Progress and growth of the City of Pampa has been due in no small part to the growth and prosperity of the industries that have located here.

The future welfare of the community is dependent on the continued progress of these industries under a free enterprise system and with the whole-hearted support of the public in general.

It seems fitting, therefore, that the City of Pampa should join in the state-wide observance of Texas Industrial Week in which industry will receive well-deserved honor and citizens will be given an opportunity to better acquaint themselves with industry and learn its value.

Therefore, I, as Mayor of the City of Pampa, do urge full participation by individual citizens and organizations in the observance of Texas Industrial Week, April 1-7 inclusive, by recognizing to the fullest extent the importance of local industry to the continued growth and progress of the community.

The Industrial Committee of this

Governor's Proclamation

Manufacturing is one of the basic and most rapidly expanding sources of creative wealth in Texas, and as such is materially improving the economic wellbeing of our people and proving a mighty bulwark of strength to the nation in this period of grave military

This industrial development of Texas in recent years has resulted mainly from a favorable environnent toward such growth, an environment which has been reflected in the stability of our government and he understanding cooperation of our people.

The future economic welfare of Texas depends upn a continuance of this industrial growth and developtent, which can only be enjoyed if the public in genral and the state government in particular, maintain n attitude of encouragement toward those who risk heir capital to finance new ventures, thus providing more jobs, more markets and consequently improving our standard of living.

It is the responsibility of all Texans to cooperate to the end of encouraging the investment of capital to expand, increase and further diversify our industrial and commercial plants and thus help in providing opportunities in Texas for Texas youth as well as our common prosperity.

A more thorough understanding of the interdependence of the various segments of our economy will assist in maintaining the cooperation necessary to the continuance of this industrial development of Texas.

It is my desire to promote mutual understanding and unity of action to further the economic advancement of our State, and I believe that this need can best be emphasized through the designation of a specific period for that purpose.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, hereby designate the period of April 1-7, 1951, inclusive, as the second annual

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL WEEK and respectfully request that all organizations, groups and individual Texans dedicate that period in recognition of our rapid manufacturing and commercial growth, and in developing that depth of understanding which is basic to our continued industrial and economic expansion - now so necessary to meet the everincreasing demands resulting from our national defense

Manufacturing needs positive encouragement if we are to continue the economic expansion of Texas. Jobs and opportunities depend directly upon the extent to which investments can be encouraged in our state. The stability of the tax structure and the state governmental policy toward business have been two of the main reasons why we have had such a tremendous industrial expansion in recent years.

A national trend of spending and taxation has placed Texas at the economic crossroads. The state can turn one way—the way of fair and reasonable taxation—and continue its march of progress down the road of continued jobs, opportunities and prosperity. Or it can turn the other way—the way of crippling taxation—and halt our economic development by discouraging new enterprises, thereby promoting unemployment and diminishing business activity.

Pampa's obligation to its present industry and to industries we hope to secure in the future lies with every citizen of this county. Pampa's obligation should be reflected on the statewide level.

April First Means Bills Due On Madame's Easter Bonnet

The markup on this one item has been remarkably low in view of the increases on other goods, according to a local merchant.

Easter Buying Boosts Retails

DALLAS — (P) — A spurt in retail sales, credited to Easter buying, was the bright spot in the southwest business picture in the last 30 days, the Dallas Federal Reserve Board reported today.

In its monthly business review it also found: crop planting progressing but the outlook for production only fair, a slight increase in non-farm employment, February construction awards reaching a new high and a decline in retail inventory purchases.

As one saleswoman pointed out, "There's always been a "cheap" that and a "good" hat."

The reserve bank credited a 16 percent gain in retail buying in early March as compared with a high price tag!

The fabrics for hats are sometimes quite costly, such as the velour used last winter. To further complicate making the velours, designers clipped and applied shellac to them this season.

Department store stocks continued heavy — 26 percent higher than suyear ago — but merchants' inventory buying slackened.

The Review said that the increase in non-farm employment is styles of the clothing to be worn with the hats. So hats aren't just whipped up and them stamped to which he is best suited and is most interested in.

Washington — (P) — There were 400 new work stoppages in February, twice the number for the same month of 1950, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The largest February strike affected about 70,000 workers and 160 woolen and worsted mills in New England and Middle Atlantic states.

About 25,000 soft coal miners in West Virginia and 10,000 umber and saw mill workers in Washington and Oregon were idle for brief periods.

The total number of workers engaged in new stoppages rose from 185,000 in January to 220,000 in February.

But back to the cost of hats, as one very fashionable local woman said, "The more I pay for a hat, the more I enjoy it!" and her husband won't agree with that, but maybe after reading this he will understand what makes a hat cost so much and what makes a hat cost so much and what makes a hat MEAN so much to a woman.

And if this has put him in a more mellow mood about the bill maybe you can talk him into a milam or baku straw hat, worn straight and designed for a chignon — that's the latest hat for summertime wear!

A British military mission which has been training the Ethiopian army since 1942 will be withdrawn in the near future. An official Ethiopian government statement said the decision "reflects the further development of Ethiopia in the organization of her own affairs" and is also due "to the increasingly heavy demands on British manpower and financial resources resulting from the present world situation."

Other foreigners will remain in Ethiopia's military forces. A Belgian is a military adviser to Emperor Haile Selassie, and Swedish officers are training the imperial guard and air force.

There have been unconfirmed reports that units of the Ethiopian army may be sent to Korea. However there is nothing ENGAGEMENT TOLD-Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kalka of Skellytown are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dolores, to Alvin Bellinghausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bellinghausen of Munday. The couple will exchange vows in the Sacred Heart Church in White Deer on April 18.

AFTER HEARING ABOUT the delightful evening the alumni of the White Deer school had at the annual banquet the other night, well it seemed Pampa should have such a thing. Is there a place that would house all the alums of the local school? Once, long ago, we had a reunion where Peg grew up, and it's sho' good for the soul to go back and find the gal chosen best looking in the class has lost her figure, and to find that your own spouse has retained his hair much better than the football hero you once had a crush on! Anybody interested is uniting all the former students? This time of year Mr. Frank Wilson has so little to do he could probably help with the arrangements! (Actually he's a very busy man, but bet he'll have rangements! (Actually he's a very busy man, but bet he'll have time for a good thing!

WHILE BUYING a car tag for the family automobile, we noticed a fine thing in the display case at the courthouse. It was a complete home first-aid kit, and included some emergency medicines for burns, etc., besides the usual tape and gauze. Here's one who's going to start taking inventory in the medicine chest same as in my pantry. It's had enough for the kiddoes to clamor for a cookie, and for me to find we're "all out," but it can be a serious thing when they cut a finger and we've used up the emergency medicines.

ALL THE WORK being done at Floyd Walker's grocery was at a standstill for at least two days last week when the weather got so fierce. Work went right along at Clyde Oswalt's pharmacy. One likes to see improvements like these going in.

WE CERTAINLY didn't enjoy those premature April showers last week. They may bring May flowers, but they also bring muddy tracks on my kitchen linoleum and they bring the kiddles inside, too!

RAINY WEATHER many people like to curl up with a good book (everyone is reading Ethel Waters' "His Eye Is on the Sparrow") or they like to get the sewing basket out and pass the hours. Well, Peg likes that too, but it's even better to curl up in a chair with the youngsters grouped round about. We may joke about having to keep them underfoot on rainy days, but it's nice for a change to have them nearby where about the most serious accident is an overturned cup of hot chocolate. Actually, when the weather is fair and the children are scattered all over the block, mothers must keep all their senses about them. They must SEE in a dozen directions at once; HEAR every cry, crash and collision within a block; SMELL trouble a mile away; have a TASTE for the unpredictable and last, they must FEEL that kids are worth all the trouble they can cause. rainy days are quite a change.

Appreciate GOOD CITY GOVERNMENT

During a period when we have heard so much about high cost of government, political extravagance, mismanagement and inefficiency of public officials, the people of Pampa have enjoyed economical and progressive administration of its city affairs.

OVER 100 PAMPA CITIZENS DEMANDED THAT THE PRESENT CITY COMMISSION NOT QUIT AFTER 4 YEARS SERVICE

The present city commission after having dedicated four years of service to the people of Pampa felt that they should be allowed to retire. However, more than 100 citizens who appreciate the fine city government we have had called on them to continue for at least two years in order to complete the many worthwhile projects started under their administration.

HERE ARE FIVE OF THE MANY REASONS THE PRESENT COMMIS-SION SHOULD CONTINUE TO SERVE:

- Added 47,805 feet of water lines and 68,307 feet of sewer lines to existing systems. For the first time in the history of Pampa all requests for water and sewer connections have been granted.
- Through a sound financing program set up by the commission and with the cooperation of Pampa property owners 198,386.2 square yards of paving (equivalent to 165 blocks 300 ft. long) were completed. This was done without calling on the people to vote a bond issue.
- Pampa enjoys the maximum credit on fire insurance premiums due to the installation of additional fire hydrants, eliminaton of dead end water mains and having an efficient fire department.
- Assured additional facilities for public safety by providing a well-organized city police department, trained in the fair enforcement of laws. Modernized the traffic control system and reduced juvenile delinquency by intelligent handling.
- Improved sanitation in Pampa by instituting a virtually self-sustaining twice weekly trash and garbage collection system; by the DDT spraying of streets and alleys. As the result of arranging for a new water field, city water now is approved by the State Health Department.

The following men gave generously of their time to make these accomplishments possible. If you appreciate good city government you will so express yourself at the polls Tuesday, April 3, by voting for these men.

By R. C. HOILES President Truman's Concept

Of Honorable Persons Just as it takes a genius to recogniže a genius, so it also takes an honorable person to recognize

When President Truman was asked, while he was on vacation at Key West, Florida, about the cartoons and criticism of the moral and ethical standards of some of the White House figures, he said that the criticisms were not true. He said he would have around him only honorable persons. Of course, if President Tru-wrote his own definition of what honorable was, then his statement might be true. But if an honorable person is one who does not believe in initiating force, and thus believes in the commandments and the Golden Rule then it would be hard to find honorable people at the head of the federal government.

It is the very nature of politics to attract people who have no ability to create. It attracts people who want to coerce, compel and initiate force against people to get the product of their labor. They, of course, contend that they are getting the product of other people's labor to benefit the down-trodden, but they want to keep a good part of it themselves. They want to bask in the admiration of those they are enabling to live without work by voting for government support. They seem to think that numbers of persons or majorities, count rather than principles.

The man who believes that the state has a right to take by force from those who have produced to give to those who have not produced has to throw out of the window the Golden Rule and the Commandments "Thou shalt not steal" and "Thou shalt not covet anything that belongs to a fellow countryman." He also has to throw out of the window and declare null and void the Declaration of Independence that says "governments derive their power from the consent of the governed." In other words, these rople who believe that the state has a morel right to do something that he individual has a moral right to do have to adopt two standards of morality-two standards of right and wrong one for them and one for those not hold-

THE PRINCIPALITY OF (Chicago Daily Tribune)

The development of Gen: Eisenhower in his role as supreme commander of the North Atlantic pact army in Europe as a principality unto himself is attested by his oppointment of a diplomatic arm to conduct the Eisenhower foreign relations with the 12 nations with which he deals, Among these, oddly enough, is the United States, which used to be Eisenhower's country, before he went international.

Eisenhower's foreign ministry is to be manned by Col. A. J. Drexel Biddle, whom he has designated as deputy chief of staff for "national affairs." Biddle's job will be to link Eisenhower headquarters to the 12 Atlantic pact nations supporting the Eisenhower organ-ization. Biddle has had experience as an ambassador before this, and thus may be considered equipped to represent Eisenhower in dealings with Britain, Holiand, etc., and also the United States. The suggestion implicit in this eurious arrangement is that Eis-enhower in himself occupies the status of a supranational government. He has his own army, his own foreign relations, his own intelligence, his own organization for supply and training, and his own budget department. His staff may be likened to a cabinet. The charter of the North Atlantic treaty organization called for a North Atlantic council, to be composed of representatives of all 12 allies. Eisenhower acts for this international group and has described himself as "one-twelfth American" in his new capacity.

The council has subordinate organs, including a defense committee composed of the defense ministers of the 12 countries, on which the United States would be represented by Secretary of Defense Marshall or a deputy, and a military committee of military advisers. It also has five regional defense planning groups, a production and supply board, and a financial and economic committee.

The council acts largely thru a standing subcommittee consisting of representatives of the United States, Britain, and France. This is the important operating depart-ment. Eisenhower supposedly is

Some interesting letters expressing various viewpoints on alcoholism and the liquor business have been coming in, especially since we ran the letter from "Ray," an alcoholic of Colorado Springs. Of course, my own position is that not one cent of tax money should be spent in any way pertaining to the liquor trade or its end results. I have no solution to the liquor evil in a material sense but I do know definitely that it is immoral to saddie the taxpayer with the costs of

A Santa Ana (Cal.) lady has written me one of the most enthusiastic letters I've ever read about Alcoholics Anonymous, Here we have spiritual-moral persuasion and help by experts (themselves alcoholics ) that undoubtedly is doing a great deal of fine work-and without any demands on the taxpayers' dollar. Having personally known some people who have found A.A. the answer to their drinking problem, I am inclined to give the A.A. a solid pat on the back.

Rev. Sam Morris, prohibitionist editor of The Christian Statesman, says, "There's one difference between a bootlegger and a legal drink seller. What the bootlegger does without my consent, without my knowledge, over my vote, in spite of my efforts, and against my will, I am not a party to and no intelligent person can rightly blame me for it. But if I walk up to a ballot box and stick my ballot into the box and vote for legalized liquor, and they build a liquor store or beer joint by the authority, endorsement and approval of my vote in the ballot box, then for every man who becomes a drunkard on booze from that store, for every woman who goes bad on liquor that flows through that store, for every home that is wrecked by that liquor, for every child who is made an orphan and goes through hopeless childhood as the result of that liquor. God Almighty will make me account for my share in that sorrow, anxiety and ruin." REVERENDS

Among many letters on a recent column about men using the title 'Reverend," Luella Haitz of Cripple Creek, Colo. sends us reference to Job 32:21, which reads, any man's person, neither let me sive flattering titles to men." Of course, there's only one Reverend in the Bible. The term is used once: "Holy and reverend is His (God's) name." Psalm 11:9. I'm still curious to know how the present tradition started, though, No one has thus far explained it. What with the woods full of reverends, right reverends, most reverends and very reverends, the thing must have started some time.

KOMIC KAPTIONS Looking over some of the papers well-wishers send in, I get a kick out of some of the captions and headings. As for example, "AL-LIES CRUSH RED BULGE." Bet that hurt. Another one had to do with a basketball game between two church teams. "FIRST CHRISTIAN TRIMS CHURCH OF GOD." And another one. "HOLY CROSS BEATS IMMA-CULATE CONCEPTION." Oh well, we have to take time off from our chores for a few light moments now and then. Don Green comes across with the capper, though. Sends an excerpt from a Pasadena paper, "The corpse was found in the street at

News & Views The Dector Says By DAVID BAXTER

By EDWIN & JORDAN, MB.

Of all kinds of cancer, that which develops on the skin or the exposed mucous membrances is the easiest to catch and treat promptly. Everyone knows that cancer can generally be cured at the beginning and therefore neglect of skin cancer is partirularly unfortunate. Yet it still happens all too often. There are several things to look for. If you have a sore on the skin or perhaps around the lips or eyes which does not heal as quickly as you think it ought to, don't just forget about it. If your skin has a lump or ulcer give yourself a break and let the doctor look at it. Some of these sores or lumps will be cancer and they are easy to get rid of while they are small and may be so hard after they have grown a while that there is no sense in taking a chance.

Besides the cancers of skin there are some skin conditions which may lead eventually to cancer and therefore should be watched even if not treated so that they can be attacked at the first sign of difficulty.

The most important of these are the scaly, brown or black natches which are quite common in elderly people and are usually located on the parts of the skin most exposed to the sun and air. These patches have the name of keratoses.

Now, these patches are not cancerous when they start. But they so often develop in that direction that it is sometimes—but not always a good idea to remove

There are two things which always seem wise, however. One is to watch them because if they grow it may be a danger signal, The other is that persons who show a tendency to develop these patches should try to protect their skins as much as possible from exposure to sun. Indeed they are more likely to develop in the first place in people who spend a lot of time in bright sunshine, like sailors and farmers. 2 a. m. The police were of the opinion that he died prior to that with his usually logical and factual comments, this time on a recent column pertaining to the tight monopoly existing in the ral profession. He cites the of a very dynamic and astute writer, Fred Vollmer, a lewyer, who ran into the red tape I mentioned. I am informed that one of the noted judges in Santa Ana, California, who preferred to study law under an old lawyer and thus was perhaps not "qualified," was flunked six times and passed the seventh when he sought admission to the California bar. Phillips points to the California ballot on high judicial jobs, which reads, "Shall so-and-so be re-elected as supreme court associate justice for the term end Jan. 3, 1957-YES/NO. "There is no provision in the law to offer an opposing candidate. Why don't they just say 'Ja'?" Phillips queries. He also reminds that William Remington, convicted perjurer who betrayed his country to Russia and was a government official, was held on $6000 bail while some greedy college kids on a basketball team who sold out to gamblers were held on $15,000 bail. Paul cracks, "Being a poor sport must be more serious than betraying your sountry."

That brought action. A num ber of people passing by were set upon with sticks and spears. Twenty people were injured. Police called in to restore order reported the rain-makers spirit was still on the loose.
