UNO Votes Unanimously for Creation of Special Atomic Energy Commission

Requests for Intervention To Be Viewed

LONDON, Jan. 24—(AP)—The United Nations general assembly voted unanimously today for the creation of a special atomic energy commission, urged by U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as necessary to save the world from an atomic armaments race.

The action came after little more than an hour of discussion during which both Byrnes and chief Soviet delegate, Andrei Veshinsky, urged prompt action.

TO HEAR COMPLAINTS Almost simultaneously the world security council announced it would meet tomorrow to consider complaints involving Iran, Greece and Indonesia.

The complaints will provide the basis for the first major tests of the UNO's machinery to settle disputes. Byrnes, who came to the UNO meeting primarily to work on creation of the atomic commission, planned to leave probably today and certainly tomorrow, American officials said.

KEEP ENERGY SAFE The commission would have no power to control the United States or any other country to disclose any of its atomic energy production secrets or disclose how the atomic bomb is made, according to interpretations given by Byrnes. Its responsibility will be to work out ways of keeping atomic energy from being used destructively.

It will be composed of representatives of the 11 nations on the security council and Canada, and will

Clothing Drive Moving Slowly In Gray County

Results of the clothing drive so far indicate that the campaign is progressing slowly. B. R. Nuckols, chairman of the local victory clothing collection committee, said today.

With only two more days remaining in the drive, the city is still far short of its 20,000 pound goal and it is hoped that tomorrow's house-to-house collection will bring the total up nearer the goal.

Members of the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce will canvass the city to pick up clothes that residents are unable to take to the places of collection.

Nuckols asked that residents have their bundles of clothing on the front porch tomorrow morning.

The Junior high school has been designated as the collection point for Saturday, the last day of the campaign. None of the four ward schools will be open on that day.

11 Liberty Ships Offered Britain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP)—The United States has offered Britain the use of 11 Liberty ships as a substitute for the arrangement under which American troops are ferried home aboard the Queen Mary at a tentative charge of $100 each.

Government officials said the offer has not yet been accepted. Presumably, the British are weighing the need for troop carriers for their own Tommies and colonials against that of reaching a settlement which would supplement their dollar credits to this country.

Since the end of lend-lease September 2, the Queen Mary has brought home 84,804 American troops. The Queen Elizabeth, before being withdrawn from the U. S. run, carried another 29,392.

Together—unless the present charge is reduced or the American offer of the Liberty ships is accepted—the total charge to this country would be $11,419,000 as of now.

'March of Dimes' Collections in Theaters Begin

Members of the Pampa Girl Scouts association and the Business and Professional Women's clubs were scheduled to begin theater collections for the March of Dimes campaign today.

W. B. Weathered, local chairman of the campaign, said Girl Scouts would make the collections in each theater regularly until seven o'clock in the evening after which the B-PW club would be in charge.

The theater collections will be made every day through Thursday, Jan. 31, the last day of the drive.

W. E. James, Lefors, and John Back, McLean, have been appointed collection chairmen for the respective communities, Weathered said. James is business manager of Lefors schools and Back is postmaster at McLean.

Rural school collections are in charge of Huey Laycock, Pampa county superintendent of schools. Downtown collections will be made by the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs, members of the Junior chamber of commerce and the American Legion Saturday.

The drive will be climaxed by three dances the night of Jan. 31. These are to be held at the Legion hall, the Junior high gym and the Southern club. Members of the clubs are selling tickets to the dances.

Truman 'Asserts Power of the People'; AFL Meat Packers Await Instructions

Locals Ordered To Disregard All News Items

CHICAGO, Jan. 24—(AP)—The striking AFL meat packers union today telegraphed all its locals to "stand by for instructions from our general office."

70,000 STRIKERS

The union, with 70,000 members on strike in the meat packing industry, yesterday had ordered its membership to resume work Saturday when the government is to seize the strikebound properties.

TELEGRAM TO LOCALS

The telegram, signed by Earl J. Jenson, president of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, and other international officers of the union, said "do not be misled by any news you may hear on the radio or see in the newspapers regarding government seizure of meat packing plants and the action of the Amalgamated regarding returning to work."

'DISREGARD NEWS'

"Disregard all the above (such news items) and stand by for instructions from our general office," it said. "Our organization has the pledge of high government officials that the government will put into effect any wage increase determined by the meat fact-finding commission retroactive from the date of government seizure.

"Up to the present time we have not received the official seizure order, therefore, stand by for further instructions."

WORK AT SAME PLACES

The announcement of the telegram came shortly after President Truman told a news conference that striking meat packing workers would return to work when the

Two Ordinances Passed for City

Two ordinances have been passed by the city commission, one of them becoming effective immediately. City Manager Garland Franks said today.

The main ordinance provides that no beer or other alcoholic beverages shall be sold in the city limits on Sunday.

Prior to the passing of the ordinance, most dealers had an agreement that stated they would not sell beer on Sunday but some complaints of violation of this agreement in the Flats had been received and an ordinance to that effect was drawn up.

The ordinance, which will be published two consecutive weeks, will become effective 10 days after the last date of publication.

The other ordinance effective now changes the name of the last block on the east end of Georgia street to Christine. The block curves off to Christine and residents on the block asked that it be changed to Christine to simplify various delivery services.

The franchise of the Pampa Bus company was approved and has been submitted to the bus operators. The company has 30 days in which to approve the franchise.

A parking meter ordinance was also discussed by the commission but no action was taken pending further discussion of the parking meter installation, which is expected to take place some time this year.

Plans for A-Bomb Test Against Navy Slated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP)—The navy raised the curtain today on its plans for testing the atomic bomb against a great armada of fighting ships—an experiment expected to revolutionize sea warfare.

GUINEA PIG FLEET

A guinea pig fleet of 97 vessels, ranging from carriers and battleships to submarines and transports to small landing craft, will be the atomic target in the vast operation to start in May.

Dust Storm Moves Into South Texas

By The Associated Press A dust storm spread over Central and South Texas today after coming across the Panhandle and northern parts of the state on a strong, dry, high-altitude wind.

A 4,000-foot bank of dust partially obscured the sun at Austin this morning. Waco had a 29-mile-per-hour wind at about 2,000 feet, accompanied by heavy dust.

Dust also was reported at San Antonio, Alice, Yoakum, Palacios, and other points.

The winds bringing the dust cloud down from Oklahoma and Kansas struck the Panhandle yesterday morning, the Dallas area yesterday afternoon, and continued to move south today.

Senate Will Refuse To Break Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP)—A poll by administration aides showed today the senate will refuse to break the week-old FEPC filibuster by applying its so-called "rag rule."

Nevertheless, Senator Mead (D-NY) said an effort will be made to present a cloture or debate-limiting petition today.

Results of the poll showed "more than 36" senators lined up against any step to force an end to the debate which has gone on since the measure to set up a permanent fair employment practice commission was called up unexpectedly a week ago. Four or five other senators were counted as "probably opposed" to cloture.

War Mothers Plan Bring Daddy Back Club for Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP)—Four determined young women with fire in their eyes and soldier husbands overseas decided today that what this country needs is a national "bring daddy back" club.

"They said they haven't got very far in making specific plans, but we're moving fast. Two days ago we hadn't even met a general."

Now they have met three generals including the boss of them all, Dwight Eisenhower, one admiral, a whole batch of colonels, and assorted senators and representatives.

Eisenhower said he'd talk to them again, possibly today. Their first meeting with the army chief of staff was fleeting, as he was on his way to a house committee room in the capitol to testify about demobilization.

Mrs. Nancy Mueller of Pittsburgh told a reporter the whole thing started after Eisenhower's demobilization speech to congress last week. "There wasn't a word in it about fathers," said Mrs. Mueller.

So her Pittsburgh group, the servicemen's wives and children association, held an indignation meeting. They got more and more indignant.

Finally, said Mrs. Mueller, they decided they'd get better results if they had unified action. They voted to send wires to similar organizations, such as the service fathers release association in Seattle and the bring back daddy club in Chicago.

The wires asked: "Why don't we go down and talk to Eisenhower?" About 40 delegates showed up.

The fighting force who held an organization meeting last night are: Mrs. Mueller, mother of two, whose husband has been in the army since April and now is in Italy.

Mrs. Gerson Reiser of Chicago, mother of one, whose husband has been in the army 39 months and now is in Manila.

Mrs. Leah Greene of Philadelphia, mother of one, whose husband has been in the army 13 months and now is in Manila.

Mrs. Emory Schoolcraft of Seattle, mother of two, whose husband has been in the army since April and now is in Tokyo.

Woman Dies in Blaze Of Wrecked Truck

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 24—(AP)—The burned body of Mrs. Harrell F. Alvord, 15, was found in the blazing wreckage of a dual tank butane truck which overturned early today a mile and half south of here.

The dead woman's husband, Harrell Alvord, 26, was found lying beside the truck critically burned.

'Current Strife Is Contest for Power'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP)—President Truman said today much current industrial strife was a contest for power between management and labor—both of which, he said, have too much power.

The public interest, he added, demands settlement of the steel strike on the basis of his 18½ cents wage increase proposal.

PROTECTING PUBLIC INTEREST

Mr. Truman said, however, that he did not intend to seize the steel industry at this time although he did not rule out that future possibility.

It was necessary for the government, Mr. Truman said, to assert the power of the people in preventing strikes against the public interest.

The President disclosed that consideration is being given to federal operation of a government-built steel plant in Utah.

The government built a plant at Geneva, Utah, READY TO TALK.

Mr. Truman's views were expressed at a news conference. Asked about a proposal by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, that he call an all-management conference on wages the President said he was always ready to talk to business leaders.

However, he added, the best thing Fairless can do is send word that he accepts the White House proposal for settling the steel strike.

NO STEEL SEIZURE Mr. Truman said he thought it was not practical to seize the steel industry at the present time. He would not say the industry would not be seized eventually if the strike prolonged however.

He also said that the striking meat workers will go back to work at their old wages when the government seizes the meat plants Saturday.

If steel is eventually seized, the President added, the steel workers too will have to go back at current wages.

TOO MUCH POWER

Asserting both management and labor have too much power, the President declared much of today's industrial strife is merely a try-out for power and added it was necessary to see TRUMAN, Page 2

Spaatz To Head Army Air Forces

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP)—President Truman today announced Gen. Carl A. Spaatz's appointment to be chief of the army air forces, succeeding Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold.

The President told his news conference that General Arnold will retire upon his return from his current South American tour and that Spaatz will take over his assignment.

Arnold wanted to retire some time between Feb. 1 and Feb. 15, the President said, but he added that he did not know the exact effective date at this time.

A war department source said yesterday the change would probably be made Feb. 15.

Ford and Chrysler Resume Wage Talks

DETROIT, Jan. 24—(AP)—Ford Motor company and Chrysler corporation today resumed wage talks with the CIO United Auto Workers, but neither the union nor General Motors showed signs of coming any closer to settlement of the strike now in its ninth week.

Yesterday's negotiating sessions brought only a brief union comment that "some progress" was made at the Chrysler meeting and a Ford official's statement that "we are still talking wages."

Shabby Old Taxicabs Will Have To Do

It will be months before new taxicabs can retire the rambling wrecks that stagger widely through our avenues. Business Week reports, and adds that two years may pass before all the war wearies will make their overdue trips to the junk heap.

"Principal reason for the delay," says an article in the current issue, "is the automotive strike situation. The Checker Cab is an assembled job, and the tie-up of parts plants inevitably defers production. Moreover, Checker has a difficult reconversion problem. DeSoto and Packard are similarly hampered by strike-bound supplies. And these last two can't be expected to sidetrack the vast passenger car demand for the benefit of a comparatively small cab market.

"Checker and DeSoto have not unveiled their new taxi models. One reason is that they don't want to aggravate the ravenous buyers. Guess is that new cabs will start off the lines in March or April, depending on the settlement of labor disputes."

government seizes the plants Saturday at the same wages they had been earning.

Yesterday, Jimerson and Patrick Gorman, executive secretary-treasurer of the union, ordered their men back to work effective Saturday because, they said, they had "received assurances from sources we can not reveal that the government will apply any wage increase recommended by the fact-finding board retroactively at the first date of seizure."

Meanwhile, the CIO United Packinghouse Workers planned a strike meeting Friday to decide whether their 193,000 workers should return to their jobs Saturday.

The government, however, proceeded with plans to take possession of the plants and had assurances from officials of the AFL union involved that their 70,000 unionists will be back to work Saturday, ending a strike which started Jan. 16.

Cayle G. Armstrong, New Mexico rancher who has been designated by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to operate the packing plants, planned to confer with major packers here today. He will exercise federal control through the presidents or chairmen of the boards of affected concerns.

Meanwhile, fact-finding hearings in the wage dispute continued for the third day.

The strike was sweeping bare the country's larders, despite continued operation of small independents. Federal inspectors of meat showed inspected production 69 per cent below previous figures.

Even if CIO strikers join the AFL in returning to work, meat packers said it would take five days to return to normal operations.

Earl Jimerson, president of the AFL union, stated his group "had received assurances from sources we can not reveal that the government will apply any wage increase recommended by the fact-finding board retroactively at the first date of seizure."

The CIO has demanded a 17 1/2 cent hourly increase, with an additional 7 1/2 cents to be negotiated. The AFL asked a 20-cent hourly raise, $36 weekly minimum and a 40-hour week.

say for the government to assert itself to assert the power of the people.

The President said, under questioning that he has done everything he could to settle the steel strike in the absence of legislation supporting his fact-finding and "cooling off" procedure. The steel strike, he continued, is not in the public interest.

A reporter asked what he meant in saying the government should assert itself further in labor disputes.

The President replied he had asked congress for legislation it had not seen fit to give him.

At the present time the President said, he didn't see how the steel workers could return to their jobs unless the management accepted his proposal.

He also disclosed that government operation of a government-built steel plant in Utah is under consideration. He made this disclosure when he was asked about a CIO proposal that "about a billion dollars' worth of government-owned steel plants be turned over to industrialists willing to give workers the pay increase recommended by the President."

He would not discuss congressional proposals for an investigation to determine whether there is a business conspiracy against the workers as the CIO contends. Asked whether he had any information to support a suspicion of such a conspiracy, he replied in the negative.

Asked whether he thought that a settlement of the steel controversy might lead to settlement of the general Motors strike he replied that he didn't know, but thought it was logical to conclude that might happen.

The United States entered an armaments race during the war "not to destroy but to save civilization," Byrnes told the assembly. He added that "if the race continues uncontrolled the civilization we hoped to save may be destroyed."

Duckworth Barker, UNO public relations officer, in announcing that the security council would take up the Iranian, Greek and Indonesian issues tomorrow, said the council would not act at that time on the question of selecting a nominee for the key post of UNO secretary-general, an issue on which the five major powers apparently were deadlocked.

The council will be asked formally what it wants to do about the Russian and Ukraine communications drawing attention to the presence of British troops in Greece and Indonesia," Baker said.

The British contend that a state of war still exists in Java and that Britain was asked by the combined chiefs of staff in Washington to send troops into Indonesia to clean up the Japanese and maintain order. They maintain that an investigation now would be inopportune. Iran charges that Russian troops have prevented Iran from suppressing a revolt in one of its provinces.

University Presented Cartoons by Knott

AUSTIN, Jan. 24.—Eight original Knott cartoons have recently been presented to the University of Texas archives by the artist.

Knott, cartoonist for The Dallas News for many years, is best known for his caricatures of "Old Man Texas" and those of the group he gave to the Archives portray this similar character.

Five of the cartoons were drawn in 1941 and 1942, and deal with the war of the university controversy, the other three are of a political nature.

By RUTH MILLETT

American women don't need to be bored in 1946 or chase around in circles trying to keep busy. There are too many important problems facing the country—many of which should, perhaps, be even more of a challenge to women than to men.

The housing shortage is one. There is no reason why the women of any community shouldn't make that their own particular problem. The country's homemakers—that is, its women—should be most vitally concerned with housing.

And there is the alarming increase in divorce. Without question, any threat to marriage stability affects women more deeply than it does men.

The problem of giving relief to the cold and hungry children of bombed out countries all over the world is certainly a problem. American women should take to their hearts. It shouldn't be enough for them to see that their own children have the food and care necessary for growth when the disaster-stricken children are exposed and malnourished.

It would be easy for American women to refuse to look around them and to consider the world a nice warm place in the year of 1946. Their men are coming back every day by the thousands, so their homes are happy places. Their food is ration free. They see more and more goods on their store shelves. They can again make plans for the future.

But that is the small picture. The world—even the small world bounded by the limits of their own home towns—is full of problems that should be a challenge to women because they affect women vitally.

The more reason any American woman has for personally feeling that 1946 is going to be a good year, the more duty-bound she should feel to try to make it better for other less fortunate human beings. For her warm little world is just a bright spot in an ugly picture.

Cracker Dumplings Help Soups

Cracker dumplings improve vegetable soup.

By GAYNOR MADDOX Into hot, strong and savory beef and vegetable soup drop tender cracker dumplings. Then call in the neighbors.

Cracker Dumplings (Approximate yield—16 small dumplings) One-third cup cracker pieces, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup butter, 1 slightly beaten egg, 1/8 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, pinch of nutmeg, 1/2 cup cracker meal.

Crush crackers into small bits with fingers. Soak in milk until soft. Cream butter and stir in crackers, seasonings and beaten egg. Blend in cracker meal. Chill in refrigerator until dough is firm (1 to 2 hours). Break off into small pieces. Roll lightly in flour and shape into balls with hands. Drop into boiling soup, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Small chunks of soup meat or bits of cooked vegetable may be pressed into center of the balls before cooking. Here is one more soup idea to flavor the pot.

Cheese Puffs (Makes about 16-18 small dumplings) One-half cup grated Parmesan cheese or grated American cheese, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, dash cayenne or pepper, 1/4 cup cracker meal, 1 well-beaten egg, 1/4 cup milk. Mix cheese, flour, salt, pepper and cracker meal. Combine egg and milk. Mix with dry ingredients. Drop by small spoonful in boiling soup. Cover and simmer 10 minutes.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN Consolidated News Features Well, there have been so many divorces in California's Los Angeles county that an official thinks the school should give courses teaching young people to stay married. If it goes through, I'd be glad to give the girls lessons in such things as laughing at husband's jokes, and not wearing cold cream or curlers at the breakfast table.

But I think the school idea is good. Boys should learn that many pin-up girls would faint at the sight of a clothespin, and girls should learn that a hep rug-cutter may never qualify as a household rug-beater.

In Hollywood

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Everybody except Lassie and Flicka, it seems, is writing books in Hollywood. Today it is the man with the handlebar mustache, Jerry Colonna, with a name titled, "Who Threw That Coconut?" After all, Jerry never left Bob Hope's side on five overseas tours. If Bob could write a book about it, so could Jerry. And he did.

It was, of course, a great surprise to Bob, who wrote in the foreword: "The known Jerry Colonna, man and mustache, for seven years. Most people know him as a zany silly moron. But to me he is a deep-thinking moron. He has a head on his shoulders—thanks to plastic surgery."

Jerry's mustache, one of the world's most famous, fascinates us more than his book. Anybody can write a book. Jerry is the only fellow we know who can kiss a girl and give her the brushoff at the same time.

The public is positive that Jerry's mustache is phony and somebody forever is trying to pull it off. In China once, a little red-haired girl about 10 got a good hold and nearly yanked Jerry off his feet.

She was as startled as he was, yelling, "It's real! It's real!"

Even Hollywood didn't believe it was real when Jerry first came to the movies as a comedy trombonist and singer of silly songs in Walter Wagner's, "Fifty-Second Street."

The mustache measures exactly four and a half inches from tip to tip. We had our favorite headwaiter, Don Avaler of Lucey's, dig up a ruler and measure it.

Jerry said he never lets barbers touch it, trimming it himself with a pair of manicure shears.

SPARE THAT MUSTACHE

Hollywood tried to shave Jerry's famous trademark for a gag scene in the film, "You're the One." There was a big explosion and Jerry was supposed to emerge minus the handlebars. But he would have none of it, screaming:

"Blow off all my clothes. Blow off my legs. But don't dare touch a hair of my mustache." Jerry won the argument.

He first sprouted the handlebars back in 1925 when he was playing the trombone with dance bands and symphony orchestras. No one laughed when he was playing with symphonies. But when he did a solo with a dance band people howled. He added silly songs to his trombone playing and started murdering "You're My Everything" and "Mandelay" as grand opera, with notes held as long as 75 seconds. There's a story behind that.

LEARNS FROM OPERA

When he was a kid in Boston, his elder brother was assistant manager of the Boston opera house. The brother often got him seats in the gallery.

"I thought the singing was funny," Jerry said. "I started to mimic their singing. Later it became part of my act."

For 18 years Jerry played the trombone, kidding opera singers on the side. Then Fred Allen gave him a comedy routine on his radio show. He appeared next on Bing Crosby's

Owners May Recover Dogs From City Pound

Owners whose dogs have been taken to the city pound were given instructions today on how they may recover their animals.

If the dog is not tagged, the owner must obtain a tag and a vaccination certificate at the police station in order to recover their dog.

Owners will then go to the pound, located north of the swimming pool, where they may obtain their dog. A man will be on duty at the pound between 10 and 11 a.m. and 3 and 4 p.m.

Upon presentation of the tag and certificate, the dog will be released. The dog must then be taken to a veterinarian, who will vaccinate the dog on presentation of the certificate obtained at the police department.

The total cost of tags, vaccination and pound fee is four dollars for males and five for females.

Chief of Police Louis Allen has warned all persons to stay away from the pound at night. Some reports of attempted vandalism have been received and the pound is city property, thus constituting a violation of the law.

Jaycee President Is Installed at Annual Banquet

Joe Fischer was installed as 1946 president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce at ceremonies in the Palm room of the city hall last night.

Fischer, an active Jaycee for the last three years, succeeds B. B. Altman as president.

Woody presented Altman with a past president's pin and complimented him on his two years of service as president.

Woody said the last few years have been especially difficult for the Junior Chamber of Commerce in that many of its members, because of their youth, left to serve in the armed forces.

"Altman did a great job in holding ing the club together through the war," Woody said.

The outgoing president thanked the members of the club for their work and support, giving credit to those who remained in the club, when the membership reached its lowest level.

Woody congratulated the new officers—Fischer, Vice-President Waggoner and Bob Morris, and Secretary-Treasurer Smiley Henderson—on their election.

The state Jaycee official read a telegram from Ben Ross, Wichita Falls, state president, in which Ross expressed his regrets at not being able to attend the local installation. Ross had previously planned to attend.

Jaycee members, their wives and guests attended the banquet and the dance which followed. A hit from the coming Top of Texas Revue was presented by members of the cast under the direction of Ken Bent nett.

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe your own. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barconate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it.

bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back slurring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Card of Thanks I shall be with them, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. Rev. 21:3.

IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE "In my Father's house are many rooms." (John 14:2).

No, not cold beneath the grasses. Not closed-walled within the tomb. Rather, in my Father's Mansion LIVING in another room.

Living, like one who loves me. Lead you child with cheeks as from Out of sight, at desk or school book BUSY in another room.

Nearer than the youth whom fortune Beckons where the strange land looms; Just behind the hanging curtain, SERVING in another room.

Shall I doubt my Father's mercy Shall I think of death as doom. Of the stepping off the threshold To a bigger, brighter room?

Shall I blame my father's wisdom? Shall I sit cowering in gloom. When I know my MOTHER'S happy WAITING in another room?

Mrs. John R. Henry passed to her reward on January 17, leaving a beautiful life-time of service to her friends and neighbors here in the Panhandle of Texas, she lived so well. She had been ill a long time and because she had deemed it a privilege and pleasure to minister to all those who needed her, she too was well blessed in her hour of need.

The beautiful flowers, the comforting messages, and the services of the ministers and pallbearers bespoke the high esteem in which she was held. The family deeply appreciate these kindnesses. It helps so much to bear our loss.

Sir - We're ACCURATE

During the war, an engineer was explaining an intricate machine to a pharmacist and boasted that it was accurate to .0001 of an inch. The pharmacist was unimpressed. "Sir," he said, "in pharmacy we are ACCURATE!" There is no margin for error... no tolerance. Every ingredient, however infinitesimal it may seem to the layman, must be weighed or measured to pin-point accuracy. And you may be sure that it is when you have your prescriptions filled by our experienced registered pharmacists.

Noted Lecturer, Author Says Women of U. S. Have Changed

"American women have changed. You're different — different in a way that's likely to alter the whole future of the world," says the noted lecturer, veteran newspaperman and author Ray Josephs in a signed article in Woman's Home Companion.

Having spent the last year traveling around the United States lecturing and out of the country for almost five years previous to that, Mr. Josephs was struck by the new international mindedness of American women. He says: "You've matured; you've become sure of yourself, of your place in the community, nation and world. From being the most head-in-the-sand women in the world, you've become the most international. Your attitude is: Even though we have plenty of troubles of our own, we must plan with the rest of the world, work with it, if we're really going to achieve the things we've been fighting for."

Prewar lecturer-going women audiences were all too interested in "the color of Hitler's mustache" rather than in what "we can do to prevent another Hitler." The lectures were frequent sessions, attended because it was the smart thing to do, writes Mr. Josephs. Today the American women want facts. "The standard of who and what interests you and the depth of your interest has developed amazingly. Subjects of which you knew little or skipped entirely now absorb you." Often women are ahead of the men in open-mindedness, lack of preconceived prejudices and willingness to hear both sides of controversial issues, he adds.

Mr. Josephs has also found women today are not afraid to ask questions in public. "Too," he says: "You ask when you get up; you don't make speeches as do many men." "You don't want to be talked at or down to. And you resent a brush-off or condescension." Nor do "names" alone any longer attract the women lecturer-goers.

"Once you weigh the evidence and count the cost, you make up your mind and demand action. Unlike many men, you're not content just to listen to an academic discussion or a debate for argument's sake." Mr. Josephs points out that "Pierre van Passen discovered that women were the first to demand specific action when he was discussing America's great problem of intolerance. Queen In Reynolds, his surprise, found that women wanted details on strength of divisions and types of planes fully as often as men. And Emil Ludwig notes again and again that when he was called to explain why what he said in 1945 wasn't what he asserted in 1940 it was usually a woman who wanted to know."

American women are far more logical in thought than they used to be states Mr. Josephs. "War has made you figure more closely and more broadly and reason things through. You've recognized many important questions for what they are, family affairs—your family's, the American family's and the world's family's."

When American boys and men began going to war, their women wanted to know what they were up against: why this war came so soon after the last; would it happen again. And so the American women began to read more he writes listed to the radio more and wanted to learn the facts from the best experts. Lectures began to pick up, women organized forums, round tables, or neighborhood discussion groups right where they lived.

Mr. Josephs believes this new

For Dimes 'Teamwork'

Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Navy, urging nationwide support of the March of Dimes, January 14-31, conducted by The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, says:

"Through the teamwork of our armed services, supported by all Americans on the homefront, our nation achieved victory over her enemies overseas. We must now exert the same united effort in a war against an enemy within our shores—infantile paralysis. Every American should participate in the national fight against this disease by contributing to the March of Dimes."

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Only fools or strangers try to predict Texas weather, and here are a few reasons why:

The Longview News-Journal says the business of guessing Texas weather is both unprofitable and downright stupid and that editors of the paper got their ears chopped off twice in 24 hours trying to do it.

The official forecast came in predicting cloudiness and rain. Trustingly the editor printed it. By the time the papers hit the streets, sleet and snow had beat them to it.

The next morning the editor called the AP in Dallas and reported heavy skies, lots of snow and a low temperature.

Thirty minutes later the sun was shining brightly, temperatures were climbing, and ice was falling from light and phone wires and snow was melting.

In Marshall, it got so cold it halted time in its flight. The court house clock froze.

J. H. Bartlett, official timekeeper and custodian of the four-faced timepiece, explained snow had blown into the works and had frozen them and the hands.

It was 6:40 all day.

It was 17 degrees warmer just one mile from Brownsville one day. But it's a tricky statement.

The reading was made a mile straight up.

It was a cool 41 in Brownsville, a warmer 58 higher up as recorded by a radio-sonde balloon.

Back in Marshall, the snow gave David and Nancy Leggett an idea. Their daddy, Metalsmith 3/c Wayland Leggett, is in service in the Admiralty islands, where temperatures sometimes get as high as 140.

The children thought he would appreciate a snowman — so they made one his exact size, dressed it with his hat and overcoat, planned to save it for him as a surprise.

American woman will continue: "For now you want to make sure the things for which we fought will not be lost by our own indifference. You have changed — and you're changing the world with you."

New Chief of AAF Surgery Is Appointed

SAN ANTONIO. — The skilled hands of Maj. Albert D. Roberts, newly appointed chief of surgical service, are working miracles of plastic surgery at the AAF Regional and Convalescent hospital here in San Antonio.

Many and varied are the cases under the major's care in ward 27, known as the "Beauty Shop." Some are victims of crashes who have been badly burned; others have smashed noses, are minus eyelids and ears, or bear livid scars as a result of their wounds. Still others require the removal of growths, or the replacing of tendons in the hands to restore normal use.

Frequently as many as four or more operations may be required, but by continuously grafting skin, cartilage and tendons, faces are set, new noses appear and ears are constructed. Usually with this transition the patient undergoes a change of personality, experiences a return of self confidence, ambition, and the ability to laugh.

Many of Major Roberts' problems now are almost routine, but other cases are long, up-hill battles. One of these was a pilot who crashed in a bomber and suffered burns over 85 per cent of his face and body. And he also had a broken back.

"He was such a mess that we didn't expect him to live," recalled Major Roberts, "and after we set his back, we didn't even know where we would begin to graft skin. However, after 16 months of patient trying, the pilot is as good as new and ready to fly again."

The major, graduate of Baylor Medical college, took his plastic training with George Warren Pierce in San Francisco. He practiced in Fort Worth before entering the air forces in November, 1942.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

HONG KONG, Jan. 24 (AP)—This crown colony's first postwar million dollar jewel robbery has bared a strange tale of mixed generosity and revenge. It could happen only in the Orient, where time moves so slowly that a man can feel free to devote a lifetime to getting even for an affront.

The story was told today in a long letter to all Hong Kong newspapers by the robbery victim himself—Tan Tong Hoe, a wealthy Chinese dealer in dental supplies.

"The jewelry I valued roughly at a million Hong Kong dollars, or more than 200,000 American dollars—was stolen from my home last week by three bandits during his absence.

Explaining the source of his wealth, Tan wrote:

"About eight years ago while I was a resident in Singapore, I had the unhappy experience of being made to suffer a grievance at the hands of a certain rich man.

"I then made a secret vow that my one intention in life would be to avenge that grievance most unfairly directed against me. My one intention was that I should work very hard in order to show that man I could make money enough to outweigh him by establishing an institution to compete with his own.

Tan had only 15 American dollars in his capital when he set out to regain his lost "face." He mustered it so fast that he was almost in a position to seek his revenge when the war broke out and forced him to shelve his plan temporarily. Fearing currency deflation, he invested most of his wealth in diamonds.

"Unfortunately, that man has since died during the Japanese occupation," Tan continued, "and consequently I am now deprived of the chance to avenge that grievance since he undoubtedly would be unable to do for himself what I would be doing."

Deprived of his personal vengeance, Tan brooded long over what to do with the future he had built up and which he felt was unnecessary for his own needs.

He decided finally to express his family's gratitude for "the peace and freedom which we all are enjoying today," he would erect a war memorial and entertainment center for the benefit of "all Allied soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Unfortunately, the gem theft disrupted his plans. However, the robbers overlooked a small diamond bag in which he had stored some jade and a 10 carat diamond which he feels at present prices may bring up to 250,000 Hong Kong dollars, or more than 50,000 dollars American.

Tan now has offered the proceeds from this jewelry to the community to erect a war memorial on land which he will donate.

Tan pointedly emphasized that his gift does not spring from war profits.

"The brilliant were all bought by me before the war with money earned with the sweat of my brow," he said. "None was bought during the Japanese occupation and therefore the money with which I bought these articles did not in the least come from foul sources."

Cotton Insurance Program Started

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 24.—The 1946 crop insurance program got underway this week in the Rio Grande Valley where the deadline for taking out insurance on this year's crop is set for February 15.

As cotton-planting time moves north, federal crop insurance corporation sales agents and ACA committeemen will launch sales campaigns in other sections of the state.

Donald L. Coltrane, state crop insurance director, has announced. Texas is divided into five areas with different sign-up deadlines because of the wide variance in times for planting.

Coltrane emphasized that the farmer who wants to take out insurance must sign for his area, whichever is earlier. The insurance covers all unavoidable risks, such as drought, flood, excessive rain, disease and insects, but does not insure against failure to plant in accordance with good farming practices or avoidable losses resulting from mismanagement or negligence.

Money collected by the corporation as premiums is used only to pay loss claims, since all administrative expenses of the program are paid by the FCIC which is supported by congressional appropriations, the insurance official declared.

In 1945 the program got off to a late start because it was not authorized by congress until December, but still insurance was in force on 45,903 cotton farms in the state. Participation in the program is expected to be much greater this year.

John Paul Jones, famous U. S. naval officer, was color-blind.

Electronic 'Cane' Will Aid Blind

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Blind persons will be able to determine the color of traffic lights and detect the distance, within one foot, of obstacles, by an electronic "cane," Electronics Magazine, McCraw-Hill publication, reveals.

The cane is carried like a lunch-box and is turned from side to side to scan the path ahead.

"The device projects a beam of light that is reflected by objects within a 20-foot radius," the article states. "The reflection is detected by a photoelectric cell which creates coded tone signals in an earphone."

"The handle of the cane is parallel to the direction of the first light ray, and the blind user can sense the position of his hand in determining the direction from which reflections are received.

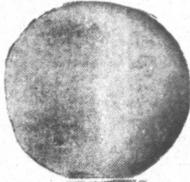

Development of the device was initiated by the signal corps. The experimental model was designed and constructed by Lawrence Cranberg, a civilian physicist at Evans Signal Laboratory, Bradley Beach, N. J."

IS THIS A 'SCRAP OF PAPER'?

The CIO United Steelworkers Union said that its strike does not violate its contract with steel companies. Here is the "no strike" clause taken from a typical contract. Let the words speak for themselves!

"During the term of this Agreement, neither the Union nor any Employee, individually or collectively, shall cause or take part in any strike, or other interruption or any impeding of production at any plant of the Company covered by this Agreement. Any Employee or Employees who violate the provisions of this Section may be discharged from the employ of the Company in accordance with the procedure of Section 8 of this Agreement."

This provision, or one similar to it, is contained in each contract between the Union and the various steel companies. These contracts continue by their terms until the autumn of this year.

Dorm Capacity At Texas Tech To Be Doubled

LUBBOCK, Jan. 24.—Dormitory capacity of Texas Technological college will be more than doubled as the result of the most recent action of directors of the college. The directors unanimously voted at their January meeting to modify a plan adopted in December so that two new dormitories for men will be erected, along with a double unit for women. The original plan was for one additional men's housing unit and the double unit for women. The action will provide space for 1,380 students in addition to present facilities for 1,260, to give a total of 2,640.

Financing of the new construction, to cost $3,124,000, has been perfected, it was said. Directors said they hoped the new buildings will be completed by next fall. Directors approved a request of President W. M. Whyburn that a better salary scale for faculty be

Because of pressure of GI-student enrollment, the board of directors voted to press its application for use of Lubbock army air field, including its housing facilities, equipment and furniture, to provide living quarters for returned veterans and their families. The field was closed Jan. 1.

Low Percentage Of Vets Keeping Service Insurance

By ROBERT GEIGER (Substituting for James Marlow)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The government calls its warborn insurance "one of the greatest bargains in the world." Yet only one out of five servicemen keeps his policy in force after discharge.

The veterans administration, believing the percentage too low, announced today it will place "insurance teams" in discharge centers to collect premiums and encourage veterans to keep their policies.

Ninety-five percent of all servicemen bought policies during World War II. The government received 18,378,000 applications for $145,000,000 worth of insurance. The total of applications exceeds the number in service because some policies were changed from time to time.

"This makes the government by far the largest insurance company in the world and its business almost equals, in some categories, the total of all private American companies combined."

"The percentage of people keeping their policies after World War II is about double that of World War I," Harold M. Breining, assistant veterans administrator in charge of insurance, said in an interview.

The soldier will be approached at a psychological moment, when he has discharge pay in his pocket. Breining says the life insurance association of the United States and the American life convention, representing about all life insurance companies, approve the government program.

"Private insurance firms learned, in World War I, that the government made the great mass program of servicemen conscious of the value

Rorschach Analysis Answers--What Makes a Person 'Tick'?

AUSTIN, Jan. 24.—What makes a person "tick"? What forces are behind his behavior? Psychologists can't answer those questions off-hand, but after a Rorschach analysis, they know the answers pretty well.

At the University of Texas Mrs. Ernestine Blackwell and Dr. D. E. Klein are the approved Rorschach examiners, and teachers of the Rorschach method.

"Rorschach is a method of personality analysis or diagnosis," Mrs. Blackwell says, "and it is of value to the so-called normal individual, as well as for administrators of mental hospitals for diagnosing abnormalities. It is also used in the larger school systems in the study of child adjustment."

The Rorschach method is named for a Swiss psychiatrist, Hermann Rorschach, and the technique involves the use of ten standardized ink blots. What the subject being examined sees in the ink blots, and how he handles the stimulus material, gives an insight into his intellectual, and affective or emotional life, Mrs. Blackwell explains.

"The government deducts sufficient premium from a soldier's pay, when discharged, to keep the policy in force until the first of the following month. The soldier then has 31 days to pay another premium and keep the policy."

From then on he can make monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual payments.

If the policy lapses for a period up to six months he may reinstate it, without a health examination, merely by signing a statement that his health is as good or better than when he left the service.

Chinese Statesman To Be Speaker at Texas University

AUSTIN, Jan. 24.—Dr. T. Z. Koo, world citizen, statesman and religious leader, will be the principal speaker for religious emphasis week at the University of Texas Jan. 27-28, Feb. 1.

WE HOPE THEY PUT A COLLAR ON PETRILLO

The house interstate commerce committee yesterday approved a bill, 14-5, which would restrain and define powers of James (Ukase) Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians. The bill, introduced by Committee Chairman Lea (D-Calif.), according to its title, is aimed "to prohibit certain coercive practices affecting radio broadcasting."

It would prohibit the use of threats or force to "coerce, compel, or constrain" a radio station "to pay or agree to pay" tribute for the privilege of producing or using records, transcriptions or mechanical, chemical or electrical reproductions. It would prohibit use of force or threats to require a broadcaster to employ any person in excess of the number of employees the station wants.

This bill we had expected, what with some of the notorious ukases which "Little Caesar" Petrillo has been wont to exact upon the radio-music world. A year or so ago he denied children at a summer school the privilege of broadcasting certain music. They were not members of his AFM, and they refused to hire another set of musicians who belonged to his union to stand by and draw pay while the students broadcast.

But there is another little matter which the lawmakers should have seen about while they were dealing with Caesar. He ordered American radio stations to cease broadcast of musical programs which originate in other countries.

Although few Americans listen to programs from other countries, that is no argument. We understand the bigoted standpoint of Petrillo. The art of music, to him, is just a matter of union, being judged good only in the degree that it brings in dollars.

Aside from the fact that he tells American stations what they can and cannot do, there is the matter of offending the musicians of other countries, with who were trying mightily hard these days to get along. Cultural and educational isolationism, bad enough as it is at this time, will grow even worse.

In spirit this is not unlike Hitler's burning of the books back in 1933. Actually, we might add, this is a pure example of how Petrillo in the past has done just about what he pleases. We hope that time is growing short.

Experiences In Price Controls

III CURRENT INFLATION FALLACIES

Inflation is the process of a great increase in the quantity of money in circulation. Its foremost vehicle in continental Europe is the issue of non-redeemable legal tender banknotes. In this country inflation consists mainly in Government borrowing from the commercial banks and also in an increase in the quantity of paper money of various types and of token coins. The Government finances its deficit spending by inflation.

Inflation must result in a general tendency towards rising prices. Those into whose pockets the additional quantity of currency flows are in a position to expand their demand for vendable goods and services. An increase in demand must, other things being equal, raise prices. No sophistry and no syllogisms can conjure away this inextricable consequence of inflation.

The semantic revolution which is one of the characteristic features of our day has obscured and confused this fact. The term inflation is used with a new connotation. What people today call inflation is not inflation, i. e., the increase in the quantity of money and money substitutes, but the general rise in commodity prices and wage rates which is the inevitable consequence of inflation. This semantic innovation is by no means harmless.

First of all there is no longer any term available to signify what inflation used to signify. It is impossible to fight an evil which you cannot name. Statesmen and politicians no longer have the opportunity to resort to a terminology accepted and understood by the public when they want to describe the financial policy they are opposed to. They must enter into a detailed analysis and description of this policy with full particulars and minute accounts whenever they want to refer to it, and they must repeat this bothersome procedure in every sentence in which they deal with this subject.

The second mischief is that those engaged in futile and hopeless attempts to fight the inevitable consequences of inflation—the rise in prices—are misquoting their enemies as a fight against inflation. While fighting the symptoms, they pretend to fight the root causes of the evil. And because they do not comprehend the causal relation between the increase in money in circulation and credit expansion on the one hand and the rise in prices on the other, they practically make things worse.

The best example is provided by the subsidies. As has been pointed out, price ceilings reduce supply because production involves a loss for the marginal producers. To prevent this outcome the Government grants subsidies to the farmers operating with the highest costs. These subsidies are financed out of additional credit expansion. Thus they result in increasing the inflationary pressure. If the consumers were to pay higher prices for the products concerned, no further inflationary effect would emerge. The conditions of the market would be restored to their normal state. The only way to prevent the increase in money in circulation and credit expansion on the one hand and the rise in prices on the other, is to stop the printing of money and the issue of banknotes. This is the only way to stop the inflationary process. The only way to stop the inflationary process is to stop the printing of money and the issue of banknotes. This is the only way to stop the inflationary process.

Nation's Press

NOT IN 1946
(Fort Wayne News-Sentinel)
It is considered likely by some that 1946 is the year which will show whether socialization, or nationalization, is to continue apace, all over the world, or will dwindle in importance.

Apparently this belief is based on the curious assumption that socialism will reach its peak during this year, and must then either prove its superiority over all other systems in such a short space of time, or die.

This, we do not believe. Socialism is a slow process which has moved by fits and starts in all countries, including our own.

By the standards of economics and politics which obtained, say in 1900, America is already a socialist state. By today's standards, we would be considered only mildly socialistic. It all depends on the perspective.

Right now, General Motors is chinning—and rightly, we think—the UAW demand for tying wage rates to profits is a move toward socializing American industry. Whether the rank and file of UAW members know it or not, this is exactly what it is.

Furthermore, the UAW probably won't win its point in 1946, but may in 1947, or in 1948. In 1900, the closed shop and the checkoff would have been called rank socialism. They are now accepted as common practice, rightly or wrongly.

Another trend to Socialism in America is the proposal for socialized medicine under the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill.

This isn't a brand-new proposal, by any means, because the trend has been plain for years. It received its biggest impetus in the Social Security Act, early in the Roosevelt regime, by which it was established as a precedent that the Government is responsible for keeping one in his old age and that it has a right to take money out of one's pay check to finance the scheme.

From that to socialized medicine is but a step, and while it is not likely that the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill will pass in its present form this year, it will probably pass in some form, and the next, and the next, and will be relatively easy.

So, unless the trend is reversed, which isn't likely unless there is a wholesale and violent uprising on the part of the people, nationalization of medicine is only a matter of time.

The Government's invasion of the electric light and power field started many years ago, and has not yet reached its peak. The proposed Missouri Valley Authority, for example, is still under consideration. Other such authorities will no doubt follow, and it is easy to surmise that one day the Federal Government will control the bulk of generation facilities, and perhaps a large share (as in REA) of the distribution facilities also.

The trend toward socialism in America has been going on, sometimes slowly, sometimes rapidly, for several years and will continue unless, and until, there is a violent public reaction.

Just now, there are no discernible indications of any such reaction during 1946.

England now has 240 oil wells, producing about half a million barrels of crude oil a year. They were drilled during the war by an Oklahoma contractor for the British government.

Synthetic oils have been developed that will continue to flow at temperatures as low as 121 degrees below zero. They are for use in airplane hydraulic systems.

Summers would have 55 tons of peat-surface peat only money which had been already put in circulation. Thus the allegedly brilliant idea to fight inflation by subsidies in fact brings about more inflation.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

COMPLAINTS—A sensational investigation of the conduct of army-navy courts-martial and the administration of martial law in Hawaii may be launched by the senate judiciary committee as a consequence of the vast number of complaints which have flowed to Capitol Hill from all quarters of the globe.

It seems as if almost every man who has been tried by military and naval tribunals or some friend has written to his senator or representative, or directed to the authors of the resolutions proposing an exhaustive inquiry. They are Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, judiciary committee chairman, and Senator Wayne L. Morse of Oregon.

These letters declare that many men were condemned to death by court-martial procedure, although the most they could have been convicted of under a fair trial was manslaughter or justifiable homicide.

The complaints with regard to conditions in Hawaii assert that, although protracted suspension of courts was not necessary for national security, the army rulers trampled on the constitution, the bill of rights and every legal guarantee for the freedom of a citizen.

In his resolution Senator McCarran uses such words as "peonage" and "involuntary servitude" to describe the situation in Hawaii from December of 1941 to October of 1944.

SECURITY—A congressional forum appears to be the only avenue of appeal open to the victims of alleged army-navy oppression for the reason that, under present secrecy orders, the conflict safeguarded the officers involved. Any attempt to get the facts before V-J Day was always met with the official explanation that it would interfere with the progress of the war.

Most of the courts-martial were conducted behind closed doors, with newspaper correspondents barred. In many instances the defendants, especially if they were privates or non-coms, were given counsel with no legal training or competence.

There was no appeal, and boards of review were so loaded with work that they gave only casual study to the details of the trial. They rarely went behind the superficialities of the case. If the superiorities of evidence and the decision were in accordance with military law, the sentence was usually upheld.

REVIEW—Thousands of soldiers are still in jail as a result of this kind of treatment. Many others have been sent back to civilian life under the cloud of a dishonorable discharge. It may be too late to re-educate them, but the senators think they may be able to prevent a repetition.

It is quite likely that both the army and navy may be forced to revise their whole court-martial system, providing the committee and the senate authorize a thoroughgoing review. There has been no review.

Peter Edson's Column:

ON THIS MATTER OF SETTLING STRIKES

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Eight months in the office of secretary of labor have convinced Judge Lewis B. Schwellenbach that there is no one formula for settling labor disputes.

The past five months, since V-J Day, have been about as tough a strike period as the United States has had since 1919. The end is not yet in sight.

Secretary Schwellenbach points to the record of these five months for evidence that neither labor courts, nor compulsory arbitration, nor fact-finding nor any other single set formula will solve all labor disputes. Coming from an ex-judge who believes devoutly in the canonicity of the law and legal procedure, that is quite an admission.

In the oil workers' case, first big controversy to cross Schwellenbach's desk after V-J Day, he arranged for a fact-finding panel. This apparently so scared the operators that they resumed negotiations to settle the strike on their own accord.

In the General Motors case, the CIO United Auto Workers wanted fact-finding, while the employer didn't.

In the steel case, both sides remember the long-drawn-out hearings on wartime steel wages and neither has shown much desire for government fact-finding.

If fact-finding were imposed on the meat packing industry, it might show that labor was not entitled to

UPTON CLOSE: We Supply Money And Men, Russia Gets the Results

Maybe the atomcrats in the Kremlin have an atomic bomb formula, maybe they haven't. Maybe they have plants equipped for production—possibly even in production—of man-and-his-planet destroyers.

With all the German scientists who have enlaved and with all the open pro-Russian sympathy expressed by our scientists and the British scientists and the affiliated European scientists who made the thing for us, only Russian backwardness and Marxist inefficiency, rather than logic, should account for the Kremlin not having the atomic bomb. The men who produced it for us are banded together in a very active little society called the Los Alamos association, so named after the desert spot in New Mexico where it was tested. They are putting out very likely bulletins at their own or someone's expense which I highly appreciate getting, as do other publicists, no doubt. But their thesis is: "Give it all to Russia." As a group and as individuals they are in unhampered touch with Russian scientists, and only their oath would stand in the way of divulgence of data—which scientists might not consider to be divulgence.

The United States government under Roosevelt and Truman's directives has given so freely to technical knowledge, plants and materials to Soviet Russia without cost to Stalin's crew, but entirely at the expense of the American taxpayer, that organized and efficient Russian engineers might easily, from such aid, actually have set up the producing plant for a somewhat simplified but perhaps even more destructive atomic bomb. Were the situation reversed and our scientists and company engineers getting as much free and fervent help from a nation of superior technique as Russia has given them, we would most certainly, in the event of a space of time, have everything with improved results.

So, I repeat, there is no reason why the rulers of Russia should not now have the atomic destroyer, the losses of compromise and mutual suspicion and the general inefficiency of the totalitarian system of industry. But from this point on, note a great divergence. Russia is backwards in industrial production, and backward ones in the psychology of dealing with rivals, or to be more general, in knowledge of human beings as they are, individually and in groups.

Contrast this with us. We had to rush right out and show what we had to all of our enemies and rivals. This left us in the position where other people could scare us to death, and make laughing stocks out of us before the world by maintaining the mystery of having something "better." It was not necessary that this weapon be used to win our recent wars, as every military man and diplomat that testified, if Franklin D. Roosevelt had a shrewd objective in ordering it tried out on the dog, Japan, we do not know. Some of his intimates suggest that with it he was going to bluff Joseph Stalin—hard as that is to believe. A few have even suggested that it was towards Stalin. Perhaps he was quite capable of turning hard when he was sure he had the upper hand.

Anyhow, once he was gone there was no one left who had any intention of turning his back against anybody. The use and consequent revelation of the bomb became a distinct stupidity and liability from the standpoint of statesmanship. How much greater our bargaining position would be today had it been tested in secret by our military alone, somewhere, say, inland from Point Barrow, Alaska, and only enough rumors allowed out to keep the labor trouble makers on pins and needles.

But we threw away our advantage. So Jimmy Byrnes walked into the conference at Moscow with something that Molotov knew all about, and when Jimmie laid his hand on the table, he was in a position to demand a great deal more than he got. He was in a position to demand a great deal more than he got. He was in a position to demand a great deal more than he got.

Someday Americans will regret that their soft-heartedness and abhor their memory. They put our all in a game which was not being played—but rather a different game they couldn't play. Is it any wonder that the G. I.'s, thoroughly aware of the travesty of their effort and of the sacrifice of their dead, demand to come home.

The radicals and pro-Russians are taking advantage of that feeling but the statements of the great school have favored Russia too long to logically protest on that basis now. Perhaps the best we can do is to come home and to start all over again.

MACKENZIE'S Column

(This is the first of two or more columns on Generalissimo Francisco Franco, chief of the Spanish state, to whom the Spanish state has given one of his rare interviews.)

AP World Traveler
MADRID, Jan. 24—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, chief of the Spanish state, has granted me an interview which has taken one of the most unusual turns I've encountered.

Highlights of his statements are these: He is anxious for good relations with the United States. He never subscribed to the policies or to the political views of Hitler and Mussolini and he condemns their persecutions. Spain is developing along her own lines, uninfluenced by either Germany or Italy, and he (Franco) is heading for absolute democratic rule by the people.

As for the hotly debated question of a return of the Spanish monarchy, he says: "It will be approached when this is suitable to the interests of the nation."

At the interview I was encouraged by the most cordial greeting of the generalissimo.

"The people of the United States have fought a great war against nazism and fascism. Thousands of our boys have died for this cause.

coin on the table Molotov simply swept it off the table and made a Russian bargain straight down the line.

Our statement begin to look like tools, in the light of accumulating recent history. They have caused us to spend lavishly of blood and money. They have shown us no gain, spiritually, but rather the repeated losses of compromise and principle and appeasement of the greedy. They have shown us no material benefit—only accumulating loss and expense. This must go down on the page of history opposite Britain's absorption of the bulk of the continent of Africa and the two richest regions in and off of Asia, namely, Siam and the Dutch East Indies. Our profitless leaders must get down on the same page with the empire-builders of Soviet Russia, who have made a monument of selfishness, decorated, with domination of Europe and the steal of a section of mid-Asia from China, as large as half the United States, plus all that the Czar used to have in Manchuria and that Roosevelt and I had were so happy to put him out of when, 40 years ago, we helped the Japs land down a victory over Russia in Manchuria.

But such comparison. Fools be these men who squander our treasure and our blood; men not to be proud of and shown up for fools by their hard contemporaries. Natural Gas Hearing Will Open Monday

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 24—Twenty-four witnesses will present testimony supporting the Texas contention that there is no need for further federal control over the gas industry at the federal power commission's natural gas hearing opening here Monday, Jan. 28.

The witnesses, including Gov. Coke Stevenson and other high state officials, as well as leading technical experts and representatives of all phases of the Texas industry, will appear for the governor's natural gas committee, Charles I. Francis. Among those testifying, will be Al-bert W. Groves, Sellers, Chairman Olin Culbertson and Commissioners Ernest O. Thompson and Beauford Jester of the railroad commission, Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, and spokesmen for Texas consumers, farmers and ranchers, and oil producers, refiners, distributors and transmission line, carbon black makers, natural gasoline manufacturers, and cycling plants.

Attending and taking part in the questioning will be the Texas senate natural gas investigating committee headed by Senator T. C. Chiswick of Quitman. Other members to be present are Senators Wardlaw Lane of Center, Hugh Carney of Atlanta, James Taylor of Krens and Rudolph Weimer of Seguin. The committee postponed its own hearings until after the FCC Texas session.

Presiding at the Houston hearing will be FCC Commissioner Nelson Lee Smith, Mr. Francis said. Commissioners Harrison Wimberly and Richard Sachs also will take part, and FCC Chairman Leland Olds may attend, while Commissioner Claude Draper will be absent. The FCC staff will include Marvin Farrington, as trial examiner, Burton Behline in charge of the investigatory staff and Frank Fields, as counsel.

41 KNOW that," Pike said. "What puzzles me is the fact that they went to the trouble of faking evidence when they had genuine evidence that was a lot better."

Marcia Clay's lips curved in a mysterious smile. She put her hand to the breast pocket of her dress, drew out a handkerchief, and passed it to Pike.

"Like this?" Pike looked at it. It was the handkerchief he had dropped at Bateman's. He said: "Where did you get this?"

"That's not important. What's important is that you've got it." She braked the station wagon and turned into a gravel driveway. "Whoa, was the lipstick?"

"So it was your last night," Pike said. A little frown appeared on her brow. She brought the car to a halt before a little place of white-washed brick that sat on a side-hill. It had the words Lindenmeyer Coffee House printed on the side in script and there was an iron handrail at the entrance.

Marcia Clay shut off the motor and took the keys out of the ignition. She sat back and studied Pike thoughtfully. He said: "Yes, I was at Bateman's last night. Looking for you."

"She nodded. "Lesley Hill saw you leave his hotel. He called father. The father called Bateman's. I hear someone take the receiver on the clock struck 11. But that was all. Then I made tracks to Bateman's."

"Why?" Pike said. "To warn you?" "About what?" "I was afraid father might come to you. He was fully worked up and I had to tell him that Bateman had tried to get in touch with you earlier in evening."

"What could he do?" Pike Marcia looked at him. She said: "My father is a very unpleasant man. He is very unpleasant. He is very unpleasant."

"Get in." Pike got in and the sound of the wheel of a station wagon, parked behind a clump of blue spruce, she had on a sleeveless white dress and a white tennis cap over her blond hair. She said: "Get in."

THERE was a knock on the door. Lois got up and opened the door. It was Henry. He stared doubtfully at Lois.

"A message for Mr. Calvin," he said. "I'll take it," Lois said. Henry handed her an envelope and was gone without waiting for a tip.

"Very strange behavior for a bell-boy," Lois said, and began to open the envelope.

Pike came over, took it gently from her hands, and said: "Did Sam say you were to read my mail?"

"That's not mail," Lois said. Pike read the message. "I am waiting at the service entrance. I have something to tell you. Please hurry. Marcia Clay."

Pike put the note in his coat pocket. "What is it?" Lois said. "Nothing," Pike picked up his hat.

Lois linked her arm in his. She smiled up at him. "Exciting," she said, "looking out for you."

"Yes," Pike said. "I'm going to give you a couple of hours off." He sat her firmly in a chair. "Which one is it," Lois said, "Clay or Tudor?"

"It's Clay," Pike said. "She's got something to tell me."

"I'll bet," Lois said. "If anyone calls, take the message."

"I won't be here," Lois said. "Well, wherever you are, watch your step."

"Watch your own step, darling," Pike said.

Work for New Tech Stadium Is Progressing

LUBBOCK, Jan. 24.—Satisfactory progress is being made in the campaign for funds to build a new $300,000 stadium at Texas Tech, officials in charge have announced.

Spencer Wells, chairman of the Lubbock chamber of commerce campaign committee, said solicitation principally has been confined to persons asked to give $1,000 or more and this phase of the program has already raised over $46,000. He said further work was expected to swell the total.

Meantime, Jason O. Gordon, president of the Lubbock county ex-student association, announced major progress in a drive for funds among alumni and former students. Several checks have been received.

"It is thought every alumni of Texas Tech will want to help in creating this new stadium and will be happy for the opportunity. The new stadium is badly needed and should go a long way toward bringing greater recognition of rapidly growing Tech," Gordon said.

He asked that anyone wishing to contribute to send checks to Texas Technological College Foundation, Box 96, Tech station, Lubbock.

The $300,000 stadium will be named Clifford and Audrey Jones memorial stadium in honor of Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus, and his wife Dr. Jones underwrote $100,000 in bonds for the structure and old directors the principal in that amount eventually would be given Tech. Directors pledged $50,000 and the drive for funds of the Lubbock chamber of commerce and alumni seeks $150,000 more.

College Provides Trailer Homes for Married Veterans

Thirty-five married veterans of World War II will occupy trailer house units now being installed on the campus of West Texas State college for the exclusive use of ex-service men and their families.

Fifteen expandable trailer units already in place have been reserved by couples, as also have most of twenty standard trailer houses located in the same area. Ten standard units have been placed in another location for the use of unmarried veterans. Bath houses, laundries, sidewalks, street lighting, and other facilities are being installed. The college has applied through the federal housing administration for many additional housing units of various types. First occupancy of veterans' town is scheduled for January 28, the day preceding registration for the spring semester.

Rental costs, to be set jointly by the college and FHA, have not been announced. Veterans are being invited to fill out application blanks at the office of Virgil Hanson, business manager of the college, or to write to him for copies of these forms.

In anticipation of a constantly rising demand for housing by veterans and other students, the college is launching a dormitory building program which is expected to involve an expenditure of $600,000 within the next two years. First of these units to be completed will be an annex to Randall Hall for girls, which will house 100 young women. A new dormitory, Applegate Cousins Hall for girls, and additions to Stafford and Terrell Halls for men are other major units of the building program.
