Premier Wins Vote Of Confidence

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Premier Mohammad Mossadegh won a unanimous vote of confidence in the Iranian Senate today, paving the way for national elections in the next two or three days. The vote followed a similar ballot in the Majlis (lower house) yesterday when Mossadegh persuaded the deputies to reverse their earlier decision to postpone the elections until Dec. 18.

Search For Plane Is Given Up

ROME — (AP) — The U. S. Air Force has given up the general search for an American C-47 transport plane which disappeared Nov. 19 en route from Munich to Belgrade with four crewmen. A spokesman at U. S. Air Force Hqs. at Treviso, said a small crew with a helicopter and two planes would remain on duty to check any reports on the missing craft.

Two Deluxe Trains Collide; 18 Are Killed

WOODSTOCK, Ala. — (AP) — Eighteen were killed and 60 hurt as two deluxe trains collided in the town of Woodstock, Ala., today. The collision occurred at 10:15 a. m. on the Louisville and Nashville line near New Orleans, 320 miles away. Most of the dead were in the first car of the Southern, all-coach train northbound from New Orleans. It was crushed like an eggshell. In it death was quick and merciful.

Hearing Slated On Paving Projects

The public hearing on the 1952 paving program authorizing 42 blocks of paving, will be held by the city commission at 9 a. m. Tuesday. An ordinance authorizing the paving was passed several weeks ago by the commission. Inclusion of the projects in the 1952 program is up to the property owners on blocks named in the ordinance.

If all of the property owners in any one block declare their willingness to finance their share, the block (or blocks) will be paved.

Included in the program are blocks on Banks, Christy, Coffey, Finch, Gray, Gwendolen, Hamilton, Harvester, Houston, Lincoln, Louisiana, Maple, Murphy, Pennsylvania, Rham, Russell, Schneider, Wilks, Williston, Zimmers, 18th, and 19th.

Property owners directly concerned with the program have already been sent individual notices, City Secretary Ed Vicars said.

City Manager Dick Pappin reported he didn't know whether the title covering one acre of Prairie Village has been cleared yet so that the commission can pass the annexation ordinance to-morrow on the final reading, making the village a part of Pampa.

Data on the recently approved $75,000 civic improvement bond issue has been sent to the Credit Restriction commission, Dallas, where it will be taken under study by that group, a voluntary finance organization made up of banks and financial houses.

The commission will hold a meeting next week when city officials will appear before it to answer questions on the need for each of the items — water, sewer, street improvements and municipal park rest rooms.

BACK FROM "DEAD" — Mrs. T. K. Butler, above, 60-year-old widow who was pronounced dead by doctors on Nov. 8, smiles as she talks over her experience with reporters in San Francisco. Found apparently lifeless in her bathroom after taking an overdose of barbiturates, Mrs. Butler was being removed to the morgue when she gave a gasp that saved her life. Doctors were amazed at her now almost complete recovery from a deep coma. Mrs. Butler says she is happy to have gained "another chance" at life.

Truman To Probe Atrocities

KEY WEST, Fla. — (AP) — Confidants' say today President Truman is making a thorough inquiry into the handling of the Korean atrocity charges.

An atmosphere of official silence, however, enveloped his investigation, and the same official silence covered his study of the atrocity charges.

Murray, CIO Head, To Meet Government Curbs Headon

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Phillip Murray, the tight-lipped Scot who leads the CIO and its million-member United Steelworkers' union, will meet government controls headon tomorrow when he opens new contract negotiations here with United States Steel Corp. Before the week is out many of the nation's other top steel producers will sit down at preliminary negotiations with steelworkers' officials.

Train Wreck In Idaho Probed

ORCHARD, Idaho — (AP) — Five crewmen were killed yesterday in the collision of two Union Pacific freight trains, a collision so violent that a huge overhead trestle plunged to earth, squashing a diesel power unit. The westbound freight, moving slowly but with the inertia of 68 loaded coal cars behind it, slammed into the front of the halted eastbound train.

Texans Take 4-H Awards

CHICAGO — (AP) — Three Texans are national winners in the achievement awards of the 30th 4-H Club congress. Announcement of the winners was made yesterday. Each winner will receive a $2000 scholarship by an industrial farm sponsoring the program.

Unveiling Slated For Lee's Portrait

WEST POINT, N. Y. — (AP) — A portrait of Gen. Robert E. Lee will be unveiled Jan. 10 at the United States Military Academy as a companion piece to a painting of Gen. U. S. Grant, later president. The unveiling ceremony was announced over the week end in a program for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Gen. Lee.

Ke Warns NATO Commanders To Stop Hagglng; Forget Glory

ROME — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower sternly warned Atlantic pact commanders today to stop haggling over command appointments, forget individual national glory and "attempt the impossible" in building true western security against aggression by pooling their sovereignty.

Draft Rules Tightened On Enlistments

Draft regulations are being tightened up on voluntary enlistments by men who have received pre-induction physical examination notices from draft boards.

New Aircraft Goes Into Production

HAWTHORNE, Calif. — (AP) — A new twin-jet interceptor, the F-80D Scorpion, will go into quantity production soon at the Northrop Aircraft plant here. The company said yesterday that the first model is undergoing tests. The craft fires rockets with electronic aiming and automatic triggering equipment. Details are restricted but the ship is known to fly in the 600 mile an hour range.

Violent Death Takes Toll In Texas Over Week End

(By the Associated Press) Violent death struck at least 41 times in Texas during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday—but strangely, few of the deaths occurred on Thanksgiving day. Traffic, as might be expected during a holiday, when there is more highway travel, was blamed for the greatest toll—20 persons. Five crashes took four lives, five persons burned to death, five persons shot. There were two suicides and two men smothered to death. A stabbing was fatal and a car fell from a jack to crush one man.

Three Women Killed In Car Crash

Three women were killed Friday in a two-car collision near Conroe. They were Miss Virginia J. Stone, about 55, and her sister, Mrs. Electra B. Thompson, about 60, both of Houston, and Mrs. Bayard T. Gross, Kansas City. Roy Dewpre Brown, San Angelo, was crushed to death near Midland Friday when a jack slipped while he was repairing his car and the car crushed him.

But Hospitals More Crowded:

State TB Assn. Claims Fewer People Die From Tuberculosis

The drive against tuberculosis in Gray County has entered financial stages as the Christmas season enters. The Gray County residents began receiving their Christmas seals last week end as the Gray County Tuberculosis Assn. sought to raise more than $2000 to carry out the fight against TB in this area.

The local organization this year is headed by McHenry Lane with Dr. Julian Key as vice-president and B. R. Nuckols, treasurer and recording secretary. They are assisted by 26 directors with Mrs. I. H. Wade, 1609 Williston, responsible for mailing seals and letters to more than 6000 county residents.

The local chapter's fight was helped this week by a report from the Texas Tuberculosis Assn. which said that fewer people are dying from TB each year, but the number of patients in TB hospitals is growing.

Train Wreck Investigation Under Way

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials have begun investigating the Thanksgiving morning collision of two electric trains moving abreast through a narrow tunnel under Park Avenue.

Twenty-seven passengers were injured Thursday, two of them critically, as two eight-car New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad trains sidestepped in an impact of crumpling steel and flying glass.

Although the trains were moving north at only 10 miles an hour, the crash caused part of the trains to smash against opposite sides of the tunnel while one coach ripped through a concrete retaining wall.

Grayson Plans Bright Future

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm free for the first time in my life," enthused Kathryn Grayson, her upswipe nose tilted at a gay angle.

"How's that again?" I asked. "This is the first time in my life I've been a free woman. When I was a girl, my main diversion was attending musicals. My father would pick me up promptly at 10 o'clock, when the musicals were over. When my parents were away on a trip North Carolina, I sneaked away and married John Shelton."

WCTU Returns To Attack Toys

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union, foe of liquor, today attacked department store toys that "glorify gambling and gangsterism."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, national president of the WCTU, said merchants should get "back in step with the religious significance of Christmas and with the Kretzner Crime committee."

More Vets Return

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A big transport brings 4,414 more veterans back to the United States today.

Yesterday 1,178 marines came in on the Navy transport Mendocino. Among them were the last returning group of Marine veterans of the Inchon landing made on Korea's west coast 14 months ago.

Woman Cited As A Possible Candidate For Vice-Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the Senate's only current woman member, was proposed for a running mate on the GOP ticket as the Republican vice presidential nominee next year.

"I know she would greatly strengthen our 1952 ticket with anyone," Aiken told a reporter. "And if anything should happen to the President, the country would still be in strong, capable hands."

Homes Purchased By Forty Enable Pension Retirement

Families should make their plans early and start buying a home prior to the time they reach 40, said Conrad P. Harness, public relations director of the National Assn. of Home Builders, in an interview on the national radio show, "Housing Headlines." Harness pointed out that those who buy before 40 will have their homes free and clear of debt by the time they reach 65. Then, he says, they will find it easier to stretch their social security benefits, which amount to a present national average of $45 per person, or $68 per couple.

Anybody who had to pay rent or meet a mortgage on this annuity would have a tough time, the NAHB official told John Batcherfield, nationally known newscaster. But those who have an assured place in which to live in retirement can stretch that social security income much farther.

Harness pointed out that younger families were purchasing homes today, the average age being 31. This he attributed partly to World War II, which raised marriage rates, to the increased prosperity of the average U.S. worker and the home loan provision of the GI bill.

The recent statement by Winston Churchill that the Conservative British government would raise the housing goal from 200,000 to 300,000 units per year, and allot the extra 100,000 to private builders, was commented on by W. P. "Bill" Atkinson, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, in an interview on "Housing Headlines," national radio program.

Atkinson, recently returned from a housing inspection tour of Britain, said Churchill's plan was to allow private enterprise to erect the extra 100,000 units "because it could build 10 to 15 percent cheaper and 40 to 80 percent faster than the government."

In spite of that, commented the NAHB president, Churchill's party does not plan to reduce the government housing program. This is proof that once government gets into the field or private enterprise, it hardly takes a step back, Atkinson said.

Atkinson cited this example as illustration of why U.S. builders are opposed to the U.S. government's program of subsidized

Color Scheme May Be Keyed To Color Of Room Accessory

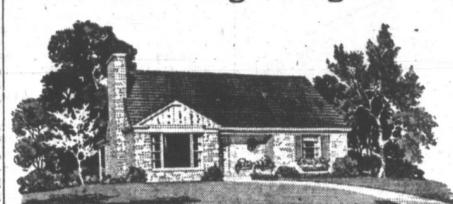

If you have a favorite picture or painting whose colors are especially appealing, the entire color plan of your room may be keyed to the coloring in the picture. Use the colors in your room in the same proportion in which the artist used them in the picture, for happy results, reminds Colorizer Paint Council.

Room colors can be borrowed from other favorite possessions, such as a vase, a lovely lamp, a collection of fine glass or china. Since their colors were selected by skilled artists and craftsmen, pleasing color harmony is assured.

Murder in Quotes

EARNIE BERMAN said nothing. Babe Tussig, a hand over the bandage on his neck, was also silent. Both looked intensely satisfied.

"I've already talked to the blonde girl," Sheriff Em Souder said. "Of course she says she told you to come here. Glad you admit it. One thing more we won't have to prove. Any other confession you'd like to make?"

"I thought I had better not say anything more till I had talked to my lawyer. 'Can I phone Gene Sawyer?'"

"Plenty of time for that," said the sheriff. "Plenty of time." He got a pair of handcuffs from his belt and slipped one bracelet over my right wrist. He slipped the other over his own left wrist and handed the key to his deputy. All during the time I had been in custody charged with Charlie Berman's murder, the sheriff had never used the cuffs.

"This time I was in for it. Everybody believed me a killer. That other time they had excused me. This time they wouldn't. It's not the thing, to stab a pretty girl."

"Let's go," said the sheriff, as if I had anything to do with it. At the jail he let me call Gene. I gave Gene the bad news. I could hear him catch his breath over the phone. "I'll be right over."

The sheriff let us talk in the women's quarters, which happened to be vacant. He looked around carefully. "What's the idea?"

"I'm looking for a bug. So far as I know, they have none."

"Well, you can stop looking. The sheriff can listen to anything I have to say. I didn't kill her."

"Then who did?"

"Well, you set yourself up for a frame—if it was a frame. Don't lie to your own lawyer, Jimmer. Did you do it? If you tell me the truth I may have a chance to get you off."

I made a wry face. "I told you the truth that other time. You didn't believe me. I'm telling you the truth this time, an... again you don't believe me!"

"But Jimmer—"

"Save it! If you can't see that Earnie Berman is framing me out of spite, that he killed Cleo because she talked to me, then you can't appreciate the obvious!"

GENE drew up his tall frame so that it no longer appeared to have a stoop. "Jimmer, why don't you stop insulting my intelligence? The girl, Cleo talked, all right, the way you said she did. But she didn't talk enough, and you blew your top. Don't try to kiss your lawyer about what happened. To quote Samuel Butler, you're about as subtle as a dove and as innocent as a serpent!"

"Quotes! First Maurois, now Butler! It's a wonder you aren't telling me that I killed that girl because everybody thinking I was a killer made me one!"

Gene made a wry face. "No, I'll grant that public opinion can't work that fast. But you're hooked this time, Jimmer. The best I can hope to get for you is a life sentence with a possible parole in ten to twenty years. In the meanwhile I'll get your property back. You can sell it and have a nest-egg when you get out."

I LAUGHED bitterly. Then Gene rapped on the steel door, and it was opened by a deputy sheriff. Gene stalked out, not even saying goodbye.

The deputy took me down to the bullpen. Everybody there was waiting. Somehow they had found out about my trouble.

Hal Hoyer said: "I hear you stabbed a girl. How about that, Jimmer?"

I took Hal to a back cell and told him my story. I was "trying it out on the dog." I watched him closely. He wasn't having any. But he said:

"I still wish you luck, and I think a lot of people will. It all ties in with Charlie Berman stealing your lease. And I still wish I was in your shoes. If you could change places with me, you'd be going out of here a minute after midnight. That's when my time's up. Outside, you might be able to get a line on something that would help you."

I stared at him. For the first time I realized that he was about my size. At midnight the bullpen lights were doused. If I wore Hal's clothes a deputy would mistake me for him until I was out in the jail's office.

Hal read my mind. He held out his hand.

"It's a deal, Jimmer. I'm in here so much it won't matter if they keep me for helping you."

VERSATILE EX-SAILOR

NEWPORT, R.I. — (AP) — "Versatile" describes Retired Navy Chief Walter C. Johnston. He conducts Newport community classes on the musical saw. And he holds two patents on the use of shark teeth in jewelry.

Johnston, now 69, can't understand why shark meat isn't generally sold. He says it tastes good and has high food value. He claims a world's record catch of 10,000 pounds of shark in four hours off Fernandez, Fla., in 1925.

Before joining the Navy in 1903 he trekked about the country and now figures he has worked at 65 occupations in 46 states. He says he's pretty good at 37 different jobs. He has collected 500,000 stamps.

Economy Is Weak

JAKARTA, Indonesia — (AP) — In spite of record prices paid on war-jittery world markets for Indonesian tin, rubber and oil, Indonesian economic position is weak. This was stated by the head of the Directorate for Trade and Industry of the Ministry of Economic Affairs. He was addressing a conference of economic officials.

"Any drop in prices being paid for our main export products would seriously harm Indonesia's economy," he said.

What Principles Does Presidential Candidate Warren Propose?

Governor Warren in announcing his candidacy for President of the United States said: "We must be willing to swim or sink with the principles we profess."

I have read the whole announcement speech and I fail to find a single principle that he stands for. In fact, I find plenty of evidence that he does not stand for any principles...

Where does he violate the Bearing False Witness Commandment? Listen to this: "We never could and never should try to satisfy the extremists on either end, because neither of them want to see real progress made."

Now let's see whether Governor Warren actually covets and advocates legalized stealing and plundering. In the first place, he uses the word "we" as a camouflage because he does not think it expedient to say that the government should do this and do that.

National Whirligig... Taft Camp Has Influential, Surprising Figure In Eccles

WASHINGTON — A surprising and influential figure in Senator Robert A. Taft's pre-convention camp is expected to be Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and a Salt Lake City banker with varied interests ramifying through the country beyond the Rockies.

Fair Enough... Discussion Of His Majesty's Speech A Serious Business

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LONDON — The discussion of his Majesty's gracious speech to the British Parliament, written by the Winston Churchill and others to express the intentions of the new administration, naturally has been a very serious business.

It is an ancient custom when the King's speech to move discussion of the outwary bill, an old relic that has been kicking around since the days of Robin Hood. There is no point in this what's, and they never discuss the outwary bill. Beverly Baxter, who was born a Canadian and sits for a London constituency where he does not live, a common custom in the lower house, explains the outwary bill in means of reminding the King that Commons still retains its independence. The idea seems to be that one of these days Commons actually will take up the outwary bill and ignore the King's speech by way of admonishing the King that the Rt. Hon. Gents can think of nothing of less consequence than his remarks. If that is funny or whimsical, it is all right with me, but that boast of the independence of Parliament and its integrity is empty in view of the acknowledged fact that many of the members are bought and paid for by the unions or the "interests" and make no bones about it.

A few days later the government was able to advise the public that a number of replacements had been promised by persons in Texas and Louisiana so the question was not merely in order but profitable. At that supplies were at a dangerous level, Lord Woolton, the lord president of the council, said that day and the stocks were worse now than they had been at any time during the submarine menace in the war.

Ecceles, in a written reply, duly recorded in Hansard, the congressional record of the British Parliament, stated that there had been, indeed, until recently, two pelicans in St. James's. One had died at the age of 60 on Oct. 13. He had been blind for some time and was kept on Duck Island. The other, a much younger bird, died on Oct. 27 of disease. The right of the department was trying to replace these amiable inhabitants of St. James's and meanwhile, the Zoological Society of London, had kindly lent one.

Women Can Choose Long Or Short Hairstyles And Stay Fashionable

An amazing panorama is taking place in the world of women this year.

For the first time in many, many seasons fashion designers and hairstylists are offering women a choice — they have dictated few rules which must be followed to the letter, and as a result women can find styles right for them and at the same time be fashionable. Women are wearing pencil-slim skirts, billowing skirts. They're wearing if everyone is letting her hair grow, she lets hers grow too.

Tweeds to satins, and they're wearing hair long or short. The average woman considers length of hair when she ponders what's new and smart in hairstyles. If the trend is toward short hair, she wears it short, or short hair, she wears it long.

This year women can lean toward individual styling rather than collective styling. One Pampa hairstylist, Mrs. Lyda Doggett, points out that women have been asleep too long when it comes to the possibilities hair can add to their appearance.

"Now," Mrs. Doggett explains, "women can find their best style — long or short — and still be fashionable correct."

Mrs. Doggett is a newcomer who came here two months ago from the glamour capital of the world — Hollywood — where she worked five years in the House of Westmore, owned by the famed Westmore brothers of Hollywood. She is a member of the National Hairstyling Association.

In giving the long and short of hairstyling, Mrs. Doggett explained that men stylists are promoting the close, cropped head while women stylists are following the trend of a longer, more feminine, more detailed coiffure. Men are pushing such styles as the "poodle ruff" (with three-inch strands tapered to form a mass of ringlets over the head) and the short "brush-up" (swept back waves with short back strands of hair brushed upward in a high flutter).

The women stylists, in direct contrast, are offering longer hairstyles, such as the "poodle ruff" (with man on the street wants his wife to wear. Longer hair is worn with waves swept back into a chignon or with just a hint of a chignon — never loose, Mrs. Doggett explains.

Mrs. Doggett has noticed many differences in local patrons to those in Hollywood. Women here demand a smooth, light style that will withstand severe winds where so many women in California, weather played little part in hairstyles. Pampa women want casual styles, round-the-clock sort of styles, that will last a week, but Hollywood women want the ultra-sophisticated style which often is good for only one evening. Curling irons, almost unheard of here, play a big part in Hollywood styling where a woman may wait her style changed on short notice to something formal, and changed the next day to a sleek, but less elaborate style.

One thing Mrs. Doggett hears in Pampa that she never heard in California is, "Do my hair like Mrs. Blank's." A Hollywood woman goes to a hairstylist in the same frame of mind she goes to her doctor. She goes for a diagnosis. Many things must be considered in styling hair — length of neck, width of shoulders, size and shape of head and general stature and appearance. Hairstylists know these points and must study constantly to keep up with new solutions and methods.

"Few styles," Mrs. Doggett points out "are interesting to do unless the operator is doing what she knows is best for the woman. I like to exert a little planning and thought into all my hairstyles, and use my imagination, too."

Hairstyles should reflect the personality of the woman and her mode of living. Hairstyles aren't conformed to personalities, but personalities conformed to hairstyles. Few women can wear "the hairstyle of the year" without slight deviations, she claims.

The extreme hairdos, famous in the film capital, are Mrs. Doggett's favorites. They're the ones that take the most thought and the most ingenuity. She has done styles using the new color sprays which come in 12 shades.

One demonstration she did last year featured french braids with clusters of curls with each curl in a different color. Not popular in the Panhandle, now, and likely never will be, but color sprays are a vogue on the West Coast. The tints are harmless, according to Mrs. Doggett, and come out with one shampoo.

Mrs. Doggett finds, despite severe climatic conditions, that Pampa women have a better texture of hair than many of her former patrons. In Hollywood, where so many women are directly or indirectly connected with the film industry, women must change the color of their hair often, and that has left it in poor condition.

Hairstyles follow the fashion trends. One new note going along with the higher waistlines of the empire manner is the modern adaptation of the historical mode. Wide waves dip on the cheek, brief back hair is brushed up, and flirtatious bangs, turned slightly, lie flat on the forehead. This is especially good for the small, shallow hats. (Women should choose hairstyles more like they buy hats — looking at it right and left, front and back).

In contrast, are the styles that are pushed up and back from the face. And the very latest for 1952 is "frame waves." Waves from every angle of the head — front, back and side. False hair, too, is important for the woman who wants a short, casual hairstyle for everyday wear, and a longer style for glamour and variety.

Mrs. Doggett is careful to point out that though women are fighting for the longer hairstyles, they agree with the men stylists that it must, simply must, be up off the neck.

Men and women agree, too, that whatever the style, hair must have a natural sheen. If it isn't there naturally, it must be developed for regardless of long or short hair, it's not at its best if it doesn't shine.

Other officers are Mrs. Morris Enloe, secretary; Mrs. Homer Keys, treasurer, and Mrs. R. A. Mack, worship chairman.

PHOTOGRAPHIC MYSTERY — This picture, which appeared in the Ashland (Ky.) Daily Independent, was represented to that newspaper as an actual photograph taken in the sky over Korea. The Independent ran the picture on a Sunday and the entire edition of 14,000 copies was quickly sold out, with people clamoring for more. Two weeks later, also on a Sunday, the paper ran the picture again and again the entire edition was snapped up. Readers sent clippings to friends and the Independent has been receiving hundreds of letters from all over the country. According to the information received by the paper, an Air Force man from Chicago took pictures of an American and a Communist plane during a combat patrol. He sent the films home to Chicago to be developed. To the amazement of everyone, including the flyer, the image of Christ, supposedly formed by clouds, showed up on one of the photos. A neighbor of the Air Force man's family in Chicago sent a print to his brother in Ashland. Someone there finally mailed it to the Independent. Actual origin of the picture is a mystery thus far, because the names of the Air Force man and of the Chicago neighbor family are unknown.

Merten Club Hears Study Of Emotional Health In Family

Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent, presented a program on "Developing emotional health in the family" at a recent meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration club which met in the home of Mrs. C. A. Jones.

Miss Dunlap pointed out the value of good emotional health. "It means everything to us," she said, "because it helps us accept failures and disappointments as they come."

"We all must learn to get along with other people, and that is something we have to do governing ourselves emotionally."

She compared life to a stairway, beginning at the foot of the stairs and going up. She pointed out the various emotional stages of children's lives up to 10 and 12 years. In adolescence the child becomes near being an adult. They need parents' confidence more at this stage than at any other.

Following the talk, Miss Dunlap showed color slides of the "Tater Family." She also showed color slides she presented at the recent meeting of home demonstration agents in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Jones served cake and coffee to Mrs. P. J. Boyd, C. J. Casselman, V. Smith, Jack Prather, J. C. Steward and A. M. Nash.

Mrs. Steward will be hostess to the group at its next meeting.

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

The Mature Woman must display more charm and more poise than the younger woman. Why? Because she is not as sought-after as the younger woman. She must look her very best at all times. She cannot afford to have "off days" to let herself go, to forget her makeup or wear an unbecoming hairdo. She cannot afford to wear any dress that does not fit both her figure and her personality.

After-Forty women must understand that they are on display. By your very gracious charm and poise, plus good grooming, you can make yourself important, wanted, sought-after, and your fourth period of life can be and will be a rewarding period.

Choose things that flatter you; make you feel attractive. This does not mean that you must spend lots of money on your clothes although, frankly, that would help and make dressing beautifully a simple thing. If, and I put emphasis on the "if," you use taste and good judgement. The woman on a budget, who spends wisely and well, is often better dressed than the woman who just—spends money.

At this season you are thinking and experience. Dress to enhance your new clothes, so go over your wardrobe. Get out everything that helps to make your After Forty more posess, old and new. Get out life more interesting.

Red China's Aims In The Peace Talks

On July 8, 1951, when peace talks began, hopes were raised that the peace process would be a "police action." This was a natural assumption since in modern times most peace talks have been successfully terminated in a matter of days.

These expectations of peace have been frustrated by the announcement by the Chinese Communists that the peace process is a "buffer zone" has at last been agreed upon by both parties.

While this resolving of one of the major problems confronting the negotiators is at least positive action for a change in the "on again, off again" armistice talks, it unfortunately is not an assurance that the end of the Korean war is at hand.

In Korea the situation is parallel in action but not fully in concept. There is no possibility of a narrow armistice being withdrawn as was Yugoslavia when Tito set up independently of the Soviet bloc.

In the meantime, how many more can the United States go along with the burden of an enormous defense budget and the loss of 100,000 men per year and still maintain military and economic solvency?

That this stung for peace by the Chinese Communists is a philosophy is borne out by the fact that they are preparing in China for a long war against the West through propaganda indoctrination conducted in an all-out campaign of hatred and vilification of the United States.

Red China has assumed a power in international affairs and it intends to maintain a place in the sun in the only way open to the economically bankrupt country by aiding Russia in the subversion of Communist aggression.

China cannot sustain military strength with manpower alone and there lies the need of the Soviet Union. Russia all neither arm nor feed China.

What the Korean war regarding peace talks and half measures, seems to be leading to a fiercer more widespread war after the strength of the United States has been pared down in a limited war.

Regeneration is, we know, instantaneous; but the steps that lead to it are often very gradual; and none of them, so far as we can see, can be spared.

BAXTER'S VIEWS

DAVID BAXTER

Looking over some of the newspapers the other day, I came across a statement that "German barter trade must be halted."

Several years ago I was attending a U. S. C. often mentioned that same subject with all the zeal of a man who believes in a thing passionately.

The Germans are a smart people generally, although they were generally giving Hitler the authority he had. They go strong on efficiency and thoroughness.

Now let's see whether Governor Warren actually covets and advocates legalized stealing and promoting the well being of mankind.

Well, nations operating on an international banking system work it out about the same way as individuals who borrow money.

Applied to nations, the private producers of one nation exchanged their products with another.

The German barter-trade idea naturally invoked the hatred of the international bankers.

Barter trade between Germans and Argentines, for example, was a "natural." Germans were mostly producers of manufactured articles.

What Principles Does Presidential Candidate Warren Propose?

Governor Warren in announcing his candidacy for President of the United States said: "We must be willing to swim or sink with the principles we profess."

I have read the whole announcement speech and I fail to find a single principle that he stands for. In fact, I find plenty of evidence that he does not stand for any principles let alone the principles set forth in the last three Commandments.

Where does he violate the Bearing False Witness Commandment? Listen to this: "We never could and never should try to satisfy the extremists on either end, because neither of them want to see real progress made."

I will admit that I am an extremist in believing in a definite limited government. That this government has no moral right to do things that are immoral for an individual to do as set down by the last three commandments.

How does Governor Warren know what we want? Is Governor Warren omnipotent and able to read everyone's mind and is he able to know what they believe and want, or is he just a politician who wants to be elected by any method?

Now let's see whether Governor Warren actually covets and advocates legalized stealing and promoting the well being of mankind.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

There was a very sad story in the papers the other day in which a fretful playwright went to court claiming he had been jobbed when he married the lady claiming to be 25 years old and was, he vows, actually 48 years old.

Governor Warren advocates support of farm prices, social security, protective tariffs, public housing, public education—all of them at the expense of the taxpayer.

Among the beauties of our town, and others, is a gleaming grandmother who in the nature of things must be around 48 years old.

Ecceles has told friends that he regards the Otoman as a "man of integrity and intelligence." The two were closely associated during Ecceles' long service here, and in many controversies on Capitol Hill involving the Federal Reserve's credit and inflation policies.

Ecceles enjoys considerable prestige among conservative bankers because he led the fight for anti-inflation measures at a time when President Truman and Treasury Secretary Snyder seemed indifferent to that threat.

Ecceles will figure openly or officially in the Taft drive to obtain pledged convention delegates. But the First Security Corp. of Utah, which is a family institution, operates 28 banks in Utah, Wyoming and Idaho.

In fact, it was Elbert G. Bennett, the late president of First Security, who helped to set up so many delegates for Governor Thomas E. Dewey at the 1948 convention. He was a power behind the scenes, as Ecceles may be on Senator Taft's behalf next year.

INFLUENCE — The first-ballot tally in 1948 has political interest now, assuming that Ecceles proves to be as able and active for Taft as Bennett was for Dewey.

Taft Camp Has Influential, Surprising Figure In Eccles

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A surprising and influential figure in Senator Robert A. Taft's pre-convention camp is expected to be Mariner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and a Salt Lake City banker.

Bennett influence had an effect, Governor Dewey obtained 81 delegates to only 21 for Taft, 10 for Harold E. Stassen and one for Governor Earl Warren of California. The last state is not included in the area of this survey.

Fair Enough... Discussion Of His Majesty's Speech A Serious Business

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LONDON — The discussion of his Majesty's gracious speech to the British Parliament, written by Winston Churchill and others to express the intentions of the new administration, naturally has been a very serious business.

It is an ancient custom when debate is about to begin on the King's speech to move discussion of "the outlawry bill," an old relic that has been kicking around since the days of Robespierre. There is no point in this whatever and they never do discuss the outlawry bill. Beverly Baxter, who was born a Canadian and sits for a London constituency where he does not live, explains that the motion to take up the outlawry bill is a means of reminding the King that Commons still retains its independence. The idea seems to be that one of these days Commons will actually vote to repeal the outlawry bill and ignore the royal speech by way of admonishing the King that the Rt. Hon. Eccles, in a written reply, duly recorded in Hansard, the congressional record of the British Parliament, stated that there had been, indeed, until recently, two pelicans in St. James's. One had died at the age of 60 on Oct. 13. He had been blind for some time and was kept on Duck Island. The other, a much younger bird, died in the month of lung disease. The right sort of birds were hard to get but the department was trying to replace these amiable inhabitants of St. James's and meanwhile, the Zoological Society of London, had kindly lent one of the pelicans.

A few days later the government was able to advise the public that a number of replacements had been promised by persons in Texas and Louisiana so the question was not merely in order but a matter of government coming into power to let the people know what they had inherited. They were in for a thin time unless the government could get the people to produce more goods to sell abroad to get money to buy food.

True. Only too true. But nevertheless the gin trap was a cruel device used to catch hares and rabbits and other small animals and spring traps could be dangerous in the open, so Lord Elton offered a bill to prohibit the manufacture, sale or exposure for sale or use or possession or custody of gin traps and to regulate the setting of spring traps in the open. There is no excuse to use cruel means of trapping hares and rabbits. Not British, you know.

Peter Freeman, of Newport, a Labor or Socialist, member, thought the time opportune to offer the present coinage to allow the penny to remain in the shilling, instead of 12 as a preliminary step toward a decimal system. R. N. Butler, exchequer, said in a written reply that this would involve an impossible burden on the present resources of material and labor or so the matter is in abeyance as the best of it, without reference to the fact that foreigners lose a million of pounds every year trying to figure percentages in sterling. To be sure, one percent of one thousand pounds is 10 pounds but quick math says it is eleven shillings thruppence - ha'penny? You see?

The King's speech is not such was any of his operative hicks on it is a statement of a program and, in this case, Churchill was up against it for Success Secrets By ELMER WHEELER I have thought of a mother and daughter who I think would be very nice. I am wondering just who I could see about this, where we could get training etc.

Of course I certainly don't want any person for a teacher. I would love to develop a mother and daughter in which I feel would and could work into something.

I also need a job so I can keep my little daughter in nursery school I would like a job to be a companion to some woman. I have no money to do anything. You may know of some person who would need someone for a companion.

Dear Mrs. D. Your little daughter is pretty young to make a very satisfactory partner in a dancing team yet. Until she is a little older have any good teacher in your neighborhood teach her the fundamentals.

Later on if you feel that the two of you might get somewhere as a dance team, try your act out on the neighbors, then give it as a club program. After a while, if you are any good, you will be able to appear more often and before larger groups.

In the meantime you will be gaining experience which you will need if you intend to continue your dancing professionally.

PAMPA NEWS, MONDAY, NOV. 26, 1951 PAGE 5

Women Can Choose Long Or Short Hairstyles And Stay Fashionable

An amazing panorama is taking place in the world of women this year. For the first time in many, many seasons fashion designers and hairstylists are offering women a choice — they have dictated few rules which must be followed to the letter, and as a result women can find styles right for them and at the same time be fashionable. Women are wearing pencil-slim skirts to billowing skirts. They're wearing if everyone is letting her hair grow, she lets hers grow too. They're wearing hair long or short.

The average woman considers length of hair when she ponders what's new and smart in hairstyles. If the trend is toward short hair, she wears it short, or toward individual styling rather than collective styling. One Pampa hairstylist, Mrs. Lyda Doggett, points out that women have been asleep too long when it comes to the possibilities hair can add to their appearance.

"Now," Mrs. Doggett explains, "women can find their best style — long or short — and still be fashionable correct." Mrs. Doggett is a newcomer who came two months ago from the glamour capital of the world — Hollywood — where she worked five years in the House of Westmore, owned by the famed Westmore brothers of Hollywood. She is a member of the National Hairstyling Ass'n.

In giving the long and short of hairstyling, Mrs. Doggett explained that men stylists are promoting the close, cropped head while women stylists are following the trend of a longer, more feminine, more detailed coiffure. Men are pushing such styles as the "poodle ruff" (with three-inch strands tapered to form a mass of ringlets over the head) and the short "brush-up" (swept back waves with short back strands of hair brushed upward in a high flutter).

The women stylists, in direct contrast, are offering longer hairstyles as the "poodle ruff" (with man on the street wants his wife to wear. Longer hair is worn with waves swept back into a chignon or with just a hint of a chignon — never loose, Mrs. Doggett explains.

Mrs. Doggett has noticed many differences in local patrons to those in Hollywood. Women here demand a smooth, tight style that will withstand severe winds and weather, while in California, weather played little part in hairstyles. Pampa women want casual styles, round-the-clock sort of styles, that will last a week, but Hollywood women want the ultra-sophisticated style which often is good for only one evening. Curling irons, almost unheard of here, play a big part in Hollywood styling where a woman may want her style changed on short notice to something formal, and changed the next day to a sleek, but less elaborate style.

One thing Mrs. Doggett hears in Pampa that she never heard in California is, "Do my hair like Mrs. Blank's." A Hollywood woman goes to a hairstylist in the same frame of mind she goes to her doctor. She goes for a diagnosis. Many things must be considered in styling hair — length of neck, width of shoulders, size and shape of head and general stature and appearance. Hairstylists know these points and must study constantly to keep up with new solutions and methods.

"Few styles," Mrs. Doggett points out "are interesting to do unless the operator is doing what she knows is best for the woman. I like to exert a little planning and thought into all my hairstyles, and use my imagination, too."

Hairstyles should reflect the personality of the woman and her mode of living. Hairstyles aren't confined to personalities, but personalities are confined to hairstyles. Few women can wear "the hairstyle of the year" without slight deviations, she claims.

The extreme hairdos, famous in the film capital, are Mrs. Doggett's favorites. They're the ones she has the most thought and the most ingenuity. She has done styles using the new color sprays which come in 12 shades.

One demonstration she did last year featured french braids with clusters of curls with each curl in a different color. Not popular in the Panhandle, now, and likely never will be, but color sprays are a vogue on the West Coast. The tints are harmless, according to Mrs. Doggett, and come out with one shampoo.

Mrs. Doggett finds, despite severe climatic conditions, that Pampa women have a better texture of hair than many of her former patrons. In Hollywood, where so many women are directly or indirectly connected with the film industry, women must change the color of their hair often, and that has left it in poor condition.

PHOTOGRAPHIC MYSTERY — This picture, which appeared in the Ashland (Ky.) Daily Independent, was represented to that newspaper as an actual photograph taken in the sky over Korea. The Independent ran the picture on a Sunday and the entire edition of 14,000 copies was quickly sold out, with people clamoring for more. Two weeks later, also on a Sunday, the paper ran the picture again and again the entire edition was snapped up. Readers sent clippings to friends and the Independent has been receiving hundreds of letters from all over the country. According to the information received by the paper, an Air Force man from Chicago took pictures of an American and a Communist plane during a combat patrol. He sent the films home to Chicago to be developed. To the amazement of everyone, including the flyer, the image of Christ, supposedly formed by clouds, showed up on one of the photos. A neighbor of the Air Force man's family in Chicago sent a print to his brother in Ashland. Someone there finally mailed it to the Independent. Actual origin of the picture is a mystery thus far, because the names of the Air Force man and of the Chicago neighbor family are unknown.

Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent, presented a program on "Developing emotional health in the family," at a recent meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration club which met in the home of Mrs. C. "We all must learn to get along with other people, and that is something we have to do governing ourselves emotionally." She compared life to a stairway, beginning at the foot of the stairs and going up. She pointed out the various emotional stages of children's lives up to 10 and 12 years. In adolescence the child becomes near being an adult. They need parents' confidence more at this stage than at any other.

Following the talk, Miss Dunlap showed color slides of the "Tater Family." She also showed color slides she presented at the recent meeting of home demonstration agents in Fort Worth. Mrs. Jones served cake and coffee to Misses P. J. Boyd, C. J. Casselman, V. Smith, Jack Prather, J. C. Steward and A. M. Nash.

Mrs. Steward will be hostess to the group at its next meeting.

Kazmaier And Lauricella Unanimous Selections On NEA All-American

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK (NEA) — The All-American business — platoon now — may be the final touch to the Autumn's football, but nobody ever will succeed in making it unpopular with the masses. Coaches and writers who have kept a sharp eye on the leading ball-carriers, passers, pass receivers and blockers and who studied line play from end to end will find it difficult to dispute the 1951 edition of NEA Service's All-American teams.

When this department inaugurated the two-unit plan two years ago, it was remarked that the supply greatly exceeded the demand even with the positions doubled to 22.

Yet it was interesting how the electorate agreed. While Old Blues and just plain fans continued to be confused more than somewhat by the units, old-line judges were not.

The only hitch was not enough places, leaving, for example, no place for such a splendid quarterback as Baylor's Larry Isbell. Nineteen colleges, as was the case in 1950, are represented this year.

Titanic Tennessee showed the way with three men. All — conquering Michigan State won two places.

Regionally, the southeast dominates with five spots. The midwest places four, the east and California three, the south and southwest two and the Big Seven, Rocky Mountain area and the Pacific northwest one.

One thing about the swing shift idea, it spreads the honors around. But, as far as this observer is concerned, the accolades stop right there, for in our book the platoon has taken much from the game.

But let's get down to the personnel of this fall's NEA All-Americans.

Dick Kazmaier of Princeton and Tennessee's Hank Lauricella, the attacking halfbacks, are the only unanimous choices.

Babe Parilli of Kentucky broke a four-year passing record in three to get more than twice as many votes as Baylor's brilliant passing quarterback, Larry Isbell.

Hugh McElhenny, Washington's one-man tank, edged Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski of Maryland for the fullback post.

Next to the Great Kaz and Lauricella in popularity were Parilli; Chuck Boerio, the Illinois linebacker; Ollie Matson, the San Francisco sprinter, placed on the defensive team; Maryland guard Bob Ward, Stanford end Bill McColl and the Michigan Striders, the 185-pound tackle, Don Coleman, and the six-foot four-inch pass — snatching and place-kicking end, Bob Carey.

The other offensive tackle is Jim Weatherall, six-foot four-inch, 230-pound holdover. Paired with Ward as the rushing guards is Virginia's five-foot 10, 198-pound Joe Palumbo.

The center is Louisiana State's George (The Thing) Tarasovic, a six-foot four-inch, 220-pound southern gentleman from Bridgeport, Conn. One of two juniors on the squad, he played offensive center, defensive guard.

The defensive ends are Wyoming's home-grown six-foot, 160-pound Dewey McConnell and Wisconsin's 202-pound Pat O'Donohue. McConnell is called the greatest end in Wyoming history, stuck out turning runners in and established a new Skyline pass-receiving total yardage record. O'Donohue has been the Badgers' top defensive end the past two campaigns.

The defensive tackles are Tennessee's 210-pound Pug Pearman and Texas Christian's six-foot two-inch, 225-pound Doug Conway. Pearman's specialty is rushing passers. Jesse Hill, Southern California's coach, was among those nominating Conway, and he speaks from experience.

Tennessee's 189-pound Ted Darter and Georgia Tech's six-foot two, 215-pound Ray Beck are the defending guards. Beck is rated the finest college guard in America. The professionals fault Darter only on his poundage, or lack of it, but in college he made passes for any slouching in that department by his agility.

Southern California's five-foot 10-inch, 205-pound Pat Cannamela backs up the line with Boerio. He is a wild far westerner out of New London, Conn. Because he played defensively in the clutches, Boston University's Harry Agganis, the other junior, is placed there as a halfback with the fleet Matson. Not a few competent critics consider Agganis, a sizable left handed passer, the finest all-around college football player in the land.

Texas' six-foot one, 180-pound Bobby Dillon puts the finishing dab to the team as the safety man.

Southwest Conference Still In Confused State As Final Week Of Action Approaches

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The thorny Southwest Conference football race, only slightly less confused than it was three weeks ago, enters its final and climactic week with a half-dozen or more ways of finishing, only two of which would give a clear-cut champion.

The simplest solution is for Texas Christian to lose to Southern Methodist while Baylor was beating Rice at Houston — in which event Baylor would win it.

In order to get the picture here's the situation: Texas Christian leads with a 4-1 record, Baylor is second with 3-1-1, Rice and Texas are tied for third with 3-2 each.

SUPPOSE

Suppose Texas Christian and Southern Methodist tie and Baylor beats them, Baylor would tie for the title. And if Texas Christian loses to Southern Methodist, Baylor to Rice and Texas wins its final game of the season — against Texas A&M at College Station Thursday — Baylor, Rice and Texas would tie for the championship. If Texas lost to A&M, then TCU and Rice would tie for it. Then, suppose Baylor and Rice tied, Texas Christian lost to Southern Methodist and Texas beat A&M, Baylor and Texas would tie for the title.

Do you follow us?

Anyway, the season ends this week and come what may the Cotton Bowl has to pick a team to play Kentucky Jan. 1. If it's a two-way tie, the team that has the better record in regular season would get the bid under present rules. But if there is a three-way tie, a team would have to be picked by the Cotton Bowl. This might be simple if Texas, Rice and TCU tied because Texas has beaten both Rice and TCU in regular season play. Otherwise, it would be something to warrant the services of a Solomon.

TCU gained the threshold last week by beating Rice 22-6 while Baylor stayed in the race with a narrow 14-13 victory over Southern Methodist. Both games exceeded their thrills only by rough play. At Fort Worth there were 23 penalties for 247 yards and numerous other penalties that did not go into the records because they were either declined or offset each other. At Waco, a dozen penalties for 14 yards with others declined. Nobody was in a slugging mood but everybody was ready to cut 'em down with viciousness. Personal fouls such as holding, clipping and prolog on were in the majority.

CARSWELL NEARS BOWL CONTEST

PORT WORTH — (AP) — Carswell Air Force base football team, headed for a bowl game, closed its regular season yesterday with a 61-0 victory over Southeastern Oklahoma State.

The Bombers will meet Fort Jackson, S. C., in the Service Bowl at Columbia, S. C., Dec. 15 for the national service football championship.

Quarterbacks Meet Tonight

The Pampa Quarterback Club will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight in the Woodrow Wilson grade school auditorium starting at 8 o'clock.

Shown will be the movies of the Pampa-San Angelo game of last Thursday. Also scheduled to be shown is a movie of the professional Cleveland Browns.

The Pampa Harvester football coaches will be present to review the San Angelo game and to preview next season.

To be taken up on the business end of the meeting is the election of new officers for the 1952 season. A special committee was named last week by president Joe Donaldson to come up with a list of candidates for the posts.

Prober Places Bet On Sugar Bowl Tilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced the challenge of Senator O'Connor (D-Md) to put up a "friendly forfeit" on the outcome of the Sugar Bowl game New Year's day.

Maryland and Tennessee will meet in the annual classic. Kefauver wrote the Maryland Senator that if "the impossible should happen" — a Maryland victory — he will not only give O'Connor a coonajin cap but will also catch a coon and present it to him.

In a letter to Kefauver earlier this week, O'Connor had proposed that he would put up a barrel of "the world's most succulent oysters" from Maryland.

Both agreed, however, that their colleagues in the senate's crime investigating committee, Senator Tobey (R-NH) must approve the "forfeits."

"Of course, as you suggest, we can hardly engage in a wager, but I am so certain of the outcome that this would really be a forfeit and not a wager."

Both teams are undefeated and untied.

Sugar Bowl To Have Best Pairing For New Year Day

NEW YORK — (AP) — With the exception of the Army-Navy affair and a few scattered games across the country this week, the book was closed today on the 1951 college football season.

The participants in two of the four major bowls have been decided, and one team has been selected for each of the other two.

The consensus seems to be that the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans has the best teams for the annual New Year's Day games. The Rose Bowl probably will be next, followed by the Cotton and the Orange.

Unbeaten Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team, and Maryland, currently ranked No. 4, collide in the Sugar Bowl and it should be a battle to see. On the basis of its stunning 28-0 victory over Kentucky Saturday, the Volunteers probably will rule favorably.

Maryland, too, scored a thumping triumph, defeating West Virginia, 54-7. Both teams have been accused at various times of playing soft schedules, but they both hurtled every obstacle in their paths.

ROSE BOWL

The Rose Bowl gets Illinois and Stanford, champions, respectively, of the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conferences. Neither outfit was expected to finish near the top before the season got under way. But as it progressed, it became more and more apparent that they were the teams to beat.

California, the September favorite on the Coast, finally did beat Stanford, 20-7, in the final game of the season for both schools. But it was too late to hurt the Indians in their quest for the title. However, it did put an end to Stanford's bid to end the season undefeated.

Illinois made it, but not by goal by Sam Eberca in the 12-degree freeze of Evanston that enabled the Illini to defeat Northwestern, 4-0, and win the championship.

The Cotton Bowl will send

Isbell Paces Individual Leaders In SWC Action

DALLAS — (AP) — Southwest Conference football players have their work cut out for them this week if they reach any of the records.

Take Larry Isbell, Baylor's great quarterback who tops the league in passing. Isbell has completed 93 of 189 for 1239 yards and has a game to play — against Rice at Houston Saturday. The record is 119 completions for 1733 yards, set by Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian in 1938.

Isbell would have to gain almost 500 yards to beat O'Brien's mark.

Fred Benners of Southern Methodist is second in passing with 94 connection in 177 attempts for 1167 yards.

In ball-carrying, the leaders are Texas A&M tops the pigskin toters with 628 yards on 99 carries but the record is 1302 yards, set in 1950 by Bob Smith of Texas A&M. Second to Lipman is Teddy Riggs of Rice with 623 yards on 113 runs.

Isbell Paces Individual Leaders In SWC Action

TWO-DIVISION LEADER

Isbell is the only two-division leader. He tops in total offense with 1239 yards on 229 plays. Lamar McHan of Arkansas is second with 1167 on 262.

The No. 1 punter is Jerry Norton of Southern Methodist, who has averaged 41.2 yards on 26 boots. Second is Isbell with 39.1.

Bill Howton of Rice leads in pass-receiving, having caught 27 throws for 623 yards and six touchdowns. Stan Williams of Baylor has snared more passes — 34 — but gained only 548 yards on them.

Val Joe Walker of Southern Methodist continues to lead the punt returners. He has averaged 24.8 yards on six returns. Yale Lary of Texas A&M is second with 17.8 on 20 and Johnny Cole of Arkansas is third with 15.5 on 15.

Texas A&M leads in team offense with an average of 338.1 yards per game. Baylor is second with 335.8.

Pressure Football, No. 7 Recruiting Gets Tough As Pressure Catches Irish

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (NEA) — Knute K. Rockne built well at Old Notre Dame and spread its fame.

The Fighting Irish are as much the home team in Detroit, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, East Lansing, Chapel Hill and Los Angeles, where they happen to be playing this Fall, as they are at Notre Dame Stadium.

They come closer than any other outfit, professional or college, to being the nation's football team.

But high-pressure football throughout the land started catching up with Notre Dame in 1947. Frank Leahy, the biggest winner ever to come out of Winner, E.D., sounded the alarm, but no one paid the slightest heed. He'd cried wolf often through Gloomy Gil Dobie.

But the Master wasn't fooling when he said Notre Dame no longer was getting the Class A boys, that fine lads who ordinarily would come to South Bend were being enticed elsewhere. Last fall proved Coach Leahy was correct.

Replacements weren't there when Notre Dame graduated 23 members of its first three teams. The record three-year unbeaten string snapped at 39. The Irish took it on the chin four times and were tied for their worst record in 17 years.

"It used to be that we only had to get freshmen here," says Director of Athletics Edward W. Kratuse. "Now we practically have to keep them under lock and key."

PROSPECTS IN AND OUT

A half dozen or more fine prospects who enrolled this fall are now in other schools," cuts in backfield Coach Bernard An-

Frank Leahy
PRESSURIZED — Rivals cornered Leahy's top prospects.

those Crimmins. "About half of those who switched, or had their minds changed for them, told one or more of the coaches about it," explains ND's all-American running guard of 1941. "The others just picked up and left."

"These boys weren't discouraged by tough competition, mind you, for they could make any college team in the country."

Illinois suffered for the lack of a sharpshooting passer last fall. The Illini have one now in Tom O'Connell, who attended Notre Dame for two semesters, from September, 1948, to June, 1949.

His average dropped below 77, making him ineligible. He re-quired summer schooling, but had no yen for it and picked up.

What puzzles Notre Dame officials is how come Illinois, three years later, classifies O'Connell as a sophomore.

Ralph Poalone, a Notre Dame halfback at Indiana last autumn as a soph, is now transfer student at Kentucky. Young Poalone of New Castle (Pa.) High was sought by innumerable universities. His uncle, a priest, wanted him to attend Notre Dame, but players and coaches here say the youngster didn't seem to like the place.

Bill Hollenbeck, Joe Leichweis, Kevin Cahill and Jim Schenk registered as freshmen this fall, but are no longer on the premises.

"Hollenbeck of Scranton, Pa., was the best freshman tackle we had," says Bernie Crimmins. "He said he was going to Pennsylvania. Leichweis, a guard, moved to Villanova. A New Jersey boy, he spent last year at Marianapolis P. Prep. Thompson, Conn. Cahill, an excellent end out of West Branch, Iowa, left without saying a word. Schenk, from St. Benedict's Prep of Newark, N.J., will play tackle and guard for Kentucky."

The contention here is that a long list of linemen and swivel-hipped backs who preferred Notre Dame were corralled by faster-talking proselytizers.

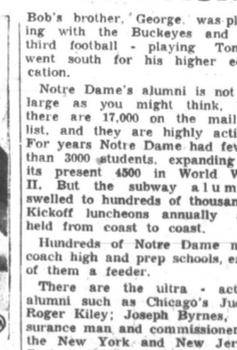

Particular sore spots are Gene Donaldson, Kentucky's 203-pound junior guard from East Chicago, Ind.; Maryland's Lynn Beightel and Ohio State's Doug Goodsell. Beightel's story is told elsewhere in this series.

Goodsell, outstanding freshman halfback from Upper Arlington, a suburb of Columbus, couldn't re-fracture his leg in a game with Ohio State's Front Liners. "When he first felt that he might be pinched for material, Leahy mapped off-field screen plays." When he rounded up John Lattner, stand-out 18-year-old halfback and safety man from Fenwick High of Oak Park, Ill., for example, he landed the kid a job with an atomic project on the outskirts of Chicago.

"Nobody could get in to talk to Lattner there," beams Moose Krause.

When Leahy tossed the net over Bob Tonneff, six-foot two-inch, 235-pound tackle from Barton, O., High, he got the boy a job in Chicago, where the Ohio State Front Liners were less likely to get a shot at him.

Championship Battles Open In Top Schoolboy Brackets

(By the Associated Press)

The fight for state championships in the upper echelons of Texas schoolboy football starts this week and you can find more favorites than you can shake a stick at.

Lubbock and Temple are the most prominent but it has been a most upsetting season and what'll you bet those teams win the titles in Class AAAA and Class AAA respectively?

It will require only three weeks to decide the championship with eight teams in each class.

Lubbock, Ray of Corpus Christi and Lamar of Houston finished the district campaign undefeated and untied. Lubbock plays Yaleta, which lost two games; Ray meets Waco, which dropped three, and Lamar engages Baytown, whom it beat 13-6 in regular season play.

Lubbock and Ray will be top heavy favorites but Lamar is only an even choice against Baytown team that has come on like a steamroller.

The other first round game in Class AAAA matches Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) with Woodrow Wilson (Dallas). Arlington Heights won seven, lost two and tied one; Woodrow Wilson won seven and lost three. Because Woodrow beat Sun (Dallas), a team that tied Arlington Heights, the Dallas champion probably will be a light favorite over Arlington.

CLASS AAA

Grand Prairie is the only undefeated, untied team in Class AAA but it definitely is not the favorite. Temple, whose only loss was to mighty Baytown, is the choice. But in the upper bracket, Breckenridge gets the nod and is considered the most likely team in the finals against Temple.

Breckenridge plays Midland, Grand Prairie meets Marshall, Temple takes on Conroe and Edison (San Antonio) tackles Brownsville in the first round of Class AAA.

Breckenridge, Grand Prairie, Temple and Brownsville will be favorites to enter the semifinals next week.

Here is the schedule for the first round:

Class AAAA — Friday: Arlington Heights vs Woodrow Wilson at Fort Worth, 8 p.m.; Lamar vs Baytown at Houston, 8 p.m.; Lubbock vs Yaleta at El Paso, 2 p.m.; Ray vs Waco at Austin, 2 p.m.

Class AAA — Friday: Grand Prairie vs Marshall at Dallas, 8 p.m.; Conroe at Temple, 8 p.m.; Edison at Brownsville, 8 p.m.; Saturday: Breckenridge at Midland, 2 p.m.

Service Bouts Scheduled For AAFB On Wednesday

A full card of service team boxing bouts will be held in Amarillo Air Force base hangar No. 600 next Wednesday night, starting at 8 o'clock. The matches were, originally scheduled for Thursday but have been switched so as not to interfere with the Thursday night wrestling card featuring Gorgeous George.

The bouts will again pair the mittmen of AAFB against those of Sheppard Field. Three of last week's scheduled bouts were cancelled and this week's card is free to the public to make up for last week's small card.

At the present time, the meet calls for between 10 and 15 bouts, with several Pampa fighters expected to participate in the matches. Eugene Cooper, Buddy Sawyer and Comanche Martin all saw action last Monday night and are expected to be on the card again next Wednesday night.

Also on the card will be some picked Amarillo club fighters, who will be Golden Glove contestants this year.

Cooper has been matched with Johnny Burton, 165-pound Buffalo, N. Y. Negro. Although state law prohibits mixed bouts, this does not apply on military bases. Cooper last week scored a decision over Jesse Bragg of Sheppard.

There will be several more of the all-Negro bouts which attracted the interest of the fans last week.

In other bouts, Pete Huisar, flashy little 118-pounder of Sheppard, will meet Amarillo's Candy Lopez. Huisar conquered Pat McCarthy last week while Lopez lost to Sonny Olivera.

The first fish hatchery in Texas was established at Barton Springs in Austin in 1881 and was devoted to propagating carp.

Red Raiders Close Against H - SU

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons University match their football wares at Lubbock Saturday afternoon in a season finale that will settle the Border Conference championship.

The two teams, both undefeated in conference play, have won four loop games each, but Tech's Red Raiders are favored to win the title.

On the basis of their overall season play, including the defeat of Texas Christian University of the Southwest Conference, the Raiders appear the stronger club.

Hardin-Simmons, whose two stellar backs Dunny Goode and Bob Hart have dominated conference offensive statistics all year, almost got knocked out of their chance at the title shot last week.

They edged a rebounding University of Arizona eleven, 14 to 13, on the basis of a blocked conversion kick. Arizona threatened to tie the game with a touchdown in the final 45 seconds of play.

But Burl Troutman, HSU end, broke through to bat down Jim Donarski's try.

In the only other game affecting Border loop standings Texas Western nipped West Texas State 13 to 6 at Amarillo. Gerald Campbell returned a punt 70 yards for one score and Jack Burrus capped a long final period drive with a pay-off plunge over center for the other.

In the only other contest involving a conference team, Arizona State at Tempe lost a 20-7 decision to Wyoming's hard-riding Cowboys. Chuck Spalding ran and passed the invading Pokes to their victory.

Detroit Lions Take Lead As Browns Blast Chi Bears

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Detroit Lions want you to know their youthful coach, Buddy Parker, knew what he was talking about when he said "if somebody beats the Chicago Bears, we'll win the title in the National Conference of the National Football League."

Look at the standings today and you'll see what the Lions mean. Detroit tops the National Conference with a record of six victories, two defeats and one tie.

The Bears and Los Angeles Rams are deadlocked for second place with six wins and three setbacks each. And they meet next week in another one of the league's naturals. A defeat will just about shove either one out of the running.

The shift in the standings started last Thursday when the Lions defeated Green Bay, 23-25, to go into a three-way tie with the Rams and Bears. Then yesterday the Cleveland Browns and Washington Redskins gave the Lions a helping hand.

REDSKINS SURPRISE

The Browns defeated the Bears, 42-21, to strengthen their position at the head of the American Conference with an 8-1 record while the Redskins pulled the surprise of the day by downing the Rams, 31-21.

Meantime, the New York Giants remained at the Browns' heels by shutting out the Chicago Cardinals, 10-0.

In other games, the winless New York Yanks struck from behind in the last quarter to tie the San Francisco 49ers, 10-10, and the Pittsburgh Steelers nipped the Philadelphia Eagles, 17-13.

Dub Jones, formerly of Tulane, was the big gun in the Browns' attack, scoring six touchdowns to equal a league single game touchdown record set up by Ernie Nevers while playing with the Cardinals in 1929. Nevers' mark also was made against the Bears.

Second Round Due For AA, A

(By the Associated Press)

Classes AA and A of Texas schoolboy football move into the second round and will eliminate to eight teams in each division in the fight for state championships this weekend.

LaVega and Wink rule favorites for the respective titles but not too positively, particularly in the case of LaVega.

This team is undefeated and untied but it meets a tough one indeed in the second round — the Cameron Yeomen.

Unbeaten, untied Wink, on the other hand, goes up against an Albany team that has lost two games.

The most crucial week of the season in the two classes finds nine undefeated, untied teams left while three others are unbeaten but have been tied.

UNDEFEATED

The headline game is that sending Dimmitt against Abernathy in Class A. Both are unbeaten and untied. Another game matches unbeaten, untied Newcastle, against whom only six points have been scored all season, and Whitney which is undefeated but has been tied.

All second round games have been arranged in Class AA and all except one in Class A. There will be eight Friday battles in Class AA, but Class A is divided between Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The schedule:

Class AA — Friday: Childress at Shamrock (day); Anson vs Kermit at Odessa (day); Winters vs Arlington at Stephenville (night); Pleasant Grove vs Pittsburg at Commerce (night); Jacksonville at Huntsville (night); Cameron at LaVega (night); French (Beaumont) at Lamar (Rosenberg) (night); Donna vs Cuero at Robstown (night).

Class A — Thursday: Farmersville vs Hawkins at Commerce (day); Friday: Dimmitt vs Abernathy at Plover (night); Newcastle vs Whitney at Graham (night); Cedar Bayou vs White Oak at Longview (night); Franklin vs Giddings at Brenham (night); Angleton vs Industrial (Vanderbilt) at Bay City (night); Saturday: Wink vs Albany at Albany (night).

Officials of Pearsall and Benavides meet at Three-Rivers today to arrange the site and date of their game.

Tri-Tie Likely In Texas Play

(By the Associated Press)

Only one more game remains in the Texas Conference football race — and it's quite important to the championship by winning it.

Ablene Christian and Howard Payne already have finished the season in a deadlock for the title.

A&I meets Austin College at Kingsville Saturday to fire the last shot in the campaign. This game, originally scheduled for Nov. 17, was postponed due to an epidemic on the A&I campus.

A&I favored to beat Austin, winless in three conference contests to date, may have come trouble than expected. The Kangaroos may be able to scare the Hogs with their precision aerial attack, with "hookey" Ben Harmon on the pitching end.

If A&I wins, it will give the Texas Conference tri-champions for the season.

ACC and Howard Payne each has three victories against one defeat. A&I has a two-win, one-loss record.

Shamrock Line Expected To Carry Brunt Of Friday Play

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Scott McCall's undefeated Irish, bi-district champions, carry the 1-AA colors into the regional playoff with the Childress Bobcats at Shamrock next Friday afternoon.

Once more the big Irish line will carry the brunt of the Irish attack, attempting to open holes for the Irish backfield — Charles Francis, quarterback; Don Carlton and Jimmy Pennington, halfbacks, and Paul Hartwick, fullback.

Irish coaches: H. W. Callan, line coach; Clarence Morris, end coach; and Bobby Hill, junior high mentor — know they are in for a rougher contest than the 27-7 victory over Tulla in the bi-district here Turkey day. For Childress is both big and fast.

RAZZLE-DAZZLE

Childress will depend on tricky, screen passes, laterals, reverses and wide sweeps to overcome the power of the Irish line. Last year they needed 19 yards, but the field was wet and hampered the Cat speed.

Whether Childress can deliver this time will be known after the contest. You could get fans from both towns into an end-to-end less quibble in advance, because the Cats think they have improved faster than the Irish and can avenge their 6-0 defeat of Sept. 7.

This time R. D. Bradshaw, 6-foot-2, 185-pound end, will not have a sprained ankle to hinder his all-regional play. Scarcely any less able is Ted Lane, his running mate at end, also a big boy at 190.

Shamrock scouts say the Childress crew took a fast and end through coached by ace coach Charles Churchill.

Y FORMATION

Childress uses the tricky Y-formation and also sometimes spreads and wings. Operating with very fast backs, particularly Jerry Jeffries, 180-pound ace, they use all manner of deception to produce counters. Jeffries is out with a broken collarbone.

Comparative scores since the Childress-Shamrock 6-0 encounter Sept. 7 do not give any clues. Irishmen tied Phillips, 13-13, and the Hawks smeared Childress, 32-27. Shamrock tied Wellington, 19-19, and Childress won the 3-AA crown with a 21-0 victory over Wellington.

Shamrock beat Memphis, 7-0, on a hospen-wet field, while Childress clouted the Cyclone, 39-7 on a dry one. But Tulla beat Memphis, 33-7, and proved no match for the Irish.

Childress twice beat Quannah, 20-13 and 19-7, while Quannah tripped Wellington, 7-6, all of which merely adds to the confusion. Dope buckets are just so much useless baggage in predicting this struggle.

Churchill's Bobcats will worry the Irish plenty, for even with a two or three-touchdown lead the Cats are dangerous, as witnesses their three-TD urge against Phillips in the final minutes.

Neely Camera Shy During Tilt

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Bill Newbold, cameraman for WBAP-TV, said that Rice Coach Jess Neely stopped him from taking sideline pictures four different times during the Rice vs. Texas Christian football game Saturday.

Newbold said all four incidents occurred after Rice was penalized 15 yards when Neely rushed on the field to protest a decision of the officials.

The cameraman said he once was forced to slap Neely's hand off his camera. Another time, Newbold said, Neely covered the camera with his hat.

Newbold said that Neely four times called a policeman to make the cameraman stop taking pictures of Neely. Newbold said the policeman made no attempt to stop the picture taking.

WBAP-TV officials said Newbold had a fully accredited sideline pass permitting him to take pictures of the sidelines.

One Game Left In Gulf Coast

(By the Associated Press)

The Lone Star conference calls it a season this week. In fact, all the members except East Texas State and Sul Ross have packed away the moleskins.

East Texas and Sul Ross play at Alpine Saturday in a game meaning nothing. East Texas clinched the championship more than a week ago.

East Texas played the only game of last week by a conference 12-7 to make their semifinal in College of the Texas Cou-

QUESTION: Of the 18 world heavyweight champions, you name the two who retired from the championship defeated?

PURELY PERSONAL: Dick Kazmaier's scholarship at Princeton amounts to $300 a year, one-half of his tuition... and one semester he didn't get it... The day after he had named all-American last fall, he was notified by school officials that his average had slumped two-tenths of point below the minimum scholastic requirement for aid... he had automatically been dropped... When he bought up his marks in the spring term, Princeton reinstated the scholarship for the next year... On the other hand, there comes a story from the deep South about a high school hotshot who was dropped last spring by the University of Miami... A halfback prospect, he reported punctually on Sept. 1, but after a few days he was transferred to Rollins college, where he has been starring... A few days ago, when the first term ended, he received a report card from Miami... It advised him that he had passed every subject...

Dud DeGroot, who could use a little luck, as well as a few other players at the University of New Mexico, defends official attacks the rules in an article for The Mentor, a trade journal for coaches... "Three codes of professional, collegiate and high school and annual rules changes are primarily responsible for any of the strained, undesirable sportsmanlike relationships which exist in football today," says the former Stanford star and pro coach... "Rules should be standardized for a period of years; with changes permissible when there is an overwhelming public opinion that changes are necessary. We need not look for to cite several of the rules of which for years have been so thoroughly understood and standardized that they have avoided the mass confusion which has crept into football... Russia has its own version of Joe Louis' attempted comeback... State Department monitors, tuning in on radio broadcasts behind the Iron Curtain, learned that Louis was forced to return to the ring, because, as a Negro, no other job was open to him in the United States... Illinois is snuffing roses, a Michigan is snuffing cheese, darn it... It's 20 to 1 that Ned Garver will be traded this winter, and the odds come directly from Bill Veack, the man who'll do the trading... according to the bid for Garver, according to the Browns' owner, but to date none of the offers have been good enough... Danny Gardella, the New York Giants war time head coach who jumped to the Mexican League, is telling his friends he settled his $300,000 suit against baseball for $60,000... In the final game of the season some years ago, the referee turned to Streak Lawton of Clemson and said, "You have just 60 seconds in which to make history"... On the next play, Mercer, punted and Lawton returned 90 yards for a touchdown... Handing the ball to the referee, he said, "And what are the other 45 seconds for?"... More than 5000 fans accompanied the Chicago Bears to Cleveland by train for yesterday's game with the Browns... Railroad officials say it is the biggest excursion in pro football history... Rocky Marciano, recent conqueror of Joe Louis, got his start in the New England Golden Gloves tournament sponsored by the Lowell, Mass., Sun... He was the 1948 heavyweight champion... The $25,000 draft price on players proposed to the Pacific Coast league by commissioner Ford Frick is a far cry from the $700 Detroit paid Augusta for Ty Cobb and the $700 the White Sox paid Newark for Ed Walsh... Frank McCormick, former athletic director at Minnesota who now is chief of officials in the Pacific Coast, a job once held by Abb Curtis,

Confederate Vet Has 109th Birthday

FRANKLIN (AP) — Walter W. Williams, one of Texas' two living Confederate veterans, marked his 109th birthday yesterday.

Hundreds visited his six-room home 14 miles east of here. Many brought picnic lunches.

SHARE THE WEALTH

ROME — (AP) — The Roman nobility will have to give up 83,400 acres of cultivable land as part of the Italian agrarian reform.

The reform, aimed at distributing land to landless peasants, has been under way for most of the year in Southern Italy—Calabria, Apulia, and Lucania.

The large estates of the Roman nobility will be cut by from 20 to 80 percent, according to their size. According to the new Italian law, no one is allowed more than 500 to 800 acres of land. The rest is taken over by the government, which redistributes it to the peasants. By 1955 the government expects to have redistributed 1,500,000 acres to some 100,000 peasants' families.

NO WHEELS

CARBONDALE, Ill. — (AP) — Two runaway boys from Carbondale, Ill., picked up by Carbondale police — were telling how they planned to start out on their own. One boy, whose father was there to take him home, said they planned to sell his motorbike when they reached Alabama.

New Law Protects Italian Landscape

ROME — (AP) — Neon signs and advertisements will not be allowed to spoil the landscape around Italy's famed tourist resorts. A law for the defense of Italian landscape has been enacted recently.

The ministerial committee responsible for enforcement has already approved plans covering the islands of Capri and Ischia in the Bay of Naples and of Portofino and Nervi, on the Italian Riviera near Genoa.

The committee has to approve the areas where new buildings may be built, and approve the style and dimensions of the projected buildings.

It has asked for the removal of advertising posters which spoil the landscape in certain areas of the country.

NO PINEAPPLES?

BROOKLINE, Mass. — (AP) — Although she had seen numberless birds, small animals and fruit at home in Hawaii, Mrs. Rose L. Schroeder, 38, had never seen squirrels, robins or an apple tree until recently when she visited the U.S. for the first time.

Mrs. Schroeder, the former Miss Lokalani Kohokikalani, lives in Hawaii. A 40-degree temperature she encountered here was the coldest she had ever known.

FAMILY IN MOVIE

ALLIANCE, O. — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lennave and their seven children are starring in a movie about the "average American citizen." The Government propaganda film will be shown in 57 countries in 27 languages.
