Americans Punch Swiftly Through Korea Mountains

Communists Using Hit-And-Run Move

TOKYO (AP)—Tank-led American forces punched swiftly up the mountainous spine of central Korea late today and occupied freshly vacated Red foxholes overlooking Hoengsong, key Communist defense point.

The twin U.S. spearheads were setting the pace for the powerful allied offensive that shoved ahead virtually unopposed all along the muddy 60-mile front.

Brief but bitter Red resistance was met in some sectors earlier today. This indicated the Communists are using fight-and-run tactics against the 100,000-man United Nations Red-killer drive.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported American forces advancing on Hoengsong in the middle sector of the front were within a mile and a quarter of the burned-out town. The push carried four miles.

"American soldiers occupied foxholes dug by the Communists for themselves while tanks and dive bombers dropped tons of missiles into the town," Swinton reported from outside Hoengsong.

"At dusk, the American tanks and troops pulled back slightly to make themselves secure for the night in full possession of the hills overlooking the Hoengsong valley."

The advance was on a route littered with wrecks of American vehicles knocked out during the ill-fated Communist attack toward Wonju 10 days ago.

Swinton said allied gunfire on Hoengsong was restrained on the possibility that American prisoners are still being held there.

A South Korean major who escaped from the Chinese reported the Reds were concentrated north of the city.

On the eastern flank of the rugged, twisting central front, American forces captured a ruggedly pushed four miles beyond to a lateral road leading to Hoengsong.

Requirements For Draft May Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee has tentatively approved legislation which would require the Army to accept physically fit draft age men whether or not they can read or write.

The proposal was included in a compromise military manpower bill Committee Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) introduced yesterday. The committee spent nearly three weeks in closed session rewriting a bill urged by the defense department.

The Pentagon wanted 18-year-olds brought into the military manpower program. The committee's compromise calls for induction at 18½ and requires four months basic training.

It also proposes return to the January, 1945, minimum physical and mental acceptance standards—standards that were in effect when the United States was fighting a global war.

Back of the proposal to lower standards is reluctance of congressmen to approve induction of men under 19 years of age until other manpower sources are exhausted.

This same reluctance prompted the committee tentatively to approve withdrawing from the President authority to defer married men who have no children.

Peiping Admits Revolt Rife In China; Purge May Be Due

Parallel Not Affecting War

TOKYO (AP)—Informed sources said today the international debate on the sanctity of the 38th Parallel artificial dividing line for North and South Korea—has not affected the conduct of the Korean war.

They said the question has not arisen in connection with the tactical disposition of the allied land, air and naval units under General MacArthur's command.

Top officers here denied reports that British and Australian warcraft had been ordered to confine their activities south of the boundary.

Vice Adm. Charles T. Joy, commander of naval forces in the Far East, said: "I have given no such orders, and I know of no subordinate commander who has done so."

British planes from the carrier Theseus were reported officially in action Thursday against Chinnampo, 45 miles north of the parallel.

A British navy spokesman confirmed that the British cruiser Belfast and the Australian destroyer Warramunga had been ordered south from bombardment missions along the North Korean east coast. He said, however, that the move was for operational and not political reasons.

Australian land-based fighter planes continue to operate north of 38 as circumstances require, informants said.

Insurance Bill Expected Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate action is expected Monday on a substitute for a House-passed bill to provide all armed services personnel with $10,000 cost-free government life insurance.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee said the Senate bill, offered yesterday, would allow persons who have entered the services since the Korean invasion began June 27, 1950 to continue the insurance after they are discharged. They would then have to pay premiums.

British Press Cries Against U.S. Admiral For Pact Navy

LONDON (AP)—Britain's press waved the flag vigorously and defiantly against "Rule Britannia" today over the nomination of an American admiral to head the Atlantic Pact navy.

Even more forcefully than did Winston Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday the papers asked: "What is the matter with a British admiral?"

"And anyway," ran the recurrent theme, "we know more about sea power than anyone else."

The furor arose over the choice of Adm. William M. Fechteler, now commander in chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, to head combined naval forces of the North Atlantic nations.

Churchill plunged Commons into an uproar yesterday with his charge that this selection "brushed out of the way" the wavering Britons. Prime Minister Attlee said finally his government would reconsider its position on the appointment of an

Formosa Has Air-Raid Alert

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The island had a state of alert today from an air-raid alarm. Officials said it was a genuine alert, but there was no raid.

Air defense headquarters reported radars ranged to detect any Chinese Communist air attack on this Chinese Nationalist island picked up unidentified planes flying toward Taipei from the northwest.

A cabinet spokesman said there were six planes. The radar eventually lost them. There never was any indication whether they were hostile. Afterwards some officials said they thought the whole thing resulted from a misunderstanding.

The alarm followed extensive air raid precaution tests throughout Formosa yesterday. Taipei residents thought today's alarm was just another practice.

Air raid wardens disillusioned them. Practice raids included mock warfare against theoretical paratroopers. An official statement said defenders in the Taipei area wiped out 2,000 make believe paratroopers and "shot down" 80 to 120 "hostile" planes.

Defense plans were the subject of a series of top echelon conferences.

Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble, commander of the U. S. Seventh Fleet which is guarding Formosa against a possible Chinese Communist invasion, conferred here with American air and naval commanders from the Philippines. They are Rear Adm. Francis P. Old and Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner.

American to the top International navy post.

Today the Independent Daily Express, under a streamer headline "U. S. Navy Chief Row," said editorially:

"If Churchill had been prime minister, this appointment would never have been made. There need be and must be no bad feeling generated on this subject between Britain and America. It is fairly put to them, the Americans will understand that Britain—on one part of a partnership between equals—rejoices in having her land forces under the command of Eisenhower, but that as another part of the same partnership, the ship should be commanded by a British admiral."

The paper front-paged a cartoon of British naval hero Lord Nelson, high on his column overlooking Trafalgar Square—but with his right arm upraised with a "Statue of Liberty" torch and wearing horn-rimmed spectacles to the horror of a London pigeon.

Service Held Today For Roger Roy Riley

Funeral services were held at 11 a. m. this morning for Roger Roy Riley, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Riley, 800 S. Somerset. He died shortly after birth on Feb. 21, 1951.

Survivors include his parents; one brother, Eddie Roy, of Pampa; and his grandparents, Mrs. Ethel Riley and Mrs. Orail Riley, both of Pampa.

Interment was in the Baby Garden at Fairview Cemetery with L. L. Stovall, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church officiating. The Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Boyle Facing Call In Probe Of RFC Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators said today they may call on William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to tell whether he played any role in influencing big government loans.

They want him to clear up if he can question testimony that the use of his name might have swayed the decision of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) on whether or not to grant loans.

Boyle has been mentioned repeatedly by witnesses in the first two days of a banking subcommittee's evaded inquiry into charges that the RFC has yielded to political and personal influence.

A subcommittee source who asked that he not be identified by name told reporters: "We certainly could not state now that we won't call Boyle, although we also could not state we will call him. The matter is receiving consideration."

But Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said he thinks "we may have to ask Boyle to straighten out controversial testimony. His name keeps floating through this thing," Bricker told newsmen. He is a subcommittee member.

The subcommittee charged in a recent report to the Senate that three RFC directors yielded to pressures, and that Boyle seemed to have a voice in RFC affairs. Boyle said then all he had done was refer calls to the RFC.

High Prices Put Beef In Storage

NEW YORK (AP)—About 1,000,000 pounds of locally dressed beef is reported in storage here because of consumer resistance to high prices.

Mias Anna Blumstein, secretary-treasurer of the Metropolitan Slaughterers Assn., said yesterday the beef has piled up because of generally high meat prices in the metropolitan area.

Friends Say Truman Considering Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some congressional friends of President Truman said today he is seriously considering running for his old Senate seat when his present White House term expires.

"If Harry Truman does what he really wants to do he will run against (Republican) Senator Kern in the 1952 election," said one congressman who declined to be quoted by name. "He really loves the Senate."

Several recent White House callers have privately quoted the President as hinting he will not seek another term. They also say he talks longingly about returning to the Senate.

He will have served nearly eight years in the White House when his present term expires Jan. 20, 1953. Mr. Truman stepped up from the vice presidency April 12, 1945, after the sudden death of President Roosevelt.

No definite White House announcement about the President's personal plans is expected immediately. Most observers believe he will not make up his mind to run for another term before early next year and that his decision will be based in large part upon the condition of world affairs by then.

A constitutional amendment intended to limit terms of a future president may have been ratified by the necessary 36 states by then. Thirty-three have done so already. It would not apply to Mr. Truman but some of his

Wilson Goes On Air To Defend Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mobilization Boss Charles E. Wilson takes to the people tonight his contention that the nation's defense program is being run fairly and not, as organized labor leaders argue, that it favors big business.

Before that, the labor officials arranged a new conference to consider what to do about a peace gesture from Wilson—his suggestion that they pick one of their number to serve as one of the deputies in his office of Defense Mobilization (ODM).

Also up for discussion at this united labor policy committee (ULPC) session was the union officials' reaction to three days of conferences with economic stabilizer Eric Johnston. They have been trying to convince Johnston a proposed wage ceiling ten percent below the level of Jan. 15, 1950, is not high enough.

Johnston let it be known yesterday he has heard enough of the argument and will now go ahead and decide on his own whether to approve this formula or modify it. After a three-hour session with ULPC leaders, like Wilson himself heard "all their gripes" and learned a lot.

Johnston said he would spend the next few days assembling technical data on wages and prices, thus indicating his decision would be delayed at least until the weekend.

Wilson will broadcast over the major radio and television networks at 10:30 p. m. (EST) tonight on "The State of Mobilization."

Aides said in advance he would have something to say about the labor men who hurt her back and leg. She is 26.

The scrap started when Hilton, the hotel heir divorced recently by Evelyn Elizabeth Taylor, came over and spoke to her. She said there was some profanity and she didn't consider what Hilton was saying to be the apology he intended. Lt. James Patton of San Francisco, a bomber pilot based at El Paso, objected to Hilton's language and the fists, the model and the bar stools started flying.

Phillips May Build Sulphur Plants In Panhandle-WT Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Phillips Chemical Co. of Bartlesville, Okla., is prepared to build one or more sulphur producing plants in West Texas.

L. L. Jaquir of the company said this before a House subcommittee yesterday in a plea for increased production of the element.

"A considerable quantity of sulphur can be recovered from sour gas in West Texas, but its production at present prices would be uneconomical," he said. He said Phillips is prepared to build West Texas plants "provided it can be assured it will be allowed to utilize the sulphur produced in its own fertilizer operation."

He did not specify locations.

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth, said he has sent a telegram to Phillips concerning the proposed plants offering the facilities of Pampa.

Senator Kern expressed no surprise at the report that the President might decide to oppose him.

"I have no comment," Kern told a reporter. "I have not even decided yet whether I will be a candidate again."

Gov. Forrest Smith, a Democrat, also has been reported as eyeing Kern's seat.

Program For Europe Troops Gains Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman's plan to send more troops to Europe apparently gained strong support today in the Senate. Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee indicated he would back Chairman Connally (D-Texas) of the Foreign Relations Committee in a resolution which would endorse in advance any troop commitments Mr. Truman might make to North Atlantic defenses.

Russell told reporters he wanted some changes in the resolution but he hinted strongly he thought he and Connally could get together. He said he would wait until they reached a final agreement before making public the changes he proposed.

Connally expressed confidence an agreement would be reached. "It will be a bilateral resolution," he declared when reporters told him of Russell's attitude.

Harold Stassen, former Republican governor of Minnesota and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, was due to testify on the troops to Europe issue today.

The two committees are considering a resolution by Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska. This measure would seek to bar the President from sending troops to Europe until Congress has set out a policy on the question. Connally proposes to substitute his resolution for Wherry's.

He has proposed that it state simply that the success of the defense effort requires the assignment by North Atlantic Treaty members of troops to the European force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower but that the President should consult with congressional committees before making specific troop commitments.

Model Receives Injuries In Brawl

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Pretty Dorothy Rice of Dallas is due for X-rays today. She was an innocent bystander in the bar-room brawl starring Nick Hilton early Wednesday.

The model said she was shoved off a bar stool and hurt her back and leg. She is 26.

The scrap started when Hilton, the hotel heir divorced recently by Evelyn Elizabeth Taylor, came over and spoke to her. She said there was some profanity and she didn't consider what Hilton was saying to be the apology he intended. Lt. James Patton of San Francisco, a bomber pilot based at El Paso, objected to Hilton's language and the fists, the model and the bar stools started flying.

Un-American Activities Group Plans Second Filmland Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities is having another look at the movie industry.

Investigators were headed westward today with subpoenas reportedly bearing the names of 20 lesser Hollywood figures as tentative witnesses for hearings scheduled here March 21.

But committee sources said that while investigators are armed with subpoenas, they are also under instructions to determine whether any basis exists for a full-scale investigation like that conducted by the committee in 1947.

That investigation led to contempt citations and eventual jailing of a group of movie writers and directors, known as the "Hollywood Ten," for refusal to answer committee questions about communism.

While the subpoenas the committee issued are dated March 21, the hearing date is subject to change. It was also indicated the investigators' findings may influence the extent of the hearings or even if there will be any.

The present plans grew in part from the voluntary appearance of movie actor Edward G. Robinson before the committee last fall.

Testifying at his own request, Robinson vehemently denied published allegations he had associated with Communist front groups. Robinson said he wanted to "clear the record" of unjust charges before the committee.

While the committee report on Robinson's testimony contained no conclusions, Rep. Jackson (R-Calif.) a committee member protested what he called the committee's "clearance" action. It was not the committee's function to "clear" anyone, Jackson said.

Jackson, whose California district embraces Hollywood, said he thought the Robinson case should now be resolved "one way or another." He said the portrayal of movie tough-guy roles should be recalled "and confronted with whatever witnesses desire to appear."

Another committee member demanding a reopening of the Robinson case was Rep. Kearney (R-N.Y.). Kearney said he had two witnesses he wants called—one of them Larry Bayka, star of "The Jolson Story." He did not name the other.

Presbyterians To Hear Mrs. Moser At Monday Meetings

Mrs. Paul Moser, a leader in the Presbyterian Church, will speak in Pampa at the First Presbyterian Church at 2 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Feb. 26.

Mrs. Moser, a member of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, has just returned from Europe where she attended the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam. She also visited churches in Hungary and in Czechoslovakia observing the work of the American Churches Restoration Fund.

In 1946 Mrs. Moser circled the globe as a member of the deputation sent by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions to study post-war conditions in the Philippines and Thailand, and to help lay the groundwork for evangelical advance through restoration, rehabilitation and expansion. She said she feels that the findings made on the trip are of great importance to the Christian world.

To The Glory Of God

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. A young man with whom I had roomed at one time and remembered as a quiet and inoffensive roommate, later fell into evil company and came to a tragic end.

REV. WALKER

Cheated in a gambling game, smarting under the trickery and egged on by a vicious girl, he ambushed the man who had cheated him and shot him, coming literally within an inch of being a murderer, for the bullet just barely missed striking a fatal spot.

My former friend escaped with a long-term penitentiary sentence which he never fully served. He received bad reports concerning his wife, the girl in part, responsible for his crime; she had fallen into bad company. As a result, despair overcame his mind, already weakened by imprisonment, and one day he cried, "here's for glory," and then dove from a high railing to the prison courtyard below.

It was a sad earthly end for a young fellow who was something of a roughneck, but who, as I knew him, was capable of better things. I recall the tragic incident now for the fact that it was a poor sort of glory.

Other forms of assumed glory have been less associated with tragedy, but, apart from that, may have had little glory in them. What, therefore, actually is glory and what does it mean to glorify God, and to live in His glory?

What does the dictionary say? My dictionary has a whole list of states and qualities defining glory. It is "distinguished honor or ornament; exalted reputation; praise; splendor of state; the quality of being radiant; lustre; the bliss of heaven; a halo."

What does the Bible say? It is perhaps enough to say that the dictionary definitions seem to be derived chiefly from the Bible. In the glorifying of God almost all the dictionary definitions are present, but chief among them is the quality of honor.

To glorify God is to honor Him. And what does honoring God mean? I think it means very much in relation to God what honor means in the lesser things of life. In ordinary, mundane matters we speak of "honoring" a check, or a note, which implies that we accept full responsibility for it as ours. To honor God is to accept Him, to take His love and His will into our lives, to become responsible to Him for our character and ways.

Honoring God is something more than reverence or obedience. It is a false notion that represents God as a great potentate, sitting in gorgeous garments on a throne, ready to wreak His vengeance and authority upon His subjects, if they do not fall down and offer their abject devotion. The likeness of God to earthly sovereigns has been overdone. It is a false and misleading conception.

To glorify God is to accept Him and what He offers, and to become like Him in the creative life and acts of love and goodwill. "Here is my Father glorified," said Jesus, "that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be My disciples."

Railroading Is Exacting Job

Railroading is indeed a man's life... It's hard, exacting, but satisfying job. And no one knows this better than Mr. Ben E. Ben E. Nix keep going. For a while Mr. Nix didn't feel much like eating, and was just generally run-down. He had heard a lot about HADACOL, but just didn't quite believe it. Finally, he decided to give it a trial and was amazed at the results. He started feeling better after the first bottle and says he is going to continue taking HADACOL. Mr. Nix found that HADACOL contained Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron which his system lacked.

Here is Mr. Nix's own statement: "Sometimes ago a friend of mine recommended HADACOL very highly to me. At the beginning I was very much amused at the thought of HADACOL. However, I did decide to give it a fair trial, and to my amazement, it helped me greatly. I was run-down, tired and had no appetite. After the first bottle of HADACOL, I felt better. My appetite had picked up, and I really felt like eating at mealtime for the first time in a long time. I feel that the Vitamins and Minerals, which HADACOL contains, have built up my run-down condition, and I intend to continue using HADACOL."

Little Boy Henry Gets Put Into A New Yodeling Suit

By HENRY McLEMORE
MUNICH Some people think they have seen everything but they haven't. They weren't in a dressing room of Munich's leading department store yesterday when I tried on a complete Bavarian outfit.

It was cold outside, baby, with snow on the ground, but I got around here wear in the summer.

Wait until I spring this ensemble on Fifth Avenue next June or July. I am bound to get an offer—either from television or the zoo. Ed Wynn, in the zaniest costume he ever wore on the stage, never looked as silly as I did.

I was built for blue serge pants, the longer the better, not leather shorts. If the mirror wasn't lying those leather steps gave me the appearance of a barrel dressed up in half a dozen old footballs that had been tacked together at home, and not by loving hands.

The embroidered suspenders that held up the pants didn't look so bad. In fact, they might have been downright fetching on me if it hadn't been for the hat.

The one the clerk selected for me was about the size of the lower half of a medium sized double boiler, and not too far from that shape, either. I kept

Price Squeezes Rather Than Shortages To Hurt Clothing

NEW YORK — (AP) — Price squeezes rather than shortages are likely to be the trouble spots in the clothing industry this year, according to men's wear industry leaders.

They expect sales to be good this spring, having enjoyed one of their best January on record. Costs are going up, however, and prices will have to follow, suit makers insist.

Some of them would be happier if the military forces would use blends of wool and synthetic fibers to help spread the available wool around for civilian needs. They contend the blends are just as serviceable.

Federal curbs on men's clothing seem unlikely before fall at the earliest, because the military clothing needs have been met so far without them, members of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers are assured at their annual meeting here.

But a year from this spring men's wool suits will cost a third more than now, the retailers are warned by the president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers.

Suit makers, meanwhile, report that there is an increase in the use of fabrics that contain synthetic fibers. Record prices of wool spark the trend, but another factor is the development of new man-made fibers. This coming fall the clothing industry expects to test one of the latest — orlon.

Pastor Lists Happiness Aid

The Pampa Lions Club Thursday heard Rev. H. H. Tyler, pastor of the First Christian Church, give a four-point program outlining "what a man needs to be happy."

Rev. Tyler listed: (a) a job; (b) a happy home; (c) learning to play; (d) learning to worship as the four points needed to make a man happy.

Miss Ann Sidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sidwell, 908 N. Gray, was presented a corsage by club president Ham Luna. Miss Sidwell has been the Lions Club sweetheart for the month of February.

Frank Wilson and Bunny Shultz were present for the meeting to inform the Lions about the annual Kiwanis benefit show to be held next Monday and Tuesday nights at the Junior High School Auditorium.

20-30 Meet Is Due Here

Pampa was named site for the 20-30 International Sub-district Council meeting to be held March 10 and 11.

The Schneider Hotel will be headquarters for the convention.

Representatives from the West Texas District and the international trustee area will include Rupe Lawing, president of 20-30 International, San Bernardino, Calif.; George Graziado, international vice president, Englewood, Calif.; Chris Furneaux, international trustee, Hobbs, N. M.; World Council Delegate, Joe Bonafield, Hobbs; District Governor, Charles Nelson, Lubbock; District Lieutenant Governor, Barry Kay, Amarillo.

Kay will serve as presiding officer for the convention.

Fourteen Texas cities will be represented.

Scalping Picture Returned To Room

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The painting of an Indian scalping man has been returned to its old place on the wall of the House Interior Affairs Committee room.

Former Rep. Peterson (D-Fla.) had it taken down last year after Charley Grounds, a Seminole Indian attorney from Oklahoma, protested it was in bad taste and offended every Indian who entered the room.

Rep. Murdock (D-Ariz.), the new committee chairman, had it put back. It was one of a set painted by Maj. Gen. S. Richardson nearly a century ago, Murdock told a reporter, and he thought they should all be hung together.

Well! Wonders Never Cease

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — Suburban Southport High School reopened its doors today to pupils who begged that cancelled classes be restored.

The school had been closed temporarily because muddy roads stalled school buses. The youngsters told trustee Nelson B. Swift they would get there on their own if he would agree to reopen the school.

Why were they so eager? Well, Southport will play Indianapolis Washington High tonight in sectional play of the state basketball tournament, and Southport kids wanted to put on a pep meeting.

Since the time of Adam, the earth has moved along through space about 225,000,000 miles from where it was at that time.

Sebald Leaves For Washington Meeting

TOKYO — (AP) — Ambassador William J. Sebald, General MacArthur's political advisor, left tonight for three weeks of conferences in Washington.

At Honolulu, Sebald will join John Foster Dulles, special presidential adviser, and accompany Dulles' party to Washington. Dulles and his group recently visited Japan, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines for conferences on an early Japanese peace settlement.

Sebald said his trip had "no particular significance at this time."

Investigators Probe Sheppard Air Field

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — Two investigators for the Senate Military Preparedness Subcommittee say a detailed report of their findings at Sheppard Air Force Base near here will be released by Senator Lyndon Johnson.

The two, Joe W. Sheehy, a Tyler attorney, and Eugene Diffieffer, assistant vice president of a Dallas bank, finished a three-day manpower probe yesterday.

Models Sell Pies To Pay For Party

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — Wilbur Jensen, 76, who is deaf and dumb, thought he was going to take a $100 loss on some chicken and apple pies he bought for a party. He'd planned a party for at least 100 deaf and dumb persons, hoping to organize a club. But only 10 showed up.

A group of teen-age models who had volunteered to stage a fashion show for the affair saved him half the loss. They sold $50 worth of leftover pies door to door the next day. Jensen and his neighbors went on a pie diet to consume the rest.

Scheduled Bout With Amarillo Cancelled

A bout scheduled here Saturday night between Pampa's Boys Club boxing team and a combined Amarillo club has been cancelled. The Pampa punchers' next fight is with the potent Shamrock gloves here Saturday night, Mar. 3.

The Irish mitters edged the Pampa District gloves for a team trophy at the Amarillo Regional Golden Gloves Tournament, 22-21. Since that time, the local beak-busters have battled the Irish at Shamrock to a seven-seven tie. But teams have some powerful glove swingers in their camp.

Coch H. W. Callan handles the Shamrock crew, and Coach T. J. Watt is Pampa's mentor.

Something That We Need To Do

It is time for the United States and the West to make up their minds more clearly about what they will do to defend Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Iran from Communist attack.

The loss to the Reds of any of these nations would endanger the military position of all the others, since would open them to flanking maneuvers. More than that, such a loss would imperil western Europe for the same reason.

There is no dispute among military men on these points. The only question is: What shall we do about it?

For weeks and months efforts have been under way to weave Greece and Turkey into the West's defensive system in some fashion. Some men have urged creation of a Mediterranean pact to supplement the Atlantic pact.

Others believe the two countries should be woven into the latter treaty. The Turks themselves are said to favor being made a signatory to the Atlantic Pact.

They back on the fundamental military fact that the defense of western Europe and the Near East cannot be fairly separated. The British oppose this on the ground that widening the Atlantic Pact means widening the "area of conflict."

This is hardly realistic talk, however, since the potential area of battle already extends from Norway across Europe to Iran.

Accepting Greece and Turkey into the existing treaty would have several beneficial effects. It would beef up the European defense forces with 1,000,000 tough Turks and 500,000 tough Greeks, men who are sure to fight stubbornly.

If Yugoslavia were not itself communist, the same arguments could be made for bringing it into the pact. Its 500,000-man fighting force is unquestionably the only real anti-Soviet army now in being in Europe.

The West knows it can use that strength, and that it will suffer if Marshal Tito is crushed by Russia and its satellites. Therefore, even though Yugoslavia can't be brought into the Atlantic Pact for political reasons, militarily it merits consideration as a virtual member.

Fair Enough-Pegler

I think you would like to become acquainted with Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of New York, the director of the American Jewish League Against Communism who has suffered much for his opposition to creeping treason which became systematic in our government under Roosevelt.

Rabbi Schultz was stoned in the market a few years ago for a series of articles against the silent sedition. It was he who conducted the funeral of Ben Stolberg, when that gay little scrapper died of a heart attack in the old Chelsea Hotel.

Only a few weeks before we had lost Jim McGuinness the same way. And now, along toward five on a Sunday afternoon, Dr. E. B. Matthews called and said: "Ruthie, his wife, had hurried over to the Chelsea in response to a feeble call from Ben. Ben was in terrible pain and choking. I raised Doctor Tom to get an ambulance, but all this took minutes and Doctor Case, who got there just ahead of the intern, barely caught the last flutters of little Benny's heart."

Now what to do? Was Benny a religious Jew?

Rabbi Schultz said, yes. Ben told him not long before that he believed religious faith was important. If the world was to be saved from the Communists the people must practice religion. He told Rabbi Schultz that if he were not so old and set in his ways even he would again join a temple.

Doctor Schultz said there were a few minimal practices without which no Jew could be committed to the earth and so little Benny went to his rest after brief exercises in which the Rabbi and George Sokolsky, a powerful threnodist, brought many one of a mixed and outwardly secular company to tears and some even to sob.

There are several anti-Jewish movements, mostly petty paper fronts with interlocking membership, a device that makes a few seem a lot. Without exception they try to identify Jewishness with communism. Some Communist dodges use a variety of terms to make people believe that they are genuinely Jewish. The purpose is to seduce Jews into Communist traps and to arouse anti-Jewish feeling among Gentiles. They do a fairly effective job. In this strange way, these enemies plug each other's racket and keep a little kettle at a kicking boil.

Rabbi Schultz's American Jewish League Against Communism has a little office at 220 West 42nd Street. It is just an office on the flea-circus stretch of the old run-down Rialto. Rabbi Schultz works in the open for proclaimed purposes. Alfred Nimitz, a Jew who fights the Communists with exuberant gusto, is one of the patrons of the Rabbi's league. Mr. Kohlberg is a textile merchant who has traded long in the Orient and clear resolve to prevent that happening.

Uncertainty makes for war. An aggressive nation which doesn't know another country's attitude makes assumptions about it. If they're wrong, war results. We should make crystal clear to Russia what we would do in the event of any move by Communists to seduce Jews against Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Iran. That certainty of our intentions may convince Russia that peace is the wiser course.

mediate comment after the Labor Policy groups statement was issued. Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston's office let it be known he would have a stab at this action. This was to give everyone concerned a chance to cool off. Whether or not the walkout of the three labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board is a temporary spite spat or the warning of a complete divorce remains to be seen. The three labor members are, or were, Harry C. Bates of the Bricklayers, Emil Rieve of the Textile Workers, Elmer Walker of the Machinists. They walked out in protest against the 10 percent plus fringe wage increase formula, which they don't go back to the administration can try to find other representatives to sit with the three business and the three public representatives. Or, the President may try to run wage stabilization with public representatives only. The labor would require an amendment to the Defense Production Act.

What public reaction will be to this latest breakdown in the stabilization program is uncertain. There are two possibilities. One is that the walkout of the labor representatives will be regarded as a strike. It is defiance of government. Regardless of the merits of the union leaders' grievances, this refusal to cooperate on the government stabilization program could backfire against all organized labor. The situation is comparable to what happened when the railroad yardmen played sick. The trainmen had a labor dispute that had gone two years unsettled. Yet when they called attention to their grievance in means that inconvenienced the entire public and interfered with defense production, the reaction

This column has been publishing questions intended to ascertain whether tax supported schools are in agreement with the moral principles of the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence that Assamlyman Earl Stanley agreed to answer or get someone to answer.

But the very crux of the questions he did not answer. This question left blank: "Has one person a moral right to initiate force against another to make him pay for the first's idea of education?"

Mr. Stanley, nor any believer in tax supported schools, dare attempt to answer that question. All believers in tax supported schools have to become masters at evasion if they ever attempt to answer certain questions. A man professing to be an American and at least giving lip service to believing in Christian ethics would not dare say that one person has a moral right to initiate force against another to make him pay for the first's idea of education. That is the crux of the whole public school question. That is the crux of the American way of life is based on the idea that each and every man is free—that no man is good enough or wise enough or noble enough to have a moral right to use compulsion on another individual for creative purposes. So the man who lives in America and professes to be an American dare not say that he or anyone else has a moral right to initiate force or use compulsion against another man to make him pay for the first's idea of education. If he said he did have such a moral right, then of course he could not tell the difference between his ideas of morality or government than those of Joseph Stalin or any tyrant or dictator, other than degree.

And of course if he once admits that he or no other individual has a moral right to initiate force against another to make him pay for the first's idea of education then he faces a dilemma on other questions. He dare not say that two people doing a thing that is immoral for an individual to do makes it moral. He cannot tell how many people it takes to do a thing that is immoral for an individual to do to make it moral. So the defender of tax supported schools and the man who will not accept the moral principles of the Ten Commandments or the Golden Rule as a standard to determine right from wrong is to simply refuse to answer that question that makes him uncomfortable and that shows that he is a law unto himself and that he thinks he is infallible and so smart and so noble and so just—in fact seems to think he is God Almighty. Such men have to determine right from wrong by their own changeable whims and fancies. Whatever they say is right because they say so.

Assemblyman Stanley had these questions for two months, and the crux of the questions he refused to answer and others he completely evaded. He, nor no one else can define stealing according to the Eighth Commandment (the Seventh Bible) that does not make tax supported schools a violation of this commandment. Mr. Stanley dodges this by giving a definition of stealing according to civil or man-made laws. But if an act is stealing according to the Eighth Commandment, it is morally stealing whether the government or the majority or one individual commits the act.

I heard that these questions were presented to a preacher to answer. He wouldn't undertake it. Undoubtedly someone on the state board of education to the question these evasive replies, but he was so ashamed that he wouldn't let his name be used. Of course, Mr. Stanley has voted millions of dollars to the state board of education and they felt under great obligation to do anything that Mr. Stanley requested them to do.

Of course it is difficult to write questions which have evasive methods the answer is going to use. It takes three questions to show a contradiction. If the answer can evade and the questioner can't ask the second and third question to show the contradiction, the answer can better save face. Undoubtedly these people who are on the state payroll well know the answer to the questioner's contradiction if they ever got in a position where they would be obliged to answer questions as they would have to before a court. That is undoubtedly the reason that no member of the board of education or no school teacher will for $100.00 attempt to answer questions as they would before a court. That is undoubtedly the reason Mr. Stanley needs to mail him the questions and did not say that he would answer them one by one as asked.

I will be glad to give Assemblyman Earl Stanley $100.00 if he will agree to answer the questions as he would have to before a court. He still contends that these questions can be answered. It seems to me that the only way to get the big man in mobilization. When the rug was pulled from under Mr. Symington and C. E. Wilson was made head man, the union representation was left powerless.

A similar advisory body was set up on manpower problems when Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin was to head up this program. When Mr. Wilson appointed Dr. Arthur Flemming as his own manpower director, the union advisers were left with nothing to do.

The soap thrown to the unions in the appointment of George M. Harrison of the Railway Clerks as a part-time adviser to Eric Johnston was considered insubstantial.

Organized labor leaders were represented on the advisory council of National Security Resources Board when it looked as though Stuart Cunningham would

Your Favorite Gals

By DAVID BAXTER

I notice George Gallup's alleged poll has galloped away with another cross section of American public opinion, which is supposed to include yours and mine. This time, the poll was for the selection of the six women most admired by the American people for 1950. Their pictures appeared on page one of the Los Angeles TIMES.

Frankly, I'm a little surprised at the rest of you good folks. Looks like you picked Eleanor Roosevelt as the woman most admired by Americans. There was her picture, big as life, staring at us from the paper. I showed it around to the folks in the newspaper office and in a few seconds everyone had disappeared. One of the girls ran out for a breath of fresh air, the newspaper sometimes being a little stuffy sometimes. The trouble sometimes, I guess, anyway, was one of those doors leading to the press room. The city editor crawled under his desk. Probably dropped a pencil or something. I don't get it at all. Here I was holding the picture of America's most admired woman and everyone left me alone with it. I said, "the heck with it," and went out and washed my hands with borax.

The second choice was Sister Elizabeth Kenny. Gallup dumped her in between Eleanor and Madam Chiang Kai-shek, who was third. I felt sorry for Sister Kenny, whom I greatly admire. After that came Clare Boothe Luce, fourth, and since she was old Barney Baruch's "protege" I could understand her having been "selected." Fifth place went to a really remarkable woman, Helen Keller, while Maine's Nade-Eeling "Republican" senator, Margaret Chase Smith—one of the Smith girls—ran sixth. Aside from Sister Kenny and Helen Keller, who were probably included for window dressing, it was as neat a galaxy of Nade-Eelers as you can imagine.

Oh yes, after the first six came Mrs. Truman, whom I always applaud, and who do you suppose came right along with her? Why, who else but that great, noble "patriot" now assistant in charge of our defense, the lady who has distinguished herself by the number of Red Fronts she has belonged to and articles she has written for the Communist NEWS-MASSES—The one and only Anna Rosenberg.

There are the gals Dr. Gallup says you admire most among women folks. I'm not commenting on what I think of your choice except to remark that I can easily understand why we headed for a dictatorship. A majority of people who voted for some of the big sisters mentioned are obviously incompetent to govern themselves and are in need of someone to think for them and plan their lives. That is logical conclusion because most of these women represent that vice.

I don't know where Doc Gallup does his polling since I've never met anyone whose opinion was sought in one of these supposedly nation-wide surveys. Gallup had Dewey's good as elected president at the last national election and I'm wondering where Eleanor Roosevelt picked up all those popularity votes. She went to California not long ago to help her child Jimmy get elected Governor and Helen Gahagan Douglas for Senator. California has an almost two to one Democratic majority. For some reason, though, the Californians didn't admire Eleanor enough to elect her candidates but, instead, ganged up on them and snatched them under such an avalanche of votes that nothing has been seen or heard of them since. Oh yes, by the way, Helen Douglas was high on Doc Gallup's list of most admired women, too. There wasn't a word about ladies like Vivian Kellems, who took on all the Nade-Eelers in the country and knocked the wind out of them in a court fight, or Hester McCullough, who, almost without means, fought a game battle against the Red Front, which was cheering for a couple of lefties trying to make a horrible example of Hester—and other real Americans like her.

Come to think of it, I wonder what a cross section of readers of this column—its friends and its critics—would do in a pool. I'd like to pick six women you admire and are willing to write down and send them to me, along with your comments, if any. I'll publish the winners and the best comments on them. I'd like to know just how accurate Gallup is.

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The oil magnates of the United States, ironically, show a far keener realization of the strategic importance of the vast Middle East in this conflict with Stalin than the professional diplomats at Washington and London.

With their British associates, private petroleum interests are waging almost a lone battle to prevent Moscow from overrunning these areas and laying hands on the oil so essential to Russian power in any World War III.

In the opinion of almost every military expert, the Soviet will not dare to provoke a global conflict until after it gains control of these rich resources, extending from the Black Sea to the Persian Gulf.

They must first conquer Iran, Iraq and Saudi Arabia for the simple reason that they do not have enough oil within their own boundaries for a long, all-out war.

This was Hitler's main handicap. He was doomed, when his Berlin-to-Bagdad campaign failed.

BLUEPRINT — This region, which also provides a land bridge between the European and Indian continents, ranks second to China, Korea and Indo-China on Stalin's schedule of world conquest, according to world intelligence experts. They have seen copies of this blueprint.

But the dictator has outlined different strategy and tactics for these two pushes. He plans to take over the Far East through actual military operations waged by such satellites as Mao Tse-tung. But he expects to win the Middle East by internal, revolutionary uprisings.

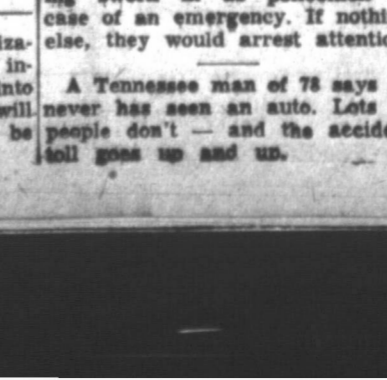

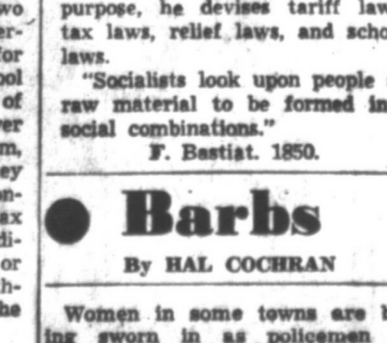

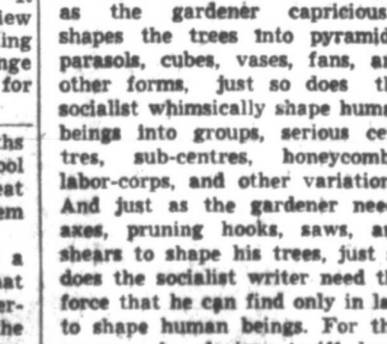

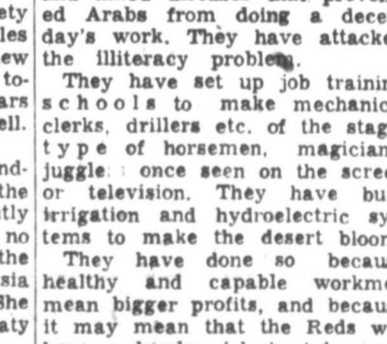

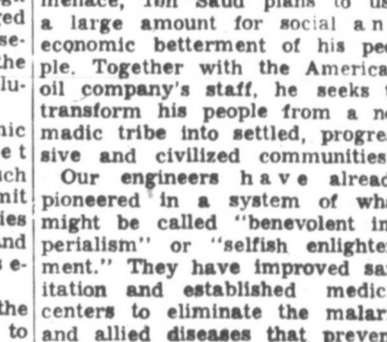

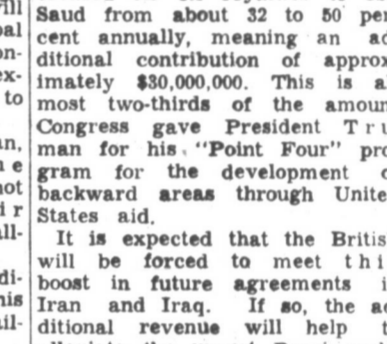

He counts on the economic misery of the natives to let him walk through without much opposition. Success would permit him to reserve his own armies for the use in the Far East and western Europe, possibly elsewhere.

Naturally, he wants the United States and Britain to center their interest and anxiety in those areas, while he gambles the rest to us. In view of our seeming indifference toward this threat, Stalin appears to be succeeding only too well.

UNFRIENDLY — Once a friendly ally, even though under the Big guns, Iran has recently become our enemy. She no longer permits State to pitch the Voice of America into Russia through her radio stations. She has negotiated a trade treaty with Moscow.

Most threatening of all, she has rejected a recent British bid for renewal of an important oil concession. She is listening to Kremlin suggestions that Iran nationalize her oil resources, and to the further proposal that Russian experts and engineers be permitted to supervise the industry if and when it is taken over by the government.

Behind these unfriendly moves lies Washington's unexplainable delay in approving a $25,000,000 loan to the Shah's regime. It is only "chicken feed," in view of the billions we are spending elsewhere, but for some strange reason it has been stalled for many months.

Pampa, Texas February 21, 1951

To the Editor

May The Pampa News be long remembered for the prominent space conceded to Westbrook Pegler on its editorial page. His column of February 20th ran true to form — full of punchy goodness, strong language, even at risk of the indelicacy of a few cuss-words here and there on the menaces that threaten our future.

Diplomacy is one thing — hypocrisy, another. But honest words fall sweeter far. Unlike so many fickle writers, he sticks to his convictions and is always for the underdog as evidenced by his prideful mention of Franco's Spain in the clean whitewash of all Communist infiltration without the lend-lease of so much as a crust of bread. The recent malicious attack that came from Look Magazine on the much-maligned Spaniards by our political ring had nothing to add in behalf of this brave service.

Why cannot these other unfortunate countries defend themselves against the enemy with the crying need of armament our leaders have in power to lend them in lieu of the billions the Roosevelt regime lent Russia for the mess we are now in?

Does the destiny of our country hang on the decisions of Truman who defies Congress and refuses to submit his program for approval by those in whom he is not so well pleased as he is his side kick, Dean Acheson? And with all respect to our generals who are doing a fine job, there are many great military strategists whose names go unmentioned that warn sending foot soldiers to foreign lands a national suicide — but beg giving them all other aid, arms, airbases, navy and building up a standing army on our own home grounds. Is this isolationism?

Thus far 50,000 of our young men have been sent to an unholy slaughter because some idiot arbitrarily drew a line across a wide peninsula called the 38th parallel somewhere in Korea. A poll of the soldiers who have been sent there and who are to be shipped have no stomach for Truman's war in Korea but are ready to defend their own homes and families from an invader. Must we throw more fodder into the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial? Please No.

Again a salute to your fair-minded editor and who are to be enough paper and your fair-minded editorial items. Yours sincerely, Christine Arnold 927 East Fisher

SPECK SPECULATES

The Pampa Chiefs will get a hearing from the AAU Committee in Amarillo Monday, Manager Jim Arndt said Thursday.

The committee held off until Monday is not more than I can understand. Monday is the last day an AAU quietest can enter the Amarillo cage meet.

The Chiefs will have tough sledding if they get in the tournament. The local crew hasn't had a workout since the game with Halliburton Cementers.

I'm going to take in the Monday hearing. If we lose our case, I'll be a good sport about the whole thing. I won't disgrace Pampa. All I'm going to ask is for the committee to kick out every team planning to enter the meet.

I see where Jerry Sheridan of the Amarillo Times says Coach Cliff McNeely plans to win from the Sandies next season even if he doesn't win another game all year.

It's getting to a point where beating Amarillo isn't much of a task. Coach McNeely can win both games with the Sandstrom next year with this type of game.

Grab a two-point lead at the start, control the tip at the start of each quarter, and then go into a freeze. Hull will send his troops under their own bucket.

Jimmy Hayes is gradually eating his way into a line position. The 1950 All-District halfback has been putting on the pounds and he's beginning to look like good tackle material.

...I look for Charles Ely to make the Harvesters at top-notch halfback this coming season. Ely hits the line like a tank when he takes a handoff from Cudney, and he has speed to go with his weight.

Manager Grover Seliz of the Pampa Oilers added two pitchers to the local baseball camp Thursday.

The Oilers bought Lefty Matthews outright, and bought Red Dial on condition. The two hurlers pitched better than 500 percent ball last year with a Class B tail-end ball club.

Matthews was with Clovis in 1948-49. He notched 16 straight victories with the Clovis team. Matthews was with Sherman, a Class B club, last year.

Jimmy King cannot 18 points in leading Culberson past McLean at the Miami Independent cage tourney Thursday night. The local cagers routed McLean, 57-27.

Westerners Crack Thomas Jefferson In Class AA Tilt

By WILBUR MARTIN

Highland Park of Dallas last night joined Borger in the Class AA state tournament and tonight four other places could be filled.

The Scots beat Sherman, 45-43, for the second straight time in their best two of three games series.

Borger earlier this week knocked off Childress to gain the state's meager last night and so did the Region Three and Four Class B tournaments.

The Region Six Class A tournament starts today, with other meets in this division and in Class B getting underway either today or tomorrow.

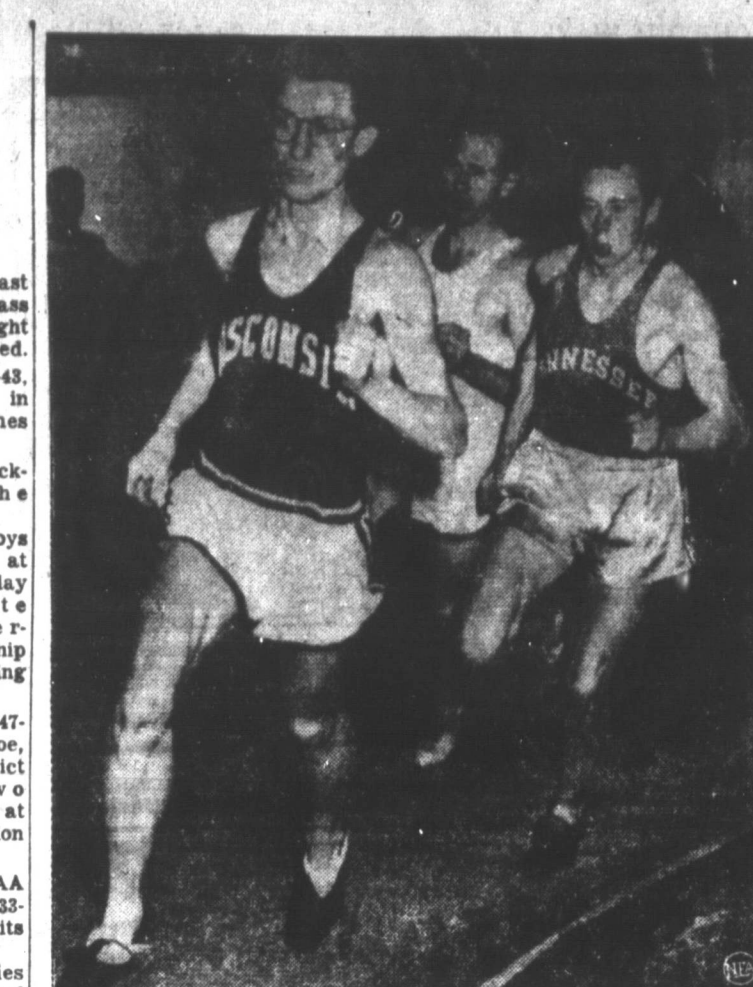

Canyon, defending Class A champion, didn't win its district, but finished second and won a spot in the Region One Class A tournament.

Corpus Christi, the Class AA champion, and Gruver, winner in Class B, were eliminated in district play.

City Conference teams—schools from Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and Houston—compete in their own tournament at Dallas the second week in March.

Lefors Boxers Test Panhandle

Lefors boxing team meets Panhandle's clouters at 8 o'clock tonight in the Lefors High School gym. Coach Robert Callan said there would be 15 bouts.

Lefors' fighters scheduled for action are James Warner, Jerry Herring, J. D. Redus, Cecil Sander, Darwin Teeters, Eddie Clemmons, Bob Mayberry, David Bronner, Carol Welch, Fred Blackwell, Don Maples, Charles Lane, Johnny Qualls and Bob Newson.

Friday Todd and Don Rice, two Lefors open clouters, are set for action if Panhandle has two boxers in their weight class.

Steers Engage Bears In Loop Tilt Tonight

Texas tackles Baylor and Texas Christian meets Southern Methodist tonight in last ditch efforts to stay in the running for the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

Texas A&M is out in front and favored to stay there the rest of the waning season. Texas and Texas Christian were dumped from a share of the lead earlier this week by Arkansas and Baylor respectively.

Tomorrow night Rice catches A&M at Houston and if the Owls upset the Aggies—and Texas and Texas Christian win tonight—the race could be tied up again.

Harvesters Close Out Basketball Season With 23-5 Cage Record; Local Hoopsters Hit Basket for 1295 Markers

In finishing the season with a 23-5 record, the Harvesters round-batters notched 1295 points on 497 field goals and 337 free shots. The McNeelymen closed out the season with a 48.2 per game scoring average and checked the opposition to 1035 points for a 38.9 points per game.

Only one team halted the Harvesters on their home court, and that club was the Borger Bulldogs who annexed the District I-AA cage title. The Harvesters lost their five decisions by a total of 16 points. Borger measured the Pampans by six and five points. Fort Arthur and the Lubbock Westerners each handed the local quintet a two-point loss, and Guyton, Okla., tripped Pampa by one point.

James Claunch was the high scorer for the Harvesters. The Pampa sentinel cracked the nets for 100 field goals and 85 free shots in 27 games. Marvin Bond, junior forward, was second in scoring with 247 points. Duane Jeter crammed in 217 tallies for third place. Buzz Tarpley meshed 155 points for fourth place honors, and Tommy Smith garnered fifth place with 147 markers.

Coach Cliff McNeely's Green and Gold hoopsters had winning streaks of four, five, six, four and four in their game route. The Harvesters only lost two decisions in a row, Borger and Guyton did the damage.

Sports Round-Up

By WILL GRIMBLEY (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

NEW YORK — (AP) — "I'm glad I lived a few years before 1918. There were some pretty decent years back then."

The speaker was a Howard Cann, robust, graying coach of the New York University basketball team. Like thousands of others closely associated with the sport he was groping for an answer—just any answer—to the nagging basketball scandal.

What would make eight young college boys from good families succumb to the soft talk and easy money of Brostoff's surething operators? "It must be the times—the unsettled times. That's the only way I can figure it," Cann said. "Everything in our society seems all upset and cockeyed right now."

"Maybe it isn't any wonder that youngsters could be so easily tempted." Cann didn't say so specifically but his inference seemed plain enough: The moral fiber of our nation is threatened by a new set of standards—the lust for an easy buck, the "what's-in-it-for-me" philosophy.

This hardening of our idealities is not general, we trust. But there is a creeping paralysis that needs to be knifed before it takes a firm hold on our sinews. Asa Bushnell, Commissioner of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, expressed something of the same view when he told New York basketball writers this week: "Maybe there's too much cynicism and not enough idealism in our athletics today."

"These always will be fixers and fixees as long as human nature is what it is," Bushnell added. In any large scale offensive to inject some old-fashioned idealism into our national big-o-d stream the colleges themselves have not only the opportunity but the obligation to lead the way.

College athletic policies hardly would stand up under microscopic scrutiny in this day of 80,000-seat stadia, bowl games and large-city arenas. Football talent is bought on the open market. The bidding is known to be a high-financed, cut-throat proposition in many cases.

In locker room sessions you hear talk of lavish paychecks over and above scholarship fees. You hear talk of automobiles and dozens of illored suits used as bait to lure a phantom-hunted halfback away from a rival school. In 1949 the nation's colleges sought to regulate recruiting practices by adopting the sane code. The code was intended to prevent college football on a simon-pure basis by restricting financial aid to athletes.

The colleges themselves decided the code was sheer hypocrisy. They couldn't enforce it. Last month the code was shelved at a meeting in Dallas. The colleges decided, in effect, to continue giving athletes all the help they needed and make it above-board.

The strain of bigtime football became so intense during the past season several coaches—Blair Cherry of Texas, Jeff Cravath of Southern California and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, to mention three—said they'd had enough. It's hard for the "die-for-dear-old-Siwah" spirit to breathe in a clouded atmosphere like this.

Current Cage Sports Scandal Reaches Back Into Last Year

NEW YORK — (AP) — The college basketball "fix" probe has spread to all New York teams which played games last year in Madison Square Garden.

The current sports scandal reached back into last season when, newspapers reported, police had wiretap recordings of a last-year fix.

The newspapers said all the evidence involving local teams was ordered withheld by an unidentified high official.

Former Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien entered a general denial of the reports. Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy, while saying he had no information that such evidence existed, has ordered a search of police files. The commissioner said:

"I don't know that we'll get them," Haney told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal yesterday. "But we're trying."

It would be the first appearance of Negroes in organized baseball in Texas. Milton Price, president of the league, said he did not know of Haney's plans. "But that's up to the individual clubs," he said.

Haney said he is dickering with Joe Cambria, scout for the Washington Senators of the American League. Haney said he told Cambria that he is eager to experiment with Negro players in Texas and that he'd take two but not one, and both must be good.

"I'm willing to try an experiment," he said. "Those Negroes can play ball and it's coming in Texas. I dropped my opposition to them when I played with and against them in service ball."

Haney said the Cuban Negroes speak only Spanish. He said he needs some good material. "The veterans are sticking us up, knowing that good players are hard to get," Haney said. Cy Fausett, owner of the Albuquerque club in the West Texas-New Mexico League, said he planned to visit the Oakland Oaks training camp next week and that there are several good Negro prospects on the Oak roster.

"If a man has the ability, I'll use him regardless of race, color or creed," he said. They'd had enough. It's hard for the "die-for-dear-old-Siwah" spirit to breathe in a clouded atmosphere like this.

Negro Baseballers May Be On Lamesa Roster This Year

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Jay Haney, manager of Lamesa in the Class C West Texas-New Mexico League, says he is negotiating for two Cuban Negro players.

"I don't know that we'll get them," Haney told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal yesterday. "But we're trying."

It would be the first appearance of Negroes in organized baseball in Texas. Milton Price, president of the league, said he did not know of Haney's plans.

"But that's up to the individual clubs," he said. Haney said he is dickering with Joe Cambria, scout for the Washington Senators of the American League. Haney said he told Cambria that he is eager to experiment with Negro players in Texas and that he'd take two but not one, and both must be good.

"I'm willing to try an experiment," he said. "Those Negroes can play ball and it's coming in Texas. I dropped my opposition to them when I played with and against them in service ball."

Haney said the Cuban Negroes speak only Spanish. He said he needs some good material. "The veterans are sticking us up, knowing that good players are hard to get," Haney said. Cy Fausett, owner of the Albuquerque club in the West Texas-New Mexico League, said he planned to visit the Oakland Oaks training camp next week and that there are several good Negro prospects on the Oak roster.

Gard is also charged with acting as a go-between for the alleged bribes of the fix, Salvatore E. Solazzo.

The district attorney said he questioned Gard about any others who might have been mixed up in the scandal. Hogan declined to say what progress, if any, resulted from the questioning. He added that the inquiry was "far from complete."

As a result of the New York investigation some half dozen other schools throughout the nation have pulled their teams out of further Garden competition.

In a radio address last night, Commissioner Murphy praised the progress of the fix inquiry and assured out-of-town teams there would be no relaxation in police vigilance against future fix attempts.

Offering "a special word" to the mothers and fathers and friends of college athletes whose teams play in New York in the future, Murphy said: "Let me assure them that New York is a city we are proud of, and we propose to maintain it in the best interests of those we welcome as visitors and our own citizens alike."

The New York City Grand Jury, which started sifting fix evidence Wednesday, is expected to take about a week or 10 days before deciding what charges might be made against eight accused college athletes and Solazzo.

Accused in the fix case, besides Solazzo and Gard are CCNY players Ed Warner, Ed Roman and Al Roth. LIU stars Leroy Smith, Adolph Bigos and Sherman White, and NYU player Harvey (Connie) Schaff.

As other basketball bribe attempts were reported around the country, the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee indicated it might look into basketball fixes but said no extensive study was planned. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, pointed out in Washington yesterday that the committee officially goes out of business March 31.

The New York probe, he said, "is in mighty good hands"—referring to the conduct of Hogan's investigation. Kefauver said the committee may consider the basketball situation when it resumes its crime hearings in New York City next month. The committee first began making inquiries on basketball betting pools throughout the country about three months ago.

API Dance Set Tonight

The Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute opens its annual dance tonight at 9 o'clock. The affair will be held at the Clover Club, formerly the Southern Club, with the Melo-Aires dance orchestra playing.

The organization, representing all phases of business in Pampa, in addition to the oil industry, is laying groundwork for retention of the 27 1-2 percent depletion allowance and the dance culminates a drive for membership. The organization believes a large membership in the Panhandle chapter along with increased membership over the nation can more successfully combat the administration's attempt to cut the depletion allowance from 27 1-2 percent to as much as 15 percent. The oilmen contend this income tax consideration is vital for the continuance of the life of the older fields such as the Panhandle. They insist also, development of new fields to replace those whose oil resources are depleted, would be impossible without the allowance.

Rotary Club Is 46 Years Old

FRED NESLAGE

To commemorate the 46th anniversary of Rotary International, the Pampa club's president, Fred Neslage, will go on the air at 9:35 p. m. today over KPND. Neslage will be interviewed by Coy Palmer, manager of KPND, and also a Rotarian, on the history of the organization, how and where it got its start, and some of its major accomplishments. One of the international organization's biggest projects, the overseas fellowship foundation, will be one of the main topics of the program. Also included will be the projects started and completed in Pampa on the local plane, how the Pampa club is aiding Boys Ranch, and other outstanding features of Rotary.

Membership subscriptions and tickets for the dance are a different matter. The subscriptions and tickets can be obtained from any member of the board of directors of the API or from Fred Neslage, chairman of the organization, who has offices in the Combs-Worley Building.

Ballet Group Well-Received By Pampans

Ballet, the first-born of classic dances, was presented to members of the Community Concert Assn. last night in the junior high school auditorium. Mia Slavenska and her Ballet Variante were received with high acclaim by this audience. Especially did the concert-goers of Pampa enjoy the last two selections of the performance, which were spirituals and a depiction of a Sunday afternoon in a western settlement.

These, unlike the rest of the program which was based on classics, had as their theme American modern dance. The program opened with Pas de Quatre, featuring the four ballerinas, Slavenska, Shirley Weaver, Sally Seven and Naomi Boneck.

Miss Boneck, dark, small and very young, was almost the scenerist in this selection, although the other three danced themselves into the hearts of the audience in this opening number.

This first number was substituted for "The Little Dancer," which was to feature Anna Istomina, who was unable to dance in this concert.

"The Nutcracker Suite," danced by the entire company, was in most its parts a piece of beauty seldom seen on a small city stage. The Snow Queen duet, danced by Shirley Weaver and Marvin Krauter, was an example of classic ballet in its finest form. Mme. Slavenska danced "The Sugar Plum Fairy" with all the grace and lightness that is shown in Tchaikovsky's music.

Color and fire of Spain was shown in the duet by Slavenska and Royes Fernandez in the Don Quixote ballet.

Actually setting the mood for the western number, Miss Seven, Miss Weaver and Mr. Krauter portrayed five spirituals.

A comedy, a story of love and a story of the old West, were all included in the final number of the performance.

This was the second performance of Slavenska and her troupe in Pampa and, according to the reception they received from the Pampa audience, it may not be the last.

Duo-pianists, Henrietta Pelta and Richard Ellis, furnished the excellent music for the dancers. Mildred Dilling, harpist, will appear here April 6 in the last concert of the season.

AMERICANS

roared in an artillery duel across the rain-swollen Han River near Seoul. The Reds tried to push two reconnaissance patrols across the stream but they were sent scurrying back.

Reds in company strength were battled by Americans advancing six miles north of Chipyeong on the west-central front, southeast of Seoul.

Action was developing in that sector late Friday after being alternately lively and then quiet. It was in that sector early Friday that the second battalion of Canada's famed Princess Patricia Regiment swept easily through Red opposition astride the Seoul-Hongchon road west of Hongkong.

It was the first action of the Korean war for the Princess Pats and brought to six the nations in the current ground forces drive against the Chinese and Korean Reds. Others are Americans, British, Australian, New Zealand and South Koreans. The far western and far eastern sectors were comparatively quiet. Allied troops south of the Thwung Han River near Seoul were under some Communist artillery, tank and mortar fire. UN forces have made no large-scale assault on the now useless former South Korean capital.

Seoul was abandoned to the Reds early in January after Red China's entry into the Korean conflict forced the UN forces to withdraw to better defense positions below Parallel 38. This was after the allies had punched to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria in two places and were approaching it in strength.
