Officials Thawing Wage-Price Freeze

Wedgeworth Says Lack Of Facilities Rules Out Air Base

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth was due to arrive back in Pampa early this morning after a week-long door-knocking job in Washington, D. C., seeking information about the possible reactivation of Pampa Air Force Base.

And Wedgeworth said Saturday in a telephone conversation with The News from St. Louis, that his report won't be too heartening.

AEC 'Tickling' Dragon's Tail

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — A brilliant "sunburst-like" blast from the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada testing range was seen, felt and heard by hundreds in four states Saturday.

"I have been seeking out offices and making calls. Through my contacts with Air Force men in Washington and Scott Field, Ill., I have found out that Pampa definitely is not in the first round of reactivations of installations," Wedgeworth reported.

"The reason given was that practically all of the installations at PAFB have been moved off, and the Air Force is trying to utilize fields with more facilities remaining than Pampa has, a fact also from a standpoint of strategic locations."

Then the government announced that it is getting ready "to tickle the dragon's tail" in the vast, desolate Nevada desert. That is what atomic physicists call their trick of producing low-order nuclear fission bursts without provoking the atomic blast into a full-scale, death-dealing A-bomb explosion.

"We are definitely not out of the picture," Wedgeworth said. "We just aren't being considered for the first round of this huge and ponderous reactivation program. If requirements in the new fiscal year call for more bases, we will still be considered along with the other fields."

It was heard and felt in Cedar City, Utah, 175 airline miles northeast of the testing area. The AEC testing grounds are in a 6,000 square mile Air Force gunnery range. Boundaries start about 40 miles northwest of here.

"We are definitely not out of the picture," Wedgeworth said. "We just aren't being considered for the first round of this huge and ponderous reactivation program. If requirements in the new fiscal year call for more bases, we will still be considered along with the other fields."

Rites Pending For Pampan

Funeral services are pending for Mrs. W. L. McNally, who died at 1:40 p. m. Saturday at her home two miles west of town of the E. G. Barrett lease. She had been ill for 14 months, critically for the last two weeks.

"We are definitely not out of the picture," Wedgeworth said. "We just aren't being considered for the first round of this huge and ponderous reactivation program. If requirements in the new fiscal year call for more bases, we will still be considered along with the other fields."

Survivors include her husband, a daughter, Mrs. R. R. Jordan, of Pampa; one son, Leonard, who is stationed with the Air Force in Korea; one brother, W. F. Dodson of Canton, Tex.; one sister, Mrs. Pearl Cozart of Downing, N. M., and five grandchildren.

"We are definitely not out of the picture," Wedgeworth said. "We just aren't being considered for the first round of this huge and ponderous reactivation program. If requirements in the new fiscal year call for more bases, we will still be considered along with the other fields."

Aluminum Plant For Texas Is Announced

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Chapter of the Associated General Contractors Saturday reported that Reynolds Metal Co. will build a $100,000,000 aluminum plant in San Antonio County, near Corpus Christi.

"We are definitely not out of the picture," Wedgeworth said. "We just aren't being considered for the first round of this huge and ponderous reactivation program. If requirements in the new fiscal year call for more bases, we will still be considered along with the other fields."

PREPARING FOR MOTHERS' MARCH—Mrs. W. F. Jordan, seated left, has been selected to serve as "captain" of the Mothers' March on Pampa which will be staged from 7 to 8 p. m. Tuesday for the Dimes campaign. One of the club groups assisting her in the march includes Mrs. Frank Kelley, seated, right; standing, left, Mrs. Russell Holloway, Mrs. Rex Rose and Mrs. Bob Curry. The women are laying plans for volunteer mothers to go from house to house where porch lights are burning as an invitation and receive donations for the polio drive. (News Photo and Engraving)

Stiffening Commie Resistance Slows UN Drive 11 Miles South Of Seoul

TOKYO (AP) — Stiffening Red resistance against the center of the allies' Seoul-aimed offensive slowed the advance early today, but United Nations patrols on the left fanned out within 11 miles of the old South Korean capital.

Enemy pressure north of Kumyangjang and Ichon forced the allied infantry to halt while tanks trundled out ahead to blast the Chinese Communists from snow dugouts.

They are running into resistance in the center and may not make such good time now. Associated Press Correspondent William J. Waugh reported from Eighth Army headquarters.

Rollback On Prices Hinted By DiSalle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harassed officials late Saturday began working for a fast thaw of their rigid wage-price freeze to fit it to the economy. But they also hinted that some price rollbacks will be in the cards later.

First amendments were due Monday or Tuesday, easing up on the all-embracing no-wage-rise order. They were expected to deal with John L. Lewis' new 20-cent an hour coal pay boost, among others. It was negotiated before the freeze but isn't effective yet. Coal people feel sure he'll get it.

U.S. Stymies Far East Plan

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — American Delegate Warren R. Austin Saturday rejected Arab-Asian proposals for a conference with Red China on the Far East and Korea. He demanded an immediate United Nations verdict that this would not mean American bombing of Chinese territory.

Price Chief Michael V. DiSalle mentioned possible rollbacks. He said this is a problem for the future and would be tackled on an individual commodity basis. He worked out a plan to "stop the onrushing price advance in its tracks" by declaring an instant halt on most prices and all wages. Adjustments and a flexible new wage policy were promised as fast as they could be worked out.

Know Where Pampa Located? Government Knows Exactly

If any person who is so uneducated that he doesn't know where Pampa is, you can easily tell him without referring to those little suburbs to our west and northwest.

You simply say: "Oh, Pampa is 100 degrees, 57 minutes, and 40 seconds longitude west from the prime meridian at Greenwich, England, and 35 degrees, 32 minutes, and 25 seconds latitude north from the equator."

Although this way of locating your position isn't very useful to the landlubber, it is important to record it for the benefit of the Federal Communications Commission and other agencies that have to know the exact location of a city.

But, all of Pampa is not in that exact location. Different spots in town vary a few seconds. The above location is within one or two seconds—in the dead level middle of Francis and N. Cuyler. It has been marked from one brick of the intersection, but with some of Pampa's drivers on the loose it isn't advisable to go looking for that certain brick.

Anyway, that is considered about the geographic middle of the city and you could be safe in using the above longitude and latitude figures. Try it on some seafaring friend sometime and watch his eyes pop.

Mussolini's Cook Spurns Memoirs

ROME — (AP) — The man who was Benito Mussolini's cook for 18 years recently got his picture in the newspapers for refusing to write his memoirs.

The cook, 47-year-old Mario Ercoli, turned down a publisher's offer with a shrug and the remark that he "could cook the best plate of macaroni and cheese ever tasted."

Ercoli is alive today because an American Army officer kept partisans from executing him when Il Duce was shot and strung up by his heels.

No War Now Says Speaker

CANADIAN — (Special) — Predicting that no world war would result from the present crisis, Major E. J. Cussen gave the members and guests of the Presbyterian Men's Club several reasons for that thought as he addressed the group at their regular monthly meeting in the dining room of the Presbyterian Church Thursday night.

Basing his deductions on the histories of many nations, the major stated that a definite psychological factor must be present before any nation will take the plunge into full scale war.

In like fashion, he explained our military mistakes, — "and we have made plenty of them" — were due to our failure to properly evaluate the psychology of the enemy; the mistake that brought about the present situation was not properly evaluating the psychology of the Russians.

The speaker felt that Joe Stalin would not risk war because of Russian discontent, and he admonished the group to refrain from repeating criticisms of our own leaders since our divided America would be much to the liking of any outside enemy.

At the conclusion of his talk the major invited questions, and an interesting open forum followed.

Guymon Trips Harvesters In Last 5 Seconds, 31-30

Pampa Battles Berger Here Tuesday In Conference Game

The Pampa Harvesters dropped a 31-30 basketball decision to the Guymon Tigers at Guymon Friday night. Johnny Gragg of Guymon hit a free shot in the last five seconds to hand Pampa its fourth loss of the season.

Harvester guard Tommy Smith knotted the game at 30-30 when he dunked in two free tosses. Guymon received its pay-off free toss when Pampa called it sixth time out. The Harvester captain wasn't notified that he had five time outs, and a technical foul was called against the McNeelymen. Gragg hit the free shot and Guymon brought the ball in from the side.

The Harvesters couldn't find the basket in the first quarter, collecting only four points while Guymon looped in ten. Guymon kept in front and led 20-12 at the half, it was 28-21, Guymon, at the start of the final period.

Pampa tightened its defense the final quarter, holding Guymon to three points, but Gragg came through with the winning one point for a Guymon victory.

James Claunch and Ronald Longbrake each hit nine points to divide individual scoring honors. It was the Harvesters fourth setback in 23 starts. Coach McNeely's Green and Gold crew met the powerful Berger Bulldogs Tuesday night in the Pampa gym. Berger is leading the conference with three victories. They routed the Shamrock, 59-28, at Berger Friday night.

A Bulldogs win Tuesday will knock Pampa out of the running for the District 1-A Conference flag. Berger defeated the Harvesters, 48-48, at Berger. Pampa and Amarillo are tied for second place with a 1-1 record.

Mustangs Defeat Guerrillas In Two Overtimes, 53-48

Pampa's hustling Guerrillas lost another close cage tilt, this time to the Wheeler Mustangs in the Wheeler gym Friday night in a double overtime, 53-48. The Guerrillas were edged by Miami, 50-49 last Tuesday night.

Friday night's game was knotted 41-41 at the end of the fourth quarter, and 48-48 at the finish of the first overtime.

The Guerrillas trailed 8-5 at the close of the first quarter, but they hit 18 points the second period to take a halftime lead of 23-17. Pampa led 32-30 at the start of the final quarter.

The Mustangs looped in 21 points in the second overtime and held Pampa scoreless to win the game 53-48.

Maurice Pettit of Wheeler was high point man with 19. John Oden led the Guerrillas with 15 points.

The Guerrillas meet Miami here Thursday night, and Wheeler entertains Kelton Tuesday night.

NEW YORK — It took an overtime to do it but the Oklahoma Aggies again worked the precision of diamond cutters to possess basketball pays for some teams.

Especially when taught by Hank Iba. His Aggies used their unhurried passing game plus a tight defense to outlast Bradley, 46-46, at Peoria, Ill., Friday night.

The man who swung the important victory to the Aggies is Keith Smith. He toed the free throw line with three seconds left and dropped in the winning one-pointer, only score of the first-minute shot.

A standing room crowd of 8,300 first saw Don Johnson of the Aggies send the game into overtime with less than a minute left, a tie at 46-46.

Then Bradley controlled the ball more than 30 minutes before taking a wild shot with 23 seconds left. With three seconds to go, little Gene Melchior fouled Smith and there went the game.

The victory is the most important of the campaign for the Aggies, No. 3 ranking in the week's Associated Press poll. They have a season mark of 17-1 and a 5-0 record in the Missouri Valley League.

Bradley (18-3), No. 4 ranking, dropped to third in the league with a 1-1 record at St. Louis (4-1). No. 2 ranking Long Island University (16-0) continued its all-winning streak against mediocre San Francisco, 57-52.

In other action, Georgia Tech defeated Mississippi State, UCLA downed Arizona, 69-65, and Santa Clara edged California, 53-52.

Wheeler Independents Halt McLean, 45-44. WHEELER — (Special) — Two Wheeler Independent basketball teams won games Thursday night.

The first team squeezed past the McLean Legionnaires, 45-44, and the second team routed Allison Independents, 67-49.

They were the first games of the year for the Wheeler teams. They meet McLean Legionnaires at McLean Thursday night. If any other independent teams would like to schedule games with Wheeler they should contact Red Richardson at Wheeler.

Fry was one of the 33 varsity lettermen announced at the banquet, 16 of whom are to be back next season, headed by Isbell, called the most valuable back in the conference last season.

He received the Houston Post Trophy for being so designated by a committee of sports writers.

Bob Smith, Texas A&M full-back; Dick Hightower, Southern Methodist center and Bud McFadin, Texas guard, were others receiving special awards for excellence in the 1950 campaign.

The Baylor lettermen elected center Gale Galloway and end Stanley Williams as co-captains for next season.

D. X. Bible, athletic director of the University of Texas who coached Baylor when the team was an All-American at Nebraska, was the principal speaker.

ENROUTE—Dick Hoover's ball is passing the right leg on way to the backswing.

Lefors Mothers Honor Grid Sons

LEFORS — (Special) — The Lefors Pirates Football Mothers Club honored their sons with a banquet in the high school cafeteria Saturday night with Coach Frank Kimbrough of West Texas State College guest speaker.

Coach Weldon Trice was master of ceremonies and he introduced Coach Kimbrough. The Buff coach showed films of West Texas football games after his talk.

Entertainment was furnished by the high school quartet composed of Bob Wilson, Joe Archer, Wayne Simms and Bob Bishop. The foursome sang "Harbor Lights" and "My Heart Cries for You."

Gridders attending the banquet: Don Stokes, Jim Doom, Jene Jennings, Bob Clemmons, Ed Wiggins, Gordon Ruthledge, Melvin Bigham, Ray Dickerson, Joe

LEFORS — (Special) — Four schools have entered teams in Lefors' Invitational Boxing Tournament, Feb. 1-2-3, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Schools entering teams are Lefors, Shamrock, Wellington and Panhandle. Another entry is expected from Lockney.

All four teams have ring veterans in their lineups and competition in the three-day tourney will be good. Two of the clubs have won District Golden Gloves team trophies. The Irish clouters won the Shamrock tournament, and Lefors captured the Pampa District Golden Gloves title. Wellington and Panhandle beak-busters make a strong bid for tournament buntings.

The team trophy will be awarded to the school with the most points from the 65-pound class through the heavyweight class. There will be two divisions, Junior High, and High School. The Junior High Division includes 65-70-75-80-85-90-95-105, 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 155, 160, 175 and heavyweight class.

The High School Division includes 90-75 and heavyweight class. A good scrap is expected in the 65-pound class when James Warner of Lefors and Ronnie Thompson of Wellington tangle.

Warner won his weight at the Pampa District meet and Thompson is a rough contender for the title.

The 70-pound class will furnish another top-notch glove battle. Bobby Trimble of Shamrock, Smokey Savage of Wellington and Charles Lane of Lefors are three evenly matched clouters.

Lane won the 70-pound class trophy at Shamrock, but Savage and Trimble are both ring wise and will be out to capture this class.

In the 75-pound class, Duggie Jameson of Wellington, winner at the Shamrock GG, J. D. Redus and Don Maples of Lefors are three outstanding Panhandle clouters.

Redus was eliminated at the Pampa meet by Ronnie James Thompson of Wellington. Jerry Herring of Lefors is the favorite in the 80-pound class. He was a winner at the Shamrock tourney, and he hasn't been stopped this year. Herring has scored six straight victories. One of his toughest competitors will be Johnny Pennington of Shamrock.

Cecil Saunders of Lefors and Gary Phillips of Wellington will match gloves for the 85-pound class. In the 90-pound class, Darwin Testers of Lefors is the favorite. The classy little fighter was the winner at the Shamrock and Pampa tournaments. Morris Moss of Panhandle and Bill Croasley of Wellington are two gloves who will be out to check Testers.

The top contender in the 95-pound class is Jimmy Mitchell.

Booker, Wheeler To Hold District Cage Tournaments

CANADIAN — (Special) — District 2-E championship basketball play will get underway Feb. 8 at Booker when the three-day Sub-District tournament will open in the North half of the District.

The South half Sub-District tournament will be played simultaneously at Wheeler with the District tournament in Canadian the following week and for a round-robin playoff to determine the District Championship.

Tentative schedules for the Booker tournament were announced. The first round-robin meeting in the District taking part in the round-robin tournament. Schools participating will be Darrouzett, Higgins, Booker, Follett, and Canadian.

Both Canadian girls and boys teams have been listed for byes in the opening round, which will be played on Thursday night, Feb. 8. Games will continue for both boys and girls teams during the three days. The final session Saturday night, Feb. 10, the Booker and Darrouzett girls meet in the opening game at 6 p. m.; followed by Booker and Higgins boys at 7:15; Canadian and Higgins girls at 8:30; and Canadian and Follett boys at 9:40.

No interscholastic league title will be at stake for the girls teams in this tournament.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF WACO — (P) — In searching for the reasons of how Baylor's 1950 football team came back from an early season defeat to compile an outstanding record, listen to the story of Hayden Fry.

George Sauer, Baylor coach, told it Friday night at the annual gridiron banquet. It should rank with the top stories of sport.

Sauer selected Fry, the Odessa youngster, for special mention to show the spirit and determination that drove the Bears to second place in the Southwest Conference when they had been picked to wind up last.

It was, in the opinion of veteran observers, the best football team Baylor ever had, even considering the championship teams of the twenties.

Fry was playing his fourth season with Baylor. He had not been the regular quarterback for three years although earning his pay tribute to him, and point to his actions as typical of the kind of squad we had.

In 1949, he felt he should expect to be No. 1 in 1950. He was the quarterback for three games, then Larry Isbell, who had favored a shoulder injury in early season, stepped into his place. Fry rode the bench. "He was a dejected boy," Sauer told 275 persons attending the banquet. "It was clear to me that he had let down, he felt he had failed. But we showed him through his work in practice — of running the team against the regulars — that he was making a contribution.

"He rode the bench but he would study the defensive formations of the opposition, would pick out flaws in them and figure out what plays would best serve us. He would tell me or tell Isbell. He was always right.

Here was a boy who was actually helping another take away his position on the team. But he did that all season — he made a great contribution to the team. Sauer who coached Baylor when the team was an All-American at Nebraska, was the principal speaker.

Unemployment Is Guardsman's Woe

The dark cloud of unemployment is beginning to loom over a particular group of people; namely, men under 28 years old.

All the country is becoming up-in-arms over the fact that many employers and companies are refusing to hire members of the national guard, reserves and draft-age men because of their shaky civilian status.

In the local employment office, it is beginning to show that some men are being refused employment. Many of the "wanted" notices being entered in the books there specify that men over 28 years old are preferred. An officer in the national guard, Bill Ragdale, is also in the Employment Agency. "There have been several cases in which men have been refused employment here. Most of the situation, however, is the results of the individuals in charge of hiring and not the companies themselves."

One company, on the other hand, has been told by the draft board that it is a little risky to train and keep men who may be drafted soon.

An official in a local company said that the company has not set a definite policy because jobs this time of year are comparatively stable. However, he said, the whole thing depends on the type of job involved.

Some men, who would ordinarily be employed as more skilled labor have taken jobs that are more or less temporary, usually lowering their own status.

It is also known that several men have enlisted in the Army because they have been unable to find work. Most of these men have been reservists. No definite action has been taken against these employers that refuse to hire guardsmen or reservists, except a resolution in the Senate. The condemnation

Senate Pages Have International Air

By MARTHA COLE
AUSTIN — (AP) — A Chinese lad and a Latin-American youth give an international air to the row of Senate pages this year.

The twenty pages are clean and scrubbed - looking, all with coats on, most with ties.

"We don't stand for inspection, but the sergeant-at-arms sure tells you if you don't look nice," Mitchell Wong explained.

It's the first year as a page for 11-year-old Mitchell, whose grandparents came to this country from China.

"I wanted to meet such people as senators," Mitchell said, "and listen to them argue."

The senators give a discreet little clap - clap with their hands when they want a page.

"But you know they also say 'frog' to you," Mitchell said and grinned, showing the braces on his teeth. "That means 'hop.'"

Mitchell is an A student in the sixth grade.

"My teacher gives me weekly assignments and I work them all night to keep up my school work," he explained. "He's a small lad in stature, but was all dressed up in a tan plaid sport coat, brown trousers and a tie. And his black hair was combed as neatly as a cowlick would allow. His parents own three grocery stores in Austin and operate one."

Fourteen year old Noe Mercado was such an efficient page during the 1949 session that the senators elevated him this year to an upper - crust job - page for the finance committee.

Noe was a caddy at the Austin Country Club where several members of the State Supreme Court played golf. They liked him and got him the Senate page job.

"My father is dead and I work because my mother needs help," Noe explained. His mother was born in Mexico and is a naturalized citizen.

"I like to listen to them argue," Noe said of the senators, "and I especially like the oath they take - to preserve, keep and defend the Constitution."

Noe, a ninth grade student, is taking four courses at the university junior high school in the morning and works from 1 to 5 p.m.

Pages are paid $4 a day for full - time work.

There's one senator who knows exactly what a job the pages have. He is Sen. Joe Russell from Royce City, who was a Senate page when he was in junior high school in 1937.

"That gave me the incentive to become a senator," Sen. Russell said.

McLean Red Cross Names '51 Officers

MCLEAN — (Special) — The McLean Chapter of the American Red Cross met last Wednesday and named the following officers to succeed R. B. Sheddick, C. W. Bogan, vice chairman; R. J. H. Kritzer, chairman of the fund raising drive; Mrs. Amos Thacker, co-chairman of fund raising drive; Mrs. Ruby Cousins, secretary-treasurer; J. Lester Dysart, home service chairman; Bill May, disaster chairman, and Lester Campbell, public information chairman.

The month of March, was designated as the date for the annual drive.

Tenant Protector Is Being Evicted

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The man who protects tenants when they are evicted by landlords is being evicted himself.

The offices of Tighe E. Woods, the housing expeditor who administers rent controls, are being moved out of "temporary building I," near the Capitol, to make room for the rapid expansion of the new price and wage control agencies.

Woods' agency now will be in other "temporary" buildings, built in World War II and located in the far eastern part of Washington. Some of the employees have already moved, Woods himself is scheduled to get out by Feb. 10.

New Draft Proposals Bring Concern To Guard, Reserves

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Defense Department, to boost the size and quality of the armed forces, wants some changes made in the present draft law.

It prepared a bill which it asked Congress to pass, carrying out those proposed changes. Before it does so, Congress probably will alter the bill a bit. Committees are holding hearings on the bill now.

As it stands, the bill would not make any direct changes in the National Guard or the reserve groups. Yet the National Guard Association and the Reserve Officers Association are concerned about the bill.

They have suggested some changes in it so that it will more positively speak of the need to preserve the future strength of both groups. The main objection of the National Guard Association is this:

At this moment, under the present law, a youth under 18 years of age, if he joins the guard, is free from the draft so long as he performs his guard duties satisfactorily.

The bill would wipe out this deferment for under - 18 1-2 year - olds who join the guard. The guard association protests that this would tend to cut down its strength.

Why? The pool of youths under that age serve as a steady fund for recruiting new guard members. Still, the armed forces say they now must draft youths reaching 18. The guard wants the exemption continued for youths joining up before they are 18. These youths, of course, would be liable for service if their guard units were called up.

Under present law a youth reaching 18 must register with the draft board but cannot be drafted until he's 19.

There may have been some feeling around the country, by people who didn't read the bill.

that it might make direct changes in the guard or reserves. This is not so.

One reader asks for a "clarifying roundup of present draft" rules on veterans and married and single men. Briefly stated, this is it.

Only youths between 19 and 26, under present law, can be drafted but not all those. Veterans are exempt. So are men with dependents, if drafting them meant hardship for the dependents.

Priests and ministers and theological students are exempt. So are conscientious objectors, at least from combat duty.

The draft of students can be postponed until they finish out their academic year and the draft of students in the upper half of their class can be deferred indefinitely.

Then comes the married men problem. A man who is married before being called before his draft board for classification, is placed in 3-A. Who says so? Selective service headquarters here.

But such a man, headquarters says, must be in a true marital situation. For example: a man who was living in Arizona but had a wife in New York and perhaps was not supporting her would not be considered married so far as deferment from the draft goes.

The same reader says he has heard of cases where married men have been drafted. Selective service headquarters can't answer that one except to point out (1) the situation explained in the paragraph above and (2) the fact that a man who married after the board places him in 1-A can be drafted.

There are roughly two kinds of reserve groups for men who have left the armed services: the organized reserves, who drill regularly and go to camp, and the volunteer reserves, those who may drill a little or not at all or may confine themselves to military study courses.

The law says that anyone who joined the organized reserves before the law was passed June 24, 1948 can't be drafted. Selective Service headquarters says about reserves:

Enlisted men in the volunteers can be drafted but officers in the organized or volunteer reserves are not being drafted.

Nevertheless, the armed forces have been calling members of the organized reserves back to duty. (The purpose of the reserves is to have trained men in readiness for a return to active duty.) And some volunteer reservists have been re-called, although mostly only specialized people.

Aunt Sally Has Bit Of Advice

ITASCA — (AP) — Miss Sally Easter, who remembers troops of Union soldiers demanding food at her home in Mississippi, will be 100 years old Monday.

She has lived most of her life in Texas.

Aunt Sally today had a word of advice for the younger generations: they still have, despite the war threats, wonderful opportunities and they still have a duty to make their country a better place in which to live.

She points out that she has lived through four United States wars, each one worse than the preceding one and progress has continued despite them.

A reception for friends and relatives will be held tomorrow to mark her birth.

She was born near Buena Vista, Miss., Jan. 29, 1851, and lived there with her family until Oct. 28, 1869.

During the War Between the States, she recalls, a group of Union soldiers stopped at their home, demanded breakfast and received it. They left without molesting anything.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Easter, and their family came to Texas in a wagon train, requiring 48 days for the trip. Some of the families stopped in Arkansas and East Texas.

The Easters settled near Covington, Hill County. After one year, Easter bought land in nearby Bois d'Arc community and the farm there still occasionally is referred to as "the Easter place."

About 1883, Aunt Sally decided to make her home with the late Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Martin in Itasca. Mrs. Martin was Aunt Sally's oldest sister. She moved with the family to Waco in 1900 and lived there until 1906, when the family moved back to Itasca.

Aunt Sally has lived with members of the family since. At present she lives with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brown.

SNOWED UNDER, BUT GLAD—Sgt. Davis A. Brown, local recruiter, takes inventory. Spread out on his desk are 31 enlistment forms for the Air Force, all processed and ready for shipment as soon as the Air Force gives the okay. In his left hand he holds a stack of cards representing 79 more enlistments waiting to be processed and shipped. And his right hand holds cards representing those shipped since August, 164 enlistees. (News Photo and Engraving)

Panhandle Youths Trying; But Air Force Is Filled Up

"Through this door pass the cream of the northeast Panhandle boys," said recruiting Sgt. Davis A. Brown as he pointed to his office door in the basement of the post office building. "But I've got 92 that aren't passing out so easily."

Sgt. Brown was referring to 92 Air Force enlistments that he has on hand at the present time. Air Force enlistments were turned off about 10 days ago and these 92 boys must wait until the Air Force is once again able to handle the flow of men. Up until it was frozen, Pampa's quota was three boys per week. What it will be in the future is unknown, but Lackland AFB, San Antonio, where all Air Force enlistees are sent, could provide an answer. The hordes of boys enlisting in that particular branch has snowed Lackland under.

Army enlistments, which are sent immediately to Camp Chaffee, Ark., are open. Also ex-service men enlisting in the Air Force may go immediately. They are sent to Reese AFB, Lubbock.

Sgt. Brown's territory includes the entire northeast Panhandle of Texas. A trip around his recruiting area is 381 miles long, goes to such distant points as Darrington, Booker and Lutie, south of Shamrock.

Sgt. Brown probably gets asked more questions and knows more right answers than any one man in town at the present time. His office is usually busy with youths seeking advice on which branch of the service to join, where they will be shipped, when, how long, etc.

The other day he sat and talked with four ex-Harvester athletes who are due to be drafted soon. They wanted to get into something of their own choice rather than be drafted.

"We try and enlist these boys through their own volition," says Sgt. Brown. "It has been proven through the last war that men who enlist do an 85 percent better job in the service than those who are taken through the draft law."

Explaining the draft law to these ex-Harvesters and the reason for it, Sgt. Brown said that "the law is to maintain the proper manpower to maintain the proper defense of our way of living."

During the Christmas holidays a group of boys quit college to enlist. They all went together in the hope that they could remain together, and they all went into the service. With the long list of boys waiting to be called, Sgt. Brown wrote letters to the dean of their college to get them back in school until they would be called in late spring.

Boys who enlist in the U. S. Army go in unassigned. They can not sign for any particular section, such as cook, ordnance, tanks, etc.

The enlistee is sent to Camp Chaffee, Ark., at the present time. The Army has five bases in the area to which the enlistees are rotated. When Chaffee is filled, the enlistees go to another base. Only ex-service men can have a choice of branches of duty. They can select what they want and they will receive that assignment.

Sgt. Brown is currently being snowed under by 18-year-olds and draftables. The 18-year-olds want to know how they stand and the draftables what they can get

Engineering Week To Begin Feb. 18

National Engineer's Week will be observed during the week beginning Feb. 18.

To commemorate the occasion, arrangements are being made for society engineers to give talks to any of the Panhandle's civic clubs by the public speaking bureau.

Also, efforts are being made to have models of engineering projects placed in store windows during the observance.

Members of the committee making arrangements are H. O. Hobson, T. A. Serrurier, Amarillo; J. J. Kasl and T. R. Hensley of Borger and H. D. Redus, Pampa.

Newly elected officers of the Panhandle Chapter of Texas Society of Professional Engineers president; Burton Doucette, vice; J. L. Adams, Amarillo, Pampa; vice president; and W. H. Neubauer, Amarillo, secretary - treasurer.

by enlisting. Even many 17-year-olds are being enlisted with the special permission of their parents who realize that their sons will be called anyway.

Pampa isn't alone in this backlog of enlistees. All over the 4th Army area, of which Pampa is a part, the recruiting stations are overrun with the backlog of Air Force enlistees. Therefore, most of the recruiters are trying to convince the boys who won't sign for anything else to stay in school and go as far with their education as they can. Recruiting sub-stations in the Panhandle are located at Pampa, Borger and Dalhart.

"These boys of draft age are having a hard time finding work," said Sgt. Brown. "The businessmen don't want them, no matter how much education they possess. Therefore, many of them have to turn to the Army, and we give them the best deal we can."

Since August 1950, Sgt. Brown has recruited 164 through his office. Included in that list are 2 Wafs and 1 aviation cadet. No Wacs have enlisted through Pampa.

"You have to have the respect and the confidence of the boys if you expect to recruit them," said Sgt. Brown. "And he apparently has that respect."

The hash marks on his Eisenhower jacket and the battle decorations help gain that respect. They tell a story of 15 years of service this month, three years of which have been spent in Pampa. And the ribbons representing the Bronze Star, European Theatre with three clusters, the Purple Heart with cluster, the Victory Medal, the American Theatre, Pre-Flight Harbor, the Good Behavior and the Combat Infantryman's Badge all help.

"Oh, yeah!! Somewhere along the line he picked up the Presidential Unit Citation with cluster when his group, the 83rd Infantry, wiped out a company of Heines in the Heregon Forest of northern Germany without a casualty.

European Defense Possible But Hard

By PRESTON GROVER

LONDON — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has completed his tour of Europe's Atlantic pact nations with one sure finding — the job of building a defense will be brutally hard — but possible. This correspondent has made the same tour, covered the same nations, and has talked to some of the people Gen. Eisenhower has seen and to some he has not. Eisenhower so far has presented to each country roughly the same proposition. He has said each one:

1. The risk of Russian aggression, either by diplomatic pressure or troops, is great. Russian aggression means the end of everything western civilization represents.
2. America is arming, expensively and fast.
3. America will help Europe arm. What is the maximum Europe can contribute?

The answer in each case — with the possible exception of Britain — has not been enough to satisfy the man who must make western defense work.

The hard fact is that most of Western Europe doesn't want to spend money and most of it is scared.

The West Europeans don't want to spend money because, in each case, it means giving up a lot of bacon, cars and shoes they only lately have again after long years of privation during and after World War II.

They are scared because they know war may start before the United States, Britain and France — the countries which really can do something — are strong enough to act.

Officials of the little nations have indicated any rearmament they may get going now would only invite retaliation from Russia if the Reds decided to sweep over Europe soon.

Eisenhower has answered that each nation must do its utmost. If one nation hangs back, another will use that as an excuse to hang back. And here is the kicker —

If they all hang back, the U. S. Congress will not vote the money to send arms and troops to Europe.

The argument has a sting in it.

A sample of the very real fear Europeans have is given in a story told to one of Gen. Eisenhower's party by a Dutch official.

"People here, including intelligent people I know, don't want to put their savings in the bank," he said. "They know that in case of war their savings won't be worth much, especially during the coming two years when they know Holland would be overrun in the first few days. So they buy clothes and automobiles."

And what has Gen. Eisenhower's visit done to counteract this fear?

There is no hard answer. A fair estimate is that it has helped much. Long before Gen. Eisenhower was appointed, this correspondent talked to a number of European leaders about the war-scare business and their answer was mainly this:

"When the United States names a commander to direct rearmament and sends troops to Europe, then we will begin to have confidence."

That commander now has come. He is known to everybody. His buoyancy, his established success as a general and his big smile have had a noticeable effect.

And President Truman has promised more American troops.

One of the general's party who has been in on all of the conferences said he thought Eisenhower's talks had stopped official European dithering and that now the Atlantic Pact nations would start inching toward giving real help.

Reports that Gen. Eisenhower has asked, and got, ten divisions from various countries for certain fixed times don't jibe with top bracket information this reporter has gathered.

Without naming names, it can be said that Gen. Eisenhower has not pegged his defense to a fixed number of divisions. If he has overwhelming air power, he won't need so many divisions. Nor will he need so many if he has divisions backed by populations confident they can defend themselves — and determined to do it.

It is this confidence he has tried to instill into officials — political and military — to whom he has talked. Undoubtedly he has given them some increased confidence. How much will be

DOG NOTES by PETER BOGGS

WAR CASUALTY

The government freeze on certain vital war materials has for the time being curtailed what looked like a very promising business of two Ohio men. Both are veterans of World War II, during which they were connected with the signal corps. Both are dog lovers. Both had had common trouble with their dogs in the past, a trouble almost all dog owners have experienced from time to time. The trouble, or problem, was getting a dog to come home after he had been let out for exercise in the neighborhood. How often have you heard a dog owner calling his dog in your locality? Many times I am sure. Here's the invention these two men perfected and started to manufacture:

Both men remembered that during the last war a group of dogs were outfitted with small radio receiving sets that were strapped to their backs. Thus the animals were controlled by a person a great distance away, the commands issuing from the small speaker on the dog's back. These two Ohioans decided such a contraption was just the thing American dog owners needed so they perfected one for civilian use. It was very much like the "war-talkie" of World War II. And, it wasn't going to be too expensive either, that is when you take into consideration the trouble saved in communicating with your dog when you wanted him to come home. Perhaps the present world troubles are solved they will be on the market and we all will be strapping on our dogs radio sets before letting them out of doors. Could be.

USE A FOLDED NEWSPAPER

Never whip a dog with a stick indicated by what they do when he returns in February and begins laying out hard plans — and hard demands.

But what is giving the most confidence in the West's chances are tolling, whirring gears in the factories of Detroit, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Cleveland, Seattle, Los Angeles — and in the mysterious chemical workings in American atom plants.

or the end of a leash. If you think that he must be disciplined by a whipping, then use a folded newspaper as a whip. By doing so there is no danger of permanently injuring the animal as might happen if a stick were used. A folded newspaper will not hurt him but the noise it makes will serve as sufficient punishment.

I have never found it necessary to whip any dog. Speaking to the animal in a harsh tone or voice will do the trick. Whenever you whip a dog there are chances that you might injure him physically or break his spirit and make him a timid animal for the rest of his life. However, if you feel you must whip your dog use a folded newspaper.

WHEN SHIPPING DOGS

Don't be afraid to ship your dog by air express or via the Railway Express Agency. Almost everyone likes dogs and you will find that the people handling your dog in transit will give him very good care. Officials of the Railway Express Agency ask when shipping your dog, if he is apt to take a nip out of somebody, that you put a sign on the crate announcing his bad habits. One of the most important things to remember when shipping a dog is to supply a proper receptacle for watering the animal. Water is more important to the animal when traveling than food. The average express agent will take good care of you pet. I don't think they are specifically instructed to do the many things they do for a dog coming under their care, but I have been agreeably surprised at the kind treatment the average express agent gives all dogs he comes in contact with.

CANINE RADIO FAN

Raymond Klinger who lives in Locust Gap, Pa., was puzzled on returning home to find his radio going full blast. He remembered having turned it off before going out. A few days later the same thing happened again. He had his suspicions as to who was the culprit so one evening he turned the set off, went out of doors and watched through a window. Klinger saw his dog jump onto a table, flip the radio switch with his paw and then settle himself in a chair to listen to the program. Now Klinger is fully aware that the way to keep a dog quiet at home is to leave the radio on. Many an experienced dog owner knows of such benefits from a radio especially with puppies.

YOUR DOGS VOICE

Did you ever realize that your dog has a voice superior to any other animal? None has as many changes, inflections or tones of vocal expression as does a dog. Nor do I believe that any animal desires so anxiously to talk as does the dog. Notice the dozen or so infectious your own dog uses. You can tell by his bark or whine whether the sound is one of joy or pain, of pleading or fighting, of warning, of fear or of play. Often the pitch of tone and volume enable a dog to express shades of meaning rather than just the idea of joy, pain, fear, etc.

THE QUESTION BOX

Question: What kind of dog, or is there one, can I buy to hunt birds, rabbits and retrieve ducks? I want one dog to do all these things.—G. Y.

Answer: The short-haired German pointer can be trained to do all the things you require in a hunting dog.—R. P. D.

Question: Should I give a very young puppy a lot of water to drink? — R. P. D.

Answer: I believe in making water available to a dog at all times, but because much of the regular food a puppy gets has a lot of liquids in it they do not require too much extra water. In fact, too much water may cause digestive troubles. Water a pup at least three times a day.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Increasing taxes to meet the national emergency has approval of the American Federation of Labor's executive council. However, the council in a statement yesterday urged the administration to put the major burden on upper bracket income groups.

Area Activity Registers Drop During Past Week

Panhandle Operators Stake 10 Locations; Complete 23

Activity in the Panhandle field slackened somewhat last week as oil completions, new locations and new oil potentials hit low points for the year. Gas completions and potentials rose, however, to bring total completions in line with previous reports.

Operators last week made 10 new locations and 23 completions of which seven wells were completed for oil, 15 for gas and one was a dry hole. New oil wells showed potentials totaling 394 barrels while new gassers tested a total of 71,426 MCF.

These figures compare to 16 new locations and 23 completions for the week ended Jan. 18. For that period there were nine oil completions, 12 gas completions and two dry holes. Potentials totaled 612 barrels for oil and 101,615 MCF gas.

TIPRO Planning Beaumont Meeting

AUSTIN — Spindletop will be in proper perspective March 27 and 28 when 300 oil and gas independents who carry forward today the tradition of that great oil discovery meet in Beaumont. That is the date set for the annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., representing part of the year-long celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Spindletop oil well near Beaumont in 1901.

The meeting will begin Thursday, March 27, with the gathering of all standing committees to compile reports for the membership. The following day delegates representing the approximate 5,000 Association members throughout the State will meet in morning and afternoon business sessions, a membership and ladies luncheon, with the convention culminating in the Annual Dinner. Guest speakers will be announced.

Directing arrangements for the meeting will be local committees headed by Randolph C. Reed, general chairman. Local committee chairmen are: W. C. Bill Tyrrell, Jr., reservations and housing; Bryan D. Beck, Jr., program, decorations and entertainment; J. J. Spencer, finance; B. E. Quinn, Jr., publicity; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crawford, ladies committee.

Spindletop takes on special meaning for the independent segment of the oil and gas industry. It was the granddaddy of all fabulous wildcat wells that spur men on in the hopes of profit with achievement. Before that day in January, 1901, when the Spindletop discovery loosed thousands of small businessmen in a never ending search for oil, Russia and the United States were running neck and neck in the development of oil. In the years that followed, the two countries took opposite paths with the same goal, Russia, following the government "planned" course, today controls only about one-tenth of the world's oil production, even after taking over ten other countries. Spindletop, the real beginning of America's oil industry, was discovered with benefit neither of government direction nor planning

Rotary Drilling Shows Decline

DALLA — Rotary drilling operations declined during the week of January 22 in all principal areas of the United States and Canada except the Pacific Coast, which was unchanged with a total decline of 107 active rigs, as reported to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co., West Texas and New Mexico, and the Illinois area showed the greatest drop, down 33 rigs each. The total for the week of 2161 active units compares with 2268 a week ago, 2480 a month ago and with 2019 in the comparable week of 1950.

A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks follows:
Pacific Coast, 129, unchanged; Oklahoma, 265, down 11; Kansas, 127, down 2; Rocky Mountain, 113, down 4; Canada, 106, down 15; Ark-La-Tex, 136, down 3; West Texas & New Mexico, 715, down 33; Gulf Coast, 529, down 6; Illinois, 43, down 33.

New Records Set By Oilmen In '51

By MAX SKELTON
HOUSTON — (AP) — The oil industry is off to an early start for another record-smashing year. National crude and distillate production last week passed the 6,000,000 barrels per day mark the first time in history. Crude processed at refineries exceeded 6,500,000 barrels a day for the first time.

A new Texas record placed its crude flow only 1200 barrels short of 2,700,000 a day. There is indication these record levels will continue to climb at least through February, or until the end of the winter oil heating fuels season.

After that, continuation of the upward trend probably will be controlled by national defense program requirements. The annual review and forecast issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, Tulsa, Okla., trade publication, last week included numerous predictions of new full-year records to be established in 1951. It estimates a 1951 products demand of 6,854,000 barrels a day, six percent above 1950. Its crude output forecast is 5,770,000 barrels a day, as compared with a 1948 record average of 5,514,000.

The magazine also said a survey among the nation's oil companies, large and small, indicates a belief sufficient steel goods will be available this year to permit drilling 43,843 new wells. The industry drilled a record 43,279 last year. National crude production last week averaged 6,051,350 barrels a day, exceeding the previous high set in September by 113,050 barrels. Output the same week last year averaged only 4,962,300 a day.

Crude sent to refinery still soared to 6,505,000 barrels a day, 117,000 above the old high set by large companies. Oil did not become an industry because government planners foresaw a need and so decreed it. Instead, one Patillo Higgins dreamed a dream of profits from supplying a product his fellow citizens could use.

The history of Spindletop really began about 1890 when Patillo Higgins decided because of "certain surface indications" that there must be oil around the place. Then as now, experts and doubters in general discouraged drilling. His struggle was a long one, succeeding finally after he enticed a mining engineer by the name of Captain Anthony F. Lucas to Beaumont. From there the story is history.

Products sources attributed last week's unusual trend to the status of unfinished gasoline at the refineries. For the same week, the American Petroleum Institute listed finished and unfinished gasoline storage as having increased 2,373,000 barrels to 123,742,000 from the previous week. Last week's Texas crude output record of 2,698,800 barrels a day exceeded the state's previous mark of last September by a narrow 305 barrels. It represented, however, a jump of 288,400 from the week ending January 13.

Editor Gives Support To March Of Dimes
BALTIMORE — (AP) — A Baltimore publisher, who regularly turns over all profits from his newspaper to the March of Dimes, has donated to the polio fund 18 in prize money he won on a radio quiz show. The publisher is Robert P. Fleishman, editor, reporter and entire staff of "The News-Hound," a mimeographed weekly. He is eleven years old.

Evacuation Ordered For Women, Children

BNAGKOK — (AP) — Four American firms have been ordered by their head offices to evacuate wives and children of American personnel immediately. A spokesman of one of the firms said the action was a "common-sense move." He pointed out many of those affected had been interned in various parts of the Far East by the Japanese during the last war. The move will not affect operation of the firm, he added.

FACE to face with this 1951 headliner—you know that it has a fresh and sparkling beauty such as you've never seen before.

There, sure enough, is a bumper—massive, strong. There are 25 sturdy, stamped-steel grille bars—mounted to "give" and come back unharmed. There, boldly standing guard, are two stout and stunning "bumper bombs"—and for good measure, two more husky uprights flank the license plate.

There, in short, is beauty with a duty—to give the finest front-end protection yet devised.

But that, friends, is only the beginning. Proudly wearing this "push-bar" forefront, you find a stellar line-up of SPECIALS, SUPERS and ROADMASTERS which set new standards of all-round satisfaction.

New "white-glow" instrument markings give greater clarity at night. New glare-and-heat-reducing glass tames the sunbeams in daytime driving. New power gives the SPECIAL record thrift and performance. New double-depth Foamtex cushions give the ROADMASTER restful new luxury. New fabrics smarten all interiors—and new ports embellish the fenders of all Series.

Yes, there's plenty new to thrill you in these spanking new Buicks—but ^{Optional at extra cost—available on most models.} (Not presently available in California or Massachusetts)

Pampa Women At Dallas Market

Among local merchants attending the Dallas clothing market this week were ladies Jaynes, representing Gilbert's, and Vada Hill and Mrs. Clarence W. Hill, representatives of the "Tiny Tot Shop." They were among 60 other fashion merchants attending the American Fashion Assn. advance market.

The main style show, featuring Dallas models, was held in the Crystal Ballroom of the

Open House Set By McLean Firm

McLEAN — (Special) — An open house on Monday has been announced by Joe B. Taylor, manager of the John Deere Implement firm here. A free lunch will be served at noon to ranch representatives of the "Tiny Tot Shop."

In the afternoon a free movie will be shown at the Avalon Theatre. Baker Hotel showing the 1951 summer trends. The fashions emphasized blue and fresh pinks of the colors for next summer.

Harrison Predicts Control By Summer

NEW YORK — (AP) — Defense Production Administrator William Henry Harrison predicts that all vital materials in short supply will come under strict control by summer.

At a dinner last night of the National Industrial Conference Board, a private organization of business and industry, Harrison said:

"It is quite clear that we will be faced with the equivalent of complete allocation of materials. I would suggest by summer that will be with us."

Soft Drink Bottles Travel Far, Wide

"Where's that'n from?" That question has been the basic question of an idle-moment-pastime fad that has been sweeping Pampa for at least two weeks.

And, it all concerns a simple item used virtually every day by most children and grown-ups — the familiar green, Coca Cola bottle.

On the bottom of each "Coke" or Coca Cola bottle (both name and nickname are registered trademarks of the Coca Cola Co.) is printed the name of the town the "Coke" was bottled in.

Today Coca Cola bottles in Pampa may bear the name of most any town in the United States, some from as far away as Cuba, Mexico, New York, different points in Washington, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, not to mention deep southern portions of Texas.

Recently a bottle, formerly owned by the Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Newark, N. J., tumbled out of the "Coke" machine at The News.

Ray Scott, manager of the Pampa plant, said the bottles are usually bought by tourists in some other town and turned in on refills at another town. The constant exchange keeps up until some bottles find their way into a large portion of the nation.

Carnivals, circuses, work trains, and some times passenger trains, trade in their empties for refills at Pampa and go their way. These bottles, of course, go through the 40-minute sterilizing process before being refilled and put back on the market locally.

Scott said the local plant has often received bottles from Canada, but since these are all clear while instead of the customary green, they are destroyed since they cannot be used in this country. He was unable to say why the Canadian bottles are white.

Bottle losses to local plants, Scott, said, are usually an indication of prosperous times. The Pampa bottle loss runs as high as $4,000 per year. This is because people do not bother to take bottles back for their deposit refunds. During depression days children would rummage around for empty bottles to get the two cents deposit on them.

As this story was being written an empty "Coke" bottle that was once ordered for the bottling plant at Clarendon was reposing on the desk.

Pools near "Coke" machines have sprung up to see who would get the bottle farthest from Pampa.

Three glass companies in the nation have agreements with Coca Cola to manufacture the patented design: Chattanooga, Glass Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.; Laurens Glass Works, Laurens, S. C.; and Owens Glass Co., at Streeter, Ill. Pampa has been ordering at least two freight-car loads of bottles a year from the Owens Glass Co., averaging 40 gross bottles to the car — a cost of $2,000 per carload.

And, still the hunt goes on for the bottle farthest from home — "where's that'n from?"

Dr. Eugene Slater Guest Speaker For Kiwanis Club Friday

Dr. Eugene Slater, pastor of the Polk Street Methodist Church of Amarillo, who has been conducting a revival at the First Methodist Church here, was guest speaker for the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club Friday. Dr. Slater spoke on the subject of "You and Your Job."

Three new members were welcomed into the club. They are Phil Pegues, who is the new field scout executive of the Adobe Walls Council of Boy Scouts; Dr. Malcolm Wyatt, associated with the Overton Clinic; and Bob Baker, the new court reporter for the 31st Judicial District. The men were welcomed into the club by President Les Hart and given their "aprons" upon which they must obtain the signatures of all of the other members.

Pampa Pastor Is Guest At McLean

McLEAN — (Special) — Two guest speakers will be present at the Presbyterian Church here today. The church has been without a pastor for the past few months.

Rev. Sterling E. Kinney of Amarillo will deliver the Sunday morning sermon and Dr. Douglas Nelson of Pampa will conduct the 7 p.m. service.

Miss Evelyn Joyce Lewis Is Bride Of Charlie Smith; Marry In Chapel

Miss Evelyn Joyce Lewis and Charlie Smith were married in a recent ceremony read by the Rev. Herbert Land in the chapel of the First Methodist Church in Pampa.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Lois Fagan. Miss Jewel Beckham was bride's attendant and also lighted the candles. Best man was Dick Cook. For the ceremony the bride wore a white wool two-piece dress trimmed in gold beads. Her accessories were light tan and she wore a corsage of red roses. She carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue. The bride's mother wore a gray suit with navy accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress in a brown gabardine suit with brown accessories. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are seniors in Pampa High School. They are living at 615 Christy.

Parish Council Of Catholic Women At Luncheon Meet

The Parish Council of Catholic Women held their January meeting with a pot luck luncheon at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday. Hostesses were Mrs. Tom Wade, Mrs. Walter Pung, Mrs. W. S. Brake and Mrs. J. W. Garman III. Mrs. L. J. Flaherty spoke to the group on "You and Your Parish." She reminded her listeners of their duty to take active part in parish activities. She said that Christ's words "Go and teach" meant all men and not only our leaders and pastors, as it is impossible for them to reach everyone. She advocated discussion groups for adult education on the "Confraternity of Christian Doctrine," the objective being "knowing good, being good and doing good." Following lunch the business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. B. Herr. Reports were given by the following representatives of various parish organizations and chairmen of standing committees of the Council. Mrs. A. D. McNamara reporting for the Altar Society told the group of plans made for a cedar chest to be given away at the annual spring dinner. Mrs. J. W. Garman III announced a card party to be held in Parish Hall by the Household of Martha.

Mrs. Dick Sullins reported that the social services and immigration committee had mailed 265 garments overseas in November and requested more garments and sheets and blankets for a shipment in March. The president announced that Mrs. Ralph Kiser is the new correspondent for the Amarillo Register and asked all publicity chairmen to get their reports to her by Thursday of each week. Mrs. M. F. Roche reported for the library and literature committee. Others on the committee are Mrs. Harold Altendorf, Mrs. Ralph Kiser, Mrs. Emil Urban and Mrs. Walter Pung. The Council voted to purchase for the following as requested by the committee: renewal subscription of "Catholic World" for the public library; purchase of two books, one for the public library and one for the Highland General Hospital shelf, and several others for places not yet designated. The Rev. Anthony Soklich volunteered to donate the magazine "Family Life" to the public library and Mrs. Roy McKernan will donate the newspaper, "Sunday Visitor."

'Women Physicians And Scientists' Discussed By Varietas Club Members

"Women Physicians and Scientists" was the topic for the Varietas Study Club Tuesday when the members met with Mrs. E. J. Haslam as hostess. Mrs. Dow King presented the program, telling of the life of the physician, Alice Hamilton, who was the first woman on the faculty at Harvard, and a recognized authority on industrial and occupational diseases.

Mrs. King said of the woman physician "She was born in New York Feb. 27, 1869. She grew up in a sheltered, but—mentally stimulating atmosphere and lived in a world of her own. Her early education was by parents, governess and a teacher. Her father encouraged her in research, and after completing study at a finishing school she began preparing for a medical career. She received her M. D. at the University of Michigan in 1893 and interned in the Minneapolis Hospital for Women and Children. She studied in Germany, then returned to Johns Hopkins Medical School. She started the first baby health center, then went to Paris for further study. She wrote "Why I Am Against the Equal Rights Amendment" and reading between the lines, she is pictured as an old maid—a man hater living alone with her garden and painting as hobbies, but a woman with a mother's instinct, trying to protect the weak and needy—a physician trying to find the causes of illness "and ways of preventing them."

Mrs. H. P. Dosier gave the life and works of the heart specialist, Helen Taussig, saying that she was an associate professor of pediatrics at Johns Hopkins Medical School, where she received her M.D. in 1927. Mrs. Dosier said "She is the daughter of the late Professor Frank W. Taussig and the former Edith Gull, who was one of the first women to study at Radcliff College. She is winner of many awards for her work with Dr. Alfred Blalock; has been successful with blue-baby operations, and is one of the most distinguished women scientists."

Mrs. Leo Paris gave a discussion on "The Middle West Grows Up." She told of the hardships in the West from the time the longhorns roamed the open range in 1875 until the present time. Members present were Mmes. John Brandon, A. D. Hills, Emmett Gee, D. W. Coffman, M. M. Moyer, E. A. Strackleton, Lloyd Rinehart, F. W. Shotwell, H. T. Van Sickle, Katie Vincent, H. W. Waters, Willis White, Leo Paris and the hostess.

McALLEN (AP) — If there's no change in the weather, you may be eating in August early oranges from next fall's crop. Rio Grande Valley citrus men said buds on orange and grapefruit trees are at least three weeks early. The meeting was closed with a prayer led by Rev. Soklich.

'Government In Industry' Topic Of Club Speaker

"Government in Industry" was the subject of the Twentieth Century Club meeting Tuesday at the Pampa Country Club. Mrs. J. W. Gordon was hostess.

Aubrey Steele, the guest speaker, stated "There has never been a time in the history of the United States when its people have manifested such frustration and confusion as is evident on all sides today. Free enterprise is being destroyed by the government. The American public does not know where it stands and apparently has no way of learning. The answer should come from highly placed officials in Washington, but instead of a clear-cut answer, all that comes is a series of conflicting statements which do nothing but to increase bewilderment. "Already the symptoms of fear are becoming apparent. It is only a step from this point to hysteria and the dissolution of morale. It is not too late, however, for the American people to do several things.

"The highly placed officials in Washington should disclose the truths to us. If the men to whom the destinies of the nation have been entrusted do not know or practice the truth, it then becomes the duty of every voter to replace them in elections." Mr. Steele urged his listeners to write their congressmen and to make politics a matter of personal interest and attention. Following the address there was a question and answer period.

In introducing the speaker, Mrs. Frank Culbertson quoted Daniel Webster: "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it." Mrs. W. R. Campbell, chairman of public welfare, concluded plans for Twentieth Century participation in the polo drive.

Members present were Mmes. Guilford Branson, E. L. Campbell, W. R. Campbell, Frank Culbertson, J. W. Garman, Jr., J. W. Gordon, Ray Hagan, Clifton High, V. J. Jamieson, James B. Massa, Roy McKernan, Fred Neslage, George Scott, Frank Stallings, George Vineyard and Robert Sanford.

Early Western Settlement Topic Of Civic Culture

Mrs. J. B. Townsend was hostess to the Civic Culture Club Tuesday afternoon with members answering roll call with interesting facts about an early Western settlement. Some of the places named were Humboldt, Mans, Fort Elliot, San Antonio, Abilene, Dodge City and Old Tascosa. Mrs. Lloyd Rinehart was in charge of the business session. Mrs. Townsend gave a report from the Texas Economy Commission and urged each member to become more aware of the findings of this committee and learn what the TEC branch is doing.

Mrs. Leo Paris gave a discussion on "The Middle West Grows Up." She told of the hardships in the West from the time the longhorns roamed the open range in 1875 until the present time. Members present were Mmes. John Brandon, A. D. Hills, Emmett Gee, D. W. Coffman, M. M. Moyer, E. A. Strackleton, Lloyd Rinehart, F. W. Shotwell, H. T. Van Sickle, Katie Vincent, H. W. Waters, Willis White, Leo Paris and the hostess.

Rebekah Installation Ceremonies Seal Mrs. Kirkham As Noble Grand

Installation ceremonies were held recently by the Pampa Rebekah Lodge for elective and appointive officers for the coming term. Installed were Mrs. Faye Kirkham as noble grand; Mrs. E. E. Ebel Bryan, vice grand and Mrs. Lola Nicholson, junior past grand. They were installed by Ruby Wylie, district deputy president and Eula Killian, deputy marshal, assisted by the installing staff. Mrs. Bonita Brown, accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Franklin, sang the "Installation Ode."

Piano Recital Set This Afternoon

This afternoon at the Church of the Brethren, Mrs. H. A. Yoder will present her piano pupils in two mid-year recitals, the first at 3 o'clock and the second at 4:40. Assisting in the first program will be Miss Jo Ann Hash who will sing "Homing" by Del Riego. In the second recital Miss Evelyn Clayton, music teacher at Woodrow Wilson School, will sing "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" by Hayden. Each program will include pupils of all ages and the music offered will be varied. In the first recital will be the Liszt Etude in D Flat played by June Guill, and the Debussy number "La Plus Que Lent," which has been featured in a movie, played by Sammie Frierson. In the 4:40 program Jo Ann Hash will play the first movement of Beethoven's transcription of a song by M. Glinka.

The public has been invited to attend these recitals. Others playing at 3:30 are: Joyce Duggett (pupil of June Guill), Mike Palmer and Hal Rhea Upchurch (duet), Marcia Ward, Linda Woodall, Vicki Payne, Russell Brummett, Rosalie Beyer, Sheila Nelson, Martha Ann Duke, Patsy Huffines, John Campbell, Richards Pitts, Joy Dawn Vanderburg, Jessie Lee Noel, Sarah Lou Hamly, Marilyn Weils, Margaret Scott, Billie Mae Osborne.

Following the installation included Mrs. Rosalie Russell, Odessa; Addie Fern Lack, Louise Morgan, Leona Yell, Fannie Coleman, Susie Hand, Lillie Stafford and Dona Crawford, noble grand, all of Skellytown. Following the ceremony sandwiches and coffee were served. Members present were Mmes. Lilye Noblitt, Elsie Cone, Kretzmeier, Laura Silvey, Voyles, Lillie Hollifield, Reed Brown, Wilson Kirkham, Tress Hall, Lewis and Bryan.

Plans were made to attend a pre-arranging course to begin at 1:30 p. m. Monday in Panhandle. The group also planned to sponsor an orphan child this year. Final plans will be made Feb. 1 when the club members will meet and go to Amarillo and visit the orphan's home to choose the child to be sponsored.

Those present were Mrs. C. C. Coleman, Mrs. J. T. Crawford, Mrs. E. E. Crawford, Mrs. C. G. Huckins, Mrs. W. H. Johnson, Mrs. W. H. Harris, Mrs. W. W. Jones, Mrs. Jack Cornwell, Miss Charlotte Tompkins and the hostess. The next meeting will be Feb. 2 in the home of Mrs. Jack Cornwell. It is a proof that one is very imperfect indeed when one is so impatient with the imperfections of others. — Fenelon

A Heart Grows in Greensboro, N.C.

AUTHOR AND SUBJECT: Novelist Betty Smith pauses to help Judy Ann Wall, polio patient at Greensboro, N. C., with lunch.

By BETTY SMITH
Author of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn"

GREENSBORO, N.C. — (NEA) — There ought to be an ordinance making it obligatory for every American citizen to spend five minutes once a year — only five minutes one time a year — walking through the convalescent wards of a polio hospital.

I walked through one. I took a trip through the Polio Convalescent Hospital at Greensboro, which is not far from my Chapel Hill home. I finished that visit with a feeling of shame. I saw pretty soft cheeked babies with withered arms; sweet little children with legs; growing children with twisted spines.

Some had been there for four years, since infancy. They had learned to walk there. They had never known a world outside the hospital. They stared in wonder at visitors who walked; at people standing upright.

I saw a very pretty young schoolteacher with a warm sunny smile, a victim of the 1949 epidemic. Her once pretty legs, in braces, swung uselessly between two crutches. She used one of her crutches as a baton as she led the crippled children in a rhythm session.

A record played "Sing a Song of Sixpence," and never had it sounded so wistful. Those children who had usable hands beat out the rhythm on drums, cymhals, sticks and triangles. A child with useless arms swayed back and forth hitting a circle of bells with her chest in rhythm to the tune.

I saw other things — children learning to read. Many were quite adept at turning book pages with their toes. All their life toes would have to serve as fingers.

An eight-year-old blond beauty quietly turned the pages of a book on ballet dancing, and studied the colored pictures. She'll never use the ballet slippers she got for her birthday a week before she was stricken.

A 10-year-old boy looked happily at a bat and ball on the bed beside him. He'll never be able to hold anything in his hands.

I saw... but never mind. If you have a heart, you want to help. Now in these last days of January, there are no screaming ambulance sirens to remind you to help; no headlines about polio epidemics raging to spur you on; no graphs with lines shooting upward to bring the need home to you.

Now it is the battle behind the headlines; the slow, patient, heart-breaking years of hospital rehabilitation. That takes money — lots of money.

You don't have to walk through a polio hospital. You don't have to have your heart twisted.

For that, give a donation — or another donation. Enjoy watching your children run around with their "hands in everything." Give a dollar for their enjoyment. Rejoice that they have sound limbs. Give another "Thank you, God," dollar for that.

Give a dollar for that pride, too.

Ridgway Tours Western Front

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (AP) — Lt. Col. Matthew B. Ridgway, two hand grenades strapped to the webbing of his paratrooper uniform, today toured the Western Front where his Eighth Army troops are probing deep into Communist lines.

The general described his visit as "one of my regular" tours of the men at the front. Ridgway stopped at an infantry mess to eat with the soldiers. The menu: spam, dehydrated potatoes, and raw onions.

DA, With Murder Charge, Resigns

SAN ANGELO — (AP) — District Attorney Oneal Dendy, free on $5,000 bond on a murder charge, has submitted his resignation to Gov. Allan Shivers, effective Feb. 1.

Dendy, district attorney here since 1939, is charged with murder in the shooting of Ray Elmo Canada, 35, a tenant of Dendy, on Jan. 18.

The decking, now being poured, is divided into 12 concrete slabs 25 feet long by a 26 foot roadway. Only five of the slabs are in place here, but if the weather warms up the remaining seven should go down in a hurry, engineering officials hope. (News Photo and Engraving)

Keep Your Eye On KPDN

By KAY FANCHER

Well, here it is Sunday again. You do the time fly. Seems like it was just yesterday I sat down at this old machine and let loose with a whole pile of good news about a certain number. (1340 that is). Since last week lots of things have happened up here at KPDN.

For one thing the March of Dimes Jamboree which was held last Sunday, went off with a great big bang. When the cash register was finally totaled it came out between $1,000 and $1,100. And believe it or not, the money is still rolling in. A lot of credit for the success of Sunday's jamboree goes to our local business men and citizens who were so glad to donate their time, products and services to the March of Dimes.

By the way, the March of Dimes, so far as KPDN is concerned, is not over by a long way. There are a couple of fellows up here that just don't know when to quit. The boys that span a lot of records on KPDN, Bert Conway and Rudy Merli, have got a little contest going that promises to make interesting copy for at least until the end of the March of Dimes drive. Rudy and Bert got to talking one day and Rudy said he thought he'd be able to make more for the March of Dimes than the other. Of course you know what has happened from there. The boys got together and decided that the one who got the most money for the March of Dimes would win a wheelbarrow.

So far, the race is neck and neck and it looks like it's going to stay that way right down to the wire. The big competition goes on around 12:30 in the afternoon and also at 10:30 in the evening. At 12:30 Bert has a show that's fondly called "Music of the Masters" by Rudy and more commonly known as "Hoop-De-Do." You want to be sure and listen in if you like Dixieland jazz, boogie woogie or just plain old-fashioned polka and things like that. And then at 10:30 you should be sure and listen to what Bert Conway calls, (and we quote) "The Hot Rod Race." Rudy prefers to call this show "Variety Time." Here's a little note of information that might be of interest to all of their listeners. In order to hear a request on either one of these two shows, you must send in your request in a letter and include a contribution of a dime or more for the March of Dimes. Be sure and keep tuned to these two shows to hear the end of this little competition. Things are liable to start flying pretty soon. You should hear what they call each other!

By the way, there's another great music show coming your way now which started as of this last Sunday. This one is called "Echoes of the Gay 90's" and it's a real fine show featuring music of that rip-roaring period in our history. This show features the music of the queen of the music halls, Bibi Osterwald, harpist James Landry, the wizard of the console and Wilson Amaze and the Frazzle Quartet. For instance the numbers to be featured on this week's show will include such things as "While Strolling through the Park," "Hail, Hail, the Gang's all Here," "The Gay Nineties medley," and many more. Be sure and mark that down in your radio listening notebook. Some terrific music for your listening pleasure at 11:15 on Saturday mornings.

Here's another note for that little book, KPDN has made it a point to obtain some wonderful mystery shows and dramatic shows for your listening pleasure. At 4:30 every afternoon, KPDN has added to the kids' listening block with a new show each day, so now the kids will be able to come home and listen from 4:30 until 6:00 o'clock every afternoon, and every evening at 9:30 KPDN now has a dramatic show that'll keep you on the edge of your seat for a whole half hour. Just a sample of these are shows like "Murder by Experts," "The Count of Monte Cristo," and "200 Pounds Every one of them a top dramatic production with some of the best actors and actresses in the radio business. Listen to any one of these shows just once and guarantee that you'll listen every night.

Here's another feature for your radio listening notebook. Come Tuesday night, the Pampa Harvesters will meet the Berger

Highway 70 Bridge Progressing Slowly

Chicken Creek Bridge, the 300 foot steel and concrete span along Highway 70, is slowly nearing completion as workmen were just under the half-way mark in pouring the concrete deck at the close of the week.

Five of the 12 reinforced, 13 inch thick concrete slabs have been poured to date. The only factor slowing down concrete pouring at the moment is the weather — too cold for concrete mixing.

Tuesday workmen are expected to resume gouging out sand and dirt and grading the remainder of the roadway between Chicken Creek Bridge and the south bank of the Canadian River. Approximately one and one-half miles remain to be graded and excavated in that sector.

When the present contract is completed it will mark finish to the 29.25 miles of excavating, structures, grading, 4.4 miles of paving and construction of the bridge. Bulldozers in the battle of the century on the hardwoods. The game will be held here in Pampa on the Junior High School Gym floor and I'm sure it'll be a sellout. If you can't get to the game, you want to be sure and hear Warren Hasse and the play by play description of the game starting at 8 Tuesday night. You want to be sure and mark that down in your listening notebook, because this game promises to be a thriller.

Another new feature on KPDN that we know you'll like was heard for the first time Friday night at 7:15 and will be heard each Friday night in the future at the same time. It's called the "Broadhurst Skating Party" and each night that it's on the air KPDN will have a microphone at the skating rink and you'll hear your friends as they go skating around the roller bowl.

Well, that's about all the notes we have for your radio listening notebook for today but we'll be back again next Sunday with more notes on KPDN features.

Paving the remainder of the new Pampa-Perryton Road along Highway 70 will be the next step for that stretch of the highway. However, paving of the southern anchor, N. Hobart, is slated to start and finish before the long stretch is let to a contractor by the State Highway Commission.

Wheeler History Is Subject For Review Club Meet

WHEELER — (Special) — Little known facts of Wheeler County was the subject of the Thursday Review Club at its meeting on Jan. 25. Mrs. Harvey Wright, who was leader of the program, had found evidence of one of Wheeler County's first billboard advertising campaigns in a clipping in the Pampa paper of many years ago. It stated that the letter L.L.T. had been painted on an out house behind the home of Bronson Green, a former resident of Wheeler. When townpeople asked what the letters meant they were told that they were the initials of the carpenter who constructed the building in hopes that the people inspecting the building would bring him more business of the same nature. A round table discussion disclosed other incidents in Wheeler County's past that had long been forgotten by county residents.

Mrs. Carroll Pettit was hostess to the club in the home of her mother, Mrs. Carl Larlin. After the program refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served the members present — Mesdames Earl Branes, Wilton, Callen, Roy Ford, W. A. Goad, Jr., Lewis Marton, Carol Pendleton, Lowell Pendleton, Cecil Richardson, Jr., Harvey Wright, Misses Yondell Starkey, Glens Hefley, and Wilma Hefley, Mrs. Ed Johnson was a guest of the club.

Planning Any Mass Meeting North Dakota County Isn't

ARMSTRONG COUNTY, S. D. — (AP) — Armstrong County residents will never have a big mass meeting over the government report that they live in the only county in the nation without a federal employe.

If anyone felt inclined to call such a meeting and everyone came, the attendance would be 52 persons. That's by the 1950 census count.

Anyway, it would be too much trouble for the handful of ranchers and Indians scattered over Armstrong's 530-square miles of rolling west-central South Dakota prairie to gather for such a purpose.

Armstrong has distinctions other than its lack of government employes.

It has no towns. It's reported to be the only U. S. county without a post office. And it has undoubtedly the smallest voting population. A single voting precinct is adequate for the whole county, which lies in the Cheyenne River Indian Reservation.

As a state unit, Armstrong is unorganized. It is attached to adjoining Stanley County for political purposes. However, a state legislator from Dewey County has introduced a bill in the legislature that would take Armstrong's 336,000 acres and incorporate them in his county.

Maybe he sees Armstrong as a growing proposition. It's gained 10 residents since the 1940 census.

Armstrong draws its name from Moses K. Armstrong, a surveyor who drove an ox team from Minnesota to Dakota territory in 1859. He was a delegate to Congress from the territory from 1871 to 1876 and lectured throughout the nation of the territory's advantages.

Historians report that while a congressional delegate, Armstrong wrote to Dr. H. E. Livingstone, agent at Crow Creek and a staunch Republican: "Have I any Democratic friends in Buffalo County?"

The mail that brought Armstrong's letter to the agency also brought news of the hanging of two outlaws at Bijou Hills. Livingstone returned Armstrong's letter with this note: "There were two Democrats in Buffalo. Both were hung last night."

Armstrong would be happy to know that his own namesake, Armstrong County, is a Democratic stronghold in strongly Republican South Dakota.

In the general election last November, a seven Armstrong County residents cast votes for U. S. senator. Five voted the Democratic ticket and two for the Republican candidate.

Cpl. Robert L. Hand, son of John Hand of Skellytown, is now in Korea as a lineman with the 10th AAA Group. He has been in Korea since Sept. 11.

The group has been kept on the move almost constantly and the wire crews of which Cpl. Hand is a member have the duty of establishing necessary communications at each new position. This must be done at any time a new position is reached and many times the crews are called upon to lay wire or repair lines at night. Often the men are exposed to enemy fire while working on their lines.

KELLERVILLE — (Special) — Dan Macina, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Macina, left last week for duty with the armed forces.

Pvt. Sharon E. Wilson is now stationed with the 8050th Quartermaster Sub. Supply Co. in Korea. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wilson.

He served three years in the engineers from 1946-49, part of the time in Europe. In a recent letter to his parents he said that he has seen several Pampa boys. Most of all, he said, they miss the letters from home. His address is APO 89, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco.

McLEAN — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lee, Sr., received word last Sunday that their son John Kelly had been injured in Korea and had been returned to San Antonio. He was injured Jan. 8. His injury is to his left arm. He left McLean Oct. 20, arriving in Korea about Nov. 16. His injury followed by six days the birth of a baby daughter.

Floyd E. Meatheny, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Meatheny, 806 Bruno, has been nominated for the Silver Star for bravery in action in the Korean fighting. He is a seaman aboard an LST. He is now only 20 years old, having been in the Navy since Oct., 1947. He is a former Pampa High School student.

Two Pampa area seaman recruits, Robert D. Hinkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hinkley, 322 N. Sumner, and Johnnie W. Lowe, Box 44, Hoover, recently completed their recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

Scout Leaders Meet Tuesday

District commissioners, unit leaders and other Boy Scout officials will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Palm Room for discussion of plans for the year. James McCune will be in charge of the meeting and make formal introductions of the staff of commissioners and leaders. Breaking up into Cub, Boy Scout and Explorer leaders groups, the men will discuss the purposes and program details of the various branches.

Plans for this meeting were made Thursday night, when McCune called a meeting of his commissioners staff. These men included John Kelly, Jr., assistant district commissioner in charge of Explorer Roundtable; Frank L. Fata, assistant district commissioner in charge of Scoutmaster Roundtable; and Harold C. Weidner, assistant district commissioner in charge of Cubing Roundtables, and Phillip Peques, field executive, of the Santa Fe District.

Lee J. Cobb Awaits Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Lee J. Cobb wants Hollywood to know he will have his samples packed and will be ready to travel when "Death of a Salesman" is made into a picture.

Cobb is only one of the guys who created the leading role in the prize Broadway show. But, because he is not a top movie "name," there is a chance that he might be ignored when the film is cast.

However, he has his hopes. For one thing, the picture will be made by Stanley Kramer, who successfully starred a non-movie name, Jose Ferrer, in "Cyrano de Bergerac."

"And the success of Judy Holiday in "Born Yesterday" shows that a stage star can be used when a play is made into a picture," Cobb added. "It's not as though I was strictly a stage star. I have done as many pictures as plays."

After a slow start, Cobb is beginning to reap the benefits of his "Salesman" triumph. When he returned to Hollywood, he was still under contract to 20th-Fox. He rebelled at the order to play a minor role as Gene Tierney's father in "Where the Sidewalk Ends" and was suspended. The contract was later ended.

Now he is doing his third picture in a row, as John Derek's father in "The Secret."

SPEAKING OF Furniture

PIPE DREAM

Basically there is nothing that distinguishes the mantel wall in the sketch above from myriads of other mantel walls to be found any place in the country, but the treatment is different. Instead of the usual mirror or painting above the mantel, attention has been focused on the old-fashioned pipe rack centered in a group of sectional book shelves.

This arrangement, in with the provincial furniture used throughout the room, the graceful love seat balanced by the over-size lounge chair and hassock invites comfort and relaxation. The maple cobbler's bench which serves as a coffee table is an authentic copy of an Early American original.

Colors in the room have been chosen to emphasize the soft, burnished beauty of the maple furnishings and the highly polished oak floor. Walls are off-white to give added space illusion. Circular rug is apple-green broadloom. Deep green covering on chair and hassock has interesting fabric weave. Bittersweet and yellow provincial pattern gives high color accent to entire scheme. Much of the charm of the room is due to the interplay of colors and the consistent relation of furnishings to background.

We'd like to help you achieve this same charm and consistency in your rooms. Come in whenever you can.

Gen. O'Donnell Is Right

When Eleanor Roosevelt speaks of "democracy" she must mean special privilege for the court favorites of the ruling house because she personally gave royal commands... (The article discusses her views on democracy and social privilege)

And A Year Has Only 365 Days

When a new senator comes to Washington, somebody always takes him aside and tells him that in joining the Senate he's about to enter the "greatest deliberative body in the world."... (The article humorously notes the long hours and demands of a senator)

Washington ... by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The ups and downs of President Truman's new $71 billion dollar budget offer a chance for endless argument.

These "ups" in the budget total $24 billion. The big item is $20 billion increase for military appropriations. It isn't likely that Congress will do any cutting here.

Foreign Aid

Military assistance for foreign countries has been raised by President Truman from this year's estimated expenditures of $2 billion to around $5 billion for next year.

position, because "democracy" in the present meaning of the word is not a doctrine, nor a theory or system of government. It is a fraudulent term used, often by ignorant persons but no less often by intellectual fakers, to describe an infamous mixture of socialism, miscegenation, graft, confiscation of property and denial of personal rights to individuals whose virtuous principles make them offensive.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

"Where We Are At"
Every person should take stock occasionally to find out how he is getting along. Just so, we as a nation should analyze what we are doing and try to determine where we are at. That is exactly what Thomas H. Barber did in his new book entitled "Where We Are At," published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

Rose Wilder Lane says of this book: "I have praised good books, Sir Ernest Benn and Bertrand de Jouvenal's and Ludwig von Mises's and M. J. Bonn's, the best of contemporary European thinking. But this book I rank with those of only two other writers whose work I know, Thomas Paine and Frederic Bastiat."

National Whirligig

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — "Who is responsible for the employment of fifty or sixty Communists by United Nations members at New York?" inquires Mrs. A. T. of Houston, Texas. "I think it is outrageous that they be given an opportunity to spy on us, to discredit our institutions and to pick up valuable information from Moscow. Why not send them packing?"

Dear Editor,
To the mothers of the 18-year-olds, as to the question of taking the 18-year-olds or the veterans, how old do you think the veterans were that had to go into the service during the worst years of World War II. A lot of them were only 18 at the time and we were fighting. At this time our country isn't engaged in war. Which had you rather, have your 18-year old son stay at home without any training and then when our country might have to go to war, go into the service and the situation be as it was when the veterans went and have to fight with very little training. Would you like to be in the shoes of the wives who will be left at home with small children who need food and clothing which the allotment that the government gives will not buy enough of these needs?

"We Goin' Somewhere, Boss?"

BY DAVID BAXTER

PART TWO
Having mentioned that thus far the pros and antis around the country have not agreed on any definition of what a Jew is, some claiming it's racial, some religious and others cultural, it seems that when the various people talk of "the Jews" they are not too sure just what they mean. One thing is certain, however, and that is the financial gain accruing to agitators some of whom attack while others defend what is obviously an indefinable myth. It is a bit amusing that such a thing should ever be taken seriously, much less become an issue in a country where a citizen is simply a citizen and no questions asked. Blamed if I'm going to examine everyone's hide with a magnifying glass to determine whether his skin pigmentation is different from mine and thus seek justification for chucking him out of the country. Not so long as the Bible says that "God has made of one blood all nations of men."

What Is A Jew? Bid For A Smile

Two fishermen sitting on a bridge, their lines in the water, made a bet as to who would catch the first fish. One got a bite and became so excited that he fell off the bridge. Well, said the other, "if you're going to dive for them, the bet's off."

Driver—Hey, what's the idea of bustin' the wagon—don't you know the place is belted and that you're under arrest?
Jumper—Sure. I was caught there last week and I wanted to be as good as you a seat this time.

generation of American Jews are tall, broad-shouldered kids. Their grandfathers were stunted people out of European ghettos — the kind that long ago were caricatured in burlesque theaters. I went to the universal Jewish Encyclopedia. I could find no Jewish race in its purity. The Jews, like all other peoples, are a mixture of many races with which they have been in contact through the long history.

Well, then, is the thing "cultural?" The pros and antis can't agree on that, either. Alfred Segal discussed it in his column in the B'nai B'rith Messenger (12-22-50). A Prudential Insurance Co. blank his son was filling out wanted to know his racial descent. Segal thought about that. He was a Jew religiously but not nationally. He said there were Jews around the world to whom he didn't feel racially akin—black Jews in Abyssinia, Chinese Jews and Tartars. A Jew named Kahn, for instance, is likely to have derived his name from the name of Genghis Khan. He is apt to have high cheek bones and slightly slanted eyes. A Dutch Jew with a round face, florid complexion and blue eyes, doesn't feel much racial kinship with a Mongolian.

And all things considered, I think the Apostle gives about the clearest definition of what he's talking about than anyone I know of. He writes, in the second chapter of his letter to the Romans (verses 28 and 29): "For he is not a Jew which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision which is outward in the flesh; but he is a Jew which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God."

During them all the men of the lower orders were liable to be kidnapped and forced into the armed services. Outside of England this was true even when their own country was not at war, for many princelings, when at peace, made a practice of selling or renting regiments of their own people to other princelings who were at war.

Some people itch all over after bathing. Although the itch usually disappears after the clothes have been on for a while this is a most annoying form of itch. It is hard to know what to do for it. One lady recently wrote to me that her husband had obtained relief by applying a half glycerine half water solution on the skin immediately after the bath.

These "ups" in the budget total $24 billion. The big item is $20 billion increase for military appropriations. It isn't likely that Congress will do any cutting here. Interest on the public debt goes up by $175 million, and nobody can do anything about cutting that.
