Halloween Damage Is Heavy

Damage throughout Pampa resulting from Halloween pranks last night exceeded that done in many years, police officials said today. As yet damage has not been estimated. Late last night and early this morning calls poured into the police station reporting trouble varying from broken lawn chairs to cars and houses being smeared with paint. Many windows were broken, officers said, and few business establishments were left unmarked with soap. COMPLETE FORCE Despite a complete police force on duty, all areas could not be covered. Officers said they believe 'teen agers' are responsible for most of the damage. An unusually large number of people were fined in corporation court this morning, which police believe resulted from Halloween celebrations. FINED A. B. Davis, 1026 S. Sumner, and Warren A. LaRue, 1919 Coffee, were fined $5 each on charges of speeding. Teddy S. Koenig, 1105 Garland, agreed not to drive for 30 days after being charged with reckless driving. Clarence H. Frey, no address given, was charged $10 and spent last night in jail for a similar charge. Dee Triggs, Jr., 813 S. Gray, paid a $1 fine for running a stop light and two cases were dismissed against drivers without operator licenses. A total of $55 was levied against three men charged with intoxication. Two persons, charged with indecent exposure, were fined $10 each. In county court charges are pending against four men picked up last night by city police.

Allies And Reds In Partial Agreement

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — A United Nations briefing officer said tonight the Allies and Reds are in "general agreement" on the eastern half of a neutral zone for a Korean armistice. The western half of the line is in dispute. The key issue is who will get Red-held Kaesong, where truce talks started July 10. Negotiators are "nearer to agreement on a buffer zone than ever before," said Lt. Col. L. G. Hill, the briefing officer. Hill emphasized agreement on the zone would not end the shooting. Hill said: "There is a possibility the war will go on for a long time afterward." The buffer zone is only the first point of a proposed armistice. If the battle line changes substantially after an agreement is reached on a buffer zone, Hill said, it probably would have to be negotiated all over again. Red China's Peiping radio said the Reds' new proposal contains "the greatest possible concessions" the Communists can make on a buffer zone. Hill said that at the close of three hours of talks in Pannum today UN and Red subcommittee members were in "general agreement" on where a demilitarized zone should run from Kumsuwa to the East Coast of Korea. Kumsuwa is the right anchor of the old Red iron triangle. It is 55 air miles from the east coast in the approximate center of the triangle. BUFFERS ZONE Both sides are basing their proposals for a buffer zone generally on the battle line. Peiping radio said the proposed dividing line between the two armies starts on the east coast ten miles southeast of Kongsang at a point 37 miles north of the 38th parallel; runs 6.2 miles south of Kumsung and 2.5 miles north of Kumsung. Allied troops are on the outskirts of Kongsang and about three miles south of Kumsung. Their exact distance north of Kumsung has not been announced. Hill said the subcommittee differed over where the line should run from Kumsuwa to the Kaesong sector and added: "The United Nations command fought hard battles to get this area. I don't think it would be willing to give up much of it."

Bookies To Be High On List Of Sufferers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — This is the day you start contributing your share of the new $5,691,000,000 in annual revenue to Uncle Sam. That averages out to $38 for each person, but not everybody, of course, will owe that amount. You'll notice the tax increase in your next salary check and probably in a lot of things you buy — a pack of cigarettes, an automobile, a tankful of gasoline, a bottle of liquor, a roll of film, or a fountain pen, for instance. You may even feel it when you put down two bucks on a nag running at Pimlico or Jamaica with your favorite bookie — if he still is doing business at the same old stand. Not quite all the tax law changes are on the sour side, though. The 3-13 percent excise comes off your electricity bills. You can buy baby bottles, a house trailer, a heating pad and a ticket to a high school football game or a symphony concert — all without paying any federal tax. Prices on those tickets may not come down, though the high schools and orchestras may keep the difference. All of these changes were in the big bill passed Oct. 19 by Congress to provide more money for the nation's huge mobilization effort. President Truman promptly signed the measure, although he had asked for new revenue of almost twice as much — $10,000,000,000. Today is the effective date for the new law with the exception of corporation tax increases, retroactive to last April 1. Most persons are going to be tapped for an income tax boost of about 1 1/2 percent over what they have been paying. The very high brackets get somewhat lighter treatment; they must pay an increase amounting to nine percent of their taxable income left after paying the old tax.

Elect Pampans Officers For Highway Assn.

E. O. "Red" Wedgworth and W. B. "Red" Weathered yesterday were elected vice-president and executive board member respectively of the newly formed State Hwy. 70 Assn. at a luncheon meeting in the Bluebonnet hotel at Sweetwater. The organization stated its purpose is the "improving of conditions of the highway through the state from Perryton to Del Rio."

TWO UNPAVED

Only two stretches of the north-south highway are unpaved. One of them between Pampa and Perryton and the other between Clarendon and Turkey. The latter has been designated as a highway and rights-of-way have been obtained. However, no roadway has been cut yet. The new highway organization was formed after several reports were read on its condition through Texas by representatives of towns along the route.

ELECT OFFICERS

The approximately 30 persons present elected Cole Boswell, Turkey, president; A. C. Bishop, Sweetwater, and Wedgworth, vice-president; Jimmy Faulkner, Clarendon, secretary; and executive board members from each town along the highway. Weathered will represent Pampa on the board.

Accompanying Wedgworth on the trip was Charles Cook, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. The representatives were the guests of the Sweetwater Board of City Development.

Wheeler Calls For Tax Re-allocation Election Nov. 13

WHEELER — (Special) — Wheeler County Commissioner court has called an election for the re-allocation of county funds. Date of the election has been set as Tuesday, Nov. 13, the same day of the special election called by the state legislature for the purpose of voting on five proposed amendments to the state constitution. In a similar election six years ago the voters voted their approval of the re-allocation by a large majority. Judge George Heffley declared, "The issue does not involve the tax rate — merely a change of the percent of money that goes into each of the five divisions of finance handled by the commissioners court."

The judge pointed out that the allocation of funds set up many years ago is outdated. The proposed allocation to put the operation of the county on a stable financial basis is: 50 percent general fund, 5 percent court house and jail fund, 5 percent jury fund, 35 percent road and bridge fund and 5 percent interest and sinking fund.

Eight Days Remain In Absentee Voting

With only eight days remaining to ballot absentee in the Nov. 13 constitutional amendments election, County Clerk Charlie Flint registered only three voters this morning. The third ballot was cast late yesterday morning. The first two were cast earlier in the week. Nov. 9 is the deadline for absentee balloting. Ballots mailed to the county clerk's office must bear a postmark of midnight, or before, Nov. 9 to be counted.

Light Snow Covers Panhandle Counties

A blanket of snow and freezing rain covered Pampa and the Panhandle today as winter tightened its grip on the state. Temperatures, which hovered around 34 degrees yesterday, dropped last night and by 10 a. m. today were standing at about 26 degrees. Halloween pranksters worked in a slight snow last night and an intermittent fall during the night spread a thin blanket from the Oklahoma Panhandle to a line around Wichita Falls.

Suit Against Bottling Firm Is Filed Here

A suit asking $27,000 for alleged damages to his throat, stomach and abdominal region, was filed in 1st District court yesterday by Raymond L. Salmon, 400 N. Somerville, against the Coca Cola Bottling Co. Salmon alleged he swallowed fine particles of metallic slivers while drinking a Coca Cola on June 6 in a local veterans organization club room which resulted in a development of a hernia. As for area roads, all are open, according to the Highway patrol. However, bus drivers coming into Pampa say roads are in a condition which may shortly make travel hazardous. They say the highways are not slick yet, but if the snow and drizzle continue, they will be dangerous before night. Mud is becoming a dangerous nuisance also. Buses were on schedule so far. Air transportation was being slowed however. The 7 a. m. plane from Amarillo was grounded there. It was still in the Amarillo terminal by 11 a. m. This was the first flight to be delayed by the current bad weather. All trains were running on schedule into Pampa. With the exception of the Brownsville area, all of the state had low clouds and a sharp cold north wind. Early today the temperature at Brownsville was 74 but it was due to plummet when the cold wave reaches the southernmost Texas point by mid-day. Light drizzles were falling at Midland, Abilene and Big Spring and Victoria reported a thunderstorm. Today was the first time that Texans had received their weather forecast for four separate areas of the state — West, North Central, South Central and East Texas. But the forecast for all four sections added up to the same thing by mid-day — topcoat weather for all points. At San Antonio, where it was a balmy 87 yesterday afternoon, the mercury stood at 48 degrees this morning. Dallas was having 40 (See LIGHT SNOW, Page 6)

Strangled

In his petition, Salmon said he had consumed all but one swallow of the contents of the bottle and while taking the last swallow "was immediately strangled" by some foreign substance. He added he examined the bottle after getting over the "strangulation" and declared he found several fine particles of metal in the bottom of the bottle. The plaintiff further alleged he began vomiting and writhing the next day and suffered intestinal disturbances. He added that at one period during the alleged writhing and vomiting of blood he felt a severe and sharp pain in the lower right side of the abdominal region and discovered a lump "which was and is a hernia." He contended the strain on the stomach and intestines, through the disturbances, caused the hernia. "CUTTING, SCRATCHING" Salmon further claimed he felt particles "cutting and scratching" it passed through his throat when he took the last swallow. The petition asked $500 reimbursement for medical bills already incurred from the alleged damage done by the metal particles. $1500 contemplated surgical and hospital bills and $25,000 damages for loss of income due to the alleged damages, making a total of $27,000 damages.

Royal Pair Heads Into Second Day Of Activities In Capital

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Britain's royal couple headed into a second and next-to-last round of public appearances today on their 45-hour visit to the nation's capital. And it looked like a safe bet that while poised, attractive Princess Elizabeth and Philip will give a formal dinner for President and Mrs. Truman, to "pay back" the dinner the Trumans gave for their royal guests last night at Blair House. It was evident from the first that the blond duke, though he kept carefully in the background, was the crowd-pleaser of the pair — among the women who lined the curbs and applauded, at any rate. Bobby-soxers in front of the Statler hotel, where the Princess and her husband attended a reception, clapped politely for Elizabeth but burst into excited squeals when Philip, tall and blue-clad in a lieutenant commander's uniform of the Royal Navy, appeared. "Ooh, he's nice!" piped one teen-age voice from the crowd. (See ROYAL COUPLE, Page 6)

Five Escape Death As Car Rams House

Five people escaped injury early this morning when a car driven by Clifford Giford of Hoover rammed into the side of an apartment at 323 S. Russell where his wife was sleeping.

The county attorney's office, which is investigating the incident, said charges of aggravated assault may be filed against Giford today. Giford is being held in the county jail.

The apartment house is owned by Mrs. M. L. Smith, who was sleeping with Mrs. Giford when the car crashed into the two-story stucco structure. The left side of the car was buried in the side of the house and walls in two rooms were badly damaged. The impact moved beds several feet.

Mrs. Smith told officers the Gifords had been "having trouble," and claimed Giford vowed he was going to "get" his wife when he left the house last night. The apartment house owner said she had known the Gifords about two years. Others in the house when the crash occurred about 6:15 a. m. were Mr. and Mrs. B. J. McMahon and their five-year-old son, Michael.

Mrs. Smith said the car would not be moved until insurance men surveyed the damage.

Magazine Subscription Firm Finds Way Around Ordinance

At least one magazine subscription agency has found a way to circumvent the Alexandria, La., anti-peddler ban and is getting ready to use it in Pampa. The Alexandria ordinance, upheld by the U. S. Supreme court, makes it a misdemeanor to peddle from house to house unless the peddler first has permission or receives an invitation to call from the householder. SURVEY The new system works on a survey basis with school boys hired to do the preliminary work. They are paid on a bonus for points plan — $15 for 2500 points. The boys call on the householder and present him (or her) with a card on which are listed a number of magazines. The householder is asked to check the magazine, or magazines, in which he (or she) has the most interest. Each of the magazines listed give the school boy caller a certain number of points ranging from 30 to 80 points. The householder is then asked to sign the card, together with the house address. The boy then signs his name to the card so he can show the crew manager his cards with the total number of points. However, the boy does not take away the card. Lewis Hdw. Ph. 1312

The little message at the bottom of the card says: "Sir: I am interested in receiving the magazine (s) checked above regularly at your Special School Boy Rate. Please have your Field Manager call on me." Underneath the message are lines for the householder's signature and address and the boy's signature. Armed with this signed invitation any person named as field manager by the agency may call at a later date and stay within the law. The city commission had, for a time, considered passing the Alexandria ordinance but shelved it after hearing several objections on the part of local persons engaged in door-to-door delivery or selling. The ordinance affects bona fide Pampa residents as well as outsiders, the main reason it was upheld by the Supreme Court. However, it exempts vendors of perishable foods such as farmers selling fruits and vegetables on a door-to-door basis. If it comes from a hardware store

Byrd Counters HST's Charge Of 'Big Lie'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman's assertion that the Democrats can win in 1952 on the "real issues" despite a "Republican smear campaign" brought dissent today from Senator Byrd (D-Va.). Mr. Truman called for an all-out effort to counteract what he labeled as the "big lie" technique in congratulating Frank E. McKinney, Indianapolis banker, on his election as the new Democratic National chairman. McKinney was chosen to succeed William M. Boyle, Jr., who resigned under fire of charges he attempted to influence the making of government loans. Boyle denied the charges and said he quit for health reasons. WRITES LETTER The President said in a letter to McKinney last night—following the latter's approval by the Democratic National committee on a unanimous voice vote for the position for which the President had chosen him — that the Republicans are directing all of (See HST CHARGES, Page 6)

Deadlock In Dock Strike Sends Tie Up Into 18th Day

NEW YORK — (AP) — Marathon negotiations between warring factions of AFL longshoremen ended in deadlock early today, sending the crippling East Coast dock strike into its 18th day. After sounding an earlier note of optimism during the 11-hour session, Merlyn S. Pitzele, chairman of the New York state mediation board, had broken up. "Extraordinary measures must be considered" to end the dispute, he declared. The mediator said he would talk by telephone with Washington and Albany officials and then decide whether to certify the case to State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi. Either Corsi or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey could set up a fact-finding committee with powers of subpoena to inquire into the warring walkouts. The strike, by dissident members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Assn., has paralyzed the vast port of New York and the Boston waterfront. Only military and Naval cargoes have moved with any regularity. The strikers, who claim to represent 30,000 of the 65,000 dockers working ports from Maine to Virginia, demand the scrapping of a recently negotiated agreement with Atlantic Coast shippers. The rebels are headed by John (Gene) Sampson, who is opposing the leadership of IILA president Joseph P. Ryan. Today's meeting ended after Ryan refused Sampson's request that Ryan reopen wage contract negotiations with the employers, the New York Shipping Assn. Ryan reportedly has refused to meet this demand, and has had the backing of the shippers.

Pampa GI Again Wounded In Action On Korean Front

Pfc. George Whitten, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Whitten, was injured in action in Korea October 23, according to a telegram received Wednesday by his parents. This is the second time recently the young Pampa marine has been wounded in action. The telegram gave no details, but indications are that Whitten's injuries are not too serious because he was not evacuated. Mrs. Whitten said this morning that they received a letter from coming in and going out because he explained mail was slow in their son Tuesday night, in which of heavy rains in Korea. A DOG'S LIFE Plane Crash Fatal To Six Servicemen

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — (AP) — An Air Force transport from Travis Field, Madison, Wis., crashed on Box Springs mountain Tuesday night, killing six servicemen.

There were no known survivors.

Flames spurted skyward and were spotted by a forest ranger in a lookout station atop the mountain.

The plane crashed at the 3,000-foot level. Fog and the rough terrain delayed recovery of the bodies.

Identification of the victims was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The plane left Amarillo, Tex., Tuesday afternoon bound for Norton Air Force base near San Bernardino, Calif.

Peron Takes Leave As Argentina's Head To Campaign

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — President Juan D. Peron left Wednesday from the Argentine presidency he has held for five and one-half years to arouse the country into choosing him again for the 1958 term in the Nov. 11 elections.

Stepping temporarily into Peron's place as chief of state was the provisional president of the Senate, Rear Adm. Alberto Tessitore, chairman of the Peronista party and former minister of the interior.

Political circles said Peron will use his leave for a quick swing around the province. He reportedly is worried over the lack of popular response to his party's electioneering, especially since many candidates for congressional seats and provincial governorships are virtually unknown. They were handpicked by Peron and his wife, Eva, in closed meetings with the supreme command of the Peronista movement.

Peron was granted leave of absence by an extraordinary session of Congress on Oct. 31. The leave can extend to April 20, 1958.

Those who made the "B" honor roll are: Mona Coberly, Ann Neill, Carolyn Maples, Franklin Hopkins, Anita Tillman, Shirley Barkins, Wanda Williams, Wanda Vaughn, Dickie Davis, Melvin Higham, Eddie Clemmons, Willow Dean McAninch, Jimmy Doom, Russell Herring, Jackie Pflug, Jab Moulter, Randall Cole, Silva Bradford, Jo Ann Staley, Gwen Thurmond, Marilyn Mullins, Don Davis, Geraldine Dunn, Elaine Porsch and Margaret Cobb.

Draft Delinquents In Texas Listed

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas had 92 draft delinquents at the end of September — 75 percent of them with local boards in five cities. State Selective Service headquarters reported yesterday.

Cities included in the big five were Dallas, Houston, Edinburg, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

More than half of the delinquents — 491 — were so classified for failure to report for induction, state director Paul L. Wakefield said.

Dallas county was recorded with 233 delinquents. Harris with 145, Hidalgo and Starr with 124, Bexar and Bandera with 89 and Tarrant with 69.

Glenn McCarthy To Go Overseas

HOUSTON — (AP) — The Houston Post has said fabulous oilman Glenn McCarthy is going overseas probably to look for some fast financial action — action that will bring him some quick cash.

The Post, saying McCarthy's oil holdings are heavily encumbered, added that the "best guess is that McCarthy is on the trail of some blue chips to operate with."

McCarthy is in New York planning to fly to Europe.

Contacted by The Post, the owner of the magnificent Shamrock hotel here and of widespread oil holdings on the Gulf Coast replied "no comment" to most questions.

But, asked if he thought the U. S. government would allow an individual oil man to get "into Iran," McCarthy answered, "I think so." Iran currently is in the middle of a fight with Britain over Iran's nationalization of

Said the Post, "the dour, deadpan McCarthy is not a man to sit things out — while his heavily encumbered oil holdings and enterprises pay themselves out in a decade or so, or, if worst comes to worst, peter out and leave him a man in his middle fifties with a comfortable income from annuities and trust funds.

Olive-Celery Stuffing
By the Food Editors of Mc Call's Magazine

2 cloves garlic
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
4 cups bread crumbs
3 medium onions
1 small bunch celery
1 large green pepper
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup stuffed olives
8 sprigs parsley
1/2 teaspoon medium glutamate
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Salt and pepper

Crush garlic with salt in a bowl (a fork does a good mashing job), thoroughly. Spread crumbs on a shallow tray and heat in a 300° oven until dry and slightly crisp.

Meanwhile, chop onions, green pepper and celery fine (use the paring in a skillet and cook the chopped vegetables about 5 minutes. Stir frequently. Remove from heat, add sliced olives and chopped parsley and mix all the vegetables with the bread crumbs. Add herbs, salt and pepper and mix thoroughly. This makes enough for a 15-pound bird.

EAT ANYTHING WITH FALSE TEETH!

Don't-on-the-cob-hard-core, sure, you can eat them all! Simply lay soft soup of Stomax Plasti-Liner on upper, lower or partial plate. Bite and it molds perfectly. Your plate fits snugly and stays that way because Stomax Plasti-Liner hardens permanently in your plate. Even on old rubber plates you get good results for six months to a year or longer.

Easy to Re-fit or Tighten False Teeth
One application gives instant relief from slipping, rocking plates that cause sore gums. You can talk without embarrassment. Forget the bother of temporary "stuckums" to hold plates in. Tasteless, odorless, harmless to you and your plates. Removable according to directions. Money back if not completely satisfied.

Rites Today For Panhandle Pioneer, Mrs. Thomas Jones

CANADIAN — (Special) — Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. in Canadian today for Mrs. Thomas S. Jones, Sr., 82, one of the area's oldest pioneer citizens. She died Tuesday morning at her home here where she had lived for the past forty years.

She had been a semi-invalid for several years.

Rites were to be held in the sanctuary of the First Christian church with Rev. Thomas Gray, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Canadian cemetery.

Mrs. Jones was the widow of Thomas S. Jones, Sr., prominent pioneer Panhandle rancher, who preceded her in death 21 years ago. Surviving here are three children: two daughters, Mrs. Frank Chambers and Mrs. Bruce Waterfield; and one son, Thomas S. Jones, Jr., all of Canadian; six grandchildren. Mrs. Jack Osborne of Amarillo, Frances and John Chambers, James Waterfield, Dick Waterfield, and Thomas Stanley Jones 3rd, all of Canadian; and two great-grandchildren, Frank and Michael Osborne of Amarillo.

A native of Virginia, Mrs. Jones was born Rosalie Lettlet Whaley, in Madison county, Virginia, on Aug. 1, 1869, the daughter of one of that state's of Amarillo.

She came to Texas in 1890 in-

Two Runaway Girls Refuse to Name Men in Question

FORT WORTH — (P) — Two girls who ran away from the Corsicana Orphans home and spent several nights in hotels and tourist courts with various men can remember all the details except the ones police want most: names of the men involved.

The girls, 14 and 15, grew so vague when it came to names that officers, who questioned them for hours Tuesday, gave up. Unless their memory improves, no charges can be brought against the men with whom they slept.

Larry O. Cox, executive director of the state board for hospitals and special schools, said earlier prosecution of the men would be sought.

Boyd said he will seek to place the girls with relatives. Failing in that, he said, he would have no choice except to place them in the Gainesville State School for girls.

"I can't have them on the campus with the other children," he said.

The girls have records as runaways but no earlier record of sexual promiscuity, Boyd said.

their energies toward "a campaign of slander and vilification." Without direct reference to anything the Republicans might do, Byrd told a reporter in advance of a scheduled (10 a. m., CST) Selma, Ala., speech he intends to tear into the Truman administration and its domestic policies.

Byrd said he had prepared sharp criticism of what he called the "predatory" aims of the Truman administration. His primary objective obviously is to turn Mr. Truman out of office.

FOREIGN POLICY

Senator Taft of Ohio, an announced GOP presidential candidate, indicated in a speech at Providence, R. I., last night that the Republicans will battle the Democrats on high policy as well as on what the Ohioan called "honesty in the government at Washington."

Taft characterized the Truman foreign policy as "disastrous" and joined Byrd in criticizing government spending, high taxes and what he said are "socialistic" aims of the administration.

Pastor To Miami

MIAMI — (Special) — Rev. Tommie Austin, pastor of North Side Baptist church, Duncanville, Texas, will preach at both services Sunday of the First Baptist church here.

Barbecue, Byrd's Speech Set Stage For Dixie Democrats

SELMA, Ala. — (P) — An old-fashioned Southern barbecue and a speech by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) set stage for a caucus of Dixie Democrats who hope to see President Truman retired to private life in 1952.

Big-name leadership was virtually non-existent, but Alabama State Rep. Walter C. Givhan, who arranged the anti-Truman rally, said it would proceed "on schedule."

The barbecue and Byrd's expected renewal of his sharp attack on administration policies highlighted the program for the annual meeting of the Dallas County (Selma) Farm bureau.

While the farm bureau meeting bore a strict "no politics" label and had no connection with the party get-together called for later in the day, it was Byrd's appearance nevertheless that led to the idea of an anti-Truman conference.

Sponsors said several thousand Southerners from Alabama and neighboring states indicated they would come here for the Virginia Senator's address, and their presence would make a 1952 election strategy meeting possible.

Arrangements were made to feed 5,000 at the barbecue.

Byrd himself planned to skip the "stop Truman" rally, scheduled to start at 3 p. m. (CST). He said in his family returned him to board a plane for Washington in the early afternoon.

Before he made that known, some sponsors of the Dixie party conference had talked of a possible move to draft the Virginian as a Southern Presidential candidate.

The rally promised, in fact, to be almost without top-flight leadership except perhaps for Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge and Senator Eastland (D-Miss.).

Other governors and congressmen previously had declined to attend. Among them were Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), both mentioned together with Byrd as political contenders for the White House.

Even Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi, the 1948 states rights vice presidential nominee, announced yesterday that he won't be around for the conference. He said he had no idea of attending a "states rights meeting."

Circus Animals Escape; Second Mishap In A Day

MT. IDA, Ark. — (P) — A rare chance to a couple of strange animals for this section of the Southland — a spotted cat and a white bear — brought hunters running to this western Arkansas area today.

The animals were described as dangerous by sportsmen and circus people. Leader of the hunt, Sheriff Wilbur Tidwell of Montgomery county, was optimistic over the chances of bringing back the four-footed fugitives—dead or alive.

Two leopards, a polar bear, two black bears and several Rhesus monkeys escaped when a circus van overturned and freed the beasts in the rugged, sparsely settled Ouachita National forest, 15 miles northwest of here yesterday morning. The black bears are said to be tame.

Several hours later, one of the leopards was shot and killed when it ventured onto a highway not far from scene of the wreck. Although several persons fired, Sheriff Tidwell credited Arkansas State Highway Patrolman Clarence (Red) Montgomery of Malvern with the kill and he was allowed to keep the pelt as a prize.

The leopard weighed 128 pounds. Montgomery shot the animal with a sub-machine gun.

The escaped animals belonged to Campa Bros. circus, a truck show with a large menagerie.

It was the second misfortune in a 12-hour period for the circus, made up mostly of Latin-American employees. On Tuesday night, while showing in Mena, Ark., a young lion clawed to death the nine-year-old granddaughter of a woman animal trainer.

It was first reported the lion also had escaped, but circus owner Ben Davenport said the big cat was in its cage.

Davenport and another show official, Hugh Reeves, were charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of the child, Maria de la Luz. They were freed, however, after a hearing at Mena yesterday. Police Judge Clem Brown said there wasn't sufficient evidence of negligence.

The circus was to have performed here last night, but the show didn't go on.

Mena is about 35 miles west of here. Mt. Ida is 112 road miles west of Little Rock and 88 miles southeast of Fort Smith.

ROYAL COUPLE

Philip grinned, waved and hurried on inside.

The reception was given by some 500 news correspondents. It included the presentation of an Indian war bonnet for the royal couple's three-year-old son, Prince Charles, and an Indian doll for their year-old daughter, Princess Anne.

Elizabeth smiled, said she liked America fine and promised to come again when she could stay longer.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headache, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exercising or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 million kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Marion Davies, Star Of Silent Movies, Is Married In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former actress Marion Davies was married in a surprise ceremony early Wednesday to Horace Brown, skipper of a military transport ship.

Blonde, blue-eyed ex-star gave away Brown, 45, and said it was her first marriage. Brown, 46, was divorced from Mrs. Grace M. Brown, former wife of singer Lawrence Tibbett, in 1947.

The ceremony was performed at the El Rancho Vegas hotel by Justice of the Peace James J. Down.

The couple arrived here by plane from Los Angeles at 3:15 a.m. and obtained a wedding license immediately.

The ceremony lasted only three minutes and was witnessed by Brown's son, Horace G. Brown III, Jimmie Stuart, an official of the hotel, and Ken Frogley, of the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce.

At one point Justice Down halted the ceremony. Miss Davies in reciting the marriage vows, had gotten ahead of him during the "love, honor and obey" portion.

"Just a minute," said Down.

Remainder will be supplied by men in uniform. Blood from both sources will be available to civilians in times of crisis or catastrophe. Experts estimate that survivors of an A-bomb attack on one city would require at least 120,000 units of blood in the first three weeks period, and twice that in the event of a surprise attack.

Traffic Deaths On Nation's Highways Near Million Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths on the nation's highways are mounting as expected, toward the one million mark, the National Safety Council said Wednesday.

The council announced the total number of deaths for the first nine months of this year—26,630—which pushed the grand total since the advent of the automobile "well past 900,000."

That leaves less than 10,000 to go before the millionth traffic death is recorded. The council said its earlier estimate that the millionth fatality would occur during the third week of December was unchanged by the latest figures.

September alone accounted for 2,650 persons killed in traffic accidents. A factor in this total—the highest for any month since September, 1941—was the highest Labor day traffic death toll on record.

The nine-month total of 26,630 for the stock of the Hearst Corp.

Dramatic Rescue Of Moose Undertaken By Wildlife Agents

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Two huge bull moose locked in mortal combat before an audience of hungry wolves were the object of an intensive air-rescue operation by agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service yesterday.

The two bull moose were locked horn-to-horn in a remote area near the banks of the Tanana river 20 miles south of here. Agents said they apparently engaged in a battle for supremacy over a herd of cow elk, their horns locked and they were unable to pull free.

Wildlife Agent Charles Gray discovered the animals Monday while flying game patrol.

He swooped low in his plane and found the moose trapped head-to-head. One was lying on the ground and appeared to be either seriously injured or dead; the other was standing and making desperate efforts to pull free.

Gray said a wolf was lurking in the brush nearby and the area around the two animals was covered with wolf tracks. The wolves apparently were waiting until both animals were nearly dead before attacking.

Ray Woolford, chief fish and wildlife agent here, flew over

Altus Air Base Is Due Reactivation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force disclosed plans to re-activate the World War II air base at Altus, Okla. It advised Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla.) that first contracts for additional construction probably will be awarded in January.

Funds have not yet been made available for the construction, but Congress has authorized $17,642,000 for the project.

The Air Force proposes to use the base for a troop carrier wing, with an estimated 500 officers, 2500 airmen and 200 civilian employees to be stationed at Altus.

The authorized funds would be used for airfield pavements, aircraft maintenance and other facilities.

Roy Campanella Named Most Valuable National Leaguer

NEW YORK — (AP) — Roy Campanella will always remember 1951. Throughout the year the husky, hard-hitting catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers was hampered by injuries, but now Campanella has reaped the fruits of his labors. He was named yesterday as the National League's most valuable player for the past season by a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Campanella is only the third catcher since 1931 to win the coveted award. The other recipients to gain the honor were Gabby Hartnett of the 1935 Chicago Cubs and Ernie Lombardi of the 1938 Cincinnati Reds.

MUSIAL SECOND
The 29-year-old Dodger star collected 243 points out of a possible 356 to win the honor over Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, winning his fifth batting title with a .355 average, finished second with 191 points. Points were awarded on 14 for first place vote, nine for second and so on down to the tenth. Campanella, reached in Houston where his all-star exhibition team is stopping, was surprised when informed that he had won the award.

ROY CAMPANELLA
Tuxedo Is First Worry Of Campy

HOUSTON — (AP) — Roy Campanella is mighty pleased over being named the National League's most valuable player but there's one thing that's bothering him.

"Gosh," said the slugging catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, here on a barnstorming tour, "that means I probably will have to wear a tuxedo and I don't own one of them."

Campanella's All-Star team beat the American Negro League All-Stars 11-1 here last night with Campanella catching six innings. The big catcher expressed surprise when informed he had been given the award. "I had forgotten all about it," he said. "After we were beaten in the play-off by the New York Giants, I just didn't think about it any more."

"I surely am happy about it now. I gave my best and I surely am grateful to the Baseball Writers' Association for voting me in."

Campanella's selection marked the sixth time since 1931 that a player not on a pennant winner won the award. The others were: Chuck Klein, Philadelphia, 1932; Ducky Medwick, St. Louis, 1937; Lombardi, Cincinnati, 1938; Bob Elliott, Boston, 1947 and Musial, St. Louis, 1948.

The star backstop drew 11 first place votes while Musial, only player named on every ballot, collected two. Trailing Musial were: Monte Irvin, New York, fourth; Preacher Roe, Brooklyn, fifth; Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, sixth; Fitch Ashburn, Philadelphia, seventh; Bobby Thomson, New York, eighth; Murry Dickson, Pittsburgh, ninth, and Kalpan Ciner, Pittsburgh, tenth.

Some 58 players received votes of honorable mention but Jimmie Foxx, pitcher and 1950 winner, failed to draw either a vote or honorable mention.

NEARLY BLINDED
Campanella enjoyed a great season despite his home eye injuries. The collapse of the Dodgers who blew a 13-1-2 game lead and lost the pennant to the Giants in a play-off, was no fault of Roy's.

The well liked receiver's injury string began last January when an oil-burner in his home exploded and nearly blinded him. Campanella suffered a slight fracture of his right thumb during spring training.

During the season he was spiked on the hand, had a rim trouble and was hit on the head by a pitched ball by Chicago's Turk Lown. On the final day of the regular season Campanella pulled a muscle in his left thigh and caught only the first of the three play-off games against the Giants.

Despite these injuries Campanella played in 140 games. He batted .325, fourth highest in the league, drove in 108 runs and piled 33-home runs.

Weatherman Drives Pampa Harvesters Indoors

Pattison Says His Club Is Prepared

By CHOC HUTCHESON
LUBBOCK — (Special) — "I believe we're ready," Coach Pat Pattison said late Wednesday after watching his Lubbock Westerners go through their final full fledged workout in preparation for Friday night's invasion by the Pampa Harvesters.

Because of Wednesday's chilling weather Pattison by-passed contact work rather than risk injury to his players. He sent the Westerners through a lengthy drill working on all phases of offense and defense.

The Lubbock coach said his squad should be near peak physical strength Friday night. Left halfback Bo Sexton has been slowed somewhat by a leg injury but probably will see action against the Harvesters. However Little Charlie Hodges is likely to get the starting call at left halfback.

Other starters will be Mike Brady and Don Jones at ends, Tommy Elliott and Sherrill Manning at tackles, Jimmy Gafford and Dickie Lowrey at guards, Johnny Tatum at center, Charles Northington at right halfback, James Sides at fullback and either Charles Brewer or Buddy Hill at quarterback.

SELLOUT
General admission tickets to the crucial conference clash continued to sell at a brisk clip Wednesday. All reserved seats have been sold and only 1,000 general admission duets remain. With favorable weather an overflow crowd of at least 10,000 fans should be on hand for the 8 p.m. kickoff Friday.

The "football fever" in Lubbock is higher than at anytime since the memorable Lubbock-Amarillo grid series of the late 1930's.

Local fans realize that it is the game the Westerners must win if they are to back up their third district championship in as many years. Too they are anxious to see how these 1951 Westerners will perform under pressure. The Lubbock crew hasn't really been extended all season with a winning margin of at least 21 points in each of its seven games.

For Pattison Friday night's tilt offers an opportunity to square his series score with the Harvesters who have beaten him in two of three games during his tenure as Lubbock coach. Since coming here in 1948 Pattison has turned out teams which have won 29 games while losing nine and tying two.

Football Special Leaving At 2:15 Friday Afternoon

Foul weather sent the Fighting Pampa Harvesters indoors for their final "hard" workout prior to the important clash with the Lubbock Westerners tomorrow night at Jones Stadium in Lubbock. They spent the afternoon within the confines of the senior high gymnasium, in full pads but with basketball shoes on, working on defense to stop the powerful running and passing attack of the unbeaten, top rated crew from Lubbock.

A Pampa-Lubbock football game usually turns into a high-scoring duel, and this year's stands to be no exception, dry weather prevailing. Both clubs have been strong offensively this year, usually to the point of having almost identical records in passing and rushing offense as per number of games played. Here is a comparison chart on the two clubs:

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING
Long before the advantages of living alone and liking it were pointed out to career girls, pocket gophers practiced this particular attack of the umbrella. Top rated crew from Lubbock.

They are such seekers of solitude that they want no truck even with one of their own kind. When they meet they usually fight viciously, often until one is killed.

The term "pocket" is a natural since the gopher has actual pockets or pouches which are entirely "outside" the mouth. These fur-lined pockets are expendable cylinders in which food is transported to a small tunnel store-room excavated solely for pantry purposes. Most of his food is secured from under ground by tunneling directly to root foods.

The making of these tunnel systems is a perpetual task with the gopher, which requires a break at once and also a short, steeply pitched "sump" similar to those in mine shafts, for drainage purposes. The tunnels are usually from six inches to a foot in diameter from one end and half to three inches, depending upon the size of the gopher. Burrowing goes on day and night four seasons a year, with layoffs for rest every couple of hours.

It should constitute a good crowd for Lubbock.

Seats are still open on the football special leaving at 2:15 tomorrow afternoon. Anyone desiring to take the train rather than drive in this bad weather and with the heavy crush of traffic headed that direction can get a ticket at the Santa Fe depot. The train will leave for Pampa 45 minutes after the game is over.

The Spaniards under Cortes sent Indian slaves into the yawning crater of the then-active Popocatepetl volcano to get sulphur for gunpowder.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE
Buddy Cockrell, Roy Pool and Don Burns all participated in yesterday's sheltered workout and will be ready to go Friday. This will give the Harvesters a five pound weight advantage in both the front line and the backfield.

The game, for coach Pat Pattison, will offer an opportunity to get up to the 500 mark against the Harvesters. He took over in Lubbock in 1948, and lost that year to the Harvesters, 26-19. In '49 the Hub city eleven became the last team to beat the Harvesters in regular season play when they downed Pampa, 38-20. Last season Pampa took a wild 27-0 win at Harvesters Park. Going into the game the wily Lubbock center has a record of 33 wins, nine losses and two ties. Five of the heaviest came in the 1948 season when he led the rebuilding process after a disastrous 1947 season by the Westerners.

The complete record of games between the two schools, year by year, looks something like this:

PAMPA	Lubbock
12	1930
6	1931
0	1932
26	1933
13	1934
0	1935
0	1936
21	1937
0	1938
0	1939
7	1940
13	1941
13	1942
0	1943
14	1944
0	1945
7	1946
27	1947
28	1948
20	1949
?	1951

What shape the field will be in Friday night is a mystery. It has a good turf on it, but it also got 6 inches of rain Tuesday and then the cold snap moved in on top of that. Regardless of the weather conditions the Harvesters will be underdogs all over the state except right here in their home ballfield.

SELLOUT CROWD
A sellout crowd will see the contest. All seats are sold and have been in Lubbock since Monday when they were first put on sale.

NOBLITT-COFFEY'S FOOTBALL FORECASTS

By Pitts-Smith

MICHIGAN at ILLINOIS—The winner of this important Big Ten clash should be able to coast on in for all the marbles. Ray Elton's superbly coached Hill' will have to go all out in taking the surging Wolverines into camp for their sixth straight victory.

TCU at BAYLOR—Football is really getting hot out in the cow country. And what's more this key game won't cool off anything. The Christians' quick striking offense will give Baylor plenty of headaches until Larry Isbell starts pitching strikes to Riley and Williams.

Ex-Fighter Is Gallery Draw

PINEHURST, N.C. — (AP) — Dapper Max Faulkner, the onetime prize fighter who holds the British Open light crown, said today he plans to go prospecting for American gold next winter.

He will climax his United States campaign, he said, by playing in the National Open at Dallas in June.

"I have always wanted to make an American gold mine," said the 35-year-old commando instructor of World War II. "I think I can play in some of the West Coast tournaments in February before I go to Australia and then come back and play in a few more." Faulkner's immediate task, however, is to try to help lift the Ryder Cup from the Americans in the international matches opening tomorrow over Pinehurst's No. 2 course.

Four foursome matches will launch the event, starting at 8:45 a.m. EST. Eight singles matches conclude the test Sunday.

The United States lineup for the foursomes already has been announced by Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, West Va., the playing team captain. The British are having more trouble arriving at a decision.

"I wish I had one more day to look the boys over," said Arthur Lacey, on-playing British captain. "I'd like to juggle the lineup, compare and see how they do. I'd like another look at one man especially who isn't playing well."

He didn't name the team member which caused him such concern. It very possibly could be Faulkner himself, who has not been at the top of his game in practice sessions. However, there is every indication that Faulkner, as British champion, will play PAIRINGS

Here's how the Americans will pair off for the two-ball foursomes, in which players hit balls alternately:

Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, and Jim Demaret, Ojai, Calif.
Snead and Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill.
Jack Burke Houston, and Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N.C.
Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle, and Henry Ransom St. Andrews, Ill.
The Americans tore into the 700-yard, par 72 course yesterday with their best practice rounds to date.

Snead and Mangrum had a round of 68, playing two-ball foursome style in a friendly match with Burke and Heafner. In another match, Demaret shot a 68 and Hogan had a 69.

Jimmy Adams, the round Scotsman, and John Pantan, are playing best of the Britishers. Each had a 69 in yesterday's tune-up.

But it's been Faulkner, a very stylish with Jimmy Demaret's flair for colorful attire, who has captured the fancy of the early North Carolina gallery.

The British champ trekked the course yesterday in a complete yellow ensemble including cap and shoes. He had a large collection of admirers at his elbow. While a commando instructor, Faulkner took up fighting and had 16 bouts as a professional welterweight. He won 15 of these.

Incredible Major Lists Navy, Oregon State Over Huskies

Today finds me in a salubrious mood, prepared to pass on to you the tidings of a few major upsets, and to crow and chortle a bit because of recent form reversals I selected.

Throughout the length and breadth of the land har-rump! I seriously doubt if there is another prognosticator who selects Rice to triumph over mighty Southern Methodist just one week after the Methodists routed Notre Dame. Another besides me, that is! Who but Hoople gave you that one? Echo answers none!

That is what distinguishes your author from the run-of-mine doonest, the uncanny, the incredible, the bizarre.

And this very week, by Noah's beard, I have some more startling reports to give you in advance.

Who would expect Navy to defeat Notre Dame? And Oregon State to speak Washington (by single point, if you'll notice)? Also, probably a great many will choose Ohio State to conquer Northwestern, but my system shows an entirely different result, the Wildcats winning by two touchdowns.

You can't beat Hoople! Now, go on with the forecast:

Ineligibility Ruling Hits Pair Of Top Schoolboy Grid Squads

DALLAS — (AP) — Ineligibility has hit two schools hard in Texas schoolboy football thus far this season.

Silabee lost its chance at the championship of District 28 in Class A when Winston Silvia, a star back, was ruled over the age limit and his team's conference victories were forfeited.

Clarendon forfeited three conference victories in District 1 of Class A when Artie Mooring, a halfback, was found to be ineligible under the 10-semester rule. Mooring was moved up a half-grade when he transferred from rural Goldston grade school to Clarendon High school. The half grade had not been counted

Classen Picking Texas To Stop Southern Methodist

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK — (AP) — A party and a football are the same thing — just a bag of wind.

Here are winners of the coming weekend's football games: Illinois over Michigan; Both are undefeated in the Big Ten this season and neither apparently is as strong as its record indicates. Karras of Illinois already has scored 10 touchdowns this season and needs only three more-to-tie the mark first set by Grange. He will get enough points in this game to beat Michigan.

Tennessee over North Carolina. Even with its flock of injuries, Tennessee is favored.

Princeton over Brown. The nation's longest current winning streak goes to 19.

Baylor over Texas Christian. Larry Isbell, the Baylor star, is just as good as he needs to be.

IRISH OVER NAVY
Notre Dame over Navy: The Irish may be predominately freshmen and sophomores, but they know their way around.

Alabama over Georgia: Two of the season's biggest disappointments try to salvage something.

Wisconsin over Indiana: Wisconsin boasts the strongest defense in the nation.

Texas over Southern Methodist: This should be every bit as good as last year's 23-to-20 thriller, won by Texas.

Georgia Tech over Duke: That defensive platoon of the Georgians is a beauty.

Maryland over Missouri: Maryland seems headed for the Sugar Bowl.

California over UCLA: California is a two-touchdown favorite, but it could be much, much closer.

Southern-California over Army:

WARREN'S ARM UP

By Warren Nass - News Sports Editor

THE WEATHERMAN MAY CHANGE things, but tomorrow's clash between the Harvesters and the Westerners should be a battle of offenses, just the opposite of the thriller against Odessa last weekend.

And just in case it is here are the offensive figures for the teams. The Westerners in seven games have averaged 282 yards rushing and 79 yards passing; for a total of 355 yards on their own offensive efforts. Add onto this the penalties assessed against their opposition.

The Harvesters in one less game, have averaged 303 yards per game rushing and 81 more passing for 384 total yards for the individual efforts of the Pampa gridders, here are the up to date figures on that:

By In Case It Should Develop into a defense struggle, and if the weatherman doesn't start raining it might just be that kind of game, the Lubbockites have given up an average of 203 yards to their opposition this year, by passing and rushing, as compared to a 190 mark for the Harvesters.

Much of the Lubbock offensive yardage has been picked up on long runs from scrimmage, whereas the Harvesters have ground most of theirs out. If the Pampans can stop the breakaway runs of the Hub city eleven as well as they did last season they might be able to slow the Lubbock offense.

According to the latest official district I-AAAA statistics, made available through the district's sportswriters association, James Sides, the husky, bull driving fullback, carries a 9.2 per try average into the game. He has juggled the leather 74 times for a total of 683 yards. That makes him the power threat and leaves Bo Sexton as the breakaway man.

Pampa has a pair of blasters ranking high in per-try average in David Wilson and Ed Dudley. From passing standpoint, Biddy Hill has connected on 83 percent of his aerials this year, picking out Sammy Garner and Mike Brady as his leading targets. Behind Hill comes another pretty good country passer, Charley Brewer, who can flip that pigskin like a baseball. How they can do against Pampa's fine pass defense remains to be seen.

The punting department stands about even, and it gets down to extra points the Harvesters can bank on the good right toes of DeWay Cudney.

Sides is the district's leading scorer with a total of 74 points. Edvis is a runnerup with 60, while Wilson and Sexton are tied with 42 apiece.

And if the battle gets down to defense and strong lines, we'll put the brilliant Pampa linemen up against any in the state. Once they make up their minds they want to stop something or somebody, they can do just that.

The team got its big weekend started this morning with a noisy, fired-up pep rally at the high school. The Harvesters are leaving by 8:30 a.m. tomorrow morning, so the inspiring rally was held a day ahead.

The Junior High Reapers were scheduled to make their bid for the junior high championship this afternoon in Borger, but the weatherman forced postponement.

But this kind of a day brings back memories, and I hope you won't mind reminding it was three years ago, on a day almost as bad as this only with lots of wind and swirling snow, that yours truly saw his first Pampa football team in action. And it was the Reapers, playing where they are today, in Borger.

On that Reapers team were a paragon that how answer the roll when you shout off the Harvesters' feet. Some are missing, others have changed positions, but they still have that fine spirit. They won that game that freezing afternoon.

Bad News For Taxa-Benners Rarin' To Start Throwing

By ROBERT E. FORD Associated Press Staff

Some bad news for the Taxa-Benners came from the SMU camp today — Fred Benners will be rarin' to go Saturday. The magician-like passer was badly shaken up early in the Rice game two week ends ago and did not appear to have his usual deadly marksmanship for the rest of the game. Late in the fourth period Benners was bounced against a sideline drainage pipe and left the game for good.

Two weeks of rest have made Benners as good as new for the contest between two undefeated teams. In conference play, SMU has one loss and no wins, while Texas has a loss and win on its record.

At Austin, Coach Ed Price yesterday sent the Longhorn defensive team into a long scrimmage aimed at working out a defense against Benners' aerials.

Rain slows ponies. The Mustangs were limited to 40 minutes of outdoor work because of rain. Price also worried about SMU's running game. He pointed out that against Missouri, the Mustangs gained 100 yards on the ground. The Longhorns, who developed a scoring passing attack last Saturday for the first time this season, spent considerable time yesterday polishing their aerial game.

The Texas Christian team, hobbled last season by outbreaks of injuries at crucial times, was pronounced all fit for the Baylor contest at Waco.

This game easily could decide the conference championship. The Taxa-Benners are the odds-makers to win Southwest Conference football game Saturday.

Baylor is granted 7-2 points over Texas Christian. Rice is a 14-point favorite over Pittsburg. A&M is given 7 points over Arkansas.

Rain kept the Razorbacks in doubt yesterday. They looked at motion pictures of last year's game with A&M, the team the Porters met Saturday.

A&M will be struggling to keep a hold on the conference championship with a loss and tie as handicaps. Arkansas, with two losses, has only a mathematical chance for the crown.

The Aggies took it easy in yesterday's drills because of a number of injuries.

The only non-conference game Saturday pits Rice against the University of Pittsburg with the Owls the hosts.

Don Drake, who losses few but daily drills in his Rice quarter-back, probably will see only limited action because of a bruised hip suffered against Southern Methodist two weeks ago.

Russell pointed out that Texas beat Rice 14-0 and Rice beat Southern Methodist 28-7. "That means," he said, "that Texas is 20 points better than we are."

SMU won't have the services of its ace linebacker, I. D. Russell, who is out for several weeks with a leg injury suffered in the Rice game. Fred Benners, the great Methodist passer, also has a bruised back and while he will play, Russell says he definitely won't be up to his usual standard.

"There are only two things I'm worrying about though," said Russell. "That's Texas' offense and Texas' defense. If we can stop those we'll have a good chance."

West Texas and Arizona were Border conference opponents. Beating Arizona, pre-season favorite for the title, last Saturday put the Raiders into a tie for first place with Hardin-Simmons university.

Hardin-Simmons and Tech play in Lubbock Dec. 1. Tech faces a test against homecoming, celebrating Texas Western in El Paso Saturday night.

Freshmen stood out especially on defense as Tech limited Arizona, 14th team in the nation in rushing, to a mere 65 yards along the ground.

Tech defensive starters included these frosh — tackle Kenneth Elmore of Carlsbad, N. M.; guard Vern Varnum of Whitaker of Batesville, Miss.; and Ray Howard of Childress, and line-backer Jack Bass of Jackson, Miss.

WILSON PASSES. All four full backs through repeatedly to throw the Car for losses. Whitaker kicked all five extra points for the Red Raiders. Offensively, freshmen also featured. Fullback Pete Rinaldi of Orange, N. J., started. Jerry Johnson of Hale Center quarter-backed several drives, and little Elmer Wilson of Pampa shot a 15-yard pass to Ronnie Cordell of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Myron Sailer of Ada, Okla., looked good the two times he carried the ball, advancing seven yards one try, eight the next.

Although he did not start against Arizona, tackle Paul Barnight of Chippewa Falls, Wis., played a lot of offensive ball.

Earning Dick Spink a kick-off every time, punted once for 47 yards, and carried five times for 20 yards.

Steers, Mustangs Set For Saturday

DALLAS — (AP) — It's a game between a couple of teams just trying to hold on but when Texas meets Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl here Saturday, the second largest crowd of the season in the Southwest Conference is due.

It might even equal the largest — the capacity 75,000 that turned out for the Texas-Oklahoma game. Already 70,000 tickets have been sold and with favorable weather, the other 5,000 should go.

Texas and Southern Methodist will be fighting to stay in the conference championship race. Each has lost one game and another loss would eliminate them from title contention.

WEEK OFF For some reason, SMU had a rather win over Texas than any other team. Southern Methodist last year took the week off before the Texas game. It caused Boss Cherry, then coach of Texas, to comment on the unfairness of teams taking an off week to get ready for Texas. Texas Christian has been doing it for several years.

SMU business manager of athletics, Jordan said it was not a deliberate action, however, that it just worked out that way because of the way the schedule had to be arranged. Next year the date before the Texas game will be filled and it will run that way until 1955.

"Anyway," said Jordan, "we never have gained anything by an open date. We had one in 1949 before playing Rice and one last year before Texas. We lost both games."

Coach H. N. Russell of Southern Methodist says it's also probably work out that way this year. He is picking Texas to beat his team by two touchdowns.

"Texas has the same defense it had last year when it was the best in the conference," Russell said. "Texas has more manpower than we have, has a much stronger running attack featuring Gib Dawson, and it has shown the past week that it can pass with the best of them. I expect to see so many passes I'll think the flying saucers have come back."

Russell pointed out that Texas beat Rice 14-0 and Rice beat Southern Methodist 28-7. "That means," he said, "that Texas is 20 points better than we are."

RUSSELL OUT SMU won't have the services of its ace linebacker, I. D. Russell, who is out for several weeks with a leg injury suffered in the Rice game. Baylor Stars Drive 94 Miles Through Rain To Present Ball To Polio Victim

DALLAS — (AP) — The game ball with which Baylor's football team came back last Saturday with a stirring finish to the Texas A&M, 21-21, will never be put on a shelf in Baylor's trophy room.

Today it is resting in the possession of the happiest kid in Parkland Hospital's polio ward, Jimmie Newton of Henderson, Tex.

Four of Baylor's brightest football stars drove 94 miles from Waco to Dallas during a rain to bring the football to Jimmie. They were Larry Isbell, a candidate for national football honors; linebacker Gale Galloway, and Stan Williams who played a terrific game Saturday, and end Harold Riley, Jimmie's special friend.

The Bears read that Jimmie one of their most ardent supporters, had a radio brought into the ward Saturday to hear the game report. So they said

"We've got to do something for the Newtons in Henderson. My wife fries shrimp just right. And shrimp is Jimmie's favorite dish," said Riley. "When Jimmie gets well, we're going to have him over for a lot of shrimp dinner."

Jimmie smiled and his lips moved. "This is the best medicine Jimmie could have," she cried when the four Bear football players walked into the ward. The ball they carried, autographed with the names of most of the Bears, was used for all of the Saturday game at College Station.

"This kid," said Riley, "knows more about football than any ten players I've ever known." Riley is married to a girl who

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
Here's Some Advice — Don't Be Greedy

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"You can't swindle an honest man," all the confidence men will tell you. The easiest man to swindle is the greedy fellow who's out for a profit that doesn't belong to him. The honest man will pass it up, but the greedy fellow will take it every time.

Is this a sermon or a bridge column? Today it happens to be a little of both.
West opened the queen of spades in the hand shown today, and South won in his own hand with the ace. He counted six clubs, two spades, and a heart no matter what happened—so he was always sure of his game. Meanwhile, there was no harm in taking a look at the diamonds.

So declarer led the jack of diamonds at the second trick. West naturally played low, and so did dummy. East won with the ace of diamonds.
East returned a spade to dummy's king, and South got back to his own hand with the nine of clubs in order to lead the ten of diamonds. West again played low, and so did dummy.
Thereupon East produced the queen of diamonds to win the trick. He then led a third round of spades, allowing his partner to win three tricks in that suit. Three spades and two diamonds were enough to set the contract.
East's little swindle was very neat, of course, but nothing to rave about. It worked only because South was too greedy to be satisfied with a sure ten tricks and the rubber. A sensible declarer would have taken his 630 points and would not have risked them for the sake of an uncertain 30 or 60 points more.

GETS HOT SEAT
SEATTLE — (AP) — One-year-old Barbara Alton got the hot seat from a tube of toothpaste.
The child's mother, Mrs. Lavern Alton, explained why Barbara needed hospitalization. Barbara climbed up in the bathroom to get at the toothpaste and fell stem first into the wash bowl. At the same time she struck the hot water faucet and hot water poured into the bowl.

"ATOMIC" FIRST-AID KIT—Every family should have a first-aid kit for use in emergencies or atomic disasters, according to the Cleveland Academy of Medicine's relief and disaster committee. Dr. Roscoe D. Leas, head of the committee, recommends that such a kit be made up of the items shown above—items usually found in the home—and stored in the place that would be the family's air raid shelter. Don't forget the First Aid book, and you may want to include a flashlight, scissors and paper drinking cups in the kit.

Department Stores Find Their Customers More Honest Now

NEW YORK — (AP) — Are you worried about the disclosures of widespread immorality in high and low levels of American life? Take heart. All is not lost. The American department store customer is getting more honest every year.
This cheering note comes from Max Hess, chairman of the Consumer Education committee of the National Retail Drygoods Assn. It represents more than 7000 U. S. department stores.
Hess has made a nation-wide survey that found the morality of the nation's millions of bargain seekers is at an all-time peak.
"The study shows a marked increase in both honesty and consideration on the part of the public," he said, "specifically in relation to the bugaboo of retail stores—refunds and exchanges."
He said that in the last decade the percentage of merchandise returned and dropped from 5.4 percent to 2.1 percent.
But his most heartening conclusion—heartening to department store owners as well as students of morality—is that the customers try fewer shady tricks in returning goods.
"Consumer honesty, as a matter of fact, has become almost universal," Hess said. "Attempted returns of used or deliberately damaged merchandise is only an infinitesimal .0027 percent of the total as opposed to 1.039 ten years ago."
This record would be even better, he remarked, except for an occasional lady who takes out a full set of expensive chinaware, ostensibly to buy it, but in reality to impress her guests at a fancy dinner party in her home.
"When she returns the chinaware a few days later, she sometimes hasn't even bothered to scrape all the food off the plates." Some other results of his survey:
Men are getting more fickle than

Mother, Age 15, Twin Sons Go Home

Mrs. Ethel Mae Wiklund, who was married Sept. 17, 1950, at the age of 14, explained to visitors that what she loves best is cooking and keeping house.
School held no allure for the blond, brown-eyed Ethel Mae. So she accepted the marriage proposal of Gene Wiklund, 19, a laborer.
Wiklund said he, too, is thrilled. He wanted a boy and got two.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

The day of the New England pioneers is not gone entirely. Their present-day, snap-shooting counterparts braved a day-long rain and chill winds to gather in a rural, 18th century town recently for a day of picture taking. I found about 175 hardy fans had lugged their families, assorted cameras, flash-guns and tripods, their enthusiasm undampened merely by inclement weather.

The occasion was the Fourth Annual Fall Camera Day of Old Sturbridge Village. The setting was a resurrected Massachusetts town of two centuries ago for which models in appropriate Colonial costume provided human interest. In addition, there was to be the beauty of autumn foliage to further reward the camera fans who could both see and snap the painter's palette-limited trees.

Despite the morning drizzle, there were some who searched outdoors for angles, composition and atmosphere. But as the rain fell increased, picture-taking activities moved indoors. Flood lights appeared and flash bulbs popped as the models posed before old-fashioned fireplaces and assorted colonial settings.

A star attraction, focus spot for a large following of cameras, was glamorous Faith Flagg, daughter of James Montgomery Flagg, noted artist. As I scurried from the church meeting house to the tavern along with other equipment-burdened fans trailing Miss Flagg, I wondered if it wasn't unusual for so many photographers to turn up in the rain.

"No," Earle Newton, director of Old Sturbridge Village, assured me. "This has happened before. We were similarly unfortunate in racking our Spring Camera Day. It rained even harder, yet about 600 showed up, most of them camera fans."

Weeks earlier, with a camera editor Isabel Scaerch of the New York World-Telegram & Sun and Jacob Deschin of the New York Times, I had judged a photo contest sponsored by the village. Today, it was my pleasure to award the winners their prizes, mostly handcrafts made by Old Sturbridge Village craftsmen. It was my formal introduction to Howard C. Skiff of Wetherfield, Conn., a camera craftsman, who had taken first prize last year and again this year.

A successful life insurance executive, Skiff devotes all his spare time to photographic activities. His last year's winning photo was the result of a mid-winter excursion to Old Sturbridge Village after a heavy snow fall. His picture-taking day on that occasion started at five in the morning in order to catch a sunrise. A series of photos revealed he had certainly captured the mood of winter in an old town.

This year's winner by Skiff was an interior shot taken by natural light. It showed a costumed model glancing out an old-fashioned window. It looked authentic, unposed and technically perfect.

Indoors or out, in snow or rain, with human interest or without, today's true camera fan is like the pioneer of old—going places, seeing things and leaving a record.

Russia Must Live Alone Or In Peace

QUEBEC—(AP)—U.S. Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said Tuesday night Russia soon must decide whether to live in peace with the free world or live in isolation under threat of eventual revolt by her satellites.

Wilson, in a speech to the Canadian chamber of commerce, said the United States will reach peak strength in its three-year, $150,000,000,000 defense program in 1952. He added that if necessary, the nation can hold the pace indefinitely, taking "the strain of it in our stride."

He said he doubts if Russia can do the same, and therefore the Soviets must soon make their choice.

"You are about to see production really pouring out," Wilson asserted. The United States, he said, now is ready to mass produce weapons calculated to "throw fear into the heart of any would-be aggressor."

"We have already reached the point where the strength we have acquired should cause the men in the Kremlin to pause long and to think hard before they attack us or our partners in the free world," he said.

A Tide Of Self Analysis

Since the Conservatives were victorious in the British elections, the world will now watch Winston Churchill and his administration with mixed feelings.

Unquestionably, the Russians, who welcome the British to the left elsewhere, will hope for a speedy crisis attended by the collapse of reaction. They will not be Churchill's well-wishers.

Equally unquestionable will be the rooting in this country for a hearty success by people who are not government reactionists.

The drift the past 20 years toward welfareism has threatened ancient institutions and there are many who do not think it was necessary. They would like a conservative administration of reaction if only to blow holes in the negative doctrine that welfareism is inescapable.

And certainly a successful demonstration that Britain can actually do better by going in the opposite direction, of socialism would do a great deal toward solving next year's presidential dilemma.

But America is to be warned against declaring a victory too soon. The British elections, actually coming out about 50-50 in the popular vote, did not fundamentally change the political destiny of the Island Kingdom.

It only granted a right to make an adventure in change. Any serious misadventure by the Conservatives can bring about a political reversal.

One of these errors is clinging to the idea that Russia is the prime revolutionary full of strength and consequence. And that somehow or other a fully restored British empire will make everything hunky-dory.

It has not come clearly to the United States that it stands as a world problem itself, more formidable than Russia. It is the world's leading revolutionary force, far more apt to succeed than Russia.

That is, the British empire cannot stand in its old form unless we learn how to stand in our new one. And even a modest triumph of British conservatism will ultimately have to face the American problem.

In the light of a American achievement, the so-called Russian revolution was obsolete before it started. It is nothing more than a rebellion against scarcity without means of providing the remedy.

It will take more than Churchill to cure Great Britain. It will take an understanding America that will help only as a good neighbor will help an America that will not destroy its own concepts by needless giving at the expense of its own people.

And most of all, it will take a clearer understanding of what we are.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

A Christian Economy Is A Free Economy? Since I never believe in doing anything that somebody else can do better, I want to quote for a couple of days from an article appearing in the magazine "Christian Economics" under the heading of "A Christian Economy is a Free Economy," and written by Percy L. Greaves, Jr.

Many church leaders seem to think there is something immoral about the competitive free enterprise system. There is nothing un-Christian or unethical about this competitive free enterprise system. Those people who believe in the free enterprise system are always willing to answer any and all questions about it, while those people who oppose it only want to make statements and run away.

I quote from this article: "A Christian is one who loves God and practices Christianity in all his dealings. What is the love of God? The Good Book tells us in the First Epistle of John: 'For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments.'"

"The prime aim and objective of every good and true Christian is to keep God's commandments to the very best of his ability. He strives to do this in every action he undertakes. A Christian can have no higher aim or objective. His standard of conduct is set for all time."

"Economics is the science of human behavior in the production and distribution of scarce goods and services. A Christian economy is one in which the science of economics is practiced within the limits of Christian aims and objectives. It is not within the province of economics or any other science to define the ultimate aims and objectives of mankind. That is the province of the makers of God, philosophers, and each individual man and woman. Once we are agreed on our aim or objective, our problem then becomes how to use the laws of God best to obtain our objectives. When we speak or think of the natural sciences, this statement is accepted without question. All good chemists and physicists use the laws of nature as a guide in their work as best they know how in order to obtain their final objectives. We may be sure that the laws of God are no less exacting than the laws of nature. They are the laws of God, and they are to be obeyed. Carried to the extreme, this would mean that once having eaten our cake, a man-made law would permit us to eat it again."

"Because our legislatures have passed man-made statutes dealing with economic affairs, there has been a growing acceptance of the idea that man-made statutes are the application of economic laws, just as shaking an apple tree may alter the fall of its apples. However, this does not change God's law of gravitation. The same general effect is true in economics. Man may use economic science in many ways. He is, of course, free to use it for evil aims and objectives as well as Godly aims and objectives. The Christian will only use it for the latter. That is, he will use it within the sphere of God's commandments."

"While God commands us to obey His laws, He does not compel us to do so. He permits each one of us to make the choice as to whether we shall do good or evil. Every human action is the result of man-made choices. Individuals are constantly faced with making choices. We may or may not choose the best way of doing anything. We are free to obey or not to obey the commandments. If we do not obey them, we must face the consequences unto the third and fourth generations. This applies equally to actions in the field of economics."

"Every living person is concerned with economics. Every living person, to remain alive, must obtain and consume some of the products of the earth. The production and distribution of these products is within the scope of economics. Every Christian will obtain his scarce goods and services by conduct prescribed by God's commandments—or suffer the consequences."

Baxter's Views

DAVID BAXTER

Sometime ago this column defended ex-president Herbert Hoover against the scurrilous attacks made on him by pointing out that the so-called Hoover Depression had been in the making for many years and would have occurred no matter who occupied the White House. It would have surely had Al Smith been elected instead of Hoover.

In this connection I was tickled when, in looking over a copy of OUR SUNDAY VISITOR, an article by Father Daniel A. Lord, S. J., caught my eye.

The election, says Lord, "was a sad day and night for us Catholics. It had been expected that the electorate would elect a Catholic and elect him. Such, however, was not the case. 'It was the guiltless Hoover plus some of the dirtiest politics and rottenest bigotry ever'—a knife a candidate that pulled the deal," Lord declares.

That's just what I've said in regard to Hoover. He simply ran on his own merits as one of the world's greatest administrators and had absolutely nothing to do with the religious fight which raged about Smith. I have never thought much of the election of Hoover. I thought Smith simply because he had to be a member of a religious minority and later events—when Mr. Smith walked out rather than to a party to nominate Roosevelt—proved Smith to be an able statesman. He was a mighty fine man in many ways. I believe his being a "wet" however, has as much to do with his defeat at Hoover's hands as religious antagonism. The "drys" were after Smith's scalp.

Says Fr. Lord: "If Al Smith had been elected, we Catholics would have got a setback from which we would not yet have recovered. In 1929, no matter who was in the White House, Wall Street was going to crash. The market, already tilted, was going to topple, and the top man in Washington was going to be derided and ashamed and blamed and cursed for a catastrophe the responsibility for which was in no slight way his."

There you are, the priest says exactly the same thing I and exonerates Hoover of having had anything to do with bringing on the depression. The Democrats just used the incident as a political football to smear the GOP candidate, Hoover's tremendous ability was recognized later even by two Democrats, Roosevelt and Truman, both of whom called in the former President when real brains were needed to administrate and re-organize government.

Fr. Lord was glad Al Smith wasn't elected when the crash came because he says that had Smith been in the White House the Catholic church would have gotten the blame instead of Hoover. That he says, would have been a "setback" from which "we Catholics" would not yet have recovered.

Bless Best! Looks like the Ku Klux boys and Drys missed a bet there. Bad strategy had helped elect Smith, instead of defeating him, so that he'd be in the White House and get the blame when the roof blew off. They simply built up their opposition and laid the groundwork for their own demise.

PHILIBRIC Howard Philbrick died the other day. Back in 1939, as editor of a weekly, I was one of the few news-papers in California foolishly enough to publish the Philbrick Report. Ten years later, I exposed Artie Samish, the liquor lobbyist, as California's kingpin and 12 years after I published the Report (including the goods on Samish) the Kefauver committee got around to it.

Even before the Prohibition repeal the liquor boys wrote into the California constitution a provision for liquor control. Apparently the board of equalization, this board is presently a dictatorial octopus many Californians would like to be rid of.

So badly did the board of equalization handle things that Senator H. E. Dillinger introduced a constitutional amendment taking liquor law control away from the board of equalization. Among senators favoring Dillinger's reform was ex-State Senator Herbert C. Jones.

Ernest Seawell, equalization board commissioner, made a bitter attack on Jones, claiming that Artie Samish got his start while Jones was a leader during the Young administration. Apparently Jones didn't know that, anyway, Samish didn't become a big shot until six years after Young's administration, when liquor and race gambling were legal. He became the lobbyist for both.

In 1937 the Sacramento grand jury checked and issued the Philbrick Report in 1939. The report fully exposed Samish. Governor Olson asked the legislature to meet the evils uncovered, using the Report as an exhibit.

The Assembly didn't print the report in its journal, but the Senate did. On motion of then Senator Jerrold L. Seawell, however, the Senate Journals containing the Report were destroyed and new ones, WITHOUT the Report, issued.

Later we find Senator Seawell being promoted politically, becoming a member of the Board of Equalization, which deals with the liquor traffic and is supposed to "represent" the "people's" interests, "represent" the "people's" interests, "represent" the "people's" interests.

The judge erred as to the evidence and the constitutional rights of citizens to lobby. Richberg says if this be a "tempest" as the "tempest" is the Constitution and the "tempest" is over the attempt to limit the right of free people.

So the editors and publishers of the Nation are rallying to the support of Rumley and the Committee on Constitutional Government. They say that if book publishers can be harassed and muzzled, today that all newspapers and magazines can be brown-bested tomorrow on the same theory.

IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT

FAIR ENOUGH--PEGLER

By WESTBROOK PEGLER NEW YORK—Ralph Howard Alsop, one of the most spectacular criminals in the union racket and an official of two branches of the American Federation of Labor, has been convicted of one more crime. Already under sentence for shooting a union workman in a union hall in Las Vegas, Nev., Alsop was found guilty by a federal jury on Oct. 23 of conspiring with a group of plumbers contractors to fix prices and stifle competition on construction in Clark county, Nev.

Clark county includes Las Vegas and a number of important war construction "projects." Alsop withheld union labor from contractors who refused to join and cooperate with him and the Merchant Plumbers' Assn.

Only by means of his power as a labor racketeer was Alsop enabled to make this conspiracy effective. Nevertheless, the A.F. of L. remained for considering his case at its recent annual convention in San Francisco. A short while before the national convention, the Nevada State Federation in Reno ejected and chased out of ear-shot two newspaper reporters assigned to cover the proceedings and then refused to accept a resignation which had been placed in Alsop's hands by Charles Hughes, a representative of William Green, who is always loath to take action against criminals in the A.F. of L., had lighted Alsop's criminal conduct in Las Vegas and his long record as a stick-up man and veteran jail-bird until the facts were insistently publicized last spring.

Only then did he send an agent into the field to inquire. But after his agent had confirmed the worst, the A. F. of L. did nothing and Alsop still remains in control of a tightly organized gang of criminals in absolute command of the federation in Clark county. They also exert a strong influence in the state as a whole.

Alsop is the most violent of the racketeers in this group, but there are three others in the ruling set, one of whom has a worse record of arrests and convictions than Alsop who has made a career of crime and prison life since 1930. The FBI record of Alsop's colleague, known variously as James King, Harry Ryan, Thomas Gilman and James Bailey, includes charges of manslaughter, robbery, larceny and jail-breaking in a career which began in 1921.

Harry De Paoli, the president of the State Federation of Labor, was candidate for re-election at the state convention and needed Alsop's votes to win. De Paoli refused to discuss the charges against Alsop, who told the convention about the resignation which Green's agent had placed in his hands.

After the reporters were put out of the convention, two of them remained near the closed door trying to learn what action would be taken to rid the federation of the racketeer. One of them was told to "get the hell out of here and stay out" and was shoved away by goons on guard.

Soon after this convention, Alsop got drunk, wrecked his automobile in a wild exploit which endangered many other lives, and was charged with drunken driving, possession of a pistol found in the car and a third offense, possession of a pistol by an ex-convict, which is a felony. The identification numbers had been filed off the gun.

Richard Hardy, a member of the Plumbers' union, of which Alsop is business agent, was a witness in the trial. He belonged to him and in this way seemed to have taken Alsop off the hook. He was fined $250 for illegal possession of the gun but was rearrested for perjury when evidence was presented that the gun was not his and that he had lied under oath. In addition to all his other official positions which establish his power as a blackmailer and extortioner, Alsop is president of the Nevada Trades Council of Clark county. He is known as a dangerous gunman who shoots without the slightest hesitation or provocation. The fact that he has a record as a killer is due only to his own bad aim or his "lifetime" good luck. He also beats his wife.

Troy O. Nance, the secretary-treasurer of the Laundry Workers' union in Las Vegas, is the principal interpreter for Alsop and the ring. Writing in the Nevada Citizen, the official organ of Alsop's Central Labor council, he resulted in the fact that five delegates remained seated when the overwhelming majority voted to reject Alsop's resignation at the state convention. In the same report, he reported that when De Paoli demanded that those who favored Alsop's resignation should stand up and be counted, the five lost their nerve and stayed down. Alsop is editor of the Nevada Citizen and defends his self at the expense of the rank and file.

A special agent from the national headquarters of the Plumbers and Steamfitters who "investigated" Alsop's resignation sent a glowing report. Local 525, ruled by Alsop, had the highest wage scale of all the locals, there were no delinquents on the books, and "if all our local unions were conducted in this manner my job as international representative would be a vacation."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWARD P. JODRAN, M. D. Written for NEA I was called to task recently by a lady who wrote, "Why do you fight us all the time about so many diseases? Every time I read about some disease I have never heard of, you tell me to 'have it'!" This letter causes me great concern, since I certainly do not want to frighten anyone unnecessarily. Such an experience is by no means uncommon; one famous scientist said that while studying medicine, he thought he had everything he studied except housemaid's knee. A person such as this correspondent, who has too good an imagination, and is inclined to worry, would be better off to leave this column alone.

The number of diseases or accidents that could afflict us is almost unlimited, but it is worth remembering that most of the time the majority of us stay healthy.

Even when we do suffer from disease or accident, the powers of nature, with an assist from medicine, usually result in complete recovery. In other words, most of us are healthy a lot more than we are sick.

One of the things which helps a great deal in keeping healthy is that most of us have a lot of natural resistance to disease and even when we are exposed, do not become ill.

During the course of many millions of years on this earth, the people who have survived have developed great power to resist or ward off many of the disease germs and other conditions which would otherwise wipe human beings from the face of the earth. Also, most of us have good luck in avoiding accidents and illness.

Preventive measures A brick falling from a roof or an automobile out of control have a great many places to go besides hitting us. Good fortune is not always present, but if it were not for this, the hospitals would be even more crowded than they are now.

Also, besides the natural resistance and good luck on which we must all count, modern sanitary methods, public health activities, vaccinations and other preventive measures have done much to cut down on the dangers to health.

Too much worry about the chances of becoming ill or suffering an accident must be avoided. Those who worry constantly are really suffering from a mental condition which is usually called a neurosis.

This in itself is a kind of "cancer," but the average person can fight it off without too much difficulty. It is best to use intelligent precautions in living and then cease worrying.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON Reminders: You sit comfortably in a theater or at home and you watch the actor playing in any one of several media. You think, well, now, he's doing a nice job, not too much of a role, but think of it never occurs to you to think of the actress and pain and tension he has undergone to achieve perfection in that role, however small.

But I know, because I have it in my own hand writing. I dropped the pen in a TV studio the other night after a show, the actors had left, the place was strewn with pieces of script, scribbled notes, the dress of rehearsal and performance.

One of the actors had had one line to say—and that one line consisted of two words. Another actor was to ask him: "What's your name?" and all he had to answer was "Harry Ward." But opposite the two words, "Harry Ward," this devoted actor had written stage directions for himself: "Nervous, loud, lively, a little dizzy and hysterical."

See what I mean by saying actors go through torment to perfect their art? You try to say "Harry Ward" nervously, loudly, lively, a little dizzy and hysterical.

Never mind all that confetti about looking at your shoes because other people do. Just look at other people's shoes and you will know all about them, character, kind of mind, taste and poise. It's all written in a person's footwear, if you know the signs.

And look in spite of the shoe wax ads, for men whose shoes are always spotlessly shining, gleaming like mirrors. That kind of devotion to footwear reflects a point of view I'd rather not go into right now.

It was in an Italian restaurant the other night and dipping into a bowl of spaghetti I ate with butter-garlic sauce. An Army colonel, with khaki uniform, was sitting at the next table and beamed approvingly. "You'll live long," he said. "Later, we joined forces and he explained what he meant."

Felicitas of garlic established by Army hospital research that people who eat a lot of garlic are relatively immune to hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure. Felicitas of garlic inserted in the nostrils will positively relieve sinus pressure and pain. And the parsley sprigs which you contemptuously push away from your lamb chops will save you from stomach ulcers.

No parsley, either, has ever had an ulcer. Lastly, if you have eaten heavily of garlic and have to go out

WASHINGTON Dignified and restrained members of the "top brass" at the Pentagon are slapping each other's backs and indulging in grim chuckles because of their definite belief that Josef Stalin has "missed the boat" insofar as his power to crush the Western powers on the battlefield is concerned. Our military fortunes are now on an up-grade.

Our defense leaders have made no secret of the fact that they regarded 1951 as the crucial and ominous year.

Had the Russians attacked in force during this period, they would have caught the United States and its allies as Hitler did in 1939, when we were only half-prepared.

It is now believed that the Reds cannot and will not open an offensive until next spring at the earliest. Then it will be too late for the United States to even the initial success that Der Fuehrer achieved in 1940.

ADVANTAGE — According to this reasoning, Stalin would have "jumped" the Western world in the July-September quarter, if he had not been struck. During that period which is the conventional season for outbreaks of European conflicts, the crops would have been gathered, and millions of farm boys would be available for army duty.

The weather would have been ideal for movement of troops and stores. It is probable, according to Pentagon strategists, that he could have reached the channel ports in six to eight weeks. That would have given him the advantage of taking over Western European harvests and manufactured stuff.

SNOW-BOUND — Within a few weeks, the vast Russian plains and roads to the west will be snow-bound, and it will be impossible for large military forces. The fierce cold will militate against aerial operations.

Thus the danger of a 1951 thrust has vanished. There can be no large-scale attack now until May or June, for April is an unseasonable month because of the late snow and sub-zero m.u.d. And then we will be ready for him!

BOMB — Pentagon confidence in our ability to withstand a 1952 Russian thrust in any of the local areas of the Balkans, the Middle East, the Balkans and other Mediterranean areas — is not based on our store of atomic bombs and missiles. Nor does it derive from development of pushbutton weapons. A new type of packaged bomb

Scarcity Of Pennies Presents Problem To Slot Machine Age

NEW YORK — (AP) — The penny is worth so little in the market-place these days that it will buy you practically nothing, and yet it is so much in demand and so scarce that some companies are offering to pay a premium to get a supply of pennies. They need them in their business and can't get enough. Dimes don't buy what they did, either. And yet they too are often scarce and in great demand.

It's because we're in a slot machine age, needing more metal coins. The Federal Reserve Boarding system pleads with the kiddies to empty their piggy banks and bring in the pennies to help put the banking system, which can't supply the demand. The U.S. treasury, which is looking for several billions of dollars to make up an expected deficit, takes time off to ask housewives, please, empty the sugarbowl of the penny hoard and take it to the bank. Federal mints are turning out more than eight million pennies a day and can't keep up with the demand. The penny's popularity seems the more remarkable since it doesn't buy much anymore. But there are explanations of the great demand. In many cities the sales tax means that the cashier asks you for your pennies when you pay for your meals or other purchases. Bus drivers are likely to ask you for 12 cents instead of 10. Vending machines often need pennies to make change. In Lorain, Ohio, the Cigaret Sales Co., which distributes cigarets through vending machines, says it needs 600,000 pennies a week to insert into cigaret packages. It says it will pay you $102.50 if you bring $100 worth of the coppers. The growth of vending machines, meters, and other automatic coin devices, along with the sales tax, and the tendency of stores to mark goods at $1.99 instead of $2 as of old, may be the cause of all the shortages in coins. The director of the U.S. mint says that since the war started in Korea the mints have turned out more than 857 million pennies. Where they all went to, the director doesn't know. But a lot must be in piggy banks, sugar bowls and bureau drawers.

The Manly Art Of Fishing Has No Appeal For Mclemore

By HENRY McLEMORE
CARRIBEE YACHT BASIN, Madiocomb Key, Fla. — Please don't get the impression that because I'm here I have a yacht. The only boat I ever had was a celluloid one that Mama bought me to play with in the bathtub, and that eventually had to be sold when the upkeep became too steep. I am here fishing, but don't ask me why. A good 20 years ago I swore on a stack of racing forms that I would never go fishing again. It is on creek, river, lake, inland sea, or ocean. Without bringing more than half of my mighty mind into play I can think of at least a thousand reasons why a man shouldn't go fishing.

to cut your own hair and pull your own teeth. If there is anything less attractive to touch than a dead fish, I don't know what it is, and fish hang on to their scales as if they were made of pure platinum. No fishing party has ever been lucky enough not to have a man among it who prides himself on how well he can cook fish. It takes him hours to turn out what could pass for the blood brother of a singed shingle, and all the time you are eating this singed shingle you have to keep up a running commentary on how magnificent it tastes, when what you really ache to do is grab it by its burned tail and slap him across the kisser with it. Another delight of fishing is the man who is jolly at four o'clock in the morning. To judge by his behavior, you would think he had been born during an eclipse and had never seen the daylight. This jolly type is best kept muzzled on a leash. At the end of a day's fishing, how glorious it is to come in, dog tired and do your own work and cooking. I would much rather buy myself a bowl of goldfish and take my chances on what I catch.

Wheeler Band To Collect Old Paper

WHEELER — (Special) — Band boosters started a bi-weekly pick up of old newspapers and magazines this week. Mrs. Bill Owen and Mrs. Deward Wofford have announced that band boosters and band members will tour the town on Monday and Thursday afternoons immediately after school. All residents are requested to put the old papers and magazines on their front porches on these days. A market has been found for the waste paper and the funds will be used to buy new equipment for the band.

Officers Elected By Wheeler 4-H

WHEELER — (Special) — J. E. Rogers was elected president of Wheeler 4-H club at a meeting held recently. Regie Barr was elected vice president; Burley Owen, secretary and Tony Weatherly, reporter. A movie, "Pageant of Progress," showed the advancement of farming tools from the wooden plow to modern equipment. Robert Ledbetter gave a talk outlining the most effective methods for poisoning rats.

Experts Say Wheat In Good Condition

Area wheat is in good condition according to three agricultural authorities who visited county farms this week. Dr. Harvey L. Chada, U.S. Department of Agriculture entomologist from Denton and Dr. R. G. Dahms, USDA entomologist from Stillwater, Okla., and Fred Dines, wheat marketing specialist, toured a number of farms Tuesday to study wheat insects.

Reports by these three were encouraging, according to Foster Whaley, Gray county farm agent. They said no major problem exists in wheat fields visited in the county. In some fields there was a pretty heavy population of flea beetles, Whaley reported. The flea beetle is a small, black to steel-blue insect that resembles a flea in many of its actions and at the present time is found in wheat fields adjoining grain sorghum stubble and old lake bottoms. The beetle is a chewing insect that attacks leaves. It leaves irregular patterns on the surface of the leaf. When damage is excessive the entire leaf dies, if there is no moisture in the soil for additional leaf and soil development, the entire plant may die as a direct result of the flea beetle. The recent rains have helped, according to the authorities. It has counteracted what damage has been done by the beetle. Chada and Dahms predicted cold weather would take the beetles out shortly. Only one green bug was found after an intensive search in the many fields checked. Farms visited included the Jim Philpott farm, northeast of Pampa and the Clyde Carruth and Bill Stockstill farms. Dines was encouraged over the great improvement made in the wheat from recent showers. In many cases, wheat, once considered dead, was greening up from the rains and was putting out much-needed lateral roots. Even though rain has been in light, showers, the visitors found the moisture has made contact with the sub-soil moisture. Chada, Dahms and Dines will continue their study of insects through the Panhandle counties.

Wheeler Firemen Undergo Training

WHEELER — (Special) — Wheeler volunteer firemen began a series of training courses last week. L. O. Bynum of the Industrial Extension service conducted the first of five classes on the chemistry of fire fighting. He will instruct firemen on the most effective way to use the equipment at hand. Bynum is now conducting classes in Wheeler, Wellington, Shamrock and two in Canadian. He is a firemen's training field instructor sent out from Texas A&M college. The classes are free to volunteer fire departments and Fire Marshals' Assn men's and Fire Marshals' Assn of Texas. Wheeler volunteers number around twenty five and are headed by Chief Jack Garrison and Fire Commissioner H. W. Coffman.

New Taxes Will Make It Tough For The Gambler

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Times were never so tough in the house Lady Luck operates just beyond the law. All her chancy sons have a rendezvous to keep with their Uncle Sam's tax collector. And the very thought of it was hurting, bad. They had built their lives on a plush two-to-one proposition — of the two great certainties, death and taxes, only one bothered gamblers. Effective now, the government has added taxes. It almost looked like a plain tax law could do what the law of averages never did — turn the odds against the gamblers. A bookie in New Orleans (who said he'd rather his name not be used) declared: "This is going to put me under. The government don't bet it back."

Like many another furtive gent who said paying taxes would drive him out of business, the New Orleans horse parlor host did not say whether he was really quitting, or going underground. A few numbers vendors in New Orleans applied for unemployment relief. The gambler's tax is part of the new revenue bill going into effect tomorrow, with total annual returns estimated at $5,851,000,000. House of Representatives tax technicians guessed, after consulting with the treasury, that gamblers might be stuck for about $400,000,000 of this. No enforcement plans have been disclosed. The tax does not apply to legal pari-mutuel operations, "social" or "friendly" games of chance, church bingo games or office football pools. The law makes TWL calls on all professional gamblers: 1. They must register and buy a $50 occupation stamp, which must be posted prominently in their place of business. Gamblers whose hat is their office can carry their stamp there. 2. They must pay a ten percent tax on their gross take. That means ten per cent, win or lose, of all money bet with them. Penalties range up to a year in prison, plus a $10,000 fine. A Washington lawyer has announced he had clients — he wasn't saying who — who want to test the first requirements against the Constitution.

'Make Believe' Conversations Show Up Stalin

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The State Dept. radio is broadcasting make-believe interviews with Russian Prime Minister Stalin to support its contention that his words on peace and war "contradict each other." Officials said today that the "Voice of America" programs, based on Stalin's past utterances, are aimed largely at Soviet bloc listeners. The first make-believe interview, devoted to what Stalin has said about the inevitability of war, was used over the week end. The next one, scheduled for broadcasting a few days hence, deals with his utterances on "capitalist encirclement" of the Soviet union. One broadcast quoted Stalin as telling former Vice President Henry A. Wallace in an open letter on May 17, 1948: "The government of the USSR considers that, despite the differences in the economic systems and ideologies, the co-existence of these systems and the peaceful settlement of differences between the USSR and the United States are not only possible, but also doubtless necessary in the interests of Leninism" which in 1945 was contrasted with what Stalin wrote in his book "Problems of Leninism" which in 1945 had gone into two editions. Stalin said, according to the "Voice": Thyme, a popular seasoning today, was used by ancient Greeks as incense for their temples.

Grandfather was a thrifty soul but how he gambled!

In fact, once upon a time, all business men who advertised were, willing or unwilling, confirmed speculators. They couldn't help it, because in those days they had no way of knowing what they would get for their money. Today, advertising money can be invested on a basis of facts—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national, cooperative and non-profit association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. The A.B.C., organized in 1914, has established standards for measuring the circula-
