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

LAST Saturday night we were settin' around Jeb Crowell's house, and from upstairs we hear the squawks those Crowell youngsters put up while their Ma was dunkin' 'em in soap and water. Causes Jeb to comment:

"Just shows how times change. Used to be a law here in America that nobody could take a bath without a doctor's prescription!"

Then we got talking about the funny laws some people have put through in this country—like the state where they made it against the law to wake a man up if he's sleeping on the railroad tracks.

"Railroad law I once heard about," says Basil Strube, the stationmaster, "said when two trains meet at an intersection, neither can proceed until the other one has gone ahead."

"How could that be a law?" asks Pete Swanson. "That just don't make sense."

"Lots of laws don't make sense," says Jeb. "Why just think! We're livin' in a land where most folks

16 KILLED

(Continued from page 1) left on its side close to the intersection. The rear end was smashed to fragments and scattered.

Fred A. Nolan, general manager of the municipally owned Detroit transportation system, said it was the worst accident in Detroit street railway history.

Joseph Levinski, operator in a tower at the southeast corner of the intersection, told how he watched the bus start up after the freight passed.

"The red flasher lights were still working," he said. "The passenger train was coming fast, southbound, with the engine whistle screaming. I saw the bus start up. I knew it would do no good, but I leaned out of the tower and yelled. I yelled my head off. The bus went right in the path of the train, and there was an awful splintering crash, and then screams."

Clos, who is 25 years old, has been a regular coach operator for two years. He was taken to the police station in suburban Hamtramck for questioning. Nolan said Clos was unable to tell a coherent story of the accident.

The crash occurred at the Detroit-Hamtramck boundary, on the Hamtramck side. The front end of the bus was tossed into Detroit territory by the locomotive.

Officers worked for nearly an hour to extricate the bodies of several youths who apparently were en route to classes at a Detroit high school.

RAILROAD'S BUFFALO BECOMES EXTINCT

OMAHA (AP)—For 65 years the Union Pacific railroad bridge over the Missouri river was adorned on the western end by a giant buffalo head to symbolize the west, and on the eastern end by a large bas relief, whose design of a plow, an anchor and steam hammer symbolized eastern industry.

But no more, for the historical pieces, cast in 1887 by Etienne Favy of New York City, are to be salvaged for their high copper bronze content. The buffalo head, 7 1/2 feet high, is estimated to contain 2,400 pounds of bronze, the bas relief 1,000 pounds.

Oil Agreement Is Seen As Reserve Crude Protection

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—The agreement between the Office of Petroleum Coordinator and the Texas Railroad Commission discontinuing the federal agency's monthly requests for selective crude types from selective fields was seen here today as a significant step toward maintaining an adequate reserve of crude in Texas for a prolonged war.

"Texas' production of essential crudes henceforth will be determined by the availability of crudes adaptable to war purposes and by available transportation facilities," one expert who asked not to be quoted by name asserted.

"Through this agreement the commission will be permitted to adjust the production of critical war crudes among the state's fields in such a way as to permit maximum conservation."

Heretofore the OPC in certifying its monthly recommendations for Texas specified an overall production figure which included specific recommendations for certain fields producing vital war crudes.

At recent oil promotion hearings producers have suggested that key fields were being depleted under heavy war-stimulated production requested in OPC directives. The new agreement will permit shifting of production from fields with low reserve levels to other fields producing crude grades which meet war specifications.

Commissioner Beauford H. Jester of the State Oil Regulatory agency announced the agreement yesterday upon returning from conferences with officials in Washington.

The agreement outlined by Jester will permit the commission to exercise full authority in ascertaining the fields from which the state's monthly allowable will be produced, including the quota of critical war crudes allocated to Texas by federal petroleum authority.

"This agreement definitely puts the monkey on the back of Texas to provide the crudes needed for the armed forces and for war factories," one expert long identified with oil problems declared.

"Through this agreement Texas regains some of its authority over oil production and from now on will help fill the nation's war needs for petroleum according to the expert, localized knowledge of commission officials."

"Terminating the agreement one of the most significant recent developments affecting the gigantic Texas oil industry, this expert asserted the agreement would permit refiners to blend crude types.

"Under this plan there will be no need for rigid production of selective crudes as previously specified in monthly directives from the OPC," he said.

"If an operator has the crude and transportation facilities available, he can dispose of it for war purposes. From now on the responsibility rests upon Texas refiners and the commission to make available crudes adaptable to war purposes."

Hero Hailed

Home on furlough, a Russian hero of the western front is idolized by the children of his native village.

Officers worked for nearly an hour to extricate the bodies of several youths who apparently were en route to classes at a Detroit high school.

On the 65-day-old siege of Stalingrad, Red army headquarters said the Germans launched new mass attacks against the city's northern defenses—the sector of the "Red October" arms factory—but declared that wave after wave of Nazi shock troops faltered and broke under the fire of Soviet gunners.

More than 900 Germans were left dead on the battlefield and 11 Nazi tanks were destroyed.

The Russians acknowledged that German assault forces "at a cost of heavy losses succeeded in advancing along two streets" inside Stalingrad, but reported that an enemy infantry battalion was wiped out and five tanks, 23 blockhouses and 40 trucks were destroyed.

On the steppes northwest of the city, Soviet forces defending a recaptured village in the Volga-Don Corridor were credited with killing 850 Axis troops and beating off a score of attacks in 24 hours.

Atlantic Charter Applies To World

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The world had President Roosevelt's renewed assurance today that the Atlantic charter "applied to all humanity."

It became known as the "Atlantic charter," the President explained at yesterday's press conference, because the Atlantic ocean was the scene of the 1941 meeting at which it was promulgated by himself and Prime Minister Churchill.

Mr. Roosevelt authorized reporters to quote him directly to lend emphasis to his reply to Wendell Willkie's assertion Monday night that many people of Asia and Eastern Europe were bewildered and anxious about America's war aims and were asking: "What about a World charter?"

RUSSIANS

(Continued from page 1) Axis planes and troops, and latest reports said the Allies continued to dominate the skies. U. S. army fliers were using American bombs for the first time to pound Axis concentrations behind the lines.

"The enemy was mainly on the defensive," British GEC announced, "but late in the evening they attempted a Stuka (dive bomber) attack on our forward troops."

"This raid was successfully intercepted by our fighters, who dispersed the attack, destroying 13 enemy aircraft."

The day's total bag of Axis planes was listed at 18, with nearly a score other damaged.

The British command said the new offensive was being pressed "without abatement" as Allied infantry punched away at Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's strong points between the Mediterranean sea and the Gattara depression.

DNB, the German news agency, said British tanks were already attacking the western flank of the northern flank—indicating that Allied armor had cleared a path through the maze of Axis minefields—but asserted they had failed to achieve any noteworthy success.

An Italian communiqué reported that attacks and counterattacks were developing continuously on the northern sector of the 35-mile desert front and asserted that "an important position which was bitterly contested remained in our hands after a fierce struggle."

The Fascist command said 53 British tanks were destroyed or captured and 22 RAF planes shot down.

Solomon Islands—American forces blasting at Japan's huge sea armada were credited with sinking two more Japanese destroyers and damaging a battleship, a cruiser and another destroyer as the battle flamed over a widespread area of the 900-mile archipelago.

In Washington, President Roosevelt commented that he did not know whether he would use the adjective "decisive" in describing the South Seas conflict, while Navy Secretary Frank Knox declared:

"The navy has hit the enemy some savage blows and we have just begun to fight."

In land fighting on Guadalcanal, American troops were reported to have crushed a Japanese assault on the south flank and forced the enemy to retreat in "heavy fighting" on the west flank.

A navy communiqué said Japanese shock troops broke through the American south flank in a night attack, Oct. 25-26, but were thrown back by regular U. S. army troops who regained their lost positions.

U. S. marines, who originally captured the prize Guadalcanal air base early in August, compelled the Japanese to withdraw on the west flank after holding firmly against a series of attacks unleashed by the enemy since last Friday.

On the basis of these reports, the all-out Japanese land offensive appeared to have made little headway.

Russia—Soviet dispatches reported an important turn in the battle along the Black sea coast, in the Western Caucasus, where the Red army recaptured a strategic hill and sent the Germans into retreat northeast of Taupso.

Red Star said the Russians, charging over fir-clad slopes, broke thru the German front line at night, stormed the hill and wiped out automatic riflemen on the peak with hand grenades.

"About three companies of Hitlerites were annihilated," the Soviet command reported.

In the 65-day-old siege of Stalingrad, Red army headquarters said the Germans launched new mass attacks against the city's northern defenses—the sector of the "Red October" arms factory—but declared that wave after wave of Nazi shock troops faltered and broke under the fire of Soviet gunners.

SHAMROCK, Oct. 27 — Wheeler county was completely soaked in 6.15 inches of rain last week, bringing the total precipitation for the month to 6.45 inches, and boosting the total for the year to 32.94 inches.

Asked if he believed Texas should receive larger gasoline allotments than the smaller eastern states, McCullough said:

"The answer to that is both yes and no. The object of the rationing program is to save rubber and that means only enough fuel will be rationed to carry on essential business work. Beyond that point additional allotments should not be granted."

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

IT TAKES "know how" to do a job right. The makers of Coca-Cola have specialized in knowing how to produce refreshment.

Coca-Cola is a quality drink carefully made... with years of experience behind it. A finished art in its making, unknown to others, gives Coca-Cola an unmatched taste-appeal with an unmistakable after-sense of refreshment.

A blend of special essences adds to the goodness of Coca-Cola an extra something that everybody welcomes.

More than just thirst-quenching, ice-cold Coca-Cola is the drink that goes into refreshing energy. Its refreshment pleasantly lingers, reminding you that contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

When the whistle blows for lunch, workers make a bee-line for the red cooler that holds ice-cold Coca-Cola. Coke is the perfect partner of good things to eat.
