Prospects Are Seen for Settlement of CIO-Oil Workers Strike

Remainder of Tie-Ups Still Discouraging

By HAROLD W. WARD
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—(AP)—The oil fact-finding panel reconvened today with signs that the oldest postwar wage dispute—between CIO-Oil Workers and a large segment of the industry—is nearing settlement.

Agreement on an 18 percent wage increase for the Texas company's West Tulsa refinery, matching the amount Sinclair Refining company previously had settled for at all its operations, was regarded by government officials as a significant break in the three and one-half month dispute.

The union struck in September for a 30 percent increase, leading to navy seizure of 57 refineries and pipelines on October 4.

Strikes in steel, electrical manufacturing and meat packing industries are scheduled to begin in that order on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, idling 1,100,000 workers.

This number would augment the strike of CIO-Auto workers at General Motors, CIO-Glassworkers at Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Libbey-Owens-Ford and an independent union strike at 21 Western Electric company plants.

THE PROSPECTS

With only a week remaining to avert the additional shutdowns, there are these prospects, aside from whatever may stem from the oil fact-finding inquiry:

Steel — President Truman's fact-finding panel has asked the U. S. Steel corporation and CIO-Steel workers to resume collective bargaining. Government labor sources say they are hopeful the company will make its first counter offer to the union's demands for a $2 daily wage increase.

General Motors — The fact-finding board which has finished its inquiry into the strike of 175,000 CIO-Auto workers over a 30 percent wage increase demand likely will report to Mr. Truman by Wednesday or Thursday.

Although the corporation did not participate in the fact-finding proceedings, it still could consider the board's recommendations as a basis for negotiating with the union toward settlement of the 49-day-old strike.

Gangling Comic Of Movies Dies

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif., Jan. 7—(AP)—Silent Summerville, who grew up with the movies, is dead.

The gangling comic, born George J. Somerville in Albuquerque, N. M., 51 years ago, succumbed Saturday night to his third stroke in recent weeks at his home here. Funeral services followed by cremation, will be held tomorrow.

He was a poolroom porter when Edgar Kennedy, another of the veteran comedians, found him in the old days and took him to Mack Sennett, where he started at $3.50 a day. He went through the Keystone Kops, pie-slugging era, directed comedies, went into more pretentious films, starred for years with ZaSu Pitts, and had just completed "The Hoodlum Saint" when he was stricken.

His second wife, Eleanor, a nurse whom he married after an illness in 1936, was with him when he died. He is also survived by a son, Elliott, 13.

NO PROFIT

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The crackmen who broke into the Sinclair Refining company's office in East Chicago Heights went to a lot of work.

They blasted loose a 40-pound safe embedded in concrete, rolled it out on a dolly truck, loaded it on a motor truck and drove away.

In the safe, A. J. Kopp, plant supervisor, told police, were several checks and $3.50 in cash. That's all.

BUDDIES

Pals of war awaiting discharge at Ft. McPherson, Ga., are Pfc. Thomas H. Goggins of Huntsville, Ala., and his miniature pinscher, Tiny and Witsy, above. Goggins, with the 94th division, found the pups in a deserted German village in January, kept them, fed them from his rations. They rewarded him by awakening him near Trier one night in time to stop a German sneak attack, saving his life and those of his buddies.

Red Cross Moves In, as Counties View Storm Loss

NACOGDOCHES, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A Red Cross disaster team from St. Louis joined local officials and relief agencies today in caring for the 500 families made homeless and more than 300 persons injured by the tornadoes which tore across five East Texas counties Friday night. Meanwhile the total of fatalities reached 29.

Robert Edson, Red Cross director of the midwest district, who arrived yesterday from St. Louis, estimated property damage at $2,600,000. This figure is likely to be revised upward when a survey of damage to the pine forests is completed.

Edson presented this additional picture of the effects of the storm: 300 persons injured; 122 still hospitalized; 184 homes destroyed; 200 homes damaged;

410 other buildings destroyed; 317 other buildings damaged.

Two Red Cross emergency dispensing stations have been set up here and another set up at Palestine to issue clothing, food and bedding to destitute families. Nine emergency shelters have been set up by local chapters in the five counties.

National headquarters of the Red Cross announced in Washington yesterday that it had obtained prior-

Child Suffering 3rd-Degree Burns

Mary Ann Morse, small daughter of Mrs. A. D. Morse, is in Worley hospital suffering from third degree burns as the result of a fire at the family residence, 620 N. Roberta.

Attending physicians described the child's condition as "very serious."

Fire Chief Ben White said two trucks answered the call at about noon today, and the fire was extinguished before the house was destroyed.

Chief White said the blaze was believed to have been caused when some combustible material near a stove was ignited.

It was reported that several other children were in or near the house but none were injured in any way.

'Tiger's Case Goes Before High Court

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The supreme court called for arguments today on whether to step into the case of Japanese Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, under sentence to die for Philippines atrocities.

Jury Charged To Cite Duty Of Parents

Saying that "they could do no greater service than bring parents of delinquent children before them," District Judge W. R. Ewing called the grand jury today with making a thorough investigation on the subject in Pampa.

Judge Ewing asked the jury to advise the parents as to their responsibilities and as to the penalty they (the parents) were subject to if they failed to carry them out.

He further cited the law which applies to the responsibility of parents toward their children: The law reads as follows:

"In all cases where a child is caused to become a delinquent child or a dependent and neglected child under the age of 17 years, whether previously convicted or not, the parent, guardian, or any person, who shall in any manner cause, encourage, act in conjunction with or contribute to the delinquency or the neglect of any such child under the age of 17 years, shall be fined not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned in jail not to exceed one year, or both."

Judge Ewing continued by saying:

"Every child must have supervision and control, and the natural and logical source of this control should be found in his own home. The parent is given the legal authority to use physical force, within reason, and any other reasonable means of enforcing this control over his child."

"In any event, if the parent will not control his child, then in self-defense, the community must assume this control."

The jurist stated that the primary factor in juvenile delinquency was truancy from school.

In his report he stated that more than 87 per cent of all delinquency

Amarillo Officer Dies From Wounds

AMARILLO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Col. Carl W. Connell, 55, commanding officer of Amarillo Army Air field, was found dead of a gunshot wound in the head early this morning in his apartment here. A coroner's verdict has not yet been returned.

Funeral arrangements are pending word from relatives in Birmingham, Ala., where Col. Connell was born. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Wilda Connell.

Col. Connell was sent to Australia as chief of supply and maintenance for the Fifth air force after the Pearl Harbor raid. The following year he was made commander of the Fifth air force service command in New Guinea with the temporary rank of brigadier general. He returned to the United States in February 1944.

In 1944 he assumed command of the Amarillo Army Air field. He was awarded the Distinguished Service medal for achievements in New Guinea, and was rated a combat pilot and combat observer.

Man Stabbed as 200 Have Free-for-All

HOUSTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A gang fight in which about 200 youths were involved was broken up by police shortly after midnight last night after one man had been stabbed in the shoulder.

The injured man is S. O. Harrison, 28, who told police he was only a spectator. He was treated at a hospital for a 10-inch gash in his shoulder.

City Detectives H. D. Lozano and D. A. Kelley arrested four young men in connection with the fight.

COURSE-SETTER

This is the high court's first encounter with the case of a convicted war criminal. Its decision may decide the course of other war crimes hearings.

Yamashita asked — in airmailed petitions — that he be brought from Manila to Washington for a hearing before the supreme court or one of its justices. Instead, three of the U. S. army lawyers who were appointed to defend him in his Manila trial were flown here to represent him.

DEATH IMPENDS

A five-member American military commission decreed death by hanging for the "Tiger of Malaya."

The commission's action was precedent-setting in international law in that Yamashita was condemned for condoning uncounted atrocities by his troops.

On this point, the conqueror of Singapore and former Japanese commander in the Philippines protested to the supreme court:

"The war crime of a subordinate, committed without the order, authority, or knowledge of his superior, is not the war crime of the superior. The pleadings in this case do not allege that the petitioner (Yamashita) ordered, authorized or had knowledge of, the commission of any of the alleged atrocities."

"It cannot properly be contended that the commanding general of an American occupational force becomes a criminal everytime an American soldier violates the law. X x x It is the basic premise of all civilized criminal justice that one man is not held to answer for the crime of another."

'Cooperation' Seen in Palestine Discussion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—President Truman expressed confidence today that the "spirit of cooperation" will characterize all operations of the Anglo-American inquiry into the Palestine problem.

The White House said in a statement issued as the group opened hearings that the agreement of British members to bring in inquiry here was an evidence of that cooperation.

"The President is glad to note that the committee has started its proceedings so promptly," the statement said.

Tornado Fatal to 3 In Arkansas Town

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Three persons were killed, several others injured and 10 or more frame structures were destroyed or damaged when Arkansas' first tornado of 1946 struck a plantation section a few miles south of here last night.

The tornado occurred during a heavy rain. It killed a man identified only as Taylor and a Negro couple, tenants on a plantation near Jennie, four miles south of here. Chicot County Sheriff John Biggs reported.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE

ADMIRAL NIMITZ WOULD ASSUME THERE'S DANGER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said today "all of us must work under the assumption that an emergency is imminent."

In an address prepared for a class at the Army Industrial college here, the new chief of naval operations said that in the recent war "a great moral strength enabled us to fight a delaying action which afforded us precious time to produce for our recovery."

"But even a valiant delaying action x x x may not afford us sufficient time to arm ourselves fully in the event of another war. The demands will probably be immediate, and to that end it is imperative that the country's fighting services, the non-military governmental agencies, the industrial elements and the people in general work and plan more closely together than ever before. x x x

"Plans must be so well developed that they can be put into operation literally overnight. I urge you to keep this dominant factor of time before you constantly."

Nimitz told the industrial college students it was their job to "work See ADMIRAL, Page 6

Progress Is Reported in Composing China Factions

CHUNGKING, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall met today with government and communist peace negotiators and at the end of the first historic session declared that "we have made progress."

President Truman's special envoy said the conferences would be resumed tomorrow.

Marshall met for about three hours with Gen. Chou En-lai, head of the delegation the communists sent here to talk peace, and Gen. Chang Chui, representing the Chinese government.

Both Chang and Chou agreed with Marshall that progress had been made.

Earlier Chou had predicted that a truce halting the spotted fighting in China's civil turmoil would be made effective before Thursday, when China's all-party conference opens its peace meeting.

It was reported reliably that the "cease fire" order would be given when the committee of three concludes its work, possibly tomorrow.

It also was understood that no political problems were touched upon at today's session, which was devoted entirely to a discussion of details for the truce and the resumption of China's paralyzed commerce.

Lo said the proposed truce would not apply to Manchuria, because it was not regarded as a zone of hostilities. Observers here said this might indicate that the Chinese communists were reconciled to control of Manchuria by Chiang Kai-shek's national government.

Occupation of that industrially-rich area by Chiang's troops meanwhile proceeded without reported opposition. A semi-official dispatch confirmed previous reports that national troops began landing by air at Chungking, Manchurian capital, on Saturday.

Reports from Tientsin last night said that Russians in Mukden were ready to welcome the waiting national ground forces into Mukden—if they came unarmed. Gen. Tu Li-ming's forces have been waiting near Mukden for several weeks after their virtually unopposed overland push north from Chinwangtao.

COLLISION FATAL
SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Stel Charles Gronke, 24, San Antonio, was killed instantly when the motorcycle he was riding and a car collided seven miles south of here yesterday.

Yeah, Just Come On Home With Me!

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Said Mrs. Frances Kane, 40, to the teen-age youth who accosted her on her way home, trying to drag her into a pedestrian tunnel:

"Why don't you come home with me? There's no one there."

The youth agreed. Arriving, Mrs. Kane called her husband, Morris, who's 6 feet 2. He chased the boy into a vacant lot, where he vanished.

12,000 Irked GI's Protest at Manila

MANILA, Jan. 7.—(AP)—At least 12,000 American soldiers jammed into the shell-battered ruins of the Philippines Hall of Congress tonight for a noisy but orderly mass protest to the demobilization slowdown and thundered approval of a resolution calling for a congressional investigation.

Boos rang through the hall as an enlisted man, acting as chairman, read a statement from Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, commanding army forces in the Western Pacific, explaining the delay in home-bound trips.

Earlier, thousands of milling enlisted men had marched to Styer's headquarters and sent in a committee of five, which was told by the general that the "changing international situation" prevented sending all eligible men home at once.

Long before 6 p. m., servicemen began gathering and climbing the twisted masonry fronting the great flight of rained steps to the capitol entrance, where a make-shift stage had been set up with a wheezing loudspeaker.

By the time T. H. Harold Schiffrin, Rochester, N. Y., the chairman, called the meeting to order the triangular lot in front of the legislative hall was packed with thousands of soldiers.

THEY CHEERED as one by one enlisted men took the stage and spoke their mind.

The speakers exhorted their listeners to write their congressmen, and declared the war department was changing the rules on redeployment.

One soldier orator asserted that "the only thing they (the war department) ever managed to snarl up was the draft."

Schiffrin read Styer's statement asserting that the army in the Philippines was doing its best to get men home, shipping 549,318 high-point soldiers to the States since the war ended.

"Bear in mind," the statement said, "it took us 30 months to build our strength in the Western Pacific, yet it has been reduced in four months by two-thirds."

STYER'S STATEMENT said there still remained much work to do, supplying occupation forces in Japan, Okinawa, Korea and elsewhere, "rolling up" unnecessary bases and disposing of surplus property.

Meanwhile, a charge was hurled that a uniformed man, representing himself as an officer, examined hundreds of soldier telegrams to congress, which already had been turned in to a cable office here.

W. B. Cecil, 74, Is Killed on Road

William Bury Cecil 74, died in a local hospital last night shortly after being struck by a taxicab in the 1900 block on Alcock street. He resided at 215 N. Nelson street.

According to investigating officers, H. F. Fenton and Charles Newell, Cecil was approaching the McCullough Methodist church, where he was to attend church services, when he was struck.

The driver of the cab told officers that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and did not see Cecil until it was too late.

No charges have been filed against the driver of the cab.

Cecil, a widower, came to Pampa four years ago. He was born Aug. 24, 1871, in Talaska county, Va.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joe Shelton, Pampa, and Mrs. M. E. Stanka, Redondo Beach, Calif.; five sons, D. E. Torrence, Calif.; Bob, of Los Angeles; F. G. of Okla.; and Woodrow, who is serving with the navy at Pearl Harbor; a brother, D. S. Cecil, San Bernardino, Calif.; and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of relatives. The body is at Duencik-Carmichael funeral home.

Effective immediately there will be a four per cent reduction ceiling prices on all used cars, the local price control board announced today.

The price reduction is to include accessories such as radios, heaters and defrosters but not unnecessary accessories.

Chambers of Commerce Will Meet Together

Members of the chamber of commerce board of directors will meet with the junior chamber of commerce tomorrow at a luncheon meeting to be held at noon in the Palm room of city hall.

A business meeting, at which all members are urged to be present by President C. P. "Doc" Pursley, will be held in the chamber of commerce office following the joint luncheon meeting.

Mexico Court Will Talk Over Shootings

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The supreme court of Mexico today discusses the wholesale shooting of political demonstrators in Leon last week — an act which has stirred the nation more than any incident in several years, and which has enveloped the presidential campaign.

The high tribunal is meeting upon the petition of former Leon residents here and Accion Nacional, rightist party. It will decide whether to investigate the occurrence under a constitutional article authorizing such action in political matters.

Opera Director's Child Kidnapped, $20,000 Is Asked

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Golden-haired Suzanne Degnan, 6, was kidnapped for $20,000 ransom today and her father, a $7,500 a year government employe, appealed by radio for her safe return, promising "I'll give you the money."

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Police Inspector Edward Daley reported today that Suzanne Degnan, 5, daughter of an executive of the Metropolitan opera, had been kidnapped and that $20,000 in ransom had been demanded.

The girl's father, James Degnan, summoned police when he found the girl's bed empty this morning. A note asking for the ransom was found in the room of the north side apartment they share with another family, and a seven-foot ladder was found leaning against the window sill.

Another daughter, aged 10, was found asleep in another room.

A Negro cook who has a room in the apartment told police of hearing a commotion at 2 a. m. in Suzanne's room, and that the girl said "I don't want to get up."

Bears To Prove Power This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Baylor's surprising Bears, who pushed themselves into the Southwest conference championship picture with an impressive record in the practice period, will find out this week if they are holding false hopes.

Friday and Saturday nights the Bruins meet Arkansas at Waco and if the Bears do well against the Razorbacks — coping at least, one game — they'll be accorded an excellent chance of winning or gaining a piece of the title.

Baylor will be the last conference team to swing into championship action and they'll certainly be opening the race against the top hands.

Arkansas is the general choice to win the title.

The Forkers showed last week-end they are the team to beat. They blasted Texas' 55-47 and 90-63 — the latter game setting a new record in scoring for a single contest.

The 153 points was seven better than the mark set at College Station Fort 6, 1945, when Texas beat A. and M. 87-59. The Arkansas score also was within five points of the all-time mark for one team — Rice's 95 points against Baylor at Houston Feb. 3, 1945.

The Rice Owls, defending champions, finished the first week with an unbeaten slate as the boys in blue trimmed Texas Christian 59-45 and Southern Methodist 49-29. Texas and Christian and Texas A. and M. were splitting even for the week, the Frogs (downing the Aggies 51-41 after A. and M. had beaten Southern Methodist 45-38.

Five games are on this week's schedule. In addition to the Arkansas-Baylor series, Rice meets Southern Methodist at Dallas Friday night while Saturday night Rice tackles Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Texas and Texas A. and M. get together at Austin.

Sports Round-up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP)—When the Association of College Baseball Coaches gets together tomorrow in St. Louis, the boys likely will find some good material for yelping in the fact that the Reds recently assigned Ted Kluszewski out of Indiana U. while he still had a couple of years of baseball and football eligibility . . . But the Cincinnati club isn't anticipating trouble with I. U., with which it has very friendly relations . . . Ted was married recently and was determined to play pro ball, one Redleg official explains, "and Indiana probably would prefer to have him to go with us than any of the other clubs that were after him." The showdown on that puzzling Ohio State coaching switch, as related by Midwest-ers, is that the "invasion" of Ohio by out-of-state coaches was primarily responsible . . . Seems that Carroll Widdoes isn't the persuasive type needed to keep the boys at home while Paul Bixler operates more in the Paul Brown manner.

East Texas College Coach Leaves Navy; Goes Back to Duties

COMMERCE, Tex., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Commander Bob Berry has resigned his navy commission and will return as head football coach of East Texas State college.

Nine games have been scheduled for the 1946 season as follows: Sept. 21—Abilene Christian college at Commerce, Sept. 28—Louisiana Normal at Commerce, Oct. 5—Howard Payne at Commerce, Oct. 12—Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches, Oct. 19—University of Houston at Commerce, Oct. 26—Austin college at Sherman, Nov. 2—Sam Houston State at Commerce, Nov. 9—Southwest Texas State at Commerce, Nov. 23—North Texas State at Denton.

Nelson Leads at Los Angeles; Sam Snead Very Close

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Byron Nelson, the golf link pariah was on the threshold today of capturing one of the few major tournament titles to elude his grasp—The $13,333.33 Los Angeles open.

With a 212 for 54 holes, Lord Byron ruled the gallery's favorite to wrap up the $2,666.67 first place victory bond in the final round. Nelson methodically stroked out a one-over par 72 in yesterday's third round to take a two-stroke lead.

Still tied for the runner-up shot were Sam Snead, and Jim Ferrier who posted 73's for 214 totals. Close up were Ben Hogan, 216; Jim Demaret, Houston, Texas, and Tony Jenz, 217; Harold (Jug) McSpadden and Herman Barron, 218.

The field was pared to 60 after the third round. Harry Basler was the only player to hit even par—71, and a second-round 79 helped out him well back with a 221. Players with 54 hole totals of 233 and under remained in the running.

Some of the old-timers who fell by the wayside included MacDonald Smith Craig Wood and Leonard Dodson. Only one amateur—Ray Slippy of Inglewood, with 223—was among the leaders.

Mildred (Babe) Didrickson, invading a man's world, dropped out at the end of two rounds of 81.

Penn State Frosh Hasn't Forgotten That 60-Yard Run

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 7.—(NEA)—Larry Joe was one of Coach Bob Higgins' first wartime football freshmen in 1942. Larry came to Penn State from Derry, N.H., where he had distinguished himself by a long touchdown run in the school's big game. He harped so much on this feat he fell behind in his scholastic marks.

"Forget about the 50-yard run and concentrate on your studies," warned Higgins, "or else." With a dead-pan expression Larry Joe replied, "But sir, it was a 60-yard run." On his 2nd birthday recently Higgins received a note from his 17-year-old son, still in Europe, which read: "Will be back in March. And don't forget that 60-yard run."

Council of Church Women Install Mrs. Walter Purviance President

Mrs. Walter Purviance was installed as president at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Pampa Council of Church Women in the First Christian church.

Other officers installed by Mrs. Ewing Leach, a past president; were: Mrs. F. R. Gilchrist, first vice president; Mrs. D. V. Burton, second vice president; Mrs. A. L. Patrick, secretary; and Mrs. G. J. Friauf, treasurer.

Mrs. W. F. Taylor, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Miss Dora Jane Armstrong from the American Mission for Lepers.

Leprosy is on the increase, according to Miss Armstrong. She pointed out that there are ten million lepers in the world at the present time, about two thousand of them in the United States. The American Mission is trying to raise $500,000 at the present time to combat this disease. The national leprosyarium, at Carville, La., has four hundred resident lepers.

Mrs. Charles Madeira sang "Calvary," accompanied by Miss Wanda Gordon.

An appeal was read from the National office of the United Council of Church Women for a million diapers, needed at once for newborn babies in Europe. The appeal, asking for new or used diapers, layettes, and used baby clothing, told of conditions inside Europe where new born infants are wrapped in newspapers. New garments must be laundered to meet U. S. shipping regulations. Donations may be taken to local churches or to the home of Mrs. R. H. Nienstiel, 620 N. Frost.

Tea was served by the women of the Christian church at the close of the meeting.

T. C. Davis Marries Oklahoma City Girl

SHAMROCK, Jan. 7.—(Special)—At an impressive double-ring ceremony, read December 23, in Saint Paul's Episcopal Cathedral of Oklahoma City, Miss Carol Jeanne Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark of that city, and T. C. Davis, son of the late T. C. Davis and Mrs. Davis of Shamrock were united in marriage.

Dean John S. Wiley performed the ceremony as the couple stood before a candle lighted altar. Evergreens were used in decorating the church with the bridal aisle marked by white gladioli and plumosa fern. An arrangement of white snapdragons and fern flanked the white satin prie dieu.

Miss A. H. Lee, organist, played preceding the ceremony, and the traditional processional and recessional for the wedding party.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a smart suit of oxford tan gabardine, with an aqua blouse. Her accessories were of a darker shade of brown and her corsage was orchids. She carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. Frederick B. Meek, Jr. attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a chocolate-brown suit with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white snapdragons.

Miss Emily Lee Whittington and Miss Marilyn Massey, bridesmaids, wore identical dresses. Miss Whittington's bridesmaid blue and Miss Massey's lime green, each with matching elbow-length gloves and ornamental hats of feathers and maline. They carried bouquets of pink snapdragons and fern.

High Lyle of Shamrock served as best man, and Melvin Bolber and Frederick B. Meek, Jr. were ushers.

Mrs. Clarke, the bride's mother, wore a dress of dark brown with a corsage of red roses and Mrs. Davis, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a dress of black and blue sheer wool. She also wore red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Massey. Tall baskets of white gladioli, huckleberry, and plumosa fern, with arrangements of silver leaves made attractive decorations in the Massey home.

Miss Whittington had charge of the bride's book.

In the dining room, the three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Whittington served the cake and Mrs. Frederick B. Meek, Jr. presided at the silver punch bowl.

Following the reception the couple left for an extended trip in the south. They will visit in New Orleans, La.; Blokk, Miss.; Houston and Dallas. For traveling, the bride chose a moss green cardigan suit, as jaquill bourse, brown accessories as an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Classen high school in Oklahoma City, and attended Oklahoma City university, where she was a member of the Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor fraternity, and Phi Delta, social sorority.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of the Shamrock high school and attended the University of Texas four years where he majored in chemical engineering. During his military service he attended the University of Louisville, Ky., working with the medical corps. He is a member of the International Automotive Engineers society and the Oklahoma City Engineering club.

The couple will be at home at 3415 Virginia avenue, Oklahoma City, where Mr. Davis is chief engineer at Cate Oil and Grease company.

Kansas City Girl Marries Former Seabee at Shamrock

SHAMROCK, Jan. 7.—(Special)—Miss Betty Lou Kohn of Kansas City, became the bride of Mr. Gordon Bergman, December 24 in the Church of Christ at Shamrock. The Rev. Murray Wilson, pastor, officiated.

The bride wore a street-length dress of turquoise with black accessories. She is the daughter of Mr. J. P. Kohn of Kansas City and attended West Point high school in that city.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. C. Bergman of Shamrock and attended Shamrock high school. He has recently returned from overseas, after four years in the Southwest Pacific area. For months of that time was spent in Tokyo Bay. He was with the 602nd construction battalion of the Seabees. The couple will make their home in Shamrock.

Olympia Couple Honored Wednesday

SHAMROCK, Jan. 7.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Caperton entertained Wednesday at open house in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. Gene Caperton, who were here from Olympia, Wash., for the holidays.

Red carnations and fern decorated the living room. Punch and cookies were served from an attractively appointed table, centered with an arrangement of poinsettias, Washington holly and red candles. Mrs. Frank P. Carvey, Jr. poured.

Guests calling during the afternoon included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Nichols of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Burford Reynolds, Lieut. and Mrs. T. M. Caldwell, Jr., Major Jimmy Winchester, Midshipman Roy Holmes and Midshipman Royce Lewis of Galveston, Pat Elmer, Hugh Lyle, Mrs. Harris Tilley, Mrs. Walter Pendleton, Jr. Miss Lois DuBoise of Austin and Miss Marjorie Taylor.

Wheeler County Clerk Married at Christmas

SHAMROCK, Jan. 7.—(Special)—Miss Mary Eunice Noah and Mr. Harry Wofford, county clerk of Wheeler county, were married in a pretty home wedding on the evening of Christmas day at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Noah of Wheeler.

The couple stood before the mantel, which was banked with greenery and lighted candles. Tall baskets of pink carnations and snapdragons completed the decorations.

The Rev. Hugh H. Hunt, pastor of the First Methodist church of Wheeler, read the single ring ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. E. H. Kennedy, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride was dressed in a powder blue suit with brown alligator accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations and baby breath.

Miss Frances Noah, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mr. Harry Garrison, nephew of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Wofford is a graduate of the Wheeler high school, and later attended business college in Fort Worth. She has been employed in the county clerk's office in Wheeler, and prior to her marriage, she was serving as secretary to the district supervisor of the Veteran's center at Canyon.

The bridegroom is county clerk of Wheeler county, and owns the Wheeler County Abstract company. He is a graduate of the Shamrock high school and was associated with business in Shamrock before moving to Wheeler.

Immediately following the wedding, the couple left for a short trip. They will make their home in Wheeler.

Victory Brings No Respite From Wartime Shortages at Home

By RUTH MILLETT

A state OPA director is complaining because some of the restaurants who said during the meat rationing era that they needed increased supplies of meat, but they could offer something besides macaroni and fish still do not have any meat on their menus.

"Don't we all know just how he feels?"

We thought with the war's end standing in line would end, too—but we are still standing in line to buy most of the things we need.

We thought that when the war was over people would want our business—but we find ourselves still in the position of asking a favor if we want to get an automobile repaired, the plumbing fixed, etc.

We thought that as soon as gas rationing was over we would get good delivery service—but it hasn't seemed to improve much, if at all.

We thought when the armed forces quit needing so much material for uniforms, etc. there would be plenty of men's and children's clothes at prices we could afford to pay. But supplies are still short for Dad and Junior.

We thought when the excuse, "Don't you know there is a war on?" could no longer be pulled on us we would get old-fashioned courtesy, consideration and service once more. But there is still plenty of room for improvement.

So we know exactly how the OPA director feels when he writes into a restaurant that a few months ago was clamoring for more red points and finds that even with meat ration free, the menus are still meagre. It is always kind of a let-down to find "wartime conditions" when there is no war.

We the Women

By RUTH MILLETT

NEA Staff Writer

A veteran who married an English bride when he was stationed in the British Isles is asking for a divorce because his wife compared him unfavorably with Englishmen and constantly ridiculed his American customs.

Thousands of Yanks have married girls of foreign countries—and presumably they want those marriages to last.

But they won't—any more than this one did—unless both husband and wife can learn to stop bragging about their own country and its people and get over the provincial habit of finding fault with everything foreign.

That plenty of foreign brides are disappointed in America because it doesn't in their estimation, come up to what their husbands innocently led them to expect, is evidenced in the letters I receive from them.

The homesick Yanks who married foreign girls apparently went all-out boosting their country and their home towns and in assuring their wives they would be crazy about living there.

Well, naturally, America isn't going to look any better to strange longshore girls from another land than her own country looked to the soldier who found himself stationed there.

TOO MUCH RISK

It's all over now. But veteran pilots in Washington said they never had seen a non-military flight undertaken in such bad weather as prevailed on Christmas Day when President Truman took off on his trip home to Missouri and three family Christmas dinners.

Most of us fortunately didn't know how bad flying conditions were until we read about them later. And then most of us probably felt a little scared at what might have happened, and immensely relieved at what didn't.

Mr. Truman's desire to continue a long-established custom of going home for Christmas can be appreciated. But it can't be applauded under the present circumstances, for all the courage he showed in the attempt.

Like a lot of his fellow countrymen, Mr. Truman is a plain sort of man who loves home and sentiment and tradition. But he surely knows by now that one can't be a plain sort of man and be President of the United States, particularly in times of crises.

The President has an obligation to the people whose government he heads to protect his life against unnecessary dangers. And the people in turn are beset by enough national troubles today without worrying over whether the President is going to risk his neck on trips which, in view of his position, knowledge and responsibilities, are of secondary importance.

We like to see Mr. Truman have as much fun and relaxation as his duties permit. He deserves them. But we hope he won't take such a long chance again for a purely personal pleasure trip.

AS HISTORY REPEATS

The disgusted veteran of 1919 who complained, "We fought for democracy and got prohibition," has a disgusted veteran son who can very well complain in 1946, "We fought for democracy and got J. Caesar Petrillo."

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President, Furling College

SHELTER

Mussolini is dead, Hitler is still missing and Hirohito is taking orders from an American soldier. A mortal craving for power appears to have started World War II. Any individual who can find something that a great many people need, and figure out a way to keep them from getting it, has put himself in a "key position" to make a lot of people suffer.

One thing a lot of people want right now is shelter. Shortages of building materials and scarcity of skilled workmen have combined to make housing about the scarcest commodity in common use. It is an every-day necessity, too. People have to have a place to live and they will pay what it costs to get in out of the weather, or they will take whatever shelter they can afford.

HUMMING AND HAWING

Comes now proposed legislation to protect home buyers and home builders from inflation, by governmental controls. Administration of rulings always brings delay, and more delays. Now we need housing, and more housing. Natural, competitive safeguards will provide better protection against inflation than rulings, as certainly as rulings will keep out more cold than tape.

The strategy is to fix ceiling prices on residential property, new and old, to allocate building materials and regulate the transfer of new real estate. Allocating materials means giving somebody the right to say who can build and who can't. A crafty "co-ordinator" with such authority could soon have a great many fellow citizens doing his bidding. America needs a V-B Day on bureaus.

GUSSING AT PRICES

Ceiling prices on old residential property is an absurd idea. There is nobody in my state able to umpire the transfer of old homes in my town, much less yours. Such laws are only made to break. A legal ceiling on new-home prices might be easy to express in a mathematical curve but its result would be bad. It would tend to cheapen construction and encourage jerry-building.

Clamping down on the sale of vacant lots would surely be wrong in point of expedience. It would kill much precious time. Service men are coming home in droves after next year. They want places to live, no later than they can get wife and baby out of the in-laws' spare room. They are entitled to a home and ought to have it as fast as their local builder can meet their needs.

I don't want to see today's new home makers (least of all service men) pay three prices for homes, but natural competition among builders would prevent it if they could get materials. Paying a premium for promptness in a time of emergency is a trivial matter compared to the "highway robbery" we are courting in shoddy houses, built cheaply to sell under a ceiling.

Government's moral obligations to home-seeking service men are three: (1) Help builders get good building materials quickly to make suitable, small homes. (2) Begin no public works to busy the building trades until the home need is relieved. (3) See that mortgage money is not carelessly thrown around. Bank loans ought to be easy on well-built houses and impossible on poor ones.

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

DISCOUNT—Winston S. Churchill's surprisingly fierce antagonism to the Atlee government's social and economic changes was forecast in almost forgotten attack which he once delivered on the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's reforms affecting health and industry.

The British Tory's caustic comment on the American president's program, which was delivered in 1937, created an international sensation. Had it not been for the war's necessities, it is doubtful whether the two foremost Allied commanders would have renewed their long-time friendship. In his private talks Mr. Roosevelt showed himself to be extremely bitter at the Englishman's interference in domestic affairs.

Surviving new dealers in Washington recalled these remarks during the recent loan negotiations, and likened them to Mr. Churchill's current opposition to Prime Minister Atlee. Their memory led them to discount British and American warnings against treasury advances to a foreign government committed to the nationalization of key industries and financial institutions.

FORESIGHT—The exhumed indictment of the 1937 new deal reveals Mr. Churchill's uncanny foresight, however. He deplored and deprecated Mr. Roosevelt's quarrel with health and business because he had transformed him and Mr. Roosevelt into comrades-at-arms-and-economy. His advice, together with the international needs, eventually induced Mr. Roosevelt to turn his back on reforms and the reformers.

For the British war leader, judgment by his 1937 comment must have said many a mouthful in those after-midnight sessions at the White House, where many problems other than the task of defeating Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini were tossed back and forth.

APOPLEXY—"There is one way above all others in which the United States can aid the European democracies," said Mr. Churchill two years before Germany attacked Poland and four years before the Japanese descent upon Pearl Harbor. "Let her regain and maintain her normal prosperity."

"A prosperous United States, directly and indirectly, exerts an immense beneficial force upon world affairs. A United States thrown into financial and economic collapse spreads evil far and wide, and weakens France and England just at the time when they have most need to be strong."

In quiet times, he concluded, "there is much to be said for some of these issues being patiently fought out. But even the most enthusiastic new dealer might ask himself whether, with Europe and in the condition, this is a good thing for the United States to indulge in this devastating internecine war."

The well-being of the United States may spell not only the well-being, but the safety of all sorts and conditions of men.

TURNING THE PAGE INTO A NEW YEAR

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If 1946 is going to be anything like 1945, you can have it. You'll probably get it, anyway.

As the old year dies, the usual custom is to name the outstanding man and woman of the year and then write polite but dull obituaries telling what great accomplishments there were in the fields of science, history, business, government and belles lettres.

But 1945 was famous the other way, too. Everyone will have his own ideas on this, but in picking the outstanding turkey, egg-laying busts, boppers, Brodies and belly-laughs for the award of the royal razzberry of the year, there is a wide variety to choose from.

Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo were of course in a class by themselves. But: Lauren Bacall sat on Harry Truman's plane. Elliott Roosevelt's blaze was taken for an airplane ride and lived through the shame of the fiasco, only to be destroyed when it bit him.

Madame Frances Perkins took off from the hip and missed on abolishing the war labor board too soon, on firing Will Davis as economic stabilizer for something he didn't say, on telling the United States to get back to business while he himself was making whoopee in Tennessee. The labor-management conference flopped hard, after which the labor and management representatives tried to blame Truman for the natural results of their own folly. Reconversion Director John W. Snyder took controls of housing too soon, and had to put them back on again. He also had to pull back and revise downward his prediction of eight million unemployed by April 1.

Congress' own record for not being able to decide what to do about full employment, unemployment compensation, minimum wages, health insurance and other social security reforms must rank high in any compilation of 1945 failures. In foreign fields the record was better, but there are a number of international stinkers that will take a long time to live down. Recognition of Argentine's fascist government is still a cause for red-faced embarrassment.

The London meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers scored a rousing zero. Eleanor Roosevelt was named a delegate to the United Nations organization. We have stumbled into we know not what in Palestine. How about a solemn resolve to do better in 1946? Turn the page.

UPTON CLOSE:

'If You and I Were Japs of a Better Sort'

Perish the thought — after we have given it due consideration — but since we got the Japs in our laps for better or worse, the best way to get at the question of what to do about them is to try to put ourselves, for the moment, in the places of the Japanese — of the better sort, of course. After all, no one can tell either you and I or the Japs why the stock lit with us on this hemisphere instead of in a land of slant-eyes on the other side of the Pacific.

Long ago, from much experience, I published my conclusion that the Japanese, made excellent friends — perhaps the best in the world up to a point — at which point the friendship definitely had to take second place to a previously loyalty which might make it seem necessary for your friend to cut your throat some fine morning. This loyalty was the doctrine trained in the Japanese from infancy, over hundreds of years, that the "Emperor" meant, in practice, whatever idea or clique dominates His Majesty's will, and his interests and wishes are to come before any obligation of friendship or even of duty to family. It is much the same idea which Hitler was instilling into his Nazi youth — doubtless Hitler, as well as the communists in Russia, learned from the idea in its most extreme phase as practiced in Japan.

Now as Japanese of the better sort, you and I would start with this idea. We would be frantically loyal to our hitherto unconquered island country, and most sensitively proud of its highly developed natural and poetic beauties. Our nation having adopted modern sanitation and medicine, and having taken care of its beggars, and eliminated actual starvation, and superficially, at least, industrialized and modernized us and proved that we could successfully compete with the world's greatest trading nations, and having received recognition as one of the world's great military powers, you and I as Japanese of the better sort would be intensely egotistic and particularly contemptuous of our mainly inferior neighbors, the Koreans, Chinese and the people of Siberia, who had not cleaned up their filth or their beggars and who remained backward in industrial production and transportation.

From these commonsense fundamentals you and I as Japanese of the better sort would look out upon the world near and far and see Russia encroaching upon her neighbors in Asia. We would note that the Churchillianism of the British, which has embraced and expanded almost all of the Rooseveltian reforms, Presidential aides with long memories for that the Churchillianism, if he should duplicate his earlier frankness, might apply to the present regime.

"This warfare," he continued, referring to Mr. Roosevelt's feud with private business and industry, "has taken three main forms: First, the attack upon the capital reserves of great corporations, which has woefully crippled their power to make future plans and give future work; second, the remorseless pressure of uncertainty and ill will which has been maintained against sphere of public utility undertakings; third, the irksomely hampering restrictions imposed upon market and stock exchange restrictions."

"The effect has been to range the executive of the United States against all the great wealth-producing agencies of the capitalist system. On both sides the blood is up, and between them, in their fury, they can undoubtedly tear the financial and economic strength of the American people to pieces."

The late President's admirers are now asking whether Mr. Churchill, in his defense of private capitalism, knew then that the British government owned more than 400,000 shares of General Motors and had millions of dollars' worth of securities in other great American corporations.

SAFETY — Mr. Churchill did not condemn the new deal utterly in this 1937 observation. But he did believe that world problems made it wise to defer far-reaching attempts to change the capitalist system until less disturbing days.

In view of postwar crises, it is known that he feels the same way about the Atlee and Truman programs.

In quiet times, he concluded, "there is much to be said for some of these issues being patiently fought out. But even the most enthusiastic new dealer might ask himself whether, with Europe and in the condition, this is a good thing for the United States to indulge in this devastating internecine war."

The well-being of the United States may spell not only the well-being, but the safety of all sorts and conditions of men.

And then if you and I were Japanese along about 1941, we would have seen various nations of the white race setting out to mutually exterminate one another and, in a baffled way, have permitted our militarists, to join first one side and then to have schemed to switch sides, for the sake of getting as much for our country out of this madness of the western countries as we could.

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP World Traveler

PARIS, Jan. 7.—The French capital's famous girl-show, the Folies Bergeries, has, of course, always been a revealing affair, but in these days one finds it making disclosures in a far larger sense than is implied in our little pun.

One shouldn't expect, for instance, to be able to gauge the state of the nation from a visit to the Folies, or yet to make interesting psychological observations regarding the French character. Still, that has been the experience of Madame Mack and myself on renewing acquaintance after some years with this internationally-known variety show.

We noted that a large percentage of the crowd was American officers and G.I.s.

Our first discovery had to do with the state of the nation, and it was indeed startling. The great theater was unheated although it was sub-freezing. Most spectators kept their overcoats on, as did many of the orchestra, and they still were cold. The real sufferers, however, were the ladies of the cast, who were in an unhappy state of deshabille for such a night. G-strings aren't great protection against winter blasts, and some girls were blue with cold. Still, they went through two and a half hours of torture without losing their smiles.

So here again there was registered in an extraordinary manner one of the most dangerous problems not only of France but of all Europe—the terrible shortage of coal and other fuel.

Mrs. Mack and I were much interested in getting the reaction of the G.I.s to this G-string symphony, which is considerably more liberal than the shows to which the boys are accustomed at home. The present Folies, by the way, are no more free-and-easy than were those which I saw offered a generation ago during the last war to the dads of the present G.I.s. But the Folies always were naughty. That's the naked truth.

It must be admitted that some very handsome figures drifted across the stage. Still (and we thought this would be of particular interest to the girls back home) the G.I.s showed little or no enthusiasm. They applauded a superb strongman act, some very funny turns by a comedian and other bits—but had small commendation for the back-to-nature scenes. The boys just sat there, chewing gum and viewing us, with all of our pride and accomplishment, in a class with the neighbor Asians whom we detested and a class below the people of Africa, Persia and elsewhere, as persons unfit in any quantity, however small and regardless of residence, to become citizens of the United States.

And then if you and I were Japanese along about 1941, we would have seen various nations of the white race setting out to mutually exterminate one another and, in a baffled way, have permitted our militarists, to join first one side and then to have schemed to switch sides, for the sake of getting as much for our country out of this madness of the western countries as we could.

HOLLYWOOD—Betty Grable did a particularly good emotional scene for "The Shocking Miss Pilgrim" and Director George Seaton commented: "Why, Betty, you're a wonderful actress." "Yes," said Betty, "but I'd hate to do it for a living—without legs." . . . What made George Sanders so about that recent magazine article was not what it said about him, but the fact that it mentioned his wife, which he doesn't. . . . Jimmy Stewart and Clark Gable will be co-starred in a new AAF short.

Lloyd Nolan is the latest actor itching for a director's berth. . . . Aside to Producer Frank Ross: Bruce Bennett, who was so good as Mildred Pierce's first husband, would be terrific as Dimitrios in "The Robe." . . . Esther Dale, that swell character actress who once played Carrie Nation on the Broadway stage, now would like to play Mrs. Feeley, the beer-drinking heroine of "Suds in Your Eye." She'd be great, too. . . . Fox starlet Sandra Poloway and Singer Frank Gallagher have set the marriage date—Feb. 14.

M. G. is turning its whole publicity department loose on the task of building up Margaret O'Brien.

The grapevine has it that Marlene Dietrich is thinking of becoming a producer-star. . . . Arthur Schwartz, who produced "Night and Day," is holding with Hildegarde's manager about a film musical starring Hildy.

CORN—WITH EGGS. Rikuyukon complained to the cook in a Vine street beanery that his eggs weren't cooked right. "Nuts," said the cook, "I have 600 trying the display with an impartial and unemotional attitude.

And what does all this mean? Well, if you are going to suggest that the boys are base, you will be wrong. Healthy-minded lads don't get base. I think it means that a little of this sort of entertainment goes a long way with the average American.

China was once a strong nation until her best soil washed away. . . . Gregory Peck's photograph still appears, we hear, in a pamphlet given to all tourists at New York's Radio City. . . . Lana Turner's new short bob may start a trend. Jane Russell has clipped her long black tresses, too. . . . Sam Goldwyn and Canadian Ambassador L. B. Pearson are huddling on Sam's film version of "Earth and High Heaven." A major part of the film may be produced in Canada.

"It's Dinah Shore again in the popular singer race. She just won her 24th poll. . . . Walt Disney is paying Maria Gambarelli, the Met's premiere danseuse, to star in and do the choreography for a Salvatore Dali picture which Walt is working on.

Agricultural Leaders Named In Wheeler-co

SHAMROCK, Jan. 7.—(Special)—Gilbert E. Shaffer, Cecil O. Martin and Tom E. Layman have been chosen county committeemen to direct agriculture in Wheeler county during 1946.

The three county committeemen were selected by community committeemen recently elected by farmers of the county. Shaffer is chairman of the three-man group and Martin is vice chairman.

"These men have performed their duties effectively and with untiring efforts in the past by trying to administer the program in a manner to give every producer an equal chance to use the money made available by the federal government to profitable advantage in building up his soil by protecting it from wind and water erosion, by hardheaded administrative officer of the Wheeler County ACA, declared.

No crop control will be in effect in 1946. Farmers may plant all the cotton, wheat and other crops they desire and still have protection by the government through crop loans, support prices and insurance which are administered through the AAA committeemen.

A program has been adopted by the committee that will allow each farmer $1.50 per acre on cropland and 20c per acre on grass to be used on his farm carrying out soil-building practices until the $74,200 allowed the county is exhausted.

A daily balance must be kept of this fund throughout the year as it cannot be exceeded. That is why each farmer must secure prior written approval for each practice he plans to carry out before the work is started. All applications will be granted for a limited time in order to keep unused funds from being tied up throughout the year and not used.

LaGuardia Will Get A Pension, Too

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP)—An annual pension of $10,474 for former Mayor F. H. La Guardia—who will become a radio commentator at an estimated $100,000 a year—was announced Saturday by his successor, Mayor William O'Dwyer.

In the event of La Guardia's death, his wife would receive a cash payment of $10,000 and $10,081 annually during her lifetime.

During a 16½ year career in public office the former mayor paid about $77,128 into the city pension fund, or nearly half the amount he now is eligible for.

has its beginning when children first skip school and get away with it.

"The time to stop truancy is when it starts," Judge Ewing continued. "This is, also, the primary legal duty of the parents."

Judge Ewing concluded by saying: "The amazing fact about the whole procedure is that very few parents seem to know that Texas law provides punishment for parents who cause or contribute to the delinquency or neglect of their children. They come into court with the attitude: 'these are my children, and I have the right to do what I please with them, and what I do is nobody's business.'

Cotton-Price Control Plan Provokes Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Despite OPA's flat announcement that price ceilings will be clamped on raw cotton to check mounting clothing costs, agency officials acknowledged today they hope to avoid such action.

They disclosed a big "maybe" in the plan as the government, in another move, tried to assure sufficient apparel for veterans. It appeared to retail dealers to set aside for servicemen up to 100 percent of their stocks of scarce garments.

"NO BLUFF" OPA officials who asked anonymity, said they wanted to make it clear there was no "bluff" in the agency's statements over the weekend that it plans to bring cotton under price control.

But, they added, these plans are conditioned on whether the announcement has the effect of checking speculation in cotton prices, which OPA Chief Chester Bowles said are being bid up by "traders who are betting on inflation."

Bowles said OPA "plans to do everything in its power to avoid" raising prices for clothing.

OPPOSITION VOICED

Texas cotton men today continued to voice opposition to OPA Chief Bowles' plan to place a ceiling on raw cotton to keep clothing costs down.

Their reaction ranged from the charge that it was "an oppressive measure" to the belief of West Texas cotton men that small growers would be forced to turn to grain crops.

Lamar Fleming, Jr., president of Anderson-Clayton and Co., Houston, said last night the OPA plan to impose a ceiling on the 1946 crop was "an oppressive measure that would not be submitted and could not be enforced."

"ASTONISHING" "I am no apologist for the price support policies of the past few years, which boosted our cotton prices in the midst of plenty," Fleming said in a statement, "but, in the present circumstances, the OPA statement is astonishing."

"The only cotton not plentifully available at around parity prices is the better class cotton. The better grades are becoming exhausted because very late maturity and scarcity of pickers made the 1945 crop the lowest grade crop on record."

"The narrow grade differentials of the government purchase programs have prevented the price spread between high and low grades from going wide enough to induce mills to shift their consumption to lower grades."

"Ceilings will not make grades available that do not exist. Nor can ceilings applicable to next fall's crop give any relief to a shortage this winter and spring."

"The OPA evidently declared itself without thinking the matter through," Fleming said.

"I do not believe congress will permit the OPA to put a ceiling on cotton in time of peace. The acquiescence of congress is necessary, for the OPA law will expire June 30 unless congress renews it."

Joseph W. Evans, president of the Houston cotton exchange, said the OPA action "appeared to be an effort on the part of the government to adjust the price of American cotton to the world competitive level."

Strikes

administrators worked to clarify the government's position on a price increase for the "big four" meat packers. This might permit an acceptable compromise to be proposed at a series of Chicago meetings arranged by Conciliation Chief Edgar L. Warren for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The 200,000 CIO-Packinghouse workers may be joined by 135,000 AFL meat cutters in their demands for a 30 per cent wage boost.

The CIO-United Electrical workers late Saturday scheduled their January 15 strike in support of demands for a $2 daily wage increase. Involved are some 200,000 workers at General Electric, General Motors and Westinghouse.

A poll of the 250,000 members of the National Federation of Telephone workers is in progress meanwhile to determine whether they favor walking out in sympathy with the 17,000 striking members of the Western Electric Employees' association.

News of Interest From Canadian

CANADIAN, Jan. 8 (Special)—Following are items of interest from this community:

The report for the year just ended discloses that postal receipts at the postoffice here reached an all-time high. Postmaster Paul Bryant states that a glance over the annual report shows a gradual but steady increase since the low of $8,302.87 in 1933, to $20,074.25 for the past year.

C. F. Pruitt, recently discharged from the armed forces, has accepted the position of principal in the Canadian high school. C. H. Cheeves, who resigned the position as of Dec. 21, will be employed in the state department of public welfare. Cheeves will leave for Austin in a few days for assignment.

Clark Reagan and E. L. Davidson have purchased the former site of the Phillips service station at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, and will erect a concrete block building for their laundry and dry cleaning establishment. They have completed the foundation, but work on the structure is being delayed by too much freezing weather. Some of their machinery has arrived and is housed in a temporary structure on the lot.

The Men's club held its regular monthly meeting in the basement of the Methodist church Wednesday night. Major Vincent Lockhart was the speaker of the evening, and gave account of his experiences in Europe. Major Lockhart is the new editor of the Canadian Record.

The club elected new officers for 1946. J. P. Hazlewood succeeds Carl Zybach as president; W. E. Lalicker, former secretary, was elected vice president; and George Hill is the new secretary. Following the program a chili supper was served by the "eats" committee. C. H. Vaught.

'Dream-WAC'

Visiting Washington, D. C., recently movie producer Jules Levey saw a WAC whom he declared was a screen natural. He was unable to get her identity, so he went through stacks of files at the Pentagon building in search for her. After scores of interviews, he met Maj. Sarah A. Bagby, above, of New Haven, Mo. He believes she's his "Dream-WAC."

O'Daniel Eviction Suit Is Postponed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Scheduled for trial Friday, an eviction suit filed by Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.) against Mrs. Orpha Wilcox has been postponed until Jan. 11, at her request.

Her attorney, Maurice Guertitz, told municipal court Judge Bridge Plagetti she had found a place to live and expected to move early next week. D. Haywood Hardy, attorney for O'Daniel, told a reporter later he would ask dismissal of the case when it is called if Mrs. Wilcox moved by then.

Three suits were filed by the senator to obtain possession of an apartment house he bought for a home. He won his first suit but a motion for appeal, filed by the defendant, is pending. In the second case, the defendant agreed to move by Jan. 29.

77 MILLION BALANCE

AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The state treasurer reported Saturday a total net balance in 116 state funds of $77,163,330, including $12,752,236 in the general revenue fund.

The month end report for November showed a gross cash balance of $82,353,858 in all funds against which there were outstanding warrants totaling $5,190,527.

U. S. Recognizes Austrian Regime

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The United States formally recognized the government of Austria today.

Russia, Britain and France joined this country in granting recognition to the Vienna regime headed by Chancellor Leopold Figl and President Karl Renner. The recognition does not affect the authority of the Allied council, which will continue to carry out "Allied objectives in Austria."

These objectives, the simultaneous announcement said, include "eliminating Nazi influences and institutions in Austria, and assisting in the reconstruction of democratic life."

Recognition of Austria left only Romania and Bulgaria among former enemy Balkan and Danube states still unrecognized by the United States.

A "Look at the Books" or "A Finger in the Pie"?

Which is the UAW-CIO really after? Is it seeking facts—or new economic power? Does it want to know things—or run things? These questions concern you as well as General Motors.

For years the facts about General Motors have been made public.

In spite of this, the UAW-CIO demands a chance to look at our books, with the hint that we could meet Union demands "if the truth were really known."

We have firmly declined to recognize this as a basis for bargaining.

1. The Full Facts are Published

How much General Motors takes in each year—how much it pays employees—how much it pays to stockholders—how much it pays in taxes—how much net profit we make—and many other facts are plainly stated in annual reports and quarterly reports.

These are broadcast to 425,000 stockholders from coast to coast—sent to newspapers and libraries. Additional copies are free for the asking.

2. All Figures are Thoroughly Checked

Every General Motors Annual Statement is audited by outside auditors. Similar figures are filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Does the UAW-CIO honestly believe that General Motors would or could deceive these experts?

3. The Basis of Collective Bargaining is Defined

The Wagner Act lays down the rules for collective bargaining. These cover such areas as rates of pay, hours of work, working conditions.

No mention is made of earnings, prices, sales volume, taxes and the like. These are recognized as the problems of management.

4. Something New has Been Att'd

The obvious fact is that the UAW-CIO has gone beyond its rights under the law—and is reaching not for information but for new power—not for a look at past figures, but for the power to sit in on forecasting and planning the future.

A "look at the books" is a clever catch phrase intended as an opening wedge whereby Unions hope to pry their way into the whole field of management.

It leads surely to the day when Union bosses, under threat of strike, will demand the right to tell what we can make, when we can make it, where we can make it, and how much we must charge you—all with an eye on what labor can take out of the business, rather than on the value that goes into the product.

5. This Threatens All Business

If the Union can do this in the case of General Motors, it can do it to every business in this land of ours.

Is this just imagination? Union spokesmen have said, "The Union has stated time after time that this issue is bigger than just an ordinary wage argument, that it is bigger than the Corporation and bigger than the Union."

For Labor Unions to use the monopolistic power of their vast membership to extend the scope of wage negotiations to include more than wages, hours and working conditions is the first step toward handing the management of business over to the Union bosses.

We therefore reject the idea of a "look at the books" not because we have anything to hide but because the idea itself hides a threat to GM, to all business, and to you, the public.
