Looking For Lodging:

City Seeks Homes For Celanese Corp.

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth and City Manager Dick Pepin were in a sweat this morning. They couldn't locate one house for one man, let alone trying to find housing for 500 to 600 families within 30 days.

Celanese Corp. of America's new chemical plant is going to need that many so Brown and Root can start work on the structure within 30 days.

Pepin reported this morning Lonnie Estes, construction superintendent, called him Sunday from Houston asking if he had been able to find a house.

The city manager and Wedgeworth were in a huddle early today trying to find an unfurnished house with two bedrooms and a garage so the construction superintendent could move in and get the first building phases underway.

"We need the houses and apartments," Wedgeworth said. "These people coming here are new and don't know where to turn for housing so our office has consented to act as a funneling agency for them by sending them to people we know have available houses or apartments. If those people will give us their names, addresses and phone numbers and what they have available the settling of these new residents can be expedited. So far a few apartments have been listed for the new people but have already been taken up. We need more, and now," he added.

Brown and Root, general contractor, plan to send 10 to 15 key personnel to Pampa, some of them arriving now, before the week is out. These are to be followed by 500 to 600 men within 30 days.

Celanese Corp. is also planning to send several key employees to the city within the same time. These people will also need housing, Wedgeworth concluded.

Such a move would further rock Prime Minister Attlee's steady labor government, already reeling under the impact of fiery Aneurin Bevan's resignation yesterday from the post of labor minister.

There were unconfirmed reports that one or two junior ministers were planning to follow Bevan and Wilson.

Labor party circles believed the revolt might result in the government's defeat in the budget debates this week, forcing a general election soon. With Socialist popularity generally conceded to be at a low point now, Winston Churchill's conservatives gleefully predicted they soon would be back in power.

Wilson, falling to show up for today's cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing Street, went to his office in the board of trade. His only comment on reports that he had resigned was: "I have no statement to make."

Lord Beaverbrook's big Daily Express sounded a note of editorial delight. It said Bevan "has already succeeded in destroying the government." The pro-conservative Express said that where "even Mr. Churchill's oratory had failed to defeat the government, Mr. Bevan on his own has succeeded."

Bevan quit with a blast at "the scale of military expenditure." He said the Socialists should pay for any rearming by a new soak-the-rich program of taxes, and leave alone the free spectacles and false teeth he instituted when he was minister of health.

Allies Pull Back Under Impact Of Raging Commie Offensive

Joint Chiefs Facing Congress Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The joint chiefs of staff, one of the least communicative groups in Washington, probably will be compelled to divulge some of its family secrets to Congress.

The nation-shaking row that has burst out of President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the general's speech to Congress has confronted the four-man military high command with the necessity of talking.

Already the Defense Department has issued an implied challenge to MacArthur's assertion that his views on how the Far East war should be prosecuted—from a military standpoint—have been fully shared by practically every military leader in the past, including the JCS.

The department, in a weekend statement, said an analysis of the "basic differences" between MacArthur and the JCS would be given to the "appropriate congressional committees."

On Capitol Hill, present planning indicates these will be the Senate's Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees, although some Republican leaders want also to include House committees in the joint inquiry into the policies and strategy of the Korean war.

The expected star witnesses are big names, including MacArthur and Secretary of Defense Marshall. The joint chiefs, too, appear to be preparing for questioning.

During the latter half of last week, the chiefs held a series of unusual and prolonged sessions in their well-guarded Pentagon offices.

Hurrying into the JCS section with portfolios under arm, were these four men who share responsibility for devising the nation's military strategy in the current and any further wars.

Mild-mannered Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the JCS, veteran of World War II high command service in Europe, who looks like an elderly GI wearing five stars.

Funeral services will be held here Tuesday, at 11 a. m. (CST). After divorcing himself from the party in 1928 and campaigning throughout the South for Smith's opponent, Republican Herbert Hoover, Heflin suffered his first political defeat in 1930.

Democrats kept him off their ticket that year, bringing up a pledge requiring candidates to swear they hadn't openly opposed the party's nominee in the preceding general election.

A fiery figure, noted orator, and an unrelenting champion of white supremacy, Heflin was outspoken in his criticism of "the wolves of Wall Street," Tammany Hall, the Roman Catholic hierarchy and the "liquor interests." For constantly campaigning for better cotton prices, he was named "Cotton Tom."

Tibetan Peace Group Arrives—HONG KONG (AP)—A dispatch from Red China today said a peace delegation from Tibet has arrived in Peiping, the Communist capital, via Chungking and Sian.

It said the Tibetans were welcomed by government officials headed by Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai.

Another Tibetan contingent was reported enroute to Peiping via Hong Kong and Canton.

GOP Gears Economy Drive; Aim Cut At Federal Employees

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republicans are gearing up a new economy drive aimed at saving tax money by trimming some half a million civilian employees off the federal payroll.

Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa), a leader in the move, told a reporter today that such a cut in the payroll should "effect savings of at least $1,000,000,000" during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The plan appeared certain to spending, as suggested by Senate the ears of some members for Byrd (D-Va.) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. It is Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), a businessman who replied to the committee member, said yesterday that a nationwide survey of businessmen indicated strong backing for a $5,000,000,000 cut in federal tax to head off a general $10-000,000,000 tax increase proposed by the administration.

Simpson estimated that a five percent retail sales tax would bring in $5,000,000,000 a year.

Simpson said he carried out the survey in cooperation with the Committee of Americans which he described as a non-profit fact-finding research organization covering all 48 states and Hawaii. Questionnaires were sent to some 20,000 businessmen of whom more than 15,000 replied, he said.

The plan for cutting back federal payrolls as Jensen outlined it boils down to this: Starting July 1, civilian agencies (See ECONOMY, Page 2)

Chicago Preparing M'Arthur Welcome

CHICAGO (AP)—General MacArthur is coming to Chicago Thursday and the nation's second largest city is all set for a super welcome.

Soldier Field, the lake front open-air arena, was reserved yesterday for a mass civic reception Thursday night.

But the greeting will get underway in high style this afternoon at the general's plane, "The Exhilarant," touches ground about noon at Midway Airport. An official reception committee of 200 prominent citizens, including retired Gen. Charles G. Dawes and Mayor Martin H. Connelley, will be on hand to greet the general. The public reception in the town loop area and a formal 90,000-seat Soldier Field starts at 8 p. m. The outdoor stadium can military honors, including a 17-gun salute by Fifth Army and Army artillerymen, at the air-bleachers. Officials said doors would open early in the day and that it would be "first come, first served."

—about 75 percent of Chicago's population is expected to take part in the month-long celebration. MacArthur is scheduled to go to the general, his wife, and Midwayville Friday where he will see his son, Arthur, 12. (See CHICAGO, Page 2)

Spring House Cleaning Here Set To Get Underway May 7

Pampa's "spring house-cleaning" will get underway May 7 when the annual "Clean Up, Paint Up and Fix Up" campaign starts.

At a meeting today of the fire prevention committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, business plans were made for the campaign which will continue through May 19.

The city will furnish trucks for the drive, according to City Manager Dick Pepin, who urged local residents to begin now thinking of the clean-up campaign, and pointed out that the city has garbage barrels and lids available at cost.

"There is no need for several families to use and overcrowd one barrel when we have numerous cans available," he said. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne, member of the committee, urged

Damage Heavy In Pumping House Fire

A fire at the Moran Drilling Co. caused several hundred dollars in damage Saturday night when a well house and pumping unit caught fire.

Local firemen arrived at the well on the Berger highway at 9:30 p. m. and spent an hour extinguishing the burning gas with the department booster wagon.

The well house was completely destroyed in the fire, local firemen said.

American Frontline Soldiers Describe Opening Of Drive

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—"They were blowing their bugles and yelling 'Mansel' when they came up the valley."

"That's what a soldier said today after the Red counter-offensive began."

(The Korean "Mansel" is the equivalent of the Japanese "Ban-zai," a traditional all-purpose battle cry.)

"I had 17 bazooka shells with me and I fired every one of them into groups that I could see in the dark," the soldier added.

"I must have killed quite a few of them."

UN Air Strikes Mauling Reds, Supply Routes

TOKYO (AP)—United Nations troops pulled back as much as 12 miles under the impact of a major Red offensive which raged along 100 miles of the Korean front today.

In other sectors the allies stopped the Reds cold. Where the allies withdrew it was in orderly fashion.

The Communists, with nearly 700,000 men facing the front, launched their attack at 7:30 Sunday night behind their heaviest artillery barrage of the war. Their assault eased in daylight Monday, but was renewed with fresh vigor Monday night.

One intelligence officer called the attack the "Reds' major effort." But another spokesman said Monday it's still too early to tell if it is the Reds' long-expected big spring push.

Close censorship delayed news of the offensive 14 1/2 hours. Then it permitted only a fragmentary picture of the battle. This was it:

The Reds forced a crossing of the Imjin River along a 15-mile front in the west. They were checked by concentrated UN air and artillery fire. This crossing is 25 miles northwest of 30 miles north of Seoul, shell-shattered South Korean capital.

United Nations troops pulled back south of the Hantan River, in the adjoining sector of the east. They view their bridges behind them.

The western front was strewn with bodies of thousands of Chinese, cut down by artillery and air bombardment.

All along the central front allied troops "rolled with the punch." They fought from new positions Monday night over battlefield garishly lighted by giant search lights, flood lights and flares dropped from planes.

(UN withdrawals below the Hantan and on the central front apparently were to straighten the allied line.) A bigged northward at this point. Heaviest concentrations of Red troops were in this area.)

Allied forces stood firm on the east central front against Red assaults through Sunday night and Monday morning. Then the action quieted.

Custom-Created Look For Weekend Wardrobes

This streamlined gray broadcloth sheath dress by Greta Plattry provides the basis for wardrobe changes that take the wearer through an entire day. It's worn (left) with white pique jib jacket for weekend travel. For informal evening (center) the dress is converted to glamor by yellow organdy double-apron overskirt. For afternoon, there's a gray voile tunic (right) with natural straw belt.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK —(NEA)— Separates that are meant for each other are the specialty of designer Greta Plattry who believes that a wardrobe, though moderately priced, should have an impressive, custom-created look.

The day of slaphdash separates, in which a woman put together a white broadcloth shirt, a blue denim skirt and a green sweater, are gone. Denim is strawberry pink or sunflower yellow now and separates are carefully planned to go together.

Week-end wardrobes for summer are favorites with this designer. She has evolved a number of convertibles, each group planned around a basic color and a basic design. In one, she begins with a sleeveless Norfolk jacket of crisp oyster white linen and adds brief shorts in seashell brown linen. As an alternate, there's a slim skirt in the same brown linen. Next, there are bare-top linen camisole and yellow organdy overskirt for summer evenings.

Some of these convertible wardrobes are done in black-and-white, others in purple and lime, still others in peacock-and-beige.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLET
NEA Staff Writer

Writes a wife: "Almost everything I have ever read about marriage stresses the importance of a wife's being able to talk to her husband — or at least listen intelligently while he talks — about his work.

"I haven't any quarrel with that advice. I'm sure it is important. But what can a wife do if she is married to a man who just won't talk to her about his job?

"The only job-talk I ever hear is when we are with my husband's business associates and their wives. Then the men talk and to me it is fascinating — even if I am not, in any way, included in it, but just overhear it.

"That's a problem the advisers usually overlook, seeming to assume that any man will talk about his career if a woman is just interested in it.

"But there are men — and judging from the letters I receive they aren't too rare — who never share any of their working experiences with their wives.

TRY OTHER WAYS

If a wife has tried her best to show her husband that she is vitally interested in his work, that she likes to have him talk about it to her, and still she gets no response, there isn't anything she can do on that score.

All that is left, is for her to make the most of the interest the couple share naturally — such as their home, their children, their friends.

And to these she should strive to add as many other interests as possible.

If they share enough interests, have enough in common and enough to talk about aside from his business or profession they are still on pretty safe ground.

And here's a tip. If a man won't talk shop when he is alone with his wife, but opens up when he is with congenial men, see as much of those men and their wives as possible. That's one way of learning something about his business — even if it is not the most flattering way.

Cleaning The Home Is HD Topic; Complexion Care Also Discussed

"Care and Cleaning of Woodwork" was the topic of a 10-minute program, given by Mrs. W. E. McCracken at a meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Volney Day.

Roll call was answered by "the flowers I grow successfully."

Speaking on the program topic, Mrs. McCracken said "Use a mild soap in cleaning painted walls, with no detergent. She recommended several cleaners for that purpose.

Mrs. McCracken continued "To clean papered walls, use a broom with a cloth bag over the broom part, and use an upward stroke. For grease spots a blotter is good. Put the blotter on the spot and press with a hot iron, changing blotter as it becomes soiled.

"In mopping floors be sure to use a clean mop as sometimes you touch the woodwork and leave a dirty streak."

To clean varnished wood Mrs. McCracken said she finds three tablespoons linsed oil to one quart of hot water and one tablespoon of turpentine very good. She said "Wring a cloth out of this mixture and wipe dry; polish with a soft cloth. Protect the walls with a cardboard or metal piece with a straight edge."

Routine care of complexion and hands was discussed by Mrs. V. Smith and Mrs. W. E. McCracken. Mrs. Smith said "The main thing is to keep your face clean. Your complexion will be glowing if you follow three famous tips to beauty: clean, stimulate, lubricate. The three products needed are a cleansing cream, a skin lotion and a lubricating night cream. The three together make a complete treatment.

Advice was given with upward and outward motion, starting at the base of the throat, and working up onto the face.

TEEN TALK

AP Newsfeatures

One of the most important occasions in a girl's life is her 16th birthday. Some believe that a girl is not a lady until she is 18. Others do not credit her with mature status until she is 21. But an every 16-year-old girl is going to be a young lady when she is 16 years old.

There is no other birthday so respected by girls as the 16th. Other natal days will tick their way off the calendar scarcely noticed. But the 16th birthday is associated with so many pleasant things that are privileges of older girls, that young girls can't patiently wait for the big occasion. Girls have been known to get such "firsts" as bras, girdles, silk stockings, a weekly allowance, permanent waves, and ruffled panties on this fine day. It opens a lovely new vista for darling daughters and the world is seen suddenly through rose-colored glasses.

Great stress has been put on the "sweet 16 and never be kissed" theme — and what little girl with romance in mind doesn't dream that her fairy prince is going to gallop up on that super-special day? So it is inevitable that on that day a daughter plans a birthday party with dreamy eyes and a light heart.

Plans for a "sweet 16" party have been known to involve the longest range planning afforded any similar venture.

One girl wrote recently: "I am going to celebrate my 16th birthday in about a year and wondered if you could supply me with any ideas now so I can get a head start. I am thinking of making all the favors and decorations for the party, so I think it would be good to get started now.

"It is going to be a grown-up party, so I don't think we will want to play the games we have been playing right along at other parties. Do you have any ideas?"

I always feel that the 16th birthday party is the time to dispense with games. Games are fun for the young-uns and even the old-uns. But a party on this great day should be more of a "get-acquainted" party, to say: "See, I'm all grown up and have a permanent wave and I can dance and wear silk stockings and hold hands and goodness knows what else."

Any young swain worth his salt will show up for the party in his best Sunday suit, so the entire affair takes on youthful magnificence.

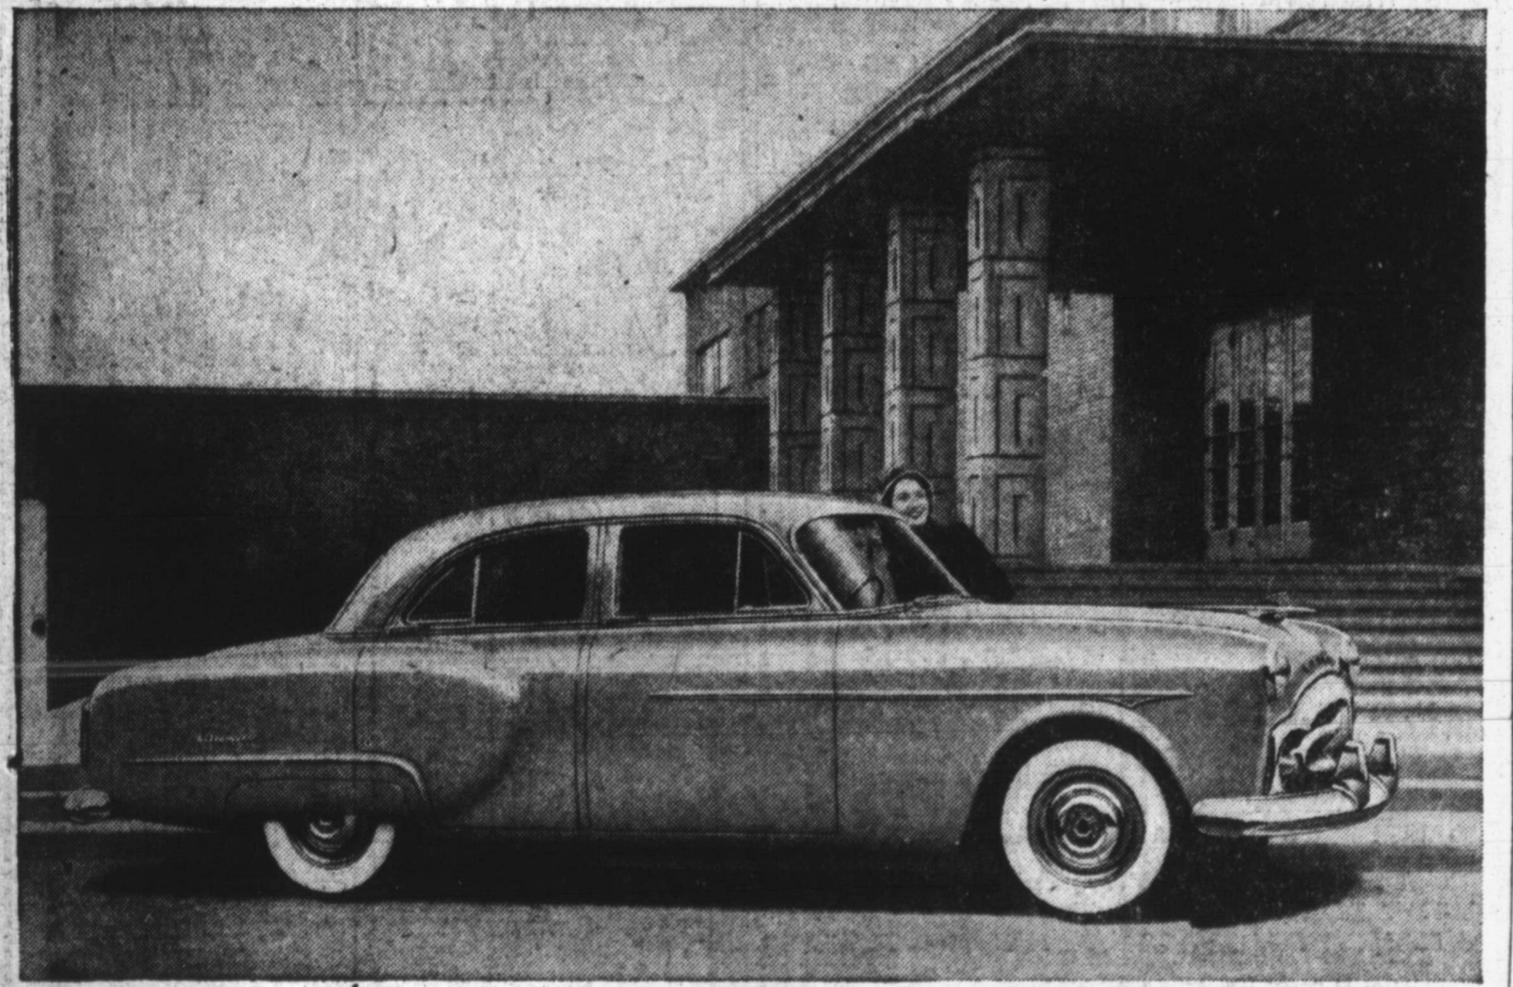

Dancing is an ideal way to get acquainted and is a much better ice-breaker than any game one can think of. Sixteen-year-olds can't dance with the aplomb of a Fred Astaire or Ginger Rogers just naturally. They are learning their way around at this point and half the fun is stepping on each other's toes. It is only by practice that one becomes a good dancer, and after one has managed to rise and dance at one party, dancing is no longer a bugaboo.

This crowd will take more to a menu of fried chicken, chicken à la king or steak and French fried potatoes than to old standbys they liked before. It's strange what growing up can do to one's taste buds.

Sixteen is, of course, the charmed number of guests for this special day. But the more the merrier, if you feel obligated to ask more than the usual number.

Only decorations for a party of this kind should be those on the table, a centerpiece and special little favors for the guests add a pretty touch to the buffet or dining table.

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

"My skin is so dry, my neck is like parchment. I can't stretch my budget to cover expensive cosmetics. What can I do?—Mrs. D."

Dry, sensitive skin will respond to daily care and you will look much fresher and younger. You will enjoy a daily beauty program. Cleanse your skin carefully. Rinse again and again. Dry by gentle blotting with a soft towl, then apply baby oil all over your face and neck. Smooth and stroke it on, then go over the skin with a clean, sterile cotton ball. Discard each cotton ball as it becomes oil-coated. Next, smooth on a powder base and blend and stroke until there is just a film left on the skin. Now apply face powder with fresh cotton balls. Press it on for a smooth effect and make the last strokes downward. If you use rouge, choose cream rouge, which is best for dry skins. Apply the rouge before powdering.

"What type of shoe do you advise for a mature woman who has bunions? She dresses beautifully, is often in the public eye as she is a civic personality and an excellent speaker.—Daughter."

I advise professional care of the bunions by a chiropodist, who can relieve the pain which bunions inflict and I suggest a bunion shoe, of fine, soft leather, which has a concealing bunion "pocket." No matter how well the lady dresses and how well she speaks, she can not be poised and happy if her feet hurt. Simple, functional shoes are not as pretty as straps and buckles and platform models but they are comfortable!

Our lady should put her highlight on her headline. She can forget about her shoes—and others will, too.

"I have steel-gray hair, fair skin. Please suggest the right shade of lipstick for me.—Mrs. K.S."

One of the new violet-reds will be most becoming, and if you use a touch of rouge be sure that it is exactly the same shade as your lipstick.

Mead's Offers Homemakers Economy; More Food Value

The place of bread in the diet is important and will not be overlooked or ignored by homemakers who are interested in the proper nutrition of their families. Mead's Bakery offers modern homemakers an opportunity to vary the menu with a fine variety of breads without sacrificing food value. The test for good yeast bread is that the loaf be oblong and symmetrical, with an evenly rounded top; creamy or white in color with no streaks. The grain of a slice should show thin cell walls, elongated upward. It would be even and have no large holes, no streaks or extreme closeness. The texture should be elastic, fairly soft and springy. (Too soft texture is an indication that bread has not been baked sufficiently to keep well.) The flavor of white bread should be that of good materials; well blended, and well baked. Graham and wholewheat bread should have a whole-grain or "nutty" flavor. Yes, that's the test for good bread; it is also an accurate description of Mead's Bread.

Lewis Motors Remodels Parts Department

The parts and accessories department of Lewis Motors, 211 N. Ballard, has recently undergone a remodeling job. Wes Lewis and his crew jumped in one day and decided that some rearranging would make the department much more convenient. During their spare time (and spare time at the Lewis establishment is rare these days) they got to work and shortened the old counter, made it wider and put on a new swinging gate. Behind the counter, the parts and accessories shelves were wall-mounted with plywood, with archways leading into the different aisles of the department.

COLOR IN CONTEMPORARY MOOD

Just as the theme in a symphony gains importance with repetition, effective colors are enhanced by repetition through a household. Such a technique of color usage lends unity and serenity. It also makes it possible to use furniture and accessories interchangeably. In the above room, green and gray, softened with red, strike the keynote for the background. Used in the modern manner, they complement the contemporary architecture and furnishing. To absorb skylight from the window wall on the east, the north wall is painted deep green. The adjoining east wall of the hallway is in the same tone. The west wall of the living room—and its continuation on the west wall of the hallway—are painted sea gray. The same gray is used on the west wall of the bedroom, seen through the open doorway. Photo by Leaman

Easy To Board Up Dangerous Stairs

By MR. FIX
Sometimes the solution of a household problem is so simple that it seems impossible that everyone in the world doesn't know the answer. For instance, take the matter of cellar or attic stairs, one of the home's prime accident hazards.

Most of these stairs nowadays have no risers between the treads, leaving a gaping hole that can boobytrap your foot before you can say "!!! XX & !!!". This usually happens when you are toiling up a double armful of Mama's best preserves. Open-step stairways are particularly dangerous for youngsters, whose inexperience with such pitfalls leads them to dash pell-mell without watching their step.

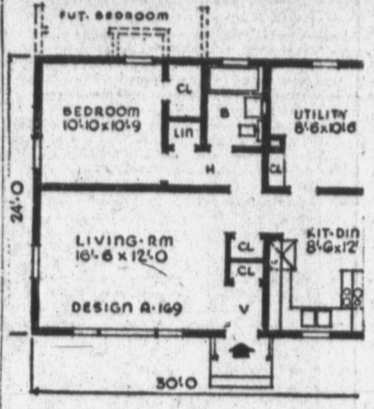

One way to remedy the open-step situation is to call in a carpenter and have him board up the wide open spaces. This is both expensive and unnecessary. You can do it yourself — and without going out and buying any lumber, which, incidentally, is also getting expensive these days. Use any scrap lumber you can find, regardless of width. The thick ends of wooden food boxes, that you can scrounge from your grocer, serve very well.

Just put enough of these short pieces side by side, with the grain running up and down, to equal the width of a step, sawing the end piece to make the fit perfect. Then fasten them together by nailing a cleat securely across all of them. Be sure you get at least two nails in each piece of random-size wood.

This will hold them together well enough, but you might want to make an absolutely kick-proof job out of it by further fastening the short pieces together with corrugated nails, such as are used to brace the corners of screen doors.

Next step is to put the assembly in place and nail the long cleat securely to the underside of the top step. The bottom of your homemade riser is then nailed to the back of the next lower step. Repeat this process right down to the bottom step and the main part of the job is done. Finish it up in good shape with a couple of coats of paint. As a matter of fact, as long as you're doing that, you might just as well go whole hog and paint the whole staircase.

Commodore Perry Introduced Soybeans

In 1853, when Commodore Matthew Perry sailed from China with the American fleet, he had a vegetable in his sea chest which was to prove of extraordinary character some sixty years later.

This vegetable — the soybean — had long been treasured in the Orient as a food. Today it is used in the manufacture of shortenings, bake goods, confectionery, cereal, beverages, paper, animal foods, cosmetics and innumerable other products. The oil from this bean is also used extensively by paint manufacturers in the production of fine paints and varnishes.

Fix-It Forum

Q — How can I clean the front of our living-room fireplace — it's a smooth light-colored stone. —B. W.

A — A mild acid bleach — clear vinegar or commercial acetic acid — should do the trick. Muriatic (hydrochloric) acid is more powerful and must be handled with extreme caution; unless nothing else will remove the stains, it's not recommended for stonework.

Special Finishes For Television Cabinets

New problems for cabinet manufacturers developed with the coming of television. The usual finishes cracked and checked because the large number of power tubes caused wide changes in the temperature and moisture content of the wood. The special lacquers and sealers that have been developed for the purpose are extremely tough and flexible. They are water-white and do not darken or change color.

Color Scheming Is Important Factor

By LONORE KENT
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Selecting a color scheme for the interior of an entire house — rather than choosing a series of unrelated combinations for individual rooms — is a favored technique of famed architect, engineer and colorist, Charles M. Goodman. Mr. Goodman, architect for Builder Robert C. Davenport's Hollin Hills development, near Alexandria, Virginia, feels that rooms should not be isolated units, colorfully speaking, but that effective, harmonious colors which are well liked by members of a family should recur again and again on various wall and ceiling surfaces of a dwelling. Furniture and accessories selected because they harmonize with such a household color palette can then be used advantageously in various areas. Furthermore, room vistas seen through open doorways will be sure to please the eye.

"All walls in the same room need not be the same color," says Mr. Goodman, whose ideas about color are as modern as the houses he designs. "It is frequently effective, however, to carry the same color on contiguous, or adjacent, wall or ceiling areas."

Many examples of this practice appear in the small modern homes in Hollin Hills, which has just been named the nation's most outstanding home development by the Southwest Research Institute, after studying more than thirty projects considered by the Institute to be the best in the country. In connection with the award, Mr. Goodman was cited as the "architect of the year" and Mr. Davenport as the "builder of the year."

In one Hollin Hills home, with a window wall on the east side, the north wall of the living room and the east wall of the hallway that joins it are painted umber-gray. The west wall of the living room is painted umber-gray. Because a continuation of this wall forms the west wall of the hallway, it is also painted in the umber-gray. Carrying the technique one step further, the west wall of a bedroom, visible through the hallway door, is also painted in the same umber-gray.

Mr. Goodman, incidentally, warns against the use of too-strong hues for walls, advising you mix tints of them. Bright colors belong in the furniture and accessories, he believes — not on the walls. He feels that wall areas should be grayed tones that are subtle... a challenge to your imagination.

In mixing colors should be neutralized, Mr. Goodman advises — so they don't "vibrate." He often goes so far as to say that the way to mix wall or woodwork colors is to get the exact hue you think you want, then to "throw it back" with raw umber. This will soften and neutralize so your walls will have a rich and mellow look.

Frequently, his color specifications call for dark tones in rooms where there are large glass areas. Many of the inner walls of the houses he designs are painted in deep unusual colors that intrigue the eye and absorb skylight.

When planning a room's color scheme, he carefully studies the outdoor area that's seen through picture windows. These "murals" will, he knows, serve as decoration for the room. If there are woods or garden areas, he recognizes the fact that their coloring in varying seasons must be considered in choosing paint colors for walls and woodwork.

His special forte, of course, is the modern house... a contemporary dwelling that makes the most of site, surroundings and the space it contains. He uses color to make small houses seem larger, to give them unity, distinction... to make them aid the eyesight and delight the eye. These accomplishments, naturally, are desirable whether you live in a house that's contemporary in design or in one that has its architectural roots in another century. Consequently, there are few of us who will not make mental note of Mr. Goodman's techniques to our advantage.

Junior won't catch his foot and have a bad fall if you board up the open stairway as shown here.

Color Of Surroundings Affects Daily Lives
The color of our surroundings quite imperceptibly becomes the color of our daily lives. Colors seep into our consciousness, influencing our spirits, our moods, our well-being. A room painted in lovely harmonious colors adds a note of buoyancy, an exhilaration that lasts through the day. On the other hand, lack of cheerful color can be depressing and can give a drab, morose outlook to sensitive people. Loud, inharmonious color schemes induce a jarring note.

Add Width, Beauty
Brightly painted shutters on a house not only bring life and beauty to it, but give the illusion of width to windows that seem too narrow.

Example Of Error Nothing is easier than hindsight. It is the simplest of matters to look back on great political and military decisions...

However, certain of those decisions stand out as mountainous examples of errors of judgment.

The agreement which President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill concluded with Marshal Stalin at Yalta, early in 1945, falls into that sorry category.

It was an illusion to believe that a powerful, heavily armed Soviet Union would play the role of cooperative good-governor in a shattered and impoverished Eurasia...

It was an illusion to believe that the balance of power could be destroyed in Europe and Asia without involving the gravest danger to America's own national security...

We were out-generated -- our statesmanship failed. The short-view took precedence over the long-view. We won a war and lost the peace.

The Doctor Says

For some reason which is hard to understand, many people are more inclined to neglect or ignore pus or blood in the urine, painful or burning urination or similar abnormalities...

Among the common urinary symptoms is the presence of pus -- usually accompanied by burning sensations -- in the urine.

Inflammation in the bladder, it is said, is called cystitis. In addition to causing pus to appear in the urine, cystitis is likely to produce some pain, and chills and fever are by no means uncommon.

The lining of the wall of the urinary bladder becomes inflamed, swollen, and red. If this is allowed to go on too long the wall of the bladder may become thickened, its capacity lessened, and a state of chronic difficulty may go on for years.

Most cases of cystitis are caused by germs, though chemicals or other irritating substances can also bring it on.

Undermining the Constitution

I want to quote further from a great book "Undermining the Constitution" by Thomas James Norton...

The author has considerable to say about the meaning of the welfare clause that is being used now-a-days to turn this government into a socialist and communistic government...

When the framers of the Constitution were, considering its adoption there was considerable discussion as to the meaning of the general welfare clause.

"A bill was introduced by a member from New England to pay a bounty to cod fishermen, to subsidize a private interest, as agriculture and many more private interests have been subsidized by the 'New Deal'.

Among the framers of the Constitution, it would be a very real and practical matter to let the general welfare clause be used to let the government take care of its own hands.

It was an illusion to believe that a powerful, heavily armed Soviet Union would play the role of cooperative good-governor in a shattered and impoverished Eurasia.

It was an illusion to believe that the balance of power could be destroyed in Europe and Asia without involving the gravest danger to America's own national security.

We were out-generated -- our statesmanship failed. The short-view took precedence over the long-view. We won a war and lost the peace.

Dial Scatters Line Clovis Bingles As Oilers Edge Past Pioneers, 7-5

Pampa Nine Tests Pioneers Here Tonight At 8 O'Clock

Right-hander Carrol "Red" Dial let the Clovis Pioneers down with nine hits here Sunday afternoon as the Oilers notched their second win in three league starts, 7-5.

Dial was in complete command the last six innings, blanking the Pioneers. Clovis picked up two runs in the second and three tallies in the third off Dial, all unearned.

Lamesa Defeats Amarillo, 10-6

LAMESA — (P) — The Lamesa Lobos copped their first win of the young WT-NM League season here yesterday before a slightly chilled Sunday crowd, out-scoring Amarillo's Gold Sox 10 to 6 in the opener of a two-game series.

Both Ed Arthur for Lamesa and Bob Zolliecoffer for the Sox pitched the distance, although each was ragged for 13 blows.

Lamesa bunched all their scoring in the first five frames, going ahead for keeps with a three-run rally in the second and stretching their lead to 10-3 with a four-run outburst in the fifth.

Don Stokes led the Lobos attack with a single double and triple in four trips. Zeke Harper topped the losers at bat with three singles in five tries.

Murray and Howard, who drove in four runs, hit successive home runs with the bases empty in the seventh as Arthur, a 16-game winner here last season, coasted in with the win.

Douglas McBean and J. W. Wingate, Negro rookies, had big days for the Lobos. McBean, a Cuban, caught the entire game and blasted a single and a triple.

Wingate, making his initial start at shortstop, belted a pair of doubles and participated in the three double plays as the Lobos ran the Royal in this department to six in two games.

John Fetzer and Santiago also collected two singles each for Lamesa, and Arthur aided his cause by driving two runs home.

Lamesa's biggest scoring spree in the fifth came on McBean's lead-off single, Wingate's second two-bagger, a walk to Jess Jacinto, a triple by Stokes and a single by Glen Burns.

The two clubs meet in the series finale Monday night at 8 o'clock with Amarillo's Doc Fletcher opposing Lamesa's Cuban Negro rookie right-hander, Roberto Leyva.

Babe Ruth hit 30 or more home runs in a single season 13 times.

Arcao Undecided On What Horse To Ride

By JOHN CHANDLER Battle Morn was away from an outside post position, ran far back in the field of 13 much of the way, then closed with a tremendous stretch run.

Master Eddie, who has booted home four derby winners to lead all jockeys in the Churchill Downs three-year-old classic, hasn't committed himself yet to ride Battle Morn.

However the free lance jockey who usually can name his mounts in the big glitter gallops, almost nipped Repertoire in the $49,800 Wood Memorial. It required a photo to show that Repertoire had taken the $35,950 — richest good of all time — by a head from Battle Morn.

"How can you commit your self to any horse, with the derby so wide open as it appears now," Arcao said just before he went to the post with Battle Morn.

After the race, he still wouldn't say yes or no about Battle Morn, although it seems the Cain Hoy Stables still boasts a frangible hickory into a prominent horse in derby calculations. Most horsemen here thought Eddie would wind up riding the colt in the $100,000 Louisville classic May 5.

Austin Topples Tyler Twice

(By The Associated Press) A rash of double headers broke out in the Big State League yesterday when the smoke had settled Austin's Pioneers, who last year couldn't win by forfeit, were at the top of the heap.

The Pioneers whipped Tyler to a frazzle, licking the East Texans 9-3 and 7-3.

Sherman - Denison, which had been pacing the loop, fell all the way down to fifth place by dropping two to Wichita Falls. The Spudders whipped the Twins 6-2 and 2-1.

In other twin hits, Texaskans took a double trimming from Gainesville, 14-2 and 6-1 while Temple and Waco divided, Waco won the first game 8-2 and Temple the afterpiece 10-3.

Missions Bounce Houston In Twin Bill, 9-6, 7-3

DALLAS — (P) — Leave us face it, somebody sold somebody a bill of goods by saying San Antonio didn't have what it took to go places in the Texas League this season.

The Missions, who wound up fourth last year then surprised even themselves by winning the pennant and the Dixie Series, came up with most of the faces of that team missing. A wall of woes arose from the Alamo City.

But here the league race is two weeks old and San Antonio is leading the field with baseball as smart as you'd care to see.

Last night the Missions clomped down Houston twice to push to the top by a game margin. The Padres clipped the Burfs 9-6 in the first game and then won 7-3 in the nightcap.

Oklahoma City, meanwhile, was losing its perch at the head of the parade and doing it in bluster fashion. Tulsa lambasted the Indians 11-1 with a 15-hit attack. Meanwhile John Walters was handcuffing the Redskins with five hits.

Dallas climbed into the first division by licking Fort Worth 6-3. The Eagles went into a tie with Fort Worth for fourth place. Walt Lantracund won his third straight mound victory, aided immeasurably by Frank Tournay, who clouted a three-run double in the fifth.

Gassers Tumble Hubbers, 11-10

LUBBOCK — (P) — Borger blew a five-run lead, but rallied for three runs in the bottom of the ninth to edge the Lubbock Hubbers 11-10 here this chilly Sunday afternoon.

A triple by Ed Brawley, followed by Woody Pennington's double, the visitors carrying five Royce Mills and Earl Perry's outfield fly handed the Gassers their winning runs.

Lubbock fought back for one tally in the ninth and had the tying run on base when Eddie Carnett, winning his first game of the year, stopped the potential rally.

A high wind caused trouble for outfielders and bothered the pitchers, none of whom worked as effectively as usual. But in the long run, it was the more timely hitting of the Gassers that brought the victory.

Sloppy play afield by the Hubbers handed the Gassers six runs, the visitors carrying five fly tallies. Most damaging play came in the ninth when Mills laid a man on a slow throw to third and cost the Hubbers a run on a wild peg to the plate that allowed Pennington to cross the plate.

In the hectic ninth, Brawley tripped to right; H. C. Sargent falling down and letting "the ball roll to the fence. Pennington doubled to left to score Brawley with the tying run. Jimmy Banks bounced to Mills along the third base line and Pennington slid in under Mills' fly throw.

Newt Secret laid down an attempted sacrifice, Mills pounced on the ball and had a sure out at the plate, but threw wild of catcher Don Moore, Pennington scoring and Secret moving to second and Banks to third. Banks scored on Perry's long fly to left.

Carnett took over mound duties for the second time in the game and immediately got into trouble. Sargent singled for his third hit of the day and moved to second on Mills' long single to right centerfield. Jackie Wilcox forced Mills at second, Sargent scoring.

Paul Dobkowski lofted to centerfield and Bob Pugatch forced Wilcox at second to end the two hour and 36 minute game.

Durocher Comes Off Second Best in Battle With Bums

By JOE REICHLER AP Sports Writer You couldn't blame Leo (The Lip) Durocher for talking to himself today. The wonder is that the loquacious leader of the New York Giants has any speech left at all.

To say that Durocher came off second best in the much ballyhooed battle of wits with Charlie Dressen, his former first lieutenant at Brooklyn, is putting it mildly. The New Dodger plot outmaneuvered and outgeneraled Leo at every turn over the weekend as the Brooks vanquished their hated rivals three straight at the Polo Grounds.

The final crushing blow — and the most humiliating — came yesterday when the Dodgers snatched a thrilling victory from apparent certain defeat to whip the Giants 4-3, in 10 innings.

The triumph left the Dodgers in first place in the National League, a half-game in front of Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs. The Pirates defeated the Reds in Cincinnati, 7-5, and the Cubs tripped the Cards, 10-5, in St. Louis. Philadelphia's Phils salvaged the last of a three game series with Boston, winning an uphill 6-5 victory.

Cleveland forged into the American League lead, sweeping a home doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns, 10-3 and 4-3. The Indians now have won five of six to hold a half-game edge over Washington and the Chicago White Sox. Rain washed out the scheduled game between the Senators and New York Yankees but the White Sox edged the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, in Chicago.

Boston's Red Sox pulled up to a .500 rating winning two games from the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5 and 7-4, at Fenway Park. They now have won three and lost as many.

Yesterday's Giant defeat was more galling than the setbacks of Friday and Saturday. Sal Maglie, the veteran right-hander, needed only one more strike to record his first victory of the season. He had a 32 count on Gil Hodges with two out, nobody on base in the ninth and the Giants ahead, 2-2.

The third strike never came. Instead, Hodges walked, moved to second on Roy Campanella's single and scored the tying run on another one-bagger by Pee Wee Reese. Earl Furr's homer, his first hit in 19 runs at bat, decided the issue in the top of the 10th.

Here is how Dressen stole the show from Durocher in the department most revered by Leo, the sensational, the extravagant, the spectacular, the unpredictable, the theatrical.

In the seventh inning on Friday, with Brooklyn leading 7-3, Durocher sent Artie Wilson, a left-handed hitter, to pinch hit. Dressen indicated disdain for the Lip's selection by shifting three of his infielders to the left side of second base, and pulling in his rightfielder, Furillo, to play second. That left rightfielder wide open, unprotected. The 20,000 witnesses could hardly believe it.

All Wilson had to do was tap the ball to rightfield and it probably would have been a home run. Rightfield in the Polo Grounds means right at the bullpen. But Wilson the sub-pup, who is a notorious opposite field hitter, tapped meekly back to the box and was an easy out.

Durocher balled. On Saturday, Dressen sent up two pinch hitters against Larry Jansen in the seventh and both walked, forcing in the tying run. After the Dodgers routed Jansen in the eighth, Dressen stole a page out of Durocher's book by ordering a squeeze bunt that brought in another Brooklyn run.

Dresden pulled the unexpected again yesterday, using Don Newcombe in relief. The staff's ace, who whipped the Giants in a nine-inning job Friday, hurled three hitless and runless innings to notch his second triumph in three days. Durocher ordered a batter purposely passed in the ninth hoping to get a pinch hitter for Newcombe. But Dresden crossed up his old sidekick again, allowing big Don to bat thus keeping him in the game.

Earl Blackmore Is Reelected Canadian Roping Club Head

CANADIAN — (Special) — About 30 members of the Canadian Roping Club met recently for annual election of officers and to make plans for the summer's roping season.

The meeting was held at the E. R. Cloyd Custom Meat Processing plant one mile west of town, where Cloyd and sons, David and Jim, had prepared a feast of "son-of-a-gun" with the usual trimmings of onions, pickles, apricots, rolls and coffee.

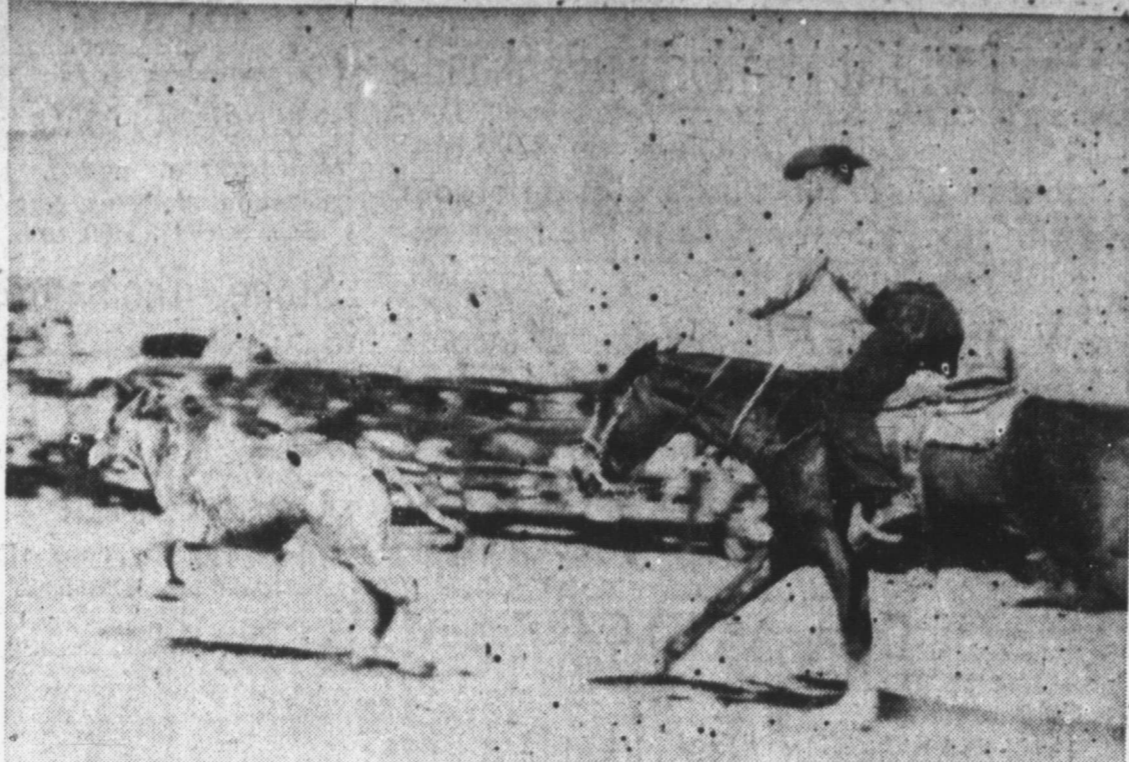

All officers were re-elected; they are Earl Blackmore, president; Ike Kelley, vice president; and Bruce Waterfield, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made for procurement of stock — calves for roping and a few steers for bull-dogging — and for conditioning of the pens, arena, and flood-lighting system.

The club is confronted with vandalism in that every one of the 1000-watt light bulbs in the lighting system has been shot out. It was stated that these large bulbs cost approximately $9 each, and the only solution seemed to be to employ an electrician to remove the bulbs after each night's performance.

The club is getting off to a rather slow start because of the cold spring, but expects to accept the invitation of the Pampa Roping Club to a matched roping event at Pampa in the near future.

The Roping Club has a dues-paying membership of 60 and participates in roping matches here or at some neighboring place almost weekly during the summer, and co-operates with the Canadian Rodeo Club in staging the annual Canadian Rodeo.

BULL DOGGING—Joe Dunlop, Sayre, Okla., left, prepares to take off from his horse to drop a bull in McLean's Rodeo Sunday. And he made good enough time to place second in the second go-round. This despite the fact he has never entered this particular event before Sunday. (News Photo)

Legislation Before Congress Listed

WASHINGTON — (P) — The status of major legislation at the end of the week:

Troops for Europe: The Senate has passed and sent to the House a resolution approving the use of four American divisions, in an European defense army but insisting on Congressional approval if any additional troops are sent to Europe. The resolution is in the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Rent control: Congress has passed and the President has signed a bill extending the federal control program until the end of June.

Aid for India: A bill to give 2,000,000 tons of grain to India is bottled up in the House Rules Committee but probably will be cleared next week after revisions providing for a loan instead of a gift. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has recommended that half of the grain be provided as a loan and half as a gift.

Defense housing: The House has shelved, but may reconsider an administration bill to increase government mortgage insurance authority as an incentive to home building. The Senate has passed a modified bill.

Draft and UMT: Both chambers have passed bills extending the draft law and lowering the induction age to 18 in the Senate and 18 1/2 in the House. The Senate bill would let the President start Universal Military Training later. The House bill provides merely for a study of UMT, with no separate law needed to put it into effect. A compromise will be worked out by a Senate-House conference.

Taxes: The House Ways and Means Committee is holding hearings on a bill to raise $10,000,000,000 in new taxes. There has been no Senate action.

Appropriations: two departmental money bills have passed the House. None has passed the Senate.

Reciprocal trade: Legislation extending trade agreements program three more years has passed the House and is pending in the Senate.

Defense: a bill authorizing a $2,300,000,000 warship construction and modernization program has been signed by the President. So has a bill giving $10,000 free insurance to GI's killed in action.

McLean American Legion Post wound up its annual three-day rodeo Sunday and cowboys from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico walked off with cash prizes totaling $1200.

The rodeo, sponsored by Floyd Corbin-Florey Post 315 of McLean, was spread over the weekend with first performance Friday night. Floats and horses got together Saturday morning for a parade along the streets of McLean with Cooke Chevrolet Co. taking first place in the float contest. Pampa Roping Club was included in the parade.

Because of its early date, the affair attracted a large number of performers including several from Pampa. In addition to the initial contest Friday night, other performances were held Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

Sunday winners are as follows:

Bareback bronc riding: C. M. Coffee, Miami, Rex Drake, Sayre, Okla.; George Durley, Logan, Okla.; Junior Green, Sayre; Leslie Darsey, Alameda and Pete Durley, Logan.

Saddle bronc riding (first go-round): George Durley, Leslie Hendricks, Logan, Okla.; Bob Sherrod, McLean and John Farris, Iowa Park. (Second go-round): George Durley, Pete Durley, Leslie Darsey and Bob Sherrod.

Calf roping (first go-round): Bob Muncie, Amarillo; Wash Rollins, Lee Cockrell, Pampa and W. T. Smith. (Second go-round): Clifton Smith, Do Guynes, Shamrock; C. M. Coffee and W. T. Smith.

Bull riding: Dale Barnes, Elk City, Okla.; Jim Bill Dodston, Perryton; Bobby Burns, Foster; Haney, Amarillo; Harvey Taylor, Canadian; John Farris and Pete Durley.

Ribbon Roping (First go-round): Bob Sherrod, Johnny Freeman, Higgins; Floyd Vandenberg and Homer Taylor, Pampa. (Second go-round): Bob Cluck, Gruver, Bob Sherrod, Spicer

Third Man Charged In Warehouse Raid

Robert Packard, 35, and Walter Brown, 45-year-old ex-convict, are also charged in the case.

Russia Providing The Big Problem

WASHINGTON — (P) — If the whole flaming debate over General MacArthur could be reduced to one, all-important question this would be it: Would you make the decision that might the emphasis is on "might" — bring Russia into the war on the side of China, starting World War III?

Each person taking sides in this dispute between President Truman and the general must answer the question for himself, in his own conscience.

At this moment no one — including the President and the general — can say what Russia "might" do if we took more active steps against China.

The question can be put in another way: Although we are fighting the Chinese, all the fighting has been in Korea. We have done no damage to China itself.

But just north of Korea, and adjoining it, is China's Manchuria. China's supply bases are there, including bases for any planes it has.

And it is down through Manchuria that China pours men and supplies for the fighting in Korea, keeping the fighting going.

At the rate the fighting is going, it may last indefinitely without any truce or peace in sight.

But if we widened the fighting to China itself, the Chinese then might be forced to quit.

How could we widen it? We could bomb the Chinese bases on their own soil of Manchuria; put an economic and naval blockade on the Chinese coast; and turn Chiang Kai-shek's troops on Formosa loose against the Chinese mainland, thus forcing the Chinese Communists to fight on two fronts.

That's what MacArthur suggests. But China is an ally of Russia, and Russia's Siberia adjoins Manchuria.

If we attacked China itself, Russia might come to the aid of her ally in Asia. And once she made the decision to get into the war against the U.S. and its allies, it might start war in Europe at the same time.

He says Russia wouldn't "necessarily" get into it but probably would suit herself, when she felt ready, about getting into a world war.

So not knowing what Russia would do or where our action would lead, what would you do if you had to make the decision about widening the war on China?

President Truman's decision — and, like the general, he can't be sure what Russia might do — is against widening the war on China at this time, anyway.

And General Omar Bradley, chief of the joint chiefs of staff, who advise the President on military policy, is against widening the war now.

He said last week: "we cannot take the chance of trying to anticipate immediate Communist intentions... if at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battleground."

Mr. Truman has another reason for not wanting World War III now or for widening the war in Asia: he wants to build up the defense of western Europe and pour supplies in there.

A war in Asia would drain away the supplies.

MacArthur argues that the real war with communism already is being fought in Asia, and that in Asia "we fight Europe's war with arms while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

In his talk to Congress MacArthur didn't speak directly of bombing Chinese bases in Manchuria, but it was implicit in what he said. In that speech he urged:

Economic and naval blockade of China, turning Chiang's men loose on the Chinese mainland; and using "air reconnaissance" over Manchuria. Which would merely mean scouting over Manchuria with planes.

But in another part of the speech he said that unless the Chinese bases in Manchuria are destroyed, victory in Korea is impossible.

Since he also said he had no thought of sending American ground troops into Manchuria, the only way in which the Manchurian bases could be destroyed would be by aerial bombardment.

On Dec. 1 he said his lack of authority — and this was the heart of his quarrel with the President — to attack the Chinese bases was "an enormous

AEC Chairman Says Arms Limit Crisis

DALLAS — (P) — Gordon Dean, head of the U.S. Atomic Energy program, says the "fiction" atomic stockpile thus far has prevented a third World War.

The chairman of the country's Atomic Energy Commission spoke yesterday before hundreds of lawyers. They were here at an international law and relations institute of the American Bar Ass'n's Southwestern Regional Convention.

Dean said the Russians "have added a new twist to aggression, in which the satellite spills blood for the principal aggressor without identifying the principal aggressor in the local conflict."

"This new technique of aggression characterizes the present crisis. The present crisis is the possibility of total war, but more specifically it is the Korean War in which Russia has so magnanimously permitted the North Koreans and Chinese to spill their blood in the cause of total Soviet aggression," he said.

Dean said America's atomic energy stockpile has made the crisis a limited one, instead of a major one.

"In my opinion America's possession of a considerable stockpile of atomic weapons has prevented up to this time a world conflagration."

"How long this shall be true depends entirely upon the Soviet analysis of our strength, their willingness to take the risk of defying that strength, and their estimate of what the free world will risk in crushing an early aggressor in the hope of preventing total aggression."

handicap, without precedent in military operation." He said this in an interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

And on March 24 he pointed out to the Chinese that if their "interior" bases were exposed to allied power they risked imminent military collapse.

Their "interior" bases couldn't be exposed to any allied power except allied air power, since MacArthur said "no man in his right mind would advocate sending our ground forces into continental China."
