UN Fighting Desperately To Slow Rolling Red Tide

Allied Forces Throw Attack To Stall Drive

TOKYO —(AP)— Allied troops fought desperately today to slow the Communist tide rolling toward the heart of South Korea and menacing the U.S. Eighth Army's retreat route to the old Pusan beachhead. Two United Nations battalions attacked a Red Korean force two miles south of battle-wrecked Wonju, road hub abandoned Monday to the Reds. An allied regiment counter-attacked strong Communist forces six miles southwest of Wonju.

NEW GYM—The newest and the last building project of Pampa schools is underway. Work has started on the field house and vocational classrooms. The building will be set up just north of the old high school gymnasium near Harvester Park. The field house will face the stadium. James T. Taylor and Sons of Fort Worth are the contractors. The building will house wood-working shops and vocational agriculture classrooms along with storerooms for football and basketball equipment, and shower rooms. Permanent bleachers, will be built over the classroom for basketball spectators. (News Photo and Engraving)

SHOW BUILDING—Workmen are shown as they began preliminary construction, Monday, on the new Hereford Breeders show building at Recreation Park. The building will see its first use at the annual Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders Assn. show and sale and Junior Livestock Show, Feb. 5-6. Cliff Vincent, president of the HBA, has reported that the building will be completed in about two weeks. It is located on the site of the loading corrals at the park, just west of the old show barn. U.S. Troops to Europe First Test of Truman's Program

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A Senate vote on sending American troops to Europe appeared likely today to produce the first test in Congress of President Truman's program to center free world defenses there. Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, promised to seek action soon on a resolution barring the assignment of additional U.S. ground forces to Europe until Congress fixes an overall policy. This issue is at the heart of the swelling foreign policy debate which has taken on added vigor in the wake of several military reverses in Korea. Reduced to its essence, the debate is over whether this nation should concentrate its defenses against Communist aggression within its own shores or should give extensive aid as well to friendly nations in western Europe and elsewhere. Mr. Truman said nothing about sending more troops abroad in his personally delivered "State of the Union" message to the new Congress yesterday. But he described the North Atlantic community as "the heart of our defense effort" and left no doubt that he has no intention of turning back from the course of helping friendly nations to rearm. The President also pledged that avenues of negotiation would be kept open in the hope of reaching a peaceful settlement with Russia, but he declared that "we will fight, if fight we must." Wherry's resolution, which he left in a parliamentary position where he could call it before the Senate almost any time, would bar assignment of any further ground forces to Europe "pending the formulation of a policy with respect thereto by the Congress." Administration leaders planned an effort to send it to the Democratic-controlled Foreign Relations Committee where it probably would die. The test vote, which could come on that side issue, was generally expected to be close. Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who argues that the President doesn't have authority to commit troops abroad without consulting Congress, promised to air his views in a National Press Club speech (12:30 p.m. EST). Talks Initiated on Rearming Germany

BONN, Germany —(AP)— The western allies and the West German government opened negotiations today on the question of German rearmament. A senior allied official said the first session, three hours long, was "friendly and useful." They will meet again a week from today. Twelve representatives of Britain, the United States, France and Western Germany participated in the conference, held in the Petersberg, a hotel perched 1,000 feet above the Rhine. The big question to which they are trying to find the answer is: Will western Germans take up arms again to join in the common defense of Western Europe against Russian aggression? The Germans were invited to do so by the Atlantic Pact nations at the Brussels conference which asked them to contribute about 150,000 men to a 1,000,000-strong defense force under the command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Today's closed sessions are the first of many which officials call "exploratory talks of a technical nature." On the allied side are Maj. Gen. George B. Hayes (U.S.), Gen. Jean Ganeval (France), and Maj. Gen. L. Wansborough-Jones (See GERMANY, Page 2)

Bell Increase Goes in Today

The 50 percent rate increase for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. becomes law today. However, it becomes effective only with the February billing. The ordinance was passed on its first and second readings last week and the previous week by the City Commission. This afternoon during the regular weekly meeting of the City Commission the ordinance will be presented for its third reading, and, in all probability passed. Outside of that, little appears on the commission's agenda for today. Two other ordinances are also to be passed on their third and final readings, closing of the alley in the Hollywood Addition and closing the public hearings on the paving of N. Wells.

Badman Bill Cook Worrying Pampans

Local citizens are worried about "Badman Bill" Cook, 24, a year-old ex-convict from Joplin, Mo., and officers of the Pampa Police Dept. wish they had never heard of him. Chief of Police John B. Wilkinson said this morning that he and his department had received a continued flow of telephone calls from worried citizens in this area. Some were merely worried about their safety. Others asked permission to wear a gun. Even others stated that they had seen "Badman Bill" here in Pampa. The words, "Badman Bill," became more routine to policemen than traffic tickets. In the meantime, Badman Bill had been seen in five different states at the same time. Authentic reports of the man came into FBI field offices that he was in Texas, Oregon, Kansas, New Mexico and California, all at the same time. FBI agents in Dallas released information Monday afternoon that he had been identified as being in Santa Fe, N. M. Early this morning, two other possible leads turned up, one in California and the other in New Mexico.

New Troubles Facing Youths

Draft eligible men and boys apparently have had plenty to worry about since last June with the outbreak of the Korean crisis, but an additional worry soon will be in the hands of the President. That worry, of course, is the proposed bill drafted by the legislature providing for the draft of 18-year-olds. This new law will affect vast numbers of the male population throughout the country, and at least 301 men and boys here in the Gray County area. Local draft board officials estimate that they have 201 18-year-olds registered here. The proposed law will not affect the recruiting situation, however, Local Army and Air Force recruiting officials state there has been no appreciable increase in the enlistments of the 18-year-olds. "The young men from 17 to 18 years of age have been enlisting in vast numbers all along," said officials, "and it is my guess that there will be no increase. Over 80 men have been enlisted since the beginning of the crisis. Committee Plans Speedup on Road

Fred Thompson, chairman of the Highway 70 committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, reported at a meeting of the board of directors at noon Monday, that plans have been completed to send a member of the committee to Austin, Jan. 30, to attend a meeting of the Texas Highway Commission. Thompson, who probably will make the trip, said a request will be made for the immediate letting of the contract for paving of the Hobart right-of-way. At the same time, the representative will ask that a contract be let for the construction of the Canadian River bridge and the completion of the ungraded portion of Highway 70 which lies north of the river. Thompson reported all right-of-way easements have been completed and that the highway commission probably would let the contracts in February. Plans for the 1951 chamber of commerce membership drive are practically completed, according to Gene Fathner, chamber president. The drive will be held during the week of Jan. 22-23. Fathner said it will be a whirlwind campaign to enlist as many new members as possible. The study. No action was taken.

Services Held For Mrs. Wall

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today in the Duenkel-Carmichael chapel for Mrs. Mary M. Wall, who died at 3:15 a. m. Monday. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery. Mrs. Wall was 82 last Saturday. She was born in Louisiana, moving to Lefors about 20 years ago. She had lived there until a few months ago when she moved to Shamrock to live with a son, Carl. She had been ill about a month. Mrs. Wall was a member of the Methodist Church. Survivors include three sons: Carl of Shamrock, and W. F. and W. F. Wall, both of Lefors; one sister, Mrs. Emma Metzger, DeWitt, Ark.; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Services were to be conducted by Robert A. Bolton, minister of the Lefors Church of Christ. Duenkel-Carmichael was in charge of arrangements. Pallbearers were to be Art Carpenter, G. O. Carruth, Tom Florence, Bill Wilson, Dick Florence and L. C. Ford, Sr.

Oil Tax Burden 'Big Enough'

AUSTIN —(AP)— Crude oil taxes cannot bear the burden of increased tax needs as much as the future as in the past, the Texas Legislative Council warned the 52nd Legislature today. The incoming legislature is likely to be looking for new money — lots of it. The council said its recent completed study of oil's place in the state economy was "but a partial inquiry into its complex problems." The council suggested the legislature might instruct the Texas Railroad Commission to: 1. Provide the governor an legislative a continuing review of the problems and issues relating to the petroleum industry. This could include such things as the significance of the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the right of Oklahoma to fix the minimum price of natural gas. 2. Make semiannual estimates of future oil production in Texas for the next six months for the use of the governor, the legislature, the comptroller, and other state agencies. Because of its heavy burden of business, the Railroad Commission often must let long-range policy questions go unanswered, the council observed. To alleviate this, the legislature should consider splitting the commission into two regulatory bodies, the council said. "Some agency would deal solely with oil and gas problems, and others to regulate other public service businesses now under the commission. Annual installation dinner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled this evening to be at the Moose Hall at 7 p. m. According to Rusty Ward, immediate past-president, new officers will be installed after the dinner will be followed by a dance. Members who have not yet made arrangements to attend are urged to contact Ward or some of the other members.

Pilots Declare C-C Figures High; Poll Deadline Is Reset

By HENRY S. GORDON Airport location activity went into high gear late Monday with the postponing of straw voting deadline and a special call meeting of the Pampa Pilots Club. In the meantime additional straw ballots were pouring into the Chamber of Commerce offices, some of them finding their way to the Pampa Daily News offices first. The biggest development came from the flyers themselves who built up their schedule of costs for improving the present airfield site. The pilots declare the field could be obtained from the land's present owners. The pilots maintain the field can be retained and developed at a total cost of $248,000. The government appropriating $56,375, leaving the balance of $191,625 to be paid for by the county. This of course would also necessitate a special bond issue election for that amount plus the $200,000 for improving the airstrip at McLean, or a total of $211,625. This was in sharp contrast with the comparative figures drawn up by the Chamber of Commerce's Aviation Committee and published Sunday. The C of C figures, all estimates the same as the pilots' figures, claimed a bond issue by the county for development of the E. Browning site would run between $200,000 and $400,000 — about $200,563 as against the approximate $200,000 for the northwest site. While the C of C's figures on the cost of the land on E. Browning stood at $188,750, total cost government participation, $46,437, county cost, $139,313 —

Charge Fired At Pearson

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator McCarthy asked Secretary of the Army Pace today to tell him how "secret military messages" became available to columnist Drew Pearson. The Wisconsin Republican, who is engaged in a running feud with Pearson, made public a letter in which he told Pace: "If someone is actually stealing secret decoded messages from the Pentagon and handing them to Pearson, the lives of many of our young men and the security of this nation are in grave danger." In a Senate speech last Friday, McCarthy charged that "some man in the decoding room (at the Pentagon) is guilty of high treason" if the messages published by Pearson in a column Sunday Dec. 30 were authentic. The column said in essence that the Chinese Communist army fighting in Korea is considerably smaller than has been generally reported. Pearson replied that before using the cables from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters "I consulted the Pentagon." (See CHARGE, Page 2)

JOE COLLEGE quickly brought Sergeant Eddie up-to-date on Max's plan to destroy the boatworks. "They'll jam up the power line by grounding the incoming cable. They'll cut it off before you know it. While the lights are out, they'll take the fence and walk in. They'll cut the fence and walk in. They'll take those cans of gasoline that Max has hidden in the paint house and start so many fires that the fire department can't handle 'em."

No one was in the point store room. But tin containers were lying all over the floor. Evidently Max and Flatface had been there and taken away what they wanted. It would have been impossible to locate all the gasoline cans if it hadn't been that Eddie's squad was not hampered in any way as to movement. All over the place at once they made short work of this grim treasure hunt. Each and every container they found was checked back to Eddie and Eddie, in turn, told Margie Lou where to drive. Once on the spot the older men loaded the inflammables into the bus. Everything was accounted for in 20 minutes.

Snap Fasteners Help Small Child With Dressing

These practical playclothes are in corduroy. The little girl (left) wears a pink corduroy creeper with metal snap fasteners at the waistband and straps to give extra inches as she grows. By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Children's fashions which have metal snap fasteners are apt to make mother's household tasks easier. Made to replace tiny buttons and miniature buttonholes on small garments, these fasteners reduce the contents of a mending basket to almost nothing.

Lately, these snap fasteners have appeared on clothing for children of all ages, from layette to grammar school. Such fasteners even make slippers of sturdy corduroy adjustable to individual foot size.

On a pink corduroy creeper for a small girl, these gripper fasteners are an aid to easy dressing. And on dark blue corduroy overalls for a little boy, gripper fasteners at waistband and straps make dressing simpler and allow extra inches for growing. Since these overalls adjust to a boy's growth, they're a balm to any budget.

Flannel pajamas for a small boy in a gay striped pattern have knitted bands at the wrists and ankles to keep him warm. And with front gripper fasteners, these pajamas encourage self-dressing.

Growing boys and girls, whose clothes take the roughest wear, can be completely dressed for playtime in corduroy or denim overalls, shirts and play skirts that have sturdy metal snap fasteners. These fasteners also appear on flannellette and seersucker robes and on raincoats.

Grace Friend

Dear Mrs. Friend:

My son has never been as steady as he should be and while he is very attractive and charming he just doesn't seem able to settle down and make a home for himself.

Recently he married for the third time. I don't particularly like his new wife although she is a nice enough girl.

On the other hand I am very fond of his second wife who is the mother of his two children.

We have always helped him financially. When he married the first time he was still in his teens and he and his wife in school. They had a lot of fun but never settled down and they certainly didn't take marriage very seriously. After three years they were divorced. She married again eventually and moved away.

Then he married Edna who was everything you could ask for a daughter-in-law. She made a comfortable home for him and has always been a wonderful mother. It has always been our pleasure to do everything we could to make them and our grandchildren happy.

When our boy started to stay away from home and spend his time with other women we sympathized entirely with her. When he quit his job we did all we could to see that Edna and the children were well cared for.

We talked to him and pleaded with him to settle down for the sake of his children but we got nowhere.

Finally in spite of all that we could do he left Edna and soon they were divorced.

We are devoted to her and the children and we have them with us whenever we can. We want to help them as we know our son will be careless about alimony etc.

Now he has married again and he feels that we should accept this new wife and do all of the things for her that we used to do for Edna. Of course our problem is that we can't afford to spend so much and we feel that our duty lies in helping the mother of his children.

He is making scenes about it all the time. It is really awful if we happen to have Edna at the house for dinner and he drops in with his new wife. He accuses us of turning against him and of disliking his wife. He says that we are cruel and inhuman not to want to do everything for his third wife that we did and still do for Edna.

Do you think that he is right, Mrs. K.

Grace Friend?

Are we wrong in wanting to help Edna and the children? If we don't I don't know what will become of them. On the other hand we love our boy very much and want him to be as happy as possible.

Dear Mrs. K.

Perhaps you have loved your boy too much. I mean that perhaps you have helped him too much. It is easy to do if you have but one and have the means to spoil him.

He has always been the center of your interest and if he is immature it isn't easy for him to accept the fact that you are centering your interest on his former wife and children.

I agree with you that they need your help more than he does.

Perhaps you could talk the thing over with him. Tell him that you are assuming his responsibility in caring for his children. Tell him that when he shows that he is capable of taking care of them, you will be glad to turn the job over to him.

Make it plain that he will have to work hard and prove that he is willing to grow up before you can do anything more for him. You are really doing a great deal for him when you assume responsibility for his children. Make it plain to him that in doing his job you are helping him all you can. It may not be too late to make him realize that an adult must solve his own problems, not shift them to his parents' shoulders.

Present were Meses. R. E. Engle, John King, R. E. Engle, G. L. Lunsford, Robert Vaught, B. M. Vaught, Roy Tinsley, McElrath, Anderson Duke and Harold Cockburn.

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. O. G. Smith for a party recently with 10 members and eight guests present.

Tangerines Put Zip in Salads

TANGERINES, on the plentiful list, make shary salads.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Oranges, grapefruit and tangerines, all first-grade sources of essential vitamin C, are way up in the January plentiful list of foods. Therefore, this is a good time to make the wise resolution to get adequate amounts of citrus fruit into your family menu EVERY DAY of the year.

Serve citrus fruit juices, citrus fruit sections or citrus fruit salads at least once every day.

Here are some fresh ideas using tangerines, the kid-glove fruit from Florida. Being members of the vitamin C family in first-rate standing, they can play an important role in family pleasure and nutrition.

TANGERINE DESSERT CUPS (6 servings)

Six tangerines, 1 grapefruit, 2 tablespoons sugar, optional, 6 pitted dates, cut.

Cut tangerine peel into 8 sections; peel about 2-3 of the way. Carefully remove tangerine sections from tangerine "cup." Cut sections; sprinkle with sugar if section grapefruit, cut off peel in strips from top to bottom. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section, usual visit to the Garden ice.

Cut sections with a scissors into thirds. Combine with tangerine sections; sprinkle with sugar if desired. Arrange fruit in tangerine "cups"; top with date pieces.

TANGERINE SLAW (6 servings)

Three tangerines, 4 cups shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1-2 teaspoon celery seed, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1-2 cup mayonnaise.

Peel tangerines; remove white membrane. Cut sections in thirds; combine with cabbage and chopped pepper. Add celery seed, salt, mustard and vinegar to mayonnaise; blend. Pour dressing over salad and toss well.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The Mae Deter Circle of the First Baptist Church will meet in the home of Mrs. Rupert Orr, 404 N. Hill, at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Sonja Henle will make 17 appearances with her Hollywood Ice Revue when it opens in Madison Square Garden on Friday, Jan. 19. It will be her 13th encore. Remove section by section, usual visit to the Garden ice.

Altar Society of Holy Souls Meets

Mrs. A. D. McNamara, newly elected president of the Altar Society of Holy Souls Church, presided at a meeting of the group in Parish Hall.

After the meeting was opened with prayer, the society's bylaws and constitution were read, and after a few revisions and amendments, will be accepted. Mrs. McNamara appointed new prefects and standing committees for the year.

The members also voted to begin preparations for a cedar chest to be filled with linens, donated by parishioners, to be given away at the annual June festival.

The group voted to say a rosary after each meeting for peace.

The Holy Souls Church grotto won the trophy given for the best church decorations at Christmas, and will keep the trophy for one year.

You have no trouble remembering names but your husband does.

WRONG: Tell everyone that Jim just can't remember names.

RIGHT: Try to help him out by saying something like, "Jim, you remember the Weatherfords" when you run into persons you know he has met, but are afraid he won't recognize.

Cast Ballot For Airport Site

It was our good fortune to be right close to the airport the other afternoon when the wind was out of the west and one of Central Airline's big DC-3's was taking off. It's no fault of Central Airline that the wind was out of the west and that the east-west runway is so short, but that they, sleek as they are, barely cleared the houses on Lowry Street, the street running north and south and bounding the current airport site.

Another one of the reasons that we feel that if any permanent airport is to be erected for the city of Pampa and for Gray County, it should be at the northwest site, 6-12 miles from the city limits. Other good reasons behind that selection include the economy, the added facilities there, the added land for future growth, the fact that the northwest field is Max's plan to eliminate the noise problem caused by hardpulling airline by plane engines.

Fair Enough-Pegler

WESTBROOK PEGLER NEW YORK — The union despot has been lying low of late. We do not know what they will attempt by way of exploiting the crisis in the life of our country.

There is, however, nothing in the history of our country under their racket under the Roosevelt and Truman administrations to justify a hope that they will put the interests of their subjects, the interests of the rest of the people and the interests of the nation above the greedy, predatory interests of the unions. They may behave but only under compulsion of force or discretion.

This lull invites examination of the realities and the morality of our unionism is strange, reminiscent of a quarter-hour in my experience when man and beast fell silent in awe as the sun went into total eclipse at Truro, Mass., on Cape Cod. I believe that in that phenomenon scientists from all over the world were studying the structures of research, speculation and learning made discoveries which contributed to the horror of Hiroshima and our own present trepidation, covered by bravado in New York and other great cities which we have come to regard as permanent works of nature. Be that as it may, when the sun began to vanish behind the shadow, the gulls came in from the sea, chickens went to roost and the people's voices dropped so that what sheepish grins we realized that we had been put in awe. We were scared.

If John L. Lewis should call out the miners this time, with war come to our cities as it has come to Korea and as we took to Germany in 1944 and '45, would the government and the people be as submissive as they were during World War II? Would we suffer the criminal racketeers of the teamsters union and they were in the most literal sense men will be limited records of great conviction - to exort tribute on shipments of food and military material at the gateways to the stricken city of New York? Would we put up with all the arrogance and impudence, the graft and imposition that we submitted to at the hands of a few thousand ruthless men in World War II? I remember that a man who had plucked the name of De Lorenzo out of a phone book because it was better than his own name, held up a sign that read "Pluck the name of De Lorenzo out of a phone book because it was better than his own name."

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES Our People Demanded Big Government As Israelites Demanded King

I re-read Samuel's experience with the people of Israel demanding a king. I couldn't help but think how we are going through the same experiences as the Israelites did. Of course we do not call it a democracy or majority rule. Remember the Israelites asked Samuel to give them a king to rule over them as other nations had. It seems for many years the people of America have been asking for a bigger and bigger government. They have been asking that the government do things that Nature or God intended the individual to do for himself.

Samuel warned the Israelites that the king or government would take their sons and daughters - today our government is taking our sons and sending them to Korea to be killed. Samuel warned that the king or government would take their land and servants - today our government takes our land for parks and forest reserves. Samuel warned the Israelites the government would take their grain-crops and vineyards - today our government takes our crops and vineyards by limiting production, limiting acreage and farm subsidies.

Samuel also warned his people that a king would enslave them. And today our government is taking at least one third of what the people produce and to the degree that a government takes from a producer his production to that degree is he enslaved. Production would be much greater if it were not for government interference. When the Declaration of Independence was written it was the first time in history that the people really tried to get rid of a king - that is, they tried to get rid of big government. They wanted to be independent; they wanted to be free. But independence and freedom requires responsibility.

Freedom The defense attorneys in the case of Remington wanted the judge to muzzle the press and another reporter the other day. The judge declined. Perhaps the judge was thinking of these "Come to Jefferson: Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press and said that cannot be limited without being lost.

WASHINGTON — An anti-Truman coalition far stronger and more ruthless than any previous New Deal-Fair Deal coalition in Capitol Hill has taken control of all legislation, federal finances and a d taxes out of the hands of President Harry S. Truman.

Almost the only role left to him is that of Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces, for the 82nd Congress will give him all the money and authority he needs for rearmament or the conduct of a war. But congressional imposed changes in leadership and committee memberships enable the legislators to determine how he shall use the power and collect the taxes for unprecedented, peacetime expenditures.

POLITE — It has been a most peculiar revolution in that it was polite and even punctilious. There have been only a few political recriminations between the Truman partisans and the enemies. Barring a few references to the 'Fair Deal's "socialist program," which is admittedly dead now, there was no jibing at the small palace guard that fought a losing battle for the actual House.

Leaders — The actual leaders at the eastern end of Pennsylvania Avenue, although not the nominal rulers in each instance, will be Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Harry F. Byrd of Virginia in the Senate, and Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts and Representative Eugene C. Gent Cox of Georgia. This quartet has pulled the strings behind the opening week's maneuvers.

Three of the four are personal as well as political foes of Mr. Truman. He has said that "there are too many B-y-r-d-s" in the Senate. He regards Mr. Taft as the architect of most of his 1945-1950 misfortunes. He thinks that Mr. Cox should be out of the Democratic Party.

JUST A SUGGESTION

By DAVID BAXTER

PART TWO If we believe the golden rule or the ten commandments are good standards of morality (remembering that it is immoral to do anything that is immoral for an individual to do) then it seems to me that the solution of our foreign and domestic difficulties should be based on these moral codes. No one ever got into trouble by being moral—only by being immoral.

We may not like to admit it, but part of the fault lies in our own country's actions in history. In the matter of foreign policy we've been pretty bad sometimes. If we admit our mistakes then there's some chance of correcting them. In fact it could help avert a world war and pave the way, not only for a moral America (to begin at home) but by example and fellowship, to spread that blessing all over the world.

Take the late war with Japan, for example. About a century ago, when we were becoming impressed with our own power, a swaggering yankee commodore named Perry no doubt "under orders," sailed into a Japanese port "reason" the Japanese shogun, or parliament, into opening Japan's door to trade with the rest of the world. Japan was strictly isolationist, had nothing to do with the outside world and simply wanted to attend to her own business.

Bid For A Smile

A superstitious colored chauffeur was driving along a one-way street in front of the Chinese consulate. Without a moment's hesitation he turned back and the traffic policeman handed him a slip for driving the wrong way on the one-way street. When his case came up in court, the chauffeur explained about the black cat, and after due consideration, the judge pronounced "Case dismissed."

While the judge was pronouncing the verdict, a black cat jumped onto the judge's desk. The judge looked at the cat and said "Case dismissed."

Henry Discovers Few Things About Texas Hospitality

By HENRY McEMORE DALLAS — This may not be the most hospitable city in the United States, but I am willing to bet that I have put aside for a rainy day that Dallas will be in the photo finish picture with the city that is the most hospitable in the United States.

to have a hard time whipping us, if it ever comes to a showdown, and my idea is that the sooner it comes the better. In our nation, the state of Texas alone, we flew over more railroad tracks than there are in the whole of the United States.

I am from Georgia and when a Georgian wants to be nice to you, he barbecues a pig for you. In Texas they send you seven or eight steers on one platter, and if you do not want rare-steer, you can take the medium well done, or the very well done one, or eat the other four just as they are.

Well, I am too old to go into this subject, but if I could start my life all over again you could not throw me out of a building tall enough to make me marry anything in the world except an American girl.

Tramps Now Prima Donnas As Sea Freight Rates Soar

By SAM DAWSON NEW YORK (AP) — Sea freight rates are soaring as shippers scramble for tramps. A sudden demand for ships to carry coal to England and grain to Yugoslavia and India led to a shortage and made a prima donna of the tramp, shippers say.

Four months ago you could get a tramp to carry coal from Hampton Roads, Va., to Japan for $5 a ton. A ship has just been chartered to do it at $15.50. Over the weekend a 55-cent hike brought the coal rate from Virginia to France to $10.50 a ton.

CANADIAN — (Special) — The local post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will soon be ready to report "mission accomplished" in rehabilitating the home of a buddy, Dale Worley and his family.

Worley carried $100,000 insurance on the contents, plus insurance on the house. He collected "total loss" on the contents and $2094.82 for damage to the house, but as is often the case, the value of the "contents," added as time passed, had grown so much since the insurance was taken out that it was quite inadequate to replace the loss.

During the 196 days of thorough racing in New York State, Jockey Eddie Arcaro piloted 21 stake winners. They earned $410,370. Since jockeys get 10 percent of a stake winner, Arcaro earned more than $41,000 in stake winners in New York alone during 1950.
