Sabre Jets Down Three Red Planes

HEADQUARTERS, FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea — (AP) — U. S. Sabre jets today shot down three Communist MIG-15 jets and damaged another...

Thirty-four allied planes tangled with an estimated 30 MIGs in dramatic dogfights south of Sinuiju. The aerial battle ranged from 33,000 feet down to 3,000.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported patrol contact and artillery fire from the Munsan area near the United Nations "peace camp," base for allied cease-fire negotiators.

The largest patrol action was northeast of Kangson on the east coast of North Korea. An estimated two Red companies were engaged in the pre-dawn darkness.

Thirteen B-29 Superforts attacked railway yards at Hwangju and Hungnam. Six of the big planes hit Hwangju south of the North Korean capital, Pyongyang.

No enemy ground fire was reported. The planes dropped about 130 tons of bombs. There was no setup in the allied naval attack.

The battleship U.S.S. New Jersey and the destroyers U.S.S. Mason and U.S.S. Cunningham yesterday plastered Red troops concentrations and supply centers between Kosong and Kangson, on the east coast.

Wonsan was battered again. Destroyer fire hit gun positions, barracks and highways. Red shore batteries opened fire before daylight yesterday.

Despite bad weather off the west coast, carrier-based marine Corsairs were launched on effective strikes against enemy troops and supply points.

NEWARK, N. J. — (AP) — A massive indictment contained 9,000 counts — possibly the most in U. S. legal history — accuses an Ohio munitions firm of negligence in a death-dealing explosion at South Amboy, N. J., in 1933.

Phil Solberg doesn't believe in signs. While on vacation he had the misfortune to get in a wreck with a sausage truck. A sign on the back of the truck read: "Hit me easy. I'm full ofologna."

An Effort To Throw UN Off Guard: Wary Lawmakers See Danger In Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Wary lawmakers cautioned today that new Communist aggression may be lurking behind seeming Red willingness to negotiate a cease-fire in Korea.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) told a reporter he fears the current maneuvering by the Reds at Kaesong might be only an effort to throw United Nations forces off guard for an attack on Europe in August.

"We must watch this thing carefully," Lodge said. "If they were planning an attack in Europe or to move Chinese Communist troops against Indochina, the cease-fire move would be just the sort of thing they would attempt."

Lodge, a foreign relations committee member, said he doesn't believe the UN should settle for a cease-fire at the 38th Parallel, as the Reds have proposed. He joined Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) in proposing that the narrow neck of the Korean Peninsula, about 100 miles north of the 38th, be made the dividing line.

Douglas said in a letter to Secretary of Defense Marshall yesterday that the Communists would advertise any settlement at the 38th as a "crushing victory" over UN forces.

The Illinois senator, like Lodge, a veteran of World War II, contended it would be "fantasy" to believe the Communists would agree to inspection behind their lines to make certain there was no Red buildup for a new attack.

Douglas said the State Department appeared willing to settle at the 38th Parallel, a result Secretary of State Acheson has said must be accompanied by substantial guarantees against new aggression.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), an armed services committee member, said he was informed American military leaders are "uneasy" about the progress of cease-fire talks, believing a Communist trap may be involved.

He said a settlement at the 38th Parallel would leave a "festering sore" of communism threatening South Korea with attack again at any time.

However, Senator Hunt (D-Wyo.), another armed services member, said he is willing to have the 38th as a dividing line if there are "absolute guarantees" that inspections can be carried out by the UN.

Bridges criticized the decision of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway to keep American newsmen and photographers away from Kaesong, where Communist newsmen have been represented.

Senator Caperton (R-Ind.) said he fears "another Yalta agreement" is in the making, which the American press is going to be barred from reporting.

"I'm afraid we are going to have more secret agreements that we won't find out about for a long time," he said.

Newsman Get Okay To Move Into Kaesong

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The United Nations command announced tonight that 20 allied news representatives will accompany UN negotiators to Kaesong tomorrow, third day of Korean armistice talks.

An official communique said the newsmen will be allowed within the area of the negotiations but not in the conference room. Allied correspondents were not allowed to attend the first two days of talks because of objections by Red negotiators.

Five allied cameramen went to the conference city today. Accredited to the U. S. Army and the United Nations, they were permitted to make the trip as official army photographers. The Chinese had agreed that up to five "Army photographers" could be in Kaesong.

One of the cameramen is Jim Pringle of the Associated Press. The others are James Healy, Acme News Photos; Joe Scherschel, Life Magazine; Gene Zenier, Warner-Pathe news reels, and Ronnie Noble, British Broadcasting Corp. Television.

Chinese Red soldiers halted the photographers at an outpost along the way for an hour. The Reds turned down repeated offers of American cigarettes and candy. They apologized for lack of facilities to show their hospitality to the allied photographers.

North Koreans made up for that lack when the allied group arrived at UN house in Kaesong. North Korean soldiers and a North Korean girl uniformed in blue distributed North Korean drinks, Russian candy bars and Chinese cigarettes. The Americans readily accepted.

The five allied cameramen, with an equal number of Red photographers in uniform, were allowed to move freely in the compound of the conference house and take whatever pictures they wanted. But they were not permitted to enter the conference room.

Meanwhile, a new plan for control of building hitting harder at schools, hospitals and large stores — was disclosed and the federal reserve board chairman, William Martin, came out anew against relaxing credit restrictions.

Democratic House leaders were hoping for last-minute stem (A) from the public to stem the anti-controls tide. But they said privately that administration appeals to the housewife and wage worker thus far had failed to produce much reaction.

With Democratic leaders adopting a strategy of delay, prospects were that the bitter House debate would run into next week before reaching the "showdown" roll call.

The coalition group seems to have enough votes to put any kind of amendment into the bill it wants to," Muller said.

Rep. Cooley (D-NC) said there would be "no compromise on the principle of price rollbacks." An amendment by Cooley would eliminate last month's ten percent beef rollback and prohibit all future rollbacks on farm products.

Farm representatives from both parties, plus those Republicans and southern Democrats who are against controls of any kind of amendment into the bill amendments over ineffective administration opposition.

Administration Forces Brace For New Control Attacks

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Administration forces in the House braced against threatened new blows today in a back-to-the-wall stand to save President Truman's economic controls program.

In the wake of major defeats yesterday at the hands of farm-state members and a Republican-southern Democrat coalition, Rep. Muller (D-NY) said the House would produce "a bill bearing a controls title, but that's all."

Muller is a floor manager for the administration's controls bill. The anti-controls coalition appeared to be firmly in the saddle, with "no compromise" as its slogan.

Meanwhile, a new plan for control of building hitting harder at schools, hospitals and large stores — was disclosed and the federal reserve board chairman, William Martin, came out anew against relaxing credit restrictions.

Democratic House leaders were hoping for last-minute stem (A) from the public to stem the anti-controls tide. But they said privately that administration appeals to the housewife and wage worker thus far had failed to produce much reaction.

Farm representatives from both parties, plus those Republicans and southern Democrats who are against controls of any kind of amendment into the bill amendments over ineffective administration opposition.

Truman forces suffered a major defeat when the House, by an unrecorded vote of 200 to 112, wrote into the controls bill a provision by Rep. Hope (R-Kan.) to ban all livestock slaughtering quotas.

A similar ban is contained in the eight-month extension of controls authority voted last month by the Senate. That measure falls far short of administration requests.

The same House coalition shied approval of another amendment by Rep. Anderson (R-Minn.) which would impose a two-year ban on importation of foreign fats and oils, including peanuts, cheese and dairy products which they compete with domestic products.

Seitz said the meeting to be held once a month in VFW Hall, will consist of two speakers, chosen through their ability to discuss the topic intelligently. Each will take opposite stands on the subject.

It was explained that the purpose of the discussion is twofold. The organization wishes to place both sides of an important issue before the people so they will be better prepared to decide for themselves a solution.

People are confused in America today over many basic issues. Seitz said "and make this will help them to find the answers."

In addition, the post is striving for more prestige for its group. Hope was expressed that enough interest would be taken by other civic clubs to make the meetings a success. Subject for the first meeting will be on national controls. Subjects for following sessions will be announced at the end of each meeting.

Reds Show A Change In Attitude

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Cease-fire talks are progressing in "cold military formality" with every reason to be optimistic, a United Nations briefing officer said tonight.

"The talks are now on the tracks," said the spokesman, Col. George Ruhlen of Las Cruces, N. M. "An armistice is much nearer tonight than it was 24 hours ago."

An official communique was less enthusiastic, but hopeful. It said "a better understanding between negotiating parties" developed Wednesday. It credited a change of attitude by the five Communist generals.

The communique said the Red negotiators showed "less stiffness and less formality."

Neither the communique nor the briefing officer mentioned three Communist demands reported by Red radios.

But allied delegates, returning Wednesday afternoon, the second day of talks in Kaesong, made it clear they wouldn't talk about one of the three points — a demand that foreign troops get out of Korea immediately.

Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, a member of the five-man UN team, said it was a "political question. Allied negotiators won't discuss political issues."

The briefing officer said negotiators "may not get down to brass tacks" in Thursday sessions. They still are discussing what items are to go on the agenda and in what order they will be taken up.

Ruhlen said there was much less tension at Wednesday's meeting. Things went forward in a "smooth-like manner."

He said he could not disclose just what has been accomplished.

Conferees are operating without a chairman. Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy leads allied discussions.

CED Seeks Tax On Low-Income Family

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) said today a business organization's proposal for an income tax boost with harder impact on low-income families appears at first glance to be a good one.

But Flanders, a newcomer to the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, told a reporter he would want to study in detail the plan, laid before the committee yesterday by the Committee for Economic Development (CED), before making a commitment.

The committee called further hearings today (9 a.m. EST). The CED is a private organization of businessmen which has made many studies of governmental and economic policies. Flanders, a former industrialist, was one of the organization's first officials.

J. Cameron Thomson, Minneapolis, Minn., banker, who appeared for the CED, told the finance committee the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill would hit too hard in the high income brackets.

More revenue must be obtained from the place, Thomson said, where most of the money is in the middle and low income brackets — if inflation is to be checked.

Thomson suggested putting a five percent bite on what the individual income taxpayer has left after paying his levies under present rates.

This contrasts with the House method, which would increase by 12 1/2 percent the amount each taxpayer now pays.

Under the House bill a married couple with two dependents and $3,000 income after tax under the present law would pay $18.75 additional tax; the CED plan would nick them for $30.

The same couple with $5,000 income would pay $81.25 additional under the House scheme, $130 under the CED proposal.

Will Seek To Explain Bond Issues

A county-wide information program, covering pertinent facts of the forthcoming July 28 bond and tax assumption election, will be recombed on a chamber of commerce's airport committee by the committee's airport advisory committee.

This decision was reached late yesterday afternoon during a session of the advisory group in the chamber offices.

Included in the recommendations to be sent to the chamber's airport committee are suggestions for a series of explanatory talks before service clubs and other organizations concerning the three issues involved.

The issues embrace one bond election for $168,700 to improve facilities of the proposed north-west airport and the airstrip at McLean.

The other bond issue will be for repairing roads and bridges destroyed by recent torrential rains, and a farm-to-market road leading to the proposed airport site. Bonds for these improvements amount to $200,000.

The tax assumption election, probably the most confusing of all questions, was called to authorize the county commissioners to levy 16 of the 30 cent ad valorem tax relinquished by the state on Jan. 1, 1951.

E. J. Dunigan and W. A. Noiland, co-chairmen of the advisory group, said: "The committee believes it is important that each voter be fully acquainted with the facts of each issue. Only by being well informed on these issues will a voter be able to vote intelligently to the best interests of the county as a whole. Our goal is to give each qualified voter an opportunity to hear, or read, all that the issues before July 28, election day."

Services were scheduled for 11 a. m. Thursday at 1412 South St., Long Beach.

'Town Hall' Is Planned For Pampa

A "Town Hall Meeting" is being planned for Pampa by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1657, Jones Seitz, chairman of the planning committee, announced last night at a meeting of the VFW.

Seitz said the meeting to be held once a month in VFW Hall, will consist of two speakers, chosen through their ability to discuss the topic intelligently. Each will take opposite stands on the subject.

It was explained that the purpose of the discussion is twofold. The organization wishes to place both sides of an important issue before the people so they will be better prepared to decide for themselves a solution.

Marine Corps Joins Army In Draftee Call; Navy, Air Force Will Depend On Volunteers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Marine Corps has joined the Army in calling for draftees in the next two months, but both the Air Force and the Navy will continue to depend solely upon volunteers — at least through the summer.

The Marines yesterday asked for 7,000 draftees in August and 6,000 in September because a slump in volunteering and the release of some reserves combined to hold the corps below its 204,000-man goal.

A shortage of volunteers also caused the Army to raise its August draft sights from 22,000 to 28,000 and to call for the same number in September. The August call will raise to 593,000 the number of Army draftees since the draft was resumed last September.

Although the Air Force fell considerably short of its June 30 goal of 850,000 men, it gained some encouragement from its June recruiting performance. The month produced 28,000 volunteers, some 7,000 short of expectations. The Air Force got only 11,000 in May.

entering in June was somewhat better than in May, when only 13,800 new men signed up. The Navy's volunteering peak, since Korea, was the January figure of 38,515.

Like the other services, the Navy has a reserve release program but it also has a well organized and available pool of reservists who have not seen service since the Far Eastern hostilities started. These men are being called up as needed to replace Korean veterans.

Several factors entered into the Marine Corps decision to rely to the draft for the only time in its long history except for a brief period toward the end of World War II.

Like the other services, including the Army, the Marines' volunteering rate fell off when the Army started reducing its draft calls last spring. The Army drafted 80,000 men in each of the first three months of this year. The April and May calls were cut to 40,000, June to 20,000 and this month's to 15,000.

Harvest 90 Percent Complete In Area

Wheat harvest in Gray and surrounding counties is nearing completion. Current reports from the Perryton area indicate that all labor demands have been met, and no further demand is anticipated during the season.

In Wheeler, Hemphill and Roberts Counties, harvest is 90 percent complete, no problems being encountered.

A Navy spokesman said volunteer in June was somewhat better than in May, when only 13,800 new men signed up. The Navy's volunteering peak, since Korea, was the January figure of 38,515.

Military manpower experts say it is natural for youths to prefer to volunteer for the service of their choice if they think there is a chance of their being drafted anyway.

Military officials have no way of measuring the exact effect of the Korean armistice talks on volunteering. They point out, however, that an expected spurt in volunteering at the end of the school year slowed down just as it got started. This was about the time when Russia's United Nations delegate, Jacob Malik, waved what looked like an olive branch over the battlefields of Korea.

Shamrock's Snakes Running In Pairs

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock's snakes run in pairs, or at least that's what some people in this Panhandle city are beginning to think.

Mrs. L. R. Allen, heard a rattler late Sunday evening. Frightened, she turned to run but fell over a small wagon. The snake bit her. Mr. Allen found the snake in a tile pipe the following evening. He said it was about three feet long and carried six rattlers.

At the same time Mrs. Allen heard her snake, Jimmy Nance who lives about a block from the Allen's, heard a rattler in his back yard. He looked long enough to find a snake by his pig pen. He killed it and found—a three-foot rattler with six rattlers.

Propane Gas Fire Is Officially Out

NEWARK, N.J. — (AP) — The $5,000,000 Port Newark propane gas fire is officially out after 88 hours.

Fire Chief Charles Burnett called back 13 fire companies after an inspection trip last night at the Warren Maritime Corp. tank farm.

Two others were left at the scene of Saturday's rocket-like blasts as a precautionary measure. Earlier in the day firemen extinguished a brief flareup in a tank filled with the highly combustible cooking gas.

A series of explosions destroyed 71 of the tanks Saturday, rocked the surrounding area and sent strange flames thousands of feet in the air.

It was set up to deal with pay raises for business executives, professional athletes, star entertainers, and others not covered by unions.

Raymond B. Allen, chairman of the board, said some 1,000 cases are pending. There are four other board members.

However, he proposed that the $2,500,000,000 hike in corporation taxes in the House bill be wiped out and a $2,750,000,000 federal retail sales tax substituted.

The sales levy would be collected at the rate of five percent on all items not already hit by federal excises. The CED would exempt food and shelter. Thompson said the new items affected by the sales tax he proposed would be largely clothing and household furnishings.

Several other business organizations have urged the senators to impose a federal sales tax on a general manufacturers' excise which would be passed along to consumers.

of negotiations was reflected in a communique announcement that 20 allied news representatives would be authorized to go to Kaesong for Thursday's negotiations.

Previously they had been banned on Communist insistence. Five allied photographers went to the Red-guarded city Wednesday after the UN delegation had left.

They traveled along roads guarded by a motley assortment of Chinese, armed with American, British and Russian weapons. The Reds stood with their backs to the road. They said they were protecting the peace delegates against "guerrillas."

The UN communique reported "there is a general feeling of optimism among United Nations delegates to the armistice negotiations that progress is being made."

Opposing delegations have not yet agreed on "priority of items for the agenda," it said. But "a better understanding of the intended scope" of cease-fire talks has been reached "by all concerned."

The language barrier has slowed negotiations considerably.

In the more informal words of Admiral Burke, progress has been "fair, but you never can tell about these things."

Petition Circulates To Up Combat Pay

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two Congressmen are circulating a petition to force House action on legislation to give combat pay to fighting servicemen in Korea.

Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.) and Charles Potter (R-Mich.) both Purple Heart veterans of World War Two sent letters to all House colleagues yesterday urging them to sign the petition.

It would squeeze out of committee a bill to pay $100 a month extra to officers, and $50 more a month to enlisted men, for time spent in combat.

The Awful Truth Is Revealed About Candlelight At Meals

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — It has become years since many an American husband has seen his evening meal.

This is because of a growing desire by wives to dine by candlelight.

After a struggle of nearly 14 years against this odd feminine preference, I'd advise any young married man:

"If your bride insists on eating by candlelight, do as she says. And never ask her why."

That was the mistake I made. I asked too long and too often, and finally I got the bitter truth. But I will say I put up a stubborn fight.

The first night I came home and sat down to a candlelit table. I asked in honest innocence: "What's the matter? Is the drug store out of light bulbs?"

"No," said Frances. "I just think it's nicer this way."

"But a man likes to see what he's eating," I objected. "What have you got against electric lights? Are you sure your mother wasn't frightened by an early picture of Thomas A. Edison?"

"Listen, you junior Mark Twain," said Frances, "you might as well get used to candlelight now, because you are going to be eating by it a long time. So kindly shut up about it."

I thought this was just a phase brides went through, a kind of romantic hangover from the honeymoon. And I had the idea I could easily kid her out of it. "Believe me, if they gave a man a brick for every wrong idea I've had about marriage, he could build a tower taller than the Washington Monument."

So the next night I showed up at dinner time with a lighted lantern. Frances simply blew it out, and the rest of the meal was rather chilly.

The following night how silly can one husband be? — I opened a first aid kit, laid out some gauze and iodine by a candlestick and said:

"Just in case I cut myself in the dark."

Then I forked up some grub, bit down — and immediately began to splutter wildly.

"What'd you put on my plate?"

"I think you'll find it is gravel covered with chicken gravy," said Frances. "You like tricks? I like tricks, too."

That ended the tricks. Then it became my chore to light the candles.

Every evening, just as I got comfortably settled behind the newspaper, Frances would come over, hand me a packet of matches and say, "all right, Rover, it's time to do your work."

Well, you know how small raindrops in time will wear down big mountains, I got so I detested those two candlesticks. But every time I demanded to know why we had to eat by a feeble power, Frances always said:

"Oh, it's just nicer."

The other night I asked her "why?" for the 4,867th time.

"You finally asked just once too often," she said. "Go into the bathroom, turn on the electric light, and look at yourself in the mirror."

"When I came back, she said: "Did you take a good long look?"

"Yes, dear, but—"

"Well, morning since 1937 I've had to wake up and look at your face in the bright sunshine. Do you mind too much if I'd rather see it at dinner by candlelight?"

Silently I struck a match and lit the two tall candles, and we sat down to the table.

"Now," said Frances cheerfully, "isn't this really nicer?"

As I say, don't press a wife too hard on why she likes things a certain way. Sometimes it's better never to know.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Today's hand was very hard to bid properly. Five diamonds would have been a somewhat easier contract to make, but four hearts wasn't bad, even though the trump suit was fairly short. It's all right to get to game with round of trumps as long as the diamonds had turned out so well. This was a fatal mistake. After winning the third round of trumps with the queen, South went back to the diamonds. East ruffed the last diamond and led another club, thus forcing out declarer's last trump. At this point South had lost a diamond and a trump, with the spades still to be developed. When declarer went after the spades West could take his king of spades and lead his last club to set the contract. There were actually five or six perfectly sound ways to play the hand, but drawing a third round of trump was not part of any of them. South could have given up one spade trick as though West held the ace rather than the king. Or South could have led the queen of spades from dummy to win his ace and ruff a spade with dummy's third trump. The right lines of play all had one feature in common; South had to draw only two rounds of trumps and then develop the other suits. He could afford to draw a third trump only after all his tricks had been set up.

only seven trumps in the combined hands provided that you know how to manage the trumps prudently. When the hand was played, dummy won the first trick with the jack of spades. Declarer next laid down the ace and king of trumps, after which he led the nine of diamonds and let it ride to East's king. East returned the queen of clubs, forcing out dummy's ace. Declarer then decided that he could afford to lead out another

Housewives Might As Well Prepare For High Meat Price

(Editor's note: This is the final story of a series on the beef situation by an Associated Press correspondent who has spent the past three weeks talking with cattlemen, farmers and others in Texas and the Midwest.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP) — Mrs. America might as well gear her food budget to high beef prices for a long time to come. In all the clamor about the high cost of beef, there is this gloomy fact: Steaks aren't likely to become more plentiful in any great quantity until cattle production catches up with consumer demand.

When will that be? Some experts in the business say three... four... five years or more. That depends on weather, the feed supply, reaction to government controls, profits to be made in increased production, and other factors.

Mostly, though, increased production hinges on profits. Cattle growers, feeders, and others in the business have been doing all right in the past few years. Profits have been good. The number of beef cattle is increasing. Breeder herds are the largest in history. Next year's crop of calves will be larger than this year.

But also the nation's population is increasing at the rate of 200,000 future beef-eaters each month. As wages have gone up, so has the eating of beef increased.

Economists can produce figures to show an hour's wages will buy more meat now than ever before. Other economists can produce figures to show increases in beef prices that are all out of line with wages.

Be that as it may, government records show the working man and his family are eating more beef. Each man, woman and child in the United States—all 154,000,000 of us—are expected to consume 63 pounds of beef each this year, in addition to other kinds of meat. And everyone usually prefers the choicer cuts when he can afford them.

One old-time cattleman said: "The beef shortage isn't hard to explain. There just aren't enough any of their cattle profits through controlled prices. The administration has rolled back live cattle prices by 10 percent. But Congress has given a strong indication it will not go along with any future rollbacks in price to lower the butcher shop prices on beef.

The administration failed in this case to sell both Congress and the farm country on the urgency of controls as a method to fight inflation. Congress appears ready to take the side of the farmers who argue controls will cut down on cattle production and thus make the beef shortage even more acute.

Throughout the cattle country, there is resentment that the administration singled out beef as the farm commodity to be controlled. Most farmers will admit beef prices are too high, but they insist beef is not out of line with increased farm costs.

Farmers take the view that most of their products are selling at too low a price, and that higher prices for beef merely help balance out the under-parity products.

Parity is a theoretical price for farm products which is supposed to be fair to both farmers and consumers. It fluctuates with the cost of things the farmers buy.

The farmers still remember vividly the lean years of low prices and mortgage foreclosures and their fight to hold onto their homes and land.

The reason they are entitled to their profits in these good years. And they have prospered in the past few years.

But in a three-week tour of the cattle country, I found no wide-spread feeling among farmers that the national emergency or inflation has reached a danger point which would justify the administration forcing them to sacrifice any of their cattle profits.

Generally, there is no great sense of emergency in the Middle West.

Some question the administration price control program as being more political than urgent—designed more for capturing the votes of the industrial east than to curb inflation.

Others say they recognize a need for controls. But there's no doubt this group is in the minority.

And with the peace talks coming up in Korea, the administration is likely to have even a more difficult job in convincing people that the emergency has not slackened off.

Under all these circumstances, cattle experts see some seasonal changes in beef prices—but they expect no sharp drop in price which will make the housewife happier about her budget until production increases. And they say this increase will come only with high beef prices.

India-Swiss Trade Thrives
NEW DELHI — (AP) — Indian printed cotton textiles are in great demand in Swiss markets for making ladies' garments, official sources here said.

Even otherwise, they added, Indo-Swiss trade has been on the increase and in March, 1951, India exported goods worth 3,500,000 Swiss francs and imported articles valued at 8,200,000 francs. India imported a large quantity of Swiss watches and clocks, drugs as in some private apartments. Dog tag licenses dropped from 300,304 in 1949, to 286,754 last year, he said, and the trend is still downward.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — It's hard to imagine rotund, cigar-chewing Al Weill in the role of a nursemaid. . . . But Al has performed that job for several years. . . . And tomorrow night he'll learn whether it has paid off by developing Rocky Marciano, whom he has nursed along so carefully, into AA real money-making heavyweight contender — Rocky, still something of an unknown around here despite an impressive record in New England, takes on spectacular Rex Layne, who has become a local favorite. . . . And matchmaker (no longer manager) Weill figures on sending the winner against Ezzard Charles or Joe Louis in September.

IT WAS THIS WAY
"He was sent down to me by a fellow named Ed Bolan," is Weill's explanation of his "discovery". . . . "He was out of shape then and his hands were bad, but we tried him out and found he could punch with either hand. . . . He was very raw, but he was aggressive and he had a brand new cycle." . . . When fighting in the Army, gone to the finals of the National Junior Amateur Championship and decided he was ready to turn pro. . . . You remember about that time Weill was telling you in a half-whisper: "I've got something for you to see. . . . Not about six months from now." . . . It took a little longer. . . . Al turned his heavyweight over to trainer Charley Goldman. . . . "Charley taught him everything he knows," Weill explains. . . . It only took two months before Rocky had started the foundation. . . . Then Marciano began knocking out guys you never heard of around Providence and New Bedford with a couple of excursions into New York to beat Carmine Vingo and Roland Lestary. . . . When Weill became IBC matchmaker, he turned Rocky over to his son, Marty, to manage but it didn't change the pattern. . . . Al insists those fights were tougher than they appeared. . . . "New fellows like himself but with more experience." . . . And he asks: "Why should I bring him into New York when he was averaging $12,000 to $15,000 around New England?" . . . Up to now, there wasn't an answer to that.

Today's Guest Star
Sage observation by Joe Palmer, N. Y. Herald-Tribune racing sage: "Horses vary in their ability to carry weight, just as men do in their ability to carry luggage. . . . The difference being, that horses don't like to carry weight."

Cleaning The Cuff
Vat O'Sullivan, the golfing gal, nearly went clear around the compass this spring. She won the North and South Amateur and the Eastern Amateur and just missed in the Women's Western Open. . . . Sam Miller, former Indiana U. middle distance runner, has just been promoted to operations officer for the Atlantic division of Pan American Airways. . . . That the Rev. Robert Richards will come as great an evangelist as he now is at pole vaulting is the prediction of the Gospel Messenger, publication of the Church of the Brethren. . . . Legs Hawley, volatile West Virginia U. athletic director, makes his home in Masonown, W. Va., a 10-cent phone call from the university. . . . His explanation: "No West Virginia alumnus is going to spend a dime to call me a so-and-so."

Power Switching To Senior League
DETROIT — (AP) — The National League inner circle today saw an end to the American League "reign of terror" and predicted a new cycle shifting the batting power to the senior circuit.

Gil Hodges, strapping Brooklyn first baseman and the National League's home run leader, said after yesterday's 8-3 triumph over the Americans:

"It is the National that has the home run utterer now, not the American. Yes, sir, times have changed."

Ralph Kiner, the National's home run king for the last five years, echoed this sentiment.

"We're the big guys now and they are the little boys," he said. "I could see that before the game when we lined up for the National anthem. I looked over at the American League bunch and thought: 'Gee, what a bunch of little guys compared to a few years ago.' For the first time our guys looked like the big men."

Hodges and Kiner hit two of the National's four homers as they demolished five pitchers for a dozen hits and ran up the biggest run total ever made by a National League all-star team.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Elliott of the Boston Braves also smashed homers for the winners. Those of Hodges and Elliott came with a man on base. George Kell and Vic Wertz of Detroit hit solo four-baggers for the Americans.

The Associated Press scoreboard gave Robinson, who had 10 at only one other fight in 1933 bouts covering 11 years, just four rounds. Turpin got nine, with two even.

Men who watched Sugar Ray storm through Europe recently, topping nine foes in two months, tried to tell him he looked the shadow of his usual self.

"I felt good," Robinson insisted. "Turpin is a real good boy." Turpin's first stop after leaving the ring was Robinson's dressing room where he told Sugar "you were a real champion just like they told me."

"You were real good, just like they said you were," Sugar replied.

Robinson's wife, Edna Mae, her eyes filled with tears, told Turpin "You take good care of that title. Maybe we will be back to take it away from you."

From the ring, Turpin had told the roaring British crowd: "I hope I am able to keep this for you for a long time."

Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's big righthander, was superb as he mowed the American Leaguers down with two hits and no runs in his three-inning venture.

He was especially brilliant in the eighth when, after yielding a thumping three-base hit to Ted Williams, he retired the next three batters without allowing the Boston Red Sox slugger to budget off.

Newcombe, flashing a burning fast ball, fanned three. Ewell Blackwell, the "Whip" from Cincinnati, held the losers at bay in the ninth. The victory was credited to Maglie, who worked the third, fourth and fifth innings.

Two hurlers went to the hill for the Americans. Except for Ned Garver of St. Louis, all were pasted freely.

Eddie Lopat, pride of the Yankees, was charged with the loss. The veteran southpaw replaced Garver in the fourth and was shelled for three tallies in the one inning he worked. He got a fine welcome from Musial who whammed his first pitch into the right field seats. Elliott followed a single by Hodges with another circuit-clout into the leftfield stands.

Gassers Salvage Final Of Series Behind Vega, 8-6

BORGER — (AP) — Rene Vega won his 15 victory of the season here last night as his Gasser teammates picked on the services of a trio of Oiler hurlers for 12 hits good for 8 runs and an 8-6 decision.

Borger trailed only once when Pampa included Vega for a single tally in the first and added another three in the third. Al Kavanaugh, Oiler starter, was tagged with the loss.

Tonight the Oilers move to Amarillo for a two-day series. There is a possibility of a doubleheader either tonight or tomorrow night, although nothing has been forthcoming to that effect from the Gold Sox office.

The Oilers will return home on Friday night to open a six-day home stand to start the fourth go-round of the season. The Borger Gassers, Clovis Pioneers and Amarillo Gold Sox will come in at that order.

Joe Fortin's single with Deck Woldt on second base put the Gasser ahead in the first inning last night. And another single by Fortin in the third with runners on first and second scored two more and Fortin tallied run number four seconds later on a double by Richardson.

But there the bid for the fifth straight victory ended. Al Kavanaugh, Woldt and Vega, followed in the third, and then walked the bases full in the fourth, bringing lefty George Matthews in to work. Joe Duffield greeted Matthews with an infield hit and Bob Leonard followed with a base-clearing double.

Borger picked up another in the sixth after two were out. Duffield, left on base, was hit by Kavanaugh, Woldt and Vega. Matthews, former Texas Tech star, was hit by Kavanaugh, Woldt and Vega.

Richardson, left on base, was hit by Kavanaugh, Woldt and Vega. Matthews, former Texas Tech star, was hit by Kavanaugh, Woldt and Vega.

When Leonard and Manning combined a single and double and a double by Vega and a single by Leonard in the eighth accounted for the other tally.

Pampa fought back in the eighth for two runs. Fortin leading off with his fourth hit, a home run over the leftfield fence. Richardson drew a walk and Whitehorn doubled him home. But there the scoring was halted by the little Cuban righthander who had good stuff in gaining his fifteenth win for the deeply entrenched Gassers.

Red Dial, the hard-working righthander, is expected to get the nod to start the series against the Gold Sox tonight. He will be followed by Clyde Baldwin tomorrow and then it will probably be George Fayette in the home opener.

Pros Double Size Of Foul Lane
SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (AP) — The foul lane of the National Basketball Association's courts will be widened from six to 12 feet, under a new rule change.

"We believe the change will streamline the game," President Maurice Podoloff said yesterday after the board of governors adopted the proposal.

"It will open up the game underneath the basket, giving the fleet 'small' man a better opportunity to compete with the outsize huskies who have been dominating the sport," Podoloff added.

He said all teams in pro basketball's major circuit would use the new rule in pre-season exhibitions.

Majors Boss Due By August 1
DETROIT — (AP) — Major league club owners hope to choose a successor to baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler by Aug. 1.

Owners of the 16 clubs agreed yesterday to put in writing their recommendations for the $85,000-a-year job by July 20. The screening committee met with the owners to discuss the type of commissioner desired, but no names have yet been submitted.

Chandler is retiring from the commissionership July 15.

State Sox Hunt Pitching Help

AMARILLO — (AP) — The Amarillo Gold Sox announced the releasing of one pitcher and the acquiring of two others yesterday.

Released was Morris Shipman, a young limited service righthander. Purchased from Galesville, Shipman had seen duty in the outfield and on the mound.

He had been used chiefly as a relief hurler, losing to Clovis and to Pampa in his only two starts.

Signed were Bill Walker, purchased from Austin of the Big State League, and Clint Rogers, obtained on option from Austin. The 28-year-old Walker posted a 10-2 record with an eighth place Austin team last season. His earned run average was a highly respectable 3.76. He is a righthander.

Tearful Happy Bids Farewells

DETROIT — (AP) — Out-going commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler said today he would welcome an opportunity to get back into baseball but denied a report he would replace Billy Evans as general manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Chandler, whose resignation becomes effective Sunday, performed his last major official act yesterday when he presided over the 18th annual All-Star Game.

The former Kentucky senator outwardly appeared his old-smiling jovial self as he visited each dugout bidding goodbye to the all-star players, managers and coaches of the National and American Leagues. But to close friends he made no efforts to hide his true feelings.

"I don't remember when I've felt as I do now," he confided. "Why should they have done this to me? What reasons did they have? They still haven't told me."

Deep in the dugout, hidden from the players and the vast crowd that jam-packed Briggs Stadium, the spurned commissioner, for the first time since his reputation, wept unashamedly.

"I'd give a lot to be back in baseball," he said. "I love the game. I love it as a sport, not as a business. The money is not important. I don't really get much money out of it, after paying taxes."

Chandler pulled out a handkerchief, dabbed at his eyes and waited until he regained his composure.

"I'd prefer a place in baseball to any other field," he said earnestly. "That is, if it is with people I'd like to be associated with. I have a lot of ideas that I couldn't put to work from the 'outside,' but I'd like to try it in a job from the inside."

"I'd be willing to devote five years of my life to that," he added.

Chandler did not elaborate on what such "ideas" might be. He indicated, however, that any club's offer would have to call for a five-year contract.

Cardinals Fail To Stop Jumper

HOUSTON — (AP) — Efforts of the Chicago Cardinals pro football team to keep center Bill Blackburn from playing for a Canadian club this year were thwarted yesterday.

Blackburn, a former Rice Institute star, played for the Cardinals last year. The Cards said they have an option on him until May, 1952.

An attorney for the Cardinals told reporters that Blackburn was on his way to Canada and that the club may have to ask Canadian courts to prevent him from playing.

District Judge Dan W. Jackson yesterday postponed hearing an injunction brought against Blackburn by the Chicago club to restrain him from playing for the Calgary Stampede of the Canadian Football League.

Turpin Upsets Sugar Robinson

LONDON — (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, once considered boxing's invincible fighting machine, was stripped of his world middleweight crown today after absorbing a terrific beating by Randolph Turpin, a comparative newcomer to fist fighting's big time.

Turpin, 23-year-old Negro almost unknown outside of his British homeland, astounded the boxing world by soundly whipping the New York titleholder in 15 rounds last night as a capacity crowd of 18,000 in Earl's Court arena cheered in disbelief.

The 31-year-old Robinson's title world collapsed around his battered features, but he'll get a chance on his home grounds to get his title back next September.

Immediately after the fight, Robinson's manager, George Caird, said a return bout would be held Sept. 26 in New York.

"He was better than I was," Robinson said without offering any alibi. "I lost," he said simply.

Un-awed by the champion's dazzling reputation, young Turpin declared as he ran into his dressing room. "He never hurt me once." Randy was quite right.

Turpin finished without a scratch, while Robinson just barely escaped in the 14th round and ended up with a deep cut on his left eyebrow and another gash high on his left cheekbone. The eyebrow cut apparently came from a crash of heads in the ninth round.

The Associated Press scoreboard gave Robinson, who had 10 at only one other fight in 1933 bouts covering 11 years, just four rounds. Turpin got nine, with two even.

Men who watched Sugar Ray storm through Europe recently, topping nine foes in two months, tried to tell him he looked the shadow of his usual self.

Blue Sox Sign Eulis Rosson

ABILENE — (AP) — The Abilene Blue Sox front office today announced the signing of righthanded pitcher Eulis Rosson, recently made free agent by the Lamesa Baseball Club.

Joe Tracey, general manager of Rosson, whose home is in Lamesa, has come to terms and agreed to report here Friday when the Blue Sox return from the current road trip.

Rosson, a veteran of three previous seasons in the West Texas-New Mexico League and one in the Big State circuit, had won eight games, lost seven up to the time of his release by the Lobos. The 28-year-old chunker won 19, lost 11 for Lubbock in 1947, and also was the winning pitcher in the league's all-star game that year.

At Austin in 1948 he won 14, lost 12. With Lamesa in 1949 (9-12) and 1950 (19-12) he rated selection on the South all-star team each season, or each season he has pitched in this circuit.

Rosson, one of three pitchers to defeat the league leading Blue Sox this year, owns a service station in Lamesa. He is married and the father of two children.

He appeared in 20 games for the Lobos, starting 12, completing 13 and pitching seven complete.

Carnett Spins Win Over Abilene

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Fred Haller's error on a tailor-made double play in the ninth inning last night robbed Albuquerque's Eddie Carnett of a West Texas-New Mexico League shutout.

Carnett completely handcuffed the front-running Abilene Blue Sox to lead the Dukes to an easy 6-1 win. The winners feasted on the combined offerings of starter Jim Melton and Charlie Davis for 13 safeties, including Al Maul's 13th home run — a 400-foot drive over the right centerfield wall with none aboard in the third.

Ray Faust hurled a seven-hit ball to gain his 13th victory of the season, although touched for a grand slam home run by Merv Connors in the eighth inning. George Mendonza homered for Lubbock in addition to hitting a triple.

Clovis' Errors Give Lobos Win

CLOVIS — (AP) — Lamesa's Lobos capitalized on four Clovis errors last night to come from behind and overwhelm the Pioneers, 7-4, for a series sweep.

The Pioneers presented the Lobos four unearned runs to spoil a nifty pitching performance by Mel Kramer who limited the bashing Lobos to five scattered hits. Herb Damico, New Lobos right-hander, held the Pioneers scoreless after yielding two runs in the third and two more in the fifth to hang up his first West Texas-New Mexico League victory.

$25 AGAINST

- LOSS OF YOUR DRIVER'S LICENSE
- LOSS OF YOUR MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION
- YOUR FINANCIAL RUIN

These are the odds under the new Financial Responsibility Law.

This law makes you responsible for injuries and damages TO THE TUNE OF $15,000.

By using just plain horseness, it's easy to see that an investment of $25 is the safest bet. The risk of being literally "grounded" is too great. Your right to drive is too vital to gamble on.

But why $25.00? Because that is the annual cost of public liability insurance on your car. Only a few dollars more for trucks.

WILD WEST CHARITY STANDISH BY CHARLES JUDAH COPYRIGHT 1951 BY MHA SERVICE, INC.

"THE STORY: Charity Standish has been to marry Douglas Kent, even though he's a gambler in San Lorenzo, N. M. But if she's to be a gambler's wife, she must learn something of the trade. Ken takes her to the swanky Zeece, but he confesses that he spends most of his time at the Four Aces, a much less desirable place.

III CHARITY STANDISH had heard of the Four Aces. It was a garish place run by Duke Rogers, reported to be the most dangerous man in New Mexico Territory, just as his partner, Angel, whose real name was Angeles, was the most dangerous woman. Charity recalled things she had heard about Angel.

"Is Angel really beautiful?" she asked Douglas Kent. "Angel? I don't know if you'd call her beautiful, but she can drive a man crazy."

"Did she drive you crazy?" "Sure. It's part of the attraction of New Mexico. But I got over it. We're just good friends now."

He was so candid that Charity knew it was ridiculous to be jealous. But she was jealous, and she hated Angel.

"I suppose I really ought to meet her," she said stiffly. "Why should you meet Angel?" He was a little shocked at the idea. "A woman should know her future husband's friends. Besides I've heard she's the most beautiful woman in the Territory, and that Duke Rogers is the most dangerous man with a gun."

"Then you've heard wrong. You are the most beautiful woman in the territory, and I'll lay odds on Ken Montijo with a gun against Duke any day."

It was nice to be called beautiful, so Charity, though she did not like her any less, thrust the Angel creature out of her mind. "Who is Ken Montijo?" she asked. "Half a Scot, half a Spaniard and the best half of both." The rest of the way to town Douglas extolled the virtues of Ken Montijo until Charity out of sheer perversity disliked him.

"My," she said dolefully, "you have such exciting friends, male and female, you'll get dreadfully bored with me."

Both were troubled. And they had been engaged less than a day. WHEN they had been engaged three weeks the situation was worse. Each day they fell more deeply in love and each day it was more deeply borne on them, though neither would admit it to the other, that their future, like the desert in the sunset, was an unsubstantial magic—a thing of flaming multi-colored beauty when viewed from afar, but at close quarters parched earth under an unattainable heaven.

As Douglas withdrew more and more into himself, she took the initiative in love making with a boldness that back in Ohio would have scared Ed Smith clean out of the hammock.

"I think you'd better marry me," she finally announced. "Of course, we'll get married."

"I mean right away." "You suggested waiting." "Now it's me who suggests marrying."

"Why the change?" "How could she tell him she had changed her mind because of fear that if they waited they would lose one another?"

"Let's say because in exactly three days I'll be twenty-five years old. In Ohio that makes a girl an old maid."

"I see. When shall it be?" "He said it with such an air of gloomy resignation that Charity flushed.

"I think I'd like you for a birthday present."

The instructors also suggest walking forward with toes pointed inward, "pigeon toed," as far as possible to strengthen foot muscles. The exercises also reduce fatigue, according to the body-builders.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - If you feel are giving out on you under strain of "constant" daily wear, members of the physical education staff of the University of California advise exercise to get them back in shape.

One exercise they say can be him that in only three days Charity would be his wife, he smiled at her and drew her into his arms. His eyes had not been wet as they were now since those evenings when he walked home behind the mule.

But when he failed to appear the next day she was not so certain, and by the following noon she began to wonder how far a man could run from a girl in three days. She hoped he was running West; she intended to go East.

That evening she climbed the mesa to look at what she resolutely told herself was her last sunset in New Mexico. Had she chosen, instead, a final view of the windmill on the Plaza, which had been the innocent cause of her coming to San Lorenzo, and which she had never seen "tastefully decorated," she would have heard rumors of a strange game going on in the Four Aces, which had been in progress for 40 hours. The Four Aces had seen games involving more money, and $5000 was not an unusual bet up the canyon at the Aztec, but no one remembered when a man had offered himself as the stake in a dice game. Some of the spectators were shaking their heads and saying it was not legal, but Duke Rogers and Angel said it didn't have to be legal.

CHARITY, however, had not chosen the windmill. On the mesa, where there was the peace of limitless horizons and where the air was clean as it was foul in the Four Aces, she watched the sun disappear behind the hills. Then she returned directly to her hotel. Three hours later, when Douglas forced his way into her room, her trunk was packed.

"I have come to say goodbye," he told her, swaying precariously, speaking with studied precision. "Four Aces, she watched the sun disappear behind the hills. Then she returned directly to her hotel. Three hours later, when Douglas forced his way into her room, her trunk was packed.

U.S. Soldiers Don't Want Valley Defeat

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK — (AP) — A friend of mine came to me and said: "What interests me most about the proposed cease-fire in Korea isn't what the military leaders or world diplomats think about. What about the individual American soldier? How does he feel about it? If we settle for a cease-fire, will he think the war in Korea was worthwhile? Or will he think he fought for nothing?"
 It's a good point. No settlement will basically satisfy American troops if it belittles the blood shed they shed or the sacrifices they made in the bitter accendard warfare in Korea. They weren't defeated on the hills, and certainly they wouldn't be happy to find they had been negotiated into defeat in the valleys.

The main thing a soldier hates, short of defeat itself, is to halt short of his goal. The taking of his assigned objective is the heart of his duty. And all successful warfare is based on the assumption that troops will take their objectives.

What were the objectives of the American troops in Korea? Their primary goal was to halt Communist aggression by counter force. Later, a secondary goal was added by the United Nations — the creation of a free, independent, united Korea.

The first soldiers who landed on the peninsula thought that topping the little Red enemy would be easy. Some thought that all they had to do was stand on a hill and show the American uniform, and the North Koreans would immediately turn tail and retreat back across the 38th Parallel.

Instead, the American army got its greatest shock since Pearl Harbor. The Communists attacked with ferocity and skill. The dazed, out-numbered, over-confident U.S. troops were almost pushed back into the sea.

They recoiled, landed behind the enemy and destroyed the major part of the North Korean army. Then veteran Chinese Communist troops came into the fray by the hundreds of thousands. As late as six months ago it again looked like the United Nations forces might face an Oriental Dunkerque.

But the wall of moving fire-power they threw up time and again has thrown back the Chinese-Korean hordes and shattered them.

Who first cried "Uncle?" The Russians — for their dismayed Korean and Red Chinese buddies. The American soldier has regained his old self-confidence, and now it is based on a solid pride in his performance.

He feels he has done the job he was sent to do — hurl the aggressors back where they came from. As to the creation of an independent Korea, he probably would just as soon let the diplomats figure that one out.

Many an American soldier a year ago questioned the wisdom of the Korean struggle. The entrance of the Chinese Reds did more than anything else to make him realize there was a real need for democratic nations to draw a line beyond which aggression could not go.

Soldiers who fight long and well must come to believe that what they are fighting in is worthwhile. Most Americans in Korea came to feel that by their efforts there they were helping keep a greater war from America.

And today I think most of them will accept a fair and firm "cease-fire" as a victory, and

Marriage Gets Off To A Bad Start

DETROIT — (AP) — The marriage of Ernest Maynarich, 28, and his bride, Earline, 18, got off to a very bad start indeed. They and 17 of their 60 guests at their wedding reception were hospitalized for food poisoning.

Maynarich spent his wedding night in a hospital. But he came home, only to see his wife hit by the delayed effects of the poisoning, and go to the hospital herself.

"It happened so fast we did not even get a chance to cut our cake," the bride lamented. "First, Uncle Harry got sick, then Ernest got awful cramps. Then Grandma Emma and the little children."

Dr. Robert Wilson, director of food inspection for the Detroit Department of Health said those who ate ham at the home reception appeared to be the ones affected.

regret only the lost friends who cannot hear their country's verdict: "Well done."

Samples of food were taken and were to be analyzed. All of those stricken were released from the hospital after treatment, except Mrs. Emma Guenther, 64, the bride's grandmother. Her condition was complicated by a heart ailment.

Say Patient Looks Good For 'Dead Man'

PHILIPSBURGH, N. J. — (AP) — Doctors agree that 49-year-old Frederick Sanders looks pretty good for a "dead" man.

He's up and around again after his heart stopped beating for five minutes during a hernia operation at Warren Hospital Saturday.

His surgeon, Dr. G. Homer Bloom, noted lack of a heart-beat. Bloom wasted no time opening Sanders' chest and massaging his heart. It began beating again slowly and after about five minutes was back to normal.

Raymond Stern, hospital administrator, said Sanders was a case out of bed yesterday, apparently none the worse for his experience.

Perfect Hand For Melding Out

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for NEA Service
 The morning mail brought me another first play problem, this time from Miami.

"You are the dealer," says my Florida friend, "and you turn up a six. Both sides need 120 points for the first meld. The first player draws from the stock and discards a five. Your partner draws from the stock and discards an eight. The next player puts down two red threes, replaces them from the stock; then draws again from the stock and discards another eight."

"You also draw from the stock and find the following cards in your hand: Joker, A-A-A, 5-5-5, 4-4-4, 2. "What should you do?"

The first question in my mind is whether to meld or to play on with out melding. The fact that you have fives and fours — low pairs — is an indication that you have a fairly good play for the discard pile.

Against that is the fact that your hand is very concentrated. If you get a small discard pile it will probably do you very little good. The concentration of your hand into only three ranks should urge you to play for a fast out. This calls for an immediate meld.

Having decided to meld, the next question is: How much? However, you should also meld. It's a cinch that you have to meld the Joker together with the four aces. That gives you the count even if you meld nothing else.

something additional. That extra meld will tell your partner that you want to play for an immediate out. You would not make such a play unless your hand were well suited for the purpose (I hope), so your partner will know that he must give you all possible help at once.

The extra meld must consist of the three fours — not the Demand Modern Teaching For Israel

TEL AVIV — (AP) — Forty seven delegates representing 15,000 pupils from 25 schools in Israel met in conference in the coastal plain town of Hederah to demand more modern instruction from their teachers.

They did not oppose the central role the Bible is playing in Hebrew schools but they said — except in so-called "religious schools" — the Holy Book of the Books should be read and explained primarily from historic, scientific and literary aspects.

They also charged their school curriculum with neglecting biology, psychology, sociology and history or art.

Misleading Ad Misleads Thief

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — A furniture store rigged up a display of a bushel basket with dollar bills all but spilling over its top, using the money as a come-on in an advertising contest.

Someone broke in at night, made off with the basket and what he probably thought was a small fortune. Instead, it was 80 one dollar bills artfully used as top dressing for a basket full of waste paper.
