Record 29 Force Hits Jap Homeland; Few Outbursts Offset Europe's Quiet

Nazi Humiliation Fully Completed

LONDON, May 10—(AP)—The European war—most devastating in all history—bowed out last night to the deafening roar of 30 volleys from 1,000 Moscow guns, and all that was left of it today was a series of sporadic outbursts of fighting and the monotonous processing of endless streams of German prisoners.

Nazi humiliation was complete. Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, who bullied Europe into the scorching conflict, still was missing—perhaps dead. The No. 2 Nazi, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, was an American captive. The supreme German commander in the west, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, was in American hands. The Luxembourg radio said Dinkerque, last Nazi pocket in France, had surrendered. Streams of dejected German soldiers trudged docilely from by-passed pockets in the Reich.

In a blunt six-minute victory broadcast from his study in the Kremlin, Marshal Stalin said the Soviet Union would not "destroy Germany or its people."

Earlier the Soviet Premier issued his 368th order of the day on the European war. It announced the liberation of Prague, occupied by the Nazis since March 14, 1939. The liberation came four hours after the deadline for cessation of hostilities.

In Yugoslavia, a communique of Marshal Tito said the Partisans were advancing toward Austria against disconnected groups of still resisting Germans.

The German high command in its last communique said all German arms had ceased firing under Admiral Karl Doenitz' order. An emotional announcer read the document, which said "We have achieved great victories but also heavy defeats. We succumbed with honor."

German troops were sent to clear the woods at Segeberg, 25 miles north of Hamburg, where 300 Nazi fanatics were holding out.

Allied headquarters it was disclosed Stalin had sought unsuccessfully to delay the victory announcement of Tuesday. Allied headquarters treated the Berlin signing as a ratification, but apparently Moscow regarded the Berlin act as the actual surrender.

Konrad Henlein, the traitorous Nazi leader, was arrested.

Rural School Aid Bill Is Approved

AUSTIN, May 10—(AP)—A $29,200,000 rural school aid bill received final approval today. The bill, which is the last major appropriation bill to go to the conference committee for adjustment of house and senate differences.

The senate had approved a $28,000,000 rural aid measure and the house had approved the $29,200,000 bill approved by its appropriation committee were cut off by a vote which prohibited consideration of many amendments seeking to increase various allowances to county schools.

The vote on final passage was 108 to 10.

Arguments on amendments had consumed several days when Rep. Jo Jumpfry of Abilene, a member of the appropriations committee, took the floor on personal privilege to berate attempts to increase appropriations above amounts recommended by the appropriation committee.

"We should go slow," he cautioned, "because revenues will not always remain at present as inflated levels."

Goering To Be Tried Before High Tribunal

LONDON, May 10—(AP)—Marshal Hermann Goering will be brought to trial soon, probably before a high tribunal made up of representatives of the Western Allies and Russia, a responsible source close to the United Nations war crimes commission said today.

HE'S ARRESTED

Pictured above is Gen. Maxime Weygand, who commanded France's armed forces prior to the fall of the country in 1940. He was arrested last night in Paris, but charges against him were not specified.

Both recently were rescued from German prison camps in the Alps. Gen. Weygand succeeded Gen. Maurice Gamelin in 1940 after the German breakthrough and was French commander at the time surrender.

Previously and afterward he commanded the French army in North Africa.

Borotra, who campaigned successfully on American and other tennis courts, was head of the department of sports under the Vichy government.

Borotra was one of the world's ten top ranking tennis player 15 years ago.

Weygand, in poor health, is being held in a military hospital. Borotra is under house arrest.

Benes Returns Amid Bombing of Prague

LONDON, May 10—(AP)—President Edvard Benes has returned to Prague, the Czechoslovak capital which he left in 1938 after Munich, the Prague radio announced today.

The Prague radio said German planes again were bombing the big concentration camp at Terezin (Theresienstadt), 53 miles northeast of Prague, where thousands of Jews still were held.

Kesselring's Opinions

NAZI SAYS THERE WAS NO IDEA OF USING GAS

SAALFELDEN, Austria, May 10—(AP)—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, the last commander of the German armies in the west, is "most surprised" that Hitler did not lead his Nazis into a planned bid out in the fortified underground tunnels of the Salzburg-Berchtesgaden area.

Kesselring, found by U. S. troops aboard his special train in the Tyrol-Alps and awaiting completion of arrangements for his fortification.

'Point System' Is Set Up for Releasing Men

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—The war department announced today that a point score of 85 has been decided on as the minimum required for discharge of ground, air and service forces enlisted men at this time.

Men with this total will be considered eligible for release and will start moving next week for separation centers.

Separate critical scores for each of the services will be established in about six weeks.

About 1,300,000 men are to be released in the next 12 months under the point system.

The points for each of four factors for discharge are as follows:

Service credit—One point for each month of army service since September 16, 1940. This is the same as 12 points per year. (More than 15 days will be counted as a full month.)

Overseas credit—1 point for each month served overseas since September 16, 1940.

Combat credit—5 points for each award of combat decorations since September 16, 1940.

Parenthood credit—12 points for each child under 18 years up to a limit of three children.

Those who attain the required score will be released unless military necessity dictates their retention until replacements can be obtained.

A temporary score of 44 points has been set for members of the women's army corps.

The combat credits are based on awards of the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit, Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross, Soldiers' Medal, Bronze Star medal, Air Medal, Purple Heart and Bronze Service Stars (battle participation stars).

Credit also will be given for the following naval decorations to army personnel: Navy Cross, Distinguished Service medal, Legion of Merit, Silver Star medal, Distinguished Flying Cross, Navy and Marine medal, Bronze Star medal, Air Medal and Purple Heart medal.

In addition credit will be given for awards and decorations of a foreign country which may be accepted.

Law Enforcement Pledged by Chief

Pampa's new Chief of Police Louie Allen officially announced his acceptance this morning of his appointment as head of the police department by the city commission yesterday.

Allen made the following statement to a News reporter, concerning his acceptance:

"I appreciate the confidence of the commission in naming me chief of police and I intend to fulfill that confidence."

"In taking over this position, I realize that I am assuming a difficult task of rebuilding the Pampa police force. I want to assure the public that I will make every effort to obtain the best enforcement officers."

"In the meantime, law enforcement here will continue unhindered by the use of emergency officers."

"One of my first official acts as Pampa's chief of police will be to offer complete cooperation with county officers in bringing about the best possible law enforcement."

Small Nations Put Conference To Test, Ask Greater Voice

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10—(AP)—The United Nations conference faced its first big test today on a small nation bid for greater voice in the proposed peace-enforcing security council.

A Cuban proposal to enlarge the council from 11 to 14 or 15 nations was put forward in the conference committee charged with working out council membership and some who attended last night's session said a vote probably would be taken today.

The committee spent most of its three-hour night session discussing the proposition. As the council plan now stands, it would include the Big Five powers, plus six smaller ones.

American delegates sought meanwhile for a formula for fitting a pan-American security system into a world organization without splitting this organization into regional blocs.

They recognized this problem of regional versus world security control as one of the most critical facing the conference.

Latin Americans want the authority to act in the western hemisphere without waiting for world organization orders. To counter this, it appeared likely that advocates of regionalism in other areas would call for similar authority for other zones.

It is here that Anglo-American and some other officials see a danger of world-splitting blocs.

This problem topped all others as delegates struck from the list of remaining conference issues the

Industrial Expansion Possibilities Probed

Y. E. Juge, general freight agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway Co., was in Pampa yesterday to discuss with chamber of commerce members post-war industrial expansion possibilities in the Pampa area.

With Juge were W. M. Gary, connected with the company in the Amarillo offices, and D. M. Dickey, Pampa agent.

All offered their assistance in any new enterprises the Pampa chamber of commerce may encounter. No concrete problems were considered.

U. S. Casualties on Okinawa Mounting

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Superforts opened new leaks in Japan's disintegrating oil pipeline today. Waves from a record striking force of more than 400 B-29's bombed major aviation fuel manufacturing and storage centers.

The rest of the great flight of Superforts continued neutralizing attacks on Southern Japanese airdromes in support for the Okinawa invasion where Yanks have suffered 16,425 casualties.

Four divisions of marines and infantrymen fought slowly southward on Okinawa over mud, pinnacled ridges and Nipponese pillboxes.

Far to the south in the southern Philippines, the 24th division invaded Samar island without opposition. Samar lies in Davao gulf of Mindanao island where other 24th units launched an offensive to wipe out Japanese trapped in a triangular area and relieve a battalion of Yanks cut-off by an enemy counter-offensive.

Australians captured strategic Api hill in their drive toward Taranaki's second largest oil field off the Borneo coast. This is the initial campaign to reclaim oil-rich Pacific islands, major goal in Japan's 1942 conquests. Air and sea blockades have already made them as useless to Nippon as the Burma oil fields, recently retaken by the British.

Probabilities of an American landing on the China coast, originally named as an objective by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz who has shifted his goal to Japan itself, were revived by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, 14th airforce commander, and Gen. Brenton Somervell, Chennault said well-supplied Chinese troops could successfully handle the reconquest of the interior of China, implying that American help would be needed on the coast. Discussing the unloading of supplies Somervell said some help "can be expected along the China coast."

In the help to be expected from the European theater, London dispatches indicated, will be at least some of the two or three hundred

Committee Will Propose $15,000 Air Hangar Here

The Aviation Committee of the chamber of commerce, in a meeting held yesterday afternoon, prepared to go before the county commission at its meeting next Monday to submit a proposition that the county build a $15,000 hangar at the airport.

The committee indicated it is not in favor of asking for the purchase of land at this time.

The commission, at the meeting Monday, will be told by the committee that the "anticipated income" that might be expected from such an outlay.

Under the present setup, the county is leasing the land being used at the Pampa airport, and the city is responsible for operation. The committee has expressed hope that a plan can be arranged whereby individual hangars may be constructed at the air port.

The committee yesterday went on record as approving an air marker for Pampa, and a committee, headed by Jack Hanna, was appointed to determine possible location of such a marker. It was explained that the money to finance an air marker had already been voted by the chamber of commerce and board of city development, so that the committee's approval yesterday left only the matters of location and type to be worked out.

Members of the committee present yesterday were: Joe Gordon, chairman, Hugh Burdette, Frank Culbertson, Jack Hanna, and C. P. Buckley. Also present were Col. James A. De Marco, PAAF, "Red" Wedgeworth and C. P. "Doc" Pursley, chamber of commerce manager and president respectively.

PIG CROP BELOW GOAL; BIGGER SUPPORT PRICE SOUGHT FOR PRODUCERS

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—market glut during the winter of 1943-44.

The house food investigating committee has urged WPA to raise the support price to $12.00 for hogs of all weights and grades.

The AAA survey indicated also that this year's corn acreage may fall 3,000,000 acres short of the WPA goal of 89,000,000 acres and more than 2,000,000 acres below last year's crop. Full production of corn is essential if meat, dairy and poultry supplies are to be increased.

Britain Turns Toward Job of Meeting Japs

LONDON, May 10—(AP)—Prosecution of the war against Japan topped the tasks facing Britain as this nation settled down today after a joyous celebration of V-E day and shouldered its share of the tremendous problems connected with the care and rehabilitation of liberated continental countries and the occupation of vanquished Germany.

With the war in Europe finished, it is expected that British fighting men and equipment will be transferred as rapidly as possible to the Far East, where other British land, sea and air forces already are in action.

Meanwhile, the government is rushing to "completion" plans for support of UNRRA work in feeding and sheltering the European continent's war-stricken millions.

Britain also is prepared to start

Boys Charged in Lake Shooting

Two 16-year-old Wheeler county boys were reported last week to have killed squirrels and song birds at Lake McClellan. Juvenile hearing in Judge Sherman White's county court is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Lake officials took the guns from the boys and brought them to the county attorney's office.

The lake officials said that picnickers were frightened by the shots and reported the boys.

County Attorney Bruce L. Parker explained that had the boys not been juveniles the charges, which would have been federal, would consist of "possession of firearms on government property," killing song birds, and killing squirrels out of season.

Parker suggested the public might take warning from this incident and refrain from carrying firearms while picnicking at Lake McClellan or other governmental lakes.

Food Problems To Be Discussed Here

Miss Gwendolyn Jones, emergency war food assistant from Texas A. and M. college, will spend tomorrow in Gray county to assist with food preservation problems.

Miss Jones will give a demonstration at the Colteco Home Demonstration club at the Recreation hall.

More Tires Are Expected To Go To Home Front

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—The end of the war in Europe will mean an early increase in tires for civilian cars, a war production board official asserted before the senate defense investigating committee.

Discussing effects of carbon black production on tire output, Harold G. Boeschstein, WPB vice-chairman in charge of operations, declared a let-up in military needs will permit an acceleration of tire production for civilian use.

"Of course that doesn't mean that everyone will get all the tires he wants, but it will mean an increase," he said.

Defending the WPB's record for increasing carbon black output, Boeschstein said that on May 1 the annual production capacity had reached 1,104,000,000 pounds and that the ultimate goal of 1,200,000,000 pounds would be reached by September 1.

At one point Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) asked whether the military requirements cutback would not mean a doubling of the present output of one million tires monthly for civilian use.

Boeschstein replied in the affirmative but did not elaborate as to how soon this rate of two million tires a month for civilian drivers would be reached.

Pampan Helped Fight Off Nazi Offensive

Technician, fifth grade, Fred Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Riley, 420 N. Crest, is recovering in an English base hospital from wounds received in Germany April 2.

Riley was a member of the second infantry division which bore the fury of the German counter-attack near Monschau, December 17. The now-famous attack came just when the world felt sure that the Germans were totally beaten.

For three days and nights, the 38th regiment of the Second, beat back repeated enemy attacks. The story of the 38th's fighting in this area has been cited as one of "unit and individual heroism."

The men of the 38th fought with every conceivable weapon. One American soldier was captured and escaped twice within 24 hours. Although the regiment was armed to a large extent with anti-tank guns, much hand-to-hand fighting with pistols was done. The German offensive was finally fought off after the nazis had driven to within a few miles of their goal.

Riley has been overseas over 18 months and went into France on D-day.

'Garden' Is Setting For Junior-Senior Banquet at White Deer

Special to THE NEWS
WHITE DEER, May 10.—"An Old-Fashioned Garden" was the theme of the Junior-Senior banquet given Friday evening in the White Deer high school library.

An archway and a picket fence entwined with flowers, banks of greenery, and silver stars hanging from a canopy of blue created the illusion of a flower garden.

Candles in pastel shades lighted the banquet table, and bowls of red roses were used as centerpieces. Place cards were tiny old-fashioned bouquets of sweet peas and spirea tied with blue and white ribbons, and the programs were decorated with a hand-painted colonial design.

Max Osborn, president of the Junior class, "the Man With the Hole," was toastmaster. The program included: "Our Garden," by Robert Beu; "A Garland of Roses" by Kathryn Price, president of the Senior class; "In an Old-Fashioned Garden" by the sextette, Dorothy Marie Poe, Eriene Matheson, Quida Nell Overstreet, Kathryn Price, Emilene Rapstine, and Lea Mae Bednorz; "Roses," Claudia Everly; "Moonlight and Roses" sextette; "Our Favorite Flowers," toast to the faculty, Phyllis Shuman; and "An Old Bouquet," Supt. Chester Strickland.

Special music was furnished throughout the evening by W. H. White.

The waitresses, members of the Homemaking II class, wore colonial costumes in pastel shades.

The banquet was under the supervision of Miss Louise Williams, homemaking teacher, and Miss Claudia Everly and W. L. Thompson, junior sponsors.

Mrs. E. C. Sidwell Is Hostess Century Forum Club Members

Mrs. E. C. Sidwell was hostess to members of the Twentieth Century Forum club Tuesday with the president, Mrs. Curtis Douglass, conducting the business session. She called the meeting to order and requested that in observance of V-E Day the club pause for a few moments of thanksgiving for the victory in Europe, with praise for those in Europe and prayer for those in the Pacific theater.

The club voted to give one dollar toward the purchase of a radio for the base hospital.

The subject of the day's program was "Socialized Medicine." In answering roll call each member told of a favorite home remedy.

Mrs. C. N. Barrett discussed, "The Government and Medicine." She stated that the results of numerous polls show the great unrest over the distribution of medical care, and the need of some reform. She explained the main points of the Murray-Waggoner-Dingle bill.

Mrs. J. B. McCrery told in detail of various plans of medical reform, other than government control. She said that the country seems to be divided into three camps: first, the stand-patters, desiring things to remain as they are; second, those favoring compulsory reforms; and third, those desiring voluntary reforms.

All facts seem to indicate that unless the medical profession takes a voluntary lead in this problem, the country will probably have compulsory, or governmental controlled medical security, the speaker stated. A round table discussion closed the program.

The hostess served refreshments to the following members: Mesdames, Barrett, Roy Bourland, Frank Carter, Douglas, George Prief, Dick Hughes, J. B. Johnson, Frank Kelley, J. B. McCrery, Frank Perry, Bruce Pratt, Walter Rogers, Sidwell, Arthur Teed, and C. V. Wilkinson.

Auxiliary Hears District Report, Plans Poppy Sale

Monday evening the members of the American Legion auxiliary met at the City club rooms for a combined business and social meeting. Mrs. Al Lawson gave the report on the Eighteenth district meeting which was held in Memphis, May 6-6. Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. L. K. Stout, Mrs. Vance Rhea and Mrs. Roy Sewell attended the meeting in Memphis.

Mrs. Lawson also reported on the Council of Clubs meeting. The auxiliary voted to donate $5.00 toward the purchase of a radio to be given to the Pampa army air field hospital.

Regarding the recent drive for magazines and books made by the auxiliary, to be given to "The Library on the High Seas," a vote of thanks was given to the public for the donation of 148 magazines and 48 books.

Mrs. Roy Sewell gave a talk on the origin of the Flander's field poppy which is sold each year on Saturday before Memorial day by members of the auxiliary.

A short program was given by Mrs. Ray Hall and Margueta Hall. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. P. Vincent, Mrs. Rhea and Mrs. Sewell to the following members: Mesdames Stout, W. H. McBride, Hudda Clark, Vincent, W. C. deCordova, Carrie Nation, L. R. Franks, Al Lawson, Hall, Rhea, Sewell, Dovie Toler and Miss Margueta Hall.

Slipcovers and curtains should be wet cleaned whenever possible because a great percentage of them are made of cotton or linen which does not always respond with complete satisfaction to dry cleaning.

S. F. Conference Has Not Finished Any Document Yet

By JAMES MARLOW
SAN FRANCISCO, May 10—(AP)—If you're dizzy by this time—trying to follow the merry-go-round at the United Nations conference—here's an explanation.

This conference has been in session 15 days. It has given final approval to nothing so far as setting up a league to prevent future wars is concerned.

All the delegates are busy working on details.

There have been committee meetings and a great deal of agreement on many points. This is why the going has been so slow.

The entire conference revolves around the Dumbarton Oaks proposals.

Last autumn representatives of the Big Four—United States, United Kingdom, Soviet Union and China—met at a mansion called Dumbarton Oaks in Washington.

It was a plan—really an outline—for a new League of Nations. Then the Big Four arranged for all the United Nations to meet in San Francisco to whip a final plan into shape.

This was to enable all of them—since all were expected to be members of the new league—a chance to approve, or disapprove, or change, or add to the Dumbarton Oaks plan until they had it the way they wanted.

In order to work out the final plan the United Nations delegates had to divide up the work. They broke down the Dumbarton Oaks plan into four main sections and started to re-mold them.

For each of the four sections the delegates established a commission. Every nation represented here is represented on each of the four commissions. Each commission appoints committees.

When the committees finish their work, they'll turn what they've done over to the commissions which will lay it before a plenary session of the conference. Plenary is fancy language for formal or full-dress.

Agriculturists Will Meet Here Tuesday

Arrangements have been completed for a meeting in Pampa on bindweed control led by F. L. Timmons, associate agronomist of the Hays experiment station, Hays, Kans., according to information received from Knox Parr, district agent.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. next Tuesday in the district court room.

Timmons is heralded as "one of the best informed men in regard to approved methods of bindweed control available."

The meeting will consist of a discussion in the morning and probably a field trip to some bindweed control demonstration in the afternoon.

Parr said the meeting resulted from the "interest which is prevalent over a good deal of the Panhandle with reference to bindweed control."

Point System

cepted and worn under war department regulations in effect when this program went into operation.

The department said the method for releasing officers will be "tougher than the plan for enlisted personnel primarily because officers have received additional training, have heavier responsibilities and have developed specialized skills and leadership capacity."

Therefore, the department said, "although officers will have an adjusted service ratings score based on the same multiples as for enlisted personnel, this factor will be secondary to the prime requirement of military necessity."

The department said enlisted men with the highest point totals will become eligible for release from the army "except where considerations of military necessity make it impossible to let them go until qualified replacements can be obtained. This exception applies particularly to men possessing special skills required in the war against Japan and to men in units that will have to move into the Pacific so swiftly that no opportunity is provided for replacing men with high scores until they reach the new theater."

When the committees finish their work, they'll turn what they've done over to the commissions which will lay it before a plenary session of the conference. Plenary is fancy language for formal or full-dress.

Rationing Will Not Be Changed For Some Time

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—Wartime controls over production, rationing and pricing will be continued until Japan is defeated, the administration said Wednesday, but "some reconversion will start immediately."

Highlights of the program, as outlined at a White House news conference by War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson:

1. Immediate suspension of the ban on horse and dog racing, and lifting of the midnight entertainment curfew, effective tonight.

2. Release of enough materials and manpower, no longer needed for the Pacific war, to produce a few new automobiles within six to nine months.

3. Some prospect of an early increase in gasoline allowances for civilian motorists.

4. Vinson said he saw no indications of any early general improvement in the civilian food supply situation.

5. No general reduction in taxes until final victory is won.

On the civilian production front, Vinson said that generally speaking "materials and manpower no longer pre-empted for war will be freed for civilian production."

As to the armed forces, he said: "The navy does not plan to demobilize until Japan has been defeated."

He said the army expects to reduce its strength by 1,800,000 in the next 12 months.

Doughboy Will Carry Big Load in Pacific

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—The tank carried the load in the European war. In the Pacific, it will be the doughboy and his bayonet.

That is the army's view of the task ahead.

War department authorities, turning immediately from the jubilation of V-E day to the grim business of eliminating the Japanese, informally sized up the problem this way:

Europe was tank country. The Pacific is totally different. The home islands of Japan do not lend themselves to tank warfare. It is questionable whether even the broad plains of China, do.

The principal tank weapon against the Japanese will be—in fact, already is—the deadly flame-thrower on wheels. It has turned out to be the best disintegrator of pill boxes after "anti-tank guns are knocked out."

Firemen Hear Lewis, Spann at Convention

Principal speakers of the 22nd semi-annual firemen's association convention at Memphis May 8 were T. E. Lewis, president of the state firemen's association and J. E. Spann, Amarillo fire marshal.

According to Sari W. Zybach, Canadian, secretary of the association, attendance was lower than usual because of travel restrictions but the members agreed upon the success of the convention.

Spann staged a demonstration on caution in use of everyday items such as gasoline and electric light cords.

J. P. Hazlewood, Canadian, is president of the association; John Ballew, Childress, is first vice president and H. B. Johnson, Levelland, is second vice president.

Censorship To Be Relaxed

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—News censorship will continue under relaxed restrictions resulting from the end of the European war.

Censorship Director Byron Price announced elimination or modification of several sections of the voluntary code that has governed publication of war news in the United States since January 15, 1942.

The code soon will be rewritten in shorter form.

Basic military information still is subject to authorization by competent authorities.

Price said "The end of German resistance alters security requirements materially although it by no means erases the need for, or importance of, voluntary censorship."

Gray Gets Share Of Lake Revenue

Gray county will receive approximately $413 as its share of the 1944 income on the Land Utilization project on McClellan creek. Walter J. Caserta, lake project supervisor for the USDA Soil Conservation Service, has informed Quentin Williams, district conservationist stationed at Pampa.

The money goes to the county in lieu of taxes it formerly collected on the 1,140-acre project.

Recreation provided the principal source of revenue in 1944. It was reported that, counting each person each time he used a facility such as fishing, hunting, swimming, boating, cabin renting or picnicking, a total of 144,843 persons used the recreational facilities at the project during 1944.

Building occupancy permits and a grazing permit provided the other income on the project during the year. Caserta's report showed that wildlife increased on the project in 1944, and fish management prac-

U-boats the German navy still had at the time of surrender.

Shifting of air power from Europe will be so great, said Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of U. S. army air forces, that "we do not expect Japan to stand up under the weight of our air forces as well as Germany did."

Indicative of what is to come, strong forces of fighter planes raided Japanese air bases near Tokyo Tuesday and found the fields virtually deserted.

Today's B-29 strikes, the first of 400-plane strength in more than a month, concentrated their weight of explosives on oil developments around Japan's inland sea.

The 400 B-29s dropped more than 1,000 Liberators could carry.

Smaller bombers sank 11 Japanese ships, including a destroyer, in scattered strikes.

182 Arrests Are Made in Month

One hundred and eighty-two persons were arrested in Pampa by the city police during April, regular monthly reports just released disclose.

Total fines assessed were $1507.05 and the total fines collected were $1269.25.

Traffic offenses and intoxication resulted in most of the arrests while other charges included investigations, driving while intoxicated, disturbing the peace, affray and vagrancy.

The total days worked in the city jail were 26, while 79 days were served. Six arrests were reported to higher courts. A total of 343 meals were served prisoners.

Pampa's health clinic had 477 visits during the month of April and treated 140 social disease cases.

April's tax report shows a current collection of $2,432.52 and a delinquent collection of $620.29.

The local fire department's reports reveals there were only fifteen fires during the month of April, with the total insured loss to buildings and contents $270. No persons were injured in any of the fires, all of which were of a minor nature.

Kesseling

two or three days before the Russian attack.

"I had an opportunity to speak with the chief of staff of the Sixth air army today, and he was at the chancellery until two days before Berlin fell," the field marshal said. "He said Hitler was dead."

Kesseling declared he did not know how Hitler had died, but said he had "the absolute conviction" that the German army was unwilling to fall into Russian hands alive.

"Out of a profound knowledge of Adolf Hitler," he volunteered, "I'm sure he would have welcomed an opportunity to conclude peace with Great Britain and America at any time. We are similar races—the Nordic type—and it is senseless to beat one another to death."

Kesseling was asked "if he thought the German army could have fought better without Hitler's 'intuitive' leadership."

"To give justice to der fuhrer," he said, "I must say he was a genius in operations sense and conception. Sometimes, however, the ideas of genius are misunderstood. I only regret that der fuhrer had to direct Germany's military, political and economic life. He was overtaxed by the weight of his burdens."

Discussing the war in general, Kesseling singled out Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Gen. George S. Patton and Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder among the Allied commanders who had won his respect and admiration. He referred to the field marshal as "Monty."

Kesseling recalled a statement by Montgomery that whoever had the superior air force would win the war.

"As an old Luftwaffe soldier I cannot deny the truth of those words," he said. "Dive bombings and terror attacks on cities and heavy bombardment were our undoing."

He asserted the Germans "never did entertain the idea of using gas."

"We are not as bad as you believe us to be," the marshal added. He followed up with these assertions:

"I have seen an increase in the ability of American and English soldiers in combat."

"Soldier to soldier, I can only say that on the other side leadership has been very skillful and adaptable to all events. At least I can't say anything against the skill of General Patton."

Mildew Damaging Some Flowers

Frequent spring rains in Gray county have increased damage from powdery mildew on roses and crape-myrtle, according to a number of persons who report from experience.

For light cases, Mrs. Florence Low, Texas A. and M. specialist in landscape gardening, suggests using dusting sulphur once a week until the mildew disappears. She offers this warning, however, on the dusting of roses: "Use the sulphur sparingly during hot weather on account of possible leaf injury."

Severe cases should be sprayed with wettable sulphur. In making this solution, use two ounces of sulphur per gallon of water, the specialist advises. The roses should be sprayed thoroughly with this solution until all signs of mildew have disappeared.

Dusting once a week is advised since spores of the disease begin to germinate immediately after a rain, so the foliage should be covered often with a thin film of the dust to prevent germination. During the summer, dusting need not be so frequent.

Best preventive measures for the disease can be taken during the dormant season. The bushes should be pruned and stripped of diseased leaves, so that disease won't spread to new shoots in the spring.

Hitler Body

ured and photographed for examination by experts. But the Russians are beginning to believe that no body that can be identified without any shadow of doubt as that of Adolf Hitler ever will be found now.

The underground fortress which Hitler made his headquarters in was the final mighty battle of Berlin was the huge, supposedly bomb-proof air-raid shelter underneath the new Reich chancellery.

It had been linked by deep underground passages with shelters under the nearby Wilhelmplatz, the great air ministry building 500 yards away in the Leipzigerstrasse, and the high command building in the Zenderstrasse on the Leutow Ufer, about a mile distant. There were other big underground shelters under the Tiergarten park. The whole was linked together by communicating passages to form a great subterranean fortress.

It was not until the whole of Berlin had been brought crashing in a mass of ruins and until the underground fortress had been burned out yard-by-yard by Soviet flame-throwers that the last great stronghold of madness fell.

Miner Negotiations Are Taken Up Today

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—Anthracite operators and miners were summoned to meet with Interior Secretary Ickes today to discuss stalemated contract negotiations which have halted hard coal mining.

Small Nations

proposal backed by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) that the proposed assembly of nations should have power to probe trouble spots whenever and wherever they appear in the world.

A conference committee approved last night this amendment to the Dumbarton Oaks plan, which seems to promise easy sailing for it hereafter.

A committee on structures and procedures of the general assembly decided last night to let each country have as many as five representatives in the assembly but only one vote.

These other developments attracted top interest:

1. A Big Five committee on international trusteeships is reported to have reached agreement "in principle" on what sort of machinery to set up for governing the enemy territories of this world war and the previous one.

2. Senators Vandenberg and Connally (D-Texas) made clear in public statements that they and other American delegates are constantly concerned with what the United States senate may or may not be willing to accept, by way of amendments, in the way of a security league.

State Cotton Crop

Smallest Since 1889

Texas farmers in 1944 produced 2,646,000 bales of cotton of 500 pounds gross weight, the smallest crop for the state since 1889, and 1,000,000 less than the average for reports received in local agricultural offices.

The lint average per harvested acre, however, exceeded the 10-year average of 160 pounds. But, because of the relatively small acreage the resulting total production was much below average, the report said.

a post-war program at home to aid thousands of bombed-out families.

The rejoicing and celebrating which began with the first news of the end of the war on Monday continued far into the early hours this morning. Celebrants thronged the streets last night.

King George and Queen Elizabeth went out on the roof of Buckingham palace just before midnight to get a view of the massed crowds, who cheered when they glimpsed the royal couple. The King and Queen waved to the milling thousands. As they had on previous nights, the princesses Elizabeth and Margaret slipped out of the palace and mingled with the crowds.

Prime Minister Churchill, sitting on the folded top of an open automobile, made a triumphant trip through Whitehall street as a cheering crowd swept through police lines and crowded around Britain's smiling war leader.

TEN WHO ROSE...

EISENHOWER, a Texas-Kansas, executed some of mightiest military operations and taught the Nazis new lessons.

CHURCHILL was Britain's sideline prophet of disaster until war blazed; he emerged as prime minister, savior.

MONTGOMERY, Bible-toting blitz-master, was the first to stop the Nazis with inspired tactics across North Africa.

NIEMOELLER, a German Lutheran pastor, preferred prison to Nazism. His courage inspired world sermons.

DeGAULLE, a minor general in 1940, rallied war-scattered Frenchmen and grew in stature to be Free France symbol.

ROMMEL won a place in history as the foe's most brilliant tactician. Not a heel-popping Junker, he came up hard way.

KAISER was a West Coast contractor; war made him a mighty driving power and symbol of America's miracle in armament production.

MOLOTOV, the mild, methodical statesman, in war became Russia's No. 2 man and Russia became No. 1 European power with his aid.

BYRNES, the "assistant president" from South Carolina, directed war mobilization, to add lustre to an already brilliant career of statesmanship.

TITO (Josip Broz), the myth-shrouded chief of Yugoslav guerrillas, emerged from the Balkan confusion to confound the tottering Nazi supermen.

Five Titans Led The 'People's War'

World's Worst Disaster Was Clash Between Tempers, Ideals Of Leaders

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Features Writer

THIS has been a personalized war in Europe. Through the long years leading to the struggle and the bloody months of battle, the destiny of all creation has rested in the hands of a half dozen leaders of nations.

The dominant figures—Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini—are "men of the hour," untouched by royal blood. And while World War II has been a struggle of entire peoples, historians probably will ponder the impact of the leaders' personalities upon events. Each leader, too, has displayed to marked degree the national characteristics of his state or its form of government.

The Sinister and the Rosy

First of the dictators was strident, pompous, braggart Mussolini. His stature shrank as that of his pupil, sinister Adolf Hitler, increased. Thwarted, overweening in ambition, fanatical, brutal, the Fuehrer played upon the ingrained militarism of his people, still stinging from defeat.

United Nations leadership for the European conflict was in the hands of a trio of different stamp. Churchill, "the rosy little man," a master of rhetoric, looks like John Bull and clinched fame by carrying the torch for the British Empire through the dark days of 1940-41. Russia's fate was entrusted to Joseph Stalin, inscrutable master player in the international poker game of diplomacy, who gained time by siding with the Nazis at first, who let the world think Russia could not fight victoriously, and who drew Hitler onto a battlefield of death.

Roosevelt, a phrasemaker himself, a master of timing and a leader so popular he could ask and get for the first time in history a third presidential term. He not only helped a peace-loving, content country reach war tempo, but insisted on being in fact the military head of the nation, as well as the political.

The Might Have Been

What has been the effect of these personalities on events? At Munich Hitler pulled a gun on the Allied Leaders of 1938, Chamberlain and Daladier, they quailed, and Mussolini who had came in September, 1939, showed his inherent weakness by pulling aside as a non-belligerent, then found outlet for his braggadocio in May, 1940, by jumping on France when he thought the battle was over. His action resulted in Roosevelt's tide-changing "stab in the back" speech one day later.

FDR, "Winnie," "Joe" Outbattled Adolf And "Doo-chay" In Diplomacy

The Atlantic Charter

Personalities were transcendent when in 1941 the Anglo-American leaders held the first of their get-togethers and drew up the Atlantic Charter. With it, generalized as it was, the two astute leaders silenced many skeptics of Allied war motives.

The later meetings of the leaders prove how their dominating beliefs and characteristics belittled the minor currents in the stream of conflict.

In the later days of the war, as the psyches of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin came into permanent dominance over the tottering personalities of Mussolini and Hitler, individual differences again shaped events.

Hitler, the egotist and mystic, during the day of German victories, sowed the dragon's teeth of suspicion and contempt among the professional Prussian militarists. He spurned them, recalled dismissed them and capot until even the homefront suspected the omnipotence of the Reich's man-god.

Mussolini, when war overwhelmed Italy, found the years of strutting and imperiousness could not make up for the fact that his regime was termite-eaten. The two who had trusted no one except a tiny inner circle found even the circle did not trust them.

... TEN WHO FELL

MUSSOLINI, father of Fascism, dictated for 21 years; was first of dictators to fall ('43) as Italy was invaded.

HITLER, Nazi dictator since 1933, released Europe's oldest hates, newest death machines; was himself engulfed.

VON THYSSSEN, German steel tycoon, sponsored Hitler's rise, then from a jail window saw war gobble up fortune.

CHAMBERLAIN sowed words of appeasement, reaped world war; he died in 1940, after resigning Empire's reins.

QUISLING betrayed Norway and became a puppet dictator in 1940; 'quisling' now is a synonym for betrayer.

GOEBBELS, Hitler's own deputy Fuehrer, flew to England in 1941 to propose peace—and sank into deep oblivion.

CASTILLO, as president held Argentina aloof from Latin America's anti-Axis front; got "punched out" in June, 1943.

GAMELIN, French war chief, fought World War II as he did World War I. France was blitzed; he was captured.

HEYDRICH, the Nazi hangman, topped the list of war criminals for post-war trial. But a patriot's bomb got him in Prague in 1942.

BORIS III of Bulgaria tried to do business with Hitler. His 25-year reign ended in a mysterious death last August. His nation shied from Axis.

Neutral Leaders

AP Features

SIX nations clutched the straw of neutrality as the riptides of conflict engulfed the rest of Europe, and the leaders of each played a vital, if not decisive role, in steering between the warring forces.

Turkey's Ismet Inonu resisted Axis pressure when Allied hopes were lowest, for years held against Allied efforts to sway him off the fence.

Spain's Francisco Franco found his hands tied in a nation exhausted by its own civil war; signed commercial pacts with England, signed an accord with Germany.

Portugal's Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, long-term premier, found his mastery of practical politics was aided in keeping neutral by the desires of the warring forces to have Portugal as a listening post.

Sweden's King Gustaf V in World War I talked tough, but in World War II managed to keep out of the conflict because Germany got supplies from Sweden without invading.

Eire's American-born prime minister, Eamon De Valera, because his nation was located outside the strategic mainstream, was able to hold fast to the determination expressed at the start of the war that neutrality was his people's best hope for the future.

Switzerland's revolving presidency brought a different man to the helm during each year of the conflict; but each was an elder statesman, stood ready to blast the tunnel entrances to the mountain nation. Opponents again found Switzerland valuable as a listening post.

Allied Women Played Big Role

AP Features

THERE'S been no double standard in this war, in which women as well as men have not only put all their patriotic effort into the battle on the home front but also donned uniform and gone into the lines with their husbands and brothers.

In this country the President's wife pointed the moral lessons of the conflict in many talks throughout the land and abroad and visited the wounded in the hospitals.

Col. Oveta Culp Hobby headed the one women's uniformed service whose members have been sent abroad: the WACs, which began as an auxiliary and are now fully incorporated into the Army.

Maj. Ruth C. Streeter commanded the women Marines. The air transport command set up an organization of fliers under the command of Mrs. Nancy H. Love. In the service at sea the WAVES were headed by Lt. Comdr. Mildred H. McAfee. SPARS were commanded by Lt. Comdr. Dorothy Stratton.

In the allied cause abroad, one of the outstanding women heroes was Russian Lt. Ludmila Pavlichenko, the sniper who killed 257 Nazis, and whose poise, and predominantly feminine qualities impressed those who saw her on her visit to this country.

Many other Russian women saw service at the front, and many whose names are unknown gave their lives in the fierce guerrilla struggles behind German lines.

In England Churchill's daughter Mary became a uniformed subaltern, like thousands of her countrywomen, with tasks ranging from manning anti-aircraft guns and plotting the course of hostiplanes to ferrying their own craft about the British Isles and working in the fields and factories.

Employment of women in the United States increased by millions since Dec. 7, 1941.

America's Battle Heroes

AP Features

IN pre-war years Axis leaders belittled America's potential, telling the world this country had become soft and couldn't fight. They quickly learned their error, as witness this cross-section of heroes of United States forces in the Afro-European theatre:

Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, as secret agent laid groundwork for diplomatic invasion of Africa; leader of victorious Fifth Army.

Maj. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of Eighth Air Force in blasting Germany's industrial citadels.

Vice Adm. Henry K. Hewitt, chief of amphibious operations.

Brig. Gen. Maxwell Taylor and Col. William T. Gardner flew secretly to Rome to arrange Italy's capitulation.

Major Levi R. Chase, first to shoot down 10 Axis planes in North Africa.

Sgt. Donald W. Crossley, high scoring aerial gunner, shot down 11 planes in 20 raids.

Sgt. David Woody, credited with killing 200 Germans in two hours in North Africa.

UNDERGROUND: Daring Guerrilla Forces Fought In 13 Countries Whose Peoples Could Not Be Conquered By Axis

AP Features
GERMANY'S now-fallen armies conquered most of Europe with ruthless efficiency, but Nazi slavemasters met defeat in every attempt to conquer the spirit of the subjugated peoples.

The underground fought on in 13 overrun countries. Thousands of guerrillas battled on after regular armies were shattered.

Two armies fought the Nazis in Yugoslavia, and sometimes fought each other.

The Chetniks, under General Draza Mihailovich, were 180,000 strong, according to some estimates.

The Partisans under Communist-trained General Josip (Tito) Broz, charged the Chetniks collaborated with the Nazis. General Mihailovich, war minister of the Yugoslav government-in-exile, indignantly denied it.

Between the two, they managed to tie up as many as a dozen Nazi divisions at a time, forced the Germans to call in Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to battle them, and once claimed to have killed, wounded or captured 20,000 Germans and Italians in two months of fighting early in 1943. In nearby Greece, some 50,000 armed fighters, including some of the Evzones who chased the Italians from Greece, harassed the invaders in ceaseless mountain fighting.

One group, the Andarts, joined with Mihailovich's forces in a United Balkan front. The British flew in supplies and officers. Here too, Leftists and Andarts found time to quarrel, but not so seriously as in Yugoslavia.

In the first two years of war, Yugoslav Partisans estimated they killed 200,000 Germans including 30 generals, 6,336 other officers, wrecked 3,000 trains, demolished 3,283 bridges and seized or destroyed 895 food and ammunition dumps.

General Charles de Gaulle, who refused to quit fighting when France fell, was a leading symbol of resistance for 200,000 armed guerrillas who fought on in that country.

Some 200,000 more young Frenchmen hid in the mountains to escape forced labor in Germany, and fought the Germans and the Vichy collaborators who went after them.

Poland, first to fall in Hitler's march through Europe, boasted a completely equipped underground army with hidden munitions, uniforms, radios. Her underground claimed 70 newspapers published despite the vigilance of the Gestapo.

The guerrillas of Czechoslovakia scored one of the most sensational coups in 1942 by killing Reinhard Heiderich, Hitler's henchman, who had been appointed Reich Protector of Bohemia-Moravia.

The Poles in Krakow assassinated General Wilhelm Kruger, chief of the Gestapo in Poland.

Costless sabotage harassed the Nazis in Holland and Belgium, where patriots shot Nazis and traitors with equal impartiality, and snarled communications with attacks on German supply trains.

The Dutch staged a general strike, in protest against reinforcement of 400,000 former service men, which the Nazis put down only after killing an estimated 1,000 Dutchmen.

Even the peaceful Danes turned guerrilla to sabotage the conquerors, who had tried to make Denmark a model for occupied countries.

Norway's Underground contented itself mainly with passive resistance and sly sabotage which was difficult for the Nazis to detect. Teachers and preachers staged strikes. But there was a secret military organization, supplied by United Nations planes.

In Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, thousands of guerrillas operated with large caches of arms, some light artillery and even a few tanks. Communist Partisans fought independently of the guerrillas, and were well armed and organized.

Even in the Nazi satellite countries of Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria there was unrest and sabotage after Italy collapsed, to the hands of her soldiers in northern Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece. The underground with their equipment.

ODDITIES

AP Features
Cost of the war to the world in armaments and loss of earning power, according to federal estimates, was at the rate of $250,187 a minute.

U. S. expenditures were at the rate of $85,168 every 60 seconds.

Pantelleria, which fell June 11, 1943, was the first island to surrender to air power alone.

Mileage piled up by war leaders proved this a global conflict. Roosevelt traveled nearly 30,000 miles. Churchill more than 76,000 miles. French General Gaud covered some 10,000 miles. Wendell Wilkie, at about 35,000 on voyages to England and around the world, beats them all.

Before their rise to power, Hitler was an artist, Goebbels a journalist and von Ribbentrop a champagne salesman. Von Papen began his career in the army, but switched to diplomacy after World War I.

Nazi 'Secret Weapon' Arsenal Lost To Better Allied Ordnance, Tactics

By ROBERT M. FARRINGTON
AP Features Writer

WASHINGTON—Germany's success was responsible for her defeat.

Because she did not have the resources to wage too long a war successfully, the "blitzkrieg" idea incorporating a much-heralded arsenal of "secret weapons" was adopted. Actually the only thing secret was which weapons were going to be used next. Aerial blitz, dive bombers, paratroops, rocket guns, "silver fire" and flying bombs were simply tactical surprises.

The Reich strategy anticipated a fast sweep through all Europe before the United States and Great Britain could mobilize full strength. It failed because it was too ambitious.

Germany's strategy had roughly three main parts: clever propaganda, a sudden attack and a mop-up designed to crush seeds of future revolt.

Significantly the turning point came when Hitler's troops finished their sweep across the continent from Poland by licking France. His warlords were not ready to follow up Dunkirk with an invasion of Britain, for they had not anticipated sweeping success so quickly.

The Luftwaffe hammered and blasted England in familiar pattern—but there were no plans to enable ground troops to follow up.

Battle Lesson Difficult
The breathing spell proved sufficient time for the Allied war machine to get under way.

Sketches show some of the principal weapons of the Reich and counterdevices which played a major part in overcoming them.

Next for the Allies came the job of learning how to beat the enemy's weapons. The lesson was not simple.

The formula for halting an aerial blitz was painfully worked out in blood and broken cities. Barrage balloons and anti-aircraft defenses, though improved tremendously, were not enough, so the RAF met the Luftwaffe out over the Channel. The powerful buffy of machineguns in British wings blasted the swastika planes from the sky—underlining the military axiom: "You've got to meet fire with fire."

The job was not one of having to invent new weapons but of getting enough basic guns assembled at the right time and place—the oldest military headache in the world.

Dive-bombers, tanks and paratroopers crushed France and sent the U. S. public into a tizzy, clamoring for similar weapons. Actually all France needed was more powerful anti-tank guns and greater mobility for her famous "75" field piece.

Later, desperate Russians, fighting with "Molotov cocktails" (gasoline-filled bottles), TNT and grenades probed tank weaknesses.

We developed the tank-destroyer, essentially a standard cannon on a fast truck. The T-34s waited in ambush and popped out at sure-death range and speed.

Capping the tank mashers came the bazooka, a two-man contraption for firing a powerful rocket which enabled our infantrymen to convert any tank into scrap metal.

Machine Guns Deadly
Another German surprise, the Stuka dive-bomber, was king until we learned to murder it with heavy-caliber machine guns and quick-acting anti-aircraft. True, it was easy meat until we mounted fast-swalling machine guns above the cabs. Because it had to follow a certain path to plant its bombs, a path that could be anticipated by a cool-headed gunner, the Stuka became a clay pigeon.

Our machine guns, though little mentioned in the headlines, became truly terrible weapons because of improved firepower and sighting devices. In the hands of masters they have stopped tanks, planes, ships and submarines as well as troops.

Parachute troops, another surprise, were ineffective against strong ground resistance. Further drawbacks, they could not get through a heavy screen of fighter planes en route to their target; in broken or wooded country they could not land uninjured nor locate their equipment and food; once on the ground, they could not hold a captured position without support. Their main advantage was as a diversion.

Development of our existing fighting tools, plus mechanical gadgets, radar and sound instruments, was responsible for ruining the Nazi "superman" myth. Full details must still be secret.

Our anti-aircraft guns, sometimes used as anti-tank weapons too, reached miles into the sky to bring down Nazi planes. Mechanical "brains" sat in the middle of a group of A-A, calculating height, speed, direction, windage and a half dozen other factors.

Bag Of Tricks
When the long retreat to Berlin finally began, the Germans dipped deep into their bag of tricks. They tried to slow the land pursuit with mines and booby traps, to halt the pulverizing long-range bombing with rockets, flying bombs and "silver fire."

Silver fire, a flaming mass of phosphorus discs, was dropped on bomber formations by enemy planes. Glider bombs controlled by radio and rockets fired by enemy planes were also used. The answer again was firepower. We knocked down the enemy planes by arming bombers with longer-range guns and by providing long-distance fighters.

Rockets made a come-back, despite their inaccuracy compared to orthodox shells, because lack of recoil made them a natural for launching from airplanes or by infantry.

Nazi mines and booby traps were murderously ingenious. The Germans wired the bodies of dead, both Allied and their own, hid death in doorknobs, stairways, faucets, toilet handles, wine bottles, whistles, radios and apple trees.

Nazi sea warfare was waged almost exclusively by a huge fleet of submarines, many using magnetic or sonic torpedoes designed to blast at the nearest mass of metal or throbbing oscillator. The British discharged floating magnetic mines by dling over them with a huge steel hoop slung below a plane.

Airplanes found and destroyed hidden subs. When we had enough warships for convoy wars, the submarine menace faded and was never again a major threat.

Emphasis On Bombers
In the air, emphasis shifted to big, heavily armed and armored bombers. Fundamentally, this was the same thing as had happened in the evolution of artillery guns—an increase in range and size.

Constantly one type of weapon has had to be improved to meet the threat of another. In American arms, anti-aircraft range has been increased over 100 per cent; tank speed, 700 per cent; bomb size, well over 500; individual soldier's firepower, over 250.

Harvester-Exes Game To Be Played Tomorrow Night

Contest Set for 8:30 O'clock At Harvester Football Field

The annual Harvester-Exes game will be played tomorrow night at Harvester Park. Coach Otis Coffey announced today the contest, between next year's Harvesters and boys who have finished their high school eligibility, will start at 8:30.

Coffey said he felt sure he could round out a team of exes by this time. Exes secured so far are Richard Casey, on leave from the navy. Ox Blanton, Harvester tackle of 1944, Joe Cree, end on the '44 team, Jake Halter, quarterback on the 1941 and 1942 teams, John Chesher, all-Ohio tackle for 1941, Don Griffin, fullback in '43, Kenneth Grant, quarterback last year, David Caldwell, quarterback last year, and Marle McCracken, first string back from last year.

There will be no admission price for the game which will wind up the spring practice season for the Harvesters. Originally, the season was scheduled for next year, but because of the nearness of final examinations, it was set up to Friday.

The Harvester starting line-up for tomorrow night has not been announced as yet. It will probably be taken from the members of the two intra-squad teams, the Greens and the Reds. Neither side has been classified as first or second string.
