President Cancels Scheduled Vacation in Favor of Present Strike Problems

Steel and CIO Officials Hold Secret Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—President Truman today cancelled his planned vacation in Florida as government and labor officials strove to bring a quick end to the 19-day-old steel strike.

A formal White House statement mentioned only "the immediate critical situation involving problems requiring his personal attention" as the reason for the cancellation.

White House aides, however, told reporters that the labor crisis and the related wage-price policy question were involved in the decision.

The statement read: "The President particularly regrets that he must disappoint the President and governing body of Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla., which had arranged to confer an honorary degree upon him."

Earlier in the day, the President had resumed his personal efforts to quickly end the 19-day steel strike.

U. S. Steel corporation officers who have held secret conferences with CIO President Philip Murray over the past few days were non-committal.

Vice-President John A. Stephens declined even to discuss his report to Mr. Truman, who summoned both Murray and Stephens to the White House late yesterday.

Murray and top White House advisers spoke confidently of hopes that the new talks would bring a

Two courses are designed for management and junior executive on how to train an employee and on personnel supervision. Both courses will occupy 12 hours.

In addition, there is a course to be offered that will be especially designed for salespeople. It is called "professional development in retail selling," and will be of 10-hour length.

Two specialty courses are being offered. The first is designed for fountain and luncheonette employees and the second for variety store workers. The latter two will last 10 hours.

Reservations for any of the courses may be made through the chamber of commerce office. There will be a $1 or $1.50 charge for the courses.

U. S. Ambassador To Brazil Resigns

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 8—(AP)—Adolf Berle, Jr., U. S. ambassador to Brazil, announced today he had submitted his resignation to President Truman.

Berle, a former assistant secretary of state, presented his credentials as ambassador a little over a year ago, Jan. 30, 1943. He disclosed that President Truman had agreed to release him after the new government of President Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra had been installed in office.

Dutra's inauguration took place Jan. 31.

This is the second important change in the U. S. diplomatic service in South American recently. Spruille Braden, ambassador to Argentina, became an assistant secretary of state.

Texon Lost With Coast Guard Craft

SEATTLE, Feb. 8—(AP)—The coast guard last night said Howard W. Hampton, 51, son of Mrs. Jewel Hampton, Crowley, Texas, was one of two men lost when a small coast guard craft was caught in a storm off Grays harbor and said that its patrol craft were continuing to search for two other members of the crew. The names of the missing men have not been released.

Schwelienbach Loses Broad Grin in 8 Months

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—Lew Schwelienbach, the smiling cigar-chewing federal judge who answered President Truman's plea for help and became secretary of labor, has lost his broad grin in less than eight months.

He has "clammed up" completely to reporters, who now are forced to look everywhere but to the labor secretary for news of the day-to-day conferences in which he takes part.

As a result, the information they glean, while from other qualified officials, usually must be attributed to some anonymous source. Their informants, more often than not, are in no position to speak out publicly because of government protocols and their own positions.

The labor department itself currently is a dry well so far as news is concerned.

Schwelienbach's press chief, Leslie Eichel, says the White House has ruled that the principals in the all-important conferences over labor matters must refrain from discussing them.

Schwelienbach has not held a news conference since October 4, when his oil conciliation efforts collapsed and he announced he was recommending navy seizure of the strike-

Dark Bread Plan Is Opposed in Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—President Truman's bread-for-Europe program touched off rumblings of opposition in congress today, and it led Alf M. Landon to demand the Roosevelt administration be held responsible for the food shortage abroad.

Weather Factor Will Decide Our '46 Food Supply

By OVID A. MARTIN Associated Press Farm Writer WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—Are Americans going to have plenty to eat next year?

That depends on the weather, and there is at least one disquieting sign after nine consecutive years of good to record harvests.

As a new crop season approaches, this country finds itself more dependent on the uncertainties of wind, rain and hail than ever before in its modern history.

When farmers put seed in the soil for this year's crops, domestic supplies of wheat and corn will have been drained far below normal to meet needs of Americans themselves and to help prevent what President Truman says may be "mass starvation" abroad.

If Americans are to continue to eat well and to help the needy abroad after this year's harvests, the country must replenish its stocks of wheat and corn.

The reason the weather is more important than usual is found in these two facts:

1.—In case grain crops are out short by drought, floods or other causes, there will be no surplus reserves to turn to.

2.—There will be no other country to turn to for help. There are no grain surpluses anywhere in the world.

Always before when this country suffered grain crop failures it either had reserves of its own or it was able to import.

It is too early to predict how the weather will turn out this year. The weather bureau says there is no way to make such long range forecasts. So, for the time being, all that farmers—and consumers—can do is wait and hope.

Nevertheless, in much of the great plains region—where the bulk of this country's wheat is produced—there is a shortage of moisture, as

Two Hospitalized Following Fight

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Feb. 8—(AP)—Two soldiers stationed at Sheppard Field were hospitalized following what was described by the post public relations officer as a street fight between white and negro men in uniform at the field Wednesday night.

L. H. L. T. Frost, post public relations officer, identified the injured as Pvt. Frank W. Konz of Staples, Minn., and Pvt. James Woodcock of Union City, N. J. The condition of both he said was not serious. He also said several other soldiers were treated for minor injuries and released.

Frost said the fights were the aftermath of a disturbance at a dance on the field at which white soldiers were dancing and negro soldiers were listening to the music of a negro band. The participants, he said, were enroute to their barracks to which they had been ordered after the dance was halted.

The Wichita Falls Record News said the dance disturbance followed attempts of negro soldiers to dance with white girls.

'CLAMS UP' TO REPORTERS: SCHWELLENBACH LOSES BROAD GRIN IN 8 MONTHS

Tugmen May Ratify Terms To End Strike

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(AP)—Union leaders predicted that New York Harbor's 3,500 striking tugmen could ratify terms of a proposal to end the city's worst waterfront tie-up in 27 years.

SETTLEMENT ACCORD The settlement accord—details of which were not disclosed—was agreed upon by all union and employer groups, and Capt. William Bradley, head of the striking union, said he believed the men would accept it at today's balloting.

His statement was echoed by other union officials.

PICTURE BRIGHTENS James P. McAllister, spokesman for the employers, commenting on the pact, declared:

"Things look brighter. But we went way out on a limb in offering our terms."

As the referendum vote by the strikers got underway this morning it was learned unofficially that terms of the proposed contract provide for a 40-hour week and a 15-cent an hour pay increase.

ORIGINAL DEMANDS Original demands by the union were for a 36-hour week, an additional food allowance of 20 cents a day, 13 paid holidays, two weeks vacation and pay increase averaging about 45 cents an hour for licensed personnel and about 65 cents for non-licensed personnel.

The owners had offered a 10 cents an hour pay boost.

But even as the first definite hope for settlement appeared, Mayor William O'Dwyer ordered an indefinite shutdown of all school at 3 p. m. and the closing of 12 other city buildings in response to a strike that had reached an unprecedented low.

He said the five-day old strike had reduced the fuel oil supply of the 12 buildings to a point where only enough was available to keep pipes from freezing.

The tugmen, members of the International Longshoremen's association's united marine division, struck Monday against the New York tugboat exchange in a wage-hour dispute.

Security Council Retires Debate on Indonesian Issue

LONDON, Feb. 8—(AP)—The United Nations security council interrupted debate on the Indonesian dispute today to study statements of the interested nations, including a Dutch declaration that a very liberal settlement of Indonesian independence aspirations was hoped for shortly.

The council will meet tomorrow to try to arrive at a solution satisfactory to the Soviet Union, which charged that British troops in Indonesia were endangering world peace, and at the same time acceptable to Great Britain and the Netherlands.

Dutch Foreign Minister Eelco Van Kleffens told the council last night that it lacked authority to intervene because international law was not endangered. He added that the Dutch were trying to put their "house in order on a very liberal basis, as I hope everybody will soon be able to see."

Earlier, white-haired Dmitri Manuilsky of the Soviet Union has said that British were jeopardizing the peace and violating the United Nations charter by the "suppression of the national movement of the Indonesian people."

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin termed Manuilsky's allegations a "lie."

Van Kleffens, who delivered the principal reply, said British forces had not used arms until attacked. "They also used their arms," he said, "when they were forcefully impeded in carrying out their humanitarian task of freeing prisoners of war and civilian internees."

Van Kleffens said the trouble did not spring from the "legitimate nationalists but from terrorists—Bevin called them "young fellows trained up in this kind of business" during the Japanese occupation.

The Dutch foreign minister said he could not guess what Manuilsky wanted the British troops to do, because he "put on the one hand "I don't ask for withdrawal" and on the other "put an end to the existing situation."

General Bradley Will Dedicate New School in Texas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—Carl L. Ester, East Texas publisher, said today Gen. Omar N. Bradley's forthcoming trip to Texas will give an opportunity to emphasize to the country what a progressive community can do with a surplus army hospital.

General Bradley, head of the veterans administration, will fly to Texas Feb. 25 to dedicate the new Le Tourneau technical trade school at Longview.

The school is being established at the army's recently closed Harmon General Hospital, bought by R. G. Le Tourneau, Peoria, Ill., manufacturer.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) also has accepted an invitation to attend the ceremony, said Ester, and will accompany General Bradley to Texas.

Calling attention to the recent criticism heaped on Bradley by John Steele, national commander of the American Legion, Ester said:

"The occasion will offer General Bradley an opportunity to point out what can be done with these surplus army hospitals which he has found unsuited for use as veterans facilities."

"He recognizes that here is a good example of a live community which, when turned down in its request for part-time work at a dirt moving equipment manufacturing plant Le Tourneau is to locate near the institution."

Eleven Passengers Of Yukon Missing

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Feb. 8—(AP)—The number of persons rescued from the wreck of the liner Yukon stood at 586 today and the Alaska Steamship company said in Seattle its list of those unaccounted for totaled 11.

At the same time Barney O'Connor of the Northwest Medical Supply company in Seattle said the city's supply of penicillin was exhausted completely by the demands of the Seward hospital for treatment of survivors.

Chief Executive Makes Report on UNRRA Supplies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—President Truman told congress today that by last September 30, UNRRA had shipped to war-devastated countries 2,136,222 long tons of relief supplies valued at $433,816,000.

The President listed these figures in his fifth quarterly report to the senate and house on UNRRA operations, submitted in the form of a 54-page booklet.

Most of the items in the report had been made public previously. Here are some of the facts listed:

1. By September 30, UNRRA had spent or committed $1,122,131,582 for relief and $11,692,128 for administration—more than 88 per cent of available resources of $1,284,165,588.

2. UNRRA then had 4,772 workers in European assembly centers caring for about 1,300,000 displaced persons.

3. Shipments including 12,398,400 pounds of food and more than 93,000 pounds of medical supplies had arrived in the Philippines.

As of September 30, only $800,000,000 of the original U. S. contribution of $1,350,000,000 to UNRRA actually had been made available to the agency.

Of this $800,216,200 already had been committed for the purchase of relief supplies in this country.

Firemen Continue Watch Over Scene

By IMOGENE CHRISTENSEN An estimated $150,000 fire last night completely destroyed two two-story supply houses extending over half the 500 block on West Achison.

The sheet iron buildings housed the Radcliff Supply Co. warehouse, the Continental Supply Co., two apartments on the second floor of each of the supply houses, and the local offices of the National Rig and Construction Co., on the ground floor of the Radcliff building.

The fire broke out about 6:45 p. m. Twenty firemen battled the blaze past midnight with four lines of hose. Fire Chief Ben White said the fire was under control about 9 p. m.

The Radcliff warehouse, containing from $50-60,000 worth of insulating material, rapidly went up in flames. Involved in the business are Fred and Glenn Radcliff.

The former said he believed most of the stock was insured although little coverage was carried on the building. Much of the insulating material, the kind used by refineries and gasoline plants, belonged to firms renting storage space.

CONTINENTAL SUPPLY Firemen tried in vain to save the Continental Supply Co., located at the nearest point about eight feet west of the Radcliff building.

The Continental Supply housed oil field equipment believed to be valued at about twice as much as the Radcliff stock. If these figures should be accurate the loss for the two concerns would run in the neighborhood of $150,000. This would not include the household losses.

ESTIMATE UNAVAILABLE C. K. "Si" Trease, manager of the Continental Supply Co., said cost of the damage was not able to be estimated, nor was it known by officials at the Continental Supply Co., headquarters in Dallas this morning, as told on the phone to the Pampa Daily News.

Mr. and Mrs. Trease and son lived in the Continental building apartment. The fire broke out while they were having dinner. They were warned by L. R. Foraker, manager of the near-by National Supply Co., before the Continental building caught fire. Foraker had first turned in the alarm. Furniture in the Trease apartment was insured. A few pieces were saved.

HOUSEHOLD LOSSES Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Tyler and daughter lived in the five-room Radcliff apartment. Total damage was estimated by Tyler as around $5,000. Nothing was insured.

Sam Sloan, district superintendent of the National Rig and Construction Co., estimated loss of the office as around $2,000. All records were destroyed.

Several small explosions originated from the Continental building. The cause was not known. One 12-foot

Patrons of Scout Activity Receive Council Awards

James A. McCune of Pampa and Sam Lanning of Panhandle were presented with the Silver Beaver award at 17th annual banquet of the Adobe Walls Scout Council, held last night in the Palm Room of the city hall.

McCune and Lanning were presented the awards by the National Council in appreciation of their non-professional services in the interest of scouting. The awards were presented by W. J. Hiatt, Scout Executive of the Llana Estacado council, Amarillo.

R. L. Billington, Scout Executive of the Last Frontier council, Oklahoma City, presented the 25 persons attending on the "Magic of Scouting."

Billington, one of the best known scouts in the southwest illustrated his talk with several stories relating to the respect the general public has for scouting.

Emphasizing the need of great leaders in scouting, Billington quoted J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, as saying:

"No boy has ever gone bad who has had a good man's coat-tail to hang on to."

W. B. Weathered, president of the Adobe Walls council, presided at the banquet. Group singing was led by R. Virgil Mott and the invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Fern A. Miller, Canadian, and the Rev. James Todd, Panhandle, respectively.

Weathered said many persons were turned away because they had not made their reservations beforehand.

Hess Becomes Ill In Court Session

NUEENBERG, Feb. 8—(AP)—Rudolf Hess, one of the defendants in the war crimes trial, was taken ill during the noon recess today and was removed from the court today to a cell for medical examination.

Hess was stirred to unusual excitement yesterday by the British presentation of the case against him. The British prosecution said Hess flew to England in 1941 with the avowed purpose of overthrowing the Churchill government and paving the way for a German-dictated peace.

He read a book during most of this morning's court session while the Soviet chief prosecutor was making a 20,000-word statement.

Officials said Hess has suffered a minor attack of abdominal cramps and would be allowed to rest in his cell during the afternoon.

MATTER GOES TO SENATE: COMMITTEE OK'S ALLEN; HST STICKS BY PAULEY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—The senate banking committee voted 11 to 6 today to give a favorable report on President Truman's nomination of George E. Allen, a presidential adviser, as a director of the reconstruction finance corporation.

The nomination of the former secretary of the Democratic national committee now goes to the senate, where administration lieutenants said they are confident of eventual confirmation.

The committee action came after a one-day hearing in which Allen, 49 year old former District of Columbia commissioner, told the committee that if confirmed he will give up his $38,000 job as vice president and secretary of the Home Life Insurance Co., New York, to take the $10,000 government post for a two-year term.

The nominee, who said President Truman often had asked him to "double check" an suggested appointments, planned to retain directorships in 25 corporations which he testified boosted his annual income to about $50,000.

He promised, however, that he would not intercede with government personnel at any time in behalf of his business associates.

Disastrous Fire Results in Series Arresis, Thefts

Pampa's most disastrous fire since 1942 resulted in a series of arrests and, conversely, sincere public commendation from city officials.

Four persons were fined $25 each for driving a car over fire hose. Fire Chief Ben White said it was possible that several hundred dollars worth of hose may be ruined.

Following the fire, court this morning were Willie Beard, Don Dasher, Neal Keyes and Ila Mae Hassel. At least five more have not yet answered summons, two of them getting their tickets this morning.

City Manager Gariand Franks publicly commended those persons who hampered the efforts of firemen in fighting the blaze. In addition to loss of equipment, there is greater danger of loss of life.

A city ordinance prohibits the public from either following fire trucks or crowding around the scene of any blaze, and local police will be asked to enforce this.

Not enough police were available last night to control the traffic and help fight the fire, it was said.

Fire Chief Ben White reported today that a fireman's jacket and axe and a pike pole was stolen from one of the fire trucks while the blaze was in progress.

He asked whoever took the articles to return them to the station as they are badly needed.

On the better side of the picture, was the report that several young boys aided a great deal in directing traffic away from the fire, without being asked to do so.

City Manager Franks said the act served the highest commendation" and added that he would like to know the names of these boys and other persons who helped.

Some of the fire-followers last night watched in suspense a large beam set as a bulwark between the Continental Supply Co. building and a small storage house to the west.

The beam, broken sheet iron of the burning building to prevent it from falling on the small supply house. It was over and across an area traveled by firemen. Spectators held their breath when the men continually passed back and forth

Desperate Effort Is Made to Save Life—No Success

Vicky, cocker spaniel belonging to Melba Jean, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Tyler, perished in the fire last night.

The dog was on the porch of the second-story Tyler apartment and was trapped by the flames.

Tyler made several attempts to rescue the dog but was stopped at the head of the stairs by dense smoke. The dog was located at the opposite side of the building.

Tyler tried to borrow a smoke-mask, he said, but firemen were too busy in the confusion to stop work.

Working in his cafe on West Foster, Tyler said he had smelled pine smoke and followed the first fire truck when the truck went toward the supply houses.

He said his first thought was of the dog. No one was at home. Last night in the smoldering debris the body of Vicky was found in the first story ruins in the region of the door of the porch. He was thought to have suffocated. He was buried last night by Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler and daughter are staying at the home of R. N. Bradley, 1010 E. Twiford. All their clothing, furniture, and collections of the last 10 years were destroyed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: The Book of Numbers, especially Chapter 14:11-24
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
When one reads with a sense of realism, much in the story of the wandering in the wilderness and the conquest of Canaan, is full of strange contrasts.

Rev. W. B. Walker

Here and there are thoughts of a loving and merciful God, cherishing and guiding a people, as in verse 18, of the 11th chapter of Numbers: "Jehovah is slow to anger, and abundant in loving kindness, forgiving iniquity and transgression." But elsewhere adverse events and happenings are represented and inflictions of punishment and adversity are represented, respectively, as marking God's favor or God's disapproval.

For this there was much warrant in the nature of the times and the life of the people. Today great masses of innocent and unoffending people may be subject to great suffering and disaster from causes over which they have no control. Remote events in the world may bring upon them starvation and death; or merciful and helpful attitudes on the part of peoples removed from them by oceans may give them hope of survival and of ultimate restoration and happiness.

All this we see in our own times. We are conscious of how much depends upon us, the people of America, who are given the opportunity of playing the part of providence to millions of needy fellow-mortals. But in ancient Israel, particularly in the wilderness life of a closely-knit community, health, safety and prosperity—or disease, adversity and disaster—depended much more directly upon the people themselves, in their moral character, their consideration for one another and their willingness to accept disciplines in behalf of common protection and welfare.

The early interpreters of God's purposes and will did not allow for the moral uses of adversity. They had no adequate religious philosophy to meet, or explain, the inflictions of suffering that seem to fall upon the good, as well as upon the evil. In the common experiences of life. This was the problem faced in the Book of Job, and by the later prophets, with a suggested solution in the admonition, "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth."

Nevertheless, apart from the experiences that are beyond one's own control, and which must be born, with faith and fortitude and which yield what Paul calls "the peaceable fruit of righteousness," the primitive life of Israel makes plain what happens when a people refuse to accept and exercise the reasonable disciplines that are inevitably associated with moral character and social responsibility. Disaster came upon them when character failed. And no nation is secure when moral and social disciplines are disregarded and refused.

Here in our country today we are facing serious consequences because large numbers of people are morally and socially undisciplined. At the lowest scale are the willfully criminal, caring nothing about what happens to others or how they suffer, as long as they themselves get their ill-gotten gains. A little higher are those who operate within the law, but whose greed and selfishness are little less than criminal in their results. Much higher, but morally and socially ineffective, are the "good" people who live to themselves, but who do little to restrain, or social discipline, as well as to discipline, is at the very foundation of social welfare. It is as true today as in the day that God spoke on Sinai.

By giving all our workers an incentive in the efficient production of each automobile which leaves us plants, we believe we have established an incentive toward steady and efficient production.

Christian Science Sunday Study Topic
"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 10.

The Golden Text is: "The Spirit archeth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (I Corinthians 2:10).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him? saith the Lord, do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 23:24).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit is infinite, all Spirit can have no opposite" (page 278).

Incomes of U. S. Families Will Rise During Peacetime Year '46

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 8.—Over 15 million U. S. families will enjoy incomes of $2,500 or above in 1946; this is about twice as many American families as ever had equivalent buying power in any preceding peacetime year. The incomes of over 12 million of these families will be $3,000 or more; $2,500 is now the "acceleration point" above which a rapidly increasing proportion of income is spent on "prosperity goods," i.e. non-necessities, according to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Thus nearly half of all U. S. families—the half who own the bulk of the nation's 150 billion dollars in war bonds and other savings—will not need to dip into those savings to buy the necessities of life for good living which will pour out of U. S. factories in 1946, the study says; it points out further that high wartime incomes were financed quite largely out of government-borrowed money, whereas probably by midyear the high 1946 income level will be entirely financed by industrial activity, as the government budget is expected to come into approximate balance in the new fiscal year.

The study cites Lough's "high-level consumption" analyses, demonstrating that at living cost levels of 1913, $1,300 a year was the critical income level above which, with necessities and basic comforts provided, income was spent at an accelerating rate for non-necessities, and luxuries. Using today's dollars, and after deduction of income taxes, a 1946 family of four must receive a gross income of approximately $2,500 in order to net the equivalent buying power of the 1913 family with $1,300 income. The insurance economists calculate that on the basis of prevailing estimates of a 140 billion dollar national income in 1946, and on the basis of previously demonstrated patterns of distribution of national income, 45.8 per cent of U. S. families will receive incomes of $2,500 or above in 1946; 27.1 per cent will receive $3,000 or more.

As family income reaches and passes the "acceleration level" now approximately $2,500, percentages spent on food and clothing decrease, while proportion of income spent on home maintenance, life insurance, recreation and health, automobiles, and downright luxuries, increase in accelerating ratio.

In the middle and late thirties, when the "acceleration level" income was between $1,800 and $1,850—i.e. at the then cost of living, it required $1,800-01,850 to provide the necessities and comforts which $1,300 would pay for in 1913—only one U. S. family out of four enjoyed an income above this prosperity acceleration level, the study points out. Now the proportion is nearly one-half. Thus, the study concludes, without touching the nation's vast backlog of savings, 1946 can provide an enormously greater market for all kinds of prosperity goods and luxury goods than that seen in any previous peacetime year.

Post War Clothing Improvements Tested

We'll have clothes with unsewn seams, if tests now being made succeed, and fabrics made water-repellent at home with a new treatment. We may look forward to silk from American-grown silkworms, but the outlook for getting enough real silk from abroad this year is not too good, according to reports from Washington in McCall's for February.

Textile experts believe that eventually many clothings seem to be glued or resin-bonded so that you can iron a dress together instead of sewing it. Army experiments which resulted in non-stitched seams for tents and tarpaulins are continuing in the hope that a flexible and washable process for putting uniforms together without thread and needle can be found. Meantime, manufacturers working with some of the new plasticized fabrics are trying out the same idea.

"The basic textile job right now, however, is to get back to us the good fabrics we enjoyed before the war. Thread counts and dyes are getting better and you should notice a steady improvement in both quality and supply throughout the summer months."

Before this year is over you'll be able to buy the wherewithal to give clothes and other fabrics water-repellent treatments at home.

"Silk from homegrown worms is finally possible, now that a mechanical unreeling machine has been developed to unwind cocoons in a hurry. American plantings of mulberry trees are going forward in Texas and the feeding of silkworms eventually could become a profitable sideline for small farmers and retired oldsters in several areas. Feeding a silkworm is not an easy job, however. The average one demands fresh leaves four times a day and dies from colic if its food is not crisp and fresh."

"Meantime, your chance of finding real silk on the market this year is not too good. There will be some, but it will take years to rehabilitate the oriental silk industry, which was completely sidetracked during the war."

"Soil service is spreading to stores. Handing dry goods, new packaging and better labeling will make it feasible for you to shop among sheets and towels and piece goods much as you now do among fruits and vegetables."

British Bride Relates Story Of Trip to Home in America

Editor's Note: The following is a diary of the voyage of the "brides ship," Argentina, which brought 451 British wives of American soldiers to the United States. It was written for the Associated Press by Mrs. Albert Newton, the former Betty Cockram, of Bristol, England. Her husband lives at 1913 Ninth St., Meridian, Miss.

Saturday, Jan. 26
This is the big day. It certainly gives one a queer feeling to be going so far from everything dear and familiar.

I must note that I have not had a good cup of tea since I came aboard this ship. The idea of lukewarm tea, made with tea bags, seems strange.

Sunday, Feb. 3
Docking tomorrow morning. I do hope we will be able to see the Statue of Liberty, although I am told we are passing it very early. Not my landing card. Now I am really a shiver inside at the thought of seeing my husband again. I can just picture him standing there on the dock. Tomorrow at this time, I shall be with him again, probably on the train going down to Mississippi. It is a wonderful moment, but frightening, too. I shall remember this as long as I live.

Cows Like Warm Water in Winter

Cows like human folks have preferences. But in some cases the cows' preference amounts to a prejudice, says G. G. Gibson, dairy husbandman for the A. and M. college, Texas.

Most of the girls went on deck shores fade out of sight. People on British ships waved and called "Cheero!" and "Good Luck to us." We sang "There'll Always Be An England." Some tears.

Radio announcements coming through all day to help us and to find the mothers of lost children. Both Virginia and I very tired and so to bed early.

Sunday, Jan. 27
Today many of the mothers are seasick. Very distressing sight. Some children ill, too. Thank heavens—I'm one of the lucky ones. Things beautifully organized. On "A" deck there is a room full of play pens. Wonderful tops and small children and comics for the older ones. Two stewardesses to look after the children, which gives one a bit of free time and a very welcome. They also opened a canteen today where we can buy all those luxuries that had disappeared in England during six years of war. All kinds of cosmetics, lipsticks, and sweets, nail varnish, cigaret lighters, and fountain pens.

Protestant and Catholic services in the lounge this morning.

There is an exceptionally good medical staff on board to help us all, and during these last two days it certainly has been kept busy.

Monday, Jan. 28
I ate a wonderful breakfast of fresh grapefruit, two eggs, bacon and fried potatoes today. Virginia had cereal and a lot of it.

After breakfast, I asked the steward for something in which I can bathe. Virginia. She brought me a steel bath, which is going to be very convenient.

Tuesday, Jan. 29
Weather has turned very bad. Ship seems to be spending most of its time out of the water. Almost impossible to do anything but hang on to something steady. Great many people ill again. Saw a film in the lounge, "Amazing America." Not very impressed.

Wednesday, Jan. 30
The storm is even worse today. They say this is the worst winter season in many years in the North Atlantic. Waves very high and the wind is sometimes faster than 60 miles an hour. We are just barely able to move. They say the Queen Elizabeth is a few miles behind us, also almost stopped. Water keeps flooding in under the doors from the decks, making the passageways wet and slippery. A number of women have fallen. One sprained her ankle badly. A baby fell out of his crib and the surgeon took twelve stitches in his head.

Thursday, Jan. 31
I should be in my own home by about Thursday. Think of it! A week from today. My new home in Mississippi is 1,700 miles from New York. My husband is coming up to fetch me. I haven't seen him for nearly 18 months, and he has never seen his year-old daughter.

One thing I should have mentioned before this is how much comfort I get from vespers, given every night by the ship's chaplain.

Because I know I am within 1,000 miles of the U. S., my morale certainly is going up fast. The thought of seeing my husband and showing him our daughter... what will be his reactions to her, and hers to him?

"Thank goodness, the sea is a little calmer. We are making better

Stanley Prison Overlooks Good View of Sea

By HAL BOYLE
HONG KONG, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Stanley prison stands on a promontory commanding one of the finest sea views in the world.

But Mrs. Chester Bennett, wife of the American hero of Hong Kong, had no eye for its beauty when she looked up to the great iron gates on the afternoon of Oct. 29, 1943, to bring her imprisoned husband food and clothing. She had no way of knowing he had been executed a few hours before with 32 other men accused of "activity against the Japanese imperial government."

Refusing to accept the food, Japanese guards grinned through the gates and told her: "But—too late."

"I didn't believe them," she said, "because they told me that several times before to frighten me."

Finally, three weeks later, Japanese officials sent Bennett's clothing to her father. Only then did she believe her husband was dead.

The blow fell heavily. There had been no farewell meeting. She hadn't seen her husband for five months—not since the day four Japanese gendarmes seized him in their home at breakfast.

On Jan. 14 she bore Chester Bennett the child he had longed to live to see.

"She's a girl—but the spitting image of Chester," said Elsa Bennett.

Two months later Marcus Da Silva, the Portuguese attorney who had assisted her husband in obtaining Japanese shipping information for British secret agents, sent a messenger to help her escape to the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao, his own place of refuge.

"I sent word back that I couldn't leave with a baby that age," she said. "I didn't think then the Japs would bother me after killing my husband."

Her confidence was misplaced. In June Japanese gendarmes came into her home while she was feeding the baby.

"They took me away just the same, leaving my baby high and dry," she said bitterly. Her ailing mother took care of the baby.

Japanese questioners accused her of carrying on her husband's work of smuggling in funds, to internees in Stanley camp. Her denials were in vain.

"They made me kneel and then they hit me in the face with their fists," she said. "Once they starved me for five days."

"Once when they were questioning me on how Chester had sent out messages they stripped me of my underpants, tied me to a ladder and held my face under a water hydrant turned on full force."

"Another time they stripped me again and whipped me. They did that all the time to women prisoners. Even when they weren't whipping me I could hear them punishing women in other cells—Chinese women."

But they couldn't break Elsa Bennett's Irish-Portuguese spirit.

"I think the Japanese interpreter from Tokyo misunderstood my story," she said. "After Chinese police talked to me they convinced the Japanese I was telling the truth and next morning they let me go."

She lived quietly with her parents and daughter, Carol Ann, until the Japanese capitulation.

When the internees were released from Stanley camp one of the first to visit her was the British colonial secretary at whose request, associates said, Bennett had given up a chance to return to America on a repatriation ship and stayed behind to undertake his dangerous work.

"Your husband was a brave man," the British official told her. He was one of scores of internees who expressed their gratitude.

"That gratitude is Chester Bennett's only posthumous memorial."

Friends say he received nothing for his work and his wife, who pawned the jewels he had given her, so he could carry on, has received no reward or payment.

She works during the day now in the office of the American consulate while a young Chinese Amah takes care of Carol Ann, all that she has left to link her with Chester Bennett.

Leaders for Brotherhood Week

Two American leaders have joined in calling upon the nation's citizens to observe the 13th annual Brotherhood Week, Feb. 17-24. President Harry S. Truman, who is honorary chairman of the observance, has issued a proclamation asking all Americans to practice brotherhood as a means of preserving a basis of our democracy. Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, who recently returned from Navy duty in the Pacific, has accepted the post of general chairman for Brotherhood Week, urging individuals to "treat our fellowmen as brothers" and "so conduct our own individual lives that others will want to treat us as brothers." Brotherhood Week is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which seeks $4,000,000 to carry on its regular educational program during 1946.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook
By HAL BOYLE
MACAO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Macao takes considerable pride in being the widest open little colony in the Far East.

Its people are kind and have matchless hospitality. They lead quiet lives and like to think of their patch of land on the South China coast as a little transplanted Riviera having the same sunny charm as the Mediterranean.

They look hurt when you speak disparagingly of the gambling and opium dens which are the colony's chief tourist bait.

"Why do you call them opium dens and gambling dens?" said one resident. "In your own country you don't speak of grocery stores and ice cream soda dens. Then why speak of opium dens?"

In normal times Macao obtains opium from its thriving narcotics trade from Persia.

I passed up an invitation to spend an evening curled up with a Chinese pipe in one of the colony's dream parlors. Instead I visited some of the gambling houses that furnish the Macao government much of its income.

They were hardly worth the journey. I ended up the evening convinced as I have been all through life that gambling with money is the dullest of pastimes.

Most of the gambling spots are concentrated in the Chinese quarter and you walk through dirty flamboyant streets to reach them. Streets crowded with beggars and merchants and strange smells.

You push through a swinging door and enter a brightly lit room, bare except for a mixed group of Chinese and Europeans grouped around the gaming table. They are playing fantan in dreary silence.

It is difficult to see how such a tedious game holds any excitement, yet the Chinese play it for hours.

I watched one ragged woman coolie play for half an hour—a dime at a time—until her money was gone. Her face showed neither resentment nor regret, only apathy.

The most elaborate gambling spot in town is a cabaret at the modern Central hotel. There you can drink and dance between bets, which are collected by a small Chinese girl. The game is "high-low" dice and results are flashed in neon lights over the heads of the dancers.

But, the whisky was awful, the dance band was bad, the hired Chinese girl stepped on my toes and gambling is a terrible sin anyway. I lost ten dollars.

Young Cline enlisted in the navy the day after Pearl Harbor. He was 12 years old. Spell it out, Elmer, so the Linotype boys won't think it's a typographical error.

He took his training at Great Lakes and served two years in the Pacific before the navy discovered his true age and discharged him at the age of 15 back in March, 1944.

When L. N. Adams of Dallas came home from war, his wife quit nine jobs to devote her full time to being a housewife again.

A bar of peanut candy made in Texarkana made such an impression on the starved tooth of a little Czech girl her one Christmas wish was for another just like it.

Anna Yirsova of Praha-Vinohrady, Czechoslovakia, wrote F. L. Mitchell, manager of the candy company that a soldier had given her the bar, and the lot had cut it into 16 pieces so it would last 16 days. She hadn't tasted candy in six years.

Mitchell said he would send not one bar, but a quantity.

Train School For Handlers of Food Scheduled
AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—In a vigorous campaign to elevate the state health level by preventing the spread of communicable diseases which might be transmitted by foods, the department of health is conducting training schools for food handlers in many sections of Texas, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"Food handlers are being taught the sanitary methods of preparing, handling, and serving foods for public consumption," Dr. Cox said. "Actual experience has shown that an insanitary eating establishment is one of the surest sources of spreading infection. Public health is menaced by the lack of proper sanitation in food handling and our goal is the education of cooks, waiters, butchers, bakers, fountain men, and all other food handlers to such a level as will insure the elimination of this health hazard."

The training schools consist of elementary courses in bacteriology, communicable diseases, medical zoology, foods, disinfection, sterilization, personal hygiene, and sanitation.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Stocks generally continued their retreat in today's market, although early reactions of 3 to 5 points for recently buoyant issues were subsequently reduced and stocks exhibited isolated strength as imminent settlement of the strike in this industry was expected.

A prop for bullish sentiment was the fact that liquidation never was really urgent. Dealings were slow after a fairly active get away. Many morning losses were well above their lows near the close and a smattering of low marks was in evidence. Transfers were about 1,500,000 shares.

Passage of the Case labor legislation by the house inspired some bidding. Higher performers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, Philip Morris, Southern Pacific, American Smelting and Refining, American Oil, American Telephone and Telegraph, Du Pont, Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co. Bonds steadied.

Nelson Doesn't Want Favorite's Role in Tourney

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The $7,500 Texas open swung into its first round today with Byron Nelson somewhat reluctantly accepting the role of favorite.

The tall Texan, who has won 21 tournaments in little more than a year, has been complaining that he's off his game and has been getting in several hours practice daily in an effort to correct it. But the folks around Breckenridge park course think it's a psychological move because plenty still are willing to back Nelson against the field with cash.

Nelson's scores have been unimpressive. Yesterday he played a 72—one over par—as he poyed in the pro-amateur event and said he was badly dejected about it. But Byron indicated it wasn't particularly funny to him.

Nelson might take the lead in money winning for the year to date although missing three of five tournaments if he should capture first prize of $1,800 here.

Nelson and two other Texans furnish the big three in earnings. Ben Hogan has grabbed off $6,200 in bonds to be No. 1 for the year. Nelson is second with $4,666. He won the Los Angeles and San Francisco opens before leaving the tour to handle some private business and have a physical check-up. In third place is Jimmie Demaret with $4,000.

Nelson and Demaret actually reside in Texas—Nelson at Denton and Demaret at Houston—but Hogan now is at Hershey, Pa.

There will be 130 in the field that plays 18 holes today and 18 tomorrow. Then it will be cut to the 60 low scorers and ties for the final 36 holes Sunday.

In yesterday's pro amateur, the best rounds were turned in by pro Ellsworth Vines of Chicago and amateur Ken Rogers of Oklahoma City, each posting a six-under 65.

But in the best ball competition three combinations tied for first. Art Doering of Denver and Rogers, Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles and Gonzales of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Vis Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., and John Kinney of Luling, Texas, were the pro-amateur teams deadlocking at 62.

While the contenders for Texas open title will be out to 60 and ties Sunday, the rest of the field will have some incentive to play the final 36 holes anyway. Tournament Director Sam Goldfarb said the pro registering the lowest score on Sunday's first 18 holes will receive $100, and the same was being offered for the second 18.

Of course, the Texas open field also will be eligible for these awards but the winner of the open might not have the low rounds on Sunday.

Increase in Fishermen, Fish is Seen

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The outlook is for both more fish and more fishermen for the spring angling season.

Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission noted a 20 per cent increase in artificial lure licenses issued since Aug. 31, and expected a similar increase as interest in fishing picks up with warmer weather.

Both Dodgen and Marion Toole, director of inland fisheries, anticipated good fishing this spring, along with the usual ifs. These mainly have to do with the weather—the fishing should be better if there is not too much high water from spring rains and if the weather is good enough for fish to rise.

Toole said that a year's trial of the relaxation of size limits, and the abolition of closed season on game fish, definitely had not hurt fishing, and probably would improve it.

He had reports from Lake Brownwood, Lake Nasworthy, Eagle Mountain lake and some others indicating that fishing, especially for white perch, has been on the upgrade since the law was relaxed.

Dodgen said fishing on the coast, especially in the bay regions around Rockport and Port Aransas, should be better this year because passes opened by last August's hurricane between bays and the Gulf were still open. He did not think they would close until the prevailing wind shifts south and shuts them with sand.

Harvesters Battle Berger's Bulldogs in League Contest Tonight at 8 in Jr. Hi Gym

Huge 'Take' Is Expected From Jack-Greco Bout

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Gus Q. Pan and the Missus will pay tonight the highest price per pound for fistic "beef" in Madison Square Garden's 21-year history.

Beau "The Jumping" Jack and Johnny "The Elevator" Greco, a couple of overgrown lightweight, will tangle in a ten-round at 9 p.m. (EST) and with nothing at stake except their ability to keep all their features assembled properly, they'll draw a game larger than most heavyweight championships staged in the garden.

Promoter Mike Jacobs' ticket men, who are the shrewdest in the game, accurately as Babe Ruth pointing out where Charley Root's next pitch is going, tell you that Mike's cash registers will jingle with more than $150,000 for the match, this would be not only the juiciest jackpot ever in the Garden but also the third richest in Garden history, shaded in the past only by the $201,613 heavyweight Jack DeLaney and Jim Maloney drew in 1927 and the $189,700 Joe Louis attracted for defending his heavyweight crown against Buddy Baer four years ago.

The betting boys have made the Jumping Jack a 5 to 13 favorite for this brawl.

Opening the home defense of their Northern division league title, the Pampa Harvesters battle the Berger Bulldogs here tonight at 8 o'clock in the Junior high gymnasium. There will be one game only.

There will be only 1 game tonight but Coach Otis Coffey has promised the fans that this one game will be worth the admission price.

Borger, coached by Tricky Ward, took a 43-42 decision from the Harvesters at Borger last week in a conference game. Therefore, Pampa must win tonight's game and Amarillo to have a chance for the title.

Also, Borger must beat Amarillo at Borger next week. In the event these things happened, Borger, Amarillo and Pampa would each have two wins and two losses each and a playoff would be necessary to select the team to meet the Southern division champion for the District I-AA title.

Pampa, after winning over Amarillo for Northern division honors last year, beat Plainview two straight for the district crown. They are the state tournament, where they were eliminated by Greenville in the first round.

Both teams will have their regular starters on the floor for tonight's game.

For the Bulldogs, Don Dally and Jim Cope will start at forward, Roy Lee Dunn at center, and Paul Howard and Marvin Metheny at guards.

Coach Otis Coffey is expected to start Randall Clay and Leon Gooch, forwards, Bill Speer, center, and Bernie Brown and Leon Crump, guards.

The Bulldogs have won 12 games and lost seven this year, scoring 711 points to their opponents 549. Pampa, in winning 11 and losing seven, has scored 578 points to 451.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The day when Larry MacPhail took noisy exception to Commissioner Happy Chandler's remarks about baseball admission prices and relations with pro football, and when a number of other baseball men agreed with Larry, it raised a few questions we'd like to have answered.

Q. WITHOUT A...
A. Chandler already is suffering because he had to give up his "boonies" privileges. Now, is a seven-year contract at $50,000 enough compensation for being deprived of opinions, too? Isn't there something in the constitution that says a guy can't be taken off when he feels like it? And if the baseball commissioner, admitting that it's only his personal opinion, can't say that he likes or dislikes something about baseball, who can? One argument is that Judge Landis established the commissioner's prerogatives: to "police" baseball, prevent gambling, do away with covering-up and other practices that deprive a player of a fair shake and to crack down on anything detrimental to baseball.

Chandler is the first to say he's not Landis and doesn't intend to be. So is there anything in his contract that says he has to follow the judge's footsteps and can't establish a few prerogatives of his own?

MATTER OF TASTE
Tulane U. football authorities carry out the New Orleans tradition that coffee is something more than just a drink by serving steaming buckets of the beverage to the players between halves—They've done it since "big Monk" Simons originated the idea more than 20 years ago—from what we've heard of New Orleans coffee, that sure would make any northerners on the squad fighting mad.

The dictates of justice and recognition of the common interests of men of good will throughout the world require a suitable adjustment of the Palestine problem, and the solution of the plight of Europe's starving Jews.—Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky.

AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—(AP)—There was an increase of 100 in hunting law violation fines collected during the past season, compared with that a year ago, with some prosecutions still outstanding.

The report came today from Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission, who noted that fines totaled $16,406 during the past season. This he compared with the grand total of $8,307 a year ago.

Fiber and Molly Are Ranked Tops On Radio Poll
By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8.—(AP)—In radio, normally an uncertain industry, one surely ranges with death and taxes—that either Fibber McGee and Molly or Bob Hope will have the top audience. This week the McGees noosed out the y-p-y-king in the listener polls.

As a matter of fact, winning polls and awards is about the only news the Wistful Vista residents—Jim and Marian Jordan—ever make. They are the quietest of couples in this noisy town.

The Jordans are down stepped on the street for autographs and are never spotted in the night clubs.

They stick close to home when not working, which perhaps accounts for the success and conspiracy of their program. Contrary to his radio persona, Jim is very handy about the house, says his wife.

Their home life inspires subjects for the radio show. For instance, an oak tree in their front yard was withering and had to be cut down. Jim felled it in the driveway so it could be hauled away easily. Next week the oak fell on the radio program—but on Fibber's car.

Eddy Duchin tells me he is in no hurry to start his band again. He has a regular spot on the Crosby program and is mulling several possibilities, including a concert tour with a large orchestra.

Eddy played the piano about a dozen times during his four years in the navy and at present he is getting back in practice. "I used to play for six or eight hours on a band engagement," he said. "Now I can practice an hour and a half before my fingers get tired."

He's effecting a return to civilian life, no thanks to some civilians. One brainless character recently inquired: "Where've ya been for the last couple years? Haven't seen ya." Duchin, who served with distinction in the Pacific, replied he had been in the mountains, dodging the draft.

Birthdays Party Honors Texan
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—An older another milestone for the eldest member of the house, Rep. Mansfield (D-Texas) is turning 85. Actually he won't reach that age until tomorrow, but friends gathered at an informal party today at the house rivers and harbors committee where he presided as chairman. Cake, punch, a "Happy Birthday" and all the trimmings marked the occasion.

His Texas colleagues and numerous other members of congress, Lieut. Gen. R. A. Wheeler, chief of army engineers and other high ranking army officers were on hand. The party was given by the Louisiana-Texas Interoceanic Canal association.

I do not think it is the job of high schools or colleges to train airplane pilots, but it is up to the schools to vitalize education in the aviation field to such an extent that flying will become popular.—C. E. A. Brown, Ohio director of aviation.

Portuguese Colony of Macao Is 'Monte Carlo of the Far East'

By HAL BOYLE MACAO, Feb. 7.—(AP)—If ever there was a place that looked like sin at a crutch it is Macao, sometimes fancifully referred to as the "Monte Carlo of the Far East." Less than a century ago this little five square mile Portuguese colony rivaled Hong Kong and Canton as the trade center of South China. The coming of deep draft ships, however, robbed its shallow harbor of major commercial importance. Now its industry is founded on fishing and prostitution, incense sticks and opium, firecrackers and gambling. And games of chance are probably the government's chief single source of revenue.

Nominations

The Allen nomination was as follows:

Democrats for—Glass of Virginia, Barkley of Kentucky, Bankhead of Alabama, Radcliffe of Maryland, Dwayne of California, Murdock of Utah, McFarland of Arizona, Taylor of Idaho, Mitchell of Washington, Carville of Nevada, and Wagner of New York.

Republicans for—Capper of Kansas, Buck of Delaware and Capehart of Indiana.

Republicans against—Tobey of New Hampshire, Taft of Ohio, Butler of Nebraska, Millikin of Colorado and Hickenlooper of Iowa.

Approval of Allen leaves before the banking committee the controversial nomination of Commodore James K. Vardaman, Jr. President Truman's naval aide, for a 14 year term on the federal reserve board. Hearings on this appointment are expected to begin Feb. 13.

Before the senate naval committee is a third contested nomination, that of Edwin W. Pauley, former democratic national treasurer, to be under secretary of the navy.

President Truman's determination to stick by his choice of Pauley stirred congressional speculation, meanwhile, that interior secretary Ickes soon might quit.

A number of legislators wondered privately whether Ickes' position might become untenable as the result of Mr. Truman's action in seemingly siding with Pauley against his secretary of the interior in the year's hottest political dispute.

As an aftermath of Mr. Truman's news conference comments on the Pauley-Ickes dispute, administration lieutenants who declined use of their names said the White House asked them to go down the line to what many think is certain defeat for the Californian's appointment to be under secretary of the navy.

country or from U. S. agencies abroad.

More than $90,000,000 worth of food had been purchased in the U. S. clothing purchases totalled about $85,000,000. Slightly more than $60,000,000 worth of U. S. overseas military surpluses had been bought up by UNRRA.

Since then congress has appropriated the additional $550,000,000 of the first American contribution and the second contribution of $1,350,000,000, completing U. S. financial participation.

UNRRA is scheduled to wind up its operations in Europe at the end of 1946 and in Asia by March 31, 1947.

Fire Loss
lengthy pipe flew over the heads of working firemen in one explosion, but landed on the ground behind them.

The fire was believed to have started from a small grass fire to the rear of the Radcliff building, which spread under the loading racks in the back.

A strong wind from the southwest kept flames from spreading to nearby storage houses. Firemen saved the buildings to the east and south by wetting them down.

Wind swept the flames toward a small vacant area to the front and east of the burning buildings.

All night long and throughout this morning firemen kept two lines of hose on the smouldering fire. Jagged and twisted sheets of iron clanged in the high southern gale. The empty fronts of the buildings still stand.

Bread Plan
are in a position to know disclosed privately that the United States is seeking to arrange for the importation of at least 50,000 Mexican farm laborers on a temporary basis to help toward the coming harvest.

The plan would be similar to that in effect during the war when the manpower pinch was tightest.

When some other farm-state congressman saw in Mr. Truman's plan the danger of new livestock and poultry shortages, many senate and house members generally were sympathetic with his aim of getting the greatest amount of food possible to starving Europe.
