Korean Ground Fighting At Standstill

Origin Of Armory Blaze A Mystery

By HENRY S. GORDON

Firemen and National Guardsmen this morning were rummaging through the ashes of what was once the headquarters for the Headquarters Battery, 474th F. A. Observation Battalion, in a futile attempt to find any salvageable equipment and records destroyed in roaring flames early today.

Shooting 50 feet into the early morning sky, flames from a still undetermined origin demolished the 125 by 30 foot wooden structure and everything in it.

VFW Lays Plans For Annual Party For Needy Children

Plans for a yearly Christmas party for underprivileged children were made by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post last night.

Date set was Dec. 16 at 6 p. m. in the VFW hall. Members of a special party committee appointed by Don Cole, post commander, are James Washington, chairman, M. E. Mahan, Larry Parsley, Alvin Robinson and John Zuerker.

In reporting on the district convention at Dalhart last Saturday and Sunday, Tom Kitchens announced the group had passed a resolution attempting to provide a stop-gap for displaced persons entering the United States.

He said the way the program is set up now any displaced person who enters the U. S. can work his required six months on a job and then leave for any part of the country and take any job he wants. Over one million people have entered this country since 1947, Kitchens stated, and it is hard for the FBI to keep track of them all. "Many, probably enemy agents, are working in our defense plants now."

Kitchens said the resolution will be forwarded to national headquarters in an attempt to get also attending the convention were Jones Seitz, district commander, Lee Marler and Mahan. Seitz suggested to delay sending the post's donation to the Gonzales Warm Spring foundation for crippled children until Jan. 1 so more money might be collected. To date, $57.19 has been contributed to the fund.

Selecting a local candidate to be entered in the national search for the most worthy farm veteran was discussed but no action taken. The veteran selected will receive a $50,000 irrigated farm on the Columbia basin federal reclamation project in Washington.

All members were requested to be present for the next meeting, Dec. 11, so plans for the Christmas party can be completed.

Celanese Adds To Property

An additional 217 acres of land were added to the Celanese Corp. of America plant site yesterday afternoon when a deed to the property was filed in County Clerk Charlie Thut's office.

The land was purchased by the firm from Dr. Oscar Huff and lies in two different sections west of the present site.

According to the deed, the new property contains 195 acres in Section 15A, and 22 acres in Section 16B, Block 3, of the I & GN Railroad survey of Gray county. Dr. Huff, the deed said, will retain all of the oil and mineral rights except water rights.

Celanese officials this morning held in Potter county to Huff and were given the 217 acres just an "acquisition of additional property."

When Celanese first moved to Pampa the firm purchased 435 acres of land. The new purchase raises the firm's total acreage to 652 acres.

By 9:30 a. m. the flames were dead but hot concrete still kept some lumber smoldering. Remains of equipment pistols, carbines, machine guns, M-1 rifles, a brand new 3.5 bazooka, radios, telephones, helmets, mess gear and valuable personnel records were being rounded up and placed aside for inspection of condition. However, guard officials declared all of the weapons and helmets were ruined because the intense heat took all of the temper from them.

ROBISON AMONG FIRST

Capt. Charles L. Robison, commander of the unit, was one of the first to arrive on the scene. He had been routed out of bed after returning from Amarillo where he had passed his review board examination promoting him from first lieutenant to captain.

The fire was discovered at 2 a. m. today by an unidentified passenger on a west bound Continental Trailways bus. The driver of the bus, a man named Davenport, notified M. A. Shepard, manager of the Hillson hotel, who called the fire department. Ten minutes later firemen were struggling to quell the flames with poor pressure from a two-inch water line.

Despite favorable weather conditions firemen were unable to put out the fire before the building and its contents were ruined. The fire was burning freely by the time firemen were notified and got to the scene.

TRUCKS SAVED

Rolling equipment, consisting of two jeeps, two six by six transport trucks and two trailers was saved. The two heavy trucks were parked just 20 feet from the east side of the building and had to be towed away from the blaze.

One of the trucks was heavily damaged. Its tires burnt, paint blistered off, windows and headlights broken and possible damage done to motor wiring. Slight damage was done to the other truck. Attempts to drive them away failed when the motors refused to turn over in 20 degree weather. The metal was too hot to push them and a tow line was finally obtained to pull them out of danger. The jeeps were parked in a nearby building and the trailers were parked too far away from the fire to be damaged.

Some spare parts, stored in another building, were not damaged. (See MYSTERY, Page 3)

Rites Slated Today For Carter Infant

Sarah Francis Carter, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carter, 537 Oklahoma, died at 12:15 a. m. today in a local hospital.

Graveside services are to be held at 3 p. m. today in Fairview cemetery with Rev. E. F. Nelson, pastor of the Macedonia Baptist church, officiating.

Survivors, other than the father and mother, are two brothers, Edward Lee and Bobby Lee; one sister, Gloria Jean Donaldson and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carter of Pampa. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael.

Rodeo Group Will Elect New Officers

New officers for the board of directors of the Top of Texas Rodeo Assn. will be elected tomorrow night in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office.

Since the organization of the association in 1945 three presidents have served. The first was Wade Thomasson and the second, W. D. Price, each serving three years. Paul Crouch has served for one year.

RUINED BY FLAMES — Pampa's National Guard armory at Recreation park was nothing but a smoldering ruin this morning after flames from an undetermined origin completely destroyed it and its contents. Looking south from the north end of the building, fireman can be seen still pouring water on the last embers as steam and some smoke roll southward. It was 9:30 a. m. before debris was cool enough for firemen and guardsmen to remove the remains of equipment from the structure. (News Photo)

HST Begins Tax Collector Ousting Job

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Truman administration today booted 31 officials and employes from its scandal-hit tax collecting organization.

Dunlap added in a statement: "Every effort is being made to eliminate from the service every person who is unsuitable for any reason, to remain in it."

"The tax payers of this country are entitled to the cleanest and most efficient revenue service it is humanly possible to provide."

"I mean to see that they get it."

Dunlap said 18 of the 30 were fired outright and 12 were "called upon to resign as results of investigations by the bureau into charges of irregularities."

He said the distinction between outright firing and involuntary resignation is based "on the degree of seriousness of the charges involved."

The list of 30 ousted employes included some who already had been suspended, pending investigation, and many others in revenue bureau offices in many states who had not been publicly linked to the current investigations.

Guard To Meet In Legion Hall

Capt. Charles Robison at noon today announced future meetings of Pampa's National Guard unit will be held in the American Legion hall.

The next regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday, and will be there until permanent quarters are obtained by the unit.

The guardsmen were first offered the use of the auditorium of the Pampa Moose lodge, but the lodge was unable to furnish any storage space for the unit.

McCarthy Does Not Plan Active Part In Nominating Session

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he probably will take no active part in the battle for Wisconsin's delegation to the 1952 Republican Presidential nominating convention.

Unless he changes his mind, McCarthy told a reporter, he doesn't even plan to ask to be one of the delegates to the convention.

"I expect I'll have my hands full running for re-election to the Senate and I don't intend to take any part in the Presidential nominating race," he said.

The Wisconsin senator declined comment on a statement by Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) that while Senator Taft (R-Ohio) doesn't share McCarthy's views and believes the Wisconsin senator is "too vocal" Taft is "not" (See McCARTHY, Page 3)

Thomas H. Chaffin Dies In Home Here; Services Pending

Thomas H. Chaffin, born April 10, 1877 in Jackson county, Tenn., died in his home at 411 Purviance at 9:40 p. m. yesterday.

Mr. Chaffin, a member of the Central Church of Christ, moved to Texas in 1902 and to Pampa in 1929.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ott Shewmaker and Mrs. R. E. Roundtree, both of Pampa; two sons, Harold Chaffin, Fayetteville, Ark., and Alvis of San Gabriel, Calif. He also leaves nine grandchildren.

Funeral services are to be held at 3 p. m. Thursday in the Central Church of Christ with J. M. Gilpatrick, minister of the church, J. P. Crenshaw, minister of Francis Avenue Church of Christ, officiating.

Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under the direction of Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral home.

'Great Pressure,' Caudle Testifies

WASHINGTON — (AP) — T. Lamar Caudle testified today that members of Congress and other influential persons put "tremendous pressures" on him to drop prosecution of tax offenders while he was head of the Justice Dept.'s tax division.

Caudle, recently fired from his post as assistant attorney general by President Truman, told House investigators: "There were continuous requests for conferences by honorable people — continuously calling you up — continuously contending you made a mistake by ordering prosecutions."

Caudle didn't name any of those who he said sought to influence him. Nor did the House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating the nationwide income tax scandals ask him to do so.

The witness said among those who came to his office or who telephoned him about tax cases were senators, congressmen, presidents of organizations and others of similar stature. "Every time someone walked in that door, they wanted something," he said. "They were honorable men and they wanted action."

IN PUBLIC LIFE

He said they were "men in public life, men who would insist that constituents of theirs were innocent."

The question came up when Committee Counsel Adrian W. DeWind said he felt the public should know more about the force of the pressures on Caudle.

"Mr. DeWind, you just don't know the pressures put on the assistant attorney general in that office — tremendous pressures," Gray and haggard, Caudle was excused midway through yesterday's hearings before a House Ways and Means subcommittee.

He complained of a "splitting headache"; his counsel earlier had denounced the examination as "inhuman."

Meanwhile, a treasury department agent assigned to "clean house" in the San Francisco internal revenue bureau office announced there last night that 153 unused warrants against delinquent taxpayers had been found stuffed in a desk.

Charles F. Masarik, Jr., deputy collector in charge of the northern California tax office, also said auditing teams had found some $300,000 in claims for withholding tax and old age retirement accounts for which collection was never pressed.

Masarik was transferred to San Francisco from Pittsburgh after San Francisco collector James G. Smyth and six aides were suspended Sept. 27.

Masarik said "nothing has come to light" to indicate "anything out of line" in connection with the unused warrants, except that the taxpayers concerned were "never notified" they would have to pay up.

McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he probably will take no active part in the battle for Wisconsin's delegation to the 1952 Republican Presidential nominating convention.

Unless he changes his mind, McCarthy told a reporter, he doesn't even plan to ask to be one of the delegates to the convention.

"I expect I'll have my hands full running for re-election to the Senate and I don't intend to take any part in the Presidential nominating race," he said.

McLEAN — After more than a year of preparation and postponements, McLean is going to build a new grade school building.

B. F. Horn of Abilene was low bidder for the project with a $131,000 bid for a 12-classroom building which will also include offices, cafeteria, health room and food supply room. An alternate plan for two more classrooms for an additional $12,900 was also bid low by Horn who has contracted school buildings in Snyder and Roscoe, a church in Abilene and is at present building a $250,000 school in Paducah.

Bids from 12 contractors were opened at a session of McLean's School Board President Milton Carpenter and Guy Beasley and Spencer Sitter.

"We were elated at the bid," Supt. of McLean schools Logan Cummings said today. "We had formally before actual acceptance of the contract."

The school board didn't make a formal acceptance of the bid, but a committee went to Paducah to inspect the school project within 10 days and complete his report there. They will return in 20 days, time for the time for a 3 p. m. final meeting 1952-53 school year.

Submitting bids on the grade school were Dodson Bros., Wichita Falls; J. T. Gohman, Borger; Hoke Construction Co., Stillwater; Horn of Abilene; Charles T. Hughes, Oklahoma City; G. A. Jones, Lamesa; C. S. Lambie, Anna, Okla.; L. K. Scott, Sulphur, Okla.; L. K. Scout, Pampa; James T. Taylor, Fort Worth; Timmons Construction Co., Amarillo; Wedding and Cochran of Amarillo.

The school board was notified Nov. 16 that they had priority for steel had been accepted, one of the reasons, they believe, why the bids were below the $142,000 expected by Nottger and Lawrence, architects from Oklahoma City.

Both Sides Hold Fire Temporarily

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Ground fighting came to a complete stop Wednesday along the 145-mile provisional cease-fire line, field dispatches reported, just as though an armistice had already been reached.

Chinese lit bonfires and smoked cigarettes openly all along the front. But the U. S. Eighth Army warned:

"There is no cease-fire in Korea. There is hope, but hope must not be sabotaged by wishful thinking."

The war still flared in the air and on the sea.

Truce negotiators at Panmunjom ran into a new stumbling block Wednesday in the second point of their agenda.

Communist truce negotiators flatly refused to ban military build-ups during an armistice or to create joint Allied-Red inspection teams to police the agreement.

The Allies insist both provisions are necessary to guard against a surprise Red attack during an armistice.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations negotiator, told the Reds unless they changed their position:

"I can only assume that you intend to build up your forces for resumption of your hostilities at some future time at your own choosing."

As he spoke ground fighting vanished, some Chinese troops even played volley ball within sight of interested American GIs, a U. S. Third Division officer told AP Correspondent Milo Farneti.

U. S. Eighth Army troops called off patrols under orders to stop aggressive fighting but to resist any attacks.

The Eighth Army denied issuing any such order. But Farneti, on the Western front, said he saw the order.

A Third Division officer said the purpose of the order was to show the sincerity of the Allies in creating a cease-fire line to become effective if a full truce is signed within 30 days. And, to "see how serious the Communists are" about the 30-day agreement.

The officer said the order instructed commanders to "maintain combat effectiveness" so their troops would be ready for a new offensive if truce talks run into a stalemate.

United Nations truce negotiators had refused to specify a permanent cease-fire line because it would mean a de facto cease-fire. They said they wanted to keep military pressure on the Communists until they agree to all terms necessary for an armistice.

McLEAN'S NEW GRADE SCHOOL BUILDING—Above is the architect's drawing of the new grade school building to be built in McLean, B. F. Horn, building contractor of Abilene, was low bidder on the project with $131,000 for a 12-classroom structure and $143,900 for a 14-classroom school. The contractor said he could start on the project, to be located at 6th and Main in McLean, within 10 days and be completed in time for the 1952-53 school year. There were 12 bidders on the project, including L. K. Stout of Pampa.

Game Commission Wants Quail Wings

AUSTIN — Quail hunters are reminded by W. C. Glazener of the Texas Game and Fish commission that quail wings are again wanted this season to complete the study started last year on age and sex ratio and other important information concerning bobwhite quail.

We will be glad to mail you a supply of return envelopes on which you need not pay any postage.

Continuing, he explained, "It is our opinion that 300 to 500 wings will be required to serve as a dependable sample from a given county. Therefore, we will greatly appreciate any efforts you might make to fill such a need."

To the hunters who sent in quail wings last year will be sent an analysis report if they request it.

Can't Do It Alone

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The Communist Party in France could not gain control of the country without the help of the Soviet Army.

So says Dr. Robert G. Neumann, assistant professor of political science at UCLA. Recently returned from France where he made an extensive study of political parties there, he believes the four million Frenchmen who voted Communist did so in protest to the present regime. Most of them are actually wary of political action, he says.

Manners In Mexico Make Writer Look Plain Gauche

By HENRY McEMORE

MEXICO CITY — Mama quit spanking manners into me much too soon.

She should have put me across her knee before I left for Mexico and given me one final smack.

Mexican manners start where ours leave off. An American who takes his hat off in an elevator, helps a Girl Scout across the street, or opens the car door for his wife, mentally pins a big medal on himself and inwardly considers himself Sir Walter Raleigh Jones.

I know that I had always considered my social behavior impeccable before I arrived in this former Aztec stamping ground. My chewing gum always goes under the theatre seat, not on the floor. Only in the privacy of my own boudoir do I ever pour my coffee into the saucer and blow on it to cool it. When I'm unlucky enough to draw a clumsy dancing partner I don't come right out and tell her she can't dance a lick — I politely tip my hat and say, "I've had enough, haven't you?"

But here in Mexico City I am just plain gauche. The people are so gentle, so gracious, so very, very polite, and so obviously sincere about it all, that I am tempted to throw away my guidebook and buy an Emily Post.

Even street cars are polite. The first time I crossed the street here, a little bewildered as all visitors to strange cities are when they first go out, a trolley car pulled to a screeching stop to allow me to pass in front of it. The conductor bowed from the waist, gave me a smile as wide as the street, and waved me on my way. The average American street car would have drawn a bead on you and cussed if it hadn't accorded a bull's-eye.

You think twice before asking a Mexican for directions. Simply because he will forget whatever he is doing and walk six blocks with you if necessary to be sure you get to the right place. I honestly believe if you asked a Mexican how to get to Los Angeles he would smile, bow, and start walking you toward California.

Their patience with Americans, or North Americans as they prefer us to call ourselves, they having been Americans long before we were, is fantastic. Our hustle, bustle, hurry and impatience must grate against their nerves, but they never show any temper. They are as gracious as if we were as gracious as they.

Of course, I have no idea if they are to themselves when no foreign ears are around, but whatever it is I can't blame them.

Almost the finest example of stern courtesy I ever saw was while I was watching a parade here. A mother, carrying a baby in her arms, tried to cross the street during the line of march. A handsome soldier, bayonet fixed, confronted her. He bowed, obviously apologized for what he was about to do, then he put the bayonet tip only a few inches away from the baby's throat. Then he backed mama and baby gently to where they had come from, smiling all the time, but at the same time looking as if he meant business.

Taft Denies Special Funds Aided Him

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) described as "completely false" the assertion by President Truman that "special interests" poured money into Ohio in 1950 to re-elect Taft to the Senate.

Testifying at a Senate hearing, Taft said it was his opponents, not his supporters, who poured out the funds in the campaign. He added:

"They were guilty of excessive use of money, pouring funds into Ohio from every state in the union — they used false front organizations, they sent carpet-baggers and outside organizers into Ohio, they based their campaign on lies and misrepresentations about my personal life."

The campaign against him, Taft declared, "represented a sinister conspiracy" in which his opponents "apparently would stop at nothing."

Taft, now a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination next year was re-elected to the Senate in 1950 by a 430,000 vote margin over Joseph T. Ferguson, his Democratic opponent.

An investigation is being conducted by a Senate elections subcommittee, headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa).

Taft said he welcomed the investigation if it also went into expenditures by the opposition and inquired into defamatory literature Taft said was circulated against him. Gillette said the group would inquire into all phases of the campaign. President Truman said in a recent address to the National Democratic Women's club here that "special interests poured money into Ohio last year" to elect Taft and "now they will be thinking that if money can win an election in Ohio, maybe money can win a national election."

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Questions and Answers about Newspaper Advertising

Q. Do you know of any measure for the value of newspaper circulation to an advertiser such as the standards that a business man uses in buying merchandise?

A. Yes. In the well-known standards that have been approved and adopted by advertisers—namely A.B.C. standards.

Q. What is A. B. C.?

A. A.B.C. stands for Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada.

Q. What is the Bureau's work?

A. To audit the circulation of newspapers and periodicals so that advertisers can buy space on the basis of definite standards and verified facts and figures.

Q. How does A. B. C. accomplish this?

A. The Bureau has a large staff of experienced auditors. They visit the publisher members periodically and make audits of their circulation records. This information is then published in A.B.C. reports for the use and protection of advertisers.

Q. What do these reports show?

A. A.B.C. reports tell how much circulation a newspaper has, where this circulation is, how it was obtained, how much people paid for it, and many other verified facts that advertisers should know when they buy advertising.

Q. Are all publications eligible for A. B. C. membership?

A. No. Only those with paid circulation. This is important to advertisers because it is the best proof of interest and purchasing power on the part of the readers.

Q. Is this newspaper a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations?

A. Yes. We are proud of our circulation and we want our advertisers to know just what they get for their money when they advertise in our columns. The audited information in our A.B.C. report gives them the complete facts.

Carmelela Brown Crowned Wheeler Football Queen

WHEELER — (Special) — Wheeler's Football Queen, Carmelela Brown, was crowned at the annual football banquet in the school cafeteria Tuesday. David (Teedie) Johnson, co-captain of the 1951 Mustang team, crowned the queen with one of the white football helmets used by the Mustangs.

The Queen's attendants were Helen Johnson escorted by Bob Weathers, Billie Owens escorted by Richard Brown, Beverly Bradshaw escorted by Bob Crossland and Martha Gaines escorted by James Clark. The coronation chorus was made up of Bonita Ragan, Betty Jo Traylor, Betty Jo Laycock, LaVeta Moore, Molly Berry, Yolanda Dorman, Wuanetia Burgess, Patricia Hubbard and Shirley Moore accompanied by Mrs. Patrick Boddy.

The invocation was given by Glen Sanders. Introductions of guests was made by W. O. Carrick. Bonita Ragan gave the welcome from the band members and pep club who sponsored the banquet and David Johnson made the response for the football team. Following the coronation, Coach Huffman talked of plans for the future and Harry Wofford spoke to the group. Coach Huffman showed a movie of a football game to round out the program.

MORE IN PRISON
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U. S. Prison bureau has reported a 1.2 percent increase in the adult state and federal prison population during 1950.

The number of inmates at the end of the year totaled 167,175, up 2,946 from the end of 1949. Most of the increase occurred in state institutions, which had 150,104 adults in custody while 17,069 were detained by federal authorities.

SANITY HEARING SET FOR WORTH — (AP) — Testimony began here today in the sanity hearing for Billie George McCune, 23, Waco, sentenced to death for the rape of a Fort Worth housewife in 1950.

Selection of a jury was completed yesterday.

Shortly after the opening of the trial yesterday the ex-boxer lunged at Sheriff's Deputies Dick Blevins and H. H. Alexander and attempted to strike them with a court room chair.

going to kick him in the teeth."

Taft, an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination, is counting heavily on a victory in the April 1 Wisconsin primary to keep his campaign for delegates rolling at full speed.

WANTS VOTE
Bender said if McCarthy is a delegate, "Taft wants McCarthy's vote."

Previously Taft's associates had said Wisconsin would be the only primary in which his name would be entered outside of Ohio, but recently they have been studying the possibility of trying the waters in New Hampshire.

The March 11 New Hampshire contest is the first of the Presidential year.

Republicans who are trying to get the party's nomination for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower apparently do not expect him to object to their entry of his name in that primary. Gov. Sherman Adams has said Eisenhower will be entered. The general could take his name off the ballot only by positive action. He has declined to discuss politics.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) said the national Eisenhower - for-President committee doesn't at this time favor going into Minnesota's March 18 primary, if former Gov. Harold E. Stassen is to be a "favorite son" candidate there.

FIRE HITS WINDSOR 2nd Time In Week

For the second time within a week fire hit equipment belonging to the Windsor Servicing Co.

As workmen yesterday were replacing a clean-out rig, damaged by a fire on the Royal Husted lease Sunday, gasoline nearby ignited.

The fire was extinguished quickly and no damage done. Fire Chief Ernest Windborne said the fire at the well Sunday caused $30,000 loss estimated by Windsor officials at $16,000.

MYSTERY

aged, otherwise the loss appeared to be complete this morning.

The fire occurred just one day after a complete inventory of all equipment, supplies and records was made by Major B. C. Caldwell of Austin. This inventory will be one of the big factors in finally determining the full extent of damage.

DAMAGE ABOUT $250,000
Early damage estimates were set at $250,000, but neither Capt. Robison, nor Major Caldwell would set a definite amount.

Col. Barnhill, inspector general of the Texas National Guard, was called this morning by Major Caldwell and given all available information. The colonel told Major Caldwell that someone from the inspector general's department would arrive in Pampa sometime next week to make a full survey and investigation of the fire.

Major Caldwell said: "All equipment will be replaced by the U.S.P. and D.O., but it is not known how long this will take since some of the equipment is on the critical list, and needed badly in Korea. However, equipment necessary to run the battery will be furnished and the remainder filled in as it becomes available."

The first job to be done now by the unit will be to replace personnel records of the officers and men of the battery. However, Capt. Robison said the fire will not slow down guard activities — meetings will continue to be held in temporary headquarters, and administrative headquarters set up in the basement of the postoffice.

Guardmen this morning reported the flames burned throughout the early morning hours as walls and roof crashed to the ground, sending up fountains of sparks.

The rapidly gathered crowd moved back when deep throated roars from explosions of brake fluid cans, empty gasoline containers, and acetylene welding equipment ripped the cool morning air. Many of them thought it was ammunition blowing up, but there was no live ammunition in the building.

But it wasn't only the National Guard to suffer from the fire.

RADIO CLUB LOSES
Pampa's Amateur Radio club also lost approximately $400 worth of equipment including a 300-watt transmitter, a receiver, owned by Herman Whalley, numerous tapes, a tape machine and code machine the club used in teaching its code classes. Club officers told The Pampa Daily News this morning they had just awarded a contract for fire insurance on the equipment and the policy was to be taken out today.

The fire raised speculation this morning on how soon the State Armory board would get to work on building a permanent armory for the battery on the 10-acre site granted them by the city of Pampa at Recreation park—about 100 yards south of where the battery was quartered.

Capt. Robison said, "The big necessity now is finding a place to meet until permanent quarters are made available."

Although he did not make any specific statement it was apparent the captain was thinking of a new armory since his outfit has no place to meet or to store replaced equipment and records when they do arrive.

Efforts were being made today by one local organization to house the outfit for meetings until permanent quarters are available for the unit.

Fire Threatens Important Part Of Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A four-alarm fire just off Pennsylvania Avenue threatened an important hotel, department store, and government section of the Capital before it was brought under control shortly before dawn today.

Flames battling the flames in below - freezing weather confined damage to two Eleventh Street buildings across the street from the Washington - Evening Star, and around the corner from FBI headquarters.

A fireman, Pvt. Andrew Goldsmith, was seriously injured when an air blast from an exploding third floor window blew him off a 40-foot ladder.

One three-story building occupied by a dance hall, a billiard parlor and a pawnbroker, was gutted. A second block away is the old Ford housing a chain drug store, watch repair shop and a photo-

Jess Neely, Rice Mentor, To Be Guest Speaker For Harvester Football Banquet

Call Issued For Boys Club Boxers

A call has been issued to any and all boys who desire to work out with the Harvester Boys Club boxing team. Coach of the squad is T. J. Watt, former Pampa Golden Glover.

Workouts will be held daily from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Pampa News building on W. Foster St., which has been leased to the club, rent free, for training purposes.

The workout period has been set up to early evening in order that the boys can get to bed earlier and do their studies. The new hours are on a trial basis.

Jackets will be awarded Friday night to the members of last year's boxing team. Boys to receive jackets are Garw Watt, Gary Wilhelm, Frank Smith, James Weathered, Ronnie James, John Smith, Jimmy Malone, Paul Ramirez, Arnold Diggs, Claude Porterfield, Roscoe Broadnax, Troy Hall, Jimmy Mosteller, Tony Gonzales, Bill Snow, Sammy Gaffney, Cordell Pugh, Jimmy Bennett and Dick Murray.

Sooner Club To Texas Rose Tilt

TYLER — (AP) — Northeastern Oklahoma A&M of Miami, Okla., has accepted an invitation to play in the Dec. 15 Texas Rose Bowl game in Tyler.

The other team is expected to be named today. Tyson Payne, general chairman of the bowl, said Tuesday.

The Oklahoma team is undefeated and untied in nine regular season games and scored 325 points while giving up only 65.

Coach S. A. (Red) Robertson made the acceptance for Northeastern.

Compton, Calif., defeated Tyler Junior college 20-19 in the first Texas Rose Bowl game in 1947. Tyler edged Wharton Junior college of Wharton, Tex., 27-26 last year.

Skellytown Cage Season Opening

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Skellytown Panthers junior high school team will open its district season on Dec. 6 against the Groom junior high eleven at Skellytown. The team will play six district games in its division. Other non-district games are being worked out, according to Bert Isbell, coach of the Panthers.

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 6—Groom, here.

Dec. 13—Claude, here.

Jan. 10—Panhandle, here.

Jan. 24 — Claude, here.

Jan. 31 — Groom, here.

Feb. 7 — Panhandle, here.

All games will start at 7 o'clock and both A and B team games will be played.

The Panthers will also participate in tournaments at Panhandle, Spring Creek, and in the district tournament which has tentatively been scheduled for Feb. 14.

WARREN'S ARMUP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What individual star paced the nation's college football scorers in the 1950 season?

COACH JESS NEELY doesn't know it, but he was handed the 1952 Southwest Conference football championship and the Cotton Bowl along with it yesterday when he accepted an invitation to speak at the Harvester football banquet Jan. 17.

It's like this:

In 1949 the Harvesters had Coach Dana Bible of Texas as guest speaker for their banquet. In 1950 the Longhorns won the SWC race and the Rose Bowl bid.

In 1951 the Harvesters had Coach Dutch Meyer of TCU as guest speaker and it looks like the 1952 champion is going to be the Horned Frogs.

In 1951 the Harvesters are having Coach Jess Neely, so it looks like the race is his next season.

Neely is a very busy man, and the desire of the Harvester coaches to have him as the speaker necessitated the late banquet. While talking with him yesterday I found out that he must attend the East-West Shrine game the end of the year, where he will help coach the West team. The job he had tried to beg off of. Then he must hustle back to attend a National Coaches' Association meeting in Cincinnati early in the year. He will be back just in time to catch the Pampa banquet.

In reply to a question concerning the outcome of the TCU-SMU encounter this weekend he would give no prediction, shaking off the question with a "No, no!" reply when asked to guess as to the outcome.

Neely asked about bringing a film, so I told him to bring along a good one of Bill Howton. Many Pampa fans will remember when the Plainview pass-snatcher played against the Harvesters. His little brother, Jackie, who was such an outstanding athlete at Plainview a couple of seasons back is attending the University of Houston. "He didn't have the necessary credit to enter Rice," said Neely, "and we surely could use him."

Anyway, tickets for the affair will go on sale early next week, and you will want to get yours early, as only about 425 can be accommodated in the cafeteria. We will be honoring one of the great football players of the great Pampa High school football teams, despite the fact they didn't win the district crown.

Had a little article the other day in this column about Dud DeGroot asking them to leave the football rules alone long enough to get them standardized. I tried to play a little basketball last night and found out that they must have changed the rules in that game, too.

Woke up this morning, (a) sore, (b) with a sprained ankle, (c) tired, (d) with a blister the size of a silver dollar on my right foot, (e) aching.

It must be the rule changes that caused all that because I never was in that shape 15 years ago when playing in school. Or maybe they're making the floors harder now.

Thanks to a couple of ardent readers, I think I'm standing corrected. Few days ago we said, in answer to a question in the Ann, that Joe Louis and Gene Tunney were only retired, undefeated heavyweight champions.

After the phone calls, we looked through the files and found Jim Jeffries abandoned the crown in 1905 because of lack of competition and not too good health. He tried to regain it later and in 1910 was beaten by Jack Johnson in a title scrap. Apparently he can be included in the class of champions who abandoned their crown rather than being beaten for it.

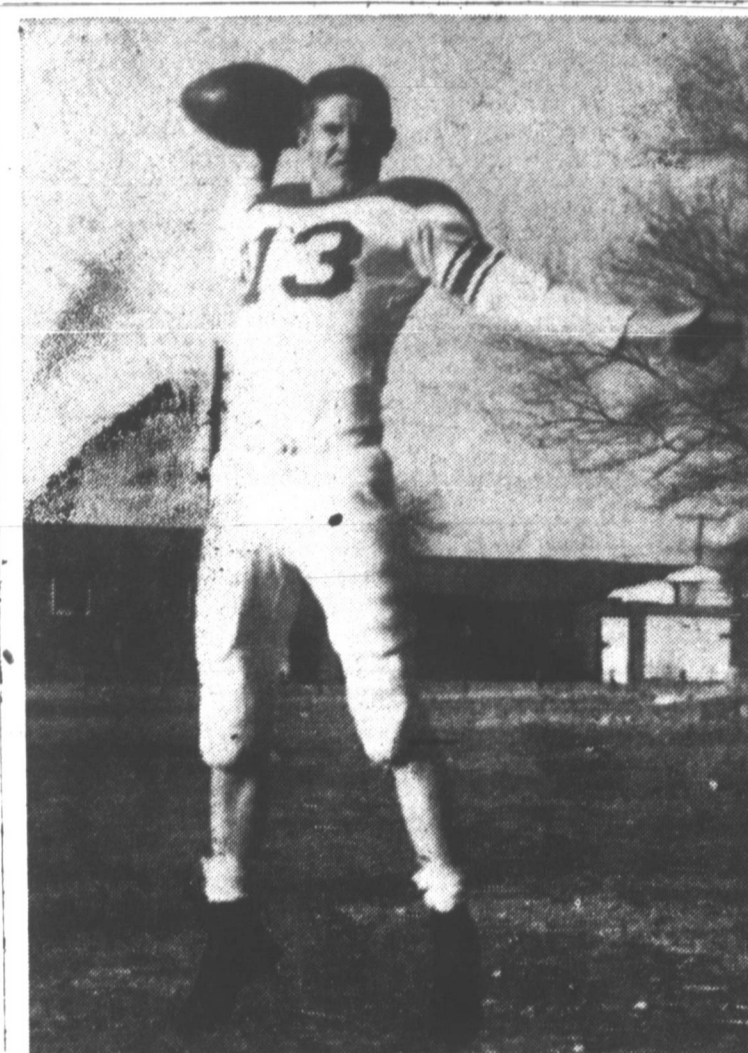

Many thanks to the fine folks over at Skellytown for the invitation to their football banquet. Always enjoy myself over there with Coach Bert Isbell and the youngsters that always make fine footballers for Coach George Watson and the White Deer Ducks.

ANSWER: Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds paced the nation's collegiate football scorers in the 1950 season with 22 touchdowns and 23 conversions for a total of 137 points.

Hot Stove League Afire As Chisox, Browns Swing Deals

By RALPH RODEN
NEW YORK — (AP) — Baseball's hot stove league has begun to show signs of life now that the college football season is nearly ended.

Those two live wire magnates, Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox and Bill Veeck of the St. Louis Browns, stirred up the fires in the battered stove yesterday with an eight-man deal.

The White Sox shipped first baseman Gordon Goldsberry, outfielder Jim Rivera, pitcher Dick Littlefield, catcher Gus Niarhos and infielder Joe DeMaestri to the Browns for catcher Sherman Lollar, pitcher Al Widmar and shortstop Tommy Upton. Later, the White Sox traded Upton to the Washington Senators for infielder Sam Dente.

Lollar, also sought by the Boston Red Sox, was the man the White Sox wanted most. Lane intimated that the hard-hitting Lollar would greatly boost Chicago's chances of improving on its fourth place finish last season.

The Browns were happy to get Rivera, the Pacific Coast league's most valuable player. Rivera played for Brownie Manager Rogers Hornsby at Seattle last year.

CARDINAL POST
Hornsby said, "He's the only player in all baseball today that I'd buy a $2.00 box seat to watch play."

St. Louis' acquisition of Rivera was not exactly a surprise. During the season it was rumored that Rivera was part of a deal that saw the Browns sell outfielder Ray Coleman to Chicago for the waiver price. The Sox had purchased Rivera from Seattle for spring delivery.

Others fighting in the baseball news yesterday included Lefty O'Doul, Marty Marion and Fred Saigh.

O'Doul, former National League batting champion, was signed to manager San Diego of the Pacific Coast league by the Pacific Coast league. O'Doul, manager of San Francisco for the past 17 seasons, replaces former Detroit Tiger manager Del Baker at the Padre helm.

Marion, released as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals this week, was considering playing coach offers from the Browns and Boston Braves. The former star shortstop said he expected to make up his mind soon.

Saigh, released as manager of the Cardinals, was the search for a new manager had narrowed to three men, two of them from outside the Cardinal organization. One of the prospects reportedly is Ed Stanky, second baseman of the New York Giants. The man in the organization is either Card coach Terry Moore or Johnny Keane, manager of the Red Birds Columbus American Association team.

Irish JH Girls Lose To Kelton

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach B. L. Hill's junior high girls dropped a 14-10 basketball game to the Kelton junior girls here Monday afternoon.

Cornie Lewis hit for five points while her colleagues, Jennetta Upton and Julia Holmes, netted three and two points.

Coach Hill praised the play of his juniors, especially the guarding. He commented that Anderson, see Kelton forward, who sometimes scores thirty points, was held to three free shots by the alert Irish guards.

Unbeaten Colts To Meet Wogs

DALLAS — (Special) — Eddie Scheig of Pampa is due to play an important role in the SMU Colts' attempt to win their fifth consecutive game of the year when they play the TCU Polliwogs in Dallas Friday, Nov. 30, according to Coach Herman Morgan.

The game is a benefit affair being sponsored by the Variety Club with the proceeds going to their Boys Ranch located between Dallas and Fort Worth and housing 80 underprivileged youths.

In their first four games the Colts have defeated the Rice Owlets 28-6, the Texas Short-horns 28 to 13, the Oklahoma University-Boomers 42 to 27, and the Baylor Cubs 39 to 20.

Frank Eidom, all-state halfback from Port Arthur, is the leading ground gainer of the team as he has gained 390 yards in three games, having missed the first game of the year because of an injury. In total offense Eidom, who has completed three passes for 60 yards, is 51 yards ahead of Duke Nix, who has gained 40 yards from Corsicana, who has gained 177 yards rushing and 222 on 13 completed passes. Malcolm Bowers, star signal caller and passer from Highland Park, is third in total offense with 240 yards passing and 30 yard rushing, and Tommie Fields, ace fullback from Wichita Falls, is fourth with 163 yards rushing. Fields also leads in scoring with 30 points.

In the pass receiving department Doyle Nix, an all-stater from Texarkana, is leading in yards gained with 183 on eight catches and Ed Bernet, all-state end from Highland Park, is tops in number of passes caught with 11 to his credit.

Eidom held the list in kick-off returns, Nutt in punt returns, and John Roach, defensive star from Highland Park, in returns of intercepted passes.

Saigh, owner of the Cardinals, guard slots for Shamrock. "The girls played good ball generally, but couldn't hit their shots," Hill explained.

Hill's junior girls are slated for a return engagement at Kelton the afternoon of Monday, Dec. 3.

Bracalo Wins Two With Toe

WACO — (AP) — Cosimo Bracalo may miss an extra point or field goal when it doesn't matter, — but put the chips on the line and watch this young man of Baylor come through.

Already this season he has won two games and tied another with his toe. Those were the only "had to" occasions.

When Bracalo tried two extra points and missed both badly in the Baylor opener with the University of Houston, sophomore Jimmy Davenport was permitted to try the next one — and made it.

After the game, some of the sidewalk quarterback scooped at Bracalo's place-kicking ability and suggested to Coach George Sauer that he find a new one.

"No, I'll stick by Bracalo," said Sauer. "Maybe we just need to do a better job of holding the ball for him."

The next week Bracalo kicked four for four against Tulane. He missed one against Arkansas but won that game 9-7 with a field goal. He booted four of six against Texas Tech and three for three against Texas A&M — including that pressure point, 40,000 watching, to give Baylor a tie.

Bracalo got one for one against Texas Christian, one of three against Texas (one was blocked), six for six against Wake Forest and two for two against Southern Methodist. His two extra points against SMU won the game 14-13.

FIELD GOAL
The field goal against Arkansas was the first and only one he ever tried in a college game — but he had been around one last year, when Baylor beat Southern Methodist on Hank Dickerson's field goal, Bracalo centered the ball.

Bracalo played little for Baylor last year, having small chance to see action when the Bears had such fine linebackers as Gale Galloway and Frank Boydston. But this year he's a regular line-backer — the lightest in the Southwest Conference at 181 pounds.

Bracalo set up two Baylor touchdowns against Wake Forest with pass interceptions.

His holder is Francis (Cotton) Davidson. They have an agreement. Bracalo never sees the football except as he kicks it. He then reaches over and tears off a bit of grass. Davidson, or the roar of the crowd, tells him if it's good.

Longhorns, Aggies Renew Bitter Rivalry Tomorrow

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
Texas and Texas A&M, a couple of long-time gridders foes, meet at College Station tomorrow to start the last round in the hairbreadth Southwest Conference football race.

The whole season is wrapped up in three games with the biggest one coming Saturday at Fort Worth where Texas Christian seeks to shatter its bitter rivalry, Southern Methodist, and thus take the title.

But tomorrow's Texas-Aggie tilt and the Baylor-Rice game at Houston Saturday figure strongly in the race.

A loss by TCU and a victory for Baylor would give the latter the championship. Losses by TCU and Baylor could throw the race into a three-way tie in the event Texas beats Texas A&M. Then, TCU, Rice and Texas would tie for the title.

Other things could happen but those are the most probable.

Texas Christian is favored by seven points to beat Southern Methodist and take its first conference championship in seven years. The odds-makers also have given Texas seven points over A&M and Baylor the same margin over Rice.

Crowds totaling more than 120,000 are expected for the three games that wind up the season except for the conference champion or representative that plays in the Cotton Bowl. In the event of a tie for the title, a team has to be picked to represent the conference in the Dallas New Year's day classic against Kentucky.

At College Station tomorrow, Texas A&M will be winding up one of its most disappointing seasons — but that disappointment could be eased greatly if the Aggies beat Texas. It has been 12 years since they turned the trick. A sell-out crowd of 40,000 will be there to see what happens.

At Fort Worth, another sell-out of 34,000 is anticipated for a bit of grass. Davidson, or the roar of the crowd, tells him if it's good.

Season's Second Boxing Card At Amarillo Tonight

A card of about 15 three-round bouts will feature the second service team match of the season between the Amarillo Air Force base boxing team and the Shepard Field boxing team tonight in Amarillo. The bouts will be held in Hangar No. 600 at the air force base. No admission will be charged.

Featured on the card will be a 160-pound bout between Eugene Cooper, coach of the AAFB team and state champion at that weight, and Johnny Burton, TCU and Baylor could throw the race into a three-way tie in the event Texas beats Texas A&M. Then, TCU, Rice and Texas would tie for the title.

Other things could happen but those are the most probable.

Gasoline-Gossip - by - JAY

Your forecaster is abashed and embarrassed and humiliated over last week's "experting." We selected on three and hit only one — Baylor's 14-13 win over SMU. Surely we can do better this week.

Texas-Texas A&M — The Aggies will reach the heights in this one and it would be no surprise if they won it but we'll vote weakly for Texas.

Texas Christian - Southern Methodist — It could be a wide-open, free-wheeling game with a lot of points on each side; we'll take TCU to score the most.

Baylor-Rice — The Owls won't give up without a terrific struggle but it looks like Baylor from here. Ought to be close.

Midwest Miami's Happy Hunting Area

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
MIAMI, Fla. (NEA) — The University of Miami simply went out and got itself a football team to fill the Orange Bowl.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS—Coach Andy Gustafson has something to smile about. His Miami Hurricanes keep the spacious Orange Bowl crowded with rabid Southern football fans. (NEA)

The Hurricanes' rise as a pigskin power matches its growth since President B. F. Ashe negotiated a $5,000,000 loan from the Federal Housing Authority after World War II.

But Miami's much-publicized fishing course is taken by only one football player, guard Joe Bartolovich, a staid southern gentleman from Struthers, O., a complete whack on angling who has won several prizes in south Florida tournaments.

There's a sailing course, but no credits are given, and none of the gridiron combatants take it. Three years ago authorities seriously considered giving a course in bridge, but dropped the idea because they considered it too tough. The latter, like the other soft touches, would have been elective, of course.

KICHEFSKI THE PERSUADER
A dozen squadmen, including the mighty mite quarterback, Jack Hackett of McKeesport, Pa., and Leo Martin of Pittsburgh remained on the Hollywood set that's the campus taking summer school courses in order to be eligible.

Positive proof that it is possible for a football star to flunk at Miami of Coral Gables is Bob Stafford. The 205-pound left tackle was declared ineligible for failure to maintain his scholastic average.

Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Ohio are Miami's happy hunting grounds for vicious ground-gainers, passing Dead-Eye Dicks and sturdy linebackers. Thirty-four of the 89 on the roster, exclusive of freshmen, come from those states. A dozen hall from Florida.

Walt Kichefski, Miami '39, end coach known as The Persuader, heads the staff during the off-season combing Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Ohio for bulging blockers and terrific tacklers. Head Coach Andy Gustafson was Col. Red Blaik's most trusted operative along this line during the years that he drilled Army's backs.

From Ambridge, Pa., High alone this season, Miami's foxy foragers obtained four stickouts, including Bob Moschetti, All-Western Pennsylvania interscholastic fullback. The others are end Ralph Aquilera, tackle Ray Staniski and center Brian McCarthy.

In the interests of true journalism it must be reported that extraordinary football players not acceptable academically elsewhere get in at Miami. The University is refused admittance by the far-flung Southeastern Conference, which limits its members to a measly 140 athletic scholarships.

A STORY
There's the story of Anthony Constantino, a sophomore, at a listed 21 and the darndest half-back you ever saw. Everybody wanted Pud, Constantino when he was the Blizard of Blairsville, Pa., High, but quickly found that the trick was to get him in school.

been that the registrar didn't approve of his transcript. Anyway, Constantino knew in which direction to head, although he should have telegraphed for transportation. Instead, he hitchhiked to Miami, arriving unexpectedly at 10 p.m. He had stood on a corner in Jacksonville for five hours, broke, waiting for a ride. What young men won't do to attend Sun-tan!

FOOTBALL NUTS!
Miami is football nuts. When the Hurricanes' plane returned from Purdue last season, more than 100,000 people tried to get on the airport. The ship had to circle for 20 minutes because wild-eyed admirers of the heroes jammed the runways. With police escort, two hours were required to reach Bayfront Park, where an official welcome was held.

For years Miami stalwarts have been aided by the Quarterbacks Club. Such items as dental bills were taken care of by the Quarterbacks, who in 1940 purchased a plot of land which became the University's first practice field.

Last winter a Chapter Club was organized with charter membership at $100. This outfit paid the expenses of prospects brought to the curious campus this year, gave each member of the 1950 squad a gold ring.

The Orange Bowl Stadium's growth has paralleled Miami's progress. Double-decking brought the capacity to 59,500 in time for the Georgia Tech - Kansas game, Jan. 1, 1948.

A football dressing-room building is being used this year for the first time. The Orange Bowl Committee gave the University $20,000 to start it. The City of Miami chipped in $7500. Smaller donations brought the total to $40,000.

Another wing of the same size, housing all other athletes and offices for coaches, was built after the University threw some $40,000 from its $75,000 Orange Bowl receipts of last Jan. 1 into the building.

ATTENDANCE
By 1941, Miami had drawn 184,840 paid admissions in nine home games. After the war, this zoomed to 319,449 for eight starts in 1949. A total of 255,626 paid to see seven home games last trip, when they were televised.

After non-paying attendance was deducted in 1949, a net $97,254 skimmed off the top, the gross income from football was $478,885, including radio and programs. But a $464,904 expense item in the auditor's report took the bloom off the gross, and there was a net athletic department loss of $131,863.

Here's how officials feel about the deficit: "Universities have learned that major football is one of the finest promotional agencies yet devised by an educational institution," says Dr. Jay F. W. Pearson, vice-president.

"It holds alumni interest, and brings alumni visits, support and gifts." So, you see, football is a show window, and then some, at Miami.

High-pressure football usually picks up the entire athletic tab, but the way things are handled at the University of Miami it barrel pays for itself.

TOMORROW: Michigan State builds for Michigan. Ray Powell of the Providence Reds in the American Hockey League scored a penalty shot goal recently against Syracuse. It was the league's first this season.

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Plans for both boys and girls basketball for the senior high school here are being delayed by the football playoffs, Scot McCall, head coach, reports.

Shamrock won the bi-district clash with Tulsa, 27-7, Turkey day and play Childrens here in the regional Friday. If they should win, they would have another game next week with the winner of the Kermit-Anson clash at Odessa.

McCall will have a major building job to do with both crews. Gone from the varsity lineups are Vernon Tarbet, ace guard, Vaughn Terry, star forward, Carol Valentine.

McCall can count on the return of Van Pennington, sensational crisp-shot expert; Mack Terry; Elmer Harris, center; and several others who did not play on the main team last season.

Loss of Tarbet will be the most damaging single blow, for the champion guard, an all-regional winner in 1951, netted 327 points and was one of the best in floor play in the area.

Vaughn Terry will be hard to replace, too, having sunk 287 points. McCall lost Peggy Porter, forward, from the girls crew, besides two sterling guards — Lavonne Aycock and Wynona Lister.

Returns from the main crew include Modene Griffin, Berniece Close, and Jenny Ford. Bobby Bowmer of Schreiner was the passing leader. He completed 75 of 156 throws for 1,178 yards.

James Brazell of Schreiner led in pass receiving, snaring 37 throws for 624 yards. Caddo Sanders of Ranger was the only player to lead in two departments. He topped in kick-off returns with 13 for 231 yards and in punt returns with 20 for 388.

Bobby Hamrick of Ranger was the punting leader. He averaged 40.7 yards on 45 kicks. Don Bloom of Arlington State led the scorers with 44 points. Arlington State was the team rushing leader with 2,039 yards in nine games. Schreiner topped in passing with 1,433 yard in 10.

Statistics Bear Out San Angelo
By the Associated Press
The statistics show why San Angelo is champion of the Pioneer Junior College conference.

Final figures released today place San Angelo tops in total offense with 2,605 yards per game — an average of 326.

The Rams, with a season record of six wins and two losses, will play in the Oleander Bowl at Galveston Jan. 1.

San Angelo also contributed the individual leader in rushing. Doug Cameron gained 726 yards on 117 carries.

Bobby Bowmer of Schreiner was the passing leader. He completed 75 of 156 throws for 1,178 yards. James Brazell of Schreiner led in pass receiving, snaring 37 throws for 624 yards.

White Deer Opens Basketball Drills

WHITE DEER — Thirty candidates for the Buck basketball squad greeted Coach C. C. Kitchens as he opened workouts for the 1951-52 season Monday.

Because their gymnasium was ruined in the disastrous tornado last spring, the Bucks must practice at the Skellytown grade school gym. They will also use that as their home floor for all home games.

The start of the season isn't very far off, the Bucks hosting the Price College Cardinals Dec. 3. The complete White Deer schedule is as follows:

- Dec. 3 — Price College, here.
- Dec. 6, 7, 8 — McLean Tournament.
- Dec. 11 — open.
- Dec. 14 — open.
- Dec. 18 — Groom, there.
- Dec. 21 — Phillips, there.
- Jan. 3, 4, 5 — Claude Tournament.
- Jan. 8 — McLean, here.
- Jan. 11 — Panhandle, there.
- Jan. 15 — Clarendon, there.
- Jan. 17, 18, 19 — Canadian Tournament.
- Jan. 23 — Price College, there.
- Jan. 25 — Panhandle, here.
- Jan. 29 — Clarendon, there.
- Feb. 1 — Lefors, here.
- Feb. 6 — Panhandle, here.
- Feb. 8 — Lefors, there.

Call Out For Irish JH Cagers

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach B. L. Hill issued calls for opening practice for his 1951-52 junior high boys basketball team on Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Hill lost most of his 1950-51 crew, including Bobby Burrell, forward, but has James Collinsworth back from the last year squad. Collinsworth is an eighth grader.

Other eighth graders include James Tarbet, James Derborne, Billy Jo Washburn, and Wayne Henry, a Bethel school player last year in the seventh grade.

Irish seventh graders are Gaston Tarbet, James Lanham, Joe Smith, James Neely and James Mathenia.

Waco Votes To Oust Texarkana Eleven

WACO — (P) — Waco High school has decided it is too expensive for Texarkana to be included in District 5-AAAA football competition.

The school board voted last night to disapprove any further part by Texarkana in Class AAAA football. Texarkana does not have the required 1,000 enrollment for automatic admission to Class AAAA. It can only take part in district competition by unanimous consent of other district members.

Waco Principal Tom Ware was instructed to vote against Texarkana in a meeting probably to be held in Dallas Sunday.

Waco school superintendent a double round robin, with Shamrock, Briscoe, Kelton, Allison, Wheeler and Lela. Loop tourney may be here.

Playoffs would be held on Saturdays.

In 1928 the Boston Braves played nine successive double headers. That is a major league loop, with plans being laid for record.

E. N. Dennard said the school board voted against Texarkana because the long trips to Texarkana were a financial loss and because it was not good for students to be out of school so long for such trips.

When it comes to SERVICE

PLYMOUTH IS THE CAR WITH MORE DEALERS, MORE TRAINED SERVICE-MEN, THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

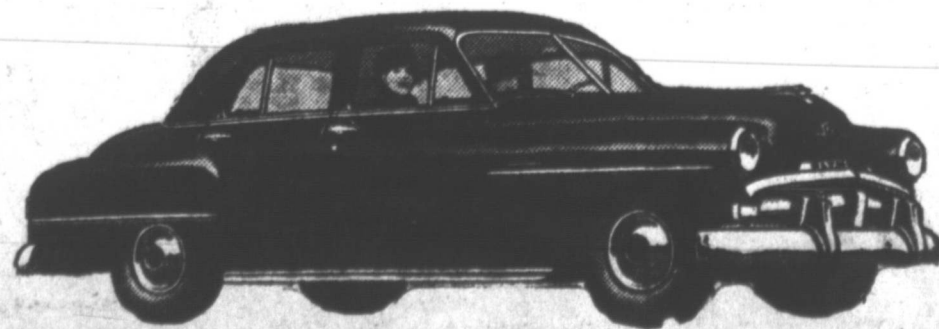

To many people, the kind of service that's behind a car is important. Before buying, they wisely ask: "Where can I get service if I need it?"

Plymouth Dealers Are Everywhere
It makes no difference where you live, there's an expertly trained Plymouth serviceman near you. With over 10,500 Plymouth dealers — far more than for any other make of car—you'll find a Plymouth dealer in or near every community in the nation.

70,000 Master Technicians
Plymouth owners have available not only the most, but the best, service. Nearly 70,000 Plymouth servicemen are members of the Master Technicians Service Conference, the largest program of its kind in the world. In operation for more than 4 years, this is a continuing "postgraduate" course in the most accurate, surest ways of diagnosing mechanical difficulties... the newest, best service methods.

The Right Service at the Right Time
Plymouth Master Technicians are the kind of servicemen who can diagnose the complaint right off—without costly, time-wasting guesswork and experimenting. Then they work to factory-approved standards, with factory-engineered parts. Result: The job is done properly. The Plymouth car is built to last — to give you fine and dependable transportation at low cost. But when your Plymouth does need a checkup, minor adjustment, or repair, it's good to know that this fine service is always near you. It's part of the satisfaction, the sense of extra value, that you get when you buy a Plymouth.

Under the Quotes

by Julius Long

He had a nasty laugh. "I shot him, and he stopped laughing. It was a fool trick, and I had to think fast to cover up. I'd brought a 38 that couldn't be traced. I knew you had a gun collection, and any gun collection contains a 38. Hardly any collector registers guns in this state. It isn't required by law.

"I DROVE over to your place and found you weren't at home. I used a skeleton key to get into your house. There was a 38 in your collection, all right. I took it out and threw it into the lake. The floor pad out of the trunk of my car muffled the six shots I fired into the sand trap you used as a back stop for pistol shooting. Then I hurried back to Berman's place and planted the gun. Never dreamed it wasn't your gun, did you?"

I shook my head. "And you never dreamed there was a witness."

He reddened slightly. "Not all the while. I had been in too much of a hurry to frame you as the obvious suspect to look for the money. I looked after I got back. This case would ruin his claim to my property." I faltered. "Why didn't you come to me, Gene? I'd have paid you as much or more."

"What with? Your big shot lawyers had busted you. You didn't have a dime. Berman had plenty. At the last minute I decided to make a deal with you. That's why he called you and told you to come to his place that night. He meant to offer you $150,000.

"He knew that paying you off would be cheaper than paying me in the long run. I'd be back for more. Berman knew I couldn't publicize our little deal as I would incriminate myself and face disbarment. So he laughed at me.

that dizzy blonde that lived with her. She'd picked it up from my conversation with Charlie.

"It's a miracle the blonde remembered it. If she hadn't, everybody would go on thinking, as Earnie Berman and Babe Tinsig did, that you had killed Cleo. And if she hadn't remembered, I wouldn't have to kill you now."

"Won't it look bad, Gene, killing a client in your own office?"

"Not when your client's a killer. You're a killer, Jimmer. Ask anyone. I'll have a straight, simple story. You broke the glass out of my reception room door and came to kill me, the man who saved you from the electric chair!"

I GUESSED he would have a good story, all right. I wondered how long I could stall him.

"You fooled me, all right, Gene. I even suspected Julie Bradford. I wonder how she got so familiar with the premises of the Berman cottage."

Gene chuckled. "She's been snooping around the place ever since you were put in jail. It's a wonder Berman didn't catch her and put her in jail with you."

He breathed deeply. He was getting ready. He said: "I'm sorry it has to be this way, Jimmer. I always liked you. I enjoyed getting you free yesterday—it was poetic justice, freeing the man I'd framed. Like Somerset Maugham, I appreciate irony. It was Maugham who said—"

"Spare me any more quotes, please!"

Gene smiled apologetically. I went for the automatic in my pocket. It stuck. The gun blast sounded like a cannon in the room. I wondered why I didn't feel anything, and I wondered why Gene was buckling at the knees. Then I saw Sheriff Souders behind him. I knew Julie had unlocked him at the jail and told him I was here.

The automatic fell from Gene's hand. He stared at me and said: "As I was about to say, Maugham once wrote: 'I can imagine no more comfortable frame of mind for the conduct of life than a humorous resignation.'"

His mouth laughed crimson bubbles, and he died.

Radio Stations Not To Censor Speeches

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Broadcasting stations have no right to censor the content of political speeches, even if they use state and local libel laws as an excuse, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) said yesterday.

In a restatement of policy, somewhat stronger than one made three years ago, FCC said in its view no liability for libel rests against a station as a result of providing a microphone for a legally qualified candidate for public office to reach the voters.

The commission recalled what its chairman, Wayne Coy, told a House committee on the subject in 1948: "for the most part, political candidates are not super-sensitive; they know how to reach the voters."

Texan Will Have This Story To Tell His Grandchildren

By FILO FARNETI

WESTERN FRONT, Korea. (AP) A lean Texan lay nearly buried for three nights in a bombed bunker in Chinese territory while the 41-hour battle of "Little Gibraltar" raged above him.

Harold Whitmar, 208 1-2 Polk St., Amarillo, came out of the dugout in good condition when the Allies finished retaking all peaks of the hill mass Sunday.

Here's a little bit of what Whitmar survived:

Artillery pounding, a dirt and stone shower, Chinese tramping on his stomach, an attempted Red bayoneting, snow, wet and freezing weather, and the terror of sleepless nights, always expecting the Chinese to find him.

During all this time, Whitmar could move only one arm in the dark and had only one stick of gum to chew on "until there wasn't any flavor left and then pretty soon there wasn't any gum."

The buried rifleman finally knew he would be saved when the voices above him "started sneaking American instead of the Chinese I'd been hearing all the time."

Chicago Auditorium To House Conventions

CHICAGO — (AP)—The Republican and Democratic parties will hold their 1952 national political conventions in Chicago's 25,000-seat International amphitheatre.

Television facilities accounted for the selection of the amphitheatre rather than the Chicago stadium, where the 1944 conventions were held.

Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson of the Republican party and Frank E. McKinney of the Democratic party said yesterday "television was the most important single factor" in the choice.

The parties each will pay $6,500 daily rental during their respective conventions next summer.

Heavy Winds Knock Out Iowa's Corn Crop

DES MOINES, Ia. — (AP)—Hervey Hazen, Iowa chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration, says early report indicate "tremendous amounts" of corn are on the ground as a result of recent high winds.

The storm was the most damaging to the corn crop since the bad wind storm in October, 1949, during which so much of the crop, already seriously weakened by corn borers, was knocked over.

Beauty After Forty

"My bosom is so flat! How can I youthify it?—Fifty." The size of the bosom without taking on weight all over. If your bosom is as flat as you describe it, you should wear a well fitted, padded bra. You also need posture adjustment, which will add to your poise and better figure. It will lift even a flat bosom. Try this posture exercise:

Loe on your back on a narrow table or an ironing board if you are sure that it is secure. Place the board between two sturdy chairs. Flex your knees and push the small of your back down in order to touch the board. Have two books of equal weight. Grasp one in each hand, then turn the hands away from the body. Move the arms from the shoulders, slowly. Raise and lower them to the level of the board. You will know when you have had enough.

"I am a recent widow. Should I answer all letters of condolence by hand? My husband was a civic figure and there are hundreds of cards and letters and phone messages. I want to do the correct thing.— Mrs. F."

In your case, I would have a very simple card done by your engraver, with just the message. Thank you for your kind expressions of sympathy in my great loss," then your name, "Mary Ella Smith." These may be addressed either by hand or typewriter. It may be possible to find simple, well-done cards already made up. Then, of course, you would have to sign your name by hand.

As to your other question, as to the propriety of using black-bordered stationery and having new cards made, the correct etiquette is plain white stationery. Black borders are no longer used on stationery and calling cards. Your card should still read, "Mrs. Henry Jones Smith." In signing business letters, you should use "Mary Ella Smith" and, beneath it, "Mrs. Henry Jones Smith."

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Meadows, Skellytown, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Billie Louise Meadows, to Pfc. Russell Dean Talley of Chanute Air Base, Rantoul, Ill. Pfc. Talley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Talley, also of Skellytown. Wedding vows will be exchanged during the Christmas holidays in the Skellytown First Baptist church.

The City Club room.

The following Girl Scout troops meet: Troop 25, Horace Mann school; Troop 4, Sam Houston Cafeteria; Troop 39, Rotary House; Troop 1, Girl Scout little house; Troop 6, Presbyterian church.

5:00 p.m.—The Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild will serve a chili supper between 5 and 7 p.m.

SATURDAY
 7:30 p.m.—The Square-Ten club will meet in the Parish Hall.

Students To Testify On Marihuana Use

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — About 25 students may be brought before a special session of the Wichita county grand jury today to tell about the use of marihuana in Wichita Falls High school.

Four witnesses appeared yesterday.

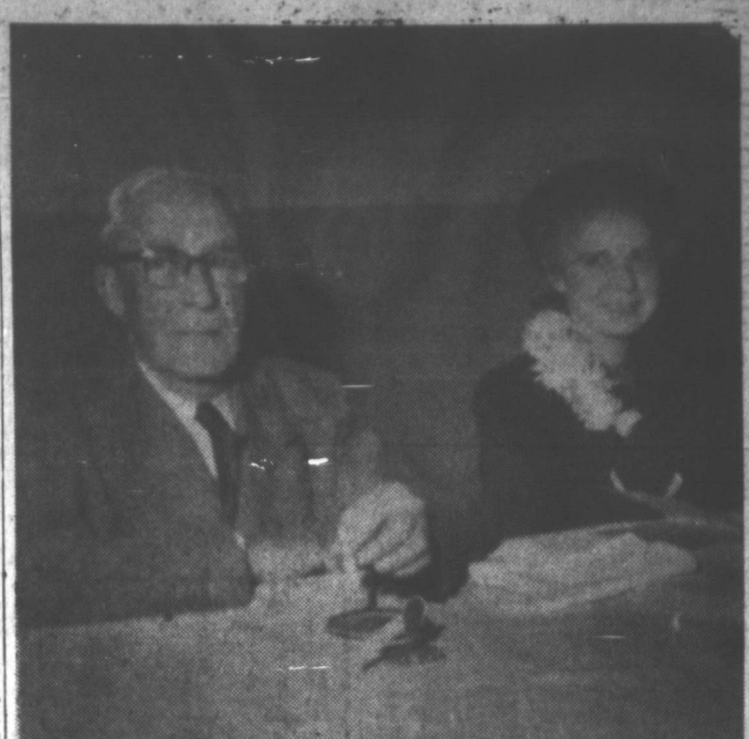

Relony charges against 13 persons arrested last week are before the grand jury for action. Four of those arrested were high school students.

District Atty. Alan B. Haley said yesterday that some students "have made statements of a sort, but none have been incriminating."

WEAR ARMY SURPLUS

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — A lot of pygmies in Africa are wearing Army surplus shirts with "PW" on the back. They're not prisoners of war.

The shirts represent the pay William Said, Columbus hunter, gave them for helping him capture gorillas. He explained pygmies want clothes most of all.

Medics Sav Woman Mentally Sick

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Four doctors agreed that Mrs. Marjorie Johnston, 34, charged with murder in the shooting of her husband is mentally sick.

The psychiatrists examined Mrs. Johnston at the request of District Attorney Stewart Hellman. She is being held in the Tarrant county jail without bond.

Robert Zenas Johnston, 41, was killed by two .22 caliber pistol bullets in the couple's home early yesterday. A few minutes after the shooting Mrs. Johnston told a neighbor "I've just shot my husband, call the police."

Three of the physicians told Hellman that Mrs. Johnston's illness was paranoid schizophrenia, or split personality. The fourth doctor, Dr. John M. Chureh, the family physician, agreed that she is mentally sick, Hellman said.

STAGE STRUCK CURTAIN

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Cort theater has a hit, and last night it had a near capacity audience — but no show.

The curtain would not go up. Stage hands worked for 45 minutes, but it just wouldn't budge. A theater spokesman said a leak in the hydraulic lifting device was responsible.

Houston Post Poll Favors Eisenhower

HOUSTON — (AP) — A Presidential poll taken by the Houston Post showed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the winner with 57.9 percent of the 8,161 votes cast. Eisenhower got 4,728. President Truman 434. Sen. Robert A. Taft 2,728 and Gen. Douglas MacArthur 171. MacArthur's name was not on the ballot and the votes for him were written in.

Dist. B&PW Director Speaks At Dinner Tuesday Honoring Mrs. Gladys Howard

Mrs. Ruby Travis, district director of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, spoke at the Thanksgiving banquet of the local B&PW Tuesday night, which also honored Mrs. Gladys Howard, who is moving to Oklahoma. Pictured above with Mrs. Travis is Mrs. Bea York, president of the Pampa club. (News Photo)

Mrs. Ruby Travis, district director of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, explained brands of good membership to the local B&PW who met Tuesday night for their annual Thanksgiving dinner.

The event also honored Mrs. Gladys Howard, 1950 president of the organization, who is moving to Oklahoma.

Mrs. Travis traced briefly the aims of the B&PW since the year of its beginning, and stressed the fact the group has always sought new members, not only for what they can offer the organization, but also for what the organization can do to help the individuals.

She pointed out the many fields and interests of club members in individual cities, and urged the local membership committee to not only contact new members, but to keep them.

"One way to keep the members," she explained, "is to give them something to do. We must also present timely, authoritative programs in order to stimulate local interest as well as state and national interest."

She concluded her talk with the questions concerning "What kind of member are you?" Mrs. Mildred Hill introduced the speaker following a vocal solo by Miss Margaret Hummel. She was accompanied by Miss Joyce Stovall.

Mrs. Bea-York, Pampa president, gave the welcome, and Mrs. Hattie Holt presented the in vocation.

Following the program Mrs. Frank Lard showed movies of a recent trip to Girlstown, which is a special project of the B&PW club this year.

Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Ethel Anderson and Mrs. Faye Eaton were in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

A woman of fifty-five tells me she is unhappy and bored and wants to know what she ought to do.

That is much too big a question for another person to even attempt to answer.

But whenever a person gets to feeling bored and unhappy it is time to ask a few searching questions. Answering these below may give a hint as to why life isn't offering the person more.

How many times during the last six months have I gone out of my way to do a small but helpful kindness to another person?

How many new friends have begun since the last year?

Do I ever stop to count my many blessings?

Do I look for good in those who touch my life in some way, instead of searching and probing to find out their faults?

Do I get real pleasure from a beautiful day?

Am I still interested in learning new things?

How often do I invite friends to share the hospitality of my separated from me by distance?

Do I keep up with friends home?

Do friends ever turn to me for help when they are in trouble?

I can't tell you how to put more meaning into everyday living.

But by answering those questions honestly, you may be able to figure out how you are missing opportunities to make life seem rich and full of meaning.

Flexibility Is The Key

The president of one of the great oil companies recently pointed out that the industry's dominant characteristic, which has made possible its remarkable achievements, is flexibility. Then he said, in the future, flexibility is likely to be more important to us than ever before. The higher levels of demand in prospect can be handled smoothly only if the industry is ever ready for unexpected demands, suddenly presented. Then, too, inherent in the business are intangibles such as weather, which we cannot accurately forecast but which we must anticipate. There are other operating contingencies, common to most industries but of more critical significance, perhaps, in one like ours. All these intangibles make it important that the privately-owned, competitive companies in our industry be free to build up crude oil reserves and to add the necessary refining, transportation, marketing and storage facilities to go with them.

Various elements within our industry bureaucracy would like nothing better than to shackle the oil industry with all kinds of regulations, red-tape, and restrictive laws. The politicians, rich for power seems to grow ever more voracious. The industry working in a free enterprise economy, has successfully met staggering increases in demand for oil products is no deterrent to these apostles of more and more government and less and less freedom for the individual. Nor is the fact that when the bureaucrats give the orders, progress stops and stagnation sets in.

Oil's past record is the most powerful argument for maintaining and defending the competitive free enterprise system which made possible its splendid service to the American people in peace and war.

Time We Learned

James A. Shelton, president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, recently said, "The most wisest thing for the welfare of our country would be for the citizens of modest means to learn through taxation what the costs of their government really are."

A great many people still cling to the delusion that we can pay for anything and everything by the simple expedient of soaking the rich. The fact is that the rich have been soaked to the point of diminishing return already with terrific income, inheritance, gift, and other taxes. Something like two-thirds of all the money left after taxation now goes to people in the under-$5000 income bracket. It is obvious that the fact that pay most of all future tax increases — for the reason that nobody else can.

The new income tax law, which went into effect Nov. 1, will add 1 percent to the income taxes of everyone. In other words, the pay envelope has shrunk once again. At the same time, the new tax bill also has substantially increased the price of a long list of items, ranging from automobiles to cigarettes, by raising the excise taxes. Certainly, Shelton's hope that the American people learn through taxation what government really costs should be realized today. The "little man" is taking the beating.

BAXTER'S VIEWS

DAVID BAXTER

The other day I came across a page one headline, a dispatch by JNS, "Bread Madness Kills Four, Affects 230."

"French health authorities investigated bread stories today of a 'bread madness' which had killed four persons and driven 30 others into hallucinations of being pursued by prehistoric monsters and trapped by flames.

First results of the study indicated that some form of vegetable poisoning was responsible for the illness which has affected more than 230 persons in the Rhone river valley of Point Saint-Espirit in southern France.

Physicians said those stricken had eaten bread from the same area and that some of the bread killed fish when tossed into the river. The mayor said bread crumbs fed to mice, ducks and cats caused paralysis.

The thing sounds fantastic but there you are, it's a legitimate news report and something must have been wrong with that bread. If I were to make a quick guess, I'd say that in this case someone got a little too much of the bushy poison that is used in the preparation of almost all white and whole-wheat commercial flour.

When a new idea comes along its natural for the followers of older traditions to resent being outwitted. You'd be surprised to hear of a chemist who heard M.D.s say about other healing arts in general and Chiropractic in particular. Nothing much is said by either M.D.s or Chiropractors about the osteopathic method seems to be a kind of compromise, a kind of left-wing medicine and right-wing Chiropractic.

But while orthodox doctors generally make a show of respect, it is equally true that the Chiropractors and their journals constantly rake the medical profession with broadsides that would cause a shipwreck. The Chiro's can't see anything beneficial in medicine and the M.D.s would rather see you operated on a tenth-rate alcoholic surgeon than to trust you in the hands of an osteopathic young Chiropractic whippersnapper.

Observers, of course, get quite a bang out of all this repartee but the thing does serve a good purpose. The Chiro's are one of the best things that ever happened in the realm of public health. Not because the Chiro is infallible, but because of the competition he arouses in the healing ranks. Without him we would have as criminal and anything a medical monopoly as anything ever devised by Stalin or Mussolini. Just as a somewhat young Chiropractic physician and surgeons were being beaten down and the rest of the medical profession carried into a union that says the CIO in the Chiropractic idea and the medical Caesars found themselves pestered by a gad-fly. Like a flitting, darting, stinging cat it evaded the medical lion's awkward swat of accumulated fat.

That kind of competition was not only good for Chiropractic, but it was good for medicine, too, because it forced medicine to be encouraged independent medical researchers to throw off the Fish-bone and Simonses, stirred up medical men to furious research to either improve and go forward or stand back and watch the competition take over the whole business.

Some medical people like Doctor Koch and Sister Kenney, independent of union tradition, started off on entirely new approaches to the whole disease business and found that their foundation principle was about the same as that of the Chiropractors, the difference being in methods used. Of course, the traditionalists caught up with these new ideas as yet and enjoy enough monopoly to still be firmly entrenched in many places but it's my guess that competition is now becoming so intense that medicine itself will soon be forced to clean up its house and become more individualistic and independent.

Of course, if there were no medical men, Chiropractors would be the only practitioners, I don't doubt but what they'd have a Chiropractic union controlled by politicians with an absolute monopoly, from private practice to control of public health and treatment of the armed services. That's just the way such things work out, you know. Besides being a source of competition of medicine, the Chiropractor has a positive program of his own and God only knows the amount of good he has been instrumental in doing in the realm of health. Since he's impressed with good results in many cases, he tends to become a little too one-sided for me, just as the medico is likewise too one-sided. But competition has been good for everyone concerned, the medical profession that has had to start justifying its existence and cleaning house, for the Chiropractic profession which is finding its practice highly beneficial in multitudes of cases.

And finally, this competition has been good for the consuming public. It is breaking a monopoly of healing and at the same time giving the consumer a choice of services at lower cost.

Watch out for that long family argument over moving the lawn. Cut it short!

Are Tax Supported Schools Responsible For Our High Standard Of Living?

It is good to exchange ideas because then people come to know what other people believe. Then each have an opportunity to try to help each other think consistently. I was rather surprised to learn that some of the public school teachers contend that tax supported schools are the cause of the high standard of living in the United States.

A principal of long standing in public schools contends that our "high standard of living is a product of our educational system." He must mean public schools because the article was used in an attempted defense of tax supported schools.

Now, if our high standard of living is due to our large percentage of people who can read and write, then I would like to know why Germany that has a higher percentage of literacy than U.S. has not ever in the past or present had the high standard of living that we have.

We ought to compare the standards of living and the literacy percentages before the war in Germany. The World Almanac in 1918 said that in 1912 the percentage of those illiterate in Germany was 0.05%. The standard was taken from army registrations. Compared with this in 1910 in the United States there was 7.7% in the literacy in the United States of people over ten years old.

I would ask those people who believe that tax supported schools are responsible for our high standard of living that in those countries where there are more public schools and fewer illiterates that their standard of living is not higher than in the United States.

Jesus Had Different Ideas as to Material Blessings. If the defenders of tax supported schools are correct in their thesis that tax supported schools are responsible for our high standard of living, then Jesus was in error when He said: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; in all these things shall be added unto you."

Previous to this He had said: "Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on."

But our modern interpreters of Christian ethics when they contend that our high standard of living is a result of being able to read and write have an entirely different standard of living. Jesus had Jesus recognized that a high standard of living was due to respecting human initiative—not using force to make other people comply with the wishes of individuals, who were authorizing the force and being recipients of the goods secured by force. The ethics of the defenders of tax supported schools is that the efficacy of bringing about education is not important; that we can encourage and promote good will among mankind with the sword—by making individuals comply with the will of the majority.

Blessed Are The Meek. Jesus also said: "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." Is there anything meek about the majority coercing the minority to pay for what the majority thinks is education or what the majority thinks is moral and ethical or what the majority thinks is better than the Ten Commandments?

Then, Jesus again must have been wrong when He said that the meek shall inherit the earth. The new interpreters of the Christian religion say that the earth shall be inherited by the exalted. But Jesus also said: "He that exalteth himself shall become abased."

And because the majority has exalted itself in the means, it assumed that it had a moral right to force individuals to comply with its will and decisions we are rapidly departing from Christian ethics and the principles on which this government was formed. The result is that we are in one way after another, have long periods of unemployment, dishonest money and ever and ever increasing taxes.

Not only did Jesus say that the meek shall inherit the earth, but David contended about the same thing. According to Moffatt's interpretation, David said: "The land will be left to the humble, to enjoy pious prosperity." The Basic Bible interprets this: "But the gentle will have the earth for their heritage; they will take delight in peace without measure."

And if the defenders of tax supported schools are right that tax supported schools produce prosperity, then the great teachers of the Jewish and Christian religions were in error and they should have taught people to read and well-being and should not have taught them the kingdom of God and His righteousness—the Commandments that govern human relations.

THE PINCH OF MISCALCULATION

(The Wall Street Journal) Until very recently the people had been given to understand the European defense project was proceeding swimmingly — as indeed they might expect it should, considering the billions they have spent or appropriated for it.

Then suddenly General Eisenhower is called to Washington — and despite all the fuss about politics, he was called because something is notably amiss with European credit and expenditures. Then they advanced cash to applicants at a higher interest rate.

Thus, the two-headed attack on controls, if successful, would fill the banks' portfolios with funds to finance retailers and manufacturers. The latter would with Regulation W out of the way, extend easy terms to their customers.

"CRITICAL" — This easy-money policy, according to Federal Reserve economists, was chiefly responsible for the serious price inflation that followed after the invasion of Southern Korea on June 25, 1950.

It was not checked until the late government bonds were issued and the Treasury gazed their natural market level, which is now slightly below par. The agreement also forbade the Reserve to take over at par any amount which the banks wanted to unload.

As a result, inflationary bank loans have fallen off sharply, especially in the building and mortgage field. For these and related reasons, there has been a "hull" in the inflationary movement, although the ascent of living costs was not stopped until it reached a record high.

Our domestic economy, insofar as it is measured in terms of prices, wages, taxes and savings, is in the state which economists describe as "critical." We are not yet out of danger.

Simple — The explanation is simple. Because of our lagging rearmament production schedule, less than two billion dollars a month has been spent by federal agencies in the last six months of 1951. With steadily increasing employment and many consumer needs to be filled, we have been able to absorb that inflationary pressure, albeit not without some price increases.

Early in 1952, however, it is expected that this figure will approximate three billion dollars a month, or almost double the 1951 amount. The peak is fixed at four billion a month, although that figure will not be reached until 1953.

CASH — That vast flow of money into purchasing channels, of course, will mean more cash in everybody's pockets and pay envelopes. It will strengthen and accelerate purchasing pressures at the very moment when the supply of consumers' goods will be dwindling.

Even with price and wage controls, high-r taxes and credit restrictions, government economists with no political axe to grind fear another inflationary explosion as they study these figures and possibilities.

EXTREMIST — While Representative Tackett of Arkansas spearheads the attack on Regulation W, Representative Wright of Texas will head the movement for unloosening bank credit. He is the foremost champion of "cheap money" on Capitol Hill.

As a result, inflationary bank loans have fallen off sharply, especially in the building and mortgage field. For these and related reasons, there has been a "hull" in the inflationary movement, although the ascent of living costs was not stopped until it reached a record high.

Our domestic economy, insofar as it is measured in terms of prices, wages, taxes and savings, is in the state which economists describe as "critical." We are not yet out of danger.

Simple — The explanation is simple. Because of our lagging rearmament production schedule, less than two billion dollars a month has been spent by federal agencies in the last six months of 1951. With steadily increasing employment and many consumer needs to be filled, we have been able to absorb that inflationary pressure, albeit not without some price increases.

Early in 1952, however, it is expected that this figure will approximate three billion dollars a month, or almost double the 1951 amount. The peak is fixed at four billion a month, although that figure will not be reached until 1953.

CASH — That vast flow of money into purchasing channels, of course, will mean more cash in everybody's pockets and pay envelopes. It will strengthen and accelerate purchasing pressures at the very moment when the supply of consumers' goods will be dwindling.

Even with price and wage controls, high-r taxes and credit restrictions, government economists with no political axe to grind fear another inflationary explosion as they study these figures and possibilities.

EXTREMIST — While Representative Tackett of Arkansas spearheads the attack on Regulation W, Representative Wright of Texas will head the movement for unloosening bank credit. He is the foremost champion of "cheap money" on Capitol Hill.

Fair Enough.... Actions Indicate ADA Is Busy Promoting Socialism

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LONDON — Socialist organization called American Action, which has taken charge of President Truman and set up its own foreign policy and diplomatic service, contends not to be a Socialist front at all.

But David C. Williams, who served as manager of its bureau in England and went back home to become "international" director, certainly put the finger on himself and ADA in a pamphlet entitled, "The Intelligent Socialist's Guide to America." This was published by the London Tribune, a radical Socialist weekly run by Aneurin Bevan, the Welshman and his wife, Jennie Lee, both members of Parliament. Bevan is regarded as a ferocious anti-American and it is a fact that he doesn't love us. But you would be nearer to the truth to say he hates the capitalist system of our country. If he should adopt that British Socialism which has just about completed the ruin of a nation which was dying of other ills, anyway, he would admit it.

If Williams were not a Socialist he certainly would not be writing an "Intelligent Socialist's Guide to America." And if ADA were not covertly promoting socialism in the guise of "democracy" and economic planning, it would not have selected a Socialist to manage its campaign of collaboration with the British Socialists who call themselves the Labor party.

The introduction to Williams' essay on the Socialist conspiracy in our country says he was a Rhodes scholar in England from 1932 through 1934, taught at Ohio State "until the war, took active part in Teacher's Union, came here in 1945 as educational director for ADA and addressed many meetings in Great Britain.

Most important, he "took an active part in the last general election" in flagrant violation of the rule of the State Department forbidding law-abiding Americans to meddle in the domestic affairs of foreign countries. It is worth noting that the State Department will not issue our passports and deny us the protection of the Stars and Stripes. But the national chairman of ADA is Francis Biddle, who was one of Roosevelt's secret political attorneys general and went, as it were, on his knees, to Sidney Hillman in the Chicago convention of 1944. Hubert H. Humphrey, the Minnesota Senator, is a member of the national board and author of the anti-white or bloody shirt proposals which were jammed down Truman's throat at the 1948 convention. That was the moment when the Dixiecrats walked out of the hall in a body, starting the political revolution which Harry Byrd, Jimmy Byrnes and the Georgia Senators, Russell and George, are now carrying forward all across the South. The phrase "until the war" in Williams' peddling green stands by itself. He would have been 27 when we started drafting men for the second against the Treasury in the battle for curtailment of bank credit. He lined up with such men as Senator Tamm and Marriner S. E. Eccles, former Reserve member. But the Texan is such an extremist that he has frequently fiddled with the idea of issuing government bonds that the banks will be forced to buy, even though they bear no interest rate.

Although not so sensational as struggles over our policies in Korea and Europe, this battle over "cheap money" and credit may be of more immediate importance to housewives and taxpayers.

When Williams wrote that admission he was speaking officially for Biddle and Humphrey, for Dubinsky and Reuther, for Chester Bowles and Dr. Francis Graham, President Truman's dishonorary to India, and for the credited, lame-duck Socialist Truman administration which has promoted this evil alliance in secret.

It will be remembered that John T. Flynn, in our country, and Prof. John Jewkes, of England, both dwell heavily on the fact that British Socialism disguised itself as "Fabianism," a program for the gradual achievement of total Socialism instead of the quick, violent method, Flynn's book, "The Road Ahead," got the silent treatment from the most pretentious American "literary" reviews, including the Herald Tribune, and Dr. Edward Rumbly was sentenced to prison on a pretext for circulating a cut-rate edition. Professor Jewkes, a teacher of political economy called his book, "Ordeal by Planning." He was then at the University of Manchester, but is now at Oxford. When I telephoned for an appointment to discuss his book as prophecy in the dim light of the present ominous situation in Great Britain, he begged off. It was not that he had been disgraced. But he did not want to do anything to impair the puny chances of the Churchill government to salvage something out of the wreck.

And now here, in his "Intelligent Socialist's Guide to America," is David C. Williams declaring himself on Fabianism: "ADA is not a political party. It operates very much as the early Fabian society did, seeking to permeate the existing parties with new ideas and personalities."

When Williams wrote that admission he was speaking officially for Biddle and Humphrey, for Dubinsky and Reuther, for Chester Bowles and Dr. Francis Graham, President Truman's dishonorary to India, and for the credited, lame-duck Socialist Truman administration which has promoted this evil alliance in secret.

YOU!

OH, WALDO! HOW SWEET!

HUSBANDS HAVE TO BE SMART THESE DAYS!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

YE GODS! WHAT'S THIS, A CATTLE STAMPEDE!

NO, IT'S A CONBOY STAMPEDE--TH CREEKS COME UP SUDDENLY, BUT IT'S JUST AS BAD AS A CATTLE STAMPEDE BY THE TIME THEY GET ALL THEIR STUFF ACROSS YOU!

A BIG HELLO, MRS. HOOPLE! REMEMBER OLD PRESCOTT PIKE? OR IS YOUR MEMORY LIKE THE FELLA SAYS: "MY WIFE GOT A TERRIBLE MEMORY, NEVER FORGETS ANYTHING!"? KYUK-KYUK! MEET THE OTHER HALF OF MY ALL-STAR COMEDY TEAM!

HES, I REMEMBER YOU, AND I SAVED A LILY TO LAY ON YOUR JOES! IS IT TRUE YOU USED TO BE AN ARCHITECT BUT BECAME AN ACTOR, TO DRAW BETTER HOUSES? KYUK-KYUK!

AN OLD FART RETURNS TO HOOPLE HANDS!

Vic Flint

I LIKE THE IDEA OF HIRING VIC FLINT, MAN, I WASN'T NAMED SPORT FOR NOTHING.

WHY NOT CALL OFF THE WHOLE MURDERER IS FORGET EVERYTHING IF YOU WILL.

AND YOU'D TRY BLACKMAIL AGAIN IF I GAVE YOU ANOTHER CHANCE, YOU KNOW TOO MUCH!

GETTING A LITTLE NERVOUS, BUT YOUR WRITING'S GIBBERISH.

WHAT DO YOU EXPECT WITH THAT CANNON POINTING AT ME? I'VE BORN DEATHLESS PROBS, YOU TO THE CHAIR YET!

I have such property on my hands after my friends' debts have been paid to the Federal Reserve Authority. I have a fine sport car, a happy home, the grandest collection of all my sports' friends' letters, books, etc. Actor or writer, however, I am no longer stand the anguish of debt in my profession.

Little Doc

YOU LOOK GLOOMY, LIL DOC... WHAT'S WRONG?

I'M SUFFERING FROM CLASS HATRED!

ARITHMETIC CLASS!

SCHOOL!

Wash Tubbs

AS PAUL SKINNER SAYS THOSE ACIDS IN THE WATER ACCOUNT FOR THE SHORTAGE OF FISH IN THIS AREA, ARABELLA!

SO THAT'S WHAT THOSE FELLAS WERE DUMPING FROM THE BARGE WHEN MR. WATTS WAS SHOT!

NO WONDER RICHIE TRIED TO DISCREDIT WASH'S STORY WITH THE POLICE. HE'S CONNECTED WITH THE PLANT!

BUT MR. HILL IS THE PRESIDENT! EASY, WHEN YOU TELL HIM ABOUT THE TESTS HE MAY AGREE TO ANOTHER METHOD OF WASTE DISPOSAL!

BUT MR. HILL IS BUSY! HE'S IN CONFERENCE WITH THE OWNER! YOU CAN'T!

AW, THEY'RE COMING OUT NOW! SO CLAY RICHIE IS THE OWNER, HUH?

Boots

DOESN'T I THOUGHT GOLDWORTH ADMIRER ME PERSONALLY FOR POURING ON THE TRY? WHY HE DOES, AT THAT!

BUT NA-HAH! OH, WELL... SO WHAT HE'S SOMEONE TO HAVE AROUND--AND ANYWAY, JEEP NEEDS COMPETITION!

YEAH!

OH, PUG...

SAY, I'M NOT DOING ANYTHING THIS EVENING--HOW ABOUT A DATE?

WHY, GOLDWORTH--I DON'T HAVE ANYTHING ELSE TO DO EITHER--SO, OHAY, SAYS!!

Mickey Finn

WHAT'S THE MATTER, PHIL? YOU LOOK A LITTLE DOWN IN THE MOUTH!

I AM CLANCY! JUST BETWEEN THE TWO OF US, I'M AFRAID THE BOOK ISN'T GOING TO SELL!

WHY NOT? I THINK IT'S A MASTERPIECE--AND SO DOES HOULIHAN! IN FACT ALL THE BOYS ARE AMAZED OVER IT!

WELL, THERE'S TOO MANY BOOKS ABOUT GOLF ON THE MARKET, I GUESS! THE WHOLESALEERS WON'T TOUCH IT!

-AND THIS MAN THAT SHE BROUGHT IN FROM CHICAGO--FOR ISN'T VERY OPTIMISTIC EITHER?

NO! HE COULDN'T STAY IN CHICAGO--FOR ALL THE GOOD HE'LL DO! HE'S JUST A FEEBLE OLD MAN!

YOU'VE FINISHED READING IT, MR. MORRIS?

YES! AND I'VE CHANGED MY OPINION! MAKE HIS GUILTY! I THINK WE CAN PUT IT OVER!

Penny

SEE, PENNY, I'M SORRY I STOOD YOU UP LAST NIGHT.

YOU KNOW I'M MAD ABOUT YOU. I'D GO TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH, I'D GO THROUGH FIRE AND WATER FOR YOU.

I SAID I'D GO TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH, I'D GO THROUGH FIRE AND WATER FOR YOU, HAVE YOU NOTHING TO SAY?

YES, ELWOOD, DON'T LET ME DETAIN YOU.

Woodpeckers Prove Pesky Visitors

DALLAS — (AP) — Charles E. Darden still has his shotgun loaded just in case those pesky woodpeckers come back and start pecking at his house north of Dallas again.

The birds have started their hammering at the shingled siding of the house before dawn. The Dardens tried scaring them away by beating on the walls inside the house. But that made the birds go faster — they probably thought they had competition from the inside.

Darden says he couldn't shoot at 'em to scare them away while they were doing the dirty work because a shotgun blast would ruin more shingles than it would birds.

The woodpeckers have pecked big, ugly holes around the entire top story of the house, some of them covering areas three inches square.

HONORARY DEGREE

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) received an honorary degree of doctor of laws last night at Pepperdine college.

Kefauver spearheaded the recent Congressional investigation of nationwide crime syndicates.

At a press conference yesterday he said the would "not run away from the opportunity of running" for President on the Democratic ticket.

Advice On Plowing

WOOSTER, O. — (AP) — "Whether farmers should plow their land in fall or spring depends largely upon soil types found on their farms, the Ohio State University agricultural experiment station says.

Tests over a 14-year period indicate that spring plowing is preferable on light soils. If plowed in the fall the ground has a tendency to become compacted by spring.

On heavier soils tests indicate that late fall plowing gives as good or better granulation of the soil than spring plowing.

Past Year's History Of War In Korea Reviewed In Brief

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — A year ago the Allied win-the-war offensive in Korea crashed and broke against a hidden Chinese wall.

In three days the UN Army's hopeful victory march toward the Manchurian border turned into "the great retreat." The Allies, surprised by the sudden appearance of untold thousands of Chinese Reds who seemed to crawl from the very stones, reeled back to escape entrapment. Some units were ambushed and engulfed.

In less than three weeks the Allies suffered about 13,000 casualties, not including the thousands lost by South Korean (ROK) forces. Most of the 13,000 were Americans, although the Turkish brigade suffered heavily, too.

During the long pullback the UN had to yield Pyongyang, the Red capital of Korea, and then Seoul, the Republican capital. It had to evacuate by sea two American divisions—the Seventh Infantry and the First Marines—and scores of thousands of Korean civilians.

Later, in stubborn hill fighting, the Allies regained Seoul and most of the territory south of the 38th Parallel, the old dividing line.

But today thousands of square miles once held by the Allies are still firmly in Chinese Red control.

And the fighting is still going on.

What happened a year ago to change the Korean picture so quickly?

The main factor was the amazing secrecy with which the Chinese Reds massed a huge force in North Korea without its presence being confirmed by Allied intelligence.

In late October of 1950 Gen. Douglas MacArthur's troops, following up the brilliantly daring Inchon landing, were pursuing a broken North Korean enemy. The war appeared to be about over.

One fast-moving ROK regiment even reached the Yalu river dividing Korea and Manchuria. Then it was ambushed by suddenly appearing Chinese "volunteers." The ROK commanders warned that the Chinese Reds had crossed over from Manchuria in large numbers.

This was taken as Oriental exaggeration. Then the Chinese Reds swooped out of the hills and overran part of an American regiment—the Eighth Cavalry. The Allies regrouped.

On Nov. 24 General MacArthur launched his great attack. In a special communique, he said:

"If successful this should for all practical purposes end the war, restore peace and unity to Korea, enable the prompt withdrawal of United Nations military forces, and permit the complete assumption by the Korean people and nation of full sovereignty and international equality. It is that for which we fight."

The attack was planned as a giant pincers movement. The Eighth Army moved up the northwest corner. The Tenth Corps moved up the east coast to 110,000-man UN force then faced only 100,000 North Korean and Chinese Reds.

Many frontline commanders were warily certain there were many more than that. There were—frightfully many more.

The lurking Chinese on the second night of the offensive smashed the Allied drive. The long road back began.

Two days later Tokyo headquarters revised the enemy number in Korea upward to 200,000 Chinese and 40,000 Reds.

The Chinese had pulled one of the great military surprises of history.

Today, after a year of struggle that cost the Allies 70,000 casualties, the UN Army has a firm line across the peninsula and regained much of the land it held before.

Gen. Walker is dead. The Tenth Corps is now under field command of the new leader of the Eighth Army, General MacArthur is in America.

The bold further steps that he plumped for to gain victory are still untaken. The war is in virtual stalemate, and armistice is still in the air.

It has been a crowded, indecisive year. The best thing about it is that most of the American soldiers who fought so bitterly and bravely a year ago are now back home.

Irate Father Sends Letter To Truman; Returns Scroll

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. — (AP) — "May God forgive you — we cannot."

These were the words of retired Army Captain Eugene R. Guild and his wife in a letter to President Truman.

The letter was attached to a scroll which, Guild said, has been returned to the White House. The scroll had accompanied the posthumous award of the Navy Cross to the Guild's son, Marine Lt. John N. Guild.

Guild has written numerous letters criticizing the administration's Korean policy. The latest, dated Nov. 23, and released to the press yesterday, said in part:

"These noble words on the scroll may be used only by those who earn the right, by one man speaking of another; by a Lincoln grieving for one of his soldiers. Your use of these words will heighten, not lessen, the anger of those who saw their sons die for a policy of fear and appeasement."

The letter concluded: "you honor neither the words nor our sons by using them. We return the scroll to you. May God forgive you — we cannot."

The scroll, signed by President Truman, said: "in grateful memory of John Ninian Guild, who died in the service of his country on 21 September 1950 in Korea.

"He stands in the unbroken line of patriots who have dared to die that freedom might live, and grow, and increase its blessings. Freedom lives, and through it he lives in a way that humbles the undertakings of most men."

There was no comment from the President's vacation headquarters at Key West, Fla. Guild, who has termed the administration policy one of "ap-

PAMPA

PROTECTED ELECTRIC POWER PLUS PLENTY OF IT!

Pictured is some of the varied and expensive equipment necessary to bring Pampa dependable electric service. Included, too, are pictures of an electric-driven oil pump and the construction site of the new Celanese plant, west of Pampa.

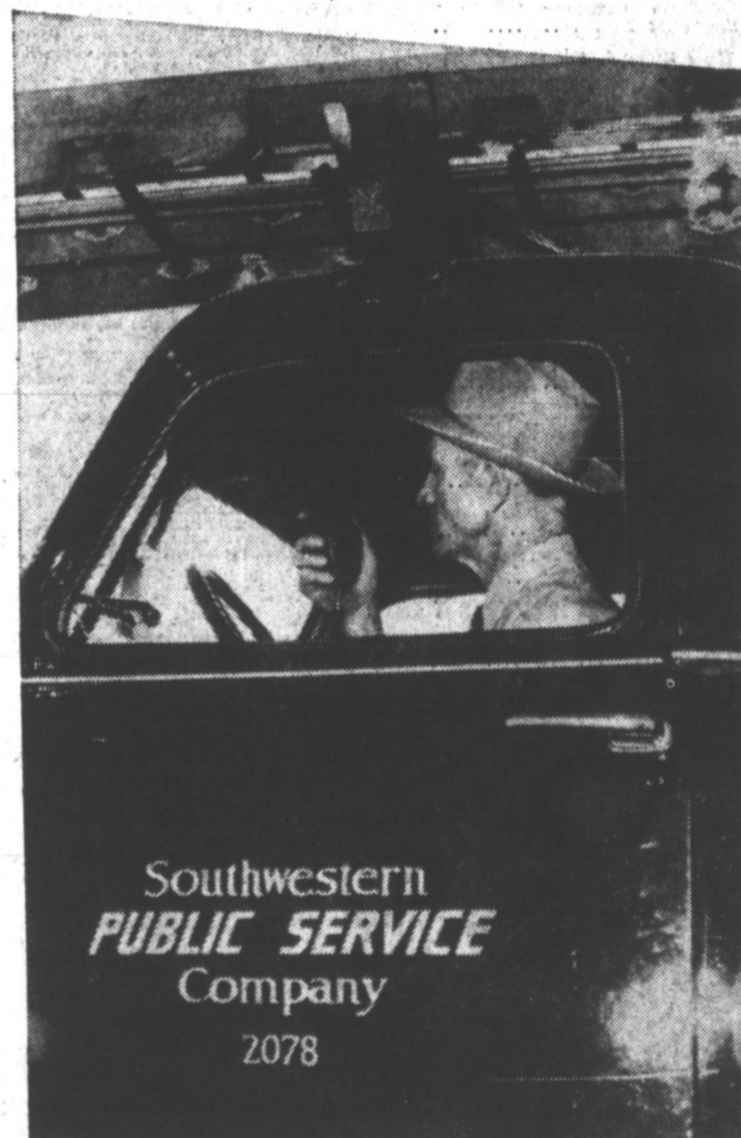

Pampa's electric power supply is protected by three sources emanating from three large steam generation plants. A 44,000 KV line comes from the Southwestern Public Service Company's East plant (capacity 80,000 KW), two 66,000 KV lines from their Riverview plant (capacity 67,750 KW) and a 66,000 KV line from their Jowett plant (capacity 6,200 KW). In the event of storm interruptions, switching from one line to another can be measured almost in seconds through use of telephonic and/or short wave radio communication. In six short years, the power requirements of Pampa have grown from a 1945 peak of 5,000 KVA to a 1951 peak of 14,700 KVA. The city has one of the finest street lighting systems in the Southwest, indicating its progressiveness. Substations are strategically located throughout the city and its environs, guaranteeing correct and adequate voltage to residents, stores and industry alike. Truly, Pampa is energized, not only with adequate electric power, but with an informed, forward-looking citizenry.

In the interest of building PAMPA, the following individuals, business, industrial and professional firms join in presenting this series of informative pages designed to show why PAMPA is a better town.
