Marines Leading Assault As Red Resistance Fades

TOKYO — (AP) — Tank-led American marines captured Hoengsong today after other leathernecks smashed Chinese resistance on hills north of the rubber highway hub on the central Korean warfront. Hoengsong, 50 air miles east of Seoul, is in the middle of the mountainous 60-mile central front. Field reports to U.S. Eighth Army headquarters said Red resistance, stiff during the morning, faded under steady aerial and artillery pounding. The Marines occupied Hoengsong at 2:40 p.m. (12:40 a.m. EST) the town fell to the Chinese Feb. 12 during a counter-offensive that failed at heavy cost to the Reds — to crack the allied line. Before entering Hoengsong, the

Senator Urges Okay For 18-Year Draft

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Cain (R-Wash.) urged Congress today to approve a draft of 18-year-olds because "we need every man we can get in Korea." Cain, an Army aviator in World War II, urged support of the pending universal military training bill to a blistering criticism of amendments proposed by Senator Morse (R-Ore.). "How impractical and how unrealistic are we become in our efforts to sugar-coat this pill — to evade the issues?" Cain asked in a speech prepared for Senate delivery. "I am hopeful that this legislation will be enacted and that it will not be circumscribed or crippled by amendments of the type recommended by my distinguished colleague and very good friend (Morse)," Cain said. One of the amendments sought by Morse would make 18 1/2 the minimum age for inductions. Four days of debate over this and other proposals backed by the Oregon Republican have delayed a Senate decision as to when voting on the bill will begin. Morse in a series of speeches earlier this week said the bill was drafted along lines laid down by the Department of Defense and do not conform to the wishes of the people. Cain emphatically denied that the Senate measure was either an administration or a Pentagon bill. "This represents the combined efforts of a great number of people, from practically every responsible segment of our government and of our public life," Cain said. Morse urged that a manpower ceiling of 3,000,000 or 3,100,000 be placed on the armed forces instead of 3,462,205, which the Pentagon gives as its goal. He said Congress could raise or lower the ceiling later. Cain said Morse's proposal would put military planning on "such a hit-or-miss, day-to-day basis" that it would be impossible to

Power Boost Due Hearing

The city commission meeting Tuesday will be devoted mainly to a public hearing on the minimum rate for domestic and commercial electric rate hike. Mayor C. A. Huff announced late Thursday morning. The mayor asked the public, both those against a rate hike and those favoring it, to attend the commission's session. Southwestern Public Service Co. currently is seeking a 10 percent rate boost over the Pampa handle from every community it serves. It already has received the increase from city commissions and city councils in numerous localities including Borger, McLean, Dalhart, Dumas, White Deer, Panhandle, Groom and others. But Pampa's commission wants the rate of increase to be handled by the commission. Public hearings such as these were held before the commission granted Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s request for a rate boost and when the problem on lifting rent ceilings was laid in city councils and commissions' laps almost two years ago.

Revision of American Air Strategy Underway As Production Planned For New Jet Bombers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two new heavy jet bomber types, able to carry atomic bombs speedily to distant targets, are part of an unfolding picture of revised American air strategy. The Air Force has disclosed it is hastening into the building of B-32s, short-cutting the usual practice of trying experimental models before ordering a new plant put on the production line. First of these big jets is expected to be delivered this year. At the same time, it has ordered construction of two all-jet versions of the giant B-36, these to have the swept-back wings which give airplanes greater speed. Out of a news conference by Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter yesterday also emerged an outline of the air war plans into which the new bombers will be fitted. In answer to questions, Finletter said: "The United States is interested in getting bases for its aircraft within the North Atlantic

Unions Snag Rebuilding Of Shattered Wage Board

Demand That It Act On Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rebuilding of the shattered wage stabilization board today ran up against a major obstacle—a demand by unions that it handle labor disputes as well as wage controls. Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston was making cautious moves to fashion a new industry-labor-public board to replace the nine-man panel from which organized labor withdrew its three representatives. Top labor leaders, acting on orders from the United Labor Policy Committee, showered all the mobilization agencies with resignations Thursday, in protest against alleged "unfair" wage control and "big business" domination of the defense drive. Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson was the major target of their charges. He prepared to issue a statement today in reply. And Johnston, recognizing more storms and delays ahead, acted as his own one-man wage board in two actions announced last night: 1. He relaxed the 10 percent ceiling on wage boosts by permitting workers to get full benefit of cost-of-living wage increases up to June 30 — provided their "escalator"-type contracts were signed before Jan. 25. This may avert unrest and possible strikes in the auto industry, where about 1,000,000 workers enjoy "escalator" benefits. $5 me are entitled to bigger paychecks as of Thursday, matching recent cost of living climbs. 2. Johnston set a precedent for handling "hardship" cases. A three-member board was named to study whether CIO and AFL striking house workers should get the full nine-cent hourly pay boost won from major packers just after the freeze. It would pierce the ceiling, but the unions claim the freeze caught them at a substandard pay level. A 3 1/2 percent price increase for passenger car manufacturers was ordered at the same time by price officials, to "offset" "partially" higher wage and other costs. Johnston reportedly was considering (See UNION, Page 2)

Truman Says Labor Walkout 'Not Serious'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman called in his cabinet today (10 a.m. EST) for a final review of home-front problems before boarding his plane for Key West, Fla. He didn't appear worried by the walkout of organized labor leaders from the defense mobilization program. But his associates said he will keep in close touch with developments from his Florida naval submarine station Little White House, where elaborate communications facilities are available. Mr. Truman planned to take off from the Washington National Airport in his plane the "Independence" around 12:30 p.m. (EST) after his conference with the cabinet and other engagements. This would put him in at the (See TRUMAN, Page 2)

McCarthy Linked With RFC Debtor

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Conflicting testimony linking Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) and an RFC debtor in a check-cashing episode at a Maryland race track injected new spice today into a Senate investigation of political influence of government loans. E. Merit Young, a key figure in the inquiry, told the senators yesterday he saw Carl G. Strandlund, Ohio industrialist, cash checks for McCarthy at Baltimore's Pimlico race track. Young said Strandlund later tore up some of the checks and remarked "he usually did that for McCarthy." Strandlund told the Senate investigating subcommittee he cashed two checks for McCarthy at the Laurel, Md., racetrack and tore up the smaller one because it was covered by a second which he said was for "maybe $200 or a little more." McCarthy gave newsmen a similar account of the incident, except he agreed with Young that it occurred at Pimlico, and he didn't say who cashed the checks. Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) charged McCarthy with investigating, told reporters the exchange over the check incident "helps to clear the air" of rumors floating around. He said he did not plan to explore the story further. But Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) a subcommittee member, said it would be unfair to deny the story. He demanded that other witnesses be called. Another member, Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said the group has gotten involved in a dispute that has "nothing to do" with its work. In the meantime, the group went ahead with its probe of Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) lending policies. Roy Furber, a Detroit industrialist, was called to testify (10 a. m. EST). In an earlier appearance before the committee, Fruehauf testified that a Washington lawyer once told him he had two RFC directors "in his hip pocket." The committee said Fruehauf identified the lawyer as Joseph H. Rosenbaum and described him as a friend of Young and RFC directors Walter L. Dunham and William E. Willett. Strandlund yesterday named Young, Dunham and Willett as members of an "influence ring" which he said engineered foreclosure of the RFC mortgage on his Lustron prefabricated housing plant at Columbus, Ohio. He contended he was a victim of "financial wolves" who tried to seize control of the factory. Rex Jacobs, a Detroit manufacturer, also named as one of those Strandlund said considered to ruin him, told the committee Young works for him at a salary of $1,500 a month. The committee has called Young a man of "unusual influence" on RFC affairs. Young's wife is a White House stenographer.

Ex-Highway Worker Kills Himself After Wounding Wife

A 65-year-old retired Texas Highway Dept. worker, William W. Roberts, a former resident of Santa Monica, Calif., apartment Wednesday after critically wounding his wife. The man died when he fired a .38 caliber slug into his head. Mrs. Roberts is in critical condition. Mrs. Roberts told police her husband arrived home unexpectedly Wednesday after a trip to Texas. She said he offered her a gift package and, as she moved to accept, tore off the wrapping, revealing a .38 caliber revolver. Neighbors said Roberts fired twice as Mrs. Roberts fled screaming. The woman collapsed on the front lawn, and Roberts, who had followed, walked back into the building. Officers found him on the living room floor of his wife's apartment, a bullet wound in his

Lawmaker Seeking Control On Phones

AUSTIN — (AP) — A Corpus Christi lawmaker today unfolded a plan to regulate long distance telephone rates inside Texas. Rep. John Barnhart says he'll introduce the proposal in bill when the House reconvenes Monday. The Legislature adjourns for the weekend at noon Thursday. Rate regulation, Barnhart believes, would result in lower phone bills. The provisions in his bill have been recommended by the legislative council, research right-arm to the Legislature. Telephone rates were on the list of subjects oriented investigated two years ago by the fifty-first session. Under the Barnhart plan, regulation would be carried out by a new division of the railroad commission. Heads of the division would be a director with a salary of at least $7,500 and a chief engineer, a chief accountant and general counsel, whose salaries would be at least $5,000. The council found that, while Texas rates compare favorably with those in other states, long distance calls to points outside the state cost substantially less than calls inside the state covering the same distance. For example, the council investigated this situation in Austin: A six-minute, daytime call to Texarkana, Tex., cost $3.10. The same call from Austin to Texarkana, Ark., costs only $2.10. But, the council discovered, telephone companies make more money on interstate calls, percentage-wise, than from intrastate (inside one state). Heads of the division would be a director with a salary of at least $7,500 and a chief engineer, a chief accountant and general counsel, whose salaries would be at least $5,000.

Bud Lowrance Critically Hurt

Bud Lowrance, farm hand for Bob Andis, early Thursday was critically injured when his leg became entangled with machinery while feeding cattle. Lowrance's one leg was caught in tractor gears and was badly mangled. His other knee was slightly injured also. Doctors at Highland General Hospital this morning said they held high hopes for saving the injured man's leg after it looked for a while as though it would have to be amputated. Due to faulty information sources and a too-short deadline Thursday morning, The News was unable to give the story a full check and listed Lowrance as an employee of E. M. Keller Trucking Co. and reported him as injured at the Humble Camp.

Defense Department Says It Expects To Have Only Six Divisions In Europe By July 1, 1952

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Defense Department was reported today to have told Congress it expects to have only six American divisions in Europe by July 1, 1952, unless war breaks out. This information bore out statements by Secretary of Defense Marshall that there are no present plans to increase U. S. commitments to the North Atlantic defense force being formed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Senators told newsmen the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees were told, in answers to a series of questions by Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) that present plans call for sending two additional U. S. divisions to Europe this year. Marshall said four more divisions would be furnished in all to join under Eisenhower's command the two now in Germany on occupation duty. The committees called Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, before them in closed session (10 a. m. EST) today. Some senators said they wanted to check on reports that the military might ask for $100,000,000 for the year starting July 1, 1952. One Senate report was that the Army alone might ask for $50,000,000. Senator Byrd (D-Va.) told a reporter he had heard talk of the $100,000,000 figure. He added: "I really don't think anything will come of it." "I'm no more serious about this than I have been for the last three or four years. I certainly have a lot of thinking and talk to some people before doing anything like that." The Oklahoman did not name the firm. The story said the deal might break about March 31, he fears that any such budget would splinter the country's economy. Byrd said he wants the military leaders to break down and explain what he contended are requests for a total of $70,000,000 in appropriations, including foreign aid, for the year beginning next July 1. "We don't have any breakdown or any information yet on where this money is going," he said. The troops to Europe issue continued to occupy the attention of the Senate yesterday while it debated a military manpower bill. Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said his colleagues he is going to vote against sending any more American ground forces to serve in Eisenhower's European defense army. Asserting that President Truman "has proved incapable of providing the necessary leadership," Bricker proposed that Congress draw its own master defense plan. U.S. Discounts Soviet Intents In Peace Talk

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The State Department heavily discounts chances that real "peace talks" with Russia will result from Big Four negotiations beginning in Paris Monday. Officials here are convinced that what the Soviets want to do in Paris is set the stage for a new diplomatic and propaganda offensive against the western defense effort and when the Big Four foreign ministers meet in Washington at a date not yet set. Ambassador Philip G. Jessup, representing Secretary of State Acheson, arranged to leave here today (about noon EST) for New York with a group of assistants and advisers. They will fly to Paris tonight. Jessup will be American spokesman at the Paris meeting with representatives of the British, French and Russian foreign ministers. The Paris session is expected to last about two weeks. Its purpose is to decide on subjects and complete the arrangements for a session of the ministers themselves, probably in April. The State Department statement Thursday cautioned that a meeting of the foreign ministers will be really productive — that it will result in the serious "peace talks" by which the western powers and the Soviet Union might end their conflict. Noting that in agreeing to the Paris session the Soviet government had reaffirmed its insistence that the West is to blame for the world's troubles, the State Department said: "The Soviet move does not suggest any real change in attitude on their part which would encourage the hope that the Four Ministers will be able to reach useful agreements." Being thus skeptical of the prospects for effective talks, the United States intends to press its plans for strengthening areas in danger of possible Soviet aggression.

National Guard Unit To Don Battle Dress For Show Saturday

Pampa will have an opportunity Saturday night to see their own National Guard unit marching in full battle dress through the streets of Pampa. The Pampa Artillery Observation Battalion, will be completing the sixth and final phase of the special six-week drill ordered by National Guard headquarters in Washington. The unit will assemble at the Junior High School early Saturday evening and the march down Cuyler Street will start about 8:30. The men will then board their vehicles and be carried to Lake McClellan where they will bivouac for the night and accomplish other phases of their training. The local unit is composed of 58 enlisted men, 3 officers and a Warrant Officer. Commander of the unit is 1st Lt. Charles L. Robinson.

Doctor Believes Ghosts Are Real
LONDON — (AP) — Ever seen your own ghost?

It's possible, says professor Jean L'Hermite, Paris brain specialist, writing in the British Medical Journal.

After long study the professor says he is convinced ghostly doubles, which he calls "Auto-accipit hallucinations" are not fanciful inventions.

"Usually the image is very clear, but not vivid in color," L'Hermite writes. "When the subject attempts to get near it, the image draws back, or fades away."

L'Hermite says he wasn't yet figured out what the vision of phantoms pretends — if anything.

Mexican National Income On Increase Senator Figures

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Mexico's national income — the total value of all production — increased 12 percent in 1950 to an average of 1,666 pesos ($190), the central bank of issue, the Banco de Mexico, reported.

Officers of the bank told the annual stockholders' meeting the total national income was 31 billion pesos ($3,600,000,000). All though the total was higher than in 1949, the report said it should be corrected for an increase of 9.3 percent. This would reduce the actual per capita increase only 2.5 percent.

Money in circulation increased 38.8 percent to 6,125,000,000 pesos ($710,000,000). Dollar reserves increased $171,500,000 as a result of invisible exports such as tourists' spending and investment of foreign capital. However, the report said that Mexico bought more abroad than she sold during 1950.

Of the incoming capital, the report said $6,000,000 went into new industries and $9,000,000 into industries already established. The rest went into securities rather than industrial shares.

Thief Caught, Loot Gets Away

SINGAPORE — (AP) — When Chinese dealer Phua Ah Soy saw another Chinese unloading three bottles of whisky from his van into waiting pedicab, he gave chase. Phua caught the thief but when he returned the pedicab rider had disappeared along with the whisky.

The thief was sentenced to five months and ordered to pay $12 compensation. Neither the pedicab rider nor the whisky has been found.

PHS Seniors To Give Final Performance Of Comedy Tonight

The last performance of "Cheaper By the Dozen," senior class play, will go on stage at 8 p. m. today. Doors will be open at 7 p. m.

The high school auditorium was overflowing last night as the seniors presented their drama. Appeal for adults is just as strong in this play as it is for the younger generation.

Lighter comedy in "Cheaper By the Dozen" is keyed with just a touch of dramatic undertow that makes for suspense and great feeling. It was written by Frank and Ann Gilbreth, two of the children who lived the real story.

Mr. Allford plays the father, Frank Gilbreth, and Betty Norman, the quiet and pleasant mother.

Thelma Henslee, dramatics instructor, directed the play, assisted by Mariola Duval, student director. Bill Duncan is stage manager, assisted by Don Spencer.

MIG's Set Back By Allied Planes

U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, KOREA — (AP) — Russian-type MIG-15 jet fighters tangled in several brushes with allied planes over northwest Korea today but each time broke off and fled without damage toward Manchuria.

Allied fighters downed one MIG and damaged four.

Bevin Returns After Illness

LONDON — (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin returned to work today after a lengthy illness and top-level government leaders considered whether it would be best for him to stay on or quit.

Bevin, who will 70 a week from today, has been away more than a month with influenza and pneumonia. Prime Minister Attlee was said to favor keeping his old friend on the job.

Boca Chica Airport, about eight and a half miles from Key West, around 3:20 p. m. (EST).

Mr. Truman made it clear at a news conference yesterday he does not regard the united labor policy committee's refusal to participate in the defense mobilization program as a strike.

Oh, no, he told questioning reporters, it's just a disagreement. And he did not regard it as very serious.

Not serious enough, he said, to interfere with his plans to spend three weeks at Key West, his ninth trip to his favorite vacation spot.

His press secretary, Joseph Short, said it will be sun-and-work as usual, except that Mr. Truman's schedule will not be interrupted by the flood of White House callers he sees daily in Washington.

Mr. Truman is leaving behind — although all will join him later — such aides as:

John R. Steelman, assistant who advises him on labor problems.

Donald S. Dawson, administrative assistant, named by a Senate subcommittee as having exerted influence with RFC directors in behalf of loan seekers.

Charles S. Murphy, special counsel, who drafts most of the President's speeches and messages.

Those going along include Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, Mr. Truman's one-time chief of staff who retired several years ago.

Secretaries Short, Matthew J. Connelly and William D. Hassett; Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Army Aide; Rear Admiral Robert L. Denison, Naval Aide, and Brig. Gen. Robert B. Landry, Air Force Aide.

UNION

ering 18-member wage board with six members each representing labor industry and the public — to replace the smaller board now headed by Cyrus S. Ching.

The irate labor policy committee has demanded a "reconstituted" board as the price of future labor participation. But its statement said the new panel must be a "wage stabilization and disputes board."

The word "and disputes" may be a prime stumbling block, officials said privately today. Johnston's lawyers have advised him he has no power to give the agency the dual task of fixing wage ceilings and then settling disputes which arise under the ceilings.

Only President Truman could do so, the lawyers said — and if he does, industry's representatives have indicated they will stage a walkout of their own.

Officials said the issue, almost unpublicized, was perhaps the one most bitterly fought within the board before it blew up in disagreement over the wage-increase formula on Feb. 16.

Industry members charged that the labor proposal was meant to bypass the Taft-Hartley act by providing a new labor court on such questions as union security. They also argued that a disputes-settling agency, akin to the old War Labor Board, is unnecessary in view of the "national emergency" provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

The public and industry members agreed that, under the Defense Production Act, the board could not enter the disputes-settling field by its own decision.

Johnston similarly considers his powers inadequate. He can merely start "consultations" and conferences with management labor and representatives of the government and public" on the subject and then "advise the President" as to the findings.

Some officials believe Johnston's success in recreating a wage board at an early date will depend on how insistently labor clings to this demand.

Local Band Concert Is Set For Tuesday In PHS Auditorium

The annual winter band concert with all of Pampa's school bands on the program will be presented Tuesday, March 6, in the high school auditorium.

Charles Meach is director of the all-city elementary school band; Donald Means, junior high school band and Orland Butler the Harvester band.

The program will open with the elementary band playing "Forward March" by Buchtel; "Polly Wails," Carpenter; "Consolation Chorale," Robbins, and "Allegiance March," Newman.

The junior high school band will play "Swinging Along" by Johnson; "Evangeline Overture," Buchtel, and "The Challenger Overture," E. DeLamater.

The Harvester Band of Pampa High School will play "Noble Men," Filmore; "American Folk Rhapsody," Grundman; "Early American Overture," Irons, and "Symbol of Honor," Ted Mesang.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

The Ninety And Nine

A preacher and a singer take a train ride

Two tired men hurried through the railroad station in Glasgow, Scotland. One of them passed, bought a newspaper and stuffed it into his pocket. On the train they took seats facing each other. One of the men was Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist of the time. The other was Rev. D. Sankey, who sang to his own accompaniment, and if not the greatest gospel singer of the past century, certainly one of the greatest. The pair had just closed an uneventful revival in Glasgow and were on their way to Edinburgh for a belated engagement.

Moody walked into a bundle of unopened letters from his home in Chicago. It was 1874. He thought had been destroyed three years earlier in the great fire and he was anxious about progress on his new volume.

There were ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold,
But one was lost on the hills away,
Far off from the gates of gold.
Away from the mountains wild and bare,
Away from the tender shepherd's care.

"Lord, Thou hast here Thy ninety and nine;
Are they not enough for Thee?"
But the shepherd made answer: "This of mine
Has wandered away from Me;
And although the road is rough and steep,
I go to the desert to find My sheep."

Baptist Friendship Class In Session

The Friendship Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Rueben Hilton, 717 N. West, Tuesday for a monthly business session.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. E. L. Anderson and the devotional was given by Mrs. L. A. Baxter.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Meses. Ernest Baird, L. A. Baxter, H. A. Gilliland, R. A. Chisum, R. E. Anderson, L. B. Haggard, D. M. Scalet, L. V. Hollar, C. V. Forsman, E. L. Anderson and Wilson Hatcher.

Last Journey Of Jesus To Jerusalem

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The last journey of Jesus to Jerusalem was made from "The region beyond Jordan," known as Perea, and the Gospel of Mark (also the Gospel of Matthew from the 19th chapter) tells of the coming of Jesus into Judea, toward the final scenes of the Crucifixion and the Resurrection.

A study of the Gospels reveals how very great a part of the story of the life of Jesus deals with the incidents and conversations during that last journey.

The earlier parts of the Gospel story suggest a somewhat leisurely ministry, as Jesus walks through the fields with His disciples, visits the villages, accepts hospitality, mingles with the thronging people, telling the stories that we call the parables.

But now event follows event, incident follows incident, the impact of everything is more intense, and the conversations, as recorded by John enter into the very depths of intimacy and mystical relationships of Father, Son, and disciples in the fellowship of love.

In the very last week, the Master entered Jerusalem and the Temple. Huge crowds were on hand, sensing the climax of all that He was, and said, and did, and conscious that "His hour had come."

My thought now is of that Holy City to which the Master approached. What deep emotions it must surely quicken in the soul of anyone who considers with any realism its long history of tragedies of ravage, cruelty, besieged, destroyed, rebuilt, dominated at various times by Jewish, Byzantine, Arab, Crusader, and modern Mohammedan occupation, it is still the scene of political, racial, and religious division and strife.

Yet beneath all Jerusalem's tragedy, past and present, is an unextinguishable glory. Hours and scenes of triumph stand above all tragedies of ravage, cruelty, injustice and defeat. And above all are the records of love and devotion, unsurpassed in all the experience of man.

It was an exile in Babylon, who looked to that far-off city, and cried: "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning . . . let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy." There is no patriotism to compare with the patriotism of the saint.

It was the Master Himself, who poured out the fullness of that love and devotion for the city whose tragedy was so linked with His own. "And when He was come near, He beheld the city, and wept over it." "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stonest them that are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not."

Was ever love and compassion deeper than that? And the world, like Jerusalem, still refuses that divine appeal, going its own way of violence and strife.

Get things set before the guests arrive. Get out flower vases, candle trays, glasses, etc., so you do not have to rush around performing these chores while the guests are present.

He that places himself neither higher nor lower than he ought to do, exercises the truest humility.

—Colton

'Catholic Papers' Meeting Topic For Parish Council

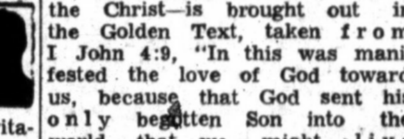

Mrs. J. W. Garman, Jr. spoke on the subject "The Catholic Press and Papers" at a covered-luncheon meeting of the Parish Council of Catholic Women in Parish Hall. She urged all members to read their Catholic papers and publications.

Approximately 40 persons attended the meeting, including the Rev. Otto Meyer, pastor of Holy Souls, the Rev. Francis Kunz and the Rev. Anthony Solich. Hostesses were Mrs. Gerald Williams and Mrs. E. J. Holland.

The Rev. Meyer led the group in the opening prayer. Mrs. L. J. Flaherty, reporting for Holy Souls Parent-Teacher Association, announced that all presidents of the public school P-TA groups have been invited to the next Holy Souls P-TA meeting. All members of the parish were invited to attend and take their friends. A picture on cancer will be shown and recordings on sex education will be played.

Mrs. A. D. McNamara announced that Sunday in Communion Day for the Altar Society and urged all to attend.

Mrs. V. J. Jamieson gave a brief summary of the theme for the year, "You and Your Parish" before introducing the speaker, Mrs. Garman.

What's RIGHT?

Your child accepts an invitation to another child's birthday party and at the last minute decides he would rather do something else.

WRONG: Let him do as he pleases.

RIGHT: Take the opportunity to make him understand that when one accepts an invitation it is not right to back out of it simply because something more interesting turns up.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Jesus' teachings are explained, in all their practical power and helpfulness, in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday, March 4. The authority for Jesus' mission—which, according to the Lesson-Sermon, was to demonstrate the Christ—is brought out in the Golden Text, taken from I John 4:9. "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him." Further emphasizing this mission are these words from a Bible citation, "For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also contains this enlightening explanation of the Master's true nature and purpose, taken from page 315 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Wearing in part a human form (that is, as it seemed to mortal view), being conceived by a human mother, Jesus was the mediator between Spirit and the flesh, between Truth and error. Explaining and demonstrating the way of divine Science, he became the way of salvation to all who accepted his word. From him mortals may learn how to escape from evil."

If thou wouldst find much favor and peace with God and man, be very low in thine own eyes. Forgive thyself little and others much. —Leighton

SPECK SPECULATES

By SPECK REYNOLDS

I couldn't understand all the excitement about University of Oklahoma athletes playing the parlay cards. The university prexy, Dr. George L. Cross, made yesterday's headlines because he cracked down on athletes playing the parlay pasteborders.

That's not the cure for playing athletes of the habit of attempting to pick the winning teams. During football season the cards are thicker than soap. A chimney sweep's cats in Norman, if some student isn't covering every university and frat houses, you can place a bet right across the street from the campus. If the gambler is out, you can catch a bus and make a wager within two blocks of the Norman police station.

I doubt if things have changed much since I left the old alma mater. Maybe city officials did tighten up on gambling in Norman after the basketball scandal. The athletes shouldn't be singled out as the guilty culprits in gambling. The person who is responsible for all this mess is Mr. average citizen. Gambling wouldn't be tolerated in any city if the city officials were forced to clamp down on gamblers in Norman, Okla. is not an isolated case where the parlay cards flourish. Cards can also be found in Pampa during the football season. However, it's not against the law to handle the little come-on gambling game. I look for the basketball fix scandal to blow over and the gamblers will return to their haunts and pick up where they left off before Hogan exposed 'em.

This doesn't concern sports but by reading it you might save some money in the near future. My advice is for all drivers to buy a Texas driver's license.

After driving a car for 14 years without a permit, the law of average finally caught up with me. But the climax of the story didn't come until I appeared in court with my little pink slip.

I threw my 6-foot, 170-pound frame at the mercy of the court. The kind J.P. informed me that the maximum penalty was $200. I was just ready to pack my bags for Huntsville when he said he was going to take it easy on me. He said the fine would be one sawbuck. I was counting out 20 nickels when he added "and nine dollars court-costs." The moral of this story is not the high cost of Texas courts. The moral is don't let 'em catch you without a driver's license.

Briefs From Big Leagues

(By The Associated Press)

SARASOTA, Fla. — Ted Williams connected solidly against only three of the 38 pitchers tossed him in his first 1951 batting practice but his Boston Red Sox teammates were impressed by his performance.

"He was facing Ellis Kinder and Harry Taylor and they were really throwing," Manager Steve O'Neill pointed out. After watching Williams take all of his swings, trainer Jack Fadden was certain Williams' fractured left elbow would be as strong as ever inside a month.

BRADENTON, Fla. — Puerto Rican Luis Marquez has a one-day start on Sam Jethroe for the Boston Braves first-string center field berth. Jethroe was one of the 10 Tribal players to miss the combined squad's first workout. Another absentee was manager Billy Southworth, now the club's 13th gripper victim.

Marquez played first base for Jethroe, a famed speedster but his hitting was far from being impressive.

AVALON, Calif. — It was blue Thursday for Chicago Cubs Manager Frankie Frisch, as rain pelted Catalina Island and cancelled workouts. In the midst of the bad weather came word from Preston Ward, No. 1 first base candidate, that Uncle Sam instead of the Cubs probably would get his services.

PASADENA, Calif. — Chicago White Sox drills were washed out by a heavy downpour yesterday.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — With all but two players off-hand, the Philadelphia Athletics got down to the real grind of spring training today.

Manager Jimmy Dykes launched full scale drills yesterday.

Best news in the camp, of course, was the re-signing of first baseman Garret Austin. The two absentees are Tom Davis, utility infielder, and Spider Wilhelm, second baseman.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — Big Ralph Kiner, the National League home run king, expects to take his first workout with the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

Kiner, whose slugging was the bright spot in the Pirates lineup last year, says he feels "great."

"It will help the club, I'm all for it. That is, if I can handle the job well enough."

TUCSON, Ariz. — Cleveland's general manager, Hank Greenberg, still was looking for some vanishing Indians today.

Pitcher Johnson and second baseman Roberto Avila, both official holdouts, haven't showed up training yet.

In addition, he still hasn't spotted outfielder Thurman Tucker, first baseman Herb Conyers and outfielder-third baseman Orestes Minoza.

Avila was stranded in Juarez, Mexico, with visa difficulties. Garcia is holding out for more money at his Visalia, Calif., home, and the others are just late.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Stan Musial became the St. Louis Cardinals' first casualty of the spring training season. He was struck by a lone foul ball that broke a blood vessel in his left ankle yesterday.

BURBANK, Calif. — The St. Louis Browns were unable to start their spring training yesterday because of rain.

Football Coach Hired By St. Anthony's

BEAUMONT — Mick Frankovic has become head football coach at St. Anthony's High School here. He left a similar job at Bishop Byrne High School at Port Arthur.

Frankovic reportedly received a substantial boost in salary. Frankovic also was quoted at Port Arthur as saying he was quitting there because of "lack of harmony" within the school.

Women Keglers To Hold City Tourney

Fourteen teams have entered the Pampa Women's Bowling Association City Tournament, and the tourney will get underway at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Also entered are 23 doubles and 29 singles keglers.

Three bowling sessions are scheduled for the teams tomorrow afternoon. The first will get underway at 4 o'clock the second at 6:30 and the final session at 9 o'clock. The doubles and singles will hit the maps at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and bowl until 5:30.

The bowling shoot this year has the largest number of entries and also has a larger number of prizes than in the past.

Pampa merchants have donated the prizes for the big tournament. Prizes will be offered to the all-events winner, team, doubles, and singles champion.

Last year's winners were: All events — Elaine Riddle. Team — Cabot Sterling. Doubles — Marcella Dickerson and Oak Allee Whittle. Singles — Maysa de Howell.

All events champion, Riddle, won't be back to defend her title. Dickerson has passed up this year's tournament. She teamed up with Whittle to annex the doubles crown. Whittle has joined up with Ina Petrie for this tournament.

Gray Is Top Coin Caller

AUSTIN — (AP) — The playoff to pick the Southwest Conference representative in the regional NCAA basketball tournament was set today, and the luck of Texas' Jack Gray gave the Longhorns an edge.

Gray called three coin tosses correctly here yesterday and won (1) a first round bye, (2) "home" team honors in the final playoff series.

Texas Christian and Texas A&M, tangled next Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. at Waco. The winner of this "sudden death" game will meet Texas in a two-out-of-three game series.

If Texas Christian wins Wednesday the TCU-Texas series will start March 10 at Fort Worth. The second and third game — if needed — will be played in Austin March 13 and 14 or March 12 and 14, depending upon the availability of Gregory Gym.

If Texas A&M wins, the series will start March 10 at College Station, then switch to Austin on March 13 and 14 or March 12 and 14.

Gray, A&M Coach John Floyd and Texas Christian Coach Buster Brannon met with Ab Curtis to make the playoff plans. The three teams tied for the Southwest Conference championship. The playoff will have no bearing on the conference, the three being officially tri-champions.

In the last shot of the conference campaign, Arkansas beat Rice 57-43 last night at Little Rock.

Texas A&M meets University of Houston at College Station tonight in a non-conference tilt.

Canyon Eagles Tumble Out Of Class A Cage Tourney, 33-32

By WILBUR MARTIN

AUSTIN — (AP) — Finalists will be determined in two divisions of the Texas High School Basketball Tournament today, while a third Class AA — swings into action.

Cayuga tangles with Stanton and Big Sandy meets Moulton this morning in the semifinals of Class B, and then Gatesville tackles Bowie and Sinton runs into Brenham at the same stage in Class A.

The first round of Class AA action starts late today, when Gatesville meets Port Arthur. In other games, Harlingen plays Lubbock, San Angelo takes on Borger, and Austin meets Highland Park (Dallas).

Texas' biggest basketball show opened early Wednesday morning and when it closed the first day these results had been posted:

Class B:
Cayuga 42, Woodboro 33; Stanton 42, Adrian 34; Big Sandy (Livingston) 44, Marfa 20; Moulton 56, Blum 49.

Class A:
Gatesville 39, French (Beaumont) 35; Bowie 45, Coleman 38; Sinton 33, Canyon 32; Brenham 56, Van 35.

A free throw by Danny Sharp with just 15 seconds left to play slumped Canyon, defending Class A champion, out of the tournament.

The little lads from deep South Texas had waged an uphill battle to catch Canyon. They finally did with 3:15 to play, but they couldn't hold the advantage and it wasn't until Sharp's shot that they clinched the upset decision.

Brenham had an easy time disposing of Van, but Bowie's victory over Coleman and Gatesville's win over French were nip-and-tuck affairs.

All of the Class B winners had comparative easy times. One tournament record and three division marks tumbled in yesterday's action.

Kenneth Henson of Stanton made good on nine free throws in nine attempts to better by one the tournament record of eight.

The aggregate score of 105 points in the Moulton-Blum game was three points better than the mark set last year by Cayuga and Forrester.

The three fouls called against Brenham was a new Class A record and the lone free throw made by Brenham was another new distinction.

Survivors today in Class A, and Class B battle tomorrow for championships. The Class AA winner will be determined tomorrow night.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

AUSTIN — (AP) — Today's schedule at the state high school basketball tournament:

Class AA (first round):
Texarkana vs. Port Arthur, 3:10 p. m.; Harlingen vs. Lubbock 4:35 p. m.; San Angelo vs. Borger 7:15 p. m.; Austin vs. Highland Park (Dallas) 8:40 p. m.

Class A (semi-finals):
Gatesville vs. Bowie 11:30 a. m.; Sinton vs. Brenham 1:45 p. m.

Class B (semi-finals):
Cayuga vs. Stanton 8:45 a. m.; Big Sandy vs. Moulton.

STILLWATER — (Special) — All-victorious Hal Moore, Oklahoma A&M College 130-pound wrestling ace, will lead the Cowboys into the NCAA national mat tournament in Bethlehem, Pa., March 23-24.

The Marine Corps veteran of Pacific action and member of the 1948 U. S. Olympic wrestling team, has never held an NCAA title.

A&M has produced 53 national NCAA individual champions in the 20 years the National Collegiate Athletic Association has held its nationwide tournament.

The 53 individuals have powered the Aggies to 16 national team championships. Only other schools to capture the national mat championship have been Indiana in 1932, Oklahoma in 1936, Cornell of Iowa in 1947 and Iowa Teachers in 1950.

This year, Oklahoma university's all-victorious team is threatening to return to the throne it occupied in 1936. The Sooners twice turned back the Aggies.

Regional Tournament Cage Dates Set

(By The Associated Press) — Regional tournaments will be held in Texas this week and next to determine representatives to the National Junior College Athletic Association Basketball Tournament in Hutchinson, Kans.

At Amarillo tonight and tomorrow night Howard County, Cisco, Amarillo and Clarendon Junior Colleges will vie.

At Tyler March 8-9-10, seven colleges will compete. They are Victoria, Henderson County, Lon Morris, Wharton County, Allen Academy, Tyler and Kilgore.

Baseball Camps Reveal Scouts Know Where To Discover Best Major League Material

By HARR YGRAVSON, NEA Sports Editor

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (NEA) — College men played baseball professionally before shortly after the turn of the century, when Connie Mack and the Athletics struck it rich with the idea that they could do it well.

Yet until more recent years the college ball player in the major leagues was the exception. Now a swing around the training camps convinces you that they practically have taken over.

At the Phillies' camp here, you see Tom Casagrande, the gigantic Fordham junior, being taught to play first base by Eddie Waitkus, a left-hand pitcher, too, he was paid $40,000 for signing.

Owner Bob Carpenter simply had to go for the totally untried Casagrande.

Didn't Robin Roberts step almost directly from the Michigan State campus, and win 20 with an earned-run average of 3.02 in his second year?

William and Mary's Raschi, Oklahoma A. and M.'s Reynolds, Wake Forest's Byrne and Ferrick of Glencliffe, N.Y., Seminary give the Yankees a most erudite pitching staff, backed up by Professor Ostrowski of the University of Scranton and Southern California's Wally Hood. California's Jackie Jensen is about to join the class.

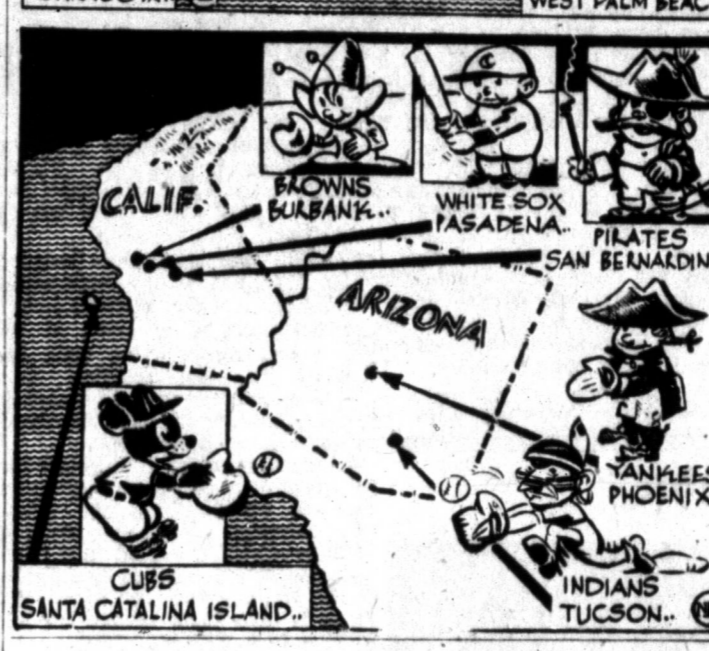

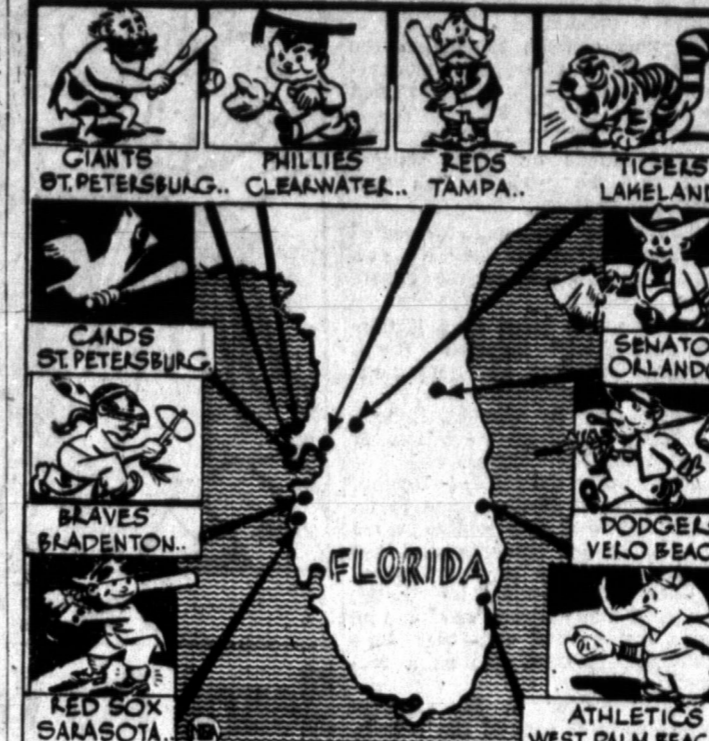

Dr. Bobby Brown went to more schools than you could shake a stick at, which is not the last reason why the San Francisco intern is frozen. Jerry Coleman was exposed to the University of San Francisco. Jim Brideweser, the new infielder star from Binghamton, attends Southern California between campaigns.

Lou Boudreau this spring has joined the Greek letter men with the Red Sox, who last season acquired an illustrious mate in Connecticut's Walt Dropo. Willard Nixon pitched for Auburn. New York University's Ralph Branca and UCLA's Jackie Robinson head the Brooklyn branch. Michigan's Jack Weisenburger is at Bradenton for another trial with the Braves. Gus Keriazakos pitched so magnificently in high school at Montclair, N.J., before attending Colgate that the White Sox paid him $60,000 for signing.

Frank Hiller, Wayne Terwilliger, Preston Ward, Ransom Jackson and Frank Baumholtz are among ex-collegians with the Cubs.

Birdie Tebbetts joins the more scholarly Indians, who include Al Rosen and Dale Mitchell. Indiana sent the Reds Ted Kluszewski, Texas contributed Grady Hatton, Stanford sent Lloyd Merriam and Washington State came through with Ted Tappe.

Illinois' Hoot Evers and Arkansas State's George Kell head the Tigers' delegation. The Giants have learned southern gentlemen in Louisiana State's Alvin Dark and Georgia Tech's Jim Hearn. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner attended California between seasons.

These names come to mind off-hand. The list could be extended interminably.

A youngster who can catch, throw and hit any kind of a ball gets a scholarship today. The high schools, then the colleges, run through them with a finer-toothed comb than the professionals, so the great bulk of the better athletes reach seats of higher learning.

This simplifies the job of the baseball scout.

He knows just where to look for superior talent.

The speed of light is measured by sending pulses of light to a distant mirror and measuring the time it takes to return to the starting point.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Madison Square Garden officials are talking about dropping college basketball before it drops them. Might not be a bad idea, because the game won't be too profitable around here for a few years. So they put it back in the college gym and what happens? ... If a gambler or "fixer" wants to see a game, who will stop him? ... Not a student ticket-taker, nor likely a professor or an athletic director if the guy turns up with a ticket and isn't wearing a badge to identify himself. ... They're not familiar with the mugs who make trouble. ... And the betting won't stop as long as the schedules or scores are published. Those parlay cards list more games in college gyms than in the big arenas. ... So that isn't the cure, and the college teams go back to playing for $50 and $100 guarantees and making their trips in a couple of beat up jalopies. ... A d something else takes over the big arenas. Anyone for roller derby?

At the Pacific Coast Conference (Northern Division) skiing championships the other day, the gun sounded to start the cross country race and the defending champion Washington team, led by 1950 world champion Chris Mohn, took off into the St. Joe National Forest. The spectators gathered at the finish line, and other skiers came along, but Washington was strangely missing. ... Eventually the Huskies were located, far off the course, and they asked for another shot at the event. ... Washington State, the host team, agreed and they raced all over again. ... No, the Huskies didn't get lost again; that could only happen once; but Washington State proceeded to win a second time.

Negotiations are under way for a return bout between Dado Marino and England's Terry Allen for the flyweight title in Tokyo, which would make it the first championship fight there. ... Al Mengert, No. 1 alternate on the Walker Cup golf squad, is about to be, or has been, tabbed for military duty. He's a national guardsmen. ... Bud Wilkinson is to be guest lecturer at Herman Hickman's third Yale football clinic May 4.

Haney To Give Negroes Tryout

LAMESA — (AP) — The Lamesa Lobos of the Class C West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League will give Negroes a chance to make the team March 19.

If any are signed, it will be the first time Negroes ever played in organized baseball in Texas.

Manager Jay Haney said any interested Negro player is invited to attend for one-day tryout at his own expense. Traveling expenses will be refunded to any signed.

Haney said club officials decided to stage the tryout after many Negroes asked for a chance when they heard Haney might use two Cuban Negroes on his team this year.

Schools' Figures Running Too High

AUSTIN — (AP) — Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth Wednesday night put the finger on schools which he thinks have spent money unwisely.

He told a House investigating committee that names of schools where he questioned the following items:

- $9,658 from local school funds for operation of the ex-students association — Texas A&I, Kingsville.
- $325 for a president's desk and $20 each for wastebaskets — University of Texas.
- $31,881 for air conditioning — North Texas State, Denton.
- $250,000 bond issue for air conditioning of old buildings — Sam Houston State Teachers College, Huntsville.
- $25,237 for extension of golf course from 9 to 18 holes — North Texas State.
- $64,996 for remodeling president's home — Texas Tech, Lubbock.
- $10,000 transferred from athletic fund for a book store inventory, creating a deficit in athletic fund which had to be met from state funds — West Texas State, Canyon.

Kelly also mentioned payment of athletic scholarships from athletic funds or other sources but said he realized this was common practice.

Disaster Team Set In State

Committee members directed numerous questions at North Texas State's golf course expansion.

"How many holes does it take to play golf?" inquired Rep. Sterling Williams of Snyder, committee chairman.

Kelly said he thought it took 18 holes but there were lots of good nine-hole courses.

Rep. Doug Crouch of Denton, who attended North Texas State, explained that the course was used both by students and the public, everyone paying to play.

Under questioning by Kelly, he said the course was a fine one. He pointed out that the clubhouse is used also as a recreation center.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness reported total cost of the course, improvements and buildings has been $247,000.

"Wouldn't we possibly do better to separate the course from the school and put it under the state parks board?" quipped Williams.

Kelly said that with respect to the cost of remodeling the president's home at Texas Tech he wished to say, "in all fairness to Dr. Wiggins that he did not want this (remodeling) done." (Dr. D. M. Wiggins is president of the school).

The committee will continue its hearing Monday night.

Henry, The Volcanologist, Expects Action At Vesuvius

By HENRY McLEMORE

NAPLES — Italians have been hopping mad at Mt. Vesuvius ever since 63 A. D., when Nero, that fiddlin' fool, was on the throne.

(It's amazing the knowledge that I have at my command as long as I have a guide book in English right in front of me.)

From Nero's time until 1944, when the last eruption took place, Naples' chief landmark has been blowing its top with varying degrees of destruction.

Right now the Italians are madder at Vesuvius than they've ever been, even though the volcano is behaving itself as nicely as any little Catskill. And this Emily Post-like behavior is exactly why the Italians who live within sight of it are mad enough at it to give it a good switching.

When Vesuvius popped off in 1944 it did something to its insides that ended the rim of fire around the top of its crater, which could be seen when the sun went down, and caused it to give up smoking.

The fiery glow and the ominous smoke that curled from its crater were tremendous tourist attractions. Heaven knows how many hundreds of thousands of tourists have left Naples shuddering delightedly at the thought of having lived in the shadow of this evil mountain and escaped with their lives.

Like the Italians, I wish old Vesuvius were still acting up. This being my first visit to Naples I am getting weary of superior people, who have been here before, telling me about the good old days when a chap had to have his nerve about him to rest easily in the vicinity of Vesuvius.

I happen to be rooming with one of these superior creatures. I have warned Jean that if she tells me one more time how Vesuvius looked when it glowed at night, and what I missed by not having been here before, I am going to drag her to the top and throw her down the crater so she can come back and boast of having seen the bottom of Nature's most famous pressure cooker.

I climbed Vesuvius yesterday (have you ever known of a columnist who'll do as many things that he doesn't want to do just for the sake of his readers?) and I believe it's getting ready to do something. I am no volcanologist, if that's what you call a student of volcanos, but there are spots on Vesuvius that don't belong on a peaceful, family-type mountain.

When I approached the top (Jean was keeping her mouth shut now, because of my warning) Vesuvius gave me a natural hotfoot every fifty or a hundred yards. Fool ground was so hot it burned right through my shoes, new half-soles and all. And the guide took pride in pointing out places where eggs could be fried simply by dropping them on a rock.

A mountain that doesn't have mischief up its sleeve is not going to act like that. It'll devote its time to growing trees and squirrels and wild flowers.

When I got down again I expressed my opinion of what Vesuvius was up to to quite a few residents of Ercolano and Puzos, the two towns which sprawl at the foot of the volcano. But they

Study Bill Asking Public Election On Housing Project

AUSTIN — (AP) — A Senate subcommittee Thursday took under study a bill to require a public election before a community can contract for construction of a public housing project.

Senator Warren McDonald of Tyler, author of the bill, said the bill would not keep anybody from getting anything they really want.

"It just gives the majority of the people the opportunity to decide," he said.

The subcommittee was ordered by the Senate State Affairs Committee Wednesday.

The action followed a public hearing at which opponents protested against any change in the present public housing law. They said mandatory elections would hamper such projects and the issue should be left one of "home rule."

Senator Warren McDonald of Tyler, author of the bill, said the bill would not keep anybody from getting anything they really want.

"It just gives the majority of the people the opportunity to decide," he said.

DR. GORDON MILLER RETURNS
After Two Weeks Research of Advanced Specific Chiropractic in San Angelo

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE
CASE NO. 2013: A young mother, age 32, after being treated three times a week for a year without results, came to the Chiropractic clinic complaining of a pressure feeling inside her head. "Feels like the top will blow out," she said. "Then it will itch and tingle, and then my entire back tingles painfully. Nose stops up all the time. Eyes burn and feel sore above them, and the back of my head and neck feels sore. I feel tired all the time and have weak spells. Have frequent colds, dizzy spells, indigestion, gas, bloating, constipation and low blood pressure. "Generally speaking," she said, "I have been sick most of my life." The Neurocalometer spinal examination and X-ray located a spinal subluxation. It was corrected by adjustments. When the patient was discharged, she said she felt perfectly well, full of life and vigor, and not a single complaint remained.

CHRONIC FATIGUE
CASE NO. 2951: A farmer, age 38, complained that for two years he had suffered with low back and leg pains that made his work doubly difficult, also, he felt tired all the time, increasingly nervous, worrying too much, sleeping badly, catching frequent colds. His blood pressure was 102. We made a spinal Neurocalometer analysis and X-rays, and located the spinal subluxation. Corrective adjustments brought about improved alignment and removed the nerve interference. At the end of the recommended time, he was discharged. Before departing he said he had no pain or discomfort of any kind and his blood pressure was normal.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM
CASE NO. 2392: A man, age 35, came to the clinic complaining of pain in left leg, gas in stomach, a drowsy, dizzy-headed feeling, dull headaches, backache, nervous shaking in left side, and low blood pressure. A spinal Neurocalometer analysis and X-rays revealed a nerve interference. Adjustments were begun and in time he reported all symptoms gone and that he was feeling fine.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
CASE NO. 1894:
A grandmother, age 63, although under the constant care of her doctor for eighteen months, was gradually growing worse. She had high blood pressure, heart attacks, dizziness, nervous indigestion, gas and bloating which caused heart distress and pains, gall bladder pains and tenderness, kidney trouble and pain, swollen ankles and hands, and for each of these conditions she has been taking something different, but gradually becoming to try the Chiropractic Clinic. Spinal Neurocalometer analysis and X-rays located the causative subluxation in the spine. Adjustments corrected the misaligned vertebrae, removed the interference to innervation of the vital organs. Upon discharge this lady reported that she was free of any symptoms of illness of any kind and was doing all her house work. Her own words were "I feel as though I had never been sick. I feel just grand, thanks to Chiropractic!"

ARTHRITIS
CASE NO. 1616: A maidservant, age 32, came to the Clinic complaining that she had been suffering for five years with terrible pains along the spine between her shoulders which had previously been diagnosed and treated as arthritis. She also complained of periodic headaches, cramping, low backache and low abdominal pains. The Neurocalometer spinal analysis indicated nerve interference and X-rays revealed spinal vertebral misalignment causing the interference. She was discharged when alignment was restored at which time she had no pains and said she felt completely well.

Henry, The Volcanologist, Expects Action At Vesuvius

pooh-pooed me, and I gathered the impression that building towns at the base of Vesuvius and then having them knocked to smithereens and covered with lava was a habit with Italians in these parts. A habit they couldn't give up.

Well, they can't say I didn't warn 'em. I just hope they never see the day when they'll be shaking the lava out of their hair and saying, "Oh, if we had only listened to Henry, that expert volcanologist."

Used Car For Sale Is 54

PARIS — (AP) — The demand for used automobiles in France has reached the point where a woman decided to see if she could sell a car that is 54 years old. The antique automobile is a Leon Boilee of 1897. The owner is one Madame Mathieu. "I own the automobile," she said, "and things being what they are I thought perhaps someone would like to buy it."

Madame Mathieu inherited the car from her father. "It'll run all right," she explained. "All it needs is a little fixing up. There is something else I should warn you about," explained Madame Mathieu. "The driver sits in the rear. With the proper gasoline and care it should achieve up to five miles an hour."

DOG NOTES

by PETER BOGGS

A PUPPY QUIET

An old alarm clock is a mighty handy gadget to have around if you are buying a new puppy. Here's why: One of the most disconcerting times a dog owner has is the first night he brings a newly-acquired puppy into his home. Everything is strange to the little dog. He misses his little mates. He's lonely. So the chances are he will cry and howl most of the first night in his new home.

Now here is where the old alarm clock comes in handy. Take the loudest-ticking one in the house and place it beside the pup's new bed or sleeping quarters. The loud ticking of the clock is company for the pup and it will keep him quiet.

Not only do pups usually howl when brought into a strange new home but some older dogs bark and howl when left alone in a house. I own one dog, he's over twelve years old, that sets up a howling racket whenever he is left alone in our house. But here's a method we use that might be the answer to your problem if your dog does the same: Whenever it is necessary to leave our dog alone for an evening I turn the radio on and he never makes a sound no matter how long we are out.

DEAD DOG
You don't read or hear about private railroad cars very often these days — like many things they are a thing of the past. There are a few left but many of us can remember when almost every crack train hauled someone's private car as it sped south in the winter or north in the spring. The following happened in October a number of years ago:

A man named H. B. Duryea had an estate at Westbury, Long Island, and another in Tennessee. At Westbury, his Pomeranian dog, "Betty," died. Duryea wanted her buried on his estate in Tennessee, so he chartered a special train with his own private car attached to it. In the private car, in a satin-lined, sealed casket, Betty's body was deposited and the journey began. At Hickory Valley, Tennessee, the trip ended. The dog was buried on Duryea land, close to the Shiloh National Park.

That is all there is to the story. Not very exciting, but it is the only time to my knowledge that a special train with a private car, making such a run, for such a purpose, and with such a passenger, was ever run. Thus it seems to me worth telling.

HORSES PREFER DOGS
There are almost as many dogs around a stable of race horses as there are horses. I didn't realize this until I talked with the owner of a famous racing stable. It seems there is an old saying, "Give a horse a dog and he'll be contented." Recently at Belmont, the race track just outside New York City, I was taken back to the stables to see Hill Prince, one of this year's leading money winners. In Hill Prince's stall was Nellie, a small flop-eared mongrel who has been the horse's mascot for many months. The horse's trainer told me that the dog was responsible for much of Hill Prince's success on the racing track. He claimed that the little dog quieted the high-strung race horse and thus kept him in top racing form. I noticed many other dogs throughout the stables.

I was asked why it was horses and dogs got along so well together. I suggested it is only natural because dogs are born with affectionate dispositions and can be said to "take to" other animals — and particularly to horses because a horse will respond to affection. Others claim it is because the horse and the dog are considered to be the most intelligent animals in the world. But no matter what the answer is, you will often find a dog where you find a horse.

FLYING DOG HOUSES
The first airline to permit Seeing-Eye dogs to accompany blind passengers in the cabins of its planes has now come up with a new service that will be a help to all dog owners. United Air Lines recently announced that "flight kennels," newly developed by the company, permit man and his best friend to travel on the same passenger planes. United offers the canine traveling public the choice of two sizes of flying kennels, each made of sturdy, lightweight metal that fit the standard cargo compartments of passenger planes. You rent one and your dog travels on the same plane with you at excess baggage rates. I understand other airlines plan this same service, so eventually it will perhaps be standard equipment on the nation's airway network from coast to coast.

Answer: A dash of salt in your dog's food ever so often will be good for him.
Question: This past month my dog has been bothered by flies. Is there something I can do to keep them away from him? — S. K. B.
Answer: In like cases I have found by rubbing a little oil of citronella on a dog's ears once each day that flies stay away from him. Try it. It has always worked for me.

Hobbys Hear Selves Lauded

HOUSTON — (AP) — Former Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan says that the United States cannot have too great confidence in our efforts to bring democracy to other parts of the world.

He spoke at a $50-a-plate dinner here Wednesday night honoring former Texas Governor and Mrs. W. P. Hobby, president and executive vice president of the Houston Post.

Other speakers included Gov. Allan Shivers, and Dr. L.K. Bishop of Chicago, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The dinner was given by the Houston Chapter of the conference as a climax to the observance of brotherhood week.

Sullivan said the security of the American democracy cannot be certain "until we have achieved a practical day to day implementation of the principles of brotherhood."

Besides receiving citations from the national organization, the Hobbys heard themselves eulogized for their civic work, their interest in public welfare and leadership in many fields. "Somewhere," said Sullivan, "there may be a husband and wife who between them have engaged effectively in a larger range of activities and who have achieved such an imposing list of accomplishments. However, if there is, I have not had the pleasure of meeting them, and I have never heard of them."

Said Shivers: "The Hobbys of Texas, individually and as a team, have contributed to the betterment of Texas in civic endeavor, business, politics, charity and public welfare to an extent rarely approached and with a capacity for public service never excelled."

Governor Hobby accepted his citation saying: "It is mighty swell of you to use such an occasion to compliment and honor two very humble wayfarers in the vineyard of brotherhood and sisterhood... the honor you have given us not only

If you have a new pup around your house you will find that a raw carrot will make the ideal toy for the dog to play with. Not only will this provide the pup with almost the same amount of exercise as a ball or other plaything, but the little pieces that he might nibble off and swallow will be beneficial to his health, while those he might gnaw off a rubber ball would be decidedly dangerous.

Mrs. Hobby said the practice of brotherhood requires determination.

Woman Receives 'Gifts' C.O.D.

CORPUS CHRISTI — (AP) — A Corpus Christi woman was surprised when gift after gift arrived at her home — but more surprised to find they were all C.O.D.

First Mrs. Lewis E. Douglas received a box of white gladioli, then a bed mattress, nine cases of soft drinks, a big basket of groceries, and two taxicabs came to take her to town.

The final straw came when a pool room dunned her for a $4.50 bill.

She refused them all, adding in the last instance that neither she nor her husband plays pool.

Mrs. Douglas suspects some imaginative friends of her two high school age sons are the "givers."

Bank Stages Grand Opening Sat.

Visitors Due To See Newest Plant In Area

The big glass doors to the new First National Bank will open at 4 p. m. Saturday to the people of Pampa and the surrounding area.

All members of the bank's personnel will be there until 10 p. m. to greet all comers to view the newest and most modern of banks in this part of the country. Carnations will be presented to the women and cigars to the men. Coffee will be served in the kitchen in the basement of the building.

Visitors will be allowed to see all the parts of the new bank, designed by Monnat and Co., Architects, of Oklahoma City. Tours into the various offices and divisions of the bank will be conducted by the employees.

A money exhibit will also be seen by the visitors. This collection includes money dating as far back as the American Revolution and includes bills and coins that have been used in the United States since that time.

Some of the money that was in use when the White House was burned in the War of 1812 is in the collection; money that was READY FOR BUSINESS—Open house will be held in the new First National Bank building tomorrow and the wheels will start to turning for good Monday. Started in early April last year, the building is now finished. The letters above the large glass doors are of steel and stand out from brick wall. The national eagle on each side of the doors depicts the strength of the bank. C. S. Lambie is the general contractor. The windows are of functional lighting value. (News Photo and Engraving)

In 1909 Only 2 Employees At Local Bank

In 1909, only two persons were employed at the First National Bank.

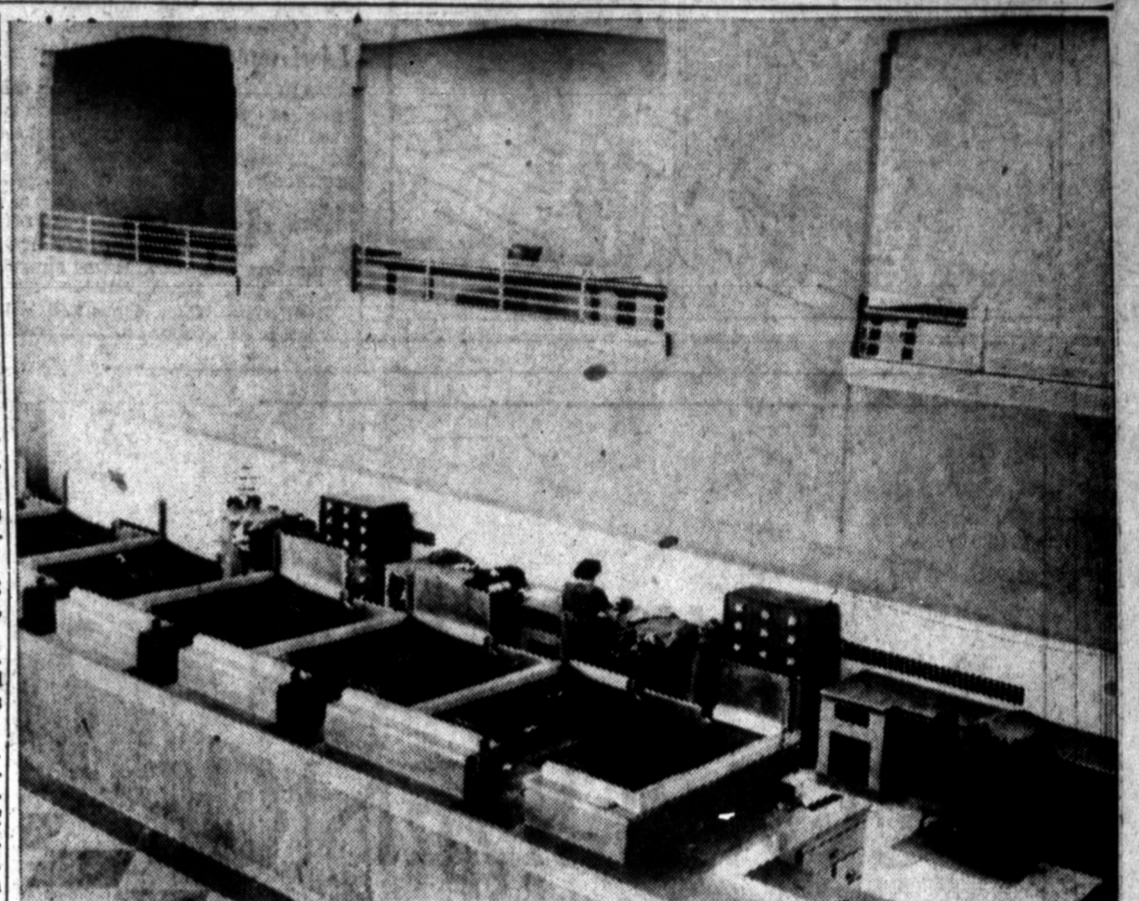

B. E. Finley was the cashier and DeLea Vicars was the only bookkeeper of the organization. Now, there are 22 employees of the bank, including three officials.

A. A. Schuneman is president; D. B. Robison, vice-president, and C. M. Carlock, cashier.

Assistant cashiers are J. C. Mitchell, H. W. Morrow and G. L. Graham. Leora Rose is bank secretary.

Tellers are P. D. Kelm, J. V. Mosely and Norma Conner. Discount tellers are Loreta Robinson and Patricia Willett. Proof and transit clerks are Juanita Owen and Juanita Prescott. Barbara DeLoe is bookkeeper in the statement department.

Other bookkeepers are Vallie Shotwell, Fay Traeder, Ruth Smith, Jaynice Estess and Clara Naron. Odevern Spencer is the PEX operator and Oscar Redd, porter.

TELLERS' CAGES—Viewed from the balcony in the back of the lobby are the six tellers' cages in the new First National Bank. Behind the cages are the files and desks for the discount department. The fronts of the cages are a soft-colored gray marble and the backs are made of ply-wood, which is the only wood used in the construction of the building. Above the cages is the transit department located on the mezzanine floor. (News Photo and Engraving)

Pampa's First National Bank One Of Most Modern In Area

One of the most modern and unique buildings on the Plains is the new First National Bank. Constructed of white brick and terra cotta marble, the bank presents a picture of the latest architecture of our century on the corner of Cuyler and Foster.

Inside the building, a mood of calm and quiet is set with soft music which blends with the pastel walls and soft contours of the fixtures.

To the left of the customer as he enters the massive glass and aluminum doors, are the tellers' cages, which are enclosed in glass. The only wood used in the building is in the back of the tellers' cages.

The interior of the building is designed with light gray marble, which slants from counter height to the floor. On the right are the executive offices and the discount department.

Gates leading into these offices were specially designed by Monnat and Co., Architects, of Oklahoma City, architects of all the building. The gates are of aluminum material.

At the rear of the lobby is the customers' vault, the door of which weighs approximately 8100 pounds. Private booths for confidential deposits are in the vault. A device for a fresh air inlet has been installed in the vault in case of emergency.

There are no burglar alarms in the bank because it is guaranteed to be completely burglar-proof. On the ground floor, dimensions are 50 feet, five inches by 83 feet.

The mezzanine will provide room for the transit department on the north side. This balcony floor may be seen from the lobby. It is partially enclosed, but archways have been designed with a bannister of the aluminum material.

In back of the balcony is the executive meeting room, which is carpeted and features a massive lime oak table with matching leather chairs. The walls are painted deep rose as those of the entire balcony floor. Walls in the lobby are painted light green, with a rough finish.

The basement of the building has been constructed so that, in the future, it will be possible to install a curb-service depository or any window transaction, may be made.

Plans for the future also include the installation of a special window for children's deposits and accounts.

BANK ADD 335 PAMPA'S With the exception of size, the bank's door leading to the vault, is the same as the one used at Fort Knox by the government to protect its gold hoard there.

Delicately balanced, the five-ton stainless steel door can be moved with two fingers, when open. When it swings shut and the twin combinations bolt it in place it seals the vault inside 18 inches of concrete from each side, the top and bottom. In addition the bottom is further protected by an additional protective thickness of concrete. Inside the masses of cement, one inch steel bars, placed horizontally and vertically reinforce the vault every six inches.

CUSTOMERS' VAULT—The aluminum gates, designed by Monnat and Co., Architects, Oklahoma City, lead to the customers' vault of the new First National Bank. The gates are lightweight and were specially designed for the modernistic construction. The vault is burglar-proof as well as the rest of the building and is made of stainless steel. On the immediate left of the big door is a device for the safety of the customer if he should be locked in the safe. It can be operated from the outside and will allow bank clerks to enter the vault. Announcing!

AN OUTSTANDING FEATURE OF OUR OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY EVENING

A highly interesting and entertaining display of currency representing all types of money in use from the days of the American Revolution to date.

In this interesting exposition of paper money is money from early Colonial days that well may have passed through the hands of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson and their contemporaries.

There is money in this collection that was in use when the White House was burned in the war of 1812... money that could have been used to buy or release slaves... Texas' own Treasury Notes from the stirring period when this State was carving its glorious history as a Republic... money used while history was written in fratricidal battle at Gettysburg. Practically all phases of history are depicted by money currently in use in each period.

You and your family are invited to view this display which, we feel, will prove both interesting and educational.

This display will be located on our Mezzanine throughout our formal opening ceremonies Saturday, March 3, 4 to 10 p.m. Display courtesy Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Texas

A. A. SCHUNEMAN

Schuneman Came In '44

As the First National Bank's president went lower in latitude he went higher in banking circles.

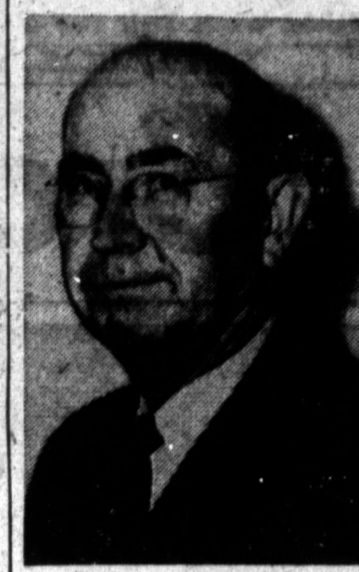

A. A. Schuneman, president of the bank, was born in Hutchinson, Minn., and graduated from high school there. During his college years World War I broke out and he wound up in the U. S. Army as a mess sergeant. Although he never got overseas, he saw practically every state in the Union during his tenure of military duty.

However, it was in 1916 when he first bought a banking interest in Hutchinson. Following his discharge in 1919, Schuneman came further south and settled in Oklahoma where he re-entered the banking business working with country banks throughout the Southwest with headquarters in Kansas City.

His last step up the banking ladder was in 1944 when he again moved south from Oklahoma to Pampa as president of the First National Bank. He has retained that position until today.

Married, he has one son, Jimmy, 15 years old.

V-P Began At $35 A Month

B. D. ROBISON

B. D. Robison, active vice-president of the First National Bank, was born at Melissa, Collin County, Texas, in 1894.

After graduating from high school there he attended and graduated from the Brantley-Eraugh Business College, Fort Worth.

Robison broke into the banking business in 1922 with the Weston County State Bank as a $35 per month bookkeeper. In three months his salary was doubled to the unheard of sum of $65 per month. He was moved up to cashier six months later at a staggering (for those days) salary of $125 per month. He held that position for three years and then went with the West Central National Bank, McKinney, in 1925, as assistant cashier. From there he came to the now defunct Gray County State Bank in June, 1927, as assistant cashier and moved over to the First National in December of the same year.

He has remained with the First National to the present time. Robison is married and the father of one son, B. D. Robison, Jr., aged 14.

But Adams declined all such offers, and this week said he was ready to show the stone. It's at his monument works on Highway 16 just south of Goldthwaite.

C. M. CARLOCK

Carlock Is Bank Cashier

C. M. Carlock, the First National Bank's present cashier, is a native of Wood County, Texas, and a veteran of World War I.

Shortly after his graduation from high school he entered the U. S. Army in May, 1917. A few months later he went overseas with the 41st Supply Train, 41st Company. He spent a year in France and was discharged from the Army in August, 1919.

His banking career started in Wood County in 1924 when he went to work there as a bookkeeper. On Feb. 1, 1927 he came to Pampa as assistant cashier of the now defunct Gray County State Bank and remained with them until August, 1931, when he became associated with the First National Bank as utility clerk. In April, 1944, the bank named him cashier, a post he has held to this day.

Texas-Made Stone of Scone Is Rejected

GOLDTHWAITE — (AP) — E. E. Adams took another chew of tobacco this week, snorted that he was "no individual" and prepared to show the public his replica of the famed stone of Scone.

The stone, ancient symbol of British kings, was stolen from Westminster Abby last Christmas Day. Adams, in behalf of the monument builders of the Southwest, Inc., has built another duplicating materials and sizes from magazine pictures.

But so far the British have declined the gift.

The Dean of Westminster Abby, Dr. Allen Campbell Don, last week demurred against accepting gifts from individuals. "That's when Adams snorted he was "no individual" and said he was doing it for the monument builders.

The tobacco-chewing grandfather went up in the air again this week when informed that the British had previously declined an offer of a replica of the stone made from limestone in Indiana.

The letter was from Alan Davidson, private secretary to Sir Oliver Shewell Franks, British Ambassador to the United States.

"Limestone" he whistled. "Why, everybody knows the stone of Scone was made of sandstone and that's what mine is. Mills County sandstone. Anyway, nobody ever heard of the Indiana stone."

Davidson wrote that he would inform London of Adams' offer, and that he would write again as soon as "his majesty's pleasure has been taken."

Adams said he was content to wait for further news of "his majesty's pleasure." Meanwhile, he's reading his fan mail and checking the public's reaction to his offer.

A Kansas City man wrote that he'd take the stone to the capitol with him "just as soon as I'm elected president." A drunk called from Dallas and pleaded through the thick fumes of a crying jag for Adams to

● WE HAVE UNBOUNDED FAITH IN THE FUTURE OF THE PANHANDLE ●

Growth Of First National Reflects Pampa's Expansion

$10,000 to $600,000 plus is a pretty wide gap. But it is as much of a reality as the rest of Pampa's fantastic expansion of area, population and business volume.

The $10,000 represented the total capital of what used to be First State Bank of Pampa when it opened its doors in 1906 as compared to the $200,000 in common stock, $200,000 surplus and $265,389.31 reserves the First National Bank boasts today.

Just as spectacular are the comparative expense figures over almost the same span of years. Bank expenditures for the first quarter of 1908 averaged $245 per month. Today they amount to more than that per day, including salaries, taxes, insurance and general overhead.

The names of the board of directors and officers have changed during the last half century as well as the figures.

In October, 1907, the First State Bank's stockholders, a mid-board of directors, J. S. Wynne, J. T. Crawford, Siler Faulkner, J. C. Rider, T. D. Hobart, S. B. Ownes, J. E. F. Sewell, J. W.

Davidson, and W. H. Fuqua, made application to operate as a national bank. The application was granted and it became the First National Bank of Pampa early in 1908.

At that time Sewell served as president with Joe W. Cole as cashier.

During a meeting of the board in the fall of 1908 the bank's total deposits amounted to $37,000 plus. It was that same year the bank moved onto its present site in the recently razed two-story brick building. The second floor was rented to the I.O.O.F. at $10 a month.

At the annual meeting of the board in January, 1909, the cashier's salary was raised to $100 a month and the president's from $25 to $35 per month. It was that same year the cashier was first put under bond of $2,000. By 1911, business had increased and was looking up, so the board increased the cashier's bond to $8,000 and his monthly salary to $115.

At that time the east end of the bank was just another empty lot. The board decided it should be cleaned up a bit. They voted the funds to straighten up the mess and plant trees where the addition to the original building now stands.

From there the bank progressed steadily until today its new building houses 23 employees, all of them bonded from the president on through to the janitor.

The present directors are: J. E. Murfee, Jr., E. J. Dungan, Jr., C. P. Buckler, E. L. Green, Jr., Frank M. Carter, and A. A. Schuneman. Food, Drug Bill Killed In Austin

AUSTIN — (AP) — The House committee on public health Wednesday night killed a bill aimed at streamlining and putting "teeth" in Texas food, drug and cosmetic laws.

By a 10 to 4 vote, the committee sent the bulky legislation back to the House floor with a "do not pass" tag attached.

The action came after a three-hour hearing, livened by conflicting cries against "too much government" and pleas for "more protection."

Spokesmen for Texas grocers, druggist, and cafe operators maintained the bill would make the state health officer "an absolute czar."

Friends declared the existing "hodgepodge" of food and drug laws aren't strong enough to protect the public from "fly-by-night, unscrupulous operators, out to make a quick dollar."

A key figure in debate was Joe Lakey, director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Food and Drugs.

Lakey described incidents in which he said food-handlers had refused to hold up distribution of "wormy, decomposed" food because of "light" punishment for violation.

Rep. Abram Kazen, Jr., of Laredo said business would suffer severely on perishable goods lost through delayed sales. Other committeemen asked if the bill didn't overlap and conflict with federal pure food laws.

GONE WITH THE EXCAVATORS—This old red brick building which stood on the corner of Foster and Cuyler for many years housed the First National Bank. It has been replaced by one of the most modern and exquisite buildings on the North Plains. Not so long ago, the construction of 1920 architecture style was torn down and the new tile and white brick building sprung up. The new bank is designed to make far more accommodations for customers than the old one provided. (News Engraving)

War Again Booms U.S. Marriage Rate

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Marriages in the United States are on the rise. And, since the scent of orange blossoms isn't any stronger these days, the only explanation for the wedding bear market is the Korean War.

A survey by NEA Service of eight key American cities—New York, Boston, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, Dallas, San Francisco and Los Angeles — showed the total marriage licenses issued in 1950 was higher than in 1949.

Even more striking is that most cities noted that the first six months of 1950 — the pre-war months — were slower than usual. Business picked up after the shooting began, and the last six months wiped out the deficit.

Bearing out NEA's own study is a survey made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., which showed a nation-wide five percent increase in 1950.

The Korean War began in late June. It takes something extraordinary for any other month to beat out June as a month of marriages. In August, 1950, the war began to look like it might lead to something worse; in New York, Cleveland and Los Angeles, for example, August marriages topped June easily. September also edged ahead of June in New York.

Most city clerks look for the trend to continue for a while then slack off. It won't stop because the youngsters don't want to get married. It'll stop for the simple reason we're running out of eligible young men and women.

At present, young couples are investing in wedding rings for three main reasons: either it's a perfectly routine thing, or they've stepped up wedding plans because of the prospect of separation, or — to be blunt about it — some guy wants to get out of the draft.

But the crop of young people is getting smaller. The ones reaching marriageable age now are the ones born in the bleakest depression years. Our birth rate in those years was very low. So the prospect is for an imminent drop in the wedding rate.

This situation is not unique with this war. War always brings a rash of marriages, at least in the initial stages. Later, when the troops are overseas, marriages drop off and then boom again when they are demobilized.

DA Threatened By Hired Killer

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — District Attorney Allen F. Haley of Wichita Falls is on the lookout for a hired killer reported looking for Haley.

Yesterday in Tulsa, Okla., a prisoner told officers of a purported gang plan to kill Haley because he could not be "fixed."

Haley said last night that law enforcement officers had warned him two days ago that a plot had been organized to have him slain by an out-of-town killer. The man's description was given to Haley.

The District Attorney told a Tulsa newspaper that "it's not the first time I've been threatened since I opened a drive to wipe out a Dallas gang trying to take over Wichita Falls."

BODY FOUND IN RIVER
EUREKA, Calif. — (AP) — The body of Mrs. W. R. Beck, of Odessa, Texas, was found yesterday in the Mad River a month after she, her husband and father-in-law drowned. Mrs. Beck was 19.

Norman Davenport, 26, and a brother, both of Wichita Falls, are charged at Pryor, Okla., with armed robbery in the kidnapping of a state highway patrolman. The officer was overpowered and left handcuffed in his patrol car after he arrested the Davenports for questioning about a cattle theft.

Dallas County Sheriff Bill Decker said that Norman Davenport, who told of the plan against Haley, "apparently knows a lot of things, but he told my men he wouldn't tell all unless Texas authorities promised to make a deal with him in exchange for the information."

It was indeed a pleasure to be associated in the construction and completion of this inspiring new addition to Pampa's Skyline.

ambassadors Meet Soviet Answer
 MOSCOW — (AP) — Ambassadors of the western Big Three powers went to the Soviet foreign office early this afternoon to receive Russia's answer to the western proposal for a Big Four deputy foreign ministers meeting. The United States, France and Britain had suggested that the deputies meet in Paris on Monday to plan the proposed Big Four meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers to seek a solution of problems threatening world peace.

Students Get Chance To Finish Term

A registrar, who has been classified 1-A by his draft, who is a student in high school or college may choose his branch of service after his present semester of schooling even though he has received his letter to report for pre-induction physical, with two provisions, according to Ring Sgt. Davis S. Brown. The two provisions are that the local board reclassified him to permit him to finish that semester and providing that he is making a satisfactory full-time course and grades in school.

Also, men may now enlist in the Army for a 21-month period providing they enlist in the reserves for a four-year period following that 21-month duty.

Sgt. Brown also said that he has a definite demand for enlistments in the Womens Army Corp and in the Womens Air Force.

There is also an opening for 14 ex-servicemen from this district to be sent to Ft. Leavenworth and 14 more to Milwaukee for duty with a disciplinary barracks detachment. A record of AFQT score of 13 or higher, not less than 22 years of age, not under 5 feet, 6 inches tall, top physical condition, and an honorable discharge are requirements. Service will be with the U. S. Army disciplinary branch and enlistments will be in pay grade E-5.

MUSICAL BACKGROUND—Soft, subdued music will be a part of the atmosphere of the new bank. Juanita Owens, bookkeeper, will be one of the operators of the machine, which will furnish the music. The machine can be turned on and off at four locations in the bank. One outlet is in the coffee room; one in the kitchen, and two upstairs in the lobby. The machine is located on the mezzanine between the directors' meeting room and the lounge. (News Photo and Engraving)

Revenue Stamps Report Increase

AUSTIN — (AP) — State tax stamps brought the state $5,837,576 last month, $385,230 more than in February a year ago. State Treasurer Jesse James reported Wednesday. Most of the increase came from cigarette stamps, up $208,148. Liquor stamps were up $293,031. Wine stamps showed a $12,971 decrease.

Texans Protest Tax Interest

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Atty. Gen. Price Daniel of Texas has protested the treasury's proposal to tax interest on state and city bonds.

He wired Rep. Combs of Texas yesterday it would cause serious losses of "revenues and political powers" of states, counties and towns. Combs belongs to the Ways and Means Committee, considering the tax.

Mayor Otto Plummer of Beaumont, City Attorney George E. Murphy of Beaumont, the Texas City Attorneys Assn. and the League of Texas Municipalities all have filed protests.

Resettle Refugees From Pakistan

NEW DELHI — (AP) — The vast job of resettling more than half a million rural families who fled western Pakistan after the partition of this subcontinent has nearly been completed.

The rehabilitation ministry has announced that 631,000 families who abandoned their farm homes in western Pakistan in 1947, all but 5,000 have been given land in India. In addition, 185,000 displaced families from eastern Pakistan have been resettled on farms in India. Ministry officials figure the number of people involved at about 4,000,000.

Men applying for this position will be required to complete a course at Camp Lee, Va. No promise as to geographical assignment is given. Failure to pass the course will mean reassignment under current regulations, said Sgt. Brown.

Mellon Pays High Record Art Price

NEW YORK — (AP)— In 1931, Andrew J. Mellon, the late multimillionaire secretary of the treasury, bought Raphael's "Alba Madonna" from the Russian government for $1,166,400—the highest recorded price for a painting.

The masterpiece has been hanging in the National Gallery of Art in Washington since 1941.

The Russians now claim in a Soviet publication that the celebrated art work is hanging in the Hermitage Museum in Leningrad.

In Washington, John Walker, curator of painting at the national gallery, said yesterday, "the original 'Alba Madonna' is hanging in our gallery unless it has been stolen during the time it took me to answer the telephone."

Meat Prices Are Trimmed

(By The Associated Press)

Many stores trimmed meat prices a few cents a pound here and there this week, trying to lure shoppers back to the butcher counters.

But aside from these scattered reductions aimed at overcoming the consumer price resistance which has slowed meat sales in the past two weeks, changes in retail food prices generally were slight.

Poultry was up about two cents a pound in some large market centers, partly because of increased demand as buyers switched to chicken from higher-priced meats, and partly because growers in several important areas restricted shipments to

Tin Output Increases

KUALA LUMPUR — (AP)— Production of tin in Malaya in 1950 rose nearly 3,000 tons over the 1949 figure. Output totaled 57,537 tons compared with 54,910 in the previous year.

The price of Malayan tin hit a new all-time record on Jan. 21, 1951, selling for $685.75 per one-sixteenth of a ton. Brokers say there is an increasing demand for Malayan tin from continental Europe and Latin-American buyers.

Eggs eased one to four cents a dozen compared with last week-end, and with supplies at a seasonally high level, the Agriculture Department stressed eggs as a plentiful-food headliner for this week. Butter eased a cent or two a pound in many places.

Woman Clubs Self Into Insanity

DARWIN — (AP)— "Manbulli Maudie," a 30-year-old aboriginal woman, clubbed herself insane during a primitive ceremony 300 miles south of Darwin recently.

She is now in Darwin Hospital, where she screams and shouts all day. At night she performs the ceremony, beating herself with her fists, until she is exhausted and collapses.

Maudie became insane during the funeral corroboree (native dance) after the death of her brother, who was thrown from a horse. She and other members of the family bashed themselves with spears, budgeoned their heads with pieces of rock, and danced and wailed for hours before collapsing. Many of them had severely lacerated heads when the ceremony ended.

Clinic Starts Here Monday

The customer is always right. And effective Monday he's the boss as far as Pampa drug store sales people and soda fountain employes are concerned when at least 40 people will go back to school to learn better their jobs of serving the public.

Monday marks the beginning of Pampa drug store training clinic, sponsored by the Top of Texas Retail Druggist Association and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Clark C. Cramer, drug store training specialist on the staff of the University of Texas, Division of Extension, will be the instructor. Since the start of the drug store training program some three years ago, Cramer has conducted clinics in more than 118 Texas cities. Training classes will be divided into two sections, one for those interested in fountain training and the other for those interested in sales training.

In the fountain course Cramer will stress uniform preparation of fountain drinks. He will point out that with each fountain employe following the same recipe, the drug store can serve uniformly flavored dishes, and the customer can be sure of getting what he expects each time he orders from the fountain. Any person who is employed in a drug store is eligible to attend. The selling course will include demonstrations in helping customers to buy and the art of rendering prompt and courteous service.

Classes will be held at the Pampa Junior High School, basement room No. 4-B. Further information regarding class schedules may be obtained by calling Herman Foster, president, phone 1280.

The complete class schedule will run as follows:

SELLING DRUG STORE MERCHANDISE
9-11 a.m. — Wednesday and Friday of first week
9-11 a.m. — Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of second week

FOUNTAIN TRAINING
9-11 a.m. — Tuesday and Thursday of first week
9-11 a.m. — Monday and Wednesday of second week
7-9 p.m. — Monday, Wednesday and Friday of first week
7-9 p.m. — Tuesday of second week

All Druggists and their employes of all neighboring towns are also extended an invitation to attend this school.

Rules Listed For Speaking In Public

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Are you nervous when appearing before an audience? Do your knees shiver and shake? Then you are perfectly normal, says Dr. Wald Phelps, instructor in speech at the University of California.

"Tenseness is natural even in people with years of public speaking experience," he states. The instructor outlined three rules a speaker should follow to control the trembling and shaking. They are: 1. Use gestures to release excess energy; 2. Prepare carefully; and 3. Have something to say which you want to share with your audience.

First Marines Arrive Monday

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — One thousand First Marine Division veterans of the Korean War will arrive in San Francisco Monday aboard a transport.

Six hundred are returning under the newly-instituted rotation program. The remaining 400 are convalescing wounded.

Australia, New Zealand Doing Well Under Anti-Socialism

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Greenville (N.C.) Daily Reflector invites this column to report how the people of Australia and New Zealand have fared since their Labor (Socialist) governments reverted to anti-Socialist regimes just over a year ago.

Well, one succinct answer to that comes from Gordon Tait, AP chief of bureau at Sydney, Australia. He pins it down with the remark that "there have been no miracles." However, the situation does present an interesting study, especially since the Socialist government of England, head of the British Commonwealth to which Australia and New Zealand belong, is sailing stormy seas these days.

Australia voted her labor government out after it had been in power eight years. About the same time New Zealand ousted her 14-year-old Labor regime. Tait says many folks expected miracles, but life has gone on about the same in both countries.

Social services — pensions, free medicines, etc. — are bigger and more extensive in both countries. However, there's no further talk about nationalizing anything in either nation.

As a matter of fact New Zealand, which has more nationalization than Australia, is laying plans for de-socializing. Among other things this dominion is going to sell its state-owned National Airways Service which was established by the Socialist government.

Apropos of this de-nationalization tendency it's worthy of note that the life of the British Socialist government may hinge on strong public dissatisfaction with the nationalization program.

This includes the vital steel and coal industries. A lot of English voters are fearful that such nationalization is killing the goose which through generations has laid the golden egg.

Both Australia and New Zealand have encountered some tough luck — as what country hasn't in the last few years? The cost of living has continued to rise (and where have we heard that before?); a housing and building shortage remains about as bad, and may continue so for years because of an influx of immigrants; taxation has remained about the same.

Election promises to make the pound sterling go further have gone by the board because of world rises. An inflationary trend has developed.

However, there's a manpower shortage in both countries and wages have risen. In Australia the increases may run as much as 15 to 20 percent.

Labor seems to be neither label the Communist Party illegal and forbid "declared" Communists from holding trade union office.

The business situation in both countries is such as to permit us to wind up on a pleasant note. Tait reports that business is booming. Many new public companies have been formed. There is no shortage of public money for investment, and the share market in Australia has touched an all-time high.

Fire Puts Car In Gear Fast

CALHOUN, Ga. — (AP) — When fire broke out at a funeral home, an automobile in a connecting garage got the heck out without help from a driver.

The machine backed swiftly and surely out and all the way across the street. Mechanics said the heat shorted out the starter and set it in motion.

Saturday, March the third, the officers, directors and personnel of the First National Bank in Pampa reaffirm their personal and business confidence in the future of Pampa by dedicating their new home . . . Dedicating it for the building of tomorrow . . . for our customers, for Pampa and for the Southwest.

During the past 45 years your First National Bank has progressed steadily with the growth of Pampa. It is with humble pride that we view the simultaneous growth of this city and our banking institution. For during these years we have continually endeavored to build a greater Pampa.

We are equally proud of the fact the First in Pampa is everybody's bank. A large number of Pampa families refers to the First National Bank as "our Bank." It is a bank for small depositors as well as large . . . for the individual borrower as well as the large corporate borrower. It is geared to handle all banking problems, regardless of size, with uniform courtesy and efficiency.

We welcome you as we observe the new milestone of our mutual growth and ask that you join us in greater accomplishments during the years ahead.

The Burglars

Ever hear of a big, staid, legitimate business hiring a crew of burglars, porch-climbers and confidence men? Ever see a wanted ad that reads: "Wanted: Three pygmy artists. Apply at Standard Nuts & Bolts Corp."?

Not likely. But they've got 'em. Technically, the guys are chiselers. Their mission in life is to chisel a newspaper out of space which is the commodity the newspaper has to sell.

And they go beyond that, really, and try to chisel the subscriber out of space which should be devoted to news or advertising.

They've got a million gags and more angles than a geometry book. But they all add up to the same thing — a mild little chisel.

Here's how it works: Standard Nuts & Bolts hires itself a "public relations" gismo who concocts ideas on a salary basis. His "ideas" are singular — how to get free advertising for the nut and bolt outfit or one of its executives.

He breezes into Gory Gulch, N. M., one day and hops over to see the local nut and bolt distributor. "You know," he says, "this afternoon you are going to sell the 1,000,000th Standard Nut."

"Huh?" says the nut merchant. "And," says the public relations guy, "this is a big event in Gory Gulch. Let's you and me go over to the local paper and have them take a picture of you selling No. 1,000,000."

The pitch to the newspaper will go like this: "This local nut is a big advertiser and he'll be mad if you don't take his picture after I told him you would."

2. There is no advertising whatever connected with this deal. Just be sure you spell Standard Nut & Bolts right.

3. Every other newspaper (unnamed) we've contacted has been glad to do this for us.

The promoter is an expensive piece of equipment on the company's payroll. We've often wondered why the advertiser doesn't take his salary and expenses and buy some advertising with it. Maybe that would be too simple.

Chinese Puzzle

The United States isn't the only place where basketball scandals crop up. There's one in Communist China right now. No bribery in it, apparently, but you can't get away from the fact that the Chinese never seem to beat the Russians in their inter-sectional matches.

So successful have the Russians been in a barnstorming tour that Soviet coaches have taken to lecturing their Chinese friends on the fine points of the game.

Of course, it could be that the Chinese are somewhat handicapped by Russian insistence on getting the size of the ball, the dimensions of the backboard and the general rules to be observed.

Washington . . . by Peter Edson

By PETER EDSON WASHINGTON — (NEA)—British Prime Minister Ernest Bevin's insistence on United Nations approval for re-opening the 38th parallel in Korea, caught Washington by surprise.

It was a little bit like Sen. Robert A. Taft's insistence that the United States should get out of Korea and his opposition to sending more troops to Europe.

Both actions, by Bevin and Taft, have used military strategists no end of trouble in their staff planning.

United Nations representatives in Washington have been kept fully briefed by State Department and Pentagon on Korean developments. Every nation that has sent troops to Korea has been informed how its contingent was being used, and how it fitted in with broader strategy.

State Department has met with ambassadors from the allied countries twice a week. Pentagon has briefed military attaches at the embassies and the combined chiefs of staff representatives in Washington almost daily. Both have used policies approved over the years by General MacArthur in the field.

Washington thought everything was rolling as smoothly as could be expected. Prime Minister Bevin's talk upon the floor of the House dumped in General MacArthur's lap a political question he was trying to avoid in the new year contract to destroy the Communist armies first, without reference to defending any cities or holding any lines.

Cost of living change is one cent per hour for 1.14 points on index. If the rent component increase is extended, and if the cost of

Stalin's Statement Seen As Try To Split Western Allies

By JOHN FISHER Analysis and intelligence reports indicate that Stalin broke his long silence on international affairs because he had two prime objectives in mind.

He wanted to split the Allies. He urgently needed to bring to himself not only his wavering and disgruntled satellites but also the doubting Russians, and them through the love of himself and hatred of the United States.

American ballooning production, military muscle in Korea, common goal emerging from the arrival of Eisenhower in Europe to organize its defense are swiftly building a dike against Russian imperialist aggression. It's the Communist world that now is seriously rent by a mental battle over policy.

In order to stifle misgivings of the Russian rank and file and to condemn the dike for military orders, the Politburo has concocted a titanic drive to re-sell Stalin to the Russian masses and to lukewarm puppet nations. So the Red Zeus has printing presses being the iron curtain and republishing his old volumes in every trading zone.

STALIN'S STATEMENT made of anti-Stalinist books long forgotten in bookshelves of the Kremlin magazine gushes. "Stalin, the greatest of all heroes. He helps his people with kind words, with fatherly advice, with solutions to all their problems, for he is not only the motivator of all great historical events but also the almighty guardian of the fate of every individual."

Russian papers are packed with articles describing the success of his Five-Year Plan that had called for a 48 percent increase in production in 1950 but which, they claim, exceeded the prewar level output by 70 percent. Thanks to Father Stalin, they boast, "The age-long dream of the finest minds of mankind is today embodied in the daily life of the Soviet people."

But somehow the ungrateful beneficiaries fail to believe the bunk. A single party slate of candidates was prepared for the Moscow election to local soviets. One "agitator" (election door) will receive one vote for every 20 citizens. But the Moscow All-Union Communist Party campaign headquarters decided that the "vigor of agitation and election propaganda work" was not enough, so greater appeals to make people vote were ordered.

New anti-Stalin mutterings are heard among peasants. They not only have been driven by law into Kolkhozes community farming but their small villages have been merged into big farm centers.

A new movement, described as "the strengthening of collective agriculture," literally picks up farm buildings, transports the dwellings and barns on trucks and sets them down in large fields. The women, object to this forced migration.

Independent-minded Ukrainians, who live in the "bread basket" of Southwest Russia, are again persecuted. Mykola Lebed, leader of the Supreme Ukrainian Liberation Council in the U.S.A., accuses Moscow of resorting to disease, poison, mass deportations and wholesale executions to stamp out resistance in the restless republic.

For all the Chinese can feel, it might be water polo played in dry-dock.

HOLES IN CEILING Department of Defense procurement officers are giving Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle plenty of headaches by constant demands for exemptions from price ceiling regulations. The armed services justify their requests by statements they can't get manufacturers to take contracts under ceiling prices. Flexible, unenforced prices on raw materials like wood and hides are what make fixed-price contracts hard to negotiate.

So Defense officials shoot over to the Office of Price Stabilization requests for exemptions that will permit contracts for uniforms and shoes at above ceiling prices. Reluctantly, OPS has to agree to the exemptions so that the armed services can get what they say they need when they need it. And with every exemption, there goes into the economy some more government built-in inflation.

That's a record of how the General Motors-United Auto Workers cost-of-living escalator clause has worked out. It will be up for readjustment early in March, with every indication UAW will get another wage boost. Escalator clause has been in effect since May 1948. First it was a two-year contract. The present five-year contract expires in May 1956, unless set aside in whole or in part by wage stabilization order.

Cost of living change is one cent per hour for 1.14 points on index. If the rent component increase is extended, and if the cost of

An Italian diplomat, caught by the Soviet army in Rumania in 1914 and jailed in the Soviet Union until recently, discloses that Russian military prisoners who were his cell mates, informed him of strong antagonism for Stalin and his bureaucrats in the army. He was told that after Marshal Zhukov was pushed into oblivion by Stalin, every officer who served on the Marshal's staff in Germany was either exiled or imprisoned.

Russian military leaders still accept the Communist economic system but they are bitterly resentful of the Kremlin dictatorship. Fear by Stalin that this seething volcano of dissent in the army would burst on his regime is one of the strongest reasons why he does not want a war just yet with power in the hands of the military.

Even though the "Voice of America" is not as effective a propaganda device as it once was, it does reach many Russian ears, thus aggravating the peoples' discontent. A survey of Russian reaction by a Harvard University research project reveals that Red government radio are increasingly referring to the "Voice" and trying to rebut its messages. This is sure proof that the Kremlin knows that the people are listening to us.

The official radio offsets "Voice" descriptions of American living conditions through fake reports of sailors who visited the U.S.A. One broadcast declared: "New York City stores are deserted because people are penniless." Another said: "American children are perishing by the tens of thousands, killed by disease, exposure and famine."

It is an old Soviet trick to divert the masses from complaining about the lack of consumers' goods by painting a bleak picture of the "American depression."

Another revelation in internal dissatisfaction is the depth of the latest "Hate America" campaign. Washington State Department officials explain that the Kremlin leadership, divided with opinion at home are resorting to thought control mechanism to convince the Russian peoples that the United States has long been their historic arch enemy.

Here are samples of recent Moscow New Times. The purpose is to arouse righteous indignation among decent but ignorant Russian people so they will think their own prison a paradise and Americans a heads who must be destroyed by war.

"The noble struggle of the patriotic forces in Korea, which is arousing the admiration of the world," writes Arkady Perentsev, "has to contend with the savage American machine of enslavement. Kill, MacArthur cries to his ruffians, 'kill, kill, kill.' The list of atrocities perpetrated by American aggressors makes one's blood curdle."

"Newspaper correspondents, who witnessed the bloody murder of the American butchers, are reminded of Nazi death camps. A woman was interrogated while in the pangs of child birth. The Americans jeered at her sufferings. When her child was born, one of them threw it into a burning tub."

Such scurvy falsehoods are printed as facts. Only a clique of unprincipled, frightened tyrants, fearful of losing their grip on their slaves would stoop to such limitless malevolence.

Marshall revealed for the first time the inside story on sending the first B-29 group to England, as long as he is based in England, to bolster European defense. Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. It was in the spring of 1948. General Marshall was then secretary of State. The Pentagon was urging that U.S. heavy bombers be based in England, to bolster European defense. Secretary Marshall was then trying to reach agreement with the Russians on Germany, Austria, Greece and other European problems.

"As Secretary of State," General Marshall told the Senate committee in their consideration of Europe's further arms aid to today, "I put a delay on the movement of B-29's to England."

A Letter To My Senator

After reading a speech made in the Senate by Honorable William F. Knowland, Senator from California, under the heading "The Issues Which Confront the Nation", I felt compelled to write to him. The speech that I read required 13 newspaper columns of solid type. As explained in the letter, if his premises were sound, then his conclusions were sound. But I contended, as shown in the letter, that his premises were unsound. I quote from the letter:

"Dear Senator: 'I must say that if your premise is right, you recommend many things that are excellent. I can see no reason why we shouldn't release the Chinese Nationalists, and I can see no reason why we should attempt to furnish the soldiers to defend Europe on any larger basis than you propose of one from the United States to six from Europe.'"

"You made two statements, however, that I think make your premise unsound. You quote Abraham Lincoln as saying: 'This nation could not remain half slave and half free.' Whether it is half and half I do not know, but I do know that it has never been free, and we are enjoying less and less freedom in this country. A man is not free unless he is owner of himself and all he produces. It seems to me it is irrational to talk about free people or free nations since there are no free people even here in the United States. Here an employer is obliged to take out of the envelope of a worker part of his salary and call it 'social security.' It is just a form of taxes for the younger people. By the time they get the money it will do them little more good than the German mark did to the German workers as far as security is concerned."

"The graduated income tax and inheritance tax is nothing but a form of robbery. The government gives nothing in return. It is arbitrary. It takes the pennies off of the dead man's eyes from the widow and children."

"Other forms of robbery that deprive a man of his freedom are: minimum wage laws, minimum wage laws, the Norris-La Guardia law and the Wagner law that makes it illegal for an employer to refuse to hire a union man who will not make a binding contract. But makes it legal to refuse to hire a non-union worker who will make a binding contract. The labor union movement that little more good than the German mark did to the German workers as far as security is concerned."

Pot Calls Kettle Black

By DAVID BAXTER

This one is too good to keep. It's from publisher Bob Segal of the Marysville (Cal.) Appeal-Democrat. "This customer got a big bang out of your column on Judge Robert Marsh and his address to the medicos in Chicago."

"I kept thinking about people in glass houses throwing rocks. The Judge is a member of a union as tightly controlled and monopolistic as the medical union. Ever try to practice law without a state license? In most cases you must have a law degree from a recognized college even to take the bar exam."

"Not long ago the publisher of a small Southern California paper was prosecuted under state laws for practicing law without a license. It seems a man can't practice law with a legal aid and ask for some information about publication requirements, etc. The publisher gave him the information he needed — and the result was a lawsuit instigated by the lawyers union."

"Methinks the Judge is not one to lecture doctors about 'live and let live.' In this state a man must pass the state bar exam to practice law; he must have special qualifications — set down by the state — to practice in higher courts (Guess who makes up the state bar exam) THE UNION, of course.) A lawyer must be 'admitted' to practice law in federal courts, individually and severally. And how about the cute manner in which we 'elect' judges to the high courts in California? (We can't vote FOR them — only AGAINST them.)"

"I think the legal profession is about as high-handed as they come. That's why I got such a bang out of the Judge telling the doctors to 'live and let live.'"

"Tch heh, looks like Bob got me by the cowlick that time. Not a bad idea at that, though. I think I shall do a little investigating of the legal profession, just for fun — and possible education. More than likely I'll discover that there's nothing wrong with the legal trade, just as there's nothing wrong with the medical trade, but a great deal wrong with monopolistic and racketeering UNION methods which harm advancement in general and the independent individual in particular. Whenever ANYTHING is collectivized it is bound to be harmful all up and down the line."

Since I am in need of accurate information, perhaps some of the independent minded American lawyers who read this column may find time to slip me a few facts, figures, comments and documentary evidence as to whether or not genuinely monopolistic practices exist in the legal profession. There is also a left-wing lawyers organization called the National Lawyers Guild that I'd like to find out more about. This outfit has been termed subversive by official government agencies. On at least one occasion I know of — the Sedition Trial, which was proven frame-up of innocent persons — the Lawyers Guild actually circulated a pamphlet highly prejudicial against the defendants in the courthouse in Washington, D. C., where the trial was held, and members of the jury trying the case were reported to have received copies of the pamphlet literature. Why? Because the defendants had been fighting Communism. Any fair-minded judge would have found the Lawyers Guild in contempt for trying to influence a court case thus, or possibly have declared a mistrial because jurors had been influenced, but not the Nud-Earler who tried the Sedition Case. He overruled all objections without even hearing arguments.

ENGLAND, 1950 The Owl, London, England

I have never understood the doctrine of Society that we are given today, that if you allow the individual man a free hand he is selfish, he is profit seeking, he has no regard for his brother, he will do what is good in his own interest and for his own aggrandisement, but if you join that same persons with his brothers, who are all like him, and form a Society out of them, they become altruistic, just and everything else. How does the transformation take place? And if you turn to history, where do you find any foundation for it in history? Are not societies that act within a corporate authority the most ruthless, tyrannical societies that the world has ever seen? Is not that the truth in Europe, and in our own day? I need not speculate about these matters. Is not that what we have passed through in two World Wars? Is not that what we are facing now and why are we so anxious about our future? Why do you think knowledge is added to because you select a small band when you exclude the knowledge that is divided through the whole of the community? Why do you tie down their activities and hope to add to the prosperity of the community? Yet these are the doctrines that are being put before the community. Reason is not going to triumph of necessity. You may have the best cause in the world, you may have a completely sound cause, as those who fight the free Society in the 19th Century had, but if your Society has grown superstitious and a psychological, believing that it is more important to talk nicely to a tribunal than to talk justly, to have a friendly atmosphere than to have a just, well-informed Society that prefers those who vote accordingly, you will be voted out.

When once thy foot enters the church, be bare. God is more there than thou; for thou art there.

Only by his permission. And make thyself all reverence and fear.

Some time ago a rine lawyer practicing in the District of Columbia and even "qualified" (chuckle) to argue before nine Nud-Ear politicians known as the "Supreme Court" wrote to me about wanting to live in the Gold-Field and starting a law practice in California. This man's ancestor was a signer of the Constitution, his father and grandfather were lawyers and he came from an old Pennsylvania family. He was a graduate of the U. of Pennsylvania law school and two other colleges besides having been a cavalry lieutenant in World War One. A member of the District of Columbia Bar Association, too. He happened to be a RUGGED INDIVIDUALIST, though. And do you know that he's discovered he would have to live in California one year before he could even be admitted to practice and would have to take the California-bar exams all over, just as though he

UN is Holding A Firecracker In Korea War

TOKYO — (AP) — The United Nations army in Korea is holding a gigantic Chinese firecracker. The sputtering fuse may reach the powder within the next three weeks.

If the big explosion comes as a do-or-die Communist offensive it may well include the boom of artillery and the roar of an estimated 3,000 enemy planes.

The three military musts the Chinese Reds either have failed to use or just haven't had thus far in Korea are (a) transport, (2) adequate artillery, and (3) air power.

The Chinese Reds are believed to have a combat air force of up to 3,000 planes including fighters and medium bombers. That force could carry out an estimated 300 sorties (single flights) in the first 24 hours of a major Communist drive.

How long they could continue that pace is another question but certainly it would last through the first devastating stage of a Red offensive.

The UN army in Korea has grown dangerously contemptuous of the enemy's air power. There just hasn't been any fear thus far. Allied units are camped brazenly along river bottoms and in exposed valleys — sitting-due-k targets for air attack.

A flight over the front line plainly shows this danger. The allied side is a beehive of obvious activity but when the actual front line is reached there is no sign of the enemy.

And the Eighth Army's supply lines are vulnerable to an extreme. Virtually every major rail line and road passes through narrow defiles easily blasted from the air.

There is substantial evidence Chinese needs for both artillery and transport are being met.

Until recently a Chinese Red army in Korea consisted of from two to five divisions to each army — an artillery and a transport division — split up among the various army units for tactical use.

The transport would include every available vehicle and beast of burden.

The artillery would include both 100 mm. and 200 mm. guns drawn by vehicles and horses.

The equipping and disposition of these new units is believed in an advanced stage. Estimates of when they will be ready for battle range from three weeks to two months.

There can be no doubt that the Communists have been hurt badly by the allied air, ground and artillery attacks in the last month. Bodies strewn over the black Korean hillsides are mute evidence of that fact.

However, there can be no doubt that sufficient Chinese Red 38 to wage an all-out offensive. Such a drive would include six Chinese armies — a force ranging from 100,000 to 300,000 men.

A force of that size hammering away at any one point of the UN defense line would have an almost certain chance of breaking through.

Given 300 air combat sorties in the initial 24 hours of the attack, the Chinese Reds could split the allied army right down the middle and blast the allied rail and road network so that an orderly withdrawal would be impossible.

The Chinese Reds are being pushed back in Korea today but they apparently are preparing a defense in depth south of Parallel 38 — a holding action while awaiting word from Peking to launch their offensive.

If the handwriting on the wall was not merely placed there to mislead, and a Communist drive may put the UN army in Korea in a vastly different war.

About Radio Station KPAT 1230 ON YOUR DIAL

MARCH 1st
1951

To The People Of Pampa, Gray County and The Panhandle Area

Dear Friends:

All of you realize it would be impossible for me to visit each of you and personally tell you the story of KPAT, your new radio station. However, I'm sure you won't mind letting me tell the story of your radio station in this way.

For a long time I have dreamed of the day when I could give to the People of Pampa, Gray County and the Panhandle a home-owned and operated radio station; a station designed specifically and expressly to satisfy the needs and desires of local people.

Now, the dream has come true and you, the people of Pampa, Gray County and the Panhandle, have your station.

KPAT was designed with you in mind. It is the largest, most modern, luxurious station in the Southwest. It is supplied with four large studios, six large offices and a coffee bar in a building 50'x84'. The building has all walls equipped with double insulation; it is completely airconditioned; and the entire inner structure is furnished in walnut and mahogany with the latest carpeting throughout the entire building.

When you realize that the KPAT studio building has been constructed in such a manner that it can handle Television (all cables for such an eventuality are now installed) with minor effort, and has provision for expansion with the growth of the area, you will know that KPAT was designed and constructed with your desires uppermost in our minds.

It required considerable effort for us to arrange the foremost in radio entertainment for your pleasure. However, we are able to offer you the finest in radio entertainment. Our chain affiliate is the famous Liberty Broadcasting System; supplementing Liberty we have contracted for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer (MGM) Broadcasting Service. Through these facilities you will be in constant touch with the greatest stars in the entertainment field.

In order to insure the finest performance at all times we have assembled a staff of top quality Engineers, Announcers and supporting personnel under the direction of John Michel. Michel is vice-president of station KPAT. Since Mr. Michel is one of the outstanding Radio men in the southwest, you'll agree that your station KPAT is in the best of hands.

In a few days everything will be in top shape. We'll have your station really ready for your personal pleasure. KPAT will be on the air from 5:30 A. M. till Midnight everyday in the week.

We'd appreciate hearing from you concerning KPAT. Since this is your station we'd like to know what you'd like to hear in radio. Give us your criticisms as well as your praise. If there is something you don't like about our operation please tell us. We'd like you to come and visit us, too. It will be well worth your while to spend some time going through this modern station while it is in operation. After all, it is YOUR station and we want you to feel you have a stake in making it successful.

During the period from March twenty-one to March twenty-five we will hold our formal opening ceremonies and an openhouse. The greatest show in the history of Pampa is in store for you.

Just imagine Pampa entertaining Top Name Bands, Movie Stars and Radio's Famous Personalities. They'll all be there, just for YOU, during KPAT'S formal opening.

Again, I urge you, tell me what you want in your radio station and I will do everything I can to bring you what YOU want in radio entertainment.

Sincerely

J. C. Daniels
President of KPAT

BLUE PRINT FOR LIVING

He is a wise builder who sits down to count the cost and make careful plans for the construction of his house. Rock and tree and mine and gravel pit, materials from many sources, are to be brought together and assembled into a unity. There must be a clear understanding of what is wanted. The plan must be drawn for all workmen to follow. The laws of nature must be obeyed. How important then that the builder shall sit thoughtfully before the drawing sheet, before he sets his hands to square and compass and rule and all the tools of the builder! Architect, contractor, carpenter, mason and all the rest must follow a common plan, if a good house is to be the result.

How much more important is the building of a home! Persons are here to live together. Minds and wills are to be harmonized, women and men and children are to get on in sympathy and understanding. The builders of a home need a plan, a blueprint, a guide for all to follow, if there is to be a genuine home. The Bible has served as the sacred blueprint for Christian homes for eighteen hundred years. Differing minds and wills work together better, if each knows the other to be seeking to follow the divine will. Forgiveness flows from love and trust which have been inspired by common prayer and worship. The Bible in the hands, love in the hearts, prayer upon the lips, a common purpose to do His will; these are the promise of a good home. These are our blueprint to living.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Stewards today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we and our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Henry Eats His Way Across Atlantic Ocean To Europe

By HENERY McLEMORE
MUNICH — I have just crossed the ocean on a four-motored flying kitchen complete with flaps and chef.

The plane is listed as the "Gouda," one of KLM's famed Flying Dutchman fleet, but it really is nothing but a combination kitchen and dining room. KLM's slogan is "Flying Comes Natural to the Dutch," but cooking and serving foods comes just as natural. Each trans-Atlantic plane has a full-time chef and on the flight between New York and Munich he keeps as busy as the motors.

I am not exaggerating when I tell you that from the time we were airborne at Idlewild until the wheels touched the ground at Flughafen Munchen-Riem we were served a meal for each of the 20 or so hours it took for the flight. Frankly, I don't think KLM planes carry gasoline, but use the storage space in the wings for steaks, chops, cheese, ice cream, etc.

After I had eaten thirteen or fourteen meals, as had everyone else aboard, I got to worrying about the weight we were putting on. Would the Constellation be able to keep us in the sky? I gave my weight as 163 pounds when I boarded the plane, but by the time we reached Scotland I am sure I would have tipped the scales at close to 200.

Let me repeat that I am not exaggerating. I have traveled around the world on planes but never have I been fed like this. My knees grew numb from holding laden trays, and I developed a knife and fork elbow from lifting the food to my mouth.

A fellow passenger was Horace Sutton, travel editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, and a man who had traveled many a mile. But he was frank to admit, after the tenth mountainous desert of ice cream meal, that he never wanted to look food in the face again.

"If they don't stop this I won't be able to get on my overcoat when we land," he said. The meals weren't snacks. They were of the same variety that would have satisfied a Rhinestone Jim Brady.

Shortly after we were airborne this meal was served. It started with hors d'oeuvres of lobster salad, shrimp salad, asparagus vinaigrette, devilled eggs, sliced tomatoes, sardines, stuffed celery, potato salad and cold meat.

After that chicken a la reine soup. The chef was warmed up by now and we could see his tall white cap as he worked in the galley up front. We then had filet mignon with bearnaise sauce, french fried potatoes, green peas, green salad, hot rolls and jelly, coffee and a and meringue.

Before the meal you had your choice of cocktails or highballs, and along with the meal champagne was served. Brandy finished everything off.

Oh yes, in case anyone was still hungry each passenger was served an individual box of candy.

With the crumbs of this meal still fresh on the lips of the passengers the stewardess brought around a cold platter of white meat of turkey, ham, tongue, fresh fruit and bread and butter.

Then trays of assorted pastries were passed. I asked the steward if there was anything unusual about the amount of food being served. "He said it was nothing out of the ordinary - that there were 27 complete menus and, in his opinion, this wasn't the best or the hardest one."

Before we landed at Prestwick five gasoline the passengers were rebuffed several times. Honestly, I lost count of the meals but I know I was eating all the time. And what do you think happened at Prestwick? As we were more or less lifted off the plane we were handed cards entitling us to go into the dining room and get a free meal.

As we took off again and headed for Munich we got the Record Claimed For Ballerina

MELBOURNE — (AP) — Members of Melbourne's National Theater Ballet Co. are claiming a record for the prima ballerina, Lynne Golding, who dances the dual role in the ballet "Swan Lake."

When European companies perform "Swan Lake," it is only danced about once a month because the prima ballerina's role is so exacting. Each performance means two hours on the stage, and demands a high degree of skill and stamina. Miss Golding danced the role six times in one week here as part of a ballet festival for the Australian Jubilee celebration.

Asphalt has been in use for many years as a waterproofing compound. Noah used it to make his ark leakproof. The asphalt, or pitch as it also is called, served as a cement in the building of the Tower of Babel and as a waterproofing for the walls of the ancient Hanging Gardens.

Tito Could Be Doubtful Ally

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Mr. Tito's satellite revolt against the banner of "Titoism," one notes a tendency among the democracies to smile on Generalissimo Tito as the father of this nationalist upheaval. That tendency is natural, on the basis that we don't like Titoism the more but that we like bolshevism the less. Moreover, most folk have a sneaking admiration for a jack-the-giant-killer like Tito, who dares so mightily against vast odds. Still, while the democracies welcome Tito's aid in the conflict against a common foe, we shall be well advised not to jump to the conclusion that he is leaning towards them ideologically. True, the Yugoslav chief-of-state is a disenter against the bolshevist tenet that world domination rests in Moscow. He is a nationalist and so refuses to surrender the sovereignty of his nation to Russia. That's why the Cominform has expelled him and branded him as an outcast.

But don't forget that Tito remains a Communist (though not a Bolshevist) and he maintains a dictatorship—a tight one. Ideologically there is nothing in common between Titoism and democracy.

There remains one saving grace in the situation. While there is no possible chance of bolshevism and democracy living side by side in amity, there is no apparent reason why Titoism and democracy shouldn't get along. This is true because the cardinal tenet of bolshevism is world domination by Moscow, whereas the Tito brand of communism, while a dictatorship, doesn't profess to aim at global rule.

It remains to be seen whether a dynamic figure like Tito might get grandiose ideas as Titoism spreads. Still at this reading one would envisage him as perhaps being the leader (though not dictator) of any Titoistic state which might develop. That would conform to his code of nationalism, and any deviation would tend towards the bolshevism which he has disavowed.
