CANADIAN — (Special) — The district 2-B interscholastic league one-act play contest was held in the Canadian High School auditorium recently with Darrouzett taking first place.

Eight plays were entered in the contest. "The Neighbors," was given by Miami; Booker, "The Pink Dress," Higgins, "When the Whirlwind Blows," and Canadian, "The Cathedral Clock."

Follett presented "Riders to the Sea," Kelton, "The Boor," Wheeler, "The Happy Journey," and Darrouzett, "I'll be Waiting."

Miss Paula Frazier of Canadian, contest director, presented a trophy to the winning cast from Darrouzett and announced best actor and actress, Peter, from the cast of "I'll be Waiting," and Mrs. Willard from "The Pink Dress" took these honors. Wendell Cain, West Texas State drama department, served as judge and gave criticisms on each play after the trophy presentation.

Harvey Pruitt, Canadian High school principal, served as timer.

White Deer Play Winner

WHITE DEER — (Special) — White Deer High school's entry, a cutting from Macbeth, again received the top rating in the one-act play division of the Speech and Drama Festival held at Goodwell, Okla., recently.

Competing with seven or eight Oklahoma schools, White Deer was the only one to receive an "excellent" rating, the highest rating offered in the one-act play division.

In the leading roles were James Huffines and Patsy Willis, both freshmen. Other cast members were Madeline Dowd, Betty Jean Williams, Barbara Lewis, Jerry Foote, Dick Foote, Philip Rapaline, and Harold Dean Williams.

John Martin, speech instructor, was the director; Nancy Ford, assistant director.

This play will compete with the Groom High School production of "When the Sun Rises," in the District 2-B Interscholastic League One-act Play contest in the White Deer Grade School auditorium Thursday evening.

Open House Held At Horace Mann By Parent-Teachers

The Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Assn. recently combined the annual "Dad's Night" with open house at the school.

A program followed the tour into the children's classrooms where their work was displayed. Various selections were sung by the Horace Mann chorus under the direction of Mrs. John Branham.

Fifth grade students presented a skit "Teaching Our Children to Get the Most Out of Life." The children gave a replica of an adult P-TA meeting, using names of important persons made familiar to them through the study of current events.

Participating in the program were Bill Gaut, Dianne Zachry, Billy Calvert, Meridith Meaker and Billie Hassel and several others.

Two performances were necessary to accommodate the crowd of approximately 300 parents and friends.

Room awards were won by Miss Frances McCue's fifth

Cattle Thriving On Citrus Fruit

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — Tons of citrus fruit rinds, pulp and seeds are now being made into a new cattle feed. The history of the new development is told by Edgar Andrews, field engineer here for Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., whose electronic controls are used in systems for making both the feed and various types of concentrated fruit juices.

"When processors first started turning out citrus juices," said Andrews, "they faced a mounting problem in the disposal of rinds and pulp which were too wet to be burned. If dumped, they made an objectionable odor over large areas and for long periods. A new process has been introduced which grinds the seeds, pulp and rinds into a dry feed that has the appearance of cereal flakes. This high-vitamin content cattle feed has been found to build resistance to disease, make better beef and increase the quantity of milk per grade, Mrs. W. B. Weathered's, first grade and Mrs. Jimma Decker's third grade."

Frontline PO Is Busy Place

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SOMEWHERE IN KOREO — (AP) — The windows never go down in the busiest little post office in Korea.

You can buy a stamp or send a money order at 2 a. m. at this detachment of the First Base post office, situated near the front lines. It does the tremendous job of handling incoming and outgoing mail for four U. S. divisions, one Army corps and 30 miscellaneous units — about 80,000 soldiers in all.

"We operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week," said Capt. O. A. Hopper, in charge. "Every man in the unit realizes that mail is the number one morale factor — more important even than shower baths and clean clothes."

By plane and train the mail comes in and goes out and is handled smoothly by the 20 officers and men of the unit. One train will unload over 2,000 sacks around 50,000 pounds — at a time. Freighter planes discharge air mail sacks by the hundreds.

"It's up to us to keep it moving, and we do," said Hopper, a native of Grand Prairie, Tex., who now maintains a home at Sentinel, Okla. He pointed to the almost empty storage ground outside the two combined tents that make up the post office. Only a few sacks were there and a division's mail truck was on the way to get them.

"We can't afford to let mail stack up here," Hopper said. All day and into the night, soldiers line up to buy or cash money orders and send packages. The post office also offers the GI a fast message service back to the states. For only 60 cents he can select the text of a personal message from about 300 standard messages. The message is rushed to Tokyo by registered air mail and cabled to America. An ordinary cable would be vastly more expensive.

Five Deaths Caused From Fear Of Magic

KHARTOUM, Anglo — Egyptian Sudan (AP) — Fear of magic resulted in five deaths in a village in French Equatorial Africa, just across the Sudan border, according to reports from Yambio, in the Sudan's Bahr El Ghazal province.

A woman who was expecting a child was being attended by two other women. Her husband, entering the hut, thought the women were casting magic spells on his wife. He speared them both to death. A third woman on a visit in the hut was also speared and died two days later. Meanwhile relatives of the slain women killed the husband of the pregnant woman, who then died from complications.

Natives Say Cobra In Love With Woman

MADRAS — (AP) — Natives of nearby Calicut give a romantic twist to a tale of the cobra and the lady. The story tells of daily visits by the six-foot reptile to the house of a villager named Narayanan. The snake faithfully follows Narayanan's wife Narayani wherever she goes.

Narayani went from fright at first sight to her current attitude of respectful resignation. Popular belief runs that the snake is making love to the woman. It does not hesitate to slither into her bedroom, darting off only on the entrance of another human.

Six-Year-Old Tests Fire, Police Squads

SANTA ANA, Calif. — (AP) — A Santa Ana six-year-old listened to his teacher's instructions carefully. Then he put them into practice.

Dialing carefully, he telephoned the police and fire departments. He told them first his home had been robbed. He told the second his home was on fire.

Woman Held Captive By The Folding Bed

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Mrs. Alice Hollenbeck, 83, was held captive by a folding bed for two hours. She walked into a closet and the door slammed shut behind her. The shock brought a folding bed down on her, wedging her against the wall. A neighbor, hearing her cries, called the fire department. They had to saw a two-foot hole in the door to get her out — unhurt.

Irishmen To Start Grid Drills Monday

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The six returning linemen, all of whom will be seniors for the 1951 grid campaign, are: Van Pennington, pass-snatching sensation at end; Billy Harris, 245-pound tackle; Eugene Collinsworth, all-district and all-regional guard, once "Player of the Week" for his work in the Phillips game; Billy York, 170-pound center who won district and regional honors and honorable mention for all-state center; Mack Terry, all-regional guard; Dwayne Hager, 205-pound all-district tackle and "kickoff artist."

Shamrock To Hold Athletic Banquet

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock will hold its annual athletic banquet at the school cafeteria here Friday night, April 6, reports Coach Scott McCall. The banquet will include football and basketball players and will be given by the pep squad and home economics girls. All but three of the basketball girls are in the pep squad.

Three More CCNY Cagers Arrested For Peint Shaving

NEW YORK — (AP) — The fall from glory of the CCNY basketball team is complete. Exactly one year ago City College was acclaimed as the first "grand slam" champion in history. But today all its first string players have been engulfed by the series of betting scandals.

Irwin Dambrot, Norm Mager and Herb Cohen were the latest arrested by District Attorney Frank Hogan. After more than eight hours of questioning, Hogan announced last night that the trio had admitted shaving the point spread in three games in Madison Square Garden last season.

Another Grid Coach Is Looking For Job

SPOKANE, Wash. — (AP) — "This sort of thing is the life of a coach — and the death too, I guess." That was Millard (Dixie) Howell's attitude yesterday when the University of Idaho Board of Regents announced the school didn't want him any more as head football coach.

Hogan Was Too Busy Playing Golf To Turn On Charm At Following Gallery

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF AP Sports Editor DALLAS — (AP) — Ben Hogan is pictured on the screen as always wanting the gallery with him but never able to make it because of his cold, calculating attitude toward golf. Ben never could do two things at the same time like Walter Hagen, Jimmie Demaret and a few others who managed to charm the gallery while they played championship golf.

Ben had more friends than he thought. He found out when he was critically injured in a car-bus crash near Van Horn and had to wage his greatest fight — not for golf victory but for his life. Many people liked the little guy for his spirit, courage and ability. No one really had reason to dislike him despite his poor public relations. Ben never was a prima donna, and he was a fine sportsman. But he just never went out of his way to appeal to the fans. He never wise-cracked, never played to the gallery. His mind was on golf because that was his life. The gallery acted accordingly. It said nothing and showed no emotion because Hogan didn't.

The things that hurt Hogan most were his lack of color and his seeming non-co-operation with the press. I've covered many tournaments in which he played. I've interviewed him many times. I always got an answer to everything but it never was the kind of answer that did my story much good. Hogan never sought to help the press, always appeared a little suspicious, never tried to give a sports writer a good "angle." Most time he would say "don't quote me on that" when asked an opinion.

Those who acted in it told how exact Hogan was as to golf details. Ben was technical advisor and he resolved that nothing would be done that might reflect on golf, either technically or morally. Glenn Ford, who played Hogan on the screen, told with a grimace of the strenuous routine he had to go through. For four months Hogan made him practice four hours a day on golf. When Ford's hands began to bleed from holding the clubs, Hogan told him: "So what? So? You have to hit salt and vinegar. That's what I had to do."

Hogan often was criticized for his failure to pay attention to anybody in the gallery. But it was Ben's way; he became wrapped up in the game he was playing and actually didn't know anybody else existed.

An illustration of this was Hogan's actions in the All-American Open at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago. He hit one over the green onto a roadway at the second hole. Schneider's wife stood by the ball to protect it from the crowd. When Hogan came up he looked at her but gave no hint of recognition. He went on and shot. On the eighteenth he saw Mrs. Schneider again and this time he said: "When did you get to town?"

In startling contrast was Demaret's stunt in the last Texas Open of calling a press conference on the ninth green. Jimmie sent word he had a statement to make and the sports writers were there to meet him as he finished the first nine three under par. Demaret chatted with the fellows, gave them his statements, then went on to play the second nine in two under par.

But Hogan wasn't of that temperament and never will be. He has mellowed a lot these days but he just never was cut out to be an athlete who could play golf and the gallery at the same time. It had to be one or the other and with Hogan it was the other. But we certainly have no criticism of him. Ben is a great great man, a great golfer and a great sportsman. We shall always have him in our treasury of great moments of sport. He made up for the lack of "angles," color and good quotes by his greatness in other ways.

NCAA Swim Meet Set For Austin

AUSTIN — (AP) — Speedy practice times indicate numerous records in danger when the National Collegiate Swim Championships open here tomorrow night. Texas Golfers Lose To Carolina Team

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — (AP) — Texas golf stars will seek revenge in Dallas in May for a 22-12 to 13-12 match play defeat given them yesterday by a North Carolina team. Proceeds of the match went to Skip Alexander, pro injured in a plane crash six months ago.

Shamrock To Hold Athletic Banquet

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock will hold its annual athletic banquet at the school cafeteria here Friday night, April 6, reports Coach Scott McCall. The banquet will include football and basketball players and will be given by the pep squad and home economics girls. All but three of the basketball girls are in the pep squad.

McCall has only two other lettermen returning for line service: Billy Pavlovsky, guard; and Bobby Campbell, end. Campbell recovered the fumble in the final three minutes of the Phillips game that let Tarbet score the tying touchdown.

San Sneed, the West Virginia hillbilly, is absolutely non-cooperative with the press but he gets by with it because of his natural color and gift of saying or doing something that makes good reading and news. Most sports writers I know detest the players fix some of the games in the NIT tourney last year, but all refused.

Don Lee, plunging fullback, whose specialties were pitchout runs and punts, is graduating, and so is Kenneth Kiffwell, left-halfback, whose defense was a good, his pass defense outstanding and his running A-1. In addition, Roger Scaggs, scabbard star who broke his leg in the practice sessions after the third game last fall, will be missing. Scaggs will be back as a senior, but is overage.

Daniel Baker Drops Football

BROWNWOOD — (AP) — Daniel Baker College dropped football indefinitely today because of uncertain national and world conditions. The Rev. Wilford O. Cross, president of the senior Episcopal school, announced the decision was made by the board of trustees.

Graduates Host To Alumni For Banquet At White Deer

WHITE DEER — (Special) It was circus time for the approximately 270 graduates and their guests at the third annual Alumni Assn. banquet Saturday evening in White Deer High school gymnasium.

A tent topped with a life-sized clown and a "flasher" proclaimed "The Big Top of 1951" covered one end of the room. Life-sized animal cutouts and other like decorations carried out the circus theme.

Warren Paul New, class of '38, now a lawyer in Denver City, was master of ceremonies. Clarence Williams, class of '32, sheriff of Carson county, gave the invocation. Julius Meaker, class of '41, a farmer near Panhandle, who has served as president of the Alumni Assn. for 1951, gave the welcoming address.

Mrs. David Collis, class of '42, of Midland sang, as did Jimmy Mosteller who was accompanied by Ernest Willis on his guitar. Both were of the class of '52.

Incoming officers for 1952, introduced by President Meaker, included Clayton Powers, president; Henry Urbanczyk, vice-president; and Mrs. Marvin Miliken (Josephine Powers), secretary-treasurer.

In accordance with the custom of presenting a gift to someone who has been associated with the school for a number of years, Jerry McCoy, senior class president, presented a hat to W. E. (Bill) Moore, who has served as custodian of the high school for 23 years.

Special recognition was given to Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Milligan of Dallas, both of the class of '38, as the couple traveling the greatest distance to attend the banquet, and to James Weather, class of '48, all-American and

Soviet Behind Move To Seize British Oil

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) Soviet Russia is maneuvering to seize Iran through a phony internal "revolution," Czechoslovak style, according to Allied intelligence reports from the Middle East.

The Cominform is said to be behind the latest outbreak of Iranian "spontaneous" demonstrations demanding the nationalization without indemnity of British-controlled 55,000,000 Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

One of the world's richest oil-producing countries, Iran is also the key hinterland to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's strategic defenses in the Middle East.

Thirty Red divisions — three of them Polish armored units — are said to be based on the 1500-mile Soviet-Iranian frontier. Nevertheless, it is considered unlikely that Moscow would provoke a general war at this time through armed invasion of Iran.

A clue to the Cominform's strategy, however, is believed to be contained in secret instructions beamed by Radio Moscow to the outlawed pro-Communist Tudeh Party Feb. 16. A copy of the instructions was recently received by U. S. intelligence.

The Kremlin, according to the broadcast — one of several — was able to forecast a month in advance the latest round of "spontaneous" anti-government demonstrations in Iran.

Although the first Red-inspired riot occurred before the Iranian Majlis (Parliament) on March 16, Moscow radio announced a month in advance that "Mass meetings are being held throughout the country, at which the participants demand the nationalization of the oil wealth of Iran."

Stating that the position of the "British imperialists" in Iran "becomes ever more unstable," Moscow was also able to predict that the Majlis would enact the law to expropriate British and U. S. oil interests.

New evidence has also come to light which would indicate that the recent assassination of Premier Gen. Ali Razmara — one of the ablest Iranian statesmen since the war — was inspired by the Red Tudeh Party rather than by a group of religious fanatics as it was first believed.

Threats of violence which circulated in Teheran following the killing of the Premier prompted even many of the moderate deputies of the Majlis to vote for nationalization.

The Iranian Government has long been aware of the existence in the country of a vast Soviet espionage network. The hub of the network is the huge fortress-like Soviet Embassy located on Churchill avenue in Teheran, the capital. It is directed (or was directed until recently) by two MVD agents, I. N. Yakovlev and Col. Nikolai Belevitch, who are officially employed as minor secretaries of the Russian embassy.

The existence of this widespread Soviet espionage ring in Iran was confirmed by Gen. El Campesino in a conversation I had with him recently in Paris.

One of the Red heroes of the Spanish civil war, Gen. El Campesino escaped to Russia in 1938. But like many other former Spanish Loyalists he soon incurred the Kremlin's displeasure and was banished to slave labor in Moscow's widespread net of concentration camps.

He escaped and reached Iran safely only to fall into the web of Moscow's spy ring. Under the eyes of the Iranian police he was transported by the MVD back to Russia. He escaped again in 1949.

Gen. El Campesino charges that Iran is the main center of Soviet intelligence agencies operating in the Middle East. Under cover of the Russian Embassy and numerous trade missions, thousands of MVD and Cominform agents have been able to secure legal means of infiltrating the tion" in Iran and the seizure of power by the Communists.

Hotels lose more than that on people taking luggage, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

Mrs. Dick Hughes Chosen 1951 Woman Of The Year

The Pampa Daily News

PAMPA, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1951 PAGE B1

Third Annual Womens Club Edition

I LIKE TO REMEMBER — Sometimes Mrs. Hughes finds time, amid her busy life, to just remember—she remembers Pampa as a very young town, just as she was a very young woman when she first saw it 24 years ago when she came here as the bride of Dick Hughes. "It was young and rough," she recalls, "and Vassar graduates lived in box cars."

WE HAD A PURPOSE—"This cupboard wasn't included in the original house plans," Mrs. Hughes explained smilingly, "but when a large crack appeared in the wall, we had to do something to cover it up." The shelves include things the family likes—including a collection of silver souvenir spoons. Some of them were given to Mrs. Hughes by her mother and some were brought to her by her son, Richard.

MY FAVORITE INDOOR SPORT—Admittedly a good cook, Mrs. Hughes expertly stirs up a batch of sand tarts, to have ready for callers who pop in unexpectedly. The house on W. Francis, where the Hughes family has lived for many years, is always open to visitors, and the gracious lady of the house is usually there to greet them.

THE BOOKS WE LIKE—The Hughes family has collected a sizable library and found a nice place for it. Their favorite books are tucked away in one end of the large living room, within easy reach of family and guests. Here, the lady of the house points out an old book that has been in the family a long time.

MY OUTLET — The calm and mild-tempered Mrs. Hughes nevertheless has hectic moments. She learned early in life that temper doesn't pay off, so "I either bake something, which we eat, or write poetry, which I tear up." The state of her mind, she said, can usually be checked by looking in the kitchen or in the waste basket.

Each year Beta Sigma Phi Sorority selects a Pampa woman and honors her as the "Woman of the Year." She is chosen in recognition of her outstanding civic and social leadership in the community.

Lovely Mrs. Dick Hughes, this year's choice, is completely baffled, for she said "I have no talents and no accomplishments—unless you consider baking an accomplishment—that is the thing I do best. It seems my life has been made up of food and babies." However, Mrs. Hughes' modest statements are discounted by her friends—and they include all who are fortunate enough to know her—she is, they insist—a woman of great charm and capability—a woman whose home and heart are always open to young people.

Mrs. Hughes came to Pampa 24 years ago as a bride and she and her husband, who were married in Clarendon, have lived here during all of their married life—many years of it have been spent in the home at 520 W. Francis which they bought and remodeled. Mrs. Hughes said "every time we plan to build a house we end up by building something else instead."

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have three children, Richard Bennett, 21, a law student at the University of Oklahoma ("the studious one"); Lynn, 19, already a home builder in Wichita Falls, ("I think we have another Dick Hughes there), and daughter Carol, 13, who deafterthought").

Mrs. Hughes is not a "bragging woman" but she is signs dresses and plays the piano ("she was a happy a little boastful that she has seen many babies before their mothers did, and once, even before the doctor.

Mrs. Hughes and her husband were school friends, but did not become well acquainted until after she had gone to Oklahoma City to work in the state legislature and returned to her home town, Clarendon, as a "city girl."

Mrs. Hughes will later be honored at a tea and presented a certificate of merit.

I FEEL AT HOME — Mrs. Hughes is seen here in a familiar pose—serving coffee to her guests. A homebody, she said "My life seems to be made up of food and babies." The mother of two grown sons and a young daughter, Mrs. Hughes feels that she is fully qualified as a "baby tender" and will do so at every opportunity.

B & PW Club, One Of World's Most Powerful Clubs, Has Local Chapter

MRS. IVAN HOWARD

In 1929, 36 charter members formed the Pampa chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Club and chose Mrs. Grace Higgins Pool as the first president.

In 1931, Mrs. Pool went to Geneva, Switzerland, to the first convention of International Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

President Woodrow Wilson requested the organization of B & PW Clubs in 1919, as he found a need for them during World War I.

The local membership of this club now numbers more than 80 and includes several of the charter members.

The B & PW Club, one of the most powerful women's clubs in the world, participates in all civic moves which it considers worthwhile, enters in Red Cross and other drives and backs some legislation.

Current officers are Gladys Howard, president; Bea York, vice president; Mildred Lafferty, recording secretary; Jean Anderson, corresponding secretary; Noel Thompson, treasurer, and Evora Crawford, parliamentarian.

The year's activities will be climaxed with a Mother's Day Breakfast in May. An election of officers will be held in May.

Lefors Art, Civic, Federated In 1938, Has 20 Members

The Lefors Art and Civic club, which now has a membership roster of 20, was organized and federated in 1938.

The new club year began with a buffet supper in the home of Mrs. Earl Atkinson with Mrs. Ray Carruth giving a book review. Course of study for 1950-51 is "Foreign Countries."

Christmas activities of the group included caroling and presentation of baskets of food to several families. A Christmas social was also conducted honoring husbands.

Civic activities of the club were contributions to the Penny Art Fund, cancer and tuberculosis drives. Members also helped with the Red Cross light drive in Lefors.

This week's program was highlighted by "Texas Day," when a study was made of Texas resorts, Girls Town and Boys Ranch.

TRIPLE THREAT—At 24 years of age, Craig Lewis Kaminski has accomplished a three-man job. He is one of very few who have been graduated from Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis., with a 3.976 average out of a possible 4.0. While in school he worked 30 hours a week as a telephone serviceman and still found time to acquire and maintain a family of four. He's pictured holding two-year-old daughter Linda, while his wife, Evelyn, holds Kathleen, 17 months, and Patricia, three years old.

Building Still Setting Record

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — New homes continue to pop up in record numbers. But the test of mortgage credit curbs and growing materials shortages may lie just ahead. And defense housing is still a conversation piece.

The construction industry estimates 160,000 new homes were started in January and February to bring these months well ahead of last year. But the industry insists this was a carry-over from 1950.

A defense housing bill to meet such shortages is now before the Senate, calling for $1.5 billion federal aid as against the $3 billion the President had asked.

The program is the main topic of 700 mortgage, commercial and mutual savings bankers, life insurance officials, builders and real estate men meeting here for the eastern mortgage conference of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

The association is one of the few such national organizations to support the housing bill.

The United States Savings and Loan League, representing 3,700 savings associations interested in home mortgages, urges Congress to keep the government out of the defense housing business until private builders have a chance.

What the league wants instead of a relaxation of home mortgage credit curbs.

Credit controls, says the league, should not be so rigid as "to provide an excuse for construction, ownership and operation of residential housing by the federal government in defense or other areas."

Many builders and retailers go along in opposition to public housing of any sort. They say it discourages private home building.

Financing of veterans' new homes has slowed down little by the tighter credit rules.

Annual formal banquet is scheduled in April when husbands of club members will be honored guests.

Last year, a junior club was organized under the sponsorship of the Lefors Art and Study club.

Las Cresas Club Organized In 1944; Has Full Schedule

The Las Cresas Club was organized in September, 1944, from the Lubbock branch. The club song, "The Yellow Rose," was adopted from "The Waltz You Saved for Me." The colors are gold and white.

The first president was Martha Sue Sheely. Presidents since then have been Jean Beagle, Queen Nelson, Maxine Lane, Margie Lawrence, Mildred Groves, Mary Lou Mazy, Rosamond Allen, Joan Clay, Vina Dittner, Donna Robinson, Berenice Homer, Jan Ethridge, Venita Cowan, Janice Mayes and the current president, Jean McWright.

The club has a "scarecrow dance" every year. The boy is selected for his popularity among club members, and a dance is given in his honor. He is presented an identification bracelet with his name on the front and the name of the club on the back.

The first "scarecrow" last year was Hugh Gracy.

The Los Duenos, former brother club of the war, was disbanded because of the war.

Pledging lasts about six weeks each fall. Rush parties start in late August and continue through most of September. The presentation dance is usually held during the Christmas holidays. Two new members were taken in last fall, Nancy Littleton and Anita Kiff.

A scrapbook of all club activities kept by the club since its inception was started in 1944. At present the club has 16 members: Janice Mayes, Jean McWright, Venita Cowan, Lynn McFall, Dorothy Roberts, Barbara Southard, Betty Kiff, Barbara Overstreet, Jane Prichard, Sally Cobb, Adelaide Williams, Patsy Cargile, Pat Johnson, Janet Weathered, Anita Kiff and Nancy Littleton.

Officers are Jean McWright, president; Venita Cowan, vice president; Janice Mayes, secretary; Barbara Southard, treasurer; Jane Prichard, parliamentarian; Janet Weathered, historian, and Sally Cobb, reporter.

Twentieth Century Club Dates From 1928; Has Self Improvement As Main Purpose

The Twentieth Century Club of Pampa was organized in the home of Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, Jan. 12, 1928, with the object of self-improvement in the study of fine arts, and encouragement and aid in civic improvement in the community.

The club motto selected was "If the People Knew the People Would Do." Charter members were: Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, E. W. Mitchell, W. A. Bratton, James Todd, I. E. Hughey, John Willis, H. D. Lewis, Henry Thut, H. G. Twiford, Raymond Harrah, Joe Smith, A. H. Doucette, Richard Campbell and A. R. Sawyer.

On Feb. 13, 1928, the club gave a silver tea for the purpose of starting a library. A house-to-house canvass was then made for contributions of books or money. A room was furnished by the Methodist Church for the purpose, and club members served as librarians.

Also in 1928, the club sponsored the Girl Scout movement, and in 1929 it organized the Twentieth Century Forum. In 1931 the Twentieth Century Culture Club was organized.

In 1938 members began singing Christmas carols for shut-ins.

The club was instrumental in getting the ordinance forbidding the sale and use of fireworks within the city limits.

Each year three subscriptions of foreign language editions of the Readers Digest are sent to South America, and $5 is given toward a scholarship.

In 1949 another club, the Twentieth Century Allegro, was organized.

Three "Good Citizenship"

October, 1928 Saw Beginning Of Local Rainbow For Girls

The Pampa Assembly of the Order of Rainbow for Girls was constituted October 30, 1928, six years after the degrees were first exemplified in 1922 in the Scottish Rite Temple in McAlester, Okla.

Mark W. Sexton, ordained minister of the Christian Church, organized the order after he studied in European countries and journeyed through Egypt in search of information and further preparation for this contribution to Masonic work.

This junior girl organization unit is sponsored by an advisory board appointed by the presiding officer each year of the Order of The Eastern Star or Masonic Lodge.

The Assembly chartered a bus, with the help of some members of the Pampa Shrine Club, to Grand Assembly at Mineral Wells last year and is working toward that goal again this year. Grand Assembly will be held in Austin sometime in June.

Girls serving the station of work this past year were: Mae Jo Hankhouse, Etta Hainey and Ina Jo Hawthorne. Sue Lynn McFall is the present worthy advisor.

Mrs. Crystal Hankhouse has served for the past year and is still the mother advisor of the Assembly.

Mrs. O. A. Davis is chairman of the Rainbow Advisory Board.

Parent Education's Purpose Is The Welfare Of Children

The Parent Education Club was organized in January, 1940. It is affiliated with the Pampa Council of Clubs and the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The purpose of this club is to promote the welfare of children through a systematic study of practical problems of childhood.

The club colors are orchid and yellow; the club flowers a garden bouquet and the motto "Parenthood is what you make it."

The club is composed of 20 active members and one inactive member. Mrs. Foster Fletcher was the first president.

The 1950-51 officers are Mrs. Frank Kelley, president; Mrs. Gene Fatheree, vice president; Mrs. Joe Key, secretary; Mrs. Ed Williams, treasurer; Mrs. Russell Holloway, parliamentarian; Mrs. R. F. Gordon, reporter and Mrs. John Hines, representative to Council of Clubs.

The club projects have been varied throughout the years since its organization. In 1944-45 money was given to the library for the purchase of children's books. Last year the club helped a needy child to obtain dental care and this year a package of clothing and toys has been sent to an orphanage in Greece and money has been given toward the purchase of school supplies for needy children.

Each year a Christmas party has been given by the Parent Education Club for the children of members when "Santa Claus" presents each child with a gift.

In addition to the regular meetings each year, the club either has a fall breakfast or luncheon, a party for the members' husbands and a guest day tea.

Officers for 1951-52 are Mrs. Gene Fatheree, president; Mrs. Robert Curry, vice president; Mrs. Rex Rose, secretary; M. J. B. Veale, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Kelley, parliamentarian and Mrs. Clinton Evans, reporter.

Dewey Signs Bill Outing Suspects

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey signed today a drastic loyalty bill authorizing quick dismissal or transfer of suspected subversives from "security" jobs in state and local government.

The measure will expire June 30, 1952.

Under the emergency law, appointing officials or agencies of state and local government could transfer or suspend from "security" jobs workers they found to be of "doubtful trust and reliability."

Advice of Her Mother-in-Law Proves Helpful

There are a lot of jokes about mothers-in-law; in fact, comedians just can't seem to perform without making some reference to them. But there are many, many wonderful mothers-in-law in this old world who have the best interest of their sons-in-law and daughters-in-law at heart.

Mrs. W. O. Jones, 724 N. Bell St., Chicago, Ill., can certainly agree to that for when Mrs. Jones wasn't feeling well, her mother-in-law recommended HADACOL. And HADACOL seemed to be just what Mrs. Jones needed, and HADACOL may bring you the relief you are seeking if you are weak and run-down due to lack of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron.

Don't Grab, It's Not Good Taste

NEW YORK — (AP) — Jean Subize, who probably was a Frenchman, had this to say about table manners in 1480: "It is wrong to grab your food with both hands at once; meat should be taken with three fingers, and too much should not be put in the mouth at the same time."

The quotation comes from a pamphlet prepared by Dan D. Defenbacher, director of Walker Art Center, for use with an exhibition showing the evolution of the knife, fork and spoon. The display is open here at the American Museum of Natural History.

Early forks are traced to the Greeks and Romans, and the three-tined fork to a 17th century Italian whose wife nagged him about using his five fingers. The knife is pre-historic, and the first spoons were sea shells and gourds, the booklet said.

Puts The Bee On Bees

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (AP) — A new hand-sized honey refractometer determines in a few seconds the moisture content of honey. Only a few drops of a honey sample are required and direct readings to one-tenth of one percent of moisture can be obtained. The Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. makes the new device.

Here is what Mrs. Jones says: "I am a housewife and mother of three children. I had been feeling very run-down, would tire so easily, and just felt listless. My mother-in-law suggested I take HADACOL, as she had heard of it through friends of hers. I just took it for a few days, when I noticed I was feeling stronger and seemed to have more energy. I continued taking HADACOL and it has certainly built up my strength. I am no longer run-down, don't tire nearly as much. I am now on my sixth large bottle of HADACOL and intend to continue taking it."

HADACOL can help you if you suffer such deficiencies. Ask your druggist for HADACOL today. Only HADACOL gives you that "Wonderful HADACOL feeling."

Three Women Begin Tour Of Europe, Asia

LONDON — (AP) — Three women from Britain, Canada and New Zealand, have taken off from here by car on a 20,000-mile trip across Europe and Asia to New Zealand.

Englishwoman Joan Kingsbury is out to do "something really British in character." Mrs. Eunice Rexinger is going "the long way round" to Toronto, and Miss Josephine Whitehorn is just setting a precedent for women. Countries to be touched include: France, Austria, Turkey, Afghanistan, India, and then by ship to Australia.

Reward Unclaimed By Dissatisfied Tithers

SANTA ANA, Calif. — (AP) — There's $100 on deposit in a bank here which can be claimed by anyone. Anyone, that is, who tries titling for one year and finds that God does not keep his promise to take adequate care of the giver. In five years there have been no claimants.

The Rev. DeWitt Safford, who deposited the money, recently renewed the offer and promised to include the five years' interest.

A tither is one who gives 10 percent of his income to the church. Safford reports his church has 178 tithers out of a communicant membership of 481. None of them, he says, has shown an interest in his $100.

Greenland's ice cap is estimated to cover its island with a 5,000-foot thickness.

The subject of the painting, "Whistler's Mother," was born in North Carolina.

Guns Indicate Indian Battle

BURNET — (AP) — A number of old guns have been found scattered among the boulders of a natural rock fort near this Central Texas town.

Apparently they mark the site of an Indian raid on a camp of white settlers.

Donald Murchison was running his trap lines on the ranch of his father, Oscar Murchison, when he found the guns on the side of a rocky hill.

With the guns were iron cooking utensils and other items. Donald went for help. He returned and gathered nine flint lock rifles of varied size and length, minus stocks long exposed to the weather.

A Spanish axe similar to present day pictures of Spanish tools was found, also a scythe blade, an old wood auger, a pair of steel stirrups but no saddle, a Spanish spur, a bullet-mold, Indian grinding stones used in grinding grain, a cannon ball and various iron pots and a large brass key.

The Murchison family has lived on the ranch for more than 85 years. The presumption is that the equipment was left on the hillside by victims of Indians, or robbers.

The area is rich in Texas history. The Mormons established a settlement near here in the 1850's but later abandoned a water-mill and manufacturing venture. In the early 1870's, a federal fort was established on Burnett's western city limits to help drive off Indians and open the country up for settlement. The granite for the capitol building at Austin and for the Galveston sea wall came from an area west of here. Longhorn Cavern near here was a hangout for both whites and Indians in the last half of the century.

Attorney Victim Of Hard Working Thieves

HOUSTON — (AP) — Attorney Vincent Santamaria, planning to fence in part of his three-acre tract, brought 27 fence posts two weeks ago.

He left the posts lying around in the open. No one took them. This week he had them set deep and solidly in the ground. Digging them up must have been a hard job. But someone did.

PIPING HOT NEWS — Here's a picture of the first practical miniature bagpipe ever made, say in mass production by a Newark, N. J., firm. It's about one-quarter the size of the Scottish instrument, and weighs only nine ounces, being made entirely of plastics. It works just like a real bagpipe, says the maker, who did not say how its music(?) compares with that of the Scottish instrument.

Full Program For Year Planned By Merten HD Club

The Merten Home Demonstration Club completed its twentieth year of club work in January with an active membership of 16. A full program is planned for the coming year.

A special spring project has been selected. Each member is to make a dress by approved methods and wear it to club at the first May meeting. The dresses will be examined, discussed and photographed by the visual aid chairman.

Many members are also making accessories, mostly hats and bags. Two all-day meetings have been held for this purpose.

This year's officers are Mrs. D. A. Rife, president; Mrs. Vardean Smith, vice president; Mrs. Volney S. Day, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. H. H. Threath, council delegate; Mrs. A. M. Nash, reporter and radio; Mrs. John Brandon, parliamentarian; Mrs. C. J. Casselman, recreation chairman; Mrs. C. A. Jones, community service and food chairman; Mrs. Audell Swafford, visual aid and home improvement; Mrs. P. J. ### Bell Home Demonstration Club Is One Of Gray County's Oldest

The Bell Home Demonstration Club, one of the oldest home demonstration clubs in Gray County, was organized in the spring of 1932 with eight charter members. Three of these are still with the club — Mrs. Roland Dauer, H. H. Keahy and Connor O'Neal.

In its 19 years of existence it has grown until it covers all of the Bell Community in the southern part of Gray County. In co-operation with the Extension Service, the club has studied and worked on almost every phase of home management, landscaping, food preparation, sewing, interior decoration and phases of family life and recreation.

In recent years, the club has recognized at the state conventions as the highest ranking home demonstration club in Texas. The

MRS. EMMETT OSBORNE

In 1949, Mrs. T. D. Anderwald worked on the project and with the help of Mrs. D. W. Swain a club was organized. They are still the sponsors of the Bell 4-H Club with nine girls as members. The officers for 1951 are Peggy O'Neal, president; Billie Mae Osborne, vice president; Carolyn Anderwald, secretary-treasurer; Billie Mae Osborne, reporter; Sally Graves, recreation chairman; Olivia Ann Swain, parliamentarian and Council delegate, Johnnie Mae Dauer; other members are Linda Woods, Sarah Weaver, and Martha Anne Duke.

The club has secured a meeting room by securing a building. The club was organized in 1950 it was Mrs. Walter Noel.

There are 23 members on the club rolls with an average attendance of 16 for regular meetings. Six new members have joined the club in the past year. They are Mrs. J. B. Jones, Mrs. Arnold Doss, Mrs. Jack Morris, Mrs. J. W. Cunningham, Mrs. J. W. Gray and Mrs. Harvey Bates.

Mrs. Charles Warminski is chairman of the Gray County 4-H Club work in the community.

ing place and a recreation center for the community. The Bell School was found available and the club has fixed up the building and purchased a hot plate so that community parties could be held on the third Saturday of each month. An oil stove has been donated and serving tables have been built. The club this year has secured a 48 cup coffee maker. Two members serve as hostesses and games are played.

The club members have ordered and have received more than 80 aluminum trays to make later this year.

The club officers for 1951 are president, Mrs. Emmett Osborne; vice president, Mrs. Henry Urbanzyk; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd Collis; parliamentarian, Mrs. Charles Warminski; council representative, Mrs. Joe Keel; council alternate, Mrs. Walter Noel.

Local Leaders are Mrs. T. D. Anderwald and Mrs. H. H. Keahy. All members are working either as chairmen or members of the following committees: year-book, exhibit, finance, recreation, 4-H Club sponsors, marketing, reporter, education and expansion, library, and legislative.

The club has three food demonstrators, Mrs. Walter Noel, Mrs. H. C. Dueterhaus and Mrs. Emmett Osborne; a living room demonstrator, Mrs. Roland Dauer; and two yard or landscape demonstrators, Mrs. Henry Urbanzyk and Mrs. Ernest McKnight. Outstanding club woman of Bell County in 1949 was Mrs. Emmett Osborne, and in 1950 it was Mrs. Walter Noel.

Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid Augments Church

The Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid was organized in October, 1942, to serve as an aid to the Zion Lutheran Church, Church of the Lutheran Hour at 1210 Duncan.

Purpose of the organization is to develop Christian fellowship and cooperation among all women of the Zion Lutheran Church; to foster spiritual development and to increase members' vision and service in the missionary and educational tasks for which the church exists.

To those ends, the local group affiliated with the Lutheran Women's Missionary League on July 27, 1946. This permitted work on an international scale, and it was through this organization that the Pampa club has helped send Bibles, Bible histories, catechisms and communion ware to Europe.

Many families have been adopted and regular gifts have been sent to them. Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid has helped a German family and a Finnish orphanage since 1945. Clothes, food, medicine and vitamin tablets have been sent to the orphanages of Europe as well as money to help defray expenses of broadcasting "The Lutheran Hour," from seven countries on the European continent.

Crafty Churchill Literally Wearing Out The Laborites

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Efforts of Britain's big conservative party, led by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, to bring about the downfall of the Socialist government in the House of Commons have resulted in an amazing battle.

The strategy of the attack involves about the fact that the socialists have a tiny majority of only six votes. If sickness or other causes should result in absences and thus wipe out the Socialist majority, the government's downfall might be brought about by a snap vote of no confidence.

This would result in a general election which the Conservatives believe they could win.

Study Club Formed In 1934 At Wheeler

The Wednesday Study club of Wheeler was organized and federated in the Texas Women's Federated clubs in 1934. Members first met in the basement of the courthouse where they furnished a club room which was used for about four years.

The trick isn't difficult, but it does require full attendance of the Conservatives and eternal vigilance. The idea is to force a debate on every routine matter, thus consuming time and keeping the house in session until it is tired out. It's a sort of American congressional filibuster.

This brings us up to a result of the strategy which the Socialists condemn fiercely as unfair. The ordinary, cheap transportation of London, such as the subway and buses, closes down at midnight. After that you hoof it, take a taxicab or drive your own car.

The Socialists are labor folk and few of them possess automobiles. So when they are kept in Commons until midnight they have no way of getting home except to walk. Many Conservatives, on the other hand, have their car waiting for them when the exhausting sessions are finished.

That, say the labor members, is dirty work at the cross-roads.

However, this conservative strategy is a two-edged knife which cuts both ways. Even if the Tories don't have to walk home, they are mighty tired when the session is over.

Churchill, still full of fight despite his seventy odd years, has declared a battle to the finish. However, it has been reported that he might be willing to compromise with the Socialists and call off the filibuster.

The immediate future may hinge on the fact that the annual budget is due to be presented in the House in about three weeks. That is bound to be bad news for the public, no matter who frames it. Therefore neither side would want to see a general election before budget day.

Thus some observers believe the crucial moment in the battle may come with the presentation of the budget.

HE'S A PERFECT CUT-UP.—What's so unusual about a man cutting out paper dolls? "What's the state of the world being what it is? Well, nothing, except that Giuseppe Baggi of Faenza, Italy, makes his paper and wire characters so artistic that he's able to make a living at it. Baggi has drawn crowds on three continents producing astonishing masterpieces from the simplest materials. He discovered his ability to "cut up" when he was a child.

MERCURY WINS AGAIN IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN!

1951 MERCURY WITH OVERDRIVE IS DECLARED "ECONOMY CAR OF ITS CLASS"

THIS year it's the 1951 Mercury with Touch-O-Matic Overdrive* that won first prize over all other cars in Class "C" in the Mobilgas Economy Run!

Proving its pound-for-pound gasoline economy, this stock Mercury scored amazing 59,868 ton-mile performance over a grueling 840-mile course staked out by the American Automobile Association. Virtually every kind of weather and road condition—7,000-foot ice-ridden mountain passes . . . sweltering, sand-swept roads of Death Valley—put the car to the test. But still, the new 1951 Mercury delivered the best ton-mile gasoline economy of any car in its class.

That's something to think about when you buy a 1951 car. It's good to know the 1951 Mercury can save you money for years to come—no matter where you drive!

As if this amazing economy weren't enough, Mercury also offers new styling that's more than just skin deep. New riding comfort that's designed to give you a smoother ride longer. New value that can't be surpassed by any car on the road today!

Once again the facts have proved it—the new 1951 Mercury is "the buy of your life!" So better drop in at our showroom soon and get the complete story.

*For "the drive of your life," Mercury offers you a triple choice in transmissions: Mercury Drive, the new, sturdier, smoother, more efficient automatic transmission—or thrifty Touch-O-Matic Overdrive are optional at extra cost. There's also silent-cam synchronized standard transmission.

THE STORY: Tim Reese, a crippled veteran, saves the exclusive gown shop "Jean Paul" from bankruptcy with drawings he submits under an assumed name. Tim sought to obtain money for an operation to make him walk, but when this is unsuccessful, he stops dress designing. Jean Roland, one of the partners of Jean Paul (Paul Panciera is the other), finds Tim through Midge, a farm girl, and persuades him to continue designing. Jean even promises to model for him. She goes to the hospital about once a week and creates the illusion that she enjoys the visits, although in private she calls Tim a "morose pink." But at last Jean tells Tim she must go to Europe on business. Tim later tells Midge that he has a problem. "I want to tell her how I feel about her before she goes and I haven't what it takes."

"Midge, you're a wonderful person. You really are." Midge smiled a little smile. "I'd much rather be beautiful." But Tim did not hear her. "No," he said. "I could never do it. I could never find the words." Midge was cool, almost indifferent. "She probably has men all the time telling her they love her, and she's disappointed when they don't." "My, but you're a realist, Midge. I never had any idea you were such a realist. Maybe you should tell her for me." Midge was suddenly angry but she hid her anger carefully as she said, "I have to go now. I made the apple pie. I hope you like it." She turned toward the door.

He did not hear the break in her voice. "Good night, Midge," he said. "What would I ever do without you?" She went out without looking back.

LIFE was all song for Paul Panciera, and the world a bauble for his pleasure, as he planned and prepared for his and Jean's departure for Europe. Business was better than before, and the new fashions he launched from Tim's sketches made him the envy of New York's couturiers. It was an envy he loved. But Jean Roland was not nearly so high-hearted. The image of the young man in the wheel chair and his unhappy face when she told him of her going haunted her. She dreaded the last visit she had to make to the hospital. The night before the morning of the visit she was particularly depressed. "I know he's going to make a scene," she told Mr. Panciera. "He's sure to make a declaration of undying love, and what am I going to do?" "Smile it away, my sweet." Mr. Panciera lounged on the sofa of their apartment, sipping his after-dinner yellow chartreuse and being very indolent and at ease. "Dismiss it with the grace and graciousness with which you've dismissed a thousand mendicants." Jean slowly shook her head. "You don't quite get the picture. If I don't play my part right, I'll hurt him deeply. And if I hurt him, we'll be out of business."

Present officers of the club are Jan Sanders, president; Nancy Patterson, vice-president; Anna Perkins, secretary; Jane Wilson, treasurer; Elaine Ellis and Jewell Moseley, parliamentarians; Jane Hampton, reporter; and Harriet Schwartz, historian. Other members are: Berdene Laycock, Phoebe Osborn, Dolores Miller, Vivian Brake, Clara Parks, Jill Chapman, Sharon Burton, Pam Ketter, Joan Cantrell, Gail Finkelstein, and Judy Nance. Sally Allford, Janice Baker, Carolyn Dial, Virginia Marlow, Christine Pierce, Wynell Westberr, Mary June Montgomery, Norma Qualls, Adelaide Skelly, Greta Miller, Claudette Matheny, Alice Seawright, Phebe Carter, and Marva Sue Stone. Mrs. Russell Cartwright is club sponsor. Kit Kats have chosen Blue and Silver as their organization colors.

XII
MIDGE'S expression did not change as Tim Reese told her that his problem was to tell Jean Roland how he felt about her. "I'm sure she knows already," Midge commented. "It sticks out all over you." Midge had known how frequently Jean had visited the hospital and how Tim had enjoyed her calls. It had been easy for Midge to understand how Tim Reese forgot for a time his crippled body and his anger against the world. Midge approved of this for Tim's sake, but she could not quite bring herself to full approval of the source of the improvement. "She'd never imagine anything so preposterous. Speak of the month and the sun! She'd laugh at me." "Suppose she loved you?" He spoke slowly, meditatively. "You really believe it possible, don't you?" "I always thought love was something that happened. Midge spoke with feeling. "I don't think I'd like it very much if it were something you had to sit down and figure out. I don't think it would be so popular, either."

Tim was genuinely amused.
WHOLESALE ON COMMITTEE
HOUSTON — (AP) — William E. BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — Tar independent newspaper La Prensa. A congressional committee is investigating the paper's affairs. The publication's editor-publisher, Alberto Ganza Paz, has taken refuge at his mother's Uruguay ranch from a 15-day prison sentence on charges of contempt of Congress.

Student Overlooks Flaw In Reasoning
PITTSFIELD, Mass. — (AP) — Eugene Peters, 21, of Ashburnola, Ohio, a law student at Butler University, "blunked" a course in district court yesterday because of a small oversight. The youth produced an involved mathematical formula designed to refute the testimony of police that he was driving 60 miles an hour. Judge Charles Albert interrupted presentation of the formula to ask: "Just what is it your formula will prove?" Peters replied: "It will prove that I was going 33 to 35 miles an hour, not 40 or 60."

Operation Homeless' Is Confronting India
NEW DELHI — (AP) — Operation homeless — counting the thousands of this and every Indian city's pavement dwellers — confronts volunteer workers finishing up the first national census. The census-taker must enumerate the vast floating population of beggars, refugees, and day laborers by torch or candlelight as they huddled in tattered blankets along bazaars and streets.

State To Combat Gangster Threat
JACKSON, Miss. — (AP) — Mississippi is ready to call out its National Guard, if necessary to combat a reported planned migration of gangsters into the state, says Gov. Fielding Wright. Speaking directly to county law enforcement officers, Wright said in a statement yesterday that the state would not become the dumping ground of hoodlums. The governor said he received reports that gangsters were planning to migrate to Mississippi. He told the officers they would call upon every resource, including the National Guard, to combat the migration. Wright said the warning was very timely, but gave no reason why it was issued. ## Kit Kat Klub's Membership Grows From Six To 33

Organized in March, 1939, with six charter members, the Pampa Kit Kat Klub has grown to a group of 33 members today. Its purpose is to further social improvement for better living for the members. Under the original sponsorship of Eugeneia Johnson, Miss Ann Buckler served as first president. The club is not wholly a social organization. It also does civic work such as holding food sales for the March of Dimes. It also holds after-game dances, ruff parties, and rummage sales. Main Kit Kat social functions are the annual presentation dance during the Christmas holidays, club anniversary dinner - dance, the "Bowery Brawl" during March, May graduation dance, and August "back-to-school" dance.

Chess Tourney To Be Staged

LONDON — (AP) — An international chess tournament celebrating 100 years of such affairs will be staged in England starting May 28. Twelve foreign masters and four from Great Britain will play against each other for 28 days for $2,800 in prizes. Although some scholars place the origin of the game of chess as far back as 5,000 or 6,000 years, the first international tournament was not staged until 1851. The event was organized in conjunction with the World Exhibition in London by Howard Staunton, an Englishman then universally acclaimed as the chess champion of Europe.

Doctor Says Decay Stopped By Tobacco

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A government doctor has corroborated a congressman's theory that tobacco chewers suffer fewer tooth cavities than those who abstain from the weed.

Dr. Bruce D. Forsyth, associate chief of the Bureau of Medical Services, Public Health Service, told Rep. Hedrick (D-WVa), a dentist, he has found cases where tooth decay has been arrested from using chewing tobacco.

"We don't know whether it is the tobacco or the cleansing of the teeth by chewing," Dr. Forsyth said.

The health official observed, however, he had seen tobacco chewers whose teeth were "worn right down to the gums by the abrasives in tobacco."

Council Of Clubs Is Clearing House For Federation

The Council of Women's Clubs is composed of 21 women's clubs of Pampa, representing clubs that are organized for intellectual, artistic, civic and moral improvement. Each member club is represented by the president and one elected representative of each club. Meetings are held the first Thursday of each month in the club rooms.

The city set aside one reception room and adjoining kitchen for use by the club women of the Council; these rooms are furnished by the Council and constitute a meeting place of all member clubs. A calendar is maintained and the rooms are reserved for regular meetings.

The Council of Clubs is a clearing house for all major projects of its member clubs, as well as serving to promote cooperation among the club women of the city. During the current year the clubs have cooperated in house-to-house collections for the March on Polio and the Red Cross.

A lot on which to build a club house was donated to the Council last year by J. W. Garman and Wm. T. Fraser. The Council is now in the process of incorporation, and when this is completed further plans will be inaugurated for the building of the club house.

The Council is currently sponsoring the organization of the League of Women Voters, and also the county unit organization of the Texas Economy Commission, with Mrs. J. W. Garman serving as chairman of both groups.

Officers for this club year are Mrs. Finis Jordan, president; Mrs. J. G. Morrison, vice president; Mrs. George Cree, Jr., secretary; Mrs. Billy Davis, Treasurer; Mrs. J. R. Holloway, Parliamentarian. Committee Chairmen are: Mrs. Harry Hoyer, Telephone; Mrs. Bruce Pratt, Calendar; Mrs. M. M. Moyer, Refurbishing; Mrs. J. W. Garman, Project; Mrs. Roy Chisum, Representative to Girl Scout Board.

Full Program Is Slated For Year By Sub Deb Club

Sigma Delta Sub-Deb Club, consisting of 19 members and two sponsors, has had a very full program this year. Meeting once a week on Tuesday night at club members' homes, various activities have been planned and enjoyed.

Besides parties they have already had two food sales, held with the Polio Drive, sent a CARE package, and sold "mums" for football games with Amarillo, Borger and Plainview. A "must" for this club is attending church once a month in a group. Two joint meetings have been held with their brother club, The Esquires, at the home of Lee Fraser.

Rush parties included a Chinese dinner at the home of Lynn Cornelius, a Mexican dinner by Charlotte and Jean Hendricks, Coke party by Marlene Leder, slumber party by Betty Howard, Western party by Shirley Beard, and Donna Conley, Delores McAdams, Virginia Jones, and Jo Anne Bennett entertained with a traveling dinner.

New members Yoby Holly, Sue Stewart, Beverly Rogers, and Barbara Smith were admitted at the formal initiation at Ann Sidwell's home on Oct. 29, 1960.

Sub-Debs were hostesses to a football dance, Dec. 2, after the Pampa - Borger game; held their "snowball presentation" dance, Dec. 21; had a Christmas party at the home of Charlotte and Jean Hendricks, Dec. 12; a "sock hop" dance, March 3. Their annual "shipwreck" dance is to be held April 14 in the Palm Room, entertaining the Esquires and Sub-Debs and their dates.

A mother's day tea is to be held sometime in May at the home of Mrs. Bob Tripphorn, the senior sponsor, for Sub-Debs and their mothers. Mrs. Lee Moore is their junior sponsor.

Club officers are Jean Hendricks, president; Sue Stewart, vice president; Charlotte Hendricks, secretary-treasurer; Joar Lunsford, historian and reporter.

Committee Urges Order Suspended

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson has been urged by a Senate committee to suspend an order barring use of aluminum in some 200 items after April 1.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala), in a letter to Wilson which he said represented the views of the Senate Small Business Committee, called the order "ill considered." He said it will put many small and medium sized manufacturers out of business.

Sparkman urged that Wilson suspend the order for at least 30 days "to permit further consideration and study."

New Fabrics Take On Excitement Of Spring Season

New fabrics take on moods as make scintillating fashion news exciting and varied as the new season itself.

Some have faces rugged and fresh as saplings with tiny green leaves. Others are smooth and silky as a just-cropped lawn after a rainstorm. Some have as many outlooks as there are Spring flowers. And others come in from across the sea with an air as refreshing as the sound of the winds' first caress of leaf-dressed trees.

Suit and coat fabrics have nublier, slubber weaves inviting the contrast of smooth eliks and crisp taffetas. There are new soft jerseys with novel open work patterns and boucles that are wondrous to the touch as they are to the look. The warm hued colors of rich fleeces and smooth sueded

Supple, thick, stiff or thin, it's silk and the silken-look that leads the way for dresses this season. Silk taffetas, silk organdies, luxurious pure silk prints, crepey silks all are included in the world of silk new dresses live in. And right along with this luxurious fabric are complementary touches of velvet, self-color and contrasting braid and ball fringe.

Scouts Back From Four-Day Journey

Eleven senior scouts of Post 80 returned Monday night from a four-day trip to Possum Kingdom.

Those making the trip were DeWayne Koontz, George Depee, Gilbert Berry, Derrell Coffman, Bill Campbell, Dean Ward, Don Burns, Harold Lewis, Marshall, Nelson, Jo Clyde McWilliams and Billy Conklin.

Bob Zimmaman, local resident, accompanied the group as counselor.

Says Barbara Hutton Happy With Status

NEW YORK — (AP) — Barbara Hutton is not negotiating now for a divorce, and has ceased trying whether she gets one right away or not, her attorney said.

The attorney, Samuel L. Hartman, said he could "certainly give no credence" to a lawyer's statement in Cuernavaca, Mexico, that talks are going on here for a settlement for her husband, Prince Igor Toubetsky.

"The princess is perfectly happy and contented with things the way they are," Hartman said. "She is entirely indifferent and unconcerned about the divorce matter anymore."

Tamba's Successor Grooms For TV Sets

VENTURA, Calif. — (AP) — A new star is being groomed to take the place of Tamba, the chimpanzee who won fame in the movies as "Bonzo."

Tamba died recently in a fire at the World Jungle Compound near here.

Billy Richards, co-owner of the compound where animals are trained for professional appearances, said the new chimp star's name is Peggy. She is four years old and came from Liberia on the same ship that brought Tamba.

Peggy starts work this week before television cameras.

EL PROGRESSO CLUB MEMBERS AT CHRISTMAS PARTY

El Progresso Has Distinction Of Being Pampa's Oldest Federated Club

El Progresso has the distinction of being the oldest Federated Women's Club in Pampa. It was on January 23, 1923, that a small group of women met in the home of Mrs. W. R. Silvey, and discussed their need of a study club. At this time the initial organization was set up and in several subsequent meetings this organization was completed. Application for charter was made to the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and accepted within two weeks of the first organizational meeting.

The names of pioneer Pampans are familiar in the list of charter members. In addition to Mrs. Silvey, there were Mmes. John Andrews, George Walstad, P. C. Ledrick, H. L. Ledrick, C. P. Hunkapillar, L. C. McMurry, G. P. Buckler, William Craven, E. D. Hobart, Arch Cole, C. C. Cooke, V. A. Fatheree, Dave Pope, W. Purviance and Siler Faulkner. Four of these charter members are on the present list of active members: Mmes. Walstad, P. C. Ledrick, C. P. Buckler, and Dave Pope.

The object of El Progresso Study Club is the mutual improvement of its members, to encourage the habit of reading and study, and to promote social activity.

In the first year of its organization, besides the regular study course, the club conducted a story-telling hour for children during the vacation months. Through the years, the study courses have been varied, stressing subjects of most interest to women and following the departmental subjects of Federated Clubs.

As Pampa grew, the need was felt for other clubs, and some of the charter members of El Progresso were instrumental in organizing them. In 1927, El Progresso cooperated in the organization of a part-time library conducted by members of all the study groups, and from this beginning was developed the Pampa City Library.

Each year, El Progresso sponsors a book shower for the library, thus assisting the library in a very large way financially.

Other projects through the years have been contests for beautiful gardens and yards, assistance in the Negro school and nursery, and support of all Council of Clubs and civic projects.

Regular meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, either in the homes of members or in the City Club Room in the city hall. In addition to the regular study meetings, there are each season several social meetings which are open for guests.

El Progresso officers this past year have been Mrs. G. L. Dauner, president; Mrs. Hardy W. Pitts, vice president; Mrs. Knox Kinard, secretary; Mrs. George Walstad, treasurer; Mrs. Edgar Henshaw, parliamentarian; Mrs. John O. Pitts, reporter; Mrs. Grundy Morrison, Council of Clubs representative; and Mrs. D. V. Burton, Federation counselor.

The 1951-52 officers-elect are Mrs. Henry Tyler, president; Mrs. Knox Kinard, vice president; Mrs. Malcolm Wyatt, secretary; Mrs. Carlton Nance, treasurer; Mrs. Orion Carter, parliamentarian;

Three Children Drown In Canal

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Three children in one family drowned in a canal near here late yesterday.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ahern, identified them as Victor, 12; Sylvia, 10; and Clarence, 8.

Families living on the canal said the children were seen playing on a concrete bridge Monday afternoon. They usually wait at that hour to meet their father, who works on a nearby farm.

Constable Bruce Wheeler theorized that one of the children fell into the eight-foot canal and the other two drowned while trying to rescue the first.

All Women Members Of First Christian Church Eligible To Join Fellowship

All women who are members of the First Christian Church are eligible for membership in the Fellowship. Our average attendance runs around 45 members. We have six study groups with an average active membership of 14. The groups meet each first Wednesday and the Fellowship meets each third Wednesday of the month. The purpose of Fellowship is to develop the womanhood of the church in a united program of worship, missions, education, fellowship, and service to the end that Christ may be exalted in the home, the church, the community, the nation, and the whole world. Our Fellowship is a member of the Pampa Council of Church Women, in which we take an active part. The vice president of that organization is Mrs. B. M. Enloe. This year on World Community Day our Fellowship gave 145 knitted garments for overseas relief.

The officers of our Fellowship are: Mrs. R. A. Mack, president; Mrs. H. J. Pickett, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Leland Finney, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. C. L. Mason, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. H. C. Groninger, Worship Chairman. The groups are under the leadership of the following women: Group I, Mrs. H. J. Pickett; Group II, Mrs. Russell Lindsey; Group III, Mrs. C. H. Darling; Group IV, Mrs. Morris Enloe; Group V, Mrs. Leland Finney; B & P.W. Group, Mrs. D. V. Burton.

Twentieth Century Culture Club Is Completing 20 Years In Federation

MRS. FRED NESLAGE

The Twentieth Century Culture Club of Pampa is completing its 20th year as a Federated club. The club was organized on June 23, 1931, under the sponsorship of the Twentieth Century Club, with Mrs. L. N. McCullough as its first president. The club chose the motto "Diffused knowledge immortalizes itself."

One of the charter members, Mrs. F. E. Leech, is still active in the club as an honorary member. Present members who have taken an active part in the work of the Seventh District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs are Mrs. H. H. Hahn and Mrs. M. P. Downs. Mrs. Hahn served as secretary of seventh district for two years, and is mothercraft chairman for this year. Mrs. Downs is a past chairman of Legislation for seventh district. Mrs. Myles Morgan is a past president of the Pampa Council of Clubs.

MRS. GEORGE SCOTT

This year's programs for the club have followed the theme "Rebuilding the American Home." As wives and mothers, we have accepted the challenge that the American home is our heritage and the foundation of our nation's integrity for the future.

The officers for this year have been Mrs. E. L. Henderson, president; Mrs. G. L. Craddock, vice president; Mrs. J. D. Merchant, secretary; Mrs. Leslie Hart, treasurer; Mrs. L. N. Atchison, parliamentarian; Mrs. Rufe Jordan, reporter; Mrs. Jeff Bearden, representative to council.

Officers elected to serve for 1951-1952 include Mrs. M. K. Griffith as president, Mrs. Myles Morgan, vice president; Mrs. Leslie Hart, secretary; Mrs. Joe Donaldson, treasurer; Mrs. L. J. Zachry, parliamentarian; Mrs. Curtis Billings, reporter; and Mrs. Doyle Osborne, representative to council.

Mrs. M. E. Cooper, Mrs. J. L. Chase, Mrs. M. P. Downs, Mrs. H. H. Hahn, Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, Mrs. Cameron Marsh, Mrs. E. E. Stelhamer and Mrs. Fred Thompson complete the active membership.

Inactive members are Mrs. L. N. Atchison, Mrs. E. D. Carver, Mrs. Huey Laycock and Mrs. Earle Scheig.

Korean War Costly In American Arms

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — The Korean war is now nine months old. It is a good time to take stock of the situation. What have been the profits and losses of this campaign that may be the seed of the third world war — as optimists hope — the least of all international wars? What are the prospects of ending it? So far the losses have been military and the profits — if any — have been political.

It has been the fourth bloodiest war in United States history. The American casualties are nearing the 60,000 mark. That is more than three full combat divisions. It is more than the population of Abilene, Texas. It is more than were required to gain American independence, to defeat Mexico, to win the west from the Indians, or to beat Spain and free Cuba.

Yet these are only a fraction of the casualties suffered by Korean civilians, South and North Korean soldiers, and Chinese "volunteer" troops. They total far above 500,000.

The war has cost the American taxpayer billions of dollars. He probably will be asked to put up billions of dollars more to rebuild Korea when the sound and the fury of battle die away.

After all this expenditure of sweat, blood, time and money where do the rival armies stand? About where they did when the war began last June 25. Was it all worth while? Politically, the answer seems to be yes. A wall of force finally has been built against the spread of communism. The prestige of the United Nations has grown. The prestige of Red China — and Red Russia, too — has fallen. The power of American arms has been magnified tremendously, and world faith in that power has risen.

What of the future? China might be able to force the present United Nations army out of Korea if she threw in 1,000,000 more trained men. But there is no sign she wants to pay that price to make good her boast to throw the allies off the peninsula. Could she actually keep them supplied?

A military stalemate or a diplomatic compromise therefore still appear to be the most likely possibilities.

In either case unhappy Korea probably will be garrisoned by foreign troops for a long time to come.

One reason is the leader of the Republic of Korea — 76-year-old Syngman Rhee. He has spent most of his life trying to achieve a united Korea. He is determined to do it heedless of the cost.

So long as he is in power it is hard to see how the United Nations and China can withdraw their forces and agree to restore the old situation — a North and South Korea divided by an artificial boundary such as the 38th Parallel.

American military advisors feel that if such an agreement were made and all foreign troops withdrew President Rhee would launch his own army across that frontier to extend the sway of his government over the entire country.

"That is why we helped him build an army of 100,000 after the last war instead of the army of 300,000 he asked for," recalled one advisor. "We were afraid that if he had an army of 300,000 he would attack across the 38th Parallel — just as the

Lady Marine Finds Mask Saves Wedding

SANTA ANA, Calif. — (AP) — Barbara Moore, a lady Leatherneck at nearby El Toro Marine base, never dreamed she'd need a gas mask to get married. But one of the gadgets averted a postponement of her marriage to overseas-bound Pfc. Robert Daniels.

The couple were to be wed two days before Daniels shoved off. Just before the ceremony, the bride-to-be discovered her barracks locked and sealed with her trousseau inside while a fumigating crew was filling the building with gas. In resourceful Marine tradition, Miss Moore borrowed a workman's gas mask, waded in and recovered her trousseau. The wedding was only slightly delayed.

Communists did themselves last year.

Unless the Chinese do launch a last do-or-die offensive, this is the best bet:

Major fighting will end soon, the Communists will hold a big chunk of the upper part of the Korean peninsula, and the United Nations will retain strong token forces in South Korea to guard a restless peace. And Syngman Rhee will end his days an embittered man.

Only six monarchies still exist in Europe. They are Denmark, Great Britain, Greece, Norway, Sweden, and the Netherlands.

Varietas Study Club Displays Interest In General Welfare Of The Community

MRS. DOW KING

Organized and federated in 1927, the Varietas Study Club has displayed an interest in civic affairs and in the general welfare of the community.

The course of study for 1950-51 is "Women of Today," which was chosen by club members who thought that the study of women who have achieved prominence in national and international affairs and in the fields of art, education and science, would enrich not only their own lives, but would also inspire them to become better homemakers. The knowledge of the lives of prominent women, it is believed, would also aid club members in working for better community living and living in the world at large.

Club motto is "Woman's place is in the home and the walls of her home include the world."

During the 23 years of its existence, the club has participated in many community projects.

In keeping with this year's theme of "Looking toward tomorrow in better community living," the club has chosen as its project the planting of 12 red bud trees in the new park east of Sam Houston school.

Fifty books were given by the club to the Highland General Hospital library in 1950. Another club project was the refilling and refashioning of the sand boxes in Lions park.

Club members have participated in nearly all civic affairs and worked as hostesses during the tuberculosis survey. Members also took part in the mothers march for the polio fund campaign and collected $380 to aid the project.

Other organizations which have benefited from Varietas Club activities include Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Red Cross.

The club subscribed to the Texas Club Woman 100 percent and was represented at both district and state conventions. The Texas clubwomen honored the Varietas Club by giving it honorable mention for its program on citizenship that was sent to headquarters library in Austin.

For Federation Day the club conducted a tea in the City Club Room with Mrs. James A. Allen, district president, as speaker. Presidents from all clubs in the city were guests.

Activities of the club were not confined to the community, however, for two boxes containing school supplies, toys and food were sent to an orphanage in Greece and five of the club members are corresponding with women in South America.

Officers for the coming year are: president, Mrs. Dow King; vice president, Mrs. H. P. Doster; secretary, Mrs. R. W. Lane; treasurer, Mrs. Sherman White; library chairman, Mrs. J. C. McWilliams; parliamentarian, Mrs. F. E. Inel; Council of Clubs reporter; Mrs. E. J. Haslam.

Present officers include: president, Mrs. C. L. McKinney; vice president, Mrs. Dow King; secretary, Mrs. Frank Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Kirchner; parliamentarian, Mrs. Loyse Caldwell; library chairman, Mrs. H. P. Hampton; Council of Clubs reporter, Mrs. Ralph Thomas; reporter, Mrs. Henry Butler.

Other club members are Mmes. J. G. Doggett, S. C. Evans, Lee Harrah, Horace McBeck, Luther Pierson, J. C. Vollmert, J. G. Cargile.

LA ROSA CLUB OFFICERS

La Rosa Sorority Is A Former Girl Scout Troop

The La Rosa Sorority was organized by a group of Girl Scouts who had been together for some time and did not wish to disband. They chose the name La Rosa, which means one rose.

The red rose is the club flower and their song is "One Rose." Red and white are the club colors.

Summer activities include slumber parties and parties to entertain new rushees. The club usually entertains the outgoing seniors with a social. Dances and parties are also given during the fall.

Veterinary Control Of Mastitis Is Seen

OSLO — (AP) — Effective veterinary control may reduce cases of mastitis — a glandular infection of the cow's udder — to the vanishing point in less than a year, experiments here show.

Dr. Ottar Bratlie, head of the State Institute for Mastitis Research in Oslo, says the institute has succeeded in wiping out mastitis in the Lesja area during the ten month period from March 1950 to February 1951.

The infected cattle are given penicillin and the cow sheds are thoroughly disinfected.

BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — The Argentine transportation ministry has put the toll in yesterday's crash of a government-operated passenger plane in Southern Argentina at 11 dead and eight injured — all those aboard.

The plane, a Douglas DC-3 of the Argentine Airlines, cracked up on the outskirts of the town of Rio Grande, in the barren Tierra Del Fuego region, while on a regularly scheduled flight to Buenos Aires.

The dead included three of the four-man crew and eight of the 15 passengers.

Miss Truman Signs Contract With NBC

NEW YORK — (AP) — Margaret Truman's often-reported contract with the National Broadcasting Co. has been signed.

The network announced yesterday that the President's daughter had signed for two more radio or television appearances this season and at least nine in the 1951-52 season.

NBC did not disclose how much Miss Truman will be paid. But it previously was reported unofficially that she would get $2,500 for each radio show and $4,000 for each TV appearance.

The Pot And The Kettle

A couple of months ago, the administration clapped its hands to its forehead and told the nation: "Goodness gracious! We are having inflation. This is an exceedingly dangerous situation and we are going to do something about it."
What the administration did was to curtail certain kinds of "credit."

Private lending institutions were told that borrowers must up the ante of their down payments on such items as homes and automobiles and hard goods. For example, the FHA used to require a borrower to put up a down payment of $4250 to build or buy a $17,000 home. Now, said the administration, a down payment of $5900 would be required.

Automobile loans and appliance loans were subjected to larger down payments and the term of the contract was cut. In other words, credit was "tightened."

While the whole show was not up to its advance advertising. It was something of a razzle-dazzle to distract the eye of the audience while the magician pulled the rabbit out of his coat. The administration didn't tell the nation that government-controlled agencies are the foremost and largest grantors of credit in the world.

There are no "controls" over them, either. Mike and Eric and Charles have to keep their mitts off these special babies. By June of 1952, wholly-government lending agencies will have the authority to grant credit up to $81.5 billion.

That will be $200,000,000 more than the total of all American banks loans outstanding Dec. 31. In a word—credit "controls" apply to less than one-half the total volume of loans available to the American people, and their clarity clients abroad.

So, these "credit controls" and "anti-inflationary measures" are double phantasies. In a practical sense, all credit is a government monopoly. As we pointed out a few days ago, private bank credit is an instrument of this state credit system. Banks are permitted to exist only under certain government regulations. Their deposits are used by the government to debase the power of the dollar. Their interest rates, contract terms and their very capitalization and holdings are limited and controlled by government edict.

That is the situation of what we like to think of as "private" lending institutions. And, far above any combination of these banks is the ability of the government to print money and distribute it. It can finance a Kaiser, or a Lustron. It can even further inflation so that its dollars are able to repay the debtors they have borrowed, thus making a great show of soundness of the government's loans.

Fair Enough-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The suppression of La Prensa, one of the oldest newspapers in the world, by the Peron government of Argentina, is deplored in the United States by elements who have not seriously opposed an apparatus capable of producing the same result here.

The Newspaper Guild, of the CIO, has waged strikes which differed only in detail from the strike which paralyzed La Prensa. The strikes against the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and the New York World-Telegram and Sun are cases in point. The Guild has partisan political policies and programs and has been, since its beginning, in debt and committed to the ruling political party. Government papers opposed that party.

La Prensa's own workers were not on strike, but other unions devoted to the Peron government refused to handle the paper for delivery or sale and even refused to handle its accounts in banks. That is the familiar practice in the United States. Last summer, when a sufficient number of non-guild editorial workers signified their desire to continue to turn out the paper, the New York World-Telegram and Sun was shut down by a group of other unions in violation of their contracts.

All these unions are political arms of the Democratic party. In the Seattle case, Heywood Brown, a fellow-traveler of the Communists, who had his own version of Roosevelt's charming condescension toward the inferior orders, pulled a strike for the sole purpose of tearing the power of his new Communist front. The Guild then was in the American Federation of Labor, it soon became plain to Dave Beck, of Seattle, the regional tyrant satrap of the Teamsters' Union, that the Guild was in for a licking and, at Brown's request, he surrounded the plant with his memorable "living wall" of goons. That was the introduction of that descriptive word to our language as a name for brutal, threatening union thugs.

Beck's "living wall" so well intimidated the editorial workers who desired to continue at their jobs that the goons "won" the strike. An innumerable number of unwilling editorial workers were thus delivered into political thrall. Some years later, when Brown had taken his Guild into the C.I.O., double-crossing the A.F. of L. unionists, who had helped him in the past, he led a double-crossing thousands of newspaper workers, too. Mr. Beck referred to Brown as "one of those damned amateurs" in the union business. He said he had pulled him out of a hole of his own digging. Mr. Beck had advised Brown against his strike but had rallied his men to save the fledgling editorial union.

It is entirely possible that by the time this column sees the light of day Ambassador O'Dwyer will not be ambassador to Mexico, but merely plain Mr. O'Dwyer. While I feel that he has no more right to continue as our representative to Mexico than I have of being first string catcher of the New York Yankees, I cannot help but feel a bit sorry for the big Irishman.

Consider all the time and trouble it cost him to get ready for the ambassadorial post. Clothes, for instance. All those striped pants, striped coats, striped shoes and striped hats on his back and call. Anyone who has a agency of the first, second, third or fourth hours of standing on first one leg and then the other. Hours of standing with a pipe in your mouth and a chalk like a two-legged blackboard.

All this ambassadorial haberdashery must have cost a sizeable chunk of money, too. Of course, if Mr. Crane's testimony is true, and all Mr. O'Dwyer had to do to get $10,000 was to stroll out on the porch and look toward the heavens as if looking for the Big Dipper, then the cost of the clothes doesn't matter. Boning up on protocol must have been a chore for O'Dwyer, too. I have never been an ambassador, but I have read enough to know that the job entails a great deal of knowledge of protocol. Such things as who leads the way into a fish fry, whether or not it is proper to smoke a pipe while a toast is being drunk, who gets the only seat at a crowded sofa fountain, and should the "little guy" be the guest of honor, can be danced at lawn parties.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

"In Search of Peace" I want to quote from a very interesting booklet written by F. A. Harper under the heading of "In Search of Peace." It has just been published by the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York. It certainly is a timely subject. People should make some study as to what has a tendency to promote peace and good will.

In the first part of the booklet Mr. Harper observes as follows: "While all these banners and alignments of nations have been shifting back and forth as with the changing winds, the liberty of the people in our haven of liberty has been constantly eroding, until it now has reached the lowest point in the history of this nation."

"It makes one feel as if he were being whirled through space until he has lost all sense of direction." Under the heading "The Cause of Conflict" the author makes this statement: "Only if we identify the cause of conflict can we keep it at a minimum, and prevent its growth into war."

"The cause of conflict is the moral delinquency that allows infringement on liberty and on the rights of men; it is that alone. If liberty were complete, and if each person were to restrict himself to what is his proper scope and concern, there would be no conflict. What would there be to fight about if liberty were thus universal?"

"Conflict arises when freedom of choice is restricted. If one is free to choose his work and his leisure, to use what he produces and to spend what he earns, to select his own associates, and to choose in all other aspects of his life, he does not have to fight his way out of anything or to maneuver around restrictions and repression beyond those of his own conscience. This concept may be tested on the everyday conflicts we know best—with one's child, with one's neighbors, in community affairs, between employer and employee. In every instance it is some prohibition, or control, or monopoly that gives rise to conflict. These are the things which prohibit free choice and which therefore generate conflict."

"Stated bluntly, conflict results from slavery in some form or degree—the violation of rules which are essential to the well-being of war—all conflict—are exclusively problems of abolished liberty. Thus the prevention of war, or of the threat of war, must take the form of cutting the bonds on liberty wherever they exist. "Peace will exist only as liberty is increased in all its forms among individuals throughout the world. There is no other road to peace. This means that any building up of power anywhere in the world in any of its forms, and which are essential to the well-being of war—all conflict—are exclusively problems of abolished liberty. Thus the prevention of war, or of the threat of war, must take the form of cutting the bonds on liberty wherever they exist."

Maybe That's Why They're Called 'Reds'

"National Whirligig" There are mixed ideas about "constructive" and "destructive" writing. Of course some of us seem to be "tearing the hide off someone's back" every so often but this is not necessarily "destructive." It depends upon the circumstances and the issues involved.

Even in the Bible I notice that while Christ's followers were not to indulge in "pervasive disputings of men," there is a difference between "pervasive" disputes and honest, truth-seeking ones, for St. Paul himself entered certain synagogues and "disputed" while Jude 3 flatly recommends "earnestly contending for the faith once delivered unto the saints." The Christian is told not to engage in "doubtful disputation."

There is nothing "doubtful" either about "sound doctrine" or freedom—the power of choosing—which God has given to every man. There is nothing doubtful about the true principles of the Declaration of Independence and the right of individual independence that great document exemplifies. Therefore, when any man or group of men or organizations or governments attack those principles other men are fully justified in defending them and contending for them against their would-be destroyers.

This column has never at any time initiated force or advocated the starting of force against any human. It has, however, occasionally "torn the hide off someone's back" who did start or advocate starting force.

Have we ever advocated kidnapping—that is, legal kidnapping? No, kidnapping is wrong, whether one man or a hundred million men practice it. Have we ever advocated communism and Roosevelt enthusiasm? Moreover, he leaned backward to prove himself impartial, if not condemnatory, toward a fellow bully and bear on the Street.

Came after him such zealous as Jerome Frank, now a federal judge, and William O. Douglas, now a member of the Supreme Court. They kept Wall Street in a turmoil with their strict enforcement of the letter and spirit of the regulatory laws.

CONNECTIONS — During the late war years, and especially under the Truman Administration, few top men would accept appointments to this agency. Minor officials and executives in Wall Street firms, however, were glad to accept the assignments. For service on SEC has now become an apprenticeship to a high-salaried position with their old firms or with the exchange in New York. Three former commissioners left in recent years to assume partnerships in Wall Street firms they once regulated.

THEY'RE CALLED "REDS" — The most recent SEC beneficiary of Wall Street's favors is Edward T. McCormick. He has just been named president of the New York Curb Exchange, with an annual salary of $40,000 and unlimited expenses. Harry A. McDonald, chairman of SEC, is understood to be in line for the presidency of the New York Stock Exchange, which pays $100,000 a year. Meanwhile, his son and brother operate exchange firms that fall under his jurisdiction.

In the vote on whether the Commission should take jurisdiction over the proposed sale of private utility properties in Washington, as a means of protecting the communities and consumers involved, McCormick and McDonald took the position that the SEC had no right to intervene. A third member, which also helps to explain Congressional curiosity, disqualified himself because he had been associated with one of the utility firms involved in the controversy.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The startling success on and off television of the Kefauver and Fulbrigha investigations have led several members of the Senate to propose a sweeping inquiry into the operations of a federal agency which has so far escaped the annoyance or curiosity of Capitol Hill—namely, the Securities and Exchange Commission, which is supposed to regulate the bulls and bears of Wall Street.

The demand for a look-see is based on a growing suspicion that the SEC has become too friendly with and sympathetic toward the interests it is charged with watchdogging. In enforcing the Holding Company Act, which requires parent firms to get rid of their operating companies, it has been reported that the SEC is permitting huge profits to the original owners and promoters at the expense of the public, especially in the utility field.

SALE — In a recent deal involving the proposed sale of the Washington Power Co. of Washington State to public utility districts, it refused to intervene or to supervise the transaction. It was asked to interfere because of reports that the excessive price to be paid for the property would mean a loss of taxes to the communities involved, and higher utility rates to the customers.

BAR — The SEC split two-to-two on the question. The anti-intervention members contended that the Holding Company Act barred them from taking jurisdiction when sale of private utilities to public bodies, local, state or national, was involved. But two members, after consulting counsel, decided that the federal act was no bar to SEC intervention.

Members of Congress, who know all the details, feel that the SEC should have taken control of this questionable transaction, thus forcing a court challenge of their action and a judicial interpretation of the basic law. In failing to do so, the charge is made that the SEC "sold out to the boys in Wall Street." And some of the accusers are Wall Street "big shots" themselves.

TRUTH — The SEC was one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's flaming reforms, and one which gave him great personal pleasure, for he had never been a shining success in downtown Manhattan. In explaining its purpose at a press conference, he exulted in the fact that he was proclaiming a new doctrine in the "temple of the money-changers."

"It is to be," he grinned, "one of 'Let the seller beware' instead of 'Let the buyer beware.' (He, of course, quoted the Latin versions of both warnings.) When Wall Street sells stocks and bonds from now on, it must tell the truth about the value of its wares."

ZEALOTS — The original SEC members were crusaders, with Joseph P. Kennedy, a multimillionaire trader himself, as the first chairman. But "Joe" was then a great "New Deal idealist" used to identify it early in life as later.

Q—My child had whopping cough several weeks ago. She was given aureomycin capsules but still has a little cough. Is this unusual?
Reader
A—Aureomycin is apparently a pretty good treatment for whopping cough, but it is not surprising that the cough hangs on for a while as that is characteristic.

Q—What is mastitis? Will it lead to more serious complications?
Mrs. R. E.
A—Mastitis means inflammation of the breast. There are several varieties but recovery occurs in almost all if properly treated (which sometimes means no treatment at all). Mastitis does not increase the chances of cancer to any important degree.

Men and maids of Music: Are you a rapt admirer of long-haired music? Do you believe the great divas and tenors are not as ordinary persons?
Pull up a chair and let's get down to cases. Patrice Munsel sang a recent Metropolitan Opera performance of "Die Fledermaus" with a sponge rubber pillow in her bustle because the inflated bustler sprang a leak. The same Miss Munsel once captained an all-girl football team in Spokane. Martha Lipton was once a life guard and swimming instructor at a girls' camp.

Kayton Nesbitt, San Francisco Opera Company tenor, built muscles up by being West Coast fencing champ. Pulpury measures—from vaccination to income taxes? Hardy. Have we ever advocated any form of taxation to compel people to pay for service they do not want or use? Have we ever advocated stealing from any man, other directly or by sending the sheriff to confiscate his property through non-payment of taxes? Have we advocated closed shops, compelling men to join unions and split their earnings with labor bosses?

Have we advocated communion of church and state or legislative bodies passing legislation to govern others according to THEIR ideas? In fact, is there one single, solitary thing this column has advocated that would in any way deprive a man of his personal liberty or force the rule of others, whether a dictator or a majority of voters, upon him? On the contrary, this column has invariably advocated exactly the opposite of all of these totalitarian or collective liberty-destroying things and has championed the right of every free American to live his own life the way he wants to live without let or hindrance, so long as he doesn't overstep the rights of others and harm them.

Sometimes defense of the principle of freedom has necessitated tearing the hide off someone's back but only because the writer was convinced that the person or group or government was, openly or subversively, attempting to tear down the rights of man. The hide-tearing was a matter of defense—never unprovoked aggression. I honestly believe that the worst that can be said of this column and some of the papers which run it is that they have "played rough" with men, measures and institutions which threaten liberty. That is hardly a serious crime, is it? It seems to me that if more people would do that we would all have more liberty—and with it more happiness. If that isn't CONSTRUCTIVE I should like to know what is.

What is more, in the spirit of charity I have not harbored any personal hatred for men or measures it has been necessary to discuss critically. I have made mistakes we all do—but I've tried to be strictly honest. In blistering Kirby Page, for instance, I had no desire to be vindictive. Page was trying to put over socialism in the churches under the guise of being a minister of the Gospel. What he advocated was the starting of force and his system would lead to slavery. He was the spokesman. He was doing the attacking by undermining freedom. I simply "earnestly contended," that's all.

I believe that the Roman church government attacks freedom. I protest. Monopolies attack freedom. I defend it. Brownback labor bosses attack freedom. I oppose them. The National (Federal) Council of churches has attacked freedom. Again, I protest. What's wrong with that?

Who ever found a rich actor? The top money career—life of an actor—is something like five years. It's worse than in the baseball business. But producers, directors and writers go on forever. Actresses want to marry them.

Lots of Preparation Needed To Take Ambassadorship

By HENRY McLEMORE

It is entirely possible that by the time this column sees the light of day Ambassador O'Dwyer will not be ambassador to Mexico, but merely plain Mr. O'Dwyer.

While I feel that he has no more right to continue as our representative to Mexico than I have of being first string catcher of the New York Yankees, I cannot help but feel a bit sorry for the big Irishman.

Consider all the time and trouble it cost him to get ready for the ambassadorial post. Clothes, for instance. All those striped pants, striped coats, striped shoes and striped hats on his back and call. Anyone who has a agency of the first, second, third or fourth hours of standing on first one leg and then the other. Hours of standing with a pipe in your mouth and a chalk like a two-legged blackboard.

All this ambassadorial haberdashery must have cost a sizeable chunk of money, too. Of course, if Mr. Crane's testimony is true, and all Mr. O'Dwyer had to do to get $10,000 was to stroll out on the porch and look toward the heavens as if looking for the Big Dipper, then the cost of the clothes doesn't matter. Boning up on protocol must have been a chore for O'Dwyer, too. I have never been an ambassador, but I have read enough to know that the job entails a great deal of knowledge of protocol. Such things as who leads the way into a fish fry, whether or not it is proper to smoke a pipe while a toast is being drunk, who gets the only seat at a crowded sofa fountain, and should the "little guy" be the guest of honor, can be danced at lawn parties.

An ambassador who doesn't have such knowledge as his fingertips can cause an international affair. Another thing, Mr. O'Dwyer must just be getting around to appreciating Mexican food. It is a taste not hastily acquired unless one has sometime in his life served an apprenticeship as a flame swallower. Now, just when he is getting so he loves enchiladas, outchiladas, and shortotuchiladas, he is threatened to have to go back to steak and potatoes and apple pie. Sad, that's what it is. If Mr. O'Dwyer loses his post—and as I said earlier, he may already have lost it—it would be the best field for him to turn to? The field in which he could use his ambassadorial wardrobe, etc.

Far be it from me to assume the role of advisor to Mr. O'Dwyer, but what about Ambassador-at-Large for Mr. James Carroll's supremely successful cigar store in East St. Louis? This, if one doubts to believe Mr. Carroll's testimony before the Kefauver committee, is a cigar store to end all cigar stores. A cigar store that has done as

The Doctor Says

WRITTEN FOR NEA BY EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

Both germ and virus diseases are frequently discussed in this column and therefore today's first question is important. Q—What is the difference between a germ and a virus?
T. S.
A—Briefly and somewhat incompletely, a germ refers to a small living organism more or less between a plant and an animal called bacterium. There are many varieties, but they can be seen under an ordinary microscope when they are stained, and can be grown; artificially. A virus is too small to see under the usual microscope (though viruses vary widely in size) and can be grown only in living tissue like that of an egg yolk. There are other differences but these are among the most important.

Q—Of course you've heard of children fighting and pulling hair. My seven-year-old daughter had her hair pulled out nearly a year ago in three different places. I have massaged and brushed the places and it is now back partially, but I am worried sick that the spots may become gray or bald. Later on, the color is a little different from the rest even now. Mrs. W. H.
A—In all probability the hair is in the spots which were pulled out will get more like the rest and there seems little chance that early baldness or grayness will develop just in those places. Anyway, there is no use worrying about it since there is nothing to do. Perhaps it is more important to give some thought to your little daughter's temper!

Q—Please tell me whether iodine salts are used for excess secretion of the thyroid or for deficient secretion. I am not clear whether it is given for hyperthyroidism or hypothyroidism.
Mrs. C. S.
A—Ordinary for excess secretion or hyperthyroidism.
Q—How early in life can hardening of the arteries be detected?
N. P. W.
A—This question is not quite clear. Hardening of the arteries is a gradual but irregular process and is rarely far advanced before the age of forty or later. If it is present the same methods are

Senate To Study Tidelands Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A bill to restore state ownership of the tidelands comes before the Senate Interior Committee tomorrow.

The Supreme Court ruled last year the federal government has paramount interest in the land under the marginal seas. Off Texas, Louisiana and California, the tidelands bear oil.

A bill by 34 senators would restore the lands to state control. The administration favors a bill by Chairman O'Mahoney, Democrat of land-locked Wyoming, for "interim" federal control.

Solicitor General Phillip B. Perlman and M. G. White, solicitor of the Interior Department, are to testify in secret.

Sale Of Slot Machines Slow

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Wanna buy a slot machine? Two were advertised in the shoppers' guide here. A Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter investigated.

One machine was already sold, but the man said maybe he could get some more.

"They run from $10 to $35," the man said, "also, I guarantee them to be in good working order."

He didn't say why they were for sale. But city authorities take a dim view of ownership.

Civic Culture Club One Of Pampa's First Organizations

The Civic Culture club is one of the first clubs to be organized in Pampa.

In 1921 it was known as the Wayside club, a home demonstration group. In 1932 members decided to change it to a study club. The name was changed to the Civic Culture club and a membership was taken out in the federation.

The various courses of study undertaken by the group include education, religion, government, art, music, history, travel, geography, Latin America, international understanding, public welfare, home and community betterment.

The present course of study is "Our American Heritage."

Projects which the club has undertaken include aid to Boys Cross and with the USO. Since the war, some members have been correspondent with people in war-torn countries and many CARE packages and bundles of both new and used clothing have been sent to destitute people in Greece and Austria.

Social activities include a guest day tea to which all other club presidents are invited; a Christmas party for families and a picnic in the spring.

Mrs. Kate Vincent and Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, the two charter members still belonging to the club, were given special recognition and presented gifts on the occasion of their 25th anniversary as club members.

Mrs. Lloyd Rinehart is president-elect for 1951. The club now has 17 regular members and one honorary member. They are: Mrs. John Brandon, D. W. Coffman, Irvin Cole, Emmett Gee, A. D. Hills, A. C. Houchin, Lloyd Rinehart, A. E. Shackleton, F. W. Shotwell, E. C. Thompson, J. B. Townsend, Katie Vincent, H. W. Waters, H. R. VanSickle, M. M. Moyer, Willis White, Leo Paris and Henry Link.

Mrs. Clyde Hodges Is Hostess To Child Study Club

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. Clyde Hodges was hostess to the Child Study Club at their recent meeting.

Mrs. Bill Tolbert, who was leader for the afternoon, gave a talk on "Home Influence on Children's Social Adjustment." A contest was conducted by Mrs. Frank Potter. Winners were Misses Eidon Saul, John Hamly and Bill Tolbert.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. E. D. Daugherty, it was decided to set the date for the hobby show, sponsored by the club, for April 20. Mrs. Barrett tendered her resignation as she is moving to Panhandle. The hostess served refreshments to two guests, Mrs. Grady Adcock and Mrs. W. D. Allen, and 13 members. The next meeting will be a covered-dish luncheon in the new home of Mrs. E. D. Daugherty, April 6.

Franco Said Ready To Join Alliance

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Generalissimo Franco reportedly told American Ambassador Stanton Griffiths that Spain is ready to join with the United States in a direct military alliance modeled after the North Atlantic pact.

American officials said yesterday the Spanish leader also is said to have expressed willingness, during informal talks, to consider a triangular defense alliance linking Spain, Portugal and the U. S.

Gulf Issues Report On New Gasoline Plants

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Gulf Oil Corporation says its new natural gasoline plants at Wadwell, Tex., and Eunice, N. M., produced 25,075,000 gallons last year.

In the first production report, Gulf said the multi-million dollar plants, finished late in 1949, also had a joint production of 25,310,000 gallons of propane, 51,015,000 gallons of butane and 16,740,000 cubic feet in residue gas.

20th Century Allegro Studies Eight Topics Under 'Democracy In Action'

Eight major topics were studied under the "Democracy in Action" theme during the past club year of the Twentieth Century Allegro in addition to the required Federated programs.

Included among the topics were discussions on "Our Varied Religions," "Our Stake in World Peace," "Education and Democracy," "Freedom of Opportunity," "Our Juries," "Public Health," "Texas," and "Fine Arts." Also included were Music, Medicine, Texas and the Federation Quiz.

On the charitable side, the club sent a box of supplies to a Greek orphanage last November, presented a Christmas box to a local needy family and participated in Red Cross and March of Dimes activities.

Socially, the club was on the scene for the annual president's coffee last fall at the Country Club, held its annual "Husbands' Night" during October at the home of Mrs. George Cree, Jr., and will hold a guest day tea to close the winter activities this spring.

New officers elected in January for the ensuing year are: Mrs. Charles Hickman, Jr., president; Mrs. Raymond Reid, vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Graham, secretary; Mrs. Jim Leverich, treasurer; Mrs. Billy B. Davis, reporter; Mrs. Bill Waters, parliamentarian; Mrs. Harold Rinehart, critic; Mrs. G. M. Walls, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clifford Braly, Council of Clubs representative.

Other members are: Mrs. Betty Brock, Price Dosier, Jr., R. L. Edmondson, J. W. Garman III, John M. H. Garman, H. C. Grady, Jr., Robert Karr, and M. H. Wyatt. On the inactive roster are: Miss Jean Chisholm, Mrs. Robert Duket, Mrs. James Evans and Mrs. Howard Vineyard.

Chinese 'Amahs' Ask More Pay For Working

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Chinese "amahs" are out for more pay. The girls and women who work as maidservants for American and European families say they must have cost of living allowances because of the steady mounting costs in this British crown colony.

Most "amahs" employed by Americans and Europeans are not provided with food as they are by Asian employers. The "amahs", in many instances, already have won their point by getting monthly wage boosts.

Registrations Increase On Australian Autos

SYDNEY — (AP) — Motor car registrations in Australia in 1950 totaled 148,531. Australia has a population of just over 8,000,000 people.

The 1950 new registration figure was record high. It exceeded the 1949 record by 22,414, and the previous record figure (1929) by 93,247. Despite the high figures for 1950, the accumulation of orders increased and the waiting time for new vehicles lengthened by months.

Although the United States mines more than a third of the world's zinc in its own territory — more than any other country — it must import the metal to supply its own needs.

Gray County HD Council Is Made Up Of Club Heads, Special Committees

MRS. MARY ANN DUKE

The Gray County Home Demonstration Council is made up of all HD club presidents, one elected representative from each club, and a group of standing committees.

The 1951 Council officers are chairman, Mrs. Charles Warminski; vice chairman, Mrs. Walter Noel; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. T. G. Groves; parliamentarian, Mrs. Emmett Osborne; reporter and radio, Mrs. Vern Savage.

Standing committees are as follows: yearbook, Mrs. Noel; exhibit, Mrs. V. Smith; finance, Mrs. O. G. Smith; recreation, Mrs. A. M. Nash; 4-H Club sponsor, Mrs. Fred Haiduk; marketing, Mrs. W. R. Dunn; education and expansion, Mrs. Grayce Morris; visual aid, Mrs. Emmett Osborne; and library, Mrs. Ernest McKnight.

The Council operates by standing rules which are brought up to date each year. Special committees are appointed by the Council chairman; each committee meets early in the year to get suggestions for plans which are presented to Council for approval, and a copy of the plan is sent to each club for approval.

The county HD agent is the advisor in organization procedure for the Council and she should call attention to these purposes:

NPA Being Liberal In Building Okays

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government evidently is being fairly liberal in giving the go-ahead to builders of new air offices, hotel and other commercial structures.

Substantially more approvals than rejections have been handed out by the National Production Authority (NPA), which allows such construction only under individual permits.

The applicants, however, must show that their projects will (1) aid the defense program, (2) be essential to public health, welfare or safety, or (3) mean local hardship if denied.

The most recent batch of reports from regional office to NPA headquarters here shows 44 buildings approved and 34 turned down.

Half the rejected projects were amusement or recreation places, which are banned outright except in special cases. These reports covered actions between Feb. 24 and March 9.

Big Four Begins Fourth Hard Week

PARIS — (AP) — The western powers and Russia begin a fourth week of haggling today over an agenda for the proposed Big Four foreign ministers conference.

No agreement is in sight among the representatives of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

In 17 previous meetings the deputies have agreed only that the foreign ministers should talk about a German peace treaty and German unity.

The westerners and the Russians still are sharply divided over the wording of other agenda items.

1. The Council is an advisory committee for all HD work;
  2. That it is a demonstration in organization and in organization and individuals doing HD work.
  3. Means of communication for groups and individuals doing HD work.
- The visual aid committee is to help all club members get a view of pictures of better home demonstrations and keep a record of work done by clubs.
- The library committee plans will help all rural women to get books to read at first hand at reduced rates.
- Council meets the last Monday of each month at 2 p.m. in the home demonstration agent's office in the courthouse.

Jaycee-Ettes Is A Young Organization Dedicated To Forwarding All Civic Projects And Backing Up Jaycee Group

MRS. CREEL GRADY, JR.

In April of 1947 the wives of the local Jaycees organized the present club known as Jaycee-Ettes. The purpose of the club is to encourage and advance the general and cultural welfare of the city, to encourage cooperation among civic organizations, to train leadership and to act as an auxiliary to the Jaycees.

The club colors are green and yellow and the flower is a yellow Daisy. Regular club meetings are held every first Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the club rooms, and every third Wednesday at noon, a luncheon is held in the private room of the Schneider Hotel. All wives of the Jaycees are eligible for membership.

In 1947 Mrs. Erwin Thompson served as president. During the year the Jaycee-Ettes assisted the Jaycees with their western week, sponsoring western and street dances and serving an outdoor barbecue prepared by Mr. Snider. A formal dance was held during the Christmas holiday season at the Terrace Grill, which has become an annual event. Mrs. Don Foster and Mrs. Jim Arndt represented the Jaycee-Ettes at the Jaycee national convention which was held in Long Beach, Calif.

In 1948 Mrs. Jim Arndt served as president. During the year the club supplied necessities for two boys in the Presbyterian Children's Home in Amarillo, donated books to the Memorial Book Shelf at the City Library, donated money to pay for one child's lunch at Baker School for the school year, donated Christmas boxes and articles of clothing to needy families and sponsored a benefit dance for the Jaycee Community Center. Social activities for the year included a Christmas formal dance, Christmas club party, skating party, fall formal, masquerade party and an initiation Mexican dinner.

For the year of 1949 Mrs. E. A. Johnson served as president. Civic activities participated in that year were the poll tax campaign, polio drive, Red Cross drive and others. Each year the Jaycee-Ettes serve coffee and doughnuts to the Jaycees during the Christmas city street decorating, which is an annual project. Social events for this year included a backyard supper party for new members, square dancing, and a Halloween party for new members. The Jaycee-Ettes honored Top o' Texas queens, princesses, chaperones, and judges at a tea held in the Schneider Hotel. In August the club entered a float in the Top o' Texas parade, also one in the annual Santa Claus Day parade. Rummage sales were held during the year, proceeds going to various charities.

During the year 1950, Mrs. Rusty Ward was president. A tea honoring new members inaugurated the year's activities. A spring formal was held in the Schneider Hotel Ball Room, with music furnished by the Mello-Airs. A concession was established at the Jaycee carnival. During the summer the board of directors were hostesses at a tacky party in Mrs. Floyd Watson's backyard. Guests were served a buffet supper. Prizes were awarded to those wearing the tackiest costumes. The annual Christmas party was held in the city club rooms. Gifts were exchanged and bingo was played during the evening. A buffet supper was served.

The current president is Mrs. Creel Grady who has lived in Pampa the past three years. Her husband is employed by Simmons Accounting. Mrs. Grady is from Brownwood and attended college at North Texas State in Denton. Mrs. Grady was employed by Cabot Co. in Pampa for several months. She was married in May, 1947 and has one son, Stephen, eighteen months old.

The first social event of the new year was a party for prospective members held in the city club rooms in February. An Easter theme was carried out in the decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over green. The centerpiece was fashioned of multi-colored spring flowers flanked by silver candle holders holding pastel candles. Favors were made of egg shells holding green grass topped by miniature colored chickens. Punch and cookies were served the guests, members and prospective members. Individual card tables were covered by white cloths centered with green grass, Easter eggs and pastel candies. Appropriate games were played. The register was presided over by Mrs. E. A. Johnson and guests were given name cards to pin on as they entered.

The current officers are as follows: Mrs. Creel Grady, president; Mrs. Artie Aftergut, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Vaughn, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Delton Sanders, historian; Mrs. Tom Tipps, treasurer; and Mrs. Frank Terhune, reporter. The board of directors consist of the following members: Mrs. Elmer Francis, Mrs. Bob Quick, Mrs. Melvin Byers, Mrs. Bill Brady, Mrs. Clifton McNeely, Mrs. Joe Fischer, and Mrs. Rusty Ward.

The chairman for the committees are Mrs. Bill Braly, ways and means; Mrs. Frank Terhune, publicity; Mrs. Clifton McNeely, program and handbook; Mrs. Rusty Ward, membership; Mrs. J. E. Thompson, telephone and card, and Mrs. Bob Quick hostess.

The following are members of the Jaycee-Ettes this year: Elmer Weldon Adair, Artie Aftergut, Paul Appleton, Jim Arndt, Melvin Beyer, D. A. Brown, Bill Braly, Ewert Duncan, John Ester, Frank Fata, Joe Fischer, Don Foster, Elmer Francis, John Garman, H. C. Grady, E. A. Johnson, Clifton McNeely, Gordon Miller, Jack Nimmo, Ivan Noblitt, J. ### Cottage Cheese Clowns Are Fun

COTTAGE CHEESE CLOWNS make appetites smile.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Spring appetites need a little humor. So take a hint from the circus and invite a few cottage cheese clowns into your menus. Let the youngsters eat all they want. Cottage cheese is a dairy food packed with milk solids and vitamins, necessary to child growth and health.

Salad Clowns

(Serves 4)
Eight peach halves, 1 cup cottage cheese, 8 raisins, Maraschino cherries, parsley sprigs, lettuce.
Arrange a lettuce leaf on a salad plate for each serving. Form 1-4 cup cottage cheese into a ball, stud with raisins for eyes, a sliver of maraschino cherry for a mouth, and chili. Arrange between two peach halves and secure with a toothpick. Add a whole cherry on a toothpick for a pom-pom and sprigs of parsley for ear muffs. Serve immediately.

Cheese-Fruit Salad
(Serves 6)

One pound cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 No. 2 can cling peach halves, lettuce, sour cream dressing.
Mix cheese with sugar, orange rind and fruit juices and heat until smooth. Pack into individual ring mold. Chill thoroughly to stiffen. Turn out and garnish with lettuce. Fill the center of the ring molds. Chill thoroughly to lapping each other. Pour a little peach juice over the ring and serve with sour cream dressing.

Sour Cream Dressing
One-half cup thick sour cream, 2 tablespoons peach juice, pinch of salt, 1-2 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Mix all ingredients and beat with a fork until well blended.

Gal Who Loved Her Papa Is One Who Should Like Cigar

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — I love a girl who loves a man who is man enough to smoke a cigar in the presence of girls who don't love a man who smokes a cigar. That sounds confused I know. But it isn't. It expresses my deep admiration for a gal who believes across a crowded room.

"Don't apologize, golden boy, light up another cigar. It's a pleasure to see you through your own smoke."

These girls aren't as many as I'd like. Most women just don't have the same boyish carefree attitude toward nicotine men do. They are tobacco snobs.

Fifty years ago a nice girl wouldn't dare puff on a cigaret in public. Today the average husband is muscled from flunking a lighter to be sure that his wife gets a drag on her fag when it suits her fancy.

This feminine prejudice to cigar smoking is unwarranted. Nothing builds up a man's feeling of manhood more. A dime stogie in a street cleaner's mouth makes him feel like a millionaire.

In Copenhagen, the city of snuff, women are so envious of the security that a good cigar gives their men that they themselves have taken up the habit. And the ordinary married Dane is great enough to buy a cigar for his wife as well as himself — so that she too can share the peace of a man-sized smoke.

I have a theory about women who don't like men who like cigars. It is simple. It is a theory that if, when they were girls and their father smoked cigars, they kind of forever afterward like men who smoke cigars — if they liked their papa.

And it works out well usually, because most girls like their papas and what daddy did is okay for hubby and his friends to do.

But you'd be surprised how many fathers a generation ago used to chew tobacco — instead of smoking. And, in the city at least, you can't go into that argument.

Origin Of Wild Potato A Mystery

VANCOUVER — (AP) — Indians in the British Columbia interior harvest a wild potato small and slender, and sometimes a little lady fingers. The flesh is yellow and the flavor resembles the sweet potato.

W. A. Faulkner of Lytton says that apparently centuries ago natives of Chile and Peru journeyed northward in their canoes to what is now British Columbia. They brought their native foods and vegetables and introduced them to Indian tribes. However, Dr. V. C. Brink of the University of British Columbia says he believes the potatoes were introduced about 1850 - 60 by Scandinavian trappers and miners.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service says fur-seal work in the Pribilof Islands has netted $11,500,000 since the government took over conservation of the seals in 1919.

Little Guy Looks In On Crime Hearings

By JAMES M. FLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The little man was so impressed with the Kefauver crime hearings on TV, especially with having the senators and characters talking in his living room.

He hoped some good would come of them. He hopes they wouldn't wind up like some of the other Senate investigations he read of in the past; nine - day wonders that just petered out. He certainly agreed with Senator Tobey, the New Hampshire Republican, who said he felt sure when millions of people saw things like this on TV they'd take a greater interest in government.

The little man felt sure they would — and that he would himself. Of course, when he sees a Senate or House Committee at work on TV in a committee hearing he sees members of Congress asking a lot of questions. They're trying to find out what makes things tick. But he wished he could also see members of Congress at work among themselves, talking and arguing on the floor of the House and Senate.

But they won't permit any pictures of themselves in action in the House and Senate; not only no TV, but not even movies, news photos or even a pocket camera.

The little man couldn't help thinking they had a bit of gall to want witnesses before committees to face TV when they wouldn't permit any shots of themselves at work among themselves. But the little man thought quite a lot of what he saw about the crime hearings on TV. They showed underworld characters not only had plenty of connections among themselves but among police and sheriffs and elected officials, too.

This was not anything really new to the little man. He didn't have any illusions. He certainly had sense enough to know you can't have widespread gambling without connivance by police and elected officials.

And he tried to face the implication of that honestly. He asked himself: "don't I have to take some of the blame for all this myself? Have I been such a good citizen that I can afford to hold my nose?"

He asked himself: "what have I really done to see that I have good government in my own town, my own state, and in Washington? I haven't taken even a small hand in politics. Half the time I haven't even voted."

The little man, trying to examine his conscience, admitted to himself that somehow he had always been too busy to lift a finger in any way to help make his government better. "I've been too busy somehow," he told himself, "even to go to political meetings where I might have some say in picking men for office. I couldn't do it all myself. But if enough of us did it the political hacks wouldn't be able to do it for me in a back room."

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

IMPORTANT—Color and accessories are important
"Please outline a complete suit—black calf, black hat, black shoes, black bag. Do you think that a white outfit for a woman over forty, who is fairly tall and slender, with gray hair, smartly done, be dressy enough for me to wear to a club luncheon at a hotel?—Mrs. D. C."
Sheer white blouses, of cotton or nylon, are being shown with black taffeta skirts as afternoon costumes. Worn with long gloves and a smart hat, they present a complete Spring and Easter outfit. I suggest a wool jacket flared at the hem, with a sharp division of white blouse and white Milan pailbox, bordered at the hemline with black velvet, a crisp, sheer black veil. Choker and earrings of pearls, gloves in white or palest gray. A classic calf bag with exquisite hand detailing will complete the outfit.
Consider your activities and when you select a handbag. It must all fit in keeping with your present style. Your shoes should be selected to harmonize with your looks and you should please bag. The Coblenz classic in leather and also make yourself look outfit calls for simple pumps in younger and more interesting!

Even Porcupines Can Be Friendly

LOA, Utah — (AP) — Even porcupines can be friendly, but you must know which way to rub 'em.
Ferry L. Jackson, tourist guide, found a porcupine asleep. He didn't know how to handle the little animal with the sharp quills. He tried to rout it with his hunting cap. He got a capful of quills.
His brother, J. Worthen Jackson, soothed the homely bark eater, stroked him and even picked him up.

Political job which otherwise goes by default to the handpicked candidates of the pros. He made up his mind he'd get busy but even as he told himself he would be wondered if he would.

able to do it for me in a back room. I've left the whole government up to them. The political hacks, the pros, who get fat off politics. All I do is vote for one side or the other when I know the hacks are picking both sides."
He admitted to himself: when I get a politician to fix a traffic ticket for me it's as bad, in a minor way, as paying off a sheriff to let me run a crap game. They both corrupt the government."
The little man ran over in his mind some of the things he thought he ought to do:
Talk over candidates and issues with his neighbors, be sure to vote himself, ring doorbells to get his neighbors to vote, go to political meetings, get up and speak his piece, even get over his aversion to politics and sometimes be willing to hold a
