ARMY CONTRACT RENEGOTIATORS CUT PROFITS

Patterson Is Called In War Profits Quiz

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Army contract renegotiators testified today they trimmed the war profits of an Illinois munitions maker in 1943 from 26.4 to 9.3 percent partly by refusing to okay big Washington entertainment bills, boosted rent fees and claims for "abandoned" machinery.

George H. Knutson, member of the war department price adjustment board, told the senate war investigating committee, that the adjusted profits, before taxes, for the Erie Basin Metal Products company were cut from $1,776,000 to $506,000 on that year's renegotiable business.

Organized Labor Had Feeble and Slow Beginning

(Editor's Note—This is the second of six stories explaining the history of organized labor and how, after a year of strikes, it emerges almost untouched by restrictive legislation.)

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The history of organized labor in this country is one of slow and feeble beginnings, of many mistakes and setbacks, and of collapses when depressions struck.

But it has been a history of continued struggle upward to power. Trade unions began to appear after the Revolutionary War. From the beginning their basic aims were better pay, better hours, a stronger hold on a job, and better working conditions.

Reformers and politically-ambitious jumped on the labor band wagon from time to time. Unions sprang up, got into politics, fell apart. All wanted better working conditions.

But some wandered far afield. In all its history congress has passed very little legislation to restrict organized labor. But labor was restricted in other ways. For more than 100 years courts slapped unions down. Employers joined forces against labor.

The first union, perhaps, was that of the Philadelphia shoemakers. In 1790 they forced the employers to hire native but union workers.

But when they struck in 1805 for higher wages the employers took them to court where a jury found them guilty of a "combination to raise wages." They were fined $8 each and lost their charters.

After the Revolution many states wouldn't let a man vote unless he had property. This deprived a lot of workers of the right to vote. But this was mostly eliminated by the 1820's.

With a vote, union members could talk turkey to politicians and thus inch their way further toward the goals they sought.

As the country grew, unions grew. Among other things, the fight for free public schools and an end to imprisonment for debt. But the panic of 1837 smashed unions as unemployment spread.

Unions got going again in the 1850's, in the spurts of prosperity which followed the discovery of gold in California. Then—the depression of 1857. More unions folded.

With the Civil War came the need for production. Unions fattened again.

During the period labor leaders saw the need for a national federation and called a convention in Baltimore in 1866. Out of this came the national labor union which lasted until 1872. It went in for political action.

Report on Junior College Slated

Reports on the junior college conference, held recently in Austin, will be made when the Pampa Junior college committee meets tomorrow at 8 o'clock in the chamber of commerce offices, according to an announcement today by Travis Lively, chairman of the committee.

Arthur Teed, representative of the Pampa Junior college, said that the committee will review the activities of the conference and explain present trends in junior college education.

A spokesman of the committee pointed out that the Pampa Junior college district was created by vote of the people two years ago. He said nothing toward actual establishment of the college had been done, but extensive study of organization and operation of junior colleges is being made.

Other committee members are W. B. Weathered, Pat Murphy, C. A. Huff, Joe Key and C. P. Buckler.

Senate Likely To Reject Renewal of Meat Ceilings

WASHINGTON—(AP)—OPA's beleaguered supporters all but conceded today that the senate will vote to keep meat free from any revived price controls.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) drove toward a test sometime tonight on an amendment by Senator Wherry (R-Neb) to exempt meat and poultry products from the compromise bill to reestablish the price agency.

The Kentucky called Wherry's amendment the key issue in a campaign to keep major foods off the lists of any new ceilings that may be fixed.

As early senate debate revolved chiefly around meat controls, Chicago reported another day of sharply higher marketings Monday with cattle and hog prices generally up.

To a contention by Jack Kranis, president of the National Meat Industry Council, that large packers were hiking last OPA beef ceilings by 12 cents a pound, spokesmen for Swift and Armour companies said they had simply added the amount of government subsidies, which had averaged about five cents a pound.

These subsidies, designed to keep retail prices down, expired with OPA.

Told by a reporter that Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas), prime OPA foe, claims a stack of about 2,500 telegrams scoring the agency, he kept defiant. Barkley said that doesn't jibe his experience.

The democratic leader said his mail and telegrams indicate that the vast majority of people who take the time to write or telegraph want some kind of price controls restored.

PDM Charges PRI With 'Doctoring'

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Miguel Aleman, candidate of the government-supported institutional revolutionary party (PRI), built up a substantial lead today over Enrique Padilla on the basis of incomplete unofficial returns from Sunday's presidential election.

These figures showed Aleman leading 24,022 to 10,398 in the state of Tamaulipas, and by 15,558 to 11,613 in the federal district, which includes Mexico City. Two other presidential candidates—Generals J. Agustin Castro and Enrique Calderon—were not considered in the running.

Official returns are expected to be announced Thursday.

The PRI said incomplete results from 12 of Mexico's 26 states and several boxes in Mexico City showed Aleman leading Padilla 449,937 to 64,422, but Padilla's Mexican democratic party (PDM) claimed these returns were fraudulent and that their candidate led in 90 percent of the election boxes which were "counted legally."

The PDM asserted that election officials named by the PRI had taken boxes from the polls and had "doctored" the results.

Newspapers and officials said it seemed certain that Aleman would be Mexico's next president, although the PRI appeared to be losing many congressional races.

Five persons were killed in shootings, but the elections as a whole were orderly.

Deadlock on 21-Nation Peace Parley Broken

PARIS—(AP)—The foreign ministers council, turning to the German question after finally breaking a four-day deadlock on the calling of a 21-nation peace conference, anxiously awaited today a promised "important declaration" of Russia's policy toward the reich.

The log-jam ended last night with the adoption of a French compromise providing that only a few suggested rules of procedure be sent out with invitations to the peace conference, scheduled to open July 29 in Luxembourg palace.

This was considered a victory for the United States and Britain, which had opposed Russian demands that the invitations be accompanied by mandatory rules of procedure.

INVITATIONS SENT
Under the compromise, France was authorized to send out invitations today to the nations which will grant peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

The suggested rules of procedure will be drafted this morning by the deputy ministers and are slated to be ratified by the ministers this afternoon. The ministers then are scheduled to ratify their final agreements on Italian reparations, thus clearing the stage for discussion of the German question.

NATURE OF POLICY
Speculation on the nature of the "important" declaration on Russia's policy toward Germany ran from one extreme to another. Some sources said Russia planned to offer to join Britain, France and the United States in establishing a central administrative organization within a federalized Germany. Others said the Russians would denounce Britain and the United States for conducting "secret negotiations behind the Soviet Union's back."

The commission this morning took the petitions under consideration. The petitions specifically ask the commission to pass an ordinance providing for the submission of the question of amending the charter of the city of Pampa so as to provide for the division of the city into four districts or wards x x x.

Four petitions are still out, Carter said. He added they might contain an additional 100 names.

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Rancher 'Bo' Barrett, 44

Dwelen "Bo" Barrett, 44, longtime resident of Pampa and prominent rancher and farmer died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock after suffering a heart attack while talking with friends at the Court House Cafe.

Barrett, a resident of Pampa 16 years, was immediately taken to a doctor's office in the Combs-Worley building but never regained consciousness.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Baptist church with the Rev. Douglas Carver, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

There will be a Masonic service at the graveside tomorrow and all local Masons have been asked to meet at the lodge hall at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

Barrett was born at Whittier, Texas, Nov. 13, 1901, and moved to Pampa from Paducah in 1930. He was engaged in cattle raising and farming here and was one of the original members and supporters of the Top of Texas Rodeo association and the Hereford Breeders association.

During the past year he spent most of his time at Mobeetie where he was conducting varied agricultural and ranching activities. The family home is at 923 Mary Ellen.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Belle Barrett, his father, S. H. Barrett, Pampa, two adopted daughters, Miss Aurelia White, Pampa, and Mrs. Audra Bowling, Fort Worth; a grandson, Glenn Chambers, Fort Worth; three brothers, Jimmy of Mora, N. M., Bill of Roswell, N. M., and Rex of Pampa, and two sisters, Mrs. Jack Arrington, Pampa, and Mrs. Nick Bonavich, Tonapah, Nev.

Palbearers will be Q. B. Beavers, F. E. Imel, John Simms, Tom Stevens, R. L. Edmondson, Sr. and G. N. Roberts.

Duenkel - Carmichael will be in charge.

Fire Damages Rear Of Supply Company

Considerable exterior damage resulted today from a blaze at the rear of the Pampa Supply company on North Cuyler, but firemen extinguished it before business interiors were severely damaged.

The blaze, which broke out shortly after noon, caused damage to a shed at the rear of the supply store and to the back stairs of the Pampa hotel, which occupies the second story of the building.

It was believed that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion in some supplies belonging to the company.

Tomorrow Is Last Day for Entering Soap Box Derby

Tomorrow is the last day boys will be permitted to sign for the Soap Box Derby which will be held on Sunday afternoon, July 21, on the Old Miami highway.

The deadline was announced by Bob Grammer, general chairman of the Pampa Daily News-Lions club event which will determine the winner to go to Akron, Ohio, in August, for the national finals.

Finals plans are being made this week for the local event, which will see about 26 boys seek the honors.

The deadline date is set for those boys who may have already been working on their racer, but have failed to sign the entry blanks.

Those youths who have already signed, but have not had their parents to sign also, still will have a few days to get the parent's signature on the entry blank. It is emphasized that no boy may run in the races, unless his parent or guardian has signed the entry blank.

There will be a meeting of all committees of the Lions club at the chamber of commerce on Wednesday night at 8 p. m., it was stated by Chairman Grammer. Details of the race will be worked out then. Plans for a banquet for the boys after the race are also to be considered, along with other matters pertinent to the entertainment of the boys.

Members of the Lions committee and County Judge Sherman White had pledged their cooperation in giving the race, in that the court will have permits made on the Old Miami highway for the races two weeks hence.

Many boys, who are beginning to see completion of their cars, have been meeting a good deal of trouble in getting steel cable for their steering gears. Some wheels sent here had been equipped with the cable, but there were not so equipped. Committee had looked high and low for the cable.

Restaurants and Cafes Checked by Health Officials

Three state health laws and a city ordinance containing most of the factors of all three were cited today by E. J. Howard, state health consultant as he began a check of all cafes and restaurants in the city.

Howard's survey will be part of an effort to stamp out as much uncleanliness as possible and will be carried out through the cooperation of the city health department and commission, the county commission, the county chamber of commerce and the Lions club.

Howard told a Daily News writer today that cafe owners and operators should carefully check the state laws and the city ordinance.

The state laws are: the Texas dish sterilization law adopted in 1939, the Texas health certificate law adopted in 1939, and the general sanitation law adopted in 1945.

Howard said it was evident from a preliminary check that cafe operators here were not familiar with these laws and the city ordinance and he urged all to take immediate steps to clear up what might prove to be a serious problem.

Violators of these laws and the ordinance may be subject to serious penalties if curative steps are not taken, he added.

Salmon, city health inspector, said copies of Ordinance No. 245 are available at the city health office.

Disappearance of 4 Yanks Unsolved

ERLIN—(AP)—The U. S. Army post marshal's office announced today that it had thus far been unable to obtain from the Russians any information concerning the whereabouts of four Americans who disappeared into the Soviet occupation zone last week.

American officials earlier had expressed a belief they were "getting the run-around" from the Russians who were thought to have arrested the four for illegal entry into the Soviet zone.

The missing quartet was identified by U. S. Army headquarters this morning as:

1. Keep a fly-proof cover on all garbage that could possibly be a breeding place for flies.

2. Keep area around garbage cans clean and avoid careless disposal of garbage. Spray regularly with DDT.

3. Clean up all chicken pens and animal pens at least once daily and see CLEAN-UP DRIVE, Page 2.

Farmers Befriend F. V. Tarr Family

Western neighborliness will be demonstrated next Friday morning when farmer friends of the F. V. Tarr family will take the fields to plow out remaining acreage on that farm.

Mr. Tarr died instantly last Saturday noon when his pickup truck was struck by a west-bound passenger train at Hoover grade-crossing. Funeral services were held yesterday.

The family resides two miles south of Hoover. Dick Walker, one of the neighbors, said farmers in the area would bring their plows and tractors, and would be on the job at sunrise.

Fuel will be furnished at the Tarr farm it was stated.

Some 10 or 12 tractors will finish plowing some 600 acres of wheat land. A small portion of the 600 acres has already been broken, Walker said. The group will eat noon lunch at the Tarr home.

Last year, farmers and ranchers in the Hoover community finished plowing out the ground of the J. B. Benton farm. Mrs. Benton had died, and the family had gotten behind in its work.

The death of Mr. Tarr Saturday left only two members of the family to work the land—Mrs. Tarr and a son.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

A German private banker gives his views on Germany's financial situation today in another of a series of columns written by representative Germans for Hal Boyle.

BERLIN—(AP)—Germany today owes twice what the country is worth. Our financial situation is rotten—but not so rotten that it can't be saved.

Our chief problem is to cut down the whole indebtedness of the Reich. Leaving out the question of war damages and reparation payments, that indebtedness amounts to 400 billion marks.

(This is roughly 40 billion dollars at the present level of the mark, but in German terms the figure would be much larger.)

We think this indebtedness must be reduced four-fifths, bringing it down to 80 billion marks. This must be done because the entire industrial, agricultural, and private property value of Germany is only about 200 billion marks.

How can we reduce this vast debt? We could do it perhaps by a controlled inflation, but this is dangerous and impossible at present under the present dividend government's structure. Besides, inflation is unfair to some classes, and is a source of profit to others.

Some bankers—I among them—believe it can be done only by capital tax. Every German must yield four-fifths of his capital—whether it be in the form of money, industrial shares, bonds, buildings, farms, or other property.

This personal delivery of fortune to the state is the simplest, clearest and fairest way to cut down our indebtedness.

Such a tax would have to be applied in the eastern as well as the western zones. It would also have to be made effective soon for if the present liquidation of private property in the Russian-occupied eastern zone continues for another year our present concept of property rights will have been destroyed.

There then will exist, no possibility of restoring the financial system in accordance with the legal standards of the past.

German banking chains have been cut in two by the occupation. During the war Russian troops looted all cash and securities from the banks. They have since liquidated the banks themselves. Old accounts simply were wiped out, and depositors have lost hope of ever getting anything back.

It certainly wasn't followed in the British and American zones, where private banks were permitted to continue in operation, and old as well as new postwar accounts are honored. In these zones there is a real trust that things ultimately will be cleared up in a legal way.

Flying Missionaries Will Have Air Parish in Rabaul

By NEA Service
BELLEVILLE, Ill.—(NEA)—The first "flying" missionaries of today's air age soon will be heading for their new parish—the vast jungles and mountainous regions of New Britain.

Land obstacles that impeded the work of their predecessors will be no problem. They will fly wherever their work requires them to go.

Rev. A. M. Stemper, 38, Caledonia, Minn., and Rev. Anthony Gendusa, 31, Chicago, were the first Catholic priests to answer the plea of Bishop G. J. Vesters, former Vicar Apostolic of Rabaul, who asked for flying priests to cover the 280,000 square miles of wild, war-devastated New Britain.

"Wings of Mercy," a year and a half old Belleville organization established to provide free training in both flying and aircraft mechanics for priests and brothers of all religious orders and for volunteer laymen, gave Stemper and Gendusa their required flight training.

The nus at St. Michael's convent, Reading, Pa., gathered the necessary $5,885 to buy a plane for the two priests. The plane, a twin-engine amphibian, will enable the priests to use either the army-built airfields of New Britain or the inland lakes and streams far from established airports.

The cabin of the plane is large enough for two cots plus medical supplies, and will be used to evacuate sick of inland areas to the hospitals along the coast of New Britain. The priests also expect to carry in materials to rebuild during the fighting on the island.

Assignment of Stemper and Gendusa to New Britain will be for life. Rev. Bernard Hawkins, Sebring, O., non-flier, will accompany them. In a few months they will be joined at Rabaul by Rev. Henry Hoff, a pilot, who will be stationed on New Guinea.

"Wings of Mercy" already has contracted for additional planes to be shipped to the mission post in New Britain. Others will be sent to missions in Africa, South America, Borneo, the Arctic, Philippines, India and other hard-to-get-about places throughout the world.

Florists of Texas Holding Convention
HOUSTON—(AP)—Edwin S. Douglas, president of Telegraph Delivery service, is the featured speaker at this morning's session of the 33rd convention of the Texas State Florists' association.

There will be two discussions on floral design.

Yesterday the delegates heard Professor Alex Laurie, well known floriculturist and Ohio University staff member, predict such developments as "canned roses" and the expansion of air transportation would bring about stiff competition among florists in the near future.

He described his experiment of "canned roses."

By evacuating air from roses in an airtight tank filled with water by use of a vacuum pump, he said roses could be kept fresh for three months or longer.

Hughes Reported 'Holding His Own'

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Howard Hughes' tubular lusk held good today.

Fighting the effects of critical injury suffered in the crash and explosion of his experimental army plane Sunday night, the millionaire aircraft and movie maker was reported by physicians at Good Samaritan hospital today to be "holding his own."

The degree of shock and the extent of injury to Hughes' left lung, severely battered when his chest was crushed in the crash, were the physicians' main concern.

Close watch was kept during the night by attendants, and a guard, posted after Hughes held a business conference in his hospital room yesterday against doctors' orders, remained on duty. The guard's instructions, issued by physicians, were to let no one into the room but doctors and nurses.

The 41-year-old producer of "Hell's Angels" and "The Outlaw" crashed his XP-11, photo-reconnaissance plane reportedly the fastest long-range craft yet built, into three houses and a garage in Beverly Hills. He smashed his way out of the plastic-covered cockpit in time to escape death in the flames which des-

Husbands Feted By Viernes Club

Members of the Viernes club entertained their husbands with a fried chicken dinner on Wednesday evening in the City club rooms. Flags were used throughout the room to carry out the July 4 motif. The food was served from a long white table with red, white and blue flowers in a large crystal bowl as a center piece. Fire crackers were used as table favors. Table games furnished entertainment. Those present were Messers and Mesdames Lee Roy McBride, Charlie Miller, Bob Floyd, Homer Doggett, L. J. Flaherty, Ernie McWilliams, Emmett Forrester, Lee Marler, A. C. Crawford, Dub Williams, and Burdette Keim. Mrs. McBride was hostess when the members of the club met in her home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Each member did some form of hand work. Mrs. Miller was presented a birthday gift. Frosted drinks, open face sandwiches and cake were served to 10 members.

Nuptial Shower Honors Mrs. Dual Lee Brown

Mrs. Dual Lee Brown, nee Dorothy Oatson, was honored with a nuptial shower recently in the home of Mrs. D. L. Brown. The honoree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Carson, 936 S. Paulkner, became the bride of Dual Lee Brown on June 29. Mrs. Brown was presented a red robe corsage. Favours were announcements of the marriage. Refreshments of cake and punch were served to about 40 guests who called during the afternoon.

Attending were Jean Patton, Burdette Keim, Jimmie Taylor, Tommie Jenkins, Mary Ellen and Bettie Kate Patton and the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Florence Berry.

Letters Marked PERSONAL

Could this letter have been addressed to you?

TO AN OLDER WOMAN:
I had often wondered why your marriage ended in divorce. Yesterday I discovered at least one of the reasons. You were describing the "success" of your daughter's marriage.

"It's simply wonderful. My daughter sends out every bit of laundry. The baby's things go to one of those stork services, her husband's go to a hand-finish place, and everything else to a third laundry and comes home ironed. She's even got an electric dishwasher, and a cleaning woman twice a week. It's the grandest thing. My girl hardly has to turn a hand."

"You yourself put too high a premium on getting out of work, didn't you? Your definition of a happy marriage is in terms of leisure. Oh my poor friend, dishpan hands are much to be preferred to 'well-preserved' ones ungraced by a wedding ring!"

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS
Maybe you thought we sounded a little like Grandma when she said that the old answer to the kiss question is still the best one. "Kisses should be valued highly, not given lightly." You thought the stag line would score, here's a letter from a "prep" school senior—a boy—that will surprise you.

"I have been dated with a great many boys on the subject of kissing girls goodnight and we are strongly against making a habit of it. If the boy has any real feeling toward the girl, he will not even try to kiss her until they have been going together for a long time and are known as having dated a lot together. When a boy insists on kissing a girl every time they go out, he helps to cheapen her reputation and sooner or later, she'll be on the shelf, dated only when there's nobody else. She'll acquire the reputation of an 'easy' neck."

"The boy may say he isn't going to date her any more if she won't kiss him goodnight. He'll eventually think a lot more of you if you don't let them kiss you."

"When he gets home after the date, he'll think that you're OK. He certainly will think great deal less of you ten minutes later, if you do weaken. I am a prep school senior and am talking about the 'other boys' views, so take my advice, girls, and unless you are planning to go with the guy for a long time, don't let him kiss you."

"When he tries to kiss you, just say that it has been a sweet evening, but you must go in as it is getting late. You'll be darn' glad you did."

Revival of Slavery Uncovered in Japan

TOKYO—(AP)—Supreme headquarters' investigators declared today they had uncovered evidence of a revival of slavery through contract labor in Japan.

A spokesman said women and girls in large numbers were being put under two or three year labor contracts by their parents, who receive their wages.

General MacArthur issued a directive last Oct. 4 which prohibited the practice. A Japanese ordinance followed suit on May 17.

The spokesman said labor recruiting agents were working with business leaders of reviving Japanese industries in reestablishing the system.

A German private banker gives his views on Germany's financial situation today in another of a series of columns written by representative Germans for Hal Boyle.

BERLIN—(AP)—Germany today owes twice what the country is worth. Our financial situation is rotten—but not so rotten that it can't be saved.

Our chief problem is to cut down the whole indebtedness of the reich. Leaving out the question of war damages and reparation payments, that indebtedness amounts to 400 billion marks. (This is roughly 40 billion dollars at the present level of the mark, but in German terms the figure would be much larger.)

We think this indebtedness must be reduced four-fifths, bringing it down to 80 billion marks. This must be done because the entire industrial, agricultural, and private property value of Germany is only about 200 billion marks.

How can we reduce this vast debt? We could do it perhaps by a controlled inflation, but this is dangerous and impossible at present under the present dividend government structure. Besides inflation is unfair to some classes, and is a source of profit to others.

Some bankers—I among them—believe it can be done only by capital tax. Every German must yield four-fifths of his capital—whether it be in the form of money, industrial shares, bonds, buildings, farms or homes.

This personal delivery of fortune to the state is the simplest, clearest and fairest way to cut down our indebtedness. It couldn't be done overnight. It would take from 10 to 20 years.

Such a tax would have to be applied in the eastern as well as the western zones. It would also have to be made effective soon for if the present liquidation of private property in the Russian-occupied eastern zone continues for another year our present concept of property rights will have been destroyed.

There then will exist no possibility of restoring the financial system in accordance with the legal standards of the reich. German banking chains have been cut in two by the occupation. During the war Russian troops looted all cash and securities from the banks. They have since liquidated the banks themselves. Old accounts simply were wiped out, and depositors have lost hope of ever getting anything back.

This procedure wasn't followed in the British and American zones, where private banks were permitted to continue in operation, and old as well as new postwar accounts are honored. In these zones there is a real trust that things ultimately will be cleared up in a legal way.

Troops in Trieste Held in Barracks TRIESTE—(AP)—American troops here were ordered held in their barracks yesterday to prevent a recurrence of anti-Allied demonstrations by pro-Italian groups which injured 11 persons Saturday night.

RADICAL SOLUTION CHICAGO—(AP)—Inflation is hitting the boys on South State Street—Chicago's bowery. One of them told a reporter that his living costs had gone to $18 a week—with flophouse lodgings boosted from 15 cents to 30 cents and meals upped to 70 cents from 20.

"That's too much," this party said. "A guy can't relax." He said he planned to escape the vicious circle by going to work.

Flying Missionaries Will Have Air Parish in Rabaul

By NEA Service BELLEVILLE, Ill.—(NEA)—The first "flying" missionaries of today's air age soon will be heading for their new parish—the vast jungles and mountainous regions of New Britain.

Land obstacles that impeded the work of their predecessors will be no problem. They will fly wherever their work requires them to go.

Rev. A. M. Stemper, 38, Caledonia, Minn., and Rev. Anthony Gendusa, 31, Chicago, were the first Catholic priests to answer the plea of Bishop G. J. Vesters, former Vicar Apostolic of Rabaul, who asked for flying priests to cover the 20,000 square miles of wild, war-devastated New Britain.

"Wings of Mercy," a year and a half old Belleville organization established to provide free training in both flying and aircraft mechanics for priests and brothers of all religious orders and for volunteer laymen, gave Stemper and Gendusa their required flight training.

The nuns at St. Michael's convent, Reading, Pa., gathered the necessary $5,985 to buy a plane for the two priests. The plane, a twin-engine Commonwealth Trimmer Amphibian, will enable the priests to use either the army-built airfields of New Britain or the inland lakes and streams far from established airports.

The cabin of the plane is large enough for two cots plus medical supplies, and will be used to evacuate sick of inland areas to the hospitals along the coast of New Britain. The priests also expect to carry in materials to rebuild outposts which were destroyed during the fighting on the island.

Assignment of Stemper and Gendusa to New Britain will be for life. Rev. Edward Hawkins, Sebring, O., non-flier, will accompany them. In a few months they will be joined at Rabaul by Rev. Henry Hoff, another pilot who will be stationed on New Guinea.

"Wings of Mercy" already has contracted for additional planes to be shipped to the mission post in New Britain. Others will be sent to missions in Africa, South America, Borneo, the Arctic, Philippines, India and other hard-to-get-to places throughout the world.

Customs Confiscate About 300 Automobiles MEXICO CITY—(AP)—The customs office here said today approximately 300 automobiles, many of them 1945 models, had been confiscated by authorities at Laredo, Texas, for violations of export and import laws.

The customs office advised Mexican purchasers to make sure they had complied with both United States and Mexican import, export laws before attempting to bring automobiles into Mexico.

Hughes Reported 'Holding His Own'

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Howard Hughes' fabulous luck held good today. Fighting the effects of critical injuries suffered in the crash and explosion of his experimental army plane Sunday night, the millionaire aircraft and movie maker was reported by physicians at Good Samaritan hospital today to be "holding his own."

The degree of shock and the extent of injury to Hughes' left lung, severely battered when his chest was crushed in the crash, were the physicians' main concern.

Close watch was kept during the night by attendants, and a guard, posted after Hughes held a business conference in his hospital room yesterday against doctors' orders, remained on duty. The guard's instructions, issued by physicians, were to let no one into the room but doctors and nurses.

The 41-year-old producer of "Hell's Angels" and "The Outlaw" crashed his XP-11, photo-reconnaissance plane reportedly the fastest long-range craft yet built, into three houses and a garage in Beverly Hills. He smashed his way out of the plastic-covered cockpit in time to escape death in the flames which destroyed the craft, and remained conscious long enough to announce himself at the hospital.

Husbands Feted By Viernes Club

Members of the Viernes club entertained their husbands with a fried chicken dinner on Wednesday evening in the City club rooms. The food was served throughout the room to carry out the July 4 motif. The table was set with a long white tablecloth with red, white and blue flowers in a large crystal bowl as a centerpiece. Fire crackers were used as table favors.

Table games furnished entertainment. These present were Messers and Mesdames Lee Roy McBride, Charlie Miller, Bob Floyd, Homer Doggett, L. J. Flaherty, Ernie McWilliams, Emmett Forrester, Lee Marler, A. C. Crawford, Dub Williams, and Burdette Keim.

Mrs. McBride was hostess when the members of the club met in her home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Each member did some form of hand work. Mrs. Miller was presented a birthday gift.

Refreshments, open face sandwiches and cake were served to 10 members.

Nuptial Shower Honors Mrs. Dual Lee Brown

Mrs. Dual Lee Brown, nee Dorothy Carson, was honored with a nuptial shower recently in the home of Mrs. D. L. Brown. The honoree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Carson, 938 S. Paulkner, became the bride of Dual Lee Brown on June 29.

Mrs. Brown was presented a red rose corsage.

Favors were announcements of the marriage.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served to about 40 guests who called during the afternoon.

Attending were Jean Patton, Burdette Patton, Jimmie Taylor, Tommie Jenkins, Mary Eilan and Bettie Kate Patton and the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Florence Berry.

Letters Marked PERSONAL

Could this letter have been addressed to you?

TO AN OLDER WOMAN:
I had often wondered why your marriage ended in divorce. Yesterday I discovered at least one of the reasons. You were describing the "success" of your daughter's marriage.

"It's simply wonderful. My daughter sends out every bit of laundry. The baby's things go to one of those stork services, her husband goes to a hand-finish place, and everything else to a third laundry and comes home ironed. She's even got an electric dishwasher, and a cleaning woman twice a week. It's the grandest thing. My girl hardly has to turn a hand."

"You yourself put too high a premium on getting out of work, didn't you? Your definition of a happy marriage is in terms of leisure. Oh my poor friend, dishpan hands are much to be preferred to 'well-prepared' ones ungraced by a wedding ring!"

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Maybe you thought you sounded a little like Grandma when she said that the old answer to the kiss question is still the very one. . . . Kisses should be valued highly, not given lightly. If you thought the stag line would amaze a senior from a "prep" school senior—a boy—that will surprise you.

"I have talked with a great many boys on the subject of kissing girls and we are strongly against making a habit of it. If the boy has any real feeling toward the girl, he will not even try to kiss her until they have been going together for a long time and are known as having dated a lot together. When a boy insists on kissing a girl every time they go out, he tries to cheapen her reputation and sooner or later, she'll be on the shelf, dated only when there's nobody else. She'll acquire the reputation of an 'easy neck'."

"The boy may say he isn't going to date her any more if she won't kiss him goodnight, but wait, girls. He'll be back quicker. They'll eventually think a lot more of you if you don't let them kiss you."

"When he gets home after the date, he'll think the very best. He certainly will think a great deal less of you ten minutes later, if you do weakly am a great school senior and am talking about a lot of other boys' views, so take my advice, girls, and unless you are planning to go with the guy for a long time, don't let him kiss you."

"When he tries to kiss you, just say that it has been a swell evening, but you must go in as it is getting late. You'll be darn' glad you did."

Revival of Slavery Uncovered in Japan

TOKYO—(AP)—Supreme headquarters' investigators declared today they had uncovered evidence of a revival of slavery through contract labor in Japan.

A spokesman said women and girls in large numbers were being put under two or three year labor contracts by their parents, who receive their wages.

General MacArthur issued a directive last Oct. 4 which prohibited the practice. A Japanese ordinance followed suit on May 17.

The spokesman said labor recruiting agents were working with business leaders of reviving Japanese industries in reestablishing the system.

Iron Curtain Intensifies Feeling In Handling UNRRA Relief in Europe

By JOHN FISHER
The Iron Curtain has suddenly become a crucial issue for the United States government, UNRRA and the American press.
Disclosures made in the past few days show that in the communist belt several of the pledges of the Atlantic Charter and the Potsdam Declaration have not been kept.
Instead, a reign of terror has been instituted in Poland, Bulgaria and Rumania. Americans are not getting a square deal in other red areas.
The UNRRA dispute has stirred congress. Dissatisfaction with Moscow's attitude has caused the house to forbid using American UNRRA funds for nations barring our newspapers, a measure aimed at the Ukrainian and Byelorussian Soviet Republics.
Similar restrictions were voted by the representatives last fall when the 1945 UNRRA appropriation was under debate. But the senate tossed them out on the ground that it would punish innocent victims of hunger and distress.
Curious Coincidence
Congressmen are suspicious of how American aid will be used abroad because of confidential reports that have come to their attention. A Ukrainian republic asked the Combined Food Board for a certain tonnage of vegetable oils. Simultaneously it was discovered that Moscow had concluded a trade pact with Finland promising to deliver the exact amount of the same vegetable oils which were requested as relief by the Ukraine.
Eugene applied for a number of million bushels of grain for relief. Tito then signed a trade agreement promising to export to the Soviet Union a like amount of the same type of grain.
UNRRA officials in Washington insist their agents have freedom to observe the distribution of supplies in the two Russian republics and that their reports show that everything is aboveboard and justifiable.
There is no doubt people in this war-stricken area need help. In steadily resisting the Nazi invasion the peasants were robbed of their possessions; their homes and farm buildings were destroyed.
General sentiment in America is that they deserve aid. But there is a growing demand for the right to see how our money is spent there.
Representative Christian A. Hutter of Massachusetts, who toured Europe investigating UNRRA, declared, "There is absolutely no necessity for saying that a single human being is starving. The relief operation is not conducted in the open. The (the two republics) can always turn to their mother government in Moscow which has billions of dollars of gold with which relief can be bought."
Soviet Insignia On Relief
Many congressmen also believe strongly that greater efforts should be made to inform all recipients of relief that the gifts are donated by Uncle Sam.
Charles E. Young, a member of the Balkans, has told the writer of trains bearing American relief grain decorated with hammer and sickle flags. The hungry thought the gift was from the Soviet Union.
To prevent future misconception, our officials prominently marked the grain bags. The local Commies then announced, "The bags are a present from America but the grain inside came from the Soviet Union."
One of the most serious repercussions behind the iron curtain is the expulsion from Rumania of Reuben H. Markham, correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor. As the Associated Press representative has been recalled, there is now no American correspondent in that country.
Diplomats suspect that before the vacancies are filled the Red Groza government will conduct a one-sided election in defiance of the promises made to Washington for fair, democratic balloting. Two American news writers in Poland were "detained" by the communist authorities and prevented from serving the recent referendum balloting.
The Russian general who actually ruled Rumania demanded that Markham be ousted on the charge that he was antagonistic to communism. He and three other American correspondents also were recalled.
Well-Fitted Observer
To understand the bias of the Russian brass hat, the following personal facts about Markham are of interest: He was a member of the legion in the Balkans where he mastered the several languages of the region. For fifteen years he has been a news writer in Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania, except during the German occupation. In a relative he served with overseas OWI. He is no ignorant greenhorn.
His dispatches have always been distinguished for accuracy. He, himself, is an extremely unflinching type, not easily swept by excitement.
Once he reported by phone to his bureau chief in London that there was no news of international consequence that day. "By the way," said his boss, "we have a cable from your city stating that a automobile was bombed and that several were injured. Know anything about that?"
"Oh, that," replied Markham indignantly. "It was in the car."
During his long residence in the Balkans he became a figure of importance. He was always donating funds to worthy causes. He wrote a number of articles describing the good points of Hungarian land reform. He was identified with Rumanian progressive movements. Whenever he entered a hall in the role of a correspondent to report a liberal

Three Beliefs as to Cause Of Raising Wage Levels

Different people have different beliefs as to why the total wages or wage levels have been raised in the past. There are three customary beliefs, judging from what people say:
1. That wages are raised due to the goodness of the employer.
2. That they are raised by force.
3. That they are raised by using better tools.
The first belief is usually represented by those people who employ labor. They are called wage raisers, and they like to brag about how high wages they pay, contending that they pay more than they should. If this is true, they, in short, are making a gift wage.
What these people do not see is that a gift wage causes a re-warding in the accumulation of tools and also causes the worker to work with the employer rather than to attempt to do a more useful and important job. Thus, instead of raising production and thus wage levels, this policy keeps wages low.
The belief that wages can be raised by force is exemplified by those who believe that wage levels can be raised by collective bargaining or by tariffs or by minimum wage laws or by immigration restrictions or by price fixing.
These people, like those who believe in making a gift wage, realize that the higher wages that are handed out to a few people because of force come from the reduced wages that necessarily must be paid to others. Besides this, they keep the less efficient men operating machines and thus greatly reduce production so that there is less to be divided into wages and rewards for efficiency called profits.
The same thing applies to tariffs. They keep men working with less efficient natural elements and force them to apply to the market. Besides this, many men are required to help enforce these forms of force, and thus their energy is diverted from producing what could be turned into wages.
The third belief as to the cause of wage levels being raised is the belief that this is a result of working being furnished with better tools. This comes from savings and the division of labor. It is a result of respecting the free initiative of all people instead of that of a few.
It is simply a mathematical fact that men, by harnessing the gratuities of God and dividing labor, can produce more than they could by making a monopoly of men and manufactured tools.
The proponents of this idea of raising wages contend that the man who furnishes the worker tools is, in the long run, more useful to the worker than the man who temporarily gives him a gift wage or the man who is a wage raiser. He raises the level of high wages for a few at the expense of other workers.
There is nothing more important than that people come to understand the real cause of high wages for a few at the expense of other workers.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER
HAPPIER — General Omar N. Bradley has finally managed to make living easier and happier for the millions of World War II veterans, even though his revision of the original system of supplying them with artificial arms and legs casts reflections on the methods employed by his predecessor, Major General Frank T. Hines, and the strong-arm action of the department of justice against the manufacturers of synthetic limbs.
The veterans insisted at first that the veterans be provided with "temporary" appendages, although every expert warned that G.I. legs and arms could not be manufactured by the thousands. The experts insisted that each case be treated only after an individual diagnosis, and they refused to be a party to mass volume production.
The Veterans Administration and the surgeon general of the army, however, would not listen. In a hysterical rush to meet the demand they set up their own laboratories and turned out artificial limbs without proper examination of the patient's specific needs.
AGONIES — The results were disastrous for everybody concerned and veterans who had no alternative save to wear the first products suffered agonies.
The government legs broke, would not flex and gave such unsatisfactory service that many of the victims preferred to use crutches. When they were able to escape from VA hospitals, those who could afford it went to commercial manufacturers and were properly fitted.
The most spectacular case was that of Captain Ted Lawson of "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo" renown. He spent about six months trying to get around with a "GI leg" as the government-made limbs were termed, but never could walk properly. Eventually, he went to the oldest firm in this highly concentrated and expert industry, and bought his own. Within a month he was walking naturally and flying planes again.
At the peak of the publicity and resentment against Uncle Sam's failure to provide these stricken ex-soldiers with appendages which would insure a normal life, the "trust busters" of the D. J. obtained indictments against the manufacturers of artificial limbs on the charge that they had fixed prices through a monopoly.
Attorney General Tom Clark's publicity agents aroused deep and nation-wide indignation against the defendants, most of whom were tried and fined within a month ago. But a careful study of the judicial record suggests that, in this instance as in many others, the anti-trust laws were invoked for reasons of protective jealousy.

So They Say

Labor itself would benefit from an honest and statesmanlike revision and amplification of existing laws, and that they should apply to unions in other special interests card principles of public responsibility.—Dr. Everett Case, president Colgate U.
None of us can afford to do less than his best.—General Eisenhower.
A sick man served by you will make you strong. In such ways you can make yourself blessed for the services you give others.—Rev. Karl H. Ehlers of Cleveland.
When we see the same statements complete as to their ironical falseness, we are reminded of the same in revolutionary papers in London and New York, we cannot help but realize that here is a deep-seated and vicious plot to destroy our country without which there would be no United States.—Attorney-General Tom C. Clark.
If we allow our pride of country and jealousy of our sovereignty to develop into an arms race, we will terminate in atomic war, we will be lost.—Dr. M. Stanley Livingston, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Peter Edson's Column:

NEW BOSS OF RECONVERSION PROCEDURE

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — As Dr. John R. Steelman takes over his new job as director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, he can see ahead only one thing for sure. His job will fold up on him come June 30, 1947.
Fundamentally, Steelman is for whatever the President is for. His loyalty to Truman is absolute and unquestioning. That's why he got the OWMR job. He still has his former status as confidential Presidential assistant.
In the latter years of his directorship of the Conciliation Service, Steelman made a number of speeches for the learned societies' hard-to-read journals. They were principally about labor relations, and they were written to cover depression and wartime conditions. They don't quite fit today.
In general, they reveal Steelman as favoring the settlement of labor unrest by more direct negotiation between the parties concerned, labor and management. They do not favor the attempt to settle labor disputes by legislation or by direct government interference.
"Any time you try to make a cop out of a conciliator, you destroy his usefulness." So runs one of his favorite lines.
HE HAS STUDIOUSLY AVOID-ED NON-LABOR TOPICS
On topics other than labor Steelman has kept his mouth consistently shut because he has believed such matters were none of his official business. He was always resentful

Huge Rat Gives Family Very Merry Reception

PHILADELPHIA—(AP) — A huge rat, obviously angry at being caught in a mousetrap, was waiting for Louis Somershoe and his family today when they returned from a weekend out of town.
The rat, with the trap clinging to one leg, chased Somershoe, his wife, and their two small sons into the living room.
Somershoe finally managed to elude the rat long enough to telephone police. Officer Joe Kelly arrived in a riot car and dispatched the rat with his riotstick.
Before the American Revolution, Philadelphia was the second largest city in the British Empire.

"WHAT'S the matter, my dear?" Mrs. Bacon asked. "You look as if you had seen a ghost. What is it?"
Sally shook her head, recovering her poise with difficulty. "It was nothing. I just remembered something and was startled."
The four returned to the house and Sally took a seat where she could watch Richard Gregory's face as he related the incident of the stranger's visit to Reconvonville.
She saw the man's gaze sharpen for a moment then became amused as she went on.
"I'm sure I should know his voice anywhere," she finished.
"You only think you would," Carolyn laughed. "But it makes a good story. I suppose you have a great many such experiences up there on the hill?" she went on, wondering, no doubt, at the interest her fiancée was showing in her guest's story.
"Not too many," Sally said. "I suppose, subconsciously, I have been listening for that voice ever since." At the police station they paraded some dozen or so shabby characters before Mr. Margaret Adams and me—but not one of the voices was right. He walked with a sort of swift glide, too, as if he were young and slim and agile. Of course it was dark—he was merely a shadow—a swiftly moving shadow."
Carolyn laughed again. "You've been seeing too many mystery thrillers, Sally," she chided. "Now suppose you tell one, Dick," she suggested and the young man settled himself in his comfortable chair and began.
"I THINK I can tell something quite as strange as Sally's," he said, and Sally closed her eyes and was convinced he was the man.
"It was during the present spring that I was on the trail of a gang of international crooks—so close to them in fact I even accepted a lift and rode with them for several miles. I was suspicious but not at all sure of my quarry until the car skidded on a slippery hill and went into a ditch. No one was hurt but from the angry mutterings, the sub-machine gun that suddenly appeared in the hands of the driver and a bulging brief case that landed squarely in my arms, I knew I had hit the jackpot."
"It was pitch dark and sleeting. I jumped a hedge and heading lower ran past darkened houses over lawns soggy with wet leaves and at last reached a large building that was still dimly lighted. I dashed up the steps and tried the door. It opened and I slipped inside and shut and locked it behind me, and then—of all things—the lights went out."
"But I had seen I was in a wide foyer with steps leading down to another level. Somehow I felt my safety lay in that direction and I descended the stairs to the door at the bottom, where I heard voices. I entered and was challenged by a woman. By that time I recognized the smells and knew I was in a hospital. Evidently the voices belonged to nurses—there were two of them. And then I heard stealthy footsteps approaching and slipped over to where a door should be. It was locked so I felt

In Hollywood

By ELSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Boris the New York hair-stylist who once did fancy hair-dos for such luminous ladies as Joan Crawford and Norma Shearer, is now John Laurent, the REO movie actor and coast-to-coast singing star.
It is the darndest story you've ever heard.
From hair-stylist to film and radio star is fantastic enough, but there is important to note that these predominantly conservative legislators have just sidestepped a fresh and dangerous crisis in their feud with the new socialist government which is in the midst of a far-reaching program of nationalization. Socialist leaders have been threatening to curb or eliminate altogether the few remaining prerogatives left to the nobility of the latter interfere with socialist plans. Recently along came a red-hot issue which British newspapers have been saying would provide a test whether the noble lords could survive under the leftist regime.
This issue involved the action of the house of commons in excluding non-profit insurance groups from the government's new social insurance system. These include the "friendly societies," having 8,000,000 members. The lords yesterday had before them the question of whether the government's new social insurance reversing this measure—and if they did make such a move.
It wouldn't matter whether the lords did this or not, because commons can override anything the lords do. However, the lords delay legislation up to two years by obstructive tactics, and the socialist government—with only four years of life before a new general election—can't afford to waste that much time.
It was a dangerous moment for the house of lords—and they decided that discretion was the better part of valor. They voted to let the commons measure stand.
Should the feud finally come to a showdown in which the government, actually would decide to strip the lords of remaining powers, the thing presumably would be achieved by the socialist majority in commons enacting a government measure emasculating the upper house.
The prime minister then would serve notice on lords that if they don't accept the inevitable he would request the king to appoint enough new socialist peers to ensure passage of the measure in the house of lords.

"Homer" Goff, Texarkana, desk sergeant, said he thought he had heard "em all but a woman from Chicago" recently came up with a new alibi for overpacking.
Apparently, he said, she had been reading too many wild west stories. She told police she didn't put any money in a parking meter because she thought it was a hitching post.
There's no limit to what some people will steal.
In Dallas, the owner of a drive-in theater said customers have stolen 30 loud speakers. The speakers are placed in the cars, and the customer cuts the wire and just drives off. Theater Manager E. W. Willbern says it runs into money.
County Auditor Tom Craven of Waco borrowed a two-wheel trailer from District Judge D. W. Bartlett. He parked the trailer and someone promptly stole it from him.
Craven says he can't figure out how they did it, but he'd sure like to find out.
Another trailer—a 20-foot freight trailer heavily loaded with cargo—was stolen in San Angelo. Police and officials from the firm haven't been able to determine how the trailer was taken, unnoticed, from the yard. The trailer is a type that requires a special truck to pull it, and no trucks are missing.
Chief of Police Clarence Lowe hit a new high in understatement with his official comment that there is "certainly something funny" about the deal.
Two weeks later, it was found abandoned.

AKRON O.—Well, here I am in Akron where I caught up with George who has been visiting his brother. Everybody has been wonderful including the mayor, who gave us the keys to the city. I really felt I really taking the keys to a whole city when so many people can't even get the keys to an apartment.
I visited the three big rubber plants, and I broke my heart to see those great big beautiful tires. I'm afraid I was tempted to smudge one out, but I knew the guard at the door would spot it under the wrap. And George refused to take advantage of his natural spare tire to hide one under his coat.
I also went up in a Goodyear blimp and was amazed to find that the state of Ohio spreads out almost as far as the city of Los Angeles.
We have to open up new enterprises in this country for full employment, and to make our economy function we must do something to check this trend of concentration of economic power.—Sen. Robert M. LaFollette (P) of Wisconsin.

BECAUSE

Many years ago this community was settled by men of vision and planning ability. They visualized Pampa as the city it is today.

Today we have some of these men still here and many more younger men who also have these same qualities and for that reason Pampa will continue to thrive and grow.

The Pampa business men have always worked together to make their establishments as fine or finer than any to be found in much larger cities, their prices lower.

Of the many fine schools and churches that continue to give our children the right way of living that go to make a better community.

Courtesy and cooperation are policies that have always been maintained by business houses in Pampa. These with a quality of merchandise offered at lowest possible prices make Pampa an ideal trading center.

Pampa is a community of thoughtful, courteous and helpful people besides the leaders above mentioned. . . . Let us continue to grow with Pampa.

Rampaging Dukes Win From Oilers 7 to 3

Rebels, Felines 'Break Even' in Season's Games

(By The Associated Press)
Third-place Dallas hung a 6-3 defeat on loop-leading Fort Worth last night as the rival teams staged the last battle of their six-game Texas league series.
The win gave the Rebels an even break in the series and for the season. Both teams now boast eight games won in their intercity contests.
Around the loop, Oklahoma City hit Tulsa 13-2, San Antonio won 4-2 over Beaumont, and Shreveport edged out a 1-0 win from Houston.
Hank Oana was the winner over Eddie Chandler in the Dallas-Fort Worth battle, giving him 15-6 for the season. The loss was Chandler's second of the year, both to Dallas, against 13 victories.
The Oklahoma City Indians jumped two Tulsa pitchers for 17 hits in a game marred by seven errors, six of them charged against the Oilers. The Indians ran Walter Lentz from the mound in the third inning and then fell on his relief for 12 hits in the remainder of the show.
The San Antonio Missions counted two runs on Beaumont errors. Two earned markers in the ninth gave them the victory.
The Shreveport Sports Doyle Lade bested Les Studner of the Buffs in the 1-0 shutout for the Louisianaans. Lade allowed only five hits as the Buffs ruminating reached 24 consecutive innings. Studner permitted six hits and no passes. Lone run of the contest came and the fourth when Joe Smaza tripled and scored as Dan Reynolds grounded out.
Today's schedule:
Oklahoma City at Dallas.
Tulsa at Fort Worth.
San Antonio at Beaumont.
Shreveport at Houston.

DALLAS—(AP)—What appears in store for Southwest conference football next fall is enough to get a guy all excited.
The bulging rosters of experienced gridirers indicate the greatest football conference ever knew.

The University of Arkansas isn't getting much consideration in the 1946 race. But they had a new deal over at Fayetteville and the Barnhill plan appears capable of making Arkansas a power in conference football as of now.
First thing John Barnhill, new coach of the Razorbacks, did was round up the top 20 high school seniors in the state, plus a number of less heralded prepsters.
Not too many of those fellows will make the varsity this year because of the abundance of experienced players on by the congregation of former stars as the result of the war's end. But they'll give Arkansas a big squad, with plenty of replacements and prospects just as ready next year and the following year.

Among the newcomers at Arkansas is Aubrey Fowler, who not only is a great punter, a fine passer and top field general but can run 100 yards in 9.7 or less. They also are hailing a youngster named Bill Shaddock as the nearest thing the conference could have to another John Kimbrough.

Then consider Ross Pritchard, who played with the Iowa Seahawks during the war. Pritchard beat out John Hoffman, the leading ground-gainer of the conference last season, for the No. 1 wingback job in spring training.
Texas could put a team on the field made up of 150-40-42 lettermen. Texas has some of the top new men of the conference, such as guard Charley Jungmichel, backs Wyland Hill and Tommy Landry, center Ferrell Allen and back Randall Clay.

Texas Christian expects a passing game as strong as it ever had with the post-Beaumont exception of the days of Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien. Leon Joslin, last year's star, will have Jim Lucas, ace pitcher of 1945, and Lindy Berry, Wichita Falls freshman, to help him. Key man of the backfield, however, appears to be Dave Bloxom, 215-pound fullback, who is fast and agile.

While most of the conference members will use the wingback style this year, Coach Homer Norton of Texas A. and M. says he's sticking to the T formation, but this time it will be T formation-plus. He explains that "plus" to mean there will be variations.
The T will be used to fit in with the offensive plans for each game as it comes up during the season.
For general information we note the name of A. J. Dugas among the outstanding first year prospects at Aggiefield. Dugas, the all-star guard from Port Arthur, hadn't previously announced his intentions as to college football. He had been expecting a draft call.
Another Aggiefield note: Bill Jucht, the all-state guard from Amarillo, has withdrawn from A. and M.

Leiker Falls in Initial Attempt After No-Hitter

Big Ed Leiker, making his first start after his July 4 no-hit, no-run effort against Lamesa here, was rapped eight hits and five runs in seven innings last night as the rampaging Albuquerque Dukes edged the Oilers 7-3 at Albuquerque.
The victory was the Dukes' eleventh in their last 13 games and pulled them nearer the first division, which they have not occupied this year.
Leiker, whose record now reads eight wins and five losses, walked only two and struck out three batters by John Gist, who gave up two more runs off three hits.
The Oilers will face Albuquerque there again tonight and tomorrow night and will return to Pampa after concluding a three-game series with Borger.

Early Favorite Is Upset as Softball League Inaugurated

An upset and a lopsided score marked the opening of play in the Pampa Men's softball league yesterday with Montgomery Ward blasting Alpac Construction 31-9 and Baash-Ross Tool surprising McWilliams 9-8.
Two games are scheduled tonight. Phillips Petroleum plays Stanolind Oil tonight at 8:30 on the Phillips diamond and Skelly-Schafer meets the Heistells at 8 o'clock on the Skelly diamond.
Betting was on the mound and Howerton was behind the plate for Baash-Ross last night while Stone and Corner hurled and Redman received for McWilliams, one of the pre-season favorites.
Jake Halter, former high school football star and now a student at Tulsa university, hurled for Montgomery Ward.

YOUR BABY SON, MRS. RUGGLES! OH-H, THE LITTLE ANGEL!
COME TO MOTHER, PRECIOUS... MY OWN SON--MINE!
BUT HE'S SO QUIET! HE DOESN'T MOVE! IS HE ALL RIGHT?
HE'S LAZY, LIKE ALL MEN! PUNCH HIM AND HE'LL WAKE UP!

DAISY MAE WROTE 'GO JUMP IN LAKE'--AH BET SHE (SOB?) THOUGHT THAT WERE (SOB?) FUNNY--BUT AH'LL HAVE TO (SOB?) LAST LAF--WHEN SHE WEEPS OVER MAH COLD, CLAMMY CARCASS!!
HEY? WHAT IS AH DOIN'?

MR. WADDY! THAT MAN WITH THE UMBRELLA! HE'S WATCHING ME FROM BEHIND A TREE!
YEP, ONE OF THEM FELLERS I HEARD TALKIN' ABOUT YOU... LOOK, PARD! HERE'S THAT THOUGH-BRED GOTT I JUST BOUGHT!
BUT IT'S-ER-VERY IMPORTANT THAT I ELUDE THOSE SNEAKS...
WOTTA YOU CARE, MAC? THEY'RE AFTER TH' WRONG GUY!
MY DEAR FELLOW! THERE'S A REASON WHY I CAN'T LET THAT HOODLUM LEARN WHERE I ROOM. I'D NEVER SHAKE HIM THEN!
OKAY, WE'LL DODGE INTO THIS BARN! WE'RE GONNA LOSE HIM!

YOU GOT A SHIRT ON? SO IT'S BEST YOU GO TO TH' DOOR AN' JUST APOLOGIZE AN' TELL HIM IT WAS SUCH A HOT DAY WE SIMPLY COULDN'T RESIST TAKIN' A DIP--
SAY, JIS 'CAUSE I WAS QUICK-WITTED ENOUGH TO GRAB MY SHIRT ON TH' RIN, DON'T THINK I CAN BE USED--
OH, I DON'T THINK HE'LL SAY MUCH--LET'S YOO-HOO HIM OUT AND NEGOTIATE WITH HIM FROM HERE--OR CUTEBERT, WE'RE GONNA HOME NOW!
GIMME THAT SHIRT--LOAN IT TO ME! I'M HUNGRY AN' CHILLED--I'LL SIT OUR SHOES, ER--AH--LEAVE TH' GATE OPEN--WIDE OPEN!

YUP, MAJOR! SHE'S ABOUT ALL SET FOR PAINT--I'LL STEP DOWN TO THE CORNER AN' GET A FEW CANS--WHAT COLOR YOU WANT, YELLA?--IS THERE A BALL GAME TODAY?
EGAD! YESTERDAY HE WENT FOR A POUND OF NAILS, AND MUST HAVE SEEN A 12-INNING GAME ON THE WAY HOME! THE MAN TRAVELS ON GLACIERS!
NO, MR. SHUTTLEWORTH! I'LL SEND JASON--WE WANT TO START OUR VACATION BEFORE FROST SETS IN!

Seining of Lake Begins; Fish Are Free to Everyone

State and federal conservation agents, seining rough fish out of Lake McClellan, yesterday took numerous small mud cat and crappie.
Bert Howell, concessionaire, reported that a 175-foot seine was used yesterday and was to be used again today for the "test" drags being made.
Nearer the close of the project, sometime next week, two seines will be tied together, and the "big drag" will be made at the south end of the lake. The two-seine combination will measure 375 feet.
Persons who wish to use the small fish to stock their own lakes may come to the lake with containers and receive them free. It was emphasized that a number of persons were on hand yesterday, and they took all the fish that were given away.
Agents doing the seining, which is conducted from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. each day, said some large bass were seen to have jumped the seine.

SCORES OF small game fish were returned to the lake.
The waters of Lake McClellan are to be re-stocked later this fall.

SCIENCE OF WEATHER
TOKYO—(AP)—Japan ranks as one of the world's outstanding nations in the science of scientific studies. Australian Brigadier J. W. O'Brien, chief of the scientific and technical division of Allied headquarters, said. He also praised oceanographers.

Oil Well To Pay For New School
LAUREL, Miss.—(AP)—An oil well on the school ground will pay for a new $127,000 consolidated school to be built immediately in Hedgesboro, which until oil was discovered there two years ago was just another small town.
Wall Street, now the financial center of the world, once was New York's financial center.

MONUMENT DEDICATED
MOJIE, Japan—(AP)—A monument in memory of Allied personnel who died as prisoners of war in Japan was dedicated here today. It is a stone edifice four feet high, surmounted by a cross. Most residents contributed $1,922 for its construction. Buddhist priests participated in the ceremonies.
The Thorpdale tree, a mountain ash in Victoria, Australia, is said to have been 375 feet tall.

Pleased to meet you! My name is Hilda Grubbe... and thanks loads for rescuing your method of operation! Wasn't my method positively ingenious!

Shucks, it was easy!
Being a mature person, you naturally would have an advanced younger minds!

When you see a guy like him you forget all about me!
No, Lardie, that's when I remember!

I was mindin' my own business 'til the corral rent wene--
Yeah, Hicks! Some buzzard tapped you on 'n' head 'n' he could doctore red ridders saddle cinch!

And that's Hicks! Sorta red: your busted cinch wasn't an accident!
I was sure of that, Laramee! Somebody made off with my saddle right after my act!

We find crook! Hunnam down right now!
I'll ditch this saddle 'n' the excitement dies down--then I'll hide it good!

Fun house is not the word for this... it's a crazy house!
Yeh, bud, what is it?
You carry this roll of dough till we get outa here. Will you?
Wow! The farther you go, the darker it gets!
Yeh, I'll say! Walk your step on this jumpin' floor!
What I'm looking forward to is the OW!
Whatcha bark your shins for? Whup! Eek!

Walter Fade Scores Hole-in-One Sunday; 3-Way Match Is Set

Walter Fade, local golfer, scored the third hole-in-one of his career and the second such feat in four years at the local country club Sunday when he dropped one in on the 271-yard No. 3 hole.
The other hole-in-one at the country club since the grass greens were installed four years ago was made by Farris Oden, present mayor of Pampa.
Frank Baker, Country club pro, said today that Pampa golfers would take part in a three-way match with the Huber and Phillips clubs at Phillips Sunday afternoon at one o'clock. All local golfers who wish to take part are asked to contact Baker before Sunday.

Stassen-Backed Candidates Win

(By The Associated Press)
Gov. Edward J. Thye, who campaigned as an advocate of the United Nations, won the republican senatorial nomination in Minnesota's primary from the veteran Sen. Hendrik Shipstead.

The four-term senator, who voted against the United Nations charter and the proposed British loan, conceded defeat today when returns from nearly half the state gave Thye a margin of more than 50,000 votes in yesterday's election.

Thye had the support of Harold E. Stassen, who helped draw the United Nations charter. The victory encouraged backers of Stassen in his quest for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948.

Luther W. Youngdahl, also backed by Stassen, apparently had won an easy victory for the republican nomination for governor over Hjalmar Petersen, former farmer-laborite governor.

Shipstead's defeat is the year's fourth among senatorial incumbents. Charles C. Gossett, (D-Ida) and George L. Radcliffe (D-Md) were beaten in primaries. Raymond E. Willis (R-Ind) withdrew his candidacy when confronted by powerful opposition at his party's state nominating convention.

In Minnesota's democratic-farmer labor primary Dr. Theodore Jorgenson, St. Olaf college professor, led Frank Ryan, Minneapolis attorney, for the senatorial nomination. Harold Barker, weekly newspaper publisher, was high in a three-man race for the nomination for governor.

The width of the Panama Canal limits the beam of some naval vessels.

Labor History

tics and reform and set up the national labor reform party in 1872. The party ran a candidate for president. He received 30,000 votes. The party disappeared. Then came the depression of 1873.

But another organization, one of the most famous in history was taking form. This was the Noble Order of the Knights of Labor. It started out in 1869 as a secret organization of tailors who wanted it unknown to their bosses.

Soon it spread, becoming a national organization. It dropped its secrecy in 1878. It was a union for all workers, skilled and unskilled, manual, clerical, professional, and the small businessman.

The Knights wanted a national 8-hour day, an end to child labor, equal pay for men and women. By 1885 the Knights had over 700,000 members. They dropped to little more than 70,000 by 1893. Why? The Knights had set out to organize all workers, but didn't have enough organizers. They led some successful strikes and were mixed up in some that lost. They looked for more than trade union benefits. They looked for other things, too, like reorganization of the banking system.

Also, the Knights were in conflict with craft unions—unions of skilled workers—since the Knights wanted to absorb all kinds of workers.

And the American Federation of Labor, organized in 1886, was growing in power. Unlike the Knights, the AFL put the emphasis on craft unions, turned away from forming a political party, and thought in terms of benefits for workers, not general reforms.

The Knights served a purpose. They bridged the gap between unions which were floundering after the Civil War and the AFL which picked up the ball and carried it half a century. It's still going strong.

Marion, who threw, to Mize to nip Keltner off first. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING
NATIONALS:
Schoendienst filed out to Williams. Mural popped to Doerr. Hopp filed to Maginnis. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

AMERICANS:
Louie Appiny batted to Feller and bounced out. Passeau to Mize. DiMaggio singled. Pecky rapped into a double play. Schoendienst to Marion to Mize. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING
NATIONALS:
Hal Newhouse went in to pitch for the American leaguers. Rosar was catching and Spence was in center field. Walker went out. Vernon to Newhouse. Kurovski struck out. Frank McCormick batted for Mize and filed out to Spence. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

AMERICANS:
Kirby Higbee went to the mound for the Nationals and Phil Masi took over the catching. McCormick was playing first. Williams smashed a home run. Keller fanned. Doerr fouled out to Kurovski. Vernon filed out

As long as he has his trusty shotgun, 10-year-old Billy, son of B. J. Mahoney of Davenport, Iowa, isn't going to let any ole thief steal his pappy's gasoline. He's pictured beside the gas drums which a prowler recently attempted to loot. Billy seized the shotgun, pointed it and the stranger fled.

cable, and were about to give up when Del Eagle, of the Rock Glycerin company, came to the rescue. Boys who need cable are asked to get in touch with either J. L. Swindle at the Pampa Daily News, or Bob Grammer at the Culberson Chevrolet company, co-sponsor of the Derby with the Chevrolet division of General Motors, Detroit.

The Firestone store management said this morning that a few sets of Derby wheels were still in stock at the local store if there were any boys who needed them.

cut by $110,000. The renegotiators testified that the amount had been nearly doubled after the original agreement between the two companies was reached.

Knutson said that Erie basin has protested the renegotiation order for the $1,278,000 refund, and that the matter awaits a court determination.

The hearing veered to renegotiation figures after a day in which:
1. The committee heard testimony that Rep. May (D-Ky) promoted a timber deal in 1945 after saying he was "in touch with the proper people" to get war contracts and that he and an associate would "both draw big salaries."

2. May took the floor of the house to deny again that he had profited in any way from the timber deal or the operations of the munitions combine. Decrying what he called "gestapo tactics," the chairman of the house military committee told his colleagues that "truth crumbled to earth will rise again."

3. The possibility arose that a constitutional provision might bar the senate committee from seeking to question May, whose earlier unofficial appearance before the group was described by Chairman Mead (D-NY) as "wholly inadequate."

000 Jews into Palestine would result in formal protests to the U.N. from Arab states and Pan-Arabic organizations.

Outer Mongolia's application pointed out that nation's friendship with the Soviet Union and its alliance with the Russians against Japan in the short period between the dropping of the atom bomb on Hiroshima and the Japanese surrender.

Afghanistan is another neighbor of Russia but the sponsorship for her application has not become apparent.

About three-fourths of U. S. oil wells are of the "stripper" variety using pumps to strip the pool. Only about half of the U. S. area believed to contain oil has yet been explored for it.

ROUGH PLAY
FEOSINTE, Ariz.—(AP)—Maricopa county superior court Judge Dudley W. Windes asked a man seeking divorce from his wife on the grounds of physical cruelty for the details.
"Well, your honor," the man replied, "five times she hit me in the head with an axe. If that keeps up someone is going to get hurt."
The divorce was granted.

BARE RESULTS
AURORA, Ill.—(AP)—Mrs. Geraldine Johnson had finished washing three newly acquired pairs of nylons when she heard a rumor there was steak at her favorite butcher shop.

She hung the nylons out in the yard and went to the shop—but the butcher's counters were bare.

When she returned home she found her clothesline equally bare—a thief had stolen her nylons.
