

TOP WINS CONGRESSIONAL CONTROL

Election By States

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here are the election results summarized by states.

ALABAMA—John J. Sparkman (D) elected senator. All nine house seats won by democrats as before. James E. Folsom (D) elected governor.

ARIZONA—Ernest W. McFarland (D) re-elected to senate. The two house seats stayed democratic. Sidney P. Osborn (D) re-elected governor.

ARKANSAS—All seven house seats remained in the Democratic fold. Ben Laney (D) re-elected governor. No senate election this year.

CALIFORNIA—Senator William F. Knowland (R) won reelection against Will Rogers, Jr. (D). Republicans and democrats had won six house seats apiece with 11 contests in doubt. Old house lineup was: democrats 16, republicans 7, Earl Warren (R) re-elected governor.

COLORADO—Democrats broke republican monopoly on the state's four house seats by winning one congressional race. Republicans leading in other three. Lee Knous (D) elected governor, toppling a republican. No senate election this year.

CONNECTICUT—Raymond E. Baldwin (R) elected to senate. Republicans gained two house seats by sweeping all six congressional elections. James L. McConaughy (R) elected governor.

DELAWARE—John J. Williams (R) knocked James M. Tunnell (D) out of the senate, a gain for the republicans. The GOP also picked up Delaware's only house seat by defeating the democratic incumbent, No governor this year.

FLORIDA—Spessard L. Holland (D) elected to senate. All six house seats went to democrats as before. No election for governor this year.

GEORGIA—All ten house seats remained democratic. Eugene Talmadge (D) elected governor. No senator this year.

IDAHO—Republicans gained a senate seat by electing Henry C. Dworshak. Republicans retained their one house seat and were running a close race for the seat held by democrat Compton White. C. A. Robing (R) knocked Arnold Williams (D) out of the governorship.

ILLINOIS—Republicans won 18 house seats, democrats 6, with three in doubt. Old house lineup was: republicans 15, democrats 11. No elections for senator and governor this year.

INDIANA—William E. Jenner (R) elected senator. Democrats retained their two house seats, and republicans won seven house seats. See STATE ELECTIONS, Page 6.

TRUMAN RETURNS, 'NO COMMENT'
WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman returned to Washington today, without comment on the outcome of yesterday's elections.

The chief executive, however, promised to state his reaction at a news conference in the near future.

He was met at the train by Dean Acheson, undersecretary of state, and Captain James Fossett, the President's naval aide.

Reporters crowding around, asked his reaction to democratic setbacks. "No comment," he replied. Then, he added that he would see the reporters in a day or two.

"At a press conference," a reporter asked, Mr. Truman nodded affirmatively.

The chief executive, who remained up until 2 a. m. reading election returns and listening to the radio, was smiling as he arrived at Union station with Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret. They accompanied him from Independence, Mo., where all three voted.

TRUMAN SHOULD RESIGN
Arkansas Senator Says
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—U. S. Senator J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said today that since the republicans have captured both houses of congress, "President Truman should appoint a republican secretary of state and resign from office."

Fulbright said flintly "it probably would be the wisest thing for the President to do."

The democratic senator from Arkansas added: "I am not asking the President to resign. I am only suggesting that it would be the best thing for the country as a whole."

News Today About Congress Bad for HST

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—All the news about congress today was bad news for President Truman and whatever plans he has for running the country in the next two years.

As the final results of yesterday's elections dribbled in today, it became clear to everyone that the republicans had won a majority—and therefore control—in the house.

This republican house victory alone—without the republican triumph in the senate which seemed within reach as dawn broke over Mr. Truman—was enough to box him in.

He had had tough enough going since he became President in April 1945—with a congress where both houses were dominated by his own democrats.

(A lot of his suggestions got mislaid or waylaid in that democratic congress of his. Some went through but many were ignored or voted down by democrats and republicans ganging up.)

Right off the bat Mr. Truman knew the republicans, winners in the house, would set out to take full charge by appointing a speaker.

Then they'd rearrange the important committee, naming republican chairman, and making sure that every committee had a majority of republicans on it.

Even if the republicans had won only the house, and not the senate, there'd be trouble enough for Mr. Truman, as he well knew. Both houses have to approve a bill before it can become law.

Republican victory in both houses. See TRUMAN, Page 2.

Methodists From Over 200 Churches Meet Here Today

Delegates from over 200 churches convened here today for the 7th annual session of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference, with Bishop Charles C. Seaman, Dallas, presiding at the opening session at two o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Conference appointments of pastors he will serve over 80,000 members of the church in the area will be included in the business sessions.

Among pastors to be filled in is that of the Pampa First church. Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor here for five years, has already gone to Elk City, Okla., to serve as district superintendent.

Included among the speakers at the conference will be Dr. W. B. McKeown, Nashville, Tenn., who was pastor here in 1910.

Included among special activities during the conference were two luncheons today, one for the board of evangelism and another for church laymen.

Other luncheons and activities include: Board of temperance special program, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the church.

Texas Wesleyan college breakfast, dining room, Court House cafe, Friday at 7:30.

Tea honoring Mrs. Charles C. Seaman at the home of W. Purviance, 802 West Francis, Friday at four o'clock.

Luncheon for preachers' wives, Palm Room, city hall, Saturday at 12:30.

Youth dinner, Palm Room, Saturday at 6 o'clock.

The Rev. Newton Starnes, former pastor of the Harrah Methodist church, Pampa, will deliver the sermon at the Sunday morning service.

GRAY COUNTY PICKS O'BRIEN

Re-election of incumbent Eugene Worley to the congress of the United States was assured today on the basis of incomplete returns from the 28 counties of the 18th congressional district.

Last reports showed Worley in the lead over republican Frank O'Brien by a substantial margin of over eight thousand votes as little more than one-fourth of the district's 60-thousand plus voters turned out.

Gray county turned in the biggest surprise of the day, giving O'Brien an edge of 1077 to 908 on the basis of complete returns from 13 of the county's 18 boxes, although Worley can still overtake that lead, as both of the McLean boxes are still out, in addition to small boxes at Grandview, Laketon and Farrington school.

In the state races, Gray county democrats went "all out" for their candidates, as was generally expected. Senator Tom Connally, for example, received 1,492 votes out of the 13 boxes, while Murray C. Sells, his republican opponent, polled 483 votes.

Two of the three constitutional amendments encountered very little opposition in the 13 precincts. The appropriation for John Tarleton to be used to pay for a dormitory constructed several years ago, was given a margin of 1,042 for and 420 against, while the "good roads" amendment also was approved by voters in the 13 precincts, 1,364 to 188.

The amendment authorizing state employe pensions was given a narrow margin of 820 to 704 votes and the outcome of this election could be changed after the other five boxes are counted.

Incomplete returns from the other 27 counties in the district indicate that Worley had "troubled" in only one besides Gray county. Hutchinson county (Borger) gave the incumbent 703 and O'Brien 482, with over half the boxes complete.

Peter county, with 27 of 29 boxes complete at last report, gave Worley 3,223 and O'Brien 1,816. Incomplete returns from Wheeler county, Worley's home territory, give him 464 votes to 138 for O'Brien.

By the Associated Press
House: Republicans elected 223. Democrats elected 174. American labor elected 1. In doubt 37. Needed for majority 218.

Senate: Republicans elected 21; holdovers 28; total 49. Democrats elected 10; holdovers 32; total 42. In doubt 5. Needed for majority 49. Governors: Republicans elected 20. Democrats 11. In doubt 5.

Republicans Take Governorships in At Least 20 States
By the Associated Press
Paced by Thomas E. Dewey, who won re-election in New York by a huge majority, the republican party collected governorships in at least 20 states in Tuesday's election.

Republicans ousted democrats as governors in Ohio, Massachusetts and Idaho, but lost in Colorado for a net increase of two over their pre-election holdings.

Democrats retained control in Rhode Island, Wyoming, Maryland, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, South Carolina and Texas. They held command leads in Arizona and Oklahoma, and were ahead by lesser margins in Nevada and New Mexico.

With ten governorships assured, and leadership in four other states, the democrats have an opportunity to retain 14 of the 16 offices they held prior to the balloting.

Republican States 'Emergency Is Past'
CINCINNATI—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), reviewing the election results, today declared "for the first time in fourteen years the United States no longer is in a state emergency."

"The results of the election show that the American people definitely are opposed to giving an arbitrary central government the power and money to regulate their daily lives."

Demos Lose First Time in 15 Years

By The Associated Press
Republicans won control of both house and senate of the 80th congress today in a triumphant landslide that overturned the democrats for the first time in 15 years.

The result meant a congress meeting in January politically divided from the White House. Tradition pointed a favorable finger, too, toward GOP capture of the White House two years hence.

President Truman, who arrived by special train from voting in Missouri, declined to comment to reporters who sought his views on the election results.

The GOP went over the top for house control in tabulations of late returns at 10:50 a. m. (CST). A few minutes later Arthur B. Watkins, republican candidate, won a victory in Utah which gave his party undisputed possession of the senate.

Watkins defeated Senator Abe Murdock (D), who usually has been listed as a supporter of the policies of President Truman's administration.

In a thundering landslide that shook the democratic party to its foundations, from coast to coast, the republicans won smashing victories in such big states as New York, where he defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and sent Irving M. Ives to the senate to replace Senator James Mead. Mead lost to Dewey in the governor race.

The republicans also captured three governorships previously held by the democrats, but lost one in Colorado, to their opponents. It was the first of national proportion victory, secured by the GOP since it took control of congress in the early 30's.

The upset in congressional control means a change of congressional officials, from speaker to lowest clerk.

Republican Leader Joseph Martin (Mass.) is expected to become speaker, replacing Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) with a republican house victory.

In the senate, Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) probably would be chosen as presiding officer to succeed Senator Kenneth D. McKellar (D-Tenn) if the republicans win one more seat. Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) was considered the most likely choice to succeed Senator Alben Barkley (D-Ky) as majority leader.

Vandenberg, who has been serving as an adviser to Secretary of State Byrnes, probably would replace place Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), another Byrnes adviser, as chairman of the foreign relations committee in a shift which would give republicans in all top committee posts.

In only two instances, both in snow-bound Colorado, had the democrats been able to unseat a republican for major office. John Carroll, Denver democrat, beat Rep. Dean M. Gillespie, incumbent republican, in the first district congressional race there. Democrat William Lee Knous defeated Republican Leon E. Livingston for governor.

In a sweep that left only Rhode Island, and possibly Maryland and West Virginia, as democratic islands, in the East, Pennsylvania laid claim to being the banner GOP state.

There the republicans won nine house seats previously held by the democrats, in addition to retaining all of the places they had held.

The state gave Gov. Edward Martin, republican, a margin over Senator Joseph Guffey, a new deal wheelhorse, of more than 60,000 for the senate seat the democrat had held since 1935.

It lapped at solidly democratic Dixie by engulfing Kentucky, surged westward toward the Pacific coast with a few breaks in its crest in the Rocky Mountain area. The outcome of some West coast states still was in doubt and control of the senate seemed likely to be decided there.

Strike End Awaits Union Approval Of Agreement Reached in TWA Halt

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The end of the 16-day-old TWA pilots' strike was a single step away today, federal arbitration agreement already signed by the company.

The final step rested with David L. Behncke, president of the AFL Air Line Pilots association, who was expected to summon the union's master executive council to Chicago for a decision. This made it unlikely that the union would give its answer immediately.

The company meanwhile announced it would make no more toward recalling 15,000 furloughed employes and resuming service over its 28,000-mile system until Federal Mediation Board President Douglas reports the union's formal acceptance. A TWA official said flying would begin from 24 to 26 hours after the union acts.

Paul S. Richter, TWA vice president, signed the four-page agreement in Douglas' office last night after 13 days of mediation. John M. Eickerman, the union's Washington representative, who sent a copy to union headquarters, declined to predict the council's decision, should Behncke ask his advice.

Douglas expressed the view, however, that the union would accept, although it was known the pilots were hesitant over the provision making it possible for federal arbitration agreement to provide a flat monthly salary for crews flying international routes.

All TWA pilots now are paid under a formula written in 1934 which includes hours and miles flown, a basic pay, and a bonus toward 25th years of service, differentials for day and night flying, and extra pay for international flying. The union wishes to retain this formula on overseas routes, but wants a flat upward in line with the increasing speed and size of planes.

TWA's 1,400 pilots walked out Oct. 21 in support of the union's demands. Present pay in the top bracket is estimated around $12,000 a year. The union is asking up to $15,450.

Fun and Frolic To Precede Game

Fun, frolic and friendliness high-light plans for the big Pampa Lubbock pre-football game festival sponsored by the Pampa High school student council to be held in the high school cafeteria Saturday from 12:30 until game time.

The entertainment program will include games, dancing, and if you call eating entertainment, the serving of cold drinks and hot dogs.

The whole idea of this big party is to promote goodwill and friendship between the students of the two schools and get everyone in the right spirit to go out and really cheer for their team.

This party is the second one sponsored by the high school student council this year. The first party preceded the Borger game. All food and party activity expense is financed by the Pampa high students and is presented free of charge to visiting students.

Lewis's Struggle With Government May Advance With Return of Krug

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis' wage struggle with the government moved nearer the showdown stage today as the National Labor Relations Board made ready to reopen a second front in the soft coal dispute.

1. Negotiations between Lewis and officials of the Federal Coal Mines Administration were scheduled to resume at 11 a. m. (EST) today after the election day recess. At issue is whether the government's contract with the United Mine Workers can be reopened by Lewis.

With Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug about to head back to Washington from his western inspection trip, the time for a face to face meeting between Lewis and the top boss of the federally-seized pits drew steadily nearer. Lewis thus far has held aloof from the preliminary skirmishing.

2. The NLRB called final arguments tomorrow (11 a. m. EST) on the unionization of supervisors at four Jones and Laughlin steel corporation mines in Western Pennsylvania.

This issue poses one of the most vexing differences between Lewis and the soft coal operators. It is the primary reason why the government has been forced to retain possession of the mines it seized last May.

Hence tomorrow's hearing is one more step in the planned appeal of the entire issue to the United States Supreme Court.

At the root of the Jones and Laughlin case is Lewis' demand that his union be recognized as bargaining agent for mine foremen and supervisors, variously estimated to number between 25,000 and 50,000.

Fine, Jail Sentence Awarded in Case Here

Fleeting guilty to charges of carrying concealed weapons, Richard "Scar" Stewart, last Tuesday afternoon was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in Gray county jail by County Judge Sherman White.

Judge White allowed Stewart's several days already spent in jail to be counted as part of his sentence leaving him 25 days more to serve.

Stewart was arrested by sheriff's deputies on Friday night, Oct. 31, following a disturbance in the Santa Fe railroad camp near Hoover.

Deputy Sheriffs C. M. Tucker and Jeff Guthrie, accompanied by Pampa News reporter, apprehended Stewart after a near gun battle was averted by Deputy Tucker. Holding gun on him, Tucker removed a .38 revolver from his belt. Later a pair of brass knuckles and a large pocket knife were also found on his person by the sheriff's deputies.

JOKE HOLDUP

CHICAGO—(AP)—The man who walked up to the desk of Miss Helen Bernase, cashier in the Belmont hotel, didn't intend to be funny.

But Miss Bernase apparently thought he was. When he handed her a note which read, "Give me the money or I'll shoot you," Miss Bernase broke out in a loud laugh.

The would-be bandit became disturbed, turned and fled.

Election

 Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said he recalled it looked like the democrats had lost the house in 1942 "but the next day we pulled ahead 24 seats."

Rep. Martin (Mass.) said his party accepts "the responsibility the American people by their mandate have placed in our hands."

President Truman's self-chosen democratic candidate, Enos A. Ax-tell, lost to Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr., in the fifth district congressional race.

The republicans bowled over a 25-year veteran in David L. Walsh (D-Mass.), who opposed the late President Roosevelt's prewar foreign policies and two-term Joseph F. Guffey (D-Pa.), who campaigned as the "No. 1 Roosevelt supporter in Pennsylvania."

There was other evidence that the Roosevelt name had lost its political lustre in the defeats of Democratic Senators James M. Tunney in Delaware and James Huffman in Ohio. Both were listed as strong supporters of President Truman's efforts to carry out the Roosevelt policies, as was Briggs.

Rep. Andrew J. May, democratic chairman of the house military committee, lost his fight for re-election in the seventh Kentucky district to W. Howard Meade, republican who campaigned with a rep. train. May had figured in the seacoast war investigating committee's inquiry into the Garson Illinois munitions combine.

In Washington, Rep. Hugh de Lacy, democrat endorsed by James Roosevelt, son of the late President, lost in the first district to Republican Homer R. Jones.

The couple was enroute to Midland from Austin, where they had attended Saturday's southern Methodist-Texas football game.

Dunagan, who is survived by a widow and four children, was in the Lottling business at Midland.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK—(AP)—The tourist who comes to Europe looking for a pocketbook in for some sad pocketbook surprises.

Money is still the open sesame in all the international shopping centers, but it is even more difficult than in the old days to convince the natives that every American doesn't carry his own mint with him.

The only sure way to come out ahead is to bring along a suitcase full of Confederate money and sell some wide-eyed foreigner who has taken sabbatical leave from his common sense on the idea that it is the true money of the future.

For an ordinary twenty-buck bill, good for 400 trips on a Manhattan subway, won't take you for much of joyride abroad. They look pretty big when you pull the first ones out; soon you begin to wonder whether everybody else isn't mistaking them for a new issue postage stamp. And I don't mean an airmail stamp—they don't go that far.

About all a double sackbill will buy in Europe is a mild hangover, a good meal for two or a picture of Hitler. The frame comes extra.

There are two reasons for this shabby treatment of the dollar which still looks better to many European peoples than their own wallpaper currency:

(1) Official exchange rates in most cases aren't realistic, and...

(2) Most countries still have more promises than goods to sell.

In France, for example, a buck is worth 119 francs officially. That is just the way the swivel chair diplomats in the Quai d'Orsay try to flatter the local voters. The black market operators around the Place de l'Opera know better the real value of the greenback. They'll break their elbows any hour shelling out 300 to 300 francs for one dollar.

In all countries, of course, you are supposed to declare how much money you bring in and exchange it only at banks and other institutions which perpetuate the official money myth.

Hungary even put in the death penalty for citizens failing to turn in their American money to the government, which is shy of foreign exchange. Cynical Budapestians jest:

"If they catch you with five dollars, they hang you. If they catch you with ten dollars—you have to split it."

The English as a people don't play black market footsy with the American dollar. And what they've got to sell is already overseas. To the Swedes and Swiss—peace, it was wonderful—the dollar is just a currency in knee-pants.

So, what with the import duties you'll have to pay when you come back to the United States, you probably won't tote much home unless you are in the class that uses ermine for pen-wipers.

But you never go far wrong on scenery and postcards. They are still the best buys abroad.

More than half the population of New Zealand lives in 14 urban areas.

Photo above indicates that Florida Camera Club had known what they were about when they recently chose Nancy Stille, above, 17-year-old blonde beauty, as Florida's "Most Photogenic Girl." She beat 15 rivals at Cypress Gardens contest.

 but the next day we pulled ahead. I'm not making any comments until the last votes are counted. I want to hear from headquarters first."

He said he was listening to returns by the radio. In his own race, he was leading his republican opponent, Floyd Harry, by a comfortable 1,213 to 313.

Senator Connally led handily, but Dallas county polled what some called a protest vote. Fully one-fourth of all Texas votes cast for Connally's republican opponent, Murray Selis, were polled in Dallas. The incumbent got only a two to one majority there and trailed in some precincts.

In Houston, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was investigating telephone calls to election judges forbidding them to issue returns before polls closed. Issuance of early returns has been a practice in Houston for 25 years. The source of the mysterious calls had not been determined last night.

A Negro minister, the Rev. L. H. Simpson, trailed six Houston opponents for councilman at large. Simpson was the first of his race to make a bid for a position in the Houston city government since Reconstruction days.

The weather continued bad. Voters and poll workers were ferried in rowboats to and from Kashmere Gardens, near Houston. A slow drizzle fell in Dallas then turned to a pounding rain. Snow was deep in the western part of the state, and in Beaumont three of the city's voting boxes were surrounded by water. Two were moved to drier quarters.

Returns from Houston were delayed. In the heated city race, Holcombe polled 14,734, Holger Jefferen, candidate of the Citizens Charter committee which sponsored the city manager form of government, 9,839, and Frank E. Mann, independent, 3,750. These represented but a small portion of the total votes counted, probably around 50,000 to 60,000.

Texas democratic congressmen swept back into office with lopsided votes.

N. D. Sanford of Aransas Pass has something on his "surplus list." He doesn't need it, but he recalled with a faraway look in his eyes that "I used it once in 1941."

Sanford is a real estate man. His surplus property is a "for rent" sign. He found it recently while cleaning out his office.

The Tyler Courier-Times with tongue in cheek placed a big black border around a story which told of the passing of an old landmark. It's one few will miss.

It was a huge sweetgum tree that grew in the middle of number 3 fairway at the Willow Brook country club. It was the Duffer's dilemma, and the paper said solemnly: "It will stop no more 250-yard drives."

In Big Spring, the water tastes differently these days. It's because the city has shifted the source of supply from wells, then a creek, and then a lake. Each time the change was made, the water tasted differently.

Women's dresses aren't sagging to the ankles just yet. Spring styles were displayed in Fort Worth at the quarterly buyers market of the national fashion exhibitors of America. Suit and coat lengths are about the same as now on sale for fall wear.

Dresses are one to two inches longer, but not long and droopy as some had feared. Men, that is.

More than 30,000,000 acres of U. S. forest land are burned annually. During the 1920's, the first preventive medicine was imported from England into the United States in the form of smallpox inoculation.

Russia

 Soviet, declared Russia was emerging stronger than ever from war conditions under which a capitalist country "would have become a second class power."

His address was broadcast to the people of the Soviet Union from a celebration meeting of the Moscow Soviet, attended by communist party and state leaders and Russian army chiefs, in Moscow's Bolshoi theater.

In addition to his membership in the Supreme Soviet, he is a member of the Politburo, top political agencies of the Soviet Union, and secretary of the central executive committee of the communist party. Zhdanov likewise is chairman of the foreign affairs commission and head of the communist party there. He is 50 years old.

Truman

 is just a double dose of headache. True, any President can veto any bill passed by congress but congress can pass it over his veto if two-thirds of the members vote to do so.

Getting a two-thirds vote to override a veto isn't easy, so when a President of one party uses a veto lavishly to knock down the work of a congress dominated by another party, they can cancel each other out.

The republicans in congress can be depended upon to try to get through legislation of their own, somehow, because they'll be thinking of the 1948 presidential-congressional elections.

Two years from now they'll be trying to capture not only house and senate but the presidency, also. During the next two years Mr.

Forces of Attraction Hold the Moon "Up" in the Sky....and OIL-PLATE Your Engine!

THE moon isn't really "up" in the sky, but it is held from flying off into space by gravitational attraction between it and the earth.

Through tireless explorations in realms of molecular attraction, Conoco chemists have been able to bring America the benefits of new and better oils. In fact, by employing the force of molecular attraction they are able to bond a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil to working surfaces of your engine. So strong is this attraction that cylinder walls and other parts are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds Conoco OIL-PLATING up where it belongs . . . prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight . . . you get these benefits:

- added protection during the vital periods when you first start your engine
- added protection from corrosive action when your engine is not in use
- added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon
- added smooth, silent miles

That's why you'd be safer to OIL-PLATE your engine now . . . at Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's. Look for the red triangle. Continental Oil Company

Pampa Community Concert Season Opens Monday Nite

The third season of the Pampa Community Concert association is to open on Nov. 11, with the appearance of Igor Gorin, noted Russian baritone. Recently the thousand, one hundred and fifty three members in Pampa Borger, Canadian, Lefors, Miami, Panhandle, White Deer, Wheeler, Phillips, Clarendon, Groom, Kellerville, Morse, Skellytown and Guymon and Texoma, Okla., and Wichita, Kan., received their membership cards which will admit them to the five concerts to be held this winter.

Other artists to appear will be Zedel Skolovsky, pianist, on Dec. 5; Marina Svatlova, ballerina, Feb. 10; Bary Ensemble, piano, violin, flute and cello, March 5, and Eric Morini, violinist on March 20. It is with a great deal of pleasure that the directors were able to secure five such outstanding programs as will be given due to the enlarged membership in the association.

Mr. Gorin is not unknown to music lovers in the Panhandle since he has been heard as guest star on "Great Moments in Music," the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour," "The Magic Key," "Kraft Music Hall," "The Treasury Hour," the "Cresita Blanca Program," "Lower Basin Street" and "The Voice of Firestone."

Mr. Gorin has kept up an almost continuous round of concert tours, opera engagements and radio appearances since his arrival in the United States in 1934. He has won national acclaim from the press and from the public for his magnificent voice, his engaging personality, and his work as a self-appointed ambassador of good will between his native Russia and the people of the United States, his adopted country.

Mr. Gorin began his musical training at the Vienna Conservatory of Music, where in addition to voice he studied the theory, art and technique of acting.

The singer was asked in a recent interview what he considered his most thrilling experience, and his reply was immediate and sincere: "Becoming an American citizen."

And Stop Doing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 6 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food.

You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again.

Who Gets Off Easiest—Men or Women?

Maybe you saw that you on who has the easiest life—men or women? Of course, the men voted that the women did, and the women vice versa.

It would be the same in our town,—take any family. Thad Phibbs envies his Missus spending the day at home, with no hot office to attend to. And Sue envies Thad his luncheon with the boys; and his evening glass of beer with friends (while she cleans up the dishes in the kitchen).

Of course, none of it goes very deep. Thad knows way deep down that the Missus has plenty of work running a house; and Sue knows Thad's friendly glass of beer is well-deserved relaxation after a long hard day's work.

From where I sit, most husbands and wives may grumble now and then—but they know in their hearts it's a case of live and let live, live and take, that comes out pretty even in the end.

Other Nations Show Interest In U. S. Voting

By JAMES D. WHITE
AP Staff Writer
SAN FRANCISCO—Seldom if ever has the world watched with such great interest an off-year election in the United States.

The usual old-world bewilderment about American checks-and-balances is discussed by British newspapers with complicated explanations flavored with criticism that the system really is outmoded.

The usual skepticism abroad about the American two-party system is typified by a Rome newspaper headline: "Donkeys and Elephants to govern the United States."

That relatively new element in the American political scene—a bipartisan foreign policy—draws this glum comment from a Soviet writer.

"In spite of seeming conflicts between republicans and democrats the differences between them were never so insignificant as now. The tendency—in the sphere of United States foreign policy—amounts to a firm position toward the Soviet Union."

The German press predicts that no matter how the election turns out, American isolationism is dead.

Russia is apprehensive of increased American opposition to Soviet desires in that "firm" American foreign policy.

"In-between countries like Germany are interested because, in the nature of things, more or less Soviet-American tension will affect them.

Britain's interest is sharpened by her dependence on foreign trade. The British want to know whether they can work with American economic expansion.

A French paper sums up foreign interest with this comment: "The winning party will have the best chance of choosing in its ranks the new President that the United States will elect later. It is, in large part, upon the qualities of the man who will enter the White House in 1948 that depend the destiny of America and, one may say without exaggeration, that of the world."

Here's Report to Buckeye State-- Jean Doing Great

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(P)—The Buckeye customers have been asking for a report on the progress of Jean Peters, the Ohio State coed who upset Hollywood tradition by actually getting a screen contract after coming here as a contest winner. For their information, the gal is doing great.

There was some kind of publicity hocus-pocus about how she went back home and then was notified of her success, but actually she was in from the start. The 20th-Fox executives were bowled over by her natural acting talent. She was tested for the role of a young farm girl in "Scudda-Ray, Scudda-Hoo." She "was a sensation, but not as a farm girl. Something else resided, and she tried out for the prize role of the temptress Catana in "Captain from Castile."

Some time later she was led into a room full of cigar-chewing and chattering executives. Finally one of them casually remarked, "well, you got Catana." And life began for Jean Peters.

Jean hasn't changed much, except a course at the actor's lab has her saying "fahr" instead of "fire." At present she is looking for a house for her mother can come out to stay with her. It is evident Jean will be here for some time to come.

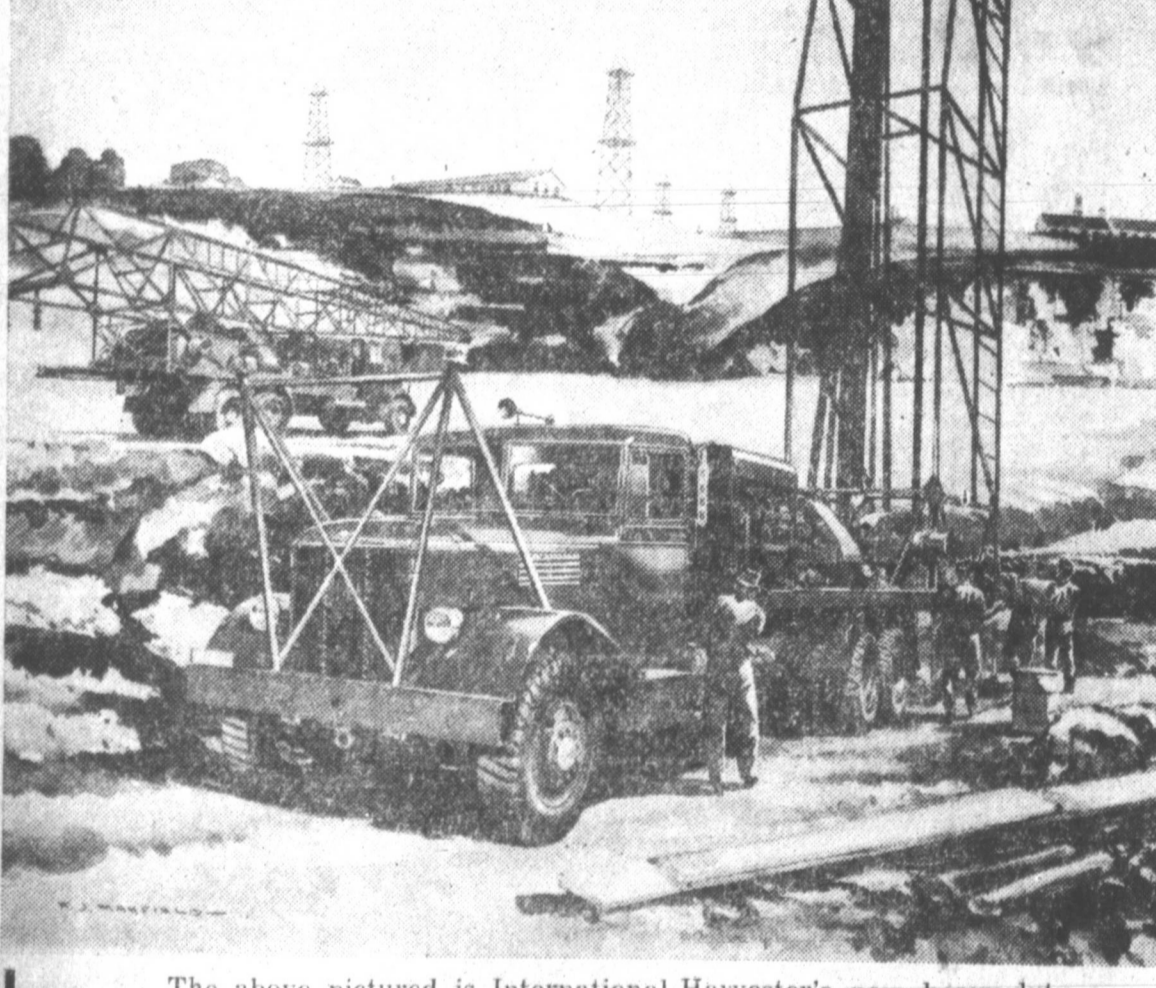

Bonita Granville and Texas millionaire Jack Wrather won't marry until she finishes appearing in his picture "The Guilty"—Bill Holden looks set for a western with Glenn Ford at Columbia—Bob Taylor says he was knocked out by a falling fowl on his northern California hunting trip.

Series of Hearings On Rulings Are Set

FORT WORTH—(P)—A series of hearings by National Labor Board will begin in Houston Dec. 3 on charges by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, AFL, that eight trucking lines of Texas have violated NLRB regulations.

The NLRB regional office here said companies affected are the Red Arrow freight lines, Brown-Ex press, Johnson Motor Lines, Johnson Storage and Distributing company, Merchants Fast Lines, Sproles Motor Freight Lines, H. E. and O. B. English, Red Ball Motor Freight Lines and Sproles Red Ball Lines Inc.

Army Stands Chance of Losing Quarterback Tucker Saturday

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
WEST POINT—(AP)—It is an accepted axiom of football that it takes a good quarterback to make the "T" formation click. It also is a well-known fact that football players sometimes get hurt.

Therefore it was a matter of considerable interest when Earl Red Blaik, Army coach, observed yesterday that if Arnold Tucker were lost it would hurt his team more than it would hurt Notre Dame to lose Johnny Lujack. When these two teams clash at Yankee stadium before 76,000 spectators, it will be a meeting of two top "T" formation quarterbacks as well as a contest between the nation's two top-ranking teams.

Since Blaik installed the "T" at West Point in 1943, Army has been singularly fortunate in having good quarterbacks, both as passers and ball handlers. First it was Tom Lombardo; in 1944 Lombardo and the brilliant but fragile Doug Kenner alternated under the two-team system and last year Tucker took over to place the Cadets to their second national championship.

If Tucker, who suffered a shoulder separation early this season, should be hurt Saturday, Blaik would really feel the pinch of an already acute backfield shortage. Bill Gustafson, who did an adequate job of running the team during the Florida's earlier absence, is the No. 1 replacement at two positions. He also is scheduled to replace All-America Glenn Davis if Glenn doesn't play the full 60 minutes.

Gustafson, originally a halfback, was converted to quarter this season and he doesn't measure up to the Lombardo-Kenner-Tucker standard either at concealing his hand offs or at passing. If both Tucker and Davis should be forced out, an eventually which makes Blaik shudder when it is mentioned, the only alternative would be to put Arnold Galiffa, a 19-year-old Plebe, at quarter and Gustafson at left half. Galiffa is rated as highly promising by the Army coaches but he hasn't arrived yet.

On the other hand, should Lujack have to leave the game, Notre Dame can call upon George Ratterman and John Tripucka, both of whom Blaik characterizes as "fine passers and fine ball handlers."

Irish on Top for First Time Since 1943; Army Ranks 10th

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notre Dame comes up to its national championship clash with Army this week leading the country's college elevens in average yardage gained both on the ground and in the air, figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau revealed today.

The Irish in five games have amassed 2,150 yards on total offense for an average of 430 per game. Army ranks tenth with an average of 362.3. In seven games the Cadets gained a total of 2,536 yards.

The only previous time the Irish were on top of the National standings was in 1943 when they moved out in front of the week before the army game as they did this year. Notre Dame whipped Army 26-0 that year and went on to establish a National Collegiate record for total offense—a mark army erased in 1944 and again in 1945.

Notre Dame, second in total offense last week, supplants the leader for three weeks straight, Utah university, which wound up in fourth place this week.

The Leahymen also top the National standings in rushing offense, having run up 1,520 yards on 304 running plays for an average of 304 yards per game. Utah also ranks second in this department with a 241.8 average.

In comparison to Notre Dame's almost consistent performance, Army started slowly in grinding out ground and aerial gains and has been improving its standings each week.

On rushing offense, Army moved from 14th last week to eighth this week, having gained 1,727 yards on 326 running plays for an average of 247.7 per game.

The figures show Notre Dame has averaged 5.9 yards per play in the last five games while Army's percentage is 4.5.

Boston college made the greatest jump, from ninth last week to second in total offense and from 11th to second in passing offense. The Eagles completed 21 of 33 passes against New York university Saturday for 304 yards and five touchdowns—a new college high.

Nevada clung to the lead in passing offense for the fourth straight week in six games. Nevada has completed 50 of 114 attempted forwards for 1,152 yards or an average of 192 yards per game. The statistics show the best passing team on the average yardage rather than the number or percentage of completions.

Nevada also leads the nation in punting with an average of 44.1 yards per kick on 21 punts.

Boston college, with five games played, is pushing Nevada in the aerial department, having completed 58 out of 104 for 826 yards and an average per game of 185.2.

William and Mary, which ranks ninth in total offense, has the highest percentage of completions, averaging .595 on 50 successful tosses in 84 attempts. Marquette, ranking No. 6 on passing offense, is the country's passingest team, having thrown 163 and completed 77 in seven games.

Wellington Will Battle Shamrock In Top 3-A Tilt
By TRICCI RAFFERTY

The red-hot grid race in District 3-A comes to its climax this week in the titanic struggle between the Wellington Skyrocks and the Shamrock Irish, scheduled for Friday night at Rocket field in Wellington.

Shamrock, beaten once in conference play, has only this one chance to capture the district title and Coach Scott McCall's charges are banking on nothing else in this hot-rod gridiron feud.

Wellington, winner over Memphis, 44-0, last week, rules favorite over Shamrock, which lost a 7-6 upset game to the Clarendon Braves last week.

Both teams are expected to be at top strength for the tilt and a capacity crowd is forecast.

Two other games are scheduled in the district. Lefors, 41-0 winner over McLean last week, goes to Lakewood to battle the scrappy Mustangs, who defeated the Childress Bobcat "B" team, 18-14, last Friday.

Memphis and Clarendon are idle.

Bronc-Mustang Game Tickets Gobbled Up

ODESSA—(AP)—If you don't have a ticket to the Odessa-Sweetwater football game here Monday you might as well stay home. In fact Claret Hopkins, Odessa athletic director, insists upon it.

The ticket windows at the stadium won't even be opened because each year is the hottest rivalry field game, a little more than 10,000 but with a capacity crowd foreseen, bleachers were put in the end zone to boost the capacity to 11,500. Those extra seats also went with a swish.

The reason for all this flurry is that the Odessa-Sweetwater game each year is the hottest rivalry in West Texas. This season both teams are undefeated and the winner will become a prohibitive favorite to win the District 3 championship. In fact, they don't think the winner of this game will be stopped anywhere short of the state semi-finals if stopped at all.

Bucky Harris Named Manager of Yankees

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris succumbed to president Larry MacPhail's financial bait today and signed a two-year contract to manage the New York Yankees at a reported $35,000 yearly salary with Chuck Dreese, late of Brooklyn, as his head coach.

This "boy wonder" of 1924 who won a first pennant and world series for Washington in his initial year as skipper apologetically did a complete aboutface from his earlier announced position that he "was not interested in becoming a field manager."

When MacPhail signed Bucky Sept. 10 as an administrative assistant he said Harris could "in no wise be considered either a manager or prospective manager."

Larry reserved the right to change his mind and stated today he was satisfied he had "the right man for the job."

Although he insisted he had not been made until a few days ago, the story had leaked out and was common knowledge at the time of the official release.

As Harris recently had said he might be induced to change his mind by the bulging Yankee cash box, it was obvious that a healthy pay boost had induced the veteran skipper to turn from the executive field and again don a uniform.

Harris became the four Yank manager within a year. Joe McCarthy, "resigned" May 24 because of poor health. Catcher Bill Dickey was his successor but he requested more money for 1947 and also "resigned" Sept. 13, with Coach Johnny Neun, who later signed a '47 contract to manage Cincinnati, furnishing out the season.

By The Associated Press

Three games Thursday night start the most important weekend in Texas schoolboy football. Championships of three districts are in the balance as Amarillo meets Borger Saturday, Austin battles Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) Saturday and Odessa clashes with Sweetwater Monday.

None of the games Thursday night are of top importance but two of them count in conference races as Adamson, the Dallas district favorite, meets Crozier Tech and San Jacinto engages Sam Houston in the Houston district. The other game is a non-conference affair, with San Antonio Tech playing Class A Alamo Heights (San Antonio).

Forty-seven games are on the week's schedule, 36 of them conference affairs.

Bogota, Colorado, had two universities before Harvard opened.

LONDON—The solution of the fats problem may be nuts for Britons.

Ground nuts in sufficient quantities to overcome the shortage of fats are expected to be available before long from Tanganyika, Northern Rhodesia, and possibly Nyasaland. A commission has been studying the problem in Africa. The scheme would involve a capital outlay by the British exchequer. It envisages large development benefits to Tanganyika and Nyasaland.

At present most of the nuts come from Nigeria.

Once the nuts, which grow rapidly, are in production, the commission believes it will be a permanent industry even when normal sources of fats return.

The Western Trail

By COL. JACK POTTER
Clayton, New Mexico

Trail Driver, Statesman, Storyteller and Author of "Lead Steer" and other Southwestern books

Of the three great trails along which longhorn cattle were pointed out of Texas to markets a thousand to two thousand miles away, the Western Trail came into existence last. The shifting settlements of Texas and Kansas were pushing the drivers west, Indians were being pushed back east to reservations in present Oklahoma, and ranchmen in need of herds were taking the ranges that they and the buffalo had left.

The Western Trail, sometimes called the Fort Griffin and Dodge City Trail because its herds touched at those two points on the frontiers of Texas and Kansas, was laid out in 1875. The earliest Texas Trail, that merged with the Chisholm Trail in Oklahoma, was giving too much trouble to the nearby along its course. Cowmen in South Texas came up by San Antonio and out through the Hill Country, where we were ranching, prospecting a course and figuring on a right of way. They got it.

In the late seventies we were driving tens of thousands of longhorn cattle up this trail from the great breeding grounds of Texas. With a crew of cowboys, a cook and a horse wrangler to handle our remuda, we poked along some ten to twelve miles a day, with the thousands of longhorns always headed, every step of the way, straight towards Dodge City, notorious "cowboy capital of the world."

We forgot our worries in the rip-roaring village of Fort Griffin, and refilled our chuck wagon with fricoles, bacon and dried fruit at Doan's Store, on Red River. We bargained for peace with the Comanche Indians as we crossed Indian Territory with a generous gift of our horses' heaves. We swam the Canadian in flood, crossed the hot dry sands of the Cimarron, and washed our woes away when we "believed up" to the barn in Dodge. From there we drove the herds that stocked the West all the way from the Black Hills of the Dakotas to the headwaters of the Missouri. We settled half a world without knowing it, and we had a barrel of fun.

But the settlers and herded wire caught us. They closed Kansas to these wild longhorns and the wilder boys who drove them by rigid quarantine. Within about ten years the Western Trail was done. Already, in the late eighties, we could tell that the country was getting crowded, and we packed our beds, and cut our mounts, and drifted farther west, where at least we still had room to bend our elbows and "blow" about the wonders of the Western Trail.

A NEW 'SOLUTION'

"It is only in a last resort," Heikal Pasha of Egypt told the UN General Assembly, "that one should think of re-establishing refugees in other parts of the world."

As he spoke, the American Military Government in Germany was cleaning up bomb damage to a denazification office in Esslingen, and hunting the terrorists responsible for anti-denazification outbreaks there and in Stuttgart. As he spoke, Rome police were still rounding up suspects after a bomb had been placed in the Chamber of Deputies as part of a lawless anniversary celebration of Mussolini's march on Rome.

The remnants of nazism and fascism were stirring in their grave of military defeat. Some were acting with a boldness that they had not shown since the deaths of Mussolini, Hitler and the regimes they created. Others, like-minded but less violent, were contriving to sow dissension among the wartime Allies by rumors and accusations.

These were the people who, in their time of strength, created the problem of today's refugees. They are the people whose democratization is a long, difficult process which demands wisdom and force.

One might cold-bloodedly say that the process of democratization could be made harder by an attempt to repatriate Europe's Jewish refugees in their old homes where old hatreds exist. Or, more humanely, one might say that it would be a cruel decision which would risk exposing those Jews to further danger of violence. Their days of fear should be of the past, not the future.

Heikal Pasha did not mention the Jews by name. But it is evident that he was speaking of them, and for the Arab League. "Resettlement of refugees," he said, "must under no circumstances be imposed on a sovereign nation, or when such resettlement goes against the freely expressed wishes of the populations of this or that region."

That, then, would seem to be the Arab League's "solution" to the Jewish refugee problem. Literally applied, it could close every door in the world to the first victims of Nazi persecution. They could be forced on no sovereign nation. No dependency could be compelled to admit them if anyone objected.

In contrast there is some comfort in President Truman's reiterated statement, expressed in a letter to Saudi Arabia's King Ibn Saud, that he favors a concerted effort to open the gates of other lands, "including ours," "to these unfortunates," and that he will ask Congress for special legislation to admit a number of them above our present immigration quota limits.

It would be more comforting to see some evidence of "concerted effort" from other United Nations members within the UN organization, and of a possible effort by the UN to unshackle the muddled British mandate of Palestine.

Zionist claims and the question of a Jewish state in Palestine are important. But it does not seem wise or just to make all action await their settlement. The first concern is surely the health, safety and welfare of the refugees themselves. Until some action along that line is taken, the liberated Jews of Europe will continue to be the victims of their liberation.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Although Europe was reported anxious because of the trends of American politics, yesterday's vote actually would seem to mean very little regarding U. S. foreign policy.

The world seldom expects British elections to have any major effect on the "traditional" empire policy, but it has been peculiar to speak of the United States as having "no foreign policy," and to expect her to veer with the beliefs of whichever party may be in power. But the U. S. has been developing, if slowly, a very definite foreign policy for a good many years now. There is every evidence that it is a policy of the people and therefore mandatory on either party. There are two great fears abroad, as expressed in the foreign press and by delegates to the international conferences now under way in New York.

One is that America will become disgusted with its efforts to set the world straight and again turn to isolationism. The cooperation of both parties in the conduct of foreign policy and in efforts to establish the United Nations is the best evidence that the American people have made up their minds on this subject, and that the party leaders know it.

The second great fear is of a depression in America which would have world-wide repercussions. Here is where, for foreigners, the republicans are suspect. They don't know but what there might be a tendency for the GOP, in the light of its tradition, to lean on higher tariffs and to restrict from the present American policy of promoting free trade. The only republican answer to this, so far, lies in the votes which supported the United Nations, the world bank and foreign exchange agreements, and the importance congress placed on Britain's promises of revision of her own commonwealth trade barriers at the time the loan to her was approved.

As long as the American people seem even fairly well united on foreign policy, and they do seem to be now, other nations may ease their minds by remembering that political parties are hired to administer, not rule, in America.

If we can substitute for the spirit of grandeur the spirit of human service and put our life on a high moral plain, then we can eliminate war.

EXPERIMENT

Nationalization of industry is the big issue in England. The Labor government, elected last year on a nationalization platform, is proceeding to carry out the program as rapidly as possible.

Some sectors of American thought are advocating the same measures for our country. For this reason it is my belief that many readers of this column will find interest in the progress of this socialistic program in England.

First step was nationalization of the Bank of England, upon which the government long has relied for more or less of its own financing, particularly as it obtained large short-term loans for years. The bank's stock, belonged to private individuals and had been paying about 3 per cent interest. The government did not evaluate the bank, but simply took over all the stock, giving to all the former owners bonds equal to the market value of the stock and bearing 3 per cent. The invaluable hidden assets which invariably accrue to such an institution went to the government without remuneration to the former stockholders.

Industries (other than coal-mining already nationalized and which was discussed in an earlier column) slated for nationalization by the present government are: (1) Transportation, including railroads, transport buses, street-cars, canal barges, and coastal shipping.

(2) Utilities including production and distribution of electric power and the operation of waterworks (tams throughout the kingdom). (3) The iron and steel industry, and (4) Civil aviation.

COMPLICATION IN STEEL.
This is a highly skilled industry, requiring skills and know-how to be found only in the present management of the industry. Many important but closely related industries in manufacturing, from needles to locomotives, would be affected. One that government economist told me that the government would take over production of steel and iron up to the point where the metal was allowed to cool, regardless of the form in which that might be. However, another economist stated that this policy would draw the line of demarcation for nationalized industry right through the center of some plants, which were accustomed to using a continuous process until metals were actually shaped into materials for sale.

Some observers in England think difficulties will be so great that the government finally will give up the scheme of nationalizing the iron and steel industries. In fact, the government has recently indicated the scheme would be postponed at least four years. One steel operator with whom we lunched ventured that production per man hour would certainly go down when and if the government took over. One of his reasons was that the employees would then be at points entirely too far removed from the source of authority. He also affirmed that in his opinion workers did not like the idea of nationalization.

Mortality From Disease Proves Low During War

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A study of the 75,000 war claims for $68,000,000, paid by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company on the lives of its American and Canadian policyholders during World War II reveals several interesting trends of the mortality in the greatest war of all time, according to the insurance company's statisticians.

By far the greatest number of claims—54,000 of the total—was paid for deaths due to enemy action. This number represents nearly one-sixth of the total losses suffered in action by the two countries, the statisticians estimate. They also found that the course and intensity of American and Canadian fighting could be accurately charted from the claims paid for battle deaths.

"The mortality from disease was very low among men in service in this war," the statisticians report. Among the ground forces such deaths were found to be in the ratio of about 1 to 13 battle deaths in World War I to the figures for battle deaths and deaths from disease were approximately equal, while in the Spanish-American war the ratio was exactly reversed; namely, 13 deaths from disease for each battle death. This improvement in the relatively mortality from disease is attributed by the statisticians to efficient medical organization and service, skillful surgery, and the use of blood plasma, sulfa drug, and penicillin.

The record for non-battle injuries—largely accidents—was found to be less satisfactory. The ratio of fatal non-battle injuries to battle deaths was about 1 to 4 among the ground forces, as compared with 1 to 12 in the first World War. This was held to be due largely to the mechanized nature of present-day warfare, as approximately one-half of the deaths for accidents resulted from air transport.

The peak of battle death claims was reached in June and July 1944, coincidentally with the D-Day landings and the fighting in Normandy. Minor peaks resulted from the Battle of the Bulge in December 1944, and during the breakthrough into Germany in March 1945. Preceding the landings in France, the claim curve had been a gradually ascending one, with sharp spurts marking the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Dieppe raid, the

Whooping Cough Control Urged

AUSTIN—Inasmuch as the incidence of whooping cough in Texas is expected to show an increase during the coming months, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, released a statement today urging that strenuous efforts be made to control the spread of this debilitating childhood disease.

"Whooping cough can only be

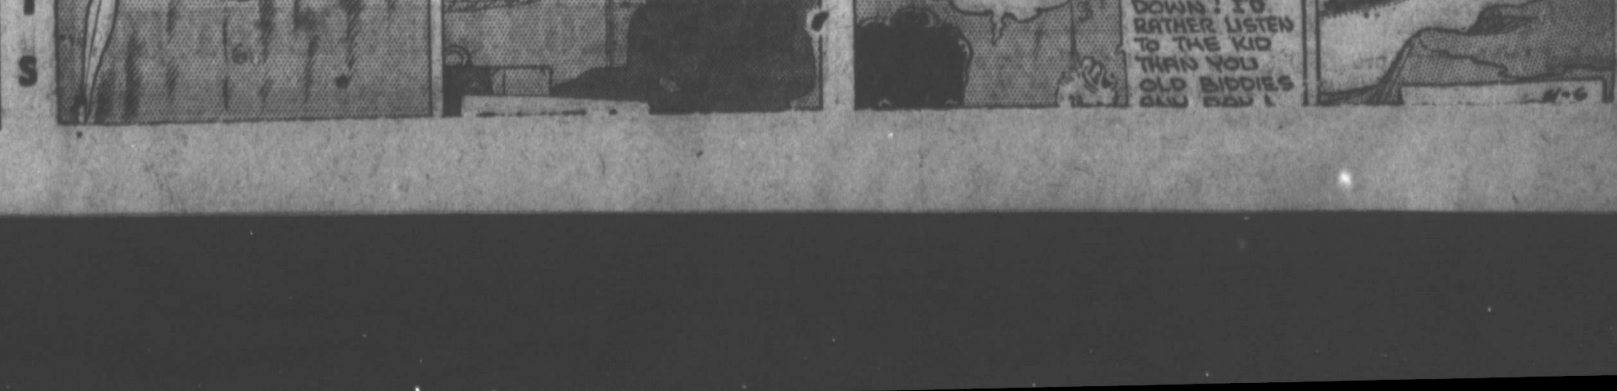

North African and Sicilian invasions, the landing in the Gilberts, and the fighting in Italy.

Another interesting trend noted by the statisticians was that of the civilian war deaths, which amounted to but 2 percent of the deaths from enemy action for the war period as a whole. These fatalities—almost entirely merchant seamen—were relatively much more prominent in the early years of the war when heavy losses were inflicted on our merchant ships. For example, in 1942 almost one-fifth of the deaths from enemy action in this insurance experience were among civilians as compared with one-twentieth in 1943 and a negligible proportion in both 1944 and 1945, thus reflecting the subsidence of the Pearl Harbor, the Dieppe raid, the contracted by direct exposure to the disease, and isolation of cases must be universally practiced if the incidence is to be controlled," Dr. Cox stated.

"The infectious agent or germ of whooping cough is transmitted by droplets expelled in coughing, sneezing, or speaking," Dr. Cox said. "The discharges from the nose and throat are dangerous to susceptible persons; the need for early recognition and careful isolation of whooping cough is obvious."

The first sign of this disease is usually a dry cough, which persists day and night and tends to become increasingly severe. The disease is fully developed when vomiting of food and whooping accompany the paroxysm of cough. Dr. Cox stressed the fact that children who have whooping cough should not attend school or come in contact with other children until three weeks after the appearance of typical signs of the disease.

Wanna Live Longer? Don't Be President, Then, Declare Experts

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Harry S. Truman's predecessors in the White House since 1900 have failed by an average of eight years to live long enough to attain their expectation of life at inauguration, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The president's predecessors in the White did somewhat better, and fell short of their expectation by an average of about six years. On the other hand, those who took office prior to 1850 actually outlived their expectation on an average by 2.9 years.

Only one of the eight Presidents who took office in the present century, William Howard Taft, exceeded his expectation of life at inauguration, and another—our sole living ex-President, Herbert Hoover—has practically reached the mark.

In contrast, of our first ten Presidents, eight lived longer beyond their inauguration than would have been expected on the basis of mortality conditions then prevailing. In commenting on these facts, the statisticians say, "The physical and mental strains in rendering executive decisions in the highly industrialized nation of 140,000,000 people, undoubtedly exceeds the burdens that were imposed by an essentially agricultural economy of a

Actress Ousts Bachelor Girl Interviews

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—"Thank heaven I won't have to do any more 'bachelor girl' interviews."

This was Olivia De Havilland referring to the interviews she used to suffer through when she was Hollywood's No. 1 exponent of the bachelor life for women. Those things are now in the past. She has abandoned her position and is now very much married to the distinguished novelist, Marcus Goodrich. She told me (in his presence) that adjustment to wedded life is not easy after her years of independence.

"You should see the apartment!" she exclaimed. "Pipe cleaners and ashes all over the place and tired, half-smoked cigars in the most inconceivable places. And books—I personally unloaded eight cases of them. The rooms are lined with them. The only place where he hasn't stacked his books is the bathroom, and he's eyeing that, too. But he can't put them in the shower. My things are in there."

Despite these minor inconveniences, marriage seems to be agreeing with Olivia. Normally radiant, she appears even more so now. Both the Goodriches are serious-minded and spend much of their time discussing intellectual matters.

Although they hold equal rights as debaters, Olivia admitted that her husband is the boss of the family. This was established at the wedding when Goodrich insisted that the actress promise to "obey."

"At first I absolutely refused to say 'obey,'" she said. "But then I thought it over for 24 hours and decided it was a good idea. Someone has to be captain of the ship."

Captain Goodrich appears to be happy about the whole thing, as who wouldn't be? For one thing, the union has been profitable professionally. He is writing a novel of the Spanish Inquisition and has been frantically seeking four volumes of an authoritative work on the period. What should he find in his wife's library but the four much-needed books?

He denies friends' accusations that that is the reason he married Olivia.

few million persons. There are however, other factors to be considered such as the burden of public services rendered before taking office."

In support of the inference that the presidency now takes years of life from its incumbents, the statisticians point out "that unsuccessful candidates for the presidency have fared much better with respect to longevity than those who were elected."
