Five Red MIGs Shot Down

5 Also Hurt In 10 Days Of Battle

SEOUL, Korea—(AP)—U. S. pilots today reported shooting down five Red MIGs and damaging five in the tenth straight day of Jet warfare over North Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said no U. S. Jets were lost or damaged.

The Wednesday bag raised the U. S. toll of Red Jets in 10 consecutive days to 64—32 shot down, one probably shot down, and 31 damaged. Announced Allied losses are six Jets.

The 10-day run of daily Jet warfare is the longest of the Korean war.

Five Russian-type Jets were shot down in a 35-minute clash between 29 F-86 Sabres and 80 MIG-15s over Sinanju Wednesday.

Another MIG was damaged. The time equaled the longest Jet battle in history.

The Communists put about 230 MIGs into the air Wednesday.

They far outnumbered U. S. planes.

U. S. F-84 Thunderjets damaged three MIGs and an F-86 Shooting Star accounted for the fifth MIG damaged in a three-day battle.

Ground action Wednesday was minor. United Nations forces threw back squad and platoon-sized Red probes on the central sector, an Eighth Army communiqué said.

No significant activity was reported in the western and eastern fronts.

An Allied announcement said a UN raiding party storm ashore deep behind Red lines on the East coast Monday in the second hit-and-run raid in two nights.

Commiss Give Freedom To Yugo Primate

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—(AP)—Communist Yugoslavia today gave Msgr. Alojzije Stepinac his conditional freedom, making it clear he could not with government approval resume his duties as Roman Catholic primate of Yugoslavia.

The official news agency Tanjug announced the spiritual leader of Yugoslavia's seven million Catholics would live in a parish house at his native village of Krtic, near the Croatian capital of Zagreb.

FIVE YEARS
Msgr. Stepinac was sentenced five years ago to 16 years in prison. He denied the charges of wartime collaboration with the Axis and postwar plotting to overthrow the regime of Premier Marshal Tito.

The 53-year-old archbishop had spent the five years in a small two-room cell in Croatia's Lepoglava prison.

The official statement referred to him as the "former archbishop."

"Alojzije Stepinac, former archbishop of the Catholic church in Yugoslavia, has been conditionally released."

"That decision has been taken by the Croatian minister of the interior, Ivan Krajačić, and was based on articles 67 and 68 of the law on punishment, security

Rep. Rogers Back In Panhandle For A Ten-Day Visit

Rep. Walter Rogers arrived back in his home district early yesterday for a 10-day swing through the Panhandle before returning to Washington by Dec. 16.

Scheduled on speaking engagements virtually every day he is in the district, Rogers will not get into Pampa until late Friday night or sometime Saturday.

Wednesday night he will attend the AFI meeting in Borger where Gen. E. O. Thompson is scheduled to speak. However, he is not expected to take any active part in the program.

Friday the Pampa congressman will talk to the students of Frank Phillips Junior college at Borger. He is expected to spend much of his time in the western and northwestern section of the district, parts he was not able to visit on his two previous trips to the Panhandle since taking his oath of office as a representative in the U. S. Congress.

Included in his itinerary are Dumas, Vega, Spearman and other Panhandle towns.

Northwest Braces For Second Storm

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—The Pacific Northwest coast, battered yesterday by a gale that took four lives in Oregon and Washington, girded for another storm today.

Yesterday's winds, recorded at 70 to 75 miles an hour, caused the deaths.

Two men were killed when a tree toppled on their car near the coastal city of Reedsport, Ore. Another was fatally injured when a tree crumpled a shed at Junction City. The fourth man died at nearby Vancouver, Wash., when a gust of wind tipped his pickup truck. He was crushed as he tried to jump clear.

The dead: Charles Grivas and Salvadore Nunez, killed near Reedsport; J. M. Harper, 94, Junction City; John A. Boyle, Portland.

The storm struck at dawn yesterday, knocking out telephone lines and making communication with coastal areas difficult. Amateur radio operators and radio stations supplied reports of the mounting damage.

Here is the picture of damage: British Columbia—the pounding winds pushed high tide through a dike near Vancouver. Some 3,000 acres were flooded and farmers said they might have to slaughter their cattle as most of their winter feed was lost.

Washington—high tides flooded basements of homes and shops. An airport at Port Angeles was under two feet of water for a time. Dikes broke in the Tacoma area flooding pasturelands. Waterfront business houses moved

Hurdle Smith Given Two-Year Term For Cattle Rustling

LIPSCOMB — W. H. "Hurdle" Smith last night heard a 12-man 31st District Court jury find him guilty of cattle theft and sentence him to two years in the penitentiary.

The jury got the case shortly after 3:15 p. m. yesterday and returned with its verdict of guilty and two years in prison at 8:30 p. m. The short trial was underway only since Monday at 10 a. m. Testimony started about 3:30 p. m. Monday, after the jury was selected and was carried over until shortly before 3 p. m. yesterday.

The state paraded 11 witnesses to the stand while the defense brought in five witnesses.

The trial was held before Judge Lewis M. Goodrich and wound up the round of cattle rustling activities in the north-eastern section of the Panhandle.

Enlistment Deadline Extended To Dec. 31

Men who have already taken their pre-induction physicals for Selective Service still may volunteer in any branch in the armed forces up to Dec. 31, according to an announcement today by Selective Service.

The extension was granted by a change in Selective Service laws. Previously, the deadline had been set at Nov. 30.

Irish Teacher Revue Planned For January

SHAMROCK (Special)
H. C. Weatherly, classroom teacher organization president, said Tuesday the group voted to hold an all-faculty revue, but not until after the Christmas holidays.

"Response was very gratifying," Weatherly said. "Teacher participation is assured. It will be in January."

Byrd Cries 'Politics' At HST Move

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.) accused President Truman today of making "another move to play politics for the next election" in his order aimed at discrimination by firms with government contracts.

Byrd told a reporter, before leaving for what will be an anti-administration speech in Los Angeles tonight, he thinks Southern senators will organize to fight the new order as well as to prevent passage of any civil rights legislation in the new session of Congress.

The Virginia senator, who has come out against President Truman's possible candidacy for another White House term, is billed for a discussion, along with Senator Taft (R-Ohio), of "socialism vs. freedom" before the house of delegates of the American Medical Assn. tonight. Taft is seeking the Republican Presidential nomination.

Mr. Truman's action this week in setting up by executive order a committee to try to prevent racial and religious discrimination in job hirings under government contracts apparently caught Dixie critics by surprise. All contracts carry a provision that there shall be no discrimination, in hiring workers, because of race, creed or color. The new committee will study ways to encourage compliance. It has no enforcement powers.

Southerners' only hope of curbing operations of such a committee apparently would be in cutting off funds for members' pay. But in such a showdown they probably would not get the Republican support they would need to put across a restrictive amendment.

RIGHT IN LINE
Byrd said the President's action was "right in line with what he has been trying to do through legislation." Southerners have prevented passage of civil rights legislation in the past by Senate filibusters.

In Charleston, S. C., there was formed yesterday an organization which backers hope will sweep the South and lead to a solid front opposed to Mr. Truman's re-election. Chief organizer was Stanley F. Morse, president of the Charleston County Citizens League.

Lions To Attend Session In Amarillo

Six local Lions members will represent the Pampa club in Amarillo Thursday at a party honoring Harold F. Nutter, Camden, N. J., president of Lions International.

Delegates will be chosen at the regular meeting of the club Thursday, Sherman White, president of the local organization, said.

Nutter will be honored at a party and barbecue to be held during the evening at the Tri-State Fair park, followed by square and ballroom dancing.

About 30 clubs will be represented at the District 27-I gathering.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hardware.

60 Head Of Cattle Are Consigned To Hereford Show

Sixty head of cattle to date have been consigned to the eighth annual Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders show and sale, Feb. 4 and 5, Cliff Vincent, Lefors, president of the breeders association, has announced.

The show, to be held at Recreation park, will be judged by Francis Hill, manager of the Honey Creek ranch, Grove, Okla. Auctioneer will be Col. Walter Britten.

Deadline for receiving certificates on cattle to be consigned and on ads to appear in the sale catalogue is Dec. 15.

Catalogue committee includes F. Jake Hess, chairman, McLean; Foster Whaley, Pampa; M. O. Callahan, Conway; and Vincent.

The Junior Livestock show and sale will be held in connection with the Hereford Breeders show and is sponsored by the agriculture committee of the chamber of commerce, Clyde Carruth, chairman.

Broken Hearted Pampan Refuses To Pay Red Extortion Demand

An elderly Chinese dishwasher in a Pampa cafe has refused to pay a $1500 ransom to Chinese Reds for the "safety" of his mother, wife, daughter-in-law, and two-year-old grandson.

Broken hearted, the elderly man is of the opinion his family will be killed by the Communists whether or not the money is sent.

Monday he received two letters, one from a son who lives in Amarillo and another from a 22-year-old son who escaped from Red China and headed for Hong Kong. Both letters were about the ransom demanded by the Communists for the "safety" of the family, now held as hostages by the Reds.

DEMAND MONEY
The chain of information started by the Reds.

lands around Canton where the dishwasher's 90-year-old mother, his 60-year-old wife, daughter-in-law and grandson are being held. The dishwasher's wife wrote to the son in Hong Kong telling him the Reds were demanding the money for their "safety." The boy wrote to his brother in Amarillo, a former employee of the same Pampa cafe, and to his father who now works there. Later, the son in Amarillo also contacted the father here, telling him of the $1500 demand.

"When he got the letter the old man just laid awake all night and cried," his employer said this morning. "He knows they'll be killed, even if he could send the money."

About three years ago the son, who lives in Amarillo, went to China to bring his mother to the United States but was unable to get her out of the country. While there he married a Chinese girl. He wanted to bring her here too. Time went on, his wife papers ran out and he was forced to return to America without mother, wife and expected child. He has never seen the child.

The old dishwasher, his employer said, was just living to see the war end so he could go to China and try to bring his wife (the Amarillo son's mother) to the United States. Then the Reds came in and it was too late.

The son in Hong Kong is also married and his wife is believed to be inside Red-held China.

According to the dishwasher's employer, Chinese in America

Hearing For Air Service Faces Delay

Testimony by Pampa civic leaders before the Civil Aeronautics board in Oklahoma City on Central Airlines hearing for a permanent permit to operate through here may be put off until Friday or possibly Monday it was learned this morning.

Keith Kale, president of Central, told Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth this morning by telephone, that CAB officials were taking a longer time to get to the Pampa delegation, 35th in line to testify. Other cities along Central's route are taking more time to testify than was first anticipated.

The airline has been operating through Pampa for two years on a temporary permit, half of that time using the twin-engine DC-3s.

A group of Pampa men including Atty. Curtis Douglass, who will lead the direct examination of the local witnesses when they take the stand, Wedgeworth, Mayor C. A. Huff, City Commissioner Crawford Atkinson, Hugh Burdette, Farris Oden, Ivy Duncan, Jack Dunn, E. Roy Smith, J. C. Daniels, D. L. Parker, Charles Cook, chamber president; M. M. Moyer, Lynn Boyd, and possibly others are expected to attend the hearings and testify.

By this morning Wedgeworth was unable to tell whether the group would leave late Thursday afternoon or have to wait until Sunday to leave for the Sooner capital.

Police Show Self Defense

Methods in self defense will be demonstrated this week to local police, Chief John Wilkinson announced yesterday.

The course, which will last about five days, will be instructed by L. L. Robertson, member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Dallas.

Last phase of the course will include practice in shooting from the hip.

Big Four In Fifth Session

PARIS — (AP)—The Big Four went into their fifth secret disarmament talk today apparently as far apart as ever on how to end the world's arms race.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was in a jovial mood as he arrived at the United Nations general assembly building for the arms discussion, but observers did not believe this presaged any softening of the Russian position.

Vishinsky indicated to reporters last night that the Soviet Union had not budged an inch on her insistence that the UN must first ban the atom bomb, then set up controls to force compliance.

Vineyard Named To Church Board

G. S. (Pinkie) Vineyard of Pampa was named yesterday to the executive board of the Texas Baptist convention meeting in Dallas.

First Baptist church was among 30 members added to the board. At the convention meeting held in Houston in October, a move to increase the board by 30 laymen and women was approved, boosting the board's membership to 180 preachers and laymen.

Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. Hal Upchurch, pastor of the Central Baptist church, returned early today from the meeting. Both are members of the executive board.

Rev. Carver presented to the board a report from the Plans and Policies committee of which he is chairman. They left Pampa Sunday.

During the meeting, the board reelected Dr. E. S. James, Vernon, as president and voted to close radio station KYBS, Dallas, frequency modulation installation.

Besides Dr. James, other officers elected were Howard Bennett, Kilgore, vice president, and R. A. Springer, Dallas, recording secretary. Six vacancies on the board were filled along with the 30 additions to the board.

Willie Shouse, 73, Is Taken By Death

Willie Shelton Shouse, 73-year-old retired carpenter, died yesterday morning in Highland General hospital.

He had been a resident of Pampa for 25 years and lived at 801 E. Murphy.

Survivors include his wife, Florence; five sons, Howard, George, Miami, Harold, Baltimore, Md.; Bonnie and Marion, both of Denver; three daughters, Mrs. Clea Bode of Richland, Wash.; Mrs. Eula Grace Day, Modesto, Calif.; Miss Beulah Shouse, Winfield, Kan.; 21 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Duemkel-Carmichael funeral home.

WAC, WAF Recruiter To Be Here Thursday

Master Sergeant Irene Detabio, WAC and WAF recruiting officer, will be in Pampa from noon Thursday to 5 p. m. Friday to give information to any young women in this area interested in WAF, WAC and Army Nurses corps. Sgt. Detabio, stationed in Amarillo, may be contacted during her visit here at the local recruiting office in the basement of the post office.

County Tax Office Kept Busy During Process Of Moving

Employees of the county tax office yesterday afternoon were busy engaged in transferring department furnishings, fixtures and files into temporary quarters in the court house while the present office undergoes its face lifting job.

The tax offices are being crowded into the small first-floor office used by the drivers license examiner and highway patrolmen; the latter being transferred temporarily to the rear of the county court room.

Original plans were to move the tax office to the court room, but the amount of room there was not sufficient for the department's use.

By close of business yesterday the work of transferring the office to its temporary quarters was still incomplete but should be finished sometime today.

Work on remodeling the office by the T. J. Owen Co. of Dallas, should start sometime this week.

McLean Rites For Pamsey Burgess

McLEAN — Rites were to have been held at 2 p. m. today in McLean for Mrs. Pamsey Henrietta Burgess. Services for Mrs. Burgess, who died Monday afternoon, were to be held in the First Baptist church with Rev. L. R. Green, pastor of the Assembly of God church of Panhandle, officiating.

Mrs. Burgess, 77, was born in Ripley, Miss., and came to Texas when she was a child, living in East Texas. She moved to McLean from Gainesville nine years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. W. G. Pearson, in whose home she died, and Mrs. Doshia Kelly, both of McLean; a brother, Henry Waters, Lubbock, and six grandchildren.

Palmer Is Spoke For 20-30 Meeting

Coy Palmer was principal speaker at a dinner meeting of the Pampa Twenty-Three club held last night in the Pine room of the Schneider hotel. Palmer spoke on "What the youth of America can do in the Preservation of World Peace." He was introduced by Rudy Marti, following an explanation by Bill Sullins of the International Good Will week being held by Young Men's clubs all over the world. A short business meeting was held, and plans for the annual BGK-20-30 dance were completed, also discussed were plans for the meeting next Tuesday night, at which time, the officers for 1952 will be elected.

Penney Employees To Be Given Bonus

Sixty four employees of the local J. C. Penney Co. store will receive a special year-end payment, R. M. Samples, manager, announced today. The payment will be made Dec. 15 and will constitute an amount equal to two weeks' pay for workers who have been employed for the full year. Proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year also will be made. Samples said more than 50,000 Penney associates throughout the United States will receive a bonus. In a letter to store officials, A. W. Hughes, company president, pointed out payment is based upon results attained for 1951 and that the possibility of similar payments in future years will continue to depend upon future results.

(Continued From Page One) aren't being fooled by the Communists. They all believe the Communists want the money to build up their world buying power and will kill the hostages even if payments are made. Wire services throughout the nation have repeatedly reported such extortion demands on Chinese families in America by the Reds. But that wasn't the only bit of Communist banditry to hit Chinese people living in Pampa. The dishwasher's employer, also a Chinese, told a Pampa Daily News reporter he had a large piece of farmland near Canton that was "just taken over by the Reds."

He said he brought his wife over here after the war was over. But her mother, elderly and alone, had nothing to live on so, he decided to her land and let her have the entire income from it. The Reds took the farm and now she has nothing, he said.

The Pampa cafe owner also told of other hardships imposed on the "liberated from capitalism" Chinese. He said: "We learned that they (the dishwasher's family) must let the Reds know every time they leave the house and where they are going. They must also tell the Communists what they eat and if the Communists find out they have meat to eat, the Reds take it from them and then they eat what is left, if there is anything left."

Irish Grade School Plans Yule Play

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Plans went forward for the grade school Christmas program, to be presented Dec. 20, following a meeting of teachers and mothers of pupils involved, at North Ward school Friday.

Mrs. George Close, first grade instructor and one of the sponsors, said the play would center around Jesus and the Bethlehem story.

Students representing each grade in North and South Ward grade schools will be presented.

They proved she shot her husband at close range, because there were powder marks on him. She contended there were powder marks on him beforehand, and that's why she shot him.

Cabot Employees Complete Training In Job Relations

Twenty-five employees from the Cabot S hops and Ordnance plant completed the first session of a course in job relations training for non-supervisory employees Monday night, Horace Prince, instructor of Cabot employee relations department, announced today.

Twenty five additional employees will complete another session tonight.

The course is a 7 1/2 hour adaptation of the basic principles of good job relations which are a part of the training within industry program for supervisors, plus phases of a course for supervisors called "Leadership In Supervision Training" which deals with the organizational set-up of a department and some basic needs or desires that all employees try to satisfy on the job.

The keynote of the course is: "An employee performs his job better by working harmoniously with other people."

Among other things, the employees are reminded that a person will enjoy a work day more when there are no serious conflicts with others.

Other employees desiring to take the course will be enrolled at a later date. Those presently enrolled are: J. Bailey, Don Robinson, J. B. Ayres, J. Washington, Jr., B. N. Austin, H. V. Huffines, A. Students Attend Session In Court

Members of the Pampa High school's drivers education class this morning attended corporation court. Cliff Braly, judge, explained procedure and action of the court to the students.

Shamrock Juniors To Give Program For Rotary Club

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Junior class members will present special entertainment for members of the Shamrock Rotary club at the First Methodist church here Thursday night, Rodney Sutterfield, class president, reports.

Rotarians were impressed by the "Old Maid's Convention" put on by the juniors for the Hal-lowe'en carnival.

"Old Maids" from the junior class will include: Bobby Johnson, Bobby Campbell, Paul Cooper, Paul Hall, Jimmy Fennington, Don Carlton, Harry Vermilion, Gerry Mayfield, Robert Adams, Harold Davis Jack Meathena and Sutterfield.

Other program features include a Christmas story by Hazel Brown, a letter read by Jordan Pike, and the reading of the Edgar A. Guest poem, "Are You Going Home For Christmas?" by Sandra Burden.

The junior's mixed quartet — Paul Cooper, Don Carlton, Ila Carl Bledsoe and E. D. Harrington, accompanied by pianist Frances Bechtel — will appear. Sutterfield, junior president, will emcee the entertainment.

Mumble a few words in church and you're married. Mumble a few words in your sleep and you're divorced.

Delivered In Person

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Paul Kremzir, a sailor in the Merchant Marine, put a letter to his wife in a bottle and tossed it into the Atlantic ocean off the Florida coast.

The bottle drifted onto the beach at Hollywood, Fla. Dan Tannen saw it come in with the tide. A note in the bottle asked the finder to mail the letter to Kremzir's wife in Miami.

Instead, Tannen delivered the letter personally. Mrs. Kremzir got it just two days after her husband tossed it into the sea. "We are passing by Miami in about three hours," she letter said, "and I shall drop this into the sea in the hope that it may be found and delivered to you."

COMMIES

CONSCIENCE CLEAR — "Stepinac will reside in his native town, Krasic, near Zagreb. He has decided to take residence in the local parish house."

At his trial, the archbishop repeatedly told the three-man Communist court "my conscience is clear."

In denying all the charges against him he condemned communism and pointed an accusing finger at the court, saying the trial was against the Roman Catholic church.

Cabot Schedules Supervisor Meeting Thursday, Friday

Cabot Carbon Co. officers from the southwestern district will attend a meeting here Thursday and Friday of plant office managers and clerks.

Discussion leaders and their subjects are: Isabel Priest, credit union; Fox Branson, payroll chasing; Gilford Cox, shipping; Bert Arney, safety and insurance; Calvin Whitley and Bill Walsh, vouchers and transfers; and Reno Stinson, Bill Kelley, James McCune and Horace Prince, industrial relations.

Representatives to be present for discussions will be Vergil Hamilton, Bowers; William H. Goff, Guymon, Okla.; Warren A. Ritter, Hobbs, N. M.; Troy W. Parker, Kermit; Joe Johnson, Mills; R. M. Klinger, Pampa; J. R. Bryant, Schafer.

Alfred C. Reed, Jr., Ville Platte, La.; Eugene C. Smith, Franklin, La.; Oscar Cagle, Wickett; Robert Rodman, Big Spring; and E. L. Biggerstaff, George M. Clark and Melvin Bailey, shops and ordinance.

Before marriage they bill and coo. After marriage the cooling stops and the billing begins in earnest.

STORM

(Continued From Page One) to the second floor as tidewaters lapped the streets. Another storm appeared late last night east of the Cascade mountains. The barometer dropped to a record low in the Walla Walla area and 76 mile an hour winds were reported. Walla Walla is about 200 miles from the coast.

HARDEST HIT — Oregon — hardest hit was the Coos Bay area on the southern coast. Sixty-mile an hour winds ripped roofs off buildings, overturned mill structures and whipped storm-started fires. Damage was extensive but estimates lacking.

Transportation in some areas was at a standstill. Planes did not operate through the day. Trains and buses were delayed. The highway commission warned motorists to stay off timberland highways because of falling trees. The coast guard said no vessels were in difficulty off the coast. A number of ships were held inside the Astoria harbor at the mouth of the Columbia river, though.

Everything closes now at night. That is, everything, but the wife's jaws. They are now calling them the "obstinate" sex. Seeing is believing, but as often as wives see their husbands, they still don't believe them. Marrying a woman for her beauty is like buying a home for its paint.

On the day before Christmas, 1800, a young American preacher journeyed from Jerusalem to Bethlehem. That night he stood in the fields where the shepherds had watched over their flocks on a night of wonder long ago.

The shepherds were still tending their flocks. As he watched, Phillips Brooks, destined to become one of the most beloved and famed of American clergymen, stirred with emotion.

In his mind he looked back through the centuries to that other unforgettable night. Three years later he was to perpetuate the beauty of the scene in an immortal Christmas carol.

Hollywood 'Smoothie' Thrills Women Via TV

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The husbands of America will soon be getting competition in their own homes. The Continental is going nationwide. The Continental is a smooth-talking, accented wolf who has made love to thousands of Southern California women — via television. His popularity has spread and he will soon romance a greater audience, broadcasting a network show from New York. Renzo Cesana is the Continental, and he struck me as a shrewd man with a good sense of humor. He is not overly handsome, admitting himself that he sometimes resembles Danny Kaye. But he has a charming manner and a warm voice accented by his native Italy. These factors may well bring him a fortune as an atomic age Casanova. What does he do on TV? "I am the epitome of the bachelor wolf," he explained. "Mine is the only TV show with one camera. The camera personifies the woman in the audience and I speak directly to her. The beginning of the show has her entering my apartment. I help her off with her coat and offer her a cigarette. Then I open some champagne — it is really ginger ale, because it pops better. "Of course, there are implications. But they are only incidental. What really matters is the conversation that we have. It is not only about love; it could be about religion or any other matter." Cesana, who writes two-thirds of his script and adlibs the rest, plays his romance with tongue in cheek. He offers such wisdom as: "How to get a man — promise him paradise with your eyes, then make him go through hell to get it." "Those wonderful girdles — they do so much with so much."

You Can't Win With In-Laws

LANCASTER, Pa. — (AP) — Albert Eberly, 46, of Stevens, Pa., had a little unexpected "in-law" trouble. Eberly lost control of his auto and smashed into a parked car. Investigating, he discovered the damaged auto was owned by his father-in-law. Eberly complained the lights of another parked car blinded him temporarily. That machine, Eberly found out, belonged to his brother-in-law.

A-Bomb Knowledge Said Doubled In U.S.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — This country's knowledge of atomic weapons has almost doubled in the past year, says Dr. Alvin C. Graves, and so has its stockpile. Dr. Graves, scientific director of atomic energy commission tests, said in an interview: "Our knowledge of atomic weapons has been increased in the past year at a much greater rate than in any similar period. Our advance almost equals all previous development since the first nuclear detonation at Alamogordo, N. M., in 1945." He also indicated the stockpile of A-weapons has increased in about the same proportion. Dr. Graves, who directed the recent series of atomic blasts at the AEC proving ground near here, said "it is reasonable to assume that we have more weapons similar to the ones tested here. We wouldn't be shooting off the only models we have."

No Respect For America

America's New Deal and Any Deal foreign policies have brought us so low in the esteem of European nations and countries that they stop at nothing where we're concerned. Kidnaping Americans for ransom is one of their stunts. No sooner do we ransom one captive than another is grabbed up.

Robert Vogeler, ITT corporation, was turned loose from a Hungarian jail only after long ransom negotiations were ended with the return to the kidnapers of some impounded property. For some time there has been a lot of international dickering in regard to the kidnaped newspaperman, William Oatis, held by Czechoslovakians. Word has now leaked out that the State department is considering a proposal for the kidnapers that they be given some steel rolling mill equipment and an export license in exchange for the American's liberation.

There was a time, before we became the "most powerful country on earth" when respect for the United States was so great that no one would have dared to hold a kidnaped American month in and month out for ransom in the form of some national concessions. Not now, Mister. Today Old World Bums beg, borrow and steal from us, kidnap us and thumb their noses at our wheedling objections.

More Money From The Corpse

Anthony Eden recently asked the academic question: "How can one declare world capitalism dead, receive aid from the corpse and then ask for more?" Excellent question, Tony. Go to the head of the class.

Fact remains, most of Europe and Asia are still very young things. They hope and holler about "decadent" free enterprise, the robber barons and all the other claptrap; and next thing you know they've sent a special mission over here to rattle the tin cup and mooch a few more billions to tide them over to the next crisis.

To suggest we ought to quit pouring money down the ratholes of the earth brings forth cries of "inhuman" and "isolationist." To suggest that some of our charity cases ought to go back to work is to subject yourself to allegations of cruelty.

Well, if Europe and Asia voluntarily quit asking for money, they'll be the first to miss a chance at a free buck.

England isn't likely to lead the march, either.

Already Winnie Churchill is planning to raid the United States Treasury. The little man in the White House is like the housewife who refuses to answer the door because she knows the salesman is going to sell her something she can't afford. He isn't encouraging Winnie to make the trip. It seems he knows he'll be taken if he lets Winston into the Capitol.

Right behind Winnie are the French, Yugoslavs and... well, you name 'em, we got 'em.

It wouldn't surprise us if Jake Malik talked Harry out of a billion dollars to build a Russian A-bomb factory (to save Europe from Communism, of course).

The Nation's Press

THE WORLD SOCIALIST LEAGUE (The Chicago Daily Tribune) The CIO is contributing $100,000 to a fund to stimulate union development in Europe, Asia, and Africa. The AFL is expected to put up the same amount, but it is noted that the British Trades Union Congress and its constituent unions have taken the lead by tossing in $360,000.

The money is to be paid out thru the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, with headquarters in Brussels, which is dedicated to the extension of socialism all over the world. The program contemplated by this organization consists of establishing labor colleges and promoting union organization in hitherto undeveloped areas. The bland explanation is that this is the unions' contribution to the "defense against communism."

The union bosses who are funneling abroad the dues collected in America describe their scheme as a "union fund"—a phrase invented by Mr. Truman as a label for his scheme of taking taxes from Americans to elevate backward countries. The CIO and AFL from various crowd say very frankly that one effect of their promotion of union organization in Europe, Asia, and Africa is to insure that economic aid extended by the Ameri-

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOLLES

Render unto Caesar... There would be more and better jobs if more of us understood what should be rendered unto the government.

Here is the reply of another close reasoner on the subject of Rendering unto Caesar—the government—

1. Not having a background of "Christian" teaching, I have always regarded Jesus as a man, not a deity. I also presume that he was imperfect. It taxes my imagination to think of any man as perfect or absolutely consistent. Therefore, he might have made some inconsistent statements. I seem to recall a Biblical passage in which Jesus caused a fig tree which was not bearing fruit out of season. That sounds rather like the reaction of a human being who is subjected to attacks of temper—as we all are.

2. As a newspaperman, it is hard for me to believe that the present version of Scriptures are unadulterated fact. The original reporters of Jesus' words were not court reporters with the gift of shorthand, as far as I know. Then, the Scriptures have been translated, re-translated, argued, edited, re-written and "expurgated." It does not seem logical that they emerged "pure" after 1930-odd years of this process.

3. At the time Jesus made that statement, the fig tree was in quite a spot. He may have given an evasive answer to save himself from persecution. He may have given that answer to confound his questioners. Or, he may have posed that question to question that would lead his followers to use their brains and think a little. (That is a good teaching method, and Jesus was first of all a teacher.)

4. I don't think, as you suggested, "Would it be logical for you to go to jail for 20 years for refusing to pay income taxes because you do not approve the graduated income tax or because you do not approve of the purpose to which your tax money is being put by the administration? You must render unto Caesar by recognizing, as a rational man, Caesar's power to make you conform to the law."

But, if you render unto God things that are God's, you will do everything in your power to reduce the power of government so that eventually taxes will not be levied against you without your consent. Would it be logical for you to go to jail for 20 years for refusing to pay income taxes because you do not approve the graduated income tax or because you do not approve of the purpose to which your tax money is being put by the administration? You must render unto Caesar by recognizing, as a rational man, Caesar's power to make you conform to the law.

But, if you render unto God things that are God's, you will do everything in your power to reduce the power of government so that eventually taxes will not be levied against you without your consent. Would it be logical for you to go to jail for 20 years for refusing to pay income taxes because you do not approve the graduated income tax or because you do not approve of the purpose to which your tax money is being put by the administration? You must render unto Caesar by recognizing, as a rational man, Caesar's power to make you conform to the law.

Along these same lines, you "render unto Caesar" when you pay the gasoline taxes. Now, that is a pretty good example. You should render unto Caesar, in that case, if you use Caesar's roads. If you don't use Caesar's roads, you shouldn't pay. It would be unfair to me if you didn't have to pay the road tax, as I do, but continued to use the roads. That doesn't mean you have to approve state roads. In fact, you can use the roads without paying the tax and render unto God by striving to do away with state roads and schools and sewer systems. But it is not right for you to use these facilities without paying your share of the cost, is it?

Well, those are some thoughts in the matter. Along these lines, I believe St. Paul is quoted as saying that all governments are "ordained of God." I think that also means they are recognized as existing. It does not say they meet with the requirements of the Commandments; it means simply that for some reason God permits them to exist. They have not, for some reason, violated natural law to the extent that they have ceased to exist. A man might jump out of a one-story building and walk away from the experience. That does not refute the law of gravity. If he jumps from the 10th floor, he would be killed. Apparently it was permitted by God—that is, "ordained"—that God—that jumping from a certain height is not sufficient to bring about death. That does not abolish gravity, and other natural laws. It is only that our knowledge and understanding of those laws are insufficient for us to know clearly exactly what will happen under certain combinations of circumstances.

I think Jesus was a realist and was pointing out that we must not disregard the facts because we do not approve them. Remember the "resist not evil" quotation? Doesn't that mean to resist the cause of the evil rather than the evil itself? To attack the cancer, not the secondary effects of the cancer? That is, don't just take drugs to ease the pain, try to eliminate the cause of it.

If this doesn't seem logical or rational to you, show me where I'm off base.

Can government be used to improve the living standards of foreign workers?

That is, the tax money of the American public is to be directed by the Reuters, Murrys, and Grens to cultivate a receptive attitude among foreigners to the grand plan of creating a socialist world. It does not make any difference whether the labor bosses that the money seized by the government for these foreign handouts is produced by an American enterprise and incentives. They will use the fruits of the economy to build up a movement abroad which in time can be turned against the United States to destroy the system.

At a street intersection a stout woman asked the traffic officer: "Stout Woman—Could you see me as I was driving out?"

Officer—Ma'am, I could see you a mile away!

Officer—(Unimpressed) Yes. Tell the Madam that kid sister is here, and Ma wants she should get a couple of pounds of Liverpool on her way home.

BAKERS VIEWS

DAVID BAXTER

GRAPE OF WRATH PART ONE I think a couple of recent statements in this column reflect the attitude of E. M. Webster, Costa Mesa, Calif. the wrong way. In a letter to one of the papers E. M. gave me a good drive for review. I went down about my perfectly innocent announcement that "The Grapes of Wrath" was on a list of books from which certain high school students MUST choose. Says E. M.:

"Mr. Sidney Davidson, superintendent of Newport High School, states very emphatically that no books of the nature of which Mr. Baxter writes have ever been in that school. I have questioned several mothers who have children attending the high school and all said the same. Each student is given a list of books to review and each chooses the books they wish. The mothers say that no books given to their child were on the list have ever been in the class of literature which Mr. Baxter condemns."

To discuss Mr. Davidson's denial first, I didn't say "The Grapes of Wrath" and Bertrand Russell's stinker were in Newport Harbor High School. He is denying something I didn't accuse the school of. What I said was that Steinbeck's novel was ON A LIST of very few SELECT books of so-called "American novels" which list an English teacher at NEWPORT HARBOR HIGH SCHOOL gave to members of the Junior class with instructions to select certain books for reading. The students were given a list of books, containing the "Grapes of Wrath" and they were to choose from THAT LIST. This list was the school's (or English teacher's) SELECTED LIST. I did not say that the book itself was in the high school but that it was one of a very few which students were told to select and read. I don't want proof I'll be glad to supply it. As a matter of fact, I'll be glad to supply witnesses besides.

In my article on Steinbeck's book, I had not mentioned Newport High specifically and the list of books I was presenting this list of books to students, but Mr. Davidson apparently sees fit to reflect upon this column's accuracy, using the technique of denying something that wasn't charged in the first place. It was lovely in Westchester. The wind had autumnal increase in it and it blew softly off the water. The air was just heavy enough with chill to be felt and tasted. The sprawling old house was filled with a rich family spirit. There was the father, a retired Italian contractor. The daughter, just home from a year in a tiny British village where she had studied roof thatching. A male cousin, just finished with a year's course in puppets. A Fordham University professor from the department which has to do with earthquakes. A literary agent, a scenario department chief, a writer or two. It was a charming, American week-end, with good talk, good food, good wine.

Sunday night, the wind whipped the forecast that a heavy wind was due before morning. The guests and the daughter decided it might be best to drive back to New York that night. By morning it might be gusty and uncomfortable. One by one, they piled into several cars and set off for town.

The ribbons of Westchester roads were almost empty now, and a piece of moon gave them a silvery sheen, like old silver not cleaned well recently. Down the parkway the convertible raced, its speedometer needle glued on 65 miles an hour. The girl drove with assurance and with a natural joy in operating a powerful car. She was expert, she knew the trick of pressing the gas a little when entering a curve so that the car takes itself around instead of being steered around. The three in the front seat chatted and smoked or sat silent and watched the countryside flash by.

Suddenly, in the night, the explosions from a motorcycle were heard, a motorcycle moving swiftly in the front seat chatted and smoked or sat silent and watched the countryside flash by. Suddenly, in the night, the explosions from a motorcycle were heard, a motorcycle moving swiftly in the front seat chatted and smoked or sat silent and watched the countryside flash by.

"You'll agree it was about 65?" he said. She nodded. He asked for her driving license. She searched, at first calmly, and then with growing tension. Finally, having looked every pocket and cranny, she gave up and said she didn't have it. The policeman was pleasant. Perhaps one of the gentlemen had a license. The cousin shook his head. He didn't drive at all. The professor began to look, but in time gave it up, too.

"You do 65 miles an hour and not a license in the crowd," the policeman said. "That's fine. It would make it so easy if you were all killed in a smashup. Identification would take hours. I don't like it, it's stupid."

The girl bridled, but said nothing. "What do you do?" he demanded of the girl. "Do you work?" "In a hatshop," she said. The policeman studied her face. He was suspicious. This girl was trying to joke with him. At length he decided to let it ride. He turned to the cousin.

Bid For A Smile

A soldier sought shelter in the cool tent during a dust storm that swept over the camp during war maneuvers. He noticed that the lid of the soup kettle was awry, permitting dust to blow into the soup, and undertook to call the cook's attention to it.

Soldier—If you put the lid more firmly on that kettle we wouldn't get so much dust and dirt with our soup. Cook—See here, my lad. Your business is to serve your country. My business is to serve my business. My business is to serve my country, but not to eat it.

The other afternoon a local operator told a publisher that he had a real number that he'd better give it up. "The line must be out of order," she told the caller. "Even those phones I don't ring don't answer."

Friend—You've been promoted? Clerk—Yes. I'm to be a drop-stainer, and now I'm a sandwich engineer.

Friend—What do you mean? Clerk—The boss used to come around and say, "Drop whatever you're doing and do this. Now he says, 'Sandwich this in between whenever you're done.'"

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

The moral of this pleasant little week-end fable is that you must never get into an automobile without a driving license. Never. It was lovely in Westchester. The wind had autumnal increase in it and it blew softly off the water. The air was just heavy enough with chill to be felt and tasted. The sprawling old house was filled with a rich family spirit. There was the father, a retired Italian contractor. The daughter, just home from a year in a tiny British village where she had studied roof thatching. A male cousin, just finished with a year's course in puppets. A Fordham University professor from the department which has to do with earthquakes. A literary agent, a scenario department chief, a writer or two. It was a charming, American week-end, with good talk, good food, good wine.

Sunday night, the wind whipped the forecast that a heavy wind was due before morning. The guests and the daughter decided it might be best to drive back to New York that night. By morning it might be gusty and uncomfortable. One by one, they piled into several cars and set off for town.

The ribbons of Westchester roads were almost empty now, and a piece of moon gave them a silvery sheen, like old silver not cleaned well recently. Down the parkway the convertible raced, its speedometer needle glued on 65 miles an hour. The girl drove with assurance and with a natural joy in operating a powerful car. She was expert, she knew the trick of pressing the gas a little when entering a curve so that the car takes itself around instead of being steered around. The three in the front seat chatted and smoked or sat silent and watched the countryside flash by.

Suddenly, in the night, the explosions from a motorcycle were heard, a motorcycle moving swiftly in the front seat chatted and smoked or sat silent and watched the countryside flash by. Suddenly, in the night, the explosions from a motorcycle were heard, a motorcycle moving swiftly in the front seat chatted and smoked or sat silent and watched the countryside flash by.

"You'll agree it was about 65?" he said. She nodded. He asked for her driving license. She searched, at first calmly, and then with growing tension. Finally, having looked every pocket and cranny, she gave up and said she didn't have it. The policeman was pleasant. Perhaps one of the gentlemen had a license. The cousin shook his head. He didn't drive at all. The professor began to look, but in time gave it up, too.

"You do 65 miles an hour and not a license in the crowd," the policeman said. "That's fine. It would make it so easy if you were all killed in a smashup. Identification would take hours. I don't like it, it's stupid."

National Whirligig... Commercial Export of Plasma To Argentina Is Criticized

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — The commercial export of blood plasma to such an unfriendly nation as Dictator Peron's Argentina has stirred such bitter and widespread criticism of government authorities that does not seem to the American Red Cross for wounded soldiers in Korea may suffer a falling-off when winter weather necessitates even larger amounts of such shipments was this correspondent discloses that the criticism is wholly undeserved, although the handling of the matter by all the various departments involved is open to question.

Fair Enough... London Newspapers 'Corny' But They Please The People

LONDON — The London newspapers do a great job of news coverage in the cramped confines of their white paper tradition, but some of their feats of feature journalism are so corny that you find yourself reading them over again to catch the gag. I have been fascinated by the antics of a party with a moustache like an old-time circus press-agent, named Gilbert Harding, who latched up with a reporter for the "Sunday People" named Kenneth Bailey to do good works.

This paper has a circulation of 5,089,456, the second largest in the country, second to "The News of the World" with 8,445,850 which is even more corny, so the corn must be what the British people want.

Any newspaper man who knows what the people want but gives them what he thinks is better for them ought to study up on the fate of the dear old Boston Transcript. An American publisher, passing through rough times, wagged his head as he rifled through several London blatters and envied their understanding of their public. There are 15 of them selling more than a million right along.

Baily called Harding "The Radio Tornado" and after a couple of weeks of it wrote: "Three swift successes in a row was the Gilbert Harding score last week in his rip-snorting campaign to fight injustice on behalf of 'People' readers. I watched, first of all, as his hurricane technique smashed a downward official barrier to reunite a man with his family across the globe."

I was built up to read that this rip-snorting tornado had snatched somebody over the head of the high commissioner, outraged humanity and that is why, as I say, I had to give the piece a double-take, looking for the catch. Because all the rip-snorting tornado did was make half a dozen phone calls to Australia House and finally, the "Tornado" said, "This time, Kenneth, my boy, we will insist on speaking to someone in authority." But he got the run-around from several more secretaries, before he actually found himself talking to one of the high commissioner's assistants who at once issued a warm invitation for Gilbert Harding to go and see him.

Harding went and the high commissioner's assistant promised to help the busted bloke back home and get him a job on a farm. "Harding beamed over his moustache, the flabbergasted reporter wrote. "Sir," he said to the high commissioner's assistant, "you have been most courteous, attentive and helpful. I am sure Australia were really to be depended on."

The Cummings cocktail shaker bears the inscription of "Parvum non parvas amicitias pignus." Roughly translated, that means "A small token, but a token of small friendship." Admission proceeds from the exhibit go to the Warm Springs Foundation, but receipts from sales to the Roosevelt family.

PROFESSIONAL — The Argentina shipment which has caused the most commotion was forwarded by Sharp & Dohme, one of the largest houses in the world dealing in this commodity. It pioneered in the development of storing blood for future use more than 20 years ago. It turned over its patents, its technique and personnel to our government at the start of World War II.

LIMITS — The plasma sent overseas is of the dry type, which will last for years, whereas whole blood can be kept only for several weeks, and the liquid form for about six months. All exports of plasma, including those of other firms, total about 75,000 pints annually, whereas six to nine million pints are used each year by hospitals in this country.

In short, the manufacture, use and export of plasma was an established commercial business for years before its general use overseas in World War II made the public conscious of its importance in peace and war.

Even so, the recent order authorizing shipment abroad of commercial plasma limits it to a total not to exceed the amount exported in the 18 months before the North Koreans' attack.

FACTS — The Red Cross cannot afford to buy this commercial stuff because it is too expensive. But the important consideration is that no voluntary donations of plasma enter into this commercial field.

Had the government's publicity agents, who now number at most 6000, taken greater pains to make these simple facts clear to the American people, they would have earned at least part of their salaries.

EXHIBIT — One of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Cabinet members—Homer S. Cummings, former attorney general—would not be particularly happy if he visited the Hammer Galleries in New York City, where many articles owned by the late President and Eleanor Roosevelt have been on public sale. The exhibit closed last Monday.

Although many special gifts were for exhibit and not for public purchase, two presents from Cummings were on the market. They were nine porcelain plates of historical interest, and a "drippy" cocktail shaker. Both were Christmas presents from Cummings. Presumably to make the articles more valuable, Mr. C's "card of presentation" was

Pampa Opens With A 69-67 Victory; Play Dumas Demons Here Friday Nite

The Pampa Harvesters nearly met disaster in their season's opener last night at the Junior High school gymnasium, but managed to recover for a thrilling 69-67 victory over the Stratford Elks.

Next Friday night the Green and Gold hosts the Dumas Demons at the Junior High school gymnasium before returning to the Stratford game next Tuesday night. And their hands will be plenty full when they travel to the Panhandle outpost of 537 population.

The Elks showed an uncanny ability to hit the bucket from far out, connecting on 25 of 48 shots attempted for a percentage mark of 51 percent. This big percentage was built up during the first two periods when they connected on 14 of 24 attempts. Fortunately, the halftime intermission apparently cooled the Elks, who came back to hit but 10 of 25 the second half.

Meanwhile, the Harvesters were trying to shake off the effects of nervous prostrations during their first game of the season. Despite the halftime intermission apparently cooled the Elks, who came back to hit but 10 of 25 the second half.

The game was nip and tuck all the way, the score being tied eight different times. The Elks' margin was seven points at the end of the third quarter, 57-50, before the Elks started ripping the net against the Harvesters reserves.

While the Green and Gold's play was sloppy during the first half, they came back relaxed and well-tuned for the second half. Outstanding play was turned in by sophomore Jimmy Bond, who did consistent, steady rebounding play, both offensively and defensively. Duane Jeter, who also played a good game off the boards, and Tommy Smith, whose blazing speed gave him several breakaway layups on fast breaks and good kick-outs from Bond and Jeter.

In the preliminary game, the Guerrillas dropped another close hard-played contest to the Elks, 57-43. The Guerrillas led at halftime by three points, but couldn't hold as the more experienced visitors started to find the range late in the game. Doug Randolph led the scoring for the Guerrillas with 13 points, followed by Ray Cooper's 10.

Call Issued For T-A Glove Teams
SHAMROCK (Special) — Coach H. W. Callan, one of the top boxing mentors in Texas, issued a call for Wednesday night for all coaches interested in a 1951-52 boxing crew to meet with him at Shamrock, Texas. Callan said he expected a response from Lefors and Wellington at least, but did not know whether or not other area schools would attend. Robert, is boxing coach at Lefors, while John Lee is the Wellington mentor. Last March the wily Lee took the Shamrock trophy over Lefors and Shamrock.

Bucks Lose To Price In Opener
WHITE DEER (Special) — The White Deer Bucks opened their home basketball season at Skellytown Monday by dropping a well-fought 38-41 decision to the Price College Cardinals. Donald Denham was high-point man for the Bucks, countering 10 points. Don Stump led the Cardinals with 26.

Kentucky Is Picked Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Kentucky and North Carolina State, the two perennial powers of southern basketball, figure to reign supreme again this year. Both teams, however, are likely to get some unexpected competition. Cagy Adolph Rupp's Southeastern Conference and NCAA championship team, which has won sectional honors again but they may encounter trouble in vastly improved Vanderbilt, Tulane and Alabama. West Virginia's Mountaineers and William and Mary's Indians and Duke's Blue Devils could offer more trouble than they have experienced since Everett Case took over as coach. Eastern Kentucky looks like the best in the Ohio Valley Conference. Competition will be mainly from Western Kentucky and Murray State. Independent Louisville looms as one of the nation's best combinations.

WILDCAT HEIGHT
Kentucky, producer of three NCAA titles in the last four years, presents quality, quantity, experience and height in seven-foot center Bill Spivey, 6-5 Shelby Liville, 6-4 Cliff Hagan, 6-3 Frank Ramsey and guards Bobby Watson and Skippy Whitaker. A fine bevy of freshmen and sophomores, including the sensational Dickie Prater, makes the Wildcats (22-2) just about the No. 1 choice for top honors. A knee injury to Spivey, however, may set the team back for a couple of weeks.

The Wolfpack (20-7), gunning for its sixth straight Southern Conference title, is strong everywhere despite the loss of all-American Sam Ranzino, Vic Bubas and Paul Horvath. Don't be surprised if the N. C. State star turns out to be a freshman named Dave Golkin, the Brooklyn lad who is gunning for a regular guard position.

Vanderbilt, led by Dick Karadokus and Bill Smith, is favored to capture the runner-up spot in the Southeast behind Kentucky. Tulane, with Jim Holt, Louisiana State University, with Joe Deane, and Alabama, with John Sullivan, are improved over last year. Western Kentucky could very easily upset the favorite Eastern Kentucky in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Meyer Back To Dallas
DALLAS (AP) — L. D. (Little Dutch) Meyer has been rehired as manager of the Dallas baseball club of the Texas League, the Dallas Times-Herald reports. The report was in a special dispatch from the National Baseball meeting in Columbus, Ohio. Dallas club owner Dick Burnett announced several weeks ago he was releasing Meyer. Yesterday, he said that after looking over the past season he thought Meyer had a good year and was rehiring him at a raise in salary.

Class A Features Unbeaten Elevens

(By the Associated Press) All the games of Class A are Friday. Abernathy and Wink get together at Lubbock in the afternoon. Friday night Newcastle and Bayou clash at Denton, Cedar Bayou and Giddings at Cedar and Industrial and Pearsall at Pearsall.

Wink, Newcastle, Giddings and Industrial will be favored to push through to the semifinals. Wink last week had to come from behind a couple of times to beat Albany eleven that had lost two games. It was the toughest game of the year for the high-scoring Wildcats and indicated that they might, after all, be able to be had. The score was, 21-13.

DOZEN STRAIGHT
Giddings has rolled up 12 straight victories without being pressed. This week Giddings plays Cedar Bayou, loser of two games. In the other quarterfinals contest, Industrial of Vanderbilt, with an 11-1 record, plays Pearsall, a team that has been defeated four times.

Pirates Drop Pair To Memphis
LEFORS — The Lefors Pirates took one game of three from the Memphis Cyclones here last night, the girls capturing their tilt, 24-22. In the other two games the Pirates lost 33-30 and the boys' B team was downed 15-13. Jimmy Doom and Dickie Davis paced the Pirates with seven points each. Jerry Herring was next, tipping in six. The Pirates will play in the McLean Invitational tournament starting tomorrow.

Quarterbacks Meet Tonight

The Pampa Quarterback club will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight in the Woodrow Wilson grade school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Several films are to be shown, including the Pampa-San Angelo game and a highlight film of the 490 Cleveland Browns season. In addition, the movies of the Lubbock-Odessa contest may be available.

The meeting is an open affair, and wives of the Quarterback Club members have been invited to attend.

Tickets for the Harvester football banquet, to be held in the senior high school cafeteria on Jan. 17 with Jess Neely, Rice Institute head coach, as speaker will be on sale tonight.

Kazmaier Is Heisman Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Kazmaier, Princeton's star tailback, is the 1951 winner of the coveted Heisman Award.

Kazmaier captured the honor, given annually by the New York Downtown Athletic club to the outstanding football player in the nation, in a landslide. The Princeton triple threat back collected 1,777 points, highest ever amassed by a player in the 17 years of voting. Tailback Hank Lauricella of Tennessee finished second with 424 votes and Babe Parill of Kentucky came home third with 344. Larry Isbell of Baylor was seventh, and Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma was twelfth.

Kazmaier, previously named "football player of the year" by the Robert W. Maxwell Club of Philadelphia, led the nation in total offense with 1,827 yards prior to Saturday's games.

Hightower Added To West Stars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Southern Methodist's outstanding linebacker, Dick Hightower, was named today to play for the West squad in the 27th annual Shrine East-West football game here Dec. 29.

Hightower will team with such other Southwest Conference stars as Bill Howton and Sonny McCurry, ends, from Rice Institute. Selection committee chairman Orin E. "Babe" Hollingbery also announced acceptances from Jim Weatherall, great tackle from Oklahoma; Hal Mitchell, UCLA tackle; and Charles Harris, center, California.

The 24-man eastern squad was completed with the acceptance of tackles Jerry Smith, Wisconsin, and Walter Gragg, Navy. Smith is from Dayton, O., and Gragg from Detroit.

Trautman Issues Warning On Umbrella Major Broadcasts

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — George Trautman sounded a grim warning today that minor league baseball cannot long survive the "radio umbrella" of major league broadcasts.

The president of the National Association of Minor Leagues told the opening session of the golden jubilee convention "the solution is squarely in the hands of the individual club."

"It is the legal right (and moral obligation)," said Trautman, for each individual club to exercise a reasonable restraint over its broadcasting and telecasting policies.

The minor league delegates were reminded that their structure shrunk from 69 leagues and 444 clubs in '49 to 49 leagues and 266 clubs in '51 while attendance declined from 43,700,000 in '49 to 27,500,000 last season.

WHISTLE STOP
"It is difficult to understand," said Trautman, "how any major league club could conceive it to be in its ultimate interest to engage in virtually unrestrained broadcasting. Certainly the immediate receipts cannot be the justification."

Calling the 24-hour recall a tool that makes a "whistle stop" of a minor league town for the benefit of a higher club, Trautman asked for its abolition.

Trautman advised the delegates to give "serious and favorable consideration" to the proposed new high school rule that would permit baseball scouts to approach school boys on the same basis as agents of other sports.

Trautman proudly reported passing of another season without scandal but warned that baseball must never relax its fight on the gambling evil.

Vol Lineman Is Year-End Repeater As Week's Best

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Daffer, guard on Tennessee's Sugar Bowl-bound team, was named today lineman of the week in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

Tennessee is the nation's number 1 team. Daffer also was named the lineman of the week in the final poll of the 1950 season.

His fine work against Vanderbilt last Saturday brought him this week's laurels. Tennessee won 35-27.

Daffer also was named the lineman of the week in the final poll of the 1950 season. His fine work against Vanderbilt last Saturday brought him this week's laurels. Tennessee won 35-27.

Tennessee's third touchdown came when Daffer blocked a punt. He slowed down Vanderbilt's star passer, Bill Wade, by his constant rushing.

Bill Athey, Baylor guard, played a terrific defensive game against Rice. He stopped all plays directed at his position and on four occasions threw Rice backs for losses. He made tackles all over the field and recovered a fumble that set up a touchdown.

Athey was terrific," praised Coach George Sauer. "I never saw a greater game played by a lineman."

Little All-America Football Teams Name Few From State

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK — (AP) — Twenty-two players — athletes representing schools not in the national limelight — won honors today on the Associated Press' annual little college all-America football team for 1951.

There is nothing "little" about the players themselves, nor of their ability. The squad, divided for the first time into offensive and defensive units, averages 6 feet 1 inch in height with some of the linemen pushing the scale to 245 pounds. The average age is 22.

Twenty-two different colleges are represented on the first team, with only halfback Robert Miller of Emory & Henry repeating from the 1950 selections. Miller started the 1951 season at a furious pace, slumped in midseason but closed well enough to assure his return to the top team.

BACKFIELD
In the backfield with him on the all-star offensive aggregation are Robert Flanagan of St. Ambrose, one-time Notre Dame freshman who is giving up another year of eligibility to become a priest; Joe Parr of the unbeaten Penn State; and Ralph Di Micco of Alfred's unblemished outfit. Parr moved up from last year's second team.

The offensive line is centered by James Hazlett of Susquehanna. He passed up chances to play for larger and more widely known colleges for the privilege of playing under Coach A. A. Stagg, Sr., at the little Pennsylvania college. Stagg, whose club was unbeaten this year, has refused to pick "all" team members the day his friend, Walter Camp, fostered the idea.

"Just say," said Stagg, "that without Jim Hazlett, Susquehanna wouldn't have enjoyed the success it did this year."
Staidous of the first team are the guards, William Dawkins of Florida State, and William Chal of College of Emporia. The latter is a squat 200-pound Hawaiian and was the bulwark of

PRESSURE FOOTBALL, NO. 12: Carnegie Tech Proves Pure College Football Can Be Had

By HARRY GR. YSON
NEA Sports Editor
PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (NEA) — Carnegie Institute of Technology may have a solution to over-emphasis of football that is applicable to other bedeviled colleges.

For a while, the Carnegie method, conceived and put into execution by the late president, Robert E. Doherty, had a dog chasing its tail in vicious circle.

The athletic department had piled up a $150,000 deficit despite recruiting on a grandiose scale and capacity crowds wherever the Skibos played.

Now Tech has built up strong rivalries with schools in its own football class, and games are just as exciting for the players, students and Old Blues as were the high pressure, big-time contests of yore.

During the doldrums, Dr. Doherty was hanged in effigy on the campus. Students staged almost anarchistic meetings, even invaded the president's office.

BLUEPRINT FOR AILMENT
Dr. Eddie Baker took time out from his dental practice to coach in 1948, packing up a four-three-one season. Last Autumn, Tech won seven, lost only to powerful Lehigh.

When he assumed the presidency, Dr. John C. Warner heartily endorsed the policy effected by Dr. Doherty.
Eighteen players are being helped this school year at a cost to the fund of $10,900.

McLean Invitational Cage Tournery Opens Tomorrow

Assignments Set For Golden Gloves

With Golden Gloves time less than six weeks away, officials of the Pampa Boys Club, Inc., which will again co-sponsor the local tournament along with The Pampa Daily News on Jan. 14-15-16, have issued working assignments for the tournery.

Ray Dudley will again be tournament director with Ollie Wilhelm as assistant director; ring construction is directed by V. Collum; A. L. Weatherred and Wilhelm are in charge of seating; Jack Vaughn is head of ticket sales; Oren James is in charge of the dressing room; and Bill Cooper in charge of lights. Other assignments are still to be made.

WINNERS ADVANCE
The tournament will be held in the junior high school gymnasium, with the winners to be entered in the regional meet at Amarillo, Jan. 2-28. Open division winners at Amarillo participate in the state tournament in Fort Worth in February.

Last year the Shamrock District captured the regional high school division, defeating the Pampa District by one point in some fine team bouts.

A. L. Weatherred was made a director of the Boys Club, Inc., this week, replacing Homer Anderson, who resigned.

The boys are working out nightly in the old Pampa News building from 5 to 7 p. m., under the direction and supervision of E. J. Watt, former Pampa Golden Glover, who has volunteered his coaching services to the boys for the past three years.

Arrangements were worked out yesterday with Golden Gloves officials for radio station KPDR to again carry the broadcasts of the Golden Gloves tournament.

Irish JH Girls In Second Win

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach B. L. Hill's junior high girls took their second basketball victory of the season in a 18-13 fray with the Kelton junior girls at Kelton Tuesday afternoon.

Connie Lewis paced the junior girls with 10 points. Julia Holmes hit for four and Jerreta Upton for two, as the Irish edged the Keltons.

Hill said Irish "shooting was very poor, but the action of the guards was very good." He said the Irish guards kept Anderson, Kelton scoring ace, to three points instead of her customary 20 to 25.

Wilmouth made five for Kelton, Anderson three and Boatman five.

Meanwhile, Hill's junior boys, with only one practice under their belts before the fray, dropped a 27-28 contest to the Kelton junior boys.

James Tarbet led the Irish juniors with 10 points, followed by James Collinsworth with seven, James Derbone with three, J. Lanham with four, Morris Pillars with two and Gaston Tarbet with two.

Today a year ago — Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles defended his title by knocking out Nick Barone in the 11th round of their bout in Cincinnati.

Five years ago — George Trautman was elected president of the minor leagues, succeeding W. G. Bramham, who retired.

one free training-table meal a day during the season.

Incidentally, it was because of this scholarship program that Carnegie Tech was dropped from the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

For a while, the Carnegie method, conceived and put into execution by the late president, Robert E. Doherty, had a dog chasing its tail in vicious circle.

Now Tech has built up strong rivalries with schools in its own football class, and games are just as exciting for the players, students and Old Blues as were the high pressure, big-time contests of yore.

During the doldrums, Dr. Doherty was hanged in effigy on the campus. Students staged almost anarchistic meetings, even invaded the president's office.

BLUEPRINT FOR AILMENT
Dr. Eddie Baker took time out from his dental practice to coach in 1948, packing up a four-three-one season. Last Autumn, Tech won seven, lost only to powerful Lehigh.

When he assumed the presidency, Dr. John C. Warner heartily endorsed the policy effected by Dr. Doherty.
Eighteen players are being helped this school year at a cost to the fund of $10,900.

Carver Wildcats Cage Schedule Set

The Carver High school Wildcats will open their 1951-52 basketball schedule Dec. 11 at Amarillo. The Wildcats are members of the Red River Valley Athletic Conference which includes teams from Borger, Childress, Wellington, Paducah and Shamrock.

The girls team, the Kittens, will also play on every night the boys team is in action. The Kittens, coached by Miss Irene Boyd and Alvin Conner, has been beaten only three times in the last eight years. The boys haven't fared quite as well, but still boast an outstanding record.

Members of the boys team, being coached for the third time this season by C. E. Petty, are W. Bonner, W. Geary, A. Simmons, Ira Simmons, E. Russey, Ira Watts, W. Woods, Ira Roland and Ira Dunham.

On the girls team are Willie Roland, Mary Roland, Lena Cash, Cleo Graves, Norma Hodge, Lucille Carter, Lyra O'Neil, Helen Dunn, Margaret Cobbs, Dorothy Tucker, Hazel Watts, Virginia Frazer, Margaret Cash, Lyra Dunn, Jessie Williams, Ola Lightfoot, Elma Banks, Bobby Cobbs, Patricia Williams and Mary Davis.

The schedule is:
Dec. 11, Amarillo, there.
Dec. 14, Borger, here.
Dec. 19, Childress, there.
Jan. 5, Shamrock, there.
Jan. 12, Paducah, here.

Phillips Drops McLean Twice

McLEAN — (Special) — The Phillips Blackhawks downed the McLean Tigers in Phillips Tuesday night by a score of 55-24. The Tigers made a contest of this up until late in the third quarter when Phillips' attack began to function and pulled away to a third quarter lead of 35-16.

Phillips' lead at halftime was 22-12.
Jan. 19, Shamrock, here.
Jan. 21, Amarillo, here.
Feb. 2, Wellington, there.
Feb. 9, Borger, there.
Feb. 16, Childress, here.
Feb. 20, Paducah, there.
Feb. 28, Wellington, here.

All games will be played in the new Carver High school gymnasium, starting at 8 o'clock with the girls game to be followed by the boys.

State Board Member Meets With Local League Of Women Voters; December Unit Meetings Cancelled

Mrs. Joseph Beakey, Midland, a member of the State board of League of Women Voters of Texas, was in Pampa Thursday to conduct an all-day program conference with the board of the local league. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. J. W. Garman, Jr.

The conference here was one of a series of such meetings being held simultaneously in 14 states. It was designed to mobilize the full strength of leagues throughout the country, according to Mrs. E. M. Culbertson, local president.

"Our country is facing a long period of danger, of crises, tensions and confusions," she said, "and the League must evaluate its resources if we are to do helping citizens work out solutions to the important issues of our day."

"Going to the Community" was the discussion at the all-day conference along with the use of League program and the role of the league today.

Mrs. Beakey pointed out the League has been working 31 years toward its purpose of encouraging greater citizen participation in government. The league is now organized in 44 states, Alaska and Hawaii with a membership of more than 100,000, she said.

Following the program conference, a short board meeting was held. It was announced that material for the "Know your Town" study will be ready for printing by January 1.

The regular monthly luncheon of the league will not be held in December, and all unit meetings are canceled for the month. Scheduled unit meetings will be resumed in January with the "Know Your League" study.

Household Of Martha Sponsors Card Party

About 55 guests were present for a card party sponsored by the Household of Martha of the Holy Souls Parish. Proceeds will be used for a charity fund for the church and a contribution will be made to the national organization of the Household to be used for needy missions. Prizes given at the party were donated by Pampa merchants.

Prizes were given for two sections of bridge, progressive and non-progressive, and a traveling prize. High, second high and low prizes were given for canasta.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie, whipped cream and coffee were served. Hostesses were Mrs. E. S. and Mrs. M. E. S.

Christian Science Lecturer To Speak Here Thursday

FRANK T. HORD, C. S., Louisville, Kentucky

How an understanding of God heals discord will be the topic of a Christian Science lecture to be given here Thursday by Frank T. Hord of Louisville, Ky. It was announced today by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Pampa.

A former Army combat chaplain, Mr. Hord will speak in the senior high school auditorium at 8 p.m. The lecture is open to the public without charge.

Mr. Hord served 45 months in the United States and in the European theater of operations during World War II as a Christian Science chaplain. He was with combat troops throughout the war, and served in the Antwerp area during the five-months' buzz-bomb siege of that supply base on the Belgian coast.

Prior to entering the public practice of Christian Science healing, Mr. Hord was active in sales engineering, and as founder and head of a travel agency. He is currently on extended tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Mobeetie Lions Club Entertains Wives

WHEELER (Special)—The Mobeetie Lions club entertained their wives Tuesday night at a dinner in the Mobeetie legion hut. L. D. McCauley, president, presided.

L. R. Reaves, program chairman, introduced W. D. Wheatley who in turn presented his high school chorus. The chorus presented several numbers and members of the chorus did special numbers. Two recordings were made by L. R. Reaves. The chicken dinner was prepared and served by the American Legion Auxiliary.

MR. AND MRS. KURT ROY CURFMAN

Logsdon-Curfman Wedding Vows Said In Shamrock

SHAMROCK (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Logsdon of Erick, Okla., announce the marriage of their daughter, Ariene Laverne Logsdon of Shamrock, and Kurt Roy Curfman, son of the late J. D. Curfman and Mrs. Curfman of Shamrock.

Wedding vows were exchanged November 22 in a double-ring ceremony read in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Fry, Rev. S. M. Dunnam, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated at the ceremony which was read before a setting of tapered candelabra and tall baskets of mums and pompons.

Mrs. Fry played "Melody of Love" as Georgiana Stracener, Wichita Falls, niece of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. Mrs. Fry played and sang "I Love You Truly" and also played traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Fry served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a two-piece dress of taupe crepe with black accessories. Her corsage was red roses. Alvin Curfman of Bishop, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, wore a street-length dress of frosted blue velveteen, styled with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her veil of blue illusion, was held in place with a halo of carnations and puffs of blue maline. She wore a matching necklace, bracelet and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet, centered with a purple orchid and surrounded by white carnations and maline puffs, was tied with a maline bow and narrow blue satin ribbon tied in love knots.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Logsdon wore a navy crepe dress, with navy accessories, and the mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a black suit with matching accessories. They both wore corsages of red roses. Following the ceremony, a reception was held. The bride's table was laid with a cloth of blue organza centered with a bowl of white mums. The two-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was placed at one end of the table and the punch bowl at the other. Mrs. George Stracener of Wichita Falls, sister of the bridegroom, poured.

For travel, the bride wore a wool suit of small checks, in black and copper, with which she wore black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. Mrs. Curfman is a graduate of Cordell High school, Cordell, Okla., and attended Abilene Christian college, Abilene; and Southwestern Tech, Weatherford, Okla. She was a member of the Melpomene Palyers, a dramatic club, and is a member of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha international sorority. Before coming to Shamrock she was with the Civil Service, Navy Dept., in Washington, D.C. For the past five years she has been associated with Fry drugstore.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Electra High school, and attended Texas Tech at Lubbock. He served with the U.S. Army two years during World War II. He is associated with the Magnolia company at Magic City. After a wedding trip to points in Texas, the couple will establish a home in Shamrock.

Relatives present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Stracener and daughters, Georgiana and Juanita of Wichita Falls; Alvin Curfman and daughter, Candace, of Bishop; Mrs. J. D. Curfman and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Logsdon of Erick, Okla.

David M. Warren To Be Honored

AUSTIN — (P) — David M. Warren and his Panhandle Herald will be honored for their interest and activity in the field of history here Thursday.

The Panhandle publisher and banker who is vice-chairman of the University of Texas board of regents will receive the American Association for State and Local History awards of merit.

Both the Texas State Historical society and the Missouri Historical society proposed Warren's name for the award.

Warren is a life member of the Texas organization and its former president of the Panhandle Plains Historical society.

Warren came to Texas in 1918. He is a graduate of the school of journalism of the University of Missouri.

San Francisco Wants Service Men To Linger Awhile

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — San Francisco's city fathers complain that Army policy prevents returning Korean veterans from visiting San Francisco before starting home.

The acting mayor scheduled a meeting of businessmen — the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Dry Goods Merchants and other groups — to discuss the situation.

"One of life's ambitions for all young men is to see this city by the Golden Gate, and they should have an opportunity to do so," declared Acting Mayor Dewey Mead. "It is important to them — and to the city, too."

Returnees are required to board trains and planes enroute home immediately after processing. Mead, said. During World War II, the Army tried the same system in New York but without drawing it under protest, he added.

The Sixth Army replied that such a policy has been in effect since Sept. 1 at all military ports of entry.

"But the men still go first-class, and whenever possible, get their choice of train and plane travel. It speeds up processing — and that is essential, since we under orders to have all men headed home within 48 hours after their ship arrives here," the spokesman said.

THE STORY: Alma Cooney, designer for the exclusive jewelry firm of Trumbull & Company, has been told by her husband Tommy that he has obtained a gemstone in the firm, for which he also works. Tommy has a great deal of money and buys a new expensive gift. But as she goes to work the next day she meets Joe Deaton, a friend of both Tommy and herself, who tells of an inside robbery at The House, the second in a series of thefts. Joe lives with his step-mother, a selfish, cruel woman, who also is employed by the firm.

"DOOR JOE!" thought Alma, but it was actually more admiration than pity which she felt. Joe took everything calmly.

By now he would be meeting the Lock Sergeant at the counter and counter-checking the contents of the Sergeant's steel lock-box as the latter laid under glass the flaming jewelry pins and clips. Then Joe would use the little key which hung so unobtrusively on his watch-chain and the Lock Sergeant would move on to another show case, and Joe's daily guardianship would begin.

Joe was a good salesman. Women liked to buy from him. Women! And Joe had never looked at a woman other than herself! Poor Joe, thought Alma once again.

The service elevator stopped to let clerks out at Silverware, at China-and-Glass, at Special Wedding Gifts. Minor executives left at the fifth floor. At the sixth, Alma stepped out into the lobby of the workshop. Most jewelers had their jewelry manufacturing done outside the premises, but Trumbull's had, even in the new building, stuck by the tradition of having it done under their own roof. Alma nodded to the uniformed guard who was always slumped in his chair by the door.

"Morning, Pete!"

He grunted, but with a smile in his eyes.

She left her things in the locker rooms, slipped into her dark blue working smock and went to the check-away counter. Behind its chromium grille bright-eyed little Mr. Youmans looked like a moth-eaten gray squirrel in a cage. Alma slipped her last night's receipt under the grille and presently he brought her flat steel work-tray and unlocked it, raising the grille and slipping it out to her, smiling.

"Don't drop any diamonds on the floor today!" he admonished playfully. It was his standard joke. Alma smiled back.

"You bet I'll be careful!" she said. "The floor's about due to be sold, isn't it?"

THE floor of the workroom at Trumbull's was the dread of all its jewel-makers. It was covered by a shallow super-structure of finely knit slatwork, and despite every precaution on the journeymen's part, a certain amount of gold and platinum dust and shavings from the trays seeped through to the concrete floor beneath.

Once a year this dust was auctioned off blind to salvage dealers, the highest bidder undertaking to remove the old wooden floor and replace it with a new one. The smallest winning bid in the history of The House had been $3000.

Anything other than dust slipping through the slatwork was considered the property of the salvage firm and for a journeyman to lose even the smallest stone in this manner was looked upon as a disgrace. When Mr. Youmans made his little joke, his audience stepped carefully.

Alma found herself holding her tray grimly as she took it to her place at the bench where her grandfatherly adviser sat. Old Victor watched her affectionately as she laid out her work, his eyes anxious.

"All is well, cherie?"

"Yes, Papa Victor. Well enough. What are you making?"

"A horrible modernistic clip." He held it up, shuddering exaggeratedly. "However, one must live!" He leaned toward her confidentially. "But I have a new design—a five pointed star. Wait until the Head sees that! They think I am through, eh? I who originated the flexible diamond bracelet, the diamond sunburst! Aloni! They are wrong; Regarde toi, cherie!"

He shoved his meticulous drawing toward her. Even before she looked at it Alma felt sure that it, like most of the old man's dated work, was doomed to rejection. But she smiled and said, "Very lovely, dear Papa Victor!"

THEN she concentrated on her own commission, her pliers busy with the soft gold wires of the trial set-up. And presently she had forgotten everything except the beauty which was flowering under her hands. The atmosphere swept her up into the Aladdin's lamp magic with which the place never failed to inspire her, for Trumbull's was no mere factory, no cold, detached series of unrelated luxury shops, but a gigantic entity which extended far beyond the stolid white marble of its walls.

The House owned pearl fisheries off Godolphus Island in the Pacific; had their own ruby and sapphire mines in Ceylon and Burma where, before the war, white-robed merchants and yellow-robed priests aided the American bagmen in the selection of the best gems. There was the interest held by Trumbull's in African diamond fields, and in gold and silver mines as well. The House of Trumbull had roots reaching out all over the world—strong roots of its own through which flowed the precious sap which supported The House as the main trunk of a tree is supported by the rich earth.

And the heart of this giant, golden tree was this workroom in which she labored with such energetic pleasure.

At noon she showed Old Victor the furs and when they had been duly admired, they went to lunch.

Famous Illustrator Advises Young Artists Go Country

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

If you want to be a successful artist, move to a farm. That's the prescription of Norman Rockwell, whose magazine covers, calendars and Christmas cards earn an annual income that would stack up well against that of oil man.

Rockwell, known as one of the nation's top artistic interpreters of Americans, believes artists must keep the common touch if their works are to appeal to a mass audience.

He himself lives on a farm in Vermont, with his wife and three sons, works harder than any plowman at his easel and gets to New York or Philadelphia about once a year to go through the business of signing contracts and attending to business details.

A long stringbean of a man with perceptive eyes and a shy smile, he submits with good grace to a whirlwind program of radio interviews, TV appearances and convention banquets. Then retreats thankfully to his Vermont farmhouse.

For boys and girls who aspire to careers in commercial art, Rockwell has encouraging words.

Connally Denies Charges Made

BROWNWOOD, — (AP) — Sen. Tom Connally says there is "no truth whatsoever" in rumors he pushed the expansion of Fort Hood because he owned land near the camp. Connally told newsmen he had never "owned an acre of land adjacent to or near Fort Hood."

The senator spoke here Monday night at a Brown county dinner in his honor. He said a cease-fire in Korea would "accomplish the purpose of the United States."

LADY STEEPLEJACK

CINCINNATI — (AP) — A spry little grandmother who admits she is "nearing 50" has a spare-time job when she is not tending to her bookkeeping. She is a steeplejack.

Mrs. Gertrude Bacon, of Fayetteville, O., supposes that it's "just natural" for her to enjoy helping out her husband, Charles, who has been a steeplejack contractor for 33 years. Prison walls are not built to scale.

PAMPA

Entertainment Center Of The Northeast Panhandle

Ever growing, Pampa, the oil, livestock, wheat, shopping, medical and financial center of the Northeastern Panhandle, quite naturally also is the entertainment center of a wide area.

Fortunately, too, the best and most modern facilities for top notch entertainment have been provided in the Northeastern Panhandle entertainment center and residents of other Northeastern Panhandle cities join with Panpans in using and enjoying the facilities to the fullest extent. Entertainment definitely is another of Pampa's most potent drawing cards, attracting thousands of visitors to the city annually.

Two radio stations, Mutual KPND and station KPAT offer the best in radio programs. Three fine modern downtown theaters and two huge drive-in theaters, all owned by Video Independent Theaters, Inc., provide the best and latest in motion picture entertainment.

Top flight entertainment to meet the specific needs of Pampa and area residents also furnished by musical and lecture associations, rodeo associations and other groups and individuals.

All join in making Pampa the entertainment center of the Northeastern Panhandle.

In the interest of building PAMPA, the following individuals, business, industrial and professional firms join in presenting this series of informative pages designed to show why PAMPA is a better town.
