IT'S A STEEL-There's just no reason to have the shapely gal up there except to make you look at the picture. When you do that, you're supposed to notice that she is standing on a sheet of solid steel, supported by a wooden block resting on a sheet of stretched steel. That's supposed, according to the Wheeling, W. Va., manufacturers, to prove that the stretched metal is stronger than the solid. The expanded steel is made by slitting and stretching sheet steel.

New York. His opening bid of one notrump was slightly on the bold side. I like it myself chiefly because of the wealth of honor cards in the hand, but many fine players would consider the hand just a shade too weak for no-trump.

North's response of two clubs was the Stayman Convention, asking South to show a major suit possible. South dutifully showed his biddable hearts, and North promptly raised to game. West opened the king of spades and Uris won with the ace. He then laid own the ace of hearts and continued with a low heart, allowing East to take the king and rack. East then returned a spade, forcing dummy to ruff. The time for caution had now arrived. Should declarer rely on the success of either the club or the diamond finesse?

Uris saw that neither finesse would be needed if the clubs broke reasonably well, so he cau-tiously took the ace of clubs and led another club toward dummy. West could not afford to play low since then declarer, with no loss in clubs, could afford to give up a diamond trick. Hence West had to put up his king of clubs. West returned a diamond, but dummy put up the ace and cashed three good clubs so that South could discard three diamonds. The contract was thus bid boldly and brought home by careful play.

BOLSHEVIK One of the things I derived a good, hearty chuckle from recently was a letter to one of the newspapers running this column. The writwas incensed because of my handling of the Stepinac - Yugoslav-Ustashi business and pointed out the Vatican's connection with it. He accused me a Yugoslav "communist" newspaper without offering any proof that it was communist and, after himself quoting from the London "Tablet", a Catholic paper, declared that he had now given "the American side." What struck my sense of humor particularly was his statement that "Mr. Baxter also quotes from a Communist newspaper. I cannot check this Communist paper of Yugoslavia because I have never seen a Communist newspaper, with which Mr. Baxter seems to be so familiar."

Here we have a man all but calling me a Communist because I don't like the Vatican agents' tactics. He says I quoted from a Communist newspaper. Then he says he has never seen a Communist newspaper. Form your own conclusions In any event, the insinuation that I'm a bolshevik is really a new one on me and I'm getting a kick out of it. From the terrific uproar THE DAILY WORKER and PM and the PEOPLE'S WORLD and other red pers let loose in the past about my being a seditionist and fascist and enemy of the proletariat. I doubt if they'd be willing to welme me as a comrade. I do think red is a nice color, though, and it goes especially well with white and biue. However, I'm not too fond of black. It's depressing. Of course if the Mussolini-Hitler-Franco-Vatican boys like it, even to preferring black shirts, black insignias and black, in general, I would say everyone to his own tastes.

ITALIAN ELECTION Not to ride a dead horse, but the Italian national elections a few days ago again brought to my mind the widely reported quotation of Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen (The atholic Hour), "In the future there will be but two governments to the world—Rome and Moscow." Now here are some facts about he Italian election. According to the AP, "Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrat (Cathoic) party scored a slim 21,378-vote margin...over communist - led forces in Sunday's bitterly fought regional assembly elections, it was

In the Italian elections prior to that—in which even the pope and clergy actively campaigned and threatened excommunication upon anyone going Communist—the Reds captured over 28 per cent of the entire Italian vote.

Most encyclopedias report Italy to be 98 per cent Roman Catholic. There is no separation of church and state there, as exists in America. The Catholic church is the only one recognized by law.

The point is, the Italians have lived under their church-state system for many, many years. They have had enough experience with it to know whether or not they like it-that is 98 percent-almost allof the Italians have been brought church united with government. But 28 percent of these CATHO-LICS voted the COMMUNIST ticket, even defying their own clergy and excommunication. That's a lo of Catholics voting Red, seems to

Thus, on these figures I simply came to the conclusion that 28 out of 100 Italian Catholics, having had long experience with their churchstate system, found it so undesirable that they were even willing to chance on Communism. From the frying pan into the fire.
This election a few days ago was even closer. I haven't yet up the percentage but the Associated Press said the Catholic party arely won-by only 21,378 votes. That means there must have been a whopping big gang of Catholics voting Red. If that trend continues tue Communists will sweep Italy the next time and it's likely they mean by justice and truth my recent prediction about the Vatican moving to America may come to pass in short order thereafter. The unfortunate thing about all this is that the Italian people have not known real liberty in recent generations. They do not have a A salesman called at a farm huge, majority middle class-neithhouse and in order to show some er politically Catholic or Communinterest in the farmer's own inist-as we have. Therefore they can only jump from one extreme to the other. Our nation is fortunate in that most of its people insist upon separation of church and governnent and oppose the Vatican ideas about such unions. This middleclass majority, however, is unorganized and many of its members end to lean either toward the political Catholic or political Com-runist side, both of which are highy organized and disciplined. In due time this can very easily lead to our own people being in the same boat the Italians are in and, regardless

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The cool, slick fabric called bemberg rayon is particularly adaptable to the summertime needs of the mature woman. Because it's a rayon yarn made in fine deniers, it drages beautifully. It's a fabric that does not wrinkle easily. It gives long service, can be washed and ironed. And it won't fade in the sun, wont lose its lustre in laundering.

Lately, designers have been working youthful lines into clothes for the older woman. This does not mean that they turn up a kittenish version of a junior cotton. It means that the fashion world has come to understand that the mature woman can wear a label to the field with the sun, wont lose its lustre in laundering.

York car owners under 21 years of age will be required to carry automobile liability insurance beginning July 1. The law was enacted to cure reckless driving by teen age "jalopy" owners. Owners under 21 can't get a license unless they carry at least $5,000 liability insurance for injuries to one person and at least $10,000 to cover injuries to more than one. The bill's preamble stated that there was a steady increase in the number of motor vehicle accidents and that a startling number of these accidents involve youthful drivers and that.
