Plans To Conserve Gas Are Continued

AUSTIN, Feb. 23—(AP)—Another hearing in the railroad commission's plan to cut down on waste of gas produced in connection with oil has been set for March 28 at Midland.

The hearing will consider informally what should be done with casing-head gas now being flared from oil wells in certain fields of the west, central, west and Panhandle districts.

Among the matters to be considered is the feasibility of returning such gas to producing horizons. Gas-oil ratio of each field, present disposition of gas produced with oil, how much gas being flared, the content of the gas, practicability of storing the gas in gas reservoirs or depleted oil reservoirs, and whether or not it is feasible to re-inject the gas for pressure maintenance will be considered.

These fields are affected: Barnhart, Big Lake, McCamey, Abell, APCO-Warner, North and South Cowden, Embarras, Ellenberger, Foster, Fahrmau-Mascho, Fullerton, Goldsmith, Harper, Henderson, Hendrick, Johnson, Jordan, Kermit, Keystone Colby, Keystone Lime, Keystone Ellenberger, McElroy, Pennell, and hills ordvidian, sand hills tubbs, Seminole, Slaughter, Waddell, North Estes Ward, South Ward, Wasson, Welner, Wheeler, Ellenberger, Panhandle.

Shamrock Will Have New Tennis Courts

SHAMROCK, Feb. 23 (Special)—The City of Shamrock, in cooperation with the chamber of commerce, is to build two concrete tennis courts in the City Park on East First street. Bob Clark, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, announced this week.

The entire park is to be improved, Clark declared. The project will include leveling the ground; pulling dirt from the northeast corner to the southwest corner. The courts will be built in the northeast corner and will cover a space 75x78 feet.

A barbecue pit and tables will be built in the southwest corner and the entire plot will be planted to grass.

The Shamrock schools will donate racks stops which are now on the high school campus and are not being used. The courts will be lighted so that night games may be played.

GENERAL YAMASHITA DIES IN NOOSE, PRAYS FOR THE EMPEROR'S LONG LIFE

By JAMES HALSEMA
MANILA, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, one-time best-medalled conqueror of Singapore, was hanged on a flood-lighted gallows before dawn today as a Japanese war criminal, wearing patched and slouchy American khaki fatigues.

His last words a prayer "for the emperor's long life," the despoiler of Manila died in disgrace at 3:02 a. m. in a cane field along with two subordinates.

The body was sewed in canvas and carted away to a grave marked only by a white post and Yamashita's army identification tags were those of the Japanese soldiers buried on either side whose misdeeds sealed his doom.

Two convicted torturers, a lieutenant colonel who once headed the dreaded Japanese secret police in the Philippines and civilian interpreter, shared with him a death considered the most shameful by their countrymen.

Yamashita, whose soldiers ran wild in defeat in 1944 and 1945 in losing the Philippines after Homma's men had opened the way to conquest in 1942, walked up the 13 steps to the scaffold in company with a Buddhist priest.

"I will pray for the emperor's long life and his prosperity forever," were his last words.

Earlier, when the execution orders had been read to him, he had prepared a statement. Given out in broken English by an interpreter, it was a mixture of self-defense, and gratitude:

"I was carrying out my duty as Japanese high commander of the Japanese army in the Philippine islands. . . I don't ashamed in front of God for what I have done when I have died. . . I have had a good treatment, kindful attitude from your good-natured officers. . . I don't blame my executioners. I will pray God bless them."

While 10,000 of his beaten soldiers slept in stockades of the Luzon No. 1 prison camp near Los Banos, Yamashita had been led away quietly from an inner compound so secretly and silently as to forestall any possible demonstration.

But past the sentry towers with their alert machine-guns, the party proceeded, then to a weed-covered cane field not far from the Los Banos interment camp.

The official execution witnesses had been alerted of the proceedings only a short time before. They were pledged to secrecy. There were no newspapermen or photographers present.

Yamashita was condemned last Dec. 7 after a trial at which he appeared proudly in military garb. Witness on witness told a sordid story of how his men raped, pillaged and burned during their last stand in Manila in February a year ago; and how they killed thousands of both military personnel and civilians throughout Luzon and other islands.

A dance will be sponsored by the chamber of commerce on May 10, and the proceeds will be used to pay for the improving of the park. It is hoped that the proceeds will be sufficient to build a third tennis court at the Shamrock Municipal Swimming pool, Clark said.

Key Figure in Rainey Controversy Reinstated at University of Texas

AUSTIN, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Another of the key figures in a controversy that led to the discharge of Dr. Homer P. Rainey as president of the University of Texas was given back his job—with higher rank, pay and with tenure—by the board of regents today.

This action highlighted today's session of the board, which also took under consideration a suggestion by David M. Warren of Panhandle that the university give priority to veterans in assigning all its housing space for new students. A committee was appointed to study the proposal and report to the next session.

The second member of the trio of economic instructions re-elected by the present board was Dr. William Nelson Peach, who was named assistant professor of economics effective March 1. He, Dr. Wendell C. Gordon and Paff Fuster failed of re-election to the faculty in 1942 after they were critical of a Dallas mass meeting at which the wage hour law was discussed.

This was one of the incidents mentioned by Dr. Rainey in his bill of complaints against the board in 1944 that led to his dismissal.

The present board at its last meeting appointed Dr. Gordon under a procedure which is currently under investigation by the faculty committee of counsel on academic freedom and responsibility.

The administration's recommendation was referred to Chairman Dudley K. Woodward with full power to act. Woodward then announced Dr. Gordon's appointment.

In his announcement Woodward said Dr. Gordon in a letter disavowed "any intention on his part, now or at any other time to impugn the patriotism of any one who participated in the Dallas meeting" and further expressed regret at the "notoriety which has resulted from this incident and that that notoriety has been injurious to the university."

The faculty committee made it clear it was investigating the method of Dr. Gordon's appointment, not the appointment itself.

Peach was added to the faculty in a different manner. His recommendation was approved without comment or condition along with others in the regular docket.

In 1944 the board adopted a resolution providing that if Gordon, Peach and Foster applied for employment and were recommended by proper authorities each would be considered upon merits at that time without prejudice.

The regents also took the following action regarding faculty members:

Extension of appointment through February for Dr. F. A. Buechel as economic analyst in the bureau of business research.

Appointment of Dr. S. A. McCorkle as time director of the bureau of municipal research for July and August.

Extension of leave to Dr. J. G. Umstadtt through the spring semester to continue as dean and academic advisor of the Blarritz American university.

Change in status of Rodney J. Kidd, from director of athletics in the bureau of public school service to acting director for one year as temporary replacement for Director Roy Bedichek, who is on leave.

Action to provide a permanent home for the Longhorn band was taken through a resolution to instruct the university architects to prepare plans for a $20,000 hollow-tile building.

Panhandle Briefs

The quick action of Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Panhandle, in noting approximately the license number of a passing car was the clue that enabled the solution of a series of 22 post-office robberies in the Southwest, including five in Panhandle Tuesday night, reports the Panhandle Herald.

The annual Carson county Red Cross drive will open March 1 with the goal set at $3,850. H. B. Skelton is campaign manager for the county.

Subscriptions of $545 were received during the past week for the Carson county Living War Memorial, bringing the grand total to $17,969.01, according to A. J. Weiser, chairman of the finance committee.

Property owners of Collingsworth county will vote Tuesday to determine the issuance of $60,000 in bonds for the purpose of buying the right of way for four hard surfaced roads in the county, reports the Wellington Leader.

The four roads concerned are the proposed farm to market roads running from Wellington to southeast to Dohgen; from Wellington southwest to Rolla; from highway 83 west through Samnorwood and Dozier; and from Little east to Needwood.

A large crowd is expected to turn out next Thursday night when the Clarendon Invitation Boxing tournament gets off on its initial program at the Clarendon Junior high gymnasium, according to the Donley County Leader.

Approximately 120 boys are to enter the tournament, with 64 boys, in addition to the local team, already registered. Teams of 16 boys from Lefors, Shamrock, Memphis and Wellington have accepted invitations.

In addition to all class A teams in this area being invited several class AA teams such as Wichita

In one day sufficient signatures were secured on petitions to call for a $12,000 bond issue election in Canadian, reports the Canadian Record.

The election will probably be held the latter part of March, although the date has not yet been set. Issues to be placed before the voters are for street and sewer improvements and for a fair grounds and city recreational park.

Walter R. McBee, Texas State administrator of Group Hospital Service, Inc., will speak at a mass meeting of Canadian citizens tomorrow night to explain in detail the workings of the Blue Cross Plan. The meeting is in connection with the probability of providing medical facilities in the town and county.

The entire north plains area received the first respite late Sunday and early Monday from a rapidly growing serious situation for grain growers in the way of moisture defi-

Rain totaling 86 of an inch fell during that period as part of an area wide storm which included sleet and snow in many parts. The moisture came as a boon to wheat fields.

The Hereford breeders of the Perryton area will organize an association at a meeting to be held at the courthouse in Perryton on Tuesday, March 12. Breeders from counties adjoining Ochiltree are invited to attend and join the association.

Shamrock Pastor Released by Navy

SHAMROCK, Feb. 23 (Special)—Rev. Edw. C. Derr will return to his pulpit at the First Baptist church for morning and evening services Sunday after having served as a chaplain in the Southwest Pacific for the past nine months.

Reverend Derr has been in the service of his country for 21 months, a lieutenant in the U. S. navy, stationed at Subic bay. He is on terminal leave until March 14.

The pastor of the First Baptist church was granted a leave of absence when he enlisted in the navy. Rev. Clifton Tomlinson of Wichita Falls and Rev. Wilson Padgett of Fort Worth have served as pastors of the local church during the past 21 months.

Reverend Derr arrived from the West coast Sunday and Mrs. Derr and their two children, who have made their home in Shamrock during his absence, met him in Amarillo.

The time is now for a thorough car check-up. There's plenty of icy weather ahead—so make sure your car is performing at its best. Drive in for expert auto servicing.

Gas Is Plentiful, Big Argument Is How to Utilize It

By HUGH WILLIAMSON
HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 23—(AP)—Almost everybody agrees that America's vast reserves of natural gas, variously estimated at between 60 and 150 trillion cubic feet, ought to be used to bring about the greatest benefit to the greatest possible number of people.

But there is widespread and sometimes heated difference of opinion as to how that end can be achieved. FPC Powers Questioned

When gas moves from one state to another it comes under control of the Federal Power commission. That agency scheduled an elaborate series of hearings to find out what changes, if any, congress should make in the present natural gas act.

At these hearings the differences of opinion about governing the gas industry came sharply into focus. The FPC, at its Houston hearing, heard Texas officials and industry representatives argue that federal control should not be broadened in any way.

On the other side of the whole controversy were the coal, railroad and allied union interests affected by the question of gas.

These interests put in no direct testimony at the Houston hearing. But their position was made clear by the questions their counsel put to witnesses on cross-examination. Coal-Union-RR Stand

Thus interpreted, the coal, railroad, and related union people believe:

1. That gas is a superior fuel and should be designated for superior uses, such as heating homes.
2. That gas reserves may not be sufficient to last very long if the commodity is extensively exported for such inferior uses as burning under boilers.
3. That Texas should insure its

Repressuring of West Pampa Pool To Start in March

Actual injection of gas in repressuring the West Pampa field is expected to start between March 1-10, it was estimated at the last meeting of the Field Engineers committee of the West Pampa Repressuring Assn. held last Tuesday.

Twenty field engineers met at that time for four hours at the Schneider hotel in the final meeting before the project gets underway.

It was stated that about 56 of the 75 input wells which will inject gas into the field had been tested by the railroad commission, reported Fred Neslage, pool engineer.

Initial input volumes, the rate at which gas would be injected into the reservoir by each input well, were discussed. The committee recommended to the directors of the association that from 50-75,000 feet of gas be injected daily by each of the 75 wells.

About half of the lease pipelines to be laid by operators have been completed. Lease pipelines connect each of the 99 individual leases (955 producing wells) with the main repressuring system. The entire project requires about 40 miles of pipeline.

Other miscellaneous procedures involved in the project were discussed.

Engineers who attended the Tuesday meeting were Max Harbison, Kewanee Oil Co.; Dallas Bowsher, Harry J. Gibbons, L. Statton and M. N. Osborn, Skelly Oil Co.; James Massa, Sloan Oil and Gas Co.; P. A. Kindsvater and C. L. Cross, British American Oil Producing Co.; C. A. Lutz, Stanolind Oil and Gas Co.; E. G. Resner and Hal Nabors, Continental Oil Co.; J. W. Roache and J. E. Gray, Shell Oil Co.; R. B. Wilkins, Phillips Petroleum Co.; G. H. Gray, Sinclair Prairie Oil Co.; P. G. Hollingsworth, Jr., Gulf Oil Corp.; J. W. Chervenka, The Texas Co., and Fred Neslage, WPA engineer.

The average cost of drilling oil wells has increased more than one-third from the prewar price.

Texas Co. Hole Holds Spotlight In Active Week

SHAMROCK—(Special)—A touch of the pioneer oil field activity has been brought back to Shamrock with more wells being drilled in this area at the present time than in the past several years. Three wells are now being sunk; a fourth is at a temporary standstill with contractors awaiting further orders and a location has been made for a fifth.

The Texas Co. No. 1 Myrtle S. Ellis, section 45, block 13, H&GN survey, eight miles east of Shamrock, holds the spotlight. At 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon depth of the well was 2,040 feet. The crew was ready to run seven-inch o. d. casing. A show of gas was had from 1950-60 feet. Drilling contractors are Colvin and Colvin of Alma, Okla.

Colvin and Colvin also have the contract on the Columbian Fuel Corp. No. 3 Mankins, section 54, block 13, about one-half mile east of Midway. It's an offset to the north of their present well and was drilled at 525 feet Wednesday. It was spudded Feb. 16. Ten-inch casing was set at 470 feet.

The Magnolia Petroleum No. 2 sets the present well to the north on the Mankins lease.

In the gas field west of here the Pendleton and Vaughn No. 7 McDowell is drilling at approximately 2,100 feet. It is reported that in the production area of gas wells an attempt is being made to strike oil by drilling deeper.

The Shoddy No. 1 Mrs. G. H. Aldous, located in the NE 1/4 of section 136, block 22, five miles south of Shamrock, is at a standstill with contractors awaiting further orders after reaching a contract depth of 2300 feet.

Collingsworth Test Drills at 3552

The Humble Oil and Refining Co. No. 1 Mrs. M. R. Serugs, located in wildcat territory in Collingsworth county, was drilling ahead in shale and lime at 3552 feet.

In Hartley county the deep test well of the Pure Oil Co., the No. 1 Robertson, section 152, block 48, H&TC survey, was drilling at about 40 feet. The hole was spudded Feb. 19.

The turnip was first cultivated in England in 1724.

Approximately five per cent of the crude oil refined in the United States is made into kerosene.

Multi-Millionaire Gets AFL Union Card

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 23—(AP)—A San Antonio millionaire, a close friend who made his fortune in West Texas oil fields, today was a member of a local A. F. L. truck drivers' union.

The opulent champion of organized labor is 42-year-old Louis A. Yates, who resides in a palatial residence on highway 281, north, near here.

He has a private airfield on the estate.

Yates was quoted by Dent Taylor of San Antonio, a close friend of the wealthy oil man, as saying he joined the union, local 656, "to support organized labor."

Yates once worked 12 hours a day for 50 cents an hour. Taylor said, before he "hit it rich."

Taylor said Yates already had his union card. He joined approximately two weeks ago.

Iran, in Pecos county, was named for Yates' parents, the late Ira and Ann Yates.

Ribbentrop Requests That Churchill Appear as Witness at Crimes Trials

By DANIEL DE LUCE
 NUREMBERG, Feb. 23 (AP)—Former Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop requested today that the international military tribunal produce Winston Churchill as a witness and declared that "England would destroy Germany if she should become too strong."

The former British prime minister headed a list of 38 Britons, Germans and French requested by Ribbentrop through counsel with the qualification that more names would be added later.

Ribbentrop asserted that he took the opportunity when Churchill visited the German embassy in London at an unspecified date in the 1930's to talk to him "about the necessity of the creation of friendly relations between Germany and England."

Ribbentrop's request continued: "At that time Churchill replied to these statements that England was intelligent and experienced enough to get other powers on England's side if Germany should become too strong. On this occasion Churchill stated unmistakably that England would destroy Germany if she should become too strong."

Supplied with notes from Goering in the prisoners' box, Nazi defense counsel challenged a basic Allied accusation that Germany had violated the Versailles treaty.

Taking up the question of crimes committed during wartime, defense attorneys demanded that the international military tribunal give them as opportunities to prove that German instructions were in "retaliation" for those by the Allied powers.

The defense moves drew sharp objections from the Soviet chief prosecutor Lt. Gen. Roman Rudenko and acting brief chief prosecutor Sir David Maxwell Fyfe.

Sir David said that "for the defense to say other people did the same thing is entirely irrelevant."

Earlier the international military tribunal, which is trying 22 Nazi leaders on war crimes charges, heard attorneys for Goering claim that the former reichsmarshal tried up to the last minute to avert hostilities with Britain in 1939.

While the fat No. 1 Nazi prisoner alternately chuckled and scowled at legal developments in a tense session, his attorney, Dr. Ott Stahmer, outlined the alleged pro-British activities which the defense would attempt to prove.

Attorneys for other defendants joined with Stahmer in a demand that the tribunal produce as a witness Swedish Engineer Birger Dahlerus of Stockholm who was described as an intermediary between

Joachim von Ribbentrop

Goering and British leaders in the war crisis seven years ago.

Stahmer asserted that Dahlerus, at Goering's instigation, met with six British political figures beginning in August, 1939, in Sweden and later in the month "negotiated repeatedly in London with Lord Halifax, Alexander Cadogan and other foreign office representatives in order to obtain a peaceable solution of the Polish-German conflict and avoid war."

Sheriff G. H. Kyle Seeks Re-election

Sheriff G. H. Kyle today announced that he is a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff of Gray County, Texas. Sheriff Kyle has asked The News to express his sincere appreciation to his many friends for their faithful support and assistance. The Sheriff says that the fine co-operation of the citizens of this County in promptly reporting all law violations and suspicious characters to his department and to the City Police department and the respective Constables of the Precincts of the County, has enabled the peace officers of this County and the Panchado to guard against a major crime wave, and he asks that this wonderful assistance not be relaxed.

He has proven to the people of this community that the law can be properly and rigidly enforced without resort to cruel and inhuman third-degree methods. His statement in support of his candidacy follows:

"The Sheriff's Department is anxious to render every service possible to keep Gray County clean. It has been a pleasure to serve you in the past, and I earnestly solicit your continued support and influence upon my record as your Sheriff."

ed a 6320-foot well which produced 8000 barrels of oil before being shut down because of excessive cost.

With the increase in demand for crude during the war the California Co. reopened their Rangely well in 1941. Drilling techniques were then adequate to cope with the hard formations encountered before. Other companies moved in.

Purely a thumb-nail sketch. See "Oil Reporter," Jan. 25 and Feb. 10 for detailed, conflicting information.

Nine Operators Today

Today, said Mr. Beagle, there are nine operators in Rangely which have completed about 50 flowing wells with an average production of 800 barrels of oil a day. The present daily allowable is 350 barrels a day per well. There are approximately 25 drilling wells.

Average depth of a Rangely well is about 6400 feet, with an average of 600 feet of casing set, Mr. Beagle estimated. The producing formation is hard, fine grain sand with broken short shale sections known as the Weber sand. The oil is a paraffin base crude of about 30 degrees gravity.

Wells in the eastern part of the 35-60,000 productive acre field must be shut.

To date there is one small refinery in the field, that of the Raven Oil & Refining Co., which handles only oil from the shallow shale wells which drill to a maximum of 1500 feet.

The Texas Co. has an up-to-date refinery at Craig where most of the deep well production was trucked before the pipeline was opened.

Probable Boom Towns

Three townships have started in the vicinity of the field, said Beagle. All possible boom-towns. All companies operating are building modern camps, ranging from about $125,000 in cost. Camp houses having basements, water and sewage disposal systems have been constructed. Landscaping programs are underway.

The labor market in the field is about balanced now according to Beagle. Working conditions are comfortable, the basin being protected from winds by surrounding mountains. There are usually light snows. Average temperature is around zero; lowest is 20 degrees below.

A Mr. Phillips of Pampa is operating a filling station and welding shop in Rangely. It has been reported that Connie Lockhart, a former owner of the Court House cafe, is connected with a trucking business in that area.

Companies operating in the Rangely field are The Texas Co., Standard Oil & Gas Co., the California Co., and the Newton Oil Co.

Commission To Hear Repricing Plan

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Application of George D. Morgan, trustee and the Con-Tex petroleum corporation to re-pressure with gas their Alexander trust estate lease in Jones county will be heard by the railroad commission March 14.

The applicants also seek to transfer the allowables of the three key wells, Nos. 4, 11 and 15, to other wells or the lease.

industrial future by limiting exports of gas and thus luring factories to the state.

4. That the gas industry, from a national standpoint, would be more efficiently regulated by a federal agency, since control by the various states might result in conflict and confusion.

Texas' Stand

The Texas witnesses, on the other hand, testified:

1. That the Texas Railroad commission, which regulates gas matters within the state, is doing everything it can to prevent waste.
2. That waste of gas has been greatly reduced through the efforts of the state commission and the industry.
3. That gas reserves of Texas are sufficient for the "foreseeable" future. Not more than 15 percent of the natural gas produced and saved in Texas goes into the export pipeline.
4. That there should be no regulation that would prohibit consumers from using gas as they choose.
5. That the free play of competition should be left alone to determine the price and use of gas.

That higher prices at the well would do much to forward the cause of gas conservation.

Meanwhile, the PFC itself denies that it intends to encroach upon the state's jurisdiction in gas regulation.

Commissioner Nelson Lee Smith, in opening an Oklahoma City hearing, said: "The Federal Power commission has no desire or intention to extend its jurisdiction to matters properly coming within state regulations."

But the Texas industry noted that consumer-use of gas was one topic listed by the commission to be discussed at the hearings. Through such end-use control, the Texans fear, the commission could reach back and govern production.

The whole natural gas issue is still to be decided.

The Houston hearing was to be followed by sessions at El Paso, Miss., Chicago, and Charleston.

General sessions will follow in Washington, after which the commission will make its report to congress as to whether any further gas legislation is indicated, and if so, what that legislation should be.

SHAMBOCK, Feb. 23 (Special)—Mrs. Emma May Hastings of Lubbock assumed her duties as Wheeler county home demonstration agent last Saturday. She fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Clara B. Long early in January.
 Mrs. Hastings' home is in Lubbock and she was homemaker instructor in the high school there prior to accepting the position in this county.
 She holds a B. S. degree from Texas Tech, Lubbock, and an M. S. degree from Colorado A. & M., Fort Collins, Colo. This is her first position as home demonstration agent.
 Mrs. Hastings has a 14-year-old daughter, Martha, who is in school at Lubbock. Her mother, Mrs. Allie Minor also resides in that city at present. They plan to move to Wheeler to make their home at the conclusion of the current school term.
 There is not an assistant home demonstration agent employed in Wheeler county at the present time. Miss Amy Sue Beckett having resigned that position a few weeks ago to accept the home demonstration agent post in Childress county.

CONCERNING NYLONS...

Our hosiery distribution initiated in The News on Feb. 13 IS NOW ENDED

- No more names received under post-mark of a later date than Feb. 23 can be considered for the current release.

- We still have on hand a very large number of unfilled orders, received from regular customers of some duration during the Feb. 13-23 period. With the remaining hose on hand, we will during the next few days fill what we can of those orders—we are sorry that there is no possibility of our being able to fill all of them.

- The sale will then be wiped clean. All remaining unfilled orders will be considered cancelled.

- At this time we do not know what our future method of hosiery distribution will be. This will largely depend upon the size of receipts—and at present it is impossible to foretell with any intelligence what these will be. In any case it is unlikely that we will receive any further shipments for another month or six weeks.

- During the current selling we have received an estimated 6,000 requests for hosiery. Included were many requests for hose to be sent elsewhere—to several States, and as far away as the West Coast. Naturally we could not supply this volume of hosiery, and for obvious reasons we could not include the foreign requests in our distribution.

- On the whole however, we feel that we did make as wide distribution, and as fair to both ourselves and our established customers, as was possible to achieve. Our thanks and appreciation to everyone for the interest and cooperation displayed.

Rotary Club Lecturer Talks On Air Travel

Air travel will develop in the same proportion as that of other methods of transportation following other wars, according to Mr. Geoffrey F. Morgan, second in a series of lecturers sponsored by the Rotary Club, who was the guest speaker in assembly Wednesday.

Mr. Morgan is manager of the speakers' bureau of Douglas Aircraft corporation and is a writer, educator and lecturer.

According to Mr. Morgan, a new method of travel has been developed after each war. Turnpikes came into use after the Revolutionary war; steamboats became the method of travel following the War of 1812; the Mexican war brought into use the canals for transportation and railroads saw their beginning at the ending of the Civil war in 1865.

Electric railways brought with them conveniences as the trains made trips only twice a day. These cars came into use after the Spanish American war. Automobiles began their rising following World War I. In 1917 there were three million cars and in 1941, 31 million were in use.

Cox Comments

BY ANNA MERLE COX The last day for buying an annual is Wednesday. So kids, if you are one of those last minute busy-bodies, now is your time. You may buy them in the Little Harvester office.

Eleven members of the Quill and Scroll are going to Amarillo March 5 to help in the formal initiation of the Amarillo Quill and Scroll pledges. There will be a buffet supper after the initiation.

Wednesday in homeroom we will get those six-weeks report cards! Oh! happy day!

In some of our exchanges we noticed that the art classes were planning a field trip. What a life! One of these papers is from Medford Ore., and the other is from Gunnison County, Colo. And then from the south comes word that calling is a great sport this time of the year. Where do we come in?

Milton Benham is taking snapshots for the annual; so beware!

Approximately 80 members of the band went to Canadian Wednesday to play for a celebration held in honor of the ex-servicemen.

The band left Pampa at 9:30 a.m. They marched over to the barbecue grounds and played while dinner was being served.

They ate lunch and left Canadian about 2:30.

Mr. B. G. Gordon, James Harrah and Bill Wells went to Carlsbad, New Mexico, Thursday to locate rooms for the seniors when they visit the caverns.

Junior Coffey and Stanley Simpson were injured in an automobile wreck Thursday noon. Junior received a broken nose and both boys have cuts about their faces.

Ernie Lee Kennedy, co-editor of the annual, is calling for snapshots for the '46 Harvester. Please bring them to the Little Harvester office.

Mr. Winston Savage and Mr. Ray Robbins left Friday for Enid, Okla., to see about housing for the band members who are to attend the Tri-State contest in Enid April 4, 5, and 6. This contest is sponsored by Phillips University.

Six Freshmen Are On Junior High Reapers

Six high school basketball boys that have received little recognition this season are Malcolm Douglas, Derrell Davis, Jimmy Cline, Donald Thut, Lamar Lively and Wesley Keith.

Jack Davis is the coach and Don Thomas was elected captain for the year.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
NEW DELHI, Feb. 22.—Some people collect match covers. Some go in for Shakespeare folios. My hobby is staying in "Grand Hotels." You find them everywhere—from Oran to Cairo, from Paris to Calcutta. The name "grand" is the most popular one in the hotel business.
My current ambition is to be known as the man who has slept in more "Grand Hotels" than any man living.
Of them all I remember best perhaps the "Grand Hotel" of Calcutta, which the maitre d'hotel assured me was "the largest and finest hotel in the Orient." He said it had more than 500 rooms with baths and 400 Indian waiters in the main dining room alone. When I got up from my first meal I believed him. Thirteen waiters in scarlet and white stood around the table and watched me as I got up and laid down my slip—very self-consciously. I don't know yet which won.
There were all sorts of odd characters wandering around this "Grand Hotel," among them a frustrated pretzel vender named Jhunnoo, who one morning wandered uninvited into my room and tried to sell me first a haircut, then a shampoo, then a shave, and finally suggested a massage.
Nine British officers sharing this room with me—there is a housing shortage in the Far East, too—thought it would be a good idea for me to have a massage.
Jhunnoo, a big husky Indian with a fierce black mustache and muscles like bedsprings, said at one time he had been a wrestler. He took one look at my sprawled frame and grunted: "Too fat!"
The one-man room when to work. He thumped me for hollow spots. He pulled and twisted and kneaded and bent me. He stretched me back and forth like I was a reluctant accordion. The British officers, just out of the Burma jungle, sat cross-legged on their beds and watched happily.
When he finished after half an hour I was shaped like a running bowline and he wouldn't untie me until I paid him two rupees.
"Same time tomorrow—too fat," he said as he left, so I caught the plane for Bombay in self defense.
I tried to get a room there in the Taj Mahal hotel. It was full. And where do you think I finally landed? You can't get away from those "Grand Hotels."

Doug Fairbanks Appears in RKO's Sinbad the Sailor

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22 — (AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., started drawing two paychecks this week, one from the U. S. navy, as a commander on terminal leave, the other from RKO studios, as Sinbad the Sailor.
On the first day of work, the star's dressing room was filled with flowers, basket of fruit and well-wishing telegrams.
"I thought I was getting away from the water when I got out of the navy," he said, "but in this picture I'll be in the water more than I was in my entire naval career."
Young Fairbanks is playing the legendary Sinbad in a rip-roaring extravaganza such as his father first made popular. A full-scale ship, circa 800 A.D., has been constructed on a sound stage from studio lumber and rigging from the HMS Bounty. Doug will climb the rigging like his daddy used to do and he has been in rigorous training for the past few weeks.
Some day soon studios may be issuing such call sheets as:
"Chinese exteriors — actors and crew report to planes 9 a. m."
Producer Dore Schary opines that it will be practical as well as artistically desirable to fly a motion picture company for scenes in China or elsewhere, rather than construct a phony set on the backlot.
The trend is toward realism, Schary said. Sounds reasonable.
William Wellman will film glider scenes for "Gallant Journey" from a Helicopter . . . Joan Davis joins the South America trekkers at the end of June . . . Paramount signed Johnny Burke and Jimmy Van Heusen to a long-term contract, an unusual deal of songwriters.
An American knows nothing about the true state of affairs in India. Only propaganda news reaches him. Though it is claimed that democracy is the rule of the day in America, actually there is no voice of the people at the helm of affairs.—Mrs. Gandhi Nehru, wife of Indian leader.
Producers can never hope for better guidance than the mass of people who make their own economic decisions, spending here and withholding there.—Dr. Walter E. Spahr, New York U. Economic Department.
